Navy Readies Another Try

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—The Navy reported today that it is ready to launch its moon-carrying Vanguard as soon as weather permitted. Launching of the slender Vanguard with a 6.4-inch aluminum sphere in its nose had been anticipated before the end of the week and weather evidently had become the only threatening factor. Heavy rains drenched the Cape Thursday night, and the forecast for today was for more showers and cloudiness which might hinder tracking of the satellite rocket as it shot up from the missile test center.

API Chapter To Wind Up Member Drive

Area oilmen and their friends will bring the 1958 American Petroleum Institute, Panhandle chapter, membership drive to a close Saturday night with an informal dance at the Top of Texas Sportsman Club.

Music for the dance will be furnished by the West Texas Collegians, a 14-piece orchestra from West Texas State College. The dance will start at 9 p.m. Persons selling tickets are reminded that all tickets should be turned in to Martin Ludeman, West Pampa Repressing Association office, prior to March 5. According to Ludeman, an earlier turn-in would be welcome. Annual dues are $1 and the script for the dance is $3 per couple. The Panhandle chapter is planning a series of interesting programs for the year which will include papers on waterfording and propane and butane injection as a means of stimulating oil production in the Panhandle area. W. A. Watson, Humble Oil and Refining Company, is chairman of the Panhandle chapter which includes the entire Panhandle Field. M. G. Rogers, Pan American Oil Corporation, is program chairman. Persons desiring tickets to the dance or to pay their 1958 membership dues should contact one of the various service or oil companies in the area or see Martin Ludeman in the Combe-Worley Building.

Jimmy Shaver Receives His Third Stay Of Execution

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UP)—The steel walls of death row looked good today to Bible-reading Jimmy N. Shaver, convicted child-slayer, who received a third stay of execution six hours before he was to be electrocuted. "Praise the Lord, God is wonderful and merciful," is the 32-year-old former slirman said Thursday night when he heard that Gov. Price Daniel had granted him an 11-day stay after a day of frantic legal maneuvering by Shaver's attorney, state Sen. Jarrard P. Secrest.

Shaver was convicted of the rape-slaying of 3-year-old Chere Jo Horton in a gravel pit in San Antonio on July 4, 1954. The blond, good-looking convict now has had two trials and three stays of execution. This final one moved his death date to March 15.

Plans Appeal Secrest plans an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. "I've been praying all the time," said Shaver, who claimed to have been converted by a San Antonio minister since coming to death row and who has been described by state prison guards as dressed in his "burial suit" a "perfect gentleman."

He was given his first stay last Feb. 5—after he had already been when a former cellmate in the Bexar county jail at San Antonio confessed that he killed the little girl. This confession by convict Donald M. Summers has been branded by Bexar county officials as a hoax cooked up by Shaver and Summers while in jail together. But Summers, who is serving a 20-year sentence for armed robbery, has never retracted it. When that stay had expired, Gov. Daniel granted another 15 days for further investigation by the Board of Pardons and Poles and this extension ran out Thursday. Mether Makes Appeal Last week Shaver's mother, Mrs. E. E. Pampa Gets .85 Inch Of Moisture

By UNITED PRESS New snow was expected to fall on eight inches of snow already on the ground in the Texas Panhandle today while hill-country creeks west of San Antonio rose toward flood stage. Up to eight inches of snow fell in the Panhandle last night and early today. The U.S. Weather Bureau at Amarillo said more snow was expected later tonight and Saturday. Vanderpool, west of San Antonio in the rugged hill country, had 2.60 inches of rain last night and the weather bureau said tributaries of the Frio River in that area would probably go out of their banks. However, it said flooding would not be serious and no towns were endangered. Rain was expected to fall in scattered spots over Texas for the fourth straight day and continue through Saturday. Fog delayed flights at many airports early today, including Dallas, Houston and Corpus Christi. Heavy fog cut visibility to zero at Dallas. Visibility was 1-16 of a mile at Tyler, Port Arthur, Lufkin, Victoria, Laredo and Fort Worth. Houston, College Station and Cotulla reported 1/4 of a mile visibility; Corpus Christi reported 1/4 mile visibility; Longview and Texarkana 1/2 and Junction 3/4. It was raining at Corpus Christi early today. Eight inches of snow fell Thursday night at Stratford and Sunray, at the top of the Panhandle. Dumas and Dalhart recorded six inches. Snow was heaviest north and west of Dalhart. Goodwell, Okla.,

Government Makes Effort To Boost Cheaper Borrowing

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—The government acted again today to encourage cheaper borrowing in a new effort to revive business. A 1/2 per cent cut in the Federal Reserve discount rate was announced in the wake of two more reports of sagging business conditions and one reflecting a strong point in the economy. The developments: —The Federal Reserve Board authorized its New York, Chicago and Philadelphia banks to reduce their interest charges on borrowing by member commercial banks to 2 1/2 per cent. The other nine Federal Reserve banks are expected to make similar reductions. —The Commerce Department reported manufacturers' sales and new and unfilled orders all were down more than usual in January. Hard goods led the decline. —Federal Reserve reported department store sales during February were off 8 per cent from the same period a year ago. But sales in the last week of February were slightly above the 1957 figures. —The Commerce and Labor departments estimated construction activity hit a February record of $3,077,000,000. The estimate may be too high, however, because it did not take into account the unusually severe weather of last month a spokesman said. In addition, the Treasury announced that it sold more savings bonds than were cashed in during February for the first month since July, 1956. The public bought 477 million dollars of new Series E and H bonds, 28 million dollars more than it turned in for payment. The discount cut — third in a series of such reductions since November—is expected to be felt throughout the economy in the form of lower interest rates for most loans. Lower interest rates for bonds and on commercial loans followed the previous two discount reductions. However, the lowering effect on all interest rates is not automatic, nor is the discount rate reduction an undisputed anti-recession method. Some economists and congressmen argue that cutting taxes or increasing public works projects would provide more new spending money faster.

Don Cain Rotary President

Don Cain, Gray County Attorney, has been elected the new president of the Pampa Rotary Club. Cain was elected February 27 but the announcement was not made until Wednesday. The new Rotary directors are E. E. Batson, Lucien Young, Jack Edmondson, Max Bolick, Roy Sparkman, Hershel Wilks and Cain. Following the announcement, Cain said, "I'm honored to be elected president of Rotary and I will endeavor to work with all groups for the betterment of Pampa."

Highway Patrol Makes Report

The Pampa Highway Patrol announced the 9 1/2 county accident report for the past two months today. There have been a total of two fatal accidents with three people killed so far this year. There have been 24 personal injury accidents, 41 persons injured and 58 property damage accidents with $69,901 in property damage.

F. Schaffner, First Pampa Baker, Dies

Mr. Fred Schaffner, Pampa's first baker, died last night at his home, 115 W. Foster, rear. He was 78. Services will be held in the chapel of Duenkel - Carmichael funeral home with Rev. Dick Crews, First Christian Church, officiating. A time has not yet been set for the services. Mr. Schaffner came to Pampa in 1915, establishing his own bakery and becoming the first baker in Pampa. He retired in 1943. He is survived by two sisters, Emma Butch of Pampa and Marie Milseberger in Germany. Mr. Schaffner was born in 1880 in Switzerland. In 1909 he came to this country.

Knife And Fork Club Hears

By WALLACE TRUESDELL Pampa News Staff Writer "The war we're fighting is not psychologically hot, run by amateur psychologists called politicians," said Dr. Gerald Wendt, Dr. Wendt, editor of Science magazine and author of "You and the Atom," spoke at the Knife and Fork Club banquet in the high school cafeteria last night. Dr. Wendt left teaching twenty years ago over concern at the lack of concern with which the American people faced scientific developments, forces that shaped their lives. "They used to stay away from my speeches in droves," he recalls. But with Sputnik and Explorer in the skies, everyone wants to be educated. Dr. Wendt warned club members that he would not try to do for them in an hour what they had neglected to do for themselves all their lives. "We are going inside, inside, inside... out and out and out," said Dr. Wendt. When he went to school, students and teachers alike spoke of matter behaving "as if it were composed of atoms." If you bring a drop of water under a microscope and enlarge it to the size of the earth, claims Dr. Wendt, the atoms in it will be the size of oranges. On the other hand, the "heavenly objects" are in the same position as the first automobile. What will Explorer do for us? It will study gravitation, weather, distribution of meteors and may develop into a space platform for the launching of a rocket to the moon. The next U.S. satellite to go up will contain all the equipment of the laboratory. And now for Sputnik. No one in Washington knew we were in a race, says Dr. Wendt. Anyone who blasts the administration in power for losing the satellite race is lucky not to be in office. Until the Russians launched Sputnik, any politician who even hinted at a program with the scope of Explorer, would have been hustled out of office. No one in Russia had to worry about public opinion. France Faces 2 National Tests

PARIS (UP)—France faced two national tests today—a confidence vote in its government and a strike on its railroads. Premier Felix Gaillard put his four-month-old government up for a confidence test on the issue of his handling of the 40-month-old Algerian war. Most of the nation's railway engineers and technical personnel walked out on the issue of a 40-hour-work week and higher pay. The 24-hour railway strike crippled but did not close rail services.

Disaster Institute Completed

"A disaster plan is the best insurance policy you can have against disaster," says Miss Henrietta Brocksmith, Red Cross disaster director for the Midwestern area. Miss Brocksmith has been conducting a Disaster Institute here for the Pampa Red Cross and Civil Defense program. The institute ended at noon today. The next step, according to Miss Brocksmith, is a disaster plan for each of the ten sub-committees, set up for disaster. Each committee will cover four points in its plan of action, duties, personnel, resources and mobilization. The next step will be to prepare a master plan, showing where each committee will be and what it will do in the event of disaster. Mundt Cites 'Rule Or Ruin Attitude'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) declared today that criticism of clergymen by a United Auto Workers official reflects a "rule or ruin attitude" that should alarm the nation. Mundt, a member of the Senate Rackets Committee, said he had heard the clergy denounced before by "Reds, atheists and others" but had never heard such comments from a source like a union spokesman. He made the statement as Emil Maszy—the man who made the statements—was recalled to the Rackets Committee's witness chair. The committee was resuming its marathon hearings on the UAW's marathon strike against the Kohler Co., of Kohler, Wis. Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said GOP Committee members have enough questions to occupy Maszy "all day, at least." Try To Overturn Writ Wisconsin officials meanwhile planned to try to overturn a committee writ protecting a prospective witness wanted on assault charges. The writ, granted by a federal judge here Thursday, prevents the arrest or extradition of John Guanca of Mt. Clemens, Mich., while he is here under committee subpoena to testify. Maszy was a committee witness for something less than half the day, but that was plenty of time for his criticisms, which he made—and then largely retracted—

Republicans Starting To Fall In Line, Too

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Democratic-led drive to pump more federal funds into job-making public works snowballed today. The administration appeared to be moving in the same direction but less strongly. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) lined up heavy Republican as well as solid Democratic support for two resolutions calling on the administration to order immediate steps in civil and military public works projects for which Congress already has provided money. Johnson introduced the resolutions Thursday. He told the Senate he does not "think we are foredoomed to depression." But he said "God helps those who help themselves and we will not solve our problems if we merely shut our eyes." No Sponsor in Knowledge Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) said he did not plan to join 18 other GOP senators who have become co-sponsors of the Johnson resolutions. He said he thought the Senate Armed Services and public works committees "should hold hearings on the resolutions and should call witnesses from the executive branch of the government." Knowland pointed out that Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton has promised to announce Tuesday a list of public works projects under his department which can be accelerated. Before offering his resolutions, Johnson scheduled early Senate action on an anti-recession housing program and farm legislation. He also renewed his call for establishment of a Public Works Administration to handle building programs. In the House, Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) introduced resolutions matching Johnson's. Johnson said Speaker Sam Rayburn and McCormack were in full agreement on the need for a public works speedup. Key House Democrats disclosed they were ready for introduction Monday a bill to provide two billion dollars in federal aid to help provide jobs in depressed cities and towns. Other major developments: —The Federal Reserve Board authorized its New York, Philadelphia and Chicago banks to reduce interest charges on borrowing by member banks to 2 1/2 per cent. The reduction, expected to be followed by the one other Federal Reserve Bank, was a new effort to encourage cheaper borrowing to revive business. It was the third such cut in four months. —Government agencies issued a series of reports on construction activity, department store sales and other segments of the economy. The construction report followed by the nine other reports were still on the gloomy side. Other congressional news: —Farm: Senate and House farm law writers struck a double blow at Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's plan to cut dairy and wheat price supports. The Senate Agriculture Committee voted 12 to 2 to freeze all price supports and acreage allotments at not less than the 1957 level. A House agriculture subcommittee voted 5 to 0 to approve a bill to reverse the dairy support cut. —Disability: The House Judiciary Committee apparently split along party lines at a meeting called to draft legislation creating machinery for temporarily replacing a disabled President. Committee Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) said the group would try again next Tuesday. Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) meantime declared the disability problem must be solved because the nation cannot afford a "hiatus of leadership." —Reform: The House passed 311 to 87 a hotly-fought budget reform bill designed to put government appropriations on an annual basis. Sponsors claimed it would save the taxpayers "billions of dollars." But opponents claimed the measure eventually would boost government spending. —Information: Attorney General William P. Rogers told a Senate Constitutional rights subcommittee agencies sometimes have as much right as the President to withhold information from Congress. And he said that presidential right is "inherent" and will stand up under court tests. The subcommittee is considering legislation in the government information field. —If it comes from a Hardware Store, we have it. Lewis Hardware.

Plans Group For 'Center' Slates Meet

The 23 members of the Planning Committee for the proposed Pampa Youth and Community Center will meet at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Chamber of Commerce conference room. Members will appoint from three to four committees to study the needs and interests of Pampa youth and adults. Serving on the Planning Committee are Mrs. Loyse Caldwell, Johnny F. Campbell, Bob Carmichael, Mrs. Inez Carter, Rev. Richard Crews, Dr. Joe R. Donaldson, Miss Pat Falkenstein, Jack Foster, Warren L. Hassee, Gene Hoiler, J. C. Hopkins, Rufe Jordan, Mrs. Rufe Jordan, Robert Langford, Eugene Lewis Jr., Mrs. R. A. Mack, Fred J. Neilage, Aaron Sturgeon, Mrs. Noel Thompson, Joe Tooley, Bill W. Waters, Floyd Watson and E. I. Wedgeworth. The committee will plan what the building will look like, what it will have in it and what the program will be. It will provide for the most satisfactory and efficient method of administration. Base of operations will be the Youth Activity and Interest Survey taken in 1956 by C. G. Whitney of Celanese Corp. The study was made by circulating a questionnaire to junior and senior high school students. A new survey will be made that will include the adults in the community.

Lions Hear Skit; Will Elect Officers

The presentation of "The Case of the Purloined Plaque" climaxed the meeting of the Lions Club Thursday at the First Methodist Church. The "Theban skit" was directed by Miss Helen Schaefer, Pampa High School instructor, and narrated by Miss Pat Jones. The Lions nominating committee released the names of candidates for 1958-1959 election. Election day is the first Thursday in April. Lions can choose between Dudley Steele and Joe Tooley for president; W. W. Adcock and Henry Gruben, first vice president; Ray Duncan and J. C. Roberts, second vice president; Paul Crouch and Ed Myatt, lion tamer; E. E. Schultz and Roy Taylor, tail twister; O. K. Gaylor and Odie Gaylor, secretary-treasurer and among R. Malcolm Brown, Melvin Jayroe, Russell Kennedy, Ed McLennan, Bob Rasmussen and Winfred Veale for directors. More nominations may come in via petition by election day. —Martha Gordon was named Sweetheart of the Month. Scout of the month is H. T. Bennett, Troop 16. Dale Stone made some remarks on the Explorer program. Calvin Whately reminded members that the Lions District Convention will be held in Dalhart, Apr. 24, 25, 26. Bunny Schultz, directing the reform bill designed to put government appropriations on an annual basis. Sponsors claimed it would save the taxpayers "billions of dollars." Tire And Wheel Are Stolen

Anita Hubbard, 201 E. Francis, reported to Pampa police last night that she had a tire and wheel stolen off her car. Mrs. Hubbard said that her car was parked at the bowling alley, 2000 Hobart, at 7:15 p.m. last night and at 10 p.m. when she started to go home, someone had stolen a 6-78 x 15 tire along with the wheel off her car.

RETIREES — O. F. Winchester of Lefors is shown here at a birthday and retirement party given in his honor recently. Winchester retired March 1 from Champlin Oil Company. He worked for the firm for 31 years. The party was given by fellow-workers and friends.

Retirement Party Given Lefors Man

(Special to The News) LEFORS — O. F. Winchester, long-time resident of Lefors and employee of Champlin Oil Company for three years, was honored with a birthday and retirement dinner recently in the civic center by fellow employees.

Winchester started work for Champlin on Feb. 12, 1927, in Pampa, Okla., as a gas engineer pulling rods and tubings later becoming clean out driller on cable tools, progressing to head roustabout and rigger, moving to the Pampa area in 1933 to pump the Paulkner lease and making his home in Lefors since that time.

Upon retirement March 1, Mrs. M. Winchester was to move to Okmulgee, Okla., where they have a home and a small cabinet shop where Winchester will be able to realize a lifelong hobby, woodwork.

F. C. Wentworth, vice president for drilling and production, and W. Coburn, Superintendent of production and drilling, both of Lefors, were present for the dinner. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Staley, field superintendent, Lefors, and Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Cypert, field forman, so of Lefors.

Other employees and wives present were Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Atterwhite, Roy Lunch, Sam Smith, Ray Parrish, Bob Stricker, J. Everson, and Alex Watkins. Winchester was presented with a set of woodworking tools and a level set by friends and fellow employees, and several other gifts of those present.

Taxpayers May Be Given A Break

WASHINGTON (UP) — The government is expected to give many income taxpayers a break next year on listing their business expenses on income tax returns. A new ruling reportedly will permit employees who account for their expenses to their boss to ignore the now controversial line 6(A) on the front page of income tax form 1040, the so-called long form.

Last weekend Internal Revenue Commissioner Russell C. Harrington said a modification of the 6(A) requirement would be announced early this week. But the Treasury has not given final approval, it was learned, and the announcement may not be until next week. As of Wednesday night Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson had not read the text of the ruling. Starting next year, Harrington said, taxpayers must list on line 6(A) all reimbursed expenses they had during 1958. Although the new line appears on 1957 tax returns, (which must be filed by April 15) it does not have to be filled in.

Taxpayers using line 6(A) will also have to submit a detailed explanation showing the when, where and how much of their claimed expenses. Harrington has advised keeping complete records of business expenses so this information can be listed.

Under the expected modification, persons who account for their expense money to their employers will not have to give a second reckoning to the government.

Jan Sterling Wants Son To Get Education From Script

By HAZEL K. JOHNSON United Press Hollywood Writer HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Actress Jan Sterling pulls a switch on the "my child - will - never - become - an actor" routine and says there's a good chance her 2-year-old will learn his ABCs from a script.

The blonde dramatic star and her actor husband, Paul Douglas, believe there are too much "violence and prejudice" in both public and private schools. They say that's the main reason why they hope to make a child actor of their son, Adams.

"I said child 'actor' and not child 'star,'" the slender young mother said. "And the difference is important. 'As an actor Adams will learn responsibility early. He'll be brought up in an adult world and will learn consideration for others much sooner."

Earnings Put Away "Of course his earnings would be put in trust — that's where some of the trouble with acting youngsters comes in — when they are made to feel the responsibility of supporting the family. "But besides having the educational advantages of learning in the small classes of a studio or else through tutoring he won't be learning to pull and push other children and won't be subject to the usual race and religion prejudices which are learned so early. "I know that he has to be subject to these things sometime and that I may sound over-protective."

Profers Small Classes "I'd prefer to have him educated in a studio or in a place like the New York Professional Child's School. He'd gain so much more through the advantage of small classes and also he will get that feeling of being something special."

"My family always made me feel I was exceptional, someone wonderful. I was tutored with the exception of one year in a private girls' school. And even there, although we wore uniforms, there was prejudice and class distinction."

"I want my child to be protected from this type of thing until he is strong enough and old enough not to let it bother him. "As a child actor he'll learn to understand the profession of his mother and father."

Government Stays Out Of Dispute

ROME (UP)—The government today kept discreetly out of the controversy seething over conviction of Roman Catholic Bishop Pietro Fiondelli in a state court. The Christian Democrat (Catholic) government, facing critical general elections, was caught in an embarrassing squeeze by the worst church-state rupture in almost 30 years.

Premier Adone Zoli's office issued a statement Monday night which pointed up the government's predicament. "As a Catholic, Signor Zoli is certainly saddened (by the bishop's conviction)," a spokesman said, "but as premier he can only think that justice must follow its course."

Attorneys for Bishop Fiondelli appealed Tuesday from the Florence Magistrates Court decision which found the bishop guilty of slander. He was given a suspended fine of $64 last Saturday for publicly denouncing a Catholic-born couple as "concubines and public sinners" for being married only in a civil ceremony outside the church. Roman Catholics throughout the world rallied to the support of the bishop, who refused to attend the trial on grounds he was not answerable to the state but only to the Pope.

The Communists, waging an anti-church battle in preparation for the political elections, hailed the conviction as a defeat for church interference in state affairs. Neo-Fascists also jumped into the controversy, charging that Communists and Christian Democrats had shattered the church-state peace brought about by Benito Mussolini when he signed the Lateran Pact with the Vatican in 1929.

Miss Arrington is classified as a Freshman, is a member of the pep squad, F.H.A. chapter and plays basketball. She is the grand-daughter of Mrs. Mabel Arrington of Miami and Mrs. Lorene O. Locke of Pampa.

Firm To Close Six Work Days

DALLAS (UP)—Ford Motor Co. is closing down its Dallas assembly plant for six work days—next Friday and Monday through Friday of next week.

A company spokesman said the plant is closing down to give dealers a chance to reduce their inventories. About 2,400 hourly-paid workers will be idle during the six days. However, 350 salaried employees will stay on the job. The plant has been making 600 cars and trucks a day with two eight-hour shifts a day five days a week.

Many Of Ag Graduates Not On Farm

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—Only 17 per cent of the nation's agricultural college graduates return to the farm upon completion of their school or military service, according to Northwestern National Life Insurance Co.

Many of the rest desert the farm for well-paying jobs in related industries and professions. The firm's report, issued today, was based on a survey of 50 agricultural colleges from Maine to California.

The company said about 30 per cent of the 7,500 yearly graduates join industrial and commercial firms at good salaries. Partly responsible, it said, is the big investment now needed for modern farming. About 5 per cent of the graduates go into farming later after they have saved enough money from other jobs.

Of the remainder of the graduates, 17-18 per cent go into government agricultural service, 12-13 per cent into teaching, 18-19 per cent into graduate study, and 3-6 per cent, miscellaneous. The company said it also found there has been little expansion in agriculture enrollments in recent years despite a heavy demand. It blamed the lack of interest in agriculture studies on the less favorable farm cost-price relationship, severe droughts and the well publicized salaries received by graduates in other fields.

Many Scientific Careers Are Open For Women To Enter

By EVERETT R. IRWIN United Press Staff Correspondent CHICAGO (UP)—Lois Graham, a woman who invaded a man's domain, said today the nation is missing a bet in not enticing more women into the engineering profession.

She said women are overlooking a good thing, too, when they pass up technological fields in favor of occupations that are generally considered more feminine. Perched on a four-legged stool in an Illinois Institute of Technology laboratory, Miss Graham spoke from first-hand experience.

She is an assistant professor of mechanical engineering. She lives in a world where thermodynamics and heat power meet fluid mechanics and metallurgy. "We haven't begun to tap the potential 'manpower' reservoir," she said. "There is a place for many more women in all of the engineering and scientific fields."

The big problem, Miss Graham said, is that "people just don't know what engineering is and women consequently don't think of it as a likely field. "Brawn and strength aren't really necessary," the attractive, 28-year-old professor said. "Technicians do most of the heavy work."

She pointed to a maze of metal framework, tanks and tubing in one corner of the laboratory, and explained that it was an apparatus with which she is conducting a basic study in combustion. "A woman can build something like that," she said. Takes Some Kidding Miss Graham, who said she "liked my own tool kit" and "liked to play with construction toys when she was a little girl, was one of the first two women admitted to Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N.Y., her home town.

She picked up a bachelor of mechanical engineering degree at Rensselaer in 1945 and a M.S. in mechanical engineering at IIT in 1949. Then she joined the IIT faculty. Now she teaches 80 men (and no women). Miss Graham said women in engineering encounter little real prejudice but "must be able to take some kidding." She learned that when she asked one of her first classes to fill out a questionnaire listing any "annoyances or disturbing mannerisms" they disliked in a teacher. "Half the class wrote down 'sweaters,'" she said.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to increase the lending authority of the Export-Import Bank by two billion dollars. As of Dec. 31, the bank had committed all but $533,700,000 of its loan authority, although only $2,984,500,000 had been actually disbursed in loans.

South Penn. Oil Co. announced a 25-cent barrel reduction in prices of Pennsylvania grade crude oil used chiefly in lubricants. It was the second price cut in the past year for this type of crude. Construction contracts awarded in January for all types of building fell 10 per cent below January, 1957, according to F.W. Dodge Corp. Nearly every major kind of construction was affected.

The Small Business Administration approved 289 business loans for $15,820,000 during January, an increase in value of 17 per cent compared with the same month last year. The SBA also approved $1 disaster loans worth $630,000 during the first month of 1958.

Commissioners Pass Speed Zone Ordinance LEFORS — An ordinance controlling speed to 20 miles per hour in the Lefors school zones during the period children are going to and from school and the lunch hour was passed by the city council at its regular meeting held Monday night, Feb. 3, in the city office.

The zones in which the speed limit will be enforced will be designated by the school zones signs which are to be put up. Other business included the voting to buy a mower for the park and cemetery, accepting the audit of the city books made by Mrs. J. M. Turner, and voting to lay two more blocks of sewer line. Those present were Mayor Blackwell, C. Gustin, H. L. McCarty, J. R. Sparkman, Robert L. Call, and City Secretary Mrs. R. H. Barron.

Fred Blackwell, who is not seeking re-election. The candidates for Mayor are W. F. Wall, Robert L. Call and J. C. Jernigan. Those elected will take office the first of May and will meet with the council the first Monday of that month which will be the fifth.

Celanese Reports Net Income

Celanese Corporation of America, in its annual report to stockholders, today reported net income after taxes for 1957 of $15,081,744, equal to $1.94 per common share after provision for preferred dividends. This compares with 1956 earnings of $16,863,224, equal to $2.08 per common share.

Net sales in 1957 were $192,297,358, compared with 1956 sales of $188,307,250. Earnings for both years were affected by credits for overprovision of taxes in prior years and tax refunds. These amounted, in 1957 to $4,842,570, equal to 88 cents per common share, and $4,000,000 in 1956, equal to 88 cents per common share. Depreciation taken in 1957 amounted to $18,339,836 compared with $16,427,786 in 1956.

President Harold Blanche reported that the company moved forward on several fronts during the year, with new productive facilities completed, new products developed and markets diversified and expanded. Although chemical and plastics production capacities were substantially increased during the year, he said, only a fraction of this expansion is reflected in 1957 expanded facilities should soon ensue. However, he said the enable us to achieve deeper sales penetration in our established markets as well as in newer, diversified markets."

In Celanese textile division operations during 1957, the report cites favorable market reception to a number of new products including heavy denier acetate filament yarns for upholstery fabrics, bulked celeraparn yarn for carpets, acetate staple batting fiber for mattresses, sleeping bags, upholstered furniture, pillows and comforters, and a variety of new apparel fabrics made of arnel, the Celanese tri-acetate fiber.

The 1957 Celanese plastics division major product addition was Fortiflex, the company's high-density polyethylene, now being marketed for such end products as housewares, appliance parts, toys, monofilaments, pipe and industrial components. Continuing growth was noted for fortiflex cellulose propionate molding material, in fountain pens, telephone and appliance housings and other molded components. Celanese polyvinyl acetate emulsions, used by the paint, coating and textile industries, and acetate sheet and film, in packaging, optical frames and computer tapes.

James Spots Large Deficit In General Fund

AUSTIN (UP)—State Treasurer Jesse James has reported a current deficit of about $2,500,000 in the general revenue fund and made arrangements with banks to pay full value on drafts on the fund.

James reported the deficit Thursday and said it would dip as low as $20 million before returning to the black the first part of May.

The arrangement completed with the Texas banks, he said, is for them to pay general revenue warrants—checks—at face value and hold them until the state treasury can make final payment.

This would allow state employees and those contracting with the state to cash checks on the general revenue fund at full value, rather than having to discount them.

The state treasurer said the $20 million peak deficit would come in April. But he said it would be wiped out the first of May when the state collects franchise taxes and gross receipts taxes.

"We'll collect about $27 million in taxes from insurance companies about the first of May," he said.

James commended the state's banks for co-operating in cashing and holding state warrants. He said Austin banks probably would carry about 50 per cent of the total deficit.

LONDON (UP)—Defense Minister Duncan Sandys plans to visit Moscow this spring, presumably to assure the Russians that the employment of U.S. missiles in Britain is purely a defensive measure.

The Defense Ministry announced early today that Sandys has "accepted in principle" an invitation to visit the Kremlin. He is expected to make the trip in May.

Defense officials declined comment on the reasons for the trip, but other sources said Sandys undoubtedly will take up the deadlocked subject of disarmament—with special emphasis on missiles.

The opposition Labor Party and the unions which provide the backbone of its strength urged Thursday night that the employment of U.S. missiles in this country be delayed at least until a "summit" conference has been held. The defense minister already has rejected this proposal.

The Laborites, in an apparent effort to check a "rebellion" led by about 70 of its members of Parliament, also urged the government to:

- Halt patrols from British bases by planes carrying H-bombs.
- Suspend British H-bomb tests immediately as an "example to the world," and work for a general ban on A-bomb and H-bomb tests independent of other disarmament goals.
- Seek inclusion in any general disarmament agreement of a declaration banning the use of all nuclear weapons.

New Product For Celanese Plant

Celanese Corporation of America announced today that it is producing commercial quantities of beta - propiolactone, a petrochemical intermediate, at its Pampa plant.

As a chemical intermediate, beta - propiolactone's potential embraces a wide range of compounds such as amines, alcohols and others containing active hydrogen. In addition, it is used to improve the stability of starch-derived adhesives, and is used in the synthesis of acrylic acid and acrylates, markets for which are currently expanding in the textile and leather finishing, paper coating, adhesives and surface-coatings industries. It is also reported to modify textile fibers to improve hand and other properties.

Prices for manufacturing grade beta - propiolactone are 87 cents a pound in tank car lots, 89 cents in carload drums, 90 cents for single drums and two dollars a pound in glass containers, all FOB Pampa. Celanese is the sole producer of the chemical.

While beta - propiolactone is a powerful chemical which must be properly controlled for safety under conditions of use, it is reported to be effective for area and surface decontamination and is said to be an excellent sterilizing agent for biologicals because of its capacity to inactivate a wide variety of bacteria, fungi and viruses. The Army Chemical Corps announced recently that its scientists, in experiments at Fort Detrick, Maryland, had disinfected entire hospital buildings as well as electronic apparatus—and transportation equipment by using the chemical in gaseous form.

Other experiments carried on at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, and reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association, indicate that the chemical effectively eliminates infectious microorganisms in arteries, bones and cartilage stored in tissue banks. It also is reported to be a promising chemical for the sterilizing of blood plasma. For such experimental uses under proper conditions Celanese can produce a specially purified grade of beta-propiolactone.

3 Mishaps Reported

Pampa police have investigated three accidents in the city limits this week.

On March 5, a car driven by Ronnie Lee Cade, White Deer, was in collision with a car driven by Manuel Parker, 2237 Williston, N. Hobart, 326 feet south of Kentucky. There was $150 damage to Cade's 1952 Mercury and $225 damage to Parker's car.

A 1955 Ford driven by Miami Bridges, 1335 Hamilton, was in collision with a 1946 Chevrolet driven by Allan D. Phillips, 216 N. Nelson, at the intersection of W. Francis and North Ward. The Chevrolet was a total loss and there was $126 damage to the 1955 Ford.

At 4:32 p.m. March 5, a 2050 Ford driven by Dayton F. Black, 1133 Varmon Drive, was in collision with a 1954 Ford, driven by Raymond Adams, 206 E. Thut, 70 feet west of Cuyler. The damage on the 1950 Ford was $50 and the damage on the 1954 Ford was $18.

Dulles Leaves For SEATO Conference

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles departs for the Philippines today to bolster anti-Communist morale in the Pacific-Asian area and seek stronger British - French support on policy toward Russia on a "summit" meeting.

The double-barreled Dulles mission will be carried out during the March 11-13 Southeast Asian Treaty Organization meeting and during private Big Three foreign minister talks on the side.

During formal SEATO meetings Dulles was reported ready to declare: (1) that the United States has absolutely no intention of recognizing Red China in the foreseeable future, or of relaxing American barriers against all trade with the Reds; and (2) that the United States considers the SEATO Pact as important as the NATO and Baghdad alliances though it gets less publicity in Washington.

During private meetings with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau Dulles will discuss the current tug-of-war over how to get up a heads-of-government on "summit" meeting with the Russians.

Advance reports from Manila said Dulles would be urged by Lloyd and Pineau to take a "softer" line in developing American proposals for dealing with Russia at the conference table.

Dulles, Lloyd and Pineau will have plenty to discuss in the way of late-breaking development on the summit debate. Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin sent a new letter to President Eisenhower on Thursday on the issue.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menzhikov, who delivered the Bulganin letter to Dulles, later told a National Press Club audience: "I can state that today the positions of both sides with regard to the convening of the summit conference are closer than before."

There were no parallel comments from American officials.

Before setting out for Manila, Dulles fired off a new note to Russia, condemning the idea of holding what he called a "spectacular" sort of summit conference. He also rebuffed the Russian idea that a proposed preliminary foreign ministers meeting should act only to "fix the time, place and agenda of a chiefs-of-state parley."

Other experiments carried on at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, and reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association, indicate that the chemical effectively eliminates infectious microorganisms in arteries, bones and cartilage stored in tissue banks. It also is reported to be a promising chemical for the sterilizing of blood plasma. The Army disclosed in Washington, however, that Explorer III was already being built at JPL—but this is different from Explorer II or its substitute.

Sources also disclosed in Washington that the Army plans to put up four more satellites after launching Explorer III.

The Army announced here Thursday it was "now certain" the second Explorer launched on Wednesday had failed to go into orbit due to failure of the fourth stage rocket to ignite, and had plunged back into the atmosphere and burned to a crisp from friction.

PAMPA

(Continued From Page 1) rains were touching El Paso Valley, along the Rio Grande where the drought has made its last stand, and farmers hoped that the end of eight years of dry weather was at hand. Rainfall measured for the year was more than 2.62 inches, the most rain for any entire year since 1948.

The fog in East Texas was expected to lift by noon.

The forecast for Pampa and the Top o' Texas area calls for partly cloudy skies and little change in the temperature through tomorrow with scattered showers. The high is expected to be 48 degrees.

The low in Pampa last night was 29 and the high today is expected to be 47. There was .85 of an inch of moisture recorded in Pampa yesterday.

Importance Of Questions

The immortal Socrates gained much of his reputation by his ability to ask questions. He devised what has since been called the "Socratic argument" by the simple, yet penetrating device of the peremptory challenge. He simply asked questions of his followers in an effort to get them to think through their own arguments. It is a delightful device, we think.

Recently, a friend of ours wrote us as follows: "We were guests at dinner with a group of people, and one of the men was presented to us as the world's leading speed sailor, and by further expansion of this unusual statement we learned that he is probably as able as anyone in the world to get the greatest possible speed from anything except the very large sailing craft. As the evening wore on he admitted that in this field he had no peer."

Later on, our friend explains, a discussion ensued respecting basic philosophies. The writer of the letter was asked for his own philosophy. He said, "Well, I think the crux of what I believe is that I don't know better than you how you should conduct your affairs—that is, spend your time and your money. Do you agree with me?"

The speed sailor replied: "I'm not so sure. From what you and I have said, I believe maybe you could."

Our friend accepted this as a compliment and replied: "Well, you don't believe, do you, that the sum total of the brains in this country, divided by the numbers of persons which would only give you the mental ability of the average person—that this kind of a decision you would be willing to substitute for your own in the conduct of your own affairs?"

The sailor responded: "I don't know, I think maybe I would." Our friend was somewhat nonplussed. His reply was, we feel, in the form of a great unanswered question. "Man, you slay me! A few minutes ago you were making a great point of the fact that at sailing you will admit to no peer. But in the most important aspect of living you are willing to grant that almost anyone knows more about this than you do. I have never seen a more completely perfect example of putting last things first than a man who has spent his life perfecting an obsolete method of transportation and who at the same time ignores the important question of learning how to live."

Precisely. How many things do you know which relate not to some specialized field of knowledge, but to your own ability to connect the facts of your existence to an overall philosophy of life?

With the idea of stimulating your own thinking, we have asked certain leaders of thought throughout the country for pertinent questions which might cause you to probe within your own consciousness in just such an effort.

Below appear some of these questions. And in submitting them we would like to ask one major question: Without answers to the questions below, what difference does it make what you know in specific fields, when it must be apparent that your own specific field cannot continue to exist in its present form unless you can yourself answer at least some of these questions?

Questions Of Importance

1. How many points of the Communist Manifesto of 1848 have been adopted and are generally accepted by Americans who say they believe in free enterprise?
2. Do you believe teachers on the public payroll can and do point out the evils inherent in every political interference with the free market?
3. Could you explain to a socialist why every government interference with the moral actions of free men reduces the satisfactions of all concerned?
4. Could you explain how government interference with the free market is responsible for depression?
5. Do you know why and how the freedom of employers to hire and fire whomever they wish benefits all honest applicants for jobs?
6. Can you explain the inherent fallacy in governmental foreign aid morally and economically both for the United States and the recipient countries?
7. What system do you now use to determine the areas in which government should not function?
8. How does the United Nations Charter represent to us a radical new concept in the source of rights?
9. Does adding numbers to a social problem change the basic truths which must be used in finding an answer?
10. We're all against slavery which is total ownership of the productive effort by the government. At what point between total slavery and freedom are you personally going to draw the line?
11. What is an inalienable "right"? (Obviously, "life" cannot be alienated, transferred from one person to another.)
12. What then, is inalienable liberty?
13. Is there a difference between liberty and freedom? If so, what?
14. What did 18th century men mean by saying that property is inalienable?

"Social Responsibilities Of Organized Labor" (Published By National Council of Churches)

I want to continue to quote and comment on the book financed by the National Council of Churches of Christ in America. I cannot believe that most of the members of the various churches that belong to the National Council know what the leaders of the Council are putting out as representing Christian ideologies. It seems to me the officials are betraying their members.

The book was authored by John A. Fitch. In his "Preface" he says he was reared on a farm in the Middle West.

He relates that in 1907 a professor from University of Wisconsin led a group of students to Pittsburgh "to study labor conditions in that great center of steel industry." He says in those early years he was deeply impressed and troubled by what he saw of labor's struggle for rights.

Mr. Fitch believes, as I think most people believe, that this change of condition in the workers' lot is due to labor organizing. Those people who have had experience on both sides of the labor problem as worker and employer, and know enough about what causes wages to rise so they can answer questions without embarrassment or contradiction, are thoroughly convinced that labor's lot would be much better today if it were not for organized labor's success in getting enough control of key industries to paralyze the country with strikes.

Mr. Fitch doesn't seem to realize the objective of the labor movement is to get a complete monopoly so the individual has no right to choose his line of work and to use his conscience. He compares the steel workers at that time to the farmers. He contends the farmers were independent but the steel workers were not even free to challenge publicly the position of their employers. He relates: "They lived under a regime of fear, as did the workers in other mills and factories where spies reported to management officials any evidences of independent thought or action."

Certainly the steel workers had a right to know what the management thought and believed, and it seems to me the management had an equal right to know what the workers were trying to do. Especially when they knew a conspiracy of workers would greatly reduce their ability to furnish better jobs and ever-increasing wages and sell their product at an ever-diminishing price. But Mr. Fitch seems to think the employer has no right to know whether his workers believe in a free and unhampered market and the competitive system which all men have the right to help establish or whether they believe they should get a fictitious wage by conspiracy and under duress of injuring the employer, his suppliers and other worker-consumers.

Then the author makes this statement: "It seemed strange to me and utterly wrong—a denial of the spirit of democracy which I had been taught to believe was a fundamental principle of Americanism."

Of course, he doesn't tell you what he means by "democracy;" whether he means that right and wrong is determined by the majority or whether he means that all people are equal before the law as they are before God. He evidently meant majority rule; that the individual had no rights that the majority need respect or that the majority had no rights that the individual need respect.

He seemed to be worried because the employer might suffer the consequences of their beliefs from the employer, but does he think the employees now belonging to a labor union are free to express their opinions without the risk of losing their jobs?

Under the former condition where the employer had a right to discharge the man, he could go to another employer, but under the present condition the worker who disagreed with the union brass would have to completely change his line of work or he would be boycotted no matter

Nazareth Area Is Communist Stronghold

By RAY TUCKER

NAZARETH — This mountainous city where Jesus Christ lived for 37 years repudiates His gospel of Christian brotherhood by being the stronghold of Communist activity and philosophy in all Israel.

Two of the members of the National Legislature (the Knesset) represent in a general way the districts that include the caves which once housed the Holy Family, Joseph's carpentry shop and the below-ground dwelling of St. Anne, Mary's mother. It was here that the Angel Gabriel delivered the fateful message that Mary was to become the mother of the Messiah.

The Israeli Government, however, has a unique way of handling the Communists. It undoubtedly explains why they have no real strength and constitute no threat. It ignores them completely.

When a Red orator in the Knesset assails the West and urges Israel to make terms with the hostile Arabs, the parliamentary reporter dutifully records his speech. But the next speaker resumes debate of the pending motion or question as if there had been no interruption. The newspapers do likewise.

MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL—

Another surprising discovery on a visit to this religious shrine is the fact that Nazareth is an Arab citadel, politically. Of the 25,000 inhabitants, 15,000 are Arab Christians and most of the rest are Moslems.

The Mayor and the members of the City Council are also Arabs of Christian faith. In fact, the guide who escorts tourists through these holy places, and who explains them so accurately and earnestly that he might have lived during the dawn of Christianity, is an Arab.

Unlike the 800,000 refugees who fled into the desert, and now constitute one of the basic conflicts between Israel and the Arab states, 200,000 Arabs remain in Israel.

They apparently did not trust Arab politicians' declarations that the Israelis would be crushed, and that they would soon return and rule as conquerors. They also preferred to reside in relatively prosperous and stable Israel than to suffer the poverty and privations of their brethren in Egypt, Jordan, Saudi Arabia and Syria.

TWO ARE FRIENDLY — Relations between the Israelis and the Arabs in Nazareth and elsewhere are normal and friendly. They do not mingle socially, for they live on different cultural and economic levels. But they trade and talk with each other in the crowded and noisy market places, in restaurants and have endless curbside conversations. Here, the men talk while the women do the work both in the fields and in the homes.

The Government has recently taken steps to improve the lot of an estimated 8,000 refugees in Nazareth. Although they have a subsistence sort of employment, they live in substandard rooms and ramshackle tenements.

JEWISH ENTERPRISE — Although assailed in Communist and Egyptian propaganda as a Middle East outpost of "American imperialism," Israel has set up show-cases of democracy and private enterprise on two turbulent continents — Asia and Africa. The United States could not undertake the assignment because it is still under suspicion in these areas because of its close association with Britain and France.

and-reserve system here at first hand.

BUSINESS FLATTERY — Israel was one of the first nations to recognize the Negro republic of Ghana, where Vice President Nixon rushed to sell the U.S. last year. In a deft maneuver to flatter the new government, Tel Aviv named the shipping firm which carries goods to Ghana the "Black Star," the latter word referring to the "Star of David," Israel's main water carrier is the Zim Navigation Lines.

Israel and Eritrea have organized joint ownership a meat-packing and processing plant that is the largest in that section of East Africa. It provides profits and foodstuffs for both countries in a partnership operation.

DISSIPATE HOSTILITY — These relationships, Israeli officials hope, will dissipate the suspicion and hostility in which she has been held in the Far East, Africa, Southeast Asia, proper, and, perhaps, in certain Arab areas influenced by Cairo and Moscow.

According to the viewpoint here, there can be no permanent fear or resentment of Israel because of its small size, its present stage of development, its financial state and its current difficulties with hostile neighbors.

Eventually, Israel may be in a position to act as a diplomatic middleman for the United States in these and other areas, where Muscovite and Egyptian propaganda may have poisoned the people against us.

BID FOR A SMILE

At a small country town, a young and comely lawyer, made certain proposals at a town meeting, which were objected to by a farmer, highly annoyed, he said to the lawyer: Lawyer — Sir, do you know that I have been at two universities, and at two colleges in each university? Farmer — Well, sir, what of that? I had a calf that kicked two cows, and the observation I made was, the more he sucked the greater calf he grew.

Mac Making Home Into A Health Resort

A man's home is supposed to be his castle, but I won't be able to say that about mine in two or three days.

Mary and I are working night and day to convert it into a health resort like the one Elizabeth Arden runs in Arizona, where Mamie Eisenhower is staying.

The papers say Miss Arden's joint charges $600 a week with the guarantee that guests will lose a pound a day, that works out, in anybody's arithmetic, at close to $100 bucks a pound, which must be the highest price per pound I have ever reached.

Miss Arden's resort is known as Maine Chance.

Mary's and mine will be named Slim Chance.

We are going further than Miss Arden in the way of a guarantee. We will guarantee that while the wife is losing a pound a day, the husband, back home and working, will lose at least six pounds a day. Our price of $801 a week takes care of him.

He'll be so busy trying to pay for his wife's slimming that he'll come down to a shadow.

Miss Arden offers her customers a variety of services, including a paraffin bath, in which hot paraffin is poured over the victim — I mean the guest — and then cracked off. That sounds difficult and expensive, but it isn't at all.

We tried the paraffin bath on our poodle, Charlie, using all the melted-down Christmas candles we had stored away. Pouring hot paraffin over a fat woman is a couldn't-be-more-difficult moment than pouring it over a poodle. A fat woman couldn't be more upset if she tried — and I'm sure it wouldn't be so hard to get it off her ears!

The menu at Maine Chance which was published in the papers sounds simple and horrible. We don't serve herb tea, which is said to be the principal drink at Miss Arden's resort, but you know herb tea isn't hard to make. My back yard, and part of the front, has enough peculiar weeds in it to make ten thousand gallons of peculiar tasting tea.

Mary and I might even be generous with our herb tea and put up a sign in the lounge (where our storage closet is at the moment) that says, "ALL THE HERB TEA YOU CAN DRINK FOR $37.50." That'll sound like a bargain to any woman paying $401 a week.

I see where the President is being fussed at for taking Mrs. Eisenhower out there for free in his presidential plane. That's silly, his being fussed at for that. How could anyone afford $600 a week plus rail or plane fares both ways to Arizona?

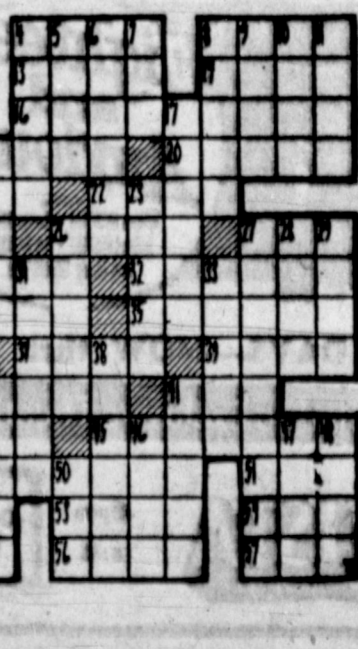

Besides, I'll bet you that most of the people that fussed at the President would do the same thing if they were President and had a plane they could use. I know I would. If I were President, Mary wouldn't even have to walk to the drugstore or the grocery store. I'd have her flown. There'd be a fanfare and trumpets when she stepped aboard, and if anyone complained I'd tell them to go ahead and get to be President and then stop me. But not open.

Blim Chance will be open next week. Brochure on request — if accompanied by three weeks' advance payment.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Could you please talk some sense into my wife's head? I have a system worked out that requires only $3,000 and it will make millions. It is a fool-proof scientific way to beat the horse races. My wife has the money but she refuses to lend it to me even at ten per cent. This means a lot to me because I have finally worked it out after studying it for six years. Could you please convince her that she is passing up a fortune?

and then have a talk with him. No matter how talented the child is - two numbers and one for an encore (if they are persistent in their coaxing) should be the limit.

DEAR ABBY: I am one of the "bananas" who stands around in bunches with the other boys at school dances. I do this because I can't dance. So what else can I do but stand there and watch the other kids dance?

DEAR ABBY: I am a grown man, 41 years of age and ever since I was 32 years old I have been trying to get married. Please don't think I am crazy, but I have given an engagement ring to six different girls and broken the engagement because my mother had a "heart attack" every time I told her. After nine years of going with six different girls (one at a time) the doctor who has been my friend since I was a little boy, told me my mother has no heart condition and never has had. She came out and said if I got married she would kill herself. I know this is unfair, but how can I get married under the conditions as they exist?

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

When her children were young, Nora A.'s mother often felt overworked and resentful. So she slapped and spanked a lot. Coming up from the cellar washtubs, she'd find a younger child playing with the kitchen taps. Ripping off his wet shirt, she'd say to Nora, "When Nora said, 'No, Ma, you didn't,' her mother would cry: 'Are you calling me a liar, Miss Fresh?' - and slap her twice sharply across the face."

Nora would deal with this painful humiliation by retreating into a great sense of dignity. She'd feel intense contempt for her mother's lack of control, thinking, "I am made of finer stuff than this red-faced unreasonable woman. I am above such horrid physical violence."

Later, of course, when she was restored to favor, she forget that she'd had these thoughts.

But today they dominate her treatment of Tommy, her four-year-old son.

She's afraid to spank him. But she doesn't know it. When Tommy persists in running away in the park, she thinks her appeals for better obedience are kind and reasonable.

Actually, they express her terror of arousing in Tommy the fiercely contemptuous feelings that she experienced when she was spanked herself.

I do not regard spanking as wonderful discipline, but I think fear of it is very destructive to relationship between parents and children.

For we cannot fool children. They know when our dignity and reasonableness are real, and when these attitudes disguise our fear of physical assertion.

As Tommy needs his mother to be concerned with him instead of filled with fear of him, he will challenge and challenge the fear until she overcomes it and risks arousing his anger in order to protect him.

So, if we are parents who secretly believe we are very superior to the low business of spanking, we may also be pretty unhappy ones.

It may be helpful to ask ourselves, "Where did I get the idea that physical assertion is so demanding? How did I develop this intense contempt for spanking?"

Answering these questions may not be easy, for the truth is buried along with painful memories of old humiliation and helplessness.

Chairman Of Beta Sigma Phi Table Setting Contest Announces Rules

Plans for the Annual Beta Sigma Phi Table Setting Contest have been completed, according to Mrs. Jim Brown, chairman.

This, the Fifth Annual event will be held Mar. 15 in the Senior High School Field House from 1 until 8 p.m. Tickets will sell for $1 each for adults and 50 cents for students. Sorority members will be at the door with tickets on the day of the contest.

Proceeds from the sale of tickets will be donated to the Pampa Youth and Community Center.

Prizes of $25 for first place will be awarded in each category; formal and informal. $15 will be awarded to each of the second place winners.

Door prizes will be awarded by the Pampa Merchants.

Rules and regulations for the contest have been set up as follows:

1. There will be no fee for entering a table to be judged. All clubs and organizations are invited to attend.

2. Clubs are to provide their own table and its transportation to the Field House.

3. The table must be placed in the gym and decorated between 8 a.m. and not later than noon on the morning of the contest. It is requested that only the chairman and one other club member be present at each table in order to avoid confusion.

4. Wrappings and boxes used in transporting the decorations should be removed from the table area.

5. Table and accessories should be removed immediately following the show, which will end about 8:30 p.m. The Sorority cannot be responsible for articles left overnight.

6. Tables and accessories will be insured against fire, theft, and vandalism, but they cannot be insured against breakage.

7. Each person buying a ticket will cast two votes; one for a formal setting, and one for an informal setting. Tables will be voted on by numbers.

8. Any placard used must be set on the floor beside the table. To the Sunshine Home Demonstrator.

9. Photographs, painting, etc. done by individual club members were displayed on the art table featuring a hand painting by the club's president, Mrs. H. W. Callan.

In covering the literary hobby, Mrs. Lehnick gave a short talk on better books stating, "The more knowledge you have, the more power you have. Most people have a tendency toward writing something in their life, these times being of great happiness, sadness, or near death." A review of "The Storm" by George Bernard Shaw was given by Mrs. Lehnick.

For the cooking hobby a skit was presented by Mrs. Lehnick portraying the part of a new bride showing different foods, timesaving hints, etc.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. H. W. Callan. The minutes were given by Mrs. Raymond Jordan.

Refreshments of coffee and cakes were served by the hostess to two guests, Mmes. Pat Howell of Pampa, and Bill Teel and the following members: Miss Norma Lantz, Mmes. Howard Archer, Earl Atkinson, R. H. Barrow, Ray Boyd, H. W. Callan, J. E. Carter, Bud Cumberledge, C. H. Gustin, Carl Hall, Jerry Jacobs, James Jinks, Raymond Jordan, Edward Lehnick, D. D. Lewis, W. D. McBea, and L. R. Spence.

Lefors Art And Civics Club Has Meeting And "Hobbies" Program

(Special To The News) LEFORS - Mrs. D. D. Lewis was hostess to the Lefors Art and Civics Club meeting in the civic center, recently.

Mrs. Edward Lehnick was program chairman for the evening, using the theme, "Hobbies."

The hobbies, which were those of members, included sewing, music, art and crafts, literary, and cooking, were individually displayed on tables throughout the room.

The sewing display featured yards of material suspended from a pole extending to the edges of the table with improvised scissors scattered over the material. Included in the display were different items belonging to club members whose hobby was sewing.

Mrs. Lehnick then donned fancy gloves, hat and a high air to announce Mmes. Raymond Jordan, C. E. Gustin, L. R. Spence, and R. H. Barrow who modeled dresses they had made.

Mrs. Pat Howell, owner of the Hobby Shop, was present to explain and display the hobby of arts and crafts. She demonstrated glass tile work, copper and tile kits and articles made of them including vases, ashtrays, serving trays, lamp bases, jewelry, match boxes, bridge sets, etc. and closed with the statement that "Everyone should have a hobby. Children get into less trouble who have a constructive hobby in which the family is interested."

Photographs, painting, etc. done by individual club members were displayed on the art table featuring a hand painting by the club's president, Mrs. H. W. Callan.

Theta Rho Girls Hold Meeting

The Pampa Theta Rho Girls Club No. 18 met in the IOOF Hall recently.

Fifteen members and one advisor were present. A report was given on the rummage and bake sale which was held last week. The sales netted $76 for the club. Miss JoAnn Johnson, member was reported ill. Miss Pearl Castka was re-elected advisor for the coming year.

Plans were announced concerning a box supper which is being supported by the group on Saturday night. A dance is planned along with the supper with all Junior Odd Fellows invited.

A chili supper was planned for Mar. 22. Miss Kay Stapleton is in charge of tickets for the affair. The next meeting will be held Mar. 11 in the IOOF Hall.

Merten HD Club Holds Craftday

Merten Home Demonstration Club held a craftday in the home of Mrs. A. M. Nash. The all-day session was spent making party favors, sewing, and cooking.

Mrs. Nash made an Avocado Dip from the following recipe: Two medium-sized avocados mashed; one large pkg. Philadelphia Creamed Cheese; one tablespoon lemon juice; dash of garlic salt; mix all ingredients together, and add enough mayonnaise to make it thin enough to dip.

Mrs. Nash served the dip with Fritos and a sack lunch, brought by members, during the noon hour. Attending were Mmes. Jack Howard, Archie Maness, T. G. Groves, A. M. Nash, Jack Prather.

The next craftday will be held in the home of Mrs. T. G. Groves on the last Friday in March.

Then when you tactfully tell your hostess that you have to leave to get the baby stroller home he looks surprised and says, "It's not that late."

Men are wonderful - except at times like these.

You show your husband something you picked up for a song, a bargain that would impress any woman, and when you triumphantly point to the price tag he asks innocently, "Is that good?"

The painter just misses getting the shade of paint on the wall that will pick up a subtle accent color in the drapery fabric. As far as you are concerned the whole effect you are trying to achieve is ruined, but your husband says, "What's wrong with it? It looks fine to me."

You are expecting guests for dinner and are up to your elbows in cooking. So your husband comes home from the office early and decides to clean the garage, calling for you every five minutes to ask: "What do you want me to do with this?"

You are barely on speaking terms with a woman who has more than once given you reason to resent her. After a few minutes of polite chatting with her at a party your husband says, "I don't see why you don't like her. She seems like a real nice person."

You tell your husband you haven't a thing to wear to a party, meaning you haven't anything that is suitable. He wants to know why you don't wear "that blue dress" that no longer has anything to recommend it except that it is still the color of your eyes.

You drag your man to a party he doesn't want to go to on your promise that you'll leave early.

Gaillard Faces Grim Fight To Preserve Life Of Cabinet

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCONNAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Premier Felix Gaillard faces a grim fight for his cabinet's life in the French Parliament.

Gaillard has decided to ask the National Assembly, the controlling house of Parliament, for votes of confidence on two critical issues within the next few days.

The first is on the military budget, to find means of increasing funds for fighting the rebellion in Algeria without upsetting the budget as a whole.

The second is on a plan for constitutional reform, to make it harder for the National Assembly to overthrow governments.

All three factions in Gaillard's delicately-balanced coalition cabinet — right-wingers, moderates and left-wingers — are dissatisfied with various features of both his budget and reform plans.

Defeat Brings Crisis

A defeat on either vote of confidence could bring Gaillard's fall and a new cabinet crisis.

The last crisis lasted 37 days before the National Assembly confirmed Gaillard last Nov. 8 as France's 24th premier since the country's liberation in World War II.

The Gaillard ministry is four months old today. Hence it has not yet survived for the average length of French post-war cabinets, which is about six months.

However, the surprising feature of Gaillard's prime ministry is not that it is threatened with defeat so soon. But that it has lasted so long. It has been shaky since its start.

Gaillard Will Go

Paris dispatches report that Gaillard is pretty sure to go, within the next few weeks if not within the next week.

If Gaillard survives the vote on army expenditures, he will face a bigger test when the National Assembly takes up the constitutional reform plan next Tuesday.

The nine factions which make up Gaillard's coalition are split wide open on various features of this plan.

Most Frenchmen believe that constitutional reform is essential. The long series of cabinet crises has weakened France internationally and internally. But National Assemblymen are reluctant to give up their present power to overthrow cabinets.

In the present situation as in past ones, there is increasing belief that France's only course is to bring into power a "strong man" like Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Try to find a good bid with the South hand after East overcalls North's one club bid with one spade. There just isn't any.

South decided on the overbid of two no-trump and North raised to three.

West opened the king of spades and South let it hold. At this point in the proceedings a heart shift might have caused South's downfall but it would take a better man than this West to make that play. Particularly as East had signaled a come-on with the jack of spades.

South won the spade continuation and now it did not matter which minor suit he chose to go after. Actually he tried the diamond and West won with his ace.

Now West led a heart and South went right up with dummy's ace. He could not afford the luxury of a finesse.

The ace of clubs was knocked out next and East could take his king of hearts or establish the

Munshin Was Tops In 'Sleepy Hollow'

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—NBC-TV's "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" almost wound up on the sleepy and hollow side of the ledger Wednesday night. I say "almost" because one of its cast members, Jules Munshin, saved it from going under with a bright and spirited and elegant performance.

Munshin is a gentleman I know only as a comic from such Broadway efforts as "Call Me Mister" and such movies as "Silk Stockings." Munshin had billing Wednesday below a couple of other members of the cast — including Shirley Temple who was making her TV dramatic debut — but in the role of "Ichabod Crane" he swiped the show.

"Sleepy Hollow" was another entry in Shirley Temple's "Storybook" and its writing was pretty witless. For its humor it drew upon such things as fat ladies singing, a boy sitting on a tack and the oddities of Dutch-American syntax. I am, of course, using the word humor here with a certain amount of imprecision.

Ain't Funny

I think the low point of my nighttime TV watching this season may have been his Wednesday evening when Miss Temple was playing a Dutch maiden — said to Crane, the schoolmaster: "It makes funny-ain't?" Miss Temple delivered it with all the éclat of a non-swimmer going under for the third time.

As for Miss Temple and her debut, I would say she has a lot to learn about her trade. Unlike other former child stars now working the adult side of the street who have shown some respect for their craft by studying it and working hard at it—Roddy McDowall, Dean Stockwell, Margaret O'Brien — Miss Temple shows no evidence of study or hard work.

She delivers her lines with Rebecca of Sunnybrook — farm-cuteness and she reacts to situations with the kind of cuddly face making that went out with Ruby Keeler movies. Her dramatic equipment consists only of the stereotyped responses that so many motion picture performers try to pass off as "acting." She may be 20 and the mother of three, but I suggest she go back to school and learn something about her trade.

'A' for Effort

NBC-TV's "Kraft Theatre" tried awfully hard Wednesday night with "Dog in a Bush Tunnel" and I would give it an "A" for effort. It was a fragile play in the William Saroyan sense, a tender study of lovers in search of love and goodness, and if it floundered, it was only because it's so difficult to keep this sort of thing from falling into awkwardness and mawkishness.

It slipped when it ushered in an embarrassingly stock character—a good, good doctor turned alcoholic—and it slipped again in its climactic scene when the lonely boy and lonely girl came together in a grand onrush of mush.

But its small talk was amusing and right, and some of its characters were also very right. There were good performances by Cameron Mitchell as the boy, Gloria Vanderbilt as the girl, Marty Balam as a friend and Frank McHugh as a barroom bore. There was also an exceptionally good performance by Patricia Englund as a self-deceiving featherbrain.

Ordinarily, I don't mention directors, but Sidney Lumet must be mentioned in this case — he chauffeured the vehicle with a beautiful hand.

The Channel Swims: There's a wild rumor floating around the corridors of CBS-TV that the network is pitching a series at the Duchesse of Windsor. Ed Sullivan will move his CBS-TV show out to Las Vegas for one week in July.

"Pantomime Quiz" will spend this summer at ABC-TV as a replacement for "Telephone Time." "Too Young To Go Steady" looks hot again at CBS-TV as a summer show—it's a live situation comedy with Don Ameche. Comic Frank Fontaine has pulled out of "Laugh" which bows in March 20 on ABC-TV — Buddy Lester replaces him. Ethel Merman and Jack Paar will do a special "Chevy Show" on NBC-TV March 30.

Municipalities League Names Convention City

Sidelighting a meeting devoted almost wholly to initiating a program for Texas cities and towns, Dallas was named 1956 convention city by the governing board of the League of Texas Municipalities at a day-long session in Austin recently.

League officers chose Theo W. Pinson, Jr., San Antonio councilman, to fill a board vacancy created when John Daniels resigned as San Antonio councilman recently.

city is Houston, where up to 1,500 city officials are expected to convene next November 2-4. The League's 885 member cities contain two-thirds of the state's total population and 98 per cent of its urban dwellers.

The League board meeting this week was the first for new Executive Director Steve Matthews, formerly city manager of San Antonio, who assumed the directorship in February. He offered the board members a tentative legislative program in addition to proposals for improved administration of League activities conducted at the Austin headquarters. (Matthews is a former city manager of Pampa.)

White Men In New War With Indians

By FRANK SPENCER
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 CHICAGO (UP) — The white man is waging a fresh campaign against the Indian, an Episcopal priest charged today.

"The Indian still is losing the white man's war," said the Rev. Peter John Powell, 30, a crew-cut pastor who came out of swank Bryn Mawr, Pa., to lend a hand to the Indian.

"As a matter of fact," said the Rev. Mr. Powell, "the white man in the last five years has taken 12 per cent of the Indian's total allotted land. In the same period, the Pine Ridge Sioux of South Dakota have lost 95,000 acres — twice as much land as they lost in the preceding 50 years."

The Rev. Mr. Powell is chairman of the committee on Indian work for the Episcopal diocese of Chicago. The committee was formed two years ago when large numbers of Indians began arriving here, fresh from the reservation and ready for a try at the white man's ways.

"They found things weren't as rosy as they'd been led to believe," he said in an interview. "I had worked with Indians in the Southwest and I had always been interested in them and I became a sort of missionary."

Lossing 500,000 Acres a Year
 "Who's taking the Indians' lands?" he was asked.

"Cattle, oil and timber interests, mostly," he said. "They do it in two ways. They buy up land owned individually by the Indian, and they force the Indian tribes to liquidate the reservation lands."

This has been going on since 1933, he said, and the Indian has been losing close to 500,000 acres of land a year. He said "land grabbers" have complete support of federal authorities who are supposed to be protecting Indian rights.

The "land grabbers," he said, have a strong lobby and have been able to sew up federal money that could be used to improve reservations.

Lost 50 Pounds With Barcenate

Ethel Lambert, 902 W. Broadway, Fort Worth, Texas, states that she lost 50 pounds taking Barcenate and that she now takes it for its tonic effects.

Just ask your druggist for four ounces of Barcenate, the original grapefruit juice recipe. Mix and take as directed on label. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to take off ugly fat, safely, easily and without starvation diet, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Popular Demand Puts Webb's 'Noah's Ark' Back On TV

By VERNON SCOTT
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Jack Webb, TV's Sergeant Friday, has turned grave-digger, exhuming the remains of "Noah's Ark" — his only video flop — for another shot at the network.

The "Ark," a pleasant, low-key story about a small-town veterinarian, sank without a trace after 23 weeks on the air.

It will be relaunched May 25 by "popular demand."

The demand: About 60,000 letters addressed to Webb from irate viewers who thought the show should have stayed afloat. This was enough to convince NBC bigwigs that it might survive a second voyage.

Letters poured in from adults as well as children... from educators, housewives and youth groups," Webb said. "Many wrote in petition form and one—a scroll—was signed by several hundred children at one elementary school."

Show Is Handicapped
 Webb's show will buck "Lassie" on Sunday nights. It is further handicapped in that the first 23 episodes are re-runs.

This time, if we come up with a good rating we'll start filming new episodes with the same cast.

"If it fails again we'll just forget the program and chalk it up to experience."

Prepares New Show
 Jack needn't head for the poorhouse if the "Ark" founders a second time. His "Dragnet" is now filming its seventh year and remains a top favorite. The crew-cut actor-producer-director also is preparing another series, "Pete Kelly's Blues," to make its debut in the fall.

"We have 18 scripts completed for 'Kelly,' but none to play the title role," he grinned. "This much I do know — I won't be playing the part."

"If 'Kelly' and the 'Ark' are on the air next October along with 'Dragnet' it will make me a mighty happy man. I have confidence in 'Noah's Ark,' and I think it will make the grade this time."

Much depends on whether Webb and company can steal away a large segment of the "Lassie" show.

CINCINNATI, Ohio — Actress Marie (The Body) McDonald, on her off-again-on-again husband's most recent request for a divorce:

"Oh, fiddle-dee-dee. I love Harry and Harry loves me. The children and I will be waiting until Harry gets over this latest bit of foolishness."

STOCKHOLM — A court source on how Princess Margaretha will present Robin Douglas-Home, to whom she is believed engaged, to her grandfather, King Gustav Adolf:

"I don't see how the vice president can exercise the powers and duties of the presidency without taking the oath as President. After he once takes it, I don't see how the President can reclaim the office."
