Revamp Mideast Policy

Agreement Among Partners In Pact

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press International
LONDON (UPI)—The United States and her Baghdad Pact partners are in broad agreement on a revamped Middle East policy, including neutralization of Lebanon and probable ultimate recognition of the new Iraqi regime, authoritative sources said today.

The outlines of the policy emerged during the two-day session of the "northern tier" alliance council which ended here Tuesday.

It was attended by the prime ministers and foreign ministers of Britain, Turkey, Iran and Pakistan. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles represented the United States at the opening meeting Monday. American Ambassador John Hay Whitney sat in Tuesday.

The new revolutionary regime of Iraq, the fifth full member of the alliance, did not send a representative.

Aid For Jordan
The main points of the "new-look" policy were:
—Recognition of a "special" neutral status for Lebanon under United Nations aegis and its removal from the forces of pro-Nasser Arab nationalism.
—Withdrawal of U.S. troops from Lebanon as soon as the situation there is stabilized. This would be done in agreement with Britain which would not be left "holding the bag" in Jordan.
—A "wait-and-see" attitude toward Iraq, leading probably to eventual recognition of the new regime. Although the other members have more or less written off Iraq as a member of the alliance, they will take no action to exclude the possibility it will stay in.
—Military and economic aid to Jordan to shore up King Hussein's shaky regime. The U.S. and her partners fear a resumption of war between the Arabs and Israel if Hussein's government disintegrates.

U.S. Will Cooperate
"Concerted action" by all member states to combat by "all legitimate means" the menace of "indirect aggression," subversive radio propaganda and smuggling of arms and men. The members consider the chief threat of this nature comes from President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic with strong Soviet support.

The highlight of the council session was the announcement that the United States had agreed to cooperate with Britain and the three Moslem pact members for their "security and defense."

Dulles said bilateral agreements would be negotiated with Turkey, Iran and Pakistan for increased U.S. military and economic aid.

Gavin Says US Is In 'Bad Danger'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin (Ret.) ex-research chief of the Army, said today the United States is "in mortal danger" because it lags "at least three, and more likely five years" behind Russia in missile development.

Gavin blamed much of the missile lag and other "errors in our overall military policy" on former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

Wilson, vacationing at Boyne City, Mich., today refused direct comment on Gavin's charge, saying his book "in a rather nasty way."

"He's setting himself up as an expert in a field in which he has no experience," Wilson said.

Wilson said he was competent enough to be considered a military authority. It's a case of a little knowledge being a dangerous thing."

The former secretary said Gavin was the type of military man the writers of the U.S. Constitution had in mind when they made certain civilians would always control the country's military establishment.

House Labor Group Slams Door On Bill

By BETTY PRYOR
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Labor Committee has virtually slammed the door on any broad labor reform bill this year despite overwhelming Senate approval.

The Committee finally received the Senate-approved reform bill, designed to crack down on labor racketeering and promote democratic union practices, but Chairman Graham A. Barden (D-N.C.) said no House hearings were in prospect.

"We have to be practical," he told United Press International. "The sun is going down on this session (of Congress)."

Other committee members agreed the reform bill stood no chance of getting through the committee this year.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), co-sponsor of the bill, charged that a lobby headed by the National Association of Manufacturers had killed it in the House. Kennedy said the NAM flooded congressmen with "intemperate, exaggerated and misleading" attacks upon the bill.

The NAM quickly replied to Kennedy, branding his charges as "completely false." NAM President Milton C. Lightner said the organization opposed the legislation because it was "woefully inadequate to meet the corrective measures so clearly and dramatically indicated by the sordid disclosures of the McClellan hearings."

Speaker Sam Rayburn delayed sending the reform bill to the divided labor committee for more than a month, and explained he had wanted to wait until the labor group disposed of a Senate-passed welfare fund bill.

This explanation drew the fire of Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), who accused Rayburn of holding the bill on his desk for 41 days.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Or.) blamed Rayburn's "mistaken leadership" for bottling up the labor reform measure, which passed the Senate 88-1.

Elections Set For A New President

By LARRY COLLINS
United Press International
BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—U. S. forces in Lebanon tightened security measures today on the eve of scheduled parliamentary elections for a new Lebanese president. There was some doubt that the election would be held.

The cabinet of Premier Sami Solh threatened Tuesday to boycott the elections until the Lebanese army clears the rebels out of Beirut. Opposition forces demanded that President Camille Chamoun and U. S. forces pull out before any election.

Two Marine helicopters made several sweeps over the port area occupied by Marine forces early today, obviously taking a close look at the rooftops stretching from the port to the rebel-held Basta area a few blocks away.

Faubus Gets Returned To Gov. Post

By PRESTON MCGRAW
United Press International
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus today credited the sending of federal troops to Little Rock in the integration crisis for a vote that gave him a third term by the biggest majority in Arkansas history.

Almost complete returns from Tuesday's Democratic primary gave him 69.3 per cent of the vote. The rest was almost evenly divided between his opponents, Little Rock meat packer Chris Finkbeiner, 37, and Judge Lee Ward, 52, of Paragould.

Unofficial returns to United Press International from 2,217 of the state's 2,332 precincts gave Faubus 244,225 votes, Finkbeiner 54,284 and Ward 52,340.

"The voting was a condemnation by the people of illegal federal intervention in the affairs of the state and the horrifying use of federal bayonets in the streets of an American city and in the halls of a public school," Faubus, 48, said in a victory statement.

Would Do It Again
He meant President Eisenhower's sending of 1,000 troops of the 101st Airborne Division to Little Rock last September to protect nine Negroes who enrolled in Central High School.

Faubus previously had used two companies of the National Guard to keep Negroes out of the school on the ground that integration of Central would provoke bloody violence.

Mrs. L. C. Bates, president of the Arkansas chapter of the NAACP, declined to comment on Faubus' victory. She led the fight to get the Negroes into the school. Integration itself was not an election issue, since Ward and Finkbeiner were against it. The

Collapsible Poles For Decorations

*Collapsible poles will be the best installation for the proposed Christmas street decorations, Engineer Ralph Milliron told a Merchants Activities' sub-committee yesterday.

MAC Chairman B. M. Behrman said that he would call a meeting of the full committee soon to pass on the financial feasibility of such an undertaking.

The Merchants Activities Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce has been seeking the best way out of the age-old dilemma of hanging Christmas street ornaments. The aluminum Garland that hung over Cuyler in June was a sample of the proposed ornaments.

Finally the group invited an engineer to consult with them. Milliron's report resulted from a study he made of the problem.

Donations Come In To Home For The Aged

The Top of Texas Foundation has received two new contributions for the construction of a home for the aged. Arthur Teed, president, disclosed today.

A $100 donation came from the Aquila and Prescilla Sunday School class of the Pampa First Christian Church. Also, Mrs. De Lea Vicars donated $100.

Earlier, a $50 gift was received from Robert W. Orr.

The Foundation Board hopes to start construction on the home by the fall of next year.

Curfew Has Haiti Quiet

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UPI)—Haiti was reported quiet early today under a 12-hour curfew imposed in the wake of Tuesday's abortive attempt to overthrow President Francois Duvalier.

Strict censorship, reinforced by armed guards at the overseas telephone exchange, veiled details of the situation, but there were no immediate reports of new violence.

In Miami, Date County Safety Director Thomas Kelley said Payne was one of six former sheriff's deputies involved in a rebel plot. All six either were fired, or had resigned, although only two of them were believed to have taken an active part in the uprising.

Kelley said Payne and another detective, Dany Jones, 28, had been hired to ferry two Haitian refugees—Philippe Dominique and Henri Perignon, leaders of the revolt—back to their homeland by boat.

Rodeo Value Round Up Plans Told

"We have had better cooperation on this than on any other promotion," said B. M. Behrman, chairman of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce Merchants Activities Committee that has embarked on a "super sales program" for Rodeo Week. The promotion is known as Rodeo Value Round Up.

Monday will be Dollar Day. The Round Up will begin Thursday, lasting through the Rodeo. Closing day Saturday will be "Visitor's Day" with patrons expected from McLean, Canadian, Shamrock, Miami, White Deer and other towns.

To this end the Pampa News will turn out 5,000 extra copies for distribution Thursday of Rodeo Week.

Sixty-five stores are in the promotion. Each one will display Rodeo Value Round up signs.

For a half hour each day, a Rodeo band will play in front of the First National Bank. The Leon McAuliffe group will alternate with Ruby Nance and company. For the children, a special cartoon show will be shown Friday morning.

The Rodeo parade will be Monday at 3 p.m., Kid Pony; and 2 p.m. Wednesday for the opening parade of the World's Championship Amateur Rodeo.

Catholics In Poland Face Arrest Threat

WARSAW (UPI)—Roman Catholic leaders in Communist Poland faced the threat of arrest today as a sequel to last week's police raid on the shrine-monastery of Jasna Gora.

Prosecutor General Andrej Burda issued a statement Tuesday night denouncing the church account of the monastery raid as "false and lying." He threatened "legal action" against persons who circulated the story.

Burda announced that one person already has been arrested—presumably a member of the angry crowd that gathered at Jasna Gora to oppose the raiders. The church account said the raiders arrested a monk, several priests and a number of laymen.

Unconfirmed reports today said St. John Cardinal Wysinski is in Jasna Gora collecting information on the raid.

Burda's statement charged that the monastery was the site of an illegal anti-state printing plant fostered by the church.

Bishop Zdzislaw Golinski charged in a pastoral letter earlier this week that men, women and children who gathered to protest the raid were brutally subdued by some 200 police who rushed to the scene to reinforce the raiding party.

He said the church publications seized in the raid had already been submitted to the state censor.

Burda said 200, were sent to the monastery. He charged also that the raiders found illegally published documents in the historic monastery.

Senate Seeks Passage Of Defense Bill By Tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate hoped to pass by tonight a huge defense money bill calling for more than 49 billion dollars—about one billion dollars more than President Eisenhower thought necessary for military needs.

As drafted by the Senate Appropriations Committee the bill totaled $40,032,811,000, some $1,623,250,000 larger than the version passed by the House.

With the House scheduled to meet on a routine packers and stockyards act, most other congressional activity of interest centered in committee. Committee action assumed special importance as Congress moved toward possible adjournment by the middle of August.

The House Labor Committee virtually slammed the door on any broad labor reform bill this year despite earlier overwhelming Senate approval.

Chairman Graham A. Barden (D-N.C.) said no House hearings were in prospect for the bill, which was designed to crack down on labor racketeering and promote democratic union practices. He cited the approaching adjournment as reason for the decision.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) promptly accused House Speaker Sam Rayburn of killing the Senate-passed legislation by holding the bill on his desk for 41 days. The measure passed the Senate, 88-1.

Other congressional news:
Humane Slaughter: The Senate passed, 79-9, a bill previously approved by the House in slightly different form to require humane slaughter of meat animals. The measure now goes back to the House. The bill would require cattle, calves and other meat animals to be killed by a "single blow or gunshot" or by "electrical, chemical or other means that is rapid and effective."
Education: The House gave final congressional approval and sent to the White House a bill that would provide 210 million dollars in federal aid to schools over-crowded with children of federal workers and servicemen. The bill would make the aid program permanent.
Rackets: Senate rackets investigators summoned Teamsters James R. Hoffa for questioning in a new inquiry into racketeer in-

In Presidential Note To Khrushchev Summit Showdown Challenged

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower is challenging Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to a showdown summit meeting in mid-August and the United States plans to change the Russians with fomenting rebellion and unrest throughout the Middle East.

A presidential note to Khrushchev, to be dispatched shortly, will call for the top-level meeting to be held within the United Nations Security Council—although not necessarily in New York—between Aug. 10 and 15, high officials said.

They added that if Khrushchev accepts the challenge, the United States does not intend to appear as a "defendant" accused of "aggression" in Lebanon but will take the offensive and expose a pattern of Russian and United Arab subversion throughout the oil-rich area.

The British were reported preparing a similar note to Khrushchev as the Western powers moved to nail the Russian leader down on whether he really wants a top-level discussion of the turbulence in the Middle East.

Democrats in Congress who have been pressing the administration to agree to a summit meeting hailed the news the West will propose a mid-August date. Assistant Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said, "I'm glad we're laying it on the line."

"I would hope we would follow up a firm date with a firm program of questions to be discussed at the conference," he said, "I'd also hope we would take an affirmative position in presenting our views."

The brief Eisenhower note, in reply to a long propaganda-laden blast Monday from Khrushchev, will emphatically reject the Soviet leader's renewed suggestion for a summit meeting outside the U.N. American officials characterized Khrushchev's reversion to this proposal, after he had agreed last week to a meeting within the U.N. framework, as an effort to return to big-power diplomacy and by-pass the world organization.

Evolved By Dulles
Officials said Eisenhower will insist the Security Council make final decisions on time, place and participants for the mid-August summit meeting but will suggest that permanent representatives at the U.N. headquarters probably could arrange to set it up not later than Aug. 15.

The American decision to send Khrushchev a brief and to-the-point challenge was based upon strategy evolved by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to give the Russian leader his choice of two courses:

1. Accept a summit meeting under strict Security Council procedure. This would make it impossible for Khrushchev to bring charges against the West without also having a full airing of what U.S. officials consider a planned Russian and United Arab campaign of terror, subversion and direct aggression through the Middle East.
2. Reject the specific challenge and be put in the position of sabotaging the top-level meeting for which he has been clamoring so long.

Hoffa Blasts Senate Group; In Dallas For Conference

DALLAS (UPI)—James R. Hoffa, president of the giant Teamsters Union, said Tuesday the Senate Rackets Committee is interested "in destroying the Teamsters" for the "political aspirations" of its members.

The committee issued a new summons Tuesday for Hoffa to appear in a public hearing on investigation in labor racketeering in the Detroit area.

Hoffa is in Dallas to confer with business agents of the Southern Conference of Teamsters, meeting week-long in a local hotel.

The head of the giant Teamsters disclosed that a concerted effort will be made by the Teamsters to organize Sears, Roebuck & Co. workers and area meat cutters.

He also told of plans for the September "unity" meeting of a number of transportation unions to "coordinate" all freight movements by land, air and sea.

He said he would attend the Senate committee hearing as summoned. But he added that the hearings were only for the purpose of allowing the committee "to issue false propaganda" in an effort to destroy the labor movement.

In answer to newsmen's questions, Hoffa said committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy was given to exaggeration when he was quoted as saying Hoffa was the most powerful man in America today.

And he said there was "no truth" to the assertion attributed by committee Chairman Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) that one must have a criminal background to advance in the Teamsters Union.

Amendments To Be Voted On Nov. 4

In this issue of the News there appears the full text of one of more of the Constitutional Amendments to be voted on at the upcoming General Election (Nov. 4). So that you may be fully informed we urge that you read each proposed measure in its entirety, and study all of them carefully before you go to the polls to cast your vote.

A brief digest of the nine different amendments follows:

Number One on the ballot (HJR 1) — Provides for annual sessions of the legislature, changing the compensation, per diem and travel expenses of members of the legislature and authorizing temporary residence of the Lieutenant Governor and Speaker of the House in the Capitol Building.

Number Two on the ballot (SJR 6) — Authorizes each county to establish, after approval by its voters, a retirement, disability and death compensation fund covering the elective officers of the county or precinct, as well as the appointive officers and employees of the county or precinct.

Number Three on the ballot (HJR 30) — Provides that vacancies in the office of County Judge and Justices of the Peace shall be filled by the Commissioners Court until the next General Election.

Number Four on the ballot (HJR 31) — Provides that any District, County, or Precinct official serving a four-year term must resign before announcing for a different office. If there remains unserved more than one (1) year of the term for which he was elected.

Number Five on the ballot (HJR 48) — Provides that a Home Rule City may provide by Charter Provision, and a City operating under the general laws may provide by majority vote, for a long-term term of office than two (2) years for its officers, either elective or appointive, or both not to exceed four years.

Number Six on the ballot (HJR 17) — Provides for pension to retired Texas Rangers who are ineligible to participate in the Employees Retirement System of Texas, and their widows.

Number Seven on the ballot (SJR 4) — Authorizes the Legislature to make appropriations and establish procedure for advertising the historical, natural, agricultural, industrial, educational, recreational and other resources of Texas.

Number Eight on the ballot (HJR 36) — Gives the Legislature the power to authorize vendor payments for medical care in addition to the amount paid in the form of direct public assistance to and on behalf of needy recipients of Old Age Assistance, Aid to the Blind, Aid to Dependent Children or Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled; providing for the acceptance of funds from the Federal Government for the purpose of paying such assistance.

Number Nine on the ballot (SJR 3) — Authorizes the Legislature to create a Hospital District coextensive with the incorporated limits to the City of Amarillo, Texas and a county wide Hospital District in Wichita County, Texas, and Hospital Districts in Jefferson and County, Texas.

GAVIN

(Continued from page 1) Gavin quoted one unidentified military chief of staff as saying Wilson was "the most uninformed man, and the most determined to remain so, that has ever been secretary."

"Mr. Wilson tended to deal with his chiefs of staff as though they were recalcitrant union bosses," Gavin said. "The thought struck me a number of times that Walter Reuther, under the circumstances, would have been a more effective chief of staff than a professional soldier, ever could be."

Wilson was president of General Motors before he was named secretary of defense by President Eisenhower. Reuther is president of the United Auto Workers.

Gavin also criticized Wilson for putting too much stress on plans for massive nuclear retaliation against any enemy and neglecting preparations for fighting limited wars.

He said several limited wars inspired by Communist subversion and "all going on at the same time . . . is the most probable nature of future war."

Yet, said Gavin, "I once heard . . . Wilson say, 'We can't afford to fight limited wars. We can only afford to fight a big war, and if there is one, that is the kind it will be.'"

Gavin's discussion of defense shortcomings is contained in his forthcoming book, "War and Peace in the Space Age." Excerpts will appear in two installments in the next issues of Life magazine.

Wesleyan Service Meets In Church

(Special to The News)
CANADIAN — Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church met at the church recently with Mrs. Vera Morehead, president, conducting the business meeting. "People of God Speaking Boldly," from the book "Every Place a Voice," was given by Mrs. D. P. Hoover, and Mrs. Jack Parsons talked on "World Federation of Methodist Women."

"Between Yesterday And Tomorrow" Enacted For Christian Women's Meet

Mrs. Jim Cunningham, president of the Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church, presided at the Thursday evening meeting of the group in the church. The program was a play entitled, "Between Yesterday and Tomorrow" presented by the youth group of the church under the direction of Mrs. George Taylor, assisted by Jim Crinklaw. Mrs. Taylor, educational director, set the scenes for the three-scene play of a Japanese Christian family and introduced the members of the cast, which were Misses Linda Meach, Dorothy Gantz, Mary Sturgeon, Glenna Lewis, Linda Warden, and Larry Partin. During the business session, Mrs. Cunningham reminded members to bring new or good, used clothing to the church for shipment to Juliette Fowler Children's Home on August 15. Members were also reminded of the Church World Service drive for clothing to be sent overseas. Mrs. K. L. Green announced that workers, jars, lids and sugar are needed at the church for the canning of plum juice, jelly and butter for shipment to the Juliette Fowler Children's Home. She also announced that the Sharp Group has all-occasion cards, ribbon and paper and Christmas cards, ribbon and paper for sale or order. The group voted to bring money to the Christmas In September banquet to be sent to overseas missionaries through the United Christian Missionary Service. The meeting closed with the CWF benediction. Refreshments of punch and cake were served by members of the Brummett Group from a table covered with a green cloth centered with an arrangement of summer dahlias, zinnias and phlox. Attending the meeting were Misses Stella Bastin, Burt Graham Jr., W. G. Kinzer, Aaron Sturgeon, Oscar Shearer, Roberia Tatter, Oscar Huff, W. F. Taylor, H. J. Pickett, Glenn Nichols, M. B. Warden, Don Patchin, Frank Hogsett, Shelly Gantz, Herman Gantz, O. A. Wagner, M. F. Hethcock, John Gill, Lloyd Laramore, D. V. Burton, Gladys Harvey, George Taylor, T. J. Wright, Messrs. Lloyd Laramore, and George Taylor. The next meeting for the group will be in the church on August 27 at 9:30 a.m.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been together for almost thirty years, but I am afraid our marriage is breaking up. He has been out of work since 1936. He just lays around and says there is a depression on and it don't pay to go looking for a job. We don't have much, but we don't need much as there is just the two of us and I work half-days. I really don't encourage him to get a job because I like to know he is at home waiting for me when I get there. My problem is that lately he has been treating me like a pal and not a wife. How can I get him to treat me like a wife?

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl 17 years old and a girl my age (and about my build) lives across the street from me. She has a date almost every night and when her date takes her home what do they do but park right in front of my house and make out for about an hour! It is quite dark and the neighbors naturally think it's me. I am getting a bad reputation because of this and want to know what I can do about it.

DEAR ABBY: I graduated from business college with honors. I applied for a job I wanted very much, but I didn't get it. I was told later that the reason I didn't get it was because I came to apply for it without a hat. This doesn't make sense to me. Do you think this could have been the real reason, or was it just an excuse?

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 16. She is going steady with the first and only fellow she ever dated. Since she has been going with him we've lost all parental control over her. The other day she hit me. Frankly, since this incident I am afraid of her. School and juvenile authorities have recommended psychiatric treatment, but I am afraid of the scandal. What do you suggest we do?

Series Of Summit Meets Possible

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M MCCANN

UPI Foreign News Analyst

It looks as if there may be a series of "summit" conferences.

It is possible that one conference will be held at United Nations headquarters in New York within the next few weeks.

There are increasingly strong indications that if this meeting is held, it will be followed by another one in Europe, most probably in Geneva, Switzerland, or Paris.

If those two conferences gave any hope of important agreements, it is possible that there might be a third one—a clean-up meeting.

A few weeks ago it seemed highly improbable that there would be any summit meeting this year.

May Meet in New York

Then came the United States and British troop landings in Lebanon and Jordan.

This resulted in a demand by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev for an emergency meeting in Geneva at which the United States, Great Britain, France, India and Russia would be represented, with United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld sitting in.

After a number of exchanges of notes, it is now proposed that the conference will be held in New York, under the authority of the U.N. Security Council.

But the entire business has got out of hand.

Under the procedure now shaping up, the U.N. conference would be practically an international convention.

The entire 11-member security council, including the United States, Britain, France and Russia, would be represented.

Israel May Attend

In addition, India would be invited. And it is suggested that several Arab countries, including President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon, Jordan and Iraq be invited.

It is now proposed that not only the Lebanese and Jordanian situations but the Middle Eastern as a whole be discussed.

This has brought suggestions that Israel had better attend because its status might come under consideration.

The conclusion seems to be justified that any important agreement at such an unwieldy conference would be most unlikely.

The best that could be hoped for would be that the heads of government of a few of the countries concerned might be able to meet by themselves and talk business.

President Eisenhower would hardly be either able or willing to attend such a summit conference for more than a few days.

Your Dollars Going To Shrink More

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower's request for a 10-billion-dollar hike in the permanent national debt limit means the dollar bill or sawback in your bank or in your pocket is going to shrink some more.

The weight and dimensions of your dimes and folding money will not shrink. But their purchasing power will—in terms of beans or biscuits or butter, or in terms of anything you may buy.

In terms of what this shrinkage does to the individual and collective funds of the people of the United States, this is larceny on a scale greater than grand. All the footpads and burglars of all time surely could not have made away with as much of the citizens' money as the process of currency inflation has accomplished in a single year—the year 1942 for example.

That was a big year in the cycle of currency inflation. The Finance Committee of the U.S. Senate calculates that the dollar shrank in purchasing power in 1942 by 9.1 cents. The year 1947 showed a 9-cent shrinkage.

Only 4.4 cents were melted away from the value of the U.S. dollar in 1948 and only 1/2 cent in each of the following years, according to the committee's calculations. In very recent years the inflation trend has been substantially checked but not stopped.

During the first four months of this year the depreciation of the dollar averaged only 0.2 cents per month. The big, bad fact, however, is that the Senate committee figures show that from an arbitrary valuation of 100 cents in the year 1939, the dollar had shrunk in purchasing power by the end of April, 1958, to 48.1 cents.

In just under 20 years, therefore, the value of the proud product of the U.S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing has gone off by nearly 52 cents, a bit more than half. A $10 bill now in circulation is worth slightly less than $5 in terms of 1939.

Where all of this will end, none can say; especially none of the politicians in Washington who borrow and spend the money which puts the government in more debt and requires raising the debt limit in bites of 10 billion dollars a whack.

Bite of the short-tailed shrew is poisonous from a secretion in its salivary glands.

North's two club opening was an artificial forcing bid. His rebid to two no-trump showed that he held a strong opening two no-trump. His five club bid was a Blackwood response showing all four aces and his six diamond bid showed one king.

Alan Jacobson of Amarillo who sat South knew that his seven spade bid was slightly optimistic, but he felt sure that there would be a play for 13 tricks.

He won the opening heart lead in dummy and counted 12 top tricks plus a possible thirteenth in clubs. A dummy reversal play seemed indicated—provided the trumps would break. Alan cashed dummy's ace of spades and when both opponents followed he ruffed a heart in his own hand. A trump lead back to dummy's jack showed that the suit would break and Alan ruffed a second heart.

He returned to dummy with the ace of clubs and ruffed the last heart with his last trump. Back to dummy once more with a diamond and he led dummy's last trump. This picked up West's last trump and also allowed Alan to discard his fourth club whereupon the rest of the hand was good.

Alan had made his thirteenth trick by producing six trump tricks when there only appeared to be five in front of him.

The daily cast of surprises from Uncle Sam's postal workers has variety, if little else.

A bill for an overdue library book, a circular extolling vacation delights of Nassau, the monthly gasoline courtesy-card bill, a card from vacationing friends in the Rockies, and a few other things of which to make paper airplanes and flip at the corner waste-can. Like for instance, more bills!

All is not throw-away, though. There is one welcomed dispatch, the 1958 Texas Tech Football Pressbook.

Tech's sports news director, Bill Holmes, a lanky gent of whom we made acquaintance at the last Texas Sports Writer's Assn. New Year's Day breakfast in the Baker Hotel at Dallas, can be handed the plaudits for a well planned and edited 31-page brochure.

Chock-full of informative past history on the Red Raiders was the pamphlet. But of more importance to us were the character sketches of six players on the varsity squad from this area.

Three former Lefors High sparklers are listed on the Raider's roster, and that ties the Class A Gray County school with Lubbock and Dallas for making the largest contribution, by number, to the Tech cause.

Six Area Gridmen At Tech

The "hoses" from Lefors who'll be giving their all for the Red Raiders this fall are Ronnie Rice, who as a sophomore last season led Tech in the all-important rushing department, plus sophomores Mike Nicholas, a tackle, and Howard Bradford, a guard.

Former Pampa High hardnose, Ed Strickland, of course returns at guard, where he logged 409 minutes as a starting sophomore last autumn, despite tipping the scales at only 175 dripping wet.

Two Panhandle High exes, Gene Bentley, who has been converted from fullback into a guard; and Jere Mohon, another guard, will also get their fall knocks with the Raiders.

That gives Tech four guards out of the half dozen players, if our adding machine is on the ball.

The Player Sketches

Here's what the player sketches had to say:

ED STRICKLAND — One a varsity letter, junior, stands 6-0, weighs 175, age 21. Hampered by a lack of weight although made starting team as a sophomore last year. All-District tackle and captain at Pampa High where he was coached by Tom Tippis, Aubrey Noncander and Jack Lockett. Member of the National Honor Society. Majoring in education.

RONNIE RICE — One varsity letter, junior stands 5-11, weighs 175, age 20. Tech's leading rusher last year... speedy with enough size to be hard to bring down... averaged 6.4 yards per try... best night, 108 yards on seven carries in 19 minutes against Baylor... his 70-yard run against Baylor was longest of the season... good returning kickoffs... all-District and all-Regional for H. W. Callan at Lefors High. Majoring in industrial management.

HOWARD BRADFORD — Frosh letter, sophomore, stands 6-1, weighs 200, age 19. Played fullback last fall, also fullback, end and center at Lefors High, making honorable mention all-Regional... four years basketball, track, football, volleyball, basketball, Who's Who in Math...

Red Raider Briefs

Paging through the pressbook: Tech has 20 of 28 lettermen back from a 1957 club that had a dismal 2-8 record, whipping only Hardin-Simmons, 26-21, and Arizona, 28-6. Also single lettermen back from 1954 and 1956 teams.

Squad member averages: line, 202; backfield, 176. Experience: 17 seniors, 12 juniors, 32 sophomores on 61-man squad.

Biggest losses: Charlie Moore, a guard, who logged 426 minutes last year to top Tech in that department ahead of Strickland's 409. He was an East-West, all-star selection. And End Pat Hartfield, a four-year letterman, who was a Blue-Gray choice last season.

Ronnie Rice, who logged 242 minutes last fall was top rusher with 426 net yards on 57 tries for 6.4 average. He completed one of three passes for 19 yards, had the other two intercepted. Caught one pass for 14 yards. Scored four TD's. Leading kick-off returner with 229 yards for a 57.3 average on four returns. Returned nine punts for 68 yards or 7.6 average.

Gene Bentley, who logged an even 300 minutes last fall, was third top rusher with 249 yards and a 3.6 average for 70 tries. Ed Strickland intercepted one pass and returned it for 12 yards and fell on one kickoff, but for no yards returned.

New assistant coach is Joe Kerbel who was 11-1 at Amarillo High last season and 9-2 in 1956 and 5-5 in 1955. Left the high school coaching ranks with overall 75-15-2 record.

What's Baseball Coach Do On Day Off? -- Goes To A Game!

By GENE BLUDEAU
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI)—What does a baseball coach do on his day off? Any survey on the subject would have to include Don Gutteridge, peppery coach of the Chicago White Sox.

He goes to a ball game. "I don't say I go to a game every time we have an off-day," the bespectacled little coach said. "Put it this way, I have been known to go."

"The postman doesn't take a walk on his day off. But sometimes that might happen to be the most interesting thing for him to do," Gutteridge said. "That's the way it is with me."

On a recent White Sox off-day Gutteridge traveled to Michigan City, Ind., to look over some of his club's young prospects with that town's entry in the Class D Midwest League.

"I didn't have to go. But I figured I could mix a little business with pleasure that way," he explained.

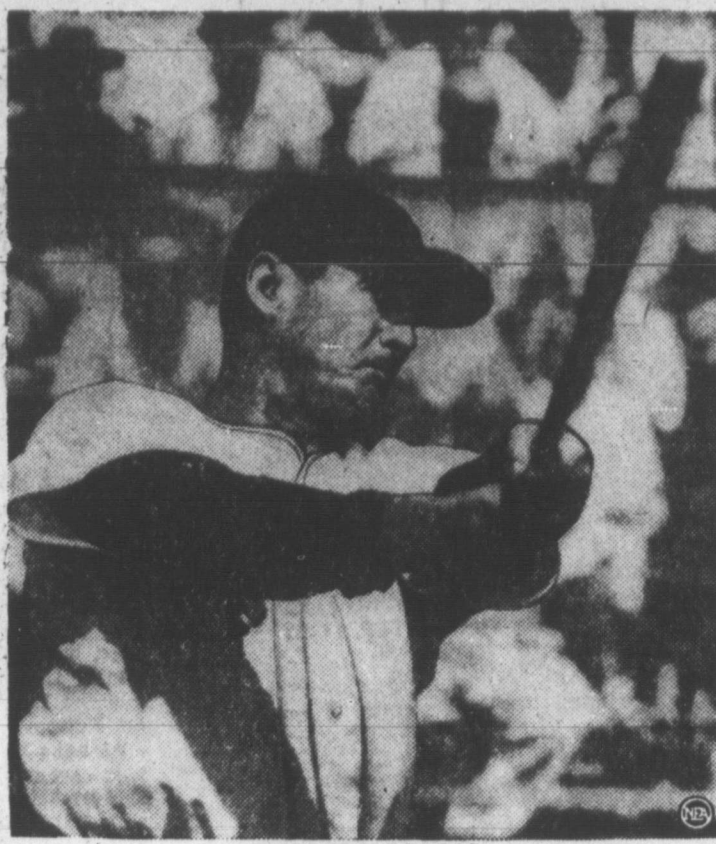

Despite his ardor for the game, Gutteridge said he can "agree to a point," with Jackie Robinson's statement that baseball is a dull spectator sport.

"I agree that it's more fun to play the game than to watch it," Gutteridge said. "The next best thing is watching a game when you know the game—the players,

Jay's Sore Arm Adds To Woes Of Braves

By FRED LINDECKE
United Press International

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Joey Jay's sore arm Tuesday night wrote another page in the Milwaukee Braves' battle for first place against seven other clubs and an unshakable string of injuries.

A doctor's examination today will determine just how serious is the pulled tendon in Jay's right elbow which was the turning point in a 4-2 victory by the Los Angeles Dodgers that dropped the Braves into second place.

But the sore arm is vivid evidence of how injuries have plagued the Milwaukee pennant drive.

Not only did it cost the Braves an important ball game, but it comes just when Jay, the youthful pitching sensation, was enjoying a five-game winning streak.

Jay, 22, was breezing along toward his fourth shutout, having cut the Dodgers down without a hit, when his arm gave out and the Dodgers scored two runs in the sixth inning.

"It's an old injury that goes back to 1955," Jay said dejectedly in the Braves' dressing room. "I felt it warming up but figured it would work itself out during the game. I first felt it in the Cardinal game (a two-hit 6-0 shutout last week) and had my wife and trainer Doc Ferrell massage it."

"I got by all right with the glove stuff, but when I had to throw a fast-breaking ball I couldn't do it."

Peewee Reese hit one of the crippled pitches for a two run double in the sixth.

Jay joins a long list of Milwaukee disabled.

This year the team which won the 1957 National League pennant and World Series has played together only five times. Monday when the Braves played an exhibition game at Toronto, three men—Billy Bruton, Wes Covington and Andy Pafko—stayed behind to make sick call with Dr. Bruce Brewer, who will see Jay today.

The team is carrying another sore-armed pitcher, Bob Buhl, who is expected to be out for the season.

EACH BEATEN ONCE

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UPI)—Only five of the 58 Helms Athletic Foundation football champions, dating from 1900 through 1957, failed to go unbeaten through the entire season. They were Pittsburgh, 1918, Southern California, 1931, Minnesota, 1936, Wisconsin, 1942, and Notre Dame, 1943. Each lost one game.

Brown Tops

NEW YORK (UPI)—Lightweight champion Joe Brown was named "fighter of the month" today in the Ring magazine's ratings because of the heroic closing rally that kept his title in last week's sensational fight with southpaw Kenny Lane at Houston, Tex.

ROOKIE BECOMES FATHER

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Stan Williams, 6-foot, 5-inch rookie righthander of the Los Angeles Dodgers, became a father for the first time Tuesday when his wife, Elaine, gave birth to a six-pound, 12½-ounce boy at Daniel-Freeman Hospital.

Reds Hunger After More Track Poop

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press International

MOSCOW (UPI)—United States' weight-throws in the shotput and discus throw—apparently are next on the list of American world track and field champions Russia is out to conquer.

A horde of lady scientists and other Russian officials made that clear Tuesday in the aftermath of the first U.S. vs. Russia dual track meet in history. The Russians claimed victory by coupling the scores of both men and women to come up with a final 172-70 score while U.S. officials claimed their men won and their women lost.

But what the Russians are thinking of doing when they go to Philadelphia next July was made crystal clear by the way they concentrated on the activities of shotput ace Parry O'Brien and discus thrower Al Oerter.

Trains Too Hard
"The Russians took 75 minutes of film of O'Brien alone," revealed U.S. Coach George Eastman, coach of Manhattan College's track team. "And they haven't given Oerter a minute's in how I started out as a kid."

Parry O'Brien, who patiently answered questions for hours, "Well, I can give them some free advice—they train too hard. Their discus men train three hours daily seven days a week."

"They're particularly interested in local news outlets bannered the 'Russian victory,' of course, and the Leningradskaya Hotel buzzed with activity as the Soviet researchers descended on the 'losers' to find out how they did it. The American stars were swamped with questionnaires from the moment they went down to breakfast until they sought the quiet of their hotel rooms."

REBELS-OLDTIMERS COLLIDE TONIGHT

The market on horse linament and alcohol may skyrocket any-minute tomorrow, thanks to a bunch of Oldtimers who think they've still got what it takes to teach the young ball players a thing or three.

Pampa's American Legion Rebels make their last appearance of the season here today at Harvester Park in a 6 p.m. engagement with the Oldtimers.

Five ex-Oilers plus four dads and possibly a few other "used-to-be's" will dot the opening lineup for the Oldtimers.

Deck Woldt, coach of the Rebels, is expected to roam the centerfield pasture for the Oldtimers tonight. He went hitless for eight innings in the Primarily, Williams was happy about belting his grand-slammer off Jim Bunning, who pitched a no-hitter against the Red Sox on July 20 and nailed it down by retiring Ted for the last out.

And secondly, his blow earned Williams tremendous cheers from the fans in Detroit, where he has always been a prime favorite. Those cheers were in marked contrast to the boos he received in Kansas City last week. He showed KC fans his "appreciation" of their Bronx cheers by spitting in their direction and subsequently was fined $250 by the American League.

Even though Williams' grand-slam homer tied the Bambino's record, it still left him six behind Lou Gehrig's major league record.

Ford's String Broken
Kansas City put an end to Whitey Ford's string of shutouts and then raked receiver Art Ditmar for five runs in the eighth inning to beat the Yankees, 7-3.

Ford was shooting for his fourth straight shutout but the A's got to him for single runs in the second and fourth innings to go ahead, 2-0. After the Yanks tied the score in the top of the eighth, Ditmar came in and walked Bob Cerv with the bases full to force in the tie-breaking run. Hector Lopez then cleared the bases with a three-run double.

Sherm Lollar's two-run homer with two out in the ninth inning gave the White Sox a 2-1 decision over the Senators. Russ Kemmerer blanked the White Sox on three hits until the ninth when Nellie Fox beat out a hit and Lollar connected for his 15th homer.

Rookie Gary Bell of Cleveland scattered eight hits to beat Baltimore, 9-4, for his fifth victory. Billy Harrell and Russ Nixon each homered off loser Milt Pappas in a three-run first inning and Rocky Colavito's two-run single highlighted another three-run rally by the Indians in the fifth.

Giants In Lead
In the National League, the San Francisco Giants moved into the lead by a full game with a 4-3 victory over Cincinnati. It was one of those patented Giant finishes, Ray Jablonski homering with one on and two out in the ninth. That marked the 18th game the Giants have won in the ninth inning so far this season.

Kempa-KP In Playoff

The first game of a best two-of-three playoff series between Pampa Industrial League's two first place clubs — KP Lodge and Kempa Humble — will be staged Thursday night.

Kempa zoomed into a first-place deadlock Monday night by battering Lefors, 14-3, in the season's 12th regular scheduled contest. The victory gave Kempa a 20-4 mark, same record KP Lodge finished with last week.

Second game of the playoff series has been set for Friday night and if a third game is needed to settle the series, it will be played Saturday night.

Bill Stevens spun a neat three-hitter at Lefors Monday night to send the Kempa club flying into the playoffs. Kempa slugged Jim Dickenson for a dozen safe blows with Harold Anderson's two doubles and a single doing most of the damage.

Whatever happened to Bill Swiacki? He now makes his home in Southbridge, Mass., where he has his own insurance business, and recently was signed as end coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

DEORSEY SEZ:

"Definitely not," said Eastman. "We never pool them in the United States. Why I don't think we've ever done it."

Local news outlets bannered the "Russian victory," of course, and the Leningradskaya Hotel buzzed with activity as the Soviet researchers descended on the "losers" to find out how they did it. The American stars were swamped with questionnaires from the moment they went down to breakfast until they sought the quiet of their hotel rooms.

Let Congress Pay To Retain Sns

WASHINGTON (UPI)—If Congress is bent on keeping the last-place Senators in Washington, then it should be forced to subsidize them, according to attorney C. Leo Deorsey.

Deorsey made the proposal before the Senate anti-trust subcommittee Tuesday in defending the right of club owners to shift a franchise from one city to another.

A bill exempting baseball and other sports from federal anti-trust laws already had been approved by the House and the subcommittee is considering it now.

The subcommittee summoned Deorsey, a former director of the Washington club, to explain his role in recent discussions about transferring the Senators to Minneapolis.

Sen. Karl Mundt (R-S.D.) has offered an amendment that would lift the blanket exemption unless the Washington ball club remains in the nation's capital.

Deorsey, a frequent dissenter against Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick during his 18 months on the Senators' board of directors, claimed the Mundt amendment failed to say "who's going to make up the losses."

He said that if Congress insists on keeping the team here, then "it should suffer the consequences" and subsidize any deficit.

Deorsey made no bones about the fact he was the board member who suggested that club president Clark Griffith find out from other club owners whether they would agree to a shift of the Washington team.

The Washington club, Deorsey said, had been guaranteed a million dollars in subsidies.

Out Of The Past

BILL SWIACKI
United Press International

Bill Swiacki was one of the finest pass-catching ends in Columbia football history—and that's a history loaded with superb aerial feats. His greatest day, long remembered in Eastern football, came in the Army game of 1947 when underdog Columbia cracked a long Cadet winning streak begun in the Davis-Blanchard era. In that 21-20 victory, Swiacki made three "impossible" catches, one for a touchdown, and was a defensive star. Later he played with the Detroit Lions and New York Giants in the National Football League.

Whatever happened to Bill Swiacki? He now makes his home in Southbridge, Mass., where he has his own insurance business, and recently was signed as end coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

Attendance figure each season for three years in Minneapolis. If that offer had been accepted, he added, it would increase the club's revenues by two million dollars and pace it in a far better position to purchase players it needs.

Moe May Be Put On Disabled List

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Chicago Cub Manager Bob Schefling kept his fingers crossed about injured pitcher Moe Drabowski today and said that no decision has been reached "as yet" about the righthander's status.

Physicians ordered a 30-day rest for Drabowski who suffered a muscle tear in the elbow cap of his "money arm" and there was a chance he would be put on the disabled list.

Bud Denies He Made Offer To Grid Cardinals

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI)—Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma University football coach, today denied National Football League Commissioner Bert Bell's "wondering out loud" report that Wilkinson had tried to buy into the Chicago Cardinals professional football club.

Wilkinson came home Tuesday after testifying before a Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee in Washington where he objected to special legislation for professional sports.

Bell said he wondered how the Oklahoma coach could condemn the pros after trying to buy into the Cardinals.

Wilkinson denied he had gone to Walter Wolfner, Cardinal owner, with the offer to coach the team if he could buy into it for 25 per cent and move the club to Houston, Tex.

The Pampa Daily News YOUR FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is not license. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, The Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to promoting and preserving YOUR freedom as well as our own. For only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

Profit Sharing

When it comes to profit sharing, Walter Reuther raised a bit of a hubbub this year by suggesting that his dues-paying minions be included along with the stockholders if the automotive companies came up with a dividend.

There are a couple of things which ought to be reviewed right now on this particular point.

In a Mike Wallace interview, Reuther made his case for profit sharing. But in the cross questioning which followed a general presentation of the idea, Wallace took an intelligent line.

Although this is palpably false, for it makes no allowance for the individual merits of the separate workers, this is the central theme of collectivism and Reuther could not very well agree to anything else without exposing his phony line of reasoning.

But Wallace bore down. If the Chrysler company profits should happen to be less than the Ford motor company profits, what would happen on the profit sharing end of things? If a division of profits occurred among the workers, would it not follow that the wage earner for Chrysler might conceivably receive less in a profit split than the same worker doing the same job at Ford?

Reuther, under this questioning, offered his only out, but it reveals his thinking and Americans should pay particular attention. He said that in the event one company made more profits than another, then all the profits of all the companies should be seized by the government and an equal distribution made to all workers regardless of the company's position in relation to the buying public.

If this idea were put into effect, it would, for all intents and purposes, end free enterprise in America. If the government is able to seize all profits and then effect a distribution, both to stockholders and to workers, private property would vanish overnight.

We should be warned in time of Reuther's intentions. His profit sharing idea is totally unsound and vicious.

On the other hand, profit sharing may be an acceptable idea for many companies. But is it only acceptable if the management of a given firm can find some way to invoke a profit sharing scheme which will result in an improved product and a better deal all along the line.

The case for profit sharing rests solely on its ability to provide greater efficiency in the use of tools of production, thereby reducing costs and increasing profits... far from representing 'generosity' or 'good-heartedness' on the part of stockholders, true profit sharing represents an investment that should prove to be fully as profitable as any comparable investment in tools of production.

We'll string along with that idea.

Then, there's another side to the question, too. The willingness to receive a share in the profits on the part of workers, ought to be paralleled by an equal willingness to share in any losses that might ensue. The free enterprise system is not so much a profit system, as it is a system involving risks. The stockholders take the risks. If the workers expect a reward, they should also take the risks.

Reuther's ideas on profit sharing could be more accurately described as a scheme aimed at looting the stockholders with the assistance of government. Workers ought to look squarely at this one and not fancy that free enterprise is some kind of a cornucopia with themselves ensconced on the big end of the horn.

Test The Kind Of Education You Want For Your Children The Battle For The Inner Man

Freeman magazine had a very interesting article on the above subject. It was written by Elmer T. Peterson and Norman Whitehouse. Mr. Peterson is a noted author, columnist, and editorial writer for The Daily Oklahoman.

From here on I am quoting: "Three hundred years ago there was a fork in the road. One branch led out in the way of freedom. The other was the way of force. 'Very few people at that time were able to identify the difference, for information was too incomplete. So do not infer that the people of 1651 chose up sides and proceeded to travel, one factor to the right and the other to the left. The momentous decision was not so simple at that time. Probably not one person in 10,000 was even dimly aware of that fork."

"It is only now, looking backward from the perspective of three centuries, that we can realize how momentous was the divide.

"The doctrine of force, as such, in 1651, was seen in a comparatively crude manner. It set themselves up as political or economic tyrants and there was little to disguise the fact of such tyranny. Today the doctrine of force is infinitely more dangerous than ever, for it is not crude, easily discerned. It is often cunningly disguised under scores of seductive signboards and labels. These signboards and labels, in and of themselves, are so numerous as to add to the confusion. Seldom in all the saga of history has there been a more crucial necessity for man to know where he is and where he is going.

"To do this, man must, at all costs, be clear in his readings of the signposts of the times. But signposts often become obscured, blurred, even turned around by impish mischief-makers. How, then, can modern man find his footing?"

"The year 1651 marks the crucial setting in the road. It was then that the thinking world first encountered a sharp clash of opinion over the critical question: should human welfare depend upon a responsible society or the responsible individual?"

"From the ancient to that modern hangs the destiny of man — the life of the free soul.

"The great issues do not burst suddenly upon the world. Restless waves continually pass over the deeps of conscience, troubling us to take new appraisals of our patterns of human relations. There have been profound teachings by Moses, Jesus Christ, Confucius, Plato, Rousseau... The Beatitudes of Jesus, with their obvious laying of burdens on the individual, were epochal. It is only when there is a sharp clash between two contrasting philosophies, however, that we can discern the parting of the ways.

"Follow briefly each branch of the road from that fork of 1651. 'In that year a young Englishman, Thomas Hobbes, wrote a book significantly titled 'Leviathan.'

"Not long afterward, and in a great measure a response to 'Leviathan,' another Englishman, a philosopher named John Locke, joined issue and thereby floored the fork in the road.

"True it is that long before 1651, hints had been dropped to the effect that the way ahead would be subjected to a fork, somewhat in the manner in which it happened. However, it remained for Hobbes and Locke dimly to foresee and academically to declare the basic issue which today divides the world, and countries and states within that world. No one could have fully foreseen that today the planet would be divided into two gigantic armed camps, both equipped with weapons of fantastic power beyond all human comprehension, or that the seemingly insignificant little fork would be the beginning of a cataclysmic world division.

"The Way of Force 'First consider the way of force. 'While Hobbes seemed to pay some lip service to the principle of individual worth, he did not understand its implications. His favorite illustration was that of the beehive. Here he contended that the ideal State would be achieved by formal contracts or covenants, and would consist of a government, and using it without any further reference to those who had given it. So the State would be as ruthless as the amoral law of the hive. In short, the State would play the role of the Divine, so inevitably the individual, as such, would disappear.

"Hegel, a German philosopher, lived in the years 1770-1831. Taking up Hobbes' theme of the omnipotent State, he played the ideas of its political limits, not alone vesting it with the attributes of the Divine, but declaring that the State was the Divine idea on earth. Hegel believed and declared that the individual should have no power except that which might be derived from the State. The soul of man was nonexistent in this philosophy of political power. 'Rousseau, a predecessor, had held that man is born good and is corrupted only by a bad society — a theory that is persuasively

Robert Allen Reports:

Another Crucial Mideast Decision Is Facing Ike

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is confronted with another crucial Middle East decision.

It's whether to continue giving arms and other military aid to Iraq.

The new revolutionary government has forced this thorny showdown as a result of the halting of weapon shipments. The President personally ordered that done the day after the military junta seized power.

In a formal request to the State Department, the new Iraq rulers have asked that U.S. military assistance be resumed. This overture was accompanied with a frank statement that unless this is done they will have to turn to other sources of weapons supply. The blunt inference of this warning is unmistakable — Russia.

The Kremlin has officially recognized the new Iraq regime, and expressed eagerness to help it. Similar ardent professions have been voiced by United Arab Republic President Nasser, who so far has received upwards of $250,000,000 in Soviet military and economic aid.

This is the momentous decision facing the President and his advisers.

It will have to be made promptly, and for that purpose he has requested "guidance papers" from the State Department and Joint Chiefs of Staff. The matter is also being discussed with Prime Minister Macmillan and other NATO authorities.

Britain has a vital stake in this far-reaching issue.

Until last year, Britain provided most of Iraq's military materiel. Also, the Iraq army was British-trained, and even today the largest military mission there is British.

Now the bulk of Iraq's fighting gear comes from the U.S.

Since December 1954, when the first of these shipments were made, they total approximately $35,000,000. In addition, Iraq has received $12,500,000 in economic assistance.

The new foreign aid budget, pending in Congress, contains another $10,000,000 in military supplies and $2,500,000 in economic aid for Iraq.

The U.S. has a small military mission in Iraq. The 16-member group is commanded by Brigadier General Frank S. Henry, Cambridge, N.Y. Both it and the British mission have not so far been molested by the new Iraq rulers.

Undoubtedly their attitude will be determined by what is done on the arms question.

SECRET INVASION PLAN — The President already has made one fateful decision regarding Iraq. Virtually at the last moment he called off a secret plan for Turkey and Jordan to militarily intervene against the new revolutionary junta.

The ramifications of this momentous backstage decision, include Britain and Lebanon. Directly related to it is the landing of Marines in Beirut, and British paratroops in Jordan.

Details of this so-far-untold event, leaders are as follows: On Monday, July 14, the day following the Iraq coup, Turkey proposed a joint military operation with Jordan to oust the new described as 'unscientific' by Dr. Leonard Carmichael, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution. Mac Has Been Brave Not Once, But Twice

By HENRY McLEMORE

I was a kid sports writer for the United Press then, and knew less about figure skating and international yacht racing than I do right now about primitive cave painting.

If I were asked if I had ever been real brave, I'd answer, "Not once, but twice" and give the 1932 Winter Olympics at Lake Placid and the 1954 America's Cup races off Newport, as proof.

At Lake Placid I reported, along with everything else, the figure skating championship — the one won by Sonja Henie, then a but-terball of a youngster without a husband or a diamond to her name.

Off Newport I reported the duel between the million-dollar-plus Class-J boats of England and America. That I managed to cover them, and still have a job when I got back to New York, is largely due to prayers being answered, and the help of two colleagues, Arthur Daley of the Times, and Ev Morris of the Herald Tribune.

Of the two events, the yacht races were the toughest and called for more bravery on my part — also more prayers and more pumping of Mr. Morris. I am reminded of those fearful days on the Atlantic off Newport every time I read in the papers of the renewal of the challenge by England this September.

I never read the stories without shuddering. Once again I am on the Atlantic which, as big as it is, measured only a few miles larger than my ignorance of yacht racing in those days.

Yacht racing isn't only a sport, you know. Not America's Cup racing, anyway. It is a mixture of religion, advanced mathematics, feudal snobbishness, astronomy, meteorology, and, for all I know numerology.

To report it accurately one must have been down to the sea in ships from the age of four, and be on speaking terms with sea-gulls, barnacles, tides, winds, mizzena, poops, and commodores. Experience in reporting other sports is of no value whatsoever.

The yachts cross the starting line and, more often than not, head off in opposite directions, with each skipper setting a course where he thinks he will find the most favorable winds. Even for the most expert, covering ships that are out of sight, or mere specks on the horizon, is difficult. But the expert can guess, and be fairly sure his guess at what is going on is accurate. The totally ignorant, such as I was, can only pray and ask the expert to please tell him what he (the expert) is guessing.

Even Morris is gone now, but I'll never forget him and will always be eternally grateful to him. He fed information to me every time I tugged on his sleeve, and he didn't have much of a sleeve left when the six races were over and America had retained the Cup. Little more sleeve than Daley did when the skating was finished.

Morris got impatient with me only once. That came when Sopwith's Endeavor II's massive balloon spinnaker (Mae West) split from top to bottom in the middle of the race. The sound was audible for a mile, and the deflated canvas fell and sagged.

I rushed to Morris. "What's happened?" I cried. "Was that sail supposed to do that? Was it letting out air?" "Go ahead and send a fish that the English boat is out of the race," he said. "No, it was supposed to do that." And he spoke rather sharply. Never let anyone convince you that ignorance is bliss. Those were about the worst ten days I ever had. Just think of what would have happened to me if Morris had gotten sick, or changed boats!

The Doctor Says:

By EDGAR F. JORDAN, M. D.

There does not seem to be a slightest doubt that carrying excessive fat on the body is dangerous to the health, as well as being unattractive. It is also true that all of those who are overweight want an easy way to reduce.

Obesity is thought to exist in about one-fifth of all people over 30 in North America. Here are a few things which the fat person faces:

Among insured men, those who are overweight have a higher death rate than the average at every age. And the greater the degree of overweight, the higher the risk.

It has been stated that for men 20 to 29 years old the mortality of those who are overweight is 34 per cent above the general average. Approximately this same picture holds for other age groups, and for women as well as men.

Ill health, as well as an increased chance of early death, is also a risk for the obese person. One study of 74,000 industrial workers showed that at every age in both sexes there was a steady increase in average blood pressure accompanying increase in body weight.

Among patients 40 and over at the time when active signs of diabetes begin, 60 out of 100 were at least 20 per cent over the average weight and an additional 25 per cent were moderately overweight.

It is impossible to list all of the disorders which are more common in fat people than in those who are of normal weight, but here are a few:

Gallbladder disease, hernia, impairment of kidney function and probably degenerative arthritis.

The course of pregnancy and childbearing is more complicated in the overweight than in the underweight or normal woman. Surgery performed on an obese person presents special surgical difficulties and risks.

The answer to the question of reducing weight is extremely simple: Use will power to eat less. Particularly of those foods which most readily turn into fat.

Many reducing diets have been devised, but I favor those which cause the individual to lose regularly and not too rapidly or too slowly. Once set up, the diet must be followed, or the desired results will not occur.

Mrs. S. has recently asked about the desirability of taking reducing pills and whether they can cause cancer if continued for a long period of time.

I do not think there is any danger of cancer from reducing pills. Most of those drugs which are used as an aid in reducing merely lessen the appetite.

Dinah Shore's Replacements Are Running In Low Gear

Television In Review By FRED DANZIG
 United Press International
 NEW YORK (UPI) — Edie Adams, Janet Blair and John Raitt, the toothsome trio called upon by an automobile sponsor to replace Dinah Shore for the summer on NBC-TV, are running in low gear.
 If it were on radio, I think their show would be fine. The music is generally good. The songs—pretty things such as "Don't Cry," "It Never Entered My Mind" and "Wagon Wheels"—are usually sung well enough. But they're not on radio. They're on TV, and there's the rub.
 Sunday night's production had unimpressive sets, when sets were used. The camera work was static. Dialogue was uninspired. Musical settings were trite and untrue. It's been that way all summer.
 Sure, I know the Adams-Blair-Raitt company is operating with a $40,000-a-week budget, less than half of what Dinah spends. But frankly, I don't think the sponsor is getting his $40,000 worth. The lack of loot means the writers, set designers and performers must knuckle down more to come up with fresh and sparkling approaches.
 Before taking leave of this show, I'd like to tip my fedora to an old fedora-wearer, Eddie Foy. On Sunday night's show, he showed an old pro doesn't need much help to put himself across. But the others on the show, I'm afraid, aren't in his class and need that extra help from the production staff.
Channel Clips: I hope Teddy Nader handles his quiz show winnings more judiciously than he handles his ad libs on the "The $64,000 Challenge." Sunday night's repeated challenge to quiz queen Elfrida von Nardoff was embarrassing. I thought, even guest Dick Clark sounded like host John Daly on "What's My Line?" Sunday night. As public service to male viewers of "The Steve Lawrence - Eydie Gorme Show," I'd like to advise them that the Brigitte Bardot film clip seen at the start of the show came from BB's newest picture, "La Parisienne." The color-TV peacock, seen at the start of the Lawrence show, is greeted with a ditty that says, "Hey there, Mr. Bird... you've got to spread your wings." Someone's bird anatomy is awry. Mr. Bird spread his tail feathers. Also on this show, I couldn't help thinking how far Tony Bennett has come as a performer since his early "teen-age idol" days. It makes one wonder whether Jerry Lee Lewis can make it, to Ernie Kovacs combined some of his sure-fire laugh-getters when he conducted a symphony orchestra of sorts on "The Ed Sullivan Show." I believe Jose Melis and his band gave their best-up-tempo arrangements for the nights that boss Jack Paar is away. Like last Friday, for example.

Lower Food Prices Are Expected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department forecast lower food prices during the coming months.
 Retail food prices for the remainder of the year are likely to average below the record high prices of the January-June period, the department said in its publication "The National Food Situation." However prices for the last half of 1958 still will be "slightly above" those in the last half of 1957.
 "Supplies of some foods—particularly meats and fresh fruits and vegetables—will be somewhat larger than in the first half of 1958," the department said. It added consumer demand for food is expected to continue high this summer and fall.
 Meat supplies now are on the seasonal upswing, the department said. Compared with a year earlier consumers are expected to have more pork and top grades of beef per person but less veal and lower-grades of beef.
 More chicken and about as many eggs are in prospect but less turkey. Per capita supplies of dairy products this summer and fall are expected to be about at the year-earlier level.
 Supplies of food from crops will be as large this summer and fall as last, the department said. Food crop production, according to July 1 indications, will be at a very high level. A large part of the increase over last year will be in crops such as wheat for which consumption rates have been declining rapidly. Among items expected to be in heavier supply than in the last half of 1957 are edible oils, potatoes, melons and fresh deciduous fruits.
 Chaplains first were assigned to the U.S. Army on July 29, 1875, by a resolution of the Continental Congress.

Pact's Future To Be Decided Soon

Foreign News Commentary By CHARLES M. MCCANN
 UPI Foreign News Analyst
 The future of the Middle Eastern Treaty Organization is likely to be decided in London this week.
 Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is in London to confer with the four active members of the alliance—Turkey, Iran, Pakistan and Great Britain.
 Iraq, the fifth member, is not expected to attend. The revolution in that country, the only Arab member, apparently makes it certain that it will withdraw from the pact.
 The loss of Iraq is a severe blow to the members of the alliance, and to the United States which sponsored it.
 But Turkey, Iran and Pakistan have announced they intend not only to maintain the alliance but to strengthen it.
 To this end, Turkey and Pakistan urgently want the United States to become a full member.
 Nasser A Factor
 This, dispatches from Washington say, the United States will not do.
 The United States has joined the military, anti-subversion and economic committees of the pact. It has refused to take full membership largely because President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic detests it. Nasser takes the stand that the alliance weakened Arab unity, because Iraq joined it. Actually, what he meant by unity was that it impeded his own ambition to seize the mastery of the Arab world.
 Dulles sponsored the alliance.

 A federal grand jury indicted Ford Motor Co. and 42 Washington area Ford, Chevrolet and Oldsmobile dealers for allegedly conspiring to charge car buyers hundreds of dollars more than factory-suggested prices.
 The U.S. Court of Appeals reviewed a Texas refining company's suit to have the government's system of enforcing oil import quotas declared illegal. The court said Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff on July 11 improperly dismissed a suit by Eastern States Petroleum and Chemical Corp. of Houston. A new lower court hearing was ordered.
 Kenecott Copper Corp. reported second quarter earnings were slightly below the first quarter and sharply below the similar 1957 period. The decline reflected lower copper prices and reduced domestic sales. The company said European demand for copper continues good, in contrast with that of the U.S. which shows little improvement.
 Sales of foreign cars in the U.S. during 1958 will surpass the mark for all of 1957 in the next two weeks, Automotive News pre-
