Koontz Is Named New City Manager

The City Commission has named John Koontz Pampa's new city manager.

The announcement, from Mayor Lynn Boyd, came as somewhat of a surprise as the commission had last week named Orange City Manager Gene Galin for the post.

The only explanation given for the change-of-mind this morning came from Mayor Boyd, who said, "After due consideration by the commission, Koontz was considered the best qualified for the job, which he will take over immediately."

Koontz has been acting city manager since the resignation of Fred Brook on Aug. 1 of this year. He has also held the job of purchasing agent.

Mayor Boyd, in an announcement this morning, said, "The City Commission of Pampa has employed John Koontz as our City manager as he has done outstanding service for the City since he was made acting city manager, and it is the opinion of the commission that he will make Pampa as good if not a better city manager than any of the applicants that we have had for the position."

"The City Commission is of the opinion that John Koontz will cooperate with the cooperation of all City employees, and we also believe that the citizens of Pampa will cooperate to the fullest extent in helping in the growth of our City, and cooperate with City officials as they have done in the past."

"Your City officials welcome

constructive criticism from Pampa citizens at any time and assure you that any complaints will be given due consideration."

Allotment Proposed For County

The Texas Highway Department has submitted a proposal to Gray County dealing with the state and county funds in the road program for this year.

The proposal has been received by county officials and is awaiting approval by the Commissioners Court.

The State has proposed the Highway Engineer's Department allot to the county $215,000 for the building, repairing, and improvement of farm-to-market roads in Gray County. Added to this sum would be $35,000 supplied by the county in order to completely finance the program.

No action can be taken on the proposal until the commissioners have discussed the approval of the proposed plan, County Judge Bruce Parker said today.

United Fund Total Today

The Pampa-Lefors United Fund Campaign is $25,533.90 below its $50,000 goal, according to reports received this morning.

The total amount of subscriptions in the United Fund Campaign for the Pampa-Lefors area was $34,466.10 this morning.

A total of $29,402.35 in cash has been turned in to the office, with an additional $5,063.75 in pledges.

Mrs. Elsie Goe, secretary for the United Fund, states that the total will probably climb when reports are made from workers in the area in the next few days.

UFO Reports Swamp Authorities

A virtual shower of flying object reports swamped authorities across the nation today, and official skepticism over the "what-ifs" mounted in proportion.

The current flurry of unidentified flying object sightings began during the weekend and has been picking up steam since.

Sky gazers described the objects as appearing in many colors and in shapes ranging from a "meat platter" to "the open end of a bucket." Some of the objects zoomed about, other hover overhead and kill automobile engines and lights.

Two persons, one an ex-convict in Nebraska and the other a Tennessee schoolboy, insist they have seen space ships manned by German-speaking men and women land.

The boy said one of the spacemen tried to kidnap his dog.

Scientists, however, were cool to most of the reports. They said many of them stemmed from sightings of bright stars and planets, cloud and weather mirages, the aurora borealis, tricks of vision and, perhaps, a touch of hysteria brought on by Russia's Sputniks.

Dr. Donald H. Menzel, director of the Harvard College of Astronomy, dismissed most of the sightings as "another flying saucer scare."

A Chicago scientist pointed out the reports, which have ranged from the Fiji Islands to Italy, all have come from the free world while no such objects have been sighted in Iron Curtain countries.

Air Force officials investigated some of the stronger sightings. But a spokesman at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton, Ohio, observed that of the thousands of flying saucer reports checked out in the past 10 years, only about three per cent of them still are in the "unknown file."

And those three per cent probably could be identified, the spokesman said, if more information about them could be learned.

Skies Bright Over Pampa; Not Elsewhere

Pampans saw the sun beaming brightly this morning for the first time in six days to put an end to the siege of rain, drizzle and cloudy overcast.

Since yesterday morning another .10 of an inch of rain had fallen before the skies cleared early today and put an end to the gloomy weather. Snow fell for a brief few minutes yesterday morning at 11:30 but soon changed to the light falling rain and sleet that continued into the night.

A tornado warning went up today for extreme Northeast Texas, southwest Arkansas and extreme southeastern Oklahoma as heavy rains again peppered the state.

The U.S. weather bureau said a cold front will drop temperatures below freezing in the Panhandle tonight. This front, as it moves through the state, should bring clearing skies.

The weather bureau predicted a few severe thunderstorms with a chance of a tornado in the three-state area from 12 noon to 7 p.m. today.

The approximate area was along and 60 miles either side of a line from 60 miles west of Texarkana to 25 miles northeast of Little Rock, Ark. The Fort Worth-Dallas area was not included in the warning.

Two Rivers Out of Banks At least two North Texas rivers—the Trinity and the Sulphur—churned off of their banks as the vagaries of Texas weather again became evident.

The Texas Highway Department reported seven roads closed in North, East and Central Texas because of high water.

These included State Highways 10, three miles west of Aubrey, and 6, south of Marlin. The other five were farm-to-market roads.

The Trinity River, swollen by rains of 5 and 6 inches in North Texas, was recorded at 21.2 feet in Dallas today but was falling, the weather bureau reported.

However, new rains today and releases from lakes will cause it to rise again this afternoon and tonight and will reach about 28 feet (flood stage) Friday morning.

Marie Foundations Holds Open House

The Marie Foundations of McLean held an open house yesterday, paying tribute to the city and citizens and honoring Sears & Roebuck officials, who purchase the materials produced in the foundation factory. Cal Fraser is co-owner and operator of the firm.

Representing the Sears company were Edward Hellstedt, national buying supervisor for the brassiere and corset buying department; Larry Aubuchon, manager of the regional buying office of Dallas; and Jake Plain, public relations representative from Dallas.

The guests were treated to a luncheon and then a tour of the factory and machinery during the afternoon. All visitors were shown through the building and were served refreshments.

The Marie Foundations itself is an extension of the Form-O-Uth Brassiere Co. in Gardena, Calif. In November of 1955 a decision was made to expand the factory since the existing facilities were becoming inadequate.

During early 1956 a survey was made of towns in the northern part of Texas and as a result, Fraser selected McLean as the most desirable site.

On Aug. 1, 1956, a contract was entered into with McLean for the rental and subsequent purchase of the building in which the factory is presently located.

Comprising the initial force of personnel was Tom Greenwood who had been supervising a similar operation in the Texas Textile Mills in Waco and Gene Heron of McLean, who was trained as a sewing machine mechanic. These men, along with two girls from the California factory, commenced the operation.

On March 5, 1957, the factory was ready and the first McLean girls began receiving training and by the end of April 600 dozens of brassieres were produced. This gradually increased until at this date approximately 12,000 dozens

Flu Strikes 1,250,000 Last Week

The U. S. Public Health Service reported today that 1,250,000 Americans were stricken with influenza last week.

It brought to 4,750,000 the number of cases reported since the first case of Asian flu was recorded last summer.

The service also reported that 856 persons in 108 large cities died of influenza and pneumonia last week. This was a 11 per cent increase in fatalities from the diseases over the previous week, when 771 died.

Last week's cases of flu were the largest number reported so far. They were based on reports from 40 states.

The health agency said the number of cases increased in some states and dropped in others. States where the influenza cases decreased were listed as Connecticut, Michigan, Wisconsin, Alabama, Mississippi, Wyoming, Arizona, and Texas. There was no breakdown of states failing to report of those showing an increase.

Rotarians Hear Address By Amarillo AFB Commander

Members of the Pampa Rotary Club hear Brig. Gen. William L. Lee, commanding officer of Amarillo Air Force Base, speak on the "Unprecedented Increase in World Population" at the club's noon luncheon meeting yesterday.

In opening his talk, General Lee stated that his subject was highly controversial and that there were several pros and cons. He stated that all problems in the world stem from three basic problems: atomic energy, Communism and the rise in population.

He stated that until something is done to halt the rapid growth in population throughout the world there can be no hope of peace. He referred to history of recent wars, when countries invaded other countries because of the crowded conditions at home.

The general went on to explain that with science wiping out pestilence and if wars were stopped, then the world would probably be faced with famine. He explained that the population of the United States was increasing at the rate of 8,000 per day and that by the year 2,000 it is estimated that the population of this country will be 300 million.

"It is doubtful if we can maintain the current level of living," he said. He explained that at the present time, with eight per cent of the earth's land and with 10 per cent of the population, the US is consuming one-half of the world's production.

General Lee said that the US will be scratching for food within 25 years as we are losing good farm land due to progress. He explained that farms are being destroyed by highways, expanding cities and other signs of what is called progress.

He explained conditions in various foreign countries and concluded his talk by stating that the solution might be in that God is allowing man to develop atomic energy and allowing Communism to become powerful so that man can eliminate one-half of the world's population in an atomic war.

The speech was introduced by E. Roy Smith, club program chairman for the month of November.

Official Showing Is For The First Time

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UP)—The Soviet Union today displayed for the first time a rocket officially identified as intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM).

The 60 to 75 foot long missile was part of a wealth of secret new rocket weapons displayed in Red Square during ceremonies commemorating the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

The official Soviet news agency Tass identified the huge mystery rocket as an ICBM. Western military observers who saw it had believed earlier it was a single-stage overgrown version of the World War II German V-2.

They had believed it probably was an intermediate range rocket. Tass did not elaborate on its announcement.

A Soviet commentator atop the Gum department store facing the Kremlin across Red Square gave a running commentary on the new secret weapons.

"The Soviet Union now possesses long range rockets and field rockets," the Gum commentator said. "The intercontinental ballistics missile has strengthened Soviet defenses."

Then came the parade of rockets and the commentator said some of them were "based on the principle of jet propulsion."

The jet-propelled rocket weapons were followed by heavy rocket artillery drawn by tremendous caterpillar transporters.

Claims New Type Rocket "They are of a new type of a new design and on them are tremendous heavy rockets," the radio commentator said. "They must weigh anything up to many tons... here comes another one, a new rocket. This is something tremendous. It has to be seen to be believed. It must be somewhere about 50 feet long."

Western observers estimated the big green-painted rocket at an even 60 feet long, about 10 feet thick with a pointed nose and fins at the end.

It appeared similar to a wartime German V-2 and observers said they believed it was an intermediate stage rocket and not Russia's ICBM.

Observers also noted a huge 200 millimeter cannon which was believed capable of firing an atomic shell similar to the U.S. Army's "Atomic Annie."

Also, the council, led by President Robert Langford, Vice President Johnny Nutting, and Secretary Linda Skewes, has already accomplished four big projects.

Latest project this year has been printing a student directory with names, addresses and telephone numbers of pupils and faculty. These directories were set to appear on sale in the school coop this week, according to the directory committee chairman, Linda Buchanan.

Kicking off the school year with "Howdy Week," an annual get-acquainted season for sophomores and new students, student government group sponsored a party in the school cafeteria after the first football game, Sept. 13.

The All-School Carnival, an annual Student Council-sponsored affair designed to organizations within the school can earn money by selling food, fun or entertainment in booths, was held last month in the cafeteria. Marilyn Pitts and Frank Snow were elected Carnival King and Queen by students as they voted by dropping spare change into ballot boxes at the entrance to the affair.

Spirit Week, traditionally a week before the Harvester-Sandie game, ended in a bonfire pep-rally where "Sam Sandie" was burned in effigy and Miss Flame, Theresa Marak, was crowned by SC President Robert Langford.

Next semester the council will sponsor its community-wide fund-raising project. Money from this venture will be used to support some cause voted on by SC members, such as the Pampa Youth Center.

Working hand in hand with other school organizations such as National Honor Society, Harvester Band, etc. the council achieves its primary aim, that of representing each student in matters concerning school activities.

A Testimonial Dinner will be given by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development on Tuesday, Nov. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria, in honor of the Pampa High School Harvester Band.

The Harvester Band has done an exceedingly fine work this year and may well be the best band Pampa has ever had, according to chamber officials.

Tickets for the affair are on sale in the chamber offices and may be purchased for band members.

The Chamber of Commerce has extended its gratitude to the business and professional people of Pampa who have bought tickets for Harvester Band members.

The contest is sponsored by the National Municipal League, New York.

Members of the committee began assembling information for Pampa's entry last summer and the entry had been selected to be entered in preliminary judging.

A letter accompanied the notification of Pampa's status in the contest, written by Allen H. Seed Jr., assistant director of the league.

It said, in part, "The accomplishments of your citizens as reflected in the material you submitted was of a very high order. You have much to be proud of! Because civic achievement is not a 'one-shot' performance, we hope there will be continuing efforts to achieve new goals."

PHS Student Council Keeps Busy

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of stories concerning the activities of Pampa Youth. This is Youth Appreciation Week in Pampa, sponsored by the Pampa Optimist Club and attention has been called to the 85 per cent of our youth who you do not read about as having been involved in incidents requiring police action. Today's story is about the activities of the Pampa High School student governmental agency, the Student Council.)

Living up to the past record of Pampa High Student Councils, this year's council has already begun taking an active part in area student government work by being picked secretary of the annual District Top of Texas Association of Student Councils in Amarillo last week. Next year, Pampa High School will host the convention in October, according to Mrs. Ruby Capps, Student Council sponsor.

Singer Is Tired Of Being A 'Sweet Young Thing'

By WILLIAM EWALD
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 NEW YORK (UP)—Virginia Gibson is a sweet young thing, but she wishes everybody would forget it for a while.

"It's one of the reasons I'm so happy about being part of 'Hit Parade,'" said Miss Gibson as she strayed up a chocolate milkshake. "All of my career, I've been a sweet young thing — on the stage in the movies, on TV. I have no objections to being thought of as young and sweet, but if I'm ever going to become an actress, I figure I'll have to do something different. That's the wonderful thing about 'Hit Parade.' It may sound strange to say it about a musical show, but it gives you a chance to develop as an actress by casting you in all sorts of parts."

Miss Gibson, a slim, blonde export of St. Louis, is one of a quartet of new singers recruited for "Your Hit Parade" this season. Before her TV hitch, Miss Gibson served a nine-month sentence with "Happy Hunting," a musical that starred Ethel Merman.

Tired Of 'Sweet Roles'
 Miss Gibson eyed the dregs of her milkshake and considered "Happy Hunting." "I played Miss Merman's daughter, a very sweet young thing," she said, "and also on Broadway, there was 'Look Ma, I'm Dancing' in which I played a sweet ingenue."

"In Hollywood, it was the same sort of thing—sweet young girls, sweet girl friends, sweet wives, most of them musicals. I did get to play a dramatic role with Joan Crawford in 'Goodbye My Fancy,—as a sweet co-ed."

"Then on TV, the same thing. I did a 'Lux Video Theatre' and played a sweet ingenue type."

Time And Energy Needed To Help Clear Mental Hospitals

By DELOS SMITH
 United Press Science Editor
 NEW YORK (UP)—When the mental health experts of a state mental hospital had the opportunity to give close, extended attention to 72 long-time inmates, they discovered there was no really good reason why 55 of them shouldn't be returned to the outside world.

Twenty-six of the 72 actually were returned and 25 of the 26 became self-supporting and otherwise gave the world no trouble. The reporting scientists noted that if they hadn't the opportunity to work closely with the inmates, they might have stayed in the hospital "indefinitely."

As for the 29 others of the 55: They had been in the hospital for so long they had no "motivation" for giving up its security for the uncertainties of the outside. In other words, they were doing all right where they were, and didn't want to take chances.

Facilities are inadequate
 The report of Drs. Frederick Phillips and Sophia Belle May of Spring Grove State Hospital, Baltimore, Md., to the American Psychiatric Association dramatized the contention of all mental scientists that American public facilities for treating the mentally ill are extremely inadequate.

The 72 chronic mental patients in the study were all well enough to be employed in various jobs around the hospital. They were transferred from wards to a convalescent cottage on the grounds. The original idea was to get inmate-workers under one roof in order to study the hospital's work program.

But this was quickly broadened into a study of the patients themselves and efforts to make them more "socially active" with the view of discharging them. Of the 72 men, over half had been in the hospital longer than 10 years and 71 per cent had been in longer than five. Their ages ranged from 18 to 81 but 47 per cent were over 50.

Lack of Details
 One of the first developments was the lack of detailed hospital records of those chronic patients. The charts of 26 of them had not been taken from the files of the central record room in three years. "The longer the patient was in the hospital, the less likely was the staff to know much about him," the scientists reported.

They reported that the "implications" of this were "startling." "Fifty-five of 72 patients, or 76 per cent, no longer required hospitalization," they said, and then remarked: "How much more could existing hospital facilities achieve for the 24 per cent still requiring hospitalization if time and energy were not expended on the other 76 per cent?"

High-Level GOP Meet Is Upcoming

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon will get together with other Republican leaders for a high-level GOP policy review next month.

The meeting was called at the same time that there were reports the President has come under considerable pressure to adopt a more conservative legislative program next year.

Informants said some influential Congressional Republicans have warned him he will get less cooperation from GOP congressmen unless he does so.

Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn announced Sunday night he has called a meeting here of the Republican National Committee for Dec. 6. The 72-member executive committee will hold a session the day before.

The leaders probably will assess, among other things, the political impact of Russia's recent satellite-missile triumphs, the Little Rock, Ark., integration dispute, the state of the nation's economic

Free Advice To All Women Who Are 'Just A Housewife'

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Some free advice today to all those millions of women whose occupation is "just a housewife."

Take a new look around you. People in high places are beginning to recognize that most of you hold not one but several dozen jobs. So start promoting. Shed your shrinking violet complex. Discard your ironing board slouch, throw your shoulders back in pride. Brag about, don't deride, your "career."

The newest friend in the housewife's camp is Mrs. Katherine B. Oettinger, chief of the U.S. Children's Bureau, and homemaker also.

She chides all of us for looking down our noses at contributions on the stay-at-home wife... even suggested she should be paid, just as the 22 million women in outside jobs are reimbursed.

"So many mothers feel guilty if they do work," Mrs. Oettinger told a recent National Manpower Conference at Harriman, N.Y. "But though this is a sometimes forgotten, so many feel guilty if they do not."

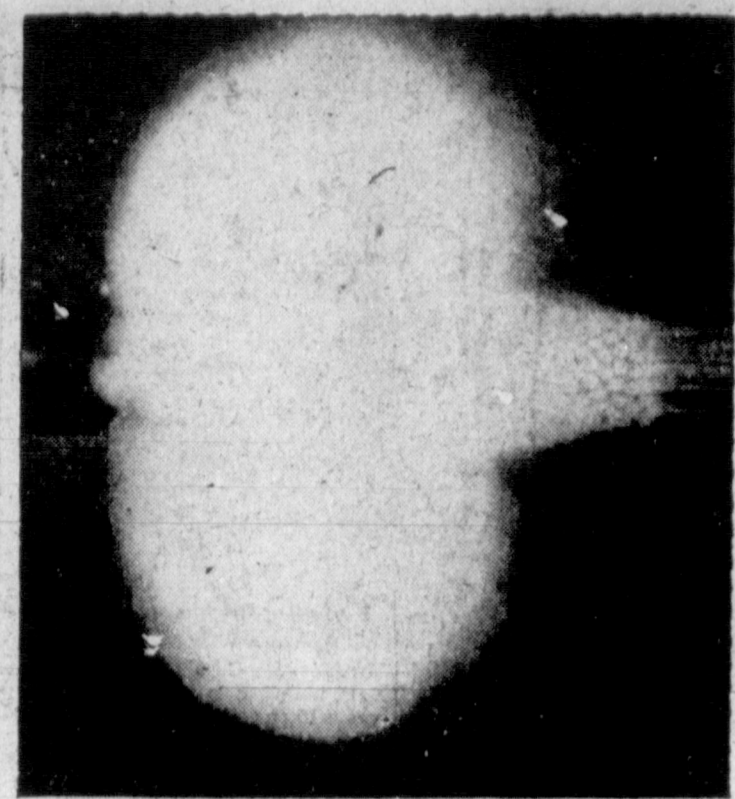

World's Hardest Job
The time has come for the "world to enhance the status of the homemaker," she said. "The lack of respect and recognition for one of the hardest jobs in the world is so familiar it needs no documentation."

Mrs. Oettinger told of one mother of three, who decided to take an outside job until she checked the cost of sending the children to a day care center. She found her salary would just about pay the tab. She decided not to take the job and commented, "I didn't think I was worth ANYTHING at home."

Mrs. Oettinger said perhaps the way to "enhance" the status of "just a housewife" is "the one often suggested but seldom taken seriously... to grant some pecuniary recognition to the mother who works IN the home."

Well, I've been counting all the jobs the housewife holds and much as I agree with Mrs. Oettinger, there is a big hitch. Who would pay her salary? Hubby?

The family budget might cover her earnings as a domestic, at the going rate of $1 to $1.50 an hour. But foot the bill for her work as family doctor, nurse, management expert, financial whiz, fashion advisor, and you're Electronic lights, which exposed film at one-millionth of a second, were tripped when shock wave from muzzle hit a microphone. Picture shows, from left, gun barrel, powder gases, shot pellets.

DOWN THE HATCH—Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy wears a big smile as he boards the submarine Sea Robin for a firsthand look at the undersea craft. The newly appointed secretary inspected the U.S. Naval Submarine Base in New London, Conn., then made an overnight cruise on the nuclear-powered submarine Seawolf. McElroy is the first secretary of defense ever to ride in a submarine. President Eisenhower recently took a short cruise aboard the Seawolf.

Walter Rogers Reports:

'Daylight Robbery' By Police In Chicago Hit By Solon

DAYLIGHT ROBBERY
Many of you will remember the hair raising stories of gangsterism in and around certain sections of Chicago during the roaring twenties. Mrs. Rogers and I were driving through to Washington recently and came through that section of the Chicago suburbs that had once been the hangout of Al Capone and other prominent gangsters.

We did not realize where we were until we saw highway signs referring to Cicero, Illinois, Calumet, Illinois, and other notorious names that were in the papers so much during that lawless age. The highway was a terrible two-lane road loaded with large trucks and buses. Traffic was creeping along over rough pavement and everything seemed to be caught in a bottleneck. We were trying to reach a four-lane toll road which we knew was in the vicinity somewhere, but of which the natives apparently had never heard.

Finally we came to a four-way stop intersection where traffic was very heavy. We proceeded to cross onto a better strip of pavement carrying several lanes of traffic. We were proceeding along with the general flow of traffic, all going about the same speed, except that some trucks and passenger vehicles were passing us on both sides, when we were halted to the side of the road by a uniformed policeman. We were told that we had exceeded the speed limit, according to an electrical device which the police were using and which was located in a car parked behind a sign.

There was another policeman on duty also stopping cars. I asked the officer about the speed limit, and he advised me that it was 35 mph. The only sign so indicating was a small sign by the side of the road that was not visible to anyone in the center lanes of traffic. The policeman did not explain how he was able to pick out our car in all the traffic with his electrical device or why the electrical device had apparently failed to pick out the cars and trucks that had been passing us.

I do not know how fast we were going, because traffic was so heavy that both of us were watching the highway. I do know that we were not going any faster than any of the cars and trucks around us when we were stopped. The only thing the policeman would tell us was that we must post a $10 cash bond since we were from out of state. I asked him when we could have a trial, in accordance with basic American principles, so that justice might prevail.

He advised me that it would be several days before a judge would be available to hear any traffic cases in that area. I then asked him if he thought what he was doing was right or if he thought the practice that was being pursued would help to solve any traffic problems. He was most apologetic but said he had no choice in the matter since he had been ordered by higher ups to do what he was doing.

Since Mrs. Rogers was driving, I thought seriously of suggesting that he take her into custody and hold her for trial; however, I discarded this thought before making the mistake of mentioning it.

It was very obvious that we had been trapped and that the amount of the ransom was $10. Of course, we could stay for a week or two and have an opportunity to be heard by some judge who was, in all probability, answerable to the same higher ups as the police officer. So, I dug around and produced $10 and delivered it to this minion of the law? I handed it to him and watched closely as it joined the ransom money of others in a wallet that was almost as fat as the man, himself.

This whole transaction consumed approximately five minutes, during which two other cars were stopped by the other policeman, both of which had out-of-state licenses. As we were leaving our friend with the fat wallet was stopping another car with an out-of-state license, which led me to the conclusion that the electrical eye he was talking about was his own eye which was sending forth beams that made contact only with out-of-state license plates.

Judging from my own observations, I would say that this "daylight robbery proceeding" of this township should be most lucrative for the city coffers. During my short stay at the side of the road, the city took in some $30. That would mean $360 each hour, or $2,880 for an eight-hour day, or $8,400 per month, or $1,008,000 per year. Al Capone and his bunch were pikers. These present-day boys have it much better. They don't have to work at night and don't have to hunt for victims. All they do is stand in one place and the customers come to them.

I do point out that the friendly agent of the city, who served as the middleman in exacting this toll from us, was kind enough to tell us how to get to the legitimate toll road so that we would not get into any other traps.

GIFTS FOR HIGH OFFICIALS
A few years ago it was considered highly immoral and, in many instances, criminal for high government officials to accept gifts; however, the picture seems to have changed somewhat during the past few years.

It seems the new policy which has now been adopted is in keeping with the policy followed by a judge who was trying a hotly contested civil suit. At the beginning of the last day of the trial, the judge called the court to order and announced that on the previous morning he had been approached in private by the plaintiff and had been handed 15 thousand dollars. He announced further that during the afternoon of that same day he had been approached by the defendant in the chambers and handed the sum of 10 thousand dollars. He advised those assembled in the court room that he had returned 5 thousand dollars to the plaintiff and that the case would be decided on the law and the facts.

You May See Commercials Unknowingly

WASHINGTON (UP) — Television advertisers may be bombarding you with commercials that you can't turn off because you are not even aware of seeing them.

This possibility was reported Tuesday by chairman John C. Doerfer of the Federal Communications Commission.

He referred to the new advertising technique known as "subliminal perception," which gets its message across to the viewer's subconscious mind by intermittent split-second flashes too fast to be recorded by the eye.

Doerfer said that "there is some indication in the trade press that this new technique may have been used on television."

He said the FCC staff is accumulating information about the technique as part of a government investigation but that the inquiry is not far enough along to draw any conclusion as to whether it should be barred from TV.

He made the statements in a progress report to Rep. William A. Dawson (R-Utah), who had requested the investigation last month.

Doerfer's report prompted Dawson to request that the FCC ask all TV stations to prohibit use of the advertising technique until it has determined whether the process should be regulated by the government.

No Identity Given
Doerfer's letter gave no identity of the stations on which the new process may have been used.

Dawson said he was confident all TV stations would comply with a request for temporary banning of the process.

Dawson said he has received evidence that at least two commercial companies are "promoting" the new process.

He said that "SP," or "subliminal perception," is more accurately described as "secret pitch" and could be "very dangerous."

"Conceivably," Dawson said, "a message such as 'drink more beer' could be flashed behind a program appealing to teenagers without them being aware they were being subjected to subconscious stimulation."

Depressed Persons Shouldn't Take Tranquilizing Drugs

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—It takes an expert to recognize a depressed person and even experts run the risk of confusing a depressed person with an anxious one. This striking insight into people was contained in the newest warning to family doctors to go easy on giving "happy pills" to the depressed.

Dr. Frank J. Ayd Jr., well-known psychiatric specialist of Baltimore, said the "happy pills" (and he included the whole family of tranquilizing drugs) were "depressants" of the sympathetic nervous system and were dangerous when given to depressed persons.

A depressed person already is suffering from under-reactivity of the sympathetic system, he said, and so "to superimpose a drug which is a sympathetic depressant only aggravates the existing emotional depression and increases the risk of suicide."

Miss The Symptoms
Yet family doctors continue to prescribe them for people who shouldn't have them, he said. Ayd assumed these doctors either were confusing the tranquilizing drugs with the family of stimulating drugs, or didn't recognize the symptoms.

If it were the latter, it was understandable, he said. Depressions are hard to recognize in other people although they are "among the most common illnesses" the general medical man sees. One reason is that the depressed person has at least one set of engaging physical symptoms when he goes to a doctor and will, the chances are, try to hide his depression.

Nevertheless "everything about his appearance and behavior suggests otherwise," Ayd said in "Current Medical Digest". "He may force himself to talk, not to cry, to smile, to appear cheerful, yet he walks slowly, reacts sluggishly and appears dull and lacking in vitality. During an interview it is evident that his thinking is retarded as well."

Anxious persons also go to doctors with sets of physical symptoms which will also prove unjustified when investigation turns up no bodily causes for them. These anxious persons can be helped by "happy pills" whereas the depressed are harmed. So the two must be told apart.

Look at moods, Ayd said. In one the mood is primarily depressed, and anxiety is secondary. In the other, anxiety is outstanding and depression is secondary. The depressed usually are reluctant to talk about their symptoms but the anxious are eager to talk about them. The depressed person will be critical of himself and blame himself but the anxious person will think he's an all right Joe and blame other people.

The depressed person has lost his interests and no matter what is happening, he pays very little attention to what goes on around him. But the anxious person usually hangs onto his interests and he responds to what happens around him. The depressed person feels worse in the morning; the anxious person, in the evening.

The depressed person can be helped by proper treatment, Ayd said, but he is not going to be helped if he is told: "There is nothing really wrong with you. Get a hold on yourself. Stop worrying. Get a hobby. Go out more. You have to cure yourself."

"Such platitudes," Ayd continued, "are a grave injustice to the patient and an admission to medical ignorance. It causes rel-

Pork Loin All Decked Out For Dad's Carving Knife At Festive Feast

In comparison to world history, it wasn't long ago when our forefathers were pioneering... building their hopes and dreams on a newly discovered land.

These men and women, however, took time from their gigantic job of settling a nation to give thanks, make merry and feast on the bounties of the land.

In commemoration of this observance by our forefathers, we too, give thanks on a designated Thursday each November.

Thanksgiving has always been a time for bountiful laden tables. Some folks follow family menu traditions but often we like to be adventurous like our forefathers and serve a menu of typical American dishes featured as fall favorites.

For this special day's menu, how about a center-cut pork loin roast? Pork loin roasts, there are three different cuts... sirloin end, center-cut and blade end, are plentiful and such an easy cut to prepare.

If it's pomp and circumstance you want at this occasion, accompany the meat cut with a Spicy Pear Garnish.

A pork loin is prepared by roasting... and this is a simple task. Place the roast, fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Cook the roast in a moderate oven at 350 degrees F. for 35 to 40 minutes per pound for a center-cut roast or 45 to 50 minutes per pound for an end cut roast.

If a roast meat thermometer is used, you'll receive a more accurate picture of when your roast is ready for the table. When the internal temperature of the roast reaches 185 degrees F., the roast is finished. This is the recommended temperature for cooking the pork roast to the well-done stage.

DAD'S TASK
The carving job is usually delegated to the man of the house. Mom can help Dad with his carving when she purchases the roast. Have the meat retailer just loosen the backbone on the roast. Then after roasting, the backbone can quickly be removed for easy carving. All that's left for Dad to do is to cut down between the ribs.

FINAL TOUCH
The final touch in serving this pork loin roast is garnishing the platter with the Spicy Pear Garnish.

SPICY PEAR GARNISH
1/2 cup chopped-spiced crabapples
1/2 cup thinly sliced celery
1/2 teaspoon ginger
2 tablespoons toasted slivered almonds
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
6 to 8 canned pear halves
Mix together crabapples, celery, ginger, almonds and lemon juice. Spoon 1 to 2 tablespoons in each pear half. Pears may be served cold or heated in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. 6 to 8 servings.

HEARTY BISCUIT IDEA
Great-grandmother baked biscuits by the dozens, but sometimes modern cooks forget how delicious a homemade biscuit can be. In this recipe, we suggest adding canned dried beef to the biscuit mixture. As this requires only half of a two and one half ounce can of dried beef, prepare a double batch of biscuits and freeze some for later use. These hearty biscuits are a tasty accompaniment to breakfast eggs, a luncheon salad, or soup for supper.

MEAT AND YOUR CHILD
Keep meat on your youngster's menu and you can rest assured they'll suffer no protein deficiency. Rapid growth and the great activity of children make the demand for adequate protein, vitamins, and minerals as well as calories more urgent than in adults.

Serve meaty breakfasts to the children and you'll know that they have a good start each day, for meat not only makes a notable contribution of top-quality protein, but it also furnishes important amounts of B vitamins—thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin—and of minerals, including iron, potassium, and phosphorus.

Crisp-cooked bacon—the kind they can pick up in their fingers—makes a hit with children. Well-browned pork sausage links, chipped beef in cream sauce, miniature hamburgers, pan-browned thin sliced cooked ham, and Canadian-style bacon are some of the meats that appeal to children for breakfast.

Brunch Gracious Way To Entertain For Leisurely Meal On Week-End

Time: Approximately 2 minutes, 35 seconds
According to Webster, brunch is defined as a meal serving as both breakfast and lunch. We'll go one step further by saying we think it combines the best qualities of both. Certainly, it's hard to find a more gracious way to entertain good friends, or even to gather a family together for a leisurely meal over a busy week end.

An omelet makes any brunch a festive occasion. One of our favorite omelet recipes calls for American Blue cheese as an ingredient. The resulting omelet is doubly good and even more nutritious.

To make four servings of American Blue Cheese Mushroom Omelet, separate six eggs. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Combine yolks and one-half teaspoon salt; beat until thick and lemon-colored. Add one-quarter cup milk; mix well. Fold egg whites into egg yolk mixture. Cook in two tablespoons melted butter in a ten-inch skillet over low heat until bottom is lightly browned. Sprinkle with one-half cup crumbled American Blue cheese (about three ounces).

Bake in moderate oven (three hundred and fifty degrees) twenty minutes, or until lightly browned. Slice one-quarter pound mushrooms and saute in one-quarter cup melted butter. Turn omelet out on serving platter. Fill with mushrooms and fold.

If scrambled eggs and bacon are on your brunch menu. Serve with Paprika American Blue Cheese Biscuits. To make one dozen two and one-half inch biscuits, combine three-quarters cup crumbled American Blue cheese (about four ounces), two and one-half cups biscuit mix and one-half teaspoon paprika; mix well. Add three-quarters cup milk; mix lightly. Knead gently ten times on lightly floured surface. Roll out to one-half inch thickness. Cut with floured biscuit cutter. Place on baking sheets. Bake in very hot oven (four hundred fifty degrees) fifteen minutes, or until lightly browned.

Spaghetti n' Franks Team Up

It's football time... and time, too, for hearty appetites... livened by crisp, cold days. This means, of course, meals must be hot and satisfying.

After the best local high school game invite the group over for supper... and feature SPAGHETTI N' FRANK CROWN. A simple and easy to prepare casserole dish that will appeal to all. Made from canned spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese... it's so good everyone will think you spent hours in the kitchen.

To complete this "winning" supper... serve a tossed green salad and hot buttered rolls. For dessert... homemade chocolate cake and coffee brings extra cheers.

Spaghetti n' Frank Crown
2 cans (1 1/2-ounce size) spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese
4 frankfurters
Spoon spaghetti into a 1-quart casserole. Cut frankfurters in half lengthwise and crosswise; stand around edge of casserole to form a crown. Bake in a moderate oven (375°) about 30 minutes. Makes 4 generous servings.

Polka-Dot Spaghetti
1 pound frankfurters
1 tablespoon shortening
2 cans (1 1/2-ounce size) spaghetti in tomato sauce
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
Cut frankfurters into thirds; brown in shortening. Stir in spaghetti and mustard; heat. Makes 6 servings.

PORK TENDERLOIN AND CARROTS
Pork tenderloin is usually thought of as a deluxe party food, for the meat is the most tender of all pork cuts, it is small, and it is often priced higher per pound than other pork cuts. Accounting for its high price is the fact that the meat is delicious in flavor, it has no bone—every bit is edible—and it is easily prepared for four or forty.

An unusual cooking ingredient for pork tenderloin is carrot, yet the earthy vegetable gives a delightful flavor to the sweet meat.

After it has baked for a half hour, remove from the ring mold and frost with a white icing and decorate with whole maraschino cherries and nuts.

CHERRY COFFEE RING
1 1/2 cups raisin bran (raisin bran flakes)
2/3 cup milk
1 egg
1/4 cup soft shortening
1 cup sifted flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup sugar
2/3 cup finely cut maraschino cherries
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Combine Raisin Bran, milk, egg and shortening; beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add to Raisin Bran mixture, stirring only until combined. Fold in well-drained cherries and nuts. Spread in greased 8 1/2 inch ring mold, filling about two-thirds full. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degree F.) about 30 minutes. Turn out of ring mold. Frost with thin confectioner's icing. Decorate with additional cherries and nuts, if desired.

Yield: about 8 servings
CONFECTIONER'S ICING
1 cup sifted confectioner's sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons light cream
Combine sugar and cream. Beat until of spreading consistency. Spread over warm Cherry Tea Ring.

STROGANOFF STEAK
1 beef arm steak, cut 1 inch thick
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon paprika
2 teaspoons salt
1-3 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup water
1 cup dairy sour cream
Cut arm steak into serving pieces. Mix together flour, paprika, salt and pepper. Dredge meat with seasoned flour. Brown meat on both sides in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add onion and 1/4 cup water. Cover tightly and cook slowly for 1 1/2 hours or until meat is tender. Thicken with flour added to remaining 1/4 cup water. Fold in sour cream. 4 to 6 servings.

BEEF FEASTS
Celebrate a wedding anniversary, a family birthday, or any festive occasion by serving a standing rib roast of beef. Now's the time to enjoy this succulent meat, for supplies of high quality beef are at their yearly peak.

You couldn't choose an easier meat to prepare, for rib roast of beef needs little more attention than placing in a pan, and popping into an oven. While the meat cooks, you have plenty of time to prepare interesting accompaniments for the regal roast.

To roast standing ribs of beef, place the meat fat side up, in a shallow pan. You don't need a rack for this roast since the ribs form a natural rack. Sprinkle the meat with salt and pepper. Roast at 325 degrees F. until the doneness preferred. Use a meat thermometer—inserted into the thickest part of the meat before cooking so the bulb of the thermometer doesn't rest on a bone—to determine doneness of meat. A medium-cooked roast will register an internal temperature of 160 degrees F. and require about 28 to 30 minutes of cooking per pound.

Elegant Stroganoff Steak Noble Dish When Weather Is On Bleakish Side

Half the fun in eating is planning and concocting something special for a meal. If you're thinking about planning a meal around a beef arm steak, here's a way to really give it a stylish appearance.

The resulting entree is called Stroganoff Steak... the preparation is really quite simple and this meat dish adds such a distinctive note to the dinner menu. In fact, it's perfect for a day when the weather may be a little on the bleak side.

Well, what's so special about this recipe? It's that delicious meat flavor in combination with a sour cream which plays a very important role, as it does in any Stroganoff recipe.

As you probably know, many Europeans just naturally think of sour cream when the word Stroganoff is mentioned. Often mushrooms are included in a Stroganoff masterpiece.

If you've had a chance to visit many European countries or at least restaurants that specialize in foreign foods, you're probably aware that Hungary, Germany, Austria, Russia and Czechoslovakia are five countries that use a sour cream extensively in their meat and vegetable specialties. The sour cream is used to thicken the cooking liquid in meat dishes and as a topping for vegetables.

In this recipe the meat is first dredged in seasoned flour and then browned in lard or drippings. Then it is simmered for about 1 1/2 hours in 1/4 cup of water. After cooking, the liquid is thickened and the sour cream is folded in adding to the rich blend of flavors. Truly this is a recipe fit for royalty.

MEAT IDENTIFICATION
The arm steak is cut from the chuck and is taken from this section as is the arm pot-roast. Being less tender, arm steak is cooked by a moist heat method of meat cooking, braising.

There is just one thing to remember. When braising any meat cut, low temperature is best. High temperature will produce meat that is stringy and less palatable.

Corn Fritters In Dressed-Up Dish

Why not just open a can! It actually is just as simple and easy as it sounds. A hot vegetable with butter or margarine and seasoning added is always a family favorite.

Occasionally we like to dress up the vegetables a bit and our family likes this too. Many times vegetables make up the main dish of a meal. Corn Fritters served with hot syrup and bacon slices are each main dishes in themselves. Extremely good ones, too!

CORN FRITTERS
1 can (8 oz.) Whole Kernel Golden Corn
1/2 cup flour, sifted
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon paprika
1 egg, separated
Sift flour, baking powder, salt and paprika together. Add Corn and beaten egg yolk. Fold into stiffly beaten egg white. Drop into hot syrup and fry until golden brown. Turn once. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot with syrup and crisp bacon slices.

For variation, diced cooked ham, diced cooked chicken, sauteed mushrooms or apple slices may be added to the batter before frying. Makes two servings.

Judge Parker Contributes To List Of Odd-Named Towns

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—There are some things that, once you get them started, just keep rolling along like Old Man River or the Sputnik in their courses. Such a thing is the game of digging up fine place names from the fertility of the American map.

This department has been showered with communications from all over the country since listing a few of our great towns, such as Slap Out, Ala., and Hambone, Calif. The contributed names keep coming and include such quaintness as Bowlegs, Okla., and such sweeping poetry as Skygusty, W.Va.

There is Nitro, a wee town in West Virginia which produced an explosion on the national scene last fall in the form of a native son who made good in the World Series. Nitro was an explosives manufacturing town in World War I. Now, a modest sign at the city limits proclaims: "This is the home of Lew Burdette."

Burdette From Nitro
The sign was there even before pitcher Burdette won three games in the World Series.
There is also, in the mail, a kind and only mildly chiding letter from a lady whose enormously gifted husband, the late Stephen Vincent Benet, was misquoted in the first column on names. It said that he ended his poem on American names with the line: "Bury my Heart in Painted Post"—which is a town in New York.

Mrs. Benet said he was fond of the town, all right, but reminded it a hmu saopedi ntl c; dh ee THAT THE POEM ACTUALLY E that the poem actually ended: "Bury my Heart at Wounded Knee" (South Dakota).

The contributor of Bowlegs, Okla., is a gentleman from Texas, Bruce L. Parker, of Pampa. He also says that the towns of Edna, Tex., and Louise, Tex., are on either side of a fine place named Comfort, Tex., which has a big highway hotel sign reading: "Sleep in Comfort Between Edna and Louise."

Laney Was Zaney
But the man who really showed down names to the glory of his state is Rex Laney, a Louisiana patriot. Consider, he says, the great names of Happy Jack, La.; Cut Off, La.; Plain Dealing, La.; and Yawn, La.

He presents the pairings of Topsy, La., and Eva, La.; Hold-up, La., and Trial, La.; Hotwells, La., and Cold Water, La.; Perry, La., and Como, La.; Hite, La., and Lowe, La.

And then, he says, there are Franklin, Delano, and Roosevelt, La., none of which was named for FDR.

Laney resides in Baton Rouge, La., right on top of a magnificent southern name that crowns the street where he lives—Honeysock—is Ave.

There must be some glorious names of streets kicking around, and I herewith offer one on which I once lived in Honolulu. The thoroughfare's moniker was Menehune Lane. The Menehune, in

Marty Faye Chicago's No. 1 Heel

By ALFRED LEECH
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO (UP)—Marty Faye is Chicago's No. 1 heel.

And he's proud of it. He won the title hands down in an unpopular contest that was his own brainchild.

"Honestly, I never dreamed I was so unpopular," he said. "This is my greatest moment."

With that, blonde TV performer Kay Westfall crowned him with a cardboard crown adorned with gold-painted rubber heels.

Faye himself is a television figure and a radio disc jockey. Admittedly, he has made a career out of flouting the precepts of Dale Carnegie. Faye is not interested in winning pals and making people think he's peachy. But he's a fast man with a snide remark.

Gravel and Insults
He has an undeniable talent for getting under people's skin. With a voice compounded of equal parts of gravel and insult, he makes cutting comments about such national institutions as Sophie Tucker and Bing Crosby.

"And that's about like desecrating the American flag," he said. His listeners react vigorously, sometimes violently. On a street corner not long ago a woman walked up to Faye and hit him in the mouth with her handbag.

"I've had the windows in my house smashed and the tires on my car slashed," he said.

A teen-ager incensed by Faye's castigation of rock and roll heaved a rock at Faye's head. It just missed, smashing a plate the Hawaiian or Polynesian languages, are the little people—probably far Pacific cousins to the Gremlins and the Leprechauns—and, as everybody knows, they'll gitcha if ya don't watch out."

ALL DELIVERIES IN REAR—A massive cargo of 22 tons is loaded in a matter of minutes into Lockheed's new commercial air freighter, the Hercules. The 320-mile-an-hour plane, shown here in a demonstration at Marietta, Ga., is America's first turbo-prop cargo carrier which permits straight-in, truck-and-dock-level loading. Tests, using conveyor belts to speed handling of cargo, have proved that the huge 4,300-cubic-foot maw of the craft can be filled in a few minutes' time, compared to several hours required for other transports.

glass window instead.

Gets Bomb Threat
Once somebody threatened to bomb him and he called for a police guard. Yet Faye regards himself as a health influence.

"People work out their animosity on me," he said. "I'm provocative."

With this his critics agree, but they argue that he provokes raw emotion instead of thought. Like when he snatched the wig from his television guest's head.

Faye, a former Fairgrounds pitchman who sounds like it, can be pleasant enough "off mike." He said he began his career as a thorn in the public's side five years ago when he broke in as a disc jockey on a local radio station.

On his first show he compared Eddie Fisher with a wet sturgeon.

"The studio switchboard lit up like a Christmas tree," Faye said. "People were furious. But the sponsor sold more sewing machines in those 15 minutes than he did in the previous two weeks."

That's one of Faye's unfathomables. He stirs people up, but he sells and sells big.

Hunter Safety Course Taught At White Deer

WHITE DEER — Girls in the Physical Education, Health, and Recreation classes of White Deer High School have just completed a course in Hunter Safety, taught by Principal Lawson Shaw.

The course stresses proper handling of guns under circumstances met in the hunting field, basic information about guns and ammunition, and especially information applying to the safe operation of guns.

Targets displayed in the school's halls showing the progress made by the girls revealed that many of them are excellent marksmen.

Shaw is now offering the same course in the boys' Physical Education classes. When this is completed, the course will have been offered to every student in high school.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
The poet might well have been a bridge player when he wrote, "Beneath the bludgeonings of chance my head is bloody but unbowed."

Today's contract looks pretty hopeless. Nothing breaks and South has five apparent losers: two trumps, two diamonds and one heart. Nevertheless, South turned these bad breaks to good account and romped home with his contract.

West opened the king of hearts and continued the suit when South ducked. South won with the ace and played the ace and king of trumps. He had nothing better to do. He now saw a combination of cards that would allow him to make his contract and proceeded to play for it.

He took dummy's ace and king of clubs and ruffed a third club. The last heart was ruffed in dummy and a fourth club in his own hand.

A diamond lead to the ace put him in dummy again and he was able to ruff dummy's last club for his tenth trick.

If you wonder what happened to all his losing tricks he simply lost them together. East made his two trumps all right but he had to use them to trump his partner's good diamonds.

Scientific Attack On High Blood Pressure

Science Today
By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—A head-on scientific attack on all the medical problems of high blood pressure has been proposed by a noted blood pressure expert, on the grounds that if those problems were solved, scores of lives would be saved every year.

Dr. I. McD. G. Stewart spoke especially of blood pressures which are high but not so high they have caused any damage (yet) or produced any sense of ill in the persons who contain them. The lives of many of these persons could be prolonged, he said.

He made the following statements as facts: 1) death or disability are produced by the damage excessive blood pressure produces in arteries and veins, and not by excessive blood pressure itself; 2) a reduction of blood pressure "can delay or arrest" this damage; 3) "a relatively slight" reduction might be enough in most people.

Blocks Nerve Centers
Right now medical science throughout the world is employing an effective blood-pressure-reducing weapon in the form of chemicals which "blocks nerve centers of the sympathetic nervous system. But this weapon is employed only in persons whose blood pressure is extremely excessive or has been excessive for so long, that life-shortening damage has been done.

In these severely ill persons, many of whom have reached the "malignant" high blood pressure stage and so are at death's door, these chemical weapons have produced wonders in lowering pressures, keeping them down, and so prolonging life. Dr. Stewart said they had been proven "potent, practical, and reasonably predictable."

Then why not use them in all persons with only moderately elevated blood pressure—since life insurance statistics show that "any sustained rise of arterial pressure—occurring short of old age, particularly in men, presents a grave long-term threat."

There are two main reasons why not, he said. One is a lack of knowledge of how the agents work in healthy bodies against blood pressure that is high but not very high.

New Control Studies
This is knowledge which medical science needs, and which it can obtain only in massive "controlled" studies everywhere of the effects of the chemical agents in more-or-less normal persons. But at this point Dr. Stewart encountered his major difficulty, and that big difficulty is people generally.

Mention blood pressure (if you are a doctor) to the average person and the mere mention of the subject increases his blood pressure. If you're going to have a "controlled" study of the chemical weapons in persons whose blood pressures are not elevated by very much, you'll have to have their cooperation—because you'd have to measure their pressures repeatedly for a few weeks. And so you'd have to tell these persons their blood pressures.

Dr. Stewart said he was against telling patients their blood pressures as of now, but if the blood pressure problems were solved, "the whole climate of professional and private opinion" might change and then it would be possible to tell the patient about his high blood pressure "without inevitably releasing a flood of anxiety symptoms."

A British specialist, he made his proposal in a London lecture. That lecture now is being widely discussed among American medical scientists.

Safety With Firearms Is Stressed

COLLEGE STATION — Careless handling of firearms is a good way to get to the happy hunting grounds in a hurry. Hunting is a grand American sport, and one which can be as safe as it is fun if every hunter will take it upon himself to make it so, says Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist.

Unfortunately, it's the teen-age group which suffers most from accidental death and injury from firearms. The bright spot in this youth problem is that with proper pre-hunting training these mishaps can be reduced to the vanishing point. Before letting youngsters go afield with a gun, be sure they know thoroughly the rules for safe gun handling, advises Cooper.

One of the first requirements for safe and successful hunting, he says, is to know your gun and how to operate it safely. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun and carry it so you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble. And keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot.

When firing be sure the gun barrel and action are clear of obstructions. Have a full knowledge of the background at which you are aiming so you will be sure where the bullet, shot pellets, or slugs will strike. Firing a gun at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water might bring disastrous results, for rochetts can be dangerous. At target practice, too, be sure your backdrop is adequate. Horsemplay during hunting is taboo. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot. Remove oil and grease from the chamber before firing.

FIGHTING 'COPTER — An Army H-34 Cowlack helicopter, equipped with heavy armament, is pictured on the flight field at the Sikorsky Aircraft Co. plant in Bridgeport, Conn. Included in the armament fittings are forty 2.75 rockets, two 5-inch anti-tank, anti-submarine rockets, two 20 mm-cannons, three .50-caliber and six 30-caliber machine guns. At present the H-34 is undergoing tests at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Guns carried into camp or home or when otherwise not in use should be unloaded, taken down, or have actions open. Always carry guns in cases to the shooting area. And after the hunting trip is over, be careful where you put the weapon. Unload and store the gun and ammunition separately beyond the reach of children or careless adults.

Gregory Peck Goes Behind Desk; Helps His Acting

(Editor's note: Vernon Scott is on vacation. Gregory Peck, movieland's handsome leading man, has turned producer—and columnist. He writes about his problems as an "executive.")

By GREGORY PECK
Written For United Press
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — I once heard somewhere that put an actor behind a desk in an executive job and something psychologically dire happens.

His reflexes suddenly tense, his animation dims as a free-souled player of many parts and he becomes steely and enormously aware of himself as a member of the business brass. In other words, fatty tissue moves in on the gypsy spirit.

Well, I am an actor who has elected to become an executive. With my partner, William Wyler, I am producing my first independent motion picture in "The Big Country" for United Artists release. I have stepped behind that desk where supposedly actors shouldn't lurk for reason of the intangibly destructive things that happen to the freedom of the histrionic talent.

Result of Action
Now, what has happened to me, as the result of my action?

I feel that becoming an actor-producer has most decidedly helped me as an actor before the camera. I have never before been on such intimate terms with my material.

Hollywood actors aren't always as fortunate as Broadway players who have weeks of intensive rehearsal on a play during which they are able to "inside" their characters and the spoken lines. Because of the haste of movie production, the Hollywoodian is often rushed into scenes before he has had opportunity to become acquainted with the material and to rely on his creative fortune in the state of hurry.

As a co-producer, I am in the brilliant company of William Wyler, who is acknowledged one of the finest directors in the film industry. Willie, of the two of us, has by far the most exacting assignment, for his concern is the visual presentation, the emotional spark of actor and story.

Works with Writers
My producer chores are mostly working with the writers on the script. We are constantly busy polishing and improving the story, situations, motivations and characterizations. If a role is well-written, it will almost play itself for the actor and that's what Willie and I are striving for—the best possible dramatic writing.

I'm in production for keeps. Although it is hard work, I love it and I don't mind the fourteen and fifteen hours a day which it demands from me.

Beauty parlor patrons pour out innermost secrets to beauticians. Occasional session leaves them looking, feeling better.

If Hubby Only Realized, Beauty Bills Help Wife Escape Psychiatrist Couch

By ALEEN SNOODY
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA) — "Really, Ethel, I feel like a new woman. And remember, don't breathe a word of what I've told you to a soul."

With this admonition, Mrs. America touches her newest hairdo — "Just meant for you, honey" — steals a glance in a mirror at ready crowd with chrome-capped faces and reaches out of the beauty parlor.

The little woman may not emerge looking like Marilyn Monroe, but if she feels important and satisfied with herself, then the mission has been accomplished.

Ask any man why women go regularly to beauty parlors and then prepare to hold your ears, especially if it is his billfold that is being clipped.

But two women, a psychologist and sociologist, analyzed the situation. And, according to them, it is a happy day when the wife goes for a retouch job, no matter the bill. They pulled their mutual couches up next to the hair dryer, eaves-dropping for proof of this point.

Filtering scientific data from other parlor news of the day, the researchers found this trip for beauty not only boosts the female ego, but it also relieves the id. So much so, they say, that the little woman is either well adjusted now, or, she soon will be if she continues to visit the beauty salon.

So, men, if your wife says she's going to get a haircut, shampoo, wave or manicure, she really is. But don't let her fool you. She also is getting pampered and prettied to face the work-a-day world.

As a bonus she gets self-confidence and a feeling of importance. She relaxes and lets her hair down. A new hairdo, change in cosmetics and facial, answer her need for a change. And as a topper she gets mild physical therapy. All this, according to psychologists, cuts down on analyst's bills.

Take, for example, when one of the girls lets her hair down. No one sweeps it into a wastebasket. Someone listens sympathetically.

According to barber shop lore, the barber talks incessantly. The poor male with a hot towel over his face is a captive audience. But not in a beauty parlor. A Helene Curtis survey reveals that 90 percent of the ladies talk to their beauticians and mostly about personal problems.

American husbands may groan when they learn that 300 million dollars is spent on hair care alone each year in this country.

RUTH MILLETT

Think you need your husband more than he needs you? Don't be too sure. These are all indications that marriage is important to him, too.

He likes nothing better than a quiet evening at home. That's something a man without a wife seldom gets. Hostesses in need of an extra man always seem to take care of a lone man's evenings.

If he's proud of his home it's because you've made it the kind of home a man can be proud of. Don't think that's not important to him.

He says, "Where in the world have you been?" If he comes home to find you gone and has to spend an hour alone. That means that even though he may not put out much conversation he likes having you around.

He looks grim when something is wrong until you make him tell you what he is worrying about. That means he knows you have the ability to cheer him up and make things look less black than he sees them.

He has taught you to hunt or fish or share some other hobby that he enjoys. A man doesn't bother to try to do his wife's interest in his hobbies unless he enjoys teaching her and likes spending his leisure time with her.

He is willing to go with you when you buy furniture or equipment for the house. A man doesn't take that much interest in his home unless it is important to him.

He often asks, "Remember when . . ." Who else can remember . . . ?

Becky Witt Feted On 7th Birthday

(Special to The News)
PERRYTON — Miss Becky Witt was guest of honor at a birthday party given on Oct. 28 by her grandmother, Mrs. A. C. Witt. The party was given in the home of Mrs. Witt, 701 S. Drake. She was assisted in the entertaining by Mrs. Willard Witt and Becky's sister, Bonnie.

A Halloween motif was carried out in the party decorations. The serving table was centered with a tiered cake iced in white with black and orange trim. Seven black candles topped the cake, which was encircled with chrysanthemums. A doll dressed as a witch stood guard over the cake.

The entertaining rooms were decorated with witches, black cats and lighted Jack O'lanterns.

As the guests arrived, they were given Halloween party hats, whistles and surprise balls. Games were played and movies were shown.

Refreshments of birthday cake, ice cream and Cokes were served. Guests were classmates of Becky's first grade at school.

He calls you first when he has good news. It is just as important to have someone to share good fortune with as to have someone to help carry the burden when the going is rough.

Real Beauty Begins With Facing Faults To Better Understand Grooming Assets

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

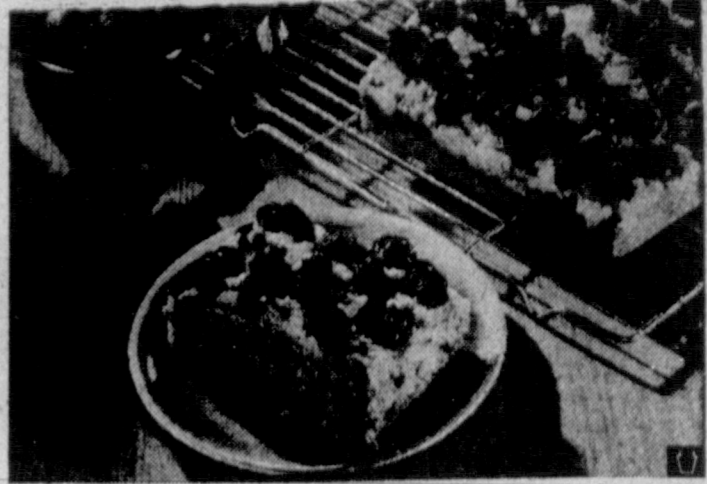

One of the first steps to real beauty is a realistic understanding of your assets and liabilities. The woman who badly needs diet and exercise but is satisfied with her appearance after she has been busy with her hairdresser about the exact placement of one curl is fooling only herself. The woman with a bad make-up job and stringy hair who believes the salesgirl who tells her that one of the new barrettes makes her look like an angel is also practicing the complicated art of self-deception. In order to discover how to improve ourselves (a process that should never end), we must ruthlessly face our shortcomings. This means that we can't afford to preen ourselves because we were blessed with naturally curly hair, trim ankles or long eyelashes. In addition to these, we may have spreading hips, three chins and a skin that's pasty from too much pastry. Once we face the liabilities, we can do something about them.

It's a universal experience. You get the much-needed and long-delayed permanent only to discover that your head resembles a pot scraper. The only solution seems to be to wear your hat day and night. Well, something can be done about it. A haircut helps, of course. But if it's too short to trim, then attack your frizzy mop with a stiff brush and brush away with your head down. Brush until your arm aches. Use a light, greaseless hairdressing before you brush and that will help to tame the frizz. After two or three shampoos, the permanent will soften up and begin to look natural. And next time, have your hair-cut after the permanent rather than before. That will take care of all those frizzy ends.

Developing your own style of beauty means that you study yourself with care, choose clothes and makeup most flattering to you, and above all, never copy the current movie rage. It also means that you learn that what may be great for your best girl friend is poison for you. If pink flatters her but makes you look like something just helped from her coffin, pass up pink. It may be that blue does wonderful things for you. In that case, despite your secret yearnings for pink, learn to wear blue.

Keeping the hair well-groomed these days with colds and flu so prevalent everywhere is a real problem. But we have just heard of a product that offers a solution of how to avoid taking cold and yet have shining clean hair.

So with the winds of winter whistling 'round your ears, it is a good time to tell you about Shampion, Jordeau's sensational liquid rinsable shampoo.

We have had the opportunity to find out what a wonderful boon it is during the summer, while traveling; but it's also a first class precaution against head colds and sniffles that so often seem to follow the ordinary shampoo in cold winter months.

Shampion, you see, requires no water at all and no rinsings afterwards. And since it uses no water, requires no rinsing; since there's no prolonged exposure and tedious drying, it's just the thing for anyone who tends to "sniffles" or head colds, after washing their hair. You don't have to hesitate about going out right after a Shampion shampoo. And, too, it means the children can go out of doors to play after their shampoo!

It's easy and quick to use. Just wet your hair with Shampion; rub it well into hair and scalp. Then a second application is worked in briskly for a moment. Use a soft turkish towel to wipe your hair dry and clean. There is no rinsing, no powdery residue. Just sparkling clean hair.

Shampion gets your hair really, thoroughly clean and free of soil and dandruff and leaves it soft and delicately fragrant. Most important it leaves your hair manageable, ready and easy to set.

And for invalids and convalescents it is the ideal solution to the troublesome problem of always keeping hair fresh and clean.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

The Texas Legislature passed a new Mental Health Code which goes into effect on January 1, 1958. This new code was enacted both to keep pace with new dis-stick by the rules." For example, he said, hunters are limited to a bag of two elephants each.

"Once the elephant is down there is no problem," he said. "Usually the hunter keeps the tusks and the natives eat the elephant."

"The natives are very keen on elephant. They have a big roast and always give the hunter the nose to eat first."

covers in the area of mental health and to eliminate objectionable provisions of the old laws which required the mentally ill persons to be tried as a criminal before he could receive treatment at a state hospital.

Society recognizes that mental illness is no more than a disease which affects the mind. As a result of this recognition, the new code allows the patient to receive treatment as quickly as possible, while keeping disturbing influences at a minimum. The new Mental Health Code provides for both voluntary and involuntary treatment when he recognizes his own need for psychiatric care.

When the proposed mental patient seeks care from a state hospital, he should go directly to the nearest mental hospital and make the written application to the head of the hospital. He must agree in his application that he will stay at the hospital for at least ten days, unless he is sooner cured and discharged. The application must be signed by the patient, unless he is a minor, in which case it may be signed by his parents, guardians or county judge with his consent. Upon his admission the head of the hospital will inform the patient that he must be discharged within 96 hours if he should request it in writing. It will also be explained that he loses no legal or civil rights by voluntarily receiving treatment. All patients, whether voluntary or not, are entitled to bring a writ of habeas corpus if they feel they are being unlawfully held. Moreover, they may write uncensored letters to legal counsel. All patients are entitled to receive visitors, worship in the faith of their choice, and communicate with persons outside the hospital. Although the head of the hospital may restrict the above rights if it is necessary to do so for the welfare of the patient, any such restrictions, and the reason for it, must be made a part of the clinical record of the patient involved. (This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an at-

Does 'Sputnik' Upset You? Take A Trip Down The Congo

By JAMES BAAR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (UPI)—Forget your bills! Forget the Sputniks! Lose your cares on a lazy trip down a crocodile-infested river in the Belgian Congo.

But crocodiles aren't the only nerve calmers in the Congo. Roger de Meyer, Congo tourism director, said today there also are pygmy-filled jungles, volcanoes, man-killing leopards and herds of wild elephants.

And he said it's as safe as sleeping in a Miami beachchair—or almost.

"Only if you do something foolish can there be danger," De Meyer said. "You take a picture of a crocodile from a distance and you are all right. You try for a close up—what can you expect?"

Describes Attractions
The trim, dark-haired Belgian described the tourist attractions of the Congo after attending a session of the International Union of Official Travel Organizations. He sat in a Commerce Department conference room, sketching a map of the Congo as he talked. "You drive by car from Stanleyville through the jungle," he said. "There you see the pygmies and the okapis."

He said a tourist in a car has nothing to fear from wild animals.

"Once I was driving through the jungle and my driver suddenly stopped the car," he said.

"There ahead was a leopard crouched in the road."

"Leopard's Eyes Gleam"

"The leopard's eyes gleamed. He was scared. I also was scared. Then my driver said: 'Bueno, aren't you going to take his picture.' So I did — from the car. A little later he went away."

De Meyer also said indignantly that there was no reason to fear the pygmies.

"Head hunting? Cannibalism? Not at all," he scoffed. "They are Watalinga is by small boat down the Semliki River. "There all along are crocodiles and thousands of birds like cormorants and pelicans," he said. "The boat trip takes about six hours and is best. Otherwise, the trip means a walk through the jungle — a three-day walk."

The tourism director said the abundance of animals is "a hunter's paradise — but he must get the big hunting reserve at just little forest people who roam about."

THEY NEED YOU—Mrs. Helen Solomon and her three children, all polio victims, have been chosen as the 1958 March of Dimes Poster Family by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Mrs. Solomon, and the children, son Joe, 9, and twin daughters Sandy and Lindy, 6, all were stricken in the same week in July, 1953. At a time when Salk vaccine makes "new" polio more and more invisible, the Solomons are a visible, living reminder that the polio problem is by no means solved. Doctors say that Joe and Sandy will need operations when they are 12. The Solomons are living in Warner Robins, Ga., where Maj. Joseph L. Solomon, husband and father, is stationed at nearby Robins Air Force Base. The 1958 March of Dimes will be held Jan. 14-31.

Harvesters Invade Plainview Friday

Bulldogs Boast Top Offensive Back In District 3-AAAA

By CHARLES CULLIN
Pampa News Sports Editor

The Pampa Harvesters cap off a wet week of practice today in preparation to meet Plainview tomorrow night on the Bulldogs home field.

Pampa will be making its fourth district start as they battle the Bulldogs, having previously been defeated by Palo Duro, Amarillo and Monterey, Plainview stands in district 3-AAAA with two wins against two losses, having won their opener from Lubbock, 13-6 and Borger, 20-0, and lost to Palo Duro, 27-13 and Amarillo, 34-3.

The Bulldogs boast the top offensive man in the district with triple-threat Jesse McGuire, who has carried the ball 113 times in conference action for a leading 371 yards. McGuire also tops the district in passing with 20 completions of 51 attempts for 230 yards. The total gain puts him at the lead in total offense with 601 yards.

Pampa's Robert Langford also ranks high among district ball carriers, placing eighth with 193 yards in 34 carries.

Don Bigham ranks as another top Harvester by taking third in district passing with six completions of 13 attempts for 117 yards.

In team figures, the Harvesters take the edge over the Bulldogs in total offense with 785 yards for an average of 255.0 yards per game while Plainview has 866 yards for 216.5 per game.

Pampa also leads in the passing department by taking first in the district with 238 yards for a 79.3 yard per game average while Plainview ranks in second place with 230 yards for 57.5 yards per game.

In weight the Harvesters have the nod in the line with 175 to 168 pounds per man while they fall short in the backfield 20 pounds with a 150 per man average compared with 170 for Plainview.

The difference in the backs is mainly due to Bulldog fullback Robert Dalton, who tips the scales at 215 pounds.

Probable starters for tomorrow's game will be:

READY FOR BULLDOGS—Quarterback Gary Wilhelm and center Dick Watkins will be two starters in tomorrow night's district tilt against the Plainview Bulldogs. The game, to be played in Plainview, will mark the fourth district start for the Harvesters. Next week they travel to Lubbock to encounter the Westerners on Saturday, Nov. 16 at 8 p. m.

Dazzling Don Sparks SMU

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (UP)—Dazzling Don Meredith, a sophomore quarterback whose early varsity starts were disheartening failures, has transformed Southern Methodist into a recklessly confident outfit that poses a definite menace to the top-ranked Texas Aggies Saturday.

The 184-pound Mount Vernon, Tex., pre-law student, who throws right, kicks left and "thinks both ways," was the toast of the SMU campus after he piloted the Mustangs to a 19-12 upset over favored Texas last week.

But, it hadn't always been thus. He started the season as the lowest rated signal caller in Coach Bill Meek's bag of quarterbacks, although he brought an illustrious high school record to college.

He had little chance to fit into Meek's indoctrination program last spring as the former Houston coach took over from departing Woody Woodard. The youngster was suffering from a foot ailment that later required surgery.

Poor Start
Meek recognized the potentiality in the derring-do type of play execution that Meredith displayed in practice, but the 'teen-aged lad just didn't have the background to warrant throwing him into the breach in the early games.

He got into the opening victory over California, for a series of four downs and wound up with a minus six yards after being tossed for an eight-yard loss on a fourth down pass attempt.

In the scoreless tie with Georgia Tech, he got in late in the fourth quarter and promptly fumbled away a potential scoring drive at the Tech 14-yard line. He also fumbled again on the last play of the game.

A shoulder injury kept him out of the loss to Missouri, but after two brief ineffectual appearances in the Rice game, Meredith got still another chance late in the fourth quarter.

Since then, he's been a ball of fire. He engineered an 84-yard touchdown march against Rice with 30, 31 and 11 yard passes and a 12-yard jog of his own to set up the score which he made himself.

Top Area Teams Have Easy Night In Tomorrow's Games

After a fast and furious day of crucial games last Friday, the area grid scene quiets somewhat tomorrow as the remaining top teams have easy pickings with little likelihood of upsets.

After clinching the district 3-AA championship last week, the Perryton Rangers will tangle with Guymon, Oklahoma in a home game non-conference warmer that will provide little more than practice for the forthcoming playoffs. The Rangers dropped Wellington, 19-13, last week to score their third straight district win and insure the repeat to a district championship title.

The White Deer Bucks, after stopping Stinnett, 33-7 last Friday, have all but made certain of their win in 1-A as they meet Panhandle Saturday in the Panthers' homecoming game. White Deer has only to defeat Panhandle and Surrency to win the district, and neither should prove much of a task for the powerful Bucks.

Interest is still running high in the Memphis Cyclones host the Clarendon Bronchos in the game that could prove decisive in determining the winner. Clarendon had defeated Lefors and McLean before falling to Canadian last Friday, at the same time the Cyclones fell to Lefors. At present, Canadian, Clarendon, Memphis and Lefors all stand with one loss each, and if the Cyclones can turn back the Bronchos, then Lefors will stand at the head of the list.

Lefors remains idle in district play as they host Surrency in the last non-conference game of the season. The Pirates stand little chance of another district defeat as they have only McLean remaining on the schedule, having defeated both Canadian and Memphis.

In the third game involving 2-A teams, the McLean Tigers will host Canadian in a lackluster district tilt, since the Tigers have lost to both Clarendon and Memphis while the Wildcat's only conference loss came at the hands of the Lefors Pirates.

The Groom Tigers will host Vega in district 1-B in an attempt to gain their sixth straight district victory. The Tigers are defending a district championship title and have only Vega and Stratford to defeat for a repeat performance. In conference action, the Tigers have defeated Claude, Darrouzet, Follett, Spearman and Texline.

Stats Reflect Rise Of Auburn

NEW YORK, (UP)—Auburn's rise to third place in the college football ratings this season was reflected today in the latest team statistics released by the NCAA service bureau.

The Plainsmen ranked first among the major colleges in total defense, allowing an average of 136.7 yards for their first six games, and also topped the "scoreboard defense" with an aggregate yield of 14 points (2.3 points per game).

Georgia Tech was second in total defense with an average of 163.5 yards allowed per contest and was followed in order by Princeton (172.5), Navy (172.6) and Oklahoma State (182.0).

Iowa led in rushing defense, limiting enemy ball carriers to 66.2 yards per game. Auburn (76.2) was second, followed by Miami (Fla.) (88.7), Arizona (Tempe) State (96.0) and Princeton (105.5).

Groom Plays Vega In Game Of Week

The Groom Tigers will go for their sixth straight district victory tomorrow night as they host the Vega Longhorns in the battle set for the area game of the week.

Defending the district 1-B title, the Tigers have rolled up a 1-1-4 record for the season, having been defeated by White Deer, 26-7, in the opening game and tied Surrency, 6-6, before launching on the string of wins that remains unbroken. Groom downed Gruver, 27-19, in its last warmer and has defeated Claude, 25-13; Darrouzet, 27-4; Follett, 41-13; Spearman, 27-13 and Texline, 33-14 in district action.

Coached by Weldon "Doc" Bates, the Tigers have only Stratford, other than Vega, remaining on the schedule in conference play. Coach Bates stated that he thought his team had a good chance to move on through to the district title, but that they still had two rough games remaining.

Along with many other area teams, the Tigers have been plagued lately with flu but seem now to be regaining most of their original strength.

Pacing the Tiger offense will be Melvin Britten, who has been a consistent top ground gainer and scorer for Groom. Other top men are John Gorman and Leon Anglin. Anglin has accounted for the exceptional extra point record that the team has claimed during the season.

The Longhorns have had hard luck during the past few games, having been hit hard with flu and injury, but they too will have their starters ready for tomorrow. Last week Vega, just recovering from the flu siege, was forced to cancel their game with Stratford.

Game time tomorrow night is 7:30.

Logart Agrees To Title Bout

NEW YORK, (UP)—Isaac Logart of Cuba, top-ranked contender, has agreed to fight some worthy rival for the vacant world welterweight title at Denver, Colo., in January if the Denver promoters can get title recognition from the National Boxing Association.

"Logart has agreed to the fight if the NBA will recognize the winner as world champion," the Cuban's manager, Eddie Mafus, said today. "The opponent and the date have not been picked yet, but we hope the opponent will be Virgil Akins of St. Louis."

The welter title was left vacant on Sept. 23 when champion Carmen Basilio won the middleweight crown from Sugar Ray Robinson. No champion can wear two crowns simultaneously.

At Denver, Eddie Bohn of the Colorado State Boxing Commission said his organization and the NBA had agreed to championship status for a Logart bout in January.

Trouble Already In National League Schedule

CINCINNATI, Ohio, (UP)—Trotational League teams over the 1958 national League teams over the 1958 schedule.

The league office announced Wednesday that the 1958 season will open on Tuesday, April 15, with the new Los Angeles Dodgers meeting the new San Francisco Giants at San Francisco in one of the four openers.

Chicago will be at St. Louis, Philadelphia at Cincinnati, and Pittsburgh at the World Champion Milwaukee Braves in the other openers.

Aggies Still Hampered With Inside Practices

By UNITED PRESS
Southwest Conference teams got in their last heavy practices Wednesday before Saturday's games with at least one coach happy with the results.

Bear Bryant's Texas A&M team, with only limited outside work in recent weeks because of rain, went through an hour and a half drill.

"I thought we had a good workout," he said. "I thought we moved quicker than at any time all year. I hope it wasn't my imagination."

Southern Methodist, which meets the Aggies at College Station Saturday night, moved onto a muddy practice field to rehearse their offensive and defensive assignments.

Brady Wyatt, No. 1 left and who was injured in the Texas game, was the only man on the top three units unable to work out. He will miss the Aggie game.

Texas Christian scrimmaged with the first unit sitting it out as the Frogs have an open date this week end.

lengthy workout, tapering from earlier sessions this week. The squad divided time between offense and defense.

End Larry Stephens and guard James Shillingburg were demoted to the second team.

Baylor had a long contact drill that Coach Sam Boyd called one of the best of the season after missing practice Monday and Tuesday because of rain.

Lawhon Hurt
Sophomore end Gary Lawhon was lost for at least the Texas game with a deep gash in the calf of his leg. Centers Larry Cowart and Lee Harrington joined end Jerry Marcontell and guard Charlie Horton on the sidelines because of injuries and the flu.

King Hill, Larry Duettt, Ken Williams and Howard Hoelscher manned the first string backfield posts yesterday as Rice concentrated on offensive drills for its homecoming game against Arkansas Saturday.

Center Ronnie Kramer, recovering from a sprained ankle in the Clemson game, missed the workout, but should be ready for the Razorback game.

Halimi Takes Crown To France
 LOS ANGELES, (UP)—The world's bantamweight crown, possibly worth more than ever before in history, headed for France today, firmly placed on the brow of Alphonse Halimi, a pleasant-faced little French-Algerian.
 Halimi, a pre-fight underdog, took the undisputed crown Wednesday night when he won a split decision from Raul Macias of Mexico and spoiled a Roman holiday for some 20,000 Mexicans at Wristley Field.
 For the victory here, Halimi collected $50,000 in cash, plus all his expenses, which totaled 22 million francs.
 Macias, already a wealthy man, took home something more than $30,000, awaiting final counting on a gate of approximately $200,000, plus national-televized receipts.

Dodgers, Giants Meet With PCL
 NEW YORK, (UP)—Officials of the Dodgers and Giants meet in secret with the representatives of the Pacific Coast League today in an effort to settle upon satisfactory indemnity sums without going to court.
 Frick called the meeting, and will sit in on it, but denied he would serve as arbitrator. He said he set up the meeting "at the request of the interested parties" and that they would discuss "the reorganization of the Pacific Coast League and the questions of realignment."
 However, it was known that the big problem was the money to be paid the PCL for encroachment on its territory by the Brooklyn (now Los Angeles) Dodgers and New York (now San Francisco) Giants.

When Politics Enters

It would be difficult for most of us not to recognize the difference between the handling that the Sears Roebuck Co. got from the Senate probers and that of the Mennen Co., toilet goods firm.

All that is necessary to know is that Gov. G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams of Michigan, a firm friend of Walter Reuther and other union bosses, is a director of the Mennen outfit. Tied to the firm through his relationship to the principal owners and by the Mennen name which he was happy to campaign with, Williams knew that he might be in for some bad moments politically unless he could get out from under the testimony being taken by the probers.

Thus, the Associated Press report of the questioning of Mennen officials, flatly indicated that both committee members and Mennen knew that he would be in for some censure unless steps were taken. So "Soapy" is allowed to make long speeches in advance so that he can clear his political skirts even though it was known that he would not be called as a witness before the committee.

The only good word we have seen coming out of the investigation into the activities of Nathan Shefferman's dealings with the unions in connection with Sears employees enjoy. One Sears official even went so far as to declare that attempting to permit the workers to escape from the union was "a big mistake," in an effort on the part of the firm to find favor with the union.

We agree heartily that it is a mistake to attempt to free a company from unionism unless the attempt is made on sound principles and a real understanding of the basic points involved. To attempt to "lick" a union because a union contract would be costly to the employer is not sound unless there is objection on principle to the force behind the contract and the effort on the part of the union to take over the functions of management. The company which says that the management is in favor of labor unions, per se, is in pretty poor shape to resist unionism and union contracts.

That's why we would like to see greater education, more thought and study on the question not only by the general public which supports the idea of unionism but on the part of management so that a better understanding of the basic issues can be obtained.

But so long as politics is tied to the question, as it was in the case of Sears as opposed to the Mennen company, it is fruitless to hope that there can be equity.

Rights Agitation

Not in living memory has there been so much agitation over civil rights as there is now. Yet, as David Lawrence points out in one of his columns, "strange inconsistencies emerge." For instance, two Senators suggested that President Eisenhower should "personally take those colored children by the hand and lead them into school" at Little Rock. "But," says Mr. Lawrence, "did any of the so-called liberals ever suggest or would they venture to recommend that the president take workingmen by the hand and lead them into plants and factories where their right to work—a basic constitutional right—is denied them?"

In major industry today no man can hold a job and earn a living unless he joins and pays dues to a union. It makes no difference whether he wants to join or not. It makes no difference whether he agrees or disagrees with the policies and actions of the union. It makes no difference whether he regards the leaders and officers of the union as good men or as scoundrels. Whatever the case, the union has an absolute monopoly power to compel obedience, on pain of discharge and unemployment.

The right to work is as basic as any right—free speech, freedom of assembly, equality under the law, or others. Without the right to work, the force of all other rights are diminished. When will the right to "join or not to join" be established once and for all and the union's power to enforce a variant of involuntary servitude on labor be ended?

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. Hollas

Education Under Government Management II.

I want to continue to report the article published in "Christian Economics" written by Mark Fakkena, Educational Director, National Assn., of Christian Schools, Chicago.

It was certainly discouraging, to say the least, to see how parents are losing control of the education of their children. From here on Fakkena is speaking: "Ohio Legislation"

"In the early part of this year, a most significant piece of legislation saw the light in the State of Ohio. It represented the work of the State Board of Education. This Board had been previously appointed by the Ohio State Legislature for the express purpose of drawing up 'standards' for all schools in Ohio. These 'standards' have now become mandatory for all Ohio pupils, including the 20 per cent found in non-public (private) elementary schools.

"The standards adopted in Ohio were not educational objectives which should be attained. It was the case, we would have little complaint. On the contrary, these standards are detailed legal measures prescribing instructional systems, procedures and materials. For example, the Ohio law now prescribes school administrative systems that legalize such matters as the number of hours of a school day, the studies that must be taught, the time allotted to them, and the school reports that must be rendered to the State Department of Education. It is now a legal requirement that all schools in Ohio must have a prescribed course of study 'subject to the approval of the State Board.' Not only school studies, but 'instructional materials, aids and activities' are subject to state approval. Even supplementary textbooks, library facilities, the money per pupil that must be spent by the school each year for the school library—these are matters of law. All teachers must meet state certification requirements. The school building, its classroom needs and ground facilities, are now subject to state inspection and state approval. Even the school janitor is now required to work under formulated 'written rules and regulations.' Some 50 points of school law are subsumed under the four 'Standards.'

"Standardized By State" The significance of all this is that the deed of the local public school has now been transferred to the state: public education in Ohio is no more a community enterprise. No more are public schools to be controlled locally. Education has now been standardized by a centralized power, namely, the state. The back of the state is the center of the various state centers, the Federal Government.

"But this is not all. With hardly any concessions, all private schools in Ohio must meet the same public school standards. This means that parents who have (in the interest of controlling the education of their own children) built their own schools, who equipped these schools and who have operated them for these many years at their own expense—these parents are gradually awakened to the realization that the control of their schools has been wrested from them, having been seized by state officials. Henceforth, in spite of the fact that they are paying for their own schools, parents in their private educational program will be subjected to 'Standards' and controls in which they have neither voice nor representation.

"Control Seized by State" The fact that the state has high-handedly taken control of an educational system which for generations has been in private hands, marks a new epoch in American educational history. For the state to assume the right to what it has gained by confiscatory measures, speaks volumes regarding the modern trend.

"Whether the measures applied to private schools are mild or severe the principle is the same. The principle at stake is that the state has taken over duties (rights) that belong to parents. Does the child belong to the parents or is he the ward of the state? We conservatives hold the former. The liberals today are contending for the latter. To yield to the modern trend would be a portent of the gravest consequences for a nation of free men. "It must be borne in mind that the Christian private schools, though small in number, have exerted a sanctifying, leavening influence upon the Christian character of our nation—an influence which has been out of proportion to their small number. Allow these schools to be swallowed up by a secularizing, socializing school system, and what has hitherto been a constructive force, will lose its unique contribution to American life.

"Colossal Danger" "Just what does it mean if a secular state dictatorially assumes control over the minds of all the children? What does it mean if tomorrow's citizenry is daily exposed to a secularizing, God-ignoring view of life and that in the most crucial and susceptible period of their life? To ask these questions is to answer them. "In a state that has a monopoly on the educational program, every political group that happens to be in control of government has at its disposal the necessary means of upholding and justifying whatever ideology its leaders may espouse. This fact is fraught with a danger of colossal proportions."

Soldiers Had No Legal Right In Little Rock

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

FORT WORTH — That fellow he did express this intention, all who was hit over the head and bloodied up by an Army soldier in Little Rock has a strong case against the two troopers who laid him low and their Lieutenant and, for that matter, against the Colonel and the General, too. Those troops have absolutely no legal standing in that duty. They lack even the pretext of martial law because martial law was not proclaimed. Nobody read the riot act. Nothing was done to establish a pretense or legal technicality to put this citizen in the wrong, even if it is contended that he was the "aggressor." For the record, however, he was not the aggressor. He was righteously resisting aggression in denial of his own civil rights. Under the conditions he had a legal right to get a gun of his own and shoot soldiers.

Those troops had no more legal right to carry deadly weapons and to shove citizens around than any armed mob. They are in the status of thugs in this duty and the citizens have no legal obligation to obey them. The soldiers probably do not know that they are outside the law, but that does not improve their situation. Far from enforcing "civil rights," they are trampling the civil rights of all the people who are denied free passage and the plainly implied threat of injury or show a pile of presents by loaded guns and bayonets designed to kill people.

A situation similar to this but not as outrageous was thoroughly canvassed back in the 'thirties by Zechariah Chafee, a Harvard law double-dome, who took for his case in point the military occupation of the race track at Pawtucket, R.I., by the Rhode Island National Guard under martial law proclaimed by a political ephemera named Robert Quinn who lost his head under provocation by Walter O'Hara, one of the owners of the track. O'Hara had called a head a "God damned liar" in a head across page one of a paper which O'Hara had started. Quinn and O'Hara didn't show a lick of sense in this crazy row and O'Hara took the beating because Quinn, as governor, was able to cancel some or all of the dates assigned to the track for its fall racing season.

The details and merits of the dispute are meaningless, but O'Hara was beginning to wallow in money when he had the crazy inspiration to set up a daily paper and mess in politics. As an incident the row will be remembered by few and by most of those few as a ridiculous episode which should have been settled man-to-man in some back room. O'Hara was killed in an automobile wreck a few years later. He wasn't a bad Joe.

When Quinn mobilized his Army, jerking young men out of their jobs and away from their families for absurd duty at the horse-park, with machine-guns mounted on tripods and rolling kitchens giving off the seductive bouquet of slum, he set Chafee to ruminating on the duties and legal hazards of soldiers sent against civilians. Their status is morally if not technically worse where there is no insurrection against legitimate authority.

There was no disorder at the track, although O'Hara may have said he intended to run his meet notwithstanding the governor's refusal to issue the usual permit. If

THE DILEMMA FACING FOREIGN AID

(Chicago Tribune)

Sen. Kennedy (R-Mass.) spoke to a Chicago audience recently of the need for increased foreign aid, especially to underdeveloped lands. What made his remarks of particular interest, however, was his reason. Backward countries, he said, need more aid because of the "population explosions" which they are experiencing and which make subsistence difficult or impossible.

These population explosions, he noted, are due to sudden reductions in the death rate, which in turn are due largely to the economic and technical assistance which they will receive. Although to a less degree, the same complaints have been filed with the CIA.

Thus, in view of the present and prospective troubles accompanying only these two dispersals, involving a total of only 15,000 persons, it becomes obvious that the

These population explosions, he noted, are due to sudden reductions in the death rate, which in turn are due largely to the economic and technical assistance which they will receive. Although to a less degree, the same complaints have been filed with the CIA.

Civil Defense System Is On False Foundation

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The practical problems attending the dispersal of two key Federal agencies from Washington — the Central Intelligence Agency and the Atomic Energy Commission — demonstrate that the Civil Defense system for protection against an atomic or missile attack has been founded on an entirely false foundation. Neither government offices nor great industries can be transferred to country cow pastures without social disruption and economic demoralization.

The two experiments at the Capital, although supposed to have had the benefit of expert advice and careful preparation, were conducted quite differently. Allan Dulles' CIA, which will be moved to Langley, Va., about 15 miles from the White House, will make the shift under the best circumstances possible, because of good planning.

Lewis L. Strauss, AEC, which is moving to Germantown, Md., about 30 miles from 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, has made an awful bureaucratic mess of the affair. There has been no advance preparation to provide any kind of facilities for the 5,000 AEC employees, with the result that perhaps a majority of his trained and experienced staff will resign rather than be transplanted.

INDIGNANT AUTHORITIES — The local authorities are indignant over the difficulties and disadvantages which will be inflicted upon them and their taxpayers, especially with regard to the Strauss emigration.

They are demanding that the Federal government compensate the community for the cost of new schools, new sanitation and fire protection facilities, new sidewalks and roads, and for the loss of taxes which they will suffer. Although to a less degree, the same complaints have been filed with the CIA.

Thus, in view of the present and prospective troubles accompanying only these two dispersals, involving a total of only 15,000 persons, it becomes obvious that the plan to shift industry and even smaller activities to the great open spaces is wholly impracticable. Yet that has been the basic preachment of the Federal Civil Defense authorities.

NOT THE ANSWER — Naturally, there has been no widespread response to these spread-out suggestions. But the two Washington tests demonstrate that, if a rain of destruction from the skies should ever become a probability, the principal civilian reliance will have to be vast local underground shelters, individual backyard improvisations, subways and similar burrows.

Unlike Dulles, the Strauss planners have given no thought to such questions as transportation, although the majority of his employees will face an automobile drive of at least an hour. He did not co-operate or communicate with local authorities about construction of new sewers, homes, schools, stores or any of the families required because of the expansion. He did not even ask for addition of new bus schedules.

The CIA director had forethought on all these matters. Small inexpensive homes have been thrown up in the surrounding countryside. New highways have been built, reducing the driving time from Washington. He has provided a free parking area on the site of what is known as "The Little Pentagon," because of its size. He has induced numerous businesses to establish branches.

EMPLOYEE RESIGNATIONS — Even so, many veteran employees will resign and seek other jobs rather than make the move. As several workers who moved out to the country in advance testify: "There is not the same kind of social life we had among our neighbors in Washington — no theaters, no movies, no pro baseball or football, no excitement of any kind. And we are near enough to remaining farms for the roosters to wake us up when it's still dark."

Mac Is In Trouble! Typewriter Won't Work

By HENRY McELMORE

Who invented the typewriter? I don't know. I have heard that the invention belonged to Mr. Remington, Mr. Royal, Mr. Corona, Mr. Underwood, Mr. Upright, and Mr. Portable.

Whoever invented it is immaterial. But I wish the man who did was right here with me now. I have a broken typewriter, meaning one that won't work. There are only four things wrong with it. That long black bar in the middle, which I think is called a space bar, just looks and cries at me when I touch it. Apparently it has no connection with my machine.

The "J" won't work. Now I happen to be a columnist who uses lots of "J's." I would like to have a dollar for every column I have ever written about jaybirds, jaywalkers, Jello, justice, and jailbirds.

Let's get back to the typewriter. The space bar is gone and the "J" is gone. The third thing wrong with it is the ribbon. It won't upside down as you would a naughty, I've turned this typewriter child, pushed every knob but on it, and jabbed at every thing that was jabbable and the ribbon hasn't moved yet. I have moved the little thing that says "blue" to blue. I have moved the little thing that says "red" to red. I have moved the little thing that says "stencil" to stencil, and it won't produce it.

Now, for the fourth trouble with this typewriter. The "I" won't work. And, when the "I" stops working, they can fire me. I write about 600 words a day and I would guess that about 400 of them are "I's." That makes a lot of people mad whether you know it or not. I remember when I was writing a sports column for United Press a subscribing editor took my column every day, ringed all the "I's" and mailed it back to United Press with this little note: "Let's have no more McElmore. He seems to think that the people here have nothing else to be interested in except McElmore."

I wrote back to the editor this little note: "You may search all the laws of the United States, including county, state and federal, without finding one single law requiring you to read what I write. When our lovely forefathers drew up the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, or any other conceivable rules and regulations concerning what Americans could do, they did not include an order that editors had to read McElmore."

For the second time, let's get back to the typewriter. When it wouldn't work, I said to myself that I would make it work. I said to myself that Americans are mechanically-minded, that's why we argue we can always beat the Russians, so I'll break this thing down myself and fix it.

Fifteen minutes later, I want to tell you, you have never seen such a mess. The typewriter and myself had become as one. For the first time in its life the typewriter had arms, and for the first time in my life I had margin releases. The typewriter got mad at me, and in a voice that only a hurt typewriter can use, asked me what in the world I was doing to it. I said, "Typewriter, if you'll just get your back-spacer off my head and take your tabulation key from around my throat, I will tell you."

We called it a draw. This is probably the only column you have ever read that was chipped out of stone with a chisel and delivered by a freight car because it was so heavy. I got to quit now, the typewriter just wore me down.

SINGLE SPAN—Carrying her shoes, Teodora Catalig, 58, a "hilots" traditional village midwife, crosses a makeshift bridge near her home in Calumpit, Philippine Islands. Teodora, who finds it easier to cross the single steel girder in her bare feet, is one of 2,100 "hilots" who have been trained by the U.N. Children's Fund and the World Health Organization since 1954. About one-third of an estimated 500,000 born in the Philippines each year are cared for by "hilots."

Ike Will Not Visit Britain

LONDON (UP)—President Eisenhower will not visit Britain this year, it was announced today. The President is scheduled to go to Paris for a North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting next month and had been expected to stop over in London before or after the meeting. However, an announcement issued here said that if the President came to England it would have to be on a state visit. It added that Mrs. Eisenhower's state of health does not at the moment allow her to undertake such a visit with the President. WASHINGTON — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler on the Republicans putting party prestige on the line in New Jersey, Virginia and New York City: "They lost the test." SAN FRANCISCO — Airlines pilot W. K. Owen, in describing what may have been the first look at Sputnik II in North America by his plane crew: "Its speed and straight line of flight ruled out the possibility of a meteor." SUBCONSCIOUS URGE CHICAGO (UP) — Arrested for selling part of a 30,000-pound shipment of watermelons he was transporting from Henderson, Texas, to St. Louis, Mo., Chicago truck driver James O. Clark, 40, told police "I hate watermelons." WELL, YOU SEE OFFICER!

Doc Quigg Submits The Ideal Space Pet—Unconcerned Cat

By DOC QUIGG United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UP)—Well, what are you gonna do, in the face of What's happening, but just sit here and eye the zenith, which gives promise soon of being all a-beep with a mad whirl of satellites, both dogged and undogged. My cat, a long-haired gent named Adam Hemingway Quigg, has been padding around with a hangcat look on his puss. Here it is "National Cat Week," a time when felines world (and other-world) wide should be meowing up a storm.

National Cat Week—and what happens? A shaggy dog goes up above the world higher than anybody, and may even become a fixture above us, like the dog star. It has not been announced whether this particular dog volunteered for the assignment but, be that as it may, he is certainly having his day.

Cosmic Cat Nap Cats of the world arise! I use the verb advisedly. Once they have risen, they will orbit with an aplomb unmatched. There has been some worrying in print about how man will react—when his space-travel day arrives—to becoming weightless in space, since he has always been dependent on gravity to hold him, and his food, down.

This weightlessness would be somewhat comparable with the plight of reaching the top of a springboard dive, or the top of the arc on the garden swing—not going up and not coming down—and just staying afloat there with even your hair standing weightlessly on end.

The question is, what will it do to the psyche of man and dog—accustomed since the beginning to having their bunions planted firmly on the ground—to find their feet planted in nothing whatsoever but just waving around wantonly?

In this clutch of nothingness, I give you the cat. Other breeds' psyches may run amuck in gravity-shorn space. Men may scream and dogs bay at whatever moons chance to be passing. But the cat, in space, will merely yawn, float over onto its back, and catch another nap.

Like Disney Movie In its waking hours, it will go nonchalantly about adding more planks to the space platform, or damming up holes punctured in the hull by whizzing motes of stardust. Of all our creatures, the cat is ascendant in mental ability to meet the challenge. You know damn well that it has exhibited out-of-this-world detachment for centuries.

My cat gets so detached from his surroundings that he thinks he is not anywhere at all. In this cat-nirvana mood, he is likely as not to walk right off a table, in complete disdain of the force of gravity, like a creature in a Disney movie.

The United States has been sending up monkeys and mice in rockets for space-flight tests, with wits unscattered. If mice can do it, so can men. And when man goes, he'll need a calm companion that just can't be bothered by environment, stuff or vacuum, swirling about him.

Gentlemen and ladies, let us salute, on this, his week, the noble cat, ideal space pet. May his naps last across the light-years.

REDS AID ROMANIA

VIENNA (UP)—Russia will help Romania construct one of the biggest electric plants on the Danube, the Romanian press reported today. The Soviet Union will ship machines and engineers to help build the $1,300,000,000 plant at the so-called "iron gate" on the Danube near the Romanian-Yugoslav border, the newspapers said. Construction will take six to eight years.

KNOWS HIS GUN—Pvt. Richard P. Knows His Gun—that's his name, not a sentence—proves that, like his father, and grandfather, he deserves that moniker. Richard, now a Marine, hails from the Crow Indian Agency at Hardin, Mont. A veteran hunter, who started with a toy bow and arrow, he's polishing up the gun he'll use on a hunting trip planned for patients at the U.S. Naval Hospital, Oakland, Calif., where he's undergoing treatment.

WHISTLE STOP—This is their finest hour, as far as these British workmen are concerned. Anything like work is forgotten as they line up to ogle and whistle at film star Gina Lollobrigida as she strolls through London's Embankment Gardens. Gina doesn't seem too unhappy about it. She and her husband, Dr. Milko Skofic, are vacationing in London.
