Underpass Talked In City Commission

Highway engineers from the Pampa and Amarillo office of the Texas Highway Department met this morning with the City Commission and discussed progress on the Hobart Street underpass.

The engineers informed the commissioners, "We are going to be ready by now you know it."

When asked when the bids would be let, the engineers reported that it would probably be in April. They added that it usually took two months after the final plans were sent to Austin.

The main topic of discussion was the obtaining of the necessary right-of-way on the first two blocks west of Hobart on Alcock for the construction of the necessary intersection work at the intersection of Alcock, Hobart and Francis.

The engineers reported that no major grade changes would be made on Alcock but that a new type of intersection would be constructed.

The commission accepted the bid of H. H. Heiskell as the lowest and best bid received this morning for the drilling of test holes for the determination of water reserves. The contract calls for the drilling of six test holes at a cost of $7,800.

In other action on the obtaining of water and the construction of better water facilities the commission approved the sales contract with E. L. Holmes for the purchase of 11 acres south of town on the Lefors highway. The site will be used for the construction of a new booster station. They also approved an option on the Boston property south of town for water rights. The option is for 120 acres at $50 per acre.

The commissioners approved four estimates of Ray Boswell for paving recently completed. The payments were for the paving in the 400, 500 and 600 blocks of E. 22nd at a cost of $1,298, 60; the 300 and 400 blocks of E. Linda Dr. at a cost of $4,338.01; the west one-half of the 600 block of E. Linda Dr. at a cost of $677.94; and the 1900 block of Dogwood Lane at a cost of $1,482.31.

Monthly bills of the city in the amount of $32,349.02 were approved for payment.

No action was taken on the request for a bid date on the letting of contracts for new equipment for the fire department or on the leasing of rodeo facilities at Recreation Park to the Top O' Texas Rodeo and Horshoew Assn.

In other action the commission approved two tax cancellation certificates, one for the correction of a duplicate assessment and one for the correction of a transfer error.

They also approved the public official bond of Aubrey Jones, city tax assessor - collector, in the amount of $10,000.

Negro Integration Leaders Call South-Wide Meeting

By AL KUETTNER
United Press Staff Correspondent

ATLANTA (UP)—Negro leaders of bus integration drives in three key cities have called a south-wide meeting in Atlanta this week to spur their movement to discuss the problem of racial violence.

The two-day meeting starting Jan. 10 was announced by the Revs. M. L. King of Montgomery, Ala.; C. C. Steele of Tallahassee, Fla.; and F. L. Shuttlesworth of Birmingham, Ala.

They invited leaders of other drives to end bus segregation and from other "troubled areas" of the South. They will discuss how to spur their campaign and "violence directed toward the Negro communities."

The Tallahassee City Commission Monday hurriedly adopted an ordinance giving bus drivers the responsibility of assigning bus seats so as to "distribute the weight of passengers" and to "preserve good order."

The ordinance did not mention bus segregation, which Negroes in Tallahassee have tried to end by mass flouting of a local seating law.

The buses remained idle by an emergency order issued by Gov. LeRoy Collins after an outbreak of violence. An aide said Collins, who will be inaugurated today for another term, has no intention of lifting the order soon.

In Chattanooga, Tenn., where the last of the "Jim Crow" markers on city buses was removed Monday, Negroes apparently continued occupying rear seats.

Hungarian Patriots Are Fleeing

VIENNA (UP)—Hundreds of Hungarian patriots fleeing the Red reign of terror are fleeing into the trackless forests, swamps and mountains to join the "hard freedom" - fighter bands, refugees said today.

Hungarians who risked their lives to cross the Austrian frontier to escape the return to the "proletarian dictatorship" in their homeland also reported renewed fighting between partisan bands and Russian troops.

Clashes between Hungarian patriots and Red army troops have increased in the past 24 hours, according to the newly-arrived fighting troops in the rugged country centered around Fecs. Fecs on the Yugoslav frontier was a rebel stronghold in the revolution crushed by Soviet steel.

The pro-Russian regime of Janos Radford announced Monday a new purge of opponents. The cleanup was expected to hit members of the Hungarian parliament as well as die-hard patriots.

The Hungarian refugees said it was estimated some 10,000 Hungarian patriots are holding out against Soviet and Communist forces in the outlying provinces. Rebel bands were said to be active in the Bakony Forest in western Hungary, the Matra Mountains in northeast Hungary, and in the swamp lands along the Hungarian-Yugoslav border.

2 Indictments Are Returned By Jury

Two indictments were returned yesterday by the Gray County Grand Jury of the 31st District Court.

The indictments returned were against Robert Moser, 39, of Woodville for forgery and passing and A. R. Hudson, 31, of Amarillo for swindling.

Both of these men are being held in the county jail pending the hearing of the cases.

The newly selected Grand Jury was impaneled yesterday morning and will serve for the January term of the District Court.

Six other cases were considered but the Grand Jury passed action on them until the next session.

Six civil suits were set for trial during the week of Feb. 18 by Judge Lewis M. Goodrich, following the impaneling of the Grand Jury yesterday.

Two of the suits arose as the result of fatal accidents.

One of the suits is a $25,000 suit filed against Air Speed Oil Co. by Earl Brown as a result of injuries received in the Sept. 4 wreck involving one of the company's trucks and a car in which Brown was a passenger.

Army Trying To Recover Documents

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Army is trying to recover copies of a secret document containing guided missile information which fell into unauthorized hands in an apparent "violation of security regulations."

The document was discovered in the hands of unauthorized persons, Brucker said.

He said the Army would not comment further while the investigation is in progress. It is taking prompt steps to retrieve any copies of the document which may have been disseminated," he said.

Nickerson, a Kentuckian, was graduated from West Point in 1938 and holds a master of science degree in aeronautics from the California Institute of Technology.

He served in the research and development division of Army Ordnance before going to Huntsville. His decorations include two Silver Stars, a Bronze Star and a Croix de Guerre with star.

Sleeper Released

Coroner Bill Graham ruled this morning that the death of Mrs. Viola Phillips Sleeper, who was found in a fire gutted garage apartment at 720 N. Gray on New Year's Day, was due to burns.

Graham stated that he based his report on a post-mortem examination and upon the report of the doctor. The death certificate indicated that Mrs. Sleeper's death was caused by bodily burns beyond recognition.

The fire department received an alarm at approximately 6 a.m. on Jan. 1, and upon extinguishing the blaze the body of Mrs. Sleeper was found on the floor of the kitchen.

Examination of the body disclosed that she had suffered a wound to the back of the head, and this was included in the coroner's report.

"As the result of investigation, Mrs. Sleeper's husband, Lowell Eugene Sleeper, was held for investigation and was taken to Austin last week for a lie detector test.

The results of the investigation and of the test at Austin were given to the Grand Jury yesterday and were considered. Bill Waters, (See DEATH, Page 2)

Death By Fire Is Report Of Autopsy

Robert C. Kirkwood, a Republican, said he would run for Knowland's Senate seat in 1958. He said his political philosophy is "wholly in accord with the great Eisenhower movement."

Knowland, a conservative on most issues, has sometimes been at odds, as Senate GOP leader, with the President's views. But Senate Republicans again picked him as their leader for the new session of Congress which opened last week, and Knowland said he would retain the post until his retirement from the Senate.

California Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, whose term expires at the same time as Knowland's Senate term, exclaimed, "I must say I'm surprised" when informed of Knowland's decision.

Knight said he expected to discuss the development with Knowland when he comes here for President Eisenhower's Jan. 21 inauguration.

Newsmen asked Knight whether he intended to find out from Knowland whether the senator might be a GOP candidate for the California gubernatorial race.

"It's entirely up to him to discuss it if he wants to," Knight re-

Curb Of Filibuster Rule Is Seen; Congress Recesses

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland forecasts the Senate will curb its filibuster rule.

He plans to introduce a resolution Wednesday that would make it possible for two-thirds of senators present instead of two thirds of total membership to shut off debate. That would cripple one of Southern senators' main weapons against civil rights legislation.

Knowland told a news conference Monday he expects the Senate to go along with his resolution. He originally planned to introduce it during the day. He said he postponed its introduction to Wednesday to obtain "substantial bipartisan support."

Congress was in recess today. The Senate on Friday defeated SF-39 a move aimed at curbing filibusters.

Then the fight at least had to reach the floor. Now any resolution to change the rule must pass through the Senate Rules Committee where it can be bottled up permanently.

Other congressional news: Doctrines: Sentiment mounted in Congress to put some time limit on the Eisenhower Doctrine. Many congressmen also sought to separate the administration's proposed $400 million aid program for the Middle East from the fight-it movement which it had been authorized by President Eisenhower.

Kennedy - Kefauver: Democratic Sens. Estes Kefauver (Tenn.) and John F. Kennedy (Mass) struggled behind the scenes for a vacant seat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Informed insiders give Kennedy the edge in the struggle for the blue-ribbon assignment.

Highways: Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) demanded the administration name any states lagging on their part of the superhighway program. Gore's Senate roads subcommittee called Federal Highway Administrator John A. Volpe to report on the program's progress.

Bills: Senators introduced bills calling for Alaskan and Hawaiian statehood, a $2 billion school construction program and a 35-hour work week for federal employees.

Public School Integration Takes Lawmakers' Attention

By O. B. LLOYD, JR.
United Press Staff Correspondent

55th session at high noon today squarely astride the explosive issue of desegregation.

Top-level moves to sidetrack the emotion-stirring problem of public school integration pending approval of multi-million dollar appropriations threatened to collide with East Texas-born demands for early action.

Financially, prospects were brighter than normal. But forecasts of a surplus exceeding $80 million were balanced by multi-million dollar demands for new money, and pressing urgency for enacting a statewide water conservation program.

As the hands of the Capitol clock touched 12 o'clock, Secretary of State Tom Reavley called the House to order, and began administering the oath to the 150 members.

Across the Capitol rotunda, Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey—re-elected last fall to an unprecedented fourth term—banged his gavel.

After administering the oath to the representatives, Reavley will preside until the 150 members—56 of them newcomers—complete the formality of electing Rep. Waggoner Carr, 35-year-old Lubbock attorney, speaker. Carr, unopposed, succeeds Jim Lindsey of Texarkana as presiding officer.

Meantime, the Senate—boasting eight new members—will select its president pro tempore, an honor expected to go this year to Sen. Otis Lock of Lufkin. As "assistant lieutenant governor" the president pro tempore becomes third in succession to the office of governor.

Early action was expected in both houses on a resolution to invite Gov. Allan Shivers to address a joint session later this week, probably Thursday. Shivers, after serving as the state's chief executive seven and one-half years, will be succeeded Jan. 15 by Governor - Elect Price Daniel.

The legislature will also go through the formality of appointing a joint committee to canvass returns of last November's general election in the races for governor and lieutenant governor. The result will be to certify the election of Daniel and Ramsey.

Money-wise, the financial outlook was in sharp contrast to that of two years ago when the lawmakers were told they had to find at least $26 million in new revenue to keep Texas in the black.

This year they faced the prospects of a surplus, expected to crest between the $80 and $90 million mark.

An estimated surplus of $50 million is expected by the end of the coming biennium ending Aug. 31, 1959. In addition, the state's coffers face a potential windfall of about $32 million over the biennium in increased taxes resulting from a price hike on crude oil averaging about 35 cents a barrel.

However, money demands also were on the increase.

Teachers were asking "emergency" pay raises that would cost the state $72 million over the next two years—enough to erase most of the surplus. In addition, an expanded teacher retirement program—already written into the law—will add about $9 million to the budget for the next biennium.

Carr, in a possible tipoff to Daniel administration policy, has proposed that such potentially explosive issues as desegregation be sidetracked until such matters as appropriations have been approved. However, the policy may crack under a "Texas Manifesto"—calling for a fight against integration—being circulated by Rep. Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs.

Chou En-Lai Meets With Soviet Heads

By JOE A. MORRIS
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON (UP)—Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai met Soviet leaders today in Moscow for talks believed aimed at halting the discontent sweeping the Communist empire.

The strategy being mapped behind the Kremlin walls by leaders of the world's two largest Communist parties may determine the path of world Communism, observers said in London.

Chou arrived in Moscow Monday with a 26-man delegation and received an ecstatic welcome from the worried men in the Kremlin who have seen their de-stalinization policy lead to uprisings in Poland and revolution in Hungary.

Western observers said it was obvious Chou was called in as a fireman to help extinguish the discontent that has spread from East Germany and the other satellites to North Viet Nam in Southeast Asia.

A dispatch from Warsaw said Polish leaders already were becoming apprehensive about the Moscow talks and Chou's visit to the Polish capital later this week.

Poland achieved a measure of independence for its Communist regime, but the Sino-Russian talks in the Kremlin may mean back pedaling for the Polish government, observers said in Warsaw.

One of the principal topics believed up for talks between Chou and Soviet Communist Party Boss Nikita S. Khrushchev was a new outline of relations between the Communist states. This was expected to involve a partial return to the harsh bonds of Stalinism.

Bing Crosby To Do Serious Movie Minus Golden Voice

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Bing Crosby, looking cheerful and a little thinner, is back at work in the movies. But he is famous for the voice that made him rich is temporarily on the shelf.
For the first time in his gold-plated career, the world's most durable crooner is turning serious for a picture in which he won't sing a note.

Even in the "The Country Girl" Bing sang as well as acting in some serious emotion that won him an Oscar nomination.
But in "Man on Fire" Crosby will be strictly an actor because "It's a powerful story about the problem of broken homes and children raised under such circumstances."

"Any time I sing in a story, you lose the character I'm trying to portray," Bing said. "I become Bing Crosby, the crooner. I never did want to sing in 'Little Boy Lost.' I thought the picture would have been better without song."

Boy's Trophy Is Stolen

Jackie Helton, a member of the Briscoe basketball team, didn't get to keep the trophy presented to him at the Leflore tournament Saturday night very long.
Helton and some of his teammates had stopped in Wheeler before going home, and while there, the trophy, along with his letter jacket, another boy's letter jacket and other clothes, were stolen from their car.
Sheriff Bus Dorman of Wheeler reported last night that all of the clothes were recovered early Sunday morning when the car in which those responsible for the theft were riding was stopped in Pampa by city officers.
The trophy had been thrown from the car about three miles west of Wheeler, he stated, and was broken in several pieces.
The persons who had stolen the trophy agreed to make restitution for the trophy and it will be replaced as soon as possible, the sheriff concluded.

(On The Farm Front)
By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (UP)—The Agricultural Research Service, an agency which turns test tube experiments into practical developments, reported numerous advances in farm science in 1956. The test tube men and women did their work in laboratories at the Agricultural Research Center at Beltsville, Md., in various state agricultural experiment stations in all parts of the country, and in a number of industrial and other private concerns.

The researchers worked to improve production and types of crops and livestock; did yeoman work in insect control; and found new uses for farm products.

Tract Chosen
Significant advances also were made in facilities for more research. A tract near Ames, Ia., was chosen as the site of a new federal livestock and poultry disease laboratory. Funds totaling $16,250,000 for constructing and equipping the laboratory were authorized. Contracts for engineering and planning already have been let.

A new $10 million research building of the Plum Island Animal Disease Laboratory off Long Island, N. Y., was dedicated. The laboratory provides facilities for research on foot-and-mouth disease and other animal diseases of foreign origin.

Colorado A&M College, Fort Collins, Colo., was selected as the site of a new national seed storage laboratory. It will be a federal facility for storing valuable germ plasm for future use in developing better crops. Funds totaling $450,000 were authorized for its construction.

Lab Dedicated
A new southeastern cotton ginning laboratory at Clemson Agricultural College, Clemson, S. C., was dedicated.

In experiments on crops, the research service achieved a notable "first" when agriculture department and Michigan State scientists synthesized rubber in the laboratory. The test-tube rubber was produced in research on rubber-producing plants, by combining enzymes of natural rubber with acetic acid.

Two experimental weed killers, 4(2,4-DB) and 4 (MCPB), proved highly effective in test trials against broad-leaved weeds in fields planted to crops easily injured by commonly used weed killers.

Development of productive single-germ sugar-beet hybrids promises to eliminate costly hand-thinning of beets. The multiple-germ seed of ordinary sugar beets produces clumps of seedlings, making hand thinning necessary.

A plant-growth regulator called "gibberellic acid" showed a marked effect on the growth and flowering of certain plants. In some cases, application of minute amounts of the chemical to the stems caused plants to grow much taller than normal.

Livestock researchers waxed enthusiastic about chances of improving the meat-tenderness quality of animals through breeding. They found that this quality is inherited. A new, long-term breeding and selection program for hogs was started. It is similar to the program used for developing improved hybrid corn.

Welcome Way To Use Leftovers In Ham Ring With Cheese Sauce

By GAYNOR MADDOX, NEA Food and Markets Editor. You'll welcome this pleasant way to use up cooked ham. It carries extra nutrients because instant nonfat dry milk powder is added to the ring and also to the cheese sauce.

Besides its nutrition and convenience, instant nonfat dry milk is economical. The plastic-coated foil lining of the package insured its keeping almost indefinitely.

HAM RING WITH CHEESE SAUCE (6 servings)
Two cups sifted flour, 1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk powder, 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, well beaten; 1 cup water, 1 1/2 cups ground, cooked ham.

Sift together flour, instant nonfat dry milk powder, baking powder and salt. Combine egg and water; add to dry ingredients, mix quickly just to dampen ingredients. Stir in ham.

Pack in very well - greased 1-quart ring mold. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 30 minutes or until firm and brown. Turn onto a serving plate and serve with cheese sauce.

Delicious, Low-Fat Dishes Object Of These Recipes For Over-Weights

By GAYNOR MADDOX, NEA Food and Markets Editor. For the heart patient, diabetic and overweight, the less fat in the diet the better. But how to get low-fat dishes that taste good is a big problem for housewives.

To help them, Evelyn S. Stead and Gloria K. Warren, both doctors' wives, have written a reliable book called "Low-Fat Cookery." This 184-page book contains 150 easy, low-fat recipes, sample weekly menus for 25 or 50 grams a day and a table giving number of grams of fat in servings of a wide variety of foods.

Here are two low-fat but tasty recipes from the book.

BEEF STEW (4-6 servings)
One and one-half pounds beef, flour, seasoned with salt and pepper, boiling water, 1/4 cup sliced onions, 2 bay leaves, whole scraped carrots, potatoes.

Trim all excess fat from beef; cut in 1 1/2-inch cubes; dredge beef with flour. Sear the meat in a hot, heavy pot or skillet. Cover meat with boiling water, add onions and bay leaves; cover pot and simmer 1 1/2 hours.

Skim fat from top of stew by using a piece of bread or allow to cool and remove the solid sheet of congealed fat (recommended method). Add vegetables. Cook additional 30 to 40 minutes or until vegetables are done.

Fat content of recipe: chuck beef, raw, without bone, 1 1/2 pounds — 110 gm. This will be appreciably decreased by the skimming.

COOKED SALAD DRESSING (Yield: 1 pint)
One and one-half cups liquefied nonfat milk, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 egg yolk, 1/4 cup vinegar, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon salt.

Blend together in top of double boiler nonfat milk and cornstarch, adding milk gradually to make first a smooth paste and then a smooth liquid. In small mixing bowl beat together egg yolk, vinegar, mustard and salt.

Place double boiler top over hot water on low flame and cook milk and cornstarch, stirring constantly, until thick and clear-looking. (When cornstarch is thoroughly cooked, you should not be able to taste it.)

Add egg mixture and cook until egg has thickened completely. Pour in jar and refrigerate when cool.

Fat content of recipe: Liquefied nonfat milk: 0.3 gm; cornstarch: negligible; egg 5.5 gm; total 5.8 gm. Fat content per tablespoon: 0.2 gm.

Holy Souls Ass'n To Hear Sheriff

Mrs. V. W. Neumeyer, president of Holy Souls' Home and School Association, announces there will be an evening meeting, Wednesday at 8:00 p.m. in the Parish Hall. Sheriff Rufe Jordan will be the guest speaker on the topic, "Juvenile Delinquency."

Plans for the Fourth Annual Mardi Gras Ball will be made at this meeting. Parents of school children are urged to attend.

Dry Spanish Sherry Adds To Shrimp Dish

The next time you serve shrimp cocktails, add a tablespoon of dry Spanish sherry — either a dry fino or nutty amontillado — to each serving of the sauce dip. The simplest sauce uses a cup of diced celery, to which is added half a cup of catsup and quarter-cups of chili sauce and lemon juice, along with a tablespoon of chopped green peppers, a big dash of tabasco and a teaspoonful of horse radish. Half a cup of the sherry is added last.

Manners

Make Friends
If you are a member of a committee it is important that you do your share of the work. The committee member who doesn't show up for meetings and leaves all the work to others is showing plain bad manners.

It is better to take your name off a committee if you let others carry the load.

Phillips Announces Key Management Promotions

Several promotions involving key management posts in Phillips Petroleum Company have been announced by E. S. Adams, chairman, and Paul Endacott, president, effective immediately.

John M. Houchin was elected vice president, with duties relating generally to over-all company activities but with primary responsibilities relating to the production and foreign departments.

Harry G. Fair succeeds Houchin as chairman of the operating committee, and W. C. Hewitt succeeds Fair as vice chairman of this committee. Harry D. Brooklyn becomes manager of the foreign department, headquartered in Bartlesville, Okla.

The scope of the foreign department is being expanded to include all activities pertaining to negotiations for, exploration for, and acquisition of raw materials in foreign countries and in all U. S. territories and possessions outside of continental United States and its adjoining waters. It will also include present Venezuelan operations. Producing operations in Canada and Alaska will remain in the production department.

Houchin started with Phillips at Oklahoma City in 1933 and worked in engineering capacities in several areas of the production department. He later served as assistant superintendent in two of the production department's districts and as district superintendent in western Kansas. He was named assistant general superintendent of the production department in 1944 and served in that capacity until 1951 when he became general superintendent. He was advanced to chairman of the company's operating committee in February 1956.

Fair joined Phillips in 1939 as a chemical engineer and served continuously in the refining department until 1953. He was assistant to the department manager from 1945 until 1947 when he became assistant superintendent of Phillips Kansas City, Kans., refinery. In 1951 he advanced to superintendent of the refinery and in 1953 returned to Bartlesville as vice chairman of Phillips operating committee.

Hewitt, a native of Bartlesville, joined Phillips in 1935. He worked in the natural gasoline department in various engineering capacities and at Plains butadiene plant, Borger, in operations supervision, becoming plant manager in 1950. A year later Hewitt was made superintendent of operations for Phillips Chemical Company and in 1955 advanced to assistant general manager of this subsidiary.

Brooklyn started with Phillips as a geologist in Wichita Falls, in 1938. He transferred to Bartlesville as senior geologist in 1948 and later became division geologist. Since 1954 he has been manager of the land and geological department's southwest region, covering the Texas Panhandle, North Central and West Texas, and New Mexico.

Relative Of Pampan Is 'Well-Witcher'

Brad Price, 80-year-old retired farmer who lives near Bonham, and who is the grandfather of Howard Price, 436 Pitts, stumps science with his never-failing art of "well-witching."

Price has been "witching" wells for 40 years and says, "If I've ever missed a well, nobody told me about it. If a man has enough faith in a 'witcher' to believe him, he will find a good well every time. The first well I 'witched' is still furnishing water and that well is more than 40 years old."

Price points out that the proper name for the work is downing, though "most folks just call it 'witching'."

"An old Negro man near Klondike told me he thought I'd make a good 'witcher,'" Price recalls. "He said you had to have just the right amount of electricity in your system and he said it looked like I did. I tried several wells with him checking up behind me. They turned out to be good ones and I've been 'witching' water wells ever since."

Price uses a forked twig of peach or apple limbs about three feet long and of uniform roundness when possible. He grasps the ends of the twig firmly with the

As he nears an underground stream of water, he says that he can feel the pull as the butt of the stick begins to dip downward. When he is directly over the water, the butt of the twig is pointing straight down — a turn of 180 degrees.

Celanese' Wilks Faces Challenge In New Job

BY JOEL COMBES

Pampa News Managing Editor Herschel V. Wilks will become a well-known name in our area in a short time.

A vibrant personality and keen interest in things civic and needed such as this man possesses cannot be kept from the spotlight in any community, large or small.

Wilks took over yesterday as plant manager at the Celanese Corporation of America Pampa plant.

Wilks replaces John Frick as plant manager here. Frick has been named plant manager at the firm's Bishop plant as a result of an upper echelon shakeup in the company.

The new head man at one of the Top-o-Texas largest industrial plants is a bit of a rover-at-heart but feels that he and Pampa suit each other so well and the challenge in his new job is so defined that he will probably settle here for a while.

Wilks admits that in the past he has had a bit of a habit of going to work on a new plant, and then, after the plant was built, things usually got "a little too stable," and he "had" to move.

His first job after graduating from high school at Denola, Okla., was with Sinclair, in Seminole, Okla. He helped build a plant at Sasakwa, Okla., which Cities Service later purchased. He remained at the plant for five years and then went into the chemical business with Spencer Chemical in Pittsburgh, Pa.

"Call Of The Wild" He worked for Spencer for two and a half years and then got the "call of the wild" and came to Texas.

He went to work for Celanese at the Bishop plant, which was finished in 1945. Here he started in as mechanical supervisor, became assistant mechanic superintendent, then manager of plant engineering and construction, his job before coming to Pampa.

Wilks feels that he faces a tremendous challenge in his work here. "The big challenge here as I see it," he said, "is to meet the heavy expansion plan for the future."

As to Pampa itself, Wilks says, "I think I am going to like it very well here. The attitude is something I'm not really used to and I think it is one of the things I am going to like most. I never saw such a friendly bunch of people. They have certainly made me like them and I am sure that part of it isn't over. We have sent about 50 or 60 people here from Bishop and not a one of them didn't like it."

Wilks has been extremely interested in school work for the past five years. He was president of the school board at Kingsville, near Bishop, where he has lived for the past 12 years. He is a member of the State

Mexican Presidents

In Mexico, the president is elected for a term of six years by direct popular vote and cannot serve two terms in succession. There is no vice president.

School Board Association and has been on the executive committee of that organization for the about three years.

He is presently vice-president of the association. In addition, he is a past president of the Coastal Bend School Board Association.

He has been on a special commission to the state board recently making a study of the intermediate unit for the state of Texas. The special commission worked on the plan for about a year and it has now been submitted to the board which will submit it to the state legislature.

Writes Article

He is also serving on a panel of specialists for McGraw-Hill Publications on maintenance and structure. Twelve specialists work on the panel and each month have feature articles in the magazine, Petroleum Processing.

Wilks was born in Smith County, Ark. His father was an oil field worker and the family was pretty used to moving around from place to place. In his early life, he lived mainly in Kansas and Oklahoma. One of his most satisfying jobs as a youngster was that of a paper boy in El Dorado, Kans. He held the job for four years and didn't miss a day.

His hobbies are fishing, hunting and reading. In Kingsville, he was first vice president of the Lions Club.

Wilks is a deacon in the Presbyterian Church. His wife, Atha Maude, is an organist. The couple has three children, David, 10; Andrew, 7; and Patricia Margaret, 1.

FICA Tax Rates Are Changed

Tax rates under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (Social Security) and filing requirements under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act have been changed by recent amendments to the law, according to Walter C. Bowen, Administrative Officer of the Pampa Internal Revenue office.

New F.I.C.A. rates on wages paid on or after January 1, 1957 will be 2-1/4 per cent each for employers and employees, a total of 4-1/2 per cent, Bowen said.

The changes in the Federal Unemployment Tax Act, he explained, provides that employers who had four or more employees on at least one day of each of 20 calendar weeks during 1956 will be required to file Form 940 by January 31, 1957. The filing of Form 940, Annual Federal Tax Return of Employers, was formerly required of employers who had eight or more employees.

Bowen said that copies of this turn have been sent to most of the employers in this district. However, he suggested that employers who have not received this form by January 9, obtain copies from the local Revenue office at Pampa.

Oil Wells Deepened

First commercial oil well was only 69 1/2 feet deep; today, the search for new supplies has taken drilling bits down more than four miles into the earth.

More zinc and lead are produced in the area near Quapa, in northeastern Oklahoma, than in any other area of the United States.

WAR—EGYPTIAN VERSION—Future historians may believe that the Anglo-French invasion of Egypt was repulsed with heavy losses to the invaders if they judge by this new Egyptian stamp. It commemorates the recent fighting by showing three Egyptian "resistance" fighters, one a grenade-toting girl, charging forward as enemy parachute troops are slain on the Port Said beach and an enemy ship burns in the background.

A dirty air cleaner in an automobile can cause loss of 1 1/2 miles per gallon.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.
