President, GOP Leaders Huddle

BULLETIN
By UNITED PRESS
A vicious thunderstorm hit Dallas today, tearing roofs from buildings, flooding 33 streets and breaking powerlines.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Republican congressional leaders were to huddle with President Eisenhower today to discuss the administration's labor program.

It was expected the President would press for speedy House action on a welfare fund bill passed by the Senate Monday night. The bill was passed by an 88 to 6 vote after debate over 16 GOP-sponsored amendments.

Of those, 14 were defeated, one was withdrawn and a single amendment was adopted by unanimous vote.

Democratic leaders who led the fight against the amendments have promised the Senate will get another chance to vote on labor reforms this year, but only after study and approval by the labor committee.

A $577,000,000 military pay raise bill was expected to receive Senate approval today. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) made the bill the Senate's pending business and said he expected passage today.

The measure, which stresses proficiency incentives for officers as well as enlisted men, was approved unanimously by the Armed Service Committee of the Senate.

The House earlier passed a measure calling for military pay boosts estimated at $682,000,000, but a compromise was anticipated.

Debate Jobsless Pay
The House Rules Committee was expected to clear today for House debate a Democratic plan to extend jobsless pay to workers not covered by unemployment compensation.

But Republicans expressed growing confidence the House would reject the Democratic plan. Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (R-Mass.) keynoted the optimism when he told news men the only plan which has "a chance" of winning House approval was one submitted by President Eisenhower.

It would extend by 50 per cent the duration of state unemployment compensation benefits, but would not include workers currently not covered by the program.

Also on the economic front, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) suggested today that "bad guesses"

Commissioners Approve Plat For North Crest

Pampa's City Commissioners held their regular weekly meeting this morning in the commission room in City Hall and had the Top o' Texas DeMolays helping them.

Dickie James was acting as Mayor and Ted Martin as City Manager. The plat for the North Crest addition was submitted for approval and was approved by the commissioners.

Knife, Fork Club Sets Meeting

Members of the Pampa Knife and Fork Club are looking forward to hearing Dr. Sigmund Spaeth at their next dinner meeting, Thursday at Pampa High School. The meeting is announced for 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Spaeth is noted as a radio personality, author, composer, lyricist, music critic and lecturer. When he was younger he coached college football and played a "hot tennis game."

He has appeared before college audiences, men's and women's clubs and conventions of various kinds.

By and large, Dr. Spaeth is a man of the radio and he has made a name for himself as "Tune Detective" on his own program and as an opera panelist when the Metropolitan Opera goes on the air.

He is a past president of the National Association for American Composers and Conductors and is the author of at least five books. On the lecture platform as on the radio, Dr. Spaeth is hailed as "witty and urbane."

Vanguard In Another Failure

Third Stage Fails To Ignite; Rocket Crashes

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—The Navy flung its Vanguard into space Monday night, but the rocket's third stage failed to ignite and crashed back into the ocean still clasping the hoped-for fourth U. S. Satellite.

The Navy is now pushing plans for launching another Vanguard in less than a month carrying a similar 20-inch artificial moon.

"We will go right at it," said Johi P. Hagen, Vanguard Project director for the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington. He admitted, however, that the unsuccessful flight "was a great disappointment."

Spokesmen said preliminary data received during the Vanguard's flight indicated all went well for about 10 minutes — until the crucial instant some 500 miles above the ground when the solid fuel third stage was scheduled to ignite and kick free of the second stage.

What went amiss would not be known until data received here and at the Air Force's downrange tracking stations was sorted through by technicians of the Naval Research Lab and the Martin Company, prime contractor for the Vanguard.

The third stage evidently never separated from the second stage and plunged like a ballistic missile into the Atlantic some 1,500 miles southeast of the launching site, dooming the "chirping" sound of the satellite's radio voice to the silence of the sea.

The second stage was scheduled to land about where it did, but not with the third stage still attached.

The Defense Department said there was no chance of recovering the rocket's remains.

The instrument-bearing artificial moon was attached to the third stage of the rocket and would have been sprung free traveling at 18,000 miles an hour, had all gone as it should have.

The 11-ton Vanguard surged with a fiery splash from its launching pad at 10:35 p.m. e.d.t. and sped straight up for about 10 seconds before arcing over toward the southeast.

The second stage, containing the all-important guidance for the rocket, burned out in view of observers on beaches near the Cape about four and one-half minutes after blastoff.

General Motors Notifies UAW It Wishes To End Contract

By UNITED PRESS
By JIM KLOCKENKEMPER
DETROIT (UP)—General Motors today notified the United Auto Workers it wishes to terminate its present contract May 29 when the contract expires.

The nation's biggest auto company took the unusual step in an apparent effort to block the union's strategy in carrying bargaining-day basis without signing a new contract.

General Motors and Ford Monday turned down the union's deal for a three-month contract extension, and countered with proposals to extend the present contracts for another two years.

The union finds itself in a weak bargaining position, with near-record stocks of 850,000 unsold new cars and 400,000 UAW members unemployed.

The union would like a bargaining showdown next fall when the companies must bring out 1959 models.

The public is invited to hear this as well as Randall Thompson's outstanding contemporary work, "The Peaceable Kingdom" at 7:30 p.m. today in the Pampa High School Auditorium.

The 50 voice chorus will present its varied program with no admission charged.

85-Year-Old Bride, Spouse Honeyymoon

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UP)—A 29-year-old newsboy and his 85-year-old bride, a great-grandmother, honeymooned at home today following a fancy hotel wedding and a televised reception.

The bride, Mrs. Laura Belle Wilson, announced "I may look old, but I don't feel that way," after the wedding ceremony in the governor's suite of the Van Orman Hotel Monday afternoon.

Her new husband, Jim Bough, who supplements his income by mowing lawns, grumbled a bit at the lack of television cameras during the wedding because "a lot of my friends are going to be watching."

But Bough beamed when he saw the television cameras set up to cover the reception. No pictures were allowed at the ceremony which was attended by 15 members of that family and about the same number of newsmen.

Democratic Mayor Thomas Lamson officiated at the 10-minute, double-ring ceremony. The couple had requested his services, pointing out they were "life-long Democrats."

Mrs. Wilson wore a light blue organza suit with a white hat and veil, and Bough wore a light summer suit.

The wedding had been delayed about a week because Mrs. Wilson had trouble producing legal evidence that she was 18 years old and of age to marry.

The new Mrs. Bough, who has five grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren, confided to newsmen "I'll always remember my marriage vows — they went (See YEAR-OLD Page 3)

HOTEL GRADING WORK STARTS

Eight Cuban Rebs Casualties

HAVANA (UP)—Loyal troops cordoning off the rebels in the Maestra Mountains of eastern Cuba inflicted eight casualties on an insurgent band in the Joruro Area Monday, the army announced today.

Center Drive Banquet Is Scheduled Tonight

Numerous local influential persons will appear at the Pampa Youth and Community Center Campaign Banquet at 7 p.m. today in the Palm Room of City Hall.

Dr. Clinton Wunder, Fort Worth, will deliver the keynote address, "Can Pampa Afford Not to Have a Youth Center?"

Veteran Campaigner Mrs. Jack Foster and District Attorney Bill Waters will take part on the program. Dr. Joe Donaldson, president of the Center Board of Directors, will act as toastmaster with the invocation coming from Rev. Woodrow Adcock of the First Methodist Church and the benediction from Father Otto Meyer of the Holy Souls Catholic Church.

Invitations are in the hands of influential members of the community as well as the leaders in the Campaign.

The members of the Board of Directors have lined up a program that they feel will be both entertaining and stimulating and therefore see no need for any pledge reports or solicitation during the evening.

Reports will not be made until (See CENTER Page 3)

OPTIMIST'S NEW LEADERS

The Pampa Optimist Club Monday selected its leadership for the coming year. Harold Anderson, center, will be the new president. Newt Secret, left, and John Pharr, will be the vice presidents. The officers will be installed at a Ladies' Night Barbecue May 19. (News Photo)

Work To Be Done At McClellan Lake

Contracts will be let within the next few days, reports Judge Bruce Parker, for work on the draw that has undermined the spillway of the McClellan Lake dam. Judge Parker made his report as chairman of the Public Improvements Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, at the Chamber Board meeting Monday.

With Chamber President E. L. Henderson presiding, nine representatives of Chamber Committees and projects made their reports at the monthly Board meeting in the Palm Room. The invocation at the noon luncheon meeting came from Dr. Burgin Watkins, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church.

Other Committee chairmen reporting were Homer Craig, Fire Prevention; Mack Hiatt, Legislative and National Affairs; and Bunny Behrman, Merchant's Activities. Frank Lard reported for Jim Poole, chairman of the Tourist Development Committee; H. V. Wilks for Frank Cutberson, Industrial Committee chairman and Johnny Campbell for Kay Fancher, chairing the Public Relations Committee.

Hotel President George Cree Jr. contributed a progress report on the Community Hotel of Pampa and Campaign Director Johnny Campbell made his report on the Pampa Youth and Community Center Campaign.

Judge Parker said that local contractors will be asked to bid on the diversion of the draw that has ruined the spillway and caused Lake McClellan to deteriorate. The Forest Service received a $20,000 appropriation Monday to make the Lake safe for visitors and for the people who live below the dam.

The Public Improvements Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce has worked for several years seeking repair and general

Big Three To Reject Soviet Demand

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Western Big Three plan speedy rejection of Russia's demand that Poland and Czechoslovakia be included in all pre-summit negotiations in Moscow, diplomatic sources said today.

Responsible British government sources in London said today the West in rejecting the Russian demand probably would agree reluctantly to separate meetings with their ambassadors in Moscow as asked by Moscow.

The sources said they will do so as "the lesser of two evils."

The London reports said Britain first favored acceptance of the Soviet satellites to speed pre-summit negotiations but swung around to the U. S. view that this would mean accepting Soviet satellites as equal negotiating partners to the U. S. view that this would mean now on out.

Russia suggested Saturday that Poland and Czechoslovakia be included in pre-summit discussions. The suggestion was part of an answer to a Western note calling on the Soviet Union to meet immediately and jointly with the U. S., British, and French ambassadors to determine whether a summit meeting would be worthwhile. Russia had been talking with the three envoys in separate meetings only.

The Defense Department said there was no chance of recovering the rocket's remains.

The instrument-bearing artificial moon was attached to the third stage of the rocket and would have been sprung free traveling at 18,000 miles an hour, had all gone as it should have.

The 11-ton Vanguard surged with a fiery splash from its launching pad at 10:35 p.m. e.d.t. and sped straight up for about 10 seconds before arcing over toward the southeast.

Girls Wearing Queen's Material

LONDON (UP)—Horrified officials of a firm that supplies dress material to Britain's Queen Elizabeth have learned that its girl employees are wearing copies to go dancing.

The designers and manufacturers protested that such things simply aren't done — and promptly suspended several of the girls. Disclosure that the designs produced for royalty swayed the figures of $15 a week factory girls came when detectives and an official of the Carlisle firm of Ferguson Brothers went to a local "hop."

ACC Chorus To Sing Here

Songs from the musicals "Oklahoma!" and "Brigadoon" will be heard today at Pampa High School when the A Capella Chorus from Abilene Christian College makes its third stop in a five-city Texas tour.

The Chorus, directed by Dr. Leonard Burford, head of the ACC Music Department, will feature a choral background for a reading from Jim Bishop's "The Day Christ Died."

The public is invited to hear this as well as Randall Thompson's outstanding contemporary work, "The Peaceable Kingdom" at 7:30 p.m. today in the Pampa High School Auditorium.

The 50 voice chorus will present its varied program with no admission charged.

Aircraft Industry Hit By Strike

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Major aircraft and missile manufacturers in seven states today were threatened with a strike of 125,000 members of the International Association of Machinists and United Auto Workers Unions.

Spokesmen for the two unions issued a joint statement here Monday reminding Douglas, Lockheed, North American and Convair that labor contracts with the companies end May 7.

The declaration, issued by Roy M. Brown, IAM general vice president, and Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president, said walk-outs could be called at one or all of its plants across the nation after that date.

Deportation Law Is Complex And Little-Understood Law

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — Behind the round-trip deportation of San Francisco draftsman William Keikkila is one of the most complex, least-understood laws on the U. S. statute books.

It is called the Immigration and Nationality Act. The current version was passed in 1952 and is commonly known as the McCarran-Walter Act.

To the 2,833,000 aliens living in the United States, this many-paged law often looms larger than the Constitution or the Bill of Rights. Any alien who runs afoul of its numerous provisions can be deported, no matter how long he has lived in America.

Heikkila, for example, has lived in this country for nearly 32 years. He came here with his parents from Finland when he was 10 weeks old. If his parents had become naturalized citizens while he was a child, he would have automatically "derived" U. S. citizenship. Contrary to published reports, records of the immigration and Naturalization Service records show that neither of his parents ever became naturalized Americans.

Heikkila could have applied for citizenship in his own right at any time after he became 18. Records show that he did file a "declaration of intent" to become a citizen — the so-called "first papers" — when he was 18. But it was not until 1945, when he was 39, that he filed an actual petition for naturalization.

Petition Turned Down
It was turned down because Heikkila admitted at a hearing that he had been a member of the Communist Party from 1929 to 1939.

Whether Heikkila has had any connection with Communist activities since 1939 is not an issue in his deportation case. Under the McCarran-Walter Act, an alien can be deported if it is shown that he has been a member of the Communist Party, or that he espoused its doctrines, "at any time" after his entry into the United States.

Immigration officials said this means that even one week's membership in the Communist Party 30 or 40 years ago is sufficient grounds for deportation of an alien.

What if an alien repents a youthful flirtation with Communism, breaks with the party and becomes strongly anti-Communist? Is he still subject to deportation?

Technically, yes. But the law contains a provision under which such a person may appeal to Immigration authorities for "suspension of deportation." He must show that he is now a person of "good moral character," free of subversive leanings and that he would suffer "exceptional hardship" if deported.

Benson Sees Record-Matching Farm Income

WASHINGTON (UP) — Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson has predicted farm income this year will match the record set in 1957.

"Farm prices today are running 11 per cent ahead of a year ago, 15 per cent ahead of two years ago, and prices today are 9 per cent above what they were when we left the so-called rigid supports," he said.

Benson made the remarks in a filmed television interview with Rep. Harold C. Ostertag (R-N.Y.) on three New York state television stations.

Democrats and some Republicans in Congress have been demanding revision of the price support program. However, Benson said, "we feel that the price support mechanism can be used to give stability to our farm economy, but those supports ought to be on a flexible basis."

"We must put our emphasis on markets, the expansion of markets, the development of new uses for farm products, and less emphasis on government regulation," he said.

James Monroe, wounded at the Battle of Trenton, was the only U. S. president to have been wounded in action in the Revolutionary War.

Brooklyn Bridge To Observe 'Diamond Jubilee' Next Month

By DOC QUIGG

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — Some stir is being raised over the approaching diamond jubilee, next month, of an institution that has in 75 years of fact, story, and wild legend fixed itself as part of the soul of New York.

Opened on May 24, 1883, it was hailed as "the eighth wonder of the world," and certainly it was one of the wonders of America. Its building, covering nearly two decades, was marked by disaster, heroic sacrifice, fire, many deaths, invention, scoffing, and aching toil.

Looking back on which Eddie Foy once remarked: "All that trouble, just to get to Brooklyn?" This engineering marvel of its time was, indeed, the Brooklyn bridge, the same from which Brodie "jumped" to glory and personal fortune, and which allegedly, in other years, was sold innumerable times at bargain prices by city slickers to hicks from the hinterland.

The Grand Opening

The Brooklyn bridge is wearing its years medium lightly. Seventy-five years ago, its daily traffic load was 3,500 buggies, hansoms, and phaetons — and thousands of pedestrians. Now, in years when it is not undergoing repairs, its daily load is about 54,000 horseless carriages and almost no pedestrians.

On the great opening day, President Chester A. Arthur, in black cutaway and puffy white sideburns and accompanied by Gov. Grover Cleveland, went on the span and shook hands with Mayor Seth Low of Brooklyn while cannons thundered and citizens huzzed.

The bridge's builder, Washington A. Roebling, sat at home that day, his health broken by work in the high-pressure river bed caissons which he had pioneered. His father, John A. Roebling, who had fought and won the battle to make it a suspension-type bridge, had died of an injury suffered during early work on the span. Six days after the bridge opened, the Memorial Day pedestrian traffic was so heavy that a man, Charles and 12 persons were trampled to death. Three years after it opened, a coup was pulled that should go down in history as one of the great triumphs of publicity.

Made Brodie Famous
Steve Brodie, a stocky Irish boy who had blacked boots and sold papers on the Bowery, one day remarked to his friend Isaac Myers, a curio dealer, that he wondered how he could ever become well known. To which Myers idly replied: "Jump off the Brooklyn bridge."

Or so the story goes. Actually it wasn't called the Brooklyn bridge at the time. It was the East River bridge. Brodie leaped — at publicity. His sporting friends let it get spread around that a $100 bet had been made that he wouldn't dare jump off the bridge. On July 23, 1883, it was loudly announced that the jump had been made. His friends said they saw him do it. Others contended a dummy had been thrown off. A barge captain signed an affidavit that he had picked Brodie from the water.

Brodie became famous, went on the jagged, westerly on the Bowery that became celebrated as a prize fighters' hangout. As proof of his feat, he had over the bar an oil painting of himself in mid-air under the bridge. And when people asked why he didn't prove his case finally by leaping again, with witnesses, he always said:
"I done it once."

(Continued From Page 1) and others are doing just as well," said the chairman. Campbell announced that the Chamber will sponsor a Public Relations course here, May 19-22. The same course was held here successfully several months ago. E. A. Wilford, University of Texas Division of Extension, will be the instructor. The fee will be $2 per person. Campbell urged persons to enroll in advance.

Reporting on the Business-Industrial-Education Days held in March, Herschel Wilks quoted some favorable comment that came out of the High School class rooms were panel discussions were presented. "Pupils and teachers learned more about business and the way it operates," said Wilks.

Moreover, school officials were highly in favor of the program since it took only an hour of the students' time. For this reason the Industrial Committee may offer a similar program next year. George Cree prophesied a cloud of dust from the Hotel site as grading began Monday. The grading contract was let to Ray Boswell, local contractor. "We'll save the dirt for the development of the rest of the Hotel property," said Cree.

The Hotel Board hopes to let bids on the construction of the actual building by the time the grading is completed, around July 1. The Corporation has extra land which it will dispose of in the best way it can.

"Finance experts say we're lucky," said Cree. "Costs are in our favor." Harwith and Harwith of Dallas will be in town Thursday to make some very positive suggestions for further Hotel financing.

Johnny Campbell began by saying that he and others had been five years on the Center Board of Directors and saw it was time to get the job over with or disband. "We chose the course even under present circumstances," said Campbell. Like Behrman he sees no recession or depression here.

"Tomorrow at 7 p.m. in this room," said Campbell, "Dr. Wunder will make some very positive suggestions." The event is the Campaign Banquet with Dr. Clinton Wunder from Fort Worth giving the main speech.

Campbell still has faith in the Pampa Youth and Community and in the need that exists. As general Campaign Director he expects to see $165,000 raised on a pledge basis in the next three weeks.

Explorer Post Is Forming Here

Last week, the 9912th Air Reserve Squadron of Pampa held a meeting at which they lined up 19 boys for the New Explorer Post now forming, and named the leadership for the new unit.

Bill Buchanan will serve as Post adviser with Dan Jones as assistant adviser.

Institutional representative will be Louis Hackley, secretary treasurer, Buck Worley; vocational chairman, Jack Wyman; outdoor chairman, Harold Lawley; service chairman, Leon Miller and social chairman, Myron Marks.

Wesley Lewis and Dwayne Springer will work as committee men.

Louis Hackley emceed the meeting and explained the program available. The 9912th will set up Explorer interest groups in all phases of aviation. The boys will work with qualified advisers in each group and learn something practical about aviation.

At the meeting Travis Lively Jr. outlined the Squadron organization. John Myers, Committee chairman, led a group discussion.

The Squadron will meet again at 7:30 p.m. Thursday to complete its charter organization. Explorer age boys and their parents are invited to the Air Reserve Building for the final organization.

All young men, 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17 are eligible. They need not have been a Boy Scout previously.

"Isn't he a good-looking young man?" Hotel Manager Robert Thames, whose hotel footed the bill for the marriage and reception, estimated 100 persons attended the reception and 150 more milled about outside the building.

The newlyweds indicated they would spend a few days here and then visit Mrs. Bough's relatives in Johnston City, Ill. They were expected to pass up an invitation to spend an expense-paid honeymoon at a Miami Beach, Fla., hotel.

The Boughs' long friendship began when Bough sold Mrs. Wilson a paper. Relatives of the couple said they were pleased by the marriage. Bough's mother, Mrs. Leota Blake, said she was "very happy."

Bough said he was not worried because his bride now would lose her $60 monthly old age assistance check.

"I can support both of us with my newspaper route and lawn mowing," Bough said.

Supreme Court: The Senate Judiciary Committee approved two amendments to a watered-down but still highly controversial version of a bill to abolish the Supreme Court's jurisdiction entirely in five fields. As the measure now stands it would bar the court from ruling on cases involving admission to practice law in state courts, and restore the power of states to enforce their own anti-subversive laws.

Animal Slaughtering: Sen. A.S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) accused the American Meat Institute of "vicious, untrue" lobbying against the so-called humane slaughter bill. He told the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry that the bill would merely require the government to buy meat from packers slaughtering their livestock by any one of several humane methods.

Rivers and Harbors: Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) predicted the Senate would override President Eisenhower's veto of the $1,500,000 rivers and harbors bill. But Rep. Russell V. Mack (R-Wash.) told the House there was "little likelihood" Congress would override the veto.

Mack introduced a "clean" rivers and harbors measure designed to meet the objections raised by the President when he vetoed the bill.

Amputation of the 70-year-old American churchman's right arm above the elbow Monday apparently saved his life. A blood clot had cut off circulation to the lower portion of his arm and gangrene had set in.

A tube remained in the cardinal's upper arm to drain off waste. But medical sources said they expected no post-operative complications.

Stritch appeared in good spirits. "He is a model of courage and spiritual strength," Msgr. Patrick Hayes, rector of Holy Name Cathedral in Chicago and a close friend of the prelate, said after visiting him Monday night.

The Board of Directors and all Campaign chairmen will meet for breakfast at 7 a.m. Wednesday in Johnson's Cafe.

The Board has already made its plans known to stage a ground-breaking ceremony for the Pampa Youth and Community Center, Sunday. The ground-breaking will take place at 3 p.m. on the site of the new Center, between Kentucky and Harvester, west of Hobart.

Johnny Campbell, general campaign chairman, will preside. To date, over one third, or $132,918, has been subscribed for the $300,000 Building Fund goal.

Two youth groups in town will hold a rummage sale with all proceeds going to the Building Fund. These are the Theta Rho Club and the Junior Odd Fellows. The sale will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at the corner of Cuyler and Tyng, south of the underpass.

Scout Troop Is Organized

A Scout Troop organization took place last night at the Pampa Church of the Brethren, 600 N. Frost. Garvin Elkins will be the new Scout master.

Wayne Irwin was selected as institutional representative. Russell West, Bryce Hubbard, Bob Swope, Elmer Wheeler and Wayne Jones will serve on the Troop Committee.

Present from the sponsoring institution was Rev. James Minnick, pastor.

Ed McGuire, organizer, came down from Scout Headquarters with Dale Stone, Scout executive, to assist in the organization.

James Monroe, wounded at the Battle of Trenton, was the only U. S. president to have been wounded in action in the Revolutionary War.

Cardinal Stritch Cheerful Despite Loss Of Arm

ROME (UP)—Samuel Cardinal Stritch, cheerful despite the loss of his right arm in an emergency operation, was kept under sedation today to ease the throbbing pain.

Doctors said his condition was "most satisfactory" and church sources said he was "anxious to get back to work."

British Test Warhead; Say 'Clean'

LONDON (UP)—Britain claimed success today in its latest Pacific test of a "clean" nuclear device—believed to be a missile warhead with the punch of a hydrogen bomb.

Supply Minister Aubrey Jones announced that the device was exploded over Christmas Island Monday night in the first Western nuclear test since Russia's conditional offer to halt its testing program.

"Scientific measurements are being collected for accurate evaluation," Jones said. "Early indications are that fallout will again be negligible."

The British device was dropped from a Valiant jet bomber, flying at near-sonic speed at an altitude of more than two miles. Informed sources said the test was part of a rocket warhead program.

"The explosion was probably of the thermonuclear (hydrogen) type," said a spokesman for the Atomic Energy Authority.

Graham Lays It On Line To Churchgoers

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Billy Graham laid it on the line Monday night to churchgoers.

He provoked a gasp of surprise when he told a near-capacity crowd of 14,500 that they had each broken every single one of God's commandments.

"You will not be condemned at judgment for today," he thundered. "You are under sentence now. That's the reason you have not found peace and happiness."

Graham's crusades are usually aimed at those who belong to no church but who feel a spiritual emptiness in their lives. But Monday night he invited churchgoers to attend an "all church night," the first night meeting of his six-week crusade.

There were 150 different church groups present.

Graham noted there were about 2,000 empty seats in the Cow Palace. On Sunday, every seat was filled and there were about 2,500 standees.

Chicago Port Hit By Strike

CHICAGO (UP)—The Chicago port director said Monday night ship cargoes worth about eight million dollars have been tied up here by a strike of Great Lakes pilots.

Capt. John T. Hanley said 11 ships are docked in the Chicago area, some with cargoes from Europe and others awaiting loading of shipments for overseas. He called the Chicago cargo bottleneck "serious."

The striking International Masters, Mates and Pilots Union is demanding that a pilot be hired on foreign ships in the Great Lakes after they leave Canadian waters.

Longshoremen have refused to cross the pilots' picket lines to load or unload ships. The strike has been in effect since Friday.

Mayor Frank Zeidler of Milwaukee has asked the Federal Mediation Service to intervene in the dispute and the striking union also has asked for federal mediation.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The person who wrote to you and said he wanted to go to church but felt like such a sinner he didn't think he was good enough to be there, could have been me. I go once in a while and would go more often but I keep thinking of how much I have sinned and I am ashamed to be in the Lord's House. So I pray at home. Do you think God hears me?

ANOTHER SINNER

Dear "Sinner": Of course God hears you, but you need not stay away from church. The Church is a hospital for sinners — not a museum for Saints.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married six years and we both have wanted a baby since the day we were married. Seven weeks ago I had a baby boy and we were so happy we were dancing for joy. Something happened and our baby lived only 16 days. My problem is that practically everyone we talk to tells us to try again to help get over the shock. Now I feel that I don't want any more because the same thing might happen again. Another disappointment of going through everything I did and then ending up with nothing but a broken heart would be too much to stand. What would you do if you were me?

BROKEN-HEARTED

Dear Broken-Hearted: If I were you I would talk to my doctor. If he says you are physically fit and able to have a healthy child, by all means try again.

DEAR ABBY: The advice you gave that poor lady on how to get her husband to do things around the house would never work with me. We own a restaurant and my husband can sit and watch me wax floors, wash windows, scrub walls, carry in beer for the coolers and all he will say is, "Why didn't you ask ME to do it, Honey?" We have five kids, have been happily married for 13 years, and I am crazy about the slob.

WORKED TO DEATH

Dear Worked: If you are happily married and are "crazy about the slob," my advice to you is: "Never change a winning pitcher."

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend is very jealous but my husband isn't. My husband and I had a fight and I couldn't stand his silent treatment so I went to my boyfriend's. I had a fight with my boyfriend and told him I was going to move in with my sister, but I went back to my husband instead. My boyfriend found out I was with my husband and now he is very mad at me. How can I get him back?

ESTELLE

Dear Estelle: Back? I think you are lucky to be rid of each other. I suggest you stick to your own husband and respect your promise to forsake all others.

Confidential to Baby Doll: If your legs are lovely and you like short skirts, don't wear them any longer!

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Lefors Art And Civic Club Hostess To Reception For State Federated Prexy

(Special to The News)
LEFORS — "Until one studies firsthand the flourishing superstitions found in foreign lands where communism is spreading, can there be appreciation of the United States' security and comfort, especially in the hearts of Federated Club Women. Stated Mrs. A. J. House, state president of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, when she spoke at a reception in her honor by the Lefors Art and Civic Club in the civic center.

"Talk accomplishes little, but our actions much," she went on connecting the many works done by the eleven departments of the federation including child, training and a new dept. "Religion of the World."

"In the sixty-one years of federation, women of different political parties, churches, have been profiting by yesterday's mistakes and going on to make better homes, communities, states and nations better places to live in."

The singing of the "Federation Song," composed by Mrs. House and accompanied by her at the piano closed the program which was followed by visitation.

The serving table was laid in a white lace cloth over blue centered with an arrangement of giant blue and white daisies in a blue bowl. Blue pastel plates and cups were used with silver appointments. Miniature rolls were served by Mrs. Babe Hall with Mrs. Ray Boyd presiding at the coffee services assisted by Mrs. Bud Cumberland.

Mrs. McMurtray Narrates Travels For Epsilon Sigma Alpha Members

Mrs. Dorothy McMurtray, school nurse for the White Deer and Skellytown School districts, was the guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority. With interesting narration, Mrs. McMurtray showed colored slides of her recent trip to Europe, where she attended the International Congress of Nurses in Rome, Italy.

Mrs. Dorothy McMurtray

Arriving in Paris, which she stated is the indisputable capitol of Europe, Mrs. McMurtray took pictures of the famous Eiffel Tower, the Tomb of Napoleon, the Arch of Triumph, and the beautiful Seine River, as viewed from the top of the Notre Dame Cathedral. In discussing Parisienne fashions, Mrs. McMurtray said that the typical Parisienne woman colors her hair, pink, green, or any color she chooses, but does not use cosmetics. "She is complimented every evening with a jar of wine and one dozen roses, which incidentally would cost the American gentleman approximately 35 cents. She admires the American woman for her smartness in clothing."

In Rome, Italy, where the representatives of 64 countries met in an ultra-modern, completely glass building, Mrs. McMurtray said that it was amazing to her to learn that Italy itself is overpopulated and underfed and had no territory into which the teeming humanity may be siphoned off. One of the high points of interest in Rome, she related, was a visit to the Vatican and viewing the magnificent Cathedral of Saint Peter, with its dome painted by Michael Angelo, a work that took seven years to complete.

Slides of the story-book country of Switzerland, with castles, snow and lakes were a dramatic change from the bomb-damaged Germany. Mrs. McMurtray narrated, but she found the building of homes and larger factories is greater in Germany than in any other country.

In closing, Mrs. McMurtray said that the climax of the trip was the viewing of the Statue of Liberty off the coast of New York, from the decks of the Queen Mary. Members present were Mmes. Norman Fulphas, Walter Reek, Oscar Engle, Louie Hooper, Bruce lands there are 5000 miles of canals in a country that is a little larger than the Panhandle of Texas and that in Amsterdam, with only a population of 850,000 people, there are 500,000 bicycles.

Mrs. McMurtray witnessed the changing of the Guards in London and was impressed with the kindness of the British to tourists. She said that their traditional attractions were worthwhile, but that she was more impressed with the atmosphere of "everyday life along their crooked, charming little streets."

The Emerald Isle, "well-named because of its green fields" was the favorite spot of all foreign countries for Mrs. McMurtray. The kissing of the Blarney Stone, a feat which required climbing 500 steps to accomplish, was one of the traditions she observed. Mrs. McMurtray's grandmother is a native of Ireland.

Furniture Tour For GS Troop

(Special to The News)
SKELLYTOWN — Girl Scout Troop 49 made a tour of the furniture stores in Pampa recently, in connection with merits towards interior decorating badges. Members were shown different styles of furniture and how to arrange them effectively. The scout troop is preparing a scrap book on furniture arrangements.

Following the tour of the stores, the girls had supper before returning home.

Members of the troop are: Peggy Horner, Beverly Heaton, Rosalie McAllister, Joan Jarvis, Donna Moore, Eva Jo Duncan, Nan Harmon, Ann Harlan, and Melva Batson. Troop leaders are Mrs. R. C. Heaton and Mrs. F. C. Horner.

Hans Conried Only Winner On TV's 'Hansel And Gretel'

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—It's a temptation to sum up Sunday night's NBC-TV "Hansel and Gretel" as strong on witch and weak on what. So I will.

It was Hans Conried as a witch named Hazel and a quartet of witch apprentices named Fennie (Will Able), Meenie (Paula Laurence), Miney (Shai Ophir) and Moe (Sondra Lee) who shot almost all of the spark into the evening. I guess you could call it a kind of witch-futainment.

Anyway, the truth is that aside from Conried and his cuddlesome crew, none of the cast had very much to do during the hour. Rise Stevens turned in a sweet and skillful attack on a tune that I believe was called "Evening Prayer," but aside from that bit, she was wasted.

An actor named Red Buttons struggled valiantly in the semi-comic role of Hansel. Barbara Cook as Gretel didn't have much to do and she did it as well as you can do not much. Rudy Vallee was elbowed to the side.

As for the proceedings, they were standard TV fairy tale complete with dancing animals, animated shrubbery, indifferent tunes and the sort of primitive humor calculated to satisfy those primitive creatures, children.

But to get back to Conried. I don't believe I've ever seen the man give a bad performance. His silly witch Sunday came equipped with a dust cap, false nose, blonde curls and an elegant raglan-sleeved rag, and was a fine-fingered masterwork.

As the villain of the piece, Conried lost out in the end. But I couldn't help feeling that the lanky Conried — along with his student witches — were the only real winners of the evening.

NBC-TV's "Dial M for Murder" was one of those 90-minute specs that couldn't miss. And it didn't.

For anyone who has seen "Dial M" on the stage or in the movies, the plot line was freely chartable. But as someone said to me the other day, what counts in a drama is not what happens so much as how it happens.

"Dial M" happened fine, George Schaefer's dexterous direction milked, I would say, a maximum of juice out of the old animal. The danger in staging a Broadway play like "Dial M" is to shoot it as just that — a three-walled play — with just enough camera shifting to keep it kosher. But Schaefer gave the whole business a fluidity and dimension that shaped it beautifully for TV.

The cast was a gasser with Maurice Evans, Rosemary Harris and John Williams carrying the big ball. Anthony Dawson in the bit role of a stinker also was fragrant plus.

NBC-TV uncoiled another Western Friday night. This one was labeled "Jefferson Drum" and starred a big, big guy, Jeff Richards, as editor of a small, small Western paper.

"I've watched so many Westerns on TV this season my eyes have saddle sores. Under such conditions, the obvious course is just to kiss off "Jefferson Drum" as another Western, I would say, however, that it shows signs of developing into a better than average oater — let's say just a cut below a good one like "Have Gun, Will Travel."

The Channel Swim: "Air Power," a series that was seen last year on CBS-TV, will be back as a re-run this summer on CBS starting May 18. Sal Mineo leaves for Hollywood Tuesday where he'll film a two-parter about a Comanche youth for the ABC-TV "Disneyland" show — it'll be called "Tonka."

Phil Silvers signed singer Gloria Krieger for his May 13 spec on CBS-TV — when she was at Columbia Pix, her name was Gloria Greenwood. NBC-TV's "Kraut Theatre" marks its 11th anniversary on May 7 — it's the oldest live TV drama.

There are said to be as many as 15,000,000 "sundown" farmers in the United States.

A gain in momentum for construction has led steelmakers to hope for better production in the next few weeks. Steel magazine reported. Chicago-producers of reinforcing bars said their order backlogs are the best they have had in a long time.

The government's suit to bar the merger of Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. went into its third week of trial in Federal Court with both sides sticking to their guns. The Justice Department rested its case in the antitrust suit last Tuesday after bringing 13 witnesses to the stand. The defense has called five witnesses.

Reporters' Questions Raise Ike's Ire In News Conference

Pentagon Reorganization
The President's proposal to reorganize the Pentagon seems to become more controversial each day. Some are taking a position that it is being made into a political issue and that partisan petticoats are beginning to show in the Armed Services Committee.

The general agitation about the proposal was reflected by the sharp exchange that took place between a Texas newspaper reporter and the President in his recent news conference. The paper here played the story big. The paper which is considered to be the most conservative of the three Washington newspapers carried a rather extended story about the accident and referred to three other questions that seemed to have raised the President's ire. The incident about the Pentagon reorganization arose when a newspaper reporter, who is a woman representing a Texas newspaper, asked the President a question concerning the possibility of a "Prussian" type organization being created if his plan was adopted. The President shot back an answer in the nature of a question. He asked the newspaper woman, "Have you read the law?" The reporter replied, "Yes Sir." The President is then quoted as having said, "No you haven't, I don't think."

Another question put to the President by one reporter that was credited by the local newspapers as having raised his ire had to do with the President's recent suggestion that the people buy. The reporter, after getting the President to confirm that he had asked the people to buy, then asked the President if he would tell the reporters what he had bought. It was then that the President became obviously annoyed and said that he had not discussed the matter with his personal aide who took care of his buying needs. Another reporter, who asked some questions concerning the President's position on the unemployment benefits bills in the Congress, was cut off by a statement by the President that "he thought the reporter knew something about the matter."

All of this left many of the reporters wondering what the next news conference would produce and when it would be held.

When Is A Chicken Not A Chicken
Hearings are now being held on a bill to amend the Interstate Commerce Act as it concerns the right to haul agricultural products without being subject to regulations. The battle as to what is an agricultural product and what is not an agricultural product has been going on for some time. In recent years the question arose as to whether or not a chicken that had been killed and cut up or frozen was still a chicken that could be hauled under the agricultural exemption, or if it became a manufactured product and had to be hauled in accordance with certain ICC regulations.

A case went to the Supreme Court involving this question, and the Court held that the chickens retained their identity as chickens even after they were killed and could be shipped without the hauler complying with rules and regulations of the ICC. The Supreme Court in its decision said, "A chicken that has been killed and dressed is still a chicken."

All of this was brought out in the hearings before the Interstate Commerce Committee of which I am a member. When the language of the Supreme Court was quoted by one witness, it brought to mind the fact that a very serious situation could arise on this subject in Texas.

I recall that while serving as District Attorney, we were investigating a man who was charged with chicken stealing. Under Texas law he could be sent to the penitentiary for this. However, he argued that he was not guilty of chicken stealing, although he had stolen the carcasses of several chickens. At that time dressed chickens were selling for about 75 cents each. He had stolen three of these dead chickens. If the chickens had ceased to be chickens because they had been killed, the largest penalty that could be put upon the thief would be a fine, because the value of what he stole was less than $5.00; but, if the chickens had continued to be chickens even though they had lost their lives, the theft of only one of them would have subjected the man to conviction of a felony for which he could have gone to the penitentiary for several years and would have lost his citizenship.

It is my recollection that the Texas Courts have held that a dead chicken is no longer a chicken under the Chicken Law — the same as a cow is no longer a cow after it is slaughtered. This being the case, I am wondering what will happen in the future in view of the language of the Supreme Court in the frozen chicken case. If the Justice of the Supreme Court who wrote that opinion and used the language, "A chicken that has been killed and dressed is still a chicken," ever steals a dead chicken, Texas and gets caught, he might wish he had never used the language.

Sukarno Aligning With Communists

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
President Sukarno of Indonesia has taken a definite and disturbing step toward aligning himself with the Communist view of things to come.

In a speech last Thursday, Sukarno predicted the inevitable fall of "capitalism" and the certain emergence of "socialism" as the dominant political force in the world.

That by "socialism" Sukarno meant communism there seemed to be no doubt. "In this century the people living in 13 socialistic nations total one third of the human race," he said. Just why Sukarno picked this particular time for his speech is puzzling.

Resistance Near End
Indonesian government troops are pressing the rebel forces in Sumatra hard, and organized resistance there seems to be nearing its end. Nothing Sukarno could have said would be more certain to conservative, resigned from the coalition government.

84 Million People
Indonesia is the sixth largest country in the world in point of population—84 million. It stretches for 3,000 miles from the Indian Ocean to the Pacific.

On The Business Scene

The vast majority of U. S. manufacturers expect their physical sales volume to rise over the next 12 months, a Fortune magazine survey showed. About 80 per cent of 280 manufacturers replying to its questionnaire expect their own physical sales volume will rise over the next 12 months.

The Small Business Administration reported that it had received 858 loan applications from small concerns in March. The total was a record. The SBA said it had proving $18,748,000 in earlier approving -18,748,000 in earlier applications for financial help.

The pocket gopher is one of the few animals that can run backward as fast and as easily as it can move forward.

MAN-SIZE KITE—Russia may have the biggest satellite up, but Ross Byers, who lives in Knox County, Ind., claims the biggest kite in his area. It's 10 feet high and 7 feet wide at the cross-arm, and looks big enough to carry its little admirer, Susie Myers of nearby Vincennes. Plastic covered, the giant kite requires a heavy nylon cord to hold it in flight and 150 feet of tail to balance it. In a heavy breeze it's necessary to fasten the cord to a post. The other admirers are Bonnie and Prince, Byers' collies.

United Press correspondents around the world look ahead at the news that will make headlines:

68th birthday. Intimates say the cloak and dagger man is going strong, and has no intention of quitting. Nor does Ike have any plans to replace him.

NATO Council Meeting
Expect a rumpus at the NATO Council meeting in Copenhagen next week over Britain's tentative agreement with West Germany to slash the British Rhine Army from 85,000 to 46,000 men. The Belgians and Dutch are particularly upset for fear further British troop reductions in Germany will turn NATO into a largely American-West German outfit.

Tightening Screws
Poland's Wladyslaw Gomulka will tighten the screws on the party faithful. It's the price they must pay for Gomulka's efforts to run Poland's own international affairs and talk back to Moscow occasionally. He'll increase controls over party membership, and probably step up his current crack-down on vocal and editorial criticism of his leadership and Poland's economic plight.

The Poetry Of The 'Beat Generation'

Second of three reports on America's "Beat Generation." Today—The Poetry of The Beat.

By PETER J. HAYES
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Much of the poetry of rebellion that is produced by the Beat Generation is known variously as "The San Francisco Renaissance" and "The Poetry of New Violence."

With its cool climate and Mediterranean-influenced culture, San Francisco has attracted many of the avant garde poets. But paradoxically, in a city that prides itself on being cosmopolitan and literate, it was a censorship trial that projected national attention on the Beat Generation.

Lawrence Ferlinghetti, owner of a bookstore, publisher of poetry and a poet and painter himself, was arrested and brought to trial on charges of publishing and selling "obscene and indecent writings," namely, the poem, "Howl" by Allen Ginsberg.

The poem is a blazing, at times incoherent indication of American life, sprinkled with four-letter words. It begins, "I saw the best minds of my generation destroyed by madness, starving, hysterical, naked..."

Ferlinghetti was acquitted and the audience of bearded, sandaled Bohemians danced in the courtroom. "Howl" has since sold more than 15,000 copies.

Stocks Paperbacks
Ferlinghetti's city lights pocket book shop stocks nothing but paperbacks, an important factor in North Beach—an area where most of the customers are Bohemians and are not noted for their affluence.

In his late 30s and with a Ph.D. from the University of Paris, Ferlinghetti insists, "I'm not Beat." He said he has the "anarchistic and libertarian point of view" and writes in opposition to a state of affairs "where it's impossible for a man to live a good life."

He said, "Thoreau is the ancestor of today's poetry. He suggested civil disobedience if conditions warrant."

Ferlinghetti and Kenneth Rexroth pioneered in reading poetry accompanied by jazz. In a night-

Quotes In The News

By UNITED PRESS
WASHINGTON — The pre-conditions of the 12 Federal Reserve banks, in a Senate Finance Committee survey endorsing the administration's wait-and-see attitude toward the recession:
"On the other hand, if it should appear that consumer spending is being substantially curtailed as a result of unemployment and apprehensiveness concerning future prospects, vigorous steps in the form of prompt-acting governmental measures would be indicated."

WASHINGTON—The Air Force, in saying it has taken steps to make it virtually impossible for one of its bombers accidentally to release an atomic bomb:
"The possibility of such a release is so remote as to be indeterminate."

ROME — Samuel Cardinal Stritch, 79, on being told his right arm would have to be amputated because of a blood-clot:
"God's will be done."

He believes that some of it isn't as important as the authors might think, but "American culture would be impoverished without it."
"They are the spokesmen for the dispossessed, of the rejected, such as the Negroes. It is the language of agony," she said.

SAFEST IN THE NATION—The nation's toll turnpikes continued in 1957 to be the safest roads in the country, reports the National Safety Council. Two of them, the Pennsylvania Turnpike and the New York Thruway, set new safety records while piling up well over 3.5 billion miles of travel. As Newsmap, above, shows, fatality rates (deaths per 100 million vehicle miles) of four superhighways were well below the national mark.

Canadian Youth To Boys State
CANADIAN — Kenny Abraham has been chosen by the Zyback-Owens Post of the American Legion as Canadian's 1958 delegate to the annual American Legion sponsored Lone Star Boys State at the University of Texas in Austin in June.
Kenny, a junior in Canadian High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Abraham. Last year's representative from Canada was Claude Hoges.
