'Summit' Meet Is Talked

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower brought in the top NATO military commander today for a discussion expected to cover reported plans for a "Summit" NATO conference to deal with Russia's military and scientific threat.

Eisenhower scheduled the White House meeting with Gen. Lauris Norstad, commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Forces, at a time when drastic new programs were afoot or in prospect to meet the challenge of rocketing Russian science.

The United States entered the fourth full week of the new space age with new moves expected to ward greater U.S. efforts in basic research, which underlines all major breakthroughs in military, science. The President was reported today to favor more government spending on basic research.

May Hold NATO Talks
An official announcement also was expected this week that Eisenhower will attend a "summit" meeting of heads of the NATO alliance in Paris in mid-December. The aim of the meeting would be to strengthen allied unity and set in motion new ways for Western scientific and weapons pooling.

The Air Force said Sunday night it has successfully tested a new long-range guided missile, the "Rascal." The missile is carried by bombers for strikes at targets miles away.

And Vice Adm. Thomas S. Combs, deputy chief of Naval operations, said the Navy soon will be able to launch its Polaris intermediate range ballistic missile from submarines far below the surface of the sea.

May Step Up Program
Defense Secretary McElroy has hinted he would take measures shortly to speed up the entire military research program, including missiles.

Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary-general of NATO who suggested the summit conference to Eisenhower last week, said Sunday an exchange of scientific information was vital to the security of the free world.

As indications pointed to greater U.S. effort in the new weapons field, there were these other developments:
—Britain's Defense Ministry indicated that Britain will hold further hydrogen bomb tests in the Pacific this year. The tests will feature high-altitude experiments.

Police Probe Car Sideswiping

Local officers this morning were attempting to locate the person responsible for the latest in the recent rash of cars being sideswiped.

Jim Conner, chief of police, said this morning that Rex Green, 315 N. Gray, reported shortly after 10 a. m., yesterday that his car, which was parked in front of his house Saturday night, was sideswiped between 9 p. m. Saturday and 10 a. m. Sunday.

Two other cars being struck in the same manner were reported Saturday by Tom Teague, 458 Pitts, and Ralph West, 624 N. Frost.

Syria And Russia Sign 'Economic Agreement'

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Syria and Russia sign an economic agreement today in Damascus that will tie Syria firmly to the economy of the Soviet Union. This is in addition to vast military aid.

The agreement, including a Soviet loan estimated at 100 million dollars, firmly entrenches Russia in Syria as a builder of dams, railroads and deep water port at Latakia capable of handling major vessels.

Premier Sabri Assal in announcing today's signing warned that Syria will not be affected by threats or pressures from the West and that "it's high time imperialism reconsidered their policy toward Syria after their failure to make Syria deviate from her sovereign policy."

The trade pact took on unusual significance because of the joint Soviet and Syrian charges against the United States and Turkey and their insistence that Turkey with U.S. backing planned to attack Syria.

May Air Charges Today
Both Syria and Russia were expected to air the charges further in the United Nations today with answers to Henry Cabot Lodge's blistering attack on Russia last Friday.

There were new Syrian charges against Turkey over the weekend. A foreign ministry spokesman said 100,000 Turkish troops were poised to strike against Syria and that border violations were a daily occurrence.

Rogers Comments On Little Rock Situation

By JOEL R. COMBS
Pampa News Managing Editor
(Second of a series)
Congressman Walter Rogers, who says he "totally disagreed with President Eisenhower sending federal troops into Little Rock," nevertheless believes there may have been some good result from the situation.

ROGERS SAID Little Rock's "occupation" may have served a good purpose in coming head on at that point. "For one thing, there was no bloodshed in Little Rock... and there may have been in other Southern cities."

Although the paratroopers sent into Arkansas by the President used force in many instances in breaking up "mobs" and dispersing agitators, there were no reported instances of actual bloodshed outside of the one incident widely publicized when a trooper bayoneted a man in the arm when he tried to grab his (the paratrooper's) rifle.

ANOTHER GOOD purpose which the tense situation may have served, Rogers said, was to "point up the dangers of a centralized government to the public."

"People are seeing it," Rogers said, "and they must. Maybe this will awaken some of them (the public) and cause everyone to stop and realize that matters must be worked out."

THE CONGRESSMAN and some of his fellow lawmakers had lunch with Arkansas Governor Orval Faubus recently and Rogers says, "Faubus is convinced he is doing the right thing and the President is apparently convinced he is, also."

WAR scares continue to mount in the Mideast with Syria and Russia accusing the United States of inspiring Turkey to attack Syria. Russia claimed last week that "immediately after" yesterday's elections in Turkey that nation would attack Syria, in yesterday's election, the ruling Democratic party in Turkey was returned to power. Meanwhile, Syria and Russia sign an economic agreement today that will tie Syria firmly to the economy of the Soviet Union in addition to receiving vast military aid from the Reds.

Congressman Rogers said that, in order to keep fears of war high (a condition under which Soviet agents work best), "Russia is using the Mideast countries against each other to keep the agitation going."

"THIS CONSTANT agitation in the area puts Russia in a position in which it can inject 'hotheads' (or agitators) into countries which have anti-American feelings and thus widen the breach between the US and those countries."

"If it were not for this, I do not believe Russia would be 'in' so well in the Mideast. Actually, the religious beliefs of the Arabs are in direct conflict with the precepts of Communism," Rogers concluded.

Results of the election showed the Democrats won 298 of the 610 seats in parliament — 65 per cent. The Republican People's Party got 204. The Republican National Party and the Freedom Party each won four.

Parliament was expected to reelect Celal Bayar as president for the next four years and Bayar was expected to re-appoint Menderes as premier.

Menderes is a staunch anti-Communist and a strong supporter of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, of which Turkey is a member.

Russia has charged that Turkey planned its alleged attack on Syria. (See SYRIA, Page 3)

Compromise Water Program Approved

By O. B. LLOYD JR.
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN (UP)—A House committee today approved a compromise version of Gov. Price Daniel's state-wide water planning program, sending the proposal to the House floor for action expected this week.

The water bill, sponsored by Rep. W. N. Woolsey of Corpus Christi, received approval of the 21-member Conservation and Reclamation Committee at a morning meeting. Rep. Paul Pressler of Houston voted against the measure, and Reps. W. A. Stroman of San Angelo and W. E. Shaw of Fortney voted present.

Woolsey's bill was approved with minor amendments, after the committee rejected two amendments proposed by Pressler aimed at limiting the effect to be given by the state planning division to master plans developed by river authorities.

Shaw Motion Defeated
Pressler said his amendments were recommended by the Houston Chamber of Commerce. One would have deleted a provision that the proposed state planning division "give full effect" to any master plan developed by river authorities, and merely state that the planning division "consider" such plans.

The committee, headed by Rep. LeRoy Saul of Kress, rejected a motion by Shaw seeking to send the bill back to sub-committee for further study. Shaw served on a five-member sub-committee which drafted the compromise bill.

The water bill would set up a planning division in the State Board of Water Engineers and transfer funds totaling $927,000 to put the state-wide plan in motion.

Woolsey agreed to check with the attorney general's office and the legislative council on an informal basis on the measure prior to seeking House floor action on the bill.

Four Fire Calls Are Reported
Four alarms were received by the fire department yesterday and early this morning.

Firemen said that the first alarm yesterday was a "smoke scare" which resulted when the heating unit at the Citizens Bank and Trust Co. started blowing smoke at about 1:30 p. m. No damage resulted to the building or the heating unit, the firemen stated.

A wall heater on fire in a house in the 100 block of Price road at 3:20 p. m. yesterday resulted in heavy damage to the interior of the house, firemen making the run said. The house is owned by Walt Chiswood.

Guy Mollet Is Given Chance For Approval

By GEORGE SIBERA
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP)—Socialist Leader Guy Mollet, 51, was given a slightly better than even chance today of winning parliamentary approval as premier and ending the 28-day-old political crisis.

His chances of success took an upward swing when the bloc of 108 independent members of the National Assembly decided not to oppose him in the voting. That meant his own small band of followers could win more than 50 per cent of the vote.

The chamber of Deputies called the important session for today. The vote was expected to be delayed since Mollet planned to make a 40-minute speech outlining his policies and the political parties usually call meetings afterward to discuss such a speech.

Mollet's chances were bolstered by the fact the country urgently needs a new government. The economic plight worsens daily, there is widespread labor unrest, prices are shooting up and the Algerian war wages without letup.

France moved Sunday to bolster its finances by imposing a 20 per cent tax on all imported raw materials and giving a 20 per cent subsidy to all exports. The action was taken earlier by the lameduck government of Premier Maurice Bourges-Maunoury before it fell from power Sept. 30.

Mollet brought together a men from nine center and leftwing parties for a coalition that could at best be shaky. Most of the top figures went to Socialists, but Catholic Liberal Republican Leader Robert Schuman was named vice premier.

Senate Resumes Labor Policy Study

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Rackets Committee resumed its study of Sears Roebuck & Company's labor relations policies today by calling for more testimony on improper activities among the proper Bostonians.

Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said the committee would hear testimony today on company efforts to resist the unionization of its installations in Boston. The committee began its study of Sears last Friday.

At 3:55 this morning a trash fire in the 100 block of W. Tyng woke the firemen up in time to receive an alarm at 3:59 a. m. of a garage fire approximately 3 1/2 miles west of town. No damage resulted from the trash fire.

The firemen stated that the garage fire resulted in the loss of the garage and a 1955 Oldsmobile, which was inside the garage. The cause of the fire was not known this morning. The car and garage were the property of A. N. Rogers.

Tickets On Sale For Testimonial

Tickets for the Testimonial Dinner for Pampa High School band members and their director are now on sale in the Pampa Chamber of Commerce office.

Anyone who wishes to buy a ticket may contact the office before Nov. 8 which is the deadline for purchases.

All members of the Harvesters Band, their director and all band directors in Pampa will be honored guests.

An outstanding program has been planned with Jerry Newman, band director of West Texas State College in charge of the presentation, according to CoC officials.

No Announcement Yet On Zhukov

Sub Travels Under Ice Pack 5 Days

By DANIEL F. GILMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON (UP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev was emerging today as undisputed master of the Soviet Union regardless of the future of Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov.

There still was no official announcement from Moscow on the future of Zhukov who resigned his post as minister of defense. But the feeling was growing he had been downgraded.

Communist newspapers which praised Zhukov Saturday and predicted great things for him did an abrupt about face today and said the possibility of a major promotion appears to be totally discarded.

The well-informed West German (non-Communist) newspaper B. Z. (initials) said flatly Zhukov had been fired because he warned Khrushchev against his anti-American policy. It said a number of Zhukov's close army friends also were fired.

Pravda Silent
Despite Moscow's silence—the Communist organ Pravda failed even to mention Zhukov today—diplomatic sources in London believed Khrushchev was finally on top almost on the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

The well-informed Times of London summed up the situation in an editorial today when it said:
"In whatever post (if any) Marshal Zhukov finds himself it seems clear it is with Khrushchev alone that power at the present resides."

The Manchester Guardian's Soviet expert Victor Zorza pointed out that if Marshal Zhukov became premier or even president, "the separation of Zhukov from the armed forces which such a 'promotion' would imply would deprive him of his hold on one of the most effective levers of power. A Soviet expert in Washington said:
"Look at it this way. The Soviet people are suddenly told their respected hero is out of a job. No other job is mentioned for him. It's bound to look worse as time passes and he isn't given a new post."

"The Kremlin leaders may be feeling their way to see if popular sentiment will permit downgrading Zhukov."

Informed sources in Moscow said it would be extremely difficult to hold a meeting of the 132-man Central Committee of the Communist Party on such short notice and that it was more likely the case would be brought up in the 15-man party Presidium of which Zhukov is a member. All the members are believed to be in Moscow now.

Interest instead centered on the forthcoming massive celebrations for the 40th anniversary of the October revolution Nov. 7, and the meeting the day before of the Supreme (parliament) of the Soviet Union.

Nearly 400 Americans Die Of Flu

By UNITED PRESS
Nearly 400 Americans have died of Asian flu and its complications, including an 18th victim at the Pennhurst School for Mentally Retarded Children near Philadelphia, a count showed today.

New York State reported 125 flu-caused deaths and Pennsylvania 70 to account for nearly half of the total across the country.

Elsewhere, Michigan had 22 deaths, California 31, Louisiana 21, Illinois 20, Ohio 14, Iowa 13, Utah and Wisconsin 11 each, Colorado 10, Hawaii 9, Kentucky 8, Connecticut 5, Indiana 4, New Jersey 3, and Arizona, Maine, Minnesota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Washington and the District of Columbia 1 each.

The nation's deadliest flu epidemic, at the Pennhurst school, claimed two more lives during the weekend to boost the toll there to 18. The latest victims were an 11-year-old boy and a 21 year old youth.

Sub Travels Under Ice Pack 5 Days

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The atomic-powered submarine Nautilus recently traveled more than 1,000 miles under the Arctic ice pack in five and one-half days in an eerie underwater cruise to obtain scientific data.

Navy Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr. disclosed the cruise Sunday on his arrival on the West Coast to speak to Republican money-raising groups. He speaks tonight in San Jose and Tuesday night in Oakland.

"The Nautilus has scored another first," Gates said.

"Just recently, she has completed an Arctic cruise to enable scientific and operational personnel to obtain data on under-ice conditions, oceanographic studies of currents and cold weather operations of equipment and machinery.

"The Nautilus spent a total of five and one-half days under the Arctic ice pack, traveling over a thousand miles while gathering these scientific data."

Gates said the sub entered the Arctic from the Atlantic Ocean, but gave no further details.

Gates said the Nautilus' feat in the Arctic shows that the submarine will displace the depth charge as the anti-submarine weapon.

Hereford Breeders Plan Show

The Top o' Texas Hereford Breeders Association directors held an official session Saturday in the Chamber of Commerce office and completed preliminary work on the spring show and sale set for March 4-6, according to Clyde Carruth, president of the association.

January 5 was set for the deadline of official entries in the 1958 show which will be held at Recreation Park.

A catalogue committee was selected by Carruth to edit a new catalogue for the publishing of a catalogue concerning the show. Ralph Thomas was selected chairman, with Wayne Maddox, Miami, and Jake Hess, McLean, assisting.

All members of the association were urged to get their advertising copy to one of the committee members before the Jan. 15 deadline. Judges for the show and sale were selected at the meeting Saturday but official acceptance must be acknowledged before they are announced.

The North Plains and Greenbelt Hereford Associations were invited to the Top o' Texas Show to participate jointly in the event since neither of the associations plan to hold a 1958 show and sale.

Present officers of the Association are Andis, president; John Pitts, vice president; Jake Osborn, vice president; Otto Mangold, treasurer, and E. O. "Red" Wedgeworth, secretary.

Following election of new officers, a working committee will be selected to handle the many details of the 1958 Top o' Texas Rodeo which will be held Aug. 4-9.

Democratic Party Returns To Power In Turkey Today

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UP)—Turkish voters returned Premier Adnan Menderes' ruling Democratic party to power today but sharply slashed its majority in parliament.

The Socialist-minded Republican People's Party cried foul and declared itself "moral victor."

But a government spokesman said it was a triumphant vindication of Menderes' pro-Western policies abroad and private enterprise system of government at home.

There were no signs in Turkey of an impending attack on Syria which the Soviet Union had said would come "immediately after" Sunday's election.

'RSV' Version Of The Bible Hasn't Replaced King James

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—When the Revised Standard Version of the Bible was published five years ago, there was widespread expectation that it would supplant the King James Version as the basic Bible of American Protestants.

The "RSV" has been a phenomenal success. More than five million copies have been sold, and it is still on the best-seller lists. Scholars have acclaimed it. Tests have shown it easier to read and understand. On its fifth anniversary, the RSV is already firmly established as the best of all modern translations, an invaluable aid to any serious student of the Scriptures.

But it has NOT taken the place of the 346-year-old King James Bible. And it begins to seem doubtful that it will ever do so.

The King James Version still outsells the RSV by a ratio of about 8 to 1. And the RSV share of total Bible sales has shown a tendency to decline rather than increase in the past two years.

Current sales figures are not, of course, conclusive. The National Council of Churches, sponsor of the RSV, recognized from the start that it would take a long time for any new translation to rival the long-loved King James in popular acceptance.

Clergy, Scholars First
It assumed that the swing to the RSV would begin with clergymen and other Bible scholars qualified to compare the two translations, and that the Bible-buying public would eventually follow suit.

This assumption recently received a rude jolt in the form of a survey conducted by the Living Church, weekly Protestant Episcopal magazine.

The magazine polled more than 400 Episcopal clergymen whose names were taken at random from a denominational roster. It asked them which version or versions of the Bible they customarily used for public worship, for private reading, for sermon texts, for serious study of scriptural passages.

The responses showed that the RSV was very highly regarded as a reference, and that it surpassed all other modern translations combined in favor as a "second Bible."

But it was also clear, the Living Church reported, that "the RSV is not by any means taking the place of the King James," even in a denomination which has been notably sympathetic to the new translation.

For example, 262 clergymen said they "always" read from the King James Version at public worship, compared to only 32 who regularly use the RSV as a pulpit Bible. The rest use both versions for worship, but the vast majority—109—"usually" choose the King James.

Lopsided Favorite
The old translation was similarly a lopsided favorite for private devotional reading, for sermon quotations and texts.

The one question on which the RSV won a majority was: "What version do you use for serious study of Holy Scripture?" The responses indicated that the average clergyman often consults several translations, including the original Greek, in serious Bible study; but if only one Bible is used, it is more likely to be the RSV than the King James.

The magazine said the reasons given by a majority of Episcopal ministers for their choice of Bibles were well summarized in these two replies:

"I trust the scholarship of the RSV, and therefore I rely quite heavily on it for accurate translation. However, as sacred scripture for the use of the people, the RSV loses much that only the King James Version has—the dignity and beauty of great prose; familiarity and the warmth which that familiarity can give; the tremendous wealth of biblical reference, allusion and quotation which pervades the English language, all of which comes from the King James."

"Unless the meaning of a particular scriptural passage is actually obscured in the King James Version, I use it because its beautiful language still has hallowed associations for this generation of Christians, which are not to be taken lightly."

WASHINGTON (UP)—The nation's realtors have concluded that lending institutions are "hesitating" to make many home loans under liberalized FHA down payment requirements.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards said it arrived at the finding after a nationwide poll of its members in September.

The association said "an appreciable number of reports spoke of the loan-price ratio and the reluctance of lenders to make or purchase FHA low-equity mortgages."

Administration Bolsters
The administration recently shaved down payments on government-backed FHA loans almost in half in an effort to bolster the sagging home building industry.

The National Association of Home Builders, representing the nation's housing constructors, hailed the move, but warned it would work only if lenders loosened up on mortgage money.

Along with the easing on down payments, the FHA also hiked the interest rate on the mortgages it guarantees to 5 1/4 per cent and applied regional discount controls.

After its survey of member boards in 285 cities, the realtors claimed that an improvement in availability in mortgage money that seemed "imminent" earlier in the year "did not materialize."

By autumn in some areas mortgage money was even tighter.

Mortgage Money 'Tight'
Last month, mortgage money was reported "tight" for new homes in 46 per cent of the communities surveyed. Loans for existing homes grew harder to get by September, according to the realtors, with 58 per cent reporting money tight by September.

Here is the way mortgage money looked to the real estate men by districts:

NORTHEAST—Lenders exercising "selectivity" based on the earning power of the prospective buyer.

SOUTH—"Very few, if any" lenders interested in loans at the new, low FHA rate with most requiring 10 per cent down.

NORTH CENTRAL—Lenders bucking the low down payments and asking from 20 to 25 per cent of the value of the home.

WEST—"FHA loans very selective and dependent" in most cases upon 10 to 20 per cent down and 15 to 20-year terms."

MORE BOUNCE TO OUNCE—Five years of research went into this "free fall container" for rescue use. The container has withstood impacts of airplane drops from 2,000 feet. The flap-like outer rim reduces velocity. L. V. Cooper, left, volunteered to work on the container for the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, because his son, Thomas, right, almost died of thirst on Corregidor in World War II. Container holds five gallons of liquid and is made of solid rubber. It's called the "flying saucer," naturally.

Pomade Makes Soft Base For Lipstick, Lips Look Smooth, Velvety For Hours

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor One way to insure that your lipstick will look smooth and velvety for hours is to apply it over a lip pomade. Many women would never dream of using a lipstick without smoothing on a lip pomade first to act as a base. There are good reasons for this. In cold weather, it protects the lips and keeps them from drying, cracking or chapping. But because it is smooth and creamy, it also makes the lipstick easier to handle. It banishes that taut feeling and helps to create a natural look. In using it, smooth it on first, follow with lipstick, then let both set for 10 or 15 minutes. Blot thoroughly with a cleansing tissue and your lipstick is good for at least four hours. Neglected hands can make a woman look far older than she really is. It's startling to see a woman with a smooth, young face and grayish, cracked hands with broken nails. But it's a not uncommon combination. It comes from the fact that a woman plunges her hands in and out of hot water all day long, doing dishes, washing clothes, cleaning. Even the career girl who keeps her own apartment neat and rinses out her personal laundry will find her hands becoming dry and flaky. There's only one remedy: con-

Christmas Motifs Discussed At Club Mature Parents

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE It was Paul's parents sixth wedding anniversary. To celebrate, they'd made a hotel reservation for dinner and dancing. Paul's grandma had arrived to baby sit. But when his mother came to kiss him goodby, he became obstructive. His bedclothes had got untucked. His toy shelf was improperly arranged. He thought he was getting a stomach-ache. Finally, when his father came upstairs to protest, he flung his arms around his mother — and burst into jealous, angry tears. His mother said, "I can't leave him feeling like this! How can I go out and enjoy myself knowing he's so upset?" In the end his father canceled the hotel reservations. But 4-year-old Paul's victory didn't make him nearly so happy as you'd imagine. So long as he'd been fighting his father's claims on his mother, he'd felt fine. But having won first consideration from her, he didn't know what to do with it. Without knowing what bothered him, he began to feel panic at the obligation he'd incurred by getting his own way. So instead of going to sleep peacefully with his victory over his father, it kept him awake until 10 o'clock. His mother's efforts to reassure him just scared him more by piling more obligation on him. Through little ones compete with their fathers for first place in our affection, they do not want to win these competitions. Allowed to, they sense they've bitten off more than their childish teeth can chew. So in these false situations, we're wise to stand aside when their fathers restore reality by saying: "Look here, your mommy was my wife before you were born and will be my wife long after you've found one of your own. You go to sleep now as if you were happy you got a mother and dad that like being alone together instead of fussing like this." Allowed to win these father-son competitions, little sons become too attached to us, not because they love us but because we've crushed them with man-size obligation.

"Practical - About - Fashions" Americans Will Appreciate Value In Fall Gloves

By GAILE DUGAS NEA Women's Editor NEW YORK (NEA). — American women are practical about fashion. Most of them are accustomed to handling money and know the value of a dollar. Therefore, when they shop for fashion, they ask questions. Will it wash? Will it dry clean? How will it wear? Will it really hold its shape after washing? It's this streak of practicality that will make them appreciate the new gloves to be found at their glove counters this fall. These are the washable leather gloves that are colorfast. The gloves themselves are high fashion, are cut from luxuriously thin leather. And each pair carries a guarantee. Glove colors for daytime wear stress the rich, deep tones: cherry red, moss green, a true brown, pewter gray, russet and merino (a new taupe with a brownish cast). Important lighter colors are scarlet, wicker tan, nougat and cottonwood, a light, creamy beige. Then there are the winter pastels (pale gray, pink, blue, gold) and the perennials: white, black and navy.

Wesleyan Service Guild And WSCS To Hear India Missionary Speaker

Mrs. Aubrey Jones was hostess to sixteen members of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church in her home, 712 E. Francis, on Monday evening. Miss Minnie Allen, president, conducted the business meeting, during which an announcement was made that Mrs. Shaffer, a missionary from India, now visiting in the States, would be in Pampa from Nov. 24. For several years, the Guild has sent contributions to Girls' School in Muttra, India, where Mrs. Shaffer has been teaching. It was voted to have her speak to Guild members and the members of the Women's Society of Christian Service on Nov. 3 at 2:30 p.m. with a reception to follow. The "Week of Prayer" program was conducted by Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson. It was announced that the offering taken at that time is to be divided in half. One half is to go to two Girls' Schools in Japan, and the other half to the Peek Home in Popo, Ill. and the Community Friendship House in Cincinnati, O. The Christian Social Relations chairman, Miss Alma Wilson, asked that the members keep her informed of a any illness among the members. Mrs. Ben Ogden gave the devotional on the subject, "Peace." Mrs. Ogden said, "Oct. 24 is the 12th anniversary of the United Nations, and its primary objective is peace in the world." Miss Inez Clubb continued the study on "Cross and Crisis in Japan" with emphasis on "The Influence of Christianity of the Schools." She was assisted by Mmes. J. M. Turner, M. L. Carter, and Aubrey Jones. Objects from Japan were displayed on the Worship Center by Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson. Members present other than Mmes. F. W. Shotwell, Bert Meek, Ray Wells, Sherman White, J. A. Knox, Iri Smith; Misses Alma Wilson, Ila Pool and Lillian Mulanax. Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Mrs. Jackson Has Wesleyan Service

(Special to The News) MIAMI — Wesleyan Service Guild met in the home of Mrs. S. S. Jackson recently. Mrs. R. J. Bean, president, conducted the business session. Mrs. Joe Cunningham gave as the devotional "The Earth Is The Lord's." In her talk, Mrs. Cunningham told of the beautiful morning in Hiroshima, Japan just before the atom bomb was dropped, then asked the question, "Is the Earth really the Lord's, or does it belong to mankind?" Mrs. Charles Clark gave a third lesson on the current study on Japan. She told of the schools, of the first missionaries to Japan, and said that most of them were doctors. She told of the National Evangelistic campaigns that are about the same as our own revivals. She said, since the Japanese women are getting more rights, they are the backbone of the churches. "And the youth in Japan are still without Christian faith. But the kindness of the American soldiers toward the Japanese children has not been lost." Refreshments of pumpkin pie and coffee were served to Mmes. Myrtle Richerson, R. W. Beck, Troy Hopkins, R. J. Bean, J. V. Patterson, David Bean, Charles Clark, Ray Walker, Willis Clark, Paul Traywick, Joe Cunningham, Miss Janice Turner and Jackson.

Civic Culture Club With Mrs. I. Cole

Mrs. Irwin Cole, 1106 Charles, was hostess to the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Civic Culture Club in her home. During the business meeting, it was voted to send gifts to the mental patients in Wichita Falls Hospital. Mrs. Emmett Osborne presented the program on "Mental Health." She said, "It is mental health, not mental illness, that is catching. Mental health in the individual has been described as the ability to face problems and to make choices to find satisfaction and happiness in accomplishment of daily tasks; to work effectively and efficiently and to live with others." Pumpkin pie and coffee was served during the social hour. Members present were Mmes. Katie Vincent, John Brandon, Willis White, Louise Sewell, J. B. Townsend, A. C. Houchins, R. E. Dorsey, R. E. Daur, Floyd Penington, and W. Scott. The next meeting for the group will be with Mrs. Ophelia Morris, 221 E. Kingmill.

dew tell! by Doris E. Wilson Pampa News Women's Editor

It is our most fortunate pleasure, now and then, to be the recipient of some new product being introduced. Just recently Max Factor sent press releases on a dramatic new fragrance, which they have tagged Primitif. As we opened the manila envelope to read what they had to say, the most feminine fragrance filled our nostrils. The paper or the ink must have been treated in some way with the new fragrance.

Casually glancing at the accompanying photo, which showed a glamorous lady in evening dress and mink stole, spraying her hair, we immediately assumed too much and thought it was a new type hair-spray. We asked our co-worker, Aletha Davis, if she would like to try some of the new hair-spray before she went out on her news-gathering rounds. She would and did. We would and did. And then, too late, we discovered that the "hair-spray" which we had used so lavishly on our hair, was, indeed, Parfum Cologne.

'Twas a sweet-smelling office all day. The Spray Mist comes in an attractive three-ounce bottle of ebony black with a bright gold lid. At the touch of a finger, it releases a mist of the scent, which envelops you in a glamorous bouquet. Max Factor seems to be very proud of this new fragrance, for he says it will usher in a new era of ultra feminine elegance this year.

"Without the right fragrance," declares Factor, "the most richly dressed woman falls in her enchantment; with it she becomes a magnet of allure."

In tune with the times and in answer to the demands of the fashionable woman, who is every inch a female, Mr. Factor is introducing his provocative Primitif in two exciting new spray dispensers to augment her perfuming techniques.

One is a Purse Atomizer, which holds a full quarter-ounce of the Primitif Parfum itself and releases it in a "measured spray"... just the thing to carry in the purse during those special hours away from home, when the power of the haunting scent must be renewed. The other is the tall, graceful three-ounce bottle of Spray Mist Parfum Cologne for the intimacy of the boudoir.

More than ever before in the history of perfume, women are recognizing the importance and sophistication of co-ordinating a current, fashionable "look" with an expressive and articulate fragrance.

This rich, full-bodied perfume, teeming with costly oils and essences, is the perfect marriage with today's alluring and glamorous looks.

Length of life of flower seeds varies considerably, depending on the type of flower. Morning glory seeds may live 5 to 10 years.

Nation's Top Teams Start Final Push For Bowl Bids

Third-Ranked Aggies To Clash With Razorbacks

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

Four of the nation's six remaining unbeaten and untied major powers will face tough, once-beaten opponents next Saturday when the final push for lucrative bowl bids begins in earnest.

Oklahoma, its national crown drooping a bit to the port side after Saturday's 14-13 squeaker with Colorado, should have relatively easy pickings with Kansas State (2-3-1) and Auburn, 48-7 victor over Houston Saturday night, will be a solid choice over Florida.

But the other four — second-ranked Iowa, third-ranked Texas A&M, fifth-ranked Notre Dame and unranked but also unbeaten and untied Dartmouth — could easily be knocked out of the elite group. In Texas A&M's case, a defeat could mean no telephone call from the Cotton Bowl Committee.

Iowa Wins In Rain

Iowa, which beat Northwestern, 6-0, in a rain-and-snow soaked field thanks to a fluke play, goes against Michigan, which is 4-1 overall and walloped Minnesota, 24-7, on Saturday. Ohio State, Big Ten co-leader and the league's likely Rose Bowl nominee, takes on Northwestern. Illinois plays Purdue, Minnesota meets Indiana and Michigan State plays Wisconsin in other games.

Texas A&M, 6-0 after Saturday's 14-0 triumph over Baylor draws a real "toughie" in the Arkansas Razorbacks. The Razorbacks knocked Mississippi from the perfect-record list, 12-6, and have outscored six opponents, 106-61, in running up a 3-1 overall record. Notre Dame, making a great comeback under Terry Brennan, places its 4-0 record on the line against a Navy team that has won five games, lost by a touchdown to North Carolina and romped over Pennsylvania, 35-7, Saturday. Always a colorful game, this one ranks as one of the top intersectional clashes of the entire season.

Dartmouth, 3-0 in the Ivy League and 5-0 overall, is pitted against Yale which lost its only game by one point to Brown. Princeton, tied with Dartmouth for the league lead, plays Brown so both leaders are in jeopardy. Dartmouth whipped Harvard, 26-0, Saturday while Princeton routed Cornell, 47-14, with a four-touchdown spree in the fourth period.

The bowl picture, following the weekend action, is roughly this: Oregon and Ohio State look like the Rose Bowl opponents; Auburn is on the high road to the Sugar Bowl with its likely opponent still very much in doubt; it looks like Oklahoma vs. Duke in the Orange Bowl and Texas A&M vs. Mississippi in the Cotton Bowl.

Army, still rated the East's best despite a surprisingly close one, 20-12, against Virginia, will not play in the Sugar Bowl because of Louisiana segregation laws but might be receptive to a Cotton Bowl invitation.

Ippolito Gets Nod Over Tibbs

NEW YORK (UP)—Frankie Ippolito of New York is favored at 2-1 to beat Tommy Tibbs, New England lightweight champion, tonight in their TV 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

It will be televised by DuMont at 10:30 p.m. e.s.t.

Ippolito, 23, is favored over Boston Tommy because of his impressive showing in his last fight on Aug. 13, when he lost a close decision to sixth-ranked Orlando Zulueta at St. Nick's. Also, he stopped Tommy Salem (6) on July 15.

Neither Frankie nor Tommy is ranked among the top 10.

Ippolito, a graduate of Manhattan College and a high school physical instructor, is considered the better puncher. His 20-6-1 record includes six knockouts.

Tibbs, also 23, lost more of his 85 bouts than he won. His 39-43-3 list includes only 11 kayos. Tommy was stopped three times; Ippolito was halted twice. This year Tibbs won five, lost two and drew one.

Class "B" SW Baseball Voted In

WACO, Tex. (UP)—Directors of the merging Big State and Southwestern Baseball Leagues were hopeful of fielding a strong eight club league next year after voting Sunday to form the class B Southwestern Association.

Five teams from the Big State and four from the Southwestern are current "franchise holders" along with Wichita Falls, which was voted in at the start of the meeting.

Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Victoria and Fort Arthur appear ready to go from the Big State and Carlsbad and Hobbs are expected to field teams from the Southwestern. Abilene, however, will retain its franchise in the Big State at least until December, but isn't expected to operate because the move to build a new baseball park hasn't met with much headway.

Ballerger isn't likely to be in the league either, along with La Mesa, another Southwestern member which fared the San Angelo club at the tail end of the 1957 season.

Strong possibilities for membership at Midland, Odessa and McCombs.

Actual merger will take place at the annual minor league winter meeting in Colorado Springs, Colo., the first week in December.

Graham, Sweetwater Collide In Top Grid Battle Friday

By UNITED PRESS

Snyder's Tigers, who won the United Press coaches board No. 1 rating last year only to get slipped up on the playoffs by Graham, runs into Sweetwater to provide the fireworks for this week's Class AAAA-AAA schoolboy football program.

The Tigers and Mustangs, who are rated 3-4 currently in the UP poll, are in the same district and their game at Snyder Friday night should project the winner into the state playoffs again although both will have three other games to play before it becomes a finality.

Snyder has lost only a 12-7 upset decision to Borger in its season opener, while Sweetwater has a 14-14 tie with 10th-rated Breckenridge and a 34-13 loss to Abilene against it.

There is the only game matching top 10 teams in either of the upper echelons of the state's schoolboy race. In fact, only one or two of the top-rated outfits appears to be even in remote danger.

French, respectively. So do the others.

In AAAA, Ray (no. 2) plays Edinburg. Dallas Tech (No. 5) meets Dallas Adamson, Wichita Falls (No. 8) plays Irving and San Antonio Jefferson (No. 10) meets Harlandale. Abilene and Austin High, rated third and fourth, are tied.

Dr. George Crite of Cleveland, Ohio, developed the first successful blood transfusion techniques.

Browns, Forty-Niners Clinch Undisputed Division Leads

The San Francisco Forty-Niners, shocked by the death of their president during another of their narrow victories, and the Cleveland Browns took undisputed division leads Sunday in what promise to be the wildest races in National Football League history.

Anthony J. (Tony) Morabito, advised to "get out of football" after he had a heart attack several years ago, suffered another in the second quarter at San Francisco. He was dead when his Forty-Niners wiped out a 17-7 halftime deficit and edged the Chicago Bears, 21-17. The Bears were five-point favorites.

The Forty-Niners started the day tied with the Baltimore Colts and Detroit Lions for the Western Division lead. Los Angeles Rams whipped Detroit, 35-17, and the Green Bay Packers upset Baltimore, 24-21, on Babe Parilli's 75-yard scoring pass to Bill Howton in the last 29 seconds.

Those results left San Francisco alone at the top but Coach Frankie Albert couldn't enjoy the third victory his team has recorded this year by four points or less.

"We'd rather lose them all by 100 points than lose what we did. Tony was the greatest owner," Albert said while tears trickled down his cheeks.

Cleveland, grinding away behind a defense that has allowed only 46 points in five games, rallied to beat the Chicago Cardinals, 17-7. The Browns had been tied with the New York Giants for the Eastern lead but were left alone at the top when the Washington Redskins downed the Giants, 31-14. The Redskins, 11-point underdogs, pulled the upset of the day.

Coach Buddy Parker's Pittsburgh Steelers moved into a second-place tie with New York by shutting out the Philadelphia Eagles in the other game, 9-0.

San Francisco and Cleveland have 4-1 records. Detroit and Baltimore (both 3-2) trail San Francisco by a game. New York and Pittsburgh, also 3-2, trail Cleveland by the same margin. Eleven of the first 30 games were decided by first points or less and 19 favorites were upset or failed to win by the "point spread" established by the oddsmakers.

Japan Nips Top Of World Golf Tourney

(Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.)
By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

TOKYO (UP)—Japan stood at the top of the golf world today because an Oriental Gene Sarazen and a Manchurian-born masher artist proved once again that while you drive for show you putt for dough.

That was the story as Nippon mopped up in the International Trophy and Canada Cup matches at Kasumigasaki Country Club to wallop the best hitters from 29 other nations over a demanding 72-hole route.

Torakichi (Pete) Nakamura, a 41-year-old refugee from the rice paddies, won the Individual International Trophy with a 14-under par record 274 for the 72-hole distance. He said he "can't hit it out of his own shadow" but the finished seven shots ahead of American Gary Player and Welshman Dave Thomas.

And Nakamura, a slant-eyed carbon copy of Sarazen, teamed with slender Koichi Ono, a naturalized Japanese from Manchuria, to cop the Canada Cup twosome title with a total of 557-19 shots under par and nine fat strokes ahead of the second place total of 566 carded by Sneed and Jimmy Demaret.

Nakamura's individual 274 broke by one stroke the International Trophy record of 275 set by Canada's Stan Leonard in 1954. This time Leonard finished in a tie for fifth with Ono at 283 while Demaret had a 285 which locked him with Australia's Bruce Crampton. The Japanese, however, fell one shot short of matching Australia's record winning total of 556 in 1954 but it was no contest as they stroked home nine shots ahead of the Yanks' 566 with South Africa third at 569, Australia fourth at 572, Wales sixth at 573 and Canada seventh at 576.

"We're all proud of you Pete," said International Golf Association President Frank Pace in presenting Nakamura the $2,500 top prize — $1,500 for individual honors and half of the $2,000 team prize.

"Me too," Pete grinned, kissing his putter.

"He ought to kiss that putter," said Demaret. "That's the club that won the whole ball of wax."

DeMarco Favored To Regain Title

BOSTON (UP)—Hard-working Tony DeMarco was rated today an uncertain 10-8 favorite to regain the welterweight championship when he meets durable Virgil Atkins Tuesday night in a scheduled 15-round title bout which has raised storms of controversy all over the fight world.

DeMarco's status as the leading contender and former champion gave him the edge in the early line for the match, which was expected to draw at least 8,500 to the Garden since it will be neither televised nor broadcast nationally.

However, there was considerable local backing for the hard-punching Atkins who has been very impressive in recent sparring sessions. The ambitious number four contender from St. Louis has consistently showed the form which earned him victories over Isaac Logart, Joe Micelli, Sugar Hart, Joe Brown and Heutor Constance among others.

Texas, A&M Near SW Showdown

By UNITED PRESS

The Texas Aggies, who beat their rivals while the victims wonder how they manage it, and the Texas Longhorns, who make desire pay big dividends, carry their Southwest Conference co-leadership into foreign soil this week.

The Aggies, unbeaten in six starts and ranking high nationally, will invade Fayetteville to meet an Arkansas team that's taken on new life following an upset 12-6 victory over Mississippi last Saturday.

The Longhorns, surprise conquerors of both Arkansas and Rice in league play, take their tremendous winning spirit to Dallas against a Southern Methodist team that remains somewhat of a mystery.

Two Strides Away

If both the Aggies and Longhorns can come through again they'll be only two big strides away from a championship showdown of their own in their traditional Thanksgiving Day season finale at College Station.

There'll be a couple of other games on the calendar this week, but there will be nothing but personal prestige at stake when Baylor and Texas Christian — both twice-beaten inside the league — lock horns at Waco and when Rice hosts Clemson in an intersectional tilt at Houston.

Both Texas A&M and Texas are bound to go into their Saturday's game on the long end of the odds on the basis of their last week's display, which saw the Aggies rack up their fourth shutout in a 14-0 whitewash of Baylor and the Longhorns turn in their second upset in a row by besting Rice 19-14.

The Aggies haven't looked like world beaters in their most recent victories over TCU and Baylor, but the scoreboard attests the fact they have what it takes when the chips are down.

Texas Shows Spirit

Texas, with sophomores playing more and more of the key roles, has catapulted itself into the title picture by beating its opponents at their own game with a spirit and desire that was sadly lacking.

The Longhorns stopped Rice cold in the first half last Saturday in previous Longhorn teams. day, then saw a 12-0 lead turn into a 14-12 deficit only to pull the game out of the fire on an 80-yard kickoff return by soph Rene Ramirez.

The Baylor-TCU battle, although neither has more than the slimmest of an outside chance at the title, should prove a real bruiser with the conference's two biggest lions banging away at each other. TCU will be fresh from a 26-7 conquest of Marquette last week.

It pays to read the Classified.

Mobeetie Mangles Tyron

(Special to The News)

MOBEETIE — Oct. 26 — The mighty Mobeetie Hornets literally downed the Tyron Okla., Bobcats in short order Friday night as they galloped to a 50 point lead in the first three quarters and had the game called.

Oklahoma rules provide that when a team leads 45 points, their opponent may as well give up, and the game is officially ended.

The Hornets had to come out of the hole 200 yards, which they received in penalties, to score their wide-margin victory over the Oklahoma team that did not draw a single infraction.

In the first quarter, Ferrall Baird galloped for two touchdowns and Paul Hathaway tagged one. The second quarter gave Mobeetie two more scores through runs by Baird and Archie Scribner.

In the third period Baird again romped for a touchdown and LeWayne Hogan added the finishing touches to push the Hornets' lead to 50 and an automatic win.

Mobeetie, along with Booker, is at the head of its district.

CHANGE TO SHAMROCK 10 W-30 MOTOR OIL NOW AND PROTECT THE LIFE OF YOUR CAR'S ENGINE AND BATTERY

The development of Shamrock 10W-30 Motor Oil is based on the fact that the typical passenger car engine operates most of its useful life in the temperature zone between the cold start and normal operating temperatures.

All oils thicken as temperature decreases. The difference between Shamrock 10W-30 and conventional oil is that it thickens less at low temperature. The effect on your car's performance is important.

When you change to Shamrock 10W-30, the improvements you'll notice immediately are: (1) that even on the coldest mornings the engine will turn over quickly and easily, and (2) a marked increase in gasoline mileage.

These advantages are the most obvious, but not necessarily the most important. Frictional wear in the engine takes place at a very high rate during the first few strokes when starting an engine with little or no lubricant on the cylinder walls. 10W-30 reduces this wear, flowing quickly... thicker lubricant does a better job of keeping metal surfaces apart. Accordingly, 10W-30 being thick at high temperatures gives your engine full protection at this end of the temperature range, too. With Shamrock 10W-30 in the crankcase you will: (1) extend the life of your car's engine, (2) extend the life of your battery, (3) increase gasoline mileage and (4) reduce the octane requirement. We don't claim miracles for it, but you probably will.

QUALITY YOU CAN MEASURE BY YOUR CAR'S PERFORMANCE

Davis Electric Will Help You To Make Your Home Safer

HOME AND TRUCKS OF DAVIS ELECTRIC—Bob Burns, owner-operator of Davis Electric Co., 119 W. Foster, MO 4-6211, and his co-workers are the skilled men who can make your home safer for your family by installing electric wiring that is adequate to meet all your needs today and for years to come. When Davis does your job you can be sure of the best workmanship and of the best materials. For 27 years Davis has been your dependable electrical contractor in Pampa. Call Bob Burns at MO 4-6211 today, ask him about your electrical problems.

Your family can be safer in a home that is wired by Davis Electric Co. Adequate wiring program with which Davis Electric will help you.

Adequate Wiring
Adequate electrical wiring starts with your service entrance. Make sure there is no bottleneck. A service entrance of at least 100 ampere capacity will provide for electrical living now, and when you add new appliances later.

Circuits are electrical highways. To avoid traffic jams you need super-highways, primary highways and secondary highways. The finest home should have at least four lighting circuits, two appliance circuits and special circuits for range and water heater, laundry equipment and furnace fan. Larger homes need more circuits. All homes should have spare circuits to handle future expansion of electrical needs.

No point in any usable wall space in your home should be more than six feet from a convenient outlet. And in the kitchen no point of any work surface should be more than four feet from an outlet.

Convenience at Switches
You never should have to fumble in the dark for a light switch. Too many accidents happen that way. Switches should be located on the traffic side of doors, at the top and at the foot of stairways, at all entrances and exits.

Inadequate wiring is more than an inconvenience. It is a waste of time and money. For example, with only a 10 per cent reduction in voltage, a broiler takes 34 per cent more time to heat, and a 100

Wiring Economy
Get a short visit with Bob Burns, owner-operator will show you the economy and the importance of good wiring.

It is much cheaper in the long run to do a complete and adequate wiring job than to do patchwork wiring each time you buy better living appliances.

Let Bob Burns help you plan your wiring system to be adequate for today and for future needs when you plan your new home, or when you plan to remodel your home.

With a low-interest home improvement loan, your electrical system can be modernized to serve your future as well as your present needs. So, when you are adding that new electric range, dryer or air conditioner why not take a good look at your entire wiring facilities. Plan all your 220 volt circuits at once — be ready for all the new appliances you will add. This is another step in your adequate wiring program.

Elections To Provide Political Tests On Little Rock, Sputnik

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Elections coming up in six states in the next two months will provide the first ballot box tests for the national political parties since Little Rock and Sputnik.

Except in Virginia and perhaps New Jersey, however, national issues are expected to be minor or insignificant factors in the results.

Kentucky, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Virginia will hold elections Nov. 5 to fill state and local offices and two vacant seats in the national House of Representatives. In the seventh Illinois congressional district in Chicago, candidates will be nominated in a Nov. 12 primary for a special election Dec. 31 to fill another House vacancy.

GOP Shows Interest
The administration has shown much interest in the campaign of New Jersey Republicans to win back the governorship in that pivotal state. A Republican victory would repair some of the damage suffered by the GOP two months ago when Wisconsin Democrats elected a senator for the first time in 25 years.

State Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes is the underdog but hopeful Republican nominee to unseat Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner in New Jersey. Meyner's reelection would project him into the national picture as a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon toured New Jersey Wednesday in behalf of Forbes.

The administration has made no comparable effort in Virginia where the campaign centers on methods of preserving segregated schools. State Sen. Ted Dalton, who polled a surprising 45 per cent of the vote for governor four years ago, is again the Republican nominee.

Prestige on Line
Sen. Harry P. Byrd, chief of Virginia's dominant Democratic organization, has laid his prestige on the line in campaigning for the Democratic candidate, former state Attorney General J. Lindsay Almond Jr.

Byrd is advocating "massive resistance" to federal court decisions against segregated schools, and berating the President for sending federal troops to Little Rock in the school segregation crisis there. The Little Rock case presumably has damaged the Dalton campaign.

There will be city, county and judgeship elections in New York state. In New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. is heavily favored for reelection.

Kentucky will elect members of the state legislature, commonwealth attorneys and circuit judges. New Jersey also will elect state legislators along with city and county officers. State judgeships and some local offices will be at stake in Pennsylvania.

MAY LIFT BAN
TAIPEI, Formosa (UP)—The Nationalist Chinese government may soon lift its five-year-old ban on the publication of new newspapers as a result of growing stocks of newsprint, it was reported today. As an immediate result of the easing newsprint situation, the report said, existing newspapers will be permitted to increase their size from six pages to eight.

HIGH IN THE SADDLE—Mounted on their thoroughbred racing camels, these tough Bedouins prepare to move out on patrol duty along the borders of Jordan. Despite the modern weapons of defense which Jordan has obtained, the Camel Corps of its army carries on its job of guarding the bleak desert frontier. Capable of resisting thirst and hunger almost as well as their mounts, the "desert cowboys" claim that they can shoot an enemy down at 400 yards while riding at a gallop.

CURE FOR BALDNESS?
ATLANTA (UP)—Those cold Vermont winters could be one reason why Arthur J. R. Cola wants some leaves from Georgia peach trees. Cola, who lives in Milton, Vt., has a high-level condition known as baldness. He recently wrote to Atlanta officials: "Would you please send me about 25 peachtree leaves? An old remedy for baldness reads: 'Take a large handful of Peachtree leaves, steep them into strong tea. Rub well into the scalp and you'll soon see new hair coming.'"

Automatic Laundry Cuts Wash Day Drudgery, Costs

AUTOMATIC LAUNDRY—The Automatic Laundry, 812 W. Kingsmill, automatically can do your washing, drying in an hour and for a cost of only 45c—and with a small laundry even less! These automatic machines adjust for your very soiled clothes and for your delicate miracle fabrics. The wash cycle includes the pre-soak, wash, rinse, damp dry spin. The cost is minimum: only 15c to wash a load in the 9 lb. capacity washer or 25c for a load in the 16 lb. capacity washer. The big 16 lb. capacity dryers do a load for only 20c. Next wash day relax while the automatic laundry does your work.

Do a week's washing for your family for 45 cents! And get it all done in less than an hour! You can do that at the Automatic Laundry, 812 W. Kingsmill. There the coin-operated Philco-Bendix Washers will wash your clothes snowy clean in about half an hour, and in about 15 minutes the dryers will have your laundry ready to fold and put away! The automatic laundry operates like the "pay" television sets you find in many motels: to operate the 9 pound washing machine you deposit 15 cents; to operate the 9 lb. gas dryer, 10; to operate the giant-size, 16 pound washer deposit 25 cents; to operate the giant 16 pound dryer, 20 cents.

Adjust For Wash
These modern Philco-Bendix Automatic Washers and Dryers adjust to clean thoroughly your work clothes and to clean garments made of delicate, "miracle" fabrics. The wash cycle includes: the pre-soak period, the wash, rinse and damp dry spin.

The completely automatic washing machines thoroughly wash and damp dry your clothes in one cycle. The dryers are gas-heated tumblers through which a breeze of clean, fresh air gives your wash that smell of drying in the fresh sunlight.

Soft Water
Soft water used exclusively by the Automatic Laundry means an extra saving for you: it cuts the amount of soap you use in your wash.

Bring your wash to the Automatic Laundry, get it machine and then shop, read a magazine while the automatic washers do your work. It will take only a few seconds to put your damp dry clothes in the automatic gas dryer. Then in 10 minutes your "wash day blues" are a memory.

Always: there is plenty of free parking at the Automatic Laundry, 812 W. Kingsmill, where the coin changer will make change for the washers and dryers — automatically.

Investigators Trace Gun Used In Gangland Slaying

By CLAIRE COX
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (UP)—Police traced a gun used in the gangland slaying of Albert Anastasia to Chicago today. The discovery hinted that the killers were imported from Al Capone's old battleground to commit murder for hire.

One of the two guns discarded after the 55-year-old Lord High Executioner of Murder, Inc., was shot down in a barber's chair was traced to Chicago. It was a .38-caliber Colt sold in August, 1934. This led police to the suspicion that Anastasia's cool killers were brought here to do the job and then get out of town as fast as possible.

Police worked around the clock to solve the city's most sensational slaying since Serge Rubenstein was strangled in his Fifth Avenue mansion nearly three years ago. Rubenstein's slayer has not been found.

Costello Missing
More than 60 persons, many of them drawn from a list of "who's who in hoodlumism," were questioned Friday night and today, in an effort to get just one solid clue to Friday's killing.

Underworld czar Frank Costello, who narrowly escaped death from a would-be assassin's bullet last spring, was at the top of the list. But Costello apparently is lying low. Police had not found him more than 24 hours after Anastasia was killed with five of 10 shots fired by the two silent gunmen in the barber shop of the Hotel Park-Sheraton, near New York's Central Park. A police alarm was sent out for the pair who killed the mobster without saying a word. One was described as about 40, 5 feet, 8 inches tall, weighing 180 pounds and apparently Italian, with a sallow complexion. The other was about 30, 5 feet, 5 inches tall, 150 pounds, apparently Italian with a light complexion and a thin moustache. Both wore dark glasses and fedora hats.

Hours of marathon questioning sessions still left police right where they started on the two questions in the Anastasia case: Who killed Anastasia and why? There was one theory that he was wiped out to avenge the attempt on Costello's life, which was bungled by a gunman who only creased his scalp.

Another theory was that Anastasia was murdered to stop his efforts to muscle in on racketeer Johnny Dio's garment industry domain.

A third theory was that Anastasia had been feuding with policy racketeer Vito Genovese and may have been connected with the attempt on Costello's life.

The enemies Anastasia made during a non-stop life of crime were almost limitless, and almost any one of them could have been responsible for plotting his death, police said.

JAPANESE TO BE FREED
TOKYO (UP)—Russia has promised to release 45 Japanese fishermen seized on charge of violating Soviet territorial waters from prison early next month, it was announced today. Soviet Charge D'Affaires E. G. Zaitrodin advised the Foreign Office that the Japanese captives will be released during the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

A total of 359,528 Union soldiers were killed or died of disease during the Civil War. Confederate losses totaled 133,785.

On Whose Side?

The two-party system, so-called, is one of those things spoken of with pious respect, like Home, womanhood and the Public Schools. Well, the public schools are a blithering mess and Womanhood will always do all right without benefit of a public relations agent; and that leaves us the two party system. How about that one?

There's nothing "wrong" with a two, three or 23-party system, provided you can tell them apart. But when the various parties all turn the same shade of gray, you can't tell one from the other and why try?

If you don't believe that, look at this last session of congress; The President is a Republican and you know he is because he says he is. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Great White Hope of the South, is the Democratic majority leader of the Senate; and you know he is a Democrat because he says he is a Democrat.

Republican support of the President's program this year dropped to its lowest level since Eisenhower took office. The average GOP legislator voted with the President on only 56 per cent of this program. The average Democrat voted with the President 50 per cent of the time.

So, among the Congressmen and Senators, there is only a 6 per cent voting difference between the Republicans and Democrats.

Lyndon Johnson, leader of the opposition voted with the President 68 per cent of the time in the 117 test roll call votes and opposed him only 21 per cent of the time. How is that for a rousing endorsement of a two-party system.

Of course there would be no point in automatically voting according to the stand taken by the White House. It would be foolish for the Democrats always to oppose the President and the Republicans always to support him in Congress.

But, one of two things has happened: Either the President is a Democrat or Lyndon Johnson is a Republican. The alternative is that both of them, and most of their followers, are "nothings"—political news swimming around in the sea of contradictions.

The latter is, of course, the fact of the matter. The few "conservatives" in the Congress found the President's program largely unacceptable; but the liberals who control both parties went right down the line with him.

Economic Law

There is no difference of opinion among chemists as to the proper proportion of hydrogen and oxygen in water. Almost every schoolboy, whether he has studied chemistry or not, is familiar with the formula H₂O. There are no two schools of thought on this matter. Some do not say that water is composed of O₂-H. The matter is settled.

There is no difference of opinion among mathematicians concerning the sum of two plus two. It equals four. It does not equal five or three. No divergence of opinion is possible. Two plus two equals four and nothing else. That matter is settled.

But when we come to understanding economics, there is wide difference of opinion. There are supposedly authoritative tomes on the subject which come up with answers as far removed as the poles. Why? The subject of economics is a science of human action, as absolute in its own way as the chemical formula for water and the mathematical result of two plus two.

The reason for the never-ending dispute seems to be that men want economic laws to say something they don't say. Thus, since they are filled with desire rather than logic, they tend to ignore facts which are displeasing to them. Apparently they assume that a fact, once ignored, will vanish. Such, however, is not the case.

This world is filled with raw materials and men. The men have learned, by applying their energies to the raw materials, to alter those materials in certain ways, thus enhancing their ability to survive and even to survive in comfort. But the raw materials do not convert themselves automatically. It takes the application of an outside agency... energy... to convert them into usable form. The application of energy to raw materials is called "work." And it follows that the more energy employed, the greater the amount of raw materials to be converted or distributed, and thus the greater amount of work that is done. This is a fact as readily apparent as the sun, moon and stars.

The next step in understanding economics is this. We must realize that the men who employ more energy than others will create more usable wealth than others. Thus, it follows that the creators of more wealth than others, will have more wealth than others. And if it is true that some men will do little if anything with their energies, it follows that these same men will have little if anything in the way of wealth.

For would it not be the very pinnacle of injustice if those who did little received much wealth, whereas those who did much, received little or none? But that is not the way the economic laws ordain the situation on this planet. Those who serve much, receive much. Those who serve little, receive little. Those who serve not at all, receive nothing.

But there is a contrary streak in all human beings. And thus, through desire, those who do little and consequently have little, are inevitably envious of those who do much and consequently have much. So, instead of recognizing the facts of life as they are, which if recognized would spur them on to an expenditure of more of their energy, those with little concentrate on a dichotomy between the facts of life and their own desires. They proclaim that those with much should be compelled to distribute their wealth in a fashion which would reward those who do not wish to earn their own wealth. And they say THIS is economic justice, whereas in fact it is in opposition to justice and in contravention of economic law.

Thus there has arisen in our midst a body of thought which is as unreal as the idea that water is a gas. This body of thought holds it that work is an abomination and that it should be avoided wherever possible. The advocates of sophistry insist that the way to luxury and plenty is for more and more people to work less and less and to be rewarded more and more for their flagging efforts.

But it follows that this doctrine is false. For the way to have more is for more and more people to work more and more. Subtraction and division will never be the same processes as addition and multiplication.

The Wisdom Of Confucius

I have just read a book on "The Wisdom of Confucius" edited and translated with notes by Lin Yutang. It is an autographed copy that somehow got sidetracked and I had never read.

While, of course, the Chinese philosophy was a philosophy of feudalism, it was based on ethics and justice, as the Chinese interpreted ethics and justice.

The author introduces the book in his "Introduction" in this manner:

"To put it briefly, Confucianism stood for a rationalized social order through the ethical approach, based on personal cultivation. It aimed at political order by laying the basis for it in a moral order, and it sought political harmony by trying to achieve the moral harmony in man himself. Thus its most curious characteristic was the abolition of the distinction between politics and ethics. Its approach was definitely an ethical approach, differing from the Legalists who tried to bring about a strong nation by a rigid enforcement of the law. It was also a positive point of view, with a keen sense of responsibility toward one's fellow men and the general social order, as distinguished from the negative cynicism of Taoism. Fundamentally, it was a humanist attitude, brushing aside all futile metaphysics and mysticism, interested chiefly in the essential human relationships, and not in the world of spirits or in immortality. The strongest doctrine of this particular type of humanism, which accounts for its great enduring influence, is the doctrine that 'the measure of man is man,' a doctrine which makes it possible for the common man to begin somewhere as a follower of Confucianism by merely following the highest instincts of his own human nature, and not by looking for perfection in a divine ideal.

"To be more specific, Confucianism was definitely aiming at the restoration of a rationalized feudal order, with clear gradations of rank, at a time when the feudal system of the Chou Dynasty was breaking down."

I want to quote some gems from this book that will give the reader a birdseye view of the wisdom of Confucius and his followers.

Some of these quotations are in the form of questions by Confucius' pupils and Confucius' answers.

"Why are you so self-important and constantly rushing about? Do not you talk a little bit too much?"

—Weisheng Mou. "It isn't that I want to talk. It's because I hate (the present moral chaos)."

Confucius.

"The things that trouble or concern me are the following: lest I should neglect to improve my character, lest I should neglect my studies, and lest I should fail to move forward when I see the right course, or fail to correct myself when I see my mistake."

—Confucius

"I'm not born a wise man. I'm merely one in love with ancient studies and work very hard to learn them."

—Confucius

"Sometimes I have gone the whole day without food and a whole night without sleep, occupied in thinking and unable to arrive at any results. So I decided to study again."

—Confucius

"Whenever walking in a company of three, I can always find my teacher among them (or one who has something to teach me). I select a good person and follow his example, or I see a bad person and correct it in myself."

—Confucius

"Do you think that I have hidden anything from the two of you? No, I have hidden nothing from you. There is nothing that I do that I don't share with the two or three of you. That is I."

—Confucius

"How lucky I am! Whenever I make a mistake, people are sure to discover it."

—Confucius

"To know what you know and know what you don't know is the characteristic of one who knows."

—Confucius

"To find the central clue to our moral being which unites us to the universal order, that indeed is the highest human attainment. For a long time, people have seldom been capable of it."

—Confucius

"Truth does not depart from human nature. If what is regarded as truth departs from human nature, it may not be regarded as truth."

—Confucius

"When a man carries out the principles of conscientiousness and reciprocity he is not far from the moral law. What you do not wish others should do unto you, do not do unto them."

—Confucius

"Is it not just this thorough genuineness and absence of pretense which characterizes the moral man?"

—Confucius

"For God in giving life to all created things is surely bound to them according to their qualities. Hence the tree that is full of life He fosters and sustains, while that which is ready to fall He cuts off and destroys."

—Confucius

Adlai Acts As If He Is Willing To Run Again

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Although Adlai E. Stevenson told fellow-Democrats who assembled here recently that he doubted the possibility of a third Presidential nomination after his two defeats, the likable Illinois lawyer was easily the most popular figure at the meeting of the National Advisory Council. Observers thought that he acted as if he were willing.

The pro-Stevenson arguments are of a positive and negative nature. Although running against a popular hero in 1956, he received only 162,000 votes less than F.D.R.'s highest total. It is possible that, in 1956, he could have defeated any Republican except President Eisenhower.

He is the best known and the most articulate Democrat. He is not so strident or immovable in his liberalism as Governor Averell Harriman of New York, Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee or Harry S. Truman.

Nor did Stevenson deny that he would be receptive. When questioned, he simply said that he had been so busy in the practice of law, which required considerable foreign travel, that he "had given the question of a presidential nomination no thought whatever." That seemed to sound like the statement of a thoughtful candidate.

STEVENSON'S OPPONENTS — Finally, although the South may be in no mood for any shade of Democratic liberalism, Stevenson would probably be more acceptable to that section than any of his rivals. At the recent policy meeting, he was not certain that any statement on the Little Rock incident was advisable. He was overruled by the more radical element.

Negatively, Stevenson seems strong because his opponents are so weak, especially Harriman, Williams and Kefauver. As of today, he has to fear only Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri and Governor Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey.

Meyner will be eliminated unless he is re-elected next month by between 150,000 and 200,000. It must be a massive victory, not a political squeeze play.

SYMINGTON SYMBOL OF DEFENSE — Persistent popular concern over our lags in national defense, especially intercontinental missiles and moons, have naturally stirred greater talk and consideration of Senator Symington. He has been far ahead of the Administration in recognizing Russia's advances in the scientific realm, and in demanding greater concentration and expenditures for similar projects here.

However, as the "Red moon" has disturbed world and domestic politics and politicians, so an "Eisenhower satellite" could lessen Symington's popular and conventional appeal. He would then become a more likely vice-presidential nominee.

With Vice President Nixon and Secretary Dulles pressuring the President offsetting the Wilson-Adams sneers at Sputnik, it is almost certain that Eisenhower will shoot missiles and moons into the political skies before 1960, possibly before the 1958 Congressional elec-

ONE DRY TAX WELL

(California Feature Service) It may be of some small encouragement to taxpayers that in one rather famous case, at least, the federal government has given up trying to collect from a protesting citizen. She is Mrs. Irene Whetstone, of Chicago. Fourteen years ago, Mrs. Whetstone began her campaign of refusal to pay income taxes because part of the money goes for foreign aid. For technical legal purposes she paid a token $10 a year, but a long series of hearings and court orders — even a Supreme Court decision — failed to make her pay more.

Now the government has asked federal court dismissal of two suits against Mrs. Whetstone. It is, however, a Pyrrhic victory, although one that will strike a taxpayer's heart. The government quit only because Mrs. Whetstone is broke. That's all there is, there isn't any more to collect.

POSTING OF POSTS

By F. O. COSTLY (Industrial Post Office Service) Apparently the Post Office Department had to be told that buying locally can save high shipping costs.

Cement posts that support many street corner mailboxes were being bought from a single supplier — in Baltimore, Md., — and shipped all the way to the West Coast at a cost of more than $15 each.

Post Office officials began buying them locally for $2.70 apiece only after the Hoover Commission, set up to investigate government waste, disclosed the costly transcontinental practice.

TOO-BIG BILL

(N. Y. Daily News) The Treasury Department proudly introduces its new dollar bill, chiefly notable for the fact that it carries the motto "In God We Trust" for the first time. We strongly favor the motto; but we do think the new dollar bill should have been only half as big as the old, as a standing reminder to Americans of the scandalous shrinkage of their money's buying power in recent years.

Mac Fishes Near Where Dante Eyed Beatrice

By HENRY McLEMORE

FLORENCE — I went fishing in the River Arno today exactly twelve medium paces from the spot where Dante is said to have first laid eyes on Beatrice.

I pin-point the location not for romantic reasons, but so that you will be able to avoid the spot if you ever have occasion to fish in Florence.

A guide will be sure to show you the meeting place of the poet and his ladylove. It's just where the Ponte Santa Trinita joins the Lungomare. To find the place not to fish take twelve steps along the bank toward the Ponte Vecchio and you'll have it.

I sat on the wall there from eight in the morning until the sun set, with time out only for enough lasagne to keep body and soul together, without so much as a nibble.

I decided to try my hand at fishing in Florence when I read in a brochure of the city that nothing matched it for restfulness, that centuries ago the likes of Michelangelo, Cellini and Ghiberti did the same after a hard day with the Medici.

Poles are easy to rent in Florence, and bait is easy to buy. Even the shiest man need not feel conspicuous perched on the wall along the Arno for it is packed with fishermen night and day.

I haven't the faintest idea what I was fishing for, and none of my fellow fishermen ever caught a fish to give me a clue. There wasn't a tug on anyone's pole all day, and the man next to me didn't even lift his line from the water from stump to sundown.

I asked him about this, and while it took my Italian and his English quite a while to get together, he finally got across the reason for his apathy.

There aren't any fish in the Arno and everybody knows it. There used to be, but the bombing of the bridges during the war (so it's said) scared them all away and they have yet to return.

Now and then something that belongs to the fish family is caught, but nothing that measures more than two inches in length and is not worth heating the pan and olive oil for. A six-inch catch, even if it were spaghetti-thin, would make the front pages.

So, those who fish the Arno really fish for peace. I almost said "peace and quiet" but there is no quiet. Directly behind the wall run one of the city's busiest streets, the Lungomare, and the din of the scooters is ear-splitting. Only a fish whose hearing-aid had broken down would brave a trip to the surface.

I thought quite a bit, perched there on the wall. Some of the things I thought about were what Galileo, whose home still stands a few miles away, would have thought about the new satellite, what Michelangelo would have thought of modern art, and why everybody connects garlic with Italy when one hardly ever tastes or smells it in this country.

Fine thoughts all, but I could have thought them sitting in a comfortable chair in a hotel lobby just as easily as I did while sitting on a coolish, very hard stone wall.

BID FOR A SMILE

Wife (at luncheon)—My husband is very wonderful in one respect. He never, never says "I told you so."

When she added after a pause, "But, of course, he reminds me frequently that he doesn't."

One trouble with some young people these days is that they are looking for a future with no job in it.

A tired looking man walked into employment office and applied for a job. He listed seven youngsters as dependents. The interviewer looked up in surprise.

Interviewer — That's a coincidence. I have seven children, too. Three boys and four girls.

Man — Oh, shucks. (As he made an X for his signature) if you count girls I got 12.

The best helping hand you can find is at the end of your arm.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

"FEVER blist..." or cold sores, when they appear at frequent intervals, are extremely annoying. The medical name for cold sores is herpes simplex; the cause is a virus which is a small living organism too tiny to see under the ordinary microscope.

Cold sores are most common around the edges of the lip or the nose. Why they should prefer these locations is not clear, though the mucous membranes of the lips and outer nasal passages are presumed to be more sensitive to attack by the virus than other areas. Herpes is particularly common in association with colds or fevers of almost any kind. Too much sun, fatigue, and anything else which lowers the resistance also favor the development of — or the reappearance — of herpes.

THE VIRUS causing herpes is closely related to the virus which causes encephalitis (American sleeping sickness or brain fever). When the herpes virus is injected into rabbits, it may produce a fatal form of brain infection in those animals. In human beings, however, cold sores hardly ever lead directly to inflammation of the brain or encephalitis.

An ordinary cold sore does not need to be described, since everyone knows what it looks like. Stinging blisters at or near the junction between the skin and the mucous membrane of the lip or nose are common. Although the condition may occur elsewhere, those who are troubled with herpes, either of the occasional variety or the frequently repeated kind, usually have their lesions in these areas.

WHEN HERPES accompanies some other disease, the cold sores generally disappear as the patient recovers. In a few people, however, cold sores keep coming back again and again entirely unrelated to any obvious cause. This is probably because the virus remains in the tissues and becomes active only when the circumstances favor its growth. The lesions are somewhat uncomfortable as well as being unsightly.

Treatment is not always easy. Protective ointments may be helpful. Small doses of X-rays have been used and may prevent future attacks.

One of the most interesting forms of treatment which has been tried in recent years is smallpox vaccination. The smallpox vaccine is itself, of course, a virus preparation, and why it should have a helpful effect in cold sores is hard to understand. Nevertheless, in many cases of herpes simplex, smallpox vaccination helped to prevent the cold sores from coming back again and again.

In reply to Mrs. M., I do not believe that vitamins have any specific effect on fever blisters.

New Buick Special for 1958

The 1958 Buicks go on display tomorrow at Tex Evans Buick Company, 123 N. Gray. The bold lines of Buick's 1958 styling are exemplified in the luxury and beauty of the Buick Special, the big volume seller in the Buick line. Dual headlights and a dazzling new grille add breadth and lowness to the front end design. The Special, which is mounted on a 122-inch wheelbase, boasts new and bigger brakes, and exquisite new interiors that complement the glamorous exterior colors. The new miracle air ride and either variable pitch or the revolutionary flight pitch Dynaflex are optional equipment on the Special series which comes in seven models.

Class Set In First Aid

Have you enrolled for the Standard First Aid Course which is to begin on Nov. 4, at 7 p.m. in the basement of the Jr. High School? Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive secretary of the local Red Cross chapter, announces that classes will be taught on a progressive basis with Lesson 1 coming the first week, 2 the second and so on until everyone has received five two hour classes. The lessons will be taught one week each to enable persons taking the course to choose the night of the week they wish to attend. They will be required to attend classes one night a week for five weeks. Instructors for the sessions will be Frank Stallings, Johnny Gikas, Alvin Lewis, Dan Lewis, Paul Skidmore, Vernon Pirkle, Gene Dunsagan, Gordon Taylor, Roy Russell, Foy Barrett, W. C. Puryear, Mrs. Wayne Jones and Mrs. Tommy Jeter.

FLATTENED — The owner of this Volkswagen will never be able to fix this flat as his tiny auto lies squashed beneath a giant truck at Darmstadt, Germany. The truck skidded and toppled over on the auto which had stopped by the side of the road because of another accident ahead. The Volkswagen driver, only occupant of the car, leaped to safety just in time and escaped unhurt.

Stocks End Week About Unchanged

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor
NEW YORK (UP) — Stocks during the past week gave a demonstration of the weakness and strength of 1929 markets and finished the week just about unchanged.

The big news was made on Wednesday when the industrial average soared 17.34 points in its widest gain since Monday, Nov. 14, 1929. That spurt came after the list had plummeted to new lows on Tuesday since Dec. 2, 1954 on moderate losses. On Monday the industrials plunged 10.77 points in their widest break since the Eisenhower heart attack market of Oct. 10, 1955.

Several Reasons Listed
At the close on Tuesday, the list showed a drop in paper values of all listed issues of $47.7 billion from July 12 when the market made its 1967 high. The Wednesday rally brought back more than 17 per cent of this loss with a dollar gain of $8,265,000, 000.

Why the sudden turnaround? No one could put his finger on a single reason, but several were conjured up and they seemed to fit. In the first place the market had been driven down more than 100 points in the industrial average to a level below 420 which some held to be a buying level. Also President Eisenhower had warned against too much pessimism, and the Air Force shot off a rocket that soared 4,000 miles.

600 per cent farther than Russia's. Also there was some easing of Mid-East tensions, and statements by economists that 1958 would be more of a leveling off process for business than a recession. No recession was foreseen.

That seemed to be sufficient reasoning for the mutual funds and other big investors to jump back into the market on a huge scale. They bought their heads off and sent the tickers far behind the floor trades most of the time.

Modest profit taking later which brought minor declines Thursday and Friday plus the break on Monday left little change in the averages at the week-end. Here is how they closed the week:
Industrial, 435.15 up 1.32; Railroad, 112.41, off 1.52; Utility, 63.98 off 0.57, and 65 Stocks 147.88 off 0.38. The Standard & Poor's 500-stock index closed the week at 40.59 up 0.26 on the week.
