Kefauver Hits Steel Company

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver today attacked U.S. Steel Corp. for hiking its steel price $6 a ton with the knowledge that its "so-called competitors" would follow the lead. Kefauver said concentration of control in the steel industry is increasing. The Tennessee Democrat, chairman of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, told the Senate in a prepared speech that "the whole matter of costs and prices requires further investigation." This committee has been looking into the steel price hike for several weeks. Kefauver accused U.S. Steel of refusing to give the subcommittee a breakdown of its cost figures despite a promise that the figures of no single steel firm would be disclosed. However, he said, "it is obvious" that there is a "substantial gap" between the company's July $6 a ton price increase and the amount by which its wage costs increased. The gap ranges from $2.75 to $3.50 per ton, he said. Kefauver said the record shows that U.S. Steel and at least one other major steel producer quoted prices to a government purchasing agency which were "precisely identical."

The central fact concerning competition in the industry, he said, is that "when U.S. steel raises its price, it does so with the almost certain knowledge, based on years of experience, that its so-called competitors will make the same increase."

One station wagon, owned by L. H. Earhman, got stuck on a road close to the Meadow Cafe which crosses a little "draw" and before it could be freed, water was up to within "an inch or so" from the top of the windows, Mrs. Butrum said.

There was also some crop damage reported in the area.

The DA Wants 'Taffler' For 'Confidential'

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The district attorney's office served notice today that the state would great Confidential magazine's alleged top taffler, actress Francisca de Scaffa, with a warrant for her arrest if Mexico forces her to return to California.

Dispatches from Mexico City report that the actress obtained a 48-hour delay of an order to deport her from Mexico. The former wife of actor Bruce Cabot was to present arguments against the deportation order this morning before Jose Santana, head of the Mexican immigration office.

By turning herself in, Miss de Scaffa could evade return to California, original point of entry. If she is arrested and deported involuntarily, she must return to California.

Dep. Dist. Atty. William Ritzzi said a standing warrant was out for the arrest of the actress. He said she would be returned here to stand trial with Confidential magazine on criminal libel charges. His statement came as the sensational Confidential trial was in recess. The trial resumes Friday and then will be adjourned until next Tuesday because of the Labor Day week end.

Miss de Scaffa was among a handful of persons indicted by the Los Angeles County grand jury to stand trial with Confidential magazine. However, she has refused to return to this country for the trial. Her name popped up during the early stages of the trial. Testimony linked her with having an alleged "affair" with Clark Gable and gathering "inside" information about the actor's first marriage for a Confidential story.

Graham Says He's Stronger From Revival

NEW YORK (UP)—Billy Graham said Wednesday night that he included himself among the 53,207 persons who have officially declared themselves spiritually strengthened by his New York crusade. "I have received revival in my own soul," the evangelist said. "I've been revived myself spiritually by what has happened in New York."

Graham made it evident he was jubilant over the reception New York and the world has given his crusade, the longest and most successful he has ever conducted, and which he has described as "the biggest evangelistic effort since the time of Paul."

The crusade, which is in its 16th week, has already drawn 1,741,600 persons to hear the 38-year-old North Carolinian. Wednesday night alone, Madison Square Garden was filled to capacity with 18,500 persons, plus 700 standees—all the fire laws allow.

Crusade officials were confident today that by Sunday night, when Graham closes the extended revival series with a rally in Times Square, more than two million persons will have come to hear the evangelist.

The revivalist said in his Wednesday night sermon, after which 731 persons recorded "declarations for Christ," that "the greatest sin in the world is pride," a sin that goes hand-in-hand with selfishness.

Dance Palace Proprietor Tells Of Many Changes In 40 Years

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Lou Brecker, who is celebrating the 40th anniversary in his career of inducing people to play footsy with a slick maple floor, estimates that around 20 million persons have danced through his life from ragtime to cha-cha.

In 40 years as a dance palace proprietor, he's seen some changes made. The hostess and the dime-a-dance have passed out of his place. In the early days, the average age of the dancers was about 25. Now, it's 35 or more. And there are plenty of elderly people who are steady customers. Now he has a family clientele. "Six per cent of our crowd come in in couples," he says. "In past years, when he had hostesses, 10 per cent couples was a big percentage."

Started in Philadelphia It was August, 1917, when Brecker opened his place at 12th and Chestnut in Philadelphia. Two years later, when he moved here and opened his famous Roseland Ballroom for a long run at 51st and Broadway, the first floor of the building was occupied by Healy's carriage factory.

"I guess you can say we moved in at the end of the carriage era and carried right on into the beginning of the jet era," Brecker said as he sat at a table in his new block-big, 4-million-dollar building and watched more than 1,000 dancers swirling—a remarkable crowd considering that it was in the middle of a weekday summer afternoon.

Two Collisions Reported Here

Two wrecks were reported by the Pampa Police department this morning.

The first accident, at S. Cuyler and Craven, occurred at 8:14 p.m. last night between a 1955 Ford driven by Fred McEntire of College Station and a 1936 Buick Sedan, driven by M. C. Doss of Groom. The Ford received approximately $300 in damages and the Buick had an estimated $275 damage.

The second wreck occurred on W. Browning, 13 feet west of Cuyler between a 1951 Chevrolet sedan driven by E. J. Holmes and a 1954 Chevrolet Sedan driven by Patsy Gorman. No damage resulted to either car.

Pampans Relative Dies In Freak Accident

Dan Price, whose step-daughter, Mrs. Bob Baldwin, lives in Pampa, was killed instantly Aug. 19 when he threw a measuring tape over a stack of hay and it came in contact with a high voltage wire.

Mr. Price had measured several stacks when the accident occurred at his farm, near Red Owl, S.D.

The tape struck a 14,500 volt transmission line and his body was found 48 feet from the line, just two feet less than the length of the tape. The accident was witnessed by a hired hand.

Mr. Price had visited in Pampa several times. His funeral was held Monday in Brady. Survivors include his wife, who visited here recently; Mrs. Baldwin; three step-grandchildren; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Price of Rochelle; two brothers, Don of Austin and Howard of Rochelle. He was buried at Brady.

Survey Being Made On Bridge

The Texas Highway Engineers office here said this morning that it would start a survey today to determine how to protect the McClellan Creek bridge on State Highway 273.

The bridge was washed out in the heavy spring rains and has since been replaced. A structure built later to protect the bridge was washed out, and engineers feared that the five inch rain near McLean last night might have damaged the bridge again.

Investigation this morning however, proved that the bridge held. The engineers are now to make a "topographic survey" to determine the best way the bridge can be protected.

There was no estimate on when work on the actual protection would begin.

Girl Is Stabbed In Argument

Two minor girls were in trouble with city juvenile officials this morning as a result of a stabbing Tuesday near the Marcus Sanders swimming pool here.

According to H. A. Doggett, city juvenile officer, the incident occurred when the girls, one 13 and the other 14, became involved in an argument and one made a "degradatory remark" about the second's parents.

Borrowing a knife, the second girl proceeded to stab the offender 10 times which required over 14 stitches, given at Highland General Hospital, to close the wounds. County Judge Bruce Parker talked to one girl this morning and to see the other at 3 this afternoon. He said there would be no hearing, but warned the girl that any further trouble from them would mean court action.

FOR FUN AND FUTURE—This "ride of the future" is shown here in an Akron, Ohio, amusement park, but its builders say it's more than an amusement ride. The first commercial monorail in the United States consists of three 11-foot-long cars with four double seats in each. A single overhead track 20 feet above the ground carries the monorail at speeds up to 60 m.p.h. The aluminum cars are powered by a four-cylinder engine. The five Akron residents who designed the monorail say it may be the answer to traffic problems in teeming cities. Surface traffic would be something passengers could just look down on—and relax.

TV Responsible For Causing Many Everyday Expressions

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — TV has spawned a curious collection of tag lines — "just the facts, ma'am," "you can't hardly get them no more," "strange things are happening," "and awaway we go."
The latest candidate for the list seems to be "hi-ho, Steverino," a salutation of limp nonchalance breathed by comic Louis Nye. Nye works under a straw hat and the name of "Gordon Hathaway" on NBC-TV's "Steve Allen show."
For those who have been spending their Sundays with Ed Sullivan, it might be explained that "Gordon" is a fellow with a gray-flannel mouth and Madison Ave. manner. He capers through a weekly gag interview segment, "the man in the street," on the Allen hour. He would seem to be the first successful contribution to comedy based on the giddy characters in advertising.
"I think of Gordon as a fairly important, but not too important, guy at some ad agency — earning maybe $12,500 a year," said Nye during a rehearsal break. "He's married and probably has three kids."
Sound Underneath
"He may sound a little silly, but he's pretty sound underneath. Don't forget he holds down a fairly responsible job. He tries to sound like a hipster, but that's just a cover-up. Actually, he's a kind of wistful character—a guy who'd like to go on an African safari or fight bulls in Spain, but who never will."
A fugitive from Hartford, Conn., Nye, 38, is a veteran campaigner of radio and TV. A straight actor originally, he emoted on a slew of daytime soaps, such as evening epics as "Gangbuster," and for a con-

Senate Amends Rules

Prescott Bush (R-Conn.) and several other senators who sponsored the new rule said the introduction of visitors was becoming a publicity stunt.

TV Hit Parade To Have New Faces, Sounds Next Season

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — "Your Hit Parade" will trot out five fresh faces this TV season. And according to incoming bandleader Don Walker, the show will offer a new sound, too.
Walker will replace Raymond Scott, who piled out the door along with Gisele MacKenzie, Dorothy Collins, Snooky Lanson and Russell Arms. Walker's crew will be made up of Jill Corey, Ginny Gibson, Tommy Leonetti and Alan Copeland.
Walker, the 46-year-old scorer of such Broadway musicals as "Pajama Game," "Damn Yankees," and "The Most Happy Fella," feels the NBC-TV show was due for a musical overhaul.
"Up to now the policy on the show has leaned toward imitating the record that made a hit out of a song," said Walker. "The trouble with that was it was impossible in a TV studio to get up the artificial conditions that prevail in a recording studio. TV just can't gimmick up a sound the way records do."
Seeking Different Effect
"So, this season we're going to work for a different effect. We're going to try to get a closer coordination between the production and the music—you know, so the music s-a-y-s what your eyes are showing you."
The Hit Parade band (the same NBC house orchestra that Raymond Scott used; will sound different, too, said Walker.
"I always score for TV and radio with a great deal of depth," said Walker. "And I try for a wide sound, too. You're going to hear a lot of highs and lows from the band, a lot of brilliance. I don't like to waste notes, the idea is to have each one work."

"And there's going to be a lot of comedy in the music. I like humor in music. I like an amusing quality—it's the sort of thing I tried to get into 'Pal Joey,' another show I scored."
Walker, a product of Lambertville, N. J., and the University of Pennsylvania (where he made his musical debut as the sixth member of "Lew Chapman's Inter-Fraternity Five"), aimed originally at an accounting job. However, Fred Waring lured Walker into his stable as an arranger.
Scored 76 Broadway Shows
After four years with Waring, Walker turned to Broadway where he scored 76 shows. In recent years, he also has worked on TV commercials. His most noteworthy effort in this line—a musical miniature based on "The Most Happy Fella" for a cigar firm—brought him to the attention of the 49th Year cigarette sponsor of "Your Hit Parade."

A student of the piano, pipe organ, sax, clarinet, flute and trombone, Walker will get one big break on "Your Hit Parade" this season—he should have more interesting tunes to work with than Raymond Scott.
"I don't think there's any doubt the ballad is making a comeback," said Walker, "and that rock 'n' roll is falling off a bit. I like some rock 'n' roll myself but since it's based on repetitive phrases, it tends to become monotonous over a long period."
"This season the show will get back to more of the moonlight dancing kind of thing and all of those wonderful romantic songs."

WASHINGTON (UP)—Wisconsin's senatorial election returns have hit the Republicans where it hurts.

They counted on winning the Wisconsin Senate seat to keep them on the threshold of control of the Senate. They would take over if and when an act of God enabled a Republican governor to appoint a senator to replace a Democrat who died.

Instead, the victory of Democrat William Proxmire over former GOP Gov. Walter J. Kohler gave Senate Democrats welcome insurance that they would retain control of the Senate until after the 1958 elections. And they rate as favorites to stand in command after 1958.

Kohler Backed Ike
The Republicans can blame their defeat on Wisconsin's strange breed of politics. Otherwise, they must hunt for alibis based on a party split, stay-at-home voters, throat-cutting by conservative Republicans and continuing GOP trouble in the farm belt.

Tuesday's special election in Wisconsin was held to fill the vacant seat of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, who was no admirer of President Eisenhower.

Kohler is an Eisenhower Republican, a former three-term governor, who won the senatorial nomination by polling less than a majority of the primary vote against a field of conservative or anti-administration Republicans.

Long before the primary, it was easy to find conservative Republicans in Wisconsin who would argue that Kohler would be a weak candidate. Now they can say, "We told you so."

A Different Story
It has been less than 10 months since Eisenhower carried Wisconsin by a landslide majority of more than 60 per cent of the vote. At the same time, Sen. Alexander Wiley, an Eisenhower Republican, was reelected by polling 58 per cent.

Now, 14 months before the 1958 congressional elections, Proxmire has polled close to 60 per cent of a much lighter vote and put a Democrat in a Wisconsin Senate seat for the first time since 1932.

While the Republicans may find it impossible to write off the Wisconsin results as meaningless, the Democrats may have trouble determining just why they won. Party managers had viewed the election—without much optimism—as the first test of the issue they think will overshadow all others in 1958. That issue is tight money and the rising cost of living.

But they did not think that the Proxmire campaign had thoroughly exploited the issue. Maybe it didn't need to be exploited.

The Democrats also want to keep the farm issue alive against the Eisenhower administration and they may be doing just that.

It was in Wisconsin four years ago that they elected a Democrat to a House seat from a farm district where they had made an insignificant showing for years.

Without the Eisenhower name on the ballot Tuesday, Proxmire outpolled Kohler in most of the rural districts of Wisconsin.

"TAKE ME TO YOUR LEADER"—Believe in flying saucers? This picture could almost convince you that the Martians have landed and are alighting from their domed saucer. Why Not Celebrate On Labor Day With Early Morn Out-Of-Doors Breakfast?

Breakfast is considered one of the most important meals of the day, according to nutritionists. Whoever you eat it, plan or order a substantial meal. . . one high in protein that will give you a stick-to-the-ribs feeling. This is the meal that should provide between 1/4 to 1-3 of your daily food nutrients.

During the summer months . . . picnic time is any time. The breakfast picnic is rapidly gaining popularity. Imagine you and your family, out under an early morning sky cooking scrambled eggs, smoked sausage links and coffee over an open fire . . . how about just such a breakfast on Labor Day morning?

For a summer meal specialty, make breakfast a veritable picnic. Imagine arriving at the nearest public picnic grounds in the early morning and preparing a hearty breakfast out-of-doors. Smoked sausage links and scrambled eggs cooked over an open fire are a real appetite builder. So as a warning, when planning this type of picnic, plan on bringing extra foods. Appetites will almost double once the picnic enthusiasts get out in the fresh, early morning air.

A sample menu for such out-of-door occasion might include a fruit in season, such as cantaloupe, smoked sausage links, scrambled eggs, toasted English muffin and plenty of hot coffee. Don't forget to bring a thermos bottle of ice cold milk for the children in the group.

nicely on all sides. Scrambled eggs are easy to prepare as well as making a delightful partner for the sausage links. After the sausage links have finished cooking, remove them to a small pan so they may be kept warm while the eggs are cooking. A flavorful addition to scrambled eggs might be small chunks of zesty cheddar cheese or perhaps chopped onion. Don't forget to plan ahead for this affair. Pack the picnic utensils . . . frying-pan, coffee pot, silver and plates the preceding night. Have the cantaloupe chilling in the refrigerator. Keep the fruit well insulated en route to the picnic spot, either by wrapping it in paper or by placing it in a specially insulated bag. Cut the English muffins in half so they will be all ready to toast. Just place them on the rack or grill over the glowing coals. Toasted English muffins spread with butter or margarine and topped with grape jelly add the finishing touch to this grand early morn picnic.

Hostesses Will Find Candy Corsages Create Novel Bridal Table Decoration

As the shower party season gets under way in a whirlwind of early fall gatherings for soon-to-be brides, many party givers are seeking ideas for clever table decorations.

Flowers naturally come to mind at this time of year — real or imaginary. Some of the most ingenious decorative pieces the hostess with creative knack can make are diminutive candy corsages. They may be used to set off the party table or to pin to guests' shoulders.

These conversation creating decorations devised by the Richardson Candy Company people, for example, first arm yourself with a generous supply of clear cellophane, pipe cleaners, florists' tape, lace paper doilies and Richardson's party patties in assorted colors and flavors. Then follow these directions:

CANDY CORSAGES
For each corsage first cut four 6-inch squares of clear cellophane. Place three party patties on each square. Keeping patties flat, bring edges of paper together and twist tightly. Stack three more patties and wrap in one 6-inch square of cellophane. Twist the end of a pipe cleaner around each twist of cellophane. Cover the joining with tape or foil. Now twist together all five pipe cleaners, keeping the stack of patties in center of the arrangement. Stick end of pipe cleaner through the center of a 4-inch doily and cover the ends with tape. Lay your candy corsages on the napkins laid at each place setting of your table or arrange them bouquet-fashion and set up in right in a pretty bowl for the center of the table.

MEAT TERMINOLOGY
Do you know that the names of various kinds of meat come from many languages and represent different eras in history? Steak comes from the Scandinavian word steak meaning "meat on a stick" which is how the early Norsemen and some modern cooks prepare their meat. Bacon meaning "smoked pork" eventually became bacon.

GARNISHES FOR LAMB
A roast leg of lamb at the Easter dinner table just seems to denote something special. Therefore, special garnishes are expected. For variety, minted carrots act as a useful and colorful accompaniment. Pineapple chunks rolled in minced mint are delicious. Pitted black olives on carrot strips enhance any meat cut. Of course, plain mint or currant jelly is always a timely stand-by for a lamb entree.

Angel Salad with Lemonaise

An angelic salad this is truly-made of fresh fruits that are so plentiful and so deliciously ripe at this season. Here's a fruit salad that uses the best of the season's offerings. The fruits listed may be modified or changed-any combination tastes superb with a brand new kind of dressing called lemonaise. It uses RealLemon-the conveniently bottled pure lemon juice.

Chicken Cookery Spiced By Spanish Italian Barbecue Is Talk Of Capitol Hill

The Spanish are masters of chicken cookery, and here's a version using typical Spanish ingredients in a stew that is light, flavorful and depends for its distinction on dry sherry of the fino type. To vary the dish, you might try using the nutty sherry type called amontillado, although the Spanish prefer the drier type.

2 fryers, disjointed
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon freshly-ground black pepper
1 1/2 teaspoons paprika
1/4 cup olive oil
1 cup diced onions
1/2 cup dry Spanish sherry, fino or amontillado type
1 bay leaf
1 clove garlic, minced
2 potatoes, pared and cubed
1 can (No. 1) tiny peas, drained, or package frozen peas
1/4 cup sliced green olives
1/4 cup sliced pimientos
1/4 cup sliced blanched almonds
Combine the salt, pepper and paprika. Season the chickens with the mixture the day before it is used, if possible. Heat the oil in a skillet. Brown the chickens in it and then transfer to a casserole or heavy saucepan. Sauté the onions in the fat remaining in the skillet for 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Add to the chicken with the bay leaf and sherry. Cover and cook over low heat 1 hour.

Add the garlic and potatoes. Cover and cook over low heat 15 minutes. (Add a little more sherry, if necessary.) Add the peas, olives, pimientos and almonds; cook for 15 minutes additional. Correct seasoning. Serves 6. Delicious with a crisp green salad and glasses of chilled fino sherry, sherry and soda or sherry on the rocks.

Be considerate of those around you and watch what you eat before going to the movie or visiting. But if you must have these juicy bits, use garlic generously.

Italian Barbecue Is Talk Of Capitol Hill

The newest dish to be lionized in Washington these days is a fiery sensation, and a gift from the Italian Embassy.

It's been starring on the menu of the famous Mayflower Hotel all summer, and as Chef Marchitelli puts it — "the wine sauce is food for the soul, and a love for the heart."

Certainly it's an original idea for your next buffet party, outdoors or in. Serve with a tossed green salad and a glass of Italian red wine — Bardolino is the happiest choice. BARBECUE BARDOLINO (Serves Six)

California Company Working On Supersonic Travel For Civilians

Second of Four Dispatches
By GLENN STACKHOUSE

United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Down in the southwest corner of the United States, the engineers of Convair Division of General Dynamics are putting together an airplane that will soon offer the civilian the nearest thing to supersonic travel in history.

This company is one of the three titans of aviation who are pioneering the age of jet travel in a determined effort to keep America the world leader in commercial aircraft production.

The others are Boeing Airplane Co. of Seattle and Douglas Aircraft Corp. of Santa Monica, Calif.

Convair's entry in the race is the Convair 880, this country's first medium range jet airliner, which is designed to cruise at 615 m.p.h. At its cruising altitude of 40,000 feet, that's only 57 miles an hour short of the sonic barrier!

Tops Foreign Competitors

At that speed, the 880 will top the Russian Tupolev and the French Caravelle by a cool 115 m.p.h. and will be able to run away from the heavier and larger intercontinental jobs being built by America's competitors.

Its secret is its powerplants. The plane will have four General Electric CJ808-3 turbojets which are the commercial version of the engines powering Convair's B58 Hustler atomic bomber which recently attained a speed above 1,000 m.p.h.

The plane will be able to carry 88 to 109 passengers and will fly efficiently at any range from 250 to 4,000 miles, according to Convair. This means it would be well suited for such schedules as San Francisco-New York non-stop and for short flights.

The first 880s will be turned over to airline customers by September, 1960.

Elsewhere on the West Coast's booming "aviation row," Boeing is putting the finishing touches on what is a cinch to become the first American jet airliner to carry a ticket-buying customer.

Boeing Helps Military

Boeing, builder of the famous B17s and B29s and architect of today's globe-circling B52 atomic bomber, has been test-flying its 707 commercial jet for three years. The rakish jetliner could have been carrying airline colors months ago.

But the Air Force got first look at the 707 and it convinced the generals that this was the plane they needed as a flying tanker for the B52. They exercised their priority, and just one year and three days later the first production model rolled out of the factory. Except for the Air Force insignia and a tail stinger to deliver fuel, it was the same airplane as the 707.

Since then the airline brass have been jostling each other in line as they waited for production to catch up to the military orders.

Despite the "setback," Boeing is miles ahead of its competitors and the first commercial 707 is scheduled to roll out of the Renton, Wash., plant about Oct. 1 of this year.

The guaranteed delivery date after flight testing is a vague "late in 1958" but company sources say it may come by next summer or earlier.

Douglas Also Vieing

In Santa Monica, next door to Los Angeles, Douglas is moving toward its jet age with the calm, unhurried deliberation of the master craftsman. The Douglas entry is the DC8, a big, four-engine

If US Has Flu Epidemic, It Is Expected During Winter

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—If the United States has an epidemic of continental and inter-continental job which the company hopes will be the DC3 of the jet era.

This is no small ambition, even for the firm that has built more than half of the commercial transports in world service today. If the DC8 can do half as much for aviation in 1960 as the precocious DC3 did in 1934, it will be doing something.

The twin-engine DC3, termed by the Air Force "the best single airplane ever built," was the model-T of the airways. A total of 10,926 were built and at one time they carried 90 per cent of the world's airline traffic.

In the DC8, Douglas is reaching for what its executives call "a new plateau" in air transport. The DC8 cruises at 180 m.p.h. The DC8, cruising at 35,000 pounds with a payload of 4,850 miles.

Asiatic flu, Public Health Service doctors are reasonably sure it will occur, sometime between Oct. 1 and March 31.

But a spokesman said today this forecast is based entirely on historical experience, which shows that "almost all" U.S. flu epidemics hit during the fall or winter months.

Dr. William H. Stewart, assistant to the surgeon general, said medical scientists don't know why this should be the case.

The most popular theory, he said, is that "it is not the cold weather itself, but the way people act in cold weather" that triggers a flu epidemic.

"When it turns cold, we come indoors," he pointed out. "We tend to congregate more. We roll up the windows of cars and buses."

Children are close together in schools. There tends to be less ventilation in factories, offices, theaters where adults gather.

Spreads In Winter

Under these conditions, he said, the highly-contagious flu virus spreads more rapidly than it does in summer, when folks are spending a lot of time outdoors in the fresh air and sunshine.

The best evidence that a drop in temperature is not in itself the event that starts the flu virus to spread, Stewart said, is the experience of tropical countries. Plenty of flu epidemics occur in climates that remain hot year-round, and there is no tendency for them to be concentrated in a particular season of the year.

On the other hand, all countries in temperate climates have had the same experience as the United States. That is, epidemics occur mainly during the six coldest months of the year — October through March in the Northern Hemisphere, April through September in the Southern Hemisphere.

Recalls Pandemic

Stewart said medical history indicates there is a "very outside chance" of a flu epidemic in this country as early as September or as late as April. The worst onslaught in history — the so-called "great pandemic of 1918"—began in September, but no other major epidemic has ever begun so early.

Since the Asiatic flu virus is already very widely "seeded" over

UNDERGOES TREATMENT

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) of the House Committee on Un-American Activities entered Georgetown University Hospital Monday for treatment of a broken hip. Walter, who slipped on the steps of the House Office Building Friday, was reported in satisfactory condition.

Hot weather cologne can make even a sticky day pleasant if you splash it on lavishly. This girl chooses a scent called summer spice and keeps the bottle in her refrigerator for added ictness.

The basis for all beauty is, of course, good grooming. This means meticulous attention to small details: the wisps of hair at the nape of the neck, the smooth, satiny look of legs in sheer stockings, the even hemline and the correct fit of clothes. This girl uses a new electric shaver designed particularly for women (left) for her legs. It leaves the skin soft, the makers say. She also finds it handy for removing stragglers at the neckline (center), creating a neat, trim appearance. Result: an incomparably fresh and dainty look (right) which increases her own confidence in the way she appears to others.

Real Beauty Pays Attention To Details Because Little Things Make Difference

By ALICIA HART

When the same amount of care is taken with every phase of good grooming — from the bath to the final touch of perfume — the trifle which you that steps into the public eye proves the effort to be well worth while.

No woman, however lovely of face and figure, achieves the full effect of her beauty unless she knows that every detail of her appearance has been checked and approved.

New Time And Energy-Saving Devices Give Modern Matron Time For Beauty

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

It's fun to browse through the family album. And it's downright startling to learn that great-aunt Kate, the elderly lady in the photograph, was younger when it was taken than you are right now.

Household chores have been cut in half since the days of the coal stove. There's no longer the need to look toiled-in at 25, for new time and energy-saving devices leave us many more hours than great-aunt Kate had in which we can relax and preserve our good looks.

And we should be grateful in-

Manners Makes Friends

When you greet an acquaintance, call him by name. "Hello, Bill" or "Good morning, Mrs. Brown" sounds much more friendly than just "Hello" or "Good morning."

Besides, when you call a person by name he is sure that you aren't trying desperately to place him.

HDC Achievement Day Is Postponed

Mrs. James Smathers, west of city, was hostess to the Tuesday morning meeting of the Goodwill Home Demonstration Club.

It was announced that Achievement Day, which was to have been held on September 3, had been postponed until October, because of the beginning of school on that day.

Mrs. Johnny Johnson reported that the year-book committee planned to meet to start work on their books for the coming year; she, also, asked that the reporter's book be turned in by November.

All members were reminded that the Consumer Guide magazine would be in the Home Demonstration office, whenever needed.

Mrs. A. P. Coombes, president, asked that all individual achievement reports be turned in at the next meeting. She also announced that a training school will be held Sept. 16 at 2 p.m. in the Southwestern Public Service office on the topic of "Casserroles."

Miss Helen Dunlap gave a demonstration on the shrinking of cotton material and how to fold the material, while still wet to keep it straight and without wrinkles. She then demonstrated how to place a pattern on material and to cut it.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Hobbs, Ballinger Battle For Lead

By UNITED PRESS
Hobbs and Ballinger square off tonight for the Southwestern League lead.
The Sports held their slim one-game lead Wednesday night with a 3-2 victory over Carlsbad, while Ballinger kept pace by knocking off Lamesa 9-2.
Ballinger, at Hobbs tonight, can gain a tie with a win. Lamesa is at Carlsbad.
Ray Patterson poled a two-run homer in the seventh to shoot Carlsbad into the lead over Hobbs, but two unearned runs in the ninth gave the Sports their victory. John Young's single brought home the winner.

Yanks Clip White Sox 5-4 In 2nd Straight Game

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer
Casey Stengel's two famous trademarks — the wink and the impish grin — finally were back in place today as he befitted a chipper skipper who knows he has just about wrapped up his eighth pennant in nine tries.
The Yankees restored that long-absent Stengel grin Wednesday night when they widened their American League lead to a full-blown 5½ games by knocking over the ambitious Chicago White Sox for the second straight night, 5-4.

Don Larsen was the winner, but the hero was reliever Bob Turley, who was summoned from the bullpen for the second successive night and nailed down the Yankee triumph. Turley first got Larsen out of a jam in the sixth inning, then worked himself out of a bases-loaded situation in the seventh after yielding a two-run homer to Earl Torgeson.
Hank Bauer hammered his 15th homer of the year in the seventh off loser Billy Pierce.
Orioles On Rampage
The Baltimore Orioles staged the biggest offensive in their history to maul the Cleveland Indians, 19-6, while Washington defeated Kansas City, 3-2, and Boston beat Detroit, 1-0, on Ted Williams' 33rd homer of the season.
In the National League, the Dodgers took over second place with a 14-inning, 4-3 triumph over the Cubs; the Giants crushed the Braves, 12-4, slicing their lead to seven games; Cincinnati climbed back into the first division with a 6-5 win over Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh blanked St. Louis, 2-0. Yanks, White Sox Bid For Aging Pitcher, Sal Maglie
By GENE BLUDEAU
United Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (UP) — The league-leading New York Yankees and the frantic Chicago White Sox started a bidding contest today for aging pitcher Sal Maglie of Brooklyn and Virgil Trucks of Kansas City as both clubs headed into the pennant stretch drive.
The Yankees, recovering from recent jitters after a late season slump, and the White Sox, within reaching distance of the flag, are both in need of mound help. Maglie is 6-6 and Trucks 8-5 thus far.
Charles Comiskey, youthful vice president of the Chicago club, brought the bargaining contest out of the realm of rumor when he said he was "interested" in obtaining the 40-year-old Maglie.

Comiskey said he talked to Buzz Bavasi, Brooklyn vice president, about Maglie and that the Dodger executive promised a reply by today or Friday. Comiskey didn't say how much he was prepared to pay, but it was learned authoritatively that Bavasi, after obtaining waivers on Maglie, was asking $75,000.
Comiskey, in a now-or-never mood to overtake the perennial American League champions, said that he was aware the Yanks are also after Maglie and perhaps Trucks.
"I'm prepared to go as high or higher than they will," he said.
Comiskey said he also had made a "substantial offer" for Trucks after the 38-year-old fireballer was cleared on waivers.

IBC Threatens To Call Off Robinson Bout

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP) — In a surprise switch, the International Boxing Club today threatened to call off the Ray Robinson-Carmen Basilio fight, but Sugar Ray — who called it off last week — said, "I'm definitely going through with the fight."
The IBC threat was made because of a new demand for $300,000 for theater-television by a Robinson representative, who disrupted the nine-day settlement negotiations.
Attorney Sidney O. Friedman for the IBC said he would appear at today's meeting of the N.Y. State Athletic Commission and ask for "proper action." He said, "If Robinson confirms the $300,000 demand, there may be no fight."
Last Monday, the commission ordered Sugar Ray to go through with his scheduled title defense against Basilio at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 23, or risk losing his middleweight crown by forfeit.
At that time Robinson said he would fight if there was no television, but "I'll walk out of the ring if I see a theater-TV camera." However, the commission said his contracts called for a closed-circuit presentation by Theater Network Television, Inc.
The champion objected to TNT televising the fight because it offered no cash guarantee — just a guarantee that 400,000 seats would be available; whereas another organization, the Teleprompter Corp. had offered him a $250,000 guarantee.
even at 380 and Mantle dropped two points to 373.

Perryton Rangers Face 1957 Season With Untried Squad

(Editors Note: This is the second in a series of articles giving information and prospects on all teams.)

By CHARLES CULLIN
Pampa News Sports Editor
The Perryton Rangers, 1956 district 3-AA Champions, begin the new season against Canadian Sept. 13 with a team that suffered heavily from graduation last year.

Coach James Peterson lost 20 men off the squad he took to an easy district win last year, literally shattering all his opponents. His record for 1956 was seven wins against four losses, with victories including such wide margins as 55-14 over Quanah, 52-6 over Childress, 45-6 over Wellington and 38-6 over Shamrock.

Returning from last year's squad are only nine lettermen, with one of these being among the 1956 starters.

Things aren't altogether bleak, however, as many of the boys in a line up have had experience with the "B" team and are showing appreciable progress and talent.

Boistering the line for this year's squad will be Howard Swink, a 180-pound starter from last season, running right end offensively and left end defensively. At left end on offense will be Thomas Carter at 145 pounds, and Don Tillerson at left guard, weighing 160 pounds. The remainder of the line has not been definitely decided upon. Sparking the backfield will be Dell Ray Mounts, at 147 pounds, running quarterback.

Looking forward to the 1957 season, coach Peterson stated only that he expected a "pretty good" season, and said he could hardly expect to retain the district crown.

Commenting on the team, Peterson added that they were short on depth, had average speed but will suffer some from lack of experience. He said, in mentioning

Martinez Rises In Win Over Gomes

BOSTON (UP)—Agile Isidro Martinez of Panama looked forward to a ranking among world featherweights today after slaying his way to a unanimous 10-round decision over Harold Gomes of Providence, R.I.

The dancing Panamanian champion, who weighed in at 129½, snapped a 12-bout victory streak for Gomes Wednesday night at Boston Arena in a nationally-televised bout.

The unranked Gomes put up a good scrap but suffered cuts over both eyes and went down for a mandatory eight-count in the final round.

Referee Joe Sapustas scored the fight 99-89 while judge Joe Blum-sack had it 97-91 and judge Jim Shaughnessy scored it 97-93. The United Press card gave Martinez a 98-91 margin.

Haney Takes Blame For Brave Loss

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—Manager Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves beat his second-guessers to the punch by taking the blame for Wednesday's 12-6 debacle with the New York Giants.

"It was my mistake all right," Haney said. "I had a tiger by the tail and couldn't let go."
Haney's "tiger" was a decision to pinch hit for pitcher Gene Conley leading off the fourth inning and have Bob Trowbridge pitch the remainder of the game. Haney made up his mind after the Giants went ahead, 4-2, in the bottom of the third inning and had two out with the bottom of the batting order coming up.

The flaw in the strategy was that Conley never did get the third out. Whitey Lockman was purposely walked, Valmy Thomas hit a three-run double and Curt Barclay and Danny O'Connell singled to make it a six-run inning and then Don Mueller singled home two more when Trowbridge finally made his appearance.

The Pampa Daily News One of Texas' Five Most Consistent Newspapers We endeavor to be consistent with truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Consent Of Governed

Our founding fathers, 181 years ago, served us well. At that time, on July 4th, they provided us with a document called the "Declaration of Independence."

There is one sentence in the Declaration which ought to hold our undivided attention for at least the length of time it takes to read this item.

It is the last five words which at the moment are deserving of most profound study and gratitude.

Here is no effort to establish a might-makes-right type of rule. Here is, rather, a basic admission that men are good and that because of men's basic goodness, it is entirely practical to trust each man to consent individually to a government which meets his own requirements.

This is the reason why the American Revolution is so great. In a very true sense, the American Revolution was the only true revolution ever fought at any time in the history of the world.

Please note the chronology of events. When did the American Revolution begin? You do not know? Do not blame yourself.

So, when did the American revolution begin? It began in the hearts of free men at no specified date in history. It began voluntarily, not by reason of political ambition.

BETTER JOBS

Source Of Rights In the last issue I was quoting from an article written by Frank Chodorov in the "Dawn" magazine explaining the source of rights and, of course, rights are individual.

The last article closed with this paragraph: "The senselessness of the socialistic axiom is shown by the fact that there would be no society, and therefore no government if there were no individuals."

Then Chodorov explains how the individual got his individual rights in this manner: "Desire to live" "In the first place, he tells us that above all things he wants to live. He tells us this even when he first comes into the world and lets out a yell.

"But, while just wanting to live gives the individual a title to life, it is an empty title unless he can acquire the things that make life liveable, beginning with food, raiment, and shelter.

While it doesn't sound very "The Nations Press" GENERATION OF PRIVILEGE (The Wall Street Journal)

Senator McClellan, chairman of the labor investigating committee, has come to the conclusion that we need some tough, new labor laws.

What is significant, we think, are the signs that a large number of Congressmen have begun to look for the reasons why this labor situation has come to its present pass.

For more than a generation we have had a situation where a local police chief who tried to prevent violence on a picket line would be castigated as a strike breaker; in practice many local police have found themselves powerless to do anything.

On the national level it was part of the creed that the directors of, say, a steel union would be permitted to do what would not be tolerated if done by the directors of the steel companies.

Actually, the real enemies of labor are those who have fostered these privileged legal status for unions, for the extortion, the embezzlement and the arrogance

People In Glass Housing Projects

Hankering

I suppose I am a bit of a sissy to be so alarmed by Grimsel's Pass. Hundreds of cars and buses cross it each day, and this is the time of year when it is said to be at its most negotiable.

Granted that I never have made the list of the World's Ten Brave Men, but I still don't see how crossing Grimsel could fail to be scary, and keep a man's heart about a foot higher than the spot it usually occupies.

It's as crooked as a snake with cramps, appears to go straight up in the air, affords passing cars a hairbreadth of tolerance, and when your vehicle is on the outside edge (and it seems as if it always is) there are straight down drops that a rubber ball couldn't survive.

The Swiss bus drivers are hand-picked for skill, I understand, and have a fabulous reputation for safety, but even so they still are too nonchalant to suit me. I would prefer them to look scared to death, and drive as if they were.

Instead of getting out and looking around the corners, the drivers of cars and buses depend on their horns to warn of their approach. And don't try to tell me

Fright Wig, Switzerland: It Isn't On The Map

Swiss I am sure that Fright Wig is a happy choice of a name for this spot, and so would you if you could see my hair at the moment, as well as that of some of my fellow bus companions.

It is standing straight up like the quills of an angered porcupine getting ready to run away, and I would be the last one to blame it if it did. For we are only half-way over this Alp, and still have the descent to make.

This marks my first trip over a Swiss Alpine pass, and I will remember it as long as I live, which might not be very long. I have just taken a look at the road down, and it looks like a roller coaster which had wandered away which have now made a national scandal are rooted in this generation of privilege. The true danger to the labor union movement is that it may successfully retain the privileged status until the scandals grow so great that the public revolts and turns to purely punitive legislation.

The best cure for anything is to eliminate the cause. In this case that means returning labor unions to the rules of law which govern other groups in society, including the Federal laws against trusts and monopolies and the local laws against violence.

That endeavor should not brand lawmakers as enemies of labor. On the contrary, it is a remedy that ought to appeal to the true friends of labor.

Congress Accomplishes Little During Session

WASHINGTON — The current session of Congress will recess without even discussing the two most important and threatening problems confronting the nation today.

The two entirely neglected questions of great national concern are juvenile delinquency and increased economic support and security for the rapidly aging population—that is, the men and women over 65.

However, it is known that both these problems will be presented to the session which opens next January. Seeking a popular issue for the 1958 and 1960 elections, when a new Congress and President will be chosen respectively, Democratic "liberals" will make a bid for the youth and old folks vote, which far exceeds the racial bloc of 15,000,000.

That there are no dead people in Switzerland, or that every tourist with an automobile has 20-20 hearing. Some drivers might even be wearing ear muffs, for it is cold up here on the summit. This is where glaciers hang out, frozen rivers hobnob, and peaks glare at one another with icy stares.

I hear our driver blowing his horn to assemble his passengers, so I must go. I hope I'll be more manly going down than I was coming up, but I wouldn't bet on it.

The American Way

THE GREATEST BLESSING By George Peck

A reader has written me inquiring as to just what do we mean by "The American Way," which banner is carried at the top of my weekly column and the columns of my associates, Willis E. Stone, John T. Flynn, Maurice R. Franks, Dr. Alfred P. Hanks and M. V. Eggleston, and at the top of the cartoons drawn by Tom Kay.

It's a good question one that each of us has attempted to answer from time to time over the years that our columns have been released to newspapers throughout the United States. But, perhaps the best answer was given by the late DeWitt Emery (deceased 1955), who for many years before his death, wrote a column under the heading "The American Way."

DeWitt Emery was president of the National Small Business Men's Association, which organization he founded, until his untimely passing in August of 1955. He was nationally recognized as the voice of small business in its struggle for existence during the depression years of the 1930's and during World War II. For the benefit of Canadians who may read this column, the word "Canadian" could well be substituted for the word "American," in Emery's short, simple but lucid essay on the American Way of Life, which was carried in his column release of September 19, 1945, and which read as follows:

"Our American Way of Life is made up of many things—bath tubs and automobiles; big cities and small towns; farms and victory gardens; mammoth steel mills and village machine shops; colossal educational institutions and the little red school house beside the road; churches and hospitals; railroads and air lines; chewing gum and ice cream; department stores and crossroad general stores; specialty shops and beauty parlors; pool rooms and race tracks; Hollywood, Broadway and the High School play; laughter and sorrow; eagerness and despair; and people—millions of all kinds of people—gathered together from the four corners of the earth, drawn by the magnet of Freedom, Opportunity and Justice.

Also new at Screen Gems: A comedy suspense series supervised by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse, a new children's program being kept under wraps and a series of original modern melodramas based on the Ten Commandments.

On the planning boards for January, 1958, are "The Man From Texas," based on the life of Sam Houston; "Forever Eva," starring Eva Bartok; "Daniel Boone," "Stagecoach," "Cheers for Miss Amy" and, already in production in England, "Ivanhoe," starring Roger Moore, Robert Brown and John Pike.

These and shows already on the air have increased Screen Gems' offices at Columbia from 2 to 330. The writing staff averages 35-42 a week.

RETURNING TO home screens this fall are such Screen Gems' programs as Robert Young's "Father Knows Best," "The Adventures of Rin Tin Tin," "Tales of the Texas Rangers," "Circus Boy," five more of the filmed Playhouse 90 shows (Screen Gems filmed eight last season) and reruns of the popular Ford Theater under the title of "Your All-Star Theater."

The George Sanders Mystery Theater and "The Web," which started on home screens early this summer, also are filmed by Screen Gems, which has added 26 new "Wild Bill Hickok" stanzas to its product.

For the big TV syndication market, Screen Gems distributes "Ranch Party," "Johnny Night-hawk," starring Scott Brady; "Casey Jones," with Alan Hale; and "Captain Midnight," "Jet Jackson, Flying Commando," "Jungle Jim," "The 7th Bengal Lancers," the "Patti Page Show" and "The Big Playback."

Actually, Screen Gems wasn't organized for TV. The 20-year-old company was formed to produce animated cartoons and has been owned by Columbia since the mid-30's. Filming of Ford Theater in 1952 put Screen Gems into full-scale telefilm making.
