Scheduled for March 27-28, the show is the one big project of the year for the Lions Club.

A cast of 60 persons will be needed for the show, and rehearsals will be held on Monday and Thursday nights from 7 to 8. The need for persons to attend the rehearsals regularly was also stressed by Shultz. The invitation to join with the cast is open not only to members of the Lions Club but to all persons who are interested.

Actress Files Suit For Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Actress Judy Garland's husband, Sid Luft, was charged with attempting to strangle the temperamental star in a divorce suit on file today in Santa Monica.

Miss Garland filed the action Tuesday, once again bringing to court the troubles which have marked the couple's marriage. Luft is Miss Garland's third husband.

She charged Luft with mental cruelty in a divorce suit filed in 1956, but the case was dropped.

The actress accused Luft in the latest action of beating and attempting to strangle her on "many occasions, the last time on Feb. 21, 1958."

She requested a restraining order to prevent Luft from removing their children, Lorna, 5, and Joseph, 3, from the city, asked the court to evict Luft from their Beverly Hills home and demand $4425 monthly in child support payments.

Rackets Group To Summon Man Wanted In Wisconsin

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Rackets Committee will summon to hearings here a Michigan auto union member wanted by Wisconsin police, Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today.

Wisconsin authorities announced they will try to get the worker extradited from Washington to Wisconsin to stand trial. The case promised a unique test of a state's power to compel a "wanted" person to return to face charges.

The worker is John Gunaca, a member of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers Union who lives in Mt. Clemens, Mich. He has been indicted in Wisconsin for assault with intent to do great bodily harm in connection with the 1954 beating of 65-year-old William Bersch and his son. The elder Bersch received a broken neck and died four months later, according to previous testimony.

McClellan told reporters Gunaca "will be called" to testify in the committee's investigation of the nearly four-year-old UAW strike against the Kohler Co. of Kohler, Wis. The beating allegedly occurred in connection with the strike.

Gunaca has kept out of reach of Wisconsin police thus far because Gov. G. Mennen (R-Rep) Williams of Michigan has refused to extradite him from his Michigan home.

Sheboygan County (Wis.) District Attorney David Weber said Tuesday night he has made arrangements with Wisconsin Gov. Vernon W. Thomson and State Attorney General Stewart Honock to seek Gunaca's extradition from Washington if he comes here to testify.

'Unattached' Jamboree In McAllen

MCALLEN, Tex. (UP)—McAllen is all set for its third "Unattached Jamboree."

Three hundred widows, widowers, bachelors and old maids will dance and play bridge tonight with one purpose in mind—to find a mate.

The jamboree is a party for all unmarried tourists in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. One official said single men and women may go to the party unattached, but they'll leave attached.

The officials said tourists "get romantic down here when the citrus trees start blooming."

The jamboree has been held twice previously, and some of the party have been successful in achieving their goal of matrimony.

Demos Seek PWA Creation

Would Be Used If Recession Deepens

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate Democratic leaders today sought creation of a depression-style public works administration.

Under their plan, the PWA would be set up by law but would not be used unless the current recession deepened into a depression. Then it would be put into operation to initiate such projects as public buildings, hospitals and roads to provide jobs for the unemployed.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson has passed word he favors passage of a PWA bill to supplement to already rolling Democratic plans to beef up housing, waterways, roads and other federal job-making activities.

The explosive FCC investigation took a new turn with senators named in the inquiry planning to offer formally, through House Speaker Sam Rayburn, to testify before a House investigating subcommittee.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.), chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, told the United Press he would send the offer today through Rayburn to Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) of the investigating subcommittee.

Magnuson said his action had the approval of three other Democratic senators named as intervening in a controversial television channel award—Estes Kefauver (Tenn.), Spessard L. Holland (Fla.) and George A. Smathers (Fla.). All have denied improper attempts to influence the TV case.

On another investigating front, Senate Rackets Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) announced he will summon John Gunaca of Mt. Clemens, Mich., a member of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers Union, to testify on violence charges in the lengthy Kohler Co. strike.

Gunaca's appearance may signal a unique test of a state's powers of extradition. Wisconsin officials plan to try to have him sent to Wisconsin to face assault charges if he shows up here. Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan has refused to send the worker to Wisconsin to face trial.

A farm bloc rebellion against Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson was coming to a head. The Senate Agriculture Committee scheduled a closed-door session today to consider a temporary freeze on farm price supports at 1957 levels. This would, if successful, block Benson's move to lower price props on milk, wheat and possibly other commodities. Similar moves were under way in the house.

Garment Workers Schedule Strike

NEW YORK (UP)—A quarter century of labor peace in the huge garment industry ends today when 65,000 workers leave their jobs in the lofts along Seventh Avenue and March to Madison Square Garden.

The first general strike in the industry since 1933 is expected to affect a total of 105,000 workers in New York City and State, New Jersey, Connecticut, Delaware, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island.

Federal and city mediators joined forces Tuesday in efforts to avert the strike and scheduled new meetings today in hopes they could bring the parties together for a quick end to the walkout.

The union said an additional 25,000 workers, who make belts, buttons and embroidery, will be idled as a result of the strike.

Officials of the Dress Joint Board of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union said they are making elaborate plans to insure a mass turnout for the rally, at which ILGWU President David Dubinsky and AFL-CIO President George Meany will speak.

Workers were instructed in special delivery letters to take their usual places at their machines at 9 a.m. and to walk out an hour later.

Madison Square Garden, scene of the big rally, is about a half mile from the center of the garment district. Streets were expected to be filled to brimming with marching cutters, sample makers, examiners, drapers, pressers, finishers, cleaners and operators.

Shipping clerks and sorters, who have a separate contract with the five employer groups against which the strike has been called, pledged they would join the mass walkout.

The billion-dollar-a-year industry has a quarter-century history of labor peace and extraordinary labor-management cooperation. But between 1909 and 1933 it was the focus of 10 strikes marked by violent and bloody battles in the garment section, which was then a true Tower of Babel, with most of its workers recent immigrants from all sections of Europe.

The crazy-quilt pattern of the entire garment industry has been celebrated in books, like Richard Bissell's "7 1/2 Cents", and musical comedies, "Pajama Game," adapted from that book, and the ILGWU's own hit production "Pins and Needles."

A-Powered Sub's Trip Completed

Editor's Note: United Press Staff Correspondent William D. Clark was the only wire service reporter aboard the U.S. atomic submarine Skate on its maiden voyage across the Atlantic.

By WILLIAM D. CLARK
United Press Staff Correspondent

PORTLAND, England (UP)—U.S. Navy's atomic-powered submarine Skate arrived at this British navy base today, completing a record-breaking underwater crossing of the Atlantic Ocean.

The Skate left Groton, Conn., Feb. 24 for Portland on the first leg of a European shakedown cruise. It arrived here at 3:45 a.m. e.s.t. after a voyage of 3,161 miles.

The girl he left behind will be waiting in London for Tom Harrigan, one of the civilian technicians who made the voyage.

Of the total distance covered by the Skate on the crossing, 2,828 miles were made beneath the sea and only 333 on the surface. The submerged time was 176 hours or 7 1/2 days.

Sees to Corrections

Thomas J. Harrigan, holder of one of the pioneering jobs in atomic submarines, is aboard as a trouble-shooter for the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics which has built the only three fission subs now in operation. His assignment is to see that the company carries out its part of the bargain and to direct whatever corrections the builder is responsible for until the Navy approves final acceptance.

Harrigan boarded Skate Feb. 24 at Groton, Conn. He lives in nearby Montville with his wife, Kathleen, and their three children, Tom, Mike, and Neil Patrick.

"See you in London, March 5," he called as Mrs. Harrigan bade him a cheery bon voyage. And so he will.

Three days later Mrs. Harrigan left the children with his mother, climbed aboard a plane in New York and flew to Ireland. She now is visiting relatives in County Cork.

She flies to London today where she will meet her husband as promised and they will go on for a brief flight in Paris.

Husband Stays Aboard

That over, Mrs. Harrigan will fly back to Connecticut and the husband will rejoin Skate for the remainder of the cruise.

He will be back home March 31. Harrigan, 29, has followed the construction from keel cradle to the sea, and Skate has been in his charge constantly since she started sea trials last October and passed them with flying colors in less than two months.

Official Of School Was 'Attacked'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—A white girl expelled from Central High School and her mother "physically attacked" a school official, the Little Rock School Board said Tuesday night.

The board's statement came shortly after the ousted pupil, Sammie Dean Parker, 16, said on a television program sponsored by the anti-integration Capitol Citizens Council that the school never had given her "any good reason" for expelling her last Friday.

The girl also complained that a National Guardsman patrolling the school to keep order since it was integrated followed her "to the restroom door" and also asked for dates.

The board replied that Sammie Dean "was suspended for the remainder of the current school year following a series of events culminating in a physical attack by her and her mother on a lady staff member. The board feels this suspension was fully justified."

A spokesman for the Arkansas Military District had no comment on the girl's charges "of the conduct of National Guardsmen."

Reds Are Willing To Attend Washington 'Summit' Meet

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Russia has indicated it is willing to attend a "summit" meeting or foreign ministers conference here in Washington, informed sources here said today.

The Soviet suggestion was said to have been made through diplomatic channels.

The United States was reported wary of the offer. Informants said it could be another Russian "gimmick" aimed at showing Moscow's willingness to hold East-West talks without actually being ready to give up any basic Red policies.

Success Not Assured

It was pointed out the choice of Washington, Geneva or any other place for a heads-of-government meeting is a procedural matter and does not assure a successful conference.

However it was thought the Soviet suggestion might be aimed at meeting a frequent U.S. argument that the American President cannot be away from his capital for long because of his duties.

The United States is preparing in any case to put Moscow's latest proposal for a pre-summit foreign minister meeting to an acid test to see if the Reds are really willing to negotiate.

Proposal called Unacceptable

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Tuesday stamped as "unacceptable" Moscow's latest proposal to have a foreign ministers conference in April that would only set a date, place and agenda for a heads-of-government "summit" parley in June.

Dulles said available signs indicate the Russians are interested in a summit meeting that would be "merely a spectacle, a show."

"This country, he declared, would not be a party to a conference that would be a 'fraud or a hoax' and 'not actually deal with anything.'"

There is belief in high government quarters the Russians may be willing to make some concessions in order to get a summit conference. The next step there would be to contact the Russians to see if they will take a more flexible position.

Sales To Wind Up Annual Stock Show

The Top o' Texas Stock Show swung into its final day of action today with the Junior Livestock sale starting at 9:30 a.m. The show will end with the Hereford Breeders Sale at 1 p.m. Yesterday's action started with the FFA Livestock Judging contest at 9:30 a.m.

The results in the contest were given at the Livestock Judging Banquet last night at the Senior High School.

First place went to Clarendon with 1105 points. Boys on the team are B. Logan, C. Talley, and S. Wells.

Second was the team from Panhandle with 1097 points.

Third was the team from Muleshoe with 1088 points; fourth was Hereford with 1086 points.

Fifth, White Deer with 1078 points; sixth, Canadian, 1073 points; seventh, Friendship, 1069 points; eighth, Monterey, 1063 points; ninth, Silvertown, 1062 points; 10th, Gruver, with 1060 points.

Following the Livestock Judging Banquet, the Hereford Breeders Banquet was held at the First Methodist Church.

The judging of Hereford Breeding Cattle was held yesterday at 1 p.m. J. P. Calliham, Conway, showed the Grand Champion bull and the Reserve Champion female in the breeders' show and Potts, Memphis, had the Grand Champion heifer. Millican, Panhandle, showed the reserve champion bull.

Thompson, of Miami, "did a job that three boys couldn't have done," said President Clyde Carruth. In the Junior Livestock Show he showed the Grand Champion and the Reserve Champion.

The address was given by Art Bralley, vice president, American National Bank, Amarillo. Bralley spoke on "Vertical Integration."

Vertical integration is otherwise known as contract production, says Bralley. The six steps integrated in the production of broilers are cross breeding, incubation, growing flocks, processing, sales and distribution and marketing. On the management side, feed, credit, and supervision are involved. The bank comes in when it supplies credit to the farmer.

Last year's officers were re-elected at the banquet. They are Clyde Carruth, president; Wayne Maddox, vice president; E. O. Wedgworth, secretary; and Frank M. Carter, treasurer.

Directors in the association are F. Jake Hess, A. B. Carruth, Ted Alexander, J. P. Calliham, George Coffee, Tommie Potts, C. E. Vincent, LeRoy Bron, Gordon Whitener, Ralph Thomas, Dr. M. C. Overton Jr., and Paul Dauer.

Dinner music was provided by Miss Kitty Hibler on the organ. After the banquet the Wheeler Ladies Trio sang two selections.

Radio Station Ownership Is Changed

A change in ownership of Pampa radio station KPAT was announced today by Bob Garrison, new co-owner, who reported that he and H. H. Huntley had purchased the station to become effective upon FCC approval.

Garrison, who has been affiliated with radio station KLEN in Kleen, and Huntley, who has been with KRWS in Post, will both make their home in Pampa and will actively work with the station.

A veteran of radio business, Garrison began with station KLVT in Levelland, and later was co-owner of KRWS in Post. Huntley is a past sports director for KRWS and also has had TV Appliance interests in Post.

Garrison stated the staff would remain the same at the station and that Jim Wilkes, former co-owner, would continue to be affiliated with the station. He added that he and Huntley would strive to make the station a means not only of adequate news dispersion but an instrument in stimulating business and trade in Pampa.

Two Men Arrested In Deaths Of 23 Persons In New York

NEW YORK (UP)—Two men were arrested in Hoboken, N.J., today on murder charges in the poison alcohol deaths of 23 New York City persons, police announced.

Police said Francisco Padin, 32, an employe of a chemical company, admitted he stole 60 gallons of wood alcohol from his firm and peddled it in Manhattan and the Bronx for $35 per five-gallon can.

Arrested with him was Pedro Rodriguez, 26, a tannery worker who was said to have aided Padin in distributing the lethal alcohol.

The men were arrested at their homes early today and booked by Hoboken police as fugitives from murder charges in New York City. They will have a hearing in Superior Court, Jersey City, later today.

Twenty-three persons in the Bronx and the Puerto Rican section of Manhattan's Harlem have died of drinking the alcohol in the last week. Several are still hospitalized, some in critical condition from the effects of the cheap bootleg "whiskey."

Police were at first stymied in their search for the alcohol source because the early victims reached hospitals unconscious and died without being able to tell where they bought the vicious drink.

Bronx detectives said they received information that Rodriguez had supplied some of the wood alcohol to neighborhood bootleggers, who mixed it with fruit juice or soda pop before peddling it to their slum customers.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend fixed me up with a blind date and I should have known the minute he showed up in a bow tie that he couldn't be trusted. I fell for him like a rock. He got me to love him on purpose and then lied to me and cheated on me. Everytime I go with a man who wears a bow tie, the same thing happens. I think girls should be warned about men who wear them. Thank you.

Dear Against: Don't condemn all the men who wear bow ties because of your experience. I know many a man behind a bow tie who can be trusted.

DEAR ABBY: I have a cousin who got married last summer and he drives a bread truck. He leaves the house at 5:00 a.m. and doesn't get home until 3:00 p.m. His wife says when he gets home all he wants to do is take a nap, eat supper, read the papers and go to sleep again. She says he is always tired so she has been turning to me for the love she needs. I am afraid if I don't keep seeing her she will turn to just anybody for the love she needs and they are such good kids I hate to see their marriage break up. Please give me some advice.

Dear Wayne: This is a new kind of "charity". Tell your cousin's wife to straighten herself out and concentrate on giving her husband the "live he needs" and it will come back to her.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is that my parents love my sister and they hate me. My sister wanted to take ballet lessons so they are giving her ballet lessons, but they are MAKING me take piano when I want to take ballet, too. I am eleven years old and weight 158 pounds and they are using that as an excuse. Please tell me what I should do.

RATHER TAKE BALLET Dear Rather: Go right to work on a diet (with a doctor's supervision) and get down to your normal weight. THEN ask your parents if you can take ballet.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a donut dunker. I like to dunk myself, but I never do it out in public where anybody can see me. He says there is nothing the matter with dunking a donut any more and it is accepted in the best of places. Am I from the old school or is he just making it up?

Dear No: Any place that serves donuts sees dunkers by the dozens. Quit fighting the battle of Dunker Hill.

CONFIDENTIAL to Mac Mac Intosh: Your problem is simply a champagne appetite and a beer income. Stay out of those places or you could get "killed."

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Wayne Dear Wayne: This is a new kind of "charity". Tell your cousin's wife to straighten herself out and concentrate on giving her husband the "live he needs" and it will come back to her.

The Building Of Missiles Is Complex, Slow Business

By JIM KLOCKENKEMPER United Press Staff Correspondent WARREN, Mich. (UP)—"They haven't written the book on how to build these things yet." This was the way a young engineer at the Chrysler-operated plant where they build the Redstone and Jupiter missiles described the changing problems in learning how to mass-produce giant rockets. It also told why so many hundreds of young engineers and technicians are eager about their jobs in this huge plant north of Detroit. They like the challenge and excitement. Chrysler started development work on the Redstone with the Army Ballistic Missile Agency in 1952. The company got into development of the Jupiter in 1956 and in January of this year got its first production contract for its bigger missile. To an observer accustomed to auto and other mass production lines, missile production is a creeping affair. But the Redstone work here is comparable to production of aircraft. Lists Trademarks The number of highly-skilled workers, the testing, the inspection, the close supervision by engineers and specifications experts—these are all trademarks of missile and aircraft production. "If you're looking for a production 'line' you won't find it," Deputy Security Officer Howard Whitescarver told newsmen as he started a tour of the plant. The 63-foot long Redstones, a 200-mile range missile, are built in five sections, including the nose cone. Except for the empty space left near the front of the missile for the "pay load," or explosives, each section is packed with equipment. Welders and riveters assemble each section of the hull separately. Then miles of wiring and piping are installed by men who crawl in and out of the missile. The gyroscopically-controlled guidance system made by Ford Division of Sperry Corp., is installed. Tanks to provide lubrication and fuel pressure are put inside. When all the control and fueling equipment has been put in, the front sections of the missiles are assembled. Attach Sections At this point, the liquid oxygen and alcohol burning rocket engine, made by North American Aviation, is brought up and attached to the rear of the rocket and the tail section is brought up over the engine. So exact must be the joining of the rocket sections that the centertine can vary only 30-100th of an inch over each 30 feet of the length. The big difference between a manned aircraft and missiles is that everything in the missile must work automatically after it leaves the ground. This calls for a great deal more "electronic brain" equipment in the missile. In addition, the missile goes from the warm earth to the terrible cold of empty space, and through great ranges of outside pressures. All this must be compensated by devices inside the missile so its instruments and machinery work under conditions that are constant. Is it any wonder 65 per cent of the employees here are engineers or skilled technicians? And this is the Redstone operation. The planners are only just beginning to lay out the Jupiter production machinery. The Jupiter is a 1,500-mile intermediate range missile that makes the Redstone look dinky. Like the man said, they haven't written the book on how to build these things yet. (Tomorrow: The missile problems).

CHICKEN DINNER, ANYONE?—Yes, that's chicken in the tube—semi-liquidified chicken. The high-altitude-eating food container, revealed for the first time by Dr. Roger H. Lueck, above, vice president of the American Can Company, is being developed for liquid-type foods for use by pilots flying at very high altitudes. Dr. Lueck explains that face masks on pressure suits limit food intake to products that can be taken through plastic straws. But pressure differences inside and outside the suit make sucking through a straw at high altitudes impossible, so a container (in this case a collapsible metal tube) that can be squeezed by hand to force the food through the straw is necessary.

Canadian Students Take Wins

(Special to The News) CANADIAN — Canadian High School speech students took three first places and placed eight others among the top five in the annual High School Speech Meet at Texas Tech in Lubbock recently. First Place winners were Janis Wilbur in Senior Girls Declamation, Delores Batts in Junior Girls Declamation, and Charles Adams in Boys Extemporaneous Speech. Other placings were Sandra Water, third, and Jucy Eremam, fourth, in Senior Girls Declamation; Janis Wilbur, second, Linda Adams, third, and Judy Louthier, fourth, in Girls Poetry Reading; John Papp Prichard, third, and Merland Chalper, fourth, in Boys Poetry Reading; and James Parrish, fifth in Boys Extemporaneous Speech. The Canadian high school boys debate team, John Rogers and Johnny Glenn, also competed with other schools, but no ratings were given in this division. Instructor Tom Monroe accompanied the students to the meet. Schools represented were Canyon, Happy, Tulsa, Hereford, Vega, Perryton, Canadian, Odessa, Levelland and two Lubbock high schools.

Increases In Security Benefits Not Automatic

Increases in Social Security benefits based on additional earnings after retirement are not automatic, John R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo District Social Security Office, says. Such increases must be applied for to be received. Many people do not want to stop working as soon as they reach retirement age. Some of them work full time as long as they can, and some take off their earnings by doing part-time work. Frequently, then, the question arises "Will the earnings I have had, since I filed my claim, enable me to draw higher benefits?" The answer is, "Yes, they possibly will." If you are a beneficiary over age 72, still working, and have never inquired about having your benefits refigured, it might result in an increase in your payments if you contact your Social Security Office. This is particularly true if you have made over $4,200 in any two of the last three years, starting with 1955, and are not now receiving $108.50 per month.

Canadian Schools Set Observance

Special recognition of teachers and other school employees will be given during the program, according to Superintendent Woodie Beene, and Virgil Brock, secretary of the Canadian Independent School board, will be the speaker. Following the program at the auditorium, visitors will be invited to tour the various classrooms in high school, junior high, and Baker School where special exhibits of students' work will be on display. Open house will be concluded with refreshments in the school cafeteria.

Telegram Deliverers May Get Asked To Deliver Anything

By DOC QUIGG United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UP) — Western Union, an institution that will be 107 years old come April Fool's Day, is in with a claim that when messenger jobs are jobbed its messengers will be the jobbers. You can send a telegram, nowadays, by high-speed printers and by pushing a button of a facsimile machine — but nobody has figured out how to make electronic devices sit in as a fourth at bridge, take a farmer's cow home for milking, recover lost false teeth, or deliver lunch to a workman on a flagpole. These things, and things stranger still they say, are all in the course of the work of some 10,000 messengers in nearly 2,000 cities and towns in the United States and, what's more, business is growing. The company's errand and distribution revenues for 1957 were nearly two million dollars, a seven per cent gain over 1956. We went right to the company and demanded: "Are you kidding about cow deliveries and sitting in at bridge, and that kind of stuff?" Secretary Orders Snake "Nope," said the W.U. man, "in Wall Street, three or four years ago, one of our messengers was called on by a blonde secretary, to bring her a two-foot garter snake from a zoo. When she got it, she gave the messenger a hug and told him he did a fine job. "There have been two or three instances where our boys have been asked to sit in at bridge games. The cow, as I recall, was in a pasture some distance from home and the farmer was unable to go for it that day." Two classic stories in the company and the movie "scared woman. The elopers hired a messenger to take them to a license bureau and to a clergyman, and then used him as best man. The Detroit (UP)—Car and truck production in the U.S. is down nearly 30 per cent for the first two months of the year, figures released by the big three showed. All three companies, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, showed big production drops from the 1957 rate. But General Motors, last year accounting for close to 48 per cent of production, this year claims 58 per cent. Chrysler showed the biggest proportional drop in production. In January-February, 1957, Chrysler built 131,274 cars and trucks. This year it built 46,788. Ford Motor Co. in the first two months of 1957 built 200,842 cars and trucks but this year has built only 130,481. General Motors has produced 356,145 cars, trucks and buses compared with 469,241 last year. Ford car production is down from 133,471 last year to 95,701. Plymouth production this year is 27,146 compared with 65,641 last year. Chevrolet is the only car make to top 1957 production, with 276,741 assemblies so far compared with 276,418 in 1957. Quotes From The News (Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.) By UNITED PRESS WASHINGTON — Richard A. Mack, in a letter to President Eisenhower resigning his post as a Federal Communications Commissioner following threat of legal proceedings and impeachment: "I feel in my heart that I have done no wrong and my conscience is clear." Unpopularity No Measure Of Talent; Godfrey Has It

By WILLIAM EWALD United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UP) — It is fashionable nowadays to dislike Arthur Godfrey, but I must admit, Okay, here goes my critic's license—that I rather enjoy him. Godfrey is no longer much of a thunder-maker in the TV world. His Wednesday night "Friends" show has fizzled. His CBS-TV morning show has a floating family and just gurgles along in anticlimactic obscurity. His Monday night "Talent Scouts" has popped out in the ratings race, although there are efforts afoot at CBS-TV to reduce it with prizes and big game production. Popularity, however, has never been much of an index of worth. And I suspect in the case of Godfrey, many viewers have fallen away from him because they condescend to him. He is a performer with Godfrey — the terrible-tempered employer. Off-Stage Behavior Censured There is a tendency among the entertainment — buying public to confuse the off-stage person with the on-stage personality, to belittle the talent of a performer because of his social embroilments, his morals, his politics or whatever. It is the right, of course, of every paying customer to refuse to patronize a performer whose conduct or views he differs with. As I said, there seem to be efforts afoot to revitalize Godfrey at CBS-TV and CBS radio and I hope the efforts succeed. Despite Godfrey's bawling temper, I think TV needs his blunt and barefoot brand of showmanship badly. Well, as Godfrey demonstrates on his morning show and as he did on "Talent Scouts" Monday night, he is a gifted member of a new breed: The TV performer. Godfrey — like Garry Moore, Dave Garroway, Steve Allen, to tick off a few — works not to that great beast, the audience, but to the single viewer: His TV chair teeters on the brink of the viewer's living room, he reeks intimacy and 21-inch screenness. He shows the grand gesture, exaggerated posturing, overstatement. On camera, there is an absence of puff and gas and blat about him. Some TV talkers walk on stilts through their commercials; Godfrey ice skates. Monday night's "Talent Scouts" was a pretty good example of the Godfrey touch in action. He loosened his first talent scout, a young, brunette in a polka dot dress, with a sudden: "Anybody ever tell you what big brown eyes you got?" He also loosened his audience with it. Knack of Being Interested He seemed to be interested—this is one of his great talents, the knack of being interested in what anybody is saying—in what his second young talent scout was spouting even though she talked interminably about nothing. His commercials were free of cant. His first was for a ballpoint pen and he said: "It's just $1.95—reduced from $2.00, especially for listeners of this program." He also advised his listeners not to bother buying the pen at all: "Just buy the refill," he said. "It's only 69 cents and writes all by itself." His last commercial for a hair product he skipped through in about 15 seconds. And although his guest talent wasn't much, the half hour slid by. And make no mistake about it, slid by because of one man: Godfrey. As I said, there seem to be efforts afoot to revitalize Godfrey at CBS-TV and CBS radio and I hope the efforts succeed. Despite Godfrey's bawling temper, I think TV needs his blunt and barefoot brand of showmanship badly. The Channel Swim, Phil Stryver and an auto firm are trying to work out plans for a one-shot spe-

Special show on CBS-TV in May. It's beginning to look as if Sid Caesar will fold after May 25 on ABC-TV. Mike Wallace shot the pilot of his new anthology series, "Motive," with actor Eddie Andrews—Mike says it looks hot for an ABC-TV berth, he hopes. He hopes. Wallace has Salvador Dali booked in for his April 8 ABC-TV interview show. Steve Allen will take eight weeks off their summer for a European trip. "Leave It to Beaver" may be shifted to Wednesday night by CBS-TV. James Roosevelt will sit on the CBS-TV "What's My Line" panel March 16. AFL-CIO Lovers

"The course of true love," the great bard reminded us, "never did run smooth."

And rocky indeed has been the road for the AFL-CIO since these giant outfits got together under a single tent. If current events are any indication, then it must be that with the AFL-CIO, the merger was the result of a pure love match.

Oh, well. When the big boys got together for their historic combine, we had a few doubts about how long they'd be able to endure each other's company.

When the AFL-CIO closed ranks, something close to 15 million souls were scooped up in the largest dues-paying racket the world had ever seen.

This is not the end of the story by a long shot. There are 800,000 carpenters who may have to hoist the black flag of labor union independence.

How come? How does it happen that all of these noble combinations of pressure bearers are being given the old heave-ho out of the big brotherhood?

Westbrook Pegler intimates that it's because the Meany collection of top thugs being lured into listening to the siren song of "ethics," as sung to them by certain day dreamers in the union field.

Ethics and unions are strange words and don't belong together. Naturally, the congressional investigators are trying to show that the bulk of all the unions have fine, upstanding, honest and hardworking leaders.

This is just a lot of fine banjo strumming and doesn't mean a thing.

Let's do a little defining of our terms. Congress is going to drive the racketeers out of unions? Okay, what is a racketeer? Webster says: "One who singly or in combination with other extorts money or advantages by threats of violence or of unlawful interference with business."

All right, what is a racket: Again Webster: "Any method of exploitation for money, ranging from petty charity, illicit business, and gambling schemes to an organized extortionary crime ring operating by use of violence, with hired legal protection and bribery of politicians."

Don't say we're hurling abuse at unions, now. That's Webster terminology, not ours.

Let's go on a little further. What is extortion? Once more we refer to Webster. He says: "Act or practice of taking anything from a person by illegal use of fear."

Now let's put the banjo away and talk a little sense. How do unions get what they want? They organize, do they not, and by virtue of the strength of numbers in their organization they proceed to make demands upon various employers.

Every employer, when faced with a union demand, backed up by a strike or the threat of a strike, knows the meaning of fear. Business at best is always precarious and depends upon a thousand variables.

Now, how in the world can a racket, such as the union, operate on what is called "ethics"? And how can congressional investigations rid unions of their own intimate nature?

But, in the meanwhile, the splitting up of the big combine seems to be proceeding nicely. We suspect that the day will come when Meany, Reuther, et al, will deplore the fact that they ever heard of that word "ethics."

The Philosophy Of "Atlas Shrugged"

If those people who do not want to read a book of 1198 pages would read 80 pages of a speech made by the hero of the book, "Atlas Shrugged," they would certainly stimulate their minds.

In this novel the country was in even worse shape than we are today. The bureaucrats had been telling the public that on a certain case one of the leaders "in a fire-side chat" would explain how things would be worked out.

The book is a 10 book but the 80 pages are a summary of beliefs of the author as set forth in the Declaration of Independence and are worth the price of the book.

"...The only value men can offer me is the work of their mind. When I disagree with a rational man, I am really being my final arbiter; if I am right, he will learn; if I am wrong, I will; one of us will win, but both will profit."

"Whatever may be open to disagreement, there is one act of evil that may not, the act that no man may commit against others and no man may sanction or forgive. So long as men desire to live together, no man may initiate—do you hear me? no man may start—the use of physical force against others."

"To interpose—the threat of physical destruction between a man and his perception of reality, is to negate and paralyze his means of survival; to force him to act against his own judgment, is like forcing him to act against his own sight. Whoever, to whatever purpose or extent, initiates the use of force, is a killer acting on the premise of death in a manner wider than murder: the premise of destroying man's capacity to live."

Morality Ends Where a Gun Begins

"Do not open your mouth to tell me that your mind has convinced you of your right to force my mind. Force and mind are opposites; morality ends where a gun begins. When you declare that men are irrational animals and propose to treat them as such, you define thereby your own character, and can no longer claim the sanction of reason—as no advocate of contradictions can claim it. There can be no "right" to destroy the source of rights, the only means of judging right and wrong: the mind."

"To force a man to drop his own mind and to accept your will as a substitute with a gun in place of a syllogism, with terror in place of proof, and death as the final argument—is to attempt to exist in defiance of reality. Reality demands of man that he act against it. Reality threatens man with death if he does not act on his rational judgment; you threaten him with death if he does. You place him into a world where the price of his life is the surrender of all the virtues required by life—and death by a process of gradual destruction as all that you and your system will achieve, when death is made to be the ruling power, the winning argument in a society of men."

Your Children's Education or Your Life

"Be it a highway man who confronts a traveler with the ultimatum: 'Your money or your life,' or a politician who confronts a country with the ultimatum: 'Your children's education or your life,' the meaning of that ultimatum is: 'Your mind or your life'—and neither is possible to man without the other."

"If there are degrees of evil, it is hard to say who is the more contemptible: the brute who assumes the right to force the mind of others or the moral degenerate who grants to others the right to force his mind. This is the moral absolute one does not leave open to debate. I do not grant the terms of reason to men who propose to deprive me of reason. I do not enter discussions with neighbors who think they can forbid me to think. I do not place my moral sanction upon a murderer's wish to kill me. When a man attempts to deal with me by force, I answer him—by force."

"It is only as retaliation that force may be used and only against the man who starts its use. No, I do not share his evil or sink to his concept of morality: I merely grant him his choice, destruction, the only destruction he had the right to choose: his own. He uses force to seize a value: I use it only to destroy destruction. A holdup man seeks to gain wealth by killing me; I do not grow richer by killing a holdup man. I seek no values by means of evil, nor do I surrender my values of evil."

"In the name of all the producers who had kept you alive and received your death ultimatum in payment, I now answer you with a single ultimatum of our own: Our work or your guns. You can choose either: you can't have both. We do not initiate the use of force against others or submit to force at their hands. If you desire ever again to live in an industrial society, it will be on our moral terms. Our terms and our motive power are the antithesis of yours. You have been using fear as your weapon and have been bringing death to man as his punishment for rejecting your morality. We offer him life as his reward for accepting ours."

Israel Is Human And Economic Melting Pot

By RAY TUCKER

TEL AVIV — Israel has become a human and economic melting pot as a result of the influx of a million immigrants from strange lands possessed of new skills and occupations since it became an independent republic on May 14, 1948.

It not only welcomes them. It searches them out in the most remote places, wherever the world's Jewish population yearns for fuller spiritual and material satisfaction. As a result, each new vessel arriving at the debarking port of Haifa presents both a problem and an opportunity. It is a challenge which this nation of only 2,000,000 people has met gladly and successfully so far.

IMMIGRANTS BRING SKILLS

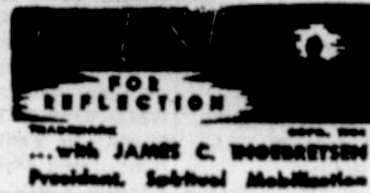

These "ingathering" workers have ranged from a Clydebank shipbuilder from Scotland to diamond cutters from Antwerp, and from embroidery handiwork natives of Yemen on the Red Sea to engineers from West Germany. They have also brought carpet weavers from Morocco, ceramic craftsmen from West Europe and the United States, and a host of economically valuable people, skilled and unskilled, from other sections of the world.

The difficulties in resettling and re-establishing them are a severe strain and test. First, Israel must find them a job, and it would be absurd and illogical to set a diamond cutter to digging ditches. So, the primary task is to build a wholly new industry based on their peculiar and particular talents. The same observation applies to other different groups of incoming workers.

The third problem is to cultivate overseas markets where these new products may be sold in large or small quantities. And Israel's seafarers have shown remarkable enterprise and ingenuity in ferreting out market places, where they never had traded before. They have become expert as exporting entrepreneurs.

"COAL TO NEWCASTLE"—Due largely to the mild, year-round climate, they carry "coal to Newcastle" for replanting and blossoming. New York hotels serve a shrimp caught in Mediterranean waters. London's finest eating places have Israeli tomatoes and other vegetables on their menus in cold and goffy winter months. Cut flowers from here are on sale during the same period in Park Avenue and Regent Street shops.

Israel also expands and modifies the industries which talented but sometimes backward and unimaginative immigrants gave birth to. When the Yemeni embroiderers arrived, they applied their skills only to native dresses of no style appeal. Here, they were taught to embroider modish wearing apparel, such as blouses and other pretty things. The Moroccan carpet weavers also learned to diversify their products and designs.

DELIRIOUS DREAMS

Just how inconsistent can people be? The AFL-CIO Executive Council reportedly said the other day the Government should cut taxes and boost spending to spur the lagging economy.

The labor union leaders, according to the Associated Press, called for a 10-billion-dollar annual boost in defense expenditures over the next two years. Federal aid to economically distressed areas, school construction and other aid programs, and a boost in the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour. At the same time, they assertedly pledged "vigorous collective bargaining" in 1958 to raise wages.

Now I am in full agreement with the plea to cut taxes. But to call for both a tax cut and a spending boost, at a time when the debt ceiling is about to be raised again even as things stand, is, in my opinion, simply to invite reckless inflation as a prelude to national disaster.

What we need is a spending slash that cuts even deeper than the tax slash. To continue to spend faster and faster what we haven't got is to cast our Government in the role of a profligate wastrel. If we allow irresponsible leaders to carry us away with their delirious dreams, it won't be long until our whole economy will be a nightmare.

The Doctor Says:

EDWIN F. JORDAN, M.D.

Heart disease and diseases of the blood vessels cause more deaths in America than anything else. In 1956, for example, diseases of the heart and circulation were responsible for about 54 of each 100 deaths.

The economic burden is also staggering. At least 650,000 man years are lost in industry each year from these disorders, the equivalent of more than three billion dollars in earnings.

In addition to the toll in the form of deaths which heart disease and its relatives exact, there are many people who are completely unable to work or who are less seriously ill from some condition related to the heart, to high blood pressure or to hardening of the arteries.

FOR ALL THESE reasons, therefore, the conquest of heart disease is one of the most important problems facing medical research today.

One should not, however, think of heart disease as a single problem.

Heart disease caused by rheumatic fever, usually in childhood, is one problem. Heart disease caused by hardening of the arteries in later life is another. Certainly, among the most important causes of heart disease is high blood pressure of unknown origin.

Each type of difficulty has to be attacked in a different way. Treatment varies widely and the search for the causes and means for preventing them do not follow the same lines.

MUCH CAN BE done for heart disease and diseases of the blood vessels, particularly if they are caught early. Serious difficulty can often be avoided or postponed when the correct diagnosis is made promptly and the proper treatment begun at once.

Nevertheless, the key to the problem of heart disease is more knowledge. Only thus will it become possible for physicians to aid in developing better methods of prevention and treatment.

Each February the American Heart Association conducts a campaign to obtain funds to permit more research on the causes, prevention, and treatment of these diseases. The money raised is spent principally on supporting research.

These campaigns are bearing fruit and already we have made important advances in understanding—and hence in treatment—of several forms of heart and circulatory disease.

MORSELAUGH, ANYONE? (N. Y. Daily News)

Sen. John J. Williams (R-DeL.) is fit to be tied. He charges that Swaps, the near-millionaire horse which won the 1955 Kentucky Derby, and collected $548,000 before retiring to stud, has been champion on drought relief oats and hay, at the taxpayers' expense.

The fiery senator is demanding that the Agriculture Department recover $26,045 in relief grain from Swaps' former co-owner. He snorts that Swaps or some of his fast-beepled pals also chewed up $2,865 in free hay.

All this, of course, is caused by our government's so-called farm relief laws, which grow goofier by the minute. Agriculture says it isn't sure that Swaps himself ate that relief grub. Swaps' ex-owner swears his cow ate it. But, horselaugh or cowlaugh, the episode points up some truly weird aspects of today's farm laws.

Harvesters To Arrive In Austin Today

First Game Is Nightcap Tilt

Enroute to the state basketball tournament in Austin, the Pampa Harvesters paused yesterday in Denton where they held practice and spent the night, and are scheduled to make the last leg of the journey today.

Although the smaller conferences will get their early rounds underway sooner, the Harvesters' first game in the 4-A four team play off will be Friday night at 9:25 when they meet the Woodrow Wilson Wildcats of Dallas in Gregory gymnasium. Prior to the Harvesters game Austin High will clash with Port Arthur at 8 in the first of the 4-A action. Port Arthur will be defending a state title and is favored over the other three teams in this defense.

THE WOODROW WILSON coaches will be trying for their first state title since 1938, having failed to even chalk a district championship since that time. For the season they have 27 victories and five defeats.

Pampa's quintet will be going for the third championship role in six years, having emerged as titleists in 1953 and 1954. In 1955 they placed fourth in the state meet and in 1957 gained the runner-up slot. Odessa defeated the Harvesters for the district championship in 1956.

IN THE HEIGHT department the Dallas courtiers will take an over-all height advantage. Standing tallest are center Guy Trigg and forward Charlton Lewis, both at 6'3". Next is forward Rick Martin at 6'3", guard Mack McAlister at 5'10" and guard Fontaine Riley at 5'9".

For the Harvesters center Mack Layne at 6'3" and forward Coyle Winborn at 6'3" ranks as the tallest. Next is guard Bill Brown at 6'0", forward Ray Stephenson at 5'11" and guard Charles Minor at 5'10".

COACHED BY Bennie Kelly, the Wildcats represent district 5-AAAA. They downed Crozier Tech of Dallas in bi-district, 49-42, and spilled Wichita Falls, 72-49, in the quarterfinal playoff.

The Harvesters of 3-AAAA defeated Paschal of Fort Worth, 58-49, for bi-district and downed Big Spring, 78-55, in the regional encounter.

Baylor To Lead Seattle At Idaho In Top Game Tonight

By TIM MORIARTY

United Press Sports Writer Elgin Baylor gets a chance to regain the college basketball scoring leadership tonight when he leads Seattle against Idaho State in a possible NCAA Tournament preview.

Oscar Robertson hung on to first place by a narrow margin Tuesday night when he helped Cincinnati down Dayton, 70-66. However, Robertson's season average slipped from 35.08 to 34.78 as he netted "only" 27 points.

All-State Class B Cage Team Named

By UNITED PRESS

Blossom, the only undefeated team in the state schoolboy basketball tournament opening at Austin Thursday, placed a margin on both the first and second all-state Class B team announced Tuesday by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Bobby Weddle, the 4-1 senior with a 17.8-point scoring average, made the first team, while his forward running mate, Gary Woodall, also 6-1, was honored on the second team. Weddle's average wasn't as good as the others who won first team berths, but that was because four players of the Lamar county team averaged in four figures, including Woodall's 17.2 average.

In addition to Weddle, other members of the mythical honor team included forward Russell Berry of Abbott, center Elbert Kirk of Cayuga, and guards Dan Walsworth of O'Brien and Jim Womack of Hawley.

The 5-11 Walsworth sported the top scoring average of 28.1, while Womack had 26.0, Berry 22.2 and Kirk 20.0. Walsworth and Womack are juniors, the rest seniors.

There were no repeaters from last year, but Kirk—who lacked only one vote out of 22 of being unanimous, was up from the 1957 second all-state team and Berry up from the third team.

On the second team with Woodall were Harvey Pat Bradley of Samnorwood at forward, Ford

King Jr. of the defending state champion Big Sandy team at center and guards Bobby Shelton of Dripping Springs and Wesley Jones of Kopperl.

The third team was composed of forwards Ed Watson of Jonesboro and Ned Galloway of Aspermont, centers Ed Pinnell of Adrian and Vernon Kindred of East Mountain and guards Warren Hegy of Imperial and Kenneth Dorman of Kyle.

Honorable mention: Ted Hobby, Chilton; Harold Hanson, Meadow; James Pointer, Bedias; Fred Gilliam, Buffalo; Tommy Harris, Agua Dulce; Robert Barnett, Fairy; John Bradbury, Bedias; Maurice Zaleski, Troy; Herman Battise, Big Sandy; Walter Wilson, Gregory; Portland; John Tom Johnson; O'Brien; H. J. Schnauz, Kyle; Billy Plemons, Blue Grove; Johnny Ramirez, Rankin; Arch Morrow, Spring Hill; Larry Walker, Blossom; Buddy Roark, Wink.

fight with Kansas State for the regular-season national championship, almost blew Tuesday's game against Dayton before a record-breaking crowd of 15,011 fans at Cincinnati. It was the final regular-season game for Dayton, which will carry a 23-3 record into next week's National Invitation Tournament at New York.

Southern Methodist and Arkansas wound up in a tie for first place in the Southwest Conference race when the Mustangs whipped Baylor, 77-52, and the Razorbacks knocked off Texas, 74-60.

Officials of the two schools will confer by telephone today to choose a neutral court for a one-game playoff. The winner will represent the conference in the NCAA regional playoffs at Lawrence, Kan., next week.

Three other NCAA-bound teams scored hard-earned victories. Notre Dame outlasted DePaul, 75-71, for its 10th straight triumph. Temple had to pull out all the stops in turning back Lehigh, 58-51, and San Francisco broke open a close game late in the second half to defeat College of the Pacific, 69-59, for its 20th straight victory.

In other major games, Holy Cross closed out its season by downing Rhode Island, 74-69; Texas Tech whipped Rice, 73-64; Texas Christian clobbered Texas A&M, 62-42; a free throw by Leroy Boos enabled St. Mary's to nip Santa Clara, 48-47.

Haney Says Braves Will Be 'Improved'

United Press Sports Editor BRADENTON, Fla. (UP)—Fred Haney, who never sells another club short, predicted his world champion Milwaukee Braves would be an "improved team" this coming season but refused to come out flatly and predict another pennant.

"The rest of the clubs have improved, too," he pointed out. "We'll just have to wait and see if they have improved more than we have."

He singled out the Pittsburgh Pirates as a club that "could be a whole lot better if Ted Kluszewski should play for them as he did for Cincinnati before he was hurt."

"If any one man like Kluszewski should get hot, he lifts the rest of the club with him," Haney reasoned. "We only have to go back to the Philadelphia Phillies last year to prove that point. When Granny Hamner was fit to play second base again, the Phillies started making a good run for it and actually went into first place. But then Hamner cooled off and so did the rest of the Phillies."

Seven Clubs to Beat

Once again, Haney insisted his Braves had "seven clubs to beat." "Most people think I'm a phony when I say that, but the record proves it's true," he explained. "Just look at our race last year."

"On July 31 we were in first place by a half game over St. Louis. Brooklyn was only a game out, Philadelphia three-and-a-half and Cincinnati four. On August 15 we were leading by eight-and-a-half games."

"Now look what happened. In that period the Dodgers won six and lost 10, the Redlegs and Phillies each won four while losing 10 and the Cardinals won four while losing 11. Most of those losses were because the Giants and Cubs got their hot streaks."

"It could have been us playing the Giants and the Cubs instead of those other fellows. That's what I mean when I say you have seven other clubs to beat." But Haney thinks his team has a good chance to do it because of "pitching depth."

Behind the Starters

"Look at it this way," he explained. "I have three fine starters in (Lew) Burdette, (Bob) Buhl and (Warren) Spahn. Now most of the other clubs have three starting pitchers just as good."

"But behind my three I have five other starters, making a total of eight. I don't want to name those other five starters now, but there isn't any other team with that depth."

"Brooklyn comes closest to it. If (Don) Newcombe comes back with those three left-handers (he meant Johnny Podres, Sandy Koufax and Danny McDevitt), and Don Drysdale and this kid, (Stan) Williams they are bringing up from St. Paul, the Dodgers are going to be almost as deep as we are."

Milwaukee's strong points, besides that pitching figure to be a "stronger bench and the fact that players like (Hank) Aaron and (Eddie) Mathews will be even better," according to Haney. And he added: "Most of our key players have their best years ahead of them."

White Deer Does Defeat McLean For Girl's Bi-District Cage Title

The White Deer Does marched to the girl's bi-district basketball championship last night as they downed the McLean Tigerettes, 72-56, in the McLean gymnasium.

Mary Ann Freeman sparked the winning offensive attack and remained the top scorer for White Deer as she netted 37 points for the evening. Marilyn Kotara ranked second for the Does with 18 points and Nancy McConnell was third with 17.

For the losing Tigerettes Laura

Mae Switzer hit for 27 points to lead McLean scoring attack. The two teams got off to an even start during the early minutes of the game and by the end of the first quarter the Does had gained only a slim 10-8 lead. In the second period the teams again ranged evenly and Tigerettes pulled out in the fading minutes of the half to take the lead over White Deer, 24-22, as the half ended.

In the third quarter the Does began to widen the margin as they outscored McLean 25-11 to go into the final period leading 47-35. In final quarter the Does again outpointed McLean, edging them 25-21, to gain their final 72-56 margin of victory.

For the victorious cagers of Bob Moore, the game marked the 29th victory against a single loss. The Tigerettes, coach by Jack Riley, ended their season with an outstanding 26-4 record.

The Does will now participate in the regional tournament in Lubbock next weekend, March 7-8. The winners of the Lubbock tourney will earn a berth in the state playoffs the following weekend in Austin.

SMU Arkansas To Set Playoff

By UNITED PRESS Doe Hayes and Glen Rose, coaches of Southwest Conference co-champions SMU and Arkansas, Wednesday were to schedule a playoff game to decide which team will compete in the NCAA regional meet at Lawrence, Kan., March 14-15.

The Mustangs and Hogs won easy victories Tuesday night to buy their joint ownership of the conference crown after one of the closest seasons in the league's history.

Defending champion Southern Methodist claimed its share of its fourth straight championship with a sparkling 77-52 victory over Baylor that helped to soothe some of the dismay over last Saturday's protested 43-42 loss to Texas A&M after a goal-tending incident.

Hogs Break Out The Arkansas squad, that led the conference at the beginning of the season, broke open a tightly-fought contest with Texas shortly before halftime Tuesday night and proceeded to cop a 74-60 victory.

Both teams ended up with a 9-5 conference record. Tied at 8-6 for second place were Texas Tech and Texas Christian University, who also scored easy victories over Rice and Texas A&M respectively.

Applications may be made in writing to Southwest Basketball Official's Association; c/o Abb Curtis, 1129 National City Building, Dallas 1, Texas. The applications will be accepted during the month of March only.

Examination for entrance will be given during April, the exact date of which will be announced later.

Charles Beaton of West Texas State won the unofficial Border Conference scoring title—but only by the skimpy margin of one-tenth of a point.

Beaton finished the season with a 16.3-point per game average on 298 points in 16 games, but Al Nealey of Arizona State almost caught him Monday night with a 24-point performance against Arizona as the Sun Devils won the Border title.

Nealey, who went into the final game with a 15.8-point average, thereby boosted it to 16.2.

Official averages, which do not include Monday's game, show Beaton also the top man at the free throw line with 53 of 65 for 81.6 per cent. Newman was the best from the floor with 151 out of 305 for 49.1 per cent.

Doyle Edmiston of Hardin-Simmons ranked as the top rebounder with an average of 15 per game.

Sponsors said it would promote construction of 200,000 to 300,000 additional new homes this year. Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland indicated the President might consider an early tax cut to promote recovery.

Mild Weather Aids Satellite Launchings

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—Clearing skies early today boded prospects for the coming round of U.S. satellite launchings from Cape Canaveral. A two-day siege of wind and rain ended suddenly late Tuesday night. Forecasters had indicated the bad weather might plague the cape a few more days and jinx missile-launching plans. Barring technical difficulties and a return of the unfavorable weather, both the Army and Navy are expected to launch satellite rockets by the end of the week, with the Army given the best chance of putting a second Explorer into orbit around the earth. The Army will use its four-stage Jupiter-C rocket which blasted Explorer I into the heavens Jan. 31, and the Navy will use its Vanguard, which has blown up both times previously when fired with a satellite in its nose. No deaths from heat prostration have ever been recorded in Tampa, Fla.
