Man's Travel In Space Still Years Away

By ROBERT J. SERLING
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (UP)—Man is still years away from space travel despite Russia's successful earth satellite, scientific circles said today.

These sources acknowledged that Russia has taken a definite step toward eventual interplanetary travel by human beings. But they said tremendous obstacles must be overcome before man actually steps into outer space.

Russian scientists, flushed with victory, are talking confidently about sending rockets to the moon in a few years.

But even before Moscow announced the first satellite, American scientists had cautioned that such an achievement would mark only one preliminary phase of attaining man's ultimate goal—a manned flight to the moon and eventually Mars.

A rocket must reach "escape velocity" to pull away from earth's gravity—seven miles a second, or more than 25,000 miles an hour.

And this speed would have to be attained over a much longer period than it took to fire the Soviet satellite 560 miles high, experts said. The point at which the pull of earth's gravity ceases and the moon's gravity takes over is 215,000 miles into outer space.

Tremendous fuel load

Such speed over a comparatively long period would require a tremendous fuel load. If a rocket weighing 1,000 tons were used, the fuel needed for "escape velocity" would weigh more than 33,000 tons. A two-thousand-ton "space ship" would have to carry 66,000 tons of fuel. Multiple-stage rockets, jetting sections as fuel is exhausted is only a partial answer.

Getting a giant rocket away from earth is one problem. Getting men to ride it in safety is another.

Fire Prevention Week Starts Today

Mayor Lynn Boyd has proclaimed the week beginning today as Fire Prevention Week in Pampa.

The special observance of Fire Prevention Week is sponsored by the fire prevention committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, H. W. Waters, chairman.

In connection with the observance, a parade will be held in downtown Pampa Monday at 11 a.m. In the parade will be fire trucks and equipment and the high school and junior high bands, according to Waters.

Other special activities include a poster contest in the local schools with the prize posters to be displayed in downtown stores, an essay contest in high school, a theater film program on fire prevention and also films in schools, open house at the fire station, fire drills and demonstrations, distribution of home inspection blanks and the sounding of sirens at noon each day during the week to remind Pampans of the observance, according to information received from Waters.

The mayor's proclamation: Whereas thousands of Americans lose their lives each year from fires that could be prevented; and

Whereas great social and economic losses to our city result from the destruction of homes, businesses, enterprises, industries and natural resources;

Therefore, I, Lynn Boyd, Mayor of Pampa, Texas, do hereby proclaim the week beginning October 6, 1957, as Fire Prevention Week.

I call upon all departments and agencies of the city government to participate actively in a campaign for improved fire safety. Schools of our city can provide effective leadership in the activities of Fire Prevention Week, and I urge them to work with the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations for a successful program.

I earnestly request every citizen of the community to take part in relieving hazardous conditions and making our city a safer community in which to live and work.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of Pampa, Texas, to be affixed.

Done in the City of Pampa, this 5th day of October, nineteen hundred and fifty-seven.

Radio Moscow Hails Satellite Launching

By HENRY SHAPIRO
MOSCOW, Oct. 5 (UP)—Soviet scientists who carried man into the age of space flight Saturday set their goal as the moon "in a few years."

Radio Moscow, in a domestic broadcast beamed also to the western world, hailed the launching of the Soviet satellite Friday as a "triumph of the Soviet regime," but concentrated on feats yet to come in the conquering of outer space.

Prof. Kiril Stanyukovich, a Soviet expert on jet propulsion and member of the interdepartmental commission on interplanetary communications, was quoted as saying that the launching of the 22.8-inch, 184-pound sphere into an orbit 560 miles above the earth was but the first step in the campaign to reach the moon.

Said With Confidence
"It can be said with confidence that in a few years flights to the moon with instruments will become as much a reality as the launching of the first artificial satellite," he said.

His remarks were echoed in Paris by Russian-born space scientist Alexander Ananov who said that "in the very near future," missiles will be made that can reach the moon.

And he predicted that the Russians, with their edge over the United States, would be firing rockets carrying animals to the moon by the time the United States makes its first moon-missile tests.

Professor Halls Day
Prof. Stanyukovich hailed Friday, Oct. 4, as the day when "man created an artificial body able to rotate around the earth at great height, when man created an artificial earth satellite."

"These men were Soviet scientists, engineers and technicians," he said. "This is a great triumph not only of Soviet science but also of the Soviet regime."

Soviet authorities gave credit to the theories drawn up 60 years ago by 19th century Russian visionary Konstantin Tsiolkovsky and hailed him as the "father" of space flight.

United Fund Drive Set; Majors Named

Chairman Warren Hasse has officially named the majors for the 1958 Pampa-Lefors United Fund Campaign.

They are as follows:
Industrial — H. V. Wilks, Celanese Corporation of America; Oil and Gas — Max A. Bolick, Production Superintendent of Cities Service; Services — Newt Secret, Franklin Life Insurance; Retail — E. Roy Smith, Pampa News; Wholesale — Gene Fatheree, Pampa Wholesale; Individual — Kirk Duncan, Duncan Insurance; Professional — Don Cain, Attorney; Lefors — J. R. Sparkman, Cut-rate Grocery.

The kick-off breakfast for the general drive has been set for Oct. 22 at 7:30 a.m. in the High School Cafeteria.

The goal for the 1958 drive is $60,000, and the money is to be distributed among seven agencies as follows: 22 per cent to the Red Cross, 28 per cent to the Boy Scouts, 20 per cent to the Girl Scouts, 6 per cent to the Milk Fund, 2 per cent to the U. S. O., 19 per cent to the Salvation Army, and 3 per cent to the Heart Fund.

These percentages will be reduced slightly to cover drive expenses, United Fund administrative expenses, and uncollected pledges.

This year's budget represents the largest request that the city has ever made; however, it is in keeping with the rapid increase in population of Pampa and Lefors. In 1952, the first year of the United Fund Organization, the population of Pampa alone was 18,700; today there are 25,000 citizens of Pampa.

Next year, the original charter for the United Fund will be subject to revision and additional agencies will have an opportunity to apply for the United Fund services.

United Fund officials have said, "A United Fund such as is in Pampa and Lefors enables us to take care of our donations to the worthy civic organizations in one single drive. Because of the lesser cost of having only one drive, the United Fund has been able to assure the donor that his money will be used not in campaign expenses but rather by the subscribing agencies."

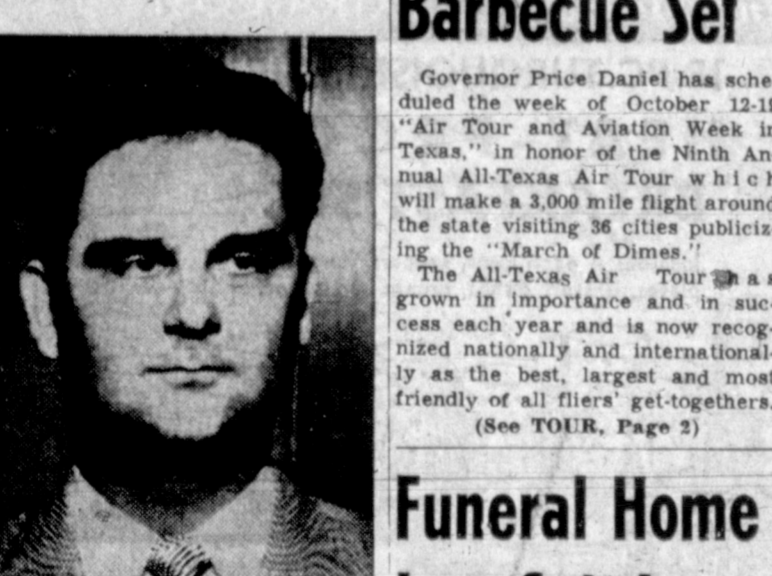

"It is our duty as citizens of Pampa and Lefors to give as generously as we are able. We should get behind the United Fund and make sure that this year's campaign goes over the top. The agencies supported by the United Fund are on the job for us 365 days a year. They ask our help only once a year. They look to us for support, so let's not let them down."

Funeral Home Law Suit Is Dismissed

A civil litigation in 31st District Court that threatened to divide the 20-year partnership of the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home ended abruptly late Friday when the case was dismissed.

Motion for the dismissal of the case was filed by the plaintiff, Paul Carmichael, and the order of dismissal was signed by Dist. Judge Lewis M. Goodrich.

The only explanation in the dismissal of the case was that both parties had settled their differences and agreed to continue the partnership as it has operated in the past.

Several weeks ago, Carmichael filed a petition asking for an accounting of the partnership funds, and requesting the court to restrain the defendant, Charles O. Duenkel, from incurring any further indebtedness against the company.

Official—'CRMWA Should Pay For Upcoming Report'

Wilbur Decheimer, U.S. Commissioner of Reclamation, Friday advised members of the finance committee of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority that the authority would have to put up funds in order to update and re-examine the planned report of the bureau that was prepared in January, 1955.

Decheimer told the group at the meeting in Amarillo Friday that the Bureau of Reclamation did not have funds available at the present time for the work and that it would be impossible to obtain any funds for the Canadian River Dam project until the 1958 fiscal year budget. He advised the members of the authority's finance committee that if the authority put up funds at the present time work would begin immediately on the engineering report.

The commissioner also told those attending the meeting that if the authority put up funds the bureau would ask for matching funds to complete the report. He also stated that the House Appropriations Committee would be more favorable to the appropriation if the CRMWA was financing half of the cost of the survey.

The finance committee of the authority is scheduled to meet in Plainview on Sunday, Oct. 13, and will finish the budget of the authority for the year. They will also prepare the report on the meeting with Decheimer.

The budget and the report will be presented to the directors of the authority at a meeting in Plainview on Monday, Oct. 14.

Riot In Poland Continues

WARSAW, Oct. 5 (UP)—Police fired tear gas shells at hundreds of rioting students tonight and arrested some 200 persons in the third straight night of street violence in this tense Communist capital.

Students surged into the streets swinging sticks, stones and rubber truncheons.

They beat up several militiamen who tried to restore order. One militiaman was reported to have been killed.

The outbreaks hit the city in two waves, one around 8 p.m. (1 p.m. C.S.T.) and the second two hours later.

Fighting broke out first in Powlka and Wilca streets, then in the area of Ziota and Zgoda streets where the militia fired several shots over the heads of the rioters.

Burglary Of 2 Buildings Probed

The only item being investigated yesterday by the police department was the burglary of two buildings behind the residence of O. C. Vance, 637 S. Gray.

Jim Conner, chief of police, stated that Mrs. Tom Devers, a neighbor of Vance, reported at 10:20 yesterday morning that a tool box belonging to Vance had been broken into.

Investigation revealed that the locks had been pried from doors on the tool house and another small building, Conner said.

No report of items taken from the buildings was available as Vance has been in the hospital for several days, Conner concluded.

2,450 Influenza Cases In Texas

AUSTIN, Oct. 5 (UP)—A total of 2,450 influenza cases were reported in Austin this week, 10 times as many as two weeks ago, Dr. Ben Primer, city health officer, said today.

The week's new cases were four times the number reported the previous week, 586. Two weeks ago, Austin recorded only 236 cases of the flu.

Dr. Primer said 1,900 cases were reported during the past week by the University of Texas student health center, compared to 142 cases the previous week.

Ike Calm As Reds' Satellite Circles

By RUTHERFORD FOATS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (UP)—The Soviet conquest of outer space will not force the United States to speed up its efforts to launch an American-made moon, the White House announced today.

President Eisenhower took the historic Soviet triumph calmly and was not surprised, White House spokesman James C. Hagerty said. The President remained at his Gettysburg farm and played golf but kept in telephone contact with Washington aides.

Diplomatic and scientific officials assessing the worldwide implications of the Russians' achievement admitted concern.

They said the size of the Soviet satellite shows that Russia may not have been bluffing when it recently claimed development of an intercontinental ballistic missile the "ultimate weapon."

Greatest Propaganda Victory
State Department officials feared that Russia may have scored its greatest propaganda victory. The effect on the neutral and wavering nations in the cold war could be tremendous if the launching does mean that Russia is well ahead of the United States in developing the tools of push-button warfare.

The White House refused to comment on the military aspects of the Soviet moon-launching.

The U. S. program, Hagerty said, "is geared to the International Geophysical Year and is proceeding satisfactorily in accordance with its scientific objectives." He denied that this country was in a race with Russia and lost.

A reporter asked what effect the Soviet achievement will have on the U.S. satellite program, which calls for the first launching next spring.

"Not a thing," Hagerty replied. Not Surprised
He declined to elaborate on his statement that the government was not taken by surprise. Technicians who operate the moon-tracking electronic brain at the headquarters of the U.S. Geophysical Year team here had been given the weekend off. They, at least, were not forewarned.

Statements of Russian delegates at the closing session of the conference today indicated Russia raced to hang a relatively simple moon in space ahead of the United States.

Soviet scientist A. A. Biagonrov said the 184 pound, 22.8-inch sphere was the "simplest" of two satellites which have been under development. Its mission is simply to give information on the speed, orbit, and other behavior of a satellite for use in launching more complex "space laboratories" in the future.

Churches Asked To Join Prayers
NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (UP)—The president of the National Council of Churches called on 37 million members of nearly 150,000 local churches across the country today to join residents of Little Rock, Ark., in prayer for racial peace next Saturday.

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake made the call in releasing the text of a message he sent to the Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish leaders in Little Rock praising them for their "day of prayer for intercession" scheduled for Columbus Day, Oct. 12.

The national council represents 30 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations in this country. Blake expressed "profound gratitude" for the interfaith action in Little Rock.

"As a manifestation of our association with you," he said, "I am asking our churches across the country to follow your lead and asking our people to join in this special occasion of prayer."

BenJack Cage Is Indicted In Austin

By O. B. LLOYD, JR.
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 4 (UP)—Promoter BenJack Cage was indicted today by a Travis county grand jury on charges he bribed former Texas Insurance Commissioners J. Byron Saunders and Garland A. Smith to gain preferential treatment for his ill-fated ICT Insurance Co.

Both Saunders and Smith, as well as Smith's son-in-law, Max Wayne Rychlik, were indicted on charges of perjury.

Conviction on perjury charges carries a sentence of 2-10 years. Cage was already under two indictments returned by a special Dallas County grand jury alleging he embezzled $600,000.

Saunders Named Twice
Two indictments were returned against Cage. One alleged he bribed Smith by paying Smith's son-in-law, Rychlik, $700-a-month. The other indictment alleged the promoter bribed Saunders by paying him $7,900.

Saunders was named in two perjury indictments. One alleged that he lied to a House investigating committee, and the other accused him of lying to a previous grand jury about the money he received from Cage.

Smith was named in one perjury indictment. It alleged he lied to a House investigating committee.

Rychlik was accused of lying to the same house committee.

Cage's attorney, M. R. Irion, said in Dallas that his client "never did offer anybody a bribe. They can't prove it. We'll meet the cases when they are set for trial. There is no proof of it anywhere and will be none," he said.

Bond was set at $2,500 on each indictment.

District Attorney Les Procter said the bribery offenses alleged against Cage occurred in 1953 and 1954.

Beer Licenses Temporarily Suspended

Two more temporary suspensions of licenses to sell alcoholic beverages were delivered to local firms Friday night by an inspector of the Liquor Control Board.

The latest suspensions were delivered to McCamey's Package Store, 1008 1/2 W. Brown, and Ray's Place, 918 W. Brown.

McCamey's Package Store received a five-day suspension, beginning tomorrow, for selling and delivering liquor on Sunday, according to the inspector.

Allowing intoxicated persons to remain on a licensed premise and allowing gambling on a license permit resulted in a seven-day suspension for Ray's Place, the inspector stated.

MOON

steadily circling the globe in one complete rotation that takes exactly 1 hour, 36.2 minutes, according to Soviet calculations.

Its speed could be better visualized by the Moscow announcement that at 10:30 a.m. est., it was due over Detroit. One minute later, it was due over Washington, DC.

A steady "peep" emitted from its radio equipment, picked up by amateur radio stations. "Moon-watcher" listening posts established for the 1957-58 international geophysical year, and the big commercial radio stations the world over.

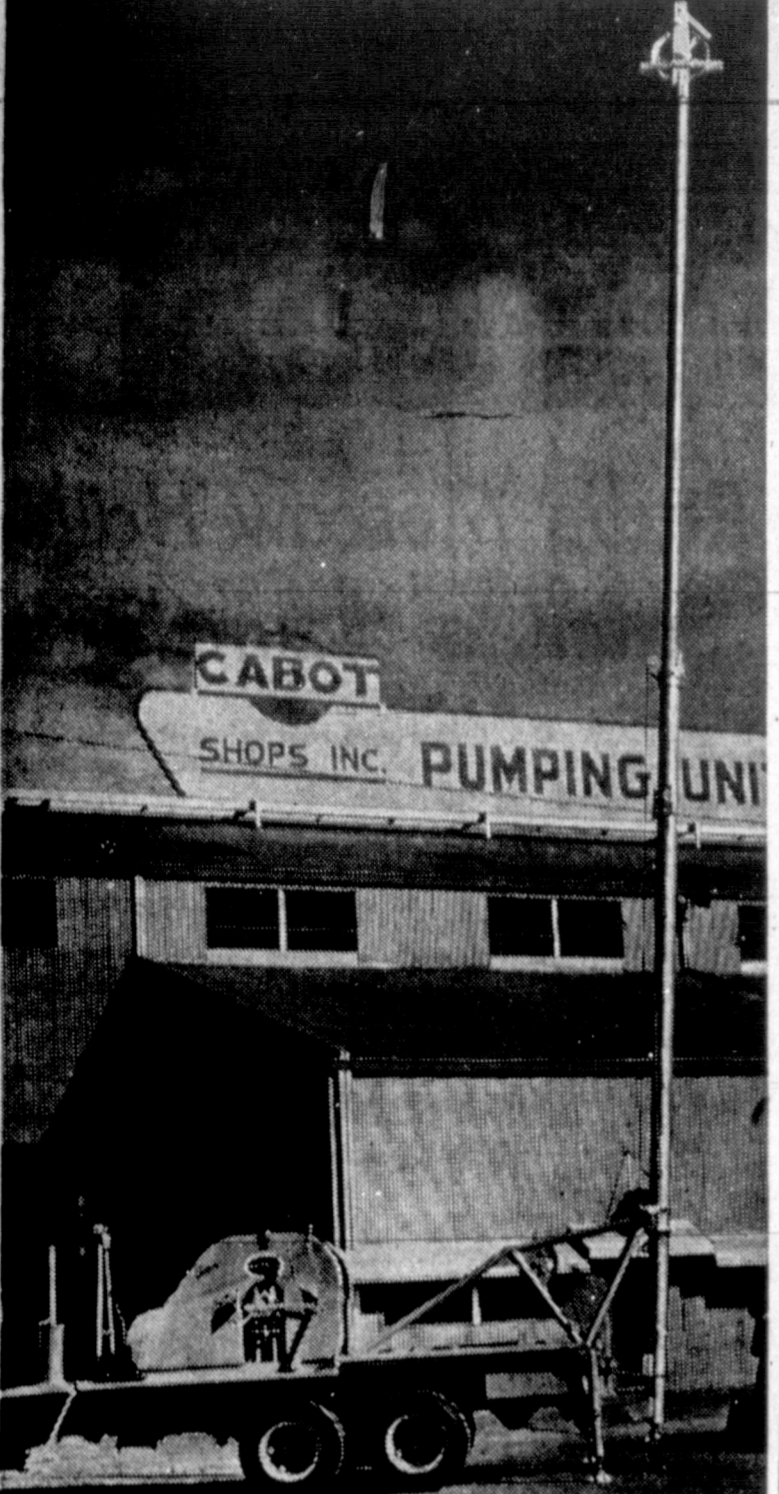

Signal Strength Varies
The signal appeared faint in some areas, strong in others. They were coming to earth on microwave frequencies of 20,000 and 40,000 megacycles.

(How it slows down and sinks orbit was a problem that had western scientists guessing. Some said two to three weeks. Others said it could stay up years.)

When it slows down and sinks into the earth's atmosphere, it will burn like a cinder and vanish — having performed its work in giving man his first tantalizing glimpse, through its electronic signals, of space.

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower, in his statement referring to order paratroopers from Central High School in Little Rock, Ark.:

The unit, pictured above, is mounted on an International truck, Model RDF-192A with a Cummins Model JT-6-B engine. The 658-TM unit is designed for both rod and tubing pulling 6,500 feet to 12,000 feet depths of 2 1/2 inch tubing with standard 10 inch x 13 inch telescoping pipe mast.

All Franks equipment is designed for maximum portability, quick rig up and rig down, and maximum working capacities with a minimum amount of service and down time.

Red Satellite Crosses US Six Times

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (UP)—A Russian space satellite hurtled across the United States six times today while scientists worked rapidly to revamp tracking systems and plot its course.

Meantime, two reports indicated the artificial moon already may be slowing down. A scientist of the Carnegie Institution's observation station at Derwood, Md., said the satellite was taking 101 minutes to circle the earth, instead of the 95 minutes announced by Moscow. The RCA communications research laboratory at Riverhead, N. Y., calculated its speed this afternoon at 17,712 miles per hour, compared with the Soviet-estimated initial speed of 18,000 MPH.

Dr. Joseph W. Siry of the U. S. Navy research laboratory in Washington, said, however, that he did not have enough information to say whether it is slowing down.

Siry said the Russian sphere crossed parts of the United States six times in the first full day of primitive space flight.

He predicted it will pass over or near these cities late Saturday and Sunday:

Boston, 10:51 p. m. est; New York, 10:52; Philadelphia and Washington, 10:53; Charleston, S. C., 10:55; Miami, 10:56.

The next orbit he was prepared to predict was: Boston, 6:18 a.m. est; New York, 6:19; Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, 6:20; Charleston, 6:22; and Miami, 6:23.

Yugoslav Ex-veep Is Sentenced

SREMSKA MITROVICA, Yugoslavia, Oct. 5 (UP)—Former Yugoslav Vice President Milovan Djilas was sentenced today to seven years "rigorous" imprisonment for the book he wrote attacking communism and smuggled to the West.

It was the third time he had been convicted of writing "slander" against the regime of Marshal Tito, and with the two years still remaining on a previous sentence, brings to nine years the time he must serve.

It was the third time he had been convicted of writing "slander" against the regime of Marshal Tito, and with the two years still remaining on a previous sentence, brings to nine years the time he must serve.

The court also stripped him of his war time and post war decorations on the grounds he is "unworthy to wear them."

Djilas was convicted of distributing "hostile propaganda" against the socialist foundations of the state and social order, defecatory interests of Yugoslavia, defecatory capabilities and foreign.

The charges stemmed from his book, "The New Class" which was smuggled to the West and is now a best seller. It is a vigorous denunciation of the communism which Djilas once embraced.

But despite his conviction and the year he already has spent in prison, the one-time intimate of Tito did not have the appearance of a beaten man.

His head close-shaven in convict style, he leaped to his feet in the grimy courtroom today just as the judge finished reading the sentence.

"The press has said I answered questions during the trial," he said. "That is not true."

Judge Nikola Nikolin interrupted to say Djilas could say nothing more. "The press is responsible for itself," he said.

Buddy Says Girard Told Him To Lie

MAEBASHI, Japan, Oct. 5 (UP)—SP2C William S. Girard's Army buddy testified in court today that Girard twice ordered him to lie about what happened when the Illinois soldier killed Mrs. Naka Sakai.

SP3C Victor N. Nickel said it was because of Girard's orders that he first told a false story, which he later retracted.

Nickel, of Inkster, Mich., was with Girard on Hill 655 at the Camp Weir firing range Jan. 20. Girard fired a used cartridge casing into the back of Mrs. Sakai from the grenade launcher on his M-1 rifle while she was gathering used shells to sell as scrap.

He originally said that Girard fired only one shot from the hip in an effort to frighten the woman and that no one scattered empty shells to lure her near. He later reversed himself, saying Girard fired two shots from a shoulder position and that he himself scattered shells at Girard's request.

The prosecution asked Nickel if Girard ever told him what to say. "I was told by Girard to say that I heard no shot and threw no brass," Nickel said.

"If anybody asks you," he quoted Girard, "we didn't hear no shot."

Later, Nickel said, Girard told him, "If anyone ever asks anything, how I held the weapon, I questions about this (rifle position), how I held the weapon, I held it at my hip and fired one shot."

Nickel also testified that Girard fired cartridges three times at Japanese shell-pickers before killing Mrs. Sakai.

Buick Firm To Handle German Car

The German-made car of General Motors, the Opel, will go on sale in Pampa sometime after the first of next year at Tex. Evans Buick Co.

The car is a compromise between American appearance and the low weight and economy of foreign cars. The car is in between the small foreign economy cars and small American cars.

The Opel will be supplied in two models, a two-door sedan called the Rekord and a four-door station wagon called the Caravan.

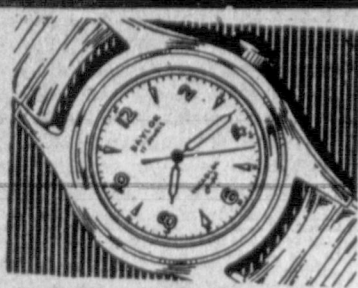

Top speed of the car is about 77-miles-per-hour with gas mileage from 25 to 30 miles to the gallon. The four-cylinder engine develops 51 horsepower with a 98 cubic inch displacement.

The delay in the arrival of the new car in Pampa is caused from dealers on the West and East coasts being supplied before those in the central part of the country. Opel has been making cars for 59 years and has been a branch of General Motors since 1929.

The cost of the car will be approximately $2,000, Clinton Evans, manager of the local Buick agency, stated.

South Is Being Cut Adrift Politically

By LYLE C. WILSON, United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The evidence is piling up that southern leaders are thinking hard about the fact that the South is being cut adrift politically.

The influence of southerners in the councils of the Democratic Party gradually has been pinched off. Southern votes cast for Republican presidential candidates have gained no influence there for the southern point of view.

What to do about all of this is something southern Democratic spokesmen and office holders must now consider — along with the significant fact that the new Negro vote in the South may be coming up with new leaders and new office holders.

The direction of southern political thinking was indicated last week by James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, a qualified spokesman for his state. South Carolina is one of those in the South committed by its legislature to defy racial integration in the schools by every legal means.

Byrnes Lists Objectives
He served in the House and Senate, as associate justice of the Supreme Court, as secretary of state and, more recently, as governor of South Carolina.

At Bennettsville, S.C., last week, Byrnes snipped out a pattern for southern political action and objectives, as follows:

"Notwithstanding the political gloom which now surrounds us, the South may be restored to its place in the councils of the nation if its leaders, forgetting all political differences, will now begin to organize for a united South.

"You may be sure that, under present conditions, no man South

US-Korea Relations Are Coming To Head

EDITORS NOTE: Charles R. Smith, who has just been named United Press chief correspondent and manager for Korea, arrived to find abuilding a new storm that threatens U.S.-Korean relations. In the following dispatch he discusses this potentially dangerous new "Girard case," what's behind it, and what it might lead to.

By CHARLES R. SMITH, United Press Staff Correspondent
SEOUL (UP)—Korean government and U.S. military authorities worked behind the scenes today to prevent what could easily blow up into a new "Girard case" here in Korea.

The storm has been building up for months.

But the thunder became intense only recently when two teenage Korean girls were shot by U.S. guards at the Kunsan Air Base some 100 miles south of here. Both the Korean government and top-level U.S. military authorities are carrying out intensive investigations into the incident.

The Korean press has used the incident to splash its sharpest criticism of U.S. troops in some time. And one top Korean official accused the U.S. troops of harboring "racial contempt" for the Koreans — this coming at a time when the Little Rock integration riots were top-head news here.

A series of so-called "minor" incidents at the air base have added fuel to the fire, incidents involving attacks by Air Force sentry dogs on Korean villages. Reports indicate none of the incidents resulted in serious injury and probably would not be significant if taken alone. However, tied in with the shooting of the two girls and several previous incidents in other areas, they become increasingly important.

The basic reason for the press criticism is the steadily growing pressure for a status of forces agreement between the U.S. and Korea.

The incident that kicked off the controversy and started the first sharp criticism occurred last May, but the case involving the two guards on duty at a bomb dump area at the base.

Military spokesmen said the girls were part of a group of some seven or eight persons in the area who fled when the guards attempted to apprehend them for questioning. When the girls failed to halt, the guards fired into the group, one of the bullets striking Miss Kim in the temple and another striking Miss Yang in the arm.

The girls, Kim Yong Yi, 18, and Kang Kum Sun, 17, were struck by bullets fired by two Air Force

SHAH'S DAUGHTER TO WED
TEHRAN, Iran (UP)—Princess Shahnaz, 17-year-old daughter of the Shah of Iran, will marry Ardeshir Zahedi, 29, son of former Prime Minister Gen. Gazlallah Zahedi, on Oct. 11, it was announced officially Thursday night.

Princess Shahnaz and Ardeshir Zahedi were cutting weeds outside the fenced-in area when the guards yelled at them causing them to flee.

COMMUNISTS RESIGN
MESSINA, Italy (UP)—Eighteen local Communist leaders in a half-dozen Sicilian communities resigned from the party en masse Sunday, charging that the party fails to "understand the needs of the workers." The chief of Communist organizing in Italy, Giorgio Amendola, admitted last week that the party has lost 200,000 members since the Soviet denunciation of Stalin last February.

DINING CARS
HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—Connecticut motorists, taking advantage of the state's registration plate lettering system, now offer everything from "soup" to "nuts."

The list of driver's dishes includes: Beef, fish, veal, corn, peas, rice, roll, pie, cake, milk and tea.

The four letter maximum eliminates such items as butter and coffee. Officials say that nobody has thought to apply for "oico" and "java" yet.

Furor Created By Spokesman's Guess

WASHINGTON (UP)—Here's how an Army spokesman's informed guess created a furor that reverberated to the White House.

The spokesman, at a Pentagon news briefing Thursday, said "probably" had placed some troops on a semi-alert in case of further racial troubles. He was explaining why the 101st Airborne Division had been ready to move so quickly into Little Rock from Ft. Campbell, Ky.

The spokesman indicated it was normal procedure for commanders to prepare to give military aid to civil powers when disturbances occur in their areas. He guessed they had done it when integration troubles began several weeks ago in Nashville, Tenn., and other cities in the South.

Quick Response
Some news dispatches emanating from the briefing interpreted the spokesman as meaning troops in the South "probably" had been alerted by an Army order. Then the fireworks began.

When the upper echelons of the Pentagon saw the dispatches they realized fears might be touched off of new troop movements in the South.

Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker reacted quickly. He prepared to deny any alert order had been issued. Then it was discovered someone had sent out a "precautionary training direc-

By FRED M. PARKER
Pampa News Staff Writer

The adults of Pampa are not the only ones who go in for organized shooting. There is a group of youngsters, ages 8 to 14, who are as enthusiastic about shooting as any persons in town.

This group is known as the Panhandle Junior Air Rifle Club. It was formed on June 1 of this year and has been meeting each Tuesday from 6 to 8 in the County Barn at Recreation Park for practice and competition shooting.

The local club is affiliated with the National Rifle Association and each member of the club is a junior member of the NRA.

The main object of the club, according to F. D. Montgomery, club leader and instructor, is the teaching of proper handling of both air rifles and rifles and the stressing of safety.

"Any boy or girl who has an air rifle is going to shoot it at something," Montgomery said. "The club's purpose is to channel this shooting into a safe sport."

The members shoot at regulation air rifle targets from a distance of 35 feet with spring type air rifles. Pellet guns, compressed air guns or any other similar type of air rifle is not allowed because of the danger. Each member supplies his or her own air rifle.

As the shooter progresses in ability he is awarded medals, certificates and patches signifying the level of shooting he is doing. The ranks of shooters are: pro-marksman, marksman, marksman first class, sharpshooter, which has nine bar stages, and expert rifleman.

Montgomery reported that only about two out of every 1,000 air rifle shooters qualify as expert riflemen.

The other adult leader of the club is S. M. Goodlett, who is the executive officer. Officers of the club are: Tony Bowman, president; Mike Corcoran, vice-president; Mike Ditmore, treasurer; and Elaine Hawkins, secretary.

Montgomery stated that Elaine became a member after she surprised the boys by shooting better than they could when she visited the club during a meeting. "It was such a shock to the boys that they voted her 'into the club,'" he stated.

Other members of the club are: Homer Hatcher, Mike Edminster, Roy Crouse, Don Luther, Billy Hawkins, Smisson Goodlett and Myron Aftergut. Myron was declared the club champion after winning a special shooting match on Sept. 24.

The club is limited to a membership of 15, Montgomery said. "If we would we could have several hundred members," he reported. "It seems that every boy in town wants 'in the club.'"

A conversation with Montgomery revealed that there are plenty of local firms that will sponsor a club but the shortage is in adult leaders. He stated that it took about two adults for each club of 15 members.

The sponsors pay for all of the materials, medals, certificates and other items used by the club. Montgomery said that this usually costs about $10 a month.

"Pampa could use about 10 air rifle clubs," Montgomery said. "All we need is enough people to instruct and supervise the clubs."

Reports from the National Rifle Club indicate that in towns where there is a large number of air rifle clubs the amount of damages from the improper use of air rifles has decreased.

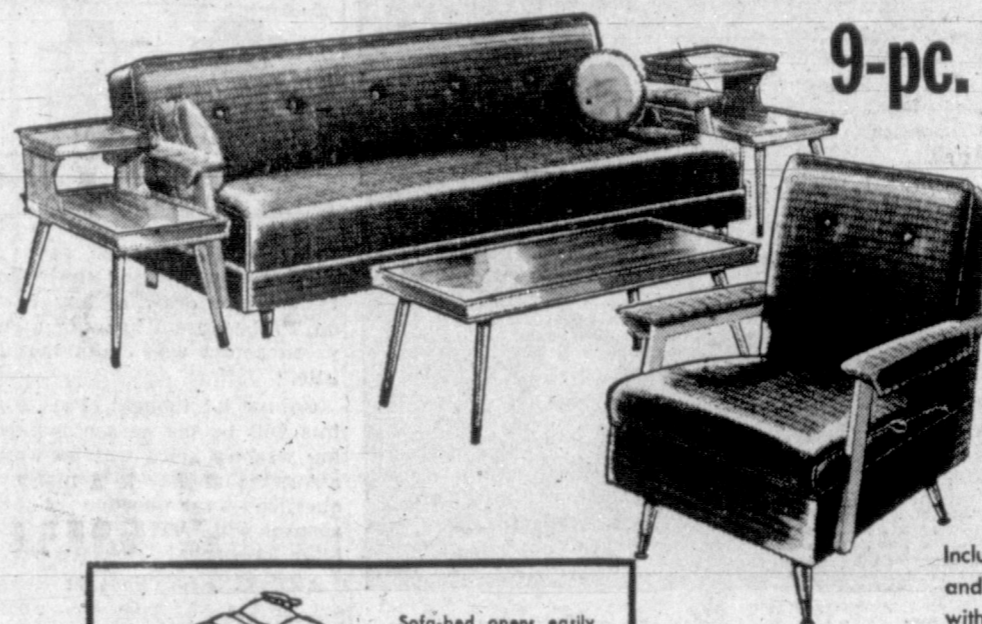

"If any one is interested in helping to start other clubs they can contact me at MO 4-4731 for further information," Montgomery concluded.

Actor, A Former Stunt Man Himself, Rescues Stand-In

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — One hundred feet of the best action film ever shot at Universal-International Studios will never be seen on the screen because the heroes weren't in the script.

Location: Cuernavaca, Mexico. Scene: Western St. Action: A horse canters down the center of a dusty road, stumbles and throws its rider to the ground.

All went well until the rider, a stunt man, caught his foot in the stirrup and was dragged 20 yards by the rampaging horse. Then, while the cameras continued to grind, Jock Mahoney, the star of the picture, rushed in and wrestled the animal to a halt.

Former Stunt Man Himself "I just grabbed the horse by the ears and pulled his head down between his legs," Mahoney said. "Somebody had to do something to keep the stunt man from getting his head kicked off."

Mahoney, a 6-foot 4-inch giant of the picture, rushed in and wrestled the animal to a halt. He was a bruises-for-pay guy once himself.

This particular footage showed Jock to good advantage, but it won't be used in the completed version of "Western Story" because members of the crew, dressed in modern clothes, rushed into the shot as Jock played real life hero.

"The stunt man would have been all right," he said, "if he had the right equipment."
Extra Man Horse "Usually for a stunt like that there's a release cord on the stirrup to keep a man from getting dragged. And that was an extra man horse anyhow. It had bucked off a couple of other stunt men earlier in the picture."

Much as he was congratulated by the crew, the picture's producer and director read the lanky star the riot act.
"They figure stunt men are expendable," Jock grinned. "That's why they get paid for risking their necks. But if I'd been hurt it would have held up the picture and cost a pile of money."
"I still do all my own stunts," he concluded proudly. "After five years of specializing in falling off cliffs and doing fight scenes, it hurts a man's pride to stand around and watch another guy step in for him."

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public-service feature of the State Bar of Texas

Under some conditions inhabitants of cities and towns can avail themselves of the services of rural Electric Co-operatives (Co-ops), according to a law passed by the Fifty-fifth Texas Legislature.

As the name implies, these Co-ops are made up of customers and furnish services to their members on a cooperative basis. Persons residing in rural areas are unable to obtain electrical service from public utilities or municipally-owned plants (central stations) have been able to purchase electricity through such co-ops for a number of years. However, there has been some argument about non-rural customers.

Sometimes rural areas served by a Co-op become non-rural, due to annexation by an incorporated city or town. Electric Co-ops have usually continued to serve existing customers, as well as others desiring service, within these annexed areas. But their authority to serve these people became questionable when in a recent law suit the Supreme Court of Texas indicated that such a practice might be illegal.

This decision led to the action of the Legislature in passing House Bill 547, amending our laws pertaining to Electrical Co-ops, as a precautionary measure. The Co-ops are now authorized to engage in rural electrification by any one or more of the following methods:

If an area (rural or non-rural) being served by a Co-op is annexed by an incorporated city or town in which central station service is supplied by the municipality or by a public utility located there, the Co-op can continue to serve those persons who were members on the date of annexation.

Persons in such an area who were not members on the annexation date may become members of the Co-op and thereafter receive service, if they cannot get electric service otherwise — through the municipality or a public utility.

Further, even though central station service is now available, persons living in an incorporated or unincorporated city or town (rural or non-rural) who have been receiving electricity from a Co-op can continue to avail themselves of Co-op service, provided central station service was not available to them when they began to purchase from the Co-op.

In addition, as in the past, Co-ops may furnish electric service to persons in rural areas who are not receiving central station service.

Versatile Pampa Woman's Hobby Is Making Animals Out Of Plaster

By ALETHA DAVIS
Pampa News Staff Writer

Probably one of the most vivacious and busy persons in Pampa is Mrs. Jean Medley, who resides at 727 E. Malone with her husband Fred, and Jackie, her 8-year-old son.

Besides being the mother of two children, and a very busy housewife, Jean has a den of Cub Scouts, an unusual hobby and keeps a backyard full of pets.

Jean is a small dark-haired woman with an abundance of energy, which is only marred slightly with a touch of arthritis which aggravates her, but, fails to slow her down. The arthritis is one thing which has led her to her various interests.

HANDIWORK — Mrs. Jean Medley admires plaques which she makes in her spare time. The likeness of Mary, which she is pointing out, is used in the Christmas scenes she makes for the holiday season.

"Punky," a year old skunk sleeps with "Sweetie Pie" and "Bunny," the canine members of the household. They are not lonesome; however, for thirty-odd pigeons are housed in the backyard in the coops that once held several rabbits and turkeys — which have long been in "cold storage" (the deepfreeze).

"You can get too much in a backyard you know," says Jean, "so I just decided that we could eat them." The 3,000 tropical fish that she has had in the past have been narrowed down to one huge aquarium because of the large amount of time that they demanded and were unable to receive.

"I guess that I'm not happy if I know of something or somebody in need, so I just try to help them out," states Jean in answer to the "whys" of her warm heart and eagerness to help others.

Hitchcock To Start Another Spine-Chiller

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Roly-poly Alfred Hitchcock, not content with one successful TV show and his movie director career, has launched another video spine-chiller, because "I was too polite to turn down the offer."

Sitting in his office at Paramount Studios, Hitchcock, his hands folded across his ample waist, looked like a benevolent Kewpie-doll. It's been five years since he's had a vacation from his desk.

"I don't mind the work," he said, flicking the ash from a dead cigar. "And I'm not particularly interested in a holiday. Nor am I undertaking the new show ('Suspicion') for monetary reasons. After all, I can eat only two lambchops a day."

Too Polite To Refuse

Why, then, is the doughty director taking on an additional show? "Revue Productions asked if I would mind producing 10 shows for their program with my own unit," he explained cheerfully. "And the truth is I was too polite to refuse."

Hitchcock was credited with having the best business deal in television. After the first showing of each of his programs the films revert to his ownership. Subsequent showings and releases abroad are money in the bank.

By the end of the season he will own 11 telefilms outright.

"We've begun releasing the series in France, Germany, England, Japan and Australia," he said. "But unfortunately I can't abuse the sponsor in England as I do here. The government won't allow it."

"Instead I must be satisfied with caustic introductions. But it's not the same thing at all, really. My heart isn't in it."

Many Have Tried

Many top screen directors have undertaken individual TV shows; some have attempted series. But in every case they produced king-sized eggs. Only Hitchcock has pressed to the top.

His own show, "Alfred Hitchcock Presents," is a CBS regular. In addition to juggling the TV efforts, the pink-cheeked Englishman is directing Kim Novak and Jimmy Stewart in "From Amongst the Dead."

"Directing movies and TV takes two totally different types of thinking," he expounded. "A small screen needs no production finesse in things such as setting, lighting and costumes. On a 60-by-40 foot movie screen every detail must be perfect. Therefore, in a TV production I spend my money on players and story."

"I like both jobs," Hitchcock concluded. "And I hope to continue in both mediums as long as I have an appetite for lambchops."

NEWPORT, Ky. — Mrs. Thomas Dickerson, on her 13-year-old football-playing daughter:

"I thought it was a joke when Sharon came in with some boys and said she had made the (Ottawa League boys') football team, but I told her to go ahead and play if she wanted to so badly."

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!

MOVIES—TELEVISION
By Erskine Johnson
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Hollywood on TV. The big "OK Railing Fight at the TV Corral" among all those western heroes this season is a saddle-clinch to revive a question dear to the hearts of small boys and press agents — who has the fastest gun draw?

So today I'm beating all those press agents to the draw with some appropriate quotes from the new home-screen cowpokes.

Asked if he can outdraw Hugh (Wyatt Earp) O'Brian, the star of NBC's new "Wagon Train" series, Bob Horton, grinned:

"In front of the cameras, maybe, but at the bank — No!"

John Payne, debuting in the "Restless Gun" series, says he's reconciled to having the "second fastest gun draw of any cowboy on TV because I know of at least seven actors who claim the first title."

On second thought, I'm sure this will be the season fast-drawing western stars will be worried about the answer to a more vital question — the question of whose sponsor will WITHDRAW from TV after 13 weeks!

ART LINKLETTER is stepping out of his MC role for another straight acting job in a forthcoming GE Theater telefilm, "Kid at the Stick." Art will play a washed-out flier who grabs a control tower mike and safely talks down an 11-year-old boy, forced to take over the controls of a private plane when his father becomes seriously ill. . . . Groucho Marx meets Groucho Marx. If the idea jells, host Groucho will interview contestant Groucho via the old split-screen trick. . . . Elvis Presley's TV asking price has zoomed to $75,000.

Not on the Teleprompter: Roy Huggins, producer of the new "Maverick" western series on ABC-TV Sunday nights: "Our western is so adult we really should be filming it in New York."

THIS IS TV, Mrs. Jones: Overheard: "Why, I saw a western on TV last night so old that John Wayne lost a fight."

There's a family-life television series on the plotting boards when Myrna Loy, the screen's onetime "perfect wife." Talk is about filming the show in New York instead

Smith Became Reporter Over Objections Of His Parents

By DOC QUINN
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — DeLois Smith is a 6-foot-2, 210-pound reporter-by-trade who wears an inquisitive look, from years of questing for real facts behind murders, fires, explosions, and such remarkable human excursions as the Ku Klux Klan, the Lindbergh kidnaping, and the Salk vaccine discovery.

He also has a slight stoop to his big frame from years of bending over desks by day, wrangling with words, and bending his expert ear at night toward record players, concert stages, symphonies, and opera.

And he also is science editor of an institution that shall not here be named — the United Press.

Bathed In Music

This three-way career (he also is U.P. music critic and editor) does not strike him as strange because his overall approach to it is as a reporter, a calling into which he flung himself at age 18 in the early 1920's over his family's violent objections. They were sure he was going to be a Methodist preacher. He thought otherwise. His family, however, had one victory. They bathed him in music, as he says, "practically from birth." And, as he says in the preface of his new book, "Music in Your Life," published by Harper:

"Although it is a private matter, I don't mind saying that if music were taken from my life, the loss would be grievous and, perhaps, insupportable. Privately, I believe the 46 geniuses described in this book are among the greatest human beings who ever existed."

Mozart A Nincampoop

"Indeed, it is my private belief that Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart was the greatest of all human beings. It pains me exquisitely to have to report to you, in my professional capacity, that he was something of a nincampoop."

His approach to this book is strictly reportorial. It presents, in one volume, in a series of intimate portraits, the lives of the 46 greatest musical composers across five centuries, from Palestrina to Gershwin. Smith's interest in them is as human beings — in getting a close, hard look at their lives and personalities. His thesis is that each remained a human being despite his genius.

Army Discipline

Let's clearly understand one thing right at the start. We are NOT in favor of the draft nor of any other kind of involuntary servitude.

But we are growing just a bit apprehensive about the newest fad in what is being called the "democratic" American army. Quite frankly, we don't know just what that word "democratic" has to do with the army, anyway. The democratic process is political, not military. And if a democratic army is what we now have, we can only guess that it means that the men in the service are now in a position to vote for their leaders, and discover by means of ballots just what chores they will do or not do. If it means something else, the meaning escapes us.

But if this is what it means, then we don't have an army. Rather, we have a military club in which, instead of discipline, the fancies and desires of the enlisted and officer personnel are the prime objective.

The newest fad to which we allude, is the business of instituting a court martial against any private or non-com who appears to be a bit tough on the recruits during training.

Now we certainly can't go along with flogging, torture or other cruel and unusual punishments. But if the army is anything, it is a disciplined group of men who have learned to obey even under difficult circumstances. And when we connect up the word "democratic" with the current rash of court martials, we are wondering just what the trend in this man's army has become.

We think, for example, that there is something to be said about the drill instructor's problems, too, as he seeks to turn some soft and silly boys into some tough and trained men who have a little self-reliance and know how to handle themselves in an emergency.

We're not trying to say that the draftees ought to be given the works. We're of the opinion that the army could do a great morale building service for itself if it would call out all the draftees and send them home. Then, if it really means business, it could knock down and pour the heat on the volunteers and we'd come up with a trained and dedicated fighting force on which we could rely right from the beginning.

We've talked to a few of the old-time military men about the problem. Without quoting any of them personally, their opinions are pretty gritty. They say there's too much coddling going on in the ranks now. That the men aren't being toughened up so they can save their own lives and the lives of others. Rather, that the services are tending to go soft and flabby and that anyone who stands and tries for discipline is apt to fight a losing battle which may end in a court martial and disgrace. And these same old-timers give one a wise look, and then ask: "What would the reds want more than softness in our military ranks?"

We know this: The American people are spending billions to establish and maintain the greatest fighting force on earth. But if the individual fighting man isn't there by choice, if he can successfully avoid discipline, if he can insist on the democratic process and get his superiors into difficulties by means of political know-how, then we're under an illusion if we think we've got a great fighting aggregation ready to swap punches with any enemy who comes along.

Sure, we've got the equipment. But equipment as yet doesn't run itself. It takes men to do the work and those men have to be disciplined and tough.

So it's a bit difficult for us to understand how a drill instructor can find himself fined, imprisoned or busted from his rank simply because he insisted on obedience to an order and when he didn't get it, took steps to see that he got it the next time.

It seems to us that our government army is beginning to copy the curriculum and methods of our government schools. For some years now, progressivism in the schools has played havoc both with discipline and with learning. If the newest policy in the armed services is to let the recruits do what comes naturally, sooner or later, we're going to be in some real trouble.

As we see it, the fellow who volunteers to serve in the armed forces, has volunteered to submit to discipline. And so long as he wasn't forced into joining up, we think discipline is what he ought to get. If we've got to have an army—and that could be a subject for another debate—let's have a good one.

USUAL WEIGHT GAIN IN PREGNANCY IS SET BETWEEN 18 AND 20 POUNDS

Since something like four million babies are born in the United States alone each year, today's first question is of considerable interest to large numbers of women.

Q—What is the average weight gain at pregnancy? I have gained 20 pounds in the first six months. —Mrs. W. H.

A—It is common practice for physicians to set a limit to the weight which their patients should gain during pregnancy. Limited weight gain adds to the patient's comfort and improves her appearance. It makes return to "normal weight" easier after the child is born. It also is said to lessen the chances of complications for both mother and child. The usual limit of weight gain is set between 18-20 pounds. However, many physicians arrive at the desirable weight by adding 20 pounds to the ideal weight for the patient's age and height.

Q—I am 35 and have had a complete removal of my organs, including the ovaries. I have many hot flashes and wonder if these will subside in time. —Mrs. E.

A—When it is necessary to remove the ovaries in this type of operation at the age 35 a surgical or premature menopause is produced. This will bring about the same symptoms as are likely to occur normally 10 years or so later. Such symptoms as those mentioned can often be considerably relieved by giving suitable quantities of endocrine preparations (hormones). They will almost certainly subside with time.

Q—I have been having trouble because my breasts are getting bigger and bigger. I seem to be able to lose weight everywhere else and would like to know if there is a safe way to reduce their size. —Mrs. P.

A—I do not know of any method which I could recommend except the possibility in some instances of surgery.

Q—I have just been informed that I have a bone disease called osteoporosis. Can you tell me anything about this? —Mrs. L. L.

A—This is a bone disease of obscure origin which is sometimes hereditary or runs in families. There is an increase in the density

The Editorial Policy We Have For The Community

I made a talk the other day before the Lion's Club of Santa Ana. They asked me to talk on the editorial policy we have for the community. Since the editorial policy is the same for all newspapers under the control of Freedom Newspapers, and this newspaper being one of the eleven, what I had to say applies to this newspaper as well as the others.

I said: "The editorial policy we have for our community is a good subject because those who buy the paper have a right to know whether your employe, the newspaper in your community, is helping bring about the aspirations of the Lion's Club as set forth in their six objectives.

"You might not like some of our policies but you certainly are not kept in the dark as to what they are. It seems to me that the publisher of a newspaper or any person holding a position of trust can better serve mankind by making it easy for those interested to know what his policies are. This is so because if they are bad policies and he does not even know they are harmful policies, then those who are also trying to promote a good society will take the time and energy to point out how his policies, if continued, will result in the opposite from what he expects. That they will injure others rather than help them. If his policies are not definite and concrete, others will not know what they are and thus make no effort to help him correct his errors.

"Most of our trouble undoubtedly comes from good people with the best of intentions. I cannot believe that energetic citizens will knowingly advocate a policy that will injure their children and future generations.

"The Lion's policies are all so sound that the more they are publicized, the better.

"It would appear the second one—to promote the theory and practice of principles of good government and good citizenship—is a good summary of the six provided we properly understand the meaning of good.

"It is hard to think of any better way of bringing about a rational understanding of good citizenship than the means used by the Lion's Club—to provide a forum for the full and free discussion of all matters of public interest. If we had more of these kinds of discussions, all of us would greatly benefit spiritually and materially.

"In brief, our policy is, of course, to give the news fairly and impartially and to try to promote in the community the belief in liberty—liberty meaning respecting human initiative to create, and put another way—the absence of aggressive force.

"Since one cannot reason as to what is good without having a principle that is good from which to compare, it is necessary to set down these principles:

They are: the Coveting Commandment, the Love Commandment, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence, which is the spirit of our Constitution. These principles are all in harmony with each other. Any act that is in agreement with these principles is good. If it is not, it is bad.

"It does not help to understand what is good to be simply told that 'I do not agree with you' without giving the reasons for disagreement.

"To do so is in effect saying, 'I am the standard of good.' It helps neither party.

"It is our policy first to try ourselves to better understand them. We do not have all the answers as to their meaning. We think we have to will to try to understand them. We want our readers to help us better understand them. We want our newspaper to be a forum for the citizens of the community to promote more general acceptance of them. When we violate any of them we want our violations pointed out publicly or privately. Each and every person has as much responsibility as we do, to do the best he can to help create faith in these moral laws. It is our policy to publish letters from persons in the community that point collective acts we or others do that violate these laws and thus are harmful to the community.

The editorial policy tries to specifically outline what a good citizen should not advocate or do. It is much easier to see what is wrong with a person should not do than what he should. Remember, all the Commandments, but one are 'Thou shalt not.' Every person being different, it is difficult to be specific on how he can best serve himself, his God and his fellowman.

Some Say Anti-3rd Term Amendment Was Unwise

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Has the fact that President Eisenhower cannot run for a third term, which frees him of political pressures and commitments, had an effect on his recent domestic and foreign policies, including his use of Federal troops in Little Rock and his shipment of arms to the turbulent Middle East?

When Eisenhower was asked a question to that effect at a press conference, he shrugged it off as irrelevant. He doubted, however, that his ineligibility as a candidate or third-term President was responsible for Republican opposition to his legislative program at the last session of Congress, or for the growing criticism of his Administration among conservatives.

Many students of the Presidency and practical observers differ. They believe that Eisenhower's lack of concern for his political future has influenced his actions. Indeed, their analysis tends to substantiate the prevalent belief that the Anti-Third Term Amendment to the Constitution was unwise from the long-range standpoint.

SUBCONSCIOUS THOUGHTS—They do not suggest that mean, petty partisan considerations have consciously motivated the President's attitude and actions. But they contend that these subconscious thoughts must affect any man in the White House.

Even with the deepest dedication to the responsibilities of his office, a Chief Executive looking forward to enforced retirement from politics will behave differently from a man who wants to cling to the office — a Franklin D. Roosevelt, for instance.

Thus, it is possible that Eisenhower's handling of the Little Rock controversy might have been different, if he could run again. He might have sought alternative solutions to the despatch of fully armed Federal soldiers to this Southern city. For this spectacle has horrified even people who sympathize with the President and denounce the tactics of Governor Orval Faubus.

OTHER POSSIBLE ACTION—The President could have — and many believe that he should have — called into conference Southern leaders, including Governors, and planned a more gradual schedule of integration. He could have consulted educators and civic spokesmen from that section.

He could have suggested that a Federal jurist emphasize the word, "deliberate" rather than the word, "speed" in the Supreme Court's fateful decision. With public statements or speeches, he could have provided more constructive a leadership, as Presidents have frequently done in crises of this gravity.

His final decision, although pleasing to extremists and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, does not appear to have had favorable political results. He does not seem to have won Northern Negroes to the GOP standard. It is generally agreed that he has not played smart politics for himself or for the Party.

STATE PROSECUTION OF LABOR ABUSES

(Chicago Tribune)

Labor Secretary Mitchell sees the outstanding feature of Senate hearings on labor racketeers to be "a shocking failure of local law enforcement." He said in Chicago that the extortion and bribery disclosed by the McClellan committee couldn't be cured by more federal legislation.

"What is necessary," he said, "is a tightening of local law enforcement—the enforcement of statutes already on the books. It is a crime in New York to extort money from an employer, but apparently Johnny Dio and his fellow hoodlums have been doing it."

We go just about half way with Mr. Mitchell. We have frequently pointed out, when federal authorities disclosed graft and crime in the labor movement and successfully prosecuted some of the offenders, that federal intervention would be as unnecessary as it is undesirable if local officials did their duty.

It may be, as he asserts, that we need no new federal legislation. But what we do need is the repeal of some federal laws and the reversal of some federal administrative and judicial policies that render union crooks and tyrants so powerful that they can laugh at local prosecutors.

The Taft-Hartley act forbids political contributions by unions, just as it does contributions by corporations and national banks. That is a federal statute, to be enforced by federal prosecutors in federal courts. The prohibition, as it applies to unions, has been rendered meaningless by a dozen transparent subterfuges. Jimmy Hoffa admitted at the Senate inquiry that he had spent union money on political contests, not merely in Michigan, where the union locals that he rules are situated, but in areas a thousand miles or more from Michigan.

The question of repealing the Anti-Third Term Amendment will command many supporters in the next Congress.

HOW TO BOSS YOUR WIFE!

By GEORGE PECK

Anyone who has read my column over a period of time must know that I'm rather prejudiced against tax-eating public (political) development of electric power; and, on the other hand, am prepossessed in favor of letting profit-making, tax-paying free enterprise companies take care of the nation's electricity needs.

Not even the most ardent proponent of public power development has ever been able to justify the robbing of Peur to pay Paul which takes place when government sticks its messy fingers into business that constitutionally belongs to private endeavor. That's exactly what transpires when government builds a power dam in one state and taxes the people in all the other 47 states to help pay for it. Personally, while I feel nothing but liking for the people outside my own State of Florida, that liking doesn't stretch far enough to make me relish paying a part of their electric current bills.

Frankly, it must be admitted that all investor-owned public utilities and all of their executives are not always 100 percent fair in their dealings with the consuming public. As in every line of endeavor, there has been, and still is a small minority that is not without sin. But for the most part they deal fairly and honestly with the citizens they serve. Cases of unfair tactics are a rarity, and are promptly halted by state regulatory commissions.

And so, I like the investor-owned electric companies and the men who manage them. They protect me from further assault by Uncle Sam's tax gatherers—they put into the tax-pot, while the government projects take out. Recently, as an extra bonus, one of these companies, the Florida Power & Light Company, sent me a little folder. It hands out some very sage advice seasoned with humor. I'd like to share this pamphlet with my readers. It bears the title: "HOW TO BOSS YOUR WIFE!" and reads as follows:

1. BEAT HER...to the punch, anticipate her moods. Surprise her with unexpected gifts now and then. That's thoughtfulness!

2. OUT-TALK HER...Sweet talk that is, Talk fast and loud when you praise her. Make her know you think she's wonderful. That's tact!

3. BE A DOUBLE-DEALER... Double up on things to do for her. Be twice as nice when things go wrong. That's kindness!

4. GET TOUGH... Insist on giving her candy and flowers. Make her buy a new hat now and then. Force her to let you help around the house. But don't try to make her over. That's appreciation!

5. BE FORGETFUL... Forget to argue when you feel you're right. Forget how to be mean, nagging, critical. But never forget birthdays and anniversaries—the important dates of her life. That's consideration!

ABOVE ALL... Remember you won that wonderful gal by being good to her—by concentrating on the things she likes. The same treatment will still work wonders with her! That's how to BOSS your wife.

The Florida Power & Light Company pamphlet didn't say so, but it could well have added that if all husbands were to boss their wives as per this prescription; and if all wives were to adopt a like thoughtful, tactful, kind, appreciative and considerate attitude toward their mates, Reno and the other divorce mills would go out of business for lack of customers.

So, here's a company that is not content with just spreading "light" over a large section of Florida. It has a "burning" desire also to engender marital bliss in the homes that it "lights." More "power" to it!

"That brings me to the end of this somewhat unorthodox article. I'm going home now to boss, in the manner prescribed by the Florida Power & Light Company, the little lady who darns my socks and sews on my buttons (sometimes). Won't she be surprised!

and hundreds of utter strangers who recognized a good thing when they saw it.

The amazing part of this shopping service is that Mary reveals in it. She works the stores, the antique shops, the factories, and the "flea" markets from dawn to dusk, and only complains when she is unable to find a particular article that one of her "clients" wants.

I didn't object to this generous gift of her time at first, when she had only three or four hundred "customers" to stay on the prowl for. But now that number has reached well into the thousands—so it seems—she has pressed the into service, and I can't call my time my own.

I have just come in from an eight-hour search for tiles, wanted by a woman in Sioux Falls, who heard about Mary through a second cousin of a friend who knows a girl who was a sorority sister of Mary's. Not just any tiles would do. They had to be inexpensive, of the very best workmanship, hand-painted, have a vegetable design suitable for use in the kitchen, and be of just the right shade so they would go with the curtains and dish towels.

In my search I saw more tiles in one day than a second-story burglar does in a lifetime of prowling the roof tops. But if they were real cheap, they didn't have vegetables, and if they were both inexpensive, hand-painted, and alive with vegetables, they were the wrong color to go with the lady's curtains.

Mary and I hardly see one another any more. It is late in the afternoon, but she is still out, and probably will be out until dinner time, because she is looking for door knobs with flowers on them. A lady in Philadelphia wants as many as Mary can find, provided, of course, they are extremely reasonable.

Tomorrow—unless I continue my chase for the tiles—my assignment is to locate a genuine antique map of Europe large enough to cover a library wall, a Victorian wash bowl and pitcher set (blue and white), and a headlight for an old Bugatti roadster. All of these are wanted by a couple in Columbus, Ga.

Mary, provided she gets the door knobs today, will spend tomorrow roosting around in junk shops in search of some old, old, but still serviceable cake molds for a woman in Buffalo.

I'll say one thing for Mary—she is a good locator. She has come up with some odd items, one of them being a wooden cherub about two feet high, who wears a scowl instead of the usual smile. Just why the lady in New London, Conn., wants an unhappy cherub is beyond me.

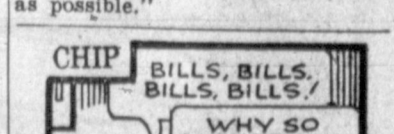

Get your letter off tonight! Remember it costs nothing, this service. Join the thousands who are already happy members!

We are making progress. But in what direction? When the Csars sent their enemies to Siberia, we called it BRUTAL TYRANNY. But when Khrushchev sends his friends there, we call it a MERCIFUL PURGE.

Sports Roundup

By CHARLES CULLIN
Pampa News Sports Editor

The Harvesters lost Friday night to a powerful Wichita Falls team, but according to the Wichita Times Sports Editor, Bill Youngblood, showed strength in many of their offensive drives.

Youngblood, who covered the game for the Times, said that in his experience of seeing Wichita in two past seasons, Pampa was one of the few teams who kept battling to the end of the game.

Next Friday night the Harvesters will travel to Amarillo to encounter the Palo Duro Dons. The Dons have previously defeated Midland, 13-2, and Bowie of El Paso, 33-7.

The Area Scene
One surprise occurred yesterday on the area grid scene as the Panhandle Panthers downed LeFors, 21-13. The Panthers won their first game of the season as they surprised the LeFors squad in their homecoming game.

STILL OUTSTANDING on the Pirates team however, was quarterback Tommy Johnson, who scored all 13 of the LeFors points, in addition to adding a vital part to the Buccaneer defense.

Johnson is valuable in that he is consecutively a leading ground gainer; as well as an able engineer for the team. And one of the best things about Johnson is the fact that he is only a junior this year, with one more year of eligibility remaining.

WHITE DEER added their fifth straight victory Friday night with their high-scoring win over McLean. The Bucks seem to be gaining momentum, and have definitely established themselves as a threat to Stinnett's state crown.

Major League Baseball
In line with the World Series, a few stories have come into the office relating to the expert sign stealing that takes place in major league games.

Any discussion among old-timers of the art of signalling, the secret language of baseball, always brings recollection of the occasional falls that modest Walter Johnson suffered at the hands of batters who had no business in the same park with him.

LSU Drops Tech, 19-14

LUBBOCK, Tex., Oct. 5 (UP)—Halifax Billy Cannon, running like a guided missile, returned a kickoff 97 yards early in the fourth quarter to bring the LSU Tigers a tough 19-14 victory over Texas Tech tonight before 18,000 fans.

Cannon saved the Tigers from apparent defeat with his second long touchdown ramble of the game. The underdog Raiders had scored first, dropped behind and then marched 73 yards to take a 14-13 lead after 78 seconds of the fourth quarter.

But the first victory of the season was denied by Cannon. He took the kickoff on his own 3, headed straight down the middle and received airtight blocking. Not a hand was laid on him as he sped to the touchdown.

Tech opened the scoring with 14 seconds left in the first quarter when fullback Floyd Cole hammered five yards for the touchdown. That capped a 75-yard quarter that ate up 10 plays and quarterback Jerry Bell, who directed the drive, converted.

The second quarter was marred by fumbles on the part of both teams, but late in the canto, the Tigers started to move after a short kick by Tech that was returned by Cannon from the Raider 41 to the Tech 32. Quarterback Win Turner passed to halfback J. W. Brodnax, who got to the 10.

Three passes were incomplete, but Turner found halfback Johnny Robins in the end zone on fourth down and fullback Jimmy Taylor's conversion tied the score with 78 seconds.

Late in the third quarter, LSU stopped a Tech drive on its own 25 and gobbled up 75 yards on four plays. After a first down on the LSU 36, Brodnax found Cannon in the clear on the 50 and the swift halfback lighted the sidelines, the remaining distance, tackled by Bobby Cline blocked Taylor's extra point.

The Raiders carried the drive on their own 27 to the LSU one as the quarter ended. Two line smashes failed, but Bell slipped over on the third try and halfback Milton Vaughn converted with only 78 seconds gone to give Tech a 14-13 lead.

That set the stage for Cannon's brilliant ramble and brought the Tigers' third second victory against one loss. The Raiders scored for the first time this season, but remain winless in three games.

White Deer added their fifth straight victory Friday night with their high-scoring win over McLean. The Bucks seem to be gaining momentum, and have definitely established themselves as a threat to Stinnett's state crown.

Okla State Pounds By Wichita, 26-0

STILLWATER, Okla., Oct. 5 (UP)—Oklahoma State, featuring two pass-happy sophomores, Dick Soergel and Dave Cross, methodically cut down Wichita 26-0 today before 15,000 spectators.

With 13 seconds remaining to be played, Soergel hit end Jim Wood behind the Wichita secondary and the lanky end raced 75 yards to wrap up the scoring. In the third period, Soergel had zeroed in on a 27-yard scoring pass.

Cross started the Oklahomans' scoring in the second period by directing a 52 yard drive in eight plays for the touchdown. Cross hit halfback Jim Wiggins with two passes in a row good for 28 yards in the drive, then lateraled to halfback Tony Banfield who faked an end sweep and tossed over for six more yards to Wiggins. Wiggins made nine at center and Cross ran the keeper twice to the Wichita 2. From there Wiggins took a pitchout across.

Halfback John Jacob converted twice for the Oklahomans, who for all practical purposes have no conference ties this year but will join in Big Eight competition in 1960.

Yanks Loose Batting Power On Six Milwaukee Pitchers In 12-3 Victory

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE, Oct. 5 (UP)—Don (Perfect Game) Larsen, a master in World Series heroics, walked out of the bull-pen shadows today to pitch seven and one-third relaxed relief innings as the New York Yankees murdered the Milwaukee Braves, 12-3, in the third game of the classic.

The Yankees, jumping into a two-to-one game lead before a bitterly disappointed partisan Braves' crowd of 45,804, turned their vaunted power loose on a parade of six Milwaukee pitchers and a nine-hit attack sparked by Tony Kubek's two home runs and an out-of-the-park blast by sore-legged Mickey Mantle.

Hank Aaron, the National League home run champion, chipped in with one for the Braves. And Johnny Logan's leadoff single in the fifth stopped Larsen after he had retired seven men in a row to run his string of consecutive World Series outs to 34—added to the 27 he set down in his no-hit, no-run game against the Dodgers last year.

Brave Fans Squirm
But this was small consolation to the Braves' rooters—seeing the first World Series game in Milwaukee's baseball history. They squirmed as the Braves filled the bases four times and got only one run out of it and howled dismally as 14 strands of Milwaukee battersners tied a series record set 47 years ago by the Chicago Cubs.

Losers Bob Buhl, the husky former paratrooper who lasted only two-thirds of an inning, and the five hurlers who followed him to the mound for Milwaukee further flustered their fans by issuing a total of 11 walks for another unwanted record. It tied a mark set by the Yankees last Oct. 5 against Brooklyn.

Bob Turley, who lasted only one and two-thirds innings as the Yankee starter, issued four of the eight walks given to Milwaukee for a two-team total of 19 which broke by three the record set in 1936 by the Yankees and Giants.

Kubek Stars
So it in no way could be classed as a pitcher's battle, with the Braves getting eight hits—and Larsen giving up five of them as he failed to match that perfect pace of a year ago. Yet he moved comfortably and without too much strain in posting his victory.

Kubek, the 20-year-old Milwaukeean who left home to make good, started the Yankees off in the first inning when with one away he pumped a home run over the right field fence at the 355-foot mark.

ning which routed Buhl and sent the Yanks off winging, shaking Buhl so much that he walked Mantle and Yogi Berra in order. Mickey, dancing off second base despite a painful left leg, slipped and Gubi fired to Red Schoendienst covering second. Mantle slid in under the throw. Schoendienst falling atop him, and the ball rolled into center field.

Red Pins Mickey
Schoendienst laid on the recumbent Mantle, pinning him to the ground, while Aaron sped in from center to recover Gubi's error. But Berra, hung up between first and second waiting for Mantle to rise and go, yelled Mickey to feet and Mantle finally dashed on to third while Yogi slid head first into second.

Mantle scored when Gil McDougald lifted a long fly to center. Yogi holding second, Harry Simpson then singled over second, scoring Yogi, and that was all for Buhl. He was replaced by Juan Pizarro, a 19-year-old Puerto Rican, who retired the side.

Milwaukee, with its fans screaming madly, filled the bases in both the first and second innings but could get only one run out of it. That came, in the second inning when they got rid of Turley, and to their misfortune, drew Larsen.

Turley Takes Walk
Turley took the long walk to the showers when he opened the second by walking Bob Hazle and then yielded a single to Del Rice which sent the "Hurricane" roaring into second. With Schoendienst up, Turley heaved a wild pitch into the dirt on which Hazle went to third and the slow-running Rice held at first. Schoendienst brought down the house with a single to right which scored Hazle and sent Rice to second.

Bullet Bob hitched up his pants and sent Logan down on a called third strike but then filled the bases by walking Mathews—and took a walk himself to the showers. The crowd boomed lustily as Stengel called in Larsen and he ended it by getting Aaron on a fly to Bauer.

The Yankees padded their edge to 5 to 1 with two more in the third. Mantle singled to center and took third as Yogi singled to right. McDougald grounded to third, Mathews running down Mantle as Berra took second and McDougald was safe at first. Elston Howard batted for Simpson and drew a bases-filling walk.

Yogi's Jerry Lumpe came through with a single to right which scored Berra and McDougald and moved Howard to third. But towering Gene Conney came to replace Pizarro and retire the side without further damage.

Texas Aggies Clip Missouri, 28-0

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 5 (UP)—Four Texas Aggies, headed by Bobby Conrad who ran a kickoff back 91 yards, cracked through Missouri's off-and-on defense to down the Tigers 28-0 today for their straight victory of the year.

Missouri, which got as close as the Aggie 10-yard line only once, found its defense first solid, then leady, as coach Frank Broyles absorbed his first defeat.

The Aggies, ranked fourth in the nation, scored 14 points in the second period and sealed the game with Conrad's long run to open the third period. Other scoring was by fullback Richard Gay on a one-yard plunge; by left half Roddy Osborne on a six-yard pass from Charlie Milstead; and by Bobby Marks on a six-yard pass from Osborne.

Missouri's lone scoring chance faded late in the game after the Tigers had earned a first down just inside the Aggie 10. Three straight passes failed, and on the fourth, sophomore quarterback Phil Snowden fumbled the ball on the 15. The third pass in the unsuccessful series was caught by end Dale Pidcock in the end zone, but he fumbled it immediately.

Milstead's passing proved a valuable asset for the Aggies, who rolled up 254 yards rushing to only 96 for Missouri. Milstead hit six of nine tosses for 65 yards. Conrad had 92 yards rushing to lead in that department. Milstead also hit the conversions like clock work.

Aggie halfback flash John Crow entered the game briefly in the first half but carried only three times for 13 yards. Coach Bear

Owls Smother Stanford, 34-7

OXFORD, Miss., Oct. 5 (UP)—Mississippi's first stringers spotted Hardin-Simmons a touchdown today before the second team pulled the throttle on a blazing offense to crush the outgunned Texans, 34-7.

Billy Brewer, a third string quarterback, led a bunch of strong stringers off the Mississippi bench after two Rebel drives bogged down and the Cowboys had scored in the first six minutes.

The 23-year-old sophomore guided a 62-yard touchdown drive to help the Rebels live up to their rating as a top Southeastern Conference team.

The big, fast Mississippi first team then got the idea and Hardin-Simmons no longer had a chance against the Rebels' manpower.

Junior halfback Kent Lovelace crossed the goal twice, once to wrap up a second string drive and again off a bullet pass. Fullback Billy Hurst, sophomore end George Gregory and guard Jackie Simpson also scored.

Spahn, 21-11 during the National League season, was beaten, 3-1, in the opening game of this series. He had a previous series record of 1-1 in the 1946 classic.

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 5 (UP)—Rice Institute's man-under-due of King Hill and Frank Ryan ran and passed the Owls to a 34-7 victory over flashy Stanford before a home debut crowd of 54,000 fans in Rice Stadium tonight.

Fullback Clovis Shipp connected with Bill Brashears on a pass play for 54 yards to score Pampa's only touchdown Friday night as they fell to the powerful Wichita Falls team, 39-7, in Coyote Stadium.

Having an unlucky break at the beginning, the Harvesters completed a pass on the first play from Don Bigham to Jess Ingle that moved the ball 47 yards to the Coyote 20-yard line, but he had the play called back on a penalty.

On the second play of the game, Kirby Groves of Wichita Falls intercepted a pass on the Pampa 28 and three plays later fullback David Allred went off right tackle nine yards for the first Coyote score. End Dennis Lynch booted for the extra point.

Both teams then remained scoreless until the waning seconds of the initial period when Groves skirted right end for 12 yards and the second Wichita Falls touchdown. Lynch's try for the extra failed.

Again in the second quarter, the Coyotes capitalized on breaks when lineman Charles Edgmon recovered a Pampa fumble on the 28-yard mark. On the first play after Allred dashed off right tackle for his second touchdown of the evening, Lynch booted to end the half, 20-0.

On the opening kickoff, Wichita moved the ball 73 yards in 11 plays, climaxed by an 11-yard run around right end by Groves for the score. Lynch again kicked for the point after.

In the final period, Wichita again pushed a sustained 70-yard drive, capped by Allred over from the one for the touchdown. The final Coyote score came midway in the fourth when wingback James Holder raced 68 yards to the end zone.

Pampa's score came in the final period when Shipp, from the Pampa 45, hit Brashears on the Wichita Falls 48-yard line, where Brashears galloped the remainder of the distance for the score. Shipp then carried over for the extra point.

Sooners Blast Past Iowa State, 40-14

By BOB HAUGHT
United Press Sports Writer
NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 5 (UP)—Oklahoma put down worrisome Iowa State, 40-14, today to open its 1957 Big Eight Conference campaign with consecutive victories.

Playing its first home game before a crowd of 55,000 who came expecting to see another Oklahoma runaway, Coach Bud Wilkinson's top-rated team had to fight at times to squelch the determined single-wing crew of Jim Myers.

Iowa State almost matched Oklahoma in yards gained and first downs. Wilkinson had to leave his reserves on the bench, using only three teams.

Iowa State could claim some glory. It scored on Oklahoma, defending national champions, for the first time since 1951.

Long Run Big Thrill
An 81-yard touchdown run by halfback Jackie Sandefere late in the game was the biggest thrill for the Sooners. Up to then, Oklahoma had scored on short drives.

Horned Frogs Drop In First SW Battle

The Razorbacks capped long drives in the second and final periods and capitalized on a Horned Frog fumble in the first quarter to engineer the win. The Razorbacks, outweighted by the husky, sophomore-laden Frogs, countered with lightning thrusts from fullback Gerald Nesbitt and halfbacks Don Stone and Don Horton with devastating results.

It was the Arkansas' first victory over TCU in War Memorial Stadium here. Arkansas' last conference loss was to the same TCU team here in 1951.

Texas Christian's lone score came in the final play of the first quarter. The touchdown came when left halfback Jimmy Shofner sliced off right tackle for five yards. The Texas Christian tally ended a 65-yard, 14 play drive.

Fullback Jack Spikes converted. Arkansas' first touchdown came four plays after left guard Jerry Ford fell on a TCU fumble on the Frogs 10. Razorback left halfback Donnie Stone skirted his right end and scampered over standing up.

Arkansas again tallied with 11:15 left in the second quarter to cap a 74-yard, 8-play drive, sending Nesbitt across right tackle. Nesbitt converted.

Texas Christian's third period moved the ball well in the third period, but was hindered by penalties.

Arkansas quarterback Don Christian completed Razorback scoring in the final quarter on a keeper play around left end. The tally ended a 69-yard march which used up 15 plays. This time Nesbitt's extra point attempt was wide.

Blackhawks Slip By Perryton Rangers In 19-12 Battle

(Special to The News)
PERRYTON, Oct. 5 — The Perryton Rangers dropped a hard fought close battle to the heavily-favored Phillips Blackhawks, 19-12, Friday night.

As the game ended the Rangers pushed over the badly needed score, but failed to receive credit for the touchdown by a matter of seconds, as game time had elapsed.

The entire first half was spent in exchanges of the ball, with neither team able to penetrate.

Phillips broke the 0-0 deadlock in the third period when halfback John Adkisson charged over from the four-yard line. The extra attempt failed.

The Rangers rebounded in the same quarter as quarterback Harold Shifflett connected with end Howard Swink on a 70-yard aerial to tie the game.

In the waning moments of the third, Phillips went ahead again as John Cook plowed over from the one-foot line.

In the final period, Adkisson rounded end from the six for the final Phillips TD, and Don Gaines booted for the extra point.

The last Perryton score came later in the fourth when Don Seymour went over from the four-yard line.

As time ran out on the contest, the Rangers were on the Phillips three-yard mark, and a play that couldn't be counted because of time, was pushed into the end zone.

In the opening minutes of the third period, Larry Schaeff blocked a Gruver punt and Bucky Price recovered in the end zone for the third Wildcat score, with Grist plowing over center for the point after.

Peg O' Pampa

ALL WEEK LONG Peg has been eyeing her brand new typewriter with anticipation . . . hoping that the newness of the machine would instill some new ideas . . . and brilliant thoughts in Peg's mind . . . in fact, we examined the typewriter carefully . . . looking for a Peg button that would roll out a column a week complete . . . no such luck . . . so with her ten flexible fingers . . . and her inflexible brain . . . she will have to rely on the tried and true . . . more and more Peg is gaining new respect for those columnists who must punch out a column a day . . . she often asks, "how in the world do they do it?" . . . and a still, small voice replies . . . brains, my dear, and talent . . . completely devoid of these basic ingredients, thus, Peg begins . . . but before we leave the subject of brains and talent, we certainly did enjoy Bill Neal's article about Helene Huff in last Sunday's issue . . . Peg has to squeeze her mind real tight to imagine those rip-roaring westerns emanating from such a gentle person . . . and the same is true for Evelyn Nace and her mystery stories . . . hear that Wanda Jay Campbell is working on a new book . . . Peg thinks her recent book, "Museum Mystery," should be placed in the Palo Duro Gift Shop at the Canyon . . . along with the biography of Charles Goodnight . . . would make an excellent gift suggestion for those thousands of people who visit the canyon . . . as well as spread our lore all over the country . . . Peg sounds like a book-agent, doesn't she? . . . but there is a girl with Brains, Talent, and Beauty . . . that old adage, them has has gits, still holds true, it seems.

ALL OF YOU Bridge enthusiasts better sharpen up your systems . . . be it Goren, Blackwood . . . or Culbertson . . . for Peg hears that the Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi is planning a Bridge Party in the City Club Room later on in October . . . with the public invited . . . for a fee, of course . . . you can make up a table at the party . . . or take your own favorite foursome with you . . . should be a lot of fun . . . and a nice affair . . . Jane Kadingo and Martha Holt . . . those good scouts in Scouting . . . were in Dallas this week attending a President's meeting . . . Peg heard that there were 400 or more Girl Scouts, their parents and friends at the Girl Scout Round-Up last week . . . a good crowd, good food, and a fine program put on by the girls . . . Peg must remember to tune to Channel 10 Monday afternoon at 4:30 . . . when some of our local dancers will present a program on the Nick Reyes Show . . . Glenda Finkelstein . . . Sara Gordon . . . Anita Guidry . . . Carmelita Hogan . . . Maynette Loftus . . . Phyllis Parker . . . Liuda Moore . . . and Susie Fillman . . . all pupils of Jeanne Willingham . . . have been practicing like mad all week . . . to give a good performance before the "magic red eye" . . . this just the first in a series of programs to be given by pupils of Jeanne's . . . the other day a friend of Peg's pointed out Gene Chance . . . the new football coach for the Junior High team . . . he is a bachelor, girls, and so handsome . . . wonder how he has escaped feminine matrimonial maneuvers for this long? . . . the Roger McConnells are moving out on Dogwood this next week . . . she has that Antiquity Den between here and Borger, you know . . . Peg has heard that she has some lovely, lovely antiques . . . that Peg would love to see . . . always meant to stop as we zoomed by . . . Glenn and Odefern are moving into their home.

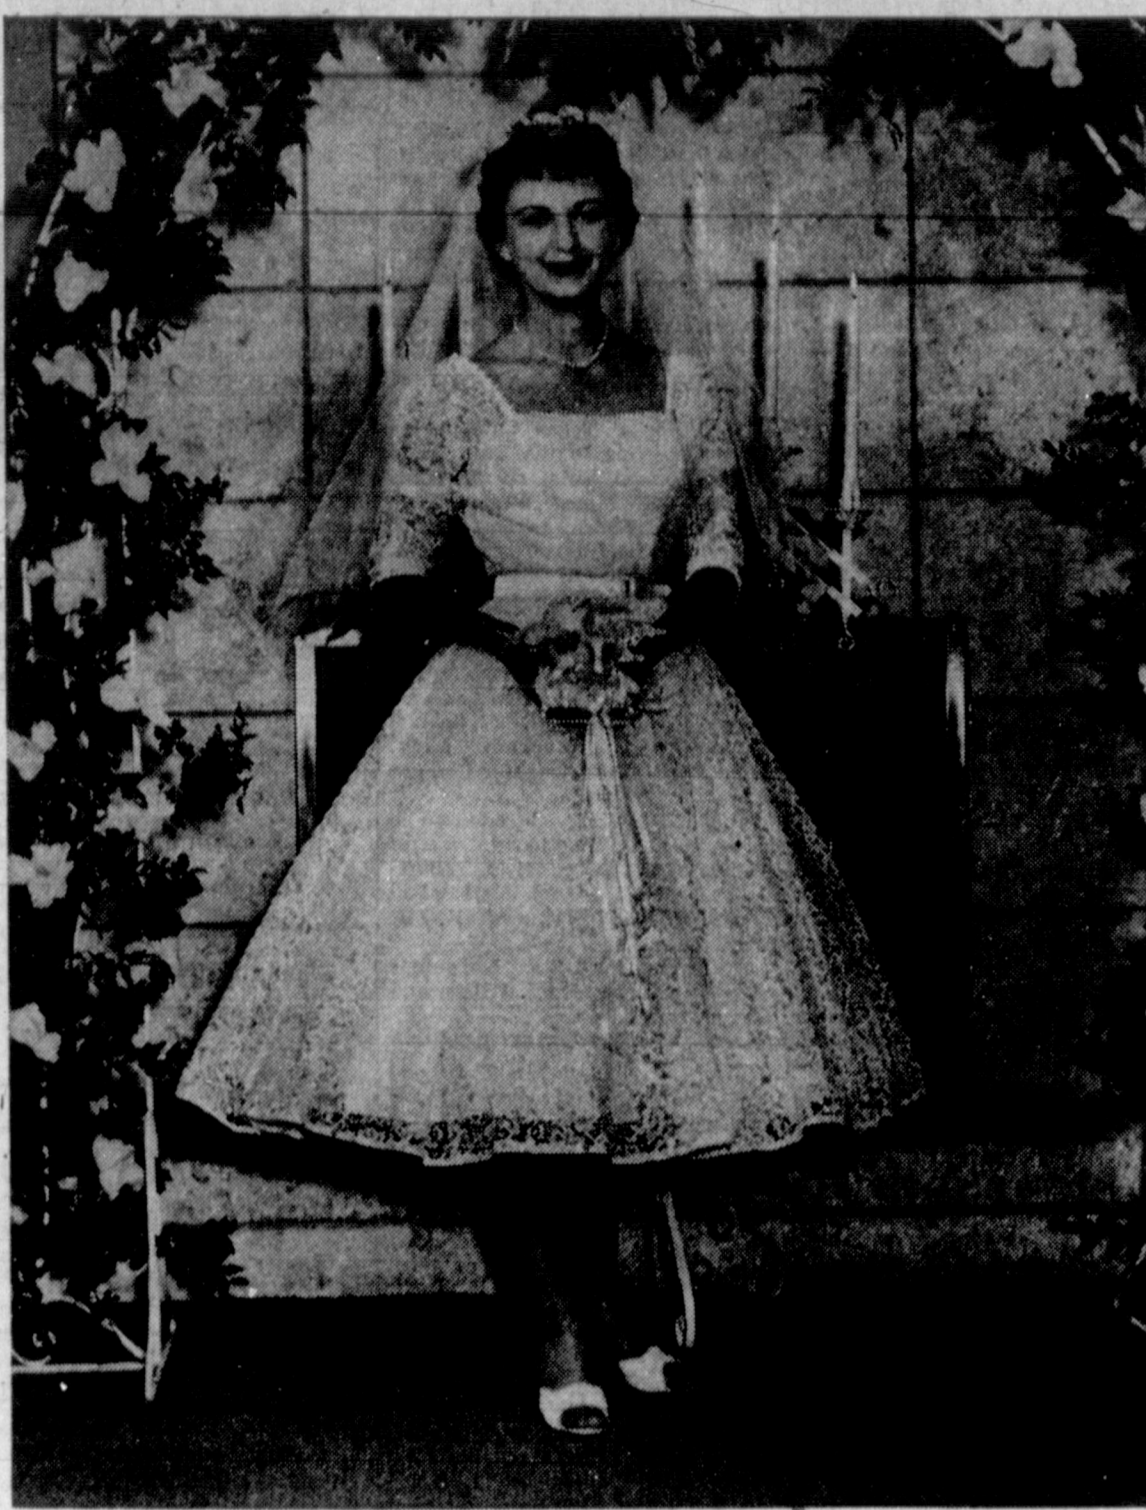

REMEMBER THAT poem by Helen Hunt Jackson . . . that goes something like this . . . "O suns and skies and clouds of June . . . And flowers of June together . . . Ye cannot rival for one hour . . . October's bright blue weather" . . . that is a perfect description of our weather for the past few days . . . rather on the warmish side, though . . . Peg is all for October being nippy and brisk . . . Speaking of fall . . . which brings to mind parties . . . of course, now, Peg thinks of parties in the fall, winters, spring or summer . . . but one particular one she thinks of now is the lovely party two charming hostess . . . Johnnie Donaldson and Betty Henderson gave to entertain their friends . . . a luncheon and Bridge . . . in the delightful setting of Johnnie's new home . . . it was good to see all of the girls after a summer of vagabond living . . . the tempo seems to be picking up . . . for entertaining again for a round of three parties were Ruth Gilliland and Sally Butler . . . my! all those pretty fall flowers and dressed-up gals . . . Peg had better start brushing up her bridge . . . if this whirl continues . . . what talent this town does have . . . in its young people . . . take for instance, the capable seniors . . . who are directing three plays this month . . . Heidi Schneider is directing "More Perfect Union" with Jackie Fikes, Marquetta Cargile . . . and Kay Kolasha sharing the honors for lead parts . . . Pat Jones will be directing "Mind-Set" . . . and Bobby Brown, "Leader of the People" . . . Sounds like some pretty good theater is to be presented this fall in the high school.

TAKE ME OUT to the ball game . . . and thanks to some electronic genius . . . that is exactly where Peg has been this week . . . between the hours of noon and 2:30 . . . and so has Lulu Kuhn . . . Hazel Nation . . . and Mildred Smith . . . to say nothing of dozens more . . . who are staying glued to their TV sets these days . . . watching the New York Yankees and Milwaukee Braves slug it out . . . there seems to be a terrific urge for the Braves to win . . . in keeping no doubt, with the American tradition . . . of being for the under-dog . . . plucking a juicy tid-bit from Peg's grapevine of news reveals that Audie and Annie Wade . . . of out Charles Way . . . have a nice week end coming up on the 18th of October . . . they will fly to Fort Worth to attend a banquet to be given by the Gulf Oil Co. . . . and he will be presented with a thirty-year pin . . . symbolic of that many years service with the company . . . Saw Loretta Wilkinson busy getting ready to entertain her daughter, Vivian and new son-in-law, Duane Copeland . . . and a group of their friends . . . for an evening's festivities . . . Duane is so handsome . . . and they are such a lucky pair . . . hear that Vivian is busy with her duties as Junior High Home Ec teacher . . . wouldn't it be exciting to go back to school and get all the new ideas on modern day cookery.

There is no spectacle on earth more appealing than that of a beautiful woman in the act of cooking dinner for someone she loves.
—Thomas Wolfe

HOPE YOU DIDN'T miss the Fall Flower Show staged by the Pampa Garden Club last week . . . the Peace Rose submitted by Madeline Pursley was breathtakingly beautiful . . . Per Stubbe had a beautiful "Star Dust" entry all silvery and blue with skeletal leaves . . . and Thelma Bray's "Star Spangled Banner" entry with red and white blossoms in a blue bowl was so striking . . . Grace Lafoon had several entries . . . but the one Peg remembers most clearly was that of a vase shaped as a bathtub with the bather submerged in blossoms . . . Lurline McBee submitted the tiniest entry Peg ever saw . . . a small rose bush . . . no taller than an inch . . . she also did some clever things with a fruit and vegetable arrangement . . . making daisy petals from turnips with yellow carrot centers . . . it was such a beautiful show . . . hope they will do it again soon.
See you in Church Sunday.

Miss Melba Curfman, Joe Ellis White Exchange September Marriage Vows

Miss Melba Sue Curfman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Curfman of Attica, Kan., became the bride of Joe Ellis White, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. White of Alex, Okla. in a ceremony at seven o'clock on September 27, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Martin, 2417 Duncan.

Dr. E. Douglas Carver, First Baptist Church, performed the double-ring ceremony before a large arch, entwined with huckleberry and white gladioli. Cathedral tapers in the background were lighted by Miss Kathy Price.

Pre-nuptial music was presented by Mrs. E. Douglas Carver at the piano. Joe Whitten sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a ballerina-length dress of white Chantilly lace fashioned with a square neckline and three-quarter length sleeves; the fitted bodice eased into a bouffant skirt. She wore short white gloves trimmed with pearls.

Her finger-tip veil of French illusion was attached to a crown of lace trimmed with tiny seed pearls. She carried a white orchid tied with streamers of white satin ribbon arranged atop a white bridal Bible, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Del Morris Smith, cousin of the bridegroom, was matron of honor wearing a white lace dress with matching hat. She carried a nosegay of white carnations tied with white satin streamers.

Miss Kay Curfman of Attica, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Vicki Martin was junior bridesmaid; Miss Pam Martin served as flower girl, and Rusty Abell, Lubbock, carried the rings on a white satin pillow trimmed with lace. These three attendants are cousins of the bride.

G. M. Martin, Pampa, served as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Curfman wore a Helene Original of black tuckled lace and net over shell pink silk shantung.

Mrs. White chose a black tuckled silk crepe sheath with matching accessories. Mrs. R. Z. Abell Sr., grandmother of the bride, wore an original delphinium blue lace dress with matching accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations.

A reception was held following the exchange of vows. The table was draped with a white linen cloth covered with pink net and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake encircled with the bride's and groom's bouquets.

Presiding at the table were Mrs. Jack Florence and Mrs. G. M. (See MISS MELBA Page 14)

GRACE FRIEND

LOST FRIEND Mrs. Friend.

I would like to know how one goes about finding someone one you have lost contact with.

I have a very dear friend somewhere in Los Angeles. I lost his address and he doesn't know how mine since I have moved here. I have tried to find him a number of times. I have checked with the telephone company although I know he lives with an aunt and I do not know her name. He has worked at a number of different jobs so I don't know where to start from that angle.

It has been about three years since I have seen my friend and I have been thinking of him a lot lately and would like very much to find him.

I hope you can help me. L. T.

Dear L. T.

Why don't you run an ad in the personal columns of the Los Angeles newspapers?

SIGNATURE

Dear Grace,

Would you please tell me the proper way of signing birthday cards etc., when using first names. I would like to know whether the husband's name comes first - or the wife's. I have heard many opinions on this.

Do you sign Ann and Bill So and So or Bill and Ann So and So?

Mrs. Smith

Dear Mrs. Smith,

When the cards are sent by husband and wife, the one who writes the names courteously writes his or her name last.

When the cards are printed as at Christmas, there is no rule about whether the husband's or wife's name should come first. Putting the husband's name first does follow the conventional "Mr. and Mrs." form. However when children's names are included, the father's name always comes first.

QUILT PATTERNS

Dear Grace Friend,

I am wondering if some of the readers to your column might help me find The Dutch Boy and Colonial Girl quilt patterns. I am very anxious to have these patterns.

I enjoy your column very much. We need more opportunity for cleaning our minds of situations both good and bad.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan Presents Civil Defense Topic For PTA City Council

The City Council PTA met Tuesday morning in the Junior High library with Mrs. Buster Sublett, president, presiding.

D. V. Biggers, principal of Stephen F. Austin, gave the invocation.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan presented the program on Civil Defense. He defined civil defense as a trained organization to operate in time of disaster. The Gray County Civil Defense is set up with the radio station, cars equipped with mobile units, police ground-observer corps, and the Amarillo radar equipment. He stressed that when an all-alert is heard, citizens should turn to their radio for full information.

"The courthouse is Civic Defense Headquarters for this area," Mr. Jordan said.

He stated that one of the best ways that citizens can help is to take Red Cross First Aid courses and keep Red Cross cards up-to-date.

Mr. Jordan went on to say that civil defense covers all disasters, such as, fires, severe weather, and bombing. "The Pashandle is number thirteen on the list of potential bombing targets in the event of war due to its industry."

He stressed practice drill for evacuating schools in case of need. "Evacuate your school if you have as much as thirty minutes warning; if not, take precautionary measures in the school room. Every home should have a weeks supply of groceries; a battery radio, pick or shovel stored in the basement or cellar, if possible."

He suggested everyone in the county should have identification secured to their person. In conclusion, he urged each to educate themselves in civil defense training.

Members attending were Mmes. John Mackie, Ferrel Heard, Kenneth McGuire, Ralph Delashaw, E. E. Shelhamer, Jack Vaughn, Leon Miller, Joe Hawkins, Don Egerton, John M. Nutting, Chris Walsh.

RUTH MILLETT

"I am having trouble trying to teach my 15-year-old daughter that girls don't chase boys," writes one harassed mother.

"If she has several dates with a boy, she thinks it is perfectly all right to call him up, to drive past his home and honk the horn every time she gets in a car with other girls. When she has a date at home, instead of letting him leave when he first suggests going, she teases him to stay longer.

"When I point out that none of that is ladylike behavior, she says I am old-fashioned and that 'all girls today chase boys' — if that is what I want to call it.

"Is my daughter right? Have mothers quit trying to make ladies out of their daughters?"

Apparently a lot of them have. But that needn't influence you. Even though a lot of girls do openly chase boys today, it still doesn't put them in a good light.

The girl who learns early the feminine art of making a boy work to please her instead of throwing herself at him still has a big advantage over other girls.

She appears to be more feminine and she gets more respect from the boys she likes.

Furthermore, she is learning how to be a lady. There will always be a place in the world for a real lady — a woman who can be gay without being loud, friendly without being pushy, win a man's respect along with his admiration, make a man want to look after her.

So don't give up in your attempt to teach your daughter the ways of a gentle and charming woman. Some of your teachings are bound to sink in and make a lasting impression.

If you'll think back you may even recall that your own mother had quite a struggle to make a lady out of you. But she won it — or you wouldn't be so determined to see that your own daughter is a lady, too.

If you wear glasses, don't wear them with an apologetic or resigned look. There are so many smart, glamorous styles and colors in today's eyeglasses, that they can be worn gaily as a bright fashion accessory — dramatic and flattering.

Capping Ceremony For Gray Ladies

Capping exercises for thirteen new Gray Ladies were held Friday morning in the Lovette Memorial Library under the direction of Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive director.

New Gray Ladies are Mmes. W. D. Kelly, Fred Ammeter, O. R. Holloman, E. C. Kilpatrick, Euna Lee Moore, J. B. Bradford, Mame Brown, Chet-Lander, G. W. Floyd, L. B. Bigham, T. D. Malone, Louise Sewell, and Frank Lard.

During a brief business meeting, Mrs. Roy McKernan was elected Gray Lady chairman with Mrs. A. B. McNamara as co-chairman.

Gray Ladies schedule for Highland General Hospital was given to each member present. The schedule will be mailed to those members not present.

Members were urged to turn in their monthly report cards to the Red Cross office.

It was reported that Gray Ladies in the Pampa Chapter had put in 4,178 hours of volunteer service from July, 1956 to July, 1957.

Proceeding the capping exercises, a coffee hour was observed with Mmes. D. A. Finkelstein and Ted Maguire as hostesses. The serving table was appointed in the traditional colors of the Red Cross with a floral centerpiece of red carnations and white baby mums flanked with silver candelabra holding white tapers. Coffee, sweet rolls and a fruit tid-bit were served.

Approximately 35 ladies were present.

COLOR DISTRIBUTION

The trend today is toward decorating schemes that give each room distinction and character, and at the same time create an inter-relationship of color and style in connecting rooms. This requires an overall plan at the start.

The simplest method is to begin with the most important room first — usually the living room. If your connecting rooms are entrance hall, living room and dining room, start by choosing a color scheme for the living room, and then carry the dominant color into the adjoining rooms in varying proportions.

It is always well to remember that it is the distribution of color throughout connecting rooms that provides both unity and variety. . . . wall color of one room, for instance, carried over onto just one wall in the next room. Avoid precise, obviously equal divisions of color. A ratio of three to five is a good rule of thumb and gives dominant importance to one color in your scheme.

A continuous floor color serves to secure unity in the entrance hall and combination living-dining room sketched above. Note the strong feeling of kinship between the furniture in both rooms—the definable relationship of line, weight and texture.

If connecting rooms are small, it is advisable to use a continuous floor color throughout. Choose your floor covering from our wide assortment of rugs and carpets. Plain and patterned weaves in wool, broadloom, viscose, nylon blends and cottons.

With Proper Care And Rest Teenagers Can Have Clear, Blooming Complexion

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The teenager with an acne problem is a teen-ager who's miserable. But there's no need to be unhappy when so much can be done about acne. The first step, of course, is to see your doctor and follow his advice. But a great deal of the success you have in clearing up your case of acne depends on you. It's good for a girl to know that there are general rules she must follow if her skin is to become clear and blooming again. To begin with, make sure that you get at least eight hours' sleep each night. If you live in the south or in California, a regular sun bathing program (in moderation) is a help all year around. So is regular exercise. You need three sound meals a day so don't skip breakfast even if you're used to getting by on orange juice and coffee. Don't be self-conscious about your skin problem; it's a common one. Thousands of teen-agers have it. It's doing something about it that will make you feel better at once.

One way to rid yourself of exhaustion at the end of a hard day is via the hot bath. This does not mean a bath so hot that your skin turns lobster red. A bath that's too hot is only enervating. It means a comfortably hot bath; one that's pleasant to loll in. The heat will relieve those aching muscles. A good lathering and a final rinse with a cool spray (either a hand spray or the shower) will leave you feeling relaxed and pleasant. Have a glass of warm milk, turn Underweight, like overweight, can be a real problem. If you're making a serious effort to increase your weight but find it hard to eat more, there are ways to achieve a weight increase pleasantly. Don't force yourself. Instead, beat an egg into a glass of milk as a between-meal snack. Eat ice cream; nearly everyone likes it. When you think of it, stop for a malted milk. Take your coffee with liberal helpings of sugar and cream. Add an extra slice of toast at breakfast. These are all practical ways to up your calorie intake. And be sure you get enough rest. This is important for anyone who wants to gain weight.

Members attending were Mmes. Glen Radcliff, Clyde Medkef, Frank Yealy, Travis Lively, Luther Pierson, A. F. Johnson, Joe Dunham, Loyce Caldwell, W. L. Roundtree, Clarence Lutes, J. L. Colville, and a guest, Mrs. Arnold Pettifles.

The next meeting of Circle 1 will be in the home of Mrs. Medkef, 1140 Starkweather on Oct. 16 at 9:30 a.m.

New Pile Fabric Is Slim, Pretty, Warm

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) — What goes inside a coat is very nearly as important as the outside.

This is a year of warm and pretty linings, weightless, bulkless but soft to the touch. One of the newest is a pile fabric called verel that comes in lovely colors and turns even a suit into a customary winter days.

Fashion-wise, this pile lining won't make you look bulky while it's keeping you warm. It's used successfully for designs with slim lines. And, according to its makers, it cleans easily, resists matting and is nonallergenic.

We show here two designs in which the lining is used, both in petite sizes. The suit (left) is a black-and-white chevron tweed with hip length jacket and slim skirt. An attached scarf has a lining of verel.

Coat (right) is in a black-and-white chain tweed tapered to a pencil line slimmness. Lining is red verel. It's worn with matching skirt for ensemble look.

In spite of the constant change in current hair styles, certain basic rules should be followed: never part the hair in the middle if the face is full or the jaw square. When the forehead is low, bangs should never be worn and when it is narrow, the hair should be brushed straight back from the temples.

Slap-Dash Nail Care Spoils Neat Look, Glossy Perfection Good Grooming Goal

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The teen-ager who uses nail polish is likely to be the girl most interested in looking pretty. But there are a lot of exceptions to this.

If there's dirt under that coat of polish, she's slipped in her grooming: If the polish is worn, chipped, cracked or other than glossy perfection, she's better off without it.

If she's let her nails grow to absurd lengths, she's showing off claws, not hands. (Most boys hate long nails.) If she uses a bloody or too-bright shade of polish, she'll find people regarding her nails with something akin to horror.

To get the most mileage from a bottle of polish, pick a pretty, soft shade. Remove the old polish, use a hand brush vigorously, then clean and file the nails. (Don't file them down at the sides; this causes hangnails.) Apply a base coat, two thin coats of polish and a sealer. Allow at least an hour for the polish to dry.

The girl who takes a shower or bath daily (or twice daily) and neglects to change her lingerie daily is kidding herself.

Soiled lingerie next to a clean skin doesn't make sense. It's a wise idea to make a regular habit of putting girdle, bra and slip into a basin of soapy water as you step into the shower. Finish sudsing the lingerie when you step onto the bath mat.

Just a few minutes' soaking perlod is enough for most lingerie. Roll it in a towel, hang it to dry and it's ready when you need it.

Incidentally, lingerie that's washed after each wearing will last longer and give you better service than lingerie whose fibers are weakened by dirt.

Skimping on food in order to buy more clothes is one fast way for a girl to undermine her health.

The career girl who tried to get by on a doughnut and coffee in the morning, a hamburger and soft drink at noon, a can of soup and a sandwich at night, is asking for trouble.

She needs three balanced meals a day to keep her hair, her skin, her nails, her teeth and eyes at their best. She needs good food for sound health.

It's far better to budget clothes money very wisely, to figure out at the beginning of each season, few good clothes rather than a what she can buy and to have a jammed closet.

By shopping carefully, a girl can build a basic wardrobe to which she can add new fashions each season.

Bending over is fine training in balance and grace. Every time you do it, think how you look. Try it before a mirror. A graceful person is a joy to behold, and those who are truly graceful are those who even during normally awkward motions.

Rediscover America
COLUMBUS DAY • 1957

YES, it's time to rediscover America — the land of freedom, opportunity and progress. Time, too, to discover that freedom, opportunity and progress have many enemies — right here in our own country. Enemies who say the government should be in business, should provide our medical care, should control the education of our children. Rediscover America — and the American Way of Life — before socialism traps you and your children.
