Jaycees Hear Talk On 'Education'

At the Tuesday meeting of the Pampa Jaycees, Mrs. Myrtle Morgan spoke on the value of education and the need for expansion of educational facilities in Pampa during the next 10-15 years. She advocated a Junior College for Pampa, which would use the facilities that we have now. As brought out in the meeting, the local Jaycees have established a new Junior Chamber of Commerce in Sinton. Seven Jaycees and their wives went from Pampa Monday to the Charter Banquet in Sinton. State Jaycee President "Pete" Snelson came up from Midland for the occasion. The Pampa Jaycees will hold their Installation Banquet for new officers in the Palm Room, Apr. 26. At the Tuesday meeting, Chairman Clyde Dickerson reported on the Teen Age Roadshow which will be held Apr. 27 for boys and girls of High School age. The Roadshow will be a safe driving contest. Another project underway is the Junior Golf Tournament that will be held in May for High School age boys. The four winners will go on to a District Tournament the same month. Otis Pelt received an Orientation Award given an educational program earlier in the year for new members. The award came from State Vice President Gerald Hall. Clinton Evans, who was in charge of the program, introduced Mrs. Morgan for her talk on "Education." Mrs. Morgan is working on her Master's thesis at West Texas State College. The subject of her thesis is "Education." In the next ten to 15 years, stated Mrs. Morgan, the number of students in college will double to triple and new facilities will have to be provided for them.

Gray County Commission Sets Meet

The Gray County Commissioners will meet Monday at the courthouse in the County Courtroom with several items on the agenda. It is expected that the commissioners will set a date for the County Board of Equalization to meet, which is set each year about this same time by the commissioners. Last year it was set for June 19 and it is expected it will be set for about the same time this year. The commissioners have received a petition from 44 citizens in the southwestern part of Gray County who want the Celanese road to be extended to Highway 66 with the next farm-to-market road money the commissioners receive. The Celanese road is about 11 miles long and runs from the plant to the Grandview area.

Rebels Spread War In More Cuban Areas

HAVANA (UP)—Guerrilla warfare was reported today to have spread from rebel-infested Oriente to two more of Cuba's six provinces—Las Villas and Camaguey. The army announced that four rebels were killed and a soldier and a policeman injured when a Communist-led group seeking to alter public order tried to burn several homes at Quemado de Guines in Las Villas. In Santiago, long a center of rebel violence, a blast believed to have been caused by sabotage wrecked two warehouses belonging to the American-owned Cuban Air Products Co. A watchman is missing and three passersby were slightly injured. The two buildings, used to store cylinders of gas intended for medical or industrial use, were a total loss. Exploding cylinders of hydrogen, oxygen and acetylene gas hurled several hundred feet through the air like missiles, and a steel door was hurled onto a rooftop 80 feet away. Cuban Air Products' compression plant in Santiago was destroyed several weeks ago by rebel arsonists. In Havana, police took a number of American newsmen—including John T. Skelly of the United Press—on a tour of prisons and captured rebel hideouts intended to offset the lies printed in your papers. The newsmen were shown a printing plant which police said had been turning out "war bonds" for the Communists and for Fidel Castro's rebels.

'No Tax Decision Is Needed' - Ike

'Center' Drive Total Is Now $109,818.50

Pledges and cash for the construction of the Pampa Youth and Community Center rose to $109,818.50 at yesterday's "Big Push" meeting. The Advance Gifts Committee, under E. E. Sheilhamer, has accounted for $48,890 and the Special Gifts Committee, led by Ed Myatt, for $42,778. The men of the Business half of Ray Duncan's Business-Employee's Division have raised $6,202 while the women in the Division have reported $11,780.50. The Employee's half, under Gordon Lyons, has raised $170. With yesterday's "Big Push," everything was in readiness for the meeting of the Planning Committee at 1:30 p.m. today in the Chamber of Commerce Conference Room. Committee Chairman Gene Hollar said that his Committee would take up some questions reported by Rev. Woodrow Adcock from the Community. Representative questions are: "Will the program of the Youth and Community Center conflict with that of the Churches? Who will choose the Center director and on what basis? In the next 20 years who will disperse the funds for the operation of the Center?" Hollar said that Rev. Adcock would be at the Planning meeting. The Center is now $250 richer thanks to Pampa Post 1857 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The members voted at their Tuesday

Bill Blakley Is In US Senate Race

DALLAS (UP)—Millionaire lawyer William A. Blakley, 59, who supported Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956, has entered the U.S. Senate race as a Democrat only two weeks after saying he was not interested. The tall, lean rancher with the shoestring tie trademark, who once said "I don't understand politics," got his first taste of political life in a 90-day interim appointment to the Senate last year. The present senator, Ralph Yarborough of Austin, is expected to run again although he has not formally announced his intentions. Blakley indicated in Waco two weeks ago that he was not interested in public office even though he had been accepting speaking engagements for several weeks to expound his conservative political beliefs. However, the former cowpoke, sent his application Tuesday to Jim Lindsey, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee at Texarkana, along with a $1,125 cashier's check to cover the filing fee. He listed his occupation as lawyer and his address as 4252 Armstrong Parkway, Dallas. Blakley had never held office before former Gov. Allan Shivers on Jan. 15, 1957, appointed him to the Senate for 90 days to fill the seat left by Price Daniel, who was waiting to be inaugurated as a governor. Yarborough was elected to the Senate last April to fill Daniel's unexpired term and when he went to Washington, Blakley returned to Dallas. States Right Advocate Close associates had said that, despite the Waco speech, Blakley would run if a no conservative Democrat opposed Yarborough. Last October, to friends visiting at his New Mexico ranch, Blakley remarked, "I don't understand politics and I don't take stock in such names as 'conservative' and 'liberal' used in reference to degrees of democ-

Pampa Gets Over Inch Of Moisture

Residents of the Top of Texas Area awoke to find instead of dust this morning. The rain began falling in Pampa about 3 this morning and at present time today it was still raining lightly. The baseball game between the Pampa Harvesters and the Amarillo Sandies, which was to be played today, has been called off, according to Deck Woldt, Pampa High School baseball coach, because of the weather. Pampa received 1.09 inches of moisture and the forecast for the Top of Texas area calls for considerable cloudiness and a 0.01 inch of rain with a few showers this afternoon. The low last night was 36 and the high today is expected to be 45 with a low tonight of 34 and the high tomorrow is expected to reach 46. Light rain fell today in East Texas and in the Amarillo area, following up scattered showers that moved Tuesday night across north central Texas. It also rained on the Gulf Coast Tuesday night with the heaviest shower of 1.08 inches at Houston. The U.S. Weather Bureau said skies were mostly clear today from Abilene westward through the Pecos Valley into the El Paso area. Elsewhere over the state it was partly cloudy. The forecast called for a continuation of partly cloudy and cool weather over Texas through Thursday. Temperatures ranged from 33 degrees early this morning at Dalhart to 72 at Brownsville. Besides the rain at Houston, measurements for the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. included Amarillo .04, Wichita Falls .01, Abilene .04, Fort Worth .80, Dallas .76, Waco .28, Austin .27, San Antonio .42, Victoria .05, Galveston .19, Texarkana .22, Lufkin .02, Palacios .14, Beeville .12, College Station .05, Mineral Wells .01, Childress .09, Little Elm 1.41 and Burleson 1.00. Teamsters Join Strike Against CBS

NEW YORK (UP)—The "outlaw" Teamsters Union threw its support behind striking Columbia Broadcasting System electrical worker technicians today, refusing to cross the AFL-CIO union's picket lines to deliver scenery and film for the network's television shows. Spokesmen for CBS said the Teamster action would not seriously affect programming. The network went ahead with plans to stage a full-fledged live dramatic show for the U.S. Steel Hour tonight with amateurs behind the cameras and control panels. John J. O'Rourke, president of the Joint Council of Teamster locals, formally directed all trucks to stay on the street side of picket lines set up by striking members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. IBEW members went on strike Monday in a contract dispute against CBS-owned radio and television stations in eight cities. The network serves a total of 200 TV and 201 radio stations. The camera work as well as the technicalities of sound and picture control. Their work has been taken up by more than 300 supervisory workers, including accountants, salesmen, publicity men and casting directors. The network cancelled several live dramatic shows Monday night, presenting films in their place. The only cancellation Tuesday was the Red Skelton Show from Hollywood, for which a previously filmed show was substituted. At the same time, Case said this country should try to obtain a similar pledge and offer from "all nations now or hereafter conducting nuclear tests." Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told his news conference Tuesday U.S. scientists hoped to obtain from these tests all the information necessary to perfect smaller, cleaner nuclear weapons. But he said they would be "happily surprised" if they did and that "there is a likelihood" more tests will have to be conducted in the future. Until such weapons are developed, he said, the United States—in the absence of some form of international inspection or supervision—will not follow Russia's example in unilaterally suspending tests. Russia has refused to accept this country's proposals for such inspection to make sure any test suspension or ban is lived up to. President Eisenhower told Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in a note Tuesday that the "heart of the nuclear problem" is not suspending tests but in controlling production of the weapons them-

President Urges More Purchasing

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today he sees no need for a decision now on cutting taxes. He told his news conference that economic figures he has seen including those on unemployment Tuesday, in his opinion do not require a tax cutting decision at the moment. The Labor and Commerce departments reported Tuesday that March unemployment rose 25,000 to 5,198,000 while employment rose 323,000. The President said he is keeping the tax matter under constant study but indicated that it could be several months before a decision is made to cut taxes—if that becomes necessary. Urges People to Buy He pointed out that there are 82 million people with jobs, that the public has a great amount of savings and that the Federal Reserve Board has taken actions to ease credit. The President said this led him to the conclusion that there are real grounds for believing the nation's economy is going on the upgrade one of these days. But he said he would not say when. When a reporter asked what the people could do about the recession, the President gave a clipped one-word answer—buy. When the reporter asked what they should buy, the President said—anything. However, he said he did not mean that people should buy carelessly but should do so selectively, and get what they want. He laid part of the blame on the public's reluctance to buy on what he called manufacturers' chugging things down peoples' throats. He said it was time for manufacturers to wake up and begin giving the people what they want. Might End Nuclear Tests In other highlights of the news conference, the President: —Strongly defended his sweeping defense reorganization plan. He said he didn't see any sense at all to charges that it would make a czar out of Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy. He heatedly said that he is going to fight his utmost in an effort to get congressional approval for the plan. He said that he would go on the television to make nationwide speeches in support of it as often as the networks would let him, if it became necessary. —Said he would seriously consider a unilateral suspension of further U.S. nuclear tests if scientists told him they had learned

Stratton Setback In Illinois Primary

CHICAGO (UP)—Gov. William G. Stratton, considered in some quarters as 1960 Republican vice presidential timber, suffered a setback today when his choice for the state treasurer's nomination was upset by a GOP factional fight. The Republican treasurer's race highlighted an otherwise dull primary, the first in the nation for 1958. The election also saw the fatal shooting of a berserk gunman who threatened voters in a Chicago polling place. On the basis of unofficial returns in the treasurer race from 8,694 of the state's 9,859 precincts veteran campaigner Warren Wright had 315,787 votes to 245,599 for Louis Beckman, the GOP "organization" choice for the post. The light vote Tuesday, one of the lowest totals in state history, was blamed on a lack of national issues. It appeared the total vote would be under the record low of the World War II year of 1944 when only 1,428,688 persons cast ballots. Besides state treasurer, voters nominated candidates for a state superintendent of public instruction, Congress, and state senators and representatives. Only three of the state's 23 incumbent congressmen, all downstate Republicans, had opposition and they won handily. They were Reps. Noah M. Mason of Oglesby, Leo E. Allen of Galena, and Robert B. Chipfield of Canton. In the treasurer's race, Beckman jumped to an early two-to-one lead, largely on the basis of Chicago returns, but Wright forged ahead by 11 p.m. when he piled up large margins in heavily Republican downstate districts. Although Stratton never publicly endorsed Beckman, the Kentucky state representative had the backing of the state GOP organization which Stratton heads. Balloting in Chicago was marred by the city's first election day slaying since 1928. Shot to death was Nathaniel Hausley, 38, a Negro car washer who stood near a polling place on the city's South Side brandishing a gun and shouting "Don't vote, they'll put you in the soup lines." A plainclothes detective chased Hausley to his home and during a scuffle, Hausley was shot fatally in the side. Authorities said he appeared to have been drinking.

Solon Urges 'Clean' Nuclear Tests Only

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today that he would very seriously consider suspending U.S. nuclear tests if the forthcoming series in the Pacific provided the United States with necessary scientific data. The New Jersey Republican said in a speech prepared for delivery at Newark, N.J.: "...I believe we should at the earliest possible date announce it as our national policy that we will conduct no tests that will cause a dangerous (radioactive) contamination of the earth's atmosphere. We should couple our announcement with an offer to have our tests monitored by a competent, impartial international agency to guarantee that the announced limitations are observed."

European Papers Greet Ike's Refusal To End Tests Warmly

LONDON (UP)—President Eisenhower's refusal to end U.S. nuclear tests was greeted warmly today by most West European newspapers. The British government and The Times of London, which frequently serves as its mouthpiece, had no immediate comment on the Eisenhower statement. The Liberal Minister Guernsey noted that the President had produced a "reasonably impressive list of U.S. efforts to limit and abolish nuclear warfare in citing reasons for his stand on tests."

Kansas Youth Struck By Car

E. G. Albers, Sergeant of the Texas Highway Patrol, said today that a Garden City, Kans., youth was badly injured last night when he was struck by a car. The youth, Milford L. Zimmerman, 17, and a companion, Richard Burt, were walking south three miles outside of Perryton on Highway 70 when a car driven by Ray Albert Pitzer, of Pampa, who was going south in the rain and fog, hit Zimmerman, who was walking on the pavement. A passing motorist stopped to render aid and took Zimmerman to a hospital in Perryton. Pitzer brought Zimmerman's companion, Burt, into Pampa with him and thought that the motorist was bringing Zimmerman to a hospital in Pampa.

More Cuts In Allowable Said Needed

AUSTIN (UP)—Further cuts in the state's drastically-reduced oil allowable may be necessary, Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson indicated Tuesday. Stocks of Texas crude oil gained 1,208,000 barrels during the week ending March 22, Thompson reported in a prepared statement. "This gain shows the need of the present eight-day production order for April," he said. He noted that "an eight-day order for May would be a reduction of 44,168 barrels per day. But the new wells coming into production during the rest of April and during the month of May would more than make up that amount. Stocks of Texas crude as of March 29 were 128,709,000 barrels." He noted that "an eight-day order for May would be a reduction of 44,168 barrels per day. Stompanato Goes To Grave Today

WOODSTOCK, Ill. (UP)—Johnny Stompanato, slain by L. A. Turner's daughter, goes to his grave today in his quiet horse town, far removed from the scenes of his international romance with the Hollywood film actress. Stompanato's brother, a Woodstock barber, said Tuesday night he may demand a lie test to get at "the truth" of the slaying at Miss Turner's mansion last Friday night. Carmine Stompanato, indicated he did not believe Mrs. Turner's account of Johnny's death at the hand of Cheryl Crane squared with the facts. He said he had letters from his brother showing the Stompanato-Turner romance to be different than that described by the movie star. Although Carmine said he would prefer to keep the contents of the letters private, his stepmother, Mrs. Verena Stompanato, released several of Johnny's letters to The Chicago Tribune. The letters portrayed the underworld character as a man who gave considerable thought to the possibility of marriage to Miss Turner and as a friend to Cheryl Crane, 14, whose doubts about her mother's love he tried to banish. They made it apparent that he reached the decision to marry Miss Turner after much soul-searching. Mrs. Stompanato told the Tribune the letter describing her son's efforts "to reconcile the movie star and her daughter had been destroyed. She remembered, she said, "He wrote that he thought he had convinced Cheryl that her mother did love her."

No Tax Cut Is Expected Soon

WASHINGTON (UP)—Evidence mounted today that President Eisenhower believes the administration's anti-recession program is taking hold and that the time has not come to recommend a major tax cut, particularly in income taxes. The spring pickup in the economy has not developed as much as the administration had hoped. But unemployment figures for March, announced Tuesday, were not as bad as had been expected. Eisenhower said in a statement Tuesday that the March "job statistics" indicate a slowing up of the recession. Unemployment increased by 25,000 in March to 5,198,000 the highest in 16 1/2 years. But the rate of increase was down sharply, and employment rose by 323,000 to 62,311,000. Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, who for weeks has been more favorable toward consideration of tax reduction than some of his cabinet colleagues, seemed to be altering his position somewhat in light of the employment figures. He said it was too early to forget about tax reduction as a recession remedy, and that such a plan will deserve "careful consideration." His statement indicated he did not think consideration of a tax cut as pressing a matter as he once did. The AFL-CIO, however, found not "a single ray of sunshine" in the employment figures. In March, manufacturing employment dropped 200,000—down 1,500,000 jobs since March, 1957. The number of workers employed part-time because of slack work and other economic conditions hit 2,300,000, a post-war record.

Scout Meet Is Slated In Canadian

District Scouting officials and officials of Canadian Troop and Post 71 met Tuesday to renew the Boy Scout Charter for the coming year. The proceedings were authorized by George Whitten, Charter renewal chairman. Charles Cook will again serve as Scout Master with Vernon B. Morris as Post Adviser. Rev. James T. Mitchell will serve as justifying national representative for Troop 71 and Woodie Beene as institutional representative for Explorer Post 71. The charter review was conducted by Dale Stone, District Scouting executive, assisted by Bob Barrett who reviewed the Explorer highlight adventures for the year past. As revealed in the Charter Review Boy Scout Troop 71 has camped 100 per cent of its membership in the past two years with ten days and nights of camping. Roy Bassett, new District Scouting executive, recently employed by the Adobe Walls Council, was introduced at the meeting. Hugh Wilson, Troop Committee chairman, turned the leadership of Troop 71 to Don Williamson, Troop chairman for the coming year. Cub Pack 71 of Canadian will complete its charter this month with the assistance of A. B. Talley and H. O. Owens.

TAX

(Continued From Page 1) in the forthcoming tests what they wanted to about cleaning up nuclear bombs and other technical information. —Made a strong pitch for congressional approval of his foreign aid and reciprocal trade programs. He said that congressional failure to approve them would seriously damage world leadership of the United States. —After first refusing with a crisp no to evaluate chances of GOP congressional candidates in the fall elections, he said they can win if they work hard and intelligently. —Cites Higher Food Prices. In answering one economic question, the President said that he had found that it was not unusual for living costs to go up during a recession. But he added that he wished it was not so. He said the rise in living costs was due mainly to increases in the prices of food and services. He said some other prices had fallen, but not enough to offset hikes in food and services costs. The President was asked if he expects to make a decision on cutting taxes this month. He said that he sees no need for one this month. He said the question might run along until the end of this session of Congress, which is expected to wind up in July. The President said he sees no need for any such emergency action as cutting taxes now. He said his mail has not indicated any public clamor for a general tax cut; that most of the people writing him about cutting taxes want some particular excise tax cut.

BLAKLEY

The presumption was that the field of potential was carefully curbed. Blakley was the top man on the conservative horizon. Yarborough, who has declined to commit himself on his intentions, has left the way open for the entrance of other candidates bidding for the liberal vote. HAMILTON, Ont. (UP)—Full-back Maurice Bassett, who was let go by the Cleveland Browns during mid season 1957, has signed with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Football League's Eastern Division.

HOSPITAL EXPANSION CAMPAIGN UNDERWAY

The $1,000,000 expansion program will give the hospital a five floor addition, plus a basement, with a minimum of 165 additional beds, and other needed facilities. The $1,000,000 raised by the campaign will be matched by federal construction funds, already applied for.

Efforts To End Tunisian Dispute Nearing Dead End

BARBEZIEUX, France (UP)—Anglo-American efforts to end the Franco-Tunisian dispute neared a dead end today. A new crisis over alleged Tunisian shipments of arms to Algerian rebels appeared to be in the making. U. S. and British diplomats came here today to consult with Premier Felix Gaillard at his country home in the Cognac region of west-central France, but the pessimistic belief in Paris was that they would report failure. The "good offices" team of U.S. Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert D. Murphy and Harold Beesley of the British Foreign Office were accompanied here today by U.S. Ambassador Amory Houghton and British Ambassador Sir Gladwyn Jebb. They are seeking a way out of the stalemate before Tunisia hands the two-month-old crisis back to the United Nations. Their efforts were hampered by two new developments: —France vigorously protested to Tunisia that 22 cases of two-way radio sets seized at Nice Monday night were being shipped by Tunisia to the Algerian rebels. Tunisia replied that the French claims were "pure fantasy." —French authorities in Algiers said an armed Tunisian patrol crossed into Algeria Monday and exchanged gunfire with French troops who moved out to investigate. No one was killed. The incident occurred 40 miles north of Skikiet Sidj Youssef where a French bombing attack Feb. 8 precipitated the present crisis. Informed sources said Murphy and Beesley would tell Gaillard and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau that Tunisia has rejected a French plan for neutral supervision of the Algerian-Tunisian border.

Jobless In March On State Capitol

LANSING, Mich. (UP)—A march on the state capitol turned into a bitter anti-Republican demonstration Tuesday when 4,000 jobless workers seeking more unemployment pay got a cold shoulder from GOP lawmakers. A sergeant-at-arms said he had to "slug one of 'em in the stomach" when about 20 workers tried to storm into the House chambers. Tempers first flared when the workers left a rally in Lansing's Civic Center shortly after noon and marched one block to the extension of jobless pay. They found the lawmakers had recessed until 5 p.m. The workers then rallied around state AFL-CIO President August Scholle outside Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams' office. "This action reflects the unfortunately callous disregard the majority of Republicans have toward the plight of unemployed workers," Scholle said. "It provides still another reason why the Republican Party does not deserve the support of our members." One woman managed to break into the chambers. She started tugging at the belt of Rep. Kenneth Sanborn (R-Mount Clemens), who was helping Sergeant-at-Arms John Klingenberg hold back the crowd. "I want to see Charlie Potter (U.S. Sen. Charles E. Potter, R-Mich.)," she said. The woman left after a reporter told her Potter was in Washington.

Miss Kathie Phyllis, Jerral L. Allen Repeat Nuptial Vows In Church Rites

(Special to The News)
PERRYTON — The Sacred Heart Church in Spearman was the setting on Friday afternoon for the marriage of Miss Kathie Phyllis Alford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hurter, Perryton, to Jerral Alford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Alford, Perryton.

The double-ring ceremony was read by Rev. M. J. Mattheisen, pastor, before an altar decorated with baskets of white stock. Miss Shirley Simpson played a program of nuptial selections. Miss Joan Reising accompanied by Miss Simpson sang "On This Day, On Beautiful Mother" and "Our Father." The traditional wedding marches were played for the professional and recessional.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white lace and net over taffeta. The fitted bodice was fashioned with short sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. She wore white lace gauntlets and carried a bouquet of white gardenia. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a rhinestone crown.

Mrs. Dudley Hargrove, Houston, and sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Sydney Slack and Miss Karen Crum were bridesmaids. Janet Hurter, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They wore identical blue ball-train-length dresses and carried carnation nosegays.

Gene Good served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Billy Helton and Kieth Shaffer. Dennis Hargrove, nephew of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hurter wore a gray dress with black accessories. Mrs. Alford, the bridegroom's mother, wore an orchid dress with matching accessories. Their corsages were of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hargrove, Farnsworth. The bride's table was covered with a white cut-work cloth over blue and centered with a wedding cake encircled with white roses. Opposite ends of the table held an arrangement of white carnations flanked with blue candles in crystal holders and a crystal punch service.

One thing to be said for day dreams is that you don't get nightmares from them.

RUTH MILLETT

Not long ago this column published a letter from a father who was worried about giving in marriage a daughter who knew absolutely nothing about the art of homemaking.

Here's a letter from a young wife that should prove reassuring to the worried parent:

"As one whose parents had misgivings about my ability to make a home, I'd like to defend myself and in so doing defend the prospective brides of the future who have had no training in homemaking skills.

"Before marriage, I must admit, I had little interest in keeping my room neat, taking care of my clothes and other personal possessions, or helping out in any way with general household chores.

"My disinterest stemmed from the fact that my mother was willing to 'sweep up after me' for the sake of peace and cleanliness.

"After marriage I received a very rude and sharp awakening. My husband demanded his dinners well-cooked and on time, his clothing cared for and his home kept bright, clean and cheerful.

"It was a struggle the first few months, for I had to learn everything through trial and error. But once I saw that housework wasn't just a series of chores, but a job just like any other job, I began to take pride in running my house instead of letting it run me.

"Managing money was also difficult for me. For, at home, though I had an allowance, I was never forced to make it do. Having to live on a fixed income soon taught me the necessity for weighing wants against each other and for being able to separate necessities from luxuries.

"My great pride now is that my parents can visit my home—and marvel at my being such a good manager."

This letter was meant to be a comfort to parents. But it could also serve as a warning to young husbands.

Resting 15 minutes before eating may do wonders for the digestion. Many eat when overtired and upset which only makes eating a struggle. Wait a bit before eating and try to relax. Your digestion will be better and so will you.

Dalton-Kotara Exchange Vows

Miss Pat Dalton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Dalton, 113 N. Sumner, and Pvt. Terry Kotara were united in marriage in the Holy Souls Catholic Church by Father Otto Meyer, CM, on March 15 at 11 a.m.

Pvt. Kotara is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Conard Kotara, who reside in Oklahoma.

Miss Lagous O'Rourke served the bride as bridesmaid. Tommie O'Rourke was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Kotara will make their home in Red Bank, N. J., where he is stationed.

Once baby curls disappear young women experiment with hair styles. But many never seem to find the right combination to flatter their face shape or camouflage nature's mistakes. For example, hair pulled back severely from the face makes a large nose seem larger. Use loose waves to soften this large feature.

DO COME — Mrs. N. Dudley Steele, left, is pointing out some of the humorous highlights of the book, "Don't Eat The Daisies," by Jean Kerr to Mrs. George Hrdlicka, publicity chairman for the Cancer Crusade now in progress. Mrs. Steele will give a review of the book at the Silver Coffee at ten tomorrow morning in Lovett Memorial Library, sponsored by the American Cancer Society. The public is cordially invited to attend. Mrs. Roy McKernan is general chairman of the Cancer Crusade. (News Photo)

Covington, Snider May Be Sidelined

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press Sports Writer
The Milwaukee Braves and the Los Angeles Dodgers today faced the possibility of opening the 1958 season without star outfielders Wes Covington and Duke Snider. Covington twisted his left knee in an exhibition game against the Dodgers at Austin, Tex., Tuesday and may miss next Tuesday's opener against the Pittsburgh Pirates. He was sliding home on the business end of a squeeze play in the 13th inning that gave the Braves a 5-4 victory.

Duke Snider

Snider's trouble also is centered in the left knee, which was operated on last December. There has been some swelling in the knee this spring and Duke told one reporter Tuesday "I think I'll have to be drained."
May Not Need Draining
However, he later declared "There may not be any need for that (draining)" and added he "will try to play" in today's game against the Braves at Dallas.

Yanks Cards Defeated
In other Tuesday exhibitions, the Phillies edged the Yankees, 2-2; the White Sox turned back the Cardinals, 5-4; the Senators rolled to a 10-3 victory over the Redlegs, and the Cubs downed the Orioles, 6-5, on Dale Long's 10th hitting clutch single.

Scheffing Feels Cubs Now Have Outstanding Outfield

MESA, Ariz. (UP)—It took a long time, but Manager Bob Scheffing finally feels the Chicago Cubs have put together a genuine major league outfield.

Our biggest need was a good center fielder," says the Cubs' manager, "and we got the man we were looking for when we obtained Bobby Thomson from the Giants last week."
Thomson now is set in center; Moryn, who patrolled right field last year, looks far better suited in left, and Chuck Tanner and Lee Walls are conducting a spirited battle for the right field job.

Poll Picks Yanks, Braves To Repeat

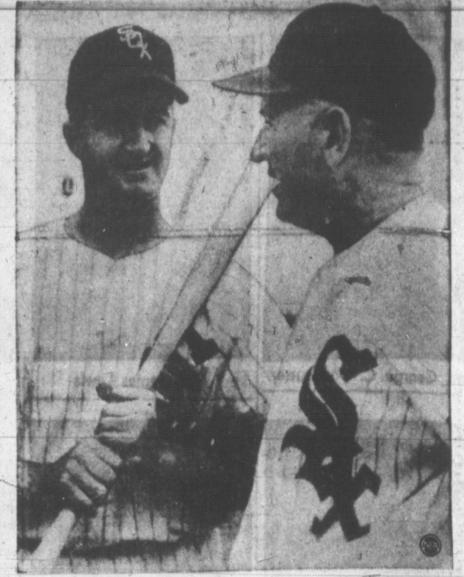

NEW YORK (UP)—It'll be the Yankees and Braves in the World Series again this year — and this time the Yankees will bring back baseball's world championship to New York.

Here's the way the writers viewed the forthcoming season:
—49 of the 60 picked the Yankees to win the American League pennant.
—15 of the 50 picked the Braves to win the National League pennant.
—29 of the 50 picked the Yankees to beat the Braves in the Series.

Machen To Meet Folley Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Eddie Machen and Zora Folley, who are rated one-two among the nation's heavyweight challengers, square off tonight in a 12-round bout at the Cow Palace which may or may not lead to a title shot with world champion Floyd Patterson.

Folley, who fights out of Chandler, Ariz., owns a record of 39 wins, two defeats and one draw. He now is on a string of 12 straight victories.

Marion Is Again In Baseball Loop

Concordia alumni.
But the college game, like the big-time version, is not without its headaches.
Anti-Climactic Venture
Marty's first venture, against Culver-Stockton of Missouri, was anti-climactic. Before it was rained out, his third base coach, eager to give it the big-league touch, asked if he should "Flash" Marion, who learned something of base-path confusion when Senor Mique Gonzalez was handling the third base chores for the Cards, decided to play it by ear.

Enthusiastic as Always
Marty, who managed the Chicago White Sox, the St. Louis Cardinals and the now defunct Browns in the big time, has tackled college baseball, orphan of the sports pages, with his usual enthusiasm.
Pete Pederson, Concordia's athletic director, broached the idea to Marion and his salary, if there is any, is small enough to be called honorarium.

Canadiens Boot Bruins, 2-1 In Stanley Cup Finals

MONTREAL (UP)—Montreal coach Toe Blake today tabbed goalie Jacques Plante as the "key man" in the Canadiens' 2-1 victory over the Boston Bruins in the opening game of the Stanley Cup finals, but the Bruins talked bitterly of Doug Harvey and his third-period "dive."

There were heroes aplenty for the Canadiens in this win, the 10th straight time that Boston had failed to win a cup playoff game in this city.
There was Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffron who scored the game's first goal in the first period on a long screened shot from the point with the Bruins a man short.

Reds Only Likely Indonesia Winners

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Soviet Russia appears to be the only likely winner in the present situation in Indonesia.

The Indonesian government seems to be getting the best of the fighting against the army rebels in Sumatra, the country's richest island.

But though organized rebel resistance may be broken, it is pretty certain that fighting will merely be reduced to the guerrilla warfare level and will continue indefinitely.

Rebellion is chronic in the eastern part of the island republic and there is no sign that any stability in government can be hoped for.

United States Worried

The United States has been worried over the Indonesian situation for several months, even before the fighting in Sumatra reached the active stage.

The chief reason for this is that the Indonesian Communist Party always has exerted considerable influence in the country's tangled politics, with the encouragement of President Sukarno.

Now Indonesia is receiving a steady supply of arms from Russia and has made deals for weapons also with Poland, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia.

It is emphasized that this supply of weapons has no connection with the rebellion.

It means, presumably, that Russia is bidding for—and is likely to get—the same sort of foothold as it has gained in Egypt and Syria.

Russia Gets Foothold

It would be the first such foothold that Russia has obtained in Southern Asia, just as the foothold it obtained in Egypt and Syria was its first in the Middle East.

There seems to be no danger that Indonesia will fall directly under Communist domination, even though the Indonesian Communists are strong and are registering steady gains in elections.

That offers small encouragement to the United States and its allies who have entered into a series of alliances against the threat of Communist penetration and subversion as well as of direct aggression.

Indonesia's relations with the allied countries and with the Netherlands, from which it obtained its independence in 1949, are bad.

There have been 14 anti-American demonstrations by students, Communist youths and others in Jakarta in recent weeks. United States Ambassador Howard P. Jones has been the target of bitter criticism because of American policy.

In all, it looks as if Indonesia will be a trouble spot for a long time.

Look at the North and East hands only and put yourself in the position of the East player.

You drop the deuce of spades on your partner's opening queen of spades lead and declarer wins with the king. He goes after the club suit next and your partner wins the third lead. This gives you a chance to make a discard.

What should it be?

A quick use of the point count marks declarer with every missing high card except the jack of clubs.

Forms of Government

11th of a Series
Governments always come into being because men recognize their weaknesses as individuals. The very first government to be formed undoubtedly was that of a strong man, stronger than his fellows, who was called upon by his weaker followers to protect them against real and fancied dangers.

It was doubtless a dictatorship. Then, because the dictator in time grew old and feeble, and because he dreamed of bequeathing his power and authority to his own offspring, the monarchial system was born. The dictator, while at the height of his power, had convinced his followers that his ascendancy over them was divinely ordained. He could have told them that he was a son of a god. Thousands of early politicians maintained this fiction. And not a few of them were deified, either during their reign or after their passing.

The next step was for the successful dictator to claim that his loins, were also divinely ordained. Royal families came into being. Thus, God and Government were intermixed in the general opinion, and Theocracy, the oldest and perhaps the most frightening of all governments, held sway for more than a thousand years.

We have described this system earlier. It provides for the combination of despotic power in the hands of a king, with the power of superstition wielded by a crafty priest. Disobedience to secular authority became at once a blasphemy as well as civil disobedience. One does not defy God, even when God is unapproachable and his only avenue is the king who rules you.

But wherever these despotic pretensions were maintained, the people suffered. And, in the end, we shall see that it is the people, and not the politician, who are supreme. For, even when people believed largely that a god or many gods had established their ruling politician in office, they revolted against his tyranny and oppression. This is the history of man.

Everywhere we see men, setting up governments, submitting to them, growing tired of the mounting oppression, and finally throwing off that yoke, only to form another. And each successive yoke was an effort to do away with the evils of the prior form by establishing a better form.

We can think of no better statement covering this phenomenon than that written by Rose Wilder Lane in her great book, "Discovery of Freedom." Here is what she says: They replace the priest by a king, the king by an oligarchy, the oligarchy by a despot, the despot by an aristocracy, the aristocrats by a majority, the majority by a tyrant, the tyrant by oligarchs, the oligarchs by aristocrats, the aristocrats by a king, the king by a parliament, the parliament by a dictator, the dictator by a king, the king by . . . there's six thousand years of it, in every language.

Every imaginable kind of living Authority has been tried, and it's still being tried somewhere on earth now. "All these kinds have been tried, too, in every possible combination; the priest and the king, the king who is God, the king and a senate, the king and the senate and a majority, the senate and a tyrant, the tyrant and the aristocrats, a king and a parliament. . . Try to think of a combination somewhere it has been tried."

Each of these efforts has been made with the most solemn and noble purpose. Always the aim has been to set up an organized collective which can and will use force against the enemies of a particular group, class, clan, nation or family. Always the collective has amassed power and ended by using that power to harass and tax and oppress and regiment the very persons who set it up and gave it original obedience. There is no variation to this story. Nor is it possible to find a combination which has not been tried.

Let us now consider the American experiment, which was, without a doubt, the most noble and the most solemn ever undertaken.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

"When People Profit"

Since this column is devoted to trying to promote beliefs that will result in more and better jobs, and since an address made by Roger M. Blough, chairman of the board of United States Steel Corp. before the Automotive Parts Manufacturers Assn. of Detroit on Jan. 31, under the subject "When People Profit," presented ideas that would help promote a better job, I want to pass some of them on.

He explained that employers needed to defend themselves against the propaganda being spread by the communists and by uninformed people in our midst. He warned his listeners that what he was going to say would not make them feel any more comfortable than they were.

He explained that the collectivists, whether in the country or out of the country, were aiming at taking over the employers, lock, stock and barrel. He put it this way:

"As a means to this end, their immediate purpose is to destroy America's faith in your accomplishments and in the achievements of your employees and associates. This, in turn, should serve to destroy America's faith in itself and in its own way of life. And in any struggle for survival a nation without faith is as helpless as a nation without kilowatts."

"Here then is a coldly calculated campaign of conquest. We hear it said that America no longer has a monopoly on scientific and industrial achievement, and we are expected to forget that neither America nor any other nation in the world ever did have such a monopoly. We are told that Russia has scored a great scientific advance in the development of missiles. And that is true. We are reminded that Russia has a communistic government, which is also true. And we are supposed to conclude that only by aping Russia's political system can we equal her scientific progress. Which, when you stop to think about it, is a pretty silly non sequitur (illogical), if I ever heard one."

A Harder Job
Mr. Blough quotes a statement recently made by the secretary-general of NATO:

"It is harder to provide all members of the community with a roof, shoes and meat than to launch an artificial satellite. And that roof, shoes and meat job America has done fairly well."

Then he relates how we have to face the fact that here in America there is a lot of propaganda going on that, if adopted, will greatly lower our standard of living. He puts it this way:

"This one is in the domestic field and you fellows — along with some of the rest of us — are up to your elbows in it; for it concerns the problem of how to make ends meet, how to provide jobs with a good living wage, and how to live within our means as a nation and still do all that is required of us."

"These problems themselves, of course, are perennial; but they become more acute in times like these when business activity is lowered, and when lamentable layoffs are causing economic loss not only to the employees affected but also to the nation as a whole."

"Such periods call for faith, sound judgment and wise action, some of which have already been taken. But they also call for an army of amateur economists who are motivated by an infinite variety of personal interests and who are armed with a mimeograph-full of doubtful devices and paces."

High Wages When Slump Came
"Not the least of these, of course, is the oft-tried-and-found-wanting scheme of increasing purchasing power by merely increasing wage costs; and the fact that the present slump in business activity began at a time when consumer purchasing power had reached the highest levels in history does not dampen, for a moment, the ardor with which the proponents of this quaint theory are urging their formula upon you."

"Pleasantly packaged, however, this delirium is as potable as the old-time medicine man's mixture of syrup, alcohol, and water — and just about as effective, too."

"Taken in immoderate doses, it convinces the imbiber that the best cure for the resultant hang-over is a few more shots of the hair-of-the-inflationary-dog-that-bit-you."

"But when the housewife rises in revolt as she sees the family income being dissipated — and when she correctly concludes that exorbitant wage increases are a major cause of the rising prices that plague her — the amateur medicine men are forced to take refuge in their favorite nostrum — Old Medicine-Man's Special — which is positively guaranteed to produce skyrocketing wages with no increase whatever in prices. This is accomplished, of course, by inducing profit exhaustion throughout the business system."

Another Big Kremlin 'Switcheroo' Is Coming

WASHINGTON — There is to be still another big Kremlin switcheroo!

Newly self-inducted Premier Nikita Khrushchev is going to divest himself of his other top job — First Secretary of the Russian Communist Party.

Slated to take over this all-powerful position is Mikhail Suslov, Second Party Secretary, and one of the so-called "younger" members of the Presidium, the inner clique of Red rulers of Russia.

Equally startling is the fact that none other than Khrushchev is the source of this surprise word. He clearly intimated it during his junket to satellite Hungary.

This extraordinary information is one of the first products of this fanfare foray, Washington authorities have received lengthy cables on the matter from both diplomatic and intelligence channels. These accounts are exceptionally corroborative and detailed.

Nevertheless, State Department and Pentagon officials are skeptical about the likelihood of such a key shift actually taking place.

For Khrushchev it involves a tremendous "calculated risk."

No Soviet Premier has lasted very long who wasn't also First Secretary of the Communist Party. Without being the latter, the former has been no more than an imposing title.

When Stalin took over the premiership during World War II, he carefully held on to the crucial First Secretary job. The tough, gory tyrant took no chances. When he finally died and his protegee, Georgi Malenkov, became First Secretary, he later relinquished it to be Premier.

Less than a year later he was out, under a barrage of ferocious accusations. Malenkov is now running a minor power plant in a remote district near Mongolia.

His successor, Bulganin, lasted a few years longer as Premier, but he was strictly a figurehead. He was picked by Khrushchev and fired by him, for making the unforgivable mistake of voting against him at a Presidium meeting while Khrushchev was out of the country.

So Washington authorities are very much of a divided mind on the reported Khrushchev hint that he will turn over the First Party Secretaryship to Suslov. They will believe it when they see it.

WHAT'S BEHIND IT — The cabled intelligence and diplomatic reports credit Khrushchev with indicating two main reasons for his plan.

The first revolves around the much-discussed summit conference. He is absolutely certain there will be one this year. In participating in it, Khrushchev wants to appear before the world as the official head of the Russian government, and not as boss of the Communist Party. He considers this of utmost importance for the "uncommitted" nations of the world, particularly in Southeast Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

Khrushchev's reputed second reason is his intention to "groom a successor in order to avert the deadly struggle for control that followed Stalin's death." Secret police chief Beria, who was shot for treason, was the top victim of that inner brawl.

Dour, fanatical Suslov is rated a rabid Stalinist, but has long been close to Khrushchev. On the crucial showdowns, Suslov has always lined up with Khrushchev. In last year's touch-and-go Presidium duel, Suslov was a major factor in Khrushchev's hair-breadth victory. Months later, it was Suslov who put the ax to Marshal Zhukov. The World War II commander had sided with Khrushchev in the desperate Presidium battle, but subsequently was deemed too popular with the Russian people and was kicked out of the ruling circle while visiting Yugoslavia.

Indicative of the close ties between Khrushchev and Suslov is the significant fact that both are never out of Russia at the same time. One is always in the Kremlin while the other is away.

On Khrushchev's Hungarian junket, he was accompanied by newly named First Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov. Suslov remained in Moscow, keeping a tight check on everybody and everything.

For some time it has been an open secret behind the Iron Curtain that one of Suslov's principal occupations is organizing a new worldwide Communist publication. This magazine will be directed at wooing Socialist and leftist elements, with particular emphasis on the Kremlin's "peace" propaganda.

The publication will be a successor to the magazine published by the now-extinct Cominform. But the format and "line" will be very different. Unlike the Cominform magazine, which stressed collaboration with the Soviet, the new one will play up the nationalist sentiments of "uncommitted" countries.

Being closely watched by Western experts is the role Yugoslavia plays in this new Suslov publication.

At the secret Red pow-wow that decided on this magazine, Yugoslavia was not "officially" represented. But an important Yugoslav Communist is definitely known to have been present.

It now becomes apparent that the United States government had no reason to be taken by surprise when the Russians put their first Sputnik aloft on Oct. 4, 1957. Actually this event, according to the Soviet time table, as MORE THAN TWO WEEKS LATE. According to Willy Ley in Fate Magazine, American intelligence and Air Force experts expected it ON SEPTEMBER 17, 1957. This was the 10th anniversary of the birth of Konstantin Ziolkovsky, Russia's great rocket pioneer. Soviet scientists, meeting with their western colleagues in preparation for the International Geophysical Year, told them to expect "a great celebration" on that day. Western experts interpreted this as a veiled hint that a satellite was to be launched but our government, apparently, did nothing to beat the Bolsheviks to the punch.

The Doctor

Says:

EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Excessive misplaced hairiness in women is undoubtedly a source of a great deal of mental suffering. It probably prevents at least a few women, who are otherwise highly qualified, from entering into matrimony and leading normal family lives. Consequently, the subject of superfluous hair is a medical as well as a cosmetic problem.

Why some women have more hair than others is poorly understood.

Only occasionally is excessive hairiness caused by disease. However, if the hair starts growing rapidly in unwanted spots of the body, careful physical examination and diagnostic studies should be made.

In most cases, however, the hairiness of the face or arms is unexplained except that some inherited factor from one or the other parent may be involved. By this I mean that there are family and racial differences in hairiness of the body.

There are several ways of attacking the problem. The unwanted hair can be shaved. This is satisfactory for a short time but generally results in a gradual thickening of the hair and even more conspicuous regrowth.

The hair can be bleached or dyed, but the hair continues to grow out so this has to be repeated frequently.

The hair may be taken off with hair removers which often consists of some kind of wax which fastens to the hairs and pulls them out by the roots. This is uncomfortable and, of course, the hair will grow again.

There are also devices for rubbing the hair off which some women use with considerable satisfaction. I understand.

In all likelihood, the safest method of permanent removal of excessive hair is treating the roots of the hair by an electric needle.

It is somewhat costly and often involves several "treatments," but newer methods when used by skilled electrologists are said to be fast and less painful than in the past.

One reader has asked whether there is any danger in having facial hair removed by the electric needle and whether it leaves enlarged pores.

It is my understanding that when this method is performed with proper equipment and by a skilled operator there is no danger and it is not likely to leave any disfigurement in the way of enlarged pores or scarring.

few Americans outside the Protestant clergy of the time and certain callous professionals in the infliction of calculated human misery, ever had the indecency to pretend seriously that prohibition was going to be good for the common man. And they did not try to make us pay a tithe or more of our wages for their curse. But the union racket has been cultivated, propitiated and miled by the Democratic Party ever since 1934 and, to the extent that it could be done, by the Republicans, too. I reckon that I might deal Senator Barry Goldwater, of Arizona, one of these comments, but he has it coming. To, he has lain back and played it gentlemanly with a lot of riff-raff and, as a total result, has been silenced by the mob around him except some bad publicity depicting him and Walter Reuther as principals in a respectable but, frankly, a desultory, personal feud.

It isn't only a painter who has to put his car in the rack and swallow his citizenship. Searing Americans can't get jobs in our merchant marine, financed mainly by our taxes, except by gracious permission of unions that have the right and power to favor Caribbean aliens over Americans, and, to a large extent, do favor them. A seafaring American can't even get into one of those big job-trusts while aliens from the Caribbean rack up their cards, take their choice of jobs and leave the dirty remainders for humiliated Yankee and York Staters, sailing on union "permits" at the rate of two or three weeks in six months. And those state-side Americans pay heavy tolls for those patty wages, too, in addition to which they must keep their status "paid up" for months on end when they are not allowed to make a nickel.

It was shown in the old Brownie-Bloff expose that the jobs at running movie projectors in the theatres all belonged to the racketeers in control of the locals. Those jobs, paying up to $150 a week, were actual property. The hoodlums rented them out to family men and the rent they charged was half the wage paid by the employers.

If you think I am living in the past in citing these facts, let me say that they are still the facts and that this bunch of Senate fakery have closed their eyes and ears to the situation. They are trying to soothe George Meany and Reuther and entice some problematical but, possibly, actual, fool with a vote, who thinks that even rotten unions under racketeers are preferable to freedom and legitimate competition between the good workers and the slop. In his case that probably is so. He is a pretty sorry excuse for a man at that.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

Many Jobs 'Belong' To Boss Unioneers

NEW YORK — This may explain what I mean when I say millions of jobs belong to the unions, meaning the boss unioneers, many of whom never even pretend to have been elected to office. Those trashy fakery on the McClellan Committee have deliberately ignored this whole festering field of corruption.

If you are a house-painter in New York (and the same facts are true as to most cities) you start your career by hanging up your union card in the union hall. You are in the market for a job to feed your wife and children. That is a necessity that can't wait. Unions profess to exist for the benefit, the "welfare" of the workers who compose them, but your card is the last on the board and you have to wait for your name to come to the top, no matter how good a painter you may be or how rotten the man at the top or how many employers want to hire you for your known individual ability. That job is property. It belongs to the union and you pay, in guises such as dues and fees, a royalty to the bosses of the local for your privilege of working.

This royalty is actually an income tax on your pay. This income tax takes priority over your federal and state income taxes. It comes even before the federal "withholding" because you can't earn anything unless the union sends you out. And you won't be sent out if you are not in "good standing" as to dues and fees.

This union income tax comes before your family's food, clothing and shelter and before your church, if any. If you don't like it you can get out. But you had better go quietly because this union of the painters, among most other craft unions elsewhere, is a tough union. You can get hurt. If you come from another state, you are a foreigner in New York with no right to a job as long as a New York member is idle.

As I observed at the start, the posturing parasites who have wasted all that money and white paper pretending to expose union corruption haven't even made a pass at all this. They have stepped around a hundred other vicious phases of the mess and it need not be said that any of them, even Ives of New York, the stupidest and patriotic of the bunch, is ignorant of the realities. Not even Ives pretends to be that dumb. But, like Jack Kennedy, whose experience goes back to his years on the House Committee on Labor, and who is now cultivating the Reuther political machine as a candidate for the Democratic nomination in 1960, Ives has been content to berate Dave Beck and James Hoffa, of the discredited, outlaw Teamsters' racket. These cheap hitch-hikers didn't have much to do with that expose, either, for Congressman Hoffman of Michigan and Smith of Michigan proved up on Beck and Hoffa five years ago. This committee just flogged a down horse.

If I seem out of patience in this temperate contribution to the day's public reflections, some indulgence may be granted on the ground that the whole committee has been stalling and trying to cultivate the foulest racket in our history, not even excluding prohibition. After

Planned Play For Teenagers Not A Cure For Delinquency

By GAY PAULEY
 United Press Women's Editor
 NEW YORK (UP)—Planned play for teenagers is only a half-way treatment, not a cure, for juvenile delinquency, says one experienced hand at working with youth.
 Daniel Brisker, 36, is education director for one of the 20 youth villages in the 10-year old city of Israel and a leader in a program to resettle the thousands of youngsters who have poured into the country as part of a huge post-war immigration.
 "In this nation, the concentration in youth programs is on recreation," he said. But it isn't enough just to give a kid a basketball and tell him to go play for a couple of hours. To keep children off the streets and out of trouble, a program must be more inclusive... must provide some work, some schooling too."
Israeli Problems Similar
 Brisker said Israeli youth faces problems strikingly similar to those in our own big cities where there is a mass immigration. There are housing shortages, overcrowded schools, the language barrier, and the whole family's task of fitting into a new country, new jobs.
 Israel's government meets its youth problems three ways—with the villages, which are miniature communities, where a teen-ager is cared for until his or her parents get settled; with settlements, which operate similarly but are located right in a child's home area, draw from his own social and economic group and provide that he can go home at the end of a day; and day centers. These provide schooling in the morning hours for youngsters past 14, the compulsory school age in Israel, a few hours paid daily employment on farm or in factory, and supervised recreation.

 "One thing is to be stressed," said Brisker. "None of the programs is in any way compulsory. All are strictly volunteer."
Help Normal Children
 "And none is a correctional institution... a reform school as you have here. Our youth villages are not children who have run into trouble with the law or have extreme emotional and psychological problems. We are just trying to help normal children adjust to a new land."
 Brisker said the youth village (or kibbutz) program began secretly in the late 1930s when thousands of children escaped Germany, although few of their parents could follow. When the British mandate over Palestine ended in 1948, and Israel became a nation, the villages became open and were expanded. Today they care for close to 6,000 children.

CBS Emergency Personnel Did Good Job Monday Night

By WILLIAM EWALD
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 NEW YORK (UP)—CBS, struck by some 1,300 technicians, came off pretty well Monday night with emergency personnel manning the network's eyes and ears.
 With the bulk of its evening shows on film ("Studio One" ran off the kinescope of a show seen last October), the TV network faced only one real challenge: Arthur Godfrey's "Talent Scouts" which was beamed live out of Manhattan.
 "Talent Scouts" went off without any notable flubs. There were a couple of very brief moments when the cameras seemed unsteady and once, moving in for a closeup of the face of one member of a quartet trio, the camera went out of focus for a fraction of a second. Aside from this, the show ran smoothly.
Tricky Business
 In fact, during one act—a male Canadian pianist's attack on "Brazil"—the camera started with a profile shot, moved in for a "mirror" shot of his hands reflected above the keyboard, dissolved to a shot of his head, dissolved again to his hands and moved back. It wasn't a terribly tricky piece of business, but considering that amateurs were working the cameras, it was surprising that it was attempted at all.
 The last bit of business on the show—measuring the audience's applause for performers—called for more swift cuts, running as it did from Godfrey to performers to applause meters three times around, and this, too, was carried off deftly.
 The only noteworthy network hitch during the evening took place on the Doug Edwards 15-minute news show. "Good evening, everybody," announced Edwards, but for two or three seconds there was no picture. And although the rest of the show worked out well visually, there was audio trouble. During the last commercial, there were sounds of banging, thumping, talking and even one human whistle.
 CBS-TV reported no major troubles on its afternoon shows, but it did lose about 40 or 50 seconds of the audio on "The Big Pay-off" and its live shows had to stick to less taxing camera shots. One observer reported, for example, that "The Verdict Is Yours," a show that often uses trick effects like "wipes," had to stick pretty closely to more elementary electronic giling.
Audio Trouble
 On the local level here in New York, an early evening and a late evening news show both had trouble with audio. On the latter show, a newscaster, Ron Cochran, went silent for 15 seconds and 30 second stretches. So did some of g ana. to ait don yia few second stretches. So did some of the sound on a cigar commercial. I managed to audit only a few moments of CBS radio, but there didn't seem too much trouble there Monday night either. One report had it that there was line trouble for a few moments on one of the early evening shows, but it didn't catch it.

 If the strike continues, CBS-TV will face a much severer test tonight. "The Red Skelton Show" and "Mr. Adams and Eve" will be on film, but the rest of the menu, "Name That Tune," "Wingo," "Tell The Truth" and "The $64,000 Question" all will be live.
The Channel Swim: Mike Wallace's ABC-TV interview show, which folds April-19, will be moved almost immediately to a new time spot on a weekday. Mike finally gave up on his attempt to interview United Arab Republic President Nasser—Mike says Nasser cancelled out on three successive dates with him, so he just packed up and returned home.
 Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz have pulled out of the NBC-TV "Emmy Award" ceremonies—a sponsor conflict. NBC-TV will beat the Daylight Saving Time mixup this year by etching all its shows evidence tape for those towns that remain on standard time. In other words, you'll continue to see all your NBC-TV shows at the same time no matter where you live.
 Bob Hope's NBC-TV Moscow show pulled a 28.8 Trendex Saturday to ABC-TV's Lawrence Welk's 14.5 and CBS-TV's Lawrence Welk's 15.6 for "Oh, Susanna" and "Have Gun, Will Travel". NBC-TV's "Look Here" will dissect Tony Perkins on April 20.
Salvage Firm To Raise Doria
 TRENTON, N.J. (UP)—A salvage firm was studying plans today to raise the sunken Italian liner Andrea Doria from the Atlantic bottom by a boot-strap operation, then inch the hulk to shallow water.
 The ship lies 225 feet off Nantucket Island where it was sunk in a collision with the Swedish liner Stockholm on July 25, 1956. Fifty-two lives were lost.
 The AAA salvage firm hopes to be able to raise the 20,000-ton liner in the 90 days of summer weather during July and August. Huge rubber tubes would be lowered, and attached to the ship. When the tubes were filled with air the ship would be righted. Then seventy 700-foot cables would be slipped under the liner

Report Card Time At Dance School

By FRED DANZIG
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 NEW YORK (UP)—It's report card time for some of the television performers whose feet pitter-patter across the floorboards at June Taylor's School of Dance.
 Teacher Taylor, a tall, peppy blonde who sports one of those jagged-end bathing cap-type haircuts, has some interesting progress reports on the recent guests of Patti Page's "The Big Record" TV show, which she stages.
 Liberate: "He can move. It was a revelation."
 The Everly Brothers: "They had no animation. I couldn't get them to shake enough in the big production number, 'Beauty and the Beat'.
Came On Well
 Frankie Avalon: "He came off very well."
 Paul Anka: "It was difficult to loosen him up. He was so stiff."
 As for the boss, Patti Page, Miss Taylor said: "When you teach Patti something, you have to work at keeping it the way you want it. Otherwise, she changes the step so she can feel more comfortable. But she's gaining more confidence and that makes it easier."
 Besides staging the numbers on Patti's show, June keeps busy running a school for dancers of all ages and sizes, with some of her customers being well-known singers.
 Since graceful movement is so important on TV, it's a sign of the times to find in one studio the dancers from "Your Hit Parade," brushing up on some numbers while across the hall, learning "Beginner Jazz" steps, are the singers from the same show.
Movement Important
 "They must learn movement," says June. "Otherwise, people could just turn off the picture and listen and that would take us back to radio."
 June's biggest problems at present are the young rock 'n roll record stars who are booked for "The Big Record."
 "I try to give them 'sways' or finger-snapping to do. It's work for them, though. We don't make professional dancers out of them, but we try to keep them from looking like a stick of wood while they're on."
 and made fast to two ore ships on the surface on either side.
 The ore vessel holds would be flooded, lowering the surface ships by about 15 feet. The cables would be taken up and the ore ships pumped out, lifting the Doria from the bottom. Tugs would then pull the whole apparatus into shallower water.

Some Days You Can't Make A Dishonest Million Dollars!

By DOC QUIGG

 NEW YORK (UP)—Some days you can't make a dishonest million. And what's worse, nobody cares.
 A man in our office named Joseph L. Jones arose at 7 a.m. in his Peiham, N. Y., home, feeling fine, and took the train to work.
 He emerged from Grand Central Station onto 42nd Street and decided to do some banking before going to the office. The transaction involved transferring money from his account in one big 42nd Street bank to another big 42nd Street bank.
A Slight Mistake
 He went to the first big bank and withdrew $2,330. He put the check in his pocket, walked two short blocks to the other bank, made out a deposit slip, and thrust it and the check into a teller's window.
 "I think," said the teller pleasantly, staring at the check, "that this probably won't go through the clearing house. It says a million dollars here."
 The face of the check announced that the sum to be paid to the order of Joseph L. Jones was $1,002,330.
 "You better take it back and have them issue another check," the teller said.
 "Go back and do it all over?" said Jones. "Oh no, why don't you just call 'em up and see what's wrong?"
What If?
 The teller said just a minute. When he returned, he said he had called the first bank and they agreed to fix things up with the right sum. The first bank opined that after they had closed, the day before, somebody had accidentally brushed against the keys of the electronic machine that makes out the checks, and the mechanism had stayed all night with a figure one and a couple of ing for someone to come in with

The check to Jones had been, they presumed, the first one made out on that machine the next morning and the machine did its duty as it saw it. Well, Jones went on to work, and he began thinking. He thought: "Goodness gracious, that million dollars was made out to me, Joseph L. Jones. In truth and certainty, I was a millionaire—for five minutes or so. What if I had carried it around all day, I'd have been a millionaire for a day. What if... My, My, What if..."
