Dulles, Gromyko Conference Set

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will attempt to smoke out Soviet intentions on disarmament and the Middle East when he confers this week end with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Army Got Its Wires Crossed

RUTHERFORDTON, N.C. (UP)—Officials of the Rutherfordton Rifle Club are a usually carefree lot, but today they're worried. They're wondering who's going to pay charges on 167 boxes of surplus Army telephone wire shipped them by mistake.

Monday night member Kenneth Hill was awakened and asked to accept the shipment of wire. He nearly fell out of bed when he learned the shipment consisted of 167 boxes of wire, 125 pounds to the box.

Georgia Governor Hits Use Of Troops

ATLANTA (UP)—Georgia Gov. Marvin Griffin Wednesday described the use of federal troops in Little Rock as the "brute military might of unshredded swords."

Like Says Troops To Stay

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press-White House Writer
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today that federal troops will have to remain in Little Rock unless Gov. Orval E. Faubus changes his stand on school integration and gives satisfactory and unequivocal assurance that law and order will be maintained.

The President said that for the time being he sees no possibility of assuring continued attendance of Negro students at Little Rock's Central High School without keeping federal troops there.

He said he thought Faubus was mistaken in what he was doing. He said Faubus was committing a disservice to the city of Little Rock and the State of Arkansas.

Eisenhower expressed his views at his first news conference since the Little Rock crisis developed. He deplored having to send federal troops to Little Rock in the first place. He said the use of such tactics was not good for the locality, not good for the troops and certainly not representative of America except in the most extreme cases where force was absolutely necessary to uphold the orders of a court.

To permit unchecked defiance of a court order, Eisenhower said, would be to invite chaos and anarchy.

He counseled a display of patience and tolerance on both sides of the integration issue. And he called on citizens to remember America as well as their own private prejudices.

At the outset of his conference, the President was told that the situation in Little Rock seemed to have reached an impasse. He was then asked what the prospects were for some sort of agreement with Faubus and what the next step would be.

The President replied that several things could happen: The committee of four southern governors who conferred here with the President Tuesday, are naturally disappointed that they could not reach agreement with Faubus.

Price Street Detour Work Is Underway

Construction work on the paving of Price street from the Berger highway to the Amarillo Highway began today with workmen placing barricades on either end of the road and grading equipment starting the first cuts.

Murray Gray, superintendent for Ivan Deming Inc. of Amarillo, contractors on the Hobart street underpass project, reported this morning that it would take several days for the grading equipment to complete the shaping of the road-bed.

"Paving work should begin in about two weeks," Gray stated. He also reported that only one layer of asphalt and gravel would be placed on the road this winter and that the final layer will be laid next spring.

Price street is being paved as a Farm-to-Market road and will be used as a detour while construction work is in progress on the underpass.

Gray also stated that earth moving equipment will continue the shaping of the storm sewer from Hobart street through P. H. East Park starting next week. At the present time, the Austin Bridge Co., structural contractor on the job, is completing the steelwork.

Work On City Projects Nearing Completion

Work on city construction projects, financed by last year's bond issue, are nearing completion.

Wayland Merriman, engineer for the projects, told The News that the contractor only had about three blocks of water line to lay before that phase of the work would be completed.

He also said that the new sewer lines are over 95 per cent complete with the crews working west of Hobart and north of Gwendolyn at the present time.

The new pump station for the water system, located south of town on the Lefors highway, will be completed by the middle of November, Merriman stated. This station will tie in with the new water line loop around the city.

One of the new water wells to supply the new station is being drilled at the present time, he reported.

Work on the two million gallon water storage tanks is progressing with the surface tank, located at the new booster station, completed and the plates being placed on the overhead storage tank located in North Crest. Merriman said that work on the overhead tank will be completed about the end of November.

With the work rapidly drawing to a close at least one of the projects has been completed recently. The new Cook street bridge was completed last Friday and has been in use since that time.

With the arrival of city officials back in Pampa last night from the convention of the Texas League of Municipalities in San Antonio, the agenda for the postponed meeting of the commission, to be held at 9 tomorrow morning in City Hall was light today.

The only item scheduled for the meeting, as of late this morning, is the second reading of Ordinance 478 changing the commercial rates for electric power supplied by Southwestern Public Service Company. If the new ordinance is approved on three readings it will mean that all commercial establishments will be on the same rate and that only one meter will be used at each business.

John Koontz, acting city manager, reported that the convention was a successful one with those attending from Pampa obtaining much useful information.

City officials attending the convention were: Mayor Lynn Boyd; Commissioner Ed Myatt; Koontz; Bob Gordon, city attorney; and Edwin S. Vicars, city secretary.

Troops Reinforced As Effigy Is Burned

By JAMES M. FLINCHUM
United Press Staff Correspondent
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—About 50 white students walked out of Central High School today and burned an effigy of a Negro student in a organized demonstration against integration.

A heavily-reinforced troop guard promptly broke up the demonstration, dispersed the small crowd, and erected blockades to seal off the street in front of the high school.

The demonstration fell far short of the "mass walk-out" of hundreds of white students which segregationist groups, including the so-called Central High Mothers' League, had sought to organize.

The vast majority of the nearly 2,000 students enrolled at Central High were sitting quietly in classes. School officials had warned that anyone participating in the walkout would automatically be expelled.

Enter Under Escort
The demonstration took place about 9:10 a.m., less than an hour after the nine Negro students had been escorted into the school under the heaviest armed guard since the first day of integration last Wednesday.

Tough paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division were back on the job, inside and outside the school, reinforcing members of the federalized Arkansas National Guard.

A crowd of about 100 white students, who did not go to school today, gathered on the sidewalk of Park Street, facing the school, as the bell rang for classes to begin. They were joined by a few white adults, about 20 or 30 in all.

When the home room period ended shortly after 9 a.m., students began to trickle out of the school. There were boys and girls, walking in small groups. Reporters, counted about 50 of them.

Some Go Back
A few more came to the door of the main entrance, hesitated, and turned back inside. Seams of "Come on out, chickens" came from the crowd across the street.

One boy who walked out was promptly nabbed by his mother, who hustled him back to class.

The student demonstrators produced a dummy figure, clad in blue jeans and a sweat shirt, with a black face. They strung it up from a tree in front of the school. One boy kicked viciously at the effigy as it was hung. Others emptied cans of cigarette lighter fluid on it and set it afire.

A detail of troops moved out from the school yard, bearing rifles at port arms, and broke up the demonstration. All civilians in the block—youths, adults, reporters to move out of the immediate area and cameramen—were forced vicinity.

The paratroopers, who gave over daytime sentry duty at the school to federalized Arkansas National Guardsmen Tuesday, returned to the job about an hour before classes began today.

They were wearing sun-tan dress uniforms instead of the combat fatigues and helmets of the past. Sixty paratroopers, armed only with billy clubs, moved inside the building to take up stations in the corridors.

The other sixty, armed with carbines without bayonets, were stationed at various entrances and on the steps to the schools.

National Guardsmen were still assigned to the job of walking patrol along the sidewalk adjacent to the building. About 20 guardsmen were on such patrols this morning.

There were only eight soldiers—all guardsmen—on duty inside the school Wednesday. They were unable to prevent several minor racial incidents in which white teen-agers chased, crowded, pushed and otherwise heckled the six Negro girls and three Negro boys.

Three white students were suspended. Two of them told reporters there was an organized plan among some students to torment the Negroes in the hope they would be expelled.

Island Being Born Today Near Azores

ANGRA DO HEROISMO, Azores (UP)—A volcanic island was being born in the sea near here today to the accompaniment of violent explosions and the prayers of frightened people.

The island, shrouded in whitish yellow volcanic ash and sulphurous fumes, has risen about 120 feet above the sea and is nearly 1,000 feet in diameter. Each hour its size increases. The sea there is 40 fathoms deep.

The island is 70 miles west of Angra do Heroismo and only a few hundred yards from the island, where 25,000 residents fear they will suffer the fate that befell Pompeii.

Portugal invited scientists from all over the world to view the spectacle as part of the geological year. Planesloads of Portuguese scientists were en route and a Russian vessel with scientific equipment radioed it too was en route to Faial.

Lt. Col. Jose Agostinho, an Azores meteorologist who has witnessed the growth of the island, said the intensity of the volcanic eruptions are diminishing.

"But they are still coming with a great deal of violence," he said. The birthpangs of the island started on Sept. 25 when several earthquakes were registered near Faial. Two days later huge underwater explosions tore the surface of the sea, and some rocks and sand shot into the air.

On Sept. 28 Agostinho flew over the area and reported the violent explosions marked the first stage of a full eruption. He said a school of nearly 1,000 whales were driven from the area and were being harpooned by whalers in rowboats.

The full eruption burst forth Sunday with a roar that awakened the Faial islanders. It went off like a wildcat oil well, hurling rocks, stones and water 1,000 feet into the air. Hundreds of persons knelt in prayer in the streets of Horta.

Since then the explosions have been continuous with the island pushing further out of the water. The historic lighthouse at Cape Linhos was blacked out by volcanic ash and abandoned by its 300 employees.

Perryton Slates Oil Celebration

PERRYTON—A gigantic Oil Progress Celebration is planned for Perryton Oct. 10.

Earl Rudder, commissioner of the general land office, will be the principal speaker. Entertainment will be furnished by the high school band and choral groups.

The chamber of commerce a d oil and gas field companies are "teaming together" to stage the event—and a crowd of 1,500 is expected.

Nation-wide celebration of Oil Progress week doesn't start until Oct. 12 but the speaker, Rudder, could be in Perryton at a later date so the celebration was moved up. Rudder is from Brady.

Building Permits Reflect Pampa's Continued Growth

The rapid growth of Pampa continued last month with a total of 63 building permits issued by the office of the city engineer. The total value of the construction was listed at $420,775.

This compares with a total of 78 permits issued during August with a total value of $437,240. The large amount in August was due to the application for permits for a large number of residences in new additions to the city.

The breakdown of permits for September indicated that a total of 25 permits for the construction of new houses were issued. The total value of these residences was given as $350,300.

Permits for the remodeling of residences accounted for a total of 17 permits with the value listed at $29,475. Permits for remodeling business buildings accounted for three with a cost of $4,000.

Only two permits for new business buildings were issued last month at a total value of $15,000. Permits were also issued for the construction of three private garages at a total value of $1,750.

Eight houses moved into the city accounted for $18,200 of the evaluation and miscellaneous permits amounted to $1,900.

28 Killed In Air Liner Crash

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UP)—A gold laden Lebanese airliner burst into flames shortly after takeoff from Beirut today and fell into the Mediterranean, killing the 28 persons aboard.

The plane, a twin-engine C-46, was en route to the oil-rich Arab state of Kuwait on the Persian Gulf. Four Britons were reported among the victims.

Unofficial reports said the airliner was carrying 15 boxes of gold ingots to the British protectorate. Authorities refused to estimate the value of the shipment.

Airport sources said the plane's two engines failed one after the other and "exploded" and that the aircraft was blazing when it crashed into the Mediterranean.

Teamsters Appear Certain To Elect Hoffa

Teamsters defiance to the AFL-CIO is certain to bring action at the federation's Atlantic City, N.J. convention then.

On the first test of strength at the convention here, Hoffa backers outnumbered their opponents by a five-to-one margin. The delegates listened to the report, a blistering indictment of Hoffa, outgoing President Dave Beck and other top officials for more than two hours.

Then, in rapid-fire action, they thundered a night's "no" to suggestions that the union investigate the charges. An overwhelming "aye" wiped the report from the convention record moments later.

No Formal Defense
Beck and Teamsters Vice President Frank Brewster were accused of misusing thousands of dollars in union funds in the report. Beck did not make a formal defense but said he would answer charges in court. He is indicted on charges of evading federal income tax.

The near-final report by Credentials Chairman Roy Williams set the stage for the balloting to be held at 10 p.m.

Williams said the committee rejected the credentials of 251 of 1,880 delegates to the convention. The groups seated number 1,629 plus 40 international officers and organizers.

Most of the delegations challenged by Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.) were seated despite the senator's claim that he had proof they were improperly chosen. Williams said the committee found no reason to bar the delegates questioned by the chairman of the labor racketeers investigation.

NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Hollywood on TV: The celebrated Lassie's record of surviving human actors as MGM's over-time favorite movie star, is repeating itself in television. Before the year is over, the shaggy-haired pooch with the sad eyes will have a whole new cast of two-legged playmates, friends and "relatives."

Angel-faced, seven-year-old Jon Provost already has been introduced on the "Lassie" show and will take over as Lassie's new "owner" in a story line that has 16-year-old Tommy Rettig and his mother, Jan Clayton, leaving the farm for big city life.

Also due to be written out of the show are chubby Donald Keeler and the late George Cleveland who plays "Grampa" in several episodes this season. Cleveland's death and Tommy "growing out" of the role caused the big changes, which include a young couple buying the farm and adopting both Lassie and Young Provost.

Cloris Leachman, who won a movie role in "Kiss Me Deadly" after starring on live New York TV shows ("Kitty Foyle"), will be the new "mother" in the series. Another former New York TV actor, Jon Sheppard, will play her husband. Later, veteran film actor George "Chico" Chandler will pop up in the telefilm as "Uncle Peter."

With Lassie as the central character, this series has a big advantage over other TV family life shows. A kid star growing up, and even death, doesn't stop the cameras.

THE CURVY Yvette Vickers turning her feminine charms on Rory Calhoun in the movie, "Hemp Brown," once turned her charms on TV screens—as the first White Rain Shampoo dancing girl. Yvette pranced herself right out of that white raincoat and into a movie career.

Comedians Dan Rowan and Dick Martin will be NBC's answer to the feuding Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis this season. They just completed a movie, "Once Upon a Horse," and now Hal Kanter has been signed by NBC to prepare a TV show format for them. Hal was George Gobel's producer-director last year. If a tea company becomes the alternating sponsor on "Wagon Train," a new western series, they'll have to re-shoot some scenes to eliminate you guessed it—a great deal of coffee drinking.

VICTOR BERGE, the Voltaire of the piano, swears he'll limit his TV appearances this season to just two "one-man" shows but, he told me between acts at the Hotel Sahara in Las Vegas, he has an idea "circulating" around his head.

"Of course," he says, "many things circulate around my head, especially dishes aimed by my wife. But what I'd like to do is a once-a-month show on which I'd comment on the world in which we're all trying to live."

"I'd run," he says, "the gamut from beer to bullets."

For several years the dapper Dan has been tossing Iron Curtain laugh-bombs behind the Iron Curtain on the Voice of America. "But all people have iron curtains, just like nations, and I'd like to peel them with some sharp chuckles," he says. He's just the fellow for the job.

IT'S ABOUT TIME, I say, to say a few objectionable words about TV announcers, guest stars and hosts who seem to have left this world for "Very Wonderful" land. Every night, on every channel, you can hear them saying: "Thank you for that very wonderful introduction."

Or: "Thank you for those very wonderful sentiments."

Or: "Tonight we have a very wonderful show."

Or maybe it just doesn't bother you like it bothers me.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The use of an artificial convention sometimes produces most unusual results. Here is a hand played by Harry Johnson of Harrisburg, Pa., in one of the open games at the nationals.

He opened one heart and rebid two clubs over his partner's spade response. His partner's leap to four no-trump shocked him but he dutifully bid five diamonds and his partner promptly went to six diamonds. He did not know just what was going on but decided to pass anyway.

West opened the ten of diamonds and East's ace won the trick. A low diamond return went to his nine.

He laid down the ace of hearts and discarded dummy's ace of clubs. Two low spades went on the king and queen of clubs and third spade on the king of hearts. West dropped the queen of hearts and Mr. Johnson had a slight problem. Should he try the spade finesse or play East for the one remaining diamond and discard dummy's last spade on the jack of hearts? He decided on the second play and made the hand.

The interesting feature about this hand was that the bidding went along sanely at every other table and North became declarer at six diamonds. East invariably opened the ace and another diamond. North could never get into the South hand at all and had to go down.

Jim Garner Is Toughest Of TV Western Gunslingers

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Toughest of the western gunslingers blasting away on TV this season is Jim Garner, star of "Maverick," a brand new sagebrush saga.

What makes Garner any rougher than Wyatt Earp or Matt Dillon? The opposition, podnah!

Garner's four-hour show competes in the same slot with Jack Benny, Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen—as rugged a passel of side-winders as ever rode the TV trail.

Not Backing Down

"If ever a guy was caught in a cross-fire, it's me," Garner says. "There are 32 Westerns on TV this year, and I had to tangle with those three characters. But I'm not backing down to 'em."

In true western style, underdog Garner figures he can "shup" the enemy if he gets an even draw.

"People are going to tune into 'Maverick' (ABC, Sunday nights) to see who's bucking those powerful programs," he explained during lunch. "And once they look in I think I can hold 'em."

"The first half-hour of the show is opposite Benny, on the last half we're up against Allen and Sullivan. No other program can make that statement. Come to think of it, who'd want to make it?"

Garner claims his offering is an "adult" horse opera based on a gambler who meanders around the wide-open spaces exposing crooked dealers and other cheats.

Can Handle Gun

"I make no claim to being the fastest gun in the West," he grinned, "but if I'm forced to unlimber my six-gun I can handle myself all right."

A 28-year-old all-American boy type, Garner stands 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 200 pounds. He was raised in Oklahoma and lays claim to being part Cherokee Indian.

Dermot Patrick Moran, charged with drunken begging, offered to get out of town in 25 minutes. Then, after the judge pointed out Moran had been arrested for begging at the home of the police matron, the accused man offered to leave town in 20 minutes. The judge took him up on it.

"Almost everybody back home claims to be part Indian," he said. Does he think his show (filmed at Warner Brothers Studio) can lick such formidable opposition?

"Well, 32 Westerns is too many," he confided. "And somebody's got to go. Maybe next year there'll only be seven or eight left. I think 'Maverick' will still be around when the others bite the dust."

Worker Saved From Vat Of Boiling Oil

DALLAS (UP)—Carl W. Ely fell into a vat of scalding oil late Tuesday, but was rescued quickly by a co-worker.

Ely, 42, was taken to Methodist Hospital where attendants said he was in serious condition from first and second-degree burns.

Ely and Durrell Pierce, 23, were working on top of the vat filled with 300-degree oil when Ely stumbled backwards and pitched into the vat.

Another worker said Ely went completely under in the 14-foot-deep vat of oil. But Pierce quickly grabbed Ely's cuff and jerked him out before the thick liquid had time to seep completely through Ely's work clothes and scald him to death.

IT'S RAINING COINS!

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP)—The pennies that fell on one block of a downtown street Monday weren't from heaven. A car sheared off the tops of five parking meters, sending a shower of small change into the street.

WASHINGTON—Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee, on today's conference between Southern governors and President Eisenhower on the school integration crisis:

"We cannot sit back, we cannot be the nation that says to other countries disarm and sit down at the negotiation table. We have got to follow the same example."

Walter Rogers Reports:

Exploration Of Antarctic Is Big IGY Project For US

COLD FACTS

A fascinating and concerted program, and one of world-wide scope, commenced on July 1 of this year, I speak of the International Geophysical Year which is a cooperative endeavor to expand man's knowledge of the earth by taking simultaneous observations of natural phenomena in all parts of the world.

During the period from July 1, 1957, to December 31, 1958, scientists from 56 nations will study such topics as cosmic rays, geomagnetism, meteorology, ionospheric physics, gravity, seismology, glaciology, aurora and air glow, and others. The data from these observations will be pooled and the results made available to all participants.

Of all the useful and necessary information to be assimilated in the period, some of the most interesting will come from one of the least known parts of the earth—the Antarctic or the South Polar Region. This country's interests lie in several considerations of this region, among them being the establishment of future great circle air routes such as those now in operation over the Arctic Region, and the possible mineral deposits in the Antarctic.

In this connection, a Subcommittee of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, of which I am a member, recently heard some pertinent testimony by Admiral George J. Dufek, who has succeeded the late, famed explorer, Admiral Richard E. Byrd, as U.S. Antarctic Projects Officer. He currently heads up a program called "Operation Deepfreeze" which began in 1955 with the establishment of two bases in the Antarctic at McMurdo Sound and Kainan Bay. The second phase of Operation Deepfreeze, the 1956 season, had as its objective the construction of two stations in the interior, one of which is at the geographic South Pole. The United States has established a total of 7 stations on the Antarctic Continent to carry out observations during the International Geophysical Year.

Space will not permit a complete discussion of the interesting data presented by Admiral Dufek, but I thought you might be interested in some cold facts about the Antarctic as outlined by him. Do you know that:

1. Antarctica is the fifth largest continent, embracing 5,100,000 square miles of territory and equaling in size the United States and Mexico together. Having an average altitude of 8,000 feet, it is the world's highest continent.
2. The coldest temperature ever recorded was -100.4 degrees F. at the U.S. South Pole Station last May 12. Formerly it was -93.6 degrees F. at Verkhoyansk (Siberia), in 1920.
3. Fifteen minerals of potential commercial value have already been found in the Antarctic. Although no uranium-bearing ore has yet been discovered, it is felt that because Antarctica is a shield area, such deposits do exist.
4. Due to the earth's centrifugal force, objects weigh more at the Poles than they do at the Equator. This means that 5,000 tons of cargo loaded on a ship in the vicinity of the Equator would actually weigh about 30,000 pounds more at the Poles.
5. There are no polar bears or land animals in the Antarctic. Killer Whales and Leopard Seals are the big villains in waters surrounding Antarctica. As a result, penguins and other seal species find haven on the sea-ice.
6. The Antarctic contains 86 percent of the world's glacial ice supply. It has been estimated that its melting would raise the surface of the oceans over one hundred feet and completely inundate the seaports of the world as we know them today.
7. Great square-shaped icebergs are sloughed from the ice shelves surrounding Antarctica. One of these tabular bergs, sighted by the icebreaker USS Glacier between the Antarctic Continent and New Zealand on November 12, 1956, was 208 miles long and 60 miles wide, approximately the size of Connecticut.
8. An atmospheric condition known as a "white out" is a frequent Antarctic occurrence and endangers both plane and trail operations. Aviators say it is like flying in a bowl of milk. Loss of horizon and shadows, which give perspective, is caused by reflected light.
9. In spite of its being a land of ice and snow, the Antarctic Continent is the home of a large, active volcano, 13,000 feet high Mount Erebus, which is located in the McMurdo Sound area.
10. The Antarctic Continent is theoretically located at the North Pole, since its south magnetic pole is attracted by the south pole of a magnet. It is a law of physics that like poles repel and unlike poles attract.
11. The intense cold and sterility of Antarctic air preserves food and materials almost indefinitely. For instance, corned beef, canned

Twilight Is 'Danger-Time' For Motorists

AUSTIN — Early twilight calls for drivers to ease-up on speed and use extra caution.

"Motorists must be aware of the fact that dusk can be deadly, and drive accordingly," J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, said today. He was speaking in behalf of the safety-after-dark program sponsored by TSA during October.

"There is no doubt about it, many future traffic accident victims are walking and riding on the streets right now. Victims who will be stricken down after dark," Musick said. "I'm talking about the careless pedestrians and motorists — the ones who do not realize that from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. are particularly dangerous hours. That's when people are rushing beans and sugar caked by the Swedish Explorer, Nordenfjold, provided a most satisfactory meal for the British Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey Party 45 years later. The print on a magazine, too, was as readable as ever.

12. The Antarctic Seas, scientists contend, produce more food per acre than anywhere else in the world, on land or sea. Most of this is in the form of diatoms, microscopic plants on which a small shrimp ("red Krill" — Euphausia Superba) feed. Some day in the future this source of food may be of great value to the human race.

home from work, tired, fretful, impatient and inconsiderate. And when visibility is especially poor."

Musick stressed that it is important for pedestrians and motorists to look out for each other. He emphasized that this could be made easier if they would "light up" at night.

"Darkness reduces visibility, and it is important that the pedestrian be easily seen. It is a good idea for night walkers to wear white or light colored clothing and carry a flashlight if possible," Musick said.

"Of course the idea of being seen also applies to the drivers. They should make it a point to turn on their headlights at the first hint of dusk. Parking lights won't do, because they make the distance of the car too easy to misjudge by others."

Musick also stressed that motorists should have their lights checked regularly, to make sure they are in good condition. And each driver should take it upon himself to be the first to "dim" when another vehicle approaches.

U.S. RENTS COMPUTER
WASHINGTON (UP) — The U.S. government has rented a giant electronic brain from Canada to try to solve mutual air traffic control headaches of the two nations. Fee Set For Civic Center Use At Lefors

(Special to The News)
LEFORS — Trustees of the Lefors civic center have announced that all groups such as clubs, parties, etc., will be charged a minimum of $2 for the use of the center henceforth.

Up to this time no charge has been made to any group wishing to use the center, a record only was kept to avoid conflicting dates. The conclusion was reached by the board in order that a maintenance fund can exist as the public is aware that such a place will need repairs from time to time. The fund will be used for supplies, broken dishes, utilities, trash service, etc.

This does not eliminate the fact that each party, club, shower, etc., is responsible for cleaning up the building after using the center. Everyone is still responsible for cleaning up after their activities. The fee is to be paid when the key is picked up at the city hall.

"It puts shifting where it belongs"

Edsel Teletouch Drive lets you shift without lifting a hand from the wheel

You can drive the Edsel—park it—reverse it—rock it—while both hands stay at the wheel. For Edsel's exclusive Teletouch Drive puts the shift controls right where they belong: in the center of the steering wheel.

And all shifting, even into park position, is effortless, because the Edsel actually shifts itself. The Teletouch Drive button you touch signals a rugged, precision "brain," and it does the work—smoothly, surely, electrically.

You'll find the entire Edsel as original and advanced as Teletouch. The Edsel's elegant lines, its vertical grille and low, wide fight deck promise you that. And the big Edsel V-8's—newest in the world—prove it beyond a doubt.

See your Edsel Dealer for a road-test. Edsel prices range from just above the lowest to just below the highest. You can afford an Edsel. And you can choose from four series, 18 models.

The following officers were installed: Mmes. Grady Burnett, president; W. J. Adams, vice president; Buddy Hobdy, secretary; Bill Popham, Pauline Dean and C. O. Riley, group captains.

A devotional was given by Mrs. VaRue Ingwerson.

Manners Makes Friends

When a boy makes a date with a girl he should always be definite about it. Saying, "Maybe I'll come over Friday night," is not the way to make a date, even when a couple is going steady.

If the boy doesn't know enough to be definite, she should insist that he be.

League Plans For Monday Luncheon

The League of Women Voters of Pampa will begin its year's work with a luncheon in the City Club Room on Monday at twelve noon.

The luncheon is open to any woman interested in studying and promoting good government. The program will be in the form of a Tic Tac Know contest, exploring nine categories of League work. Special guests will be two representatives from the state organization.

In a board meeting on Sept. 23 Mrs. George Lemon, Lubbock, state representative, appointed Mrs. W. A. Breining, Mrs. Frank Lord, and Mrs. Willis White as organizational chairmen of the Pampa League.

Two discussion units have been set up. One will meet with Mrs. Isla Campbell, 2312 Charles, on the second and fourth Tuesday morning of each month at 9:30. The first meeting for the unit will be held on Oct. 8.

The other discussion unit will meet with Mrs. Willis White, 1008 E. Twiford, the first and third Thursday afternoons at 2:30. The first meeting of this unit will be held on Oct. 17. League members are urged to attend these discussions.

During the month of October, one thousand pieces of literature, discussing the amendments to the state constitution, to be voted on in November, will be distributed by the Voters Service department of the League.

Any interested women in Pampa, or near-by community, wishing to make a reservation for Monday's luncheon, is asked to a call MO-4-4629 or MO-5-4445 by Saturday noon.

RUTH MILLETT

Know, men, do you really want to know how to curb your wife's appetite for "things" and slow down her social ambitions so that you can take life a little easier? The answer for many of you is so simple you may not believe it: Just try giving your wife a more generous helping of affection, companionship and appreciation.

Men are smart about a lot of things, but many of them are pretty stupid about women.

They don't seem to realize that unless a man is willing to make an effort to keep his wife happy he is going to have a frustrated, discontented woman on his hands. And an unappreciated wife is going to make life tough for him — not intentionally — but because she has to find some way to feel important.

Maybe she'll decide to be the best-dressed woman in her crowd because the envy and admiration of other women help to minimize her husband's seeming indifference to her.

Or she may turn the art of homemaking into a nagging need to make her house a show place. Then she will begin to think of it as "my house," if her husband doesn't help her to make it a home.

Or she may get the social bug.

Morse Circle Has Lessons On Paul

CANADIAN — The Ruth Morse Circle of the First Christian Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Frank Cook.

Following the benediction, refreshments were served to the following members, Mmes. Ralph Alexander, F. A. Blue, Dick Barton, Charles Callaway, Carl Cansler, Robert Forrest, Perc Hill, H. A. Longhofer, Jim Mitchell, Calvert Norris, Clarence Pyeatt, Marion Smith, Carl Zyback, Jim Trayler, Leslie Webb by the hostess, Mrs. Cook.

In spite of the constant change in current hair styles, certain basic rules should be followed: never part the hair in the middle if the face is full or the jaw square. When the forehead is low, bangs should never be worn and when it is narrow, the hair should be brushed straight back from the temples.

First District Games Among Area Contests On Slate For Tomorrow

Two district games will highlight the area grid scene tomorrow night as the Mustangs of Wheeler host Quilaque and Groom travels to Claude. Both Wheeler and Groom are beginning a district title defense with the games. Wheeler boasts a record of three wins and one loss, with the only defeat coming at the hands of Stinnett, the defending class A state champions. The Mustangs should have easy going in downing the low-rated Quilaque team for their first district win.

Odds-Makers Hint At Four Game Sweep For Yankees

By LEO H. PETERSON
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—The odds-makers hung the spectre of a four-game sweep over the Milwaukee Braves today when Casey Stengel sent Bobby Shantz, a carbon-copy of first-game victor White Ford, out in an attempt to make it two straight for the New York Yankees in the 1957 World Series.

Broadway odds-makers quoted the defending world champions, 2-1 victors in Wednesday's opener, as 6-5 to win the second game, 5-1 to wrap it up in four games. These odds reflected the general feeling that the Yankees cleared the way to their seventh world championship in nine years under Stengel when they made 36-year-old star Warren Spahn a loser in the opener.

Milwaukee manager Fred Haney, disappointed but far from discouraged by the first-game defeat, named ex-Yankee farmhand Lew Burdette to hurl the second game and "get the Braves even." Burdette posted a 17-9 record during the regular National League season and will be making his first World Series appearance.

Haney is expected to stand pat with the solid right-handed hitting order that managed only five hits off Ford but Stengel was prepared to hit the Braves with his left-handed-hitting platoon. This probably means Harry Simpson at first base in place of the injured Bill Skowron and Jerry Lumpe at third in place of Andy Carey, with Tony Kubek remaining in left field.

Expect Pleasant Weather
Another crowd of about 69,000 was expected to be blessed with the "Indian summer" temperatures that marked the opener before the teams take America's greatest sports show on the road. Tomorrow is an off-day of travel with the third, fourth and fifth games scheduled for County Stadium, Milwaukee, Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The sixth and seventh, if necessary, will be played at Yankee Stadium.

In Shantz, Stengel is sending the Yankees' Cinderella Kid of 1957 out on his first World Series assignment in a career that reached a peak when he had a 24-7 record and was named the American League's Most Valuable Player in 1952.

Burdette, 30, is the most controversial pitcher in baseball because nobody seems to be sure whether or not he actually employs the outlawed spitball. Known as a "cute workman," Burdette keeps all his stuff low.

A native of Nitro, W. Va., Burdette was a highly-respected Yankee farmhand when the world champions decided they needed late-season veteran pitching to wrap up the 1951 American League pennant. For this reason alone, they were persuaded to include Lew in a deal for Johnny Sain—a transaction that paid off for the Yankees inasmuch as Sain helped them to the pennant but that hurt them inasmuch as they lost a first class young pitcher.

Dope Stood Up
Advance dope on a World Series probably never stood up better than in Wednesday's opener when the Yankees displayed their all-around resourcefulness and had a pitcher to control the Braves' power.

Ford and Spahn matched zeroes until the last of the fifth when Gerry Coleman, one of Stengel's platooners, led off with a single, advanced to third on two infield outs and scored the first run of the game when Hank Bauer picked Spahn's first pitch up the right center field alley for a double.

Ford started and finished strong but he seemed to be laboring in the middle innings when he gave the Braves three chances to score. But he threw a double play ball to Joe Adcock in the fourth, retired Red Schoendienst with two on and two out in the fifth and sopped Hank Aaron, Adcock and Andy Patko in the sixth after walking Johnny Logan and Ed Mathews.

Lew Burdette

Bobby Shantz

The Braves finally nudged Ford for their run in the seventh when Schoendienst singled home Wes Covington, who had doubled, with two out. But by then, the Yankees had added two more runs on six-inning singles by Elston Howard and Andy Carey, a walk and Coleman's suicide-squeeze sacrifice bunt.

The victory was the fifth of Ford's World Series career and made him an obvious choice to pitch either the fifth or sixth game. Spahn can be expected to come back in the fourth game. If doubly will see hr gametitee the Braves are trailing, and undoubtedly will start three games if the series goes the distance.

Consider Children

There is another side to this integration business which has rarely been mentioned, if at all. This side concerns the type of education being handed to the children and young people today by the government in its dedicated drive to eliminate prejudice by means of force and violence.

A few days ago at Little Rock, Arkansas, some eight Negro children were taken to Central High School under an escort and projected into that otherwise all white school enrollment. There was purportedly a ninth. The Negro man escorting the ninth was seriously beaten by a group of attackers who brutally beat and kicked him. This ninth child apparently made good his escape without having to experience the embarrassment of being forcefully thrust into the midst of some 1500 other school children most of whom didn't want him there.

We wonder just what kind of parents these nine little Negro children have. Imagine the educational value of this experience. Here is an imagined conversation which might well have occurred prior to the Little Rock riot.

Susie, a Negro girl, (all dressed up in her best and ready for the great experiment): "But, mommy, I don't want to go to that school! I don't know anybody there. I won't be able to play with my friends any more. Why do I have to go?"

Her mother (firmly): "Hush your mouth, Susie. Those white folks have to be taught a lesson. The NAACP wants you to go and you're going. Now that's all I want to hear about it."

Susie (starting to cry): "But, mommy, I don't want to teach any white folks any lesson. I just want to go to school with Mary and Sarah Brown and..."

Her father (interrupting): "That's enough of that. You don't have to understand, see. You just have to go. This thing is bigger than you are, Susie. You're helping to fight for the rights of all of us colored people. Why, you'll be a heroine, that's what you'll be. All your friends will look up to you and admire you."

Susie (still whimpering): "But, I'm scared. I don't want to be a heroine. I just want to go to school with my friends and learn. I'm not mad at anyone. And I've got another school to go to. Why me, Daddy?"

Her father: "That's enough. You're going, all right, and the sooner the better."

Her mother: "Maybe she's right. What if something happened to her?"

Her father: "Now, no more of that kind of talk. Nothing's going to happen, see. The government wants you to go and you're going to do what the government wants. What's the matter with you women?"

And in the end Susie goes. Under escort. Past crowds of muttering, angry men and women. Into a government school to be greeted by jeers and cat-calls. By whispered threats. By growing terror. And finally by abuse and pummelings and ultimately a quick retreat into the open sunlight and a race for home for her very life.

This is education? Look at it from a child's eyes, for a minute. Look at it through any child's eyes, Negro or white. Are the children to be made the victims of a social experiment backed up by the force of guns and bayonets?

Experiences such as the one which has just occurred, and others, that are in the making, will burn themselves deeply within the delicate and formative minds of the children. Hatred will come from this. De-seated, burning, long-lived hatred. Misunderstanding will grow and not diminish by this process.

We hold no torch for prejudice. But when prejudice does exist it is only magnified by a use of guns employed to remove the prejudice. The situation in the South is dreadful. And it is not much better in a good many northern cities where similar incidents have already occurred or are in a state of suspended animation.

This horrible reliance upon naked brutality must stop! The government is dead wrong in its effort to compel people to do what they do not want to do. The government is dead wrong in running schools in the first place. And the double wrong cannot be made right by a display of might or an employment of violence.

Right now, the seeds for real racial discrimination are being sown. Children will never forget what they are learning now. The future, springing from the loins of the present, can only be worsened by such actions.

The South would do well right now, as would the North, if it promptly shut down all boycott-enforced school attendance. Tolerance can be learned. But it cannot be rammed down anyone's throat.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. Hollas
"The Palaces For Protectors"
II.

I want to continue to quote from an article in the September "The Freeman" magazine under the heading "Palaces for Protectors." The article was written by Charles I. Faddis, formerly congressman from Pennsylvania. It pretty well explains how we are losing our freedom the way other nations did in the past. From here on I am quoting:

"Liberty Slowly Regained"
"After about eight hundred years the people succeeded in regaining most of their lost liberties — but in the meantime millions of backs had been lashed into ribbons, and rivers of blood had drained down the gutters. Liberties are lost with much greater ease and with much less bloodshed than they are regained."

"History is mainly a record of the contention for power by individuals seldom possessed of either the ability or the integrity to enable them to exercise power justly. The measure of their ignorance and dishonesty has ever been the extent of their demands for mandatory authority over everything which they can touch. Powerful circumstances influence the feelings and opinions of men; but human nature, unchanged since Genesis, dictates the theme — the lust for power and the greed for gold."

"Another Period of Serfdom?"
"Great changes do not come suddenly and are always preceded by signs of warning. Thus, the despotic wielding of power in labor affairs of our own time gives rise to the question: Are we returning to another period of serfdom?"

"Union leaders, like other leaders, will struggle for monopolistic power. The key to such power is a large following. Therefore, leaders make it difficult and undesirable for their members to change from one industry to another. The necessity of a union card in closed shops, seniority rights, promotions, equity in pension plans, welfare funds, health insurance, unemployment insurance, the guaranteed annual wage and other fringe benefits are factors which assist in freezing workers to certain industries. The union bosses gain more rigid control every day."

"In changing the manners and customs of great numbers of people the minds of those people must first be prepared for the change, as ground must be prepared for seeding. The minds of the workers have already been prepared by the communists which have stressed security as an objective, even above liberty. 'Place yourselves in my hands and I will protect you from your enemies,' has been the potent appeal of the would-be exploiter of his fellow man since the dawn of history. The enemy against which the protection was to be provided has generally been one conjured up to suit the occasion and magnified into terrifying proportions. Seldom have any of those upon whom the protection is to be thrust been possessed of the foresight to inquire how they are to be protected against the protector."

"The Control Of the Shepherd"
"A man proclaims his own property for selfish reasons. He protects his sheep from the wolves that he may shear them, and provides them security — behind fences. Of course, they are not now in any manner capable of taking care of themselves. They have been protected behind fences for too many generations. Yet before they were frozen to the control of the shepherd, they must have been capable of surviving unaided. Protection of the poor has ever been a lucrative occupation — one which provided many luxurious palaces many centuries ago. But the protector has always paid dearly for the palaces in which their protectors lived in luxury."

"When one has surrendered his rights, privileges, and liberties and has become obligated to someone else for support and protection — whether to an individual or to the State — then he who has surrendered becomes a vassal and ceases to be free. The more rights and privileges one surrenders, the more will be demanded by those to whom the surrender is made. Those labor leaders who play upon the statement that security is more important than liberty may class themselves as liberals; but in reality, they are the ranklest of reactionaries. They are working to bring about a return to feudalism in which the workers will be fixed to certain industries, as the serfs of the robber barons were fixed to the land."

LOS ANGELES — Richard Pugliese, a 14-year-old student, describing the scene after a parochial school bus plunged into a 25-foot ditch, killing three youngsters and injuring 18 others: "All you could see were children bleeding and crying."

WASHINGTON — Senate Rackets Committee Chairman John L. McClellan, in charging that half the delegates to the Teamsters Union convention in Miami were chosen illegally: "Information the committee has, but not yet fully confirmed, clearly indicates that 50 per cent or more of the delegates in attendance were not selected in accordance with constitutional provisions."

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UP) — Texas A&M will play host to 30 patients from the Veterans Administration Hospital in Temple Oct. 28 at the Aggie - Baylor game.

Could Near East Trouble Have Been Avoided?

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower Administration's foreign policy, from Suez to Syria, has been subjected to unusually severe criticism by a majority of foreign delegates to the current session of the United Nations in New York, as well as at Washington. Both Secretary Dulles and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge have been blamed for adverse trends in the Middle East, and elsewhere.

It is not surprising that the most virulent critics should be the representatives of allied and friendly nations — namely, Foreign Ministers Selwyn Lloyd of Britain and Marcel Pineau of France, and Ambassador Abba Eban of Israel. Nor is it only coincidence that they speak for the three nations whose invasion of Egypt last fall was rendered abortive by the Eisenhower-Dulles intervention.

In their opinion, which they do not hesitate to express freely, the current and long-range difficulties centering on Russia's establishment of a foothold in Syria and Egypt flow directly from our refusal to support their effort to topple Colonel Gamal Abdel Nasser, the Nile dictator. Had he been driven from power, they argue, Khrushchev would not have been encouraged to use Syria as a deep wedge in the Bagdad Pact Alliance protecting the valuable oil fields and the Eastern Mediterranean.

NASSER'S TRIUMPH — Nasser's diplomatic triumph, which was made possible by Washington's condemnation of the three-nation invasion, according to this viewpoint, emboldened the pro-Communist military clique at Damascus. It led them to ask for the same Communist support which had enabled Nasser to become the hero of the Arab peoples.

As a direct result of this Syrian sequel, the United States felt it necessary to rush arms to Syria's neighbors — Jordan, Iraq and Iran — and to order the Sixth Fleet to patrol the shores of the Levant. Those measures precipitated an arms race in what has become the world's most sensitive meeting ground of East and West. It is a far more strategic area than Korea or Indo-China.

COULD CLOSE SUEZ AGAIN — In short, according to this viewpoint, the United States has antagonized and strengthened the two nations which hold the key to the oil that Europe must have to avoid industrial stagnation, and to join with us in fighting a war. Since Nasser shows no appreciation of our Suez Canal intervention, he can — and probably would — close that necessary waterway again, whenever it accords with his needs, desires or whims.

Syria can again wreck the pipelines which carry the oil to Mediterranean ports. Thus, a and largely due to the Eisenhower-Dulles policies, so their European critics maintain, the West's supply of essential petroleum is controlled by the two regimes which may yet become satellites of Moscow, if they cannot be cast in that role already. In addition, Russian warships are now welcome to repair and to refuel in Mediterranean ports.

comparable achievement was the Communists' conquest of China, North Korea and North Indo-China, and their seemingly firm alliance with Russia.

RUSSIA EYES MIDEAST — Both the Far East and the Middle East, which lie on the Soviet's strategic flanks, are equally essential to Moscow's long-term strategy against Western civilization. Whether the Kremlin will press this advantage to a conclusive showdown with military or politico-diplomatic action is now the chief concern of Western chancelleries and the State Department.

Ever since the days of the Czars, Russia has been eyeing and edging toward Middle East oil regions and the strategically important Mediterranean Sea. She fought wars with Britain, France and Turkey to reach this treasured territory. Her insistence on a preferred status in this area led to the break with Hitler, and the German invasion of Russia in 1941.

Now, Moscow appears to have achieved this ancient aim. And, rightly or wrongly, for only history can judge, our Allies hold John Foster Dulles responsible for this major diplomatic defeat. So do Democratic foreign affairs experts on Capitol Hill.

CHICAGO — Dr. Edward H. Rynerson of the Mayo Foundation, in saying that employees who slip out for coffee breaks aren't loafing, but are seeking a bodily need:

"Their nervous tension may cause them to develop a low blood sugar. They need refreshments to restore their sugar to normal and regain strength."

BETTY KNOWLES HUNT

IT DON'T MATTER!

Curiosity compels me to wonder how many readers will not blink an eyelash at the above title, and how many will cringe. Frankly, I am one of the cringers. Over the years, I have acquired a profound respect and deep enjoyment of the English language at its meaningful and precise best, and a profound disrespect and disengagement for the sloppy, slipshod treatment it receives at the hands of its indifferent users.

Some might call this a form of snobbery, but they would be mistaken. For surely it is not snobbery to value something noble and purposeful, and to deplore its casual destruction by the careless and insensitive.

And when such destruction seems to be deliberately condoned and even encouraged by those who are richly endowed with education and knowledge, this seems to me to be a cultural and an aesthetic crime. English Evans is a Professor of English at Northwestern University and a national TV personality, yet he has written "A Dictionary of Contemporary American Usage," the purpose of which is to declare, in "correct" language, and that "the best anyone can do is to say how it is being used."

Unless my reasoning powers are suddenly deficient, this simply means that "the right" or "the wrong" of a language is determined solely by what the majority is doing with it at any given time. Social and religious "liberals," just as political "liberals" such a theory in the field of morals, just as political "liberals" have long advocated it in the field of civics and government. In other words, whatever "the people" are saying, doing, thinking or desiring — ipso facto, that is, — that is what is right, that is how things should be!

I humbly submit that this pragmatic approach to all standards, be they in language or morals or the arts or what not, is a fallacious, fatal theory, and a sure road to chaos.

Mac Trying To Break His European Habits

By HENRY McLEMORE

ROME — With departure for home only a few weeks away, I have started to try to break myself of the European habits I have acquired.

I trust I will succeed, for there is nothing more ridiculous than a returnee who clings to European customs and expressions months after he is back in his own land and among his own kind. I knew a woman once who, ten years after she had returned from a whirlwind trip around the world, persisted in calling Prague, "Praha," Rome, "Roma," and Vienna, "Wien." Her husband finally up and left her.

My task is made the more difficult by the fact that I am extremely slow in languages, and require months to master a word or a phrase. But once I get it, it is graven on my memory in such large letters that there is no room left for its English equivalent.

There is the German word for railroad station — Bahnhof — for example. Using railroad stations as much as I do I had to learn it; and now I can't get it out of my head. I fear that no matter how careful I am, I am going to ask some New York taxi driver to take me to the Pennsylvania Bahnhof. It would serve me right if he took me to the car barn.

Bagno, for bath, is another one that sticks to my memory like a leech, and so is "mit" for with. I kind of hate to give up "mit." I like it a lot. It sounds more like "with" than "with" does. Steak mit potatoes. Ham mit eggs. Mit is very catching.

And as for ghiaccio — Italian for ice — it's likely to be with me always. You'd never get ice in Italy unless you learned to say ghiaccio, and as an American I have to have ice. My mother is asking her for some aqua con hielo.

There are some foreign words, though, that I will never be tempted to use. One of them is "piano," which the Italians use to designate the floor of a building. In a hotel your room is on the second piano, the third piano, etc. Another is "camera" for room. To say that one is in camera 488 on the fourth piano sounds like double talk.

I am working on getting into big American cars whenever I have a chance. The technique is radically different from entering the small European automobiles. It may be months, however, before I overcome the habit of making myself as small as possible, jacking my legs, and holding my breath before going through a car door.

I will also have to accustom myself to such things as leg room, three in the front seat, and getting used to miles per hour instead of kilometers. And, I might add, filling up the gas tank twice as often.

It will be hard to give up smoking in movies and at the theatre. Nothing helps to make a "B" grade double feature more bearable than a few good drags on a cigarette.

DEPT. OF PHRASES: (a) The any natural corporation employ (b) The slanting house c (c) The meat (d) The V (e) The meat (f) The V (g) The meat (h) The V (i) The meat (j) The V (k) The meat (l) The V (m) The meat (n) The V (o) The meat (p) The V (q) The meat (r) The V (s) The meat (t) The V (u) The meat (v) The V (w) The meat (x) The V (y) The meat (z) The V words, which is an exciting adventure in itself, take the simple discipline of grammar. If we condense the monstrous title of this little piece, "It Don't Matter," what we are really saying is a ridiculous "It Do Not Matter," and I submit that it certainly DOES! Or take the widely-used error "these kind." "These" is plural while "kind" is singular. There is nothing difficult about keeping singulars and plurals in their proper places, as any child can prove. When adults mix them up it is a sure sign of either ignorance or lazy indifference, neither of which should be encouraged or extolled. Once we accept "these kind" as a proper standard there is nothing to prevent our descending to "them kind" as a next replacement. And what comes after that?

Would Professor Evans be so bold as to suggest that we cannot distinguish good literature from the bad or indifferent? Would he suggest that Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, or the Preamble to the Constitution, or the Declaration of Independence, or Shakespeare's poetry are on the same language level as a Micky Spillane novel, or an article in True Story magazine? I venture to say that more Americans probably talk and write in the latter vein than in the former, but does this unhappy fact make the majority language as good or better?

When our worthy Founding Fathers convened to write a Constitution of the United States, George Washington said: "Let us raise a standard to which the wise and honest can repair."

In my humble opinion that is precisely what Professors of English ought to attempt, on behalf of the English language.

THE BIBLE — GOD'S INSPIRED MESSAGE By GEORGE PECK

"The fool hath said in his heart, there is no God. Corrupt are they, and have done abominable iniquity; there is none that doeth good." So reads the first verse of the Fifty-Third Psalm.

A more accurate description of God-hating, God-denying, Khrushchev and his communist pals could not be given. Yet it was written thousands of years ago and is but one of the myriad of prophecies and nuggets of wisdom to be found between the covers of the World's Best Seller — THE BIBLE.

The week of October 21-27 has been designated as 17th Annual National Bible Week by the Laymen's National Committee, which has sponsored National Bible Week in October of each year for the past sixteen years — with such remarkable and outstanding success.

The Laymen's National Committee is a nationwide organization, the membership of which is made of America's three great faiths — Jewish, Catholic and Protestant. It is dedicated to the proposition that while the material progress and unprecedented prosperity of America are self-evident, this nation almost continuously is in danger of forgetting that when the spirit of God departs a nation, Liberty and Freedom wither and die on the vine.

With respect to the "Cold War," the Laymen's National Committee believes that while keeping up America's military guard is essential, it is equally important, if not more so, for this nation to maintain its spiritual guard — and that THE BIBLE is the manual-of-arms toward accomplishing that end.

It is a historical fact that the political structure of this Republic was built upon faith in God. America's great Constitution is a practical expression of religion. The LNC knows that only in so far as America is spiritually strong, will this nation be able to protect the political ideals for which the Founding Fathers of our Republic pledged their lives, Billy Graham, who has just completed a great evangelistic crusade in New York City, has sent the following inspiring message to the Laymen's National Committee in connection with 1957 National Bible Week:

"The World's Best Seller that we call the BIBLE is the inspired word of God. It is the Book of the Ages. It is food for the soul. It purifies the life. It points the way alvation. The reading and studying of this Book can transform any life. Changed men can change the nation. The only hope for the individual, or the nation, lies in this Book.

"It is so profound that the greatest intellects have debated its meaning for centuries; and yet it is so simple that children can understand and grasp its meaning.

"There can be no true Christian commitment without a daily personal of its pages. We have millions of Bibles in America but so little actual Bible reading. I commend the Bible, not as a faith, but as a Holy Book which is the inspired message of God to all generations.

Through newspaper, radio, television and motion picture publicity, through local meetings in auditoriums, clubs and school houses across the nation, the Committee is urging all Americans to give daily reading to their Bibles and to attend the church of their choice.

Yes, the week of October 21-27 is National Bible Week — a week during which a special drive will be made to revive the flagging interest of America's citizens in the Greatest Book that has ever been written.

The Father of our Country, George Washington, wisely warned in his Farewell Address: "Reason and experience both forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail in exclusion of religious principle."

And now, another and most humble George exhorts the readers of his column to get out their Bibles — read them daily — and if they've been neglecting their churches, to get back into them. Remember that October 21-27 is Seventeenth Annual National Bible Week.
