Khrushchev Calls Deposed 'Schemers'

By HENRY SHAPIRO
 United Press Staff Correspondent
MOSCOW, July 6 (UP)—Soviet Communist Party Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev today accused former Premier Georgi Malenkov of being a "chief organizer" of a 1954 criminal conspiracy and denounced all the ousted Stalinists as "cunning schemers" opposed to Soviet progress.

In his first public speech on the disgraced party and government officials, Khrushchev charged that they refused even to believe that Russia could overtake the United States in farm production.

He and Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin told an audience in Leningrad celebrating the 250th anniversary of the city that Malenkov, Vyacheslav Molotov, Lazar Kaganovich and Dmitri T. Shepilov hampered the Kremlin in its campaign for peace, easing of international tensions and domestic improvements.

"Being captives of old notions and methods, they stubbornly strove not to see the new conditions," Khrushchev said.

He accused them of having a "lifeless approach to Marxism-Leninism."

Baying At The Spect
 "They embarked upon the path, condemned by the party, of secret agreement among themselves, the path of factional struggle."

He accused them of "fierce" attacks on the party and singled out Malenkov as being "one of the chief organizers of the so-called Leningrad case" who was "afraid to come to you here in Leningrad."

His words and those of Bulganin were echoed with rising fervor in the Soviet press and in resolutions by Soviet organizations which accused the Molotov group of "criminal methods."

However, Radio Moscow, in broadcasts beamed for home as well as foreign consumption, denied that the disgraced Stalinists were under arrest. It said they had been seen "walking in Moscow" and had attended a party meeting Friday in the capital where they were denounced.

It appeared, however, that they faced further punishment of loss of party membership if not trial.

Railroad May Lay Spur Here
 Representatives of the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad met with Fred Cary and officials of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce Friday to discuss laying a "spur" track to an industrial district on the Cary estate here.

H. C. Vincent of the traffic department of the Amarillo division represented the railroad.

Cary is the administrator of the Cary estate.

Officials of the railroad assured the group of their cooperation in constructing sidings where needed.

Plans were made to survey the area and suggestions will be made by the railroad company for future development.

Numerous industrial operations have been developed in this district during the past few months.

Russia Says 'No Change' In Attitude

LONDON, July 6 (UP)—Russia warned the West today that the ouster of the Stalinist leaders will not result in any "compromise" on Soviet foreign policy.

Western diplomats took the warning broadcast by Moscow Radio and the known mercurial temperament of the now all-powerful Nikita S. Khrushchev to mean the West may be in for some surprising shocks in international relations in the future.

An English-language broadcast over the official Soviet radio said it is "entirely unjustified" for the West to hope for a "certain compromising attitude in Soviet foreign policy."

Commentator Anatoly Bobrov said Western newspaper accounts of the possible diplomatic effect of the ouster of Malenkov, Molotov and Kaganovich "need clarification."

He said publicly expressed hopes that the new Soviet leadership would soften foreign policy are groundless.

"The Soviet Union has always been willing to meet the West halfway," he said. "But it is up to the West to act in similar fashion."

As if to point up its intentions, a Soviet magazine published reasons for its cancellation of a scheduled track meet in Moscow this month between Russian and American Olympic stars.

Builders Fear Business Drop

By BILL NEAL
 Pampa News Staff Writer

If Eisenhower vetoes the bill now before him which drastically cuts down payments on new homes, the housing industry may suffer a 30 per cent drop in construction before the end of the year, Pampa's R. G. Hughes, chairman of the board of the National Housing Center, Washington, D.C., told The News yesterday.

Hughes, president of the Hughes Development Company here, is also a past president of the Association of National Home Builders.

Another Pampa home builder, Ed Griffin of the Highland Homes Company said, "We builders are scared to death Ike won't sign it."

"I understand Ike has a couple of his influential advisers telling him it is an inflationary measure, but it isn't. Houses aren't like other commodities like automobiles," he said.

Hughes felt the drop would be mainly in the middle and lower class homes.

"Nearly everything but the high priced homes handled by conventional loans will feel the squeeze," he said.

Hughes and housing officials over the country have been working almost around-the-clock during the past weeks to obtain passage of the bill and the President's signature.

High interest rates have tightened the builders' profits during the past two years, they report. Interest rates have risen sharply, thus cutting down the present $700 to $300.

On a $12,000 home, the present minimum of $1,200 would drop to $600; on a $15,000 home it would be lowered from $1,850 to $1,050, and on a $20,000 dwelling from $2,200 to $2,400.

No Charges Filed In Hotel Theft
 Investigation by local police officers revealed the identity of two men who took money and a billfold from Clyde Branch Thursday night while he was asleep in his room at the Hillson Hotel.

Upon learning the identity of the two men, Branch refused to file charges against them, police officers reported.

Branch reported the theft to the police department at 3:32 Friday morning and stated that the billfold, containing $25, had been taken while he was asleep.

Investigation revealed the identity of the two men and they told officers that they had been invited to Branch's room to talk about a job he had offered them.

Branch went to sleep, they said, and they decided to take his money. They reported that they only took $4 and put the money in a mailbox in the business district, according to Police Chief Jim Conner.

The billfold was found by employees of the post office and was returned to Branch.

Neither of the men involved in the theft was connected with the hotel nor registered at the hotel, the officers reported.

Czech Purge Is Expected This Week

EDITORS—United Press Correspondent Russell Jones, who covered last year's uprisings in Poland and Hungary, recently returned from an assignment in Prague. In the following dispatch he reports the possibility Czechoslovakia may soon undergo a "Stalinist" purge like that in Moscow.

By RUSSELL JONES
 United Press Staff Correspondent

VIENNA, July 6 (UP)—Soviet Communist Chief Nikita Khrushchev may take his "Stalinist" purge to Czechoslovakia next week.

Czechoslovakia is the last major satellite still run by old-time followers of the harsh Stalin line.

Khrushchev, who has just boot-ed six top Soviet leaders for failure to switch from Stalinism, is scheduled to visit Prague next week.

"The visit ostensibly is merely a return call on Czech Communist officials who visited Moscow several months ago. But Khrushchev is taking with him Gen. Ivan Serov, chief of the Soviet secret police.

Unusual Move
 Observers in this western listening post on the border of the Iron Curtain view Serov's presence as an unusual move for a supposedly friendly visit. The police chief's recent trips out of the Soviet Union included a visit to Hungary last fall to install Janos Kadar as puppet premier.

Czechoslovakia and little Albania are the only two satellites which have stuck to the old line since Stalin's death and the denunciation of the "personality cult."

No Alternatives
 President Antonin Zapotocky, Prime Minister Vilem Siroky and the other Czech leaders of the Stalin era are still in power.

These are the Stalinists who joined the late President Klement Gottwald in overthrowing the democratic government of Edward Benes and hanged 11 "Nationalist Communists," including Rudolf Slansky, in 1952.

Observers here believe a wave of criticism of "mistakes of the past" will follow Khrushchev's visit to Prague. But revision of Czechoslovakia's Communist hierarchy may be difficult.

Argument Is Given For 'Dirty' Bomb
 By JOSEPH L. MYLER
 United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 6 (UP)—Scientist Ralph E. Lapp adds the 15 million-watt neutron to the 5,000-mile ICBM and comes up with what looks to him like a powerful military argument for the "dirty" H-bomb.

Lapp, who worked with the war time atomic project, favors rigid international limits on H-bomb testing. He is all for "clean" weapons with no radioactive fallout—if they can be perfected. He hopes nuclear arms will never be used in war.

But if disarmament fails and the Soviet-U. S. race for the inter-continental ballistic missile continues, Lapp fears that military logic is on the side of dirty warheads.

Must be Compact
 The 14 million-watt neutron is part of that logic. The difficulty, if not impossibility, of making a completely accurate ICBM is another. For the ICBM to be any good as a weapon, it must pack tremendous destructive power in the most compact possible package.

If the present state of nuclear weaponry that points, Lapp believes, to a dirty bomb like the 15 megaton (15 million tons) of TNT monster tested by the United States in March, 1954.

That weapon would close to two-thirds of its violence and the bulk of its radioactive dirtiness to a jacket of normally inert natural uranium which was made to fission by the high-energy neutrons created by the bomb's hydrogen fusion reaction.

Filipinos Demonstrate In Manila

MANILA, July 6 (UP)—Angry Filipinos, led by the mayor of Manila, staged an anti-American demonstration today over the Philippine counterpart of Japan's celebrated Girard case.

The demonstrators demanded the return and trial of a former U.S. sailor who was sent back to America and discharged after auto accident charges were lodged against him here.

About 2,000 demonstrators, most of them students, gathered in downtown Manila Plaza, a mile from the U. S. embassy, for an orderly rally that a times sounded more like an all-out Philippine political meeting than an anti-American protest.

Manila Mayor Arsenio H. Lacson is running for president of the Philippines in the November elections. He was the chief speaker at the rally, and he turned his oratorical guns as much on President Carlos P. Garcia as on the U. S.

The reason for the rally, however, was the case of George E. Ros of Clio, Mich. While serving as a sailor at the Sangley Point Naval Station near Manila, Ros was charged with injuring a Filipino woman in a traffic accident on Jan. 1, 1956.

Murder Try Is Charged

A charge of assault with intent to murder was filed against Leo "Speck" Samuels, 405 Maple, in District Court yesterday in connection with the shooting of Leticia Dinkins, 406 Oklahoma, in the Owl Bar, 405 Maple, at 11:50 Thursday night.

Samuels admitted to officers early Friday morning that he shot Dinkins with a snub-nose .38-caliber revolver following an argument in the kitchen of the bar which Samuels operates.

Dinkins was treated at Highland General Hospital for a bullet wound through the left side of the chest and the attending physician reported that no vital organs were damaged.

Samuels was also treated at the hospital for a bite on the left shoulder, which he reported he received from Dinkins during the argument.

Police spent most of Friday questioning witnesses to the shooting and presented the evidence to Bill Waters, district attorney.

Samuels' bond was set at $2,000 yesterday and he was released from jail after posting the bond.

Waters reported that the case would be presented to the Grand Jury for action at its next session.

'MISS PAMPA' CONTESTANTS

The "Miss Pampa" contest entry deadline has not been set yet and Jaycee representatives said entries would be taken for "a couple more days."

The "Miss America" contest is a preliminary of the "Miss Pampa" contest and this will be the first time such an affair has been staged here.

The Pampa winner will be entered in the "Miss Texas" contest to determine who will represent the Lone Star State at the national contest.

Miss Smith, whose home address is 333 N. Nelson, is 19. She is a graduate of Pampa High School and has attended Houston University for two years. The brown-haired, brown-eyed girl enjoys fencing, water skiing and tennis.

Miss Inmon, 816 W. Kingsmill, will be 18 this month. She is a 1957 graduate of Pampa High School. A blonde with hazel eyes, she lists dancing and swimming as her chief hobbies.

Miss Guthrie lives 10 miles south of Pampa. She is 20 and also a graduate of Pampa High School. Miss Guthrie's eyes are brown, her hair auburn, and her number one pastime is listening to records.

Arson Suspected In Series Of Fires

Local firemen reported yesterday that they are suspicious of the large number of fires of unknown origin during the past week in the south-central part of Pampa, commonly known as the "flats." The possibility of arson was being considered by the fire department.

The suspicions of the firemen became aroused when the fourth and fifth house fires of unknown origin were reported in this section of town. The fourth fire was reported at 1:05 p.m. Friday at 419½ Oklahoma and the fifth fire occurred at 1:45 p.m. yesterday at 731 S. Gray.

The first four fires reported in this section of town last week occurred in unoccupied houses and all of these fires started in a mattress, firemen reported. The fire yesterday was in a house that was occupied and started in a couch. The residents had not been at home for some time, firemen learned.

In addition to the five house fires last week, a fire in a car was also reported and investigation has not been able to determine the cause of this fire either. Paul Skidmore, shift captain at the fire department reported, the car belonged to the same people who lost most of their belongings in yesterday's fire.

The fire Friday destroyed the one-room house at 419½ Oklahoma and damages to the house at 731 S. Gray were extensive in yesterday's fire.

In addition to the two fires already listed, the fire department received two other alarms Friday and one other alarm yesterday.

The first of these fires was reported at 3:50 Friday afternoon at 830 S. Schneider when a trash barrel caught fire. No damage was reported by the firemen answering the alarm.

CoC Directors Meet July 15

The monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development will be held July 15 rather than tomorrow as was previously scheduled.

Paul Crouch is president of the board.

Meetings are usually held on the second Monday of each week, but this gathering has been postponed until the third Monday, Crouch said. Many of the board members are on vacation.

Lt. Governor To Address Optimists

Ben C. Armstrong, lieutenant governor of the state Optimist club, will be on hand Monday night for the local club's meet.

Ideas for the operation of a boys club here will be discussed, Johnny Campbell, local president said.

Armstrong, a tax assessor-collector from Wichita Falls, is expected to bring plans on the boys club subject.

The meeting is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. at Pool's Drive-In. A board of directors meeting is also slated.

A 50-Mile Boat Tour Down River Enjoyed By Pampan

By BILL NEAL
Pampa News Staff Writer
Few men or boys haven't at one time or another in their lives longed to take a Huckelberry-Finn-like cruise down some lazy river.

Gerald Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Walker of 413 N. Yeager (all newcomers to Pampa), recently returned from just such a trip.

Gerald, a 15-year-old second class explorer scout, floated in a canoe for three days down the Baren Fork River in Oklahoma.

Nineteen other scouts made the trip, too. It was the annual Illinois River Float — except that due to excessive spring rains it wasn't held on the Illinois River this year.

Ten boats (six "john" boats and four canoes) carried two scouts apiece 50 miles downstream. The boys camped along the banks at night. Four top boatmen got the canoes.

During the float, four out of the 10 boats overturned. One sank completely when the boy took a wrong turn and the current smashed his boat against a tree. He lost all his equipment, but was not hurt.

Gerald belonged to Boy Scout Post 407 in Shawnee, Okla., where the family lived before moving to Pampa early this summer.

The float is held each week for a different set of boys throughout the summer. The first four days of the camp are spent at "base camp" caulking the boats, training, and preparing all the gear. The last three are spent on the river.

Starting point for the cruise was 30 miles northeast of Tahlequah, Okla. It ended 50 miles downstream where the Baren Fork empties into Lake Tenkiller.

"It was alright except that we had to eat dehydrated food all the time," Gerald casually commented.

"The best time of the whole trip was when we spotted a grocery store about 100 yards from the bank," the hungry youngster added.

Besides doing a lot of swimming en route, the boys had good luck

OTAWA, Ill. — Louis Girard, brother of the soldier being held on charges of causing the death of a Japanese woman, in reply to Rep. Omar Burlison (D - Tex.) who claimed a witness said the GI coaxed the woman nearer and then shot her in the back.

"In spite of that dehydrated stuff, I'm going again next year," Gerald said.

"The hard part of the cruise is on the parents, getting the boys ready and cleaning them up when they get back," Mrs. Walker concluded.

Californian Is New President Of Kiwanis

H. Park Arnold, Glendale, California, lumberman and manufacturer, has been named President of Kiwanis International. He was elected to the number-one Kiwanis post Wednesday, June 26, by delegates attending the 42nd annual convention of Kiwanis International in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

As head of Kiwanis International, Arnold will be official spokesman for a quarter million Kiwanians in 4,350 clubs, located throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands. He succeeds Mr. Reed C. Culp, Salt Lake City, Utah, businessman. Culp has held the Kiwanis post since August of 1956.

The Kiwanis president-elect has been a member of the organization for 33 years. Immediately prior to his election to the number-one Kiwanis post, he was treasurer of the organization. During his career, he has risen through the Kiwanis ranks, holding the positions of club secretary, club president, as lieutenant governor and governor of the California - Nevada - Hawaii District of Kiwanis International, and as chairman and member of a number of Kiwanis district committees. He also has served as a member and as chairman of numerous committees of Kiwanis.

Attendance at the Atlantic City convention — Kiwanis' 42nd — numbered approximately 15,000 to make the convention the organization's largest. In addition to naming Arnold president, the delegates chose two vice presidents, a treasurer, and six international trustees. They are: Kenneth B. Loheed, Toronto, Ontario and Everett F. Penhorn, Jamaica Plain, Massachusetts, vice presidents; Albert J. Tully, Mobile, Alabama, treasurer; Harold O. Danner, Cincinnati, Ohio, Ben H. Hazen, Portland, Oregon, Donald I. Parker, Lincoln, Nebraska, Galter F. Palenge, Lansing, Michigan, Charles A. Swain, Cape May, New Jersey and Merle H. Tucker, Gallup, New Mexico, trustees.

Rev. Bill West and H. O. Darby represented the Pampa Club at the convention.

What This Country Needs Is Not Good 5-Cent Cigar

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—What this country needs more than a good five-cent cigar is a respectable two-party political system.

A respectable two-party political system would be one in which the leaders and the rank-and-file of each party were deeply committed to a general program for the public welfare and in which the two general programs substantially differed.

The Republican Party does not meet that standard today. Else, it would not have been necessary, recently, for President Eisenhower to remind congressional Republicans that in opposing some of his basic legislative program they also were opposing the party platform on which most of them last year sought office.

Democrats Fall Short Too

The Democratic Party doesn't meet it, either. To demonstrate that to yourself, just try to define a Democrat in terms which would cover, for example, such notable leaders of that party as Adlai E. Stevenson, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Sen. Harry F. Byrd (Va.) and Sen. Wayne Morse (Ore.). It can't be done.

Enactment of civil rights legislation on which the Senate begins a filibustering debate Monday would mangle the southern way of life. It also would move the United States closer to a real two-party system, respectable or not.

This would be accomplished by the extension and enforcement of the right to vote among those elements of southern society which do not now, for one reason or another, exercise that right.

The Bureau of the Census calculated for the 1952 presidential election the percentage of persons of voting age who actually voted. Southern states lagged.

It is reasonable to believe that Negroes comprise the bulk of southern non-voters. It is likely that enactment of civil rights legislation would bring them to the polls.

At that point, southerners would be likely to take a hard look at their on-party system in which a Democratic nomination for state same as election to it, Negro voter or federal office is about the same as election to it. Negro voters in the South might, of course, join with the Republican Party.

Could Also Become Democrats

More likely, they would be attracted by the more radical politics of northern Democrats and tend, therefore, to move into the Democratic Party in the South. That would bench the old line Democratic conservatives in several southern states and wreck the congressional coalition of conservative Republicans and southern Democrats.

Conservative southern voters would be looking then for another place to mark their ballots and they probably would wind up in the Republican Party or in a party of their own allied with the Republicans. That would be a considerable move toward a respectable two-party system in which, ultimately, Americans must distribute themselves for a showdown contest for control of the destiny of the United States.

Judy Tyler, Who Died In An Accident, Writes Of Elvis

(EDITORS NOTE: One of the last things Judy Tyler did before leaving Hollywood on a trip which ended in death for the actress and her husband was write a guest column about being Elvis Presley's leading lady in "Jailhouse Rock" for vacationing Aline Mosby. Here's the column excerpted today exclusively by United Press.)

So, what did I learn working with him?

Well, he's a very sensitive, very emotional young man. His simple, basic American family background and training have made him a very nice boy. He's still very close to his family, and he has deep religious feelings.

Something Intangible

FOUR WIVES FOR MIKE

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Elvis Presley made me cry—and I loved every moment of it.

He was full of surprises. He also made me laugh. He made work seem like fun, difficult scenes seem easy. To say the least, he left me deeply impressed.

CHICAGO (UP)—Little Mike, an 18-month-old chimpanzee at Brookfield Zoo, had been lonely until he got four new playmates—all girl chimps. Now there are five chimpanzees but only four chimp houses. His bachelor days are over.

MEG'S LATEST—Lord Patrick Beresford, Princess Margaret's newest escort, watches a polo game at Windsor, England. Lord Beresford and the Princess have seen each other every day for two weeks. She cheered "Come on, Patrick" at the polo match and drove off with him after the game.

And, I'd like to add, I met Elvis, and began working with him, with a completely open mind. Not that I hadn't read about him—I think I've read almost everything ever written on the subject of Elvis Presley.

Touched With Magic

From the time I was a little girl, I've always read whatever I could find about the famous names in show business. Dad used to play trumpet with Paul Whiteman and mother is a former Ziegfeld girl, so I was interested right from the start.

quick to recognize the real ones from the phonies and equally quick to say so.

But, there's something else that puts him head and shoulders above other performers of the moment. This is hard to define. It's an intangible something—the something that also has made Sinatra what he is today, singing better than ever and recognized too as one of the screen's great actors.

Elvis isn't that far along yet, to be sure. "Jailhouse Rock" is only his third picture, but I believe it will be a turning point in his career.

I had an open mind about Elvis, except for one thing. I was sure he was touched with magic. Without it—and don't let anybody tell you different—no one can attain such phenomenal success.

It was no holiday on July 4th for Bill Neal, Charles Cullin and Fred Parker, all employees of the Pampa Daily News.

Between the time Thursday's paper went to press and Friday's was being "put together," the three covered a tragic explosion which took the lives of two young Pampans, a shooting, a house fire, a baseball game, and took care of various minor details connected with getting out a daily paper.

Cullin, sports editor, was covering the Rebel-Borger game Thursday night and left twice to take pictures and be "on the scene" when the explosion and residence fire occurred.

Neal was trying to enjoy a movie but was called out, given a camera and told to get to the scene of the explosion, ask questions and "shoot" pictures.

Parker was relaxing at home when he was called out. He got home around 4 a.m. Friday.

They did a pretty fair job, too. We'll stack it up with any other paper our size in the country.

A hearing aid must be a "boon" for older persons whose hearing is failing.

FRED M. PARKER, staff writer

Being in the newspaper business has many rewards but it also has many heartbreaks.

There are times when those of us who gather the local news for this paper wish that someone else had the job. One of these instances came Thursday night.

We had taken off early for the Fourth, after putting out the paper ahead of schedule. We were all relaxing or doing something we enjoyed doing when the explosion at Groninger and King Construction Company took place.

Gathering the facts and interviewing witnesses to the tragedy took several hours for three of us and then when it was reported that a third youth had been at the scene, two helped with the search. I left this scene to cover the shooting incident, so could not help search the area. We were all happy that there was not another boy involved.

Tragedies of this nature are always hard to cover but there are times when we in the newspaper business must hide our feelings in order to do our job of reporting the news.

Turning to the side of the job that has rewards, we are always looking for stories of residents of Pampa and the surrounding area in regards to unusual hobbies or activities. If you have a friend or neighbor who has a hobby or does something unusual, give us a call and we will attempt to let the other people of this community know about it.

For an interesting sidelight, there are three small boys named Randy who live in the same block where I live. There are only six houses in the block on our side of the street and there is a Randy in every other house. It sure becomes confusing at times when all three of the mothers start calling their sons at the same time and the boys answer the wrong mother.

You grow rather attached to a colbie which you have had for six years. He becomes an important part of your family's life and you miss him when he goes a w a y. You think of his life and devotion to the youngest in your family, whom he has helped to rear and protect since she was a baby, and who is her "ragging shadow."

You think of his eccentricities, such as preferring to sit family-fashion on the divan with his forelegs propping him and his back legs completely off the floor; how he hated to be laughed at; how he will not eat, while he is being watched, but will wait in dignity and refinement until he is alone.

...no matter how hungry he is. You remember how he always ran to meet your car with a warm barking welcome and could distinguish it from all others of the same make, model, and color... somehow, he knew you were in it. And, too, you remember his intense fear of loud noises such as fire-crackers.

Sawney Laddie Dumferline, affectionately known as "Laddie," was missing from his fenced-in back-yard home this week for 3 1/2 days. It was cause for concern because even on his "nights out" with the boys, he was never gone for more than 12 hours. His love and feeling of responsibility for his young charge always propelled him back in time to "watch over and play with her."

Fire-cracker noises frightened Laddie from his home last Saturday evening, but his family feels that some other cause kept him from returning for so long. Early Tuesday morning, next-door neighbor Joe Page awakened Laddie's family with the news that he was standing down on the corner and couldn't be coaxed farther. Dressing hurriedly, Laddie's master and mistress went down to get him. Laddie greeted them with a tired, weak bark and a slowly wagging tail. He was dirty, tired and still frightened. He slept for two days, waking up at intervals to lick his foot-pads, which were swollen and feverish, as if he had traveled a great distance on them.

Laddie's family feels that something unusual has happened to him and wishes that he could talk and tell them exactly what it was.

The milk of human kindness, long touted by many critics to have curdled; still flows, and not infrequently, at least in a majority of Americans.

There are always exceptions, like when Will Rogers on one provocative occasion remarked, "If that's the milk of human kindness, then I'll take mine from a cow."

But this, and we are inclined to think Will would agree, is the exception rather than the rule.

Not so long ago, we had the privilege to hear an unusual graduation speaker, with an unusually informal style.

His topic was, "What's Right with America."

The jolly old gentleman, Dr. Thomas Taylor, formerly president of Howard Payne College of Brownwood (and very likely to stay in that city in spite of Midland's overtures) proceeded to lambast the critics who have worked so diligently, so unceasingly, to turn up new "what's wrongs" with America.

He brought an indictment against columnist and editorial writers which is largely, valid.

"These columnists are always yapping about something that they think is wrong. They never look for anything that's right," he said.

And this is undoubtedly true. It would be unusually refreshing for writers to back off occasionally and list the good things about the motherland. It might even give them a better perspective.

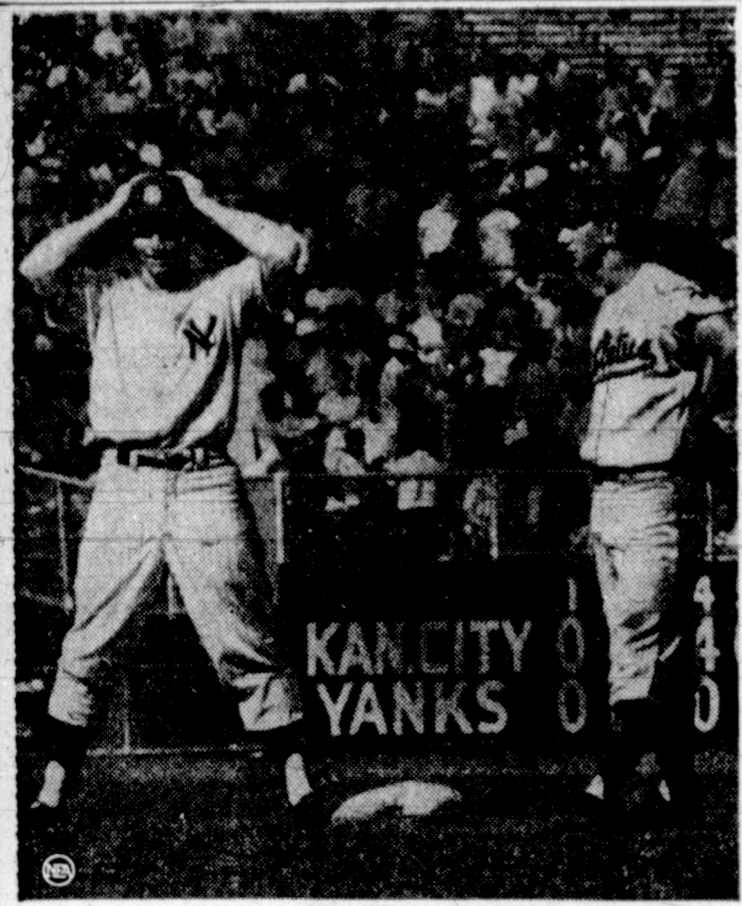

And yet, newsmen have a case in that the best way to correct errors is by bringing them to the attention of the public.

Also the old "man bites dog" twist is always of great news value. The one who goes astray is of more news value than the 99

Shipman was the starting pitcher for Cabot and was relieved in the second inning by Brown. Hastings was the starting catcher, relieved by Mann in the second.

Hoffman's big inning was the second, in which it got nine runs. Cabot's runs came in the third and fourth innings.

Ken Boyer Stars

ST. LOUIS, July 6 (UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals pounded the already battered Cincinnati pitching staff unmercifully today for a 13-2 victory and increased their first-place margin to one and a half games over the Redlegs.

Ken Boyer drove home four runs and Stan Musial and Joe Cunningham three each. Boyer and Musial hit home runs as the Cards collected 14 hits off seven Cincinnati pitchers.

Johnny Klippstein took the loss, his eighth against three wins, after getting only two out in the first inning, and Willard Schmidt picked up his seventh victory against one loss in a brilliant seven-inning relief of Murry Dickson.

Chisox Romp

CHICAGO, July 5 (UP)—Larry Doby smashed a two-run first-inning homer and the Chicago White Sox scored three more on a trio of walks and an error in the sixth today to give Billy Pierce his 12th win, a 5-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

The victory allowed the second place Sox to remain three games behind the New York Yankees.

Pierce, now the major's winningest pitcher, held the Indians to four hits until the seventh inning when they slipped three straight singles to put across their lone run.

All the White Sox runs came off starter Bob Lemon who got tagged with his seventh loss.

Sullivan was touched for 10 hits over the distance but he scattered them well, leaving nine men stranded. He also got his first 1957 hit as everybody in the Red Sox starting lineup hit safely at least once, except Ted Lepcio and Ted Williams. The latter's batting average dipped to .343 as the Red Sox slugger remained in one of his worst slumps.

Bosox Hit Birds

BOSTON, July 6 (UP)—The Boston Red Sox strengthened their hold on the American League's third place by wallowing the Baltimore Orioles 11-2 today to ease the way for Frank Sullivan's fifth straight victory and eighth of the season.

Jackie Jensen and Billy Klaus each homered and drove in two runs during the free-swinging 13th hit assault on loser Skinny Brown and three successors. Frankie Malzone tripled in two runs and Jimmy Piersall had a pair of RBIs.

New Course Record Set

Pampa's Lila Austin set an unofficial women's record at the Pampa Country Club golf course Friday when she scored a 72, bettering by one stroke her previous record of 73. She was playing with Jeanine Wade when the record was set.

She is also consistently among the low scorers in the Ladies Golf Association matches held monthly.

Howard Hot

WASHINGTON, July 6 (UP)—Elaston Howard drove in four runs with as many hits as the New York Yankees defeated the Washington Senators, 10-6, today.

Howard contributed a homer and three singles to give Johnny Kucks his sixth victory of the year against the same number of losses. Kucks was yanked in the seventh after yielding a two-run homer to Pave Thronberry. Earlier, Roy Sievers had hit his 19th homer of the year with the bases empty.

Russ Kemmerer, who started for Washington, got the loss. He was followed by Dick Hyde, Jim Heise, Ted Abernathy and Bud Beyerly.

Art Dittmar, who halted the Senators Friday night and won the ball game on one pitch, a double-play ball, again throttled Washington in relief. Dittmar took over with one out in the seventh, after Thronberry had homered, and allowed only one hit from there on.

NEW YORK, July 6 (UP)—Frank Thomas hit his ninth home run of the season into the upper left field stands off reliever Stu Miller with two out in the 13th inning today to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-2 victory over the New York Giants.

Thomas' homer broke a tie that has existed since the seventh inning when Darryl Spencer of the Giants had hit his second home run of the game to tie the score at 2-2. Bob Purkey, who relieved starter Vernon Law after nine innings, was credited with his eighth victory of the season.

Spencer's first homer cleared the left field roof in the fourth inning. He hit his sixth homer of the season into the lower right field stands to tie the score.

Cornell Is Established As 'Great'

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England, July 6 (UP)—Cornell's smooth sweepswingers established themselves as the world's greatest eight-oared crew today when they defeated Yale's Olympic champions to win the grand challenge cup, a glamor event of the Henley Royal Regatta.

The United States won another event in this famed 118-year-old rowing classic when Princeton's 150-pound oarsmen defeated an English lightweight crew in a successful defense of the Thomas Challenge Cup. It was Princeton's 19th straight covering two undefeated seasons.

Russian rowers, who caused a stir in the 1956 Olympic games at Melbourne, won two championships, but suffered a staggering upset defeat in the diamond sculls, the big individual event of the regatta. Stuart McKenzie of Australia, reversed the outcome of last December's Olympic final when he edged Vlachoslav Ivanov of Russia by four feet.

British home crews won the five other finals on the program, three of them minor events.

Playing Willie Mays By Ear

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — "Uh huh, I am living nice, but that's a nothing to do with being a hungry ballplayer. Naturally, you gonna be paid if you play it well, but I don't think about money when I play. The way I see a hungry ballplayer that's the one who goes out there and gives everything he's got. He could be losing by seven runs in the ninth inning, but he's still out there giving everything because he loves baseball. Money has nothing to do with it."

"Barclay's game against the Cards," Manager Bill Rigney chattered, "they got a couple of hits and they put in Schofield as a pinch-runner and Blasingame is up. Now both these fellows can run. Blasingame rips one. He hits the right center screen and everybody starts running. But Willie is on that ball. He gets to it so fast you don't believe it. And as soon as he picks it up it looked like one of those kids play... what's that thing where everybody grabs a seat when the music stops? Well, it was just like that. Everybody started to run back to a base. Nobody tried to go ahead. They just ran back to a base and hold it."

"You've never seen anything like it. They're all afraid he'll throw them out if they even take a foot off the bag. We're on the road and balls are going to the outfield good for doubles and triples. Willie cuts 'em to a single so fast nobody knows what happened."

"Sure I think when I'm going for a fly, I think about how hard it's hit, how many runners are on base, how close the wall is to me or something, but I think...

"How do I get a good break on a fly? I don't know how. It's something you just do. You got to have instinct. You're born with it."

"He is a one man game," Birdie Tebbetts of Cincinnati tells everybody. "I can't think of one particular thing he's done to beat us... because he's done so many things that you forget everything and wind up just thinking about how good he is. He makes too many to remember."

"I'll tell you this... get the ball near him. Hit it near him or throw it near him. He beats you then. He beats you any way it can be done."

"It may seem easy. You read every day in the papers that you're doing good... maybe I am, but I don't feel it. Sometimes things come easy. Then other times you find you're struggling and that's the way I look at it, but the paper keeps saying you're doing good."

"Mays," Walter Alton of the Dodgers mused, "has beaten us so much he's the kind of player you talk about. What does he do to bother us the most? I'd have to say hittin' the ball out of the park at Ebbets Field. That's as good a way as any to hurt you, I guess."

"Sure it's different now. It's all different when you're winning. It's that way in every sport. I don't think I play any different whether we're winning or losing, but like I say, winning makes you feel good. I throw the ball, I catch the ball, I try to hit the ball. Same every day. But it just feels good to win."

"Musial really hit one," Fred Hutchinson of the Cardinals testified. "It was in the first inning and he hits to left center. Right

Fearless Fraley's Facts And Figures

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures: Kerby Farrell, the Cleveland Indian manager, will testify willingly to the pitching speed of Rindold Duren, the San Antonio shotgun who labors in the Denver farmyard of the New York Yankees. It blew Kerby right out of the playing ranks. Seems that in 1932, when Farrell was managing Reading in the Eastern League, his first baseman had to leave the club for a time. Kerby put it up to his players, fighting for a playoff berth, and they asked their over-40 pilot to file in — and won six straight games.

Moore Offers $25,000 For Title Bout

WASHINGTON (UP) — Davey Moore, who won an upset decision over Isidro Martinez in a nationally televised fight Friday night, said today he would offer a $25,000 guarantee to Hogan Bassey to defend the world featherweight title against him. Manager Willie Ketchum said Moore, a 21-year-old from Springfield, Ohio, would meet Bassey anywhere, but prefers Madison Square Garden in New York. Moore floored Martinez, the sixth-ranked feather by the National Boxing Assn. and an 8-5 favorite, in the seventh round, but the Panamanian arose and fought back briskly in the eighth round. However, Moore, who had been in command in the early rounds and then lost some ground to Martinez' rally in the middle rounds, won comfortably on all cards. Judge Charles Buck and referee Eddie La Fond each scored it 95-89 for Moore, and judge Benny Alperstein made it 97-83. United Press had it 96-91 for Moore and 93-1 in rounds.

Then came a game against Scranton, for which Duren was pitching. On the first pitch, Farrell took a whack at Duren's fast ball. The bat went one way and Farrell another. Standing well back from the plate as Duren, a near-sighted speedballer with thick glasses, served up two more uncontented strikes, Kerby happily stuck his bat back in the rack and announced: "That's it for me, fellows. As a player, I've had it."

Just in case you haven't noticed, this is National Hot Dog Month. Its popularity in sports started at New York's Polo Grounds on a cold day during World War I when a concessionaire introduced the "delicacy." The mustard came later. More and more people are using their muscles in various U.S. recreation programs. Just as example, there are 1,754,000 boys from eight to 18 playing organized baseball this summer; 14,029 indoor recreation centers operate year-round; 7,000 industrial firms have organized employe recreation programs; 652 new 18-hole golf courses are in the planning stage, and 15,639 high schools have competitive athletic programs. Anyone for backgammon?

Middlecoff Didn't Acquaint Himself With British Course

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UP) — Bobby Locke of South Africa, who won, and Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, who finished 14th, agreed today on one thing about the British Open golf championship. Middlecoff didn't get in enough practice licks on the tough old seaside course known as the "cradle of golf."

Locke with rounds of 72-71-74-72-289. Frank Stranahan of Toledo had no better luck than Middlecoff. His final rounds of 74-72 put him in a tie for 19th at 291. Peter Thomson of Australia, who closed with a pair of 70s, made a game bid to retain the title he had won for three straight years but Locke beat him by a total of three shots as he closed with his 68-70. Thomson was second with 282, worth $1,400, and Eric Brown of Scotland was third at 283. Angel Miguel of Spain finished fourth with 285 and Spain four tied at 286 with the leading amateur, Dick Smith of Scotland, who fell one short of Bobby Jones' amateur record for the tournament.

OK With Larsen If Fans Forget, But Stengel Better Remember

By JIMMY BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA) — "That guy over at the table," the man in a sport jacket said to the one with him, "that's that Larsen. He's nothing. Pitches one game in his life."

example, he was in a 1-1 game with Detroit in the ninth and pitching strongly but a passed ball put a runner on second and Red Wilson singled to beat him, 2-1. Then he came back to have the Tigers trail him, 3-2, in the seventh, but a walk and a hit brought Stengel out of the dugout and Bob Grim came in and couldn't handle it, but the loss was given to Larsen. Two days later, Stengel sent him in relief against the same team and a couple of quick homers put the pitcher as far back in Casey's mind as possible.

Larsen felt he needed only a chance to make up for his usual slow start. It would take more than a couple of victories to bring the people flocking around him. For if anything, the pitcher walked out of the no-hit turmoil with a strong dislike for the way columnists had him in 12 different watering holes in one night and everybody else seemed bent on shoving words into his non-talkative mouth.

He remembered, in particular, the night he was at a hotel bar drinking soda water because of a weight-shedding diet and everybody started to point and say, "Larsen is piling it in."

So for Don Larsen, who is a 15-game pitcher with a perfect game on his record, there are no complaints. The people? They can all keep walking like the man in the bar. He just wants to win a few more.

Panhandle Outdoor Life

By S. V. WHITEHORN
Minnow fishermen have tried various ways for years to haul minnows and to keep them alive and in good shape until they arrive at the fishing place. One of the methods used to keep oxygen in the water in the minnow bucket was to over inflate the spare tire, attach a small hose to the valve which is arranged so that it will allow a limited amount of air to escape and place the other end of hose into the minnow bucket.

Another method used was to attach a small rubber hose to the vacuum from the carburetor and in a certain manner allow the water to bubble and thereby replenish the oxygen for the minnows. Some fishermen even obtain a small oxygen bottle and allow the gas to escape into the bucket. There have been several contraptions placed on the market to solve the problem but the very keenest deal I have seen is a small gadget that will fit into your hip pocket, if you wish to carry it in your pocket, that is powered with two flashlight batteries that pumps air into the minnow container. This little deal sells for about $7.95, but it is a must for transporting lively minnows for hours at a time. It is called "Aqua-Life" and it really puts out a flood of bubbles into a minnow container. Don Humphrey at Marks Sporting Goods Store has two of the new bait carriers that arrived this week.

There has been much debate between fishermen that use artificial bait and those that use live bait as to which is the best. A lazy small minnow isn't at-and watch the cork go out of sight so fast that it leaves a hole in the water. This is about enough to change a fisherman from artificial lures to minnows. At certain times of the year, day or hours the artificial lures may be better but each have their advantages. There are still very few 'dry' hens showing up which is a very good indication that the turkeys are still setting, laying or have a brood. Usually each spring and early summer there are bunches of turkey hens up to seven or eight spotted bunched together which indicates that these hens are out of the nesting business and are through for the year. Since this isn't the case this year, everything points to a large turkey hatch and bugs, insects, grasshoppers and good fall crop, especially with the abundant food crop for these giant birds. Hunting will probably be more difficult this fall than in many years due to the huge amount of cover which these birds can utilize so early and quickly.

WIMBLEDON, England (UP) — Althea Gibson of New York recalled a childhood ambition today when she won the Wimbledon women's championship by trouncing Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., 6-3, 6-2, with a devastating display of power tennis. The 29-year-old Negro star, first of her race ever to win a singles crown on the historic center court, overwhelmed her jittery 21-year-old opponent in 100 degree heat and became the 13th straight American winner of the women's crown. Often nervous in big matches, Althea had command of her game right from the start. She raced out to a 4-0 lead in the first set with the loss of only four points. Miss Hard, a chunky blonde who covers the court speedily despite her weight, never recovered from her shaky start. The rangy New Yorker, with the best serve in women's tennis, dropped her service only once in the entire match, in the fifth game of the first set. She cut down Darlene so methodically the final turned into a dull spectacle for the 15,000 including Queen Elizabeth.

Usually this time of the year there are hundreds of these birds in the Panhandle but until now there seems to be very few. In fact not ten per cent of the usual amount, from my observations. It could be that in certain unobserved locations the birds are here, but I haven't seen them. Wheat harvest is in full swing with much of the wheat having fallen over enough to leave the ground covered with the best bird food. Wheat trucks on the way to elevators are straggling west along the by-roads to the extent that the Panhandle is full of food for the upland game birds. The same situation exists all over the Great Plains area and Lower Plains which probably explains why the mourning dove hasn't arrived in the usual numbers.

Six-Man Tag Team Heads Tomorrow Night's Wrestling

Scheduled for the main event in tomorrow night's wrestling at Sportsman Club is a six-man tag match that will team Tiny Roe (midget), Bulldog Phechas and Iron Mike DeBlase against Dory Funk, Sonny Myers and Cowboy

Bradley (midget). The match will go two out of three falls, limited to one hour. In the semi-final, Tokyo Joe will grapple Major Piret in a two out of three fall match limited to 45 minutes. The first event will pit Bulldog Phechas against Sonny Myers in a one fall, 20 minute match.

In last week's matches Iron Mike and Phechas took the main event 4-man tag match over Ivan Kola and Tokyo Joe. The semi-final went to Myers over Major Piret, and Tokyo Joe took the first event over Bulldog Phechas through a disqualification when Iron Mike came into the ring to the aid of Phechas.

The wrestling, sponsored by the Pampa Shrine Club, is held each Monday, evening in the Sportsman Club at $2.00. Admission is $1.50 for ringside; $1.25 for reserved seats; 90 cents for general admission adult; and 50 cents for general admission children.

DENVER (UP) — Air Force Academy Superintendent Maj. Gen. James E. Briggs, in reviewing the academy's football fortunes, said the Cadets will move into big time competition in 1938. During that season the academy will play against Iowa, Stanford, Colorado and Tulane.

Activities include several football workouts plus occasional inspirational moments and religious discussions, with prominent athletes supervising. Members of the selection committee were Rev. Joe Frederick, Pete Peterson, Clifford Beck and Bill Lance.

Umpires Named For All-Star Game

NEW YORK (UP) — Commissioner Ford C. Frick announced today that umpires Frank Dascoli of the National League and John Stevens of the American League will share the plate-umpiring assignments for the major league All-Star Game at St. Louis next Tuesday.

Frick selected Dascoli, Hal Dixon and Stan Landes from the National League and Stevens, Larry Napp and Nestor Chylak of the American League to handle the All-Star Game.

Celanese Downs Sinclair, 21-2

In Industrial League softball play Friday night, Celanese defeated Sinclair, 21-2. Truman Cooper pitched for the winners with Albee Kemp catching. Brown and Everson threw for Sinclair with Richardson catching. Three home runs were hit during the evening, two by Jack Edwards and the third by Harold Craddock.

NEW YORK (UP) — Eddie Bresnoud, a shortstop, has been recalled from the Minneapolis farm club by the New York Giants. The light-hitting but slick-fielding infielder replaces "phenom" Andre Rodgers, who was sent to the Millers for more seasoning.

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — A couple of eager Philadelphia baseball fans learned Friday it's a pretty expensive proposition when you jump the fence at Connie Mack Stadium to retrieve a foul ball. Earl Litz of Lock Haven, Pa., and Willie Taylor of Coatesville, Pa., were fined $10 and costs for doing just that during Thursday's double-header between the Phillies and Giants.

NEW YORK (UP) — Broadway odds-makers have installed the New York Yankees 1-4 favorites to capture this year's American League flag, but are a bit undecided on who will win the National League pennant. They have made the Dodgers and Braves co-favorites at 2-1.

Pampa—Where Men Barbecue And The Women Are Glad Of It

By GWEN T. STARK
Pampa News Staff Writer

Kings of the world of amateur cookery are undoubtedly the backyard barbecue chefs, and Pampa has more than its share. It's a grand occasion when the little wife can get husband to cook dinner once in a while, but its even better when she can get him to whip up some of his tasty barbecue.

The aroma of the charcoal fire and sight of the "man around the house" gingerly turning the meat is really the "right way to end a day." Especially when the end result of his efforts are always so good. What's more, after a long day at the office, it's a good change to have the evening meal out in the open. At any rate this is the opinion of many of the men around Pampa.

Johnny Watson, 1235 Hamilton, gives some notable suggestions on his favorite outdoor meal of inch and a half steaks.

"I like to sear my steaks over the charcoal on both sides very fast," Watson said. "Then I cook them 15 or 20 minutes on both sides slowly. About the last five minutes I put in the hickory chips to give a little of the hickory flavor."

Watson stated that he didn't care for too much seasoning or any sauce on his steaks. Just salt and pepper, and maybe meat tenderizer.

"If you get a good piece of beef, that's plenty enough flavor for me," he said. "Why hide it?"

If the beef has strains of fat running through it, that gives the steak a good taste, Watson went on. "Of course, you can fix good steaks on a rotisserie too," he said, "but you don't have the smoked flavor."

The Johnny Hines family at 1821 Charles had some good pointers for T-bones, which is one of their favorite out-door dishes. Johnny was quick to say however that his wife did most of the sauce mixing and such while he did the outdoor work. Mrs. Hines gave this sauce recipe for two large T-bones.

1 cup "ketchup"
1 small grated onion
1 T. Worcestershire sauce
2 or 3 dashes of garlic salt, or
1 pod of crushed garlic
2 T. wine vinegar

"If the steak is frozen put it in the sauce and let it stand in the refrigerator from six to 12 hours," she directed. "Then scrap the sauce off and spread butter over the T-bones. Ten broil or cook over a charcoal fire.

"If outside, turn the steak often," she went on, "but if broiling in the oven, cook them 20 minutes on both sides, and then 10 to 20 minutes on the first side again, according to how well done you like them."

Mrs. Hines also gave this recipe for barbecued spareribs, which can be fixed on the inside as she directed or outdoors.

3 lbs. ribs, salt & pepper
SAUCE
1/2 cup ketchup
1/2 cup water
2 T. Worcestershire sauce
1 t. salt
1 t. chili powder

1/2 t. Cayenne
2 T. brown sugar
2 T. vinegar
2 onions sliced
1 t. Paprika
1/2 t. black pepper

Cook sauce a few minutes to blend ingredients. Brown ribs on both sides in small amount of fat. Pour sauce over spareribs, cover and cook in electric oven or range or a roaster oven for 1-1/2 hours at 300 degrees F., basting frequently. Take lid off spareribs 20 minutes before cooking time is over.

The Hines also had some good suggestions on building a fire. They said to fill the pit 1/4 full of charcoal. Then pour Wizard Oil over it and light it. Start the fire early, they said, and wait until the coals have died down and are red hot. This is the best time to cook over the fire they believe.

George Cree Jr., 1912 Charles, who does quite a bit of barbecuing, says lamb is his favorite "smoked" meal, of the many he has experimented with.

"I wrap a leg of lamb in aluminum foil and stick a temperature gage in it, before I begin cooking it over the fire," Cree said. "The foil keeps the meat moist and the gage lets you know when its just like you want it. I use garlic salt and pepper to season it."

"When the gage reaches rare, we put hickory chips that have been soaked in water into the charcoal fire," he went on, "and cook it about 30 minutes more without the foil on. This leaves the lamb about medium well done."

"I also wrap birds in foil," Cree stated, "and leave them in the pit two to three hours. Birds dry out easily and the foil keeps the moisture in. Then we smoke the birds just like the lamb."

Cree said that he had also tried barbecuing fish stuffed with mushroom in the foil.

"However, I don't smoke the fish. It only takes 45 minutes to cook them. They get too strong if you smoke them."

"The way we fix our fire is only in one end of the pit," Cree explained, "and cook on the other end. That way the circulating heat cooks the meat."

A Pleasing Voice Adds To Attractiveness, Says Joanne

EDITOR'S NOTE: Joanne Dru is today's Hollywood writer while Aline Mosby is on vacation.

By JOANNE DRU
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—As a former model, one of the most frequent questions asked of me is—"what do you consider the most important factor in making a woman attractive?"

I bypass the obvious answers such as good grooming and poise.

Eddie Zuniga, whose former home was Laredo, likes barbecue "the real way."

"We used to dig pits in the ground and build a fire with hard wood," Zuniga said. "When it burned down to coals, we covered that with dirt. Then we placed a side of a beef or whatever we wanted wrapped in wet cheesecloth in the pit. After covering that with dirt, we built another fire. When that went to coals, we covered that and then left the pit for 12 hours. Boy when we dug that out, we really had some eating."

"Steer head, goat, and alligator are all good fixed this way," Zuniga went on, with his wife, Thelma, agreeing.

"You'd really be surprised," Zuniga said.

The Zunigas, 308 Magnolia, said they liked their barbecue sauce hot, with tomatoes, green peppers, hot peppers, such as Mexican jalapenos and piquins, vinegar or lemon juice, onions, Cummins seeds ground or powdered and a little tequila or bourbon dashed in.

These are a few recipes and ideas you would-be chefs can try. But what's important is to try it. It's lots of fun and good eating.

and place the emphasis on the least mentioned, and almost completely overlooked essential—the voice.

I contend the human voice can be as distinctive as fingerprints. It can, through proper development, be as effective as a new wardrobe in making a woman desirable.

Look at the industry I'm closest to—motion pictures.

Check the list of names whose voices you can identify merely by listening to them speak a phrase or two—Lauren Bacall, Ethel Barrymore, Claudette Colbert, Mercedes McCambridge, Mary Martin, June Allyson, Joan Crawford, Jean Arthur, and Katherine Hepburn.

The male side of the ledger is further proof of my contention. What woman hasn't thrilled to the tones of Clark Gable or admired the resonant voice of Ronald Colman? How about Marlon Brando, Jose Ferrer, Jack Webb, Ty Power, Bill Holden, and James Stewart?

All of these stars know the importance of their voices to their careers and have made sure that they sound as good as they look.

Nuptial Vows Are Solemnized Thursday For Miss Bentley And Frank J. Imke

MRS. FRANK JAMES IMKE

(Special to The News) WHITE DEER — Nuptial vows were solemnized Thursday evening, July 4, for Miss Barbara Ann Bentley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Bentley of White Deer, and Frank James Imke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Frank Imke of Follett. W. W. Simmons, Pampa, grandfather of the bride, read the double-ring ceremony in the First Baptist Church, White Deer. Baskets of white gladiolus ferns, and four candelabra holding tall white candles decorated the altar. The satin-covered kneeling bench was of white wrought iron, and the aisle was marked with white satin ribbons.

Miss Janis Jones of Paducah played the prelude and accompanied Miss Guyda. Baten, who sang "O Perfect Love" and "Entreat Me Not" preceding the ceremony, and "O Lord, Most Holy" as the benediction. The traditional wedding marches were used.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a traditional gown of white, rose-design French lace and tulle, fashioned with a sabrina neckline outlined with scallops, with long tapering sleeves ending in points over the hands and caught with tiny covered buttons. From a slightly elongated bodice, the lace skirt was accented in the back by an overlay of pleated tulle and scalloped lace ruffles extending into a full sweep over satin.

Her finger-tip veil of illusion was attached to a headpiece of lace trimmed with tiny seed pearls. Her bouquet was of white roses and stephanotis, and for jewelry she wore rings belonging to her grandmothers, Mrs. W. W. Simmons of Pampa and Mrs. Rilla Enoch of White Deer.

Attendants: Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Martha Samuels of Terrell, with Miss Alma Howard of White Deer and Miss Mary Ann Gee of Houston as bridesmaids. They wore street-length dresses of blue crystalline, with cap sleeves, sabrina neckline tapering to a V in the back, and criss-cross cummerbunds which fell into hem-length sashes at the back. They carried colonial bouquets.

The candlelighters, Misses Linda Bentley, sister of the bride, and Penny Powers, her cousin, were dressed in white - dotted-Swiss frocks, with tucked, lace-trimmed bodices and full skirts. Their blue cummerbunds formed large bows in the back. They wore blue flowers in their hair, which was arranged in pony-tail style.

Misses Beverly Jane Bentley, sister of the bride, Judy Bentley of Amarillo and Barbara Brown of Pampa, cousins of the bride and bridegroom respectively, served as flower girls. Their dresses were identical to those of the candlelighters, and they carried white carnations in baskets made of blue net and satin.

David Bentley, brother of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Bob Imke served his brother as best man, with Wayne Brown of Pampa and Hardy Clemons of Austin as groomsmen.

The bride's mother chose a dress of rose lace trimmed with narrow bands of matching taffeta, with black accessories. Mrs. Imke, mother of the bridegroom, wore a lavender dress with beige accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations.

Honoring the bridal party, a reception was held in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. C. Powers, with Mrs. Max Osborn of Midland assisting as hostess.

The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cut-work cloth and centered with an arrangement of white carnations flanked by white ispers in crystal holders.

In the house party were Miss Charles Moser of San Angelo, Miss Betty Jo West of Smithville, Mrs. Hardy Clemons of Austin, and Mrs. Allen Ray Young of Amarillo. Carol McKee of Borger, cousin of the bride, registered the guests.

For the wedding trip, Mrs. Imke traveled in a black cotton jacket dress, with white accessories, and wore a corsage of white roses.

Miss Minna Schneeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Schneeman, Sr., of Ozona, became the bride of Wiley Ernest Reynolds Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley E. Reynolds Sr., 1132 Charles in a ceremony at four o'clock in the afternoon of June 22 in the Ozona Methodist Church with the Reverend Leroy Russell officiating.

Pre-nuptial music was given by Mrs. L. B. Cox III at the organ. She also accompanied Mrs. Joe Pierce IV as she sang, "I Love Thee" and "Through the Years." After the ceremony, the couple knelt on a white satin prayer bench, while Mrs. Pierce sang the "Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father, wearing a Cahill Original of pure white organza with fitted bodice, short sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. Tiny buttons ran the length of the back of the bodice through the full skirt which was trimmed with a wide band of appliqued organza over net and fell into a chapel-length train. She wore elbow-length gloves, which matched the bands of appliqued organza in the skirt.

Her finger-tip veil was formed of a double-layer of pleated net with an overlay of silk illusion attached to a French halo of orange blossoms and pearl petals. She carried a bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids, lilies of the valley and centered with a Cattleya orchid from which hung showers of pearls and white satin ribbon. For something old, the bride wore a diamond pin belonging to her mother.

Sykes, sister of the bride, all of Ozona, and Miss Sue Thomas of Gainesville.

They wore identical dresses of shell pink organza over taffeta with scooped necklines outlined with Venice and daisy lace, closely-fitted bodices, over full-swing skirts. Their hats were pink horse-hair cartwheels with open crowns outlined with tiny pink flowers. They carried bouquets of pink feathered carnations.

Donald Hixon, Duggan Smith, all of Pampa; Phillip Schneemann of Grants, N. M.; Bill Schneemann of Big Lake, and Max Schneemann of Ozona.

RECEPTION A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church following the exchange of vows. The table was draped with a floor-length cloth of white organza. The double wedding ring cake was the focal point of the table. Silver candelabras flanked each end. The bridesmaids' bouquets were placed in fan-shape on the table.

Presiding at the table were Mrs. Phillip Schneemann of Grants, N. M.; Mrs. Max Schneemann Jr. of Ozona; and Mrs. Bill Schneemann of Big Lake. Music was played by Mrs. Bode Owens of Barnhart and Mrs. L. B. Cox III. Mrs. Jerry Beasley presided at the Bride's Book. Miss Shirley Kost and Miss Ann Ratliff assisted with the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds left during the reception for a trip to the coast. For a going away ensemble, the bride chose a beige linen suit with matching beige accessories.

trimmed in white. Her corsage was a gold-throated orchid taken from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Reynolds was graduated from Ozona High School and attended TCU in Fort Worth, where she was a member of Delta Gamma Sorority. Mr. Reynolds was graduated from Pampa High School; from Kemper Military Academy and attended TCU.

Miss Morgan And Reverend Kerr Are United In Double-Ring Church Rites

Miss Kate O'Hara Morgan and the Reverend J. Edwin Kerr were united in a simple ceremony on July 5 at 10 a. m. in the Kelley Chapel of the First Presbyterian Church. The Reverend Ronald E. Hubbard officiated at the double-ring ceremony performed before the immediate family and close friends.

A floral arrangement of gladioli with tapers on either side adorned the chapel mantle. Baskets of gladioli flanked by lighted tapers in candelabra formed the setting for the exchange of vows.

Mrs. H. A. Yoder, organist, played traditional music for the professional and recessional. Miss Judy Smith lighted the candles at the altar.

Miss O'Hara chose for her wedding a white lace over taffeta sheath fashioned with a square neckline; the sleeveless bodice was topped with a capelet. She wore a small white hat trimmed with lilies flowers. The white Bible she carried was surrounded with an orchid and white satin streamers tied in lover's knots and lily-of-the-valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Smith, 504 Magnolia, entertained the wedding party at a reception in their home

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
A month ago, to get Kay up in time for school, her mother bought her a white enamel clock radio.

This week Kay's little brother developed a cold. By his second day in bed, his crayons, comics and puzzles bored him. He began to fuss. He refused more orange juice. Then he flatly refused some chest rubbing.

His mother went to Kay's room, got her radio and plugged it into the outlet beside Steve's bed. Then while he happily tuned in and out of soap operas, she rubbed his chest with camphorated oil.

The radio was blaring hill-billy music when Kay got home. Dropping her books, she cried, "What's that? Is that my radio?" Then, pushing past her mother on the stairs, she rushed to Steve's room.

She was pulling the radio's plug from its socket when her mother arrived, crying, "Of all the selfish girls I ever knew, you're the worst! Go on, take it. Take it away from your sick little brother, you mean sister, you!"

This indignation which sounded so moral wasn't moral at all. In the eyes of Kay's mother, the radio was not Kay's possession, but hers. It belonged to her—the person who had paid for it.

If we examine our indignation when a child refuses to share his things with a brother or sister, we'll find that it stems from our secret conviction that his things are ours, not his.

If you don't believe me, consider your feelings when Uncle Bill refuses to let Steve play with his watch. You're not especially outraged, are you? That's because you've acknowledged Uncle Bill's right to dispose of the property he paid for as he wishes. He doesn't strike you as "selfish" at all.

Unending troubles are caused by parents' unconscious sense of ownership in children's possessions.

When the child refuses to share them with their other children, they remain unaware that it's their own challenged sense of possession that makes them so indignant.

But they have to justify their anger somehow. They do it by making it appear very moral and superior. Vengefully they accuse Kay of the very selfishness of which they themselves are guilty.

RUTH MILLET Healthy Glow Is A Free Beauty Bonus

A mother shouldn't have much trouble with a teen-age daughter if—

She makes a point of knowing her daughter's friends and insists that the boys she dates come in and get acquainted with the family.

She gives her daughter to understand she trusts her and that she thinks the girl has good judgment.

She makes the daughter's friends welcome.

She respects her daughter's judgment of boys and girls her own age, knowing that young people often know more about their contemporaries than adults do.

She isn't so anxious for her daughter to be popular that she grows lax in the standards she holds up to her.

She stands with the girl's father so that they present a united front, instead of encouraging the girl not to let her father know that her mother has given her permission to do this or that.

She always has time to listen when her daughter is in a talkative, confiding mood. These are the times when she really gets an insight into her daughter's world with its problems, its attitudes and its standards.

She never betrays her daughter's confidence.

She is gracious and friendly to her daughter's friends—but never tries to act more like a big sister than a mother.

She praises everything that she can in her daughter and is as tactful as possible when she has to criticize.

She makes it plain to her daughter that she can come to her with any kind of problem.

A mother who can follow these rules isn't likely to find herself at loggerheads with a teen-age daughter.

Every season of the year offers you free beauty bonuses.

Summer, for instance, gives you a prettier skin because you perspire more and the moisture takes away the dryness of winter. It also gives you a flattering, healthy tan.

Warm days allow you to wear light clothing that gives you ease of movement. Most people tend to exercise more in warm weather. It's the ideal time to diet, since the idea of salads and fresh fruit is natural to warm weather anyway.

Then along comes your vacation in which you unwind from the busy winter months and return to job or household feeling renewed, rested and vigorous. Your hairdo is less of a problem since most women favor a shorter cut during summer, one that needs less setting.

The first really hot day of the year brings with it the temptation to down iced drinks, take a cold shower and eat nothing but cold food.

Resist the temptation. All of these things will make you feel temporarily cool but later on you'll feel warmer than you did before.

Actually, your bathtub is the best place to cool off, but not with a cold shower. A tepid, soapy bath, followed by a tepid rinse under the shower, will keep you feeling cool for hours.

Make good use of dusting powder to ease on girdle and bra. Eat salads, certainly but don't eat salad alone during the summer months. Your body needs hot foods, too.

And if your doctor has prescribed them, don't neglect vitamins just because it's summer time. They have an effect on the way you feel and look in the heat of the day, too.

The woman who says she hasn't time for beauty is both throwing away a precious gift and handing herself an alibi at the same time.

What she's really saying is that, of course, she'd like to be beautiful but she's too lazy. It's all too much trouble. And year by year, she destroys what was rightfully hers.

She eats on pound and pounds. She lets her hair become limp and colorless. She dresses carelessly, badly. She doesn't exercise and will do anything to avoid walking a block. And she becomes angry with life for not treating her better.

The fault is hers. Beauty needs to be cared for every day of every year in order to be rewarding.

For the tailored woman, Paris likes the white pique cravat edged with tiny ball fringe and held with a clip. Perfect for the neckline of a wool or linen suit.

For soft and shining hair, this girl uses a new color cream rinse that combines the performances of cream rinse conditioner and temporary color rinse, its makers say. It's intended to restore normal moisture content to the hair.

Color Cream Rinse Puts Life In Hair

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Hair coloring, like any other make-up, is meant to set your hair shining with color highlights.

It is also meant to banish yellow streaks and tinges and add a lovely smoky, slate, pearl or platinum tone without leaving a blue or purplish cast.

Many gray-haired women find that they have a problem of dryness when they use a temporary hair coloring. Their hair tends to become coarse, brittle and dull.

An answer to this may lie in a new color cream rinse that combines both cream rinse conditioner and temporary color rinse, according to the makers. The color lasts from shampoo to shampoo. The rinse is said to restore the normal moisture content to the hair while giving it color highlights.

The rinse is applied with a brush or cotton wad at the roots of the hair, then along the entire strand. After five minutes, the solution is simply rinsed off with warm water.

Parisian accessories are colorful for summer. For daytime, there are beret, gloves and flat-bandage sets in white pique dotted with blue, red or black. For dressier wear, these sets come in printed satin, with turban replacing beret.

Janet Ann Forgey, Sidney A. Parnell Exchange Vows In Candlelight Rites

The wedding of Miss Janet Ann Forgey and Sidney A. Parnell was culminated with vows exchanged on June 30 at four o'clock in the afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church, Canadian, with the Reverend Burr Morris reading the double-ring service before an altar banked with blue and white daisies, blue gladioli flanked with blue tapers in white candelabra.

Miss Forgey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar G. Forgey, Canadian. Mr. Parnell is the son of Mrs. G. C. Parnell, 411 Montagu. Wearing a white tulle and Alencon lace over satin gown, Miss Forgey was given in marriage by her father. The fitted bodice featured a low, rounded neckline with long sleeves coming to the points over the hands. The full gathered, floor-length skirt was enhanced with an inset front panel of Alencon lace with a deep lace hemline trim. Her elbow-length veil of illusion fell from a tiara encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a white orchid atop a white Bridal Bible.

Miss Eleanor Forgey, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, wearing a waist-length dress of blue nylon organza over taffeta. She carried a bouquet of blue and white daisies.

Misses Sue Derby of Clinton, Okla., and Nancy Alexander, Canadian, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids dressed in identical styles of blue organza over taffeta and carried bouquets of blue and white daisies.

Johnny Morris, Canadian, served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Norman Smith of Roswell, N. M., and Roy Flowers, Canadian. Ushers were Bill Tyson, Higgins and Arden Ransom, Beaver, Okla.

Miss Jeanne Parnell, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Seated in the pew of honor were the mothers of the bridal couple.

The bride's table, centered with an arrangement of white and blue daisies on a white cloth, was the focal point of the reception held in the banquet room of the First Presbyterian Church, immediately following the exchange of vows. Mrs. Ben Parnell served the cake. Mrs. Harry Jamison presided at punch service. Guest registrar was Mrs. J. C. Wyatt.

For a honeymoon trip to Pasco, Wash., Mrs. Parnell chose a beige linen sheath with pink accessories. She wore a white orchid from her bride's bouquet.

Miss Eula Mae Scales, Charles Stipe Are United In Double-Ring Ceremony

(Special to The News)

McLEAN — Miss Eula Mae Scales and Charles Stipe of Kansas City, Mo. were united in marriage on June 30 at four o'clock in the Church of the Nazarene.

Miss Scales is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scales. Charles Stipe is the son of Mrs. Dwight Moody of Bethany, Okla., and Delmar Stipe of Little Rock, Ark.

The single-ring ceremony was performed before a white archway covered with pink carnations and fern. Palms flanked by candelabra with white tapers and a white kneeling bench completed the setting.

A prelude of piano music was played by Mrs. Vestor Patterson of Abernathy; a cello solo, by Miss Judy Hickman of Pueblo, Colo.; a vocal by Mrs. Bill Hickman, Pueblo. A duet, "I Love You Truly," by Miss Judy Hickman and Mrs. Bill Hickman preceded the ceremony.

Mr. Scales escorted his daughter to the altar and presented her in marriage. Rev. Thomas Hermon of Pueblo, Colo., officiated in reading the ceremony. While the bride and groom knelt at the altar, the "Lord's Prayer" was sung as benediction by Mrs. Bill Hickman.

Miss Scales designed and made her wedding gown of white Alencon lace, nylon tulle and bridal satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned from Alencon lace over satin with long tapered sleeves ending in points over her hands. The flat front panel of Alencon lace was accented by side and back fullness with alternating tiers of Alencon lace and nylon tulle forming the bouffant, floor-length skirt.

The brides' veil of nylon tulle and Alencon lace was caught by a tiara of iridescent sequins and seed pearls. Garlands of lace medallions and scallops enhanced the back of her veil. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Miss Alma Ruth Patterson of Abernathy served as maid of honor. Her gown was fashioned of pink nylon dotted swiss. She wore pink linen shoes and matching head dress and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The bridesmaids were Francis Stockton of Bethany, Okla., and Barbara Stipe, sister of the bridegroom, also of Bethany. Miss Stockton wore a yellow nylon dotted swiss gown with matching shoes and head dress. She carried a yellow carnation bouquet.

Miss Stipe was dressed in a blue nylon dotted swiss gown with blue shoes and head dress. Her bouquet was of blue carnations.

Mrs. Moody, the bridegroom's mother, wore an orchid lace dress with matching hat, shoes and gloves. Her corsage was of yellow carnations.

Tangy Lemonade Helps To Ignore Local Heat Wave

Treat your family to the most cooling drink of all tonight — lemonade. You can have a pitcherful ready one - two - three with sun-kist frozen concentrate for lemonade. Everyone likes lemonade. It makes temperatures drop and heat-weariness banish. How about fixing some right now?

For a change you might like to have Lemonade Tea. This is wonderful with meals or whenever you want something good to drink. Equally tempting is this California Golden Lemonade. If your youngsters balk at eating eggs, this is an excellent way to insure they get their necessary quota. Youngsters love a party. How about letting them have a spur-of-the-moment celebration with a big pitcher of lemonade and either cupcakes or cookies? They'll feel like grownups if you frost the rims of the glasses by dipping the edge of each glass in lemonade, then in sugar. Chill. Then carefully pour lemonade into each glass. Gaily colored drinking straws and lemon slices add to festive look.

Curl Your Hair?

If you have tears, prepare to shed them now.

It's no idle notion that the American taxpayer is supporting every bum and socialist in Europe and half the sultans of the East besides. Here's a true story to curl your hair and it happened to a man down in Brownsville, Tex.

He was attending a party on the French Riviera, the feature attraction of which was a tremendous display of fireworks. The Brownsville man said he, and the others at his table marvelled at the elaborate display which had the guests oh-ing and ah-ing.

Next to them sat a little Italian, one of Italy's top industrialists. One of the Americans said, "Just think what those fireworks must have cost." The Italian turned around with a shrug and said, "Marshall plan money, you know."

So when the Americans came home they wrote their Congressman that, if it was all the same with him, they'd just as soon he'd vote against the next "foreign" aid bill.

But how big is the swindle?

Congressional Quarterly News Service has compiled a list of debts owed the American taxpayers by foreign countries (private and public) of eleven billion, six-hundred and fifty-two millions of dollars.

Did you know you've authorized 17 millions of dollars worth of credit to some place called Bohren?

Rhodesia and Nysaland owe you 55 million.

The "European Coal and Steel Community" owes you 100 millions.

And the United Nations owes us 56 million.

The United Kingdom is the principal beneficiary of our doffiness. She owes four billion, four-hundred and forty-five millions. A pittance.

The France owe a niggardly one billion, six-hundred and ninety-million.

A debtor listed as "unspecified" owes nine million. (We don't even bother to get the names of guys in that category.)

Mexico is into us for 112 million. She's reduced her one-time debt of three times that amount. And so it goes, and so it goes.

And everywhere people are muttering, "Yankee Go Home." And the Yankees would love to go home, taking their dollars with them. Fat chance.

On the surface, it looks as if most of our debtors have been paying off. From June 30, 1940, through the end of 1956, we've authorized loans to foreign countries of $18 billion. About one-fourth has been repaid.

But, some congressmen have pointed out, the only reason many of these countries have "paid back" the loans is because we have given them "grants" in addition. In other words, they have paid us back with our own money.

And, it might interest you to know that we "lend" money to foreigners at rates cheaper than the government pays on its own bonds!

So, the thing to do is set up shop in, say, Italy. Get a loan from the United States by saying that your workers are going to vote the communist ticket if Uncle Sam doesn't buy them off.

Then let the loan go delinquent and apply for an economic grant-in-aid. With this money, pay off the loans; and you are square with the government; you own your factory; your workers can vote Commie if they want to—and everybody is happy with the possible exception of the United States taxpayer.

But who gives a damn about him?

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR F. JORDAN, M. D.

Today's first inquiry deals with vision.

Q-Night blindness is usually defined as the inability to see well in a dim light. In some instances this seems to be the result of a deficiency of Vitamin A in the diet and great improvement may take place if it is given in suitable quantities.

Q-A friend is having periods of amnesia lasting from a few minutes to an hour or so. The spells seem to be lasting longer. This person was struck by lightning nearly 30 years ago and was ill for three weeks at that time. He was also a heavy drinker until several months ago.—Mrs. R.

Q-It is extremely difficult even to guess at an explanation for these losses of memory without much more information. It is probable that the do reflect damage to some portion of the brain, however. The problem is to find whether this is an old damage or the effect of something new, such as a brain tumor or infection. It will perhaps take many tests and extreme skill to find out what is at fault.

Q-I am writing to ask about the advisability of allowing food to remain overnight in little aluminum pots and pans.—Mrs. L. B.

A-The subject of possible danger to health from cooking in aluminum containers has been extensively investigated. It is reliably reported that no harm is done. However, I should question the desirability of leaving food in aluminum pots or pans—or any other container—for too long.

Q-What is the usual time that one can become pregnant after the cessation of menstruation at the menopause?—Mrs. L.

A-This question keeps coming up time and time again. Physicians are reluctant to answer specifically since there have been many surprises. Nevertheless, it is said that pregnancy is unlikely after the age of 50 and more than one year after complete cessation of the menses.

Q-Is it true that rheumatic fever often follows infectious hepatitis?—Reader.

A-I don't think so. Rheumatic fever usually follows a streptococcal infection of the throat; infectious hepatitis is caused by a virus.

Q-Can a person catch cancer when drinking hot water or eating hot foods? Will drinking water at 120 degrees cause cancer?—J.C.

A-Hot water and hot foods are not recognized as a cause of cancer. Of course too hot substances may injure the delicate tissues of the mouth or throat and indeed may cause burns.

America At The Crossroads

I want to quote for a day or so some gems from a book written by Francis H. Balfanz under the heading of "America At The Crossroads," with a subtitle "A Challenge To Action." It was published by the Caxton Printers, Ltd., Caldwell, Idaho. This publishing house usually publishes books that are worth reading for those people who want to know what causes goodwill and human well-being. The author writes, under the heading "America":

"No people were ever more fortunate in their choice of a laboratory for trying a full-scale experiment in self-government. A vast continent, fabulously rich in natural resources, lay before them. No titled landlords prevented their occupation of the soil or compelled them to pay rental as dependent tenant farmers. There was land and opportunity for all. There were no titles of nobility to perpetuate the class distinctions of the Old World. Each man was on his own and, with independence won, found here the opportunity of growing in freedom of mind to his full stature as a man—a self-governed individual with the right to the fruits of his own talents and labor.

"Men gained a higher degree of independence here than was possible in almost any other country on earth. They established a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal—the end and aim of which was a political brotherhood of individuals as independent as man may be in an efficiently organized society."

Under the heading of "Two Principles of Government," and the subtitle of "The Individual," he writes: "The individualist believes that he has been endowed by his Creator with certain inalienable rights—rights which may be summed up in the term 'self-government.' He believes that no other man or group of men has any right, divine or otherwise, to claim his involuntary allegiance. He has seen that men the world over, from time immemorial and almost without exception, have governed in their own interest rather than in the interest of their subjects; and he is thereby confirmed in the determination to govern himself. He looks upon government as his servant, not his master, and joins with other men, equally free in establishing where possible such a form of government as is necessary to preserve the rights which are naturally his, and to obtain mutual services that can better be obtained by collective action than by individual effort. Believing that he can grow to full mental, moral, and spiritual maturity as a man only by an untrammelled and undictated exercise of his powers in every field of human endeavor, he strives in this sense to remain 'the master of his fate, the captain of his soul.'"

"In the assertion of his personal rights as prior to the rights of government over him, he agrees with Thomas Paine who, in writing on the subject, said: "It has been thought a considerable advance toward establishing the principles of freedom, to say, that government is a compact between those who govern and those who are governed; but this cannot be true, because it is putting the effect before the cause; for as a man must have existed before governments existed, there necessarily was a time when governments did not exist, and consequently there could originally have been no governors to form such a compact with."

"The fact, therefore, must be, that the individuals themselves, each in his own personal and sovereign right, entered into a compact with each other to produce a government; and this is the only mode in which governments have a right to arise, the only principle on which they have a right to exist."

"The State" "The man who advocates the authority of the State over the Individual holds a philosophy diametrically opposed to that of the individualist. He believes that trial of chiefs, monarchs, and other governors by whatever name, rule legitimately by the authority of Heaven or the rightful assumption of power by themselves. He assumes that it is natural and right for one man or group of men to govern another man or group of men, either with or without the consent of those governed. He believes in the divine right of kings and dictators.

"According to this political creed, the government has the right to give and the corresponding right to take away. The individual is either the recipient of its favors or the victim of its displeasure. It may either rule him with cruelty or give him broad powers that border on self-government. The point here is not whether a government is benevolent or despotic at any given time; it is the fact that it has the power to misuse its authority at any time and to any extent. Such is the danger inherent in any government which is master of its individual citizens, rather than their servant." (To be continued)

Can Congress Stop The Supreme Court?

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Only a handful of nonsectarian men at Washington still believe that Communists no longer pose a threat to the security of the United States. Yet they have blunted every weapon which the Federal Government and the 48 States possess for fighting this internal and foreign conspiracy.

Moreover, under the ruling of these seven black-gowned members of the Supreme Court, it is extremely doubtful if Congress or the State Legislatures have any remedy against this judicial law-making and alleged usurpation of their power.

Barring a constitutional amendment, any corrective legislation would be struck down whenever it came to a test before the Warren tribunal in future trials. As Charles Evans Hughes once said, although not indicating that he agreed with his own statement, "The Constitution and the laws are what the Judges say they are."

DISAGREE WITH SUPREME COURT RED RULING — A survey of law enforcement individuals and agencies at the Capital, both Executive and Congressional, reveals that none agrees with the Supreme Court majority in "its weakening of anti-Communist statutes."

Both President Eisenhower and Attorney General Brownell have opposed the opening of secret documents or informants' data to defendants alleged to have conspired against the United States. So did President Truman and Justice Tom Clark when he was Attorney General.

Besides forcing publication of FBI data and detective methods to Communists, the Supreme Court's ruling may also apply to the secret files of State, Army, Navy and Air Force Intelligence. It is even possible that it will throw open the hush-hush matters of Allen Dulles' Central Intelligence Agency and the Subversive Activities Control Board. And it affects adversely every local police force in the country.

FBI DIRECTOR'S OPINION — J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director, does not concur in the seven jurists' belief that the American Communist Party is no longer a menace to this country. It has simply "gone underground," in his opinion. He constantly warns against its more subtle activities. He employs scores of agents and spends huge funds to keep track of them.

The S.A.C.B. has pending many cases against so-called "front" organizations, which have been cited to it for adjudication by Attorney General Brownell. It cannot use the evidence already collected by the D of J, although it has been compiling in former hearings.

means, too, that Moscow can resume its financing of their operations without any Federal check-up.

"FRAUD AND HOAX" — The Senate Internal Security Committee, which is headed by Senator William E. Jenner of Indiana, does not agree with the seven Supreme Court majority on any count involving Communists.

Whereas they seem to believe that the anti-Communist drive has been overdone to the prejudice of individual liberties, the Jenner group's latest report brands American Reds' alleged divorce from the Kremlin as a "fraud and a hoax" on the American people.

Contrary to the Court's finding, the Senate investigators report that the Communists are still organizing, and still inciting the overthrow of our social, economic and political system by violence.

Never, perhaps, was the Supreme Court so out of step with the two other coequal arms of the Government of the United States! And, it might be added, with the American people and press!

MOSCOW—Anastas Mikoyan, a top member of the new ruling group of the Soviet Communist Party, commenting on the dismissal of Molotov, Majenkov and Kaganovich: "Things are going to be the same as before, only better."

The press reported, on June 3, that Dr. Nathan W. Ackerman, associate professor of psychology at Columbia University, told an Atlantic City audience that "cancer" strikes one person in 20, polio one in 5 and mental illness one in one."

According to the good doctor, we're all crazy. And when you consider how placidly we allow our Constitutional rights to be taken from us, one by one, you begin to think he knows what he's talking about.

We all want disarmament if it doesn't result in our destruction. But to conduct this fateful negotiation, can't we find anybody a little more responsible than Harold Stassen?

Old Drivers Warned To Never Let License Lapse

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK, N.Y. — While I take a driving test. I know, because I took one, and it ranks with the most horrendous ordeals of my whole life.

The one I took years and years ago when I was a beginner was fun by comparison. It is a known fact that examiners dole out testing experienced drivers whose licenses are up for renewal. The longer you have driven, the more pleasure it gives them to fail you. They get bonuses or something, I believe, and the reward for turning down a man who has driven as long as I have is said to be $850, or a two-week all-expense trip for two to Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

The examiners, I was told, are all hand-selected for meanness. This may or may not be true, but mine did boast (while I was parking on a hill) that he was descended from Genghis Khan on the paternal side, and from a snapping turtle on the maternal side.

He gave orders in a sharp voice, much the way Ike and General Montgomery intimated that they would have given them to Robert E. Lee and Meade. "Get in," he commanded, just as if I were a pup he was going to allow to make a trip.

I did, and then he got in. Sitting as erect as a ramrod, he spread a clipboard with a score pad — my score pad — on his lap. Before I had even started the motor he placed a whacking big X in one square. I figured it meant I had flunked the first portion of the test — the approach to the wheel.

He barked at me to get going. I had concentrated so much on proper hand signals, and the proper execution of them, that I suddenly thought there was a starting signal. So I stuck my hand out the window and made a frantic forward waving motion.

"What are you doing?" came the icy question.

The vocal dash of ice water in my face cleared my head.

"Waving goodbye to a friend across the street," I said. "That's all right as long as I am not moving, isn't it, officer?"

No answer.

I drove slowly, very slowly, away from the building and directed to a wide cement strip. The officer pointed out two giant yellow parking standards and told me to imagine that they were cars and park between them. There wasn't too much room. I backed in and knocked down a standard.

I wanted to jump out and run for ever.

"That will do," the examiner said. "Now go out onto the street, turn left, and proceed."

My left-hand turn signal was a model of rigidity. I heard an elbow bone give when I shot out my arm. Long after I had made the turn my arm was still out, as firm as a railroad signal arm.

"Get your arm back in and put it on the wheel," he said. "You need both hands to drive."

I saw a stop sign ahead at the corner of an intersection. I started braking a hundred yards away from it, and came to a dead halt twenty yards before I reached it.

"Go to the corner and stop," the examiner said in an exasperated tone. "You are almost in the middle of the block, and this is a no parking street."

I had to say something, make some excuse.

"When I was a little boy, I was hit by a car that passed a stop sign," I said, "and I am always extra careful."

He looked at me as if to say, "There weren't any cars when you were a little boy."

Deterioration in my driving set in and I failed the test.

So I took more tests — and on the third one, I passed.

Don't let 'er lapse!

with JAMES C. MOBERTSEN President, Suburban Mobilization.

Roman Catholic Bishop Russell J. McVinney, addressing the graduates of Manhattan College in New York City the other day, reportedly said that contemporary morality that attempts to "ride on the coattails of democracy" is fallacious.

Expressing fear of "chaos" if the will of the majority is accepted, as a norm for judging what is "morally good," the Bishop assertedly urged his audience to be obedient to an "objective" ethical standard.

I heartily endorse these sentiments.

In our maudlin, and often completely unintelligent, acclaim of democracy, we tend to equate the will of the majority with the will of God. This is seldom the case.

forever but a republic.

And, as R. S. Storrs, noted American clergyman of the past century, said, "Christianity is the basis of republican government, its bond of cohesion, and its life-giving law."

Only insofar as the verdict of the ballot box agrees with the fundamentals of our religious teaching can our republic fulfill its God-appointed destiny.

Shakeup In Kremlin Was Tops In News Last Week

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN

United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet: A long smoldering factional dispute among the top leaders of Soviet Russia exploded in the Kremlin this week.

Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Georgi M. Malenkov and Lazar M. Kaganovich were thrown out of the Central Committee of the Communist Party, in which they had been members of the 11-man ruling presidium, and fired from the cabinet. With them went three second-level men.

Molotov, last of the "old Bolsheviks" who helped Lenin engineer the 1917 revolution, was branded as the leader of an "anti-party" bloc which fought the post-Stalin policies of Communist Party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin.

With the support of Malenkov and Kaganovich, it was charged, Molotov fought both domestic and foreign policies aimed at correcting the evils of the Stalin regime.

These policies included friendship with Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, "pressing new measures intended to ease international tension and promote universal peace."

Molotov especially opposed the Khrushchev-Bulganin program of seeking personal contacts aimed at bettering relations with foreign leaders, it was charged.

What it meant was that Molotov was the leader of a die-hard "Stalinist" faction which opposed the "new look" policies of Khrushchev and Bulganin. Now the Stavitski

Walter Rogers Reports:

Congressmen Are Guessing As To Adjournment Time

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT:

Possible Adjournment
Along about this time every year most Members of the House of Representatives and the Senate begin to make guesses as to the day on which Congress will adjourn. It had been the opinion of most Members that adjournment would come sometime between the 10th and 20th of August.

This continues to be the estimate of those with whom I have talked, and also my own. However, a matter has arisen which necessitates a qualification of that estimate. I refer to the action of the United States Senate with relation to the Civil Rights bill. When the bill that had passed the House reached the Senate, it was generally understood it would be referred to the Committee on Judiciary for further hearings. However, a coalition in the Senate, made up of modern Republicans and northern Democrats, circumvented the ordinary procedure in the Senate and bypassed the Judiciary Committee.

They placed the bill on the Senate calendar to be debated and voted upon by the full Senate, without the benefit of committee hearings. This caused quite a furor among those who have always adhered strictly to the rules of parliamentary procedure. However, the modern Republican and northern Democrat coalition was undismayed. They are bragging about their fancy parliamentary footwork, and chucking can be heard even from the White House.

The chuckles may be short-lived, because the Senate action on another matter is almost as explosive and controversial as any issue before the Congress. It is called the issue of public vs. private power. The bill on which the Senate voted was an act authorizing construction of the high Hell's Canyon Dam on the Snake River. A private power company is already building three small dams at this particular site. The argument has been that the three small dams are not sufficient to properly utilize the potentialities of the River; that a high dam at this site will provide many more benefits than the three small dams and will make it possible to recover the greatest power-producing potentialities. This is stating the problem simply.

It is much more complex, but it would be most difficult to go into it fully in such short space. The point is that the two groups in the Senate, who got together to place the political Civil Rights bill on the calendar, are in direct conflict on the Hell's Canyon Dam issue.

The northern Democrats are for the high Hell's Canyon Dam to be built by the government. The modern Republicans are against the high Hell's Canyon Dam, and for the private power company building three low dams. The result is that the happy marriage between these forces on the Civil Rights bill ended up in a divorce when the vote on the Hell's Canyon bill occurred. Now these two groups are feeling around over in the House of Representatives trying to find out what will happen to the Hell's Canyon bill. It has been indicated that, if this bill is passed, it will be vetoed by the President. If the Civil Rights bill passes the Senate, it will be signed by the President. You can see there is going to be quite a bit of maneuvering in the last few days.

I might say I expect to be extremely occupied within the next few days, because I am on the Committee presently considering the highly controversial Natural Gas bill. I am also a member of the Committee that will determine whether or not the high Hell's Canyon Dam bill is recommended for floor debate. My office is on the third floor of the new House Office Building. The Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, which is considering the gas bill, is located at one end of the hall, while the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, which will consider the Hell's Canyon bill, is located at the other end of the hall. Both of these the same time, and the presence of a quorum in both will be of tremendous importance every minute. This means that I will use up a lot of shoe leather during these committee hearings, both of which will probably be concluded not later than July 10.

Thanks To A Friend
A friend of mine sent me the following story about confusion in Washington:

A visitor in one of the government buildings in Washington read the following on a door:
4156
General Services Administration
Region 3
Public Buildings Service
Buildings Management Division
Utility Room Custodial

When he asked an attendant what all this meant, he was briskly told, "Broom closet."

POOR TIMING

LIVERPOOL, England (UP) — An obviously winded and perspiring man rushed into the Savoy Bar just before closing time on Wednesday night so the bartender offered him a beer on the house. Just as the latecomer raised the brew to his lips a uniformed prison guard rushed in and collared his escaped prisoner. The guard led him off before he drank the beer.

GRAY COUNTY Soil Conservation District News

By JIM SMATHERS

Work Unit Conservationist

During the past few years farmers in the Gray County SCD have been experiencing some drought years in which very few crops have been made. Wind and water erosion has made itself known due to the lack of crop residues necessary for control of wind and water erosion. A number of farmers have made the remark that their fields did not have any gullies in them as long as they could grow good wheat, but with the dry years, and poor wheat crops, gullies have begun to show up. With the spring rains many bare fields were severely eroded.

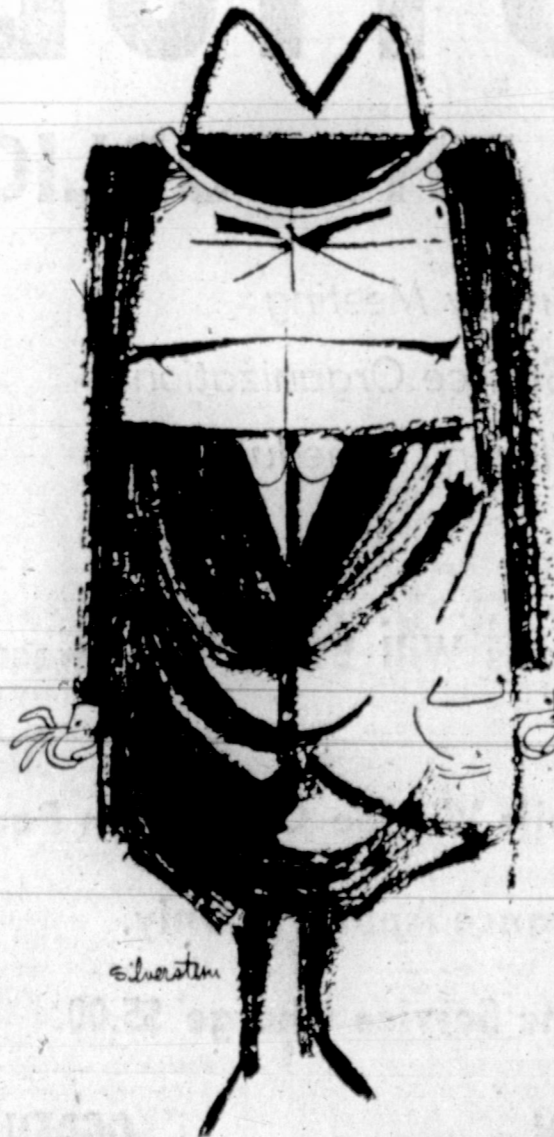

Due to the spring rains that fell, a heavy crop of residue has been made with wheat, oats and barley. Harvesting of these crops is in full swing now and the task of plowing the stubble is beginning. Now is the time to save that stubble and to save the soil and any moisture that falls by practicing stubble mulch tillage.

Stubble mulching provides a cover to the land for protection against wind and water erosion, to conserve moisture, to intercept and reduce the impact of raindrops and break up the surface water film, permitting greater penetration, reduce pulverized condition of the soil, permit surface decay of organic matter and reduce runoff. Also there is an increase in production.

The possible increase in insect infestation may be brought to the minds of some people. Work at experiment stations tells us that there is no significant increase in insects due to stubble mulch tillage.

Several types of equipment may be used for stubble mulch tillage but the subsurface sweep type equipment does the most efficient job of stubble mulching.

Save your stubble and save your soil.

An angry man is Sylvester T. Bly,
Who today was sold a piece of "blue sky."
He'd stepped in a showroom—out of the rain,
Was sold a new car before he could explain!
How he hated the styling—so high and square
And in new features it was really bare.
"I got a real bargain—the buy of my life—
But how do I ever convince my own wife?"

Moral: You're paying for a new car... make sure you get one!

When you buy a new car, put your money on tomorrow—not yesterday. Swept-Wing Dodge actually abolishes other cars in its field. Should you invest in high, boxy styling when Dodge offers the low, low look of tomorrow? Should you invest in outmoded coil springs when Dodge offers new Torsion-Aire Ride? Should you invest in an old-fashioned lever-type transmission when Dodge offers the ease of Push-Button Driving? In other things, too—engines, brakes, interiors—Dodge is years ahead. So put your money on tomorrow. See your Dodge dealer. Join the swing to the Swept-Wing Dodge!
