Plane Crash Kills All Aboard

Instrument Landing Fails; 47 Are Dead

MIDLAND, Mich. (UP) — A four-engine Capital Airlines Viscount, landing on instruments at Tri-City Airport during a snowfall, crashed in a muddy field short of the runway Sunday night, killing all 47 persons aboard.

The instant it touched the ground and firemen had to string hoses more than a thousand feet through a quagmire of mud to reach the scattered and burning wreckage.

The plane was carrying a capacity load of 44 passengers returning home from Easter holiday trips.

It was the first major commercial air disaster in Michigan.

By 4 a. m., 45 bodies had been carried to a temporary morgue set up in a private hangar. State police began trying to identify the bodies, under supervision of coroners William Shea and Harold Cesterberg.

Crew Identified
The crew members were Capt. William Joseph (Joe) Hull, 495 Ridgewood Blvd., Westwood, N.J., a veteran Capital pilot; First Officer or co-pilot Earl M. Binckley, 27, 24 Moss Lane, Levittown, N.Y., and hostess Ruth Benecke, 27, East Aurora, N.Y., a native of Jackson, Mich.

John Weiss, New York, vice president in charge of the advancement of education for the Ford Foundation, was aboard the plane. Names of some aboard were withheld until relatives were notified.

Capital said it was the airline's first crash causing a death since December, 1949. The airline had flown six billion passenger miles since that crash.

The plane was on a flight from New York City to Chicago, with stops at Detroit, Flint, Mick, and the Tri-City Airport.

Capital Airlines at Saginaw and Detroit declined to discuss the possible cause of the crash or to disclose radio communication between the pilot and Capital's Tri-City office on the instrument approach.

The plane was approaching the airport from the southwest on instruments when it apparently underbroke the runway and plunged into a muddy corn field.

Private pilot Harry Shaffer of Flint was sitting in another plane on the runway and saw the crash. "It hit the ground and blew up," he said. "There was a flash and then the flames."

The wreckage burned for more than two hours. Bodies were placed on stretchers and carried through muck and standing water on foot at first. Later they were loaded onto a four-wheel trailer which was pulled to the edge of the airport by a bulldozer.

"There is hardly any sizeable part of the plane that is whole," Saginaw County sheriff's deputy John Robert said. "The wreckage is scattered over several hundred yards in what was a corn field last summer and there are puddles of water and deep muck all over the field."

O. W. Pickard, district sales manager for Capital, said the Viscount was cleared to land and was lined up "perfectly with the runway" (See PLANE Page 3)

3 Die In Wellington Gunbattle
WELLINGTON, Tex. (UP) — Sheriff's deputies today tried to find a reason for a roaring three-cornered gunbattle that killed two men Sunday.

Eugene Woods, 45, of Vinson, Okla., was killed by a 12 gauge shotgun blast that ripped into his right side. John Brock, 55, died with three bullet wounds, "at least one of them," deputies said, fired by his 80-year-old father, Joe Brock.

The battle took place at the Brock farmhouse eight miles west of Wellington.

Collingsworth county Sheriff John Rainey said Woods and the younger Brock had been to Vinson, 20 miles to the east, Saturday night. They returned to the Brock home about 2 a. m. and Woods left about two hours later.

At 7 a. m., while the older Brock was feeding his chickens, the sheriff said Woods returned with a .22 rifle. The older Brock heard shots in the house.

Rainey said Brock ran into the house with his .32 caliber pistol, which he said he carried for "protection," and saw one man bending over the body of another.

He didn't realize it was his son who was standing and shot him. The younger Brock's wife was awakened by the shooting and drove several miles to a telephone to call the sheriff. Later she was hospitalized and authorities were unable to question her.

'Center' Sets Big Effort

An all out effort will be made in the Pampa Youth and Community Center fund-raising campaign when members of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and veteran Campaigners meet in City Hall Tuesday for "Operation Big Push." The "Big Push" will begin with a 10 a. m. coffee in the Palm Room.

Slated to speak are Rev. Woodrow Adcock, Business-Employees Division co-chairman; Gene Hollar Planning Committee chairman; Johnny Campbell, general campaign director; Dr. Joe Donaldson, president of the Center Board and Fred Nesjage, Board vice president.

Rev. Adcock, speaking both as a minister and campaigner, will deliver a short, inspirational talk.

Hollar, whose committee has been operating simultaneously with the three Divisions in the Campaign, will report on the recreational and social facilities that have been planned for the Youth and Community Center.

More Pampa businessmen than ever before are expected to enter the Campaign. The Pampa Chamber of Commerce has supported the Youth and Community Center since the early days of the Campaign. President E. L. Henderson is, himself, a team captain in the Special Gifts Division.

An audited $102,705.50 has been registered by the three Campaign Divisions. The Advance Gifts Division, led by E. E. Shelhamer, has raised $44,182 in pledges and cash. Ed Myatt's Special Gifts Division has secured pledges and cash totaling $41,726 and the men and women of Ray Duncan's Business Employees Division have raised $16,797.50.

A pledge of $5,000 came from the Lovett Estate, C. P. Buckler, a Lovett trustee, presented the check to Shelhamer at last Friday's Report Meeting.

Christians the country over braved rain, snow and cold winds Saturday to answer the joyous peal of church bells summoning them to worship the triumph of Christ's resurrection from the dead.

The weather forced cancellation of many colorful Easter parades, including New York's fashionable Fifth Avenue parade which was washed out by a record Easter rainfall.

But the weather failed to prevent millions of Americans from attending church services as they joined Christians throughout the world in celebrating the holy day which ended the somber 40-day Lenten season.

In Jerusalem, a record throng of thousands of pilgrims arose before dawn in the Holy Land to watch the Easter sun burst over the Mount of Olives in sunrise services overlooking the old, walled city.

Pope Pius XII, in his annual Easter message from Vatican City, urged all nations to "press with confidence the difficult and urgent task" of restoring a just peace in the world.

The 57-year-old pontiff said the task demands "reasonable sacrifices," but the failure of a sincere effort to "scatter the shadows of distrust" would clearly show homage to blame for world disharmony.

Traditional Easter services were held for U.S. troops in Korea, manning the free world's defenses in the uneasy peace in the Far East. About 150 servicemen attended the services in view of Communist troops across the demilitarized zone for the first time since the war ended.

About 50,000 Koreans and 1,500 American servicemen attended sunrise services on Nam Sam Hill overlooking the capital city of Seoul.

President Eisenhower and his family observed Easter by driving from the President's farm in a steady rain to services at the Gettysburg Presbyterian church.

The "first-in-the-nation" sunrise services at Bar Harbor, Maine, were held on the city wharf after ice and snow prevented worshippers from gathering at the usual site on Cadillac Mountain.

In China, Radio Peiping reported that crowds of worshippers defied rain to attend sunrise Easter services in Shanghai and Canton.

Millions of Russian faithful started celebrating Holy Week Sunday, one week behind most of the Christian world. The Russian Orthodox Church marks the celebration a week late because it follows the old calendar.

Unemployment in February totaled 5,175,000. Labor Department officials have forecast that Tuesday's report will show some increase over that figure, but not more than another 200,000.

In a recorded radio interview with Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.), Mitchell said he expected a downturn in unemployment this spring.

Two big non-government organizations meantime called for possibility that a tax cut will be necessary. But he insisted any administrative decision on such a cut will depend on an "appraisal" of the economy during the current month.

"Certainly there is no indication right now that it is necessary," he said.

Other top administration officials and key congressional Democrats have predicted it will be at least mid-May before any tax cut decision is made.

Other economic development.—The Tax Foundation, a private research group, said that states probably will raise their taxes again next year. It said state government are spending nearly four times as much as in 1946 and have reached a "precarious" financial situation.

Forest Fire Near Bastrop Subsides

BASTROP, Tex. (UP) — A forest fire which raged out of control for 24 hours after a campfire ember touched it off subsided today after burning nearly half of the "Lost Pines of Texas" in Bastrop State Park.

Firefighters from Bergstrom Air Force Base at nearby Austin and the Bastrop fire department left Sunday night. The fire was confined to two small, isolated spots: one on the east side of the park and one on the north side near SH 21.

The fire started late Saturday morning and burned more than a thousand acres of the 2,100-acre park. Whipped by high winds, the fire moved fast and left many of the tops of the 25-30 foot tall pines undamaged.

However, many of the pines were stripped of foliage and stood like gaunt skeletons. The area is called the "Lost Pines of Texas" because it contains nearly all the pines in a 100-mile radius. Most of Texas' pine trees are in the eastern section.

The fire came to within 100 yards of the caretaker's residence but was turned back before it touched off the building. It also threatened the area where the Western League are in spring training.

The baseball players' assistance offered their assistance but it was not needed, Mrs. G. M. Marbury, wife of the park manager, said. She said most of the fighting was done with bulldozers and other heavy equipment, cutting fire lanes.

Deer, raccoon, foxes, squirrels and rabbits fled from the fire. Firemen said the loss of animal life was probably small since there was no fence to contain them.

Mrs. Marbury said the fire, apparently started when a guest at one of the cabins took his sons into the woods to show them the art of making a campfire. He made the fire and then poured dirt on it and piled rocks on it to put it out, but a burning pine needle apparently was not extinguished and started the fire.

Urges Release of Funds
—Five House Democrats, headed by housing Subcommittee Chairman Albert Rains (D-Ala.), sent President Eisenhower a telegram urging him to release 10 million dollars for city slum clearance. They said the money already has been appropriated.

—Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla.) announced he would head a Senate drive to repeal the 3 per cent excise tax on freight and the 10 per cent passenger tax.

—Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.) said he thought the recession could be stopped without tax cuts. He said a proposed temporary cut in withholding taxes would merely "put more money into savings accounts," not into purchasing.

Solon Asserts Ike's Plan Makes 'Czar'

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Democratic whip Mike Mansfield said Sunday President Eisenhower's "drastic" defense reorganization plan would make the defense secretary a "czar" who could force creation of a single military service.

He also charged the plan would "decrease cooperation, increase rivalries and deter competition" within the military establishment.

He predicted Congress eventually will agree on some "compromise."

Mansfield's statement emphasized the prospect of a long battle in both House and Senate over the President's plan to give the defense secretary full control over men, money and defense strategy.

The President already has ordered Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy to carry out eight steps which can be taken without legislative action. Among other things he told McElroy to proceed at once with creation of "truly unified" ground-sea-air commands.

Mansfield praised the Chief Executive for "laying his cards on the table" and said "there is room for honest men to differ."

"The lines are now drawn in a struggle of great Constitutional significance."

The staff of the Senate Armed Services Committee has been instructed to analyze the administration's bill as soon as it is submitted — probably in a week or 10 days. By that time the House Armed Services Committee will have begun hearings on an alternative plan proposed by its chairman, Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga.).

Mansfield backs the Vinson bill.

Train Roars Around Curve, Kills 5 Children On Trestle

MACDONA, Tex. (UP) — The Southern Pacific Sunset Limited roared around a bend northeast of here Sunday on its Easter Day run to El Paso and killed five children who were snapping pictures from a railroad trestle.

Three of the children were knocked over the railing into the Medina River 15 feet below the bridge. The other two were found on the three-fourth mile long bridge by their parents, horribly mangled.

Engineer J. W. Euforth, speeding his 12-car passenger train around a bend at 60 miles an hour, couldn't see the children until it was too late. He yanked frantically on his horn and slammed on the emergency brakes at the same time and the train stopped with two cars still on the bridge.

On Easter Picnic
The children, ranging from 11 to 16 years old, were on an Easter picnic with their parents below the bridge. Their parents warned them not to go up on the bridge because the bend in the tracks made it too dangerous.

But they went up on the bridge and started taking pictures. When they saw the engine bearing down on them they froze, Euforth said.

Rise In Employment Is Predicted

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell predicts a government report to be released Tuesday will show employment rose in March and "unemployment didn't change much from February."

"This to me is a heartening sign," he said.

Unemployment in February totaled 5,175,000. Labor Department officials have forecast that Tuesday's report will show some increase over that figure, but not more than another 200,000.

In a recorded radio interview with Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.), Mitchell said he expected a downturn in unemployment this spring.

FIRE DAMAGES PHARMACY

This back room in the Modern Pharmacy, 117 W. Kingsmill, received heavy damage in a fire last night. The blaze started around 9:40 p. m. and Pampa firemen had "the situation under control," by about 1:30 a. m. The front of the store received smoke and heat damage and Chester Thompson, owner, estimated damages at about $35,000. (News Photo)

Pharmacy Is Damaged By Fire, Smoke

Fire broke out in the Modern Pharmacy, 117 W. Kingsmill, last night, burning the back of the store and causing heavy smoke and heat damage to the front of the store. Damage was estimated at about $35,000 by Chester Thompson, owner.

The fire started about 9:40 last night and was brought under control at 1:30 this morning by the Pampa fire department.

Firemen kept the blaze confined to the rear of the store, where most of the damage was done. Most of the damage to the front of the store was caused by smoke and heat.

The Court House Cafe, located next door to the Pharmacy, and the Citizens Bank and Trust Company, located two doors down from the Pharmacy, received some smoke damage from the fire. Both places were open for business this morning.

Legal Process Due In Actress Daughter Case

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — The slow legal process to determine what penalty — if any — actress Lana Turner's 14-year-old daughter Cheryl must pay for the butcher-knife murder of her mother's lover was set in motion today.

The girl waited in Juvenile Hall for a hearing — either late today or Tuesday — to determine whether she shall be released to her parents or kept in custody.

Later, at another session, the Juvenile Court will decide whether she shall be tried for plunging an 8-inch butcher knife into handsome Johnny Stompanato, 32-year-old underworld figure, last Friday night.

Cheryl said she stabbed the dapper "Adonis" of the gang which used to surround former gambler Mickey Cohen because he had threatened to disgrace her glamorous mother.

She was held at the Beverly Hills Jail and then placed in custody in Juvenile Hall Saturday. Miss Turner and Cheryl's father, restaurateur Steve Crane, visited her Sunday.

The 35-year-old actress conferred later in the day at her home with famous film land attorney Jerry Glester, her press agent and Crane's lawyer, Arthur Crowley, a counsel in the sensational Confidential magazine trial.

Glester refused to discuss the case other than to say that it was a clear case of "justifiable homicide" and that there was no justification for a trial.

Stompanato's death ended a year in which the former Cohen bodyguard was almost a constant companion of glamorous Lana, who was wed four times.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have asked my girl to marry me and she said yes. Our problem is that she is very superstitious and does not want to be married in Tombstone, Arizona. She says she does not want that name on her marriage certificate. I know it is silly, but what can I do about it?

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 years old and a Junior in College. I have a pretty face (people tell me) but I have trouble getting dates because I have prematurely grey hair. When I am out with a boy I feel that people think he is out with his mother. Some friends tend to dye my hair and others say leave it alone. I would like your advice.

DEAR ABBY: The other day I read your column and a cat owner said she owned a "Thoroughbred Siamese Cat." Abby, I am sorry to say but my father says there is no such thing as a Thoroughbred Siamese Cat or any other kind of a Thoroughbred cat and he is a vet and he ought to know. It is just like saying a Holstein Horse. A Thoroughbred is a breed of horse. Thank you.

DEAR ABBY: I have nine children and work very hard raising them with no hot water in the house. I chop my own wood and can all my own vegetables and fruits and also run some of the seasonal farm equipment. We have 200 layers and four milkers which I care for. I have fed as many as 14 farm hands at once. My problem is that my husband will go out and stay all night. He says no other woman could take my place.

Rain Falls
The ceiling was "officially" 900 feet and the visibility was three miles at the time of the crash.

But rain had been falling all during Easter Sunday afternoon and evening and it had turned to snow.

A spokesman at the Civil Aeronautics Authority office here said the pilot was in radio contact with the Capital office her on his instrument approach.

"We don't have a control tower here," the spokesman said. "The pilot gets his clearance for an instrument landing from the CAA in Detroit. Then he works through his own company by radio."

Capital officials in New York said the plane was supposed to have left La Guardia Airport in New York at 6 p.m. e.s.t., but was delayed for an hour and 20 minutes and finally took off from Newark Airport.

Many of the persons who were scheduled to be on the flight did not make it because of the switch of airports.

The plane was 52 minutes late arriving in Detroit where 19 passengers were picked up.

All Dams and Reservoirs in California Valley Said Full

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—All dams and reservoirs in California's Central Valley river system were critically full today and state officials warned that new heavy rains in the next 48 hours would bring inevitable flood disaster.

The weather forecast was hopeful — only showers were predicted for today. But more than 100,000 acres of fertile farmland lay under water, 2,000 persons still were homeless and 12 were dead by the last of a series of disastrous spring rains storms. Property damage in the last week alone was estimated at more than 12 million dollars.

Over the Sierra, highway crews succeeded in reopening transcontinental Highway 40. However, the Donner Pass highway was restricted to cars, buses and light trucks. The other major cross-mountain route, U. S. 50, remained closed. U. S. 40-A was open to limited traffic.

A break in the levee 14 miles south of Modesto resulted in the flooding of about nine square miles.

Officials estimated that more than 80,000 acres were flooded in Merced County and 8,000 in Madera County further south.

Rebels In Indonesia Expect Attack

SINGAPORE (UP)—Indonesian rebels manned machine guns overlooking the beaches of Padang today in expectation of a Jakarta government invasion aimed at wiping out their shrinking position in central Sumatra.

United Press correspondent Robert Udick reported from the rebel capital at Bukittinggi that rebel troops fully expected at least four government battalions to try to capture Padang, the major rebel-held port.

He said revolutionaries clad in green jungle uniforms were melting into the forests along the coast to try to defend against an invasion which could crush the whole rebellion against the Jakarta government.

Outnumbered revolutionary troops reported they had recaptured half of the strategic Lubukdjambi road junction, gateway to their mountain stronghold, and were holding their defenses on other sectors.

The rebels also reported stalling the government drive on Bukittinggi from the oil sectors of Pekanbaru despite government use of heavy mortars and airplanes.

The United States has previously denied such charges and pointed out it was not selling arms to either side. Reports Saturday from Jakarta said the Indonesian government was turning to the Communist bloc for aid.

US Dropped Propaganda Ball On Test Suspension

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government's foreign propaganda chief hints the administration muffed a chance to take the edge off Russia's big nuclear propaganda coup. He says he'll take steps to see the ball isn't dropped in the future.

The implied criticism of the administration's handling of Moscow's announcement of a halt in Soviet nuclear tests was made on Sunday night by George V. Allen, director of the U.S. Information Agency, on the NBC-TV program "Meet the Press."

Allen said he was on his way back from a trip to the Far East and didn't know about the prospective Soviet announcement until he returned although the State Department already had "a strong indication" the Moscow move was on the way.

"They knew it and I found out when I got back here that they could have done anything 'propagandawise' in advance that would have 'taken the edge' off Russia's announcement, Allen replied.

"I think maybe there was, myself. It is easy to look back on things now, of course. But it seems to me that we might have."

Queried by the United Press on what steps might have been taken, Allen said he preferred "not to expand on that any more at this time — it's hanging over things already done."

There have been reports the President might bring back into his administration a top-level adviser on psychological warfare or propaganda. Asked if such an adviser to the President or secretary of state would be desirable, Allen said he thought it "might be a very good idea."

Negroes Protest Courts

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP)—More than 2,000 Negroes, dressed in Easter finery, and many of them carrying Bibles, gathered in front of the Alabama Capitol Sunday in orderly protest against "miscarriage of justice" in the courts of the South.

The demonstrators cheered a speech by the Rev. Martin Luther King, one of the most powerful figures in the Southern Negro's integration crusade.

"We are here to repent for the constant miscarriage of justice that we confront every day in our courts," King said.

Focal point of the demonstration was the electrocution last week of convicted rapist Jeremiah Reeves, 22, Negro jazzband drummer who was arrested on the charges when he was 17 years old.

"Full grown white men committing comparable crimes against Negro girls are rarely ever punished, and are never given the death penalty or even a life sentence," King said.

Castro Strike Said Gripping Camaguey

HAVANA (UP)—Rebel leader Fidel Castro's revolutionary general strike was reported today to have paralyzed the rail hub of Camaguey — a move that would cut Cuba in two and isolate the eastern third of the island.

The end of the Easter holidays was expected to signal the start of all out civil war and the long threatened general strike was slowly becoming effective, largely through the creeping fear that has infiltrated every city.

Santiago de Cuba, principal city of rebel-infested Oriente Province, was dying, almost dead. Paralysis was setting in there because people were afraid to go to work, afraid of violence lurking in every area.

An army communique today said that government forces shot down a C-46 plane Saturday carrying arms to the rebels. The communique said the plane crashed in flames and its occupants were killed.

The communique also clarified an announcement of Saturday that one of the three rebel groups led by Fidel Castro had been defeated and isolated in the northern portion of Oriente Province.

The army said the group was led by Raul Castro, brother of the rebel leader. It reported seven rebels killed, more than 80 rebels captured and the remainder of the force scattered and isolated from its main body in the Sierra Maestra Mountains.

"I think maybe there was, myself. It is easy to look back on things now, of course. But it seems to me that we might have."

Queried by the United Press on what steps might have been taken, Allen said he preferred "not to expand on that any more at this time — it's hanging over things already done."

Palmer Is Top-Money Pro Golfer

By TOM PRICE
 United Press Sports Writer
 AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—Careful study, plus an argument that he won, and a putt that he hit "too hard" all added up today to a green coat for Arnold Palmer, symbolic of his victory in the 22nd Masters golf tournament.

Palmer was also $11,250 richer with the winner's share of the fat test Master's purse in history. The sum pushed the 28-year-old La-Trobe, Pa., professional well ahead of the field in the money-winning category.

Palmer's steady 73 in Sunday's final round of the tournament gave him a 72-hole card of 284, four strokes better than par, but barely one stroke ahead of defending champion Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., and underrated Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex. Ford and Hawkins each missed birdie putts on the 18th green that would have thrown the tournament into an 18-hole playoff.

Palmer explained his victory by saying he studied the course and the way the past Masters' winners had played it.

Watched for Chances
 "I noticed they too chances on certain holes and on others they didn't," he said. "I played the same way."

He said his biggest gamble was on the monster, 485-yard 13th hole with its par-five green guarded by a deep ravine. He decided to try for the green with a three wood on his second shot rather than playing it short of the ditch and safe. His superb shot was 20 feet to the left of the pin, leaving him a downhill putt.

Instead of being content to roll the ball close to the cup for a sure birdie, Palmer decided again to go for broke.

"I hit the putt a little to hard," he said, "but it went in" for an eagle three.

Actually, the prize Masters plum was both won and lost Sunday on the treacherous 13th green. Ford was also on the green in two and had a much easier putt than Palmer had a few minutes earlier.

However, Ford three-putted from 11 feet and took a par instead of the eagle that would have won him the tournament or the birdie that would have put him and Palmer into a playoff.

The three-putt miseries also plagued pre-tournament favorite Ken Venturi of San Francisco. It took him a total of 12 putts to get down on four holes—the 6th, 14th, 15th and 16th. Despite his troubles on the greens, Venturi, who played with Palmer, posted an even par 71 and a four-day score of 284.

Putted Out of Game
 "I thought I played well but I putted my way right out of the title," the slim, 27-year-old San Franciscan said. "After I three-putted three greens in a row, the only way I could have won was for the whole field to drop dead."

Asked about the controversial

ruling which gave Palmer a par three instead of a double bogey five on the 12th hole, Venturi said "I knew he could lift the ball legally and I played every hole after that as if he had gotten a three."

Palmer's tee shot on the short, 153-yard hole landed in the bank between the far side of the green and a sand trap. Heavy recent rains had washed sand out of the trap onto the bank and Palmer's ball was buried in the muck.

Two U.S. Golf Association officials ordered Palmer to play the lie. He flubbed an attempt to dig the ball out and wound up with a five. However, he played the lie under protest and dropped a provisional ball which he sank with a chip and a putt for par.

Scoreboards on the course showed a five, but were changed to three after a rules committee decision. Palmer, meanwhile, was banging home his eagle on the very next hole.

Kerslake Remains In Amateur Loop

By SCOTT BAILLIE
 United Press Sports Writer
 SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Wrestling is just a hobby to Bill Kerslake, the 312-pound titan of America's amateur mat world, and so the professional promoters will beckon in vain for him to join their carnival.

"I've had offers to run pro but why should I?" asks Kerslake in a voice that is surprisingly thin for a frame so fully packed.

"That would mean going from one town to another and probably not making too much money at that. Amateur wrestling is fun and I intend to keep it that way."

Wins Six in Row
 He won his sixth consecutive

AAU crown Friday night, posting four straight falls before Gordon Rooster of Tulsa's YMCA held him to a draw.

Kerslake also hung onto the Cross-Country championship Saturday, 28-22, the four days he competed here. He registered six falls, one decision and one held to one draw.

Bill's next stop is Norman, Okla., where an all-star United States team opens a three-match series with Russia April 11.

Kerslake, 28, is well-fixed in the grey matter department, having a degree in chemical engineering from Case Tech. His regular job is with the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics in Cleveland where he is on a staff which experiments with space flight engines.

Eliminated by Champion
 Big Bill failed to win a medal during the 1956 Olympics but had the satisfaction of being eliminated by the eventual champion, Turkey's Hamid Kaplan.

Although he now weighs well over 300, Bill agrees that his best wrestling weight would be around 280 or 285.

"But that calls for an awful lot of training and road work," he smiles. "I love the wrestling but the conditioning part of it gets a little tiresome."

"What's your best grip?" he laughs. "My weight, of course."

Bo Winger Had Troubles On One Hole

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—Bo Winger of Odessa, Tex., one of the last professionals picked for the 22nd Masters golf tournament, started the final day's action only two strokes behind the leaders, but the roof fell in.

Winger, with a 54-hole total of 213—three strokes below par—still was scrapping for the title through 10 holes Sunday when he met Winger's Waterloo, an experience that no doubt will go down in history among the Masters' oddities.

Winger's tee shot on the par four, 445-yard hole landed in tractor tracks in a roadway crossing the fairway. He asked rules committee officials if he could move the ball without penalty and was told he had to play the lie.

His second shot plunked into the left of the green and Winger had to take a penalty stroke and drop another ball on the bank. His next shot zoomed off the green and into Rae's Creek on the far side—another penalty.

By this time, Winger was lying five, but his troubles were far from over. He trapped his approach—now lying six—and a blasted out onto the green in seven.

Two putts and he was down, a fantastic five-over-par nine that blasted Winger right out of the top money winners in the Masters. He wound up with 79 for a 72-hole card of 292.

 The bell rings in another week and some of the real "pros," like Dick Donovan of the White Sox, already have indicated they'll come out fighting.

Donovan, a 16-game winner last year, had been taking his lumps lately and didn't like it. The Phillies raked him for six runs in three innings on March 27 and he blew a six-run lead against the Yankees last week.

"Worried?" someone asked Al Lopez.

"Not yet," replied the White Sox skipper.

But Donovan was concerned and said so.

"Darn right I'm worried," he said, "and I'm going to do something about it in a hurry."

Does Something
 He did Sunday with a fine seven-inning scoreless stint against the St. Louis Cardinals that paid off in a 4-1 victory at Houston, Tex.

Just to add a little icing, Donovan slammed a homer and a single that accounted for two of Chicago's runs.

A pair of Red Sox pitchers, Frank Sullivan and Tom Brewer, also gave evidence they are ready for the start of the season by combining in a five-run triumph over the slumping Tigers. It was Boston's 12th victory in the last 13 games and Detroit's sixth straight loss.

Erskine Back In Top Spot For Dodgers

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—Veteran Carl Erskine has pitched his way back into the Los Angeles Dodgers' starting rotation.

The 31-year-old right-hander was a definite question mark when he first reported to the Dodgers' spring training site at Vero Beach, Fla., six weeks ago. Plagued by arm trouble most of last year, there was even a question as to whether he would be kept by the club this season.

Erskine, probably the most popular member on the Dodgers' roster, worked harder than anyone else in camp and if there was any remaining question about his arm, he eliminated it Sunday in an 11-5 victory over the world champion Milwaukee Braves at Fort Worth.

Don Newscomb started for the Dodgers and was socked for six hits and four runs in four innings. Erskine then took over and the only run scored off him in the five innings he worked was a pinch homer by Bob Hazle in the seventh. The Braves were able to collect only two other hits off him.

Russell May Be Out For Final Games

Boston (UP)—Boston Celtics pivot man Bill Russell may be finished for the remainder of the playoff games, according to Dr. Edward R. Brown, the team's physician.

Russell was taken to Winthrop Hospital Sunday night shortly after the Celtics returned home from St. Louis. His ankle was heavily taped and he obviously could put little weight on it.

"From the looks of his right ankle sprain," observed Brown, "I would be surprised if he could play in a seventh game. It's a very bad sprain."

Despite the loss of the big center, who virtually controls the boards when he's in action, the Boston Club didn't appear to be discouraged.

"Losing Russell hurts a lot in rebounding," admitted Bob Cousy. "But if everyone is around that board to help out, I think we can get our share of the rebounds. It will eliminate our usual fast break almost entirely, but we took good shots the other night and we can do the same thing again," he said.

The Celtics evened the National Basketball Association's championship playoff series at two games apiece Saturday night with a 109-98 victory over the Hawks. The next game will be played here Wednesday with the sixth in St. Louis and the seventh back in Boston, if it is needed.

Long, Hard Drive Got Sime Famous Victory Over Morrow

By ED FITE
 United Press Sports Writer
 BIG SPRING, Tex. (UP)—Duke's Dave Sime proved to Olympic spring champion Bobby Morrow that you can't waste even split seconds at the starting blocks and hope to catch the streaking Blue Devil within 100 short yards.

Sime gave Morrow a sound beating here last Saturday in what was billed as the spring race of the century although the 9.6 seconds clocking was slow for two sprinters who have ripped off the distance in world record time of 9.3.

Morrow was left at the post and had so much trouble fighting a vicious, sand-blasting 20-mile an hour crosswind that he not only failed to overhaul the flying red head from Duke but also couldn't catch up with his own teammate, Bill Woodhouse, who finished second.

It was a "comedon for Morrow, who hasn't been speaking in terms with second place but twice in his collegiate career prior to his loss here.

Sime and Woodhouse seemed to roar out of the blocks together and the slender, 155-pound Woodhouse kept pace inches behind Sime for better than two-thirds of the way, while Morrow straggled to catch up.

Sime, beaten by Woodhouse in a morning preliminary, pulled away slightly in the final few strides and was about half a yard ahead of the bespectacled Woodhouse at the tape with Morrow just inches further away.

Morrow said the powerful winds bothered him, but Sime said he had learned his lesson from the morning race when similar crosswinds had troubled him.

"I said to myself to carry my drive longer and lower," Sime said. "I kept driving for 40 or 50 yards before straightening up, then when I did I had the momentum to keep it up."

Funk, Savoldi Top Tonight's Mat Card

Dory Funk, one of the Panhandle's top wrestlers, will meet an outstanding grappler from the east tonight in the main event of the Sportsman Club wrestling as he goes against Angelo Savoldi. For the opener Killer Joe Christie will meet the Great Bolo. The curtain raiser will go only one fall, limited to 20 minutes of action.

The matches will also feature local referees, as Lynn Gervitz will officiate the men's contests and Joan "Cerie" Harris will be in charge of the semi-final.

Globetrotters Trounce All-Stars

ST. LOUIS (UP)—The Harlem Globetrotters left for Des Moines today after trouncing the College All-Stars, 72-63, here Sunday night in a game, dull in play and comedy. The 18-game series now is 6-2, trotters.

A meager crowd of 1500 missed the usual run and nearly missed Meadowlark Lemon, who played briefly before the half ended and the last three minutes of the game.

Roman Turmon led the Trotters with 27 points, mostly from under the basket. Texas Harrison added 14 more.

Minnesota's George Kline scored 10 points, the tops for the collegians. Guy Rodgers, Larry Heddon and John Crawford got nine apiece.

The All-Stars led at first, by 4-0 and 6-4 until Turmon started hitting.

The fun finally started when Lemon entered the game for some fancy shots and flashy board work. The Trotters were ahead 32-25 at the half.

The game was a monopoly by the smooth-working comedy team after that.

Dupas Vs. Fuentes Tonight

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Ralph Dupas, ranking No. 1 lightweight contender, was a 3-1 favorite today in a scheduled 10-round fight tonight against welterweight Ramon Fuentes of Los Angeles.

The fight was postponed once when Dupas reported for a pre-fight physical with a virus, and threatened with cancellation when an appellate court ruled the city of New Orleans could not be ordered to issue Dupas a white birth certificate.

Dupas, who must weigh in at 135 for a title bout with lightweight champion Joe Brown in Houston, Tex., May 7, was expected to tip the scales at 141 for tonight's fight, giving Fuentes a seven-pound weight advantage.

Fuentes said he had been in daily training here for the past month as a result of the postponement.

The Pampa Daily News YOUR FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is not license. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Two-Party System (Ninth of a Series)

There is no other way of explaining the phenomenon. Good men do find their way into government. But having gotten there, they must either perform their function or resign.

Over a period of time these laws and enforcements build up a body of resistance. The oppression mounts. It may become a public scandal. Finally, the "ins" are ousted and the other party assumes power.

Immediately the process repeats but with alternate emphasis. Those who are "in" become "outs." And the newly-hired "ins" go to work to cut their friends free from oppression and to visit their vengeance upon those who subscribed to the beliefs of the former "ins."

In our own time we have seen one curious variance occurring to this otherwise monotonous and easily predictable routine. The "ins" and the "outs" have performed a merger. The party out of power. And the reason for this merger is self-evident. The government has in itself grown so large and so formidable, that it tends to absorb any and all politically interested persons, regardless of party affiliation.

Of course there are those who have felt that elections were for the purpose of establishing policies, rather than for the purpose of selecting men. These persons, always a minority, vote for the statement made by certain politicians and against the statement made by others.

But again, this is simply the mechanics, the "advertising." The purpose of an election is to select men, not policies. And in the end, the men are selected, after which the policies are adopted.

But the policies, whether from party one or party two are more nearly identical than opposite. For it is the business of government to employ force and to compel obedience. And it is the business of any politician within a government, regardless of his party, to employ government as an agency of force and coercion; to compel obedience and uniformity; and to punish any individual who does not go along with those mandates imagined as necessary by the men in power.

So, now we must ask the inevitable question. We have considered the situation that must ensue if we presume that the voting process ALWAYS provides us with the best possible government employees. But, what if the voting process does NOT guarantee the selection of superior men?

In this case then, our preoccupation with the polls is simply a false reliance upon a majority. And since a majority is nothing but the amassing of power by virtue of superior numbers, are we not extolling the alleged virtue of might, instead of right?

Either the voting process will provide for us the best men in government, or it will not. Whichever way we choose to believe, we meet the inescapable result. The result is that government has the tendency of growing large and unmanageable and in the end of turning to rend and devour even its most devoted followers.

Foreign Aid When the government has the power to tell a producer whether he has to pay taxes on the money he spends for education, then the government in the final analysis is the judge of what education is.

The case in point is that the Internal Revenue has ruled that the attempt to raise $1,700,000 for the Committee to promote Foreign Aid is tax-free while the group known as Pro-America, that tries to get people to believe in the ideologies of the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights, is not tax-free.

National Chairman, J. Bracken Lee, of "For America" on Feb. 4, 1958, wrote Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson on this subject. I am quoting from this letter:

"FOR AMERICA is amazed with the procedure which it is reported that our government is restoring in order to raise funds for Eric Johnston to promote foreign aid. I refer to the Ted Lewis Column of the January 29, New York Daily News, (attached). This column discloses that it is a White House plan to raise $1,700,000 for Eric Johnston to influence our people so that they will, in turn, influence the Congress to pass necessary appropriations for the continuance of foreign aid.

"As the Daily News reports there is the fascinating teaser—there will be two privately-financed organizations, each so contrived that contributors to the kitty will get tax breaks. The report continues: 'The contribution can be listed in tax returns as a normal deductible "business expense." At least this is the informal ruling of the Internal Revenue Service.'

"May I invite your attention, Mr. Secretary, to a previous determination of the Internal Revenue Service on activities of a political nature and foreign aid. It is contained in a letter from the U. S. Treasury Department, dated Sept. 19, 1955, addressed to FOR AMERICA. This letter states: Your (FOR AMERICA) purposes and objectives are primarily directed to molding public opinion to an acceptance of your views, and bear more resemblance to an enterprise whose principal activity is the influencing of public opinion, than to an exclusively educational project. Also, an organization operated for the purpose of promoting principles of Government or engaged in activities pertaining to the conduct or form of Government or seeking to effect systems of administration, is engaged in activities of a political nature. Activities such as . . . advocating a reduction on all pending Congressional spending plans with particular reference to foreign aid . . . are of this character.

"It is, therefore, held . . . that contributions made to you (FOR AMERICA) are not deductible by the donors in computing their taxable income. . . .

"How then, Mr. Secretary, can contributions enabling Eric Johnston to influence the American people, through their Congress, to support foreign aid, possibly be tax exempt. It would appear, Mr. Secretary, under the Internal Revenue Service 1955 ruling that contributions to organizations opposed to foreign aid are not deductible, but under this recent determination contributions to organizations endorsing foreign aid are deductible.

"If this reported determination of the Internal Revenue Service on tax exempt contributions for Eric Johnston is allowed to stand, it will characterize our government as dictatorial and wielding absolute power.

"It would be a flagrant violation of justice. I am certain that many who shoulder heavy tax burdens by making material non-deductible contributions to worthy causes be warranted in taking legal steps to protect themselves.

"May we please be favored with your prompt reply."

On Feb. 24 Mr. Lee had received no reply to the above letter.

It is terrible for the government to have the power to penalize one group by taxation and let those who advocate policies of the Administration go free, and yet we talk about a free America when the government has almost the same power, from a material standpoint, to discriminate in the United States as they do in any dictatorial country.

So far there has been a total of 59 known Russian tests of atomic and hydrogen weapons and devices. The AEC has publicly reported 38 of them. But the Kremlin has announced only a few, and none of the recent series — which preceded the "ginmick" scheme to halt further tests.

The Soviet people haven't the slightest inkling this propaganda maneuver came on the heels of 14 of the most powerful and sinister nuclear tests in the brief history of these cataclysmic weapons.

There have been 124 U.S. nuclear explosions, including the two bombs WHEN AND WHAT — The AEC on Japan.

WHEN AND WHAT — The AEC report implies clearly the Reds are abreast of, and possibly even ahead of, the U.S. in nuclear warheads, particularly for ballistic missiles.

The Soviet definitely achieved this objective in the recent series of tests, which began August 22, 1957, and concluded on March 22, 1958 — just nine days before Foreign Minister Gromyko's hooplah "no more tests" gesture in the Supreme Soviet.

U.S. experts believe this explains those unusual "double shots" on March 14 and February 27. These tests were purposely speeded up to meet the propaganda time-table.

Of the Russians' 14 tests during the seven-month period, six were in the megaton range. Another "shot" was a medium-size atomic bomb; most likely a weapon for jet bombers.

The Arctic Circle was the site of the March 14 "double shot." From this and other information, it is deduced these tests involved an anti-missile missile.

The U.S. will test such a missile at Eniwetok this spring. The February 27 "double shot" was at the usual Siberian proving ground. Both "double shots" were in the kiloton range; that is, these weapons had a destructive power, equivalent to thousands of tons of TNT.

Russians Test Two Giant ICBM Nuclear Warheads

WASHINGTON — Russia's recent series of nuclear tests included two giant warheads for 5,000-mile intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Each in the megaton destructive range, equivalent to millions of tons of TNT, these Soviet warheads were more powerful than any weapon of this type so far fired by the U.S. and Britain.

Comparable warheads are to be tested in "Operation Hardtack," the new U.S. series slated to get underway later this month in the South Pacific.

This ominous military factor was one of the major determinants in that White House decision, which Secretary Dulles revealed to newsmen, not to beat the Soviet to the propaganda punch by suspending the scores of U.S. tests planned for this year. Following the largely hydrogen "shots" at Eniwetok, a series of atomic detonations are scheduled at the Nevada proving ground in August.

An Atomic Energy Commission report on the Soviet's recently-concluded tests strongly indicates the key role they played in the decision by President Eisenhower and his principal advisers to proceed with the projected U.S. tests.

Other determining factors disclosed in this AEC report to the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee are: One of the Reds' explosions was in the 15 megaton range (15,000,000 tons of TNT.) This hydrogen weapon is in the same category as the mightiest ever fired by the U.S. That was on March 1, 1954, and was in the 17-18 megaton range.

On two different occasions — February 27 and March 14 — the Russians fired "double shots," that is, they tested two nuclear weapons on one day. The U.S. has never done this. It has never detonated more than one atomic or hydrogen weapon in a single day.

The U.S. detection system is now so comprehensive and effective that every one of this series of Soviet tests was recorded and evaluated on the same day it took place.

So far there has been a total of 59 known Russian tests of atomic and hydrogen weapons and devices. The AEC has publicly reported 38 of them. But the Kremlin has announced only a few, and none of the recent series — which preceded the "ginmick" scheme to halt further tests.

McLemore Has The Green Stamp Fever

I have Green Stamp fever. I caught it when I bought a sack of flour at a supermarket a few weeks ago.

Along with the flour the cashier handed me a sheet of the deadly stamps, a book to paste them in, and a handsome catalogue filled with pictures of articles I could get when I had filled a sufficient number of books.

Mine was a severe case from the start. The stuff hit me hard. I glanced through the catalogue while going through the door, and turned right around and went back and bought three more sacks of flour.

My eye had fastened on a power lawnmower (with seat) and I saw right away that I'd never live to get it by buying one sack of flour at a time. I was tempted to draw every penny out of my savings account and buy every sack of flour in the store.

Since that day the Green Stamp fever has gripped me like a vise. I am like a man possessed. When I heard that there were filling stations which gave the stamps, my temperature shot up five degrees, and now I drive miles out of my way when the gas gauge gets low. I have thought of installing a gasoline drum in the back seat so I could buy more gasoline and get more stamps.

When I heard that some drug stores also gave out the stamps, I began taking a cough so I could buy cough syrup, and even went

THE NATION'S PRESS

GADABOUT LAWMAKERS N.Y. Daily News

We have 531 members of Congress—96 Senators and 435 Representatives—and in 1957, 159 of them took trips abroad, all but a thimbleful at the taxpayers' expense. Some of these jaunts were necessary, but most of them were joyrides, with the costs carefully concealed from the taxpayers. If Congress in the upcoming session will nerve itself to end this annual robbery, it will deserve well of the Republic.

TOMPKINSVILLE, Ky., News: "Some five hundred people will be killed in the next ten days by automobiles in this country. Maybe, if some people knew the victims they would advocate safe and sane driving."

and had an old prescription, one that I haven't needed for years, filled.

I have demanded of Mary that she put off buying a hat until she locates a milliner who gives stamps, and I have put off taking Charlie to a vet until I find an animal hospital that issues the things.

No miser ever poured over his gold more than I do over my stamp books. At night, when Mary has gone to bed, and Charlie is curled up on his pillow, I get out my books and count them over and over. I dream of the day when I will have enough of them to get the power mower (with seat) and even have enough left over to get a card table, a "His and Her" barbecue apron and hat, and a bicycle.

It's maddening for a man with Green Stamp fever to realize how slowly the books accumulate. I would swear I have bought enough staples and enough gasoline to have a bushel of books, but right now I am somewhere between getting a brass fire screen and a portable record player.

Green Stamp fever steals envy in a man. When I meet someone with the fabulous number of ten or eleven books, I ache all over and am sorely tempted to waste him to the ground, grab his books, and run for it.

Green Stamp fever makes a man a mighty worrier. I worry that I may have lost one, and spend half my time on my hands and knees searching the floor of the car, discarded paper bags, and the floors of the house. My eyes have narrowed until they are slits, and my lips have thinned.

It is almost more than I can bear when the person ahead of me in the cashier's line at the supermarket does not take his stamps. I want to cry out, "Get them and give them to me, you fool!"

And I can feel my eyes gleam when I look into the drawer where the cashier keeps the stamps, and see enough sheets of them to make the whole confounded catalogue mine.

I refuse to listen when people tell me that I am not getting the stamps for nothing — that they cost me. I would just as soon believe that Washington was a traitor.

I must go to the supermarket now for my daily vigil. Three days ago I found two stamps on the floor near the cereal shelf.

Office Grouch Says We All Are Crazy

By DOC QUIGO

United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UP)—Our office grouch, a gent named Wilbur, walked in muttering, hung his coat on the rack, went to the water cooler, drank deeply, and announced to the whole room: “I've got it all figured out. It came to me on the subway on the way in.”

Nobody said anything. “It was on a downtown train somewhere between 183rd and 176th street, and suddenly the answer came to me like a... like a...”

“Like a flash, Wilbur?” “That's it,” said Wilbur. “Like a flash it hit me. I was reading the paper. All about fallout and radiation and what it can do to you. And then it was revealed to me. Suddenly I knew.”

“All right—you knew what?” “I got it,” he said. He paused and then announced: “The human race is nuts. Crazy. I see it all now.”

You mean everybody? “Every last soul on this earth,” said Wilbur. “All crazy as bed bugs.”

Wilbur, you're being absurd. Insanity is a relative thing. We say a person is insane when he behaves differently from the rest of us. But if we all behave one way, we're all normal, and...

“You don't understand,” he said. “We, now, are crazy as coots.”

Hollywood sets.

compared with the way the human race was before it happened.

“What happened? Look, just tell us and get it over with.” “All right, pay attention,” said Wilbur. “Some of these genetics experts are saying that radiation from atomic fallout may, if it is bad enough, cause succeeding generations to tend toward psychoses and various mental ills.

Now you may remember—that geologists say that in the far past the earth was hit by an enormous deluge of cosmic rays.

“My theory is that before the cosmic rays hit us there was a super-civilization of men on earth. The radiation of the rays wiped it out. Some people survived, but their descendants grew nuttier each generation. Who are those descendants? We are.

“We're living in a global snake pit. There's no need to worry about atomic fallout hurting our kids' kids' brains. We're crazy already and don't know it.”

Wilbur, you've maybe got some proof of this? “Certainly,” he said. “If the human race wasn't crazy, would it have gone around making wars on itself all these centuries? Of course not. If we were sane, we'd keep control of ourselves. We wouldn't be slaving to build bombs to wipe ourselves out.

“And let me ask you something. Are you sure you're not crazy?” “Who can say, Wilbur, who can say?”

Back Stairs At The White House

Backstairs—A United Press Extra By DAYTON NMORE

United Press Staff Correspondent GETTYSBURGH, Pa. (UP)—Backstairs at the White House: President Eisenhower is expected to confine his out-of-town trips mostly to weekends at his Gettysburg farm until after Congress adjourns. The only exceptions under consideration now are a long weekend in August, Fla., starting Wednesday or Thursday and a few hours in Miami, Fla., on May 18.

The proposed trip to Augusta would be for a much shorter vacation than the President has spent there most years since entering the White House.

The President has been invited to Miami to address the annual meeting of the State Governors Conference. If he accepts, he is expected to fly down and back the same day.

One thing keeping the President close to Washington is a steady stream of visiting foreign dignitaries.

Princess Astrid of Norway and Prince Bertil of Sweden are due here May 8. Four Scandinavian prime ministers follow on May 13; and Chancellor Julius Raab, of Austria arrives on May 19.

President Theodor Heuss of Germany visits from June 4 to June 8; British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on June 9-10; President Carlos P. Garcia of the Philippines, June 16-18, and Prime Minister Sardar Mohammed Saad of Afghanistan, June 24-26.

Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana will be here from July 23-25. In addition, the President has

New U.S. Roach Control Kills Bugs In South Sea Island

Housewives in such fabled, far-off places as Hong Kong, Manila, Singapore and Ceylon report that stays effective for months.

Cockroaches
Apply No - Roach to cupboard walls, baseboards, near sink and cabinets, in pipes, and wherever you see cockroaches. Can be used on rubber and asphalt tile, too.

Brush No - Roach around table legs and counter tops, across window sills and door sills, and across ant trails. Ants will not cross the coating. Pour a few drops in to ant-hills.

No-Roach is a liquid which you apply with a brush. Within minutes it dries to form a colorless, odorless contact insecticide, that stays effective for months.

Remember, when you use Johnson's No - Roach you do not have to move dishes, pots and pans, or breathe harmful vapors, as you must with contaminating sprays. Apply No - Roach just where you want it, the invisible coating stays effective for months. No - Roach, the brush-on insecticide, is preferred by good housekeepers.

Be safe and be sure with No-Roach, 8 oz. 89 cents; pt. $1.69 cents; qt. $2.98. Available at Furr Food, Buddy's, Ideal's, Fletch, Cretney's, Clyde's, Perkin's, and your local food or drug store.

Skillful Pilot Averts Tragedy

DALLAS (UP)—The engine of a private plane from Beaumont failed almost over downtown Dallas Saturday, but the pilot glided for two miles and landed in a back yard.

The plane was torn up and the pilot, Robert E. Barnes, 27, scratched his knee. A policeman gave him first aid on the spot and he walked away with the copilot, James Milton Malone, 29, also of Beaumont.

“Barnes saw that he couldn't get over the power lines,” Malone said. “So, to avoid hitting houses, he slipped the plane sideways to get into the street and turned at the last minute to avoid going into an intersection. He did a beautiful job.”

Barnes' father, J. Austin Barnes, a Beaumont lawyer, owns the plane, a single-engine Ryan Navion. They were flying into Dallas on a pleasure trip and had received instructions for landing from Love Field when the engine quit, 3,000 feet over Dallas.

Barnes tried to glide to the Cedar Crest Golf Course, but when he got to it found his approach barred by high tension electric lines. So he tried to land on nearby Sutter Street.

Sgt. Luther Bailey of Carswell Air Force Base, who lives on Sutter Street, saw the plane come down. The right wheel hit the sidewalk in front of his home. Then the tail banged the sidewalk.

The plane bounced across the street.

It was one of the anti-Communist rebel bastions in the October 23rd uprising in 1956.

The rebels and the Russian troops and tanks which smashed the revolt in November, 1956, staged a major battle in the streets of the city.

Referring to the Soviet counter-attack that began on the morning of November 4 in Budapest, Khrushchev said:

“The only possible thing for us to do at that time was to help our brothers.”

“You will have realized now who is your true friend and will appreciate that our soldiers have shed their blood for your freedom.”

Urging the Hungarian Reds to become stronger, he recalled that Bolshevism under Lenin numbered only a few thousand early in this century.

“Now we are hundreds of millions,” he said. “So why should we fear anything?”

'Mr. K.' Says No Red Aid In Revolt

STALINVAROS, Hungary (UP)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Saturday warned Hungary's Communists in this rebel stronghold during the 1956 revolution that they cannot count on Soviet military aid again in any future anti-Communist uprising.

“In that case you shall and must help yourselves,” the touring Russian leader told a crowd of 15,000 Hungarians at an outdoor rally. “Therefore you must become more and more strong.”

There should be no further need, he said, for the Budapest regime to “depend on the Russians coming to help them if the counter-revolutionaries should attempt to raise their heads again.”

Khrushchev spoke in the Stalinvaros town square as militiamen, police and soldiers lined the scene. Security precautions were as stringent as they were during his visit to Budapest which ended Saturday morning.

Stalinvaros, formerly Dunapentele, is an industrial city on the Danube 60 miles south of Budapest.
