Soviet To Try For Finn Appeasement

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press Staff Correspondent
HELSINKI, Finland (UP)—The Soviet political team of Nikita S. Khrushchev and Nikolai Bulganin sped toward Finland today on a visit aimed at wiping out Scandinavia's memories of Hungary with a display of Soviet-Finnish friendship.

Premier Bulganin and Communist Party Chief Khrushchev were traveling with an impressive group that included Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, Culture Minister Nikolai Mikhailov, Security Chief Gen. Ivan Serov, Vice Foreign Trade Minister Pavel Kuznetsov and Deputy Chief of Staff Gen. Mikhail Matinin.

A small group of Finnish foreign office officials waited at the border station of Vainikkala to meet the Russians' train when it crossed the border. The big red carpet welcome by Finnish government leaders was reserved for their arrival in Helsinki at 5 p.m.

This was a quick return visit for Serov who spent two days in Finland last week checking security arrangements. A public uproar forced cancellation of his presence on the 1956 London visit of Bulganin and Khrushchev but he was in and out of Finland without being recognized.

The week-long visit will be crisscrossed with sightseeing, receptions and dinners. Two occasions were set aside for formal talks but the Finns were close-mouthed about topics to be discussed.

Speculation on the subjects of the talks ranged from new trade proposals to military pacts. It was understood Russia might want to offer Finland more coal and oil and that Finland might be agreeable to expanding trade with Russia if it could receive payment in hard currency for depleted reserves.

The military aspects might include examination of the situation that has arisen in the Baltic with emergence of West Germany as a naval and economic power. Speculation was that the Kremlin might try to persuade Finland to abandon its neutrality and adhere to the anti-NATO Warsaw Pact.

City Reports

Cash Paving Plan Meets Approval

City officials reported this morning that the new cash paving plan was meeting with even more success than they had anticipated.

The City met with unexpected delay last week when it received no bids from paving contractors for 2 1/2 blocks of paving which had been requested.

Principal reason given for the lack of bids was that contractors did not wish to carry notes for paving work done, as last year. It appears that paving contractors are already "loaded down" with notes for paving work done and now are seeking cash work.

As a result, the city embarked on a campaign to get local property owners to provide for cash in the event they wished to have adjoining streets paved. The City requested that the property owners make their cash arrangements through loan companies, banks, FHA title one loans, or in any other manner they could.

Brook urged all those who wished to have paving to call the City Engineer's office as soon as possible and let the City know that they were "ready to go and had the cash."

Of the original 2 1/2 blocks of paving requested on the old plan, 17 or 18 were cash anyway. The City representatives have been contacting property owners in the other blocks who were not cash and have been meeting with a more than modest amount of success.

Republicans Meet To Make 1958 Plans

WASHINGTON (UP)—The top layer of the Republican Party organization assembled today to complete its preliminary planning for the 1958 battle for control of Congress, statehouses and court-houses.

The two-day meeting—to be addressed today by Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Friday by President Eisenhower—is the climax of a series of campaign planning conferences set up by Chairman Meade Alcorn.

Six regional conferences before this national session have mirrored a growing turmoil within the GOP over the Eisenhower budget for next year and the administration program in Congress.

The basic objective of these meetings has been to find ways to overturn the historic rule that the party controlling the White House loses congressional seats in mid-term elections. The GOP needs to gain seats next year to recapture control of the House and Senate.

While planning for next year, the GOP has found itself plagued by financial troubles. Alcorn admitted this week that objections to the President's record peace-time budget had discouraged contributions to the Republican treasury.

This problem has been aggravated by the fact that the chairman-ship of the Republican finance committee has been vacant since J. Clifford Folger resigned to accept a diplomatic post. Alcorn hoped to fill this job at the meeting here.

Another job to be filled is that of a southern campaign director. The GOP has long viewed the one-party South with a hungry look and has set up a committee of southern state chairmen and national committee members to find ways to chip away at Democratic strength in the region.

Wedge Worth Reports On State Meet

E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the chamber of commerce here, returned yesterday from the annual meeting of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers Association.

The conference was held at Mineral Wells, and was attended by 250 chamber managers over the state.

Wedgeworth is the retiring secretary of the association. He will be coming year as an ex-officio member of the board of directors.

Howard Hicks, manager of the chamber of commerce in Beaumont, will serve as the new president.

The new vice president will be Wayne B. Smith of Big Spring, and Bill McCallib of the Oak Cliff chamber in Dallas will succeed Wedgeworth as the association's secretary.

"We had a very informative and successful meet," Wedgeworth said.

Voters Incorporate Hopkins School

In a special election held Tuesday, voters in the Hopkins Common School District voted to incorporate the district, making it Hopkins Independent School District.

The vote for incorporation was 11 for to 50 against.

The election also saw the voting in of seven trustees of the school. They are: H. E. Brown, 104 votes; D. C. McCarthy, 99 votes; John Mackie, 105 votes; Bruce A. Ginn, 100 votes; Herman V. Wallis, 93 votes; V. D. Sublett, 100 votes; and Dean A. Payne, 103 votes.

2 Pampa Scouts Attend Meeting

Two Pampa brothers, Harold and Glen Husted, and two Boy Scout leaders are attending the Citizens Now conference in Goodwell, Okla., today.

Bill Eller, Comanche district scout executive director, from Wellington went with the boys.

Yorel Harris, scout executive from the Pampa office, also attended the conference.

PLENTY TO SAY—Louis Girard, brother of William S. Girard, US soldier in Japan, said at his home in Ottawa, Ill., that he would "sure have plenty to say" to President Eisenhower if he could contact him. Girard's remarks were made after Washington ordered William Girard be turned over to Japanese authorities to face trial on a manslaughter charge. The charge stemmed from the death of a Japanese woman struck and killed by the casing of an empty cartridge fired by William on a firing range in Japan. (NEA Telephoto)

Attorneys For Girard Plan Legal Action In Washington

By PAUL SISCO
United Press Staff Correspondent
OTTAWA, Ill. (UP)—Three attorneys planned to take legal action in Washington today in an effort to reverse the government's decision to turn American GI William S. Girard over to Japanese courts for trial.

One of the lawyers, Earl Carroll, who has law offices in New York and California, said he would file a writ of habeas corpus this morning in Washington asking that Girard be returned to the United States immediately.

Carroll, in a telephone talk with Girard's brother, Louis Girard, 28, of Ottawa, revealed that he filed application for the writ in federal court late Wednesday.

The other two attorneys, representing Mrs. Dorothy Girard, 45, mother of the soldier, announced they would fly to Washington today to consult with Carroll and possibly meet with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Army Secretary Wilbur Brucker this week.

Dulles was expected to spend the day on the aircraft carrier Saratoga near Jacksonville, Fla.

Mother Leaves Hospital
The attorneys, James D. Reynolds and Elliott B. Young of nearby Peoria, said Rep. Robert Michael of Peoria was seeking to arrange the Dulles-Brucker meetings.

Girard, a 21-year-old Army specialist third class, faces manslaughter charges in the death of a Japanese woman on a firing range in Japan. He is to be turned over to Japanese courts under the "Status of Forces" agreement.

His widowed mother Wednesday night left her bed at the state hospital in Peoria where she was under treatment for a nervous condition, and moved to the home of her son, Louis, an automobile mechanic here.

"It's a dirty shame what's being done to my son," she told United Press. She said Girard was not the "type of boy to get into trouble."

Carroll said he volunteered to defend the young soldier and would take the case to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary. Failing to obtain relief in the courts, Carroll told the family he would travel to Japan to defend Girard at his own expense.

Carroll's writ charges that Girard's constitutional rights were violated and challenges the validity of the treaty under which the soldier was turned over to Japan.

Senate Balks At Soil Bank Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Senate agricultural appropriations subcommittee has refused to go along with the House in cutting out the heart of the administration's soil bank program for 1958 crops.

The subcommittee voted Wednesday to let the Agriculture Department make commitments to pay farmers 500 million dollars for trimming surplus crops next year under the acreage reserve portion of the soil bank.

It backed on a proviso, however, limiting the payment to any single producer under this program to $5,000 dollars.

The subcommittee's recommendations will go to the full committee Friday. The bill will be sent to the Senate floor next week.

The actions came as the subcommittee completed work on the $3,700,000,000 agriculture money bill passed by the House.

Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said the total approved was less than the House figure but declined to go into details.

Restoration of the soil bank authority was a victory for President Eisenhower. He had urged the Senate to overturn the House action, contending it would prevent a "fair test" of the program.

Barrel Races To Be Featured At Miami

Barrel races from three age groups will be one of the feature attractions in Miami's annual cow-calling contest Saturday.

Barrel races will be sponsored by the 49ers club, a woman's organization, and will hold separate contests for children under 8 years old, between 9 and 12, and those over 12.

The first two groups will ride the "figure 8" pattern and the older group will attempt the "clover-leaf" pattern.

First, second and third place ribbons will be given. No entrance fee is required.

The annual cow-calling event at Thompson's Grove just east of town, will begin at noon this Saturday, and is sponsored by the Men's Service Club.

Other items on the agenda include an old fiddlers contest, and the registration of old-timers Saturday morning.

Different clubs will sponsor other games.

Charges Of Rape Filed In Wheeler

Charges of statutory rape have been filed in Wheeler County against an Ohio man, Ray Privette, according to District Attorney Bill Waters.

According to information from Waters this morning, Privette had been in California with a family from Ohio. He, a 14-year-old girl, and the girl's mother had decided to return to Ohio. On the way back to Ohio, their car broke down in Shamrock and they had been staying there since last February.

The alleged offense occurred May 13 but no complaint was made until the present time.

Waters said the case would be presented to the Grand Jury, probably sometime next week.

Moscow Reports Bomb Can Cause Droughts, Downpours

LONDON (UP)—The United States has developed a "meteorological bomb" to turn the weather into a weapon, the Soviet Union charged today.

A broadcast by Moscow radio made the charge in leaking details of Wednesday's proceedings at the five-power London disarmament conference.

The broadcast also disclosed that Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin told the parity that a nuclear weapons ban should be based on trust rather than inspection.

In alleging that the United States was trying to use the weather as a weapon, Moscow quoted a Soviet scientist identified only as Professor Fedorov. It quoted Fedorov as saying the United States was making a meteorological bomb "capable of causing droughts and downpours on alien territory, thus destroying crops over a vast area and causing other damage."

Fedorov was also quoted as saying U. S. scientists were "going off half-cocked" in this, because no one has control over the weather. He added that anyone who tried to unleash a storm over the territory of a hostile country "might get 20 times the effect at home."

The conference here is in recess until next Tuesday. The adjournment came after a deadlock developed over India's request to send a representative here to explain its views on disarmament and over German-Soviet differences on President Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection plan.

Zorin told the session the Soviet is willing to pledge itself not to use atomic and hydrogen weapons if the Western powers will do likewise, the broadcast said.

"No control is required for this," Zorin said. "All that is required is the goodwill of the governments possessing atomic and hydrogen weapons."

The broadcast said British representative Allan Noble reiterated the Western stand that "such pledges are out of the question without proper control."

Texoma Water Floods Red River

DALLAS (UP)—Tons of water pouring from giant Lake Texoma kept the Red River on a steady rise today through Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

The Shreveport, La., weather bureau said crests along the Red were expected to be three feet higher than a major flood which poured from the winding river and its tributaries over Central Louisiana last month.

It said the rises now are due almost wholly to water discharge from Lake Texoma, the world's largest man-made lake.

Meteorologist B. P. Hughes of the Shreveport weather bureau said the flood threat appeared "worse than it has been all year."

"We expect to have flooding all along except at Shreveport, it's 5.7 feet above flood stage at Alexandria, La., and rising."

However, the Alexandria sheriff's office said the city was not in danger, and the Red would have to rise several more feet to cause serious trouble there.

Further south and west in Texas, residents along the lower Colorado River were warned to expect extensive flooding.

The Red was flooding in farmlands and lowlands over the four-state area.

Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus Wednesday asked President Eisenhower for $800,000 disaster relief money. He estimated total flood damage to his state at $1,400,000, and said the amount of federal aid he requested was for "immediate emergency help."

Arkansas Civil Defense Director Owen Payne Jr. said the Arkansas River will be sprayed from the air for mosquitoes and other insects from Pine Bluff to Fort Smith, a distance of more than 200 miles.

Ground Gained In Wrecking Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (UP)—Members of the House civil rights bloc said today southerners may be gaining ground in efforts to wreck the civil rights bill.

They said the southerners have a good chance of forcing through a "jury trial" amendment to the bill.

Both the administration and civil rights forces contend the amendment would wreck the civil rights program.

The House finally headed into debate on the bill after days of arguing over procedure. A final vote is expected late next week.

Southerners openly predicted passage of the "jury trial" amendment. They also prepared to offer some three dozen more amendments next week after completion of four days of general debate.

Other congressional news:
Rackets: The Senate Rackets Committee called the top leaders of the Bakery Workers Union in the opening session of a new series of hearings. Committee Chairman John L. McClellan said the hearings would reveal that union officials misused union funds.

Fallout: Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.) suggested that President Eisenhower proposed an agreement with Russia and Britain to limit radioactive fallout from nuclear tests. Anderson is a member and former chairman of the joint congressional radiation subcommittee studying nuclear fallout.

Nichardson: House investigators asked the Justice Department to explain why it hasn't prosecuted a land case against Texas oil millionaire Sid Richardson. Chairman Earl Chudoff (D-Tx.) of the House Government Operations Subcommittee said he wants to know if some member of the administration is "hamstringing" the case. The subcommittee has heard testimony that Richardson sought to interest the President and other administration officials in the matter.

Swimming Program Has 600 Register

In a final tally yesterday, over 600 youngsters from this area had been registered for the Red Cross swimming and recreation programs this summer.

Registration ended at 3:30 p.m. yesterday. The first classes will start June 17 and end June 25.

Two other programs will be started later on in the summer for those not participating in this one.

According to Mrs. Libby Shotwell, Red Cross director, those wanting to participate in the recreation program, which will meet in the high school field house, may come without registering. It also begins June 17, and will be under the direction of Mrs. George Neef and Mrs. Terry Culley.

Swim instructors will include Mrs. Marion Fugate, Mrs. Carl Hills, Mrs. Betty Jackson, Mrs. Marietta Baird, Mrs. Sally Holcomb, Mrs. Marion Osborne and Buddy Moore.

There will also be 30 advanced swimmers serving as aids to the instructors.

Spraying Operation Is Underway Here

"Fogging" and "spraying" of City streets and alleys is now in process, according to a report from City Manager Fred Brook's office this morning.

The fogging and spraying operation is to combat the annual summer plague of mosquitoes and flies. An especially tough "war" is anticipated this summer as a result of the recent rains, which left little ponds of water as breeding places for the hardy pests.

Brook reported that the "sprayers" would try to cover the whole town during the first two weeks, then settle down to a routine schedule of "fogging" every week and "spraying" every other week.

Brook pointed out that the personnel working on the units had expressed concern over the safety of children who follow the trucks.

The children, Brook said, have been running and playing in the fog and the employees pointed out that a passing car could run over them if their vision was obscured by the misty substance meant only for the destruction of pests. The City, Brook said, is advocating that parents warn their children of the danger and not let them play in the "fog" when City crews come around.

The "fog" itself, he said, is not harmful, it is just the traffic hazard which is created when children follow the workers.

In addition to the "fogging" and "spraying," the City is experimenting with a pill called, "Toss-It." City employees merely drop a pill into each "puddle" they find. The pill is supposed to kill mosquito and fly larvae.

Brook said the City advocated replacing worn-out trash cans with 32-gallon cans with covers. He said the City is presently out of trash cans and has not been able to get any and was, in effect, "out of the trash can business."

Brook cautioned residents to be sure their garbage cans were covered as "every one of them is a potential breeding place for mosquitoes and flies."

Ike Puts To Sea; To Make Study Of Defense Operations

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
ABOARD USS SARATOGA (UP)—President Eisenhower put to sea today aboard the pride of the Navy, the new 60,000-ton super-carrier Saratoga, for a concentrated 24-hour study of guided missiles, jet operations, anti-submarine warfare and defense against atom bombs.

The chief executive flew from Washington with most of the National Security Council and other top federal officials and boarded this official - deck "floating air base" at Mayport, Fla.

The President arrived at this St. John's River base from Washington aboard his personal plane, the Columbine III. The landing strip was only a few yards from the huge carrier, which was all set to sail the moment the chief executive arrived.

Eisenhower was welcomed aboard by the screams of two Skyray jet fighters which were catapulted from the massive deck of the carrier while she stood at dockside.

The President left Washington at 7:45 a.m. aboard his personal plane, the Columbine III, for

Old Timers To Meet In Miami

Edna Carr Vincent, chairman of the "Area Old Timers Club," reported that all persons who have been in the Panhandle area fifty years or more are invited and urged to attend a meeting to be held in connection with the "Cow Calling Contest" at Miami this Saturday.

The old timers have been urged to register at the Legion Hall in Miami at 9 a.m. Saturday. A basket dinner will be spread at the picnic grounds east of Miami.

Mrs. Vincent also reported that 31 old timers attended the last meeting of the "Old Timers Club" in Lovett Memorial Library here and decided to hold the next meeting at the "Cow Calling Contest."

Rackets Group Aiming At Bakery Union
By HERBERT FOSTER
WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today his Senate Rackets Committee would produce evidence that officials of the Bakery Workers Union misused union funds.

The committee summoned the upper crust of the union this morning to the opening session of a new series of hearings in its investigation into alleged labor-management racketeering. McClellan said the hearings also would show that the international union appointed trustees to run certain locals, supplanting locally-elected officers. He said previously the investigation would prove that union officials ordered a trusteeship Local 100 in Chicago to prevent possible misuse of its funds—and then proceeded to misuse them. First on the committee's witness list was Anthony Conforti, head of the union's 7,000-member Local No. 1 in Chicago. Also summoned to testify was George L. Stuart, who recently resigned as vice president of the international after he and Union President James G. Cross were accused by another official of dipping into the international treasury.

Sec'y Wilson Warns Of War Danger
BOSTON (UP)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said Wednesday night the danger of military conflict in the next few years may be increased unless the Communists abandon their idea of "conversion by the sword." Speaking at a $100-a-plate Republican dinner, Wilson defended President Eisenhower's record budget and pointed out that the military aid program is one of the nation's most important contributions to free world security. "If the Communists are willing to give up their idea of conversion by the sword... we should have no fears," Wilson said. "Until this is clearly demonstrated in the world we must recognize that the danger of military action has not already lessened. In fact, it may well mean that over the next several years the danger may even be increased." Wilson added there is "reason to believe that the rise of Communism has reached and passed its peak—in spite of Mr. Khrushchev's recent forecast. Soviet Party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev predicted over CBS television network last Sunday that the grandchildren of his American viewers 'will live under socialism.'"

United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UP)—A Missouri teacher, named schoolmar of the year, says we make too much-to-do about Johnny's reading problems.

"Johnny can read," said Mrs. Mary Field Schwarz. "And we are teaching the children—the three R's, despite all reports otherwise."

"I suggest that those who criticize stop in our classrooms and see for themselves."

Third-Graders
Mrs. Schwarz, a pretty, auburn-haired woman of 38 and the mother of a 15-year-old boy, teaches 36 third-graders in Independence, Mo., former President Truman's home town.

Her classroom is a once-condemned church renovated to accommodate the overflow of pupils from Bristol School, Independence. She shared the 1957 "Teacher of the Year" title with Guy Bizzell, a high school speech and English instructor in Austin, Tex. The award is made each year by the U.S. Office of Education and McCall's magazine, which chooses from nominations by State Department of Education. This is the first year teachers have shared it.

Both winners received trips to Washington, where they called on President Eisenhower and Vice-President Nixon. "Mr. Nixon asked me how many children I had and when I answered 36, he just gasped," said Mrs. Schwarz.

Made Sergeant
Mrs. Schwarz came on to Manhattan for a four-day visit, but left her husband, an electronics engineer, and son to run the house. "But it's been a big week for my boy too," said Mrs. Schwarz. "He made sergeant in the ROTC."

the University of Kansas City and holds a master's degree in elementary education from Teachers College, Columbia University.

'Keep Date With God'—Graham
By ALEIN KREBS
United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UP)—Billy Graham told 18,000 persons how they could keep their "appointments with God and be saved" Wednesday night. Only three hours before police had combed Madison Square Garden for what they feared was a bomb planted to explode during the sermon.

The audience was unaware that 25 policemen had searched the Garden for a possible bomb after a janitor found a note in the lobby that said in part "A lot of people will be kill."

Graham said that the woman at the well in Samaria (John 4:1) did not "just happen to be there and Christ did not just happen to pass through Samaria—He didn't have to go through Samaria because He was a Jew and the Jews and Samaritans hated one another."

"He went to Samaria to save that woman, it's the same here tonight. You didn't have to come here but you had a divine appointment with God. Every time I stand here I know someone is here by God's appointment."

Following the North Carolina Baptist minister's plea to his listeners to keep their "appointments with God," 22 persons recorded "decisions for Christ," bringing Graham's New York Crusade total in 22 days to 12,684. More than 392,500 persons have attended his sermons.

Two Accidents Reported Here
Two accidents have been reported to the police department which occurred Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Tuesday accident occurred at 10:21 p.m. on N. Hobart at the intersection with W. Francis and Alcock streets. A 1952 Chevrolet driven by Dallas Franklin Bice of Bigger was in collision with a 1955 Mercury driven by Robert Finley Dook of 119 N. Purviance.

The collision resulted in approximately $136 damages to the Chevrolet and $150 damages to the Mercury.

The Wednesday accident occurred at 6:53 p.m. in the 700 block of E. Denver, 100 feet east of Reed. A 1950 Plymouth driven by Alta R. Telford, 711 E. Denver, collided with a parked 1956 Chevrolet owned by C. A. Glenn of Fort

Japanese Farmer Is Injured
GOTEMBA, Japan (UP)—A Japanese farmer was seriously injured Wednesday afternoon when hit by a fragment of a bazooka shell on a U.S. firing range on the slopes of Mt. Fuji, it was disclosed today.

Hiroshi Katsumata, 22, of Gotemba suffered serious injuries in both legs. He told police he entered the firing range to collect empty shells because he thought firing had ended for the day.

Japanese scavengers have been warned to keep away from U.S. firing ranges but they have disregarded the warnings in an effort to make a living.

The "off limits" regulations have not been enforced by Japanese police even after the explosion of the Girard case, involving the fatal shooting by an American soldier of a Japanese woman collecting empty shells on the Camp Weir firing range last January.

June Dairy Month Emphasizes Need Of Cow, "Foster Mother" Of Human Race

In America, there is one cow for every six humans, and that is fortunate, because Americans like to eat. The cow is America's chief source of food. In fact, the cow supplies over 20 per cent of all the food that Americans eat.

As you know, from various grasses and grains supplied by the farmer, the cow manufactures a unique food... milk, the most complete of all - purpose low-cost food available to man. (1) it helps give you pep and long life; (2) it helps give you good looks, and (3) it helps give you a happy disposition.

But, if you want to get technical, to be healthy, scientists say your food should have these ten things every day, calcium, riboflavin, phosphorus, protein, vitamin A, thiamin B, calories, ascorbic acid, niacin, and iron.

We used to think that milk was just for babies, but now we find that no other food will do as much for children, to build muscles, strengthen bones and teeth and produce energy. For convalescents, milk is an ideal food; a bland, no fiber, high - protein food in liquid form. For reducing, milk makes an ideal part of the diet, two glasses a day, uses only 335 calories (skim or butter milk only 170 calories). And for later years, milk is easy to digest, yet helps keep body in repair, strengthens nerves, muscles, bones and heart action, and helps hold off signs of old age.

Of course, there are a few people who say, "But I just don't like milk!" But the editor wonders if they have considered all the ways that they can enjoy this food. For instance, pasteurized, homogenized, vitamin D, certified, skimm, sour, buttermilk, evaporated, condensed, dried, plus these milk specialties: flavored, cream, ice cream, and ice milk, cheese, butter.

And milk saves you food money. If a cow could talk, she would probably say, "There's plenty of milk. I've got 25 million sisters producing 38 billion quarts each year." Milk is easy to buy in handy containers, glass or cardboard, and in various sizes. You can buy milk at the store or have it delivered to your door. Milk is easy to keep, too, for many days if it is kept cool, covered and clean! Milk products cover 30 per cent of your food needs, yet costs only 15 per cent of your food dollar.

So what? Sooooo, give more thought to milk, the all-around food, produced for you by the cow, "foster mother of the human race." Milk products can mean better health and lower - food costs for your family throughout life.

Porterhouse Steak Dinner

Flatter Father With Platter Of Steak

Family traditions are an integral part of many homes. Certainly for the Dad in the home, special consideration is given him on Father's Day, June 16th.

One of these considerations is a specially planned menu for the family dinner. What could be more appropriate than a juicy, broiled - to - perfection porterhouse steak?

One of the greatest advantages of beef steaks is that they're easy to prepare. For some handy tips on broiling meat, Reba Staggs, well known meat expert, mentions these few simple suggestions.

Simply set the regulator of your range for broiling. Place the steak on a broiler rack; insert the rack and pan so the top surface of a 1-inch steak is 2 inches from the heat and a 2-inch steak 3 inches from the heat. The temperature at which you broil is regulated by the

With a plentiful supply of fresh fruit now on the market... keep many of them in mind when pondering a solution to the problem of how to garnish a meat platter. Many fruits make definite flavor and color complements.

WAFFLE VARIATIONS
Start summer breakfast menu plans with tender, light brown waffles. Plain waffles are always a tempting highlight but did you ever think of the different ways you could vary waffles? Chopped, cooked bacon and diced cooked smoked ham are always grand when added to the waffle batter. Grated orange rind and orange juice give a tart touch and for still another flavor add grated American cheese to the waffle batter.

It comes but once a year... Father's Day. There is no finer way to pay tribute to the family provider than through an invitation to a dinner fit for a king.

Undoubtedly, steak is the leader in meat talk when planning an entire for Father's Day.

There are many steaks from which to choose... rib, club, T-bone, porterhouse or sirloin. Any of these steaks adds an element of speciality to a meal.

For a large family gathering perhaps a sirloin steak would be your choice, but if your family is small, individual club steaks provide a noteworthy entree.

The club steak is the smallest steak in the short loin. As an identifying characteristic, the tenderloin has practically disappeared.

All of the steaks which come from the sirloin, short loin and rib sections are tender and therefore can be cooked by dry heat methods... either panbroiling or broiling, depending on the thickness of the steak.

Steaks cut 1 inch thick or more are best if broiled, while the thinner steaks are usually panbroiled.

Feature these Father's Day club steaks broiled to just the right degree of doneness. Perhaps you might be interested in a few facts concerning the technique of broiling.

Now Is Time For All Good Cooks To Try New Recipe

Vacations from school are measured in terms of "almost over," "half over," "a quarter over," or best of all, "just beginning."

Right now summer vacation is just beginning and this, to the jubilant young-fry, means time unlimited (three whole months) for fun. To the mothers of these young-fry, it means a little freedom from routine. There still may not be time to make that dress that's been waiting... but there is time to go to the beach for a picnic and to say of a tempting recipe, "I'll try that today" instead of, "I'll try that some day."

Here's our idea of a really tempting recipe and we hope you'll try it today. It's a torte that can be made days in advance and frozen until ready to serve. Your family is certain to love it - and it could be a lifesaver when unexpected guests arrive.

Breakfast Picnic Starts Day Right

In the good old summertime, you can actually make a party out of any meal.

An impromptu back porch breakfast might be a novel way to serve this first meal of the day. Among possible breakfast menu suggestions is a Link and Hominy Omelet.

Reba Staggs, well versed in the field of meat and meat cookery, comments that pork sausage links are easy to prepare and adaptable for any meal. They must be cooked thoroughly. Place the links in a frying-pan with 2 to 3 tablespoons water, cover and simmer slowly. Remove cover and brown.

LINK AND HOMINY OMELET
1 pound pork sausage links
2 tablespoons water
1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) hominy, drained
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon pepper
3 eggs, beaten
8 tablespoons milk

Place sausage links in frying-pan. Add water; cover and simmer 8 to 10 minutes. Remove cover and cook until links are browned. Remove from frying-pan. Pour off all but 1/4 cup of the sausage drippings. Add hominy and seasonings and heat thoroughly. Combine eggs and milk; beat until blended. Add to hominy. Cook slowly until eggs are set. Turn onto a chop plate and arrange sausage links over the top. Yield: 6 servings.

Quick Quick-Bread For Quick Picnic

Aunt Sally used to make this for picnics, and so do we. But, we've modernized the method and mix it so fast it is in the pan before you know it! It has a wonderful, full flavor; nutty and sweet and moist. Tops for lunch boxes and picnics and luncheons. It's tops, too, for a quick quick - bread lesson your young ones will enjoy.

And, as Aunt Sally always said, "Let it rest a day before you cut it, and it's even better!"

AUNT SALLY'S NUT LOAF
Yield: 1 8 1/2 x 4 1/2-inch loaf
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 1/2 teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder
3/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup sugar
3/4 cup shortening
3/4 cup chopped nut meats
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/4 cup seedless raisins
1 egg
1 cup milk

Sift together flour, Baking Powder, salt, and sugar. Cut in shortening until mixture is fine. Blend in nut meats, lemon rind, and raisins. Beat egg and milk together. Add all at once to dry ingredients; stir until flour mixture is just dampened. Spoon batter into a greased and floured 8 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 2 1/2-inch loaf pan. Bake in a 325 degree F. (slow) oven about 1 hour. Cool thoroughly. Bread is better stored 24 hours before slicing.

Easy Snacks With Dairy Products

Dairy foods fit in wonderfully with the pattern of casual living most people adopt during the summer months. Best of all, they lend themselves to easy and delightful snacks.

What could be more refreshing and less trouble - than a glass of cool milk with a handful of cookies; a dish of ice cream with or without a dash of sauce or a plateful of cheese and crackers. These dairy food snacks are for the whole family - active children, busy mother and fathers, hungry teenagers - anyone who needs something good to eat that won't take too much fixing.

If the occasion is special, however, dairy foods cheerfully lend a hand to dress up. Youngsters love a dip of ice cream in a glass of root beer. Raspberry coolers make a hit with company - frozen raspberries with marshmallow syrup, swirled into a glass of milk. Tasty cherry flips result simply from adding cherry sauce and a scoop of vanilla ice cream to milk.

Hawaiian Make - Believes also are good party goers. Just add a fresh mint and crushed pineapple to chilled milk and thicken with vanilla ice cream. Top it with whipped cream, a maraschino cherry, and mint leaf.

Cheese may be the biggest aid in making party snacks... a tray of assorted cheese centered with a bowl of cheese dip... potato chips sprinkled with grated cheese, heated in a hot oven and served right away. It's easy, it's fun, it's a treat to eat, and almost no work - so help yourself to a dairy snack.

North's two diamond response today was the Jacoby transfer bid and demanded that South rebid in hearts.

South dutifully bid two hearts whereupon North bid three clubs. This bid was not a transfer but merely showed that North held a heart-club two suiter. It was also a forcing bid since North would have dropped the contract at two hearts if he held a poor hand.

In spite of the fact that North had shown a two-suit hand South decided to contract for three no-trump. North had told his story, trusted South's judgment and passed. It was just as well that he did. Four hearts would almost surely have gone down.

West opened the three of hearts against the three no-trump contract and East's eight forced declarer's queen.

South led hearts right back and played dummy's seven. East won with the nine and chose to lead the three of spades. South played the ten and West the king. At this point three no-trump was home but poor West decided to return a spade.

This play gave declarer three spade tricks and he promptly took them, discarding two hearts and a diamond from dummy. He then proceeded to run the club suit and

in Texas

MAYFLOWER II
Recently the Mayflower II began to retrace the voyage its namesake made 337 years ago from England to the New World.

The other day it made news when it was reported almost becalmed in mid-Atlantic, having covered only thirty sea miles in 24 hours.

Besides its 102 Pilgrims and 25 sailors, do you know one of the most precious things the original Mayflower carried to America? The idea of government by contract, by the consent of the governed, the basis of our Constitution.

Men have always wondered just what claims to obedience the laws have on us. From earliest times in ancient Greece some have thought that men entered a contract to set up laws among themselves and obey on the last club lead East was hopelessly squeezed. He had to throw away the queen of diamonds in order to get on to the ace of hearts. This allowed declarer to make the last two tricks with the ace and jack of diamonds.

them to keep the peace. But not until 1620 had anybody ever actually written out and signed anything like the Mayflower Compact—the granddaddy of all written constitutions.

Said they: "We... do by these presents solemnly and mutually in the presence of God, and one another, covenant and combine ourselves together into a civil body politic, for our better ordering and preservation... and by virtue hereof to enact, constitute and frame such just and equal laws, ordinances, acts, and regulations, and offices from time to time as shall be thought most meet and convenient for the general good of the colony, unto which we promise all due submission and obedience.

In witness whereof we have subscribed our names at Cape Cod on the 11 of November... In 1788 in the same spirit the world's first, oldest, and most successful written constitution came into being, starting out by saying:

"We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union... do ordain and establish this Constitution of the United States of America."

VERTIJET—The U.S. Air Force X-13 Vertijet, a jet-powered vertical take-off and landing research plane, takes off from a ground service trailer at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. The plane, developed by the Ryan Aeronautical Co., made its first complete flight sequence last month. Rising and descending on a column of exhaust gases, the X-13 depends solely on thrust from its jet engine for both direct lift and level flight.

Recent Ku Klux Klan Uprisings Lack Power of Civil War Days

EDITOR'S NOTE: Is the Ku Klux Klan really reviving as a powerful force of terrorism in the South? The United Press made a survey of key cities throughout the South plus interviews with Klan leaders for this dispatch.

By JAMES RUSSELL
United Press Staff Correspondent
ATLANTA (UP)—The Ku Klux Klan, which has raised its hooded head periodically in the South since the days of Civil War reconstruction, has re-emerged in the desegregation era as a piecemeal body of feuding wizards and kleagles.

The power it once enjoyed has long vanished. The caliber of its leadership has greatly diminished. Only in isolated pockets does the 1957 version of the hooded order hold any real strength.

State and local laws enacted for the express purpose of deflating the Klan do so at every turn. Eight Southern states have laws that prohibit the wearing of masks on public property except during celebrations such as Halloween.

Klan Bounced Back
Louisiana routed the Klan years ago with a law requiring public filing of membership lists but it bounced back in limited form last year. Georgia revoked the Klan charter 10 years ago for engaging in unlawful activities but a new Klan, professing to be law-abiding, is now chartered in the state.

Klanmen still wear white robes, hoods and sometimes masks, just as they did after the Civil War. But the sheeted night riders of the 19th century have given way to ceremonious marchers who mass at pre-arranged meeting places on private property and often invite people to come see the show.

There is no cohesive Southwide or nationwide Klan organization today. Terrorism on a widespread basis dissolved with the conviction in 1952 and 1953 of more than 100 Klanmen on charges arising from floggings and kidnappings in the Carolina border country.

Leaders of the modern Klan direct their acid remarks as much at one another as they do at integrationists, Communists and religious minorities.

To join the Klan you must—in addition to taking a number of oaths—pay a membership fee of $5 to $10, depending on which group you pick. There are possibly a dozen "Klans" in the South.

Neither Recognizes Other
Bill Hendrix of Florida and E. L. Edward of Georgia are possibly the best known Klanmen. Neither recognizes the other as a genuine leader.

Hendrix, a carpenter and construction worker, resigned from the order after a 1951 federal conviction for sending defamatory material through the mail, but the Supreme Court ban on segregated schools brought him back.

The group headed by Edwards, an Atlanta auto paint sprayer, claims nationwide representation and restricts its membership to "Protestant Christian Aryans."

The Keystone of Klan strength is in the South's most cosmopolitan state—Florida. The best estimates, however, indicated total combined membership does not number more than 5,000.

Hollywood Life Has Toned Down; So Have The Houses

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—In the hey-day of the screen, movie stars' homes were magnificent and often monstrous to behold, but today the new houses, such as Ronald Reagan's, are simpler.

Back in the 1920s a home built by a celebrity was a sight for the tourists. Tom Mix's place had a lion sign on the roof that spelled out his name; Pola Negri's sported gold doorknobs and a marble bathtub the size of a swimming pool.

But life in Hollywood has toned down, and so have the houses, except for Liberace's piano-shaped swimming pool. Most of the new young "realistic" actors shun possessions and live in apartments. The only stars rich enough to build new big houses are those who've made a killing in TV—Dinah Shore, Lucille Ball, Ronald Reagan.

The Reagan's $125,000 home is built in the hills of suburban Pacific Palisades overlooking the ocean, and is a modern combination of glass, flagstone and split-leaf philodendron.

"On a clear day you can not only see Catalina Island but the houses on it," declared Reagan, doing the usual California boast one better as he and wife Nancy conducted a tour of the elegant house.

The Reagan home is an electronic marvel, as he is the host of "The General Electric Theater" series on CBS-TV. In fact, it's equipped with lighting that would be the envy of any Broadway stage manager.

By pressing levers inside the front door, Reagan can turn on a light anywhere in the house. By a flip of a dial, he can dim any light, or make it brighter.

The lights over the dining room table are pink and yellow. Mrs. Reagan can "mix" them in any color or dim-bright combination she wants, depending on what her dinner guests are wearing.

There's a fuel-less electric heating unit, a cordless electric clock, three TV sets, five Hi-Fi speakers and a swimming pool. Off the living room is an "atrium," or indoor patio, with no ceiling so guests can dance under the stars.

The Reagans also now own a cooled wine closet (these California homes don't have cool basements for such things). The house is quietly done in off-white and yellow with black doors and oriental-leaf furniture.

Tank Firm Has Office In Borger
ODESSA — Sivalis Tanks, Inc., has announced establishment of a new district office in Borger and appointment of Elvin H. Ryder as Panhandle District manager.

"The new district will serve the five-state area covering the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles, southwest Kansas, southeast Colorado and northeast New Mexico," according to S. P. Kroecker, executive vice-president. "Parts of this area have been important oil and gas producing centers for decades while other sections are just beginning to show a significant potential. We believe this region will continue rapid development."

'Texas State Police' Movie To Be Made

FORT WORTH — A study of the infamous "Texas State Police" under E. J. Davis, carpet-bagging governor of 1870-1874, has been brought for the movies from a Texas Christian University history professor.

Dr. William C. Nunn, who holds the Amon Carter Chair of U. S. and Texas history, did the study for his Masters' degree thesis.

Called "A Study of the State Police During the Administration of E. J. Davis," it was bought by the Edward Small Productions, Inc., of Los Angeles, Calif. The firm has produced several outstanding historical films. Purchase price for the motion picture rights was $500.

"The period of Texas history under Gov. Davis was turbulent one," Dr. Nunn points out. "The carpetbaggers had moved in after the Civil War and Davis, a native of Florida and an officer in the Union army, managed to get himself elected governor."

He established the "State Police" of about 200 Negroes and uneducated whites. They made arrests without warrants and stirred up such a storm that martial law had to be declared three times during Davis' administration.

"However, not all of their work—or men—were bad. They helped break up some real gangs in the state and L. H. McNeely, later a famous Texas Ranger, was a member. But it was a bad time on the whole and the state adjutant general absconded to Belgium with $30,000. It was certainly a wild and interesting period in Texas history."

IT'S A-MAZING—This looks like a puzzle on paper—but it can save children's lives. Traffic expert Robert J. Kelly devised this one-way street plan for residential areas to reduce "short cut" travel by trucks and autoists attempting to bypass traffic lights. The residents soon accustom themselves to the right or left turns at the end of each block. But the frustrated short-cut artists avoid the area after one try. Kelly is traffic engineer of Cleveland, Ohio. Very first city to use the "maze" was Johannesburg, South Africa, the second was Grand Rapids, Mich.

THE BALD BOY Chapter 14
Mind Over Hair --- Will It Work?

By ELMER WHEELER
My doc has assured me if you have inherited the bad gene, that dictates you will be bald; nothing will help you.

Nothing except psychosomatics—and I'm coming to that later. Some folks claim hats save hair; others that men without hats have more hair.

Some claim a two - minute work-out does the job; others no rubbing for fear of disturbing the hair roots.

One clique goes in for tonics; another for saives; another for rare herbs from old countries.

Others, more sensible perhaps, go in for diet, working on the idea that foods make cells and cells make eyes, ears, nose and hair.

One group (myself included now) finds that the ultrasuperior speed of today's living, with the tearing down of the body and its nerves, so deteriorates us that our hair falls out.

Finally, there is another group—people who work on the theory of positive thinking. That your thoughts can make you well or ill; that your mind controls the physical body.

I have written a book or two on this myself.

I have seen folks make their ill day dreams and castles in the air become realities through the power of forceful thoughts.

"Worry books"—that is, how

"The mind does have a sympathetic relationship with your hair."

not to worry; how to stop worrying; how to be a success books—lead the sales on today's market, bought by people wanting to correct their mental frustrations and mixed-up minds and nerves.

What effect does this "great American worry" have on the body? Such as the hair?

Dr. Russell L. Cecil of Cornell University says worry strain causes many cases of arthritis.

Dr. William L. McGonigle told the American Dental Association that worry upsets the body calcu-um and causes lots of tooth decay. Worry, my own doc says, frequently causes ulcers, the "executive's disease." I can see how loss of hair can also be "an executive's occupational disease." He tears it out mentally, as well as with his fingers.

Dr. Flanders Dunbar writes, "Hypertension is more common and has been called more deadly than cancer."

No wonder my own hypertension had put a hole in my hair, and changed my good hair into something that looked like grandma's old rug, with a moth hole in the center.

Yet the minute I started to relax, relieve myself of "executive tension," my body reacted favorably, and resulted in a clearer skin, clearer eyes, and a return to Elmer's forelocks.

My hair hole had almost clouded itself up. Two more weeks and the hole would have sealed itself up completely.

Step one, therefore, if your hair is thinning, especially in blotches, is to see your doc.

A good psychiatrist will help; but remember, your barber or drugstore owner is not a psychiatrist. He'll fill the doc's prescriptions, but don't expect him to prescribe.

Why can't your thoughts then affect your own hair, say these advocates of the mental side of the causes of falling hair, including my pal, Peter J. Michael, the hair research fellow.

Dr. Charles L. Schmitt of Pittsburgh reports in the Pennsylvania Medical Journal, that out of 50 patients examined for total baldness that 23 had histories of mental disturbances.

The mind does have a sympathetic (mental) relationship with your hair.

You see, physical upsets lower our resistances to the daily poisons we have inside us, and these poisons run to the weakest parts of our body, and the scalp, as pointed out, sure is weak on most of us, and I don't mean the brain—the hair.

When a person is troubled, his face "goes taut." The skin tightens. Circulation stops. The scalp is close to the face so it also tightens, and poor circulation results.

Mind over body.

So look into your mental life.

Navy Closes Case On Buddy Farris

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (UP)—Navy authorities have closed the case of Buddy Farris, 19, Fort Worth, Tex., reservist who was found tied to a tree in a suburban Chicago forest preserve, May 16.

A board of investigation said Farris was found to be suffering from an emotional disorder and has been under medical and psychiatric care.

The report of the board said no evidence had been uncovered to indicate Farris was the victim of any kind of attack. It said an exhaustive investigation failed to prove that the youthful seaman did not tie himself to the tree.

The board proved in its investigation that the rope with which Farris was bound belonged to him.

Maybe you will find, as I did, thoughts that are dragging you toward the toupee.

"I think long hair makes a man look intelligent," said one lady to another.

The other lady replied, "It makes my husband look dumb every time I find long ones on his suit."

So with that I'll go home to my sheep dog.

The Portrait Dress In Pretty Organdy

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) — A soft, ladylike, portrait look is the ideal summer look for girls who stay with white skin and delicate make-up all summer long.

The sleek sheaths and vivid make-up are for their suntanned sisters. For the portrait girl, there are the soft, drift dresses that create an instant impression of fragility.

This summer, such dresses can go to an afternoon party, to cocktails or to dinner. They come in layers of silk organdy in petal colors. The very full skirts are belted over several petticoats. And such dresses are at their prettiest when they're worn with short, white kid gloves, big hats, simple pumps and frosty white jewelry.

We show two such dresses here, both Suzy Perette designs. Both are polka-dotted silk organdy. Late afternoon dress (left) has a small white dot on beige. Draped off-shoulder neckline has large bow beneath white dickey inset at front.

The shirtwaist dress (right) has puffed sleeves with buttoned cuffs and wide self-belt.

A good prop to wear with such dresses is the sunshade in a pastel. It's a pretty and feminine touch but also serves the very practical purpose of warding off the sun and thus keeping a fair skin looking creamy and pastel.

Make-up, of course, should be suited to the pale pinks and a natural look with a light hand for the eye shadow. And if the dress is, like one we show here, slightly off-shoulder, then make-up should extend to shoulders as well.

Protect Porcelain Skin From Sun

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor
The season of sunning is here and most of us will spend hours on the beach or lawn. But not all of us. Some of us just can't take the sun. And others prefer to keep a porcelain skin.

In either case, there are many ways to avoid the summer sun. A sunshade is a help and very much in vogue, too.

A big hat is another aid. Pick your summer dresses with three-quarter or wrist-length sleeves. Even if the fabric is filmy, it helps to ward off the sun's rays.

You won't, of course, want to deny yourself the pleasure of going to the beach with friends. But you can take along beach jacket and hat and keep yourself well in the depths of shade.

If there isn't natural shade, make sure in advance that you can provide your own by means of a beach umbrella.

The fact that you're now a big girl doesn't mean that you can automatically leave milk out of your diet. Drink a glass every day. One way to make a habit of milk is to have a glass, warmed up, before you go to bed at night. Helps you to relax and drift off to sleep easily.

But if you're one of those girls who feels she just can't drink milk, then have it in puddings or casseroles or desserts. You need it for beauty and you need it for health. You need it for sound teeth. So don't neglect this aspect of your diet. It will be important to you all of your life.

Looking cool on a hot summer day is chiefly a matter of good grooming.

It starts with the freshness of a shower, followed by delicately scented dusting powder and toilet water. It goes on to light and subtle make-up, clean and shining hair in a simple arrangement, fresh lingerie and a pin-neat linen or cotton dress.

Stockings, of course, and short white gloves always. Add chalky white jewelry to further the impression of coolness. Then forget about your appearance and the heat, too.

You'll need to freshen up once or twice during the day. Do it rapidly and efficiently. Don't sprawl or slump when you sit (bad in any weather) since you'll only look and feel dowdy.

Shampoo your hair oftener than you do during winter weather to rid your scalp of dust and perspiration. And remember that to look cool, you must look and feel fresh.

It Pays To Read The Classified.

Carnival Theme Reigns At Party

A party given by the Order of the Rainbow for Girls, Pampa Assembly No. 95 honoring the Top of Texas Chapter of the Order of DeMolay was held recently at the Sportsman Club. Music for dancing, bingo and a fortune-telling booth provided entertainment for the evening. Special music was presented by Russell Stegall from Sanford, Texas.

Streamers of vari-colored crepe paper and hundreds of balloons accented the carnival theme of the party. Refreshments of soft drinks, cookies and nuts were served to approximately 75 persons.

Sponsors for the evening were Elmer Radcliff, chapter dad, and Mrs. Radcliff; Mrs. Mildred Gri-

RUTH MILLET

"No matter how I want to do something you always have a better way." I recently heard a teenager say to her mother.

There wasn't anger in her voice — just plain frustration. The mother loves her daughter dearly and wants only the best for her.

But she is making the mistake of so many mothers of teen-age girls. She just doesn't realize that her daughter has reached the age when she wants to be able to do something her way.

How can a girl learn to make decisions for herself if she doesn't get any practice when she is still growing up?

Mama isn't always going to be around. And even if she were, how sad it would be if a daughter couldn't make a move without asking her mother's advice.

No, a teen-ager's need to express her own ideas shouldn't be ignored by a mother.

A mother can't possibly stay friends with a daughter unless she recognizes the daughter's right to be herself.

EASY MEAT DIP

For summertime entertaining, use this Easy Meat Dip for appetizer trays or evening snacks. Mix two 4 1/2 ounce jars of prepared pork or beef meat spread with 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise and 1/2 teaspoon onion juice. Mix thoroughly and chill. Serve with crisp raw vegetable relishes or potato chips.

Whether The Sweet Or Sassy Type Flattering Eyeglasses Frame You

Do you like Strauss music, pale chiffon, flower pertumes, and moonlight? Or perhaps you prefer tweeds, mountain pools, gardening and games?

Whether you are the sweet or sassy type there is a flattering eyeglass frame for you! You no longer are forced to accept one or two types of frames. Today you have a huge range of fashion-wise frames that can flatter your face as well as your wardrobe. The soft look of spring is reflected in mild colors this year. The pale citrus colors, rounded silhouettes and feminine details go perfectly with the soft, pastel colored frames. Pearl gray, rose pink, warm beige and a host of other delicate frames make you look as feminine as you feel. Today's eyewear specialists can show you a wide range of gently-rounded shapes to go with these appealing colors. In addition you can get these shades in an iridescent treatment or a two-tone blend. Now on the other hand, if you feel sassy and bold colors excite you, then you should and can get a variety of bright, sunshine colors. Vibrant red, electric blue, deep green, plaids and stripes will help put a sparkle in your eye as well as in your wardrobe. Then when the sun goes down and the moon takes its place there are magical glasses. Black frames with pearls, midnight blue dotted with gold or sparkle frames that glow in the night. Or perhaps your evening glasses are needed for only a theatre program or a menu. Then you may choose one of the lovely folding evening glasses that disappear into a tiny purse.

Little League Farm Game Set

A Little League farm team game will be played at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow at the High School practice field. The Cabot farm team, managed by Bill Martin, and the Sportsman Store farm team, managed by Chet Henry, will play. It was reported this morning that there is a need for more team sponsors, managers and coaches to take care of the boys wishing to play on a farm team. Martin reported that he had about 20 players and thought that Henry did too. All those who are willing to work out with the farm teams were urged to call Jerald Sims, director of Little League and Pony League play, and let him know so a schedule for the farm teams could be made.

NEW YORK (UP)—Chet Forte, All-America basketball star from Columbia and the United Press "Player of the Year," has been voted the seventh annual "Lines on Lions" Award by the school's monthly publication of the Varsity "C" Club. Forte also won the award for the 1954-55 season, becoming the first player in the school's history to win it as a sophomore.

Minor League Version Of Yank Scuffle

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—Officials of the Nashville baseball team indicated today that three Southern Association players, who police said made like the New York Yankees in a Memphis bar, will get off a lot easier than the major league brawlers. The three Nashville players, two of them former major leaguers, were charged with disorderly conduct, disturbing the peace and resisting arrest following a southern-style, minor league version of the Yankee nightclub scuffle. The six Yankee players involved in the New York nightclub scuffle were fined a total of $5,500 by the New York front office. However, officials of the Nashville club indicated that they would not fine their three stars, Tommy Brown, a former Brooklyn Dodger infielder, Stan Paly, who played with the Phillies and Cincinnati and is currently leading Southern Association hitters, and relief pitcher Cal Howe.

Pony, Little League Results

Pony League and Little League baseball play resumed yesterday to rainy weather and muddy playing fields. In the Pony League yesterday afternoon, the Kist Beverage team defeated the First National Bank team 9 to 5. Batteries for Kist were R. Cross and S. Young and for the First National Bank were Owens, Clark and Langley. Winning pitcher was Randall Cross; pitcher for the losers was D. Owens.

Medical Group To Investigate Athletes' Use Of Stimulants

NEW YORK (UP)—The American Medical Assn. has ordered an investigation into the "shocking" use of stimulants by amateur and professional athletes. Charges of "indiscriminate" use of stimulants by athletes, including school children, were made before the AMA's 106th annual meeting Wednesday by Dr. Herbert Berger. Berger, chairman of the New York state Medical Society's committee on narcotics and alcohol addiction, told the AMA "the recent rash of four - minute miles is no coincidence." The house of delegates to the medical association, after hearing Berger, said reports on the use of drugs by athletes were "shocking" and a "vicious practice" that should be stopped. It adopted a resolution from the New York delegation requesting that "the indiscriminate administration of these stimulants or their use under the direction of non-medical persons be condemned as dangerous to our youth." The house of delegates, the association's top policy-making body then went a step further and ordered an investigation. The resolution singled out amphetamine as an undesirable stimulant used by athletes. Amphetamine is used as an inhalant or spray for head colds, hay fever and other complaints, but can also be taken in pill form. It is sold under a variety of trade names including Benzedrine, Phenidrine, Alodene, Isomyn and Dexedrine. Berger said amphetamine is sold in volume second only to aspirin. Manufacturers, he said, turn out six billion pills a year. Leading coaches in the sports world immediately branded Berger's charges "ridiculous."

Firing Of Unionists

We could not help but be struck by the logic of a top unionist who feels that the federal government ought to set up an effective system for firing union members who fail to attend union meetings.

The speaker was George Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, who said that such a system would insure democracy and curb corruption.

And we think that logic is all on the side of such a move—although Harrison didn't go far enough.

In addition to firing members who don't attend meetings the federal government, logically, ought to set the number of times a year that the union should meet, the number of hours they ought to be in session and the length of time that each member should speak in the meeting.

This, of course, would only be a starter. Once democracy was insured thus for and corruption curbed by this action, there are a lot of other things that the government ought to do to carry out these plans.

For instance, voting to be compulsory and a fine levied if a citizen fails to vote. Obviously such a vote would be of little value unless the voter was informed so there ought to be compulsory attendance at various sorts of government training schools with TV, "visual aids," reading, recitation and examination so that qualifications and standards can be maintained and the citizen fined if he fails to measure up and thrown in jail if he refuses to pay the fine.

Such instruction, of course, would have to be from government prepared material for any other source might be "controversial."

Since the question of morality could not be avoided forever, the government, to insure democracy and curb corruption, would have to set up a standard of morality and see to it that this standard was maintained by compulsory attendance at religious services or meetings and here too, the government would have to determine which religion was the "right" one for the people.

Had enough? If all this strikes you as ridiculous, then just look at the existing laws concerning unions.

Under existing laws employers can be required to take from an employe his union dues money before he gets it—a thing known as the "check off". The employer can fire a worker who does not pay the initiation fee of a union. Certainly it doesn't take a great stretch of the imagination to expand this system to cover the payment of fines levied by the union against members and those fines could be incurred for failure to attend union meetings.

As Brother Harrison put it: "The rank and file member of a union ought to be compelled to assume his responsibility to keep his union honest. He should be required to attend at least a minimum number of meetings every year and be fined if he doesn't."

This minimum number, of course, would be up to somebody—but Harrison doesn't say just who ought to decide this.

His statements, put forth seriously, give a good indication as to how far from the American approach to questions we have strayed. In Russia such a system works effectively because there are barrels of secret police and military personnel to keep in line anyone who might object. So if we were to emulate Russia in one approach, we would have to follow the example in the matter of policing the people to keep them in line. Just how well the rank and file member would receive this idea of a secret police state is a question. We suspect that there would be many who might object.

As we have attempted to point out in these columns a good many times, the fault does not lie in the fact that we don't have enough laws but that we have too many. Laws that set up a monopoly for violence, laws that set class against class, laws that deny the traditional American way of life are the very thing that leads us into the mess we find ourselves.

Until we examine carefully the basic error in unionism we can only hope to get superficial alleviation of the error and evil. Until we are willing to look at the question and admit that basically unionism is a deterrent to production and competition, we cannot hope to cure the inevitable evils and inequalities that are going to arise. Until we are willing to see that unionism is not designed for "the workers" but for special privilege for a select few we cannot take the steps that are required to bring freedom to all the workers.

SLUM AREAS INCREASING (Christian Economics)

A residential section surrounding a leading cultural center in America's greatest city is becoming a slum area. The Governor and various state and federal officials are concerned. The former says the deterioration is due to a "tendency to keep down normal maintenance during rent controls, unless there is intelligent cooperation on the part of the landlords."

The Governor thinks landlords are uninterested because they do not use capital from other sources if they have it to maintain properties that are unprofitable because state-fixed rents do not cover costs.

Rent control, public housing, high taxation and feather-bedding are destroying the housing industry. Tax exemption for public housing projects increases the burden on privately owned property and takes the matter worse. The public is called upon to pay, as witness in this particular instance the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency is providing $70,000 and New York's temporary State Housing Rent Commission $30,000 to survey this area. So government compels landlords to subsidize tenants in the area, and now robs the taxpayer to subsidize other landlords. Who can be despoiled to reimburse the taxpayers?

Under government intervention the housing problem will row steadily worse, and more and more public funds will be used in an effort to meet the increasingly difficult situation. Already most new housing is heavily subsidized by government. This condition will grow worse until practically all housing will be in the hands of government as it is today in much of Europe. By gradually increasing government intervention we are slowly socializing the entire industry. Unfortunately, the same process is going on in many other areas of American economic life.

Why 7,000 Prisoners Were So Un-American

I am always interested in why people do things. There is always a motive for every action.

I recently read an address made by Maj. William E. Mayer before the Freedom Forum at Harding College.

There has been quite a lot written about why the 7,000 American prisoners captured in Korea were so influenced by the Communist treatment they received as prisoners. The Army has made quite an investigation of this. The prisoners' action perturbed the Army brass hats, and well it might have. I do not think their investigation really got to the roots of why so many American prisoners did not try to escape, did not resist the indoctrination and did not co-operate with each other.

The report showed the Chinese did not torture or give drugs to the captured prisoners. They attempted to use an educational method; Major Mayer said in this address: "One of these instructors who wore no uniform and carried no weapon would get together about twelve of his new American students and he would give this speech which I quote most verbatim: he would say:

"Gentlemen, we welcome you to the ranks of the people. We are happy to have liberated you from the imperialist warmongers who sent you here. We know that you didn't want to come here, you didn't start the war, you really don't know why you're here." (which was true.)

"And therefore we have nothing against you and we want to offer you a proposition. The proposition is this—it was a deal: in fact it was almost as irresistible as the deals you hear over the radio and in the want ads and all the other material—

"Get it - now, don't deny yourself - a thing philosophy being fostered on the American public today. The deal was very simple. You hardly had to do a thing and they gave you everything. All they wanted from you was your physical co-operation: don't fight the problem; sit back; be like other people, relax, see how it goes. Just don't fight."

Then the instructors made them this proposition: "I) No work; there are no slave camps here; no capitalist propaganda that they feed you in the United States. We have no coal mines for you, no road gangs, no overseers."

"Secondly, they said, 'We will give you the best food and clothing and shelter and medical care that we possibly can. Now it won't be good; we're a poor country. It will be the best we've got.' "And third, 'We'll give you the thing we know you Americans really like most of all: a chance to learn the truth. We're going to tell you what we think is the truth, about your country and ours; what is going on in the world; about your system and ours; about how the people are rising up today. And you've only heard one side of the story before because it's the capitalist-imperialist who publishes your papers and runs your radio stations and publish your comic books and your textbooks, and after all, what other side of the story have you therefore ever been allowed to hear? And so all we ask of you is a little American fair play. Listen to both sides. And after you've heard our side, make up your own mind what the truth is. And' then the imperialist Wall Street warmongers have decided they've used enough of the excess profits made by General Motors and the excess petroleum produced in Texas and the profits are large enough and the people have been exploited enough and they let this senseless slaughter end, we want you to go home to your own good homes and fine families and simply tell them the truth as you yourself decide the truth to be."

"That's the approach the Chinese Communists presented to the soldiers. Then Major Mayer continued his address in this manner:

"Well, you've got to admit, this beats burning bamboo splinters under your finger-nails. It didn't turn any American soldier into a Communist but it set the tone and the atmosphere for the years that were to follow in this kind of strange new type captivity. For about six months there was no further indoctrination at all, and yet even during this period—and I can't believe that it was due to only one speech—during this period we saw an almost total absence of spontaneous organization among the men. We saw in short what the prisoners called a 'dog-eat-dog' period, a period of every man for himself, of a living out of a fantastic philosophy which has never been comprehensible to Americans, which can be expressed in terms such as 'My survival is going to be my private affair, buddy, and yours is your private affair.' 'You leave me alone and I'll leave you alone.' "And it was during this period that out of every ten Americans captured, four died: the largest death rate of any group of Americans in any kind of captivity or in any war in any country in any prison since the American Revolution. Four out of ten."

Which Party Is Ike's Big Buddy Is Current Question

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The strangest political hassle in recent memory has broken out on Capitol Hill over the question of which Party is giving greater support to President Eisenhower's legislative program especially his overgrown budget.

As evidence of their excessive loyalty, the liberal bloc of Democrats flourish in reddish Republican faces an effusive thank-you note from Sherman Adams, White House Chief of Staff, and obvious approval of Ike himself.

An acrimonious House debate on this subject was recently provoked by one of this writer's colleagues. The article said that '80 Roosevelt Democrats' were rallying behind the President's budget requests because, in their opinion, they simply carried out New Deal-Fair Deal reforms. It pointed out that they frequently opposed the e Rayburn - Cannon - Johnson economy drive.

Representative Frank Thompson, Jr., Trenton Democrat, conceded the column was a "fair" presentation of the politico-legislative situation, although he modestly disclaimed the role of leader of the bloc. When prodded by angry Republicans, he denied, albeit mildly, that the 80 were in open rebellion against the Rayburn - Johnson rule. Speaker Rayburn listened grimly to the exchange of recriminations.

Thompson raked the Republican ranks for what he termed their desertion of the President in slashing his budget by several billions, and their demands for even larger cuts. He criticized them particularly for reducing appropriations for national defense, foreign aid and social services.

In his dash through a badly broken political field, Thompson recalled that 54 Republican House members, led by Representative Peter Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey, had forthrightly asked Ike to run again during his 1956 illness. Then he declared that the survivors of this House group had given only 34.5 per cent support to the President.

On the contrary, he needed, his bloc of 80 "Roosevelt Democrats" had backed Ike to the extent of 77.3 per cent. He particularly incensed the GOP-ers, who heckled him and disputed his claims, when he charged that Representative John W. McCormack, Democratic House Leader, had been more loyal to Ike than the Martin - Halleck-Arendt trio, the President's spokesmen and agents.

Thompson credited McCormack with a 95 per cent score, as against his estimate of 56 for House Minority Leader Martin, 50 for Arendt and 59 for Halleck.

A chorus of Republicans questioned accuracy and honesty of Thompson's criteria of Presidential loyalty. They argued that he tested the Republicans' obedience on the basis of such minor items as $20,000 appropriation instead of on major portions of the Presidential program such as the Middle East Doctrine.

Sherman Adams' expression of gratitude to Thompson, however, did upset the Republicans. The Presidential aide wrote: "He (the P-President—Ed. note) thanks you for your assurances that you and others in your Party will help advance the administrative programs... and that you will do your best, as he has been doing and will continue to do so, to keep the Congress from effecting crippling cuts in the budget."

Since, the conservative Democrats have sponsored and voted for these "crippling cuts," Speaker Rayburn may yet find a way of spanking the 80 rebels to offset Adams' thanking of them.

The Fear Of A Mob Strikes A Reporter

(A United Press Extra)
When a riot occurs or a revolution breaks out, newsmen are there to cover it. How these men do it—their own experiences—sometimes also make a story. United Press correspondent Francis McCarthy flew from Cuba to Haiti last week to cover the revolution there. McCarthy is no stranger to violence. He covered the Pearl Harbor attack, fighting at Guadalcanal, the recapture of Manila. But at Port au Prince, he found something new.

By FRANCIS MCCARTHY
United Press Staff Correspondent
PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UP)—I have been frightened many times and probably will be again. But I have never had an experience so harrowing as the fear of a mob.

The revolt in Haiti was brief but bloody. The fighting between armed forces was confined to a handful of hours Saturday. But the savagery of mob action covered about a 36-hour span.

It began about 8 a.m. when Lt. Col. Pierre Armand, chief of police, broadcast an ultimatum that Brig. Gen. Leon Cantave quit as army chief of staff and head of the military government.

I hurried by foot from the Hotel Beau Rivage on Truman Boulevard to the All-American Cables office in the heart of Port au Prince. James Cunningham, the U.P. resident correspondent in Haiti, had just arrived.

We rented a cab and started a day of reporting we will never forget.

Crowd Gathers
The news that something was up had spread and thousands streamed downtown from the slums, massing at the Champs de Mars parade ground and swarming into a reviewing stand as if awaiting a football game.

At 8:30 Armand gave Cantave half an hour to get out or be attacked in the fortress-like presidential palace. When the deadline passed without action, the mob began a savage chant. The ugly mood swelled and then, as if by unspoken accord, thousands—snake-dancing and crying aloud—headed for newspapers and radio stations supporting Cantave.

First was Le Matin and its radio station on the Rue Americaine. The employees fled in terror. At first the mob stoned the buildings, then swarmed in.

Out they came carrying huge stacks of newspapers to be sold in the markets for pennies, long-playing records, turntables, typewriters, big pieces of machinery. The buildings were razed in minutes.

Next was the Le Jour plant. It was incredible. One man rode off on a bike carrying a huge gold trophy cup. Another had two bed-springs and mattresses on his back. A third was carrying an office safe, bent over almost double but shouting his glee.

One cab was halted by bands armed with stones and clubs. We were pelted with boulders but the magic phrase, "journaliste Americaine," kept us going. We headed for the airport where Armand was headquartered. He had given Cantave a second deadline—noon. Now there was firing on all sides. Police abandoned the city to mob rule and took a stand in the square, keeping the crowd from the presidential palace. Back at the cable office we found the steel doors closed tight. We banged on them and got in just as artillery boomed nearby.

We filed a story, climbed into the cab again and headed for the fortress. As we arrived, troops there opened fire and we ran for home—in this case the nearby American embassy.

Its steel gates were shut. I leaped out and ran to get them open while Cunningham raced across the street to photograph a dead woman lying in the gutter. Bullets were so close our skinny little driver—Dervi Lucien—almost drove over me getting through the gates.

We went in and paid our respects to the ambassador. Then we heard a terrific explosion and ran out into the street again. Either an artillery field piece had blown up or its ammunition box exploded. There were really dead around now.

Our driver got a Fignole flag (banner of new President Daniel Fignole) and we took off for the cable office, waving the flag wildly, halted every few feet by self-appointed vigilantes. They rocked our car. We refused to get out. The Fignole banner squeaked us through.

One strange thing. Never did we see a fire. It was pillaging, looting—sheer savagery—but no arson. Perhaps it was because mobs from the slums know what a single spark can do.

State Bar Of Texas Prexy Is Elected

Fred Parks, a member of the board from Houston, was elected vice-president.

Seaberry, Parks and seven new directors will take office at the close of the association's annual state convention, July 3-6, at Fort Worth.

FHA Loan Report For Last 10 Months

More than $380,145 has been loaned to farmers in Armstrong, Donley and Gray counties during the ten months ended April 30, 1957, by Farmers Home Administration, the agency's county supervisor, James D. Gouldy, announced this week.

The heaviest demand has been for credit to finance farm operating expense in these counties.

During this same ten months period, Farmers Home Administration extended credit in operating, emergency and real estate loans to some 18,500 Texas farmers and ranchers for a total of $34,773,000, the agency's State Director, Walter T. McKay, reported. This is an increase over the same period last year of about $8,300,000. "This increase is due primarily to the demand from family-type farmers for credit needed to place their farming operations on an efficient basis," McKay explained. "In fact," he added, "agency records reveal that there has been a slight decline in the demand for emergency credit so far this year. Long-term credit, to develop balanced systems and make full use of resources available, has been extended to a number of operators of family-type farms who previously obtained emergency loan assistance."

McKay and members of his staff are meeting this week with National Administrator Kermit Hansen to go over agency operations for next year. This meeting is preparatory to training meetings to be held for county office staffs throughout the State. The objective of these meetings will be to insure minimum service is rendered to Texas farmers and ranchers promptly and efficiently.
