Character Witnesses Due

Solon's Trial Goes Into Its Fifth Day

AUSTIN (UP)—Character witnesses today are scheduled to open the fifth day of former Rep. James E. Cox's trial on charges of bribe.

A pair of defense witnesses testified Thursday Cox told them he had been offered a bribe and turn it over to authorities.

The witnesses were Ed Watson, editor of the Conroe Daily Courier, Cox's hometown newspaper, and Bill Bradford, a former employee of the Courier.

A total of 14 witnesses appeared to defend Cox against charges he agreed to take $5,000 from Dr. Howard Harmon of San Antonio in return for killing his bill to outlaw naturopathy.

Defense Attorney Hume Coffey said "We're not sure" whether Cox or his wife will be called to the stand, "but if we do, several witnesses will be called ahead of them."

Watson testified on either Feb. 22 or Feb. 23, prior to the time the case was publicized, Cox came to him.

"Watson," the editor said Cox told him, "some nature doctors

Woman Is Injured In Accident

A Pampa woman received minor injuries last night when the car she was driving was involved in a collision with a police patrol car.

Mrs. Alta Marie Jones, 518 N. Nelson, was admitted to Highland General Hospital last night with minor injuries she received when the 1957 Pontiac she was driving was in collision with a 1957 Ford patrol car, driven by Patrolman H. L. Kay, 2141 N. Sumner, Mrs. Jones was released from the hospital this morning.

The collision occurred at 9 last night on Foster, five feet east of Gray, when the Pontiac veered, after striking a car parked in a service station driveway.

The Ford met with damages estimated at $50 and the Pontiac estimated damages estimated at $150.

One other collision was reported yesterday. It occurred at 12:25 p.m. at the intersection of Somersville and Third. A 1953 Chevrolet, driven by George W. Morgan, 805 Maple, and a 1949 Pontiac, driven by Ernest L. Mathis, 533 Harlem, were in collision. Damages to the Chevrolet were estimated at $125 and the Pontiac met with damages estimated at $25.

Posse Seeks Last Of Two Fugitives

BUFFALO, Tex. (UP)—A posse of nearly 400 lawmen planned to move into a section of rough hill country west of Buffalo today in an attempt to flush out the last of two fugitives who shot down a sheriff and escaped while being transported to prison.

While Mills county Sheriff C.F. Stubbfield lay in a Corsicana hospital in serious condition after a bullet lodged in his jaw, the search party hunted for Johnny Smith, a 30-year-old Lamesa burglar armed with a .38 pistol and considered extremely dangerous.

His partner, Harold Woolsey, 30, of San Antonio, was cornered by bloodhounds about three hours after the escape Thursday and surrendered without a fight.

Stubbfield and jailer E. O. McLean were transporting the two escapees and Ray Larkin, 21, San Antonio, to Huntville prison. The three had been convicted of burglarizing a Goldwaite cafe

Commissioners Take No Action On City Manager

No action was taken by the City Commission at the special meeting last night on the hiring of a new city manager.

Mayor Lynn Boyd said that the commission reviewed all of the applications received from men interested in the position and those several that are to be checked further.

The mayor stated that the commission will have personal interviews with the various applicants in order to determine the best man. "We are in no great hurry," Mayor Boyd said, "we want to hire the best man available and that takes time."

He also reported that no other city business was discussed by the commission last night.

Oil Progress Week Activities Slated

During Oil Progress Week, which will be launched on Oct. 13, Pampa will do its share in order to bring to attention the vast oil, gas, and allied by-products which are obtained and manufactured in this area.

Plans are being made to join Amarillo in a joint television promotion to further publicize the oil industry in a program which is now being set up.

The Pampa News, and local radio stations, along with programs which will be featured in the grade schools of Pampa, are among the groups which will go "all out" to recognize the week of Oil Progress which is especially important to the city of Pampa and surrounding areas.

According to George Cree Jr., handling the observance here, plans are also being made for speeches and programs which will be presented in local civic clubs.

Mayor Issues Appeal On Special Week

Mayor Lunn Boyd today issued a final appeal to all Pampa citizens to join in the observance of Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 6-12.

The Mayor's statement said: "It is gratifying to me to note the keen interest and the extensive preparations evidenced in making this event one of outstanding accomplishment in eliminating fire hazards in Pampa."

The Mayor further said, "With additional homes being built throughout the city and with large old houses being converted to multiple-dwellings or other uses, new fire prevention problems are arising. Occupants of multiple tenancy dwellings are faced with greater fire hazards than those in single units. Therefore, it is to the interest of our city to start a year-round campaign for fire safety so that needless loss of life and destruction of property may be prevented."

Harvey Waters, chairman of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce Fire Prevention Committee, followed the Mayor with this statement: "This is as the Mayor has said, a community effort. The campaign will succeed in proportion to the number of individuals participating in it. Every day, during Fire Prevention Week, we will feature activities in which every one of us can take part."

"The Pampa Chamber of Commerce is enrolled in the National Inter-Chamber Fire Safety Contest, a nationally organized fire prevention movement sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States."

"At the close of the year we will report in this contest, and we hope to place Pampa among the winners of national honors for cities of our class. It is, therefore, important that we achieve a high standing for observance of Fire Prevention Week."

One Fire Call Reported Here

The only fire reported to the fire department within the past 24 hours occurred at 8:30 this morning.

A 1947 International truck received minor damage to the wiring. Firemen answering the alarm reported that the fire apparently started from an electrical short.

Nasser Urged To Get Tough With Egyptian Communists

By JOE MORRIS
United Press Staff Correspondent
CAIRO (UP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser's top aides are urging him to get tough with Egyptian Communists, diplomatic sources said today.

They said Interior Minister Zaccariah Mohieddin and other officials are getting anxious about renewed rumblings among Egypt's outlawed Communists, particularly in trade unions.

These officials are said to be pressing Nasser to take stronger measures than are involved in the trial opening Saturday for 18 persons identified as minor league Communists.

Reds Rumored Splitting
Reports circulating in Cairo say Egypt's clandestine Reds, who previously were splintered into many groups, now have consolidated into two factions—one espousing Soviet-style Communism and the other embracing the Yugoslav style.

The number of party members in Egypt is not known.

The latest issue of the Communist underground newspaper Al Intisar (Victory) indicated the Reds would try to use the trial to stir up sympathy and supporters for their cause.

It said the trial was "only a means of dissipating the national struggle and attempting to preoccupy nationalists with a struggle among themselves instead of facing imperialism."

It said anti-Communists acts by the government only created splits between the government and the people.

Syria Says Turkey Provoking Incidents

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
SYRIA (UP)—The Syrian government today formally accused Turkey of new provocations along the border and of interfering in the internal affairs of Syria.

The State Department warning to Russia followed a statement in Moscow by Communist Leader Nikita Khrushchev that the United States is trying to incite Turkey into war with Russia-backed Syria.

The danger of a flare-up in the Middle East led the U.S. State Department Thursday to warn Russia that the United States will honor its defense commitments to Turkey.

Communists diplomatic sources in London made it clear the Kremlin expects the Middle East to blow up somewhere near the Turkish border, and the sources repeated Moscow's warning that Russia would assist Syria.

Both Syria and Russia have accused Turkey in recent weeks of massing troops near the border, and Monday there was a 45-minute and potentially dangerous border skirmish between Syrian and Turkish troops.

Official sources in Damascus disclosed today Syria sent a stern note to Ankara Wednesday accusing Turkey of "unjustified provocative actions" along the border.

This included the old charges of massing of troops and added allegations that Turkey had flown planes over Syrian territory and that Turkish soldiers fired at Syrian border residents.

The Syrian press said a helicopter, believed to be American "violated" Syrian air space over the border district of Midan Ikbis Thursday.

Arms Discovered
Syrian security forces also reported the discovery of "several hundreds of modern individual weapons" in a crackdown on the banned Socialist Nationalist party. A military spokesman said they were hidden to "kindle a civil war designed to topple the current Syrian regime."

Attempt Is Made To Open Safe

LEFORS — An attempt was made to open the safe of the Foxworth Galbraith Lumber Company in Lefors last night.

The burglary of the firm was investigated this morning by Sheriff Rufe Jordan and Buck Haggard, deputy sheriff. Jordan said that entry to the building was made by breaking the window in a door. After breaking the window the burglars apparently reached through the opening and unlocked the door.

The firm's safe was rolled from the office to a point near the truck gate to the lumber yard, the sheriff stated. Apparently the burglars hit the knob of the safe once, he said, "but they did not open the safe." He added, "The safe was not hurt and it was opened this morning by the manager of the lumber company."

The two county officers checked the scene for clues to the identity of the person responsible for the break and the sheriff reported that he believed that it was the work of amateurs, probably two or three young men.

Money Found; Hucbaps Stolen

Stolen hucbaps and a $20 bill were the only items of business reported this morning by the police department.

The $20 bill was found by Quentin Williams, Jim Comer, chief of police, said this morning. The bill had a specific identifying characteristic and the owner may recover the money by making proper identification, Comer said.

At 8:45 last night, Elmo Thompson, 701 N. Banks, reported that four wheel-covers had been stolen from his 1957 Pontiac while it was parked in a parking lot at Highland General Hospital. He stated that the theft of the wheel-covers had occurred between 7 and 8:30 p.m.

Russia Promises To Orbit 2nd Satellite

By WILLIAM E. HOWARD
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower summoned Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy and the nation's missile chief today prior to a cabinet meeting expected to be dominated by Russia's missile and satellite achievements.

The developments came on the heels of Russia's promise to send a second satellite spinning around the globe next month before the United States has one in space.

McElroy and Assistant Defense Secretary William M. Holdaway, in charge of missile research and development, met with Eisenhower just before a morning cabinet meeting.

It was the second day of high level administrative talks behind closed doors, continuing a reappraisal of the nation's missile and touched off by the launching of the satellite programs which was touched off by the launching of the first Sputnik a week ago today possibly with an intercontinental ballistic missile.

All-Out Effort
After a meeting of Eisenhower and the National Security Council Thursday, defense officials indicated there would be an all-out effort to perfect an intermediate range ballistic missile.

At the same time Eisenhower and McElroy are under a steady drumfire of congressional criticism to speed up America's missile effort.

However, the big question remained: When will the United States seize back the initiative in the space rivalry with Russia as Sputnik I, the first man-made moon, continues to circle the earth.

The Soviets threw new heat into the race by claiming their second Sputnik may outdate U.S. satellites before they get off the ground, starting in December. Russian weapons expert Lt. Gen. Anatoly A. Biagonravov said the second Red artificial moon will be packed with scientific instruments when it is sent up possibly on Red Army Day, Nov. 7.

"The American satellite will give less information than our next one," he confidently told newsmen Thursday at New York.

Around the world there were these other satellite developments:

In Barcelona, Spain, space scientists said Russia's next big objective are sending up a satellite to scan earth with television which would keep the entire world under constant watch.

At the United Nations, U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge called for international action to check-rein space rockets before they "blow us to bits."

Photos From The Moon
In Belgrade, Yugoslavia a top Russian scientist, Alexander Shermid, said the satellite now revolving around the world carries complete telephoto equipment for transmission of photographs back to Russia. But he said he did not know if the equipment is working.

In New York, Dr. Kenneth Franklin of the Hayden Planetarium said the Sputnik is transmitting data in code on its radio signal. But he said the code is unknown to Americans.

Late Thursday observers at New Haven, Conn., reported sighting the last stage rocket which hurled Sputnik into space.

Truck Driver Is Injured Near Lefors

A truck driver for a local trucking company was injured this morning approximately five miles south of Lefors.

Richard King of Pampa, an employee of C. M. Jeffries Trucking Co., was rushed to Worley Hospital this morning. When contacted by phone, the hospital reported that the doctor was still with King and that no report was available on the man's condition or the extent of his injuries.

At the time King was injured he was driving a truck pulling a rig for Evans and Kirchner Drilling Co. Mrs. J. E. Kirchner, an employee of Jeffries, told The News shortly before press time that she had received a radio call at about 10 a.m. that a man was injured and to send an ambulance. She said that King had a serious head injury.

The cause of the accident was not available this morning.

Farmers Pelt Ezra With Eggs

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (UP)—Gov. Joe Foss has demanded full prosecution of a band of embittered farmers who pelted Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson with eggs.

Benson barely escaped being hit by a half-dozen eggs which showered on the platform Thursday as he made a speech demanding repeal of federal price support floors on corn and other major crops.

One splattered over his hat and another smeared Foss' suit. Benson was addressing about 7,500 farmers who had gathered for the National Mechanical Corn Picking Contest which begins today. Ten cornbelt states are entered in the "World's Fair of Agriculture."

Despite the shelling from the group, Benson went on to finish his speech while state troopers picked their way through the crowd and nabbed five men who admitted throwing the eggs.

Teachers Hear State Prexy In Meeting

Mrs. Mary Alexander, president of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association, was a guest in Pampa Schools' yesterday.

According to Miss Sybil Turner, president of the Pampa Classroom Teachers Association, all teachers in the Pampa school system, with counselors and administrators as their guests, held a meeting at high school at 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. Alexander spoke to the group concerning the responsibilities of teachers and brought to their attention the committee which has been selected by Gov. Daniels to observe and report on the problems in the Texas classrooms during the next two years. The committee is made up of administrators, teachers and citizens from all over the state.

Mrs. Alexander is a seventh grade teacher in the Palestine Junior High, and is presently on tour, speaking and visiting in schools throughout this area.

She will be present at a workshop which will be held in Amarillo on Saturday. This meeting will take in all of District 9 which includes the Pampa schools and all of those in the Panhandle area.

Members of the Student Council and their sponsor, Mrs. Ruby Capps, were hosts at a reception for the teachers, guests and Mrs. Alexander following the business meeting and talks of yesterday's meeting.

Jaycees Set Contest For Students

The Pampa Jaycees, in harmony with Jaycees across the nation, are sponsoring a "Speak For Democracy" contest in which selected speech students from the high school will participate.

According to Johnny Campbell, president of the local organization, the speech department of the school will handle the preliminaries of the contest and will select the three students who have the best speaking ability and speeches.

These students will attend the regular meeting of the Jaycees on Tuesday, Oct. 29. Judges at this meeting will pick the high-point contestant who will proceed to the state contest and, if a winner there, on to the national contest which will be held at a later date.

Campbell also stated that ten men from the Pampa club will go to Berger as guests at a banquet which will be held in honor of the State Vice-president of the Jaycees, Mel Price. Raymond Hall will be in charge of the party from Pampa.

Three Spectaculars Are Due On Television This Sunday

By WILLIAM EWALD
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (UP)—This Sunday evening, NBC and CBS will squeeze three spectaculars inside your TV machine, a feat roughly comparable to stuffing a cantaloupe inside a tea bag.

CBS will offer a spec devoted to an auto firm, NBC will offer specs devoted to an oil firm and a puppet. There'll be a tubful of big stars sliding around the channels—Tyrone Power, Bing Crosby, Frank Sinatra, Jimmy Durante, just to tick off a few.

The biggest star, however, will be Walter Slezak, who scales in at 260 pounds. Slezak will play Papa Geppetto to Mickey Rooney's Pinocchio in an NBC musical devoted to the dummy with nose trouble.

"Pinocchio is going on at 8:30 a.m. just in time to ruin everybody's dinner," said Slezak during a rehearsal break. He looked melancholy. "I really can't judge very well myself, but I don't think we're going to kill off the memory of Walt Disney's 'Pinocchio'."

Jimmy Cricket Missing
 "But it's pretty faithful as Pinocchio go. The only character missing is Jimmy Cricket. They had to take him out because they couldn't find an actor small enough to sit on Mickey Rooney's shoulder."

Slezak heaved a mournful sigh and watched the actors stomping around the rehearsal hall. "I like fairy tales myself," he said. "I make them up for my own children. But I think the only way to put a fairy tale on TV is to kid it a little—that way you get grown-ups to watch, too. You take 'Peter Pan'—a delightful example of spoofing."

"Right now, I can't tell whether this 'Pinocchio' is going to be done with tongue in cheek or foot in mouth. But it looks like they're going to play it more or less straight."

to buy products, cornshakes would be more in their line."

Slezak shifted his bulk and considered the question of satire on TV. "There isn't much spoofing of anything on TV. TV is afraid. I watched a lot of TV myself last month and I must say it was something awful."

"The intimate cabaret where you can see a whole revue is something you can't get in America, but in Europe they are everywhere. They spoof everything. It is ridiculous that America, one of the few free countries, doesn't have something like this."

"They play to packed houses, too. And I'm sure it's something TV might learn something from. There's no reason for TV to be afraid, you know—if something is good it will be a success—even satire."

"However, I am sure the four and five year olds will enjoy it. The question is how many four and five year olds will rush into the sponsor's (Rexall) drugstores

Three Spectaculars Are Due On Television This Sunday

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
 NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (UP)—This Sunday evening, NBC and CBS will squeeze three spectaculars inside your TV machine, a feat roughly comparable to stuffing a cantaloupe inside a tea bag.

CBS will offer a spec devoted to an auto firm, NBC will offer a puppet. There'll be a tubful of big stars sliding around the channels—Tyrone Power, Bing Crosby, Frank Sinatra, Jimmy Durante, just to tick off a few.

The biggest star, however, will be Walter Slezak, who scales in at 260 pounds. Slezak will play Papa Geppetto in an NBC musical devoted to the dummy with nose trouble.

"Pinocchio" is going on at 6:30 a.d.t. just in time to ruin everybody's dinner," said Slezak during a rehearsal break. He looked melancholy. "I really can't judge very well myself, but I don't think we're going to kill off the memory of Walt Disney's 'Pinocchio'."

Jimmy Cricket Missing
 "But it's pretty faithful as Pinocchio goes. The only character missing is Jimmy Cricket. They had to take him out because they couldn't find an actor small enough to sit on Mickey Rooney's shoulder."

Slezak heaved a mournful sigh and watched the actors stomping around the rehearsal hall. "I like fairy tales myself," he said. "I make them up for my own children. But I think the only way to put a fairy tale on TV is to kid it a little—that way you get grown-ups to watch, too. You take 'Peter Pan'—a delightful example of spoofing."

"Right now, I can't tell whether this 'Pinocchio' is going to be done with tongue in cheek or foot in mouth. But it looks like they're going to play it more or less straight."

to buy products. Cornmakers would be more in their line."

Slezak shifted his bulk and considered the question of satire on TV. "There isn't much spoofing of anything on TV. TV is afraid. I watched a lot of TV myself last month and I must say it was something awful."

"The intimate cabaret where you can see a whole revue is something you can't get in America, but in Europe they are everywhere. They spoof everything. It is ridiculous that America, one of the few free countries, doesn't have something like this."

"They play to packed houses, too. And I'm sure it's something TV might learn something from. There's no reason for TV to be afraid, you know—if something is good it will be a success—even satire."

"However, I am sure the four and five year olds will enjoy it. The question is how many four and five year olds will rush into the sponsor's (Rexall) drugstores

Flu Outbreak Is Spreading Into West

The nation's flu outbreak, which has infected more than one million Americans so far, spread westward into Nebraska, Kansas and Iowa.

In the East, epidemic-stricken New York reported one flu suspected death to bring that city's total of such deaths to nine since the beginning of the month.

The latest outbreak of the ailment was at Omaha where 1,200 high school children were absent with flu-like illnesses Thursday.

Douglas County Health Director Edwin Lyman of Omaha said he "wouldn't be surprised if some of the illness is Asian flu." He said it would take two or three weeks to make a definite diagnosis.

A flareup at the Olathe, Kan., naval air station forced cancellation of today's scheduled annual military inspection of the Navy-Marine aerial squadron. Fifty-seven servicemen at the base were down.

New York reported another increase in the number of upper respiratory infections with 5,192 by midnight Wednesday as compared with 4,721 during the previous 24 hours. That brought the total since Sept. 27 to 47,803.

However, New York health officials were encouraged by a decline in school absenteeism in the hard-hit upper Manhattan section for the first time since the epidemic began.

Milwaukee's flu epidemic, now at its peak, moved into Madison. Nearly 16 per cent of Madison's total high school enrollment was absent Thursday. The figure is about three times above normal.

In Canada, flu struck Yvonne Dionne, preventing her from attending the wedding today of her sister quintuplet, Annette. A spokesman for the Dionne family said Yvonne had a "severe" case.

Lions Clubbers Take In Series

The noon luncheon meeting of the Pampa Lions Club was a casualty of the last game of the World Series.

Following the luncheon, the club adjourned so that members could make a hasty exit to find the nearest television set or radio to listen to the game.

The only item of business scheduled yesterday, a questionnaire on fire prevention, was cancelled in favor of baseball.

RED CROSS

(Continued From Page One) family; it helps to provide the funds to bring him home; it helps support chapter home service which assists the family.

A vicious hurricane rips in from the sea leveling people's homes, wrecking small business houses, leaving a whole community in ruins. Shelter, food, medical aid, & clothes are provided; homes are rebuilt, small businesses reestablished because you and millions of your neighbors joined the Red Cross.

In Pampa Chapter, the Gray Ladies work in the local hospitals bringing comfort and cheer to those who are ill, women work as staff aides wearing the blue uniform and assisting with routine office work on a volunteer basis. Hospital beds and wheel chairs are loaned, first aid classes are taught so that in case of emergency one may receive care before the physician arrives. Hundreds of boys and girls as well as women are given lessons in swimming and life saving. Thirteen mobile units are carried in cars driven by first aid instructors and classes for mother and baby care are taught young mothers to better care for their first babies. You can be sure that Red Cross continues its work on a local, national and international basis by making your contribution to Red Cross through the Pampa-Lefors United Fund.

San Marino Reds Have Surrendered

By LARRY COLLINS
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN MARINO (UP)—The Communists today unconditionally surrendered the government of this storied republic to the Christian Democrats but served notice they would try to get it back.

The end of tiny San Marino's 12 years of Red rule came at a bitter 20-minute meeting between representatives of the two parties in downtown Rimini, an Italian resort on the Adriatic.

The Communists finally stormed out of the meeting, refusing to sign any agreement and refusing to take part in the Christian Democrats' new government. Capital Occupied

The Christian Democrats immediately ordered Police Chief Ettore Sozzi to take his 60-man police force, recruited from former members of Italy's federal police, up the mountain to occupy the capital of the 1,600-year-old republic.

What upset the Communists was refusal by Christian Democrats to accept back into San Marino's grand council the 29 Communist and Socialist members who resigned Sept. 13. The Christian Democrats said their places must be taken by the next men in the Communist-Socialist electoral list.

Sozzi divided his men into three groups. Their first job was to collect arms from the militiamen on both sides to make sure no shots are exchanged during the transfer of governmental power.

He planned to bring another 60 former Italian federal policemen into this tiny republic over the weekend. All 110 of the Italians were hired by the Christian Democrats.

Lamkin Receives 5-Day Reprieve
HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UP)—The execution of Marshall Lamkin, scheduled for shortly after midnight Thursday night, was postponed five days by order of Gov. Price Daniel.

Lamkin, a Luling Negro, was condemned to death in the shotgun slaying of Ernest Webb Jr., at Luling, June 9, 1956.

The State Board of Pardons and Paroles at Austin late Thursday had indicated it planned no further action, but a few hours before the execution, Daniel issued a five-day reprieve. Previously, Lamkin had received a 30-day stay on Sept. 10.

Two charges of driving while intoxicated were handled in Gray County Court this morning, according to Don Cain, county attorney.

Roy Lee Steele, Pampa, was arrested on Oct. 10 by city police, and pleaded guilty to the DWI charge this morning. Steele was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail.

Montie Elvis Lewis, Pampa, was also arrested by city police on Oct. 10. He pleaded guilty to the driving while intoxicated charge this morning and received $100 fine plus costs and three days in jail.

Kohler Is Hit By NLRB
WASHINGTON (UP)—A National Labor Relations Board examiner has found the strike-bound Kohler Co. of Kohler, Wis., guilty of unfair labor practices.

He said nearly all persons on strike at the company should be given their jobs back when the walkout ends.

The trial examiner, George A. Downing, said he could not determine at this time the number of workers involved in the long strike who would be affected by his ruling.

Downing based his decision Thursday on finding that the company prolonged the strike by unfair labor practices in violation of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The strike was called April 5, 1954, by Local 833 of the United Auto Workers, AFL-CIO.

Downing's findings automatically go into effect as an NLRB ruling unless an appeal is filed with the board within 20 days.

Mentola, Franco's half-sister who lives in Juarez, told them of the uncle.

An FBI trap laid around the car in which Franco drove from Roswell to El Paso fell apart after a news leak last Sunday. The girl's nude body was found Monday.

Franco said Thursday night he had not carried the girl out of her house, but said she voluntarily entered his car after he awoke her. She knew Franco as a regular visitor to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clemente Lucero.

Picked Up Rifle
Her parents had left her with a 10-year-old uncle, who said Franco came to the house and lay down on the bed with Sandra Jo. He left later and the boy said Sandra Jo went to close the door and also disappeared.

Franco turned up at a relative's home and picked up a hunting rifle.

"I planned to use it on anybody who tried to stop me. I kept it in the front seat of the car all the way to El Paso," he said.

In Roswell, Mrs. Lucero sobbed when she learned of Franco's arrest and the girl's grandfather, Mariano Flores, said "Thanks be to God. I hope the law will punish him and give him what he deserves."

Inspector Holguin said Franco will be charged today with murder committed in a foreign country, which would allow Mexican authorities to hold him for questioning.

Franco is expected to be handed across the border to American authorities within a few days.

Welcome to Pampa

In their first move away from their home-town of Duncan, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore and their young son, Gary, 3 1/2, are now residing at 1325 Christine. Mr. Moore is employed by Halliburton Well Cementing Co., likes all out-door sports and is especially fond of basketball. "He hopes to play on a city team; if he can find the time from his work," Mrs. Moore said when we talked with her by phone this week. Though they have not affiliated with a Baptist Church as yet, that is the church preference for the Moores.

here. Beaumont is their former home-town before they moved to Amarillo, where they resided for three years and where they own their home. They belong to the First Baptist Church in Amarillo and plan to transfer their church letter to the church here. Mrs. Cupit is an "ardent" bridge player and Mr. Cupit enjoys baseball. Since they are in the process of moving their furniture here, Mr. Cupit has been having a difficult time following the world series, but he said he kept up with the play by listening on his car radio or going down-town to watch the series.

Tulsa, Okla., is the home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Miller and their son, Danny Wayne, 13, who attends Pampa Junior High School where he is a member of the football team and plays corner in the band. The Miller family moved to Pampa around Sept. 24 and are now making their home at 1005 S. Banks. They own their home in Tulsa and most of their folks live there. Mr. Miller is an electrician with Franks Division of Cabot. All of the family enjoy the hobby of boating and fishing and Danny is an accomplished water-skier, having just learned to ski on one foot. "We left a big, beautiful boat tied up at the Franks' private port and a house-trailer. Each week we would look forward to leaving for the lake on Friday and return on Sunday," Mrs. Miller said in a bit nostalgically. They were planning a trip back home for the week end, when interviewed by your reporter.

Establishing a new home in Pampa are Mr. and Mrs. William R. Shingler with their twin sons, Billy and Bobby, 2, at 703 N. Frost. Mr. Shingler is an engineer-trainee with Magnolia Petroleum Corp. Tulsa is their original home, but they lived for three months in Lovington, N.M. Mrs. Shingler listed among their hobbies water-skiing, learning to play bridges, and yard-work. She likes cooking and sewing, too. They list as their church preference, the Christian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Chance, 404 Doucette, are newcomers to Pampa from Paris. Their son, Gene, 22, is a coach for the Junior High football team, which may account for the family listing football as their favorite hobby. The Chances' other children are Paul, 20, Patsy Sue, 15, Billy, 5, and Bobby, 5. The family express a preference for the Methodist Church. Mr. Chance is a state agent for the American Insurance Co. of Texas.

Weatherford, Tex., is the former home-town of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Cooper and children, Max 14, Gary, 12, Anne, 10, Kittle, 6, and Charles, 4, who are now living at 901 S. Reid. They are members of the Southern Baptist Church. Mr. Cooper operates a ditching machine for the Rivers Construction Co.

Another Tulsa family, who arrived in Pampa to live on Sept. 22, are Mr. and Mrs. Coy V. Hudson and their son, Jim, who is 22, still resides in Tulsa. Mr. Hudson is in the production department of the Franks Division of Cabot. The family prefers the Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Goldsmith, 1008 E. Francis, with their young daughter, Barb Dally, 13-months-old, have recently moved here from Eric, Okla. Mr. Goldsmith is with the Cabot S shops. They like to fish and express a preference for the Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfred L. Brown are now residing at 1824 Garland after having been transferred here from Oklahoma City, Okla., by the National Supply Co. where Mr. Brown is a service engineer. They have a son, Donald, who is with the armed forces stationed in Germany. Mr. and Mrs. Brown are Baptists.

Arkansas is the former home-town of Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, 1312 N. Christy, but they had lived in Tulsa for fifteen years. Mr. Moore is a garden enthusiast and likes working with flowers and vegetables. Mrs. Moore said they had been pretty busy getting settled and had not had too much of an opportunity to get acquainted, but they hoped to do so soon. Mr. Miller is with Cabot.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cupit, 1020 Charles, are newcomers to Pampa from Amarillo. They have a married son, who lives in Beaumont, where he is an instructor in the public school system. And they are the proud grandparents of a granddaughter. Mr. Cupit, who is assistant manager for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., is establishing an insurance office.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend I never miss your column and enjoy it very much.

I would like to do what I can to help M. E. P. I know what they are going through and am very sorry for them because it is a terrifying experience. I know because I have had just such an experience.

I am 42 years of age and neat, trim and attractive. I found myself in the position to need a job and never doubted my ability to get one. I took a brush-up course in typing and set out to look for a job.

Everywhere I went they very tactfully told me I was past the limit. I have always had lots of vim and vigor, and never considered myself as old. Well, this experience certainly knocked the wind out of me, and I became so discouraged I did not have the courage to look further.

A friend advised me to apply at the county personnel office. This I did. I was given a typing test and passed. I was notified by mail to appear at the personnel office. I did and was given a choice of interviews, one at the courthouse, and one at the hospital, also others. I chose the hospital because it is near my home.

There are many other types of jobs waiting for others that are "too old" to get jobs other places: kitchen help, maintenance, attendants, maid, office, and many, many other jobs for both men and women. They also have vocational nurse training which pays while it teaches.

I sincerely hope this helps M. E. P. and many others who are in the "prime of life."

M. L. G. RECIPE Dear Grace I would like to tell you about something I am ashamed of myself for not writing about sooner. But as I work and keep up my home and go to night school, I have very little time to sit down and write.

A few months ago someone wrote and asked advise about getting a recipe from a restaurant where they had eaten while traveling.

You advised them to write and ask for the recipe. I have a friend who did that and the chef gave the recipe but also a bill for $50.

Dear Em This could be circumvented if the writer would ask the cost in advance, make plain she did not want to pay.

Plan Bewitching Halloween Party With Witch Queen Of Grammar School Set

By KAY SHERWOOD NEA Staff Writer

The queen who will reign over grammar school parties this month is the Halloween witch. Although she's no glamor girl, her popularity as a symbol for the exciting eve keeps her in demand with the young.

If a birthday is coming up or you yield to youthful excitement and agree to a party on Halloween, let the old character join in the games instead of resting on her broomstick in the middle of the refreshment table. With a cardboard carton, simple materials and three or four ping-pong balls, you and the youngsters can rig up a witch game that's fun for several children of different ages to play.

To make the witch, take a rectangular carton and cover the top third with white shelf paper. Paint on a face or cut eyes, brows and nose from colored plastic tapes and stick them on.

Draw an oval outline for the mouth, three inches by five inches. Cut it out, using a razor blade. Reinforce the edge of the mouth with colored plastic tape.

Use wild colors if you like, such as red for the eyes and green for the mouth.

Her stringy hair is construction paper cut in strips and taped around the top of the box. Striped wrapping paper around the lower two-thirds of the box creates a witch-like dress.

For her peaked hat, cut a large cone-shaped piece of black construction paper and tape the edges together. Trace the circle of the hat crown on another piece of black paper and cut about four inches around that circle to make the hat brim. Cut out the inside, then slip brim over hat crown. Tie a ruffled black flameproof crepe paper cape around her shoulders with orange ribbon, decorated with orange ribbon pompons.

Dressing the leading lady for a Halloween party is fun for this youngster. Witch is target for a ball-throwing game.

To play the game, each child in turn takes three ping-pong balls and tries to throw them into the witch's mouth. First one to score 20 wins. You can adjust the game for differing ages by letting little children stand closer to the witch and older ones farther back.

The refreshment table can be decorated with a paper cloth or runners of orange and black crepe paper, with bowls of popcorn and apples.

What to serve is pretty simple at this age. Hamburgers and hot dogs, carrot and celery strips, milk or a fruit juice brew, and simple dessert make a popular menu. Instead of ice cream, I sometimes use orange or chocolate pudding, which can be made in advance and served in custard cups. Decorate the tops with tinted whipped cream, candies and marshmallows to add a party flavor.

If you have any gift for storytelling, a Halloween party is the time to put it to use. Ask the children's librarian to help select two or three Halloween stories suitable for the ages of the guests. Then familiarize yourself with the plots.

Gather the youngsters into a circle and turn the lights down low to lend a mildly spooky atmosphere while you recount the tales.

Smooth Make-Up Requires Practice To Acquire Subtle, Invisible Look

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor

No woman in the world has as many cosmetics to choose from as American women. Yet many of our American women are inexpert at applying cosmetics. Rouge goes on in hard, round spots. Lipstick is a red smear. And powder often doesn't match the skin tones and has been scrubbed into the pores rather than fluffed on. The result isn't what it should be: pretty. The best way to get results with the cosmetics at your command is to practice. You should be able to do a complete make-up job in five minutes once you get the technique. Remember, the point of make-up is that it should be subtle. It should imitate nature's own coloring. To this end, rouge should be applied to resemble a very delicate flush of color. Powder should be applied with a fluffy puff to look nearly invisible. But it should be there. And lipstick should go on with the aid of a steady, sure hand in a mouth outline that may or may not be your own but that is flattering.

Did you ever hear a recording of your own voice? Were you shocked? Most likely, you probably couldn't believe that your own voice sounded like that, high, rasping and shrill. That's because most of us never pause to listen to our own voices. Yet a soft, low voice can be one of the loveliest qualities in a woman. Without it, she can ruin the remainder of her beauty and make it a minus quality. How can you achieve a soft, low voice? By practice. By really listening to yourself and others. By deliberately lowering your voice a notch or two. And possibly by making recordings of your voice that will show you your errors and thus teach you best how to improve.

Three times while Norman's father was trimming glass in the garage window - he told the boy to keep away.

To relax yourself and your feet, try going about your home in the evening either barefoot or in your stocking feet. And when you sit, put your feet up. You'll find it's good for both circulation and relaxation while you read or watch TV. Wiggle your toes, stretch your legs and generally give your feet a good rest. Several times a week, give your feet the luxury of a good soaking in warm soapy water. Follow by a dash of cold water and a brisk rubbing with a terry towel. This, too, does wonders for your tired feet.

Once he told him to leave the puppy alone. Twice he told him to stop handling the broken glass on the garage floor. Finally when Norman started playing with his steel measuring tape, he punished him by sending him to his room for half an hour.

Mrs. Heaton fetes Camp Newcomer (Special to The News) SKELLYTOWN - Mrs. R. C. Heaton entertained neighbors with a coffee recently to welcome Mrs. Walter Casey into their camp. The Casey family recently moved here from Tulsa, Okla.

On Norman's return, he found his younger brother playing with the measuring tape. Angered, he said to his father, "Why don't you send Ted upstairs like you did me? Why do you let him have your tape and not me? It isn't fair!"

Manners

Makes Friends

A businessman often faces the problem of getting rid of a caller who is taking up too much time. One way is to bring the conversation to a close, stand up and say, "I'm glad you stopped by" and shake hands. That may seem a bit abrupt and obvious - but if done with a smile and a hearty handshake it can do the trick without offending.

More subtle reminders often go unnoticed.

Red China's Fight To Control Religion

Mao's Unholy Alliance: Red Star And Cross

By FRED SPARKS NEA Special Correspondent HONGKONG (NEA) —

China's Dictator Mao Tse Tung seeks partnership between the Communist Party and organized religion: the Red star and the cross, indeed an unholy alliance.

The drive to force the controlled syndicates — the Protestant (or Buddhist or Moslem or Catholic) Patriotic Association — has now reached typhoon violence.

Objective: to put ministers and priests on the government payroll like so many civil servants, to permit them to preach God — if at the same time they preach communism.

Almost unanimously the clergy — exhausted in mind and body during the eight-year struggle for survival — has rejected the bribe. However, here and there, some have been seduced.

Here are two actual scenes — not nightmarish visions induced by rereading George Orwell — that you could witness in many parts of Red China this Sunday.

The Protestant minister finishes his sermon and says: "Now we will have our weekly political discussion, I shall explain American imperialism in the Middle East."

The Catholic priest makes the sign of the cross ending Mass, kneels down and the village Communist cadre leader takes the pulpit and begins: "Today I'm going to tell you how our beloved Soviet comrades are helping our five-year plan."

Dictator Mao has closed half the Chinese churches, almost all the seminaries wrenched universities, hospitals, orphanages from missionary control. One Lutheran nursing home is now a Marxian study hall; a fine Presbyterian clinic is a military barracks.

Almost the last foreign missionary has been jailed or expelled. Hundreds of Chinese clergymen have been executed, oppressed, or driven to clandestine rituals recalling the catacombs of ancient Rome.

Many still operating churches pay rich propaganda dividends. Native travelers on conducted tours are taken to the new Yangtze River Bridge (a Russian contract), then to a crowded church service and return to the West gasping about "progress" and "tolerance."

It would be like showing a tourist to Manhattan only Park Avenue's costlier duplexes; he'd believe all New Yorkers mink-clad millionaires.

But Dictator Mao's "generosity" has yet fatter motives. The first step was to bring still functioning churches to bankruptcy, softened for surrender.

Adjacent church-owned lands were confiscated under the "Anti-Landlord Act." All foreign support was severed. Red agents attended services and noted those who deflected plates. Indirect reprisal followed: a contributor would be ordered to do "voluntary" work on a distant dam.

Clergymen themselves lost ration cards; many went tubercular on near starvation diets. Others, obliged to support families by cooing labor, were unable properly to minister to their congregations.

Churches deteriorated. A Shantung cathedral, its roof torn by storm, held services during winter's bitter cold with its pews snow covered.

As the physical trappings of organized religion fell to sorry state, Peiping moved swiftly, created an "Administration for Religious Affairs." In a Government which officially denies anything not materialistic, this is as wild as if Washington formed and "Administration for Atheist Affairs."

Stripped of double-talk, it was a pure blackmail. Peiping offered fair compensation for the clergy and building maintenance — if the church cooperated and carried the party line. Ministers accepting would join the Patriotic Associations.

Muslims could tell the story of the Prophet Mohammed — if they also told of the Prophet Marx. The wisdom of Buddha would not be denied — but don't forget the wisdom of Mao. Christmas displays could feature Mary in the manger — and Lenin in Red Square.

God was not to be destroyed—he was to be appropriated.

Next: How Peiping organizes churches as Communist satellites.

MYF Sets Surprise Program

LEFORS — The Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Lefors Methodist church, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Boyd, is presenting "This is Your Life" program in the high school auditorium tonight and admission 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

The program is based on the life of a well known personality in the community who is completely true to life.

SOMEWHERE IN RED CHINA, says the caption released with this photo from Communist sources, these Buddhists sound the rhythm or worship on a giant wooden drum. Other sources, however, tell of the drum being beaten by Reds to gain government control of churches.

St. Matthews To Observe Two Consecrations

Three years ago on Oct. 12, St. Matthews' Church was consecrated by The Rt. Rev. George H. Quarterman at special services held in the nave.

One year ago on the same date the Memorial Chapel and its furnishings were consecrated.

Sunday will be the day the church remembers these occasions at all services.

Khrushchy Is Frustrated Over US

Foreign News Commentary By CHARLES M. McCANN United Press Staff Correspondent

Soviet Communist leader Nikita S. Khrushchyev is showing signs of frustration over United States coldness to his bids for high-level talks.

Khrushchyev and Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin have been hinting for months that they would welcome another "summit" conference in which President Eisenhower would represent the United States.

Now Khrushchyev has disclosed that the Soviet government tried to get the United States to invite Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, Soviet defense minister, to Washington and that it had turned down.

Khrushchyev made this disclosure in an interview in Moscow with James Reston, chief of the New York Times Washington bureau.

Khrushchyev was pretty bitter about it. "That is a bad thing," he said to Reston. "We are proud nation and we do not want to go down on our knees to arrange these things."

The Russian bid stemmed from a statement Eisenhower made at a press conference in Washington on July 17, when he was asked whether a meeting between Zhukov and retiring Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson might be useful.

"It might," the President said. "... There is nothing I wouldn't try experimentally in order to bring about better relationships."

But the President added a warning that such meetings might raise high expectations and there would be a bad reaction if the expectations were not realized.

It develops that the Russian leaders did not pay sufficient attention to this qualification. Zhukov was not invited.

It is evident that Khrushchyev, like other Russian leaders, does not realize two important obstacles to any such invitation.

The first is that Russia shows no sign at all that it is ready to enter in good faith high-level talks on disarmament, the Middle East or any other big East-West issue.

The other thing is that Zhukov or any other high Soviet leader who visited the United States would be left in no doubt that he was unwelcome to many people. The danger of hostile demonstrations would be great.

Rev. Adcock Sets Sunday Sermon Topics

"A Woman of Deception" will be the sermon topic discussed by Rev. Woodrow Adcock at the two morning services of the First Methodist Church Sunday at 8:30 and 10:35.

The 8:30 a.m. service is broadcast over radio station KPDN. The special music for the 8:30 a.m. service will be "St. Francis Hymn" sung by the Carol and Wesley Singers. The special music for the 10:35 a.m. service will be sung by the Sanctuary Singers.

Sunday night at 7:30 Rev. Adcock will use as his subject, "Honor in Play And Personal Relations." The special music will be sung by the MYF Singers.

Ministers Make Plans For Month

According to Rev. I. Minnick of the Church of the Brethren, president of the Pampa Ministerial Alliance, the meeting of the MA last Tuesday was chiefly to prepare plans for the coming events of the month of October, which will bring several important factors into being.

The Ministerial Alliance is sponsoring a nationwide "Religion in American Life Month" for the month of November, also, plans are being made for the UNICEF drive which will be sponsored by the Ministerial Alliance. This group will take part in a drive to collect money for medicine and necessary needs of underprivileged children in foreign countries.

The drive for 1956 netted the group $600 and hopes for a higher goal are dominate, according to Rev. Minnick.

The meeting for November has been postponed until the 12th of the month and plans will be made at that time for a banquet for all ministers and their wives.

Old Clipping Tells Of Early Brethren Meet

The Church of the Brethren observed its homecoming last Sunday.

This clipping, from the Pampa Daily News, Nov. 30, 1929, will be of interest because it tells of an activity of the church shortly after it organized here.

"Members of the newly organized Church of Brethren, and friends in attendance at the 11 o'clock service Sunday enjoyed a basket dinner at the church, 637 North Nelson street, Wynlea addition, at 2:30 in the afternoon.

Fifty-two persons were present. Between the service and the luncheon hour a quarterly business session was held, with the Rev. George E. Hallett, the pastor, presiding as moderator. The Church of the Brethren was organized in November by the Rev. Hallett, who came to Pampa from Fairview, Mo., in October. A building has since been purchased and remodeled into a brick veneer structure, with church and parsonage under one roof. The congregation now comprises thirty-eight members."

The Rev. Geo. E. Hallett, and wife are now retired and live at De Ridder, La. His grandson, the Rev. Charles Pipes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Pipes, 200 W. Craven, is a Methodist minister in Nashville, Tenn.

The church is now located at 600 North Frost.

CHRIST LIFTED UP

So must the Son of man be lifted up. John 3:14; 8:28; 12:32.

God and man are both involved in this matter of lifting up the Son of man. Man lifted him on the tree but it was in fulfillment of the plan of God. God lifted him out of the tomb and placed him on the throne. Man must lift Christ up in testimony.

1. Christ Was Lifted up on the Tree

It was essential that Christ should die on the cross. The children of Israel had a lesson in faith and obedience in the wilderness. When they spoke against God and Moses, the Lord sent serpents to bite them and cause many to die. When the people saw their sin and the punishment, they cried to Moses confessing their sin. The Lord told Moses to put a brazen serpent on a pole and bid the people bitten by the fiery serpent to look upon it and live. It was so. Now as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must the Son of man be lifted up. The fact is, all men are sinners; and Christ has been lifted up on the tree. Peter says of him, Who his own self bare our sin in his own body on the tree I Peter 2:24. Sinful man nailed Christ to the cross, but Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures I Cor. 15:3. Friend and foe testified to the death of Christ.

2. Christ Was Lifted out of the Tomb

When the body of Jesus was dead on the cross, friends came to remove it and prepare it for burial and to place it in the new tomb of Joseph. The tomb was hewn out of rock and when the body was placed in it a great stone was rolled against the door of the sepulcher. Later the Jewish rulers secured permission from Pilate to seal the tomb with the Kings seal and to place soldiers to guard the tomb to see that the body was not taken away. But in the morning of the third day an angel of God descended from heaven and rolled the stone away and Christ came forth the living Lord and King of kings.

3. Christ Must Be Lifted Up By Testimony

Believers in Christ must lift Him up before the lost world as the only Saviour from sin. If He is lifted up He will draw men by His power, His grace, His love, His unselfish suffering, and will give unto them eternal life.

Life Him up. Hold Him before the eyes of men. Let them see eternal life by grace through faith in Christ.

Series Loss Was Crushing Blow To New York's Pride Elsewhere On The Scene It Was A Great Day For Baseball

By LEO H. PETERSEN United Press Sports Editor NEW YORK (UP)—New York City mourned the blackest year in its sports history today while the rest of the nation hailed it as a year in which the National League went West and took the New York Yankees' scalps with it.

"A great thing for baseball," said Commissioner Ford Frick after the Milwaukee Braves' dream came true with Thursday's 5-0 Series clincher and National League President Warren Giles echoed the thought with his comment, "A tremendous thing for the league and baseball as a whole."

Lew Burdette

else and the Dodgers quit Brooklyn for Los Angeles. The "Big City" was confident the Yankees could preserve a measure of its pride but even that was stripped away Thursday in the face of Lew Burdette's amazing mastery over the club that dealt him off as an expendable farmhand in 1951.

The Braves' World Series victory means that baseball's story has gone West. The two franchise shifts started the trend and the Yankees' defeat which the clincher as the eastern monopoly on World Series triumphs finally was broken.

Burdette, of course, emerged as one of the greatest heroes in World Series history. No pitcher since Stan Coveleski in 1920 had started and won three games in the same Series and the 30-year-old Burdette's 2-run-in-27 innings, capped by 24 1-3 consecutive scoreless frames, rivaled anything in Series competition since Christy Mathewson pitched three shutouts against the Philadelphia Athletics in 1905.

The players who never are supposed to tighten up committed three official errors and three others of omission in the decisive seventh game.

Mathews Kayos Larsen Eddie Mathews won the fourth game with his 2-run, 10th-inning homer and it was Mathews who struck the 2-run double Thursday that put the Braves on the glory road to stay. It keyed Don (Perfect Game) Larsen and gave manager Fred Haney the lead.

Mathews' double caused Yankee manager Casey Stengel to remove Larsen and hits by Hank Aaron and Ben Covington plus an infield out enabled the Braves to lead by 4-0 in the third inning. Burdette protected it the rest of the way with Del Crandall's eighth-inning homer simply putting Stengel deeper into a strategic hole than he already was.

It was an irony of the Yankee defeat that Casey's second-guessing of himself contributed to the key play that opened the way for the Braves' winning rally.

Originally, Stengel had decided to play this decisive game with defense paramount. The first lineup he posted in the Yankee dug-out had Andy Carey, No. 1 defensively on his club, playing third and Joe Collins, his best defensive player at first, playing that position. Tony Kubek was the center fielder in place of ailing Mickey Mantle.

When Mantle told Casey he could play, the old man shifted to offense and sent Tony Kubek to third.

Whether Carey would have played Johnny Logan's grounder perfectly into a double play will never be known. But the fact is that Kubek threw wide to second base and the Braves had runners on first and second with one out instead of the Yankees being out of the inning.

Mathews' double followed and the Yankees were on their way to defeat. To New York it was the final bitter blow — to Milwaukee the dream of dreams came true — and to the rest of the country the official signs that the Golden West is the new capital of the baseball world.

There are approximately 6,000-900 two-car families in the United States.

Burdette Gives His Impressions Of Winning Braves' First Series

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lew Burdette brought Milwaukee its first World Series victory in history when he beat the Yankees for the third time in the classic, 5-0, Thursday. He gives his impressions in the following dispatch.

By LEW BURDETTE As Told to the United Press NEW YORK (UP)—I've received a number of good things in my lifetime but the best gift ever was that four-run cushion the boys gave me in the third inning.

That made my job easy. Ask any pitcher what he wants most and he'll tell you it's a three or four-run lead in the early innings. That gives you quite a bit of margin for error.

After those four runs, I never really worried. All I tried to do was get the ball over the plate and let them hit it. And as long as I had my control, I figured I'd have no trouble.

Truthfully, the Yankees didn't bother me when they started getting on me from the dugout in the late innings. They had pulled that in the first game I pitched so I was more or less used to it.

Pitching with only two days rest didn't particularly disturb me at the start and I'm certainly not going to complain about it now.

There was no strain on my arm at all. Sure, I felt a little tired at the end, but I'm only human. I'm no machine.

One of the first things I thought about after that last out had been made was that the Yankees had made seven hits. That meant I had pitched three seven-batters in this series. Maybe seven is my lucky number.

I might still be out there pitching, though, if not for Eddie Mathews.

He's the guy that got us off flying with his two-run double in the third inning, but I'm talking about that honey of a play he made on Bill Skowron to wind up this thing.

When Eddie came up with Skowron's smash and touched third, I said to myself, that's all there is, there ain't no more.

One more thing about the Yankees getting on me from their dugout. I think it was Joe Collins who yelled something about me throwing a splitter. I'm pretty sure I know why he did it. He was probably trying to rattle me.

He didn't bother me, though. You know the old saying: Sticks and stones and so on.

Anyway, I ain't mad at nobody now.

Milwaukee Went Wild As Braves Came Back Home

By RAY W. DOHERTY and RICHARD McFARLAND United Press Staff Correspondents MILWAUKEE (UP)—This new baseball capital of the world has gone wild with joy.

Nearly half a million wildly cheering fans roared "Welcome Home" Thursday night when manager Fred Haney, pitching hero

Lew Burdette and the other Yankee killers brought back Milwaukee's first World Series championship.

It was the city's biggest celebration since V-J Day. Police Chief Howard Johnson estimated "conservatively" that 400,000 fans whooped it up at the airport, along the Braves' motorcade route and downtown.

The celebration began with cheering, sirens, horn-blasting, bells, snake dances and confetti the minute the Braves beat the New York Yankees 5-0 to clinch the Series.

Plane Brings Players It swelled to a tremendous climax when the Braves' plane landed from New York. About 100,000 to 200,000 fans downtown blew horns, screamed, chanted, danced, shot off fireworks, drank beer in the streets and threw bushels of paper and confetti.

Crowds were so great that more than 50 motorcycle escorts couldn't get the motorcade through for a planned parade on Wisconsin Ave. and had to take a short-cut to County Stadium for the players to get their belongings.

When the Braves plane landed at Mitchell Field about 7:30 p.m. c.s.t. the roar of 12,000 persons on the observation deck was almost deafening.

Haney and his wife were first off the plane, followed by Burdette who won three games in the Series.

He waved his tan Frank Zerk Jr. Haney waved his hat and Mayor Frank Zeidler rushed up and shook his hand.

The welcoming committee couldn't find a microphone in the confusion for Haney to thank the crowd. He and the players showed through the crowd to waiting convertibles for the trip downtown.

Burdette Wore The Halo, And Tony Kubek Wore The Horns

By OSCAR FRALEY United Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (UP)—Loose-armed Lew Burdette wore the World Series halo today and tearful Tony Kubek wore the horns.

Somebody had to draw both items. For in a Series such as this, the pain and the plaudits run side by side.

That was the way it was as the Milwaukee Braves took the seventh and deciding game at Yankee Stadium Thursday.

It isn't pouring salt on an open wound to say that Kubek booted it. That's merely the facts, ma'am.

It was his error which left an opening through which the inspired Braves drove four runs.

There is no way to say, meanwhile, if the Yankees had managed to get Don Larsen out of that inning—as a double play by Kubek would have done instead of leaving two men on base—whether the perfect game pitcher of a year ago would have been able to hold off Milwaukee.

Huris Way Into Books It would have been a sizeable chore, because the Yankees didn't get a run off Burdette throughout the nine innings, just as they had failed in 15 1-3 previous innings as they lost to him twice before.

Burdette was only slightly less than magnificent as he hurried his way into the record books alongside such triple winners as Christy Mathewson, Urban (Red) Faber, Jack Coombs, Babe Adams, Stan Coveleskie, and Harry (The Cat) Brecheen.

They did everything they knew in an attempt to upset him. Hank Bauer slugged his opening pitch for a double. Gerry Coleman led off with a hit in the seventh and, with the wiry infielder jittering around Burdette on second base and only one away, the Yankees began to yell "splitter" charges at the Mountain-Man from West Virginia. His only reply was to strike out pinch-hitting Elton Howard and then retire the side. Then, when they loaded the bases on him in the ninth, he reared back and choked them off.

"Maybe he threw one or two spitballs," the Yankees agreed in their silent dressing room after they blew a chance to be the world champions for the seventh time in nine years.

"But that man had good control, real good, and that screwball of his is sheer murder."

It was, indeed, even though he was pitching with only two days rest.

No Strain Till Ninth "I was a little tired at the end," Burdette admitted gratefully. "But I didn't have to strain until the ninth. Then Mathews pulled it out by getting that ball at third for the final forceout."

There was no glee in Kubek and it will be a long winter and an unhappy 22nd birthday for the young man Saturday. His being at third was a bad break in itself, because if Casey Stengel hadn't listened to Mickey Mantle's pleadings to play, Kubek would have been in center field instead.

But Casey listened, Mantle played, Kubek moved to third base—and the Yankees lost the Series.

Kubek sat long afterwards in front of his locker, head low, tears in his eyes and his lips quivering. Finally he looked up and said bitterly: "It was a bad throw. What else can I say?"

Nothing, actually. Because that was the event which decided who should wear the horns and who should wear the halo.

SOME SUB—With the Stars and Stripes flying from its stern, this somewhat odd-looking submarine taking part in operation "Deep Sea" surfaces in the Dardanelles. Crewmen topside on the sub watch a landing craft returning from the coast of Canakkale, opposite the Gallipoli peninsula in Turkey. The landing craft, as well as helicopters, which presumably landed on what appears to be the sub's flight deck, carried U.S. Marines ashore to aid Greek and Turkish troops already "engaged" in simulated combat. NATO forces are engaged in mock nuclear warfare.

Little Rock Issue Really Test Case

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—The real issue in Little Rock is not the admission of nine Negro students to Central High School. It is whether, when and how all of the public schools of the South shall be integrated.

Both sides know that this has become a test case which will set a precedent of far-reaching importance. The reason President Eisenhower and Gov. Orval E. Faubus can't agree on terms for withdrawing federal troops is that they have exactly opposite ideas of what the precedent should be.

Eisenhower believes Little Rock must demonstrate the readiness of the United States government to use whatever force may be necessary to prevent violence from blocking the final decision of a federal court.

Faubus believes the nation will learn from Little Rock that the "forcible integration" of a southern school can be accomplished only by sending federal troops to the scene and keeping them there for a very long time. He thinks the White House will find it impractical to pay this price.

MIRROR, MIRROR—Though this wacky mirror at the Mid-South Fair in Memphis, Tenn., reflects a squat, goose-necked image, it doesn't bother Shirley Ray Atkinson, 20. She knows all would agree that this presentation stretches truth a little.

Fancy Fresh Killed Buffalo 30 Cents Lb.

By JAMES BAAR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Uncle Sam's special of the month: Fancy fresh killed buffalo, 30 cents a pound.

The Fish and Wildlife Service said Thursday it has 200 buffaloes for sale at its Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge in Oklahoma.

William E. Ackernecht of the wildlife refuge office said the government is offering the buffaloes in four low-money categories.

For $180 the refuge will ship to your door prepaid an entire frozen buffalo butchered into handy barbecue-size cuts.

For $160 you can get the same frozen buffalo shipped to you prepaid but it will have been cut only in quarters.

For $140 you can get the same quartered buffalo f.o.b. Wichita. In this case, the buffalo will not be frozen; only cold.

For $125 to $150 you can get the same buffalo f.o.b. Wichita on the hoof.

Ackernecht said the price of a live buffalo depends on whether it is a yearling or a mature buffalo. Moreover, he said, if you want one on the hoof you will have to be investigated first.

"We won't sell them to just anybody," he said. "A buyer must have the proper facilities and capabilities to care for one.

"For example, you can't keep

"FLYING JEEP"—Artist's sketch shows the dream vehicle of Army Aviation, an aerial jeep. The burgeoning new Army branch is bent on developing planes which would change the face of small-scale warfare regarding reconnaissance, observation, troop deployment, etc. The ducted-fan principle, a propulsion method which may give the Army a whole new family of airborne transport vehicles, is used on the aerial jeep.

Ag Department Estimates '57 Corn Crop

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Agriculture Department today estimated the 1957 corn crop at 3,394,621,000 bushels. This compares with the September estimate of 3,194,674,000 bushels.

The department's crop reporting board estimated this year's wheat crop at 927,324,000 bushels, made up of 690,601,000 bushels of winter wheat and 236,723,000 bushels of spring wheat.

The winter wheat estimate was the same as last month's when the crop was virtually all harvested. The spring wheat estimate compares with last month's 232,867,000 bushel forecast.

Last year farmers harvested 3,451,292,000 bushels of corn. Ten-year average production was 3,120,484,000 bushels.

The current wheat forecast compared with 997,207,000 bushels last year and a 10-year average production of 1,131,000,000 bushels.

one out in back of your house. A buffalo needs about 40 acres to graze."

Of All Sizes
He said the buffaloes on sale all weigh up to about 900 to 1,000 pounds before butchering and 400 to 600 pounds afterwards.

"Of course, buffaloes never stop growing," he said. "We have some old bulls that weigh 3,000 pounds."

"But when we're ready to dispose of those we sell them to the local butchers. They make good buffaloburgers."

Ackernecht said the refuge had to sell off the buffaloes to keep the 1,000-head herd down to the right size for its grazing land.

"Otherwise we would have buffaloes all over the place," he said.

How Gene Paul Norris Died

Editor's Note: This is the second of two dispatches outlining the life and death of Gene Paul Norris, the most dangerous man in the Southwest.

By JOHN G. WARNER
United Press Staff Correspondent

FORT WORTH (UP)—As dusk was drawing near one wet, gloomy April evening, the Southwest's most dangerous man died with his face in the mud, only hours before the biggest job of his life.

Gene Paul Norris was 35, and he had pulled many a big robbery between killings. But nothing in recent Southwest history would have equalled his holdup of the $500,000 Strategic Air Command payroll at Carswell Air Force Base here—if it had come off.

But an ex-con whom Norris tried to ring in on the job tipped the FBI. That cost Norris his life.

On the morning of last April 30, an armored truck was scheduled to roll up to the Carswell branch bank with the payroll.

Norris, his bodyguard Carl Humphreys and James Edward Papworth planned to kidnap Mrs. Elizabeth Barles and her 12-year-old son, Mrs. Barles, an employee of the bank, had the job of opening it every morning.

Windshield Sticker
The trio planned to take her car and the bank keys. The sticker on the car's windshield would get them on the base and they could let themselves into the bank with the keys. There they would blind and gag them and trot off with the payroll.

Lawmen from as far as Houston converged to frustrate the plot. Texas Ranger Capt. Johnny Kievenhagen of Company A, Houston, was in town with a John Doe warrant for Norris in connection with the slaying of a Houston gambler and his wife.

On the evening of April 29, only hours before the heist was scheduled, Norris and Humphreys were making a dry run on the route they were to use to the bank.

Humphreys was driving when they met a car containing Ranger Capt. Jay Banks and Kievenhagen, Fort Worth Police Chief Cato Hightower, Tarrant county Sheriff Harlan Wright and Det. Capt. O. R. Brown. The lawmen spotted their quarry just as Norris saw them and let loose with a charge from his 12-gauge shotgun.

Two More Cars
The chase began. Two other squad cars converged on the rapidly changing scene, putting a total of 11 officers in the chase.

Humphreys gunned the car away from Fort Worth, with Norris blasting at their pursuers every time Humphreys made a right turn. Not an officer was scratched, however.

The chase roared through little Asia at speeds up to 120 miles an hour. Near Springtown, Humphreys whipped off onto a muddy farm road. He took the turn too fast, and his car spun in the mud, clipped a pair of scrub oaks and smashed into a fence.

Norris and Humphreys jumped out, blazing away with .38s. They left the empty shotgun in the wrecked car.

The fugitives raced across a small clearing in a barrage of bullets, running toward rain-swollen Walnut Creek. If they reached the woods beyond, it would have taken bloodhounds to find them. Norris and his bodyguard, who chose an odd profession for a man with a morbid fear of death, fired over their shoulders as they ran.

Didn't Make It
Humphreys splashed into the creek and dragged himself to a small island before he died. His left leg was smashed, his chest and mouth ripped by 23 slugs.

About 50 yards upstream from Humphreys, Norris waded across the creek, leaped to the other bank and jerked like a puppet on a string. He spun and dropped halfway into the creek. Two bullets had pierced his brain and 14 more lodged in his body.

Gene Paul Norris, a gun for hire, was permanently retired as an occupational hazard.

Papworth was convicted of conspiring in the Carswell plot.

Officers expressed a slight surprise at Norris' decision to make a fight. Arrested 25 times in Fort Worth alone, he had never resisted an officer. Possibly he knew the last big job was, in reality, the last.

There is an old Wall Street expression that the Bull can make money, the Bear can make money but that the hog gets nothing.

My old friend Walter Malowan writes, "Here is a hand that may amuse your readers. North should certainly have found a stronger rebid than one no-trump. I imagine two hearts would be correct but a real overbidder might have tried two no-trump." (Memo to Walter: Two hearts is right. Only you would bid two no-trump.)

Walter continues, "North should have jumped to four hearts at his next turn but he only bid three and South went on to four. West opened the ten of spades and South looked at the dummy and remarked cheerfully that it looked as if his side had missed a grand slam.

Thereupon South proceeded to underplay the hand a lot more than it had been underbid. He won the opening lead in dummy and for some reason best known to himself proceeded to lead a club to his ace. West trumped and led a second spade which East ruffed. A club was led back and West ruffed. South still had to lose a club trick so he was down one at four.

A most amusing hand and also a rather interesting double dummy problem. At a bid of six South might lead a trump to his own hand at trick two and then play a club toward dummy. In the event that West should ruff, South would make the hand with a squeeze against East. He would cash dummy's remaining high spade and trump his own third spade. Then when he eventually played out his last trump East would be squeezed in clubs and diamonds.

However, West could defeat six by refusing to ruff that first club lead. Then no matter how South played he would be unable to bring home more than 11 tricks.
