Second Satellite On Verge Of Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—Increased activity and improved weather indicated today another new missile firing is imminent here—possibly a second Vanguard satellite launching effort.

Lights have flooded the slender moon-carrying Vanguard rocket every night since it was tested on the ground last week. Past launchings of the Vanguard have followed the ground static tests by about a week to 10 days.

Another indication that the firing was probable before the end of the week was a new influx of Vanguard project officials and technicians from the Martin Company, builder of the rocket. They crowded into hotels and motels in nearby Cocoa Beach, but they were giving no information.

Secrecy was ordered on any actual attempt to put a baby moon in orbit, because of the blow to this country's prestige when the Vanguard flopped last Dec. 8. Defense Department officials said advance publicity was largely to blame for the prestige loss, plus the fact that not enough emphasis was placed on the heavy odds against a successful test.

Since the failure officials have made it clear that the main purpose of experiments with the Vanguard is to obtain information needed to launch a larger fully instrumented satellite, currently scheduled in March.

Bad weather has lashed the cape in the past several days, but wind and rain had ceased early today and visibility was good.

Pampans Will Attend Amarillo CoC Banquet

The Amarillo Chamber of Commerce will hold its Annual Banquet tonight in the Crystal Ballroom of the Herring Hotel, beginning at 7.

Speaker for the event will be Ralph Bradford, executive vice president of the United States Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D.C.

Representing Pampa will be Mayor and Mrs. Lynn Boyd, City Manager and Mrs. John Koozitz, and Commissioner and Mrs. Jack Vaughn.

Earlier in the night School Board President Dr. William G. Cooper announced Darlene Holloway, 17, suspended recently after a shoving incident with Negro student Elizabeth Eckford, would be reinstated Monday.

Cooper made his announcement at the end of an hour-long hearing on the matter before the Little Rock School Board.

The hearing was held after Darlene's mother, Mrs. Fred Gist, threatened the board and Superintendent of Schools Virgil T. Blossom with a lawsuit unless they let her daughter return to classes.

There were no witnesses to testify the shoving was intentional, Mrs. Gist's attorney said after the hearing.

Ike's Emergency Fund To Be Enlarged With Added Millions

WASHINGTON (UP)—House atomic experts proposed today to pump extra millions into President Eisenhower's emergency defense fund to speed development of an atomic rocket and construction of nuclear submarines.

Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.), a member of the Joint House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee, read amendments on both projects for today's House debate on a $1,260,000,000 supplemental defense appropriation bill aimed at stepped-up production of missiles.

The bill's backers, asserting it carried every dollar that could be spent effectively, claimed the votes to beat any and all amendments.

In other developments:—An aide on the staff of the Senate preparedness subcommittee said the group has dropped efforts to get copies of the secret Galther Report on the state of the nation's defenses. He said the subcommittee did not feel President Eisenhower had given them any kind of "back-hand slap" in his letter to chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) Wednesday refusing to turn over the report.

—Gen. Lucius D. Clay was scheduled to testify today as the last witness in the preparedness subcommittee's current series of hearings. The retired general was expected to answer questions on Defense Department reorganization.

—A top Army research officer said the Army's Zeus anti-missile missile will be able to "parry" intercontinental ballistic missiles "with a fatal punch." Maj. Gen. Robert J. Wood, deputy chief of research and development, said components of the Zeus system have been produced and "the complete system is under development."

Search For Bomb Ended In LR High

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—A search for a bomb reported planted in Central High School was called off early today when civilian guards employed by the school failed to turn up any explosives.

The latest bomb scare, the fourth within the past week, came late Wednesday night after an anonymous telephone call to a Little Rock television station warning a bomb had been planted in the school.

The police and school officials were notified of the call and civilian guards who watch the school between 5 p.m. and 7 a.m. began their search.

Earlier in the night School Board President Dr. William G. Cooper announced Darlene Holloway, 17, suspended recently after a shoving incident with Negro student Elizabeth Eckford, would be reinstated Monday.

The location for Top O' Texas MOD number 58 was staked yesterday on the lawn of City Hall. The "well," to be "drilled" for the local March of Dimes, will be worked by a Franks Manufacturing rig. Shown above staking the "well" location are, left to right, Kay Fancher, Gray County MOD drive chairman; Lucian Young, MOD special events committee chairman who is receiving a "drilling permit" from Jack Miller, city MOD chairman and manager of the local office of the Texas Railroad Commission.

Will Stay In Rig On City Hall Lawn

Disc Jockey To Be Suspended In Air Until MOD Goal Reached

By JOEL R. COMBS
Pampa News Managing Editor

Sunday afternoon, disc jockey Earl Davis will climb the ladder into the crown's nest of Franks Manufacturing's latest rig, settle himself into a comfortable position, and start pleading . . . for money.

It won't be the first time Earl, a native Pampian, has "messed around" with oil field equipment and it won't be the first time he has pleaded for money. But, in both cases, it will be for a far different reason than previously.

For Earl Davis will stay, without relief, in the enclosed crow's nest of the new rig, to be put up on the lawn of City Hall, until the citizens of the Top o' Texas have contributed $2,000 to the March of Dimes.

Yes, the March of Dimes will "drill a well," with the cost of drilling to be $1 per foot. Estimated, in fact definite, depth of the "well" will be 2,000 feet. And Earl Davis must stay in the crow's nest of the rig until the well is completed.

The location was staked yesterday, as the photo above testifies, and drilling operations are expected to get underway about 5 p.m. Sunday. There will be "testing" conducted Saturday morning.

Jack Miller, city MOD chairman and manager of the Pampa office of the Texas Railroad Commission, delivered a drilling permit to Lucian Young, chairman of the MOD special events committee, and Kay Fancher, Gray County campaign chairman, yesterday. The "well" will be Top o' Texas MOD Number 58.

The idea, according to the special events committee, is for Top o' Texans, familiar with the operations of an oil field, to contribute $1 per foot toward the "drilling of the well." Actually, of course, the contributions will be to the Gray County March of Dimes. A $2,000 goal has been set on the project, hence, the 2,000 foot depth. The only hitch is that Earl Davis MUST stay in the crown's nest of the rig until the "well" is completed.

Earl, between cries for contributions, will play records over radio station KPAT by remote control. He will also be equipped with a loud speaker with which to ask passerby to "put a little in the pot" in order to get him back to home and hearth. The loudspeaker will be used after 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

The crow's nest will be equipped with a portable heater, a supply of water and coffee, a record turntable, his radio remote control box, records, an office chair, an air mattress and sleeping bag, and other necessities. All will be crammed into the crow's nest, which measures five and a half feet wide, six feet long and seven feet high.

His meals, to be supplied by local restaurants, and other needs will be hauled up by Davis with a rope and basket. He will do his regular disc jockey show from 1 to 5:25 p.m. daily and will solicit contributions through the mail to speed his descent from the rig. Mail contributions are to be addressed to Derrick Man, March of Dimes, Pampa, Texas.

The rig is being prepared by Franks workers, according to information received from R. A. Baker, Cabot Shops and Franks director.

Earl said this morning, "I guess you know I'm making the supreme sacrifice. I'll miss the Harvester-Plainview basketball game and the Optimist Club-Ft. Riley boxing matches." He will be asking, you can be sure, for frequent and large contributions from Pampans.

Cub Scout Pack Visits News

Den 3 of Cub Scout Pack 80 visited the Pampa News yesterday with their Den Mothers, Mrs. Bill Oler and Mrs. Sam Goodlet.

Eight Cubs and one guest were shown through the plant and explained the operation of putting out the paper.

Boys visiting included Tommy Bryant, Schuyler Stuckey, Randy Brewer, Daryl Nienstiel, Smisson Goodlet, J. T. Winters, Steve Oler, and Jere Don Johnson. Guest of the Den was Miss Sandy Oler.

Jimenez Flees After Two-Day Rebellion

By JOSEPH TAYLOR
United Press Staff Correspondent

CARACAS, Venezuela — (UP) — A revolutionary group led by civil and military figures overthrew the 9-year-old dictatorship of President Marcos Perez Jimenez today and set the nation into an orgy of celebration.

Perez Jimenez fled the country with his family, arriving in the Dominican Republic's capital of Ciudad Trujillo at 6 a.m. He left behind him a nation joyful over its first real taste of freedom in years and determined to take revenge against the secret police which had held the people in the throes of terror under the ousted dictator.

A die-hard group of secret police opened fire on a crowd of celebrators hours after the president had fled and killed four persons in what spectators called a "massacre." The secret police sprayed the crowd with bullets after the fighting had ended.

A mob of 10,000 took matters into their own hand and struck back at the holdouts and it was feared they would tear them to pieces with their bare hands.

All Tanks Withdrawn

A five-man military junta which took over temporary control of the government sent a tank to the next of die-hard security police hoping to avoid bloodshed. But it arrived too late—the four civilians already were killed.

Minutes after the mob attacked the security police the sound of gunfire died out and it appeared the once dread police were at the mercy of the mob.

All tanks had been withdrawn from the city following two days of fighting in which more than 100 persons were killed and more than 1,000 injured—an act which led to frenzied displays of joy and cries of "long live liberty."

Then came the trouble with the nest of die-hard and joy turned to anger.

Backed by Armed Forces

The secret police which helped keep the Perez Jimenez regime in power for nine years has been accused of torturing political prisoners.

The overthrow of the government was carried out by a civilian-military group which called itself the "patriotic junta." It had the full backing of the armed forces. It quickly formed a five-member committee.

B. J. Shaw Files For Commission

The race for County Commissioner of Precinct 4, located in the southeast corner of Gray County, continued to develop into a full scale political battle with the filing of the fifth candidate for the position today.

B. J. "Jinks" Shaw, a stock farmer near McLean, filed with the Democratic secretary of Gray County this morning for a place on the ballot of the Democratic Primary to be held July 26.

Other men who have filed are: O. L. Tibbets, present commissioner of Precinct 4; Boyd Meador, McLean real estate and insurance man; John Dwyer, stock farmer near McLean; and Truitt Johnson, automobile salesman and stock farmer near McLean.

Red Cross Staff Aids To Meet

Mrs. C. M. Jefferies, home service chairman, announced today that a coffee will be held tomorrow morning at 10 in her home at 511 Yeager for all Red Cross Staff Aids.

A study will be made of the changes in the home service method of writing messages. Mrs. Jefferies urges all Staff Aids to be present.

Added Snow Storms Move Across Texas

By UNITED PRESS

A sudden storm out of northern Mexico dumped five inches of snow across the Big Bend country today and downpours flooded streams in South Texas.

Snow had piled up five inches deep around Alpine and Fort Davis today and it still was snowing heavily. Between four and five inches of snow was on the ground at Marfa.

Rains up to two inches in six hours flooded lowlands around Corpus Christi and Liberty. The Gulf Creek drainage area in Corpus Christi flooded some low streets and highways.

Heavy rains fell around Liberty and the Trinity River was rising early today. It still was raining at mid-morning and additional rises in the river were expected.

Fourth Major Storm

The new snow storm was the fourth major fall across the Big Bend country since just before Thanksgiving. Mountain peaks around Alpine and Fort Davis have been covered with snow since Jan. 6, when 11 inches fell over the region.

The storm swept across the Rio Grande from northern Mexico late Wednesday. By 6 p.m., 2.3 of an inch of rain was reported at Alpine, then it turned into snow. Five inches blanketed the area by this morning and it still was snowing hard.

Norman Miller, highway engineer at Alpine, said all roads were open in the area as far as he knew. One unconfirmed report said U.S. 90 west of Marfa was closed by snow drifts.

Miller said all highway equipment in the region was out today plowing snow off roads.

More Flooding Expected

The weather bureau said heavy rains were expected to continue and more flooding was expected in low lying areas along the lower Nueces River today and tonight.

Heavy rains also fell across the Rio Grande Valley, and areas south of Austin and San Antonio were expected to get more rains today and tonight. Between midnight and 6 a.m. Kingsville reported 1.91 inches of rain, Corpus Christi 1.23 and Laredo 1.12.

Snow fell throughout the night around Alpine, Fort Davis and Fort Stockton. El Paso reported some light snow during the night but none was on the ground there today.

House Charges Federal Group With Illegal Favors

By TOM NELSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—An explosive House report today proposed an investigation of the Federal Communications Commission on charges its members accepted improper and illegal favors from the broadcasting industry.

Investigators who prepared the report for a subcommittee claimed evidence showed FCC members allowed the radio and television industry to pay anything from their travel and bar bills to giving them color television sets.

The members were not named nor did the report say how many accepted the favors.

Staff experts made the charges in a secret report to Subcommittee Chairman Morgan M. Moulder (D-Mo.) dated Jan. 4. A copy of the report was made available to the United Press.

The document, proposing that the subcommittee begin its probe with 12 days of hearings on the FCC alone, has thrown the subcommittee into a turmoil. The subcommittee also is looking into five other government regulatory agencies.

Lively discussions were held behind closed doors by the group twice earlier this month, it was reported. On a 6-2 vote it finally was decided to proceed with hearings on a general basis rather than there were signs the matter than singling out the FCC.

These expenses included travel, room, board, cafe bills, valet service and golf fees, the report alleged.

It said these commissioners claimed and received payment from the government for travel and hotel expenses in attending the same conventions.

The memorandum said the committee staff had uncovered evidence indicating FCC members to pay bills for them and their wives while attending industry conventions.

in scheduling the forthcoming hearings.

Schwartz said the hearings should begin with the FCC because "more interest and concern" has been expressed in its operations in recent years than in those of "almost any other regulatory agency."

Perryton CoC Banquet To Be Held Tonight

The report of the Perryton Chamber of Commerce Annual Banquet in the New's edition yesterday stated that the banquet was to have been held last night. The report was in error since the banquet is scheduled for tonight in the high school cafeteria there.

The affair will begin at 7:30 p.m. with Harold Dunn, president of the Shamrock Oil and Gas Company, acting as speaker.

The delegation from Pampa will include: Dick Stowers, Horace Prince, Crawford Adkinson, Kay Fancher, and E. O. Wedgeworth.

Following the banquet, an open house of the new Perryton Chamber of Commerce building will be held for all of the out-of-town guests.

Ike To Request New Laws For Crackdown On Labor Racketeers

By WILLIAM J. EATON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to strip labor unions of income tax exemptions and federal bargaining rights unless they file detailed financial statements with the Labor Department.

The President made the request in a special message outlining a seven-point program designed to eliminate racketeering in labor and management.

He also urged laws to require secret-ballot election of most union officers and complete disclosure of welfare fund operations.

Under his proposal unions which refuse to file accurate financial reports would be subject to these penalties:

—Denial of all rights of privileges available to them under federal labor management relation laws. This could mean access to the National Labor Relations Board and Federal Mediation Services.

—Revocation of certificates issued to unions after they won bargaining rights in NLRB elections.

—Forfeiture for an "appropriate period" of tax-exempt status.

Need More Protection

Unions now are required to file financial reports. But several large unions, such as the United Mine Workers and the International Typographical Union, do not do so.

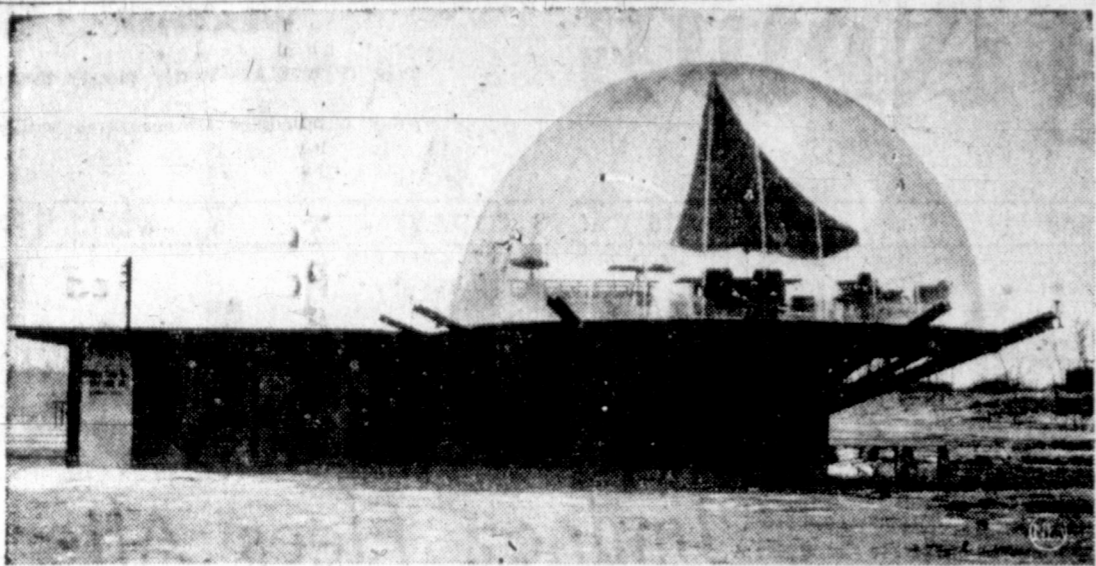

The President said that he could not ignore the disclosures of corruption, racketeering and abuse of trust and power in the labor-management field.

"Union officials — most whom are decent, honest Americans — are doing much to eliminate the few in the ranks of organized labor who are corrupt," the President said.

But he said voluntary action by labor union is not enough to protect the rights of the individual worker and maintain the integrity of trade unionism. The public, he said, must be reassured that union welfare funds and treasures are being used to advance workers' welfare.

The President also said working people should be protected from deals between labor leaders and employers which jeopardize their welfare.

He said laws are needed to

Turning Point For Baghdad Pact Seen

Foreign News Commentary By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
The Middle Eastern Treaty Organization—these-called Baghdad Pact—may reach a turning point next week.
Delegates of Turkey, Iraq, Iran, Pakistan, Great Britain and the United States will attend a four-day meeting of "METO" starting Monday.
The first five countries are full members of the alliance, which was formed in 1955 to oppose Communist aggression, penetration and subversion in the Middle East.
The United States, which sponsored the alliance, never has joined it. But it has joined METO's economic, anti-subversion and finally its military committee.
Thus the United States has edged gradually toward full membership. It has held off taking the final step largely because it does not want to antagonize Egypt and Syria, which bitterly oppose it.

First Dulles' Attendance
However, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will attend next week's meeting—the first he ever has attended.
This is sufficient indication of the importance attached to the meeting.
Among the items on the program are means of combatting Soviet Russia's increasing penetration in the Arab countries and Communist-inspired subversion in Jordan and Iraq.
As part of this objective, it is certain that the United States will be asked to increase the amount of its economic aid to METO countries, and especially to Turkey and Iran.

Seek Closer NATO Ties
Premier Adnan Menderes of Turkey is expected also to urge that METO be tied in more closely with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, whose aim is to combat Communist aggression in Europe.
Turkey and Britain are both members of NATO as well as METO.
Russia's successful penetration of Egypt and Syria and its attempt to penetrate other Arab countries also will be an important topic for discussion.
Russian propaganda throughout the Middle East is both extensive and successful.
Dulles is to arrive in Iran Friday on his way to the METO meeting. He will confer all day Saturday with Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, Premier Manucher Eghbal and Foreign Minister Ali Gholi Ardekan.

Iran To Appeal
Dispatches from Tehran say that the Iranians will make an urgent appeal to Dulles for more economic and military aid.
Turkey is certain to ask for more aid too. Turks are inclined to resent the United States giving much more aid to "neutralist" India, for instance, than it is to Turkey, which is a defense bastion on Russia's direct path to the Arab countries.
The overall objective of the conference, however, will be to strengthen the METO alliance. Important as it obviously is, METO has proved to be largely a paper pact. One reason is that the United States has not joined it. Turkey is expected to urge that the United States join now. But Washington dispatches say Dulles believes that the time for that has not yet come.
One thing seems pretty certain. Either the METO alliance will be strengthened by next week's meeting or it will be weakened.

Science Needs People For Experiments On Appetites

SCIENCE TODAY
By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—Science needs some people to experiment with to see if appetite is capable of controlling the amounts of food people eat. The possible result of such experiments would be proof that even moderate exercise could prevent people getting overweight.
This is a hypothesis, you understand, which is a word much used by scientists to describe a logical supposition needing to be proved—or disproved. The core of this hypothesis is that people in our take-it-easy age don't exercise enough to rouse their appetite chemistries.
Scientific studies in the past few years have shown that military cadets spend 17 and 3-4 hours out of every 24 lying, sitting or standing, and coal miners do those things 18 and 3-4 hours a day. Since those are exceedingly "active" callings, the rest of us can't be more active.

Originally Used Rats
The American physiologist, Dr. J. Mayer, originated the hypothesis back in 1954 with experiments with rats which science now considers "classical." His rats were required to walk a treadmill for from one to six hours a day.
For rats that is light to heavy exercise. And these rats automatically (and presumably unthinkingly) adjusted the amounts they ate to the amounts of exercise they had had. As the result, their weights remained constant—there were no overweight problems among them.
But when they were allowed to walk the treadmill for less than an hour a day, they didn't eat less. In fact, they ate more and fat rats were the result. This would indicate that exercise is needed in order to trigger appetite chemistry which, once triggered, adjusts the amounts needed to the amounts actually needed.

These simple, clear-cut facts about rats have stimulated physiologists around the world, giving many the yen to repeat the experiments in people—if only it could be done somehow. So far no physiologist has figured out how to do it, but R. Passmore of the University of Edinburgh has now done it in the next best thing—a dog.
Passmore, reporting to the technical journal, "The Lancet," noted that many of his scientific colleagues say exercise doesn't cause people to lose weight—that exercise promotes appetite which increases food consumption.
But with people who sit or stand around most of the time (which most people are said by science to do) that probably isn't so, he said. First, Mayer's experiments in rats and now his experiments

Steve Allen's Show Good Technically; Fair Otherwise

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Steve Allen took his NBC-TV show Sunday night to Havana, Cuba, home of rum, rumba and roulette. It's a city dedicated to the proposition that you can't take it with you, so you might as well leave it with you.

Cuba, of course, has had the World Series beamed to it and I seem to recall "Wide World of Sports" negotiating a rather dismal pickup from the island a couple of seasons back. The Allen show was a step forward technically, if not artistically. The picture was steady and pretty sharp. However, the audio suffered from a strange huff at times, almost as if Ed Sullivan might have been breathing heavily into the microphones.

Only Fair Fun
The show itself was only fair fun. Its principal features were Edgar Bergen and Lou Costello in limp routines and Marnie Van Doren in a tight dress. Miss Van Doren (no relation to Charles and built better anyway) sang "Sand in My Shoes" and then jumped into the pool as a snapper, inappropriate perhaps, but titillating.

Much of the show unfortunately was devoted to extolling the virtues of the hotel from which the telecast originated. It was, I admit, pretty sumptuous.

Steve Lawrence, a very knowledgeable singer, changed a peevish version of "Begin the Beguine," starting in the bar, wandering through the gaming room, lobby, patio and ending out by show, darn it. Sunday night's was a fun show though, darn it. Ethel Merman, a lady with the frank, open face of a gingerbread man, who sings with cowbell clearness, engaged in a togetherness musical bit with Miss Shore that contrasted their loud-and-clear and soft-and-dusky styles. It was a gasser.

Cyril Ritchard also was on hand. And he can be on hand in my home anytime.

The channel swim CBS-TV will go in more heavily, for specs next season. It is reserving the right to pre-empt any regular show at least twice next semester, a policy which NBC-TV already has in force.

Gene Barry landed the title role in "Bat Masterson," a new western series that ZIV, an independent outfit, will soon start shooting for airing this fall. NBC-TV's "Queen for a Day" will move to St. Paul, Minn., for five telecasts next week.

US Air Force In Germany Is Quietly Moving West

News Outlook
By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
The United States Air Force in Germany is quietly moving west of the Rhine River. Four advanced bases in southern Germany have been turned over to the infant German Air Force. The Neuburg transport base near Munich goes to the new Luftwaffe soon. The 12th Air Force has been absorbed into the U.S. Air Force in Europe command and its "advanced" headquarters at Ramstein is only 25 miles from the French border. Malador guided missile bases are also west of the Rhine. Reason: To be in better striking position. Result: To put the West German armed forces increasingly on the spot as the first line of defense of the North Atlantic Treaty Forces.

Washington, insiders say that the let-up in feuding inside the Senate Rackets Committee signifies just an uneasy truce, not peace. Some GOP members want to restrict the authority of chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy, younger brother of Sen. John F. Kennedy. The Kennedys, in turn, are miffed at GOP hints they might ease up on some labor leaders to smooth the path of the senator, who is mentioned as a possible Democratic presidential nominee. Committee Chairman John L. McClellan effected the truce by taking personal charge of the probe into the long strike of the United Automobile Workers against the Kohler Co.

Those 5 million-degree temperatures reached by British scientists in harnessing the force of the hydrogen bomb have a minor equivalent in the tempers of some British scientists concerned. They are acutely resentful that the official announcement of the experiments—now due on Friday—was held up by the United States government. Insiders blame Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission for "forcing" Britain to wait for a joint announcement under an Anglo-American agreement on declassifying secret information.

CFE May Alter Its Political Efforts

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The Republican high command has been informed that the Citizens-for-Eisenhower (CFE) organization will have a new chairman for the 1958 congressional campaign—and, maybe, a somewhat more realistic role in national politics.

The new chairman will be Lloyd MacMahon, a 45-year-old New York lawyer and former assistant U.S. attorney. He was CFE chairman in New York state for the 1956 presidential campaign.

MacMahon will succeed John Reed Kilpatrick who also is chairman of the board of Madison Square Garden in New York City. Gen. Lucius D. Clay has been and probably will continue to be a big wheel in CFE and Thomas E. Stephens, an unofficial but influential White House consultant, is expected to continue to help shape the organization's policies.

CFE has had a spotty record. It has done a professionally successful job of money raising—$5,000,000 in the last three campaigns—despite an amateurish approach to politics which was the despair of realistic Republican politicians. The CFE set-up was ideal for obtaining funds from individuals who for one reason or another preferred not to contribute directly to Republican Party campaign organizations.

The political pros were saddened by the use to which CFE put its campaign funds, comparatively little of which went to candidates in the form in which it was most welcome and needed. That form, of course, would be in cash or by check of substantial proportions. CFE apparently did not realize the hazards of thumbing into Republican primaries.

The maneuver, however, which most offended many Republican organization workers, right down to the grass roots, was the 1956 effort to prevent the renomination of Vice President Richard M. Nixon. General Clay generally was accounted the head man in that operation, his stop-Nixon enthusiasm evidently having been fired by a poll which mistakenly came up with the opinion that Nixon Citizens-for-Eisenhower operation except for its money-raising potential. It probably is fair to say that they merely tolerate CFE today and hope for the best. A realistic view of the situation is that the Republican pros want and need only one thing from CFE—campaign funds.

They are accustomed to working with CFE personnel. Peter H. Clayton, a lawyer and CFE veteran, gained the confidence of the practical politicians over the years. That was peculiarly because he in 1956 was the first and for a long period the only CFE official to endorse Nixon's renomination.

The organization has some $200,000 banked right now with more to come. The party politicians hope MacMahon knows what to do with it.

Matter of FACT

Although he never liked languages of any other school work which had to be memorized, Albert Einstein taught himself analytical geometry and integral and differential calculus at the age of 14. He was born in Germany in 1879, moved to Switzerland and became a Swiss citizen in 1901, and finally to the United States in 1932, where he became a citizen in 1940.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

 Hard Luck Joe won the opening trump lead in his own hand and promptly led the jack of diamonds. West covered with the king and Joe took dummy's ace. He returned to his queen of diamonds and drew trumps, stopping in dummy. East let a low heart go.
 A third diamond was led and ruffed and when West discarded a heart Joe suddenly realized that his contract was in jeopardy. He thought a long while and finally played the jack of hearts. East on with the queen and returned the ten. Joe thought again and ducked. East led another heart and West was in the lead with nothing but clubs. Joe had ditched a diamond from dummy.

 West led a low club. East's jack forced Joe's ace but now Joe was able to lead the ten of clubs and finesse against West's queen.
 "Well," smiled Joe. "I finally made one in spite of bad breaks," said North. "The hand was a cinch."
 North was right. Joe had fought his way out of a trap that he had walked into at trick two. Joe should simply have let West's king of diamonds hold the second trick. West would lead a second trump. Joe would win in his own hand, cash his queen of diamonds, enter dummy with a third trump and discard a club on dummy's ace of diamonds. Now he would ruff one diamond to set up dummy's fifth, return to dummy with the king of clubs, discard one heart on the last diamond and then lead a heart.
 Four odd would be home and Joe would have had a good chance to make five.

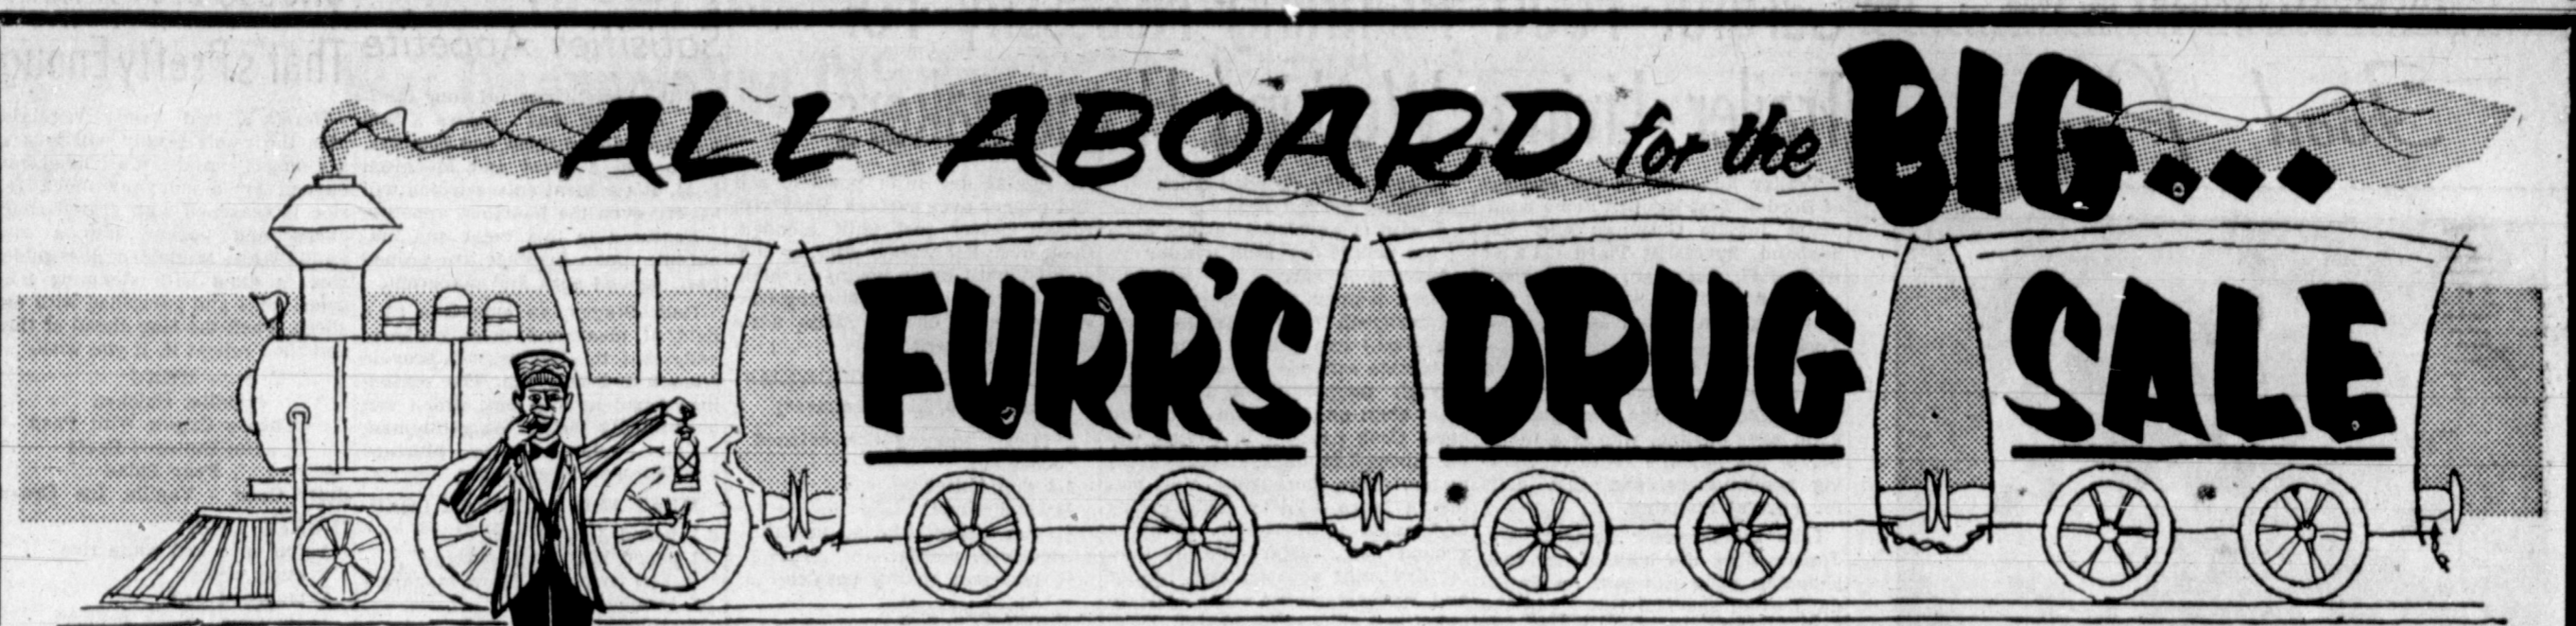

10-Year-Old Gives Birth To Baby

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UP)—A 10-year-old San Jose school girl gave birth to a 7-pound boy in a San Francisco hospital, according to Santa Clara County juvenile authorities.
 The third grade student was delivered by Caesarian section and required a blood transfusion, juvenile authorities said.
 The third grade student was delivered by Caesarian section and required a blood transfusion, juvenile probation officer Muriel Wright said.
 "But she and the baby are doing fine," Miss Wright said. The girl was not identified by name.
 Miss Wright said the young mother and her son were at St. Elizabeth Shelter, a home of unwed mothers in San Francisco. Spokesmen for the shelter declined to confirm or deny the report.

DOWN WITH POLIO! — If you've done your bit in contributing to the fight against polio, you'll get a bang out of those descending heavy lines in Newschart above. And these figures: 62 per cent less polio in 1957 than in 1956. The dread paralytic type down 73 per cent from 1956. Although U.S. Public Health Service, which released the data, didn't say so, the inference is that the great defeat of this crippling disease was the result of polio vaccine production. But—USPS points out, 10,000,000 American under 20 and 80,000,000 others, aged 20 to 40, have not had any shots.

Sausage And Fluffy Scrambled Eggs Festive For Top Breakfast Honors

Do you find that some mornings the family is a bit reluctant to leave the warm, cozy comfort of their beds... especially on extra cold mornings? Actually, getting the family to the breakfast table on any morning can be quite an undertaking.

There is, however, one easy way to solve this problem. Simply let the aroma of pork sausage links, scrambled eggs and orange mufins waft into the living room.

PORK SAUSAGE LINKS
To cook the pork sausage links, just place them in a frying-pan with about 2 tablespoons of water. Cover the pan tightly and cook slowly for 5 minutes. Then remove the cover and brown the links.

Arrange the sausage links around the scrambled eggs, add spiced crabapples and a bit of

Frikadellers Are Smorgasbord Fare

Those of Scandinavian ancestry will probably recognize the name Frikadeller as meaning Danish Meat Balls.

Reba Staggs, well known home economist versed in the field of meat and meat cookery, mentions that these Danish Meat Balls would actually make a delightful addition to a smorgasbord table.

Ground beef and veal combine with cooked mashed potatoes, chopped onion, egg, milk and seasonings. This mixture is then divided into about 32 meat balls using 2 tablespoons per ball. The veal and beef balls are then rolled in flour and fried in deep hot lard (350 degrees F.) for 5 minutes or until browned.

Served from a chafing dish and accompanied by a typical smorgasbord array, these Danish Meat Balls or Frikadeller will gain new favor with guests or family.

Inexpensive Riblets Is "Dilly" Of Recipe

Do you ever wonder why flavorful lamb riblets are so economical? It's simply because the riblets contain a large percentage of fat and bone along with plenty of tasty lean meat and they are cut from the breast of lamb.

Here's a recipe using lamb riblets that is a "dilly"—it actually contains whole dill seed!

LAMB RIBLETS WITH DILL
3 pounds lamb riblets
2 tablespoons fat
1 medium onion, chopped
1/4 cup water
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon whole dill seed
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Brown riblets on all sides in hot fat; remove from pan and cook onion in fat 3 minutes. Return meat to pan and add water, vinegar, salt, dill, and pepper. Cover and cook slowly 1 hour, 6 servings.

Try Ham With Yams For Winter Dinner

There's "nothing to" preparing this ham and yam supper. Take a slice of ham, some yams from a can, and make a simple sauce—it's as easy as that! What's more, this easy-to-make combination has a delicious flavor, highlighted by vinegar and mustard.

HAM AND YAM SUPPER
1 ham steak, 1/2-inch thick
1 can (1 pound) yams, drained
1-3 cup firmly-packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1-3 cup each, water and vinegar
2 teaspoons flour

Arrange ham steak and yams in a shallow baking dish. Combine remaining ingredients; heat to boiling, and simmer 3 minutes. Pour sauce over ham and yams; cover, and bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Remove cover the last 10 minutes of cooking. Serve with sauce, 4 servings.

Spanish Sherry

Rost turkey is good to eat the year around, not just during the fall, and one of the best ways to make the big birds taste especially good is to follow the Spanish method of basting roast fowl with sherry. All you do is to dilute half a cup of nutty amontillado or the sweet oloroso type with the same amount of water or broth, pouring this over the fowl after it has been in the oven half an hour or so, then baste two or three times more with the pan juices as the bird roasts. The sherry does wonderful things to the gravy, and you might try adding one or two tablespoons to your dressing. Glasses of sherry on the rocks are delicious when served with the bird.

Careful Food Planning Necessity For Trailer-Living, Working Homemakers

Trailer Space 32 is the address of Borden Test Kitchen home economist Joanne Cushman and her husband, Specialist Third Class William H. Cushman, supply clerk attached to the U.S. Army at Ft. Wadsworth in Staten Island, New York.

What are the problems of a homemaker who lives in a mobile home? Storage is the principal problem says Joanne, who is a member of the nation's army of working homemakers, and this calls for careful planning.

Like most career homemakers, Joanne does the bulk of her food shopping once a week, on Saturdays when she and Bill go to the post commissary. Because of her training, Joanne is well aware of the importance of nutritious foods, and because of her commutation daily from the heart of Manhattan to Staten Island she plans meals that can be prepared quickly and with ease.

Here are three new recipes developed in the Borden Test Kitchen and used by Joanne in her trailer housekeeping.

STUFFED GREEN PEPPERS
(Makes 4 servings)
4 large green peppers
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup chopped celery

1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 pound ground beef
3/4 cup (1 envelope) instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 (8-oz.) can (about 1 cup) tomato sauce

Wash peppers. Cut thin slice from stem end; remove seeds and core. Cook peppers in boiling water, about 3 minutes. Remove from water; drain thoroughly. Melt butter in large skillet; saute celery and onion until tender. Combine ground beef, instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Add to onion and celery; blend well. Cook over medium heat until meat is lightly browned. Remove from heat; stir in tomato sauce. Spoon into peppers; place in shallow baking dish containing a small amount of water. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until peppers are tender when pierced with a fork; about 25-30 minutes.

ZIPPY CHEESE SAUCE
(Makes about 2 1/3 cups)
1 1/2 cups water
4 tablespoons flour
4 tablespoons instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1/2 pound sharp cheese food, shredded

Pour water into top of double boiler; sprinkle flour, instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder, salt and pepper over surface. Beat with rotary beater just until blended. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until sauce begins to thicken. Add cheese. Cook, stirring constantly, until cheese melts and a sauce is thickened.

STARLAC FUDGE BROWNIES
(Makes 16 2-inch squares)
2 (1-oz.) squares unsweetened chocolate
1-3 cup butter
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup sugar
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Melt chocolate and butter together in top of double boiler over hot water. Sift together flour, instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder, baking powder and salt. Add sugar gradually to eggs, beating well after each addition. Blend in chocolate mixture. Stir in dry ingredients; beat until well blended. Add nuts and vanilla. Turn into buttered 8-inch square baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until top has dull crust and a slight imprint is left when top is touched lightly with finger, about 30 minutes. Cool. Cut into 2-inch squares.

Endive Casserole Popular Entree

Casseroles are getting to be a very popular form of entree on the American menu. Belgian Endive is also adaptable for this purpose and this is a new recipe prepared by Miss Milo Miloradovich, food expert and author of international best seller books such as The Art of Cooking with Herbs and Spices.

BRAISED BELGIAN ENDIVE CASSEROLE WITH HAM
4 heads Belgian endive
2 ozs. Butter
1 cup clear chicken broth
1 tsp. Maggi Seasoning
4 slices tenderized ham
Freshly ground white pepper
Buttered toast, optional

Allow 1 large head Belgian endive for each serving. More if desired. Crisp endive in ice - water 15 minutes before using. Wipe endive gently with paper towel.

To prepare: Use oblong casserole which can be placed over flame. Place butter in casserole (or heavy pan); melt butter over medium flame; add Maggi Seasoning. Gently place Belgian endive in seasoned butter. Brown endive gently 2 minutes on each side. Add small quantity chicken broth; allow Belgian endive to simmer uncovered 15 minutes, adding small quantity broth as it evaporates. Remove casserole from flame. Place ham slices over endive; pour remaining chicken broth over ham slices. Place casserole in preheated medium oven for 15 minutes or until ham is thoroughly heated.

Serve piping hot on preheated plates by arranging as follows: Buttered toast, ham slice topped with Belgian endive; sprinkle lightly with freshly ground white pepper. If more sauce is desired, use additional hot chicken broth.

Eat A Good Breakfast

Top hot cereals with preserves, jellies, or jams and flaked coconut for a new taste treat for breakfast.

Would you and your family like to—be sharper in your thinking and actions, be calmer and sturdier, and work better, especially in the late morning hours? If your answer is "yes"—Eat a good breakfast and see if your family does not feel better and work better, especially in the late morning hours.

Scientists at the State University of Iowa studied the importance of breakfast on the physical and mental well-being of 70 subjects 12 to 80 years of age. After six years of research this conclusion was reached: A good breakfast is essential for maximum physical and mental efficiency during the late morning hours.

A good breakfast is both quick and easy to prepare and can offer a wide variety of interesting, new combinations. The new instant and quick-cooking hot cereals can be quickly prepared in just minutes. For a new taste treat use preserves, jellies, or jams in place of sugar and for an extra special treat, sprinkle flaked coconut over the top of the cereal just before pouring on the milk. To complete the meal for an adequate breakfast serve fruit juice, buttered toast, a glass of milk, and coffee, if desired. This breakfast can be ready in just minutes.

Start tomorrow and prove to yourself and your family that they will feel better and act better, especially in the morning hours when "Food Comes First" and they start the day with an adequate breakfast.

Meat 'N Macaroni Satisfies Appetite

If the breadwinner of your family is a man that enjoys a meal planned around meat and potatoes, serve him a Meat and Macaroni Loaf. It's a meat entree which will satisfy even the heartiest appetite.

Featured in this meat and macaroni put together are ground beef, ground pork and macaroni.

Reba Staggs, an expert in the field of meat and meat cookery, adds that this recipe will provide from 6 to 8 servings. The seasonings found in this loaf, which will undoubtedly please the gentlemen, include onion, parsley, mustard and Worcestershire sauce.

MEAT AND MACARONI LOAF
1 pound ground beef
1 pound bulk pork sausage
1/2 cup uncooked elbow macaroni
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
2 eggs, beaten

Cook macaroni in unsalted water. Combine ground beef, sausage, salt, onion and parsley. Blend the mustard and Worcestershire sauce; sprinkle over meat mixture; add eggs and mix well. Add cooked macaroni. Mix lightly and turn in to a greased 1 1/2-quart loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 1 to 1 1/2 hours. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Cheese Crown With Peas Family Dish That's Pretty Enough For Company

Here's a real handy vegetable idea the whole family will love as a change! And it's handsome enough for a company meal. Hot cheese and packed into a ring mold. When unmolded, the golden ring is filled with steaming hot green peas and garnished with egg slices. Pack the ring ahead of time and then reheat it, if you wish.

MENU
Skillet Chicken
Cheese Crown With Peas
Hot Buttered Beets
Pear Salad
Vanilla Ice Cream

Spice Cake
INGREDIENTS:
1 cup uncooked white rice
2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
A 1 lb. 1 oz. can green peas
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon instant minced onions
Salt and pepper to taste
1/2 cup grated sharp cheese (more if desired)
1 hard-cooked egg, sliced

METHOD Put the rice, water, salt and pepper in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil over a high heat. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid and simmer 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes.

While the rice cooks, pour liquid from the peas into a saucepan. Boil until half the liquid remains. Add the 2 tablespoons butter, onions and peas. Heat until very hot. Add salt and pepper to taste. After the peas cook, stir in the cheese. Pack into a well greased ring mold holding at least 3 1/2 cups. Unmold on a hot platter. Fill the center with the hot peas. Garnish with the egg slices. Pimiento strips add a colorful touch, too. If desired, the ring mold may be made ahead of time. Cool the rice in the mold. Cover with waxed paper or foil. Store in the refrigerator. About 45 minutes before serving time place the filled mold in a pan or skillet of hot water. Keep the rice in the mold, covered. Allow the water to simmer until the rice is hot through. Unmold. Fill with the hot peas. This recipe makes 6 servings.

Many persons find it impossible to brush their teeth after each meal. But dentists suggest a way to chase tooth-decaying bacteria after meals. This is to swish water around in the mouth.

'Bridge Of San Luis Rey' Was Disappointing Offering

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—What to say about the CBS-TV production of "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" Tuesday night?

Guinness slated to be miles away from Hollywood, March 26—the night he'll probably win an Oscar for the best performance of the year in "The Bridge on the River Kwai." He's due in London for a starring role in "The Horse's Mouth." The role is of an old and eccentric artist—a "dangerous genius."

LOUIS ARMSTRONG'S definition of jazz: "Man, when you got to ask what it is, you'll never get to know. It's a lazy afternoon. . . . it's the girl you love. . . . it's boiling honey. . . . it's Tchaikovsky's Sixth. . . . and it's spinach."

Latest frightening movie idea for the teen-age trade:

"How to Make a Monster." In self defense, I think I'll threaten to make a do-it-yourself movie titled, "How to Bankrupt Producers of Monster Movies."

Lassie joining the literary rush. The TV pooch is "writing" a book. . . . Jimmy Durante getting the red light from his medic—easy does it. . . . Leo Guild's ear-witness report about a story conference for a high-rated TV western series.

Story editor, groaning: "We've done just about everything. We need an off-beat plot—something completely different."

Wild-eyed writer: "How about a subway train suddenly appearing in a western town, with Indians attacking the rush hour crowd?"

Second wild-eyed writer: "I think it's been done."

character's capacity for love, a love thwarted and untapped. Scenes Lacked Fire—Some key scenes never caught fire:

—A scene in which Miss Lindfors comes to humble herself in a mocking way before Miss Anderson, but instead is confronted with a breakdown by Miss Anderson in which Miss Anderson humbles herself.—It should have sparked, but merely thumped.

—A scene in which a brother dies which should have leaned heavily upon words and visual images, but instead was smothered in a heavy overlay of music, a music which did not reinforce the scene, but steamrollered it.

—The climactic scene in which the bridge breaks, hurling five people to death. The scene had no real feeling of terror, no feeling of yawning space. It was quite obviously just a studio bridge and it was impossible to feel any involvement in the make-believe catastrophe.

In spite of all this, I would like to backtrack a little and say again that it was a drama notches above most TV fare. And I would add that I would rather watch a partially successful "Bridge of San Luis Rey" than any of the slick mash that passes too often for TV drama these days.

The drama swim: Judith Anderson wrenched her left arm during a rehearsal of "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" Tuesday and worked Tuesday night with a bandage on the arm.

Ed Murrell has a big one coming up on his Feb. 7 "Person to Person"—Gina Lollobrigida and her husband, Dr. Milko Skofic. Dean Martin also will be visited on that show. Ralph Edwards' subject for his Jan. 29 "This Is Your Life"—on NBC-TV will be actress Frances Farmer.

Okinawans Are Prosperous But They Just Don't Like Americans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Okinawa is the keystone of American military bases in the western Pacific. It is within 1,500 miles of every trouble spot in Asia. Forty thousand American troops are stationed there. Yet, last week its biggest city elected a Communist-backed mayor. This dispatch examines why.

By ARNOLD DIBBLE
United Press Staff Correspondent TOKYO (UP)—Uneasy is the mantle of a democratic conqueror. That, oversimplified perhaps, is the story of Okinawa today.

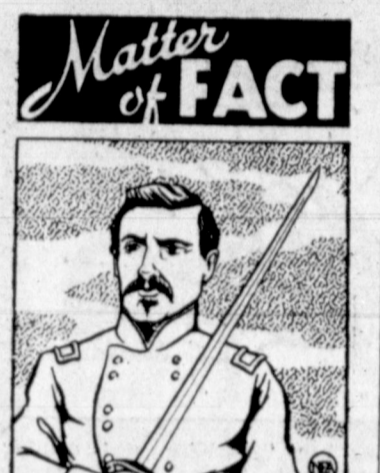

Twelve years ago, Okinawa was conquered. It cost the United States 30,000 young men killed or wounded. Since then, America has poured billions of dollars into Okinawa.

Virtually doubled the gross national product.
—Raised sharply the per capita national income.

It now has modern primary and secondary schools and its first university, a modern series of hilltop buildings still going up. TV antennas poke up over shack settlements. There are four-lane highways and there are rutted, muddy roads that would swallow a small car and make even oxen movement tough. It is not unusual to see a wizened, stooped cleaning woman take a taxi to work. The girls are pretty and well-dressed.

for the new Mayor Kaneshi. They were against the United States "doings things."

The first shots of the War Between the States were fired at Fort Sumter, in Charleston Harbor, by command of a Confederate officer who had been, but a few months before, superintendent of the United States Military Academy at West Point. He was Brig. Gen. Pierre G. T. Beauregard, a member of a wealthy and aristocratic Louisiana family.

Digest Says Fluoroscopes 'Dangerous'

Never let your child step on one of those "fitting" fluoroscopes in a shoe store, the February Reader's Digest warns.

They're totally unnecessary for fitting shoes, and their X-rays could harm not only the child, but future generations, too.

Albert Q. Maisel, in the article, "What's the Truth About Danger in X Rays?" reports that the American Medical Association and the Roentgen Ray Society have been successful by just one state. In the rest, he says, 10,000 shoe-fitting fluoroscopes now are being used in 40,000 shoe stores with no training in X-ray administration.

Don't Like Americans
Yet, the Okinawans don't like Americans. They showed last week how they felt by putting into the Naha mayor's office a slick little political go-getter, Sachi Kaneshi, who had heavy Communist backing.

This reporter was in Okinawa for 10 days covering the election. My ear is still bent to the snoop-top by various factions who wanted me to know "what is really wrong." They included Okinawan politicians and businessmen, Okinawans in general and Americans in general.

There are many specific reasons why the Okinawans voted against an America that helped them, and voted for the return of a Japan which exploited them. But, though logic has no place, it boils down to.

The Okinawans want to kick the Americans out because they are there.

Knew Japanese Ways
They want the Japanese back because that is what they knew. Everyone feels the United States has made mistakes. Each has some point. For instance, when military-licensed taxi drivers and occupied by Okinawans come to a military police gate, the driver is stopped, questioned and often his auto is searched. But if an auto is driven by American citizen or the passenger in the car is obviously American, the car is waved through. Militarily, it's sensible. But to Okinawans, it's discrimination.

He recommends these other steps to avoid over-exposure.

In case of pregnancy, or suspected pregnancy, notify your doctor at once, so he can postpone X rays if possible, or if X rays are necessary, arrange proper shields for the child.

Never insist on X rays being taken just because they are free under a health insurance policy.

When X rays are needed, choose the physician for this as carefully as the physician for the family doctor's advice.

Finally, don't get panicky over radiation hazards: X rays, properly used, are a vital safeguard to health.

However, as one hard-headed American told me: "You can't fool around with democracy. You either got to go all the way or you got to go the other way and run a real authoritarian operation."

In this man's opinion, the U.S. military would be advised to bottle up talk of democracy so long as Okinawa is considered a base whose military potential must absolutely be protected.

Take the case of U.S. high commissioner L. Gen. James Moore in getting rid of former Mayor Kamejiri Senaga, an outright Communist. Moore was under pressure to get Senaga out. The Communist had slipped in with 40 per cent of the popular vote.

LOTS FOR THE SLOTS—In 1957 gadget-loving Americans dropped nearly 2.25 billion dollars' worth of coins into nearly 3.5 million vending machines that dispense everything from cigarettes and soft drinks to complete hot meals, according to the National Automatic Merchandising Association. More than 8 out of 10 American factories use vending machines to provide refreshment service for their workers and 1 out of 5 plants use vending machines exclusively for employee feeding. Thousands of business offices have machines that dispense coffee, pastry, soft drinks and other refreshment items. The 2.25 billion dollar sales volume represents an increase of nearly 500 per cent since 1950.

Woman Gives Birth Unexpectedly

HOUSTON (UP)—Mrs. Ruel Boydston called her husband home from work recently when she began having severe pains, because she was afraid she was coming down with a virus.

By the time her husband arrived, however, she was in great distress. Her husband, very worried by this time, called his boss, who sent his secretary rushing to the house.

When she got there, they called a doctor who told them to call an ambulance and bring Mrs. Boydston to his office for a checkup.

Then, before the ambulance

Business Picture

By UNITED PRESS
The Federal Reserve Board approved a cut in the discount rate from 3 to 2 1/2 per cent by the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia. The other 11 reserve banks are expected to follow suit shortly. At the same time the Chase Manhattan Bank cut its prime rate or minimum rate it charges top commercial borrowers from 4 1/2 to 4 per cent.

The House displayed apparent willingness to approve in full the administration plea for a five-billion-dollar boost in the 275-billion-dollar ceiling on the national debt.

U.S. foreign trade and investment in 1957 will drop moderately below 1957 levels, but will be about on a par with the "very good" 1956 performance, the National Foreign Trade Council forecast. The group predicted exports will drop slightly below 18 billion dollars from the $19,300,000,000 of 1957 and imports will decline to $12,600,000,000 from $13,200,000,000 last year.

Burroughs Corp. announced it has been awarded contracts totaling $37,300,000 to build electronic guidance computers for the Atlas missile. The awards mean that about 1,000 additional workers will be hired at the firm's Tiresman plant in Detroit.

It is only the citizen — the person who pays income taxes — who has the interest sufficient to ask Congressmen and State Legislators to study and remedy these conditions by taking appropriate action on the "Proposed 23rd Amendment" pending in Congress as H. The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution."

Reluctant Pigeons Worry The Used Car Cream Puff World

UNDER A WINTRY BLANKET, these snow covered automobiles in a used car lot symbolize the plight of the second-hand dealers . . . for most of them, the worst season in 10 years.

By WARD CANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA) — The usual frenzy in the world under the bare light bulbs has turned to wonder and worry. Business is not good with the used car dealers. "You could say," one dealer mumbled around his unlighted cigar, "that most of us are having our worst season in 10 years."

Whether or not this news brings a secret satisfaction to the hearts of American motorists, it is a bad sign for the nation's automotive industry, already plagued by foreign competition.

Of the 52 million cars on the roads today, 35 million were bought used. And it is this kind of trading which makes new cars possible.

Most new cars are sold for a trade-in and some cash. The trade-in from the new car.

Board has a right to determine whether or not the company can write at the proposed different rate and maintain its solvency.

Prior to the last Regular Session, certain lines of insurance which could not be placed with companies licensed to do business in Texas were burdened with a 5 per cent premium tax if placed through an agent licensed in Texas to do a surplus lines business.

If such business was written by an unlicensed company direct (without a licensed Texas agent), then no tax on the premium had to be paid. Under the new law, if the business is written direct, the insured is required to pay a tax of 5 per cent of the premium paid, thus equalizing the tax on the insurance regardless of whether it is placed through a licensed Texas agent.

The workmen's compensation laws were amended, one of the principal changes being to increase weekly benefits to injured workmen from $25.00 to $35.00 per week. (This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

With this kind of talk to understand, and words like "honesty" and "quality" on every sign in the lot, it is not surprising to find suspicion among the pigeons.

"So," an industry spokesman explained, "we're really designing a used car when we design a new car."

And if used car trading slows down — as it seems to be doing now — automobile assembly lines all over the country feel the pinch. Even the year's best used car season — spring, which raises the sap in all living things — was not up to par in 1957, and the year's negotiations may not reach 1956's 9,000,000 mark.

The change in this market has not been sudden. Ten years ago it was the used car dealer who said: "Take it or leave it." But today there is a different kind of success story to be told.

The warranty companies, selling guarantees against major mechanical failure in the cars, are reaping a rich profit from dealers. Cost to the business-hungry dealer: more than $40 per car plus the cost of putting it into insurable shape — take it or leave it.

One of the biggest warranty companies in this field is National Bonded Cars, which points with pride to its growth in four years from zero to 80 nationwide offices and about 4,000 participating dealers.

And according to an NBC spokesman, "The market is still growing. We're selling more dealers on our plan every day."

But if business prospects have changed, life on the used car lot is reassuringly the same. It is still necessary to carry a dictionary to understand the lingo of the lot. For example:

Cream Puff: ("This beauty was owned by a retired school teacher who used it only to drive down to the race track.")

Complete B & B: (Brushed and buffed.)

Five S Recondition: ("If it starts, steers, stops — shine it and sell it.")

The Soldier's Farewell: ("It's the real money of a car. But take a sandwich in case you get stuck.")

Wuja Take: (A card stuck in your windshield asking, "Wuja take $7,500 for you old car?")

Pigeon: (A prospective customer, often out for the best price.)

Bird Dog: (A referral agent or commission salesman.)

With this kind of talk to understand, and words like "honesty" and "quality" on every sign in the lot, it is not surprising to find suspicion among the pigeons.

A random sampling of public opinion along New York City's used car district turns up:

1. Dissatisfaction with size, price, chrome, higher horsepower and increased gas needs.
2. Fear that the dealer is not honest.
3. Dread at the prospect of buying a used car with — or without — expert advice.
4. Mistrust of the whole automotive assembly line from stylist to local auto mechanic.

And so, one pigeon who was kicking the tires of a cream puff, summed up the day's — and the season's — opinion of the car market:

"I don't know," he said. "I think I'll wait."

TV's 'Colt .45' Star Has A High IQ

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Wayne Preston, star of TV's "Colt .45," may not be the fastest cowboy on the draw, but he can out-think the rest of 'em with his 145 I. Q.

The rangy (6-ft., 4-in.) actor hunkered down at a table in the Warner Brothers Commissary during the noon break and said flatly: "I don't want to talk about my I. Q."

"Ah, c'mon Wayne," a press agent argued.

"No," said the cotton-topped Preston. "People wouldn't believe it anyhow. There's no way for me to prove my I. Q. is 145."

It was suggested Wayne could illustrate his genius by some mental gymnastics, such as coming up with the square root of 156,482.

"Don't tell him," cried the press agent, knowing Preston couldn't have given the answer in a million years.

Preston clammed up altogether and fell to sawing a New York cut steak, eyeing his companion guardedly. He purposely let his jaw fall slack and assumed a vacant expression.

Here was one Western star who refused to take credit for being

MGM And U-I Battle For Rock Hudson's Services

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Studio warfare exploded this week between mammoth MGM and "little" Universal — International for the services of matinee idol Rock Hudson — with U-I winning out.

Rock concurred. "In addition to Metro, the losers are Hudson and, possibly the movie-going public."

Producer Sam (MGM) Zimbalist decided several months ago that Hudson was the only man to star in his remake of "Ben Hur." Rock concurred.

Zimbalist then asked Universal for the services of matinee idol Rock Hudson — with U-I winning out.

plant seeds to compare ages of formations in Nebraska and Kansas. Hudson is under contract to Universal, and if he is to perform in any money-making pictures, the studio decrees, he will make them on his home lot.

Outraged, Rock threatened to take off on a three-year vacation.

Rock Out Of Picture

Zimbalist appealed to Universal's better (non-monetary) nature. Nothing. So the producer had to get the Rock out of his head.

"Hudson's dying to do the picture," Zimbat says. "And I'm dying to have him. But it looks like we're dead. There's no chance of a deal now."

"We have four other actors in mind, but virile leading men are hard to find these days. There are too few young editions of the Gables, Tracys and Pecks. The actor's studio school of mumblers doesn't produce the true heroic type."

Perkins On Chariot?

Picture, if you can, Anthony Perkins, charging around on a chariot.

Zimbalist mentioned Kirk Douglas, Charlton Heston and others, discarding some because of age, others because of their "All-American boy" appearance.

"This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for an actor," Zimbalist continued. "We're going to spend 10 million dollars on 'Ben Hur,' which will make it one of the most expensive pictures ever made."

"I leave for Rome next week to check on our sets. We plan to begin shooting by the end of April. But we can't cast anyone until after we find our leading man."

Zimbalist compared his search to David O. Selznick's quest for Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind."

"David was lucky in finding an unknown who turned out to be perfect," he said. "Brando would be ideal — he has muscles and talent. Still Hudson was the man we wanted most. He would have made a great Ben Hur."

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
★ a public service feature of the State Bar of Texas ★

The last Regular Session of the Texas Legislature passed seventeen laws designed to further regulate the insurance business. A few of those bills are of particular interest.

Under the old law a company could, in addition to carrying on businesses ordinarily carried on by an insurance company, accept deposits and act as Trustee for the handling of such deposits. The U. S. Trust & Guaranty Company adopted the charter powers granted in the old law, enabling them to accept deposits such as a bank would accept deposits. They used the money for various types of investments. The law has now been amended so as to prevent surety and guaranty companies organized under that particular chapter from acting as Trustees.

Formerly, a fire or casualty insurance company writing health and accident insurance policies could refuse to pay losses without incurring any penalty. But if a life insurance company refused to pay its losses, it incurred a penalty of 12 per cent of the amount due under the policy, plus reasonable attorneys' fees.

Under the new law, the provision for the 12 per cent penalty and attorneys' fees applies to all health and accident policies, regardless of whether they are written in a life company, on the one hand, or a fire or casualty company, on the other.

Under the old law, companies writing fire insurance could not charge a premium in excess of that fixed by the Board of Insurance Commissioners. However, they could write such insurance at a lesser rate than that fixed by the Board.

Now, if a company is to write fire insurance at a rate different from that fixed by the Board, it must file facts and statistics to justify the different rate, and the

UT Geologic History Of 'Caprock'

AUSTIN — A geologic history of the West Texas "caprock" formation that may prove useful for groundwater exploration has been published by the University of Texas Bureau of Economic Geology.

The investigation report should be useful to water searchers for it contains information on High Plains water-bearing formations, Dr. John T. Lonsdale, Bureau director, pointed out.

The publication contributes "basic geological knowledge" of the Plains, Dr. Lonsdale added.

John C. Frye, Illinois State Geological Survey chief, and A. Byron Leonard, University of Kansas zoologist, wrote the report, "Studies of Cenozoic Geology Along Eastern Margin of Texas High Plains, Armstrong to Howard Counties."

Frye and Leonard, who studied extensively the geology of the High Plains in Kansas and Nebraska the last 10 years, extended their investigations into the Texas portion of the High Plains for this report.

The High Plains area is formed by an extensive sheet of sand and gravel called the Ogallala formation. This formation was deposited over much of the region just prior to the Ice Age, when eastward-flowing streams carried great loads of silt, sand and gravel into the area.

Frye and Leonard indicate that this great sheet of stream sediments was attacked by at least five erosion cycles which began one million years ago. This erosion accounts for the relief and sharply dissected edge of the present High Plains. Caliche crusts — so familiar to Texans — formed from this "caprock" during the many dry periods which occurred after the Ogallala sediments were deposited.

In their investigation, Frye and Leonard used fossil snails and seas with Texas formations. Dr. Lonsdale said this use of paleontological analysis is of "special interest to geologists because only extinct mammals have been used by previous investigators in dating these rocks."

Some 'Ingredients' Of Science Talent

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — With so much concern being shown currently about a sense of urgency in developing scientists, let's examine what it takes in the way of raw material from our stockpile of youth.

Just what is science talent? How can you tell a kid may have it?

The answer was sought from Dr. Zachariah Subarsky, who has taught science since 1929, mostly to students aged 14-15. At present he heads an annex of the Bronx High School of Science. Some "ingredients" of science talent, he says, show themselves this way:

- An innate and persistent curiosity. What makes Sammy keep tinkering with electric currents? What drives Alice to the marshes to collect specimens? In some, this drive soon fades; in others it ripens and persists.
- Ability to spot an incongruity or inconsistency. "Why is this window coated with frost, and the other one not?"
- Once having spotted the incongruity, the ability to consider explanations for it that can be tested.
- The tendency to think in quantitative terms. "For instance, in describing a mixing operation, one youngster may tell you merely, 'I use more of this than I do of this.' Another will give you the exact number of drops he uses."
- Mechanical Ability Valuable
- A high degree of mechanical-mindedness; manual dexterity, manipulative ability. The mechanical devices and gadgets of scientists, including such ancient ones as the telescope and the thermometer, have been invaluable.

The Bronx High School of science has about 2,500 students. They must take an entrance examination stressing arithmetic ability, reading comprehension, and interest in science.

A fundamental American problem now, he said, is to establish the idea of seeking an understanding of nature for its own sake — "this goes under the fancy name of basic research."

ATHENS, Greece — A3c Marl-on Musilli of Benwood, W.Va., on being freed after an Athens court sentenced him to 10 months for the traffic death of a Greek war hero, then deducted eight months because he had been under detention for that period and allowed him to pay a $50 fine in lieu of the remaining two months.

"I am very pleased everything is over. I hope to return to West Virginia soon."

FRIENDLY TRAVELER — The latest in doghouses is this "dognik," built by Edward Hauptrecht, a Toledo (Ohio) wholesaler. Built of fiberboard, it affords Hauptrecht's Scottie, "Dodie," plenty of air and an excellent view of its surroundings. Hauptrecht, who likes to build gadgets just for fun, calls this one "friendly traveler." A literal translation of Sputnik, Russia's earth-circling satellite, is "friendly traveler."

The radical new Turbo-Thrust V8 delivers such silken performance, you can scarcely tell when it's idling. Secret of this V8's extra smoothness is a radical new design that puts the combustion chambers in the block.

There's new smoothness in the ride, too, with new Full Coil suspension. And you can have a real air ride *right now, if you wish. Sample this new Chevrolet at your dealer's soon. *Optional at extra cost.
