'Khrushchy' Seen As New Stalin

By DANIEL F. GILMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (UP)—Western diplomats said today Nikita S. Khrushchev was fast emerging as the new Stalin. They expressed doubt and uncertainty on the future course of Soviet diplomacy.

Communists outside Russia appeared as uncertain as western observers just what the victory by Nikita S. Khrushchev over Marshal Georgi Zhukov will mean in future Soviet policy.

The most significant sign of uncertainty came from Belgrade where President Tito cancelled an expected visit to Moscow next week on the excuse he was suffering from acute lumbago.

Missile Program Blossoms

By WILLIAM E. HOWARD
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The administration made clear today it doesn't want to be accused of penny-pinching America's effort to beat Russia in space weapons.

A step by Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy towards lifting the government's spending ceiling to keep from jeopardizing "essential programs" was concurrent with the blossoming of a fourth congressional investigation of the U.S. missile program.

Further administration intentions for dealing with the new Soviet weapons challenge were expected to be detailed during President Eisenhower's news conference.

The President has been under continuing Congressional pressure to step up the U.S. ballistic missile development pace and satellite program.

The House Manpower Subcommittee became the fourth congressional group to look into the missile setup, seeking to learn whether it has been hampered by waste of scientific talent.

McElroy gave a clear indication Tuesday he expects defense spending to exceed its $3 billion dollar limit. He said during the last half of 1957 expenditures would be likely to hit $19,400,000,000.

This is 400 million dollars more than the ceiling imposed by his predecessor, Charles E. Wilson.

On Monday McElroy revoked another Wilson order and restored 170 million dollars to the departments research and development funds.

Services Will Testify

High ranking Army, Navy, Air Force and Defense Department officials will testify Nov. 4-6 before the House Manpower Subcommittee.

A subcommittee source said it has reports competition is "rumor wild" for scientists and technicians are ending up in ordinary administrative work because of surpluses in some sections of the research and development field.

Two Non-Strikers Beaten

Two non-striking workers were beaten by six men in a cafe brawl today as violence erupted again in the lengthy strike at Lone Star Steel Co.

The beaten men were identified as James Landers of Hallsville and Kelly T. Arnold of Diana. Both were treated for cuts, bruises and possible cracked ribs at the Lone Star Steel Co. plant hospital.

Texas Ranger Sgt. Arthur Hill said the beatings "definitely" were a part of the lengthy strike that began last Sept. 21. There have been sporadic bombings, shotgun blasts, fights and threats since then.

Hill, pressing a search for bombers who have blasted holes in pipelines and other property, said the latest incident occurred at 2:15 a. m. at the City Cafe on Highway 26.

Jump non-striking
These six men jumped on the two non-striking workers—calling them scabs and cursing them," Hill said. "They beat them up pretty bad. We have some names and we expect to arrest some of all of them today."

J. S. Couch, owner of the cafe, denied knowing anything about the incident. The cafe is open all night.

Hill is heading a 20-man "task force" in the search for the bombers.

Gov. Price Daniel Tuesday offered a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the bombings.

An explosion Tuesday ripped four holes in the loading platform of the Irvin Oil Co. warehouse at Daingerfield, blew out windows and shattered gas pumps.

President To Go To Paris

Will Attend Annual NATO Council Meet

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower announced today he plans to go to Paris in December to join other heads of government at the annual meeting of the NATO council.

The President said that before going to Paris he will confer with Republican and Democratic congressional leaders. The congressional conferences, he said, would be designed to keep this country on a single track in its foreign relations.

While in Europe, the President said he also would like to visit London, but he did not know whether the London visit could be arranged because of the difficulties involved in his remaining out of the country for any length of time.

The President announced his Paris trip at a crowded news conference, his first in three weeks. Other news conference highlights:

—He said the Little Rock school integration crisis seems to be improving daily and he hopes the situation soon will be such as to permit removal of all federal forces.

—He advised American housewives to buy less in an era of rising prices and buy more during downward price trends.

—He did not know whether Georgi K. Zhukov, ousted as Soviet defense minister, had been downgraded, but the President thought the frequency in changes among the Soviet ruling group since the death of Stalin was extraordinary.

—The President expects to make an announcement soon on the first in a series of speeches designed to build up public confidence in American scientific and defense programs, foreign policy and the national economy.

—Because of an unusually busy November ahead of him, he thought he might have to cancel plans for his customary autumn golfing holiday at Augusta, Ga.

Flu Outbreaks Showing Signs Of Waning

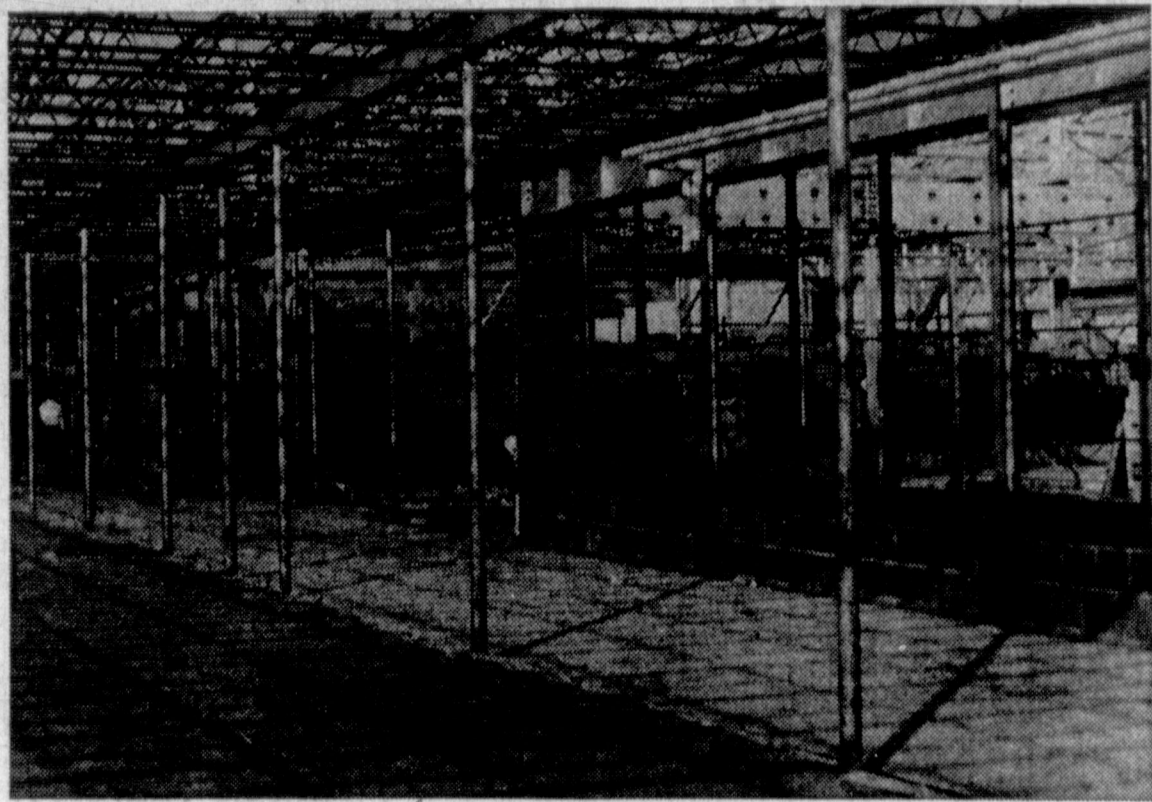

By UNITED PRESS
Flu and its complications claimed about 30 more lives during the past 24 hours, but there was evidence the outbreak was on the wane in some areas.

A United Press tally since the first case of Asian flu was reported in the country last summer showed at least 449 deaths blamed on flu and complications, chiefly pneumonia.

New York State continued to have the highest fatality rate with 126 deaths. Pennsylvania reported 82 fatalities.

State Fatals Listed
Elsewhere, there were 37 deaths in Michigan, 34 in California, 21 in Illinois and Louisiana, 15 each in Iowa, Washington and Wisconsin, 11 in Utah, 10 in Colorado, 9 in Hawaii, 7 in Connecticut, 6 each in Indiana and Kentucky and 3 each in New Jersey, Tennessee and Oregon.

The state of Washington accounted for 2 deaths.

TAKING SHAPE — The new junior high school building is taking shape with workmen starting work on the interior of some of the classrooms. The interior of one of the classroom wings is shown in the foreground while bricklaying operations on the auditorium can be seen in the background. According to the foreman, Tom Walters, the construction work is about 50 per cent completed and the school should be finished in time for use next fall.

New Red Network In South Charged

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee warned today that the Communist Party is using a roving new generation to maintain operations in the South.

The subcommittee issued a statement detailing its contention following a stormy hearing on alleged Communist activities in the mid-south area surrounding Memphis.

The hearings ended a day ahead of schedule in an open Tuesday with Sen. William Jenner (R-Ind.) denouncing Mrs. Grace Lorch, one of the witnesses, as a "Communist organizer."

Threatens Contempt Citation
Jenner threatened to have Mrs. Lorch cited for contempt of court and the subcommittee said it would consider whether to press those charges against the witness.

Mrs. Lorch broke into the news by befriending a Negro child at Little Rock, Ark., but Jenner charged she was previously identified as a Communist party worker in New England.

The subcommittee statement said there has emerged a pattern of "a new and younger generation of Communist teachers who have been trained by older members and are now carrying on the functions of the Communist network."

The statement said members of the Communist network include men and women "who are highly educated, efficient and have every appearance of respectability. They make up the basic framework of a Communist operation that is directed against all generations of people in the South."

Objects of Network
"Objects of this Communist network have been the churches, the parent-teacher associations, colleges, high schools and labor organizations," the Senate group said.

An overflow crowd broke into loud applause and rebel yells as Jenner pounded a clenched fist on the table and told the Little Rock Ark. housewife and integrationist leader that she should be "cited for contempt."

The contempt threat came after Mrs. Lorch ignored the committee's questions Tuesday and tried to read a prepared statement attacking the subcommittee and its chairman, Sen. James O. Eastland (D - Miss.).

Shortly afterwards, Eastland and Jenner made the surprise announcement that the hearings here had ended. They were to run through today.

Hearings Cut Short
Jenner said it was decided to cut the hearings short because of "uncooperative witnesses" who invoked the Fifth Amendment and the fact that many witnesses were excused from appearing here.

Later, they issued a statement saying "there is a present-day conspiracy in the Mid-south area and there have been extraordinary security measures undertaken by the Communists to protect their identity and activities."

Mrs. Lorch, who once tried unsuccessfully to enroll her daughter, Alice, 13, in a Negro school at Nashville, Tenn., clutched a

Half Of School Construction Is Completed

Construction work on the new junior high school for Pampa, located north of 23rd, is moving along according to schedule with approximately 50 per cent of the work completed.

This report was made yesterday by Tom Walters, construction foreman for the Ramey Construction Co., general contractors for the work.

He said that all of the structural steel has been erected and that concrete work is more than 90 per cent completed at this time.

About two-thirds of the brick laying has been completed, Walters added. Work on the construction of the roof and the lathing of inside walls started recently, he said.

"We hope to have the building entirely enclosed by the first of the year," the foreman added. He stated that even though the outside walls and roof should be completed by that time, the interior work will only be beginning on a large scale.

The school will include three classroom wings, a connecting hallway, an auditorium with cafeteria facilities behind the auditorium and a wing which will house two gyms. An open walkway will connect the various wings on the west side of the building.

The contract calls for the building to be completed by Aug. 31, 1958, in time for school next year but the contractors hope to complete the school several weeks prior to the deadline, Walters concluded.

Contrasting Water Bills Due Action

By O. B. LLOYD Jr.
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN (UP)—Sharply contrasting water bills were ready for action today in the House and Senate.

The House opened debate on its bill Tuesday and bogged down on an amendment by Reps. Tony Fenhagen of Nocona and Murray Watson of Mart which would change the bill to authorize anyone to impound up to 200 acre-feet of water for all purposes without a state permit.

The bill as returned from committee would allow such action only for domestic and livestock purposes. Fenoglio argued farmers should be allowed to use rain where it falls without a state permit and the amendment's proponents claimed a permit costs about $2,000, figuring surveying and other costs.

Its opponents charged it would deplete streams and effect small towns with reservoirs, also.

Rep. John Lee raised a point of order, contending the amendment is outside the purpose of the special session, to pass state-wide water planning.

House Speaker Waggoner Carr said he needed additional time to rule on whether the amendment is admissible. The House refused 80-54 to kill the amendment.

The Senate Water and Conservation Committee passed a water bill considerably different from

Precautions Taken For Israeli Swear-In

By ELIAV SIMON
United Press Staff Correspondent
JERUSALEM, Israel (UP)—Extra security precautions were taken at the bomb-scarred parliament today for the swearing in of President Izhak Ben-Zvi for a second five-year term.

Police said the bomb attack in the Knesset Chamber Tuesday by a deranged young man appeared to have no political implications. However, they were not ruling out the possibility that the assailant, Moshe Ben Yaacov Duet, may have been used as a tool by some political group.

Premier David Ben-Gurion and four of his ministers were wounded when the home-made bomb exploded in the midst of the cabinet members seated at the government table on the floor of the chamber.

Shapiro Critical
Minister of Religious Affairs Moshe Shapiro was hit the hardest. He was reported in critical condition today after undergoing emergency operations for a brain concussion and the removal of bomb fragments from his stomach.

Ben-Gurion belted his 70 years by ducking like the old soldier he is when he spotted the bomb as it arched through the air from the public gallery. He received superficial wounds of the hand.

Foreign Minister Golda Meir was detained at the Haddasah Hospital after treatment for minor flesh wounds to her foot.

Flying fragments broke the right arm of Communications Minister Moshe Carmel and he was hospitalized. Health Minister I. Barzilai suffered leg burns from the explosion but returned to the Knesset after first aid treatment.

Two Others Injured
A woman member of parliament, Bebe Idelson, suffered minor scratches from fragments as she did a spectator in the public gallery.

Following the initial panic caused by the blast, Duet was seized by two persons standing next to him. He offered no resistance then or when turned over to the police.

New Fire Hose Arrives Here

The fire hose recently purchased by Pampa for the fire department arrived at Central Fire Station this morning and was being unloaded by the firemen.

The shipment included 60 sections of 2 1/2 inch hose and 20 sections of 1 1/2 inch. Most of the new hose will be placed on the new Mack pumper, which has been without fire hose since arriving in Pampa, and the remainder of the hose will be used at the three stations for replacement hose.

With the arrival of the hose the only new items still not received by the fire department are the radios for the three fire stations and the fire fighting equipment.

These radios are expected to be shipped about Nov. 16.

Drive Slated For UNICEF Tomorrow

An organized "Trick or Treat" campaign to raise money for needy children throughout the world is slated here for tomorrow night, Halloween.

The drive is being sponsored by the Pampa Ministerial Alliance and the Pampa Council of Church Women and will have local youths out knocking on doors of the community asking for "treats" of money for UNICEF (United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund).

UNICEF is a part of the United Nations, but is governed by its own executive board of 30 nations.

Requests are made for aid by the governments reviewed by experts in the field and at headquarters and sent to the executive board for decision.

In operation since 1946, the Children's Fund has helped children and mothers in over 10 countries and territories by projects and control mass diseases, combating malnutrition, improving basic health services and meeting emergencies.

These activities are carried out with the technical assistance and cooperation of the World Health Organization, the Food and Agriculture Organization and the United Nations Bureau of Social Affairs, all aided by the United Nations Technical Assistance Program.

In the drive last year the UNICEF "goblins" netted over $600 for the program here.

Mrs. Bob McCoy is chairman of the drive held here for the Council of Church Women, and the Rev. Ronald Hubbard is in charge on the part of the Ministerial Alliance.

UF Total Is Now $24,690

The total today in the Pampa-Lefors United Fund campaign stood slightly over $1,000 above the total reported yesterday.

The United Fund office reported late this morning that the total number of subscriptions now stood at $24,690. Of this total, cash subscriptions total $21,815.35 while the remaining $2,874.65 has been in pledges.

The goal set for the drive this year is $60,000 and the total today indicated that the campaign is over $5,000 below the half-way mark.

Bob Andis To Head Rodeo Group

The Top of Texas Rodeo Association held its meeting for election of officers in the Pampa Chamber of Commerce office last night at 7:30 and Bob Andis was re-elected as president.

Other officers elected are: Jake Osborn, first vice president; Otto Mangold, second vice president; Charlie Robinson, treasurer, and E. O. "Red" Wedgworth, secretary.

Newly-elected directors of the association, Billy Davis and Nat Lunsford, also attended the meeting bringing the total to 24 present.

Preliminary plans were made by the working committees for details concerning the 1958 Top of Texas Rodeo which will be held Aug. 4-9.

Andis announced that a few properties are still available at Otter Park and interested persons should contact him as the fence and several small buildings are still for sale at the park.

The lighting system previously used in Otter Park is now being installed at the rodeo arena in Recreation Park.

Revolt Ends At Hospital

MEDICAL LAKE, Wash. (UP)—Two inmates shouldered the blame today for a lightning-swift but bloodless rebellion which swept through the maximum security ward of the Eastern State Hospital.

"If any blame is to be placed, it should be placed on us," said James Island and Ed Thomas. "We just wanted reassurance we would be treated like human beings."

Thirty-five hostages were held for seven hours when the revolt flared Tuesday in the mental institution about 15 miles from Spokane.

The hostages were treated with courtesy. They played cards, drank coffee and watched television while a ring of state patrolmen and sheriff's deputies surrounded the modern brick unit.

Dr. Garrett Heyns, newly-appointed states institutions director, made a dramatic flight from Yakima to confer with the inmates.

Wives and families of the hostages stood vigil outside the double-thickness wire fence surrounding the building as Heyns stalked into the building along with Dr. G. Sandritter, hospital superintendent.

After conferring with the inmates, Heyns went to Spokane where he announced at 6:25 p.m. that the uprising was over.

A 16-year-old girl was brought before Gray County Court this morning on charges of breaking the curfew. The girl was arrested by local police officers along with her companion who is 18 at 2 a.m. this morning.

According to the girl, she and her friend were unable to return to town when four Pampa boys got the keys from their car and refused to return them while they were three miles south of Pampa on a dirt road.

The four boys are now under investigation to determine more facts in the case while the girl has been put on strict curfew by Judge Bruce Parker and warned to abide by the rules of "obey."

Charges of vagrancy against the 18 year old girl were dropped this morning after a hearing in Corporation Court.

Racket Group Asks About Union Failure

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Rackets Committee called a former Upholsters Union official today to ask him what knocked the stuffing out of the union's bid to organize a California mattress plant in 1951.

Chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy said the committee would hear Michael Katz, former organizer for the Upholsters Workers, on the union's efforts to organize the San Leandro, Calif., plant of the Englander Mattress Co.

Kennedy said the committee also planned to quiz Sidney Korshak, Chicago attorney, about the mattress company's dealings with the embattled Teamsters Union. The committee was scheduled to resume its public hearings today with more testimony on the activities of Nathan W. Shefferman's labor relations firm—dubbed by Kennedy a "union-busting" concern.

Allstate To Be Called
Kennedy said the committee also would hear testimony on Allstate Insurance Co., the Sears Roebuck and Co. insurance agency, sometime during the day.

Joseph M. Dillon, warehouse director for the teamsters' Western Conference, began the Englander story Tuesday and quickly cast Shefferman for a role in it.

Korshak figured in Dillon's testimony in connection with later teamster discussions on Englander. The teamster official said that in 1955 he and Frank Brewster, president of the Western Conference of teamsters, were opposing the suggestion that two Englander plants in the West be included in a proposed nationwide warehousing contract.

Agreed On Policy
Dillon said James R. Hoffa, newly-elected teamster president, suggested a meeting with Korshak on the problem, Dillon said he met with Korshak but they agreed to continue the West Coast plans under the separate contracts.

Other highlights of Tuesday's hearing:—The committee said Sears, Roebuck & Co. paid $78,750 expenses for Teamster Union President Dave Beck to attend the funeral of former President Dan Tobin. Sears Vice President Wallace W. Tudor said Shefferman billed the expense to Sears as "entertainment."

A Shefferman employe, Edmund E. Wroblewski (aka Ed Rohey), became the first Fifth Amendment witness of the Shefferman hearings as he refused to testify about his part in an alleged union-busting drive at Sears stores in Boston.

Worker Dies In Toppling Oil Rig

ALBANY, Tex. (UP)—A 28-year old oil field worker rode a toppling oil rig to the ground late Tuesday and was killed. Two men on the ground were injured by flying debris.

Bill Burns, of Albany, was aboard a double board about 25 feet up the 95-foot derrick when the foundation apparently gave way. He was killed instantly.

C. A. Sales, 38, an Albany roughneck, was hospitalized with possible back injuries and lacerations, and T. W. Rushing, 33, an Albany driller, was hospitalized with possible hip and back injuries.

The rig was on the Jim Nell ranch about 15 miles northwest of Albany. It was owned by Thompson Drilling Co. of Lubbock.

Bodies Are Sought After Plane Crash

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (UP)—Air Force and civilian rescue teams today resumed the task of searching for bodies in the wreckage of a giant KC-97 tanker plane which was believed to be carrying 18 crewmen when it crashed into a mountain. The crash occurred in desolate country 40 miles north of here.

Eight bodies were spotted Tuesday by an advance rescue team which reached the scene several hours after the crash. It was feared that no one survived the crash.

The plane, from the 559 Aircraft and Engine Squadron at Walker Air Force Base, Roswell, N.M., slammed into Gray Mountain at the 1,800-foot level. The plane, used to refuel jet aircraft at high altitudes, left Roswell early Tuesday on a "routine training flight."

Air Force officials disclosed that the plane reported no trouble prior to the crash Tuesday about 10 a.m.

The cause of the crash remained a mystery and was under investigation by the Air Force. The Weather Bureau said the plane might have tried to fly under a fog bank as heavy patches of fog were reported in the area early Tuesday.

French Ask Changes In Government

PARIS (UP)—Right and Left-Wing political spokesmen clamored today for sweeping changes in France's political structure to avoid future government crises.

But their demands would have to wait a decision today by Felix Gaillard, 58-year-old finance minister in the last government, on whether he will try to form a government to end this month-old crisis.

Gaillard is to inform President Rene Coty sometime this evening whether he will become the sixth political leader to try to solve the impasse. He planned a series of political talks during the day before making up his mind.

From the extreme left, French Communist leaders called on the Socialists once again to join them in a political alliance to change basic French policies. The Communists and Socialists together could form a majority in Parliament.

The appeals followed Socialist Party Leader Guy Mollet's failure to win National Assembly approval as the next French premier. His plans were wrecked 290 to 277 when the Conservative Independents voted against him.

This deepened the political crisis and played into the hands of the Right and extreme Left who denounce the present regime for different reasons but with equal bitterness.

The Right-Wing Social Republic Assembly bloc met and issued a public warning that if the crisis drags on it might be necessary to call in De Gaulle as a strongman who could serve somewhat as a benevolent dictator until France could straighten itself out.

MAEBASHI, Japan (UP)—The prosecution will demand conviction and a prison term Thursday for SAC WILLIAM S. GIRARD in the firing range death of Mrs. NAKA SAKI last Jan. 30, court observers said today.

Newspapermen, both Japanese and foreign, agreed that the prosecutor's office will ask between five and seven years imprisonment for the Ottawa, Illinois, GI when it makes its final summation at the Maebashi District Court Thursday.

Most observers believe the three-judge panel will let the 22-year-old Army truck driver off with a suspended sentence when it hands down its judgment sometime the early part of next month.

All indications are that both Japanese and Americans will be satisfied, though some Americans may feel that Girard deserves to spend some time in a Japanese prison for what he has done.

FLU

counted for 11 of the new flu fatalities, and the state health department estimated there were 450 cases of influenza and other respiratory ailments. There was no estimate of how many of the ill were stricken with Asian flu.

Also in the Pacific Northwest, the case rate in Oregon continued to climb and health officials said it was approaching the level of the 1918 flu epidemic. A second death was reported at an Oregon State Home for the Mentally Retarded Tuesday.

East Hit Hard
In the East, flu reached epidemic proportions in the northern part of Maine and Philadelphia, Pa., became the latest big city to be hit by a major outbreak of influenza.

However, the incidence of flu was reported on the decline in such other flu-stricken states as Illinois, Massachusetts and Mississippi.

The University of Illinois disclosed that a campus epidemic earlier this month infected about 30 per cent of the students. The university said the situation became so severe that an ice rink was turned into an emergency hospital to treat the sick.

Five Persons Die In Fire

NEW YORK (UP)—Five persons, including an entire family of four, died in an early morning fire that swept a two-story apartment building today.

The two-alarm fire was discovered at 4:30 a.m. It quickly engulfed the frame dwelling. Firemen brought the flames under control at 6:12 a.m. and fought their way into the building, but were too late to save the victims.

They discovered the five bodies in one bedroom on the second floor.

Police identified the victims as Michael Gutierrez, 28, his wife Augustina, 26; their children, Evelyn, 5, and Antonio, 6; and a nephew, Soladad Rio Gutierrez, 5.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

'Soft Talk' Raises Hope For End To Mideast War Threats

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
"Soft" statements by Nikita S. Khrushchev and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko raised hope in Western circles today that the threat of war in the Middle East has ended for the moment.

But Moscow radio kept up its propaganda barrage, and in a series of statements again accused Turkey of waiting to attack Syria, at any moment.

To add to the confusion Moscow radio also congratulated Turkey Tuesday night on the 54th anniversary of its founding, and Khrushchev's statements were made at a reception at the Turkish embassy in Moscow.

United Nations delegates thought the "war crisis" atmosphere had almost evaporated after Gromyko made an unusually mild reply to a blistering attack on Soviet foreign policy last week by U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge.

A stronger clue to the situation was expected this morning when the Syrian delegate addressed the United Nations General Assembly.

Top American sources expressed hope the entire Turco-Syrian dispute would be wiped off the U.N. agenda, and that the issue would "die with a dull thud."

There also was growing doubt the U.N. would vote to send an investigating team to the Middle East and Western diplomats said Russia had achieved its aim of making itself sound like a "big brother" to the Arabs with its broadcasts.

Former Autograph Collector Is Now A Hollywood Actress

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Do miracles still happen in this mixed up town of palm trees and ballyhoo? Once upon a time a bow-legged little girl tarried around the MGM Studio gate seeking autographs, smiling bashfully at the stars. Her name was Sandra Knight. Her father was a studio cop.

In the evenings Sandy listened wide-eyed while papa told stories about his experiences with the high and mighty of the movies. Occasionally he'd bring her a piece of cake from a studio party. And Sandra told stories of her own — imaginative ones of how some day she, too, would be a star.

Star to Papa
Her father said she would at least be a star to him. He grinned with paternal pride when watching little Sandy collect autographs from Glenn Ford, Lana Turner, Van Johnson and other magical stars as they exited through the huge wrought iron gate.

That was 10 years ago. Today Sandra is a voluptuous 19-year-old with electric blue eyes and 35-23-35-inch measurements—and many a boy to her shapely legs. She studied acting, but never worked professionally. One day last August her agent sent Sandy to see Robert Mitchum for the feminine lead in his first independent production, "The Whippoorwill."

Now the studios are bidding for her services. All the big ones—20th Century-Fox, Universal-International, Warner Brothers. All but Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, the studio where her father still guards the main gate.

The President is the only person with the prestige and confidence of the American people to call this nation into a period of sacrifice, renewed dedication and a return to God."

LONDON — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan commenting on the idea of a summit conference with Russia: "Judge from the attitude of (Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei) Gromyko at the United Nations such conversations would not at the moment be likely to be very fruitful."

'Dry Hole' To Be Drilled

HOUSTON (UP)—They do, too, do things differently in Texas. Workers will start drilling an oil well on the University of Houston campus, Dec. 1 even though the promoters know it's going to be a "dry" hole. But that won't bother them. They plan pumping oil into it. The well, a real one dug to 2,000 feet and costing about $50,000 will serve a practical purpose. It will be used to demonstrate lectures and laboratory sessions for students in the petroleum field.

Pat Boone: Young Man With The Blinding Smile

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Pat Boone, a young man in a hurry, is haunted by time. At the age of 23, Boone occupies a snug niche in what the untamed refer to as show biz. He is what the trade calls "a gasser" in the record and personal appearance branches and seems to be conquering a third medium, TV. In his movie appearances, he has not exhibited any conspicuous talent for acting, but this, of course, has never been a deterrent to success in Hollywood. He should, in time, prove a gasser in pictures, too. He is a young man spectacularly unburdened with vices. But he also is a young man squeezed by the clock. He divides his days between a demanding career, a beckoning home life and Columbia University's School of General Studies, where he is in his senior year.

MUST BE A RECORD—These six children of Mrs. Byron Levion, center, must hold some kind of a record. They were all born in the same Houston, Tex., hospital, in the same room, with the same doctor and nurse in attendance. Melanie, on Mrs. Levion's lap, is one week old. The oldest is Teena, 10, at right.

Above all, he seems to harbor a fierce drive to make good—even in his school life he is bucking for a Phi Beta Kappa key. Not Much Idle Time. He does have a few outlets outside his daily regimen, but not much time for them. He owns some hi-fi equipment and a half-interest in an inboard cruiser with Frank Musiello, a member of the Arthur Godfrey production family. Boone also shares a financial, but not much of an emotional interest, in a race horse, "April's Love," with his manager, Jack Spina and actor Arthur O'Connell. The horse's name is an inexact swipe from the title of Boone's second picture, "April Love."

But viewed from any angle, Boone is a slave to the clock. His day-to-day life is as carefully mapped as a military campaign. It is not surprising, therefore, that Boone's chief fault lies in the resistance, even resentment, he shows to the push of the clock. "It's kind of fantastic, but we just can't seem to get him to change," says his wife, Shirley. "He just refuses to have any conception of time. Getting him to arrive for an appointment on time is a job in itself." Spina concurs. He has a collection of stories about Boone's disregard for the clock. Very Costly Mince-meat. "Once, he had an appointment for 8:30 in the morning and he didn't even get up until 11:30," moans Spina. "There was another time in Hollywood where he was eating a Thanksgiving leftover dinner. "Well, I pleaded with him to quit—we had a recording session that day—but he began digging into the mince-meat pie. Well, that piece of pie cost us about $1,000—that's how much overtime the musicians got because Pat got to the session late." Strangely enough, Boone's tussles with time extend in another

'Too Much Said About What's Wrong, Not Enough What's Right With Youth'

By ENID A. HAUPT
 (Publisher and Editor, Seventeen Magazine Author, "The Seventeen Book of Young Living")

NEW YORK — Too much has been said about what's wrong with youth and not enough about what's right with youth.

I say this every chance I get because I want mothers and fathers to hear it, believe it and repeat it. Every American home will be improved when parents give the youngsters the praise which is their due.

While alarming incidents stir up our concern for the standards of today's youth, it is still most important to remember that in hard, cold facts, the percentage of today's delinquency is no more than 2 percent.

This group certainly presents a serious problem to us all, but it is unfair and unwise to take our sights off the 98 per cent of our young population who are the constructive preponderance of youth. These young people are America's greatest natural resource. And the outlook they present for the future is very bright indeed.

In travelling cross country to meet her, reading her letters, studying her habits, surveying her interests, I have discovered many interesting facts about the American teen-age girl. It's time for the public to take a realistic, searching look at her.

Here are some of the things they will find:

1. She is a full five years older in attitude than previous generations. She thinks straighter, is more forthright, better informed and altogether more attractive than girls of previous times.
2. She is earnestly preparing herself to take a serious part in life. If anyone should doubt that, let him look at the large memberships in 4-H clubs, church organizations, Girl Scouts, Future Homemakers of America and similar groups.
3. She actively contributes to her own support. Last year teen girls earned over four billion dollars of their own money in part-time wage-earning activities and allowances for home chores.
4. She is a partner, with her mother in running the home. Contrary to public thought, the teen-age girl is not an idle boarder, lodger and telephone-user in the American home. She is a positive help to her mother in doing the family shopping, cooking, cleaning, laundering, menu-planning and home-sewing. She does this both by choice and by necessity. More mothers of teen-agers are in the working force than mothers of any other age group.
5. She is a bride and homemaker herself, embracing the challenges of mature relationships and responsibilities at an early age. U. S. Census Bureau numbers tell us that of all first brides, almost 50 per cent are in their teen years. 17.1 is the median age for engagements. One out of every three brides is 18 years old. Today's bride is indeed young—but not unbride.

Little wonder that historians call the 1957 teen-agers "the grown-up generation."

In my unreserved admiration of today's teen-ager, I do not close my mind to parental concern. But it should be noted that older people sometimes forget that the relationship between generations is on a two-way street. I believe it is wiser for older people to go the furthest part of the way.

We are so sure we know our children. Perhaps they know us better than we know them. Certainly over the past decades youth-parent relationships have changed drastically. Parents decry the lack of respect that their children accord them. But perhaps there is no higher respect than our children's efforts to understand us. Formerly teen-agers wailed "My parents don't understand me!" Today they ask, "What makes my mother and father tick?"

When I read over the thousands of letters received from teen-agers in Seventeen's offices, I often ask myself, why do these girls write to an editor, why not ask mother? I'm afraid the answer is self-evident. They write to an editor because they are confident of being understood. They fear they may not be given a serious and understanding hearing at home.

If there is one basic axiom I have learned in dealing with the younger generation it is this: take them seriously. They are trying to do the best they can. While they are more realistic and more adult than in past times, some things still cannot be learned in the adolescent years. When the teen-ager finds disappointment hard to take, immaturity is not indicated. Rather, inexperience. At any age, to be philosophical about disappointment is hard. Many at 70 have learned how.

A young girl's disappointments are so hard to take. Her problems while perhaps seemingly small to us — are large, unending and poignantly real to her. The teen-ager wants above all a willing and sympathetic ear. Give it to her, especially when she is faced with difficulty. Mothers will do well to think back to their own teen years — the times when our elders used to exclaim, "What's the present generation coming to?"

I found writing "The Seventeen Book of Young Living" a nostalgic and wonderful experience. Trying to help today's girls over the hurdles of growing up vividly recalled to me many recollections of my youth. I found myself writing a guide to overcoming many problems that I remember as a girl; these same problems are among the many that today's 8,500,000 young women under twenty are now meeting at every step. I have tried to cover them all. I earnestly hope the suggestions and experiences I have documented will ease some of the tension attendant to the series of "firsts" that accompany adolescence.

In the book, I consistently approach the teen-age girl as a young adult, a girl with an essentially serious attitude toward life, for it is my conviction that in the teen years you love more fiercely, strive harder against tough odds, accept more magnificent challenges than you ever will again in all the long life science is making possible for mankind.

Let us not go overboard then about the "ruin" of our young generation. The preponderance of today's youth is magnificently self-reliant. Fun-loving and adventure-thirsting, they are still basically sober, courageous and upright.

Let's all talk more about what's right with youth. There's so much to say.

What do football coaches wives and mothers talk about when they get together? We wondered, too, and had the opportunity to find out this week, when Mrs. M. E. Cooper, who lives just a little way out of town on the Miami Highway entertained the afore-mentioned group with a Come and Go Tea in her home on Monday evening. It turned out to be not exactly Come and Go — more like Come and Stay, for it seemed that each guest was enjoying the affair so much there was a reluctance to leave.

Mrs. Cooper entertained the group last year and decided to duplicate the party again this year.

Carrying out the football theme, the sheet cake was decorated in the Harvester colors of green and yellow with diagonal lines of yellow to mark off the 10 yard lines; goal posts were placed at either end of the cake. Tiny plastic football players, each with the number of a real player, were placed about the cake-field. The lace-covered table was centered with an arrangement of yellow mums; crystal and silver completed the appointments.

Assisting Mrs. Cooper with hostess duties were Mrs. Siler Hopkins, mother of Harvester Captain, Jim Hopkins, and Mrs. Minor Langford, mother of Harvester captain, Robert Langford.

Honored guests were Mrs. Jack Lockett, wife of the Harvester head coach; Mrs. E. W. Ramsey and Mrs. Dwayne Lyons, wives of Harvester coaches.

Among the guests were Mmes. Floyd F. Padgett, Paul Brown, R. O. Clements, J. C. Daniels, William T. Fraser, T. H. Glover, D. E. Holt, J. L. Matlock, Kenneth Myers, Fred Nealge, George Newberry, Earnest Rawls, James C. Scott, and T. F. Snow.

Oh, yes, what do football coaches wives and mothers talk about when they are in a huddle at a party — their sons and husbands, of course!

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

At the department store's glove counter, Barry's mother was discussing the merits of a kidskin pair with the saleslady. To Barry, the glove talk seemed to strike a new high in boredom. Moreover, he didn't feel like leaning his cheek against the counter for the rest of his life.

So he wandered away to where a lady was showing some other ladies tricks with a flexible comb. But just as he got interested in the way she whicked it in and out of her hair, his mother grabbed him, saying, "Stay with me — or you'll get lost and I won't be able to find you."

Scaring Barry with reasons for wanting him to do things is a habit of hers. She seems unable to say, "Don't play with that lamp outlet" or "Get down from that porch railing." Instead she says, "Stop playing with that outlet — or you'll get an electric shock!" and "Come down from that railing — or you'll fall and break your leg."

The habit is a development of the modern parent's fear of appearing unreasonable and "authoritarian" to children.

It's a bad habit. It tells Barry that the evil is the result of all adventurous action before he's got enough experience of his own to question this view.

The truth is, he can easily stand on a porch railing without breaking his leg just as he can touch an electric outlet without getting a shock. But Barry, child of the mother who fears authority, has little chance to discover that good can result from adventurous action as often as evil.

So I have high regard for the old-fashioned parent who didn't grow up with his demands on them, saying simply, "Get down from that porch railing because I say so."

Gradually, Barry will himself discover that hurt can result from adventurous action. By the time he's 6 or 7, he'll have his own experience of its occasional bad consequences. Then we can appeal to it, saying, "Get down from that railing lest you fall and hurt yourself."

But when we threaten him with the evil results of his adventurous actions before he's had the time to discover these actions also produce good results, we give him a distorted and untrue view of the world he lives in.

We teach him fear of any impulsive, adventurous action.

Chicken Italiane
 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 1/2 cup chopped onion
 2 cans (1 1/2 ounces each) spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese
 Cook onion and spaghetti in melted butter. Add chicken and spaghetti. Heat thoroughly. Makes 4 to 6 servings. (For buffet service, keep hot in chafing dish over alcohol lamp or candle warmer.)

Garlic Muffins
 Split English muffins in half. Toast until lightly browned. Spread with butter flavored with garlic. Sprinkle lightly with grated Parmesan cheese. Place under broiler until golden.

CHICKEN SOUP FROM CHINA
 Won Ton Soup, hearty and exotic in flavor, is a wonderful luncheon main dish, a delightful beginning to lunch or dinner. Start with 2 cans (1 1/2 fluid ounces each) chicken broth; heat to boiling in a large pan. Add 1/4 pound of lean pork (thinly sliced), 1 cup thinly sliced mushrooms, 1 cup sliced Chinese cabbage, 1/2 cup uncooked broad noodles, 1/4 cup chopped celery, and 1 1/2 teaspoons soy sauce. Cook together at a low boil for 10 to 15 minutes, or until noodles are tender. At serving time, cut 1/4 pound cooked smoked ham into thin strips and place them in the bottom of a soup tureen or individual bowls. Then pour the soup on top. Makes 6 generous and heart-warming servings.

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop No. 12 met Monday afternoon in regular session in the Scout Room of the First Presbyterian Church with their leaders, Mrs. Vernon Stuckey and Mrs. Vernon Langley, assistant.

During the business meeting, the troop instigated the patrol system by electing two patrol leaders and dividing the troop into two patrols, consisting of seven girls each. Patrol leaders are Miss Diana St. Clair, leader, with Miss Patricia Stuckey, assistant. Leader of the other patrol is Miss Kim Wilson with Miss Mary Jane McComas, assistant. Miss Gene Kelly was elected troop scribe.

Following the business meeting, the scouts made Lollipop Ghosts for Halloween favors.

Mrs. Carl Hall Discusses 'Etiquette' For Lefors Art, Civic Club Members

(Special To The News)

Lefors — A program on "Etiquette" was presented to the Lefors Art and Civic Club by Mrs. Carl Hall at its regular meeting Thursday night, in the civic center.

Several phases of the topic included courtesies shown to families, how and what to wear, table manners, introductions, etc.

"We should not be overcome by mistakes made in etiquette, for the best informed people some times err as was proved by Amy Vanderbilt in a recent television program, when she made the mistake of stating that a person should use the inside piece of silver at a place setting first, when in reality it is the outside piece which should be used first," stated Mrs. Hall.

"Customs have changed somewhat in this age, since it was once considered improper not to wear a hat to town, whereas now, especially in our locality, the scarf has replaced the hat," added Mrs. Hall.

When in doubt what to wear, don't overdress, rather go more underdressed than to feel overdressed."

Also of interest, is the fact that "it is permissible to sample another person's food, if different from yours, if a clean fork is handed the person with which to secure a sample; also, it is permissible to sip coffee one time only with a spoon to see if it is too hot."

A question and answer program followed Mrs. Hall's talk in which it was learned that a younger person is presented to the older, a man to a woman.

Mrs. H. W. Callan, president, presided over the business session leading the group in the club collection.

The Christmas Bazaar is scheduled to take place in Pampa between Dec. 1-7, the place and time to be announced later. In charge of the bazaar are Mmes. Earl Atkinson, L. R. Spence, Ed Lehnick, Bob Peterson and H. W. Callan, who request that all members have their gifts ready by the regular meeting date, Nov. 28.

Mrs. Bob Peterson was hostess during the social hour.

TB Hospital Needs Help On Project
SANATORIUM — Help is needed in the area, served by McKnight State Tuberculosis Hospital to provide an adequate Christmas for the 500 patients there who will spend the yule season in the hospital.

Volunteers in the area provide a Christmas gift shop which allows patients to do their shopping and mailing free of charge. The shop will be conducted Dec. 24 this year so that gifts from patients to their families will have time to reach their destinations.

Now in its fourth year the Christmas gift shop has done more than provide gifts for patients and their families. It has cut the number of patients leaving the hospital in December against medical advice from 47 per cent of discharges in 1954 to 10 per cent in 1956.

By providing the patient with this privilege of giving, he is better able to accept hospitalization during the Christmas season. No money changes hands in the shop, but patients are given gift certificates which they use in exchange for the merchandise they select. The issuing of gift certificates by volunteers helps take the edge off charity for the patients.

Volunteer workers who can give their time at the hospital as well as cash and miscellaneous gifts are on the wanted list for this project. Suggested patient gifts are: cotton underwear, robes, hose, men's stretch socks, toilet articles, manicure sets, costume jewelry, stationery, pens, and stamps. Suggested family gifts are: household linens, kitchen cutlery, plastic dishes, mailable toys. For boys and girls, shirts, billfolds, socks, fountain pens, underwear are just a few of necessary items.

Control Of Russian Armed Forces Has Changed Hands

By CHARLES M. MOCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
The most significant thing about the "release" of Marshal Georgi H. Zhukov is that control of the armed forces in Russia has changed hands.

Marshall Rodion K. Malinovsky, Zhukov's successor as defense minister, is now head man over the 4 million men in the Red army, navy and air force.

There are two powers in Soviet Russia, the Communist Party and the armed forces. Many experts foresee the day when the army may be the supreme power.

Nikita S. Khrushchev is first secretary of the Communist Party, and thus controls the party machinery which reaches into every city, town and village in the Soviet Union.

A tip-off to Zhukov's "release" may be that for several weeks the 15-man Communist presidium which rules Russia has been trying to lighten up party control of the most powerful military force in the world.

Khrushchev On Wane
There were indications six weeks ago that Khrushchev's prestige was diminishing.

He had saved his job as party secretary only with Zhukov's help. Increasing emphasis was being put on Zhukov's rising prestige. There were even suggestions that he was now Russia's biggest man.

On Sept. 10 diplomatic reports reached London that Khrushchev had ordered party-control of the army tightened.

These reports said that Khrushchev intended to re-establish party cells in army, navy and air force units.

It was through these cells that Josef Stalin kept firm personal control of the armed forces. Zhukov, though a Communist from boyhood, did not like them. They were abolished after Stalin's death.

Little attention was given to these reports at the time. But a United Press London dispatch which told of them suggested that they might foreshadow conflict between Khrushchev and Zhukov.

Stress Closer Unity
Since then, Russian newspapers have been emphasizing the necessity for close unity of the Communist Party and the armed forces. It was pointed out last week that the treatment which Zhukov received on his visit to Yugoslavia indicated that President Tito did not regard him as a contender for top Soviet leadership.

During the 10 days which he spent in Yugoslavia in his capacity of defense minister, Zhukov saw Tito just once.

Zhukov got back to Moscow last Saturday, the day on which his "release" was announced.

It may well develop that Khrushchev was getting somewhat nervous over Zhukov's personal popularity and over the reports that Zhukov was overtaking him in Soviet leadership.

All this is naturally highly speculative. But even if Zhukov is to be made premier, as has been suggested, another man now directs the armed forces. And Khrushchev controls the Communist Party machine.

It pays to read the Classified.

William Grieve of Boston, another young player who distinguished himself in this summer's Nationals, has moved to New York and undoubtedly will be playing in the Metropolitan championships this weekend.

In today's hand Bill show how an expert takes advantage of a chance to pick up an extra trick.

West opened the king of clubs and East started an echo with the eight. This marked West with six clubs, and Bill noted that if West also held the ace of hearts, he would surely have overcalled. Hence there was no chance to lead the jack of hearts and steal the king.

Bill also noted that he might pick up the extra trick on a squeeze if East should happen to hold the ace and queen of hearts and the queen and jack of diamonds.

Bill won the club lead with the ace, led a trump to dummy's king and returned to his own hand with the ace. A low club was led to West won with the jack and promptly led the queen. His partner had completed the echo to show two and West saw no danger in not playing a heart right then and there.

Now Bill was ready for operation squeeze. It wasn't complicated. All he did was to play out all his trumps and discard all four of dummy's hearts. On the last trump lead East found himself in the meat grinder. He had to hang on to his three diamonds and three of the ace of hearts in desperation. It was desperation. Bill cashed his jack for a valuable overtrick.

Neva Rippy Is Queen Of Lefors Carnival

(Special To The News)
LEFORS — Miss Neva Rippy was honored with the title of high school "Carnival Queen" Saturday night, Oct. 26, at the Lefors High School auditorium, being crowned and presented a bouquet of red roses by Misses June Henderson and Mary Cole, high school seniors, in a formal ceremony.

Miss Rippy, a senior, was escorted by Jerry Watson.

Reigning as queen of grade school and crowned on the same occasion was Miss Mary Barron, eighth grade student, escorted by Larry Ables.

A large crowd of people viewed the coronation, the audience being darkened except for the spotlight which followed the queen and attendants to the stage, gleaming with lights revealing the thrones at which the queens were seated.

Each queen and escort, and attendants and escorts, were announced by Miss Jane Collins as they entered. The ceremony began at 9:30 p.m.

Attendees included Miss Patricia Prescott escorted by Gary Lewis, first grade; Terri Bryant escorted by D. D. Lofton, second grade; Mary Duncan escorted by Rod Clemmons, third grade; Mariene Cates escorted by Rennie Berry, fourth grade; Neta Clemmons escorted by Bill Nichols, fifth grade; Shariis Cable escorted by Neal Cates, sixth grade; Owe d a Jernigan escorted by Bobby Gotcher, seventh grade; LaNelle Price escorted by Jerry Fitch, freshman class; Pat Berry escorted by Garret Roberson, sophomore class; and Anna Patton escorted by Calvin Stracener, junior class.

Crown bearer for the event was Douglas Cates, with Misses Fatsy Shoffit and Thelma Daniel bearing the train. Music for the procession was furnished by Sonny Dunn at the piano.

58 FORD Nothing newer
AROUND THE WORLD

The 58 Ford has been proved around the world. This is the most dramatic and most grueling test ever given a new car before its public announcement.

The whole world was used as a test track for the 58 Ford. The car drove through England, France, Switzerland, Italy, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey, Iran, Afghanistan, Pakistan, India, Malaya, Thailand, Cambodia, Vietnam, and finally back to the place it started—Detroit, Michigan, U.S.A.

The Ford powered over the great mountain ranges of three continents: from the Alps to the Himalayas and the Rockies. It crossed the great rivers of history: the Thames, the Seine, the Tiber, the Arno, the Tigris, the Euphrates, the Indus, the Ganges.

This car stood at Buckingham Palace, rolled up the Champs Elysees to the Arc de Triomphe, and paused at the Eiffel Tower. It was greeted by the great Paris couturiers at the famous fashion salons where its "sculptured in steel" styling was applauded by the most style-conscious audience in the world.

Further on came Saigon, the Paris of the Orient, at the farthest tip of Southeast Asia. Finally, it powered across the great Rockies and plains of North America and back, at long last, to Detroit, Michigan.

The 58 Ford... has been proved and approved around the world. A natural question arises. Why did Ford go to such great lengths with its 1958 model? Why spend so much money and time and go through all the problems of negotiations, customs, border transit, diplomacy in so many countries?

The answer: in the competitive automobile market of today, only the best in all-around value can survive. And this round-the-world test is the most decisive possible demonstration of the best.

The 1958 Ford is value: hard-dollar value. It is also style, power, performance, and a dozen great new features. But above all, it is value.

This is the car you've been waiting for. See it November 7—there's nothing newer in the world than the 58 Ford!

Boris Karloff Is Popular Man In October—It's Halloween

By VERNON SCOTT United Press Hollywood Writer HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Goblins, bats, witches and Boris Karloff come out of hiding Thursday night. It's Halloween. "It's the busiest time of the year for me, Karloff said in sepulchral tones while sipping a glass of tomato juice. "I should raise my prices in October. Almost everyone wants me to be a guest on his TV show to terrify viewers. Quite flattering when you stop to think about it." Karloff, who never won a beautiful baby contest, has added to his menacing demeanor by growing a scraggly white beard. Contrasted with his swarthy skin, and combined with convulsive rolling of his eyes, he is enough to scare the Russian secret police. In Demand "Not only am I in demand for guest shots," he added, "every Halloween my old horror pictures are taken from the toms and re-played. It all makes me quite proud." This Halloween is a departure for the man who frightened two generations of movie-goers. He turns song and dance man for Rosemary Clooney's video program Thursday night on NBC. "Shocking," says Karloff. "This is hardly the way for a reformed monster to behave. I feel as if I'm letting down all the people who believe in me as Frankenstein's horrible monster." Growing serious, the English-born actor explained that he appeared in only three Frankenstein pictures. Best Friend "The monster was the best friend I ever had. I'd been in Hollywood for 10 years and no one had heard of me except my creditors. Then in 1931 I played the monster and a career was born. I'm truly indebted to the old ghoul. "I decided never to play another Frankenstein role because the monster eventually became nothing more than a comic prop," he grinned. "The shock value of his face wore off, and he became a compassionate character whom people wanted to befriend. Audiences even became fond of the old boy. "It goes to show people can get used to anything." Karloff hasn't given up scaring people. His latest picture, "Stranglehold," is a shocker about a Jekyll and Hyde-type character. Modern Benefits Of No Use On Island

Science Today By DELOS SMITH United Press Science Editor NEW YORK (UP)—Two scientists who looked over the happy inhabitants of "one of primitive man's last stands" on this earth, were anything but certain that they could be benefited by the "benefits" of our civilization. "It must not be forgotten that although they have no doctor, neither do they have a policeman," the scientists reported. "Though they have no hospital, neither do they have a jail. "Though they have many deaths from unnecessary causes, they have no murders, and even though they may be hungry and die of malnutrition, still they do not steal from each other. These people, numbering around 1500, inhabit Orchid Island which has about 15 square miles and is a dot in the Pacific 50 miles off the coast of Formosa. The scientists were Drs. James P. Market Expert Sees 'Rental Economy'

CHICAGO (UP)—Joseph J. Thush, marketing and merchandising expert, says the nation is heading toward a "rental economy." "There's a revolution coming in our distribution system," said Thush, vice president of Design Dynamics. He summed it up this way: —Industry's biggest problem is moving the goods it produces. —In an age of gadgets and mass production, installment credit has gone about as far as it can go. —Consumers will have to rent instead of buy to consume the flow of goods from the nation's factories. "Pride of ownership has become a curse," Thush said. "It's an economic fetish, and we'll have to get rid of it." Actually, he said, "our whole concept of ownership is false." "If a man buys a car and takes 30 months to pay, he doesn't really own it until the final payment," Thush said. "Then, the chances are he's ready to trade it in and go into debt again for a new one. "Is that much different from renting?" Thush said the "rental revolution" already is on the march. "The automobile rental business, for example, has tripled in the last six years," he said. "Last year 15 million consumers rented cars. And they shelled out 200 million dollars in gross revenues." Thush said companies have found it more economical to rent fleets of cars, trucks and other heavy equipment rather than tying their capital up in ownership of items which become obsolete in a few years.

Odds Favor Undefeated Teams For Saturday Wins

Aggies Given One Touchdown Over Arkansas Razorbacks

NEW YORK (UP)—Five of the six major undefeated and untied college football teams are favored by oddsmakers to retain their perfect records in Saturday's games. The sixth team — Iowa — was rated even in its national television game with Michigan. Notre Dame was rated three points over Navy; Texas A & M was six over Arkansas; Oklahoma was 10 over Kansas State; Auburn was eight over Florida, and Dartmouth three over Yale. The oddsmakers, perhaps made wary by upsets, were cautious, and 22 of the 39 games on the card had a spread of one touchdown or less. As usual, Oklahoma was the biggest favorite.

Odds Are Close
The Iowa-Michigan game was the closest, of course, and four were one-point picks — Nebraska over Kansas; Stanford over Oregon; West Virginia over Penn State and Baylor over Texas Christian.

In games Friday night, Boston University was six over George Washington and Miami of Florida was 15 over Villanova.

Wisner's Outlook

By HARRY WISNER
Written for the United Press
NEW YORK (UP)—Let's look over those intercollegiate eleveners who are still unbeaten and untied, and try and figure out if they can keep their records spotless the rest of the season. The five big teams who have still to taste defeat are Oklahoma, Texas Aggies, Auburn, Iowa, and Notre Dame. The experts rank the quintet as the five tops in the country this week even though three of them, Oklahoma in particular, had trouble winning last weekend. Iowa had a problem with Northwestern and the game at South Bend between the Pitt Panthers and the Irish wasn't exactly a romp for the Irish.

SW Teams Hit Hard Practice

By UNITED PRESS
Southwest Conference crews put in rugged scrimmages Tuesday in preparation for Saturday encounters and two more stars were lowered to the second team.

Rice end Buddy Dial and full-back Raymond Chilton were replaced by Charles Pollard and Howard Hoelcher in a surprise move by Coach Jess Neely. Neely did not say whether the two would be brought back to the first string for Saturday's game with Clemson.

King Hill, Larry Duetz and tackle Larry Whitmore were out with injuries but are expected back by Saturday.

Southern Methodist worked on offense with sophomore guard Bobby Loveless the only injured member of the squad, and he is expected back before the Texas game.

Baylor, in one of its longest seasons of the season, divided its time between play timing and a line scrimmage against Texas Christian offenses and defenses.

Coach Bear Bryant said he was pleased with the first Texas A&M scrimmage in several weeks on dry ground. The Aggies worked on pass defense and passing under pressure.

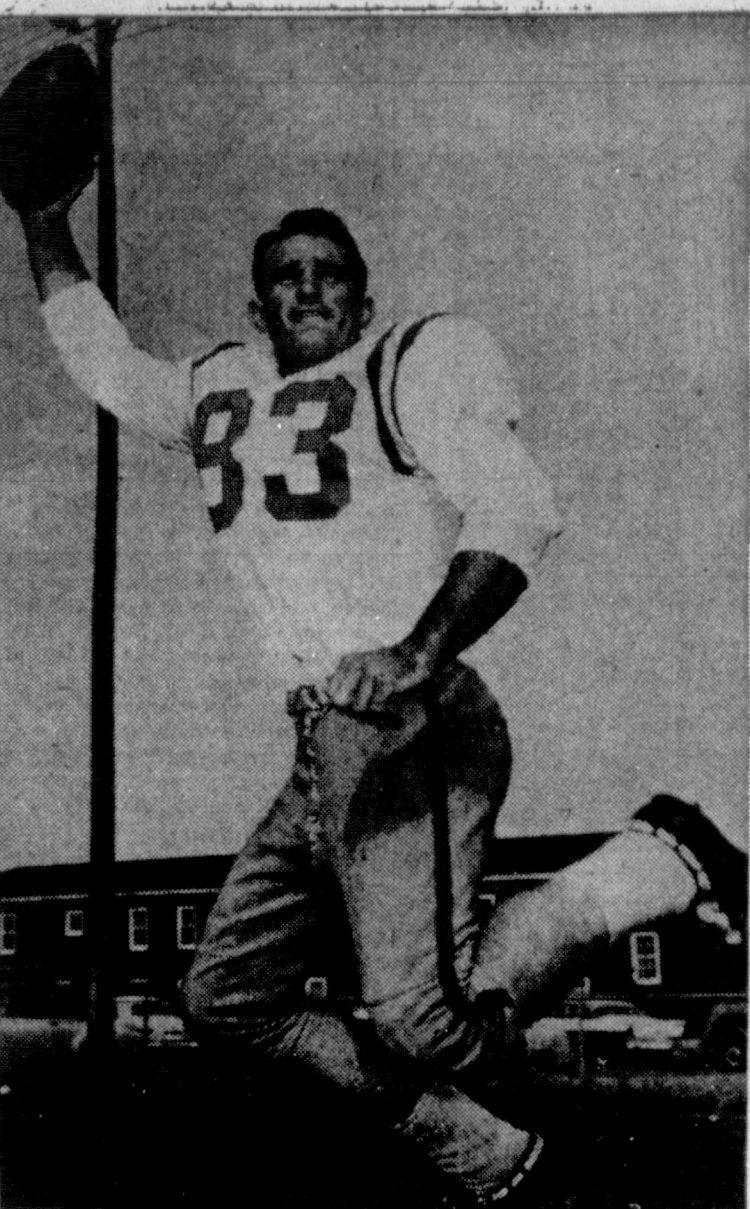

Texas worked on Southern Methodist patterns and reviewed its own plans for the game in the Cotton Bowl.

Texas Aggies have four conference games in a row. They should win them all. But we can sense a setback in their battles with either No. 22 to his unbeaten string Tuesday with a unanimous 10-heavyweight Will Besmanoff.

Harris, ranked third among NBA heavyweights, told Besmanoff after handing him his fourth straight defeat in the U. S. "you sure know how to hit."

But Besmanoff emerged from the fight bloody from cuts over the right eye and nose, while Harris was unmarked. Harris said Besmanoff hurt him several times in the early rounds "and that's why I kept backing away."

No Knockdowns
There were no knockdowns. Besmanoff had nothing to say.

The Shockers, Pampa's sophomore grid squad, will travel to Phillips tomorrow to encounter the "B" team in a game set for 7:30 p.m.

To date, the Shockers have compiled a 2-3 record. They defeated Dumas, 28-6, and Perryton, 25-13, and have lost to Borger, 53-14, Plainview, 19-13, and Monterey of Lubbock, 20-6.

Two games remain on the schedule for the team; Amarillo "B" team there Nov. 7, and Palo Duro "B" team here, Nov. 14.

Miss. Leads In Ground Offense

NEW YORK (UP)—Mississippi, known in the past as a team that "liked to throw that football around," is displaying an infantry attack this year which would win a nod of approval from Stonewall Jackson himself.

The once-beaten Rebels, 18th-ranked team in the country by the United Press Board of Coaches, has ground out 1,950 yards rushing for an average of 325-yards per game. Colorado, which just missed tying top-ranked Oklahoma last Saturday, is second with a 313.2 average and Duke is third with a 303.7 average.

Utah held the lead in passing for the third straight week but Arizona State replaced Iowa as the nation's No. 1 team in total offense.

Colorado's Dallas Ward Outstanding Coach Of Week

By GENE MEAKINS
United Press Sports Writer
BOULDER, Colo. (UP)—He told his players that "you fellows have gotten yourself into this thing—now go out there and get yourselves out of it."

Three hours later, after those same players had come within one point of tying the nation's No. 1 team, he said that "we're disappointed as hell."

He learned the single wing from an acknowledged master but he spiced it with enough split-T and winged-T variations to come within a breath of the college football upset of the year.

Nearly Upset Sooners
He's Dallas Ward of Colorado, the United Press Coach of the Week after his Colorado Buffaloes almost buffaloed mighty Oklahoma before dropping a 14-13 heart-breaker.

The 51-year-old Ward, now in his 10th season as head coach at Colorado, has produced winners annually since 1950 but confessed Oklahoma is his big target each year.

In 1952, the 21-21 tie between the two teams marked the first time since 1946 that Oklahoma had failed to win a Big Eight game. In 1956, Colorado led the Sooners, 19-6, at halftime only to have Oklahoma pull out a 27-19 squeaker.

Native of Oregon
Ward, a Lexington, Ore., native who was captain of Oregon State teams in football, baseball and basketball, made his coaching debut in 1928 at a Minneapolis high school. From 1936 through 1947, with time out for Navy service, he was an assistant at Minnesota under single-wing disciple Bernie Bierman. He moved to Colorado in 1948 and put his offensive genius to work.

He's a quiet, likeable fellow, a natural optimist who divides his infrequent free moments between his five children and a sharp golf game.

"We play Oklahoma to win—not to come close," Ward said glumly. "We don't go into any game just hoping to keep the score respectable. You can't knock Oklahoma any way you look at it. But if Oklahoma is the best team in the country, Colorado is second best."

Harvesters Take Aerial Lead Into Conference Tilt Friday

The Pampa Harvesters' aerial game lead over fellow contenders of district 3-AAAA will be put to trial Friday night as they meet the Monterey Plainsmen, one of the top pass defense teams in the district.

After the game with the Amarillo Sandies, the Harvesters had gained 133 yards passing in two district encounters, for a leading 66.5 yards per game gain.

The Harvesters will be depending on the aerial accuracy of quarterback Gary Wilhelm and half-back Don Bigham for their strength in passing.

In conference play Wilhelm has connected with three passes out of three attempts for 47 yards, and Bigham has hit five out of eight for 86 yards.

Monterey's offensive attack will be sparked by the passing of quarterback Arlan Flake and the running of halfback Billy Adams, one of the fastest men on the Plainsmen squad.

The Plainsmen have scored their only two victories of the season in district warfare as they trimmed

Borger and Palo Duro of Amarillo. Pre-conference warmers were lost to Paschal of Fort Worth, Highland Park of Dallas, Abilene and Midland, and the only district game dropped was to the Sandies last Saturday.

In weight, Pampa will have a slight edge in the line, 175 to 172, while Monterey's backfield has the nod of 152 to 150.

Pampa will be going after its first district win, having lost the opener to Palo Duro, and Amarillo.

The Sandies now stand as the only undefeated team in 3-AAAA, ranking at least among the top four in every statewide AAAA tournament.

Present standing in the district are:

Team	Won	Loss
Amarillo	2	0
Palo Duro	2	1
Monterey	2	1
Plainview	2	1
Lubbock	1	1
Pampa	0	2
Borger	0	3

place ballots with Nederland getting 12, Port Neches four.

Snyder, Sweetwater and Graham held firmly to their strong positions to round out the top five, but Breckenridge boomed from 10th to sixth.

Palestine and San Antonio Edison swapped places to fill the Nos. 7 and 8 spots, while Kilgore maintained its No. 9 ranking.

San Benito, a "sleeper" from the Rio Grande Valley, edged up two notches to 11th while Kingsville and Kermit tied for 12th a shade ahead of El Campo.

Snyder and Sweetwater tangled in this week's feature game—the only one in which top 10 teams are matched against each other. The winner seems sure to advance into the state playoffs.

This should serve as a good warmup for the following week's action which will send Nederland against Port Neches and Graham against Breckenridge.

What Happened To Lester Patrick

LESTER PATRICK
By UNITED PRESS
Though he spent 19 years as a hockey player, many more as a coach and manager and fathered two hockey stars now serving as general managers of National League clubs, Lester Patrick is best remembered for the 1927 Stanley Cup playoffs. When the New York Rangers goalie was injured, Patrick came off the bench to replace him and won the game despite his 45 years and complete unfamiliarity with the position.

Whatever happened to Lester Patrick? Today, at 75, he is retired and living in Victoria, B.C.

Two Good Teams
Two fine teams in the East, not ranked among the "big" eleven can windup with unbeaten records. Lehigh, the "Engineers," with as good an eleven as there is around those parts, and Dartmouth, the pick of the Ivy League and the surprise of the loop. The Indians toughest games will come from Yale and Princeton.

LEHIGH LEADS LAMBERT
NEW YORK (UP)—Lehigh, which has defeated two major college foes this season, was rated 9.2 out of a possible 10 today to lead in the running for the first Lambert Cup, emblematic of the small college football championship of the east. Amherst was rated second at 8.3 and Tufts third at 7.6.

Priming for the battle with Stintnett next week, the Buck's Courtney White heads the list of ground aggravers while accounting for two touchdowns, against Gruber including runs of 40 and 72 yards.

In the line, end A. J. Alford provided an able target for the passing of quarterback Harold Shiftlett. White Deer led offensively on the ground, 313 to 166, and in passing, 64 to 10.

Groom vs Spearman
Tiger halfback Willard Smith wouldn't be stopped Friday night as he waged a one-man war against the Spearman Lynx, scoring all four of the touchdowns in the 27-13 victory. Smith galloped for one touchdown in the second quarter, one in the third and two in the fourth. Adding the valuable extra points was lineman Leon Anglin, whose unerring toe booted three of four attempts off the rain-soaked field.

High School AAA Football Ratings

By UNITED PRESS
Brenham's Cubs, long on quality but short on quantity, replaced Andrews in the top 10 after a two week's absence today in the United Press Class AAA schoolboy football ratings.

Coach Tommy Mims' Cubs, who boast a first team of about 13 boys, ranked as high as seventh two weeks ago before El Campo took advantage of the flu-weakened outfit for a 10-0 upset.

This week, the UP's 16-member high school coaches board voted the Cubs back into the top 10 in 10th place after rebounding victories over Bryan and Conroe. They replaced Andrews, which was upset 26-25 by Kermit last Saturday night. Andrews skidded from sixth to a tie with McKinney for 15th place.

Meanwhile, top-ranked Nederland drew its strongest support of the season from the coaches with 185 out of a possible 160 points to lead Fort Neches by 21 points. These two Jefferson county neighbors drew all the first-undefeated but once-tied La Joya can win its district and a state playoff berth and showdown games in 11 other districts will furnish undisputed leaders and favorites this week end in the Class A state schoolboy football race.

La Joya, which already has defeated Rio Hondo in the three-team Lower Rio Grande Valley district, plays at Los Fresnos Friday night to close out its title schedule and will be a strong favorite to win.

In addition, these Friday night games will match teams unbeaten in district play and shunt the victor closer to the playoffs:

Stintnett at White Deer in District 1, Hale Center at Rails in 4, Throckmorton at Albany in 10, Wilmer-Hutchins at Duncanville in 13, Paul Hewitt at Linden in 15, Groesbeck at Mart in 20, Madisonville at Trinity in 21, Humble at Tomball in 24, Eagle Lake at East Bernard in 25, Rogers at Bastrop in 26 and Vanderbilt at Hallettsville in 30.

Three-way ties exist in Districts 18 and 19 with two of the leaders matched this week. In 18, Edgewood is at Brownsboro with Malakoff sitting by; and in 19, Clifton is at Glen Rose with McGregor waiting for the winner.

In District 29, four teams all have been beaten once in district play and this one will probably go down to the Nov. 15 wire. They are George West, Jourdanton, Three Rivers and Potot.

The Lefors Pirates fell from prestige in the 2-A race as they were edged by the Clarendon Broncos, 14-7, last week. The Pirates had defeated Canadian the week before and the Broncos had drawn a forfeit from McLean, so Clarendon now leads the district with two victories against no defeats. Memphis has won one and lost none.

Perryton vs Childress
Halfback Sam McLean emerged for the first time as a top running back for the Rangers in the encounter with the Bobcats when he roared for two touchdowns in the third quarter to put the Rangers in the lead. McLean's first TD came off a power play from four yards out and the second on a ten-yard end run. Sharing the offensive honors for the Perryton team was Earl McKinley, who accounted for another Perryton score along with numerous gains during the game.

Is There Any Way To Tell If a Child Is Potential Delinquent?

By VIVIAN SANDE
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 NEW YORK (UP) — Is there any way to tell if a child is a potential juvenile delinquent? A group of New York City social workers thinks there may be. The Youth Consultation Service of New York, a 48-year old non-sectarian, non-profit-making service agency that cares for problem girls, has completed two years of a four or five year research program to see if the potential trouble-maker can be diagnosed and treated before he or she becomes a delinquent. Work to date indicates there is real hope for the program.

Note Danger Signals
 Representatives of the agency, Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, director of Casework Services, and two members of her staff, Mrs. Caroline Oram and Mrs. Helen Olsen, said they now can set down some of the danger signs in adolescent incipient delinquents that parents and teachers can watch for.

However, they stress that many of these symptoms are normal for adolescent boys and girls for short periods of time or in some degree, and only when they are carried to extremes or appear in undue combination do they mean danger of disturbance or potential delinquency.

The social service workers break down some of the danger signals for the teen-aged group into four categories:

FOUR-TIME WINNER—Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mathews of Huntley, Ill., are understandably pleased as they groom their Holstein cow, which for the fourth year in a row was judged Grand Champion of its class in the Junior Livestock Show of the International Dairy Exposition in Chicago. The seven-year-old Holstein, which bears the proud name of "Model Ty Vic Lorraine," is owned in partnership by the Mathews' daughter, Audrey, 18, and son, Dick, 21. Brother and sister both attend the University of Illinois, and each has won two of "Model Ty's" four awards. Audrey showed the winner this year and last year.

Physical symptoms — bedwetting, stammering, constant nightmares or sleepwalking. Repeated headaches, stomachaches or vomiting spells that cannot be traced to physical causes. Extreme over-eating when food seems to be compensation for lack of other enjoyment.

Absenteeism, Grade Drop
 Danger signals in the child's school and intellectual patterns — extreme absenteeism. A sudden and sustained drop in school grades to below the I.Q. expectancy. Withdrawal into a single pursuit to the exclusion of all others (many of these children retreat into a world of phantasy and daydreams and ignore other normal social activities). Undue fear of learning new things or having new experiences.

In the child's social patterns:
 any sudden reversal of normal social behavior (such as a child who suddenly drops one group of friends entirely for another). Complete friendlessness. Constant fighting (the child who picks a fight with everyone). An exaggerated, aggressively hostile, negative attitude. Being too good (the child who never defies authority may be boiling with inner resentment of it). Chronic tardiness.

Psychological pattern warnings:
 Phobias (the child develops exaggerated fears of high or enclosed places, sudden sounds, new experiences or strangers). Marked restlessness and inability to concentrate. Ultra-smooth lying (the child tells lies easily and usually charmingly and shows evidence that he or she has no respect for anyone or anything.)

GODFATHER PHILIP - Taking on the role of godfather, Prince Philip assists at the christening of the baby daughter of his niece, Princess Christina of Hesse, wife of Prince Andrej of Yugoslavia. The baby, being lifted from the font by Prince Philip, was given the name of Maria. The immersion of the infant was repeated three times in quick succession at St. Sava Serbian Orthodox Church in London. Queen Elizabeth II, wife of Prince Philip, also attended the ceremony.

NEW TWIST

The traditional fireman's pole gets a new twist in this recently completed firehouse in Stockholm, Sweden. The restful appearing smoke-eater is whizzing out of the end of a spiraling chute which speeds the firemen from their sleeping quarters to the first floor when the alarm sounds.

POLIOMYELITIS VACCINATION STATUS

DON'T PRESS YOUR LUCK!

That's the advice of Marion B. Folsom, secretary of health, education, and welfare, who has just reported a dramatic reduction of 80 per cent in paralytic poliomyelitis cases in this country in the past two years. As supplies of Salk vaccine begin to pile up, 37 million Americans under the age of 40 (see Newschart) have received no shots at all. With the polio season drawing to an end there have been 1,876 paralytic cases so far this year, compared with 7,886 for the same period in 1955 and 8,241 in 1956.
