Ike Predicts Big 4 To Give Peace Show

Medical Bulletin Says President Doing Better

By MERRIMAN SMITH

DENVER —UP— President Eisenhower predicted hopefully from his sick bed Wednesday that the Russians in the Big Four foreign ministers meeting which opens at Geneva Thursday would supply evidence of a "genuine spirit" for peace.

Mr. Eisenhower's recovery from a heart attack continued meantime to progress satisfactorily. A medical bulletin issued at 7:45 a.m. said the President "had an excellent night's sleep of eight and one-half hours" and that "he awoke feeling refreshed and cheerful."

In a public statement, he commended to the Soviets the western three-power plan for European security which Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will present to the Big Four.

The so-called package plan designed to lead to German reunification was approved by the President in a hospital bedside conference with Dulles last week before the secretary left for Europe.

"Peace of Justice" The President, in his public statement from Fitzsimons Army hospital where he is recovering from a heart attack, said the western proposals "will be designed to promote a peace of justice, with increased security and well-being for all."

"They will reflect," he said, "a genuine spirit of conciliation and accommodation. If the Soviet Union responds in a similar spirit, much progress can be made. This is my personal hope, as I am confident it is the hope of the American people."

The security plan endorsed by the President was approved over the past weekend in Paris by Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay.

Dulles' delicate task was to convince the Soviet delegation, led by (See IKE, Page 3)

Jet Liners To Cross U.S. In 4½ Hours

CHICAGO —UP— United Airlines has ordered 30 jet airliners which it says will whisk passengers from New York to Los Angeles in four and a half hours and from New York to Chicago in 90 minutes.

A UAL announcement Tuesday night said the jet service between principal American cities will start by November, 1959. They will be the first jet flights on U.S. domestic airlines, the UAL said.

The jets will be built by Douglas Aircraft Co. of Santa Monica, Calif., and will cost about $175 million.

"Vibrationless Flight" UAL President W. A. Patterson said they will carry from 112 to 140 passengers each on a "smooth, quiet and vibrationless" ride at altitudes of 30,000 to 40,000 feet. Their speed will average between 550 and 575 miles an hour.

At present, it takes seven hours and 40 minutes to make the cross-country New York to Los Angeles flight and two and a half hours to fly between Chicago and New York.

The new jets will thus cut three hours and 10 minutes from the Los Angeles flight and a full hour from the Chicago trip, the UAL said.

In addition, it said, it will take only 11 hours to fly from New York to Honolulu, including an hour's stopover in Los Angeles. The Chicago-to-Los Angeles time will be three hours and 20 minutes, the UAL said.

Other Plans Announced Pan American World Airways has already announced it is buying 45 jet-powered airliners for service on its trans-Atlantic, South American and trans-Pacific flight starting December, 1958.

Eastern Airlines plans to buy 20 jet planes, but has not set the date, and other domestic airlines have announced plans to put turbo-prop jet planes into operation in 1958-59. Turboprops differ from jets because their jet engine power is used to drive conventional propellers.

The only previous attempt to carry passengers in jet airliners was abandoned by Britain. The Comet jet airliners were grounded after a series of accidents caused by metal fatigue.

Farm Hearing Opens

Farmers Split On Price Prop Issue

DES MOINES —UP— The Senate Agriculture committee opened hearings on government farm price props in this farm belt capital Wednesday with a warning from one of its own members that farmers are "hopelessly divided" over the issue.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, a Republican from the farm belt state of South Dakota, added that the committee itself is hopelessly split between advocates of the administration's flexible farm support program and of the old Democratic program of high, rigid supports.

"But there are other answers and we must find them," Mundt told an audience of Des Moines businessmen and Iowa farm leaders at a dinner Tuesday night. "Wednesday's hearing is the third in a series scheduled by the Senate committee, which plans to write new farm support legislation in January. At Washington, Minn., Tuesday, the senators heard an excited audience cheer demands for the removal of Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson and a return to high supports on hogs and other farm products.

Low hog prices have also stirred up farmer unrest in this state, where the newly-organized national farm organization has called for Benson's resignation and asked for a government floor under hog prices. But the administration farm program also has staunch defenders in Iowa, in the leaders of the powerful Farm Bureau Federation.

Mundt's mention of "other answers" to the politically touchy problem of farm income was a reference to his earlier statement that a solution might be found in government land rental payments to farmers. Such payments could keep farm income up and surplus production down, he said.

Sen. Edward J. Thye (R-Minn.) appealed to his colleagues to leave politics aside and write a new farm bill quickly when Congress reconvenes in January. "If the farm issue is left to be fought out in the 1956 campaigns, we'll see the strength of the nation depleted by political recriminations," Thye said.

New Jet Aircraft Resemble Saucers

By CHARLES CORDRY

WASHINGTON —UP— The Air Force will send up at any time now radical new aircraft sure to be mistaken for flying saucers.

One day soon you may see a flame-spouting jet craft zoom straight up from the ground and dart away at supersonic speed. It may be shaped like a disc or a triangle.

But it won't be a flying saucer — one of those weird objects that have been reported dancing across the skies for the past eight years. The Air Force said in an exhaustive report Tuesday that flying saucers are the bunk. The number that cannot be logically explained is approaching the van-

Couple Saved After 2 Days On Tiny Isle

By O. MACK WHITE

MIAMI —UP— A honeymooning couple joked bravely Wednesday about their fears of thirst and starvation during a two-day survival ordeal on a tiny reef in the Florida Straits where their small plane had crash-landed.

Joe K. Richards, 32, and his 19-year-old bride, Laura, were plucked from the narrow, barren reef known as North Elbow Cay by a Coast Guard cutter and brought to Miami Tuesday night.

Richards, an atomic engineer from Portsmouth, Ohio, said that although they never lost hope of rescue the cold nights and scarcity of their food and water made it a "harrowing experience."

Li. Cmdr. S. P. Berryman, skipper of the cutter, said he found them tired, hungry, thirsty and cold after subsisting on mail tablets and a four-ounce daily water ration.

The couple, married Oct. 6 at their home town of Wellston, Ohio, crash-landed on the reef Sunday afternoon on a flight to Key West from Havana, Cuba. They were sighted by a search plane Tuesday.

"I had often told my wife I would like to be stranded with her on a deserted island but I hadn't planned on it exactly this way," Richards said when the cutter Ariadne docked after a nine-hour trip to Miami.

Richards, a World War II pilot, said his attractive wife was "wonderful" throughout the experience. "She stood up better under the circumstances than a lot of men I'm in service with," he said.

Mrs. Richards admitted, however, that she felt "pretty terrible" when they became lost and low on fuel after bucking 35-mile per hour winds during the trip over the straits.

Industrial Campaign Going Good

The Pampa United Fund industrial canvass had resulted in contributions in excess of $4,500 within less than half the workers' reports tabulated late this morning.

A check-in coffee was held in the United Fund office, in the basement of City Hall, this morning, at which time the various workers made their first report of the number of firms that had been contacted and the size of their contributions.

Paul West, general chairman for the drive, said that he was "very satisfied" with the early showing the workers had made.

The industrial canvass will be finished Saturday with another check-in coffee set for Friday at 10 a.m.

On Monday, a kick-off breakfast for workers will be held in the High School cafeteria at 7 a.m. for the general drive. The general drive will include a canvass of individuals, firms and groups and will last until the following Saturday, according to West.

West urged Pampa's citizens to dig deep when they contribute to the campaign which is for contribution-supported organizations including the Red Cross, U. S. O., Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Milk Fund and Heart Fund.

The Monday morning breakfast will include recognition of the representatives of the various benefit organizations. They include Mrs. Marian Osborne, Girl Scout executive; Mrs. Leora Rose, secretary of the Pampa Milk Fund; Mrs. Frank Showell, executive secretary of the Pampa chapter of Red Cross; Phil Peraves, Boy Scout executive; Pampa district; Price Dodder, secretary of the Heart Fund; and Envoy Seago, Salvation Army.

Benson Speech May Tip GOP's New Labor Policy

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON —UP— Insiders will be listening for Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's Moorhead, Minn., speech this week for a tip on Republican plans for dealing with organized labor in next year's presidential campaign.

Benson is scheduled to speak before a farm audience Friday evening. His last previous speech on farm prices aroused CIO President Walter P. Reuther to sharp reply.

That speech was given Sept. 20 in New Orleans before the Farm Equipment Institute. Benson did not place all the blame for the high price of farm equipment on union labor wage gains. But he squarely placed some of the blame there.

Instant Challenge

Reuther challenged instantly, inviting Benson to join him in urging congressional investigation of wages, prices and profits in the steel, automobile and farm equipment industries. Meantime, the word in Washington was that Benson had not cleared his speech with the White House where some of the staff was represented as upset by the secretary's potshot at union leadership.

But some of Benson's advisers were unimpressed. They have urged the secretary to stick to the theme that some of labor's gains have been unwarranted and unfair to both the farmer and the consumer. That is a delicate and politically explosive proposition. Benson stated it at New Orleans, with special reference to farm equipment and some parts of the food industry in which he cited specifically higher wage, handling and transportation costs.

It has been suggested by some persons to Benson that he proceed further, direct his fire more directly at Reuther and spell out what he considers to have been the effect of CIO wage increases recently gained in the packing and farm equipment industries.

No Hint on Advice There has been no hint from the Agriculture Department that Benson will accept such advice or, more important, that the Eisenhower strategy board would permit him to accept it. What Benson has been urged to do is precisely what a group of Republican senators already has done — seek to carry political warfare to such union leaders as Reuther without taking on all of his union members.

THIS FELLOW WAS REALLY FROM OUT OF THIS WORLD

HOUSTON —UP— A 28-year-old man jailed as a drunk insisted to police he was a "man from Mars." Then he set about proving it.

With bare hands, he ripped down a heavy steel bar bolted to a jail cell wall, tore out a strip of inch-thick plywood, yanked a commode out of its concrete base and battered down the door of the jail psychopathic cell. At this point jailers fled for help.

The "man from Mars," however, just walked into another cell, flopped onto a cot and went to sleep. Jailers slipped up, snapped on handcuffs and leg irons and hauled him, now unresisting, to the county psychopathic ward.

Giles Appeals Theft Conviction

AUSTIN —UP— Former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles Wednesday formally appealed a trial court conviction on charges he participated in a shady veterans land deal.

However, Austin attorney C. C. Small Jr., representing Giles, included no bills of exception with the appeal. Neither was there a statement of facts.

The formal act of appealing—regardless of whether it might be pressed to conclusion—gave the 54-year-old former state official a minimum of 90 days in which to arrange his personal affairs.

Giles was convicted July 28 by a Travis county jury of aiding in the theft of $4,800 in state funds. He was sentenced to not less than two nor more than three years in prison. The 90 days allowed for appeal was up Wednesday.

It was this conviction that Giles appealed. He now has such additional time as the high court may take in considering his case. This—unless the appeal should be withdrawn—may be weeks or months.

Less than a month later, Giles entered a plea of guilty to a charge he agreed to accept a $30,000 bribe while boss of the $100 million veterans land program. His punishment was fixed at six years in the penitentiary, and similar notice of appeal was given by Giles' attorneys.

The 90-day deadline applies to the original trial court. Formal papers must be filed there prior to expiration of the deadline. It is then the responsibility of the clerk of that court to forward the papers to the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The case is then docketed by the clerk of the appellate court. Cases are now being set for the January calendar. However, a request by defense counsel to withdraw an appeal may be entered at any time.

Officers of the Santa Fe District of Boy Scouts were elected for 1956 at a session of the district committee last night at 7:30 in the City Hall.

Officers were elected by the nominating committee and will be installed in January.

Reds Claim Macao Is Chinese

HONG KONG —UP— Communist China last claim Wednesday the 400-year-old Portuguese colony of Macao and warned that Portugal's "continued occupation" of the Chinese coastal territory can no longer be tolerated.

Red Chinese propaganda organs distributed and broadcast the claim and warning. They started both western and Chinese circles here and in Macao and were seen as the possible opening shot in a Communist campaign against the Portuguese colony.

It immediately increased the possibility that the Communists may next claim the British crown colony of Hong Kong.

The Communists also warned they may take Macao back with support from India. Peiping said Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India supported their claim and "told the Indian parliament on Sept. 17 that Macao should be returned to China as a matter of course."

Macao is the oldest permanent European settlement in China. The colony includes three islands on the coast of southern Kwangtung province about 50 miles across the Pearl River estuary from the British colony of Hong Kong. It has a population of about 400,000, mostly Chinese.

TEEN TOPICS

By HELEN STEWARD

LAST WEEK END seemed like a homecoming or something in Pampa. All the PHS grads must have gotten homesick at the same time. A lot of them came home. There was Carl Bionkviat, Bobby Meriar, Tommy Lockhart, Betty Osborne, Rich Hankins, Woody Ewert, Kelvin Roney, Jimmy Fowell, Johnny and Gaylon Kerr, Gary Griffin, E. Jay McVain and a lot of others.

Real homecoming isn't far away. It is set for Nov. 24, Thanksgiving Day. The class to be honored is the Class of 1906, the very first graduates of Pampa High.

Mrs. Roy Hall, president of the Alumni Association, says that a queen will be chosen for the affair. Several other prizes will be awarded, also.

Two teens in PHS have turned out to be hunters. Malcolm Brown tells that he bagged an antelope recently. His was the first one to be taken this season.

Leatrice Urbanczyk spent a whole week in deer hunting in the mountains of Colorado with her uncle. She doesn't claim to have killed a deer, but she had a wonderful time.

JACKIE EDWARDS senior, is a proud father. He has been after this columnist all week to "be sure and write about my baby girl." The little girl's name is Susan Cecilia. She has an older brother named Jackie Duane, Jr. Her mother is the former Delores Blymiller, a grad of PHS.

Two English Women Vie For The Attention Of A Ghost

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON — UP—Although the ladies in the case have simmered down a bit, the courts may still have to rule whether a living person can alienate the affections of a ghost.

A few days ago it looked certain to go to court but a gentleman named Leslie Howard, no kin of the late actor but quite a figure in London psychic matters, convinced the ladies there would be a good deal of unfavorable publicity.

Besides, he told them, what would "South Wind" say?

South Wind is the ghost of an American Indian or, as the ladies prefer to describe him, a "spirit guide." He "passed over" about the same time Sitting Bull was standing up to the U. S. cavalry.

Thought Gentle Thoughts South Wind was not, however, a warrior. While the war drums tumbled, he sat in front of his tepee thinking gentle thoughts.

A few years ago one of the ladies went into a trance and "met" South Wind. His spirit had been searching, she said, for an earthly outlet to act as a link of communication between this world and the next. And this lady, who is being described as "Medium A" in the current dispute, claimed him as her own.

Recently, however, "Medium A" discovered that "Medium B" had also been calling South Wind down from the spirit world to communicate through her. This poaching in the spirit preserves infuriated "Medium A" who complained bitterly to Howard.

She felt that "Medium B" had taken advantage of South Wind's kindly nature and willingness to oblige. He was much too nice to say no and hence it was up to "Medium B" to stop asking him to manifest through her.

Howard believes he has the quarrel resolved for the moment. "Medium B" has promised she will not make the first move toward contacting South Wind. If he wants to speak through her, he will have to make the first overture. She does not promise, however, to turn him away.

The case has aroused great interest in psychic circles and suggestions are being made that perhaps there are two "South Winds"—one of them the legitimate Indian in control of "Medium A" and the other a minor wraith jealously seeking to cash in on his reputation.

"There are impostors in the spirit world, too," said Howard.

JayCees Hear Report On City Survey

Kay Fancher of KPND urged Junior Chamber of Commerce members to know the facts of the recent survey taken of Pampa by Bert C. Blanton, industrial engineer and business economist of Dallas, yesterday noon.

The report is designed to portray the agricultural, financial, commercial, industrial, and economic importance of the city, together with future projections and forecasts.

"Prospects for Pampa are a lot better in the next 10 to 15 years than they are today," Fancher said, and pointed out that we are witnessing one of the biggest developments in the Panhandle.

According to the report, monetary value of livestock in Pampa's trade territory is over $77,673,990, and the projected population is estimated at 47,797 in 1980.

Bob Carmichael, president, announced that the board of directors planned to buy used dental equipment for a free dental clinic to be set up in Highland General Hospital for underprivileged children.

Godfrey Fires Three More Of TV Crew

NEW YORK—UP—Arthur Godfrey's storm-tossed ship, suffering from three new losses in its crew, wobbles onto TV channels Wednesday night in the face of reports that more heave-hos may be on the way.

Godfrey, the fiery-tempered emcee of the airwaves, applied the ax to three members of his "Talent Scouts" crew Tuesday—producer Larry Puck, musical conductor Jerry Bresler and announcer George Bryan.

The dismissals followed the surprise pattern of other Godfrey out- ings of such performers as Julius La Rosa, Marion Marlowe, Archie Bleyer and The Mariners. The firings came without notice while Godfrey was preparing for Wednesday night's TV program at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show in Harrisburg.

Godfrey commented Wednesday in Harrisburg, "I've said before that I'm running this job and when I can't hire and fire I'll quit." Asked about his show's slipping ratings, Godfrey said "when you're in the top 10, there's only one way to go—down."

There were reports that singer Lu Ann Simms might be the next victim of Godfrey's wrath. Miss Simms, who took six weeks leave from the Godfrey family after giving birth to a daughter, has not received definite word from Godfrey that she'll be back on his show.

Winter Hits Southland

By UNITED PRESS

Wintry weather chilled the southland Wednesday, making Tuscaloosa, Ala., one of the chilliest spots in the country while Havre, Mont., was one of the warmest.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said in a special bulletin that chill air had spread rapidly through Dixie, dropping temperatures deep into the 30s in the interior and into the 40s along the Gulf Coast.

Sub-freezing temperatures included 29 at Tuscaloosa, 30 at Jackson, Miss., and 31 at Chattanooga, Tenn., and Greenwood, Miss. Other chilly readings included 32 at Tri City, Tenn., and Augusta, Ga., 34 at Columbia, S.C., and 35 at Montgomery and Birmingham, Ala., Monroe, La., and Columbus, Miss.

The cold front became more intense as it stretched all the way into New England, where it was right above zero at snowy Mt. Washington, N. H.

Paper Frowns On Meg's Love

LONDON—UP—The Times of London said Wednesday Princess Margaret would be "irrevocably disqualified" from carrying out her royal duties if she married divorced Peter Townsend.

The influential newspaper ended its long editorial silence with stern comment on Margaret's romance with the handsome Royal Air Force group captain. Margaret and Townsend decided on marriage, it said, "the princess will be entering into a union which vast numbers of her sister's people, all sincerely anxious for her lifelong happiness, cannot in all conscience regard as a marriage."

Opposition of the Church of England to remarriage of divorced persons, even innocent parties to divorce, was reaffirmed by Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, archbishop of Canterbury, who pointed out that "a reasonable church does not change its teaching every few minutes."

Aim at Re-unification

The western aim, of course, was Soviet consent to re-unification of the east and west zones of Germany. Dulles said when he was in Denver last week that he had hopes of "concrete progress" toward re-unification.

"We shall all of us follow with eagerness the developments at Geneva," the President said, "for they will go far to demonstrate whether the 'spirit of Geneva' marks a genuine change and will actually be productive of the peaceful progress for which the whole world longs."

The "spirit of Geneva" to which the President referred was the generally easier attitude of the Soviets toward the West following Mr. Eisenhower's Big Four meeting in Geneva last July. It was at this meeting that the leaders of the world's most powerful nations laid down the agenda for their foreign ministers' who gathered around the conference table at the historic Palace of Nations in Geneva Thursday.

DIZZY DAVIS ... Main Eventer

Wrestling Scheduled For Tonight

The Pampa Shrine Club has lined up an all star cast for the first Wednesday night performance at the Top o' Texas Sportsman's Club. Leading off the card will be the semi-final bout between Dizzy Davis and Luis Martinez. It will be two out of three falls with a 45 minute time limit. A special attraction has been added this week featuring two beautiful lady wrestlers. The bout will be two of three falls with one hour time limit. The bout will be between Millie Stafford and China Mira. The main event is two of three falls between Dory Funk, Amarillo and Rip Rogers, Houston. This bout should be well worth the admission price. The Davis, Martinez bout is a grudge bout and should present some of the roughest wrestling ever held at the club. The bouts get underway at 8 with all proceeds going to the Pampa Shrine Club Crippled Children's Fund.

The cat was shot in the leg and fell to the ground and gave five dogs a furious fight before it was subdued and that was not before three of the dogs were hurt. (News Photo)

Harvesters Ready For Midland Attack

The Pampa Harvesters, despite their injuries, are getting ready with confidence that they can give the Midland Bulldogs a good game. The Green and Golders still have Buddy Sharp, Earl Cooper, Doug Simmons and Burt Kirbie on the injured list but they have brought up three members of the "B" squad. Buster Baird, Dale Lake and Robert Lankford will probably see some action this week when Coach Lockett and his boys invade Midland. Baird and Lake saw some action last week against the Abilene machine with Baird going over for one of the two Pampa counters. Lankford and Lake have been doing a fine job for the "B" stringers but are needed on the varsity squad. Coach Lockett said at Quarterback Club meeting last night, "If we can stop Wahoo McDaniel we will play the Bulldogs a good game." McDaniel places second in the district in the ball totting division. He has racked up 303 yards in 37 times and is ahead of the powerful Marvin Lasater who hurt the Harvesters at San Angelo. Burt Kirbie is in condition that he might get to play some but he won't be in good condition before the Odessa game Nov. 12. Buddy Sharp might get to play one or two plays if he goes to Midland. "Hope for Sharp suiting out are not likely," said the coach last night. "We don't even plan to take him," he concluded. "The team has never given up and will win some games yet if we ever get all our injured back into shape," was the comment of members of the Quarterback Club. Contact work and learning the Midland attack were main points

Baylor Drops 5 Squadmen

WACO —UP— The Baylor University discipline committee suspended indefinitely late Tuesday the five Baylor varsity players who earlier were kicked off the football squad for breaking training. The committee said sophomore Paul Carter, who was ruled guilty in lesser degree than the others of training violations, can apply for reinstatement to Baylor in the 1956 summer term. It made no mention, however, of guards Dan Miller and Dugan Pearce, center Jim Taylor and back Jimmy Daventport. Miller, Pearce and Taylor were the heart of the first string Baylor line.

Pirates Sign Joe L. Brown

PITTSBURGH —UP— The youth movement of the Pittsburgh Pirates spread to the front office Wednesday following the appointment of 37-year-old Joe L. Brown as the youngest general manager in the National League. Brown, young in age but an 18-year veteran of executive experience, takes over executive duties, replacing Branch Rickey Sr., who will remain as advisor and chairman of the club's board of directors. Although retaining a strong hand in the operation, Rickey agreed with Pirate President John Galbreath that Brown will be in complete charge of running the team. "Joe will run the team—he's on his own," Galbreath said after announcing Brown's appointment Tuesday at a news conference. Brown, freely admitting that he's a "Ricky man" immediately mapped plans for the Pirates' future. He said he would welcome trades with other clubs "just as long as such trades will help us." "But we won't give up any power at the plate or trade off our best pitchers unless we get more in return," he added. "We're through experimenting. We'll go along with experienced men or bring in only players from our higher farm classifications." The son of famed comedian Joe E. Brown indicated the naming of a new field manager to replace ousted Fred Haney may come next week, although he said there was no hurry or pressure in the matter.

Bud Wilkinson Is UP Coach Of The Week

By CARTER BRADLEY NORMAN Okla.—UP— He hasn't lost a conference game since he came here as head coach nine years ago. And last Saturday, when the opposition ran up a 14-0 lead and the long unbeaten record was in jeopardy, his boys rose up magnificently and scored a crushing 36-21 victory. He's the United Press coach of the week, Charles (Bud) Wilkinson of Oklahoma's socking Sooners. He has directed them to the longest winning streak of any college in the nation, 24 games, and Oklahoma has gone 49 consecutive conference games without a loss since he took over in 1947 after Jim Tatum went to Maryland. There are only two ties in that string of 49 games and the last one was against Colorado, a 21-21 head-knocker at the opener of the 1952 season. One Big Difference This time Colorado also scored 21 points. The only difference was that the Sooners scored 56. What suddenly aroused them after a lethargic first period in which neither team scored and that fateful second quarter in which Colorado ran up 14 points in the first three minutes? Wilkinson has a favorite one-word answer to that question—"intensity." He uses it whenever the Sooners score a triumph that is a standout. "If we can maintain that intensity as we have had it, we will continue to play well," he said. "It means that we as coaches have a responsibility, too. We try to keep the boys interested in personal improvement from week to week." That means we must find energetic and well-round personalities to be our best football players. A boy who comes to college only to play football isn't the boy who will try hardest." Wilkinson concedes that Oklahoma's almost embarrassing dominance is due to superior depth. Almost All Oklahomans "But, as for that depth, I would like to emphasize that with only three exceptions, all our players live within 250 miles of our campus in Norman," he said. "Oklahoma's football teams are made up of Oklahomans." Wilkinson emphasized that because he doesn't put much faith in records or statistics, Oklahoma made no special preparations for Colorado. The other games ahead, he thinks, will be just as tough. He sticks to that conviction despite the fact that the remaining five games on the Sooner schedule are against teams with a combined total of five victories and 22 defeats. And what if the Sooners should go on through and meet Maryland again in the Orange Bowl as they did two years ago when the Sooners scored a 7-0 triumph? If the same teams played again, would the Sooners be at a disadvantage because Tatum's Terrapins would be seeking revenge? "After the season is over and you don't have to play anyone else, then you can start drawing conclusions such as that," Wilkinson said.

Cotton Bowl Tickets Already Near Sellout

DALLAS —UP— There already are plenty of takers for tickets to the 1956 Cotton Bowl game. The first big batch of mail brought enough ticket applications Tuesday to use up about one-half of the 25,000 tickets available to the public for the annual New Year's Day football classic. Wednesday is the third day of the four-day period during which the general public may apply for the tickets. Howard Grubbs, executive secretary and general manager of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association, said between 2,800 and 3,000 letters were delivered Tuesday. "That's about the usual number for the first day's mail," Grubbs said. "They will average about four applications (the limit) per letter, so that means from 10,000 to 12,000 tickets." All applications postmarked before midnight Thursday will be placed in numbered folders and a drawing held to determine the order in which applications are filled. Those not drawn will have their checks returned as soon as possible.

Baptists In Convention At Houston

HOUSTON —UP— The 70th Baptist General Convention of Texas opened in Sam Houston Coliseum Tuesday with an historic pageant of the growth of the woman's missionary union.

An estimated 11,000 messengers of the convention's 3,604 churches and 1,271,000 members, attended the opening joint session of the General Convention, the Woman's Missionary Union of Texas, and the Texas State Brotherhood.

Dr. J. Ralph Grant, Lubbock, convention, president, welcomed the delegates. The colorful, costumed pageant, including a mock Indian massacre with a cast of 400, observed the 75th anniversary of the WMU in Texas.

Following the pageant Dr. Robert G. Lee, Memphis, Tenn., spoke on the convention theme "Holding Forth the Words of Life." Separate pre-convention meetings were held by the WMU and the brotherhood Monday.

Gov. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma addressed the brotherhood Monday night. He predicted that national legislation will be passed within a few years, banning liquor in the United States.

Dr. Curtis Redford, delegate from the Southern Baptist Convention, told the Woman's Missionary Union that Southern Baptists are planning to start 2,000 new churches and revive 700 inactive churches during the coming year.

Sinclair Weeks Walkingest Member Of President's Team

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS WASHINGTON —UP— What's new in Washington:

Sinclair Weeks, the secretary of commerce, is the walkingest member of Ike's Cabinet. He lives in the old Georgetown area of Washington, a good three miles from his office, and generally walks it at least one way. The other day he was to do a TV show on safety. The studio people were pacing and waiting. Weeks showed up about two minutes before the show was to go on. "It was quite a walk," the secretary said. It was at that, four miles, timed just right.

Somebody started a rumor that the government has a bunch of surplus Jeeps — all crated and ready to sell for $25 apiece. There's nothing to it, folks. The Army surplus division is getting tired of writing letters to people from all over the country. Fact is, the only Army Jeeps for sale are those that can't be economically repaired — and then only to the highest bidder.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chief of staff of the Army, generally has a question and answer session after he makes a speech. The other day he asked a bunch of young paratrooper recruits why they chose that rugged branch of the service. One kid said he didn't care too much about jumping out of airplanes, but he liked to be around men who like to jump out of airplanes. The general, who commanded the famous 82nd Airborne Division in World War II, nodded in understanding. "That makes two of us, soldier," he said.

The Pentagon reports that Pfc. Francis I. Steinberg of Staten Island, N. Y., was unpacking some wet-cell batteries when he found a little note saying "good luck." The handwriting looked familiar, so he took it back to his barracks and compared the note to his girl friend's handwriting. It matched. She happens to work in a plant about 10 blocks from his house back home. The girl, Pat Stern, owned up to the note and said she put a "good luck" note in all of the packages she sent to the 32nd Infantry, Seventh Division. The Hawthorne, N. J. drum and bugle corps had a lot of tough luck at the American Legion's campsite in Miami. During the contest it rained like everything and the bugles got gurgly and the drums weren't thumpable. The New Jersey boys finished fourth. The uniforms were so soaked the boys couldn't march the next day. On the way home, the truck juggling the uniforms caught fire in Neptune, Ga. A loss of $7,500 in duds. The drummers and horn tooters managed to get home with their trophy, which came from a ribbon counter.

Lost 30 Pounds With Barcentrate

"I have lost 30 pounds taking Barcentrate, reducing from 160 to 130 pounds," writes Ruth Simpson, 2204 Rule Ave., Amarillo, Texas. —and Mrs. John Martin, 115 1/2 N. Bad Trouble Brewing In Ike's Cabinet

By LYLE C. WILSON WASHINGTON —UP— There's serious trouble deep inside the Eisenhower administration. If the President has not yet been informed of it, the day is near when he must be told.

The Cabinet is divided and actively disputing what should be done about the price squeeze on farmers. The farmers' costs remain high. At the same time they are getting less for what they produce and sell. This is notably true of farm machinery and of hogs. Corn-hog producers and the great midwestern corn-hog states long have been the bedrock of the Republican political structure. Falling pork and lard prices have jarred foundation and structure with an earthquake shock.

Benson stands Pat Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. and Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield are among those battling to force Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's hand in behalf of hog raisers. Benson has been standing pat, confident that President Eisenhower will support him and equally sure of the powerful support of Mr. Eisenhower's younger brother, Milton.

This all adds up to a political conflict of major proportions which is reaching the point where the President must act if he is to avoid a bruising public row within his own administration.

IBronell failed during his weekend visit to Denver to lay this one in Mr. Eisenhower's lap. It must have been only because the doctors insisted that the bad news be withheld.

Want Action Now Benson is being urged to use some of the large and unallocated funds at his disposal to bail out the corn-hog producers. Benson says the time is not yet for that. He has argued that hog prices must go lower before government can intervene successfully.

Benson was on the same spot in 1954 when egg prices scrambled midwestern Republican politics. Benson is willing to do something for hog raisers, but he has preferred to wait whereas Nixon and some of his Cabinet colleagues want instant action.

Prejudice vs Tolerance

There seems to be a tendency in our government school today to confuse positive knowledge and definite opinion with prejudice. Any person who is well informed on a given subject which has led to his holding a point of view with conviction is subject to being attacked by the double-domed professors as being "intolerant."

At Colorado University in Boulder, the assistant professor of sociology, Jiri Nehnevajsky, has been chairing a special committee, out to determine the extent of prejudice in the minds of matriculating students. The findings of this committee, ascertained by means of a 76-question survey are highly illuminating.

First of all, the survey claims the depth of conviction regarding religion held by a student, reveals the extent of his intolerance. If he is devout, he is prejudiced. According to the report, "Catholic students are more likely to be intolerant. Protestants were listed second, followed by all other religions except the Jewish faith, then the Jews." The report added that agnostics were practically always tolerant.

But the survey probes other areas of thought and belief as well as the religious. And it establishes that students coming into the university for the first time tend to be more intolerant than those who have been there before. The freshmen and sophomore group are more prejudiced than juniors and seniors. Also, those with the best grades tended to appear as less prejudiced, and male students generally were more prejudiced than women students.

But the key to the whole survey is discovered when the report includes this interesting comment: Students taking pharmacy, physical education, engineering and business courses, were most inclined toward prejudice. On the other hand, students studying psychology, social science, philosophy and modern languages were listed as least prejudiced. The survey did not say why.

But we should like to hazard an opinion. The students concerned with facts, with science, with math or economics, with business and life as it is, were prejudiced. The students concerned with theory, intellectual gymnastics and guesswork were not prejudiced.

And this state of affairs points up the sad condition in our schools of compulsion and governmental overshadowing. The prizes, the highest grades are given to those who retain an "open" mind. And the longer a student remains at the university the more surely does he come to know that his own ability to graduate is in direct relationship to his ability to be tolerant of error and evil. For the aim of the curriculum as revealed by this survey is to create and maintain the mind in a well-poised vacuum. One should be certain of very few things. Uncertainty becomes the mark of the well educated. For in the tolerance and lack of prejudice in the mind of the uninformed, lie the stooges of tomorrow who will "hail caesar" without the slightest twinge of conscience, or the slightest awareness that humanity has been betrayed by their own vague compassion.

Actually, the results drawn from the survey by Mr. Nehnevajsky are ridiculous. There is no one less tolerant, religiously speaking, than the agnostic. He simply cannot condone what he suspects is ignorance and superstition in the religious practices of others.

Conversely, Catholics who cling to their religious and spiritual convictions are nearly always generous and tolerant of what they construe to be errors in the thinking and training of others.

Certainly, freshmen and sophomore students appear more intolerant. That is because when they first enter the university a few convictions still cling to them. After four years they are as uncertain and unconvinced as any group of brainwashes.

Mac Was A Pioneer In Cross-Country Flights

By HENRY McLEMORE

I wish I had a copy of the story I banged out at the Newark Airport back in 1932. I think it was not because I was particularly good one, because it wasn't. I was dead tired, three-quarters dead, slightly air-sick, and pretty excited.

I would like to have the story as solid proof of the wonders that have been wrought in aviation since that drizzly evening, twenty-three years ago.

The story was written just after I had landed in a DC-2 which, with Captain Eddie Rickenbacker and Cy Morehouse at the controls, had set a new record for a transcontinental crossing.

We had left Burbank Airport at dawn and, with only a fuel stop at Kansas City, had spanned the country in just a shade under twelve hours.

It was a big story. Jim Kilgallen, ace reporter of the INS, and Roy Howard, head of Scripps-Howard newspapers, were my boss at the time. They were the only other passengers aboard. There wasn't room for any more. Our three seats were way back in the tail, the rest of the DC-2 being fitted with fuel tanks.

To add a dramatic touch to the flight, Rick had advertised our crossing by promising we would have breakfast in California and dinner in New York. He had our scrambled eggs at a table beside the DC-2 in the early morning light, and then took off. It wasn't a very pleasant California morning. Rickenbacker had waited more than a week for dirty weather to clear and for more favorable winds.

I don't know what route we flew, but I remember the beauty of the Painted Desert and seeing the gorge of the Colorado River from such a height that it resembled nothing more than a thin cord stretched across the earth.

I also remember the motors acting up over the Rockies and Rickenbacker crawling back across the fuel tanks to tell us to fasten our life belts, as seat belts were then called. And I remember Howard's remark to Rick as we lightened them.

"These are the most inadequate so-and-so's for a time like this that I ever saw."

There was a big crowd out to see us at Kansas City, and I bailed out my story of the first leg of the flight, as excited about having Howard, the head man of my outfit, run my copy into Western Union, as I was about what had happened.

We ran into foul weather further east and got well off our course. We were so high over Pittsburgh crossing by promising we would have breakfast in California and dinner in New York. He had our scrambled eggs at a table beside

Hope in Individuals, Not Parties

I am reproducing the balance of an article appearing originally in the Journal of the Society for Individual Freedom in England. It was reproduced in Christian Economics.

While the article refers to the conditions in England, it is a splendid object lesson of what is going on in the United States. From here on the author is speaking.

"Contest in Mass Bribery"

"Another point was overlooked. This was the impact of the idea that the State should be responsible for dealing with all ills on a community in which universal suffrage existed. In such a community the mass vote is essential to attaining political power. And, dislike the fact as we may, it is the fact that except under pressure of extreme emergency (such as the prospect of defeat in war) the masses are much more susceptible to the promise of 'Bread and Circuses' than to the summons to 'work and discipline.' Thus the politics of our day have become a contest in mass bribery, in which the future is mortgaged in the most reckless fashion by the Left, and only very indifferently safeguarded by the Right.

"In 1900 the total Budget of Britain was 134 million pounds. Today it stands at something over 4,900 million pounds. The State takes from the citizen on the average, eight shillings out of every twenty he earns. Defense, of course, is responsible for much of it. But the very necessity of vast defense expenditure derives from the fact that there are States in which the process of making the State omnipotent has gone even further than it has here. In this field too, the omnipotent State is the enemy!"

"Expenditure of Inflation"

"But the State not only takes eight shillings out of every pound a man earns. It depreciates the value of the twelve shillings it leaves. For, as a condition of sustaining the vast edifice of expenditure for which it State is now responsible, the State has been driven to the expedient of inflation. Henry the Sixth began a modest way of diminishing the proportion of precious metal in the coins of the realm. But he was an amateur compared with the modern State. Within my not very long life the value of the pound has dropped to a quarter of what it was when I was born. Millions of Britons have never so much as seen a gold coin!"

"Extend the scope of the State, and you extend its power over the individual. Extend the scope of the State, and you must also increase the numbers of people employed by the State and the municipalities to administer the services which the State has usurped. Today there are some 1,500,000 civil municipal servants against, perhaps, half a million when I was a boy. And as the bureaucracy has grown in size, its mental attitude has altered. It now feels itself to be not the servant, but the master, of the people, as so many cases occurring today amply demonstrate. The vast scope of the modern State makes 'delegated legislation' inevitable. And 'delegated legislation' gives the bureaucrat the powers of a Parliament. And the more laws and rules, the greater the multiplication of offences, and the law itself falls into disrepute.

"The process of making the State omnipotent, and reducing the citizen to an almost complete impotence, has of course been vastly assisted by war. In war the Government assumes with the general consent, sweeping powers over life and property. Always it promises that, with the end of the 'emergency' it will give up these powers, and remove the status quo. But seldom, never, does it keep its promise.

"Only One Hope"

"Is there any hope that the drift towards a complete 'Etatism' may be arrested and reversed? I myself see only one hope. For fifty years we have been surrendering liberty in order to gain security thereby. While the illusion persists that this is possible, the process will go on, for the mass of men prefer the latter to the former. Only when a sufficient proportion of the population realize that the sacrifice of freedom has not brought security will the reaction set in. The 'new poor,' the middle classes, already realize it. The worker, getting more pound notes in his pay packet than ever before, is bewildered and angered to find that the pound-note buys less and less. He is increasingly conscious that there's a 'catch in it somewhere,' though he doesn't yet know what it is. One day the economic adversity which surely awaits our over-burdened, over-taxed industrial system will bring it home to him.

"Meantime the only hope is in individuals, not in Parties. For in the matter of 'Etatism' there is no such difference between the two great Parties as makes the difference between freedom and serfdom. They differ only in degree, and not much in degree!"

So hang on, fellows! From here on in we're going to turn on the coal and go downhill!"

We shook, rattled and rolled, with Rick giving the DC-2 all she had—and we made it.

Several thousand people were at Newark to see us come in, and to get a look at the big DC-2. And she did look big back in those days.

By my typewriter as I write this is a morning paper with a small, one-column head over an account of how a Boeing 707, America's

Heavy Jewish Vote In U. S. Influences Mid-East Policy

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The heavy, concentrated Jewish vote in the United States, which can decide the outcome in states with almost 200 Presidential electoral votes, influences current American policy in the Middle East. It is another instance in which partisan politics dictates the conduct of foreign affairs.

State Department officials recognize and deplore it. Egyptian spokesmen here and in Cairo charge that they cannot get a "fair hearing" in this country because they lack political pull, funds and propaganda resources. Here is the general background of an extremely difficult international situation:

Israel has been buying arms abroad because she has the cash. A great deal of the money comes from private sources, such as American purchases of Palestine bonds, and contributions to the annual United Jewish Appeal. Zionist organizations are now conducting a drive to resettle North African Jews in Israel.

Although this money does not come from the U. S. Government, Colonel Gamal Abdel Nasser, Egyptian dictator, regards it as American reinforcement to an unfriendly state. Not having cash, he has been unable to meet our terms in purchasing weapons. Like Tito in Yugoslavia, Nasser also refuses to permit us to inspect the use of any arms we sell him. He regards it as an infringement on his country's sovereignty.

"Although it is not true," says a high Administration official, "these facts make it appear that the Jews have a mortgage on our foreign policy. Certainly, Nasser thinks so."

As a result, Egypt is bartering cotton and rice with Czechoslovakia, a Soviet satellite, for rifles, artillery, planes and tanks. The deal may give Moscow a military and trading foothold in the strategic Middle East, precipitating a dangerous arms race and possible war between the hostile states. It is charged that the Arabs seek to "destroy Israel."

Israel, in turn, wants us to offset Egypt's new strength by guaranteeing her security. Tel Aviv seeks the same sort of security pact which we have with Western Europe, South Korea, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand.

With the Presidential election only a year off, this claim on our friendship and generosity imposes a heavy burden on President Eisenhower, Secretary Dulles and the GOP in general. It could mean the defeat of numerous Republican Representatives in certain urban centers.

Ike and Dulles do not want to first commercial jet transport plane, had just zoomed from Seattle to Washington in 3 hours and 58 minutes and returned in 4 hours and 4 minutes.

That's really clipping Father Time's beard. And all in 23 short years. By cracker, I'm a pioneer, like contribute to an armament race, or to throw the Arabs into Red arms. Yet they cannot afford to alienate 5,000,000 voters in the U.S.

The Democrats have not hesitated to capitalize on this issue. As a matter of fact, all they have to do is to let Ike and Dulles "carry the ball," knowing that a fumble is almost certain, no matter what policy they adopt.

Governor Averell Harriman and Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York made special visits to Israel earlier this year, and paid tribute to the progress and courage of the young republic. Both recalled that F.D.R. and Harry S. Truman were the principal architects of this Jewish homeland.

Jake Arvey, Adlai E. Stevenson's sponsor, went there even better. A year ago, he presided at a conference of world Jews in Tel Aviv, which called upon Jews everywhere to contribute substantially to Israel's support, the Chicago Democrat is extremely active in the Zionist movement.

Abba Eban, Israel Ambassador at Washington and a brilliant orator, frequently addresses sympathetic American audiences on behalf of his country's needs and demands. Until Dr. Mahmoud Fawzi, Egyptian Foreign Minister, appeared on a television panel a week ago, the Egyptians had persisted in a sullen and anti-American silence. They are resigned and resentful toward our policy.

W. Somerset Maugham, that popular apostle of sophistication and worldliness, is quoted as having said: "Perfection is a trifle dull. It is not the least of life's ironies that this, which we all aim at, is better not quite achieved."

I think Maugham is 100 per cent wrong. Mark Twain said, "The difference between the right word and the almost-right word is the difference between lightning and the lightning bug."

I take my stand with Mark Twain — and Toscanini and Celini and Wagner and Rembrandt, who knew that, the nearer they came to perfection, the more moving and inspiring and lasting would their works be.

There is nothing dull about perfection. It is the most exciting and stirring thing imaginable. It is imperfection — the drab, listless, flabby mediocrity that is so prevalent — that is dull. Imperfection is the feeble, fiftly lightning bug. But perfection is the flashing, flaming lightning bolt, the reverberation of whose thunder peal is heard 'round the world.

I see where a loyal employee died the other day and it was discovered that, over a period of twenty-seven years, he embezzled close to forty thousand dollars. There's no business like show business.

Fair Enough

Many German Items Outdo Their American Counterpart

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Berlin — There has been an astounding change in the sectors of Berlin administered by the three Western custodians since I was here last in 1952. The "downtown" streets are brilliant at night, the shop windows are alight and gay, the restaurants are crowded and their bills of fare are luxurious by comparison with the best anywhere in the United States. The hot water in first-class hotels comes out scalding 24 hours a day and there are plenty of taxis operating at prices which seem to me to equal the highest in any American city.

The Sixth U.S. Infantry, which dates back to the war of 1812, is the token garrison, supplemented by M.P.'s for chores and for the duty of riding the freight trains loaded with manufactured stuff west across the Lost Province of East Germany which Truman and Eisenhower ceded to Russia. There are the usual American "administrative" and political bureaus, known nowadays as "agencies," including a "cultural" staff paid by our taxes to misrepresent unhappy facts of our social and political life to the German people.

I cannot say these "culture" plants actually lie to the Germans. Their tactic, as explained to me by Prof. Chester V. Easum, chief "attache" in the Embassy in Bonn, West Germany, is well-revealed in an anecdote, probably NOT apocryphal, of the days when Congress was investigating our armed services. A general officer was called for testimony and his boss phoned him and said: "I would not think of asking you to lie but for God's sake, now, when you go up the hill, don't go crazy and tell the truth!"

Easum seems to have the standard professional resignation to a soft life and social security in the declining years. He has spent years in Germany, pre-war and post-war, and he has never had to contend with the minds of his subjects on equal terms. In the University of Wisconsin his pupils were immature and unequipped to argue, even inwardly, in Germany, he is, in his field, the voice of authority on the "culture" of the American people, even when admittedly he conceals essential information which might discredit his own teaching.

There are now few cars in the Berlin traffic bearing American plates, and the colony of wives, children and other dependents of our military and civilian administrations has thinned out. In short, the gravy train has almost passed the given point. However, it has now slowed to a standstill and the caboose may stay here until the next war or some euphemistic equivalent intervenes.

The stuff in the shop windows is excellent except shoes which as in most of Europe, are clumsy and built for mileage rather than style. The well-dressed European male wears a good-looking suit and hat but he may also walk in burial brown shoes tending toward east-egg red, with heavy-soles, possibly of crepe rubber.

There is plenty of gasoline. It is very expensive by our standards but it goes farther because European standards these delicacies are cheap. Five dollars is a big price for a full meal with wine which would cost $25 in the U.S.A. The glamor plants sell loads of Russian and Iranian caviar at $2 a taste. It is not very good and only suckers buy it.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

Doctors quite often use words to their patients which are not understood and sometimes this causes a good deal of mental distress. Today's first inquiry is perhaps an example.

Q—Will you please say what is meant by functional heart trouble? —Mrs. H. G.

A—This is a term commonly used by physicians for one or more variety of symptoms or signs pointing to the heart which are not a reflection of true disease of that organ. Sometimes there is heart consciousness, palpitation, rapidity of the heart, or other symptoms which might bother the patient but which do not mean that heart disease is present; the origin of such signs probably lies in such a disorder as rheumatic fever, or hardening of the arteries.

Q—Is there any danger of taking too many ergotamine suppositories for migraine headaches? If I take one almost every morning I don't get an attack but if I do not I have a headache. —Mrs. R. D.

A—Yes, there is considerable danger from taking ergotamine preparations regularly. You can develop a condition known as ergot poisoning which may be worse than the migraine. This drug should not be taken except under the advice of a physician.

Q—I am 40 years old and I have been hoarse all of the time for the past five or six months. This is embarrassing and I wonder what you think I should do about it.—C. R.

A—This can be a dangerous symptom of polyps or even cancer in the throat. A constant hoarseness of this kind should never be ignored but careful examination should be undertaken at once.

Q—My fiancée who is of normal intelligence, has a younger sister who goes to a special school for retarded children. Would an affliction of this type be apt to show up in any children we might have because of the relationship?—R.

A—It is not likely. It would perhaps be wise for your fiancée to obtain information from her sister's physician or those who are familiar with her case as to whether her mental retardation is possibly of an hereditary nature.

Q—My feet are causing a great deal of trouble due to perspiration. I have tried many things but I have cricked and callouses on the feet also. Any suggestions?—M. C.

A—It is possible that the excessive perspiration is complicated by some other condition such as ringworm. In a localized condition of this sort, which seems difficult to manage satisfactorily by simple means, it would seem to be a good idea to see a skin specialist.

Q—Is instant coffee any more harmful to the health than other coffee? Some of my friends say it acts on the kidneys and irritates the bladder.—Mr. C. R.

A—I cannot think of any reason why the coffee should be any different from that of other varieties. The "instant" part of the name refers to the making, not to the elimination.

Navy Is Only Underdog In Top 10 This Weekend

By UNITED PRESS
Navy's "team named desire" is burning to beat Notre Dame for the first time since 1944, but the cold, calculating oddsmakers don't think they will do it.

The men who make the odds along Broadway ignored Navy's passion for revenge, its better record, and its higher national ranking and announced Wednesday Notre Dame is favored by six points for this Saturday's big grid-iron clash on the Irish home field.

Navy will go into this long-awaited fray with a perfect record in five games; Notre Dame has four victories and one loss, to Michigan State. What's more, the Midshipmen currently are rated the No. 4 team nationally, while Notre Dame is ranked No. 7.

Navy is the only team ranked among the nation's "top 10" that will be an underdog this Saturday. Michigan, the nation's No. 1 team, finds itself only an eight-point favorite, however, against Big Ten rival Iowa in the nationally televised game of the week.

An unknown factor in the calculations on this important tilt at Ann Arbor, Mich., is the doubtful physical readiness of each team's star end Ron Kramer of Michigan and tackle Cal Jones of Iowa. Michigan, finding its lead in the national rankings reduced near the vanishing point, badly needs an impressive victory to hang onto the No. 1 ranking.

Michigan's chief rivals, Maryland and Oklahoma, are expected to win easily to keep the pressure on Michigan. Michigan is a 27-point pick to score its 12th straight victory at the expense of South Carolina. Oklahoma is favored by the same margin to gain its 25th straight victory (longest streak in the nation) against Kansas State.

Here's how the oddsmakers figure the other top-ranked teams: UCLA (No. 5) the week's most lopsided favorite, 25 points over California; Michigan State (No. 6) by only 2 over Wisconsin; Auburn (No. 8) 13 points over Tulane; Southern California (also No. 8) 13 points over Minnesota in a top inter-sectional game; and Texas A&M (No. 10) seven points over Arkansas in its important South-west Conference struggle at Fayetteville, Ark.

If you're looking for "even money" games, the odds-men put Illinois - Purdue, Syracuse - Holy Cross, and Miami (Fla.) - Pittsburgh in that category.

Here are the odds in some of the other leading games:

Intersectional - Kentucky 7 over Rice; West Virginia 14 over Marquette.

East - Yale 13 over Dartmouth; Cornell 13 over Columbia; Princeton 13 over Brown; Army 14 over Colgate; Penn State 25 over Pennsylvania.

THE PAMPA BOYS CLUB needs a winter home according to Oren James, director of the boxing program. The building used last year is not available this year. The boys have been shifted around for the past four years and have no permanent headquarters at the present. If you know of a building suitable for boxing workouts call Oren James, Johnny Campbell or John Schofield.

THE OPTIMIST CLUB is planning to build a gymnasium for Pampa boys in the near future but it will not be erected in time for the winter program. We understand that all Pampans are to be contacted for donations to the project. If it will help keep part of Pampa's boys off the streets and out of trouble we think it will be a worthwhile investment. It is the obligation of Pampa.

The Optimists are selling advance cards on Christmas trees now. The main effort gets underway today. If all Pampans buy trees from the club the Boys Work program will be greatly benefited. Understand the lot is to be located on highway 60 north of Poole's drive in. That will be Christmas tree headquarters for a lot of us.

Baylor University Is Reprimanded

WACO — UP — Baylor University's Southwest Conference faculty representative explained that the University was reprimanded by the NCAA because a coach handed a prospective athlete mileage transportation back to his home rather than having an ex-student do it.

Abner McCall, dean of Baylor's law school, said also that the violation occurred in 1953 "before" the NCAA's interpretation of this rule went into effect.

McCall said the reprimand concerned a 1953 visit to the Baylor campus by football players Jerry Tubbs, now at Oklahoma University, and Bobby Jack Keith, now at Texas A&M. Both are from Breckenridge.

The dean said Baylor University was permitted under NCAA rules to pay them mileage from Waco to Breckenridge at the rate of 6 cents a mile which the school did.

The University also was required by rule to pay this money out of ex-student association funds and not out of University funds. The boys were paid the proper amount from funds from the proper source, McCall said.

But Baylor was penalized because the money was handed to the boys by one of the Baylor coaches. This coach was not identified.

Under the interpretation of this rule, which was promulgated by the NCAA "after" the Baylor case

Michigan And Iowa Televised

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — A nationwide television audience will get a look at Michigan, the nation's top-ranked college football team, when the Wolverines go after their sixth straight victory against upset-minded Iowa Saturday at Michigan Stadium.

But it's likely that the most publicized player on each team — end Ron Kramer of Michigan and guard Calvin Jones of Iowa — will be watching from the sidelines.

Kramer, a towering junior who was named of the United Press All-America third team last season, has missed Michigan's last two starts with a bruised chest while Jones, captain of the Hawkeyes and an All-America guard last fall, has been hampered by a knee injury.

The absence of Kramer and Jones would keep televiewers from watching two of the nation's top linemen but it wouldn't detract from the intense rivalry in this bitter Big Ten battle.

Michigan has been installed as a two-touchdown favorite in most quarters but Coach Bennie Oosterbaan of the Wolverines thinks the odds-makers are being too generous.

Oosterbaan recalled that Michigan was "hard-pressed" for twin 14-13 triumphs over the Hawkeyes the past two seasons and the current Iowa squad includes a half dozen veterans who started in both of those losing games, including the entire backfield.

Depth is Michigan's greatest asset. Oosterbaan shoots in replacements almost as frequently as he did back in the two-platoon days.

W. Virginia, Oklahoma Cop NCAA Honors

NEW YORK — UP — West Virginia, the nation's top passing team, and Oklahoma, the leading rushing team, grabbed most of the offense honors Tuesday in the weekly college football statistics issued by the NCAA.

The two rugged football machines, each unbeaten in five games so far this season, stand one-two in ground-gaining totals — West Virginia on top with 426.8 yards gained per game and Oklahoma second with 296.

West Virginia leads the passing parade with 178.4 yards gained per game through the air and also ranks 10th in rushing with 248.4 yards gained with running plays per game. The Mountaineers are the only team in the nation to rank among the top 10 in both departments.

Oklahoma leads the rushing averages with 316.4 yards gained per game. To that, the Sooners have been able to add only 80 yards per game passing.

Army's twice-beaten Cadets provide the odd note in this week's standings. The future generals have gained 292 yards per game on the ground, an average topped only by Oklahoma's. But they rank absolutely last in the country in passing. But no matter how you look at the results on Army's passing game, the Cadets are last in the nation. They've tried the fewest passes (37), completed the fewest (7), gained the least total number of yards (100 in five games), and compiled the lowest average for completions (18.9 per cent).

Two Big Ten teams, Wisconsin and Illinois, are pressing West Virginia and Oklahoma for total offense honors. Wisconsin is third with 377.8 yards gained per game and Illinois fourth with 375.4. Southern California is fifth with 346.2.

In rushing, Oklahoma and Army are followed by Texas Christian with 286.2 yards per game, Texas A&M with 264.2, and Notre Dame with 260.6.

West Virginia ranks as the leading scoring team in the nation with 37.2 points per game. Army is second with 32.6 and Oklahoma third with 31.8. They are followed by Southern California 29.5, Denver 28.7, UCLA 28.0, Texas Christian 27.2, Duke 25.8, Wyoming 25.3, and Harvard 24.3.

Alan Ameche Leads NFL In Rushing

PHILADELPHIA — UP — Alan Ameche, "The Horse" among the Baltimore Colts, was limited to 24 yards in a losing game against the Washington Redskins Sunday but the rookie from Wisconsin maintained a lead of 153 yards Wednesday in the rushing statistics of the National Football League.

Ameche retained top spot in the rushing bracket, and Otto Graham, the Cleveland Browns' perennial, boosted his passing average to continue as the top finger in the loop.

The incomparable Graham, hitting for 42 completions in 69 attempts for a 60.9 percentage, raised his average gain for each pass thrown to 10.41 yards, a comfortable lead of more than two yards over second-place Bobby Thomson of the Philadelphia Eagles. Graham's gains have totaled 718 yards and three touchdowns.

Ameche averaged 5.5 yards per rush on his 94 carries for a net of 518 yards. Howie Ferguson of Green Bay trailed by 151 yards in second place.

The pass receiving race was a scramble with only eight completions separating the first 10 men, Billy Howton and Gary Knefelc, both of Green Bay, who led the league last week, were bumped from the top spot by Billy Wilson of San Francisco, who tied for the league leadership last year.

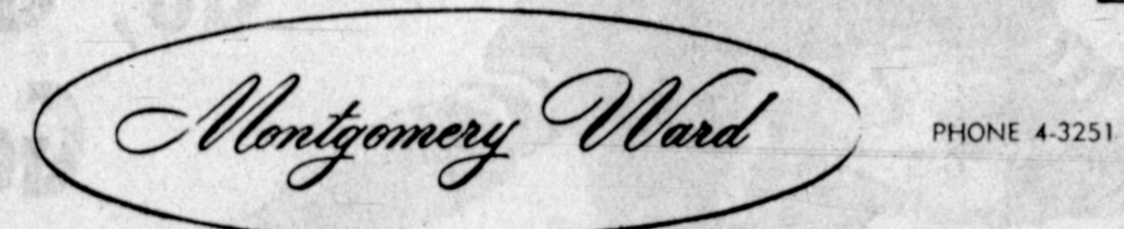

Wilson took over the lead with 24 completions, followed by Howton with 23.

Vic Janovicz of the Redskins, who scores touchdowns, kicks extra points and boots field goals, leads the scorers with 40 points, four ahead of Fred Cone, kicking specialist from Green Bay who has booted nine field goals.

DIDN'T DO TOO BAD last week with our predictions. Sure missed that Lubbock game and the Texas Tech game too. We picked Midland over the Westerners and the Raiders over Houston. We should have picked them the other way.

Looks like ampa is at the bottom of the I-AAAA district ladder. The Harvesters are in the number eight spot in team offense while the Abilene Eagles are still at the top. They slipped down to the seventh spot in team defense after the Abilene Eagles got through with them.

The Green and Golders are in the number seven spot in passing offense and rate ahead of number eight Amarillo in that spot. Then in the passing defense they are rated number five. They stand Something happened in the Southwest Conference this week. There was only one major upset. The Rice Owls fell to Texas. That's the only one we didn't figure. We jicked TCU over Miami, Arkansas to fall before Mississippi, Texas A&M over Baylor, SMU over Kansas as but we didn't figure the Longhorns to bulldog the Owls. That gave us .800 in that bracket.

The I-AAAA district went just about like we figured it with the exception of Lubbock and Midland. We figured the Midland Bulldogs would drop the Westerners but that didn't happen. Lubbock scored late in the last period to win 19-14. The other games came out like we figured with Abilene taking Pampa, Odessa beating Amarillo and San Angelo tromping the Berger Bulldogs.

This week the games will be a bit harder to figure when Lubbock and San Angelo tangle at San Angelo. Pampa invades Midland, Berger moves into Odessa and Amarillo journeys to Abilene. We will have to have some more time to figure these out.

Oh yes, our average of the week was .517.

We see where Pult Powell thinks Buck Francis waved the white flag and gave up because he picked Amarillo over Pampa. We don't think Buck surrendered much since I feel sure Pult will have to do the same when the Sandies meet Abilene. We too picked the Eagles over our home-town team.

CHILDREN IN THE HOUSE? Then you know what a rainy day at home can mean! Here's something special designed to turn even one of these difficult days into a gala affair... a crepe paper centerpiece that is such fun, and so easy to make, that the children, engrossed with its "manufacture," will forget the stormy weather.

THE RUFFLED BASE is basic cleaner, and the countless other... it's the decoration for the top that determines the type of party! If a toy clown does tricks there... that will be for a "circus" party! Let a toy soldier march in the place of honor... then it's appropriate for the Glorious Fourth! Feature a jolly Santa Claus for Christmas or a fat turkey for Thanksgiving. Ideas will come a-flooding... just give the youngsters a chance to express themselves with these simple items: crepe paper (two colors), some empty oatmeal boxes, 9" paper plates, paste, some little brushes. Then make up a bowl of Circus Blue suds by mixing to a froth a cup of laundry head-bluing and a quarter cup of water... and away they go!

Start with the base — a paper plate. Cut a 1 1/4" strip of red crepe paper and paste to edge of inverted paper plate, gathering as you go 'round. Cut a 3/4" strip of yellow crepe; gather and paste on plate so that red ruffle shows a little from underneath.

Cover half an oatmeal box with yellow paper and 1" strips of red crepe. Paste to plate. For the ruffle cut 2" strip red crepe paper with the grain. Fold in half, lengthwise... gather at the fold with needle and thread and tie at base of box. Brush edges of all crepe paper ruffles with Circus Blue... let dry and stand a toy clown in center. That's all there is to it.

District Attorney Bill Waters Gives Talk On State Constitution To Women Voters

District Attorney Bill Waters spoke on "Birth of the Texas Constitution" at the luncheon Monday of the League of Women Voters in the dining room of Johnson's Cafe. "Texas has had five constitutions," Waters told the women. The first was in 1836 and was "national in character," he stated, based on the "principle of the nationality of the state of Texas" and was similar to the constitution of the United States. It provided for the same three branches of government, he told the women. The second constitution was that of 1845, which had to be approved by the Federal Congress before Texas could join the Union, he explained. During the Civil War, in 1866, when Texas was part of the Confederacy, another constitution was adopted. Waters pointed out. It was unique in two ways, he stated. One way was that the delegates who met "ignored the Acts of Secession in open disregard of the Confederacy," and the second way was that it was adopted by the delegates and never submitted to the people for acceptance. The fourth constitution came about in 1869, when the Federal Government required that Texas rewrite its constitution in order to get back in to the Union, although, Waters stated, the Federal Government never officially recognized the secession of the states that formed the Confederacy. This constitution adopted most of the provisions of 1845, he explained. The fifth and last constitution is that written in 1875 and adopted in 1876. "Since 1876, we have been operating under the same constitution," Waters pointed out. This constitution is similar to that of the Federal Government, and has a short preamble, but a longer body than the federal constitution. "The present constitution was the child of necessity," Waters explained, adding that it was framed with the problems of the Reconstruction period in mind. A constitution should put forth the basic principles and policies on which laws are hung, Waters pointed out. The present Texas constitution has written into it some statutory law "to insure that Texas would not become the victim of carpet-bagger tactics," he explained. It was also written so it couldn't be changed by the legislature, he added, taking the powers from the legislature and placing them in the hands of the people. Lately it has become "unwieldy and cumbersome," he stated, with several amendments having to be voted upon by the people each year. "I feel the constitution of this state could stand considerable revision," Waters commented. "I feel that, within certain limits, the legislature of this state should have the same right as other states to enact laws. The Supreme Court should be the safeguard to see the legislature doesn't enact laws against the principles of the constitution." He went on to state that a constitution should be a "short and concise document," setting forth basic principles, and not endeavoring "to set forth statutory law." He pointed out that it should be a broad statement of principles of democratic government. During the question-and-answer period following Waters' speech, it was brought out that there are over 100 amendments to the constitution that have been adopted from some 200 that have been submitted. Mrs. A. D. Hills, president, reported that a speaker she heard said there are three ways to get a constitutional convention and by a commission of citizens, a constitutional convention and by a piecemeal method of amendments. She stated that the last method would have to cover about an eight-year period and would be very expensive. The program was in conjunction with the League's study of the state constitution. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Jess Clay, program chairman, and the business session was led by Mrs. Hills, president. Read The News Classified Ads

Diem's Victory In Indo-China

Bad News For Many People

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

Premier Ngo Dinh Diem's victory over Emperor Bao Dai in the Viet Nam referendum in Indo-China was bad news for a lot of people.

First, it was a severe defeat for communism. But paradoxically it also was a defeat for the "western imperialism" of which the Communists complain.

The chief mourner, of course, is Bao Dai himself. He lost one of the softest jobs in the world when his people voted overwhelmingly to fire him and make Diem chief of state.

Fellow mourners are shadowy Ho Chi Minh, president of the Communist state of Northern Viet Nam, and Mao Tse-Tung and Chou En-Lai of Red China.

Also Hurt France
But the referendum also was a defeat for France. It seems to foretell the end of any real French influence in Indo-China.

In that sense, it was a defeat for "imperialism" and "colonialism." It also emphasizes a sharp divergence in policy in southeast Asia between France and the United States.

France does not like Diem. He is too independent. It made him premier, most reluctantly, at the insistence of the United States.

France's recognition of Diem as chief of state because of his victory was merely recognition of an accomplished fact.

From the moment Diem took office, France backed Bao Dai against him at every opportunity. The real significance of Diem's victory, however, is the setback communism has received.

Took Office After Fort Fall
When Diem took office on June 15, 1954, Diem Bien Phu had fallen. The Geneva treaty of July 21, 1954, by which Viet Nam was split into two states, found Diem's southern part torn by internal disension.

Diem did not sign the Geneva agreement. France represented him. He protested it. The United States, incidentally, also refused to sign the treaty.

It looked then as if Diem faced a hopeless future. There was every indication that, in an election supposed to be held by next July, Southern Viet Nam would fall into the hands of the Communists like a ripe peach.

Right now, it does not look that way. Diem has made himself the head man of a strong government in Southern Viet Nam. He refuses to have any truck with the north Viet Nam Communists, and refuses to talk about any joint election.

Reds Fear Him

The Communists seem to have the right view of him. It is said that he is the only man in Viet Nam whom Ho Chi Minh fears, Ho's army chief of staff, Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, has said of him: "There are only two real leaders in Viet Nam. One is Ho. The other is Diem. There is no room in the country for both."

But there seems nothing that Ho can do about it, short of starting a war that might cause an explosion in Southeast Asia.

Diem is like old Syngman Rhee of Korea, a hard man to get along with. But he shares with Rhee an implacable hatred of communism, and a hatred of communism is just what is needed in Southeast Asia.

Prominent Officer Promoted

WASHINGTON—UP—The Army Wednesday announced the promotion to major general of Paul L. Freeman, who figured in the document on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's views on Russian entry into the war against Japan. Freeman, who was a colonel and operations division officer in World War II, was cited in the document as having reported that MacArthur stated in a conversation Feb. 13, 1945, that it was essential that Russia enter the war before U.S. troops invaded Japan.

WELL IN HAND—James H. Travis, left, has only one hand, but he's a civilian mechanic at Altus Air Force Base, Okla. He handles the job with the aid of a newly developed artificial hand which holds practically every tool he needs. Developer of "The Hand," which eases manipulation of various-sized tools that fit into the holes, is T/Sgt. Herman Roberts, center of photo, of the 68th Field Maintenance Squadron at the base.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

Read Hebrews 13:1-9

The Bible is a laboratory notebook. The Bible is an elaborate laboratory notebook wherein men may study the spiritual aspects of the deepest issues of life. The reason is that it is a vast compilation of records of human situations in which life was weighed in spiritual terms. Its heroes are all flesh-and-blood individuals, and its chapters present a mass of clinical material from which guidance may be drawn for advantageous action even among the complications of modern life.

Scientific research has been uncovering the stark humanity of the Bible during the last 50 years. A generation ago, when the average Bible student in the adult department was getting his elementary religious education, the Old Testament prophets were generally regarded as men of mystery who had kept busy predicting events which might be expected to appear in tomorrow morning's headlines.

Careful investigations of the scholars during the last 75 years are just beginning to filter out into the stream of popular knowledge, with the result that today we recognize the Hebrew seers as inspired men who were immersed in economic, social, and political struggles thousands of years ago which are strangely like the crisis through which we have been living in recent years.

The Bible is therefore an ideal place in which to begin our study of the problem of sin. Just as the geologist goes to a mountain gorge to study the history of a region as it is revealed in the upturned strata, so the student of the spiritual life goes to the Bible and finds the upturned life of the race with all its struggles clearly delineated.

I am capable of great living, O God, for thou hast given me the ability to rise above circumstances, to forgive my enemies, to dismiss my fears, and to aspire unto holiness and Christlikeness. I am made to grow, to love, to improve, to worship, and to become like unto thee, Amen.

Go back over your memories of the Bible and see if you cannot detect evidence of the fact that the Hebrew race came into possession of their knowledge of God by a process of growth. Is it not reasonable to believe that the individual does likewise?

Prove it in your own car. Now—on the road in your own car—see for yourself how New Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX can give you the best in motor performance and protection. Plus more miles per gallon in the kind of short-trip, stop-and-go driving you do most.

A B C

Gulfpride Select works clean. Here's why: Most oils are refined only to the stage shown in Graduate A. Gulfpride Select is further refined by the Alchlor Process, removing up to 15% more of the carbon-formers, shown in Graduate B. Graduate C contains new super-refined oil.

Prove it in your own car. This new oil can give you more miles per quart because it has natural viscosity (body)—contains no artificial thickeners that break down in service.
