New Note Brings Summit Meet Near

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The Western Big Three, in a new note to Moscow, Saturday inched toward a summit conference with Russia. But there was growing pessimism here about the immediate chances of either holding the meeting or easing East-West conflicts.

The United States, Britain and France agreed reluctantly to separate pre-summit interviews by their ambassadors with Moscow foreign office officials to lay the groundwork for a later heads-of-government meeting. They accepted this Soviet-proposed procedure rather than take the Kremlin's alternative offer—joint meetings at which satellite Poland and Czechoslovakia would sit as equals with Britain and France.

This, the West feared, would be used by Russia as a precedent for bringing Communist satellites into the summit meeting itself.

High American officials, already dubious about Russian intentions in pressing for a summit conference, voiced deeper pessimism after Friday's Soviet veto in the U.N. Security Council of the U.S. plan for policing the North Pole area against surprise attack.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U.S. chief representative at the United Nations, said the Russian veto made it look "as though the Soviet Union had knocked the summit meeting idea on the head."

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Friday night called the Russian action "tragic" and "frightening." He said it meant the world will "go on living on the edge of an awful abyss."

Dulles had pictured the U. N. debate as a key test of Soviet sincerity and of chances for broader agreements to ease the cold war.

G. H. Kyle Files For Commissioner

G. H. "Skinner" Kyle, former Gray County sheriff, announced Saturday that he would be a candidate for Precinct 2 commissioner in the coming Democratic Primary.

Kyle will file Monday with Gray County Democratic Secretary Bob Baker and will publish his platform thereafter.

Kyle, who is a stockman, served as sheriff of Gray County from 1942 to 1950.

Residing at 417 Pitts with his wife and three year old daughter, Kyle is the father of six. The five oldest are grown and married. He is a member of the First Christian Church of Pampa.

Report Meeting Set For Community Hotel

Officials of the Community Hotel Corporation of Pampa and Pampa hotel and motel owners met Saturday with Lynn Fairley, representing Horwath and Horwath of Chicago, to provide information for the economic feasibility report, being prepared for the Community Hotel project.

Fairley arrived in town Wednesday to conduct a survey of economic conditions and hotel accommodations in Pampa with special reference to the present and future financial status of the proposed hotel.

Community Hotel President George B. Cree Jr. was pleased to say that the hotel and motel owners were cooperating 100 per cent in the survey.

Fairley expects to go back to Chicago Monday with all the facts for a report that he will send back to the directors in two weeks. Horwath and Horwath, says Fairley, are accountants and auditors, specializing in hotel and motel operations.

The report will be a summary of a need for a new hotel in the community, its desirability by the citizens and the feasibility of such a venture, profitwise.

The hotel directors will use this report in their dealings with investment companies as they complete the financial arrangements for the hotel.

Jim Hendricks, owner and manager of the Black Gold Motel, arranged the meeting with Fairley and the directors which was held at Poole's Steak House. Present were W. M. McSpadden, Pampa Hotel; Frank Lard, L. Ranch Motel; Mrs. Maida McCray, Star Courts; W. B. Murphy, Murphy Courts 1 and 2 and Ray Neider-

CoC Tourist Committee To Hold Meet

The Tourist Development Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will meet at 10 a. m. at Poole's Steak House to plan their attendance at the Texas Branch meeting of the U. S. Highway 60 Association, starting May 22 at the Herring Hotel in Amarillo.

Registration for the Association meeting will follow a noon luncheon of the Texas Branch. The meeting will start that night and conclude with a banquet, May 23.

Members of the Tourist Development Committee and of the U. S. Highway 60 Association are making particular plans to hear Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona speak at the concluding banquet.

With Chairman Jim Poole presiding, the group will meet Tuesday to get ready for the Amarillo meeting and to hear sub-committee reports on work in progress.

Nixon Sees Opposition In Buenos Aires

By DAVID F. BELNAP
United Press Staff Correspondent
BUENOS AIRES (UP)—Buenos Aires University students Saturday booed and shouted "Go home Nixon!" as Vice President Richard M. Nixon emerged from a discussion with student leaders on United States policies in Latin America.

Nixon, who came here to attend the inauguration of President Arturo Frondizi, met for an hour and 25 minutes with student and faculty leaders at a conference presided over by Dr. Riestler Frondizi, the rector of the school and the president's brother.

There was no one around when Nixon entered the law school building at 9 a. m. But when he left, about 100 students and others were gathered outside.

Boos, whistles and shouts of "Go home, Nixon, Argentina is not for sale!" drowned out a smattering of applause.

Pledges Non-Interference
At the conference, the vice president said the United States has made mistakes in its Latin American policy in the past and will make many in the future but it always is trying to improve.

He said U.S. policy is guided by the 1933 Montevideo conference. "And if we were to follow the practice of intervention it would eventually be resented throughout the hemisphere," said Nixon.

A TYPICAL COMMUNITY CENTER

A Youth Center such as the one pictured above will offer recreational and athletic facilities to the young people and adults of Pampa. The Center, when completed, will feature a swimming pool, general purpose room, game room, snack bar and lounge area.

Ground Breaking For Center Set Today

Boy Scouts, band members, clergy, campaigners and Pampans will gather at the Center site today to break ground, ceremonially. For the Pampa Youth and Community Center, between Kentucky and Harvester, west of Hobart. The time will be 3 p. m.

Marked by iron pipe flags, the site of the future recreation center, will be the scene of a religious and civic ground breaking ceremony with youth and adults taking part and every Pampans invited to attend.

W. E. Tregoe will direct the Harvester band in a short concert, setting the stage for the dedication by Father William E. West and the address of the day by Rev. Dick Crews.

Ray Bevel Contractors will have heavy equipment on the site to give impetus to the actual ground breaking.

The President of the Center Board of Directors, Dr. Joe Donaldson, Vice President Fred Neslage, Treasurer Floyd Watson, General Campaign Director Johnny Campbell and Board Member Mrs. Inez Carter will be key figures in the ground breaking ceremony.

Scout Troop 15 of the Adobe Walls Council will be in uniform to distribute leaflets concerning the Center that will rise west of Hobart.

Missing Girl Found After Three Days

By DENNIS MCCARTHY
United Press Staff Correspondent
ST. LOUIS (UP)—Little, blonde-haired Kathy Hampton, 6, missing for three days, turned up Saturday clad only in panties but apparently unharmed.

Police said a mentally retarded boy, 15, confessed to taking Kathy "for a bicycle ride" last Wednesday.

A doctor at City Hospital said Kathy was "in pretty good condition" and that there was "no evidence she had been sexually molested."

"Loaded With Dirt"
The little girl was found wandering along a St. Louis sidewalk, only about two miles from her home. She wore nothing but a red cloth tied around her left ankle and a pair of panties.

The doctor said, however, that she had "a lot of scratches on her back and wrist." He said Kathy was "loaded with dirt."

Mrs. Rose Metz said she found Kathy walking aimlessly. "My name is Kathy and I live on Cass Avenue," Mrs. Metz said Kathy told her. "A boy tore off my clothes in a house."

Police said Kathy's missing clothes were found in a vacant house, a block away from where Mrs. Metz saw Kathy walking.

Was Believed Dead
Police Lt. James Doherty said the boy confessed taking Kathy to the abandoned house Wednesday night. The boy said he tied her up and tore off her clothing.

Doherty said the youth claimed he then left the house and did not return.

Pampans Attend Highway Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lard left Pampa today to attend the annual meeting of the Oklahoma Branch of the U. S. Highway 60 Association in Venita, Okla.

Lard is on the Board of Directors of the National Highway 60 Association. Also attending from Texas will be Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hobgood from Amarillo. Hobgood is president of the Texas Branch which will have its meeting May 22-23 at the Herring Hotel in Amarillo.

CoC Office Initiates New Hours

The Pampa Chamber of Commerce, including the permit office of the State Highway Department, will be closed Saturdays but will open 30 minutes earlier each day. The new hours are 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., Monday through Friday.

Mrs. Eloise Braly at the Chamber office has charge of over load, over length, over weight permits for trucks using the State Highway. Truckers needing a permit for Saturday or Sunday use should come to the office before 5 p. m. Friday.

"In case of extreme emergency," says Chamber Manager E. O. Wedgeworth, "You can call Mrs. Braly."

Controversy Continues Over Nuclear Weapon Production

By RUTHERFORD POATS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission Saturday denied and Sen. Clinton P. Anderson reassured that the United States is talking about "clean" nuclear weapons while making "dirty" ones.

Strauss said Anderson (D-N.M.) had access to the facts when he originally made the charges in a television broadcast last Sunday. He said that on four points Anderson's statements were false or misleading.

Anderson, former chairman and now senior senator on the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, replied that he could prove his case if Strauss would permit publication of some AEC documents now marked secret.

Anderson said he has not yet read the Strauss statement "but I shall see it in time and comment fully."

The AEC chairman replied to Anderson's charges in a letter to Rep. Carl T. Durham (D-N.C.), chairman of the joint committee. Strauss said he was making the public reply because "these charges bear heavily upon me personally" and "more importantly, upon the sincerity of United States policy."

Los Alamos Reveals Plans
Anderson said in the broadcast that the congressional committee does not "get any real announcements of the purpose of most of these tests." This, he said, was not explained until after a test.

Strauss said the facts are that Anderson was listed as present when the committee in secret session heard AEC officials "discuss plans for the forthcoming test series" in the Pacific. And on March 5, he added, the Los Alamos AEC laboratory furnished the committee in writing a "complete and detailed explanation of each of the Los Alamos devices to be tested in the current series, especially their purposes." On April 9, a complete list of the shots planned in the Pacific test series was sent to the committee, Strauss said.

Will Comment Later
"The letter of Adm. Strauss may be of genuine benefit," Anderson said. "It could be the device by which we could pry open some secret doors that should be opened. Surely the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission would not be so lacking in honor as to issue such a blast at me and then keep classified the documents by which I can disprove it."

Anderson said he has not yet read the Strauss statement "but I shall see it in time and comment fully."

Like Urges International Treaty For Countries In South Pole Area

By RUTHERFORD POATS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower Saturday urged 11 nations, including Russia, to join the United States in a treaty to keep international politics and the cold war out of the strategic South Pole area.

He proposed that the vast, ice-covered continent around the pole be opened to all nations for scientific or other peaceful activities.

The President formally called for a treaty conference "at an early date" among the 11 nations which have had scientific expeditions in Antarctica during the current International Geophysical Year (IGY). They are Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Chile, France, Japan, New Zealand, Norway, South Africa, the USSR, Britain and the United States.

A U.S. diplomatic note, which Eisenhower released with an accompanying statement, suggested a treaty to freeze territorial claims on the six-million-square-mile area—a vast and still largely unexplored domain nearly twice the size of the United States.

During the 18-month geophysical "year," there has been a gentlemen's agreement that no territorial issues would be raised.

Seven of the invited countries—Argentina, Australia, Chile, France, New Zealand, Norway and Britain—have asserted sovereignty over parts of the continent. The United States has not made claims or recognized those of other countries, but it has reserved the right to stake claims.

Russia has done considerable exploration in the area but has not announced territorial claims.

Would Freeze Status Quo
The diplomatic note assured the 11 nations that a treaty "can be concluded without requiring any participating nation to renounce whatever basic historic rights it may have in Antarctica, or whatever claims of sovereignty it may have asserted."

It added, "In other words, the legal status quo in Antarctica would be frozen for the duration of the treaty, permitting cooperation in scientific and administrative matters to be carried out in a constructive manner without being hampered or affected in any way by political considerations."

A treaty would prevent "unnecessary and undesirable political rivalries in that continent, (the) uneconomic expenditure of funds to defend individual national interests, and the recurrent possibility of international misunderstanding," the U.S. note said.

Persons Evacuated In Fort Worth, Dallas

FORT WORTH, TEX. (UP)—Civil defense emergency teams in 100 trucks Saturday moved about 800 persons out of four Fort Worth sections threatened with flooding by the angry west fork of the Trinity River.

The Fort Worth emergency was the newest in a series of torrential rains, tornadoes, hailstorms and floods that started nine days ago and have hit Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

The weather has taken 15 lives 14 of them in Texas. One of the most recent victims was Andrea Baker, 14, of San Antonio, Tex. A wall of water, gushing across a road on which she was parked with her boy friend, washed her and an automobile into a creek. The boy escaped.

Perhaps 750,000 acres in the Southwest were flooded. Piecemeal and preliminary figures indicated that damage was high.

In one section of south Arkansas, where more than 600,000 acres were flooded, agricultural damage was estimated at three million dollars.

The U.S. engineers estimated damage along the Trinity River in the Dallas-Fort Worth area at more than $1,200,000. Thirty-three roads were flooded too badly for use in Texas.

A tornado and two violent storms or tornadoes hit sections of south central and east Texas before dawn. Five or six tornadoes did nearly $300,000 damage Friday in south central and west Texas.

None was reported hurt in the new storms, although they damaged homes and power lines. The Brazos River, backed through storm sewers into low-lying eastern Waco, Tex.

Stated by state, this was how the floods looked:

Texas: Farmlands flooded below Dallas along the east fork of the Trinity River. About 1,200 persons driven out of their homes by high water all over the state. Fort Worth and Waco the most dangerous points for new flooding. Streams receding at other points.

Oklahoma: Residents of Durant cleaning the mud from their homes after a flash flood Friday which drove 400 of them to higher ground. Work crews recovered the body of William Moore, 45, who drowned.

Arkansas: Two hundred and twenty persons, mostly Negro farm hands, fled in the Ladd area, seven miles south of Pine Bluff, as a flood along Bartholomew Bayou worsened. Sharp rises on the White and Little Red Rivers around Heber Springs and Judsonia caused the evacuation of 10 families. About 600,000 acres was under water in south Arkansas. Damage to farms three million dollars in the Texarkana area alone.

Florida: The crowd surged forward and smashed one panel of the hotel lobby door.

More than 100 riot police arrived in gondolas and motorboats through Venice's canals to the soldiers.

Witnesses said the soldiers responsible later were "beaten up" by the other paratroopers who were forced to leave Venice also.

Consulate sources said the understood no charges would be filed against the Americans, although Italian law calls for heavy fines and even imprisonment for anyone found defacing election posters.

Dulles Arrives For Pre-Summit Talks

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived here Saturday for the crucial pre-summit conference of the NATO Council of Ministers and predicted it would reach "significant conclusions" designed to break the East-West stalemate.

Relaxed and genial, Dulles stepped from a four-engine Air Force Super-Constellation transport with the knowledge that the United States has forced the Soviet Union into a propaganda defeat over the issue of an Arctic "open skies" inspection program which the Soviets vetoed in the United Nations Friday.

The 16-nation NATO council was to begin formal work Monday with an agenda that included problems of disarmament, German reunification, relations among alliance members and the issue of a summit conference.

The United States, Britain and France made a move Saturday toward breaking the deadlock over a summit meeting with a new note to Russia.

summit interviews between their ambassadors and Moscow foreign office officials, although they wanted all three ambassadors to negotiate jointly.

This inched the four powers towards the summit, and provided at the same time a basis for discussion among the NATO allies of the key issues involved.

Dulles, who criticized the Soviets for vetoing the American open skies plan to prevent surprise attack from the Arctic, refused to comment when asked about prospects for a summit meeting this year.

He said he thought the NATO ministers, at their annual meeting would reach "significant conclusions," particularly in the friendly atmosphere of "this gracious and civilized city."

Dulles was the first of the foreign ministers from the major NATO powers to arrive. Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano were scheduled to arrive Sunday.

Example Of Theatre In TV 'Rumors Of Evening' Perfect

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — "Rumors of Evening," presented on CBS-TV's "Playhouse 90" Thursday night, was a nearly perfect example of what passes for theatre in TV.

In television, the play is not the thing. TV theatre is an actors' theatre. Writers are second-class citizens who don't sell unless they turn out pieces that fit the formula.

The formula: work in a hash of climaxes — justified or not — so that the frequent interruption of commercials will leave the audience hanging a little; keep the emotions simple and if they seem to get a little complicated, be sure to have some character sum up "what it all means" for the duller member of the audience; grind out some sort of twisty snapper for an ending to make it look a little off-beat—but not too off-beat.

"Rumors of Evening" was cut to the formula almost exactly. The commercials on "Playhouse 90" scammed in and out like busy ants while damp little climaxes were piled atop each other. At one point, near the end, actress Barbara Bel Geddes spelled out "the point" of the play in a busy little speech. And the play had a twistier-illogical in terms of life and illogical in terms of drama—but that's okay, it was a twister.

Not Bad Vehicle
To shift my ground a little: "Rumors of Evening" was merely a mediocre vehicle and not a bad one. Its story line was serviceable if a little shopworn, some of the dialogue was crackly, and like all of these "Playhouse 90" things, the pieces was buffed to a nice shine.

And, of course, there was the acting. I said before TV is an actors' theatre and, Thursday night, the players turned in admirable jobs.

Miss Bel Geddes is an actress of great warmth, a girl with a soap-and-water face and a clean, uncluttered style of playing that gives all her work a luster. And in lesser roles, Robert Simon and Robert Loggia also contributed untricky and very solid portraits.

I have left John Kerr till last because my feelings about him have always been a little mixed. He is a young actor with all the technical equipment and the instincts of a pro (at one point, a door stuck and Kerr ad libbed until he could force it open), but to my mind, he never quite goes all the way.

Voice Strained
For one thing there is his voice. It has a strained quality, a mixture of stuffed nose and whine that irritates. And for another himself in tight. However, I don't mean to make this essay of Kerr negative. His skills are so great that two of his love scenes with Miss Bel Geddes came as alive as any I've ever seen on TV. There was a real feeling of tentativeness and groping about them that spilled tenderness all over the screen.

Sack Dress Is Failure In Ireland

FOR FRIDAY PM'S
By GAY PAULEY
United Press Women's Editor
DUBLIN, Ireland (UP) — The sack dress is a failure in this land where the women listen to their men.

"The men hate the sack, the chemise or whatever you want to call it," said Irene Gilbert, one of Ireland's three famous couturiers. "And the women. Well, the chemise looks too much like a maternity dress, and we have enough of that here anyway."

Miss Gilbert explained that about the only concession the chic Irish women have made to Paris and New York dictates are in the shorter skirts and a little less snug fit in dresses and suits. Her clothes show off the figure, but without constriction.

"I'm making all daytime clothes two inches shorter than last year," said designer Gilbert.

Nasser Is Due Policy Decisions

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt is likely to make some important decisions within the next few weeks on his future policy.

He may point his country toward still closer relations with the Soviet Union.

He may decide to take advantage of his present opportunity to improve Egypt's relations with the United States and its allies.

He may seek closer relations with both Russia and the Western powers, confident he can continue successfully his delicate balancing act between the two great power groups.

Nasser is now making his long-scheduled visit to Russia. He is being entertained royally. The Soviet government is doing everything it can to inflate his ego.

At the same time, Nasser's delegates at a conference in Rome have just signed an agreement in principle by which, if it is ratified as expected, Egypt will pay the stockholders of the nationalized Suez Canal about 81 million dollars in compensation.

Will Release Assets
Also the United States, as part of its attempt to patch up Western relations with Nasser, has agreed to release between 25 and 30 million dollars in assets which it has frozen since the Suez Canal was nationalized two years ago.

In line with this attempt, the International Bank for Reconstruction is to help Egypt increase the capacity of the canal.

Russia has granted Egypt a credit of 175 million dollars to buy machinery and other equipment for Nasser's five-year plan of industrial development.

It may, during his present visit, offer to help finance the large Aswan Dam project, which will irrigate great areas of now barren soil.

Nasser is highly susceptible to flattery, and his hosts may be able to get him to make some commitments which will keep Russia ahead in the contest to win his favor.

It is difficult to assess Nasser's real attitude.

COTY'S CHOICE — Georges Bidault, member of the Catholic Popular Republicans party, has been chosen by French President Rene Coty to attempt to form a new government for France. The country is again without a premier since the recent resignation of Felix Gualard over the Algerian crisis. Bidault, 59, two times a premier since the war, is considered pro-western, but is opposed to France's giving up Algeria.

Private Flying Is Popular In Texas

United Press Staff Correspondent DALLAS (UP)—Private flying has taken on a new and luxurious look since the end of World War II.

The new look is in planes, pilots and terminal facilities because the airplane used by the business executive is becoming almost as commonplace as the company car.

Nowhere is private flying more popular than in Texas.

At the beginning of this year, there were more than 25,000 business airplanes in the United States, plus an estimated 10,000 pleasure planes that were used for business purposes.

Business aircraft flew a million more hours in the air last year than all domestic airlines combined.

Plush Planes

Today's pilot isn't the barnstorming variety wearing a leather jacket and khaki trousers. Rather, he is a skilled flyer mostly dressed in a business suit or a company uniform.

His plane is no airborne model T either. It might be a plush DC-3 in which are conference rooms with hardwood tables, colored leather upholstery, thick carpets and, in some cases, a kitchen.

Slick, new terminals have been built and they are usually clustered around the municipal airport, to take advantage of the best runways and other facilities.

Like big hotels, they have modern lounges, vip conference rooms, first-class restaurants and rent-a-car services.

The biggest, plushiest private terminal in Dallas is Southwest Airmotive, which has built a four million dollar terminal at Love Field, the municipal airport.

Trade-In Engines

Southwest Airmotive provides almost every possible kind of maintenance, including trade-in engines, in its hangars. A single oil company keeps 13 planes there, five of them twin-engine craft.

The executive's airplane rolls to a stop half a dozen steps outside heavy glass doors of a modern two-story building.

Dallas and Fort Worth were third and fourth last year in terms of traffic from private planes, according to Civil Aeronautics Administration figures.

Van Nuys, Calif. was first last year with 112,000 arrivals and departures and Detroit was second with 105,000.

Kansas City was fifth, followed by Tulsa, Houston Cleveland, Atlanta and St. Louis.

Better Light

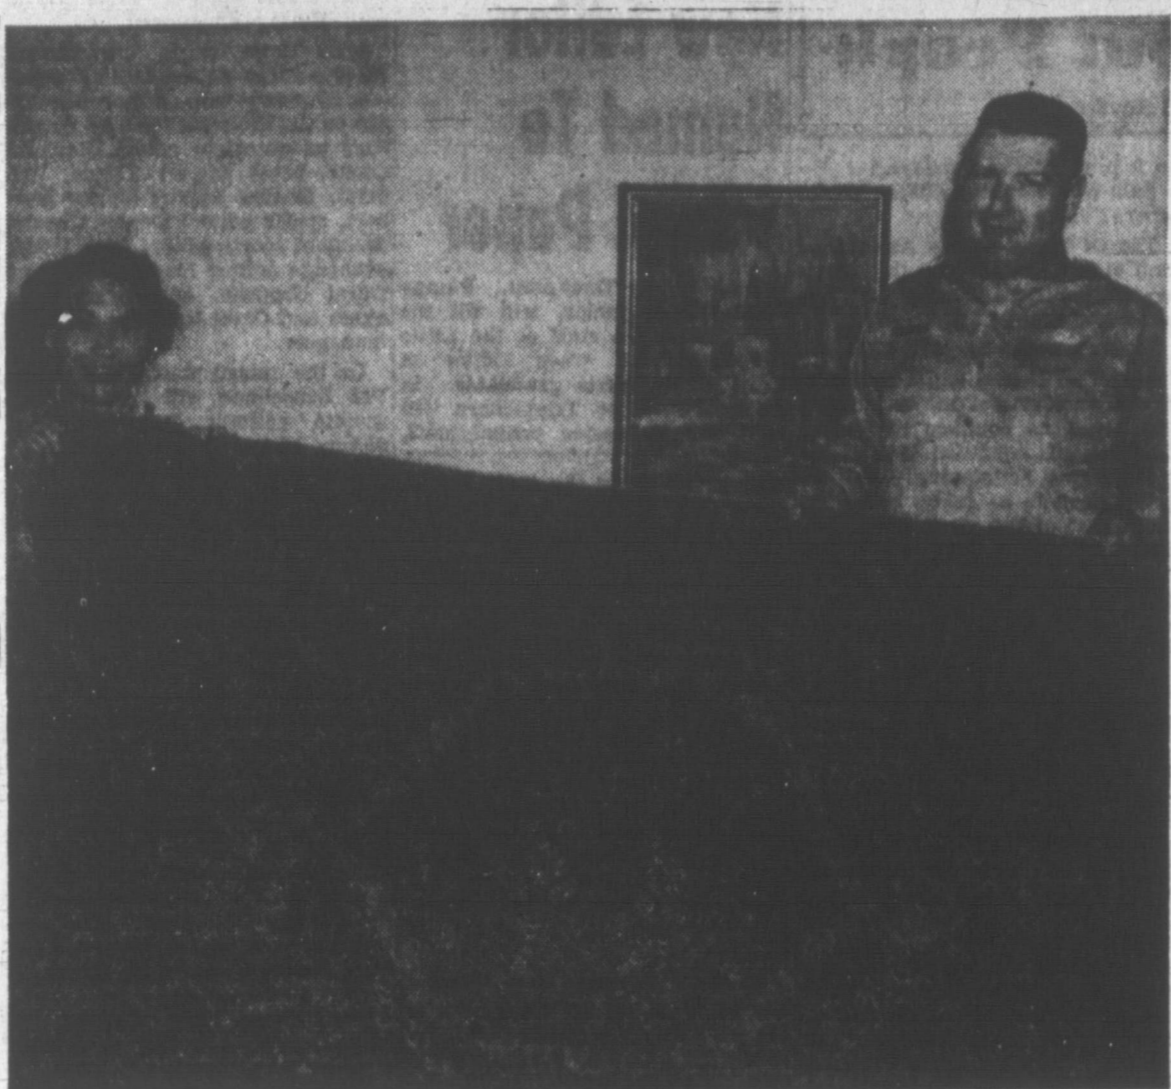

C. Auer von Welsbach invented the Welsbach mantle, almost universally used during the days of gas illumination. It heated to incandescence, giving a much whiter, brighter light than the simple gas flame.

Oldest Fiber

Oldest fiber-yielding plant is thought to be hemp. People in China were making cloth of hemp fiber almost 3,000 years before Christ.

"Father"

George Bartsch is called "father of modern ophthalmology." He lived in the 18th century and wrote what is thought to be the first textbook on the subject.

SOUVENIR

Showing off a souvenir rug they purchased in Turkey is Col. and Mrs. Warren J. Beale of Pampa. Col Beale was stationed in Turkey in 1947. Rugs of this type are sold by many merchants in Turkey and Baghdad. It weighs about five pounds and is made out of many different colored threads. (News Photo)

Widely-Traveled Pampan, Family Think Pampa Is The Best Of All

By RONNIE CROSS

"Join the Army and See the World" is a saying on Army recruiting posters, but of course this doesn't happen to everyone who joins the Army. However, it did happen to Lt. Col. Warren J. Beale, who with his wife, daughter and two sons, reside at 3121 N. Faulkner.

In 1937, Colonel Beale joined the Ohio National Guard and a shortly afterward went into active duty.

His first overseas trip was in April of 1942 to Tongatalu, in the South Pacific, where he stayed for one year as Battalion Commander.

Col. Beale was then transferred to Turkey, where he was able to take his family. The family stayed in Ankara, which is the capital of Turkey.

Commenting on Turkey, Colonel Beale says they had to eat mutton because most of the meat in Turkey is dirty and spoiled since there is little refrigeration. The meat in Turkey, by an order of the law, cannot be kept in the butcher shop for more than 24 hours. To get around this law, the butcher keep the meat hidden in their homes until they need it in the shop.

All of the homes in Turkey are made of cement because wood is a rarity, and the Beales were very fortunate in getting a good house. It was designed by an American woman who married a Turk while he was in America getting an education.

Col. Beale and his family are Presbyterian but when first arriving in Turkey they went to the Church of England in the British Embassy because there were no Christian Missionaries available. When they first arrived there were only 14 Americans in Turkey and when they left there in 1951 there were over 3,000 Americans.

During their stay in Turkey, the Beales took many vacations and saw many beautiful foreign places including, Istanbul, Baghdad, Jerusalem, the Holy Lands, Germany and France. The Beales agree that Jerusalem and the Holy Lands were by far the most beautiful and interesting places they visited because of their Biblical history.

Mrs. Beale said she thought Istanbul was also very interesting, being a mixture of both European and Oriental culture.

In 1950, the Colonel took his family to Baghdad and upon arriving the temperature was 104 degrees. When they stepped off the plane, an inhabitant of Baghdad said he was glad they had waited until today to come because it was much hotter yesterday. Col. Beale says this has become a family joke around his house.

While in the Holy Lands, the Beales could see only the Arabic part of it because they had gotten their passports stamped by Arabs and the Israeli people do not acknowledge Arab passports and neither do the Arabs acknowledge Israeli passports.

Colonel and Mrs. Beale say they found Americans were extremely disliked by the Arabic people, the only thing they like about Americans is the American dollar. It seems the Arabs blame former President Harry S. Truman for all their troubles.

In 1951, the Beales left Turkey and returned to Ft. Hood and then to Ft. Benning, Ga., where he was in an Airborne division.

Col. Beale has many medals but his two most important decorations are the Army Commendation Ribbon and the Asiatic Pacific Ribbon with two stars.

Col. Beale will retire from the Army in 1961 and says that he and his family will live in Pampa. He plans to be a television repairman or accountant. Beale and his wife both say that the citizens of Pampa are the friendliest people they have ever met and that they couldn't have found a nicer place than Pampa in which to live. He is currently U.S. Army advisor to the local National Guard unit.

This reporter has interviewed several people from foreign countries or who have visited foreign countries, in the past three months and they all agree that the thing that sells them on Pampa is Pampa's friendliness and hospitality. It looks like those valuable characteristics have proved to another family that Pampa is the Top of Texas, and that's saying a lot.

Report Farm Fires Correctly

One thing we can clean up during Pampa and Gray County Spring Clean-Up campaign is any misunderstanding about the best way to report a fire at your farm, says County Extension Agent

Ralph Thomas. "Reporting a fire properly and quickly very often means the difference between life and death, or between little damage and complete loss," he pointed out. The rules he urges everyone to study and remember are these: First and foremost, get everyone out of the house or other building the instant you discover or suspect a fire. Then report the fire — fast! Make certain you know how to reach by phone the fire department responsible for fire protection in your area. Call the department by using the exchange and number they specify, or if you lack the number, ask the operator to connect you. When you reach the fire department, give the exact address where the fire is located — both the street or route and the name of the community. Be sure to tell what is burning and give your name. Then make sure someone meets the firemen to direct them quickly both to the fire and to a water supply. Thomas' final reminder is this: Be very sure any baby sitters you leave in charge of children thoroughly understand these rules and have this information too. Elevators Did It True skyscrapers did not come into existence until speedy elevators were made to reach upper floors readily, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

No Connection There is no connection whatever between the mother's nervous system and that of the child, and no means by which ideas or impressions in the mother's mind can reach the unborn child, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. Fallacy The Newfoundland dog is such a good swimmer that people once believed its feet were webbed, but this is untrue of any breed of dog. Boar Hunt The wild boar, a favorite game animal of European nobles, is hunted today in southeastern United States, the species being descended from imported game animals that escaped from a game preserve.

On The Business Scene

By UNITED PRESS
The Federal Reserve Board reported installment credit outstanding decreased by 180 million dollars during March — second straight month of decline. The March 31 total however was still $1,800,000,000 greater than a year ago.

Prices on Kraft wrapping paper were cut about $10 a ton by major paper makers. The new price level is $180 a ton for 50-pound Kraft paper.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson set wheat price supports for the 1959 crop at $1.51 a bushel. The figure reflects 75 per cent of the parity price expected for July 1, 1959. Jones & Laughlin announced it is postponing the scheduled reopening of its Cleveland, Ohio, works "until we receive more orders." Resumption of operations had been scheduled for about May 15.

April auto output fell to 316,503 cars—lowest for the month since 1948. In March assemblies totaled 327,049. Substantial cutbacks by General Motors and Ford were the principal factors in the decline. Chrysler's output was relatively close to the March level.

Consumer buying this week ranged 2 per cent below to 2 per cent above the similar week a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet reported. Cold, wet weather hampered sales in some areas, while special promotions bolstered activity in others. Dress and sportswear sold well. Purchases of linens, appliances and garden equipment increased appreciably.

The Tariff Commission announced an investigation into the availability and quality of wool imported for use in manufacture of carpets and paper-makers' felts. The investigation was undertaken pursuant to a resolution of the Senate Finance Committee, the commission said.

TERM PROJECTS

Leather Craft Class At School Busy Group

By WALLACE TRUESDELL, Pampa News Staff Writer
With June on its way at Pampa High School, the most popular project in Myles Morgan's Leather Working Class seems to be Western pistol holsters. Morgan is keeping the boys busy at this time of the year with term projects that may last them until the end of school.

Morgan's class this year is a "far cry" from any class he has ever taught. In addition to the Wild Bill Western Pistol Holsters, there are three sheep lined rifle holsters coming up.
Student Bill Frasier is sweating away on his term project which happens to be three pairs of chaps. "First time anyone's been interested," says Morgan. This applies to the rifle holsters as well.

But the most prolific of the bunch is Fred Watkins, who has been turning cowhide into belts, billfolds, moccasins and purses and is now working on a holster with his last cowhide.
High man with the billfolds is Merle Terrell with seven. Morgan requires two. Terrell has found that the market is very good.
Morgan encourages the boys to make a little money out of leather if only to pay for the tools. They buy their own tools and supply their own cowhide. For less than $15, Morgan can get the boys a pair of stamping and carving tools that will be theirs forevermore.

If, during the year, a boy runs out of projects for himself, Morgan interests him in working up something for the people next door.

"Every boy should have at least one creative hobby," says Morgan. When the boys first come into his class he gives them some scrap pieces of leather. "They usually ruin the first three or four pieces," says Morgan. "Everyone does."

But with some patience, they have their first belt, which is the easiest article to tool.
Most of the boys in the class are seniors who are taking it because they want to. Morgan has his hands full teaching wood working, drafting and leather craft.
One of the more practical aspects of leather craft is that the boys, having their own tools, can practically work their way through college tooling belts, billfolds and handbags.

Good News From The Passport Office

By LYLE C. WILSON, United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — There isn't much good news going these days, so how would it be to hear a word of cheer from Miss Frances G. Knight?

Miss Knight is the director of the passport office of the Department of State. She succeeded the fabulous Mrs. Ruth B. Shipley who was a civil servant of great charm and stature in the federal hierarchy.
The good word from Miss Knight is that she has revamped the methods and modernized the equipment of the passport office to the considerable relief and convenience of the U.S. taxpayer. The government's General Service Administration estimated that these savings last year amounted to $28,000,000 which is not a great sum when posed against the multi-billion-dollar spending which appears now to have been added on to the taxpayers until the end of time.
Such economies are scarce. Neither is it hay, however, and the conserved sum looks even more attractive by reason of Miss Knight's informal explanation that additional savings were obtained because the passport office averaged an increase of 5.5 per cent in work productivity per employe in 1957. Moreover, Miss Knight expects her employes to absorb a 5 per cent additional increase in their workload during the next two years.
News of such administrative economies is scarce in Washington despite assurances from the top executive officials that waste shall be wrung from the operations of the government. The top brass either does not mean it or the top brass is unable to plug the comparatively small leaks as Miss Knight plugged that one in, her office.

While she was about it, Miss Knight modernized and improved the conditions under which the citizens can obtain a passport. For example, the citizen applying for a passport no longer need be accompanied by a witness to testify to his identity. And, if he desired, the citizen may pay his passport fee by personal check.

Takes Less Time
The passport office now will accept for identification purposes about what a bank would accept in cashing a check, such as driver's license or a government security pass. Miss Knight explained that anyone who would fraudulently apply for a passport would not hesitate to produce a phony witness, so why clutter the counters and corridors of passport issuing agencies with two persons for each passport involved.
Miss Knight's methods have reduced from many weeks to 4½ days the time necessary to issue a passport.

Of personal checks, she contended that if the government accepted them for income tax payments it also should be willing to take them in payment for a passport fee.
To Improve Pictures
Miss Knight's reforms and modernization of the passport office make a lot of sense. A taxpayer might think it a good idea to expose other agencies of government to Miss Knight, especially any in which the productivity per employe has diminished instead of increased.

This bold and efficient woman is even trying to improve passport pictures, promoting the idea that they should be relaxed and happy, smiling portraits. To that end, she permits color photos and reports that her program to make passport pictures look like something other than Rogue's Gallery shots is coming along "fine."

Good And Bad Of The Week's News

By CHARLES M. McCANN, Foreign News Commentary
United Press Staff Correspondent
The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

The United States proposed this week that an international inspection be established in the arctic to allay fears of attack by H-bomb planes flying over the north polar route.

The proposal was made in answer to Russian charges that flights of American nuclear planes over the Arctic in the direction of the Soviet Union constituted a danger to peace.

President Eisenhower made the proposal in a letter to Soviet Premier Nikitita S. Khrushchev.
Following up the letter, the United States introduced a proposal for an inspection system in the United Nations Security Council.

Soviet U.N. Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev rejected the American plan. He called it a diversionary move to distract attention from the American arctic flights. Sobolev said the inspection plan should be taken up at a "summit" conference of heads of government.
Sweden suggested that countries which have territory above the Arctic Circle study the question and that the result of the study be put before the summit meeting. The United States said it was agreeable.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt was the guest of honor at Russia's traditional May Day parade through the Red Square in Moscow.

Nasser held defense minister Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky accuse the United States in a speech of "using unheard-of methods" in "sending Air Force planes carrying H-bombs to the Soviet frontiers."
Malinovsky said Soviet armed forces were ready to repel any attempt "to violate the people's peaceful labors."
The military section of this year's parade took but 12 minutes to pass the reviewing stand. Foreign military attaches saw no new weapons.

While the Russians buttered up Nasser with the highest honors at the start of his 18-day visit to the Soviet Union, there were indications that Egyptian relations with the Western powers were improving.
In Rome, Egyptian delegates signed a preliminary agreement under which stockholders of the Suez Canal Company would be paid about 81 million dollars as compensation for Nasser's nationalization of the waterway.

In Washington, the Treasury Department announced the release of about 26 million dollars in Egyptian government funds which the United States had kept "frozen" since Nasser seized the canal two years ago.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY, Writer for NEA Service

One of the characteristics of the really great bridge player is his ability to take advantage of everything that goes on at the table.

Alvin Roth of Washington, D.C., who has been on everyone's top ten list for years, ducked the king of spades and West continued with the queen.

East had a terrible time finding a discard on that second spade and finally dropped the nine of hearts. Alvin ducked again and West gave up the spade suit and shifted to the ten of hearts.

The game was duplicate and overtricks were important. Alvin thought a while and decided that East's trouble at trick two was due to possession of three four-card suits. In that case there was an opportunity for a rare three suit squeeze to pick up two extra tricks and Alvin decided to play for it.
He won the heart lead in his own hand and led back his remaining low spade. A heart was

Students In Annual Outing At Skellytown

(Special To The News)
SKELLYTOWN — The eighth grade graduating class enjoyed their annual outing to Palo Duro Canyon recently. The trip was made on the school bus.
They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Price and by the class sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. W. Evans.

The group enjoyed riding the train, hiking and the souvenir and concession stands. The picnic lunch was purchased out of class funds. Students making the trip were Joyce Powell, Ann Burch, Sharon Moore, Sharron Moss, Sharon Adams, Deanna McGee, Donna St. Clair, Shirley Keach, Diana Aubrey, Ann Duncan, Twanna Dykes, Wanda Helbert, Joyce Helbert, Billie Price, Louise Haggren, Margaret Grange, Earleen Black, LeQuita Dunn, Kay Dunivan, Judy Rogers, Lela Meeks, Jane Meeks, Joe Chapin, Jimmy Hassler, Larry Brown, Shelby Sharpe, Don Hoskins, Tony Sargent, Jerry McCloud, Philip Stephenson, and Bucky Cummings.

The Pre-School Roundup Set In Skellytown

(Special To The News)
SKELLYTOWN — The annual pre-school roundup will be held on May 8 at 1:30 p.m.

The first grade, taught by Miss Frances Graumann, will present a program in the school auditorium. After the assembly, each first grader will pair up with one of the guests and will be served refreshments in the school cafeteria. The pre-school children will visit with the first grade for an hour while their mothers will hear short talks by the superintendent, principal and school nurse.

discarded from dummy and East dropped a diamond. West led his last heart and Alvin won in dummy. He now came to his own hand with the ace of clubs and was ready for the kill.

He played the ace of spades and discarded a diamond from dummy. East went into a hopeless huddle but there was nothing he could do. A heart discard would set up two heart tricks right away and a club or diamond discard would simply postpone the inevitable.

Skellytown Honor Roll Is Announced

(Special To The News)
SKELLYTOWN — Principal E. A. McCreary has released the names of those on the fifth six weeks honor roll.

There were 89 on the B honor roll and the following students on the A honor roll: Ann Duncan, Patsy Moore, Tony Keys, Wayne Kreis, Beverly Heaton, Sue Howard, Sheila Ernest, Al Garrett, Paulette Hinton, Pat Beigel, Pamela Blakemore, Jemma Dean, Ruth Geisler, Beverly Harlan, Judy Mercer, Wanda Moore, Myrna Shubring, Rita Spence, Vernon Marlar, David Moore, Donna McKissick, Anita Werley, Sandra

TV 'All-Star Jazz Show' Does A Disservice To Jazz-Critic

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—To a large extent, a show like Wednesday night's "All-Star Jazz Show" on CBS-TV does a disservice to jazz. "We have over 50 of the world's greatest jazz musicians," chortles emcee Garry Moore. And, of course, that is one of the principal faults of the show. Over the course of 60 minutes, no one really gets a chance to work out a decent musical statement.

There is a sense of hurry-and-push about the proceedings. The idea is to call out as many names as possible, flash their faces on the screen and then let them blow hot little dribbles into the mikes. Another defect of this kind of show is that it tries to satisfy everyone and winds up satisfying no one.

A Bit of Everything

For some reason, goes the thinking, big band swing must be represented, so let's run in Lionel Hampton and his callithenic team and let them blow loud and riffy. Let's get a Dixie group—a nice name. Let's get a modern group—that fellow, Gerry Mulligan, for example. And for gosh sakes, don't forget Satchmo.

But the third and worst flaw is playing down to the audience. The show clings to the obvious. It's afraid to let a group or two sit down and merely play. In a way, it's afraid of jazz.

Thus, it trots out the safe cliches. Louis Armstrong comes equipped with his acres of handkerchiefs, and Jack Teagarden with "Basin St. Blues." George Shearing plays a "Lullaby of Birdland," a Latino number and then goes into a "September Song" that sounds almost as carefully arranged as a society wedding.

Somewhere along the line, "St. Louis Blues" is worked in, and so is a drum duel between Gene Krupa and Cozy Cole, and then everybody goes on the stage for the finale and they blow, man, they blow.

What results from this subway crush cottillion is a slab of noise, the kind of outpouring that confirms the opinions of those who look upon jazz as a shabby and base little art.

Flood Trombone

To give the show its due, there were some saving moments. Teagarden blew some beautifully fluid trombone, Art Farmer chipped in some tasty trumpet and even Armstrong blew a few snatches of honest horn when he wasn't clowning.

But I would say the chief tip-off to the character of the show was indicated by the running in of Jaye P. Morgan as a "jazz" singer. Miss Morgan took an almost singer-proof song, "The Lady Is a Tramp," and trampled on it. Her singing lacked ease and swing, and her breath control was so faulty, she lost end-phrases.

Another tip-off was the cue-in for commercials. To wit: "Man, that was real gone and crazy.

Now let's take five, team—with John Cameron Swayze." To which I say, ugh, man, ugh.

NBC-TV's "Kraft Theatre" continues to ride high Wednesday night. It got a socker of a performance from Ralph Meeker in an adaptation of Ernest Hemingway's "Fifty Grand." Sidney Lumet directed the piece and gave it a beautiful gloss and pace.

The Channel Swim: When CBS-TV's "Studio One" folds on Sept. 29 in favor of "Desilu Playhouse," it'll leave "Studio One" just a few weeks short of the 10-year mark—it made its debut on Nov. 7, 1948.

"Baseball Corner" will fill the ABC-TV Sid Caesar spot beginning June 1. Howie Morric will be on the Caesar show this Sunday. "Public Enemy," whose pilot film stars football star Frank Gifford, looks like a sure shot for an ABC-TV Sunday berth next fall. Pat Boone just adopted two boys in Italy and Germany under the Foster Parents Plan.

'Modern' Jazz To Be Piped Into 50 Cities

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—West Coast or "modern" jazz will be piped into 50 major cities Wednesday night with pianist Bobby Troup explaining to televiewers exactly what they are hearing.

Most music is self-explanatory. Listeners either like it or tune in Lawrence Welk. But modern jazz is different. Like "method" actors, it has to be understood.

Troup, in the van of the avant garde, plays host on ABC-TV's new "Stars of Jazz," which has met with lukewarm success locally for almost two years.

"Each week we will present a different instrumental group and a girl vocalist," Troup promises. "In addition to the music we will explain what the musicians are trying to do, and give a resume of their lives and musical backgrounds."

To hear Bobby talk the program might be titled "This Is Your Eighth-Note."

Many of the show's guests will be unknown to most music lovers, names like Shelly Mann, Chet Baker, Dave Brubeck and Chico Hamilton. But the growing cult of so-called intellectual jazz aficionados are guaranteed to get their kicks.

Wheeler 7th Entertains Eighth Grade

(Special to The News)

WHEELER — The Seventh Grade of Wheeler Elementary School honored the Eighth Grade with an Appreciation Dinner recently in the school cafeteria. The "Mother Goose" theme was carried out in the banquet room. "The Old Woman in the Shoe" and her many children welcomed the guests as they arrived and balloons with nursery rhymes printed on them were attached to each chair.

The candle-lit tables were centered with various nursery rhyme characters while the nut cups were smaller creations of the same characters. "Mother Goose" adorned the cover of the individual programs.

Mrs. Harold Nas, seventh grade home room teacher, acted as "Old Mother Goose," the Toastmistress. The invocation was given by C. M. Abercrombie. Carol Gandy, seventh grade president, welcomed the eighth grade and Bill Green, acting as spokesman from the eighth grade, expressed appreciation for the dinner.

"He Holds the Whole World in His Hands" and "Twenty-Six Miles" were given as vocal numbers by Paula Helton, Vickie Mack, Annie Riley, Cecil Hamilton, Charlie Ann Favor, Betty Terry and Patricia Black.

June Thornton gave a baton twirling act and was accompanied by Richard Parks at the piano.

A quartet composed of Randy Callan, Bill Pearce, David Dunn and Mickey Pride, accompanied by Richard Parks, sang "Honeycomb" and "Sail Along Silvery Moon."

Members of the faculty presented the following awards for the school year: Most polite - Vickie Walker, Jerry Heffey; Most Popular - Joann Chapman, Bill Green; Most Athletic - Ruby Barton, Jim Jolly; Best Dressed - Patricia Black, David Dunn; All-Around Girl - Carol Gandy; All-Around Boy - Richard Hampton.

Don Earney, introduced as "Little Jack Horner," was the guest speaker of the evening. Group sings and folk games completed the evening's program.

Sixth grade girls served the following banquet dinner: Mistress Mary's Fruit Cup, Tommy Tom's Pig, Diddle Diddle Dimping Potatoes, Reddy Red's Beans, Humpty

Dumpty Eggs, Peter Piper Pickled Pickles, Hot Cross Buns, Cow Jumped Over the Moon Butter, Pumpy Put the Kettle On Tea, Heart's Delight Ice Cream and Muffin Man's Cookies.

Members of the elementary school faculty and their companions, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Don Earney, were special guests for the occasion.

Bad News For Gas Industry From FPC

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Federal Power Commission, which regulates prices of natural gas sold in interstate commerce, handed out more bad news for the natural gas industry this week.

It advised producers already harassed by unwelcome federal controls that it is preparing a policy declaration to conform with the Supreme Court's January ruling that a state may not fix minimum prices at the wellhead on gas destined for interstate sale.

The ramifications of this are endless. They could cost some producers and interstate pipelines heavily if the FPC upsets a lot of contracts based in whole or in part on now-outlawed state minimum price laws.

Sollicit Industry Views
The commission, to be fair with all, has solicited the industry's views, to be submitted by May 27. Whether these influence the wording of the declaration will not be disclosed until the commission finishes drafting it.

The Supreme Court specifically outlawed a minimum wellhead price of 11 cents per thousand cubic feet set in 1954 by the Kansas Corporation Commission. The court simply reaffirmed its June 7, 1954, ruling in the famous Phillips case that all gas, regardless of origin, is subject to FPC price controls if it is sold in interstate commerce.

The Kansas levy had been appealed by the Cities Service Gas Co., which had been paying Magnolia Petroleum Co., only 6 cents and stood to lose four million dollars through the extra charge. Other such cases are pending.

To All States
A week after the Kansas decree, the court extended it to Oklahoma and all other states with minimum price laws. The onus for carrying out the edict was thus placed on the FPC which now must incorporate it in its general rules. Hence, the advance warning to the industry.

Tim Tam Sweeps Kentucky Classic

Carrying a Texas-born jockey to first Derby victory, Calumet Farm's Tim Tam roared through the race to clinch the coveted title in Kentucky's master race. Shoemaker is Glim...
"This is the greatest moment in my life. I had it at the head of the race. I was never too worried. I looked back to see where I was. I just got through the turn."

Valenzuela Has First Derby Win

By JOHN G. DEITRICH United Press Sports Writer LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Texas-born, Mexican-raised Ismael (Milo) Valenzuela turned his biggest break into his biggest thrill Saturday when he rode Calumet Farm's Tim Tam to victory in his first Kentucky Derby ride.
Valenzuela, his wide grin a slash of white across his dirty face, turned serious for a moment during the celebration in the paddock, as his thoughts turned to Bill Hartack, the boy who would have ridden Tim Tam had he not suffered a broken leg thrown by a horse here last Saturday.

"I hated to see Willie... the way he is, crippled," Milo said. "But of course, if it had to happen," he shrugged. "Then I'm grateful I got the chance. I talked to Willie a few days ago. He wished me luck, and I know he's thrilled that I won."
Valenzuela, talking with difficulty through shouted congratulations and questions, told how he came from fifth place at the head of the stretch to win.
"I thought I was gonna get squeezed a little bit," he grinned. "I was following Eddie (Arcaro on Jewel's Reward) when some horses outside of him started moving in. I had to go to the rail inside of Eddie, and it looked tight, but we got through all right."
Milo said he went to the whip on Tim Tam at the head of the stretch. "And he got a little better then. We got through inside at the three-eighths pole."
He said, "I looked back once, looking for Silky Sullivan, but I didn't see him coming. I knew I had it won at the eighth pole, when we were running third."
The little 23-year-old jockey, who began his career riding quarter-horses in New Mexico, left no doubt what he thought of Tim Tam.

J. S. Cage Teams Win Victories
LENNINGRAD (UP)—The touring U.S. men's and women's basketball teams both scored victories in exhibition games here Saturday night, but the American men had to tally to score a narrow 76-72 win over a Russian team of Leningrad all-stars.
The U.S. women's team downed the Russian federation team, 54-44. The American girls had a 31-17 lead at halftime and won easily. Sandra Plete, Granavilla, Iowa, was high scorer with 14 points.

Thygerson Sweeps Dual Championship In State Meet

Victories Mark Undefeated Year For Pampa Trackster

Alton Thygerson, Pampa's speedy entry in the state high school track and field meet, sped to championship honors in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes in the record-studded gathering held over the week end in Austin.
In taking the dual title Thygerson clocked a dazzling 9.6 on the 100 and recorded 20.9 on the 220. He dethroned defending-champion Bert Coan of Pasadena in both races.

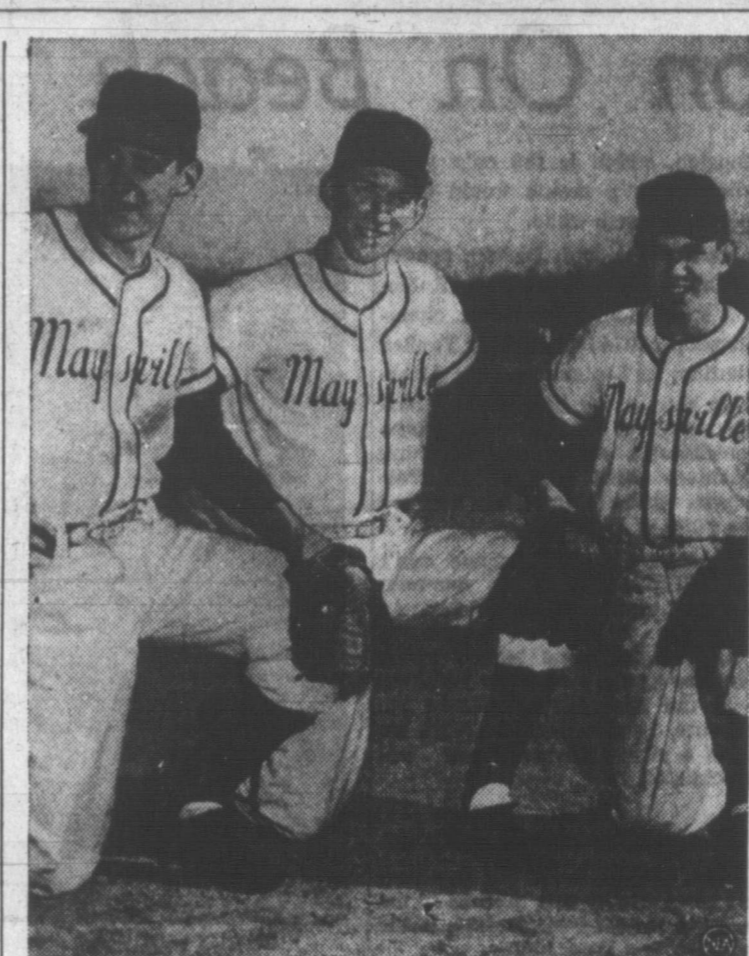

ALTON THYGERSON... two state titles

Coached by Dwaine Lyon, Thygerson capped off his senior year in Pampa without being defeated. During the season he brought home titles from all the major relays in the Panhandle and South Plains area.
In team standings the victories of Thygerson placed Pampa sixth among the Division AA teams.
The 48th annual meet saw four state records shattered and four additional division standards broken over the two-day span.
Breckenridge's foursome of Roger Gose, Robert Alaniz, Louis Houston and Julius Glosson stepped out in the 440-yard relay in a time of 42 seconds flat, tying a national high school mark set by Boys High School of Brooklyn, N. Y. in 1948.
The brilliant Breckenridge performance also eclipsed the state record of 42.2 seconds set by Fort Worth Arlington Heights in 1955. Crowd of 8,000.
A crowd of 6,000 in Memorial Stadium witnessed Andrews' capture of the Class AA crown with a speedy 3:18.2, only three-tenths of a second under the national schoolboy record, to win the mile relay.
Andrews' mile relay combination of Ronny Brice, Larry Shoemaker, R. E. Merritt and Jerry Jetton gained one-half of the West Texas team's total of 32 points, while Gladewater finished second in AA with 28 points—all scored by Tommy Minter and Breckenridge and Snyder tied for third with 25 points.
New Boston, led by versatile Sidney Garton, who set division records Friday in preliminaries in the 100 and 220-yard dashes and tied those performances again Saturday, won the Class A title with 36 points, while Wharton had 32 and Coleman 31½.
White Oak scored a double victory in the 440-yard and mile relays, with David Alexander anchoring both teams, to gain the Class B championship with 41 points. Groom had 30, Richland Springs 24, Bishop 19, Ozona 18, and Farwell 15.

Jim Bond Passes Chance To Play With Minneapolis Team

Pasadena College's most honored basketball player, all-American Jim Bond, today announced that he would pass up the opportunity to play professional ball with the Minneapolis Lakers of the Professional National Basketball League.
Bond's announcement was made at the same time as one made by PC Director of Athletics Chalmer Cartwright that confirmed earlier reports that Bond would remain at his alma mater as Assistant Athletic Director and continue his study for a career in the Christian ministry.
Both statements came on the heels of Tuesday's professional basketball draft, which saw the Minneapolis team draft Bond as their seventh choice. He was the fifth of 10 Far West cagers selected in the early rounds of the draft.
According to Cartwright's announcement, Bond will assist him with administrative details of the college's athletic program. He will enter his graduate department of religion and begin study for the MA degree.
During recent years Bond has carried on numerous series of special church meetings throughout the West. He said today that he would continue this work, particularly with young people, as much as his new duties would allow.
Along with Don Gleen and Milt Wallace, the other graduating members of Pasadena College's 1957-58 championship cage varsity, "Gentleman Jim", as Bond is known to his fans, will join Pasadena's Mirror Glaze AAU cage entry for the 1958-59 season according to present plans.
Bond, who was a member of no less than six different post season mythical teams selected by writers and coaches, this year has been an all-American three times previously—twice while still in high school and again in 1956 as a college sophomore.
He has the distinction of being the only player in the 11-year history of Redlands Invitational Basketball Tournament to make the event's all-tourney team four consecutive years. He was named its most valuable player this past year.
Other mythical teams including the quiet, but talented, Texan included the United Press (big schools) all-American, the UP all-Pacific Coast, both the Associated Press and UP Little all-American, the NAIA all-American, and the all-Southern California five.

ELBOW TROUBLE—Maysville, O., High School pitchers turned in five straight no-hit games. Tom Young, center, has three no-hit, no-run games to his credit. Bob Lawter, left, and Larry Tinkham teamed up for a fourth. After Young hurled three hitless innings in the fifth, Lawter and Tinkham completed the job. The line of major league scouts is forming.

Harvesters Fall In District Tilt To Monterey Plainsmen

The Monterey Plainsmen tripped the Pampa Harvesters 4-0 in District 3-4A baseball in Lubbock yesterday. It was Pampa's fourth district loss against three wins, dropping them to fifth place in the district.
Monterey scored all its runs in the second inning. In gaining the runs Willett singled to right with one out and Barrett singled to left. Whitaker then singled to center to score Willett, with Barrett going to second, Adams singled scoring Barrett and Whitaker went to third. Shropshire then singled scoring Whitaker and Adams went to third. Boyd flew out to right field for the second out of the inning. McEhardt hit a pop fly to shortstop Bill Brown who dropped the ball for an error allowing Adams to score but Brown recovered the ball in time to throw out Shropshire who was trying to score on the error.
Monterey pulled off three double plays and the Harvesters could never get started. They had only six hits in the ball game.

Sluggers To Compete In Hitting Contest

NEW YORK (UP)—Three leading long-ball hitters each from the New York Yankees and Milwaukee Braves will participate in a home run hitting contest prior to their May 12 benefit exhibition game at Yankee Stadium, it was announced Saturday.
Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron will compete for the Yankees and Hank Aaron, Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock will represent the Braves. Among them, the six players have hit a total of more than 1,000 major league homers.
The Yankees' share of the receipts from this game will be turned over to the benefit of sandlot baseball in New York. The Braves will contribute their share to the Jimmy Fund for children's cancer research in Boston.

Grudge Fight Between Brown And Dupes May Be Staged

By DON SMITH United Press Sports Writer HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—If a grudge fight between two men who have never met in the ring is possible, Wednesday's lightweight title bout between champion Joe Brown and Ralph Dupes should be it.
The two men, both from New Orleans, have long been at odds. Brown has wanted the big purses Dupes got, while Dupes, the No. 3 challenger to the title, has coveted the reputation Brown has enjoyed among their New Orleans followers.
They get a chance to settle their differences before television cameras Wednesday in the scheduled 15-round match, Texas' first championship fight.
A capacity crowd of 30,000 is expected for the bout, with a total gate of around $80,000 plus television money, a record gate in Texas.
From nearly all standpoints, it should be a terrific match. The two men fight with contrasting styles.
Dupes is a Fancy Dan—a jab-and-run, punch-and-go type of boxer. Brown, the champ, is a wicked counter-puncher, a man who can take his opponent out with either hand.
Brown is at his most dangerous when the pressure is on. When he's behind in points, is when he's at his best.
Dupes is not an authoritative puncher. He has always relied on his speed. Ralph has stopped only 12 men in his 69 wins, while Brown has laid out 31 of his 69 victims.
Oddsmakers have made the champion a 2-to-1 choice to retain his crown. No odds for a knockout have been quoted.

Red Sox Assign Stephen F. Austin Player To Takes Golf Championship

BOSTON (UP)—The Boston Red Sox Saturday assigned catcher Jim Pagliaroni to Memphis in the Southern Association to permit him to get needed experience.
Pagliaroni, a bonus player and native of Dearborn, Mich., came out of the Army for spring training this year and was retained by the Red Sox as "insurance" when catcher Heywood Sullivan was injured.
AUSTIN (UP)—Stephen F. Austin high school of Austin Saturday took its second straight Class AA golf championship in the 48th annual Interscholastic League meet with a 611.
Borger was second with 614 and Woodrow Wilson of Dallas third with 635.

Bolt Hangs To Lead Through Third Round Of Colonial

By ED FITTE United Press Sports Writer FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—Tempestuous Tommy Bolt kept his temper and his golf game as calm as a sphygmometer and clung tenaciously to a three-stroke lead through the third quarter of the $25,000 Colonial National invitational golf tournament with an unspectacular par 70 and a 54-hole total of 208.
Temperamental Tommy flicked in a casual birdie putt of less than a foot on the first hole after a breath taking near miss for an eagle and flubbed a four-foot putt for a bogey on the 16th while breezing to comparatively easy pars on the rest of the round for a 34-70.
That left him exactly where he was at the start of Saturday's third round—three strokes to the good.
But it was veteran Lloyd Mangrum of Apple Valley, Calif., who was his closest pursuer at this point with a 211 as Friday's challenger, Stan Leonard of Vancouver, B.C., faded a bit to wind up at 212 along with four-times champion and sentimental hometown favorite, Ben Hogan.
Bolt in Fine Form
Bolt, who said he missed "a slew of greens (actually seven) today," actually was playing fine golf since his longest putt of the round was an eight-footer on the fourth hole.
The 39-year-old Bolt, who has been in the money in 11 of the 12 tournaments up to here this year, said he had at last decided to "get serious."
"You can't win any money the other way," Bolt said. "I'm thinking better and trying to get in the hole. And, it's showing results. I don't even think about smashing clubs any more—it costs too much money ($500)."
Bolt didn't get in any serious trouble the entire sun-drenched afternoon, deciding to play it safe "until I got a little bold on the 16th and wound up with that bogey." He was over the green and had to use a six iron to go for the pin, but left it four feet short and missed the putt.
Mangrum, who had only one birdie—a five-foot putt on the 17th—and one bogey—a hooked tee shot on the 19th, said his game "started coming apart at the seams yesterday, but I got 12 hours sleep last night and got it back together again." He was even par 35-35-70 for the 7,921-yard course.
Hogan Even Par
Hogan also was even par and had a birdie and a bogey to off-

Copa Incident Made Turley Hottest Hurler In Majors

By MILTON RICHMAN United Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (UP)—It took what was called a "Copa Incident" to make test-tube hurler Bob Turley of the Yankees what he is today—the hottest pitcher in the major leagues.
Turley has three wins to his credit and a spectacular earned run mark of 0.33. The first run scored off him in 20 innings this season came when Bob Cerv clouted a homer in the second inning of Friday's game with Kansas City. Even so, Turley registered a four-hit, 8-1 victory. "It all started with that thing at the Copacabana last year," Turley explained.
"That thing" Turley referred to was a night club fracas last May 15 which resulted in the firing of six Yankee ball players who were helping Billy Martin celebrate his birthday.
Southpaw Whitey Ford, one of those fined, was slated to pitch the next night against Kansas City but Casey Stengel, commenting that "maybe Ford was a little tired from the party," switched to Turley, who had been home watching television the night of the party.

IBC Is Doing Good Job Of Keeping Patterson On Beach

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) — Another prospective opponent for Floyd Patterson was knocked out of the picture when showman Nino Valdes outbumped Mike DeJohn in Syracuse.

The International Boxing Club is doing a splendid job of seeing that there is no one around with whom Patterson can get a payday. Come to think of it, maybe that is the IBC's main idea.

After his spectacular 77-second knockout of Alex Mitoff, DeJohn, who has the recommendation of packing a punch, easily could have been built into a satisfactory challenger, but John DeJohn let his big brother sit around for six months and then he spoiled by Valdes . . . before all of 2,970 people and a $8,995.50 gate.

Even had DeJohn stood up against Valdes, the chances are that Cus D'Amato, manager of Patterson, would have disqualified him as a contender because of association. DeJohn is a stablemate of Carmen Basilio, you see, and the onion picker has been one of Jim Norris' prize meal tickets.

D'Amato insists that Patterson will fight three times this year, but spring is here and ringworms wonder what he intends to use as men in the other corner.

Houston, which is the only place where such a match would draw anything worth-while.

Meanwhile, John DeJohn confides that a third Sugar Ray Robinson-Basilio middleweight championship battle is a lock for Yankee Stadium in September. This established war in the best outdoor boxing month of the year would take considerable away from anything D'Amato could cook up for Patterson, whose idleness has reached the point of ridicule.

D'Amato's closest friends can't get his thinking in the one-man crusade against Octopus, Inc. As a matter of fact, D'Amato is guilty of the same tactics which he gave as his reason for breaking with the monopoly. Patterson opponents, is any, play ball with his hand: picked promoters or are blacklisted.

PATTERSON COULD HAVE collected $200,000 each for knocking off comparative soft touches in the two top-ranked contenders, Eddie Machen and Zora Foley.

Chicago Has First Pennant Hopes Since 1945 Title

By ED SAINSBURY
United Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (UP)—The league-leading Chicago Cubs haven't won the pennant since 1945, but the indications for success are present after 15 games this season, and Manager Bob Scheffing said today "I just hope it happens."

The Cubs, beating the defending world champion Milwaukee Braves Friday for the 2nd straight game with a 9th inning home run, now lead the major leagues in home runs, and they're winning the close ones.

The 8-7 win over the Braves, on Walt Moryn's homer into the right field stands with one out in the 9th, was the fifth one-run triumph for the club, and it followed by only one day a 3-2 decision over Milwaukee on rookie John Gory's homer, into the left field stands, with one out in the 9th.

Moryn's blow, his 2nd homer of the game, was the 28th of the season for the Cubs. Thus in 15 games, the team is averaging close to two homers per contest. This compares to the major league record of 221 homers for a season, by the New York Giants in 1956, a bare 1 1/2 a game.

"I don't think this run of homers'll keep up," Scheffing said, "but it's nice while it lasts. If we can hit more than 221 home runs, we ought to be up there in the first division someplace, if we can find anybody to roll the ball up to the plate."

The problem of throwing the ball to the plate could become more crucial, but it could be eased to Moe Drabowsky, who last year won 13 and lost 15 with a team that tied for 7th place in his first full major league season, will be ready to start next week.

Drabowsky, who missed spring training because he was in military service for a six month tour, hasn't been ready yet due to an infection. But Thursday he pitched one inning in relief and it went three up, three down on 13 pitches.

Meanwhile Scheffing has been making the most of his relief pitchers. Don Elston, who hasn't started yet this season, won his third game without a loss Friday as the Cubs' fourth pitcher. Thursday, Drabowsky was credited with the win.

THE HOOK—Casey Stengel doesn't fool around with Yankee pitchers who are not getting the other side out. Catcher Yogi Berra walks out to the mound with the boss, who stuffs his hands in his back pockets when a pitcher has had it for the day. In this case it's his ace from last year, Tom Sturdivant.

Cubs From Behind Over Braves, 8-7

By UNITED PRESS
Those startling Chicago Cubs are still at it. The National League leaders overcame a 7-0 lead against the Milwaukee Braves to win, 8-7, on a ninth inning homer by Walt Moryn Friday.

In other area major league baseball, the New York Yankees crushed the Kansas City Athletics, 8-1, Washington edged the Chicago White Sox, 3-2, and the Cincinnati Redlegs defeated St. Louis, 7-3.

The Cubs had apparently resigned themselves to some punishment following two straight wins over last year's world champions. The picture changed abruptly in the seventh inning when the Cubs staged a six-run rally, sparked by Jim Bolger's three-run homer. Moryn's ninth inning clout broke a 7-7 tie.

Bob Turley limited the Athletics to four hits, including a homer by Bob Cerv in the eighth, to give the Yankees an easy win. Tony Kubek, subbing for the injured Mickey Mantle, had three hits and Bill Skowron homered for the New Yorkers.

The powerful bat of George Crowe made the difference in the Redlegs-Cardinals match. Crowe drove six runs across, including a homer, to give Cincinnati its third straight win. Brooks Lawrence was credited with the victory while Sam Jones was tagged with his third defeat.

Thirteen White Sox batters were whiffed by Camilo Pascual's pitching, ten in the first four innings. Julio Becquer broke a 10th-inning deadlock with a sharp single that put the winning run across for Washington. It was the 10th White Sox loss in 15 starts.

Pitching vs Hitting
Brilliant pitching was the order of the day in the other American League games while other National League activity was featured by heavy slugger.

Bob Turley fired a four-hitter as the Yankees cooled off the

Giant, Indian Rookies Spur Teams To Top Season Start

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer
1958 crop of major league rookies was supposed to be one of the poorest in years but you can't prove it by the Cleveland Indians and San Francisco Giants.

Both these sixth-place finishers of 1957 are off to fine starts this season and both owe a major share of the credit to rookies. Jim (Mudcat) Grant, a big right-hander who was with San Diego last season, is the Indians' early candidate for rookie of the year honors in the American League and hard-hitting Orlando Cepeda and Bob Schmidt are playing key roles for the surprising Giants.

Grant turned in his third straight nine-inning victory Friday night as the Indians beat the Baltimore Orioles, 6-1, for their sixth victory in eight games. The win put the Indians in fourth place only two games behind the league-leading New York Yankees.

Cepeda delivered a run-scoring single that kept his average at .317 and Schmidt smashed his third homer of the season off Jack Sanford as the Giants beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-2. The victory was the Giants' 10th in 16 games and left them only a half game behind the first-place Chicago Cubs.

Pitching vs Hitting
Brilliant pitching was the order of the day in the other American League games while other National League activity was featured by heavy slugger.

Bob Turley fired a four-hitter as the Yankees cooled off the Kansas City Athletics, 8-1, Camilo Pascual struck out 13 batters to lead the Washington Senators to a 3-2, 10-inning victory over the Chicago White Sox and Dave Sliker's six-hitter enabled the Boston Red Sox to beat the Detroit Tigers, 6-0, in the other A.L. games.

In the N.L., Walt Moryn's ninth-inning homer lifted the Cubs to an 8-7 triumph over the Milwaukee Braves, George Crowe knocked in six runs as the Cincinnati Redlegs toppled the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-3, and the Los Angeles Dodgers bounced back from a 5-0 deficit to end the Pittsburgh Pirates' six-game winning streak, 9-3.

Grant, who has yielded 18 hits and four runs in his three victories, struck out three batters and walked only one. The Indians backed him with an 11-hit attack that featured a homer by Minnie Miñoso and a triple by Bobby Avila. Billy Loos lost his third straight for Baltimore.

Yields First Run
Mike McCormick, young bonus lefty, received credit for the Giants' triumph although he needed Marv Grissom's help in the ninth. Sanford, N.L. rookie of the year in 1957, now stands 2-2 for this season.

Turley, who had pitched two previous shutouts, yielded his first run of the year on Bob Cerv's eighth homer but otherwise mowed down the Athletics with ease. Tony Kubek, filling in for the injured Mickey Mantle, had three hits and Bill Skowron homered for the Yankees.

Pascual struck out 10 batters in the first four innings and wound up with his first win when Julio Becquer, batting for the Cuban pitcher, singled home the winning run, two out in the 10th. Rocky Bridges, who doubled with one out, tallied the run that dealt the White Sox their 10th loss in 15 games and fifth by a one-run margin. Pascual's strikeout total was one short of Walter Johnson's club record.

Sliker did not allow a Tiger to reach third base as he registered his third win for the Red Sox. Pete Runnels had three hits and Al Lad ($12.30) and Sir Robby Jimmy Piersall two to lead the Red Sox' attack on 20-game winner Jim Bunning, who stands 1-3 for the current campaign.

Biggest For Cubs
The Cubs pulled out their most sensational victory of the season after tying the score with a six-run rally in the seventh inning. Jim Bolger smashed a three-run homer during the big frame which routed Gene Conley. Don Elston, fourth Cub pitcher, gained his third win in relief.

Crowe hammered out two singles and a homer to spark the Redlegs to their third win in a row. Brooks Lawrence went 8 1-3 innings and Hal Jeffcoat finished up for Cincinnati while Sam Jones suffered his third loss. The Cardinals have lost four straight, seven out of eight and 11 of 14 games.

Relief ace Clem Labine permitted only one walk and no hits over the last 3 1-3 innings for the Dodgers, who were rocked by the five-run Pittsburgh rally in the second inning. The Dodgers, however, tallied six runs to go ahead in the fourth. Don Zimmer led the Los Angeles attack with three hits, three runs batted in and two runs scored.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UP)—Former heavyweight champion Edward Charles' comeback bid was thwarted Friday when an intended opponent for his first bout in several years withdrew. However, Tom Tannas, Charles' manager, said he will line up another opponent. Tannas did not reveal the identity of Charles' opponent.

PATTY IN DOUBLES WIN
PARIS, France (UP)—Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris and former Wimbledon champion Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt teamed to win the doubles title in the Paris International tennis tournament Friday, defeating the team of Paul Remy and Jean-Noel Rida of France, 6-3, 6-4, 7-5.

RIDES THREE WINNERS
NEW YORK (UP)—William Peake, a newcomer to the New York circuit, booted home three winners at Jamaica Friday for his best riding effort here. Peake scored on Blue Rock ($35.50), So-Pete Runnels had three hits and Al Lad ($12.30) and Sir Robby Jimmy Piersall two to lead the

GOLD PRINT

It would take at least a thousand adjectives to describe this dynamic new CAMBODIA print. It's from Da Vinci's special group of new designs... the ultimate in hand-screened work. Plus needle work on collar and notched sleeve. It features an exciting gold and black print on lustrous Reeves Rebound, a fine Pima cotton with a drip-dry finish. The collar is lined with Pellon for permanent shape retention washing after washing. Colors: bamboo, maize, tan, blue, white, pearl, grey... all with gold and black print. S, M, L, XL.

WALK TALL

GOOD POSTURE is more than standing or sitting straight. It is that position of the body in which all of its parts are working effectively and with proper balance, ease, and control. Good Posture is important. The internal organs have plenty of room and nerves are free from pressure at the spine when the body has good posture. Lungs, heart and digestive organs function better when they have room. You feel better.

DOUBLE JEOPARDY—Stan Lopata doesn't have to worry about his eyes as the picture showing two umpires behind the Philadelphia catcher—one normal and one half size—might indicate. It just happens to be an unusual double exposure. The standard-sized man in blue is Hal Dixon, the seemingly midget second base arbiter Jocko Conlan, league's senior.

Ol' Archie Wins Again

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore left his equine friend behind today to go fishin' on his own for another German scalp. Old Arch, who seems to ripen with age estimated at from 40 to 44 and pick 'em disillusioned 25-year-old German heavyweight Willi Besmanoff Friday night, but wanted to stay behind in Derbytown to watch his Kentucky Derby by pick 'em Fishin' run. He had to leave for Vancouver, British Columbia, however, for a May 9 fight. Arch, who has won them all since losing to heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson in 1956, took the steam out of young Besmanoff about the third round with wicked left hooks and stinging rights to grab a close but clear-cut decision. Only Referee Dan Leslie disagreed with the two judges and the majority of ringside observers who gave the nod to Moore. "We got Charley Norkus lined up after we fight this German boy in Vancouver-what's his name," Moore said. No one seemed to remember the fighter's name. A crowd of 4,500 watched Moore stagger Besmanoff twice but fail to floor him in the third round of the nationally televised bout.

By S. V. WHITEHORN
According to Game Warden Woody Pond, the bass and crappie are biting at Buffalo Lake but not too vigorously. Warden Pond also said that the channel cat haven't started to bite at this time. The warden said that he would call me when they did start hitting. I am just waiting for that time to spend a day of channel catfishing. For those who are in the know, it is usually simple to catch a daily limit of these most choice fish if you have the right kind of bait. This right kind of bait consists of a specially prepared conglomeration made from dried minnows, oil of anise, oil of rosen and banana oil. Most fishermen below the caprock and on south to Abilene are familiar with this preparation. A few years back I was bank fishing at Lake Ft. Phantom Hill and was using shrimp, minnows and stench bait to no avail. A short distance down the bank there was a couple who spent most of their time pulling out channel catfish that ran from one to four pounds. I kept moving down the bank until I finally was sitting next to the man. I asked what kind of bait he was using. He told me and also gave me the address of the manufacturer but wouldn't spare me any of the bait. After a while he departed to Abilene with a tow-sack of the larger fish but in the meantime he had dropped a small particle of the precious bait on the ground. After he left I picked up the piece, mixed it in with some of my bait and almost landed a nice channel cat. Up until this time I hadn't had so much as a nibble on my line. Later I ordered a quart of the bait from Quana, Texas. There are not many people who prepare this bait for commercial use but it can be purchased from some of the bait dealers at Quana. Ochiltree County's Lake Fryer For months it has been mentioned that it was believed that this lake would have its official opening on May 1. However, it was learned that the official opening will be June 1. Picnic grounds are available, plus boating facilities at this time. During the winter there were very few quail, either blues or hobs noticed. Now they are appearing all over the Panhandle. They are paired off and have moved out from the winter range to the nesting sites. Weldon Fromm, Game Warden at Matador, said there are quail all over the countryside in that area. Things You May Not Know Using their poison to kill food, rattlesnakes will not attack a man unprovoked, and will very often crawl rather than chase a human encounter. The porcupine's quill is actually a hollow hair, three inches in length or longer. The copperhead snake is also known as highland moccasin, chunkhead, rattlesnake pilot, death adder, poplar leaf, red oak, white oak, pilot and copper snake. Ballimore Clips By Indians

NEW YORK (UP)—The Kansas City Athletics Saturday sold right-handed pitcher Glenn Cox outright to the Buffalo Bisons of the International League. Cox, 26, won 12 games and lost 5 for Buffalo last season. He made two relief appearances for the A's this season with no decisions.

Phillies Defeat Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Dick Farrell, who saved a game for Curt Simmons earlier this week, did it again Saturday by coming on in the ninth inning and subduing a San Francisco Giant rally to assure the Philadelphia Phillies a 4-2 victory. The big right-hander took over after Daryl Spencer of the Giants opened the ninth with a single and went to third on a double by Bob Schmidt. That was all for Simmons and Farrell then gave up a pinch single to Whitey Lockman which drove in one run but then slammed the gate. Farrell got pinch hitter Ray Jablonski to fly out, fanned pinch hitter Jim King and retired Jim Finigan on a fly to right which assured Simmons' second victory of the season against as many losses. weights of half a ton or more, he is capable of moving across the plains at speeds up to 40 miles an hour.

Speculation Higher On Dodger Trade

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Speculation that the Los Angeles Dodgers were ready to enter into a trade for right-hand hitting strength and—or another catcher—grew Saturday when Dodger Vice President and General Manager E. J. (Buzie) Bavasi met with a Philadelphia club official. Bavasi and Roy Haney, Philadelphia general manager, sat together in the Dodger executive's box prior to the Los Angeles game with Pittsburgh. The Phillies began a series here Sunday. The Dodgers were understood interested in Stan Lopata, the veteran Philadelphia catcher. It's been no secret that the Dodgers have been looking for a first-line catcher since Roy Campanella was injured before the season started. Meanwhile, Bavasi was also reported to have been in touch with the St. Louis Cardinals, possibly concerning a trade involving outfielders Wally Moon and Ken Boyer. Boyer also is capable of playing third. The trade bait offered by the Dodgers wasn't immediately learned. However, it was understood the Dodgers were ready to give up third baseman Randy Jackson and possibly a catcher—veteran Rube Walker or rookie Joe Pignatano. Right-hand hitting strength is needed in the Coliseum, where

A's Sell Cox To Bisons

BALTIMORE, Md. (UP)—Manager Bobby Bragan's strategy of shifting outfielders backfired Saturday when Brooks Robinson's sacrifice fly drove in the winning run from third base in the 13th inning and gave the Baltimore Orioles a 3-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Pirates Down Dodgers, 3-1

LOS ANGELES (UP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers' infamous China wall was their undoing Saturday as Pittsburgh poured three home runs over the high left field screen to defeat Los Angeles, 3-1, and take the series, four games to one. The home run explosion ended a one-day drought over the left field fence. The Dodgers' lone score also was a homer, over the fence at the 325-foot mark, by third baseman Randy Jackson in the seventh inning. Saturday's victory was the fourth of the season against no losses for Pittsburgh ace Bob Friend. However, the "unfriendly" Friend was not around to see the finish. He was pulled in the seventh inning after Jackson's home run followed by Don Zimmer's blast down the left field line—over the fence but just foul.

Whammy Is Holding Temper

By UNITED PRESS
Whammy Douglas, a temperamental right-hander who lost his control when promoted to the parent Pittsburgh Pirates last season, is determined it won't happen again if he gets another chance. The 23-year-old native of Seapahaw, N. C., registered his second win of the young International League season Friday night when he set the Buffalo Bisons down on just three hits for a 2-1 Columbus victory. After compiling a 10-10 record with the Jets last year with only 36 bases on balls in 133 innings, Whammy lost his "stuff" with the Pirates and was sent back this season to regain his control. The win was the Jets' eighth against seven losses and left them in third place, three games behind the league-leading Montreal Royals, who dropped an 11-inning 8-7 decision to the Miami

Salesman In Good Use Of Waste Time

By DOC QUIGG

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—How do you spend your waste time—the time you are forced to waste while doing your regular job? Maybe we could all take a lesson from David Delman.

Delman is a salesman. He sells ladies' panties. He works for a pantie house in Philadelphia, and for eight years he's been on the road selling to lingerie buyers, big and little stores, in the East. Something about the job made him think of the old saying among GI's (he was one) in World War II: "In the army, it's hurry up and wait." As he explains it:

"I thought of it many times—the pretty close parallel between the Army and the lingerie business. You hurry up, break your neck, to get someplace and then wait. I decided to do something with the wasted wait-time. I started writing, whenever I got a free minute.

Wrote Everywhere
"I wrote on the backs of order blanks, longhand—in trains, planes, hotel and motel rooms, and waiting outside buyers' offices. When I wasn't composing, I would copy from the order blanks into a notebook I carried with me.

The product of this waste-time energy has been three novels. The first two never got published. One was historical, the other about newspaper life (he once was a sports editor in Norristown, Pa.)

Then he decided to write about something he really knew about, from the hem up to the elastic. His novel, "The Hard Sell," about a pantie salesman, his wares, woes and wiles, has just been published (by Julian Messner, Inc. New York).

Delman figures about half of this book was set down while waiting in—or traveling between, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Scranton, and southern New Jersey. Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Scranton, and southern New Jersey during 10 months.

Lighter Side Of The News

DENVER (UP)—Police today held a youth who admitted stealing cars in the morning to get to school across town, then stealing others to get back home at night.

The high school student told authorities he had a car of his own but never had enough money to buy gas.

FUCHU, Japan (UP)—Racing fans reacted violently at what they considered a false start Sunday when the favored horse got off 100 yards behind the others. The fans surged onto Fuchu track and started a sit-down strike, preventing further racing. It took 200 policemen to get them off.

LONDON (UP)—Puzzled rail officials wondered today how a freight car loaded with Christmas parcels got onto a remote siding last December and stayed there four months.

The car was part of a train that left Manchester Dec. 23. It was found recently on a siding at Leeds, after the post office paid out hundreds of claims on lost packages.

Chicago (UP)—Brookfield zoo officials thought the arrival of a male monkey from Africa would be just the spring tonic for two sad-faced female monkeys. But the new arrival's thoughts did not lightly turn, so the zoo now has three sad-faced monkeys.

TOUGH ACT TO FOLLOW—
Mrs. Rudd Brown, granddaughter of the silver-tongued boy orator William Jennings Bryan, says she will run for Congress despite the fact that public speaking "scared the daylights out of me." Mrs. Brown, who was only four years old when her famous grandfather died, is a Democratic candidate for Congress from California.

"Learning To Live
With Music"

SOPHISTIQUETTES

As a contribution to the annual observance of Music Week, the Sophistiquettes, a musical organization composed of Junior and High School students of Mrs. Mae Foreman Carr shown in the center and upper left, pictures, will present a program of ensemble music in the White Deer High School auditorium on Monday evening at eight o'clock.

Miss Peggy O'Neal, former pupil of Mrs. Carr, now majoring in music at West Texas State Teacher's College, will be guest pianist, and will play Sonata Op. 10 No. 1, First Movement and Chopin's "The Back Key Etude." Mrs. Carr, Sophistiquettes sponsor and instructor for the study club, will join Miss O'Neal in a presentation of Mozart's "Overture to the Marriage of Figaro."

One of the highlights of the program will be the twelve-member ensemble playing simultaneously upon twelve pianos.

QUARTETTE RECITAL

This afternoon at four o'clock in the Church of the Brethren, 600 N. Frost, Pampa Music Teacher's Association will present a Recital of Quartettes.

Four quartettes, which have been organized among the piano teachers during the past year, will present two numbers each of varied compositions.

Shown in the lower left, lower right, and upper right are quartette members, who will play in the recitals.

Assisting with several vocal selections will be a local Barbershop Quartette, composed of Mack Hiatt, Bunny Schultz, E. O. Wedgeworth and Dude Balthrope.

Mrs. Lois Fagan is president of the Pampa Music Teacher's Association. The public is most cordially invited to attend this afternoon at four o'clock in the Church of the Brethren.

MAYTIME — In the Recital of Quartettes this afternoon, Mrs. Dick Land, Mrs. David Mills, Mrs. Lois Fagan and Mrs. Lily Hartsfield, left to right, will play Maytime Reverie by Breau-Samuelsen and Rachmaninoff's Prelude in G Minor.

COUNTRY GARDENS — Country Gardens by Granger and the Liszt Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2 will be the two numbers to be presented by the group above in the Recital of Quartettes to be presented this afternoon in the Church of the Brethren. Members of this quartette are, left front, Mrs. H. A. Yoder and back left, Mrs. Lois Fagan; right front, Mrs. W. H. Fuller, back right, Mrs. W. M. Cooper.

YOU and YOUR HOME by Jack Foster

WAYS WITH WINDOWS

Much of the success of a room—any room—depends to a large extent on what is done with the windows. Window treatments should be planned to control daylight and glare, to give privacy when needed, and to enhance the overall decorative scheme of the room. It goes without saying that they must conform to the style of the room and its furnishings. Regardless of the style of your room—Modern, Traditional or Provincial—the trend today in window treatments is toward a look of openness and a spacious feeling. As a nation we have the reputation of being outdoor lovers, and as a result we treat our windows in a manner that will admit as much of the outdoors as possible into our rooms. The attractive window treatment shown in the sketch above was planned to take advantage of the view. The room, being Provincial in style, called for rather homespun fabric to fit the style. Heavy, closely-woven cotton crash in natural color was used generously to give a rich effect. Gathered valances in bright colored cotton print, Note how the arrangement of the long low table flanked at ends of comfortable lounge chairs draws window treatment and furniture into one planned unit and makes this Provincial room an expression of today's living. Whether your home is new or old, large or small, Contemporary or Provincial, our trained decorators can tell you how to give it added charm with the right window treatments. You are most welcome to come in and discuss your furnishing and decorating problems—anytime.

RECENT BRIDE

Mrs. Robert Lee Stubbs

Miss Rebecca Wren Barker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barker, McLean, became the bride of Robert Lee Stubbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Stubbs, McLean, on April 18 at 8 p.m. in the Presbyterian Manse with Rev. Gerald Hill performing the single-ring ceremony. Miss Kay Stubbs and Richard Brown were the couple's attendants. A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents immediately following the exchange of vows with Mrs. Raymond Guyton and Miss Sammie Wood presiding at the bride's table. Mrs. Stubbs was graduated from McLean High School and is employed by the County Clerk's office, Pampa. Mr. Stubbs was graduated from McLean High; attended Texas Technological College and is now serving in the US Army in Camp Carson, Colo. (Photo, Koen Studio)

Christian Women's Fellowship Holds Mother Daughter Banquet In Church

The Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church held its annual Mother Daughter banquet on Thursday evening in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Tables were decorated with Spring flowers and Maypoles. Mrs. W. G. Kinser gave the invocation. Following the banquet, a program was given by the Cuppy Group, patterned after the TV program, "It Could Be You," with Mrs. H. L. Ledrick as moderator. Participating on the program were Meses. John Zuerker, Glenn Nickols, Dale Pinson, Jim Goff, T. J. Wright, B. R. Shultz, Tom Eckerd, Glenn Maxey, E. E. Shultz, Norma Schale, Dick Crews, Lloyd Laramore, R. F. Forsythe, Estella Bastin, Jim Webb and daughter, Pam. On a fashion discussion panel were Meses. R. L. Parsley, Leland Finney and John Clark. Called to the state for a reunion quiz were Meses. John Woods, James Washington and W. G. Kinser with Mrs. Woods being surprised by the appearance of her mother, Mrs. F. S. Parker of Miami. Jenny Ledrick recited the poem, "Me Mudder." Mrs. Lloyd Kuntz's, whose name was drawn as the lucky mother of the evening, received a pink straw-flower corsage. Devotional was given by Mrs. Leland Finney. Approximately 100 members and guests attended. Preceding the banquet, the CWF executive committee met with Mrs. Jim Cunningham, president, presiding and opening the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Cunningham announced that the morning group had adopted the name "McGaugh Group" and will meet next with Mrs. Leland Finney, 414 N. Crest, on May 13 at 9 a.m. Members were reminded of the District CWF workshop to be held in the church on May 8 with registration beginning at 8:45 a.m. Coffee and rolls will be served. Luncheon will be served by ladies of the church between 12:45 and 1:45 p.m. All leaders and officers are urged to attend the workshop. A nursery will be provided. It was announced that the Cherry Homes group will have charge of the bulletin board in the Fellowship Hall during May and June; and that the Sharp Group will have the May CWF program with Mrs. Earl Cleveland of Phillips speaking on the topic, "Japan." Meeting closed with the CWF benediction.

Hobby Club Meets With Mrs. Auldridge

(Special to The News)
LEFORS — The Hobby Club met recently with Mrs. E. R. Auldridge for an all-day meeting and luncheon.

The afternoon was spent doing needlework. It was announced that Mrs. Jack Dolan will be hostess to the group on May 9, in her home.

One guest, Mrs. J. A. Davis, was present and the following members: Mmes. L. H. Berryman, A. T. Cobb, G. O. Carruth, George Delver, Jennie White, Jack Dolan and L. R. Spence.

DISWASHING HINT

Organized way to wash dishes is to brush food from plates before stacking them in hot, soapy water. This task is lightning quick if you simply pick up food particles with paper toweling or the Kleenex table napkins you used at the table.

MATCH TISSUE TO DECOR

Choose your toilet tissue to match your bathroom decor.

It's possible now. Makers of Delsey, one of the better known tissues, offer a selection of four colors — white, pink, yellow and aqua — to match or blend effectively with any bathroom color scheme.

CANDY COLE Mrs. Perkins To Present Students

Mrs. Bob Perkins will present her piano pupils in a formal recital this afternoon at two o'clock in the Church of the Brethren.

All students, who participated in the National Guild Piano auditions, will receive certificates and pinks. Other awards will be given to the honor class-group of the year; to the student with the most memorized pieces; and to the student who has maintained the required daily practice for the entire year. Participating in the recital are Bethalea Stubbe, Gloria Bearden, Candy and Donna Cole, Donna Gene Perkins, Monty and Judy Gordon, Donna Rae Flynt, Cynthia Ann Thomas, Mary Goodwin, Kenneth Lemons, Lynda Colville, Tana McClellan, Juanita Colville, Jackie Young, Wayne Lemons, Kay Lynn Brooks, Suzanna Johnson, Paula Kay Ratliff, Wanda and Patsy Moore, and Vickie Taylor. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Reception Fetes Mrs. Skonberg

Mrs. H. A. Yoder entertained in her home, 1215 Williston, with a reception honoring Mrs. Madelon Skonberg, Chicago, who has been in Pampa for the past eight days as adjudicator for the National Piano Playing Audition, which just concluded on Tuesday.

Two quartette numbers, which will be presented this afternoon in the Music Teacher's Quartette Recital, were presented. Playing Country Gardens by Grainger and the Liszt Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2 were Mmes. Lois Fagan, W. M. Cooper, W. H. Fuller and Mrs. Yoder.

During the social hour, Mrs. Yoder served punch and cookies from a table decorated with purple and yellow iris flanked with yellow tapers.

Guests present in addition to those mentioned above were, Mm Dick Land, Virginia Alleman, Bob Perkins, F. E. Rodgers of McLean, Irvin Cole and Miss Eloise Lane.

National Piano Auditions, which have been in progress in Pampa in the First Methodist Church since April 21 closed Tuesday. From Pampa, Mrs. Skonberg went to Amarillo for a two-week period, where she will serve as judge for the auditions being held there.

A total of 174 students from Pampa, McLean, White Deer and Panhandle were heard in the auditions here. They were students of Mmes. W. M. Cooper, Dick Land, Lois Fagan, Bob Perkins, H. A. Yoder, Sister Mary Catherine and Bill Haley; Mrs. Willie Boyett and Mrs. F. E. Rodgers, McLean, and Mrs. Naylor of Panhandle.

TRIM SHOE, HAT BOXES

Pretty storage boxes for your winter hats and shoes can be created for a bedroom closet in unexpected ways. One easy method is to apply a decorative covering to old shoe and hat boxes that harmonize with the bedroom color scheme. A simple material to apply, because of its adhesive backing, is a plastic coated material called Marvalon. It comes in many colors and patterns to blend with any period or room.

Don't Let Carpet Cleaning Floor You

Now you can clean all types of wall-to-wall carpets quickly and easily with the new Blue Luster carpet, and upholstery cleaner. This very gentle foam cleaner is brushed into the carpet with long handle brush without sogging or matting, leaving the pile open and lofty. Original colors spring out. Blue Luster removes spots or like magic. Blue Luster removes traffic paths in a jiffy. Works beautifully on upholstery too. One half gallon of Blue Luster concentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.

Peg O' Pampa

ANY TIME IS A PERFECT time for a party... but it seems this week was especially designed for the "most-fun" parties... everyone is still talking about the hilarious "Roaring Twenties" dance given last week end in the Country Club... some of the costumes had been rented from a costume company in Lubbock and some of them were of original creation... Kitty Key was the cutest Flapper in a dress she had borrowed from Edwina Boyd... it was completely twenty-ish, even to the "headache" band she wore around her head adorned with a clip... Guests, attempting to enter the Country Club by their accustomed route of the front door... were asked to "try the back door"... Frank Smith... who squired his wife, Mildred, Chris Schneider, and Claudine Vail, because Bob was out of town, made a grand entrance... Frank, by the way, wore Clyde Fatheree's wedding suit... Ethel Clay was Belle of the Ball in a flaming red, knee-length dress made of rows and rows of string fringe... she wore a large spit (pardon the word) curl right in the middle of her forehead... there were those that thought she looked like Theda Bara... and she won first prize... Donna Jo Evans was a "shades of the twenties" dream in a dress we heard had belonged to Mrs. Lovett... to set the mood before dinner, a colored pianist played piano selections in the lounge... everything from ragtime to the blues... another gay party was given this week for Jerry Adamson... who left Thursday for Paris, France... he is an engineer for Schlumberger and is being transferred to South America... he must report to their over-seas office in Paris first, though... which raises an interesting question... Jerry is a tall, handsome, blonde, blue-eyed Bachelor... how did he escape our Pampa Belles?... but then these bachelors can be pretty, pretty cagey creatures... when they put their minds to it... as a for instance, Charles Cullin... Paul and Gene Chance, just to name a few...

MAY-TIME... Norma Fatheree, Addie Hopkins and Darleen Vanderberg were hostess to a series of three May-Day bridge luncheons in Darleen's home this week... they gave one party on Tuesday, another on Wednesday, and wound up the series on Thursday... decorations followed a May-Day motif with pastel-colored May-Poles encircled with flowers centering each bridge table... the buffet-style table was centered with a huge May-Pole and floral arrangement... Did you know that Ted Hicks had her hair dyed blonde before she took off with the Doctor for a 16-day cruise in the Caribbean... their itinerary includes Jamaica, the Dominican Republic, Trinidad, Caracas, La Guairra, Puerto Cabello and Guanta, all in Venezuela... believe their sailing date was Saturday... Ben Guill and C. P. Buckler are also among those most fortunate ones who are Hawaiian visitors these days... and say, we didn't see them, but we heard that Kitty Veale and Harlene Rose's smiling faces were seen early, early Wednesday morning, smiling through the rain, towards the TV cameras of Dave Garroway's "Today Show" in New York City... Kitty and Harlene with their husbands are off on a flying trip to the Bermudas... oh, me... wonder if the Library has any good books on "Traveling in Foreign Lands"... at least we can read all about it!

FRIENDS OF Ernie and Betty Bantzke are so sorry to learn that they are moving away... way off to Fort Worth... they have made themselves so much a part of the community during their residence here... in St. Paul Methodist Church work and in the Boy Scouts... and auburn-haired, brown-eyed Betty, with her vivacious personality, has been pretty busy, too, with their one-year-old doll, Kristi Lynn... everyone hates to see them leave... besides being Nice People, they're good bridge players... imagine Pampa will always have a soft spot in their hearts, though, for Kristi was born here just about a year ago now... a change of season always brings out a rash of pretty hats and we've been seeing a lot of pretty ones around town... at church, luncheons, teas, bridge parties... but this week saw a pretty important hat, figuratively speaking, tossed into the political ring when John Campbell announced his candidacy for state representative from this district... we can't think of anyone who knows and loves this area better than Johnny... nor anyone who has worked as tirelessly in civic endeavors... so here's a wish for a successful campaign.

IN-BETWEEN CLOUDY SPELLS... so many people have been working in their yards this week... Uncle Billy Frost was out one afternoon de-weeding or de-dandelioning his front lawn... Jerry Torvie is mowing his lawn already and Bob Curry was setting out some petunia plants... and Lois Eller was doing a bit of raking... and Francis Noblitt was watering some flower-beds... we absolutely drool at the sight of the brand-new lawn of Ed and Aurelia Cleveland... we'll vow he didn't scatter those grass seeds as he planted them... but rather took each individual seed and carefully tucked it in the ground... fraction of an inch at a time... it is that even and thick... we also suspect he has a magic formula... outside of the hard work it takes to get a new lawn started... looks like Bill and Eleanor Waggoner are "a-fixin'" to get ready to move into their new home out on Duncan this week... and knowing Eleanor's artistic ability, we know it will be a lovely place... wonder if Iris Lee Page has her doll-house Spring cleaning finished yet... we heard that a group of older girls in the neighborhood, Karen and Kerrick Warner, were over giving her a helping hand one day recently... add Lena Pearl Hobbs to the list of proud grandmothers... she, with the parents the R. J. Sailors, Jr., helped to welcome Mary Lea into the world this week... you will probably read all about it in the newspapers but this is National Music week... and since Pampa is one little city that keeps up with national trends, two very fine musical groups are presenting programs in observance of this 31st annual week... a Piano Quartette Recital will be given this afternoon at four in the Church of the Brethren by a group known as the Piano Teacher's Ass'n... Mrs. Lois Fagan is president of the group... and a fine program is being planned... then tomorrow night in the White Deer school auditorium, a group of young pianists, The Sophistiquettes, which are sponsored and directed by Mrs. Mae Foreman Carr, will present a concert of piano selections... twelve girls in formal dress will play simultaneously upon 12 pianos... just imagine the beauty of it... these two larger programs are in addition to the student recitals to be given this week... Dianne Zachry will be presented Friday evening in an individual recital... all of which is in keeping with the national music slogan, "Learning to live with music."

OUR LITTLE MISS PEG is responsible for the bit of humor we'd like to inject this week... we were discussing originating a Peg Family Coat of Arms and had about finally decided upon a bag of golf clubs criss-crossed with the lawn mower against a background of fanned-out bridge hand, when little Miss Peg burst upon the scene with the question "Do you all know what has four legs and walks and is made of cement?"... we didn't... "Why, a cat, of course!"... "But a cat isn't made of cement!"... "I know it," she flipped, "I just put that in to make it hard."

This younger generation!
Peg.

Workshop-Banquet Held By Altrusans

A workshop program and a banquet were given in a combined meeting of Pampa, Amarillo and Borger Altrusa Clubs on Monday evening in the First Methodist Church. As members gathered for the workshop at 5:30, they were greeted by Mrs. Irl Smith, Louise Sewell, Luther Pierson and Miss Ila Pool, who served a tea-time snack of apple juice punch and finger sandwiches. Mrs. F. M. Foster the registrar. Participating in the workshop program were Mrs. Edith DeBusk, Altrusa governor, who led the officer's orientation course; Mrs. Ruby Smith, Amarillo Club president, on the subject program coordination; Mrs. Joella Butler, first vice governor of Altrusa on Finance; Mrs. Ruby Coffee, immediate past president of the Borger Club, on Membership. The music of Mrs. Mae Foreman Carr welcomed members and guests into the banquet room at 7 p.m. Invocation was given by Mrs. Francis Love, Borger Club president. Welcome was extended by Mrs. Jack P. Foster, local Altrusa president. Mrs. Lillian Adkins, Borger, introduced Mrs. DeBusk, guest speaker, whose topic was "In Name Only." During the evening, Altrusa Views, the club's monthly newspaper compiled by Mrs. W. A. Spoonmore, Mrs. Ray E. Wilson, and Miss Ola Gregory, was distributed. The Altrusa Benediction repeated in unison concluded the banquet. The expression, "cutting the Gordian knot" means solving a hard problem with an unexpected, quick trick.

Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority District Ten Meeting Convenes For Election

District 10 of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority held its spring meeting in Borger recently with Delta Upsilon Chapter of ESA as hostess.

Registration was held at 10 a.m. with representatives from the chapters in Silvertown, Tullia, Pampa, Amarillo and Borger.

A coffee was held in the Borger Hotel A&B parlors with Mes. Elizabeth Clarke, Flora Cox and Nancy Hudson in charge. A Spring motif was carried out in the decorations with Spring flowers and sparkling butterflies. Mrs. Cox presided at the silver coffee service.

Luncheon was served at noon in the ballroom with Mrs. Maxine Rhode giving the invocation. Welcome was extended by Mrs. Inez Eacoe, president of the hostess chapter.

Following luncheon, entertainment was provided by the Borger High School Girls' sextet; dance numbers by Kathy Millard, Julia Black and Cathy Rice. The book, "Bon Voyage," was reviewed by Mrs. Maxine Hertel, Borger chapter member.

The business meeting was held in the ballroom with Mrs. Bill Ragdale, Pampa, district president, presiding and opening the meeting with prayer.

During the meeting, reports were given from various committees and delegates to the state convention to be held the latter part of May in Brownsville were named.

Election of officers for 1958-59 was conducted with the following elected: Mes. Taffey Emmerson, Amarillo, president; Joyce Measles, Tullia, vice president; Margaret Weidling, Borger, recording secretary; Mary Burgess, Tullia, treasurer; Bonnie May, Silvertown, coordinator.

Out-going officers from Pampa are Mes. Iris Ragdale, president; Margaret Payne, corresponding secretary and Audrey Robinson, coordinator.

New officers were installed by Mrs. Willomay Wicker, Amarillo, past-president of District Ten, in a candlelighted ceremony with each incoming and outgoing officer presented with a yellow rosebud corsage.

It was announced that the next meeting for District Ten will be held in Tullia in October.

"Now, with our steaks, salads, green beans and cake (Lou baked it in our electric oven this morning), we are ready to settle down and enjoy our meal, along with our 'men talk.' With Roger and Doug, that's football—with Warner, cowboys and TV."

Get free certificate for two bug lamps just for watching an electric range demonstration at your Reddy Kilowatt dealer store. Yellow bug lamps, which fit ordinary sockets, eliminate most of the light that insects see, yet provide a soft, comfortable light for outdoor living.

says CARL MCKINNON
GUYMON, OKLAHOMA

Mr. McKinnon says, "Cooking electrically is so easy for even inexperienced cooks like me. I never thought I would actually enjoy preparing dinner for the boys while Lou, my wife, is not at home. Now, when she goes to her church and social affairs, the McKinnon men take to the kitchen. Roger helps with the salad, Doug helps set the table, and Warner, like most four-year-olds, just does a little bit of nothing. Although we're having steaks tonight, the boys ordinarily vote for hot dogs or hamburgers—regardless, our electric grill does a wonderful job, no matter the menu."

The Common Exalted

It is still true, it always will be true, that the biggest rewards are given to the uncommon man.

Yet this is an age for mediocrity. By means of politics, we have endeavored to make the world over in favor of the common man. Never was commonness held in such veneration. Our common requirement for food, clothing and shelter, has brought government into a hundred avenues of action. Commonness has been encouraged by that process.

Yet, people actually do not wish commonness. They tend to look always toward the uncommon person. They want their ideals made manifest in a sort of timelessness. They desire better than common food, better than common shelter, better than common clothing. They want superior doctors and teachers and preachers. They want superior authors and actors and accountants. Always they seek the uncommon, the exceptional, the unique.

The trouble is that so many people fail to recognize and develop their own uncommon natures. Rather, they tend to look to others for superiority and are apt to content themselves with less than their own ultimates.

So many young people of our acquaintance tell us they do not want to be rich, they just want enough so they can get along comfortably. They do not want exceptional jobs demanding exceptional ability. They wish security. And to get that security they look to uncommonness in others so that they themselves do not have to make such a major effort.

They wish security. And to get that security they look to uncommonness in others so that they themselves do not have to make such a major effort.

What must be understood is that the attainment of uncommon virtues is worth the price that such attainments cost, however much it may be. The disciplines which are necessary for all progress, while costly, are nonetheless of far greater value than a lack of those disciplines.

Dr. Harold C. Case, president of Boston University, gave an inspiring address in which he emphasized the great drive people have toward uncommon goals. He said: "There are five uncommon characteristics to be cherished and nurtured and bred for the sake of the timeless in the midst of the timely."

These five uncommon characteristics he listed as: 1. Intelligence. 2. The ability to take it. 3. Energy. 4. Charm. 5. Responsibility.

"No premium can be placed upon stupidity in our modern life....

"Over the entrance to every life is the sign 'danger.' The common person knows that every situation wears a veiled outcome. There are no advance guarantees. We must strive before we know the outcome. So, we must ask, 'What ends are worth what risk?' having decided that question, we are obligated to take the risk boldly.

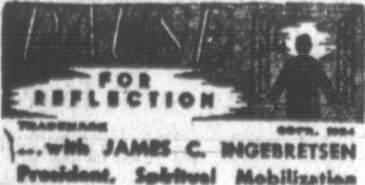

"Uncommon peoplework, make love, strive, play, speak and pray harder than ordinary mortals. Their sheer vitality often carries the day. They move over and beyond passive resistance or indolence; and, by the power of their mental and spiritual energy, they win the argument....

"Many a cause is won by the ability to put it into a setting in which the obvious choice is the right one... There will be opposition—make it a minimum by winning to the cause in which you are investing your life, all who can understand it, believe in it and support it....

"There is an undeviating sense of duty among the uncommon people. They are never dejected, detracted, removed from the scene, and they get their way....

These are some of Dr. Case's arguments. We think they are sound. Indeed, each of us must sooner or later decide whether we wish to be common or uncommon. But the rewards for greatness are for mediocrity. And since it is our nature as human beings to love and yearn for those who have uncommon virtues, what we must soon understand is that we ourselves should attain to those virtues and not permit ourselves always to seek them in others.

This is an age which, while it may reward commonness unduly, still puts a premium on the uncommon man. Let's each of us win our own premium.

THE HEART ALONE CAN SPEAK

Florence Paulmier, headmistress of Media Friends School, Pa., writes on "The Importance of Feeling in Learning," says: "It has gradually become clear to me that there is a communication that takes place between people on a higher level, independent of and more powerful than speech. This communication is at the feeling level; it includes the spiritual and determines the effectiveness of the relationship between people... I have come to the conclusion that (this is) the factor which all good teachers have in common... 'Children have long antennae and catch feeling like the measles." And Paul de Kock writes: "Children divine those who love them; it is a gift of nature which we lose as we grow up."

Well, perhaps we don't really lose it. We overlay it with sin, cynicism, and sophistication, but it is likely still there. Hence to truly communicate with people—to reach through their outward defenses into their hearts—we must love them. Most children respond quickly and easily to love. "For of such is the kingdom of heaven." Most adults don't because they have rejected the kingdom of heaven for the kingdom of this world. But, in the final analysis, even with adults love reaches in and unlocks hearts that remain closed to every other force. Hence if we are to be fully effective in communicating with others, we must obey Christ's commandment to "love one another; as I have loved you... love (ye) one another."

Summary And Recommendations On Legal Immunities Of Labor Unions

Roscoe Pound, in his booklet "Legal Immunities of Labor Unions," has a "Summary and Recommendations" as his closing chapter. He puts it this way:

"Immunities of labor unions rest upon four established features of American labor law as it has developed through legislation within a generation:

(1) Substantial elimination, as against labor organization, of what in practical effect is the assured method of enforcing the law applicable to every one else.

(2) Refusal of labor organizations to be treated as legally responsible organizations by becoming incorporated and so legally tangible entities.

(3) Not distinguishing unlawful action by labor organizations, their leaders and their members, done outside of the employer-employee relation, from practices in that relation.

(4) Committing all matters affecting labor organizations to an administrative agency instead of confining its jurisdiction to matters involved in the employer-employee relation.

"The resulting immunities have been fortified by abuse of the constitutional concept of interstate commerce so as to take purely local conditions and situations largely out of control by the states."

Then Mr. Pound shows that the National Labor Relations Board operates entirely different from other commissions. He points out that the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission and the other commissions exist not to give advantage to stock exchanges, insurance companies, railroads and other carriers, but to protect the public, while the National Labor Relations Board's main duty seems to be to give labor unions immunities from the public. He puts it this way:

"By contrast, the National Labor Relations Board and like administrative agencies in the states, along with the legitimate function of assuring equality in collective bargaining between employer and employee and securing the rights of employees in that relation, have also acquired a function of upholding immunities of labor organizations and their leaders at the expense of the public. They do not protect the public. In such matters as procedure in violation of the antitrust laws, restraint of trade and interference with commerce, security of private property, and the right to work they protect labor organizations and labor leaders against the public."

Then Pound explains how the National Labor Relations Board has even the power to charge an employer for contempt for not obeying the orders of the Board, but never using contempt of the board against the union.

Pound goes on to say how the National Labor Relations Board has gone far afield from its original purpose of employer-employee relations. He puts it this way:

"During the past few years it has apparently become accepted usage to regard as a labor dispute any situation in which a union uses its monopoly power—occasionally with the prearranged assistance of other unions—simply to promote economic controls in order to promote the financial positions of itself and its constituent unions. Such activity is termed a labor practice in order to bring it within the jurisdiction of the National Labor Relations Board. But it is not rather an unfair business practice of the union just as a like practice of a business or industrial organization with the same motive would be called an unfair business practice to be dealt with as such by the court?"

"It is said, however, that this extension of the concept of 'unfair labor practice' is a perfectly logical development from the original premises underlying our modern labor law. But is it not rather a fortuitous development of an idea of general legal irresponsibility of a labor union in reaction from the strict doctrines and harsh rules which, with the rise of industry, had grown up in the common law and legislation of eighteenth century England and were taken over in the pioneer agricultural formative era in America? Instead of taking the extended concept of 'unfair labor practice' for a fixed starting point, should we not hold 'labor dispute' and 'labor practice' to their real meaning of practices in the employer-employee relation and look upon activities of union outside of their proper sphere and injurious to the economic order just as we look at such activities of other organizations?"

Everyone who wants to better understand the successive results of class legislation that can only work to the injury of the general public, would do well to read "Legal Immunities of Labor Unions," published by the American Enterprise Ass., Inc., 1012 14th St., N. W., Washington 5, D. C. The price is only $1.00.

Democratic Leaders Begin Cutting Taxes

WASHINGTON — Democratic leaders of the House have decided to take the bit in their teeth and to start the ball rolling on cutting taxes.

Their first move will be a bill to slash the taxes of small business. Upwards of $1 billion in such taxes would be eliminated under the measure being drafted by the Democrats.

Speaker Sam Rayburn, Tex., is notifying Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson of this backstage decision. Anderson will be invited to present his views on this proposed legislation at a House Ways and Means Committee meeting, tentatively slated for next week.

The Democratic leader made up their minds to start moving on reducing taxes at a strategy conference in Rayburn's office. Chief Floor Leader John McCormack, Mass., and Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills, Ark.

As agreed on by them, the major provisions of the bill outlined by Mills are as follows:

Reduce the tax rate from 30 to 20 percent on business income up to $25,000.

Give concerns with 10 or fewer stockholders the option of being taxed similar to partnerships.

Permit companies to use the fast write-off provision of the 1954 tax law to purchase second-hand machinery and equipment up to $50,000.

Up to $30,000 of the net income of a business to be deductible if spent "as an additional investment."

Estate taxes to be payable over a period up to 10 years in instances of "closely held concerns."

An estimated 4,000,000 businesses would benefit under this plan.

MORE TO COME — When and how this tax slash would be put up to the full House was left undetermined, for several reasons:

(1) The Democratic chiefs are waiting to see what the Administration will propose regarding renewal of the excise taxes and the 52 percent corporation rate which expire June 30. Secretary Anderson will have to show his hand on these big revenue producers in a few weeks, and the Democrats want to know his position before they act.

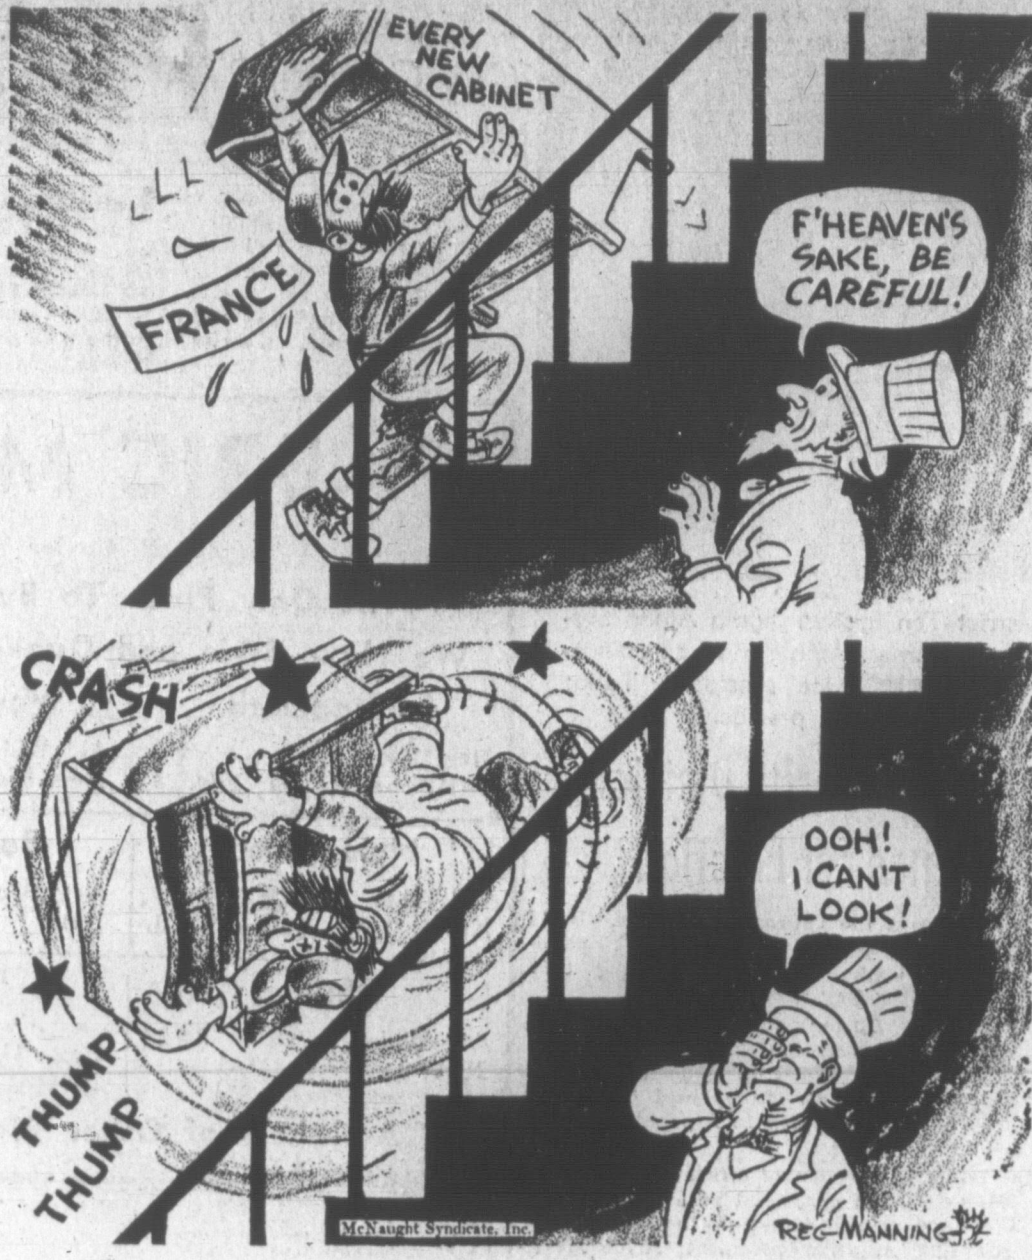

(2) Also strongly influencing them are economic developments this month. If they are not what the Democrats consider favorable, their intention is to expand the contemplated measure for small business relief to include tax cuts for individuals and larger corporations.

In the strategy conference in Speaker Rayburn's office it was very apparent these House leaders are ready and willing to throw their potent weight behind a multi-billion dollar "package" tax slash if they deem that is warranted.

Representative Mills' formula to aid small business is largely based on two series of hearings already held this session.

Few Drivers Are Good Samaritans

Just in case you are ever asked to guess what percentage of American automobile drivers are Good Samaritans, I'll give you the answer — it is 1 out of every 648.

I discovered that yesterday when my car broke down on a lonely stretch of Highway 17.

It was exactly 2:06 p.m., when I drifted to a stop on the shoulder of the road. As soon as I checked and found there was gasoline in the tank I knew matters were beyond my control, so I started trying to flag a passing car.

Four hours and ten minutes, and 647 cars later, the first driver stopped to offer me assistance. Of the 647 who passed me by, only half a dozen or so even slowed down. The rest of them barreled by without so much as a glance at my waving arms.

Let no apologist for the American motorist ever try to convince me that my distress signals weren't seen. I was a bit leery of standing in the highway at first, but by the time two hours had gone by I was all but putting up a human roadblock.

To make my appeal more eloquent, I had Mary sit dejectedly on the side of the road in plain view, with her head buried in her hands, with instructions to moan loudly whenever a car passed. She moaned good and loud but no one ever seemed to hear her.

After the 200th car had zipped by, I began to wonder if it were my appearance that was keeping the drivers from stopping. Did I look like a thug? I checked in the car mirror, and while I may not be loaded with what you might call Roadside Appeal, I didn't resemble a man who was going to hit you over the head with a jack or a wrench.

It was broad daylight, too. There was nothing sinister about the location.

To show that I wasn't a hitchhiker I raised the hood and lifted the trunk. The car look distressed, not me.

Finally — and I couldn't believe my eyes when it happened — a car started slowing down when I did my highway version of dancing on a tin roof and came to a stop.

When the driver got out and asked if he could be of any help, I was too surprised to talk. When I did manage to speak, it was to say, "You mean it, mister? Honest?"

He said sure he meant it, and he did. He waved aside my request that he tell the first garage he passed to send a wrecker to tow me in.

"It'll cost you ten or fifteen dollars," the Good Samaritan said. "If our bumpers match, I'll push you until we get to a garage."

Even though I knew I should spend the fifteen bucks for the wrecker to help end the recession, I let him push me.

And while we bumped — bumped — bumped up the road, I couldn't help wondering what happens to folks who really need help when they try to flag a passing car. I mean a fellow who gets sick and needs a doctor!

The Doctor

Says:

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.
With television viewing almost universal, a few remarks about it are in order.

Q—Would you say something about the health aspects of TV viewing.—Mrs. R. S.

A—Only a few aspects of this subject can be included here. Television itself does not produce eye strain, but some people complain of fatigue after relatively short periods of TV viewing. It has been pointed out that prolonged sitting in awkward positions while watching television can produce serious circulatory disorders in the legs. Three cases have been reported in which blood clots had occurred in the blood vessels after the patients had sat in awkward positions watching TV.

Q—I am 22 and have one baby. My gallbladder has been removed since the birth of this child and I should like to know if there is any danger in having more children. —Mrs. R.

A—If your health is otherwise good, I do not see why there should be any special risks from further pregnancy or childbirth simply because your gallbladder has been removed.

Q—I am 43 and have had 12 shots of vitamin B for neuritis in my back. About a month after I started taking the shots I noticed a slight growth of fuzz on my face. Could this have anything to do with the vitamin shots? —Mrs. L. B.

A—It seems most unlikely that the vitamin shots could have anything to do with the growth of fine hair on your face.

Q—Would you please comment on psychomotor epilepsy? —Mrs. H. D.

A—This is a condition related to more common varieties of epilepsy which may or may not be associated with a history of convulsions. There are said to be three varieties: the first being dream states, or feelings of unreality; the second, chewing or swallowing motions, or confusion; and the third, simple rigidity of the muscles without violent jerking.

Pampa Art Goes On Display

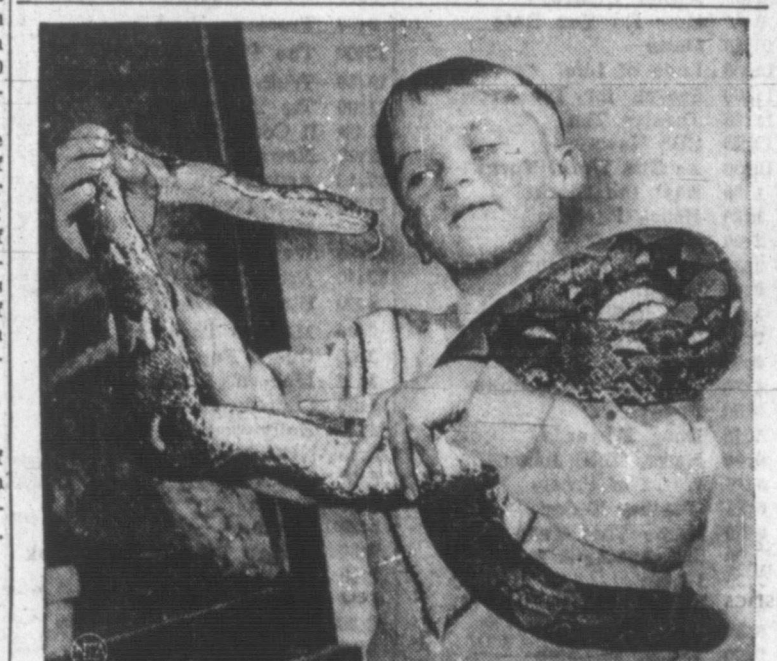

AMBASSADOR OF GOOD WILL — Famed French entertainer Maurice Chevalier chews on a thumbnail while he listens in on a United Nations session in New York.

FITZ expects over a thousand Coloradans, Kansans, Oklahomans and Texans to attend the fourth annual exhibit and invites the public at no cost.

FITZ is happy to point out that although 300 class paintings will go on exhibit May 25 at the Burr Gallery in New York City, his students still have enough paintings and problems to fill the Art Center to overflowing.

Trucks His Nemesis MILAN, Italy (UP) — Paride Fratti, 46, is beginning to think truck drivers have it in for him. Friday night a truck hit his bicycle while he was riding his bicycle along a Milan street.
