Major Crisis With Soviets 'Ominous'

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — High administration officials disclosed Saturday they have ordered an intensive evaluation of recent international developments to see whether the United States should change its cold war tactics to meet the toughening Soviet line.

A major question, they said, is whether to continue to seek negotiations with the Russians on points at issue or go back to the more rigid techniques forced on the West during the deep freeze of Stalin's last years.

They said it is too early to tell whether a major crisis in East-West relations is approaching but there are "ominous" signs in that direction.

Nikita Firmly Entrenched
The feeling is growing in official circles here that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, more firmly entrenched than ever, is going to be increasingly more difficult to deal with. There are even some predictions that the Soviet Union, in cooperation with its Chinese Communist partner, may be preparing to embark on some new adventure to enlarge the area of Red domination.

The execution of Former Hungarian freedom leader Imre Nagy, apparent Soviet plans to reimpose a reign of terror on Eastern Europe, and the stepped up Sino-Soviet psychological offensive against the West all point in that direction, officials said.

President Eisenhower at his Wednesday news conference said he wanted to "evaluate" the whole situation with his top aides before deciding whether to continue his correspondence with Khrushchev on a possible summit meeting.

However, officials pointed out that the frightening developments of recent days could have implications far broader than the questions whether the East and West can get together at a summit meeting. They could mean a return to the iron-fisted Soviet tactics which presented the world with one crisis after another during Stalin's last days.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, commenting on the Soviet-inspired execution of Nagy and his compatriots, said it indicated a "reversion to the brutal terrorist methods which prevailed for a time under Stalin."

"Khrushchev rode to power on the denunciation of the methods of Stalin, which methods he now seems to be copying," he said.

Summer Is Here At Last!

The first day of summer, 1958, was a sweltering one in Pampa. A sizzling 68 degrees was recorded just after noon.

A typical Top o' Texas scorcher, the weather was fine for boating, skiing and other "Dog Days" activities... all carried out under a beautiful gray sky. Intermittent showers added to the festive occasion.

Area old-timers knew they were in for another blistering 24 hours when they awoke Saturday morning and the mercury was already up to 54.

To add to the situation, the sun shone longer than on any other day previously recorded this year. We just couldn't see it!

Merry Christmas!

Priests Differ On Validity Of Red Charges

HONG KONG (UPI) — Two American Roman Catholic priests, pale and tired from five years in Chinese Communist captivity, Saturday voiced opposing views on the validity of the charges on which they were convicted.

Fathers Joseph P. McCormick, Ossining, N.Y., and Cyril Wagner, Pittsburgh, Pa., arrived in Hong Kong by British steamer from Shanghai Saturday morning. They were released Sunday after serving out five year terms on charges of sabotage and espionage.

Both appeared pale and tired. Father Wagner wore a white shirt, slacks and a cap. Father McCormick had on a black shirt and dark trousers.

Shortly after their arrival, the two priests held a brief news conference at Hong Kong's Catholic Center.

When Father Wagner, a Franciscan, told newsmen "I do not deny" the charges, Father McCormick interrupted: "He's talking through his hat."

Blind, Mute Girl 'Penned Like Dog'

NOWATA, Okla. (UPI) — "Penned up like a dog," a blind and mute 14-pound, five-year-old girl lived in a bare, sealed room, its floors covered by human excrement. Outside the house, a pack of hound dogs were kept well-fed while the little girl starved.

A doctor prescribed "loving care and nourishing food" for the emaciated girl, Laura Jane Irons, after sheriff's deputies and County Attorney Lloyd Colter found her in a ragged T-shirt, lying on a cold concrete floor Friday afternoon.

The child's mother, Mrs. Jack Irons, 24, told United Press International she had "a big story to tell" Saturday about how and why she and Raymond Murphy, with whom she has been living, kept little Laura imprisoned.

However, the woman was prevented by her lawyer from telling why she had kept the child imprisoned in a cell-like room.

Mrs. Irons divorced her husband in 1955, taking their four children with her. One eight-year-old son is in the state hospital for mentally retarded children at Enid. Laura and the other two have been living with Mrs. Irons and Murphy.

Authorities were not able to determine whether Murphy and the attractive black-eyed brunette were married.

Irons said Friday the woman "threw food on the floor" of Laura's cell at irregular moments. Irons, who cannot file criminal charges until Monday, said she also hopes to gain custody of the other two children.

Laura responded to treatment for malnutrition in a Nowata hospital Saturday.

Dr. Lynn Barnes, who treated Laura at the hospital, said the weak girl probably has the ability to talk "but she never had been taught."

Barnes said "three years ago, this baby was brought to me and I diagnosed it then as malnutrition. She's gained only four pounds since then."

"The child was unbelievably filthy," deputy Arthur Johnson said. "She didn't look as if she had been beaten, but she must have been starved."

Colter said Laura was mute in addition to being blind. "She was so happy for us to be there she just smiled," the county attorney said.

Wreck Kills One

Janitor At School Dies In Collision

Donald Wayne Sands, 25, 856 W. Foster, was fatally injured yesterday at 6:30 p.m. when his 1956 Plymouth struck a 1950 Ford driven by three Canadian youths.

The three youths from Canadian G. R. Bettis, and Glenn Hues are listed in critical condition at Highland General Hospital, and Hank McPherson is listed in serious condition.

The accident happened on Price Road, four-tenths of a mile north of Pampa when Sands, going north and the three youths going south hit broadside. Mr. Sands' car turned over once, killing him instantly and pinning him in the car. It took two wreckers about one hour to pull the car apart enough for workers to get him out.

The car the youths from Canadian were in skidded into a creek bed, completely demolishing the car. Pampa Highway Patrolmen investigating the accident said it was one of the worst they had seen.

The Pampa Fire Department, Deputy Jim Bowers from the Sheriff's office, the Highway Patrol, ambulances, wreckers and curiosity seekers were at the scene of the accident.

It took volunteers the better part of an hour to get Sands unpinned from the car. His car was completely demolished and the top was caved in, the front seat pushed back where the back seat would normally be and the back seat itself thrown out of the car.

Sands, the father of two children, was a janitor at Lamar school. Mr. Sands was born March 25, 1933, and is survived by his wife, Shirley Ann; one son, Rocky, and one daughter, Sharon, all of the home address and his mother, Ella Sands of El Reno, Okla.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Duengel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

3-Day Rain Total Tops An Inch Here

Pampa received .60 of an inch of rain Friday night and Saturday morning to run the three-day total here to 1.16 inches of rain.

A warehouse and loading dock at the Columbian Carbon Company, just east of Lefors, burned Friday night and the damage amounted to "many, many thousands of dollars," according to Pampa Fire Chief Ernest Winborne.

About 200 feet of loading dock burned and a warehouse 100 feet by 32 feet was a total loss.

'Miss Pampa' Pageant Friday

With the Miss Pampa Pageant set for Friday, cancellations have cut the starting line to eight.

Eldon Blumer, chairman of the Jaycee Beauty Pageant Committee, has issued a call for all unmarried women between the ages of 18 and 28 to enter the local Miss America preliminary. "We'll find you a sponsor," Blumer said today.

Blumer can best be reached at MO 4-7941. This year's Miss Pampa Pageant will take place at 8 p.m. Friday in the Pampa High School Auditorium. Miss Pampa will go to Amarillo for the Miss Texas Contest on July 31.

If talent, beauty, poise and personality hold up, she will get a crack at the Miss America title.

Last year, the Miss Pampa contest had 23 entries. Martha Gordon, Maynette Loftus, Linda Steele, Karla Cox, Bonnie Lou Glasner, Dianne Zachry, Linda Bullard and Kay Sprinkle are the eight prospective Miss Pampa winners in the contest.

Between appearances as beauty queens, they will display their talents varying from piano to dance, drama and art.

Texas Political Pace Quickening

By LOYD LARRABEE
United Press International
A quickening tempo marked Texas politics Saturday as candidates stepped up their vote-getting activity for the July 25 primary elections only five weeks away.

In the Democratic primary race for governor, W. Lee O'Daniel formally opened his state campaign headquarters in downtown Austin with a four-piece hillbilly band playing on a flatbed truck.

O'Daniel, former governor and U. S. Senator, shook hands with a small group of supporters. He said his campaign will "cover the whole state" but told newsmen he did not have a schedule mapped for the coming week.

Gov. Price O'Daniel, who is seeking re-election to a second term, spoke before two veterans groups Saturday—at Dallas before the Disabled American Veterans state convention, and at Beaumont at the Veterans of Foreign Wars state convention.

State Sen. Henry Gonzales of San Antonio, a third candidate for governor, campaigned in West Texas, speaking at a San Angelo dinner Saturday night.

Raps Sherman Adams
A fourth candidate for governor, Dallas insurance-real estate man Joe A. Irwin, spoke Saturday night at Bellaire and said "many of us feel that corruption in government still hovers over Austin like the morning dew."

In the U. S. Senate race, the incumbent, Ralph Yarborough, campaigned at Llano and said despite "all the political jokers on the subject, Texas wool growers and users should not forget the basic economic issue involved in the Adams-Goldfine vicuna coat case."

"The coat and the vicuna rug accepted by Sherman Adams were not mere joking matters, they were a part of the machinery by which substitutes misbranded as wool have continued to reach the American consumer market to the detriment of Texas wool growers and to the disadvantage of the buying public," Yarborough said.

No Loans For Adams Says White House
By HERBERT W. CHESHIRE
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said Saturday that Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's chief assistant who is under congressional investigation, received no loans or loan guarantees from his millionaire Boston friend, Bernard Goldfine.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty also: "Denied that Eisenhower is 'shopping around' for a successor to Adams. The New York Post had said the President was and that his choice appeared to be Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton. "Said he did not know whether the President agreed with Vice President Richard M. Nixon's statement, apparently referring to the Adams case, to Republican state chairman Friday night.

Nixon said that when Republicans "get in trouble they start acting like a bunch of cannibals." He urged the chairmen, divided over whether Adams should be fired, to "fight Democrats instead of each other." Nixon also expressed doubt that the affair would have much effect on the November congressional elections.

Two Fined On Check Charges

Two cases of swindling with a worthless check were heard in Gray County court Friday afternoon.

Gene Williams, Pampa, entered a plea of guilty and was assessed a $5 fine and costs and made restitution for the check. He gave the check to the Home and G & S Grocery for $10.54 on March 21, 1958.

Cornelius E. Baggerman, Pampa, entered a plea of guilty and was fined $5 and costs and made restitution of the check. He gave the check, in the amount of $27.50, to Margaret Black on April 21, 1957.

Quentin Williams, Pampa realtor, was elected a director of the Texas Real Estate Association Friday at the group's 37th convention in Austin.

Little Rock Integration Is Suspended

By JOHN HASLAM
United Press International
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—A federal judge Saturday granted a 2 1/2-year suspension of integration at Central High School because it had "broken down under the pressure of public opposition."

Judge Harry J. Lemley, 74, granted the Little Rock school board's "prayer for relief" by allowing them to suspend integration until the middle of the 1960-1961 school term.

"This does not mean a surrender to unlawful force or violence," he said. "The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People filed notice of appeal of the ruling with the federal court clerk in Little Rock. The appeal is to the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis.

Judge Lemley, the gray-haired grandson of a Confederate soldier, said the Central High educational system had been impaired by integration. And he said that if integration is maintained next term "the board will have to have military assistance or its equivalent and it is financially unable to bear the expense of hiring" guards.

Climate Still Hostile
Central High School graduated the first Negro in its history May 27 after the school was integrated under the bayonets of federalized National Guardsmen and 101st Airborne paratroopers Sept. 25.

The troops were sent in by President Eisenhower to suppress rioting that local and state police could not handle.

Lemley said in a 35-page opinion that while troops can check vandalism and violence, "they cannot reduce or eliminate racial tensions or create a climate that is conducive to education."

Wiley Branton, Pine Bluff, Ark., an NAACP attorney, filed the appeal shortly after noon Saturday. He also filed a motion of supersedeas with Judge Lemley, asking he set aside his own order.

If Lemley grants the motion, Monday, it would mean the seven remaining Negroes would return next fall, because it would suspend the judge's ruling pending outcome of the appeal.

If he overrules the motion, the NAACP can present the motion to the Circuit Court without having to wait for a trial of the appeal. The action was predicted early by New York NAACP attorney Thurgood Marshall.

School Superintendent Virgil T. Blossom, who led the filing of a petition asking for a suspension of integration, said he was "very pleased."

"I have plenty of other reactions but that's all for comment," he said.

School Conditions "Intolerable"
Harry Ashmore, editor of the Pulitzer-Prize winning Arkansas Gazette and himself a Pulitzer Prize winner for editorials written during the height of the crisis last year, said "the basic problem remains to be solved and is still with us."

Ashmore, whose editorials took the position that the Supreme Court is the law of the land and must be observed, said conditions at the school were "intolerable and Judge Lemley's decision recognizes this fact. The prospect is that there will be relief at least at the beginning of the school session in September and this is more than welcome."

L. C. Bates, husband of the NAACP Arkansas president, said the ruling "will lend support to unlawful violence. I can't see any other result from it."

NAACP Executive Vice President Roy Wilkins said in Montgomery, Ala., that "I am sure this decision comes as a disappointment to all Americans who believe that integration should proceed in an orderly fashion."

Mrs. Daisy Bates, president of the NAACP Arkansas chapter, was in Philadelphia and had no comment.

Lemley said that considering the "nature of the problem, 2 1/2 years is not a very long time."

Made "Reasonable" Start
Lemley said the school board made a "prompt and reasonable start" on integration and has "actually put its plan into operation only to find it break down (See LITTLE ROCK Page 3)

3-Day Rain Total Tops An Inch Here

Pampa received .60 of an inch of rain Friday night and Saturday morning to run the three-day total here to 1.16 inches of rain.

Other area towns receiving moisture were: Miami, with .33 of an inch. The three-day total in Miami amounts to two inches.

McLean, with .61 of an inch, making a total of 2.33 inches for three days. A few television antennas were blown down and the storm siren was sounded around 12:30 a.m. Saturday.

Shamrock received .58 of an inch and has 2.30 inches for a three-day total.

A warehouse and loading dock at the Columbian Carbon Company, just east of Lefors, burned Friday night and the damage amounted to "many, many thousands of dollars," according to Pampa Fire Chief Ernest Winborne.

About 200 feet of loading dock burned and a warehouse 100 feet by 32 feet was a total loss.

Pampa and Lefors firemen battled the blaze starting at about 11:30 p.m. Friday. They watched the flame burn itself out until around 10 a.m. Saturday to see that nothing else started blazing. Chief Winborne said that the carbon black would probably smoulder for "two or three days."

State Sen. Henry Gonzales of San Antonio, a third candidate for governor, campaigned in West Texas, speaking at a San Angelo dinner Saturday night.

Raps Sherman Adams
A fourth candidate for governor, Dallas insurance-real estate man Joe A. Irwin, spoke Saturday night at Bellaire and said "many of us feel that corruption in government still hovers over Austin like the morning dew."

In the U. S. Senate race, the incumbent, Ralph Yarborough, campaigned at Llano and said despite "all the political jockeying on the subject, Texas wool growers and users should not forget the basic economic issue involved in the Adams-Goldfine Vienna coat case."

"The coat and the Oriental rug accepted by Sherman Adams were not mere joking matters, they were a part of the machinery by which substitutes misbranded as wool have continued to reach the American consumer market to the detriment of Texas wool growers and to the disadvantage of the buying public," Yarborough said.

No Loans For Adams Says White House

By HERBERT W. CHESHIRE
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said Saturday that Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's chief assistant who is under congressional investigation, received no loans or loan guarantees from his millionaire Boston friend, Bernard Goldfine.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty also:

—Denied that Eisenhower is "shopping around" for a successor to Adams. The New York Post had said the President was and that his choice appeared to be interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton.

—Said he did not know whether the President agreed with Vice President Richard M. Nixon's statement, apparently referring to the Adams case, to Republican state chairmen Friday night.

Nixon said that when Republicans "get in trouble they start acting like a bunch of cannibals." He urged the chairmen, divided over whether Adams should be fired, to "fight Democrats instead of each other." Nixon also expressed doubt that the affair would have much effect on the November congressional elections.

Little Rock Integration Is Suspended

By JOHN HASLAM
United Press International
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—A federal judge Saturday granted a 2 1/2-year suspension of integration at Central High School because it had "broken down under the pressure of public opposition."

Judge Harry J. Lemley, 74, granted the Little Rock school board's "prayer for relief" by allowing them to suspend integration until the middle of the 1960-1961 school term.

"This does not mean a surrender to unlawful force or violence," he said.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People filed notice of appeal of the ruling with the federal court clerk in Little Rock. The appeal is to the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis.

Judge Lemley, the graying grandson of a Confederate soldier, said the Central High educational system had been impaired by integration. And he said that if integration is maintained next term "the board will have to have military assistance or its equivalent and it is financially unable to bear the expense of hiring" guards.

Climate Still Hostile
Central High School graduated the first Negro in its history May 27 after the school was integrated under the bayonets of federalized National Guardsmen and 101st Airborne paratroopers Sept. 23.

The troops were sent in by President Eisenhower to suppress rioting that local and state police could not handle.

Lemley said in a 35-page opinion that while troops can check vandalism and violence, "they cannot reduce or eliminate racial tensions or create a climate that is conducive to education."

Wiley Branton, Pine Bluff, Ark., an NAACP attorney, filed the appeal shortly after noon Saturday. He also filed a motion of super-seedeas with Judge Lemley, asking he set aside his own order.

If Lemley grants the motion, Monday, it would mean the seven remaining Negroes would return next fall, because it would suspend the judge's ruling pending outcome of the appeal.

If he overrules the motion, the NAACP can present the motion to the Circuit Court without having to wait for a trial of the appeal.

The action was predicted early by New York NAACP attorney Thurgood Marshall.

School Superintendent Virgil T. Blossom, who led the filing of a petition asking for a suspension of integration, said he was "very pleased."

"I have plenty of other reactions but that's all for comment," he said.

School Conditions 'Intolerable'

Harry Ashmore, editor of the Pulitzer-Prize winning Arkansas Gazette and himself a Pulitzer Prize winner for editorials written during the height of the crisis last year, said "the basic problem remains to be solved and is still with us."

Ashmore, whose editorials took the position that the Supreme Court is the law of the land and must be observed, said conditions at the school were "intolerable" and Judge Lemley's decision recognizes this fact. The prospect is that there will be relief at least at the beginning of the school session in September and this is more than welcome.

'Arresting' Is Not Quite Right Word For TV's 'Traffic Court'

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Traffic Court" curtsied in on ABC-TV Wednesday night. I could say it was an arresting show, but somehow that doesn't seem like quite the right word. And anyway, it wouldn't be completely true.

"Traffic Court" is a half-hour collation out of Los Angeles made up of quickie cases from the files of the Los Angeles traffic court. According to one announcement on the show the court is the largest of its kind in the world. As anyone who has played pedestrian in that city knows, there's good reason for that state of affairs.

Wednesday night's opening network show — it was either on bad tape or good kinescope. I'm not sure which — trotted out a woman who had converted her premises into an illegal parking lot (comedy), a ducktailed rogue who was pinched for speeding and running stop signs (social commentary), a rich oil man from Texas who had thrown a candy sack on a highway (farce), and a respectable citizen who had accidentally killed a girl with his car (melodrama).

The parts were taken by some pros and some non-pros, all of whom spoke what I guess you could call semi-prose. The show is big on "natural" talk and visual close-ups and looks and feels a little like an ungrammatical "Dragnet."

The show does have some strong points: it packs a sort of artless reality and it's very successful in conveying the feeling of helplessness that any citizen feels in the hands of the law. Edgar Jones, assistant dean of the law school of the University of California who plays the judge, is particularly adept at getting over the genial tyranny of his character. I thought some of the jokes that Jones made also were very right. They had the dreary smell of the humor of most public officials. At one point, for example, he said to the Texas oil man: "You may have been in oil there, but you're in hot water here."

To sum up my verdict: a mildly interesting show and you might sentence yourself to one night of it this summer to test it on your own sensibilities.

Short shots: I managed to catch only the first half of NBC-TV's mystery "Kraft Theatre" because it overlapped "Traffic Court." But from what I saw of "Now Will You Try for Murder" it seemed properly vicious and also had some good acting.

Wednesday night's NBC-TV "Wagon Train" with Ray Danton and Mona Freeman was a thing about how the train ran out of water and it seemed to me it ran out of gas, too. Diana Lynn, a very capable actress, was wasted in a ho-hummed on Wednesday night's CBS-TV "Johnson's Wax Theater" — The tall guy in the piece was Chuck Connors who used to play first base for the Brooklyn Dodgers. CBS-TV's "U.S. Steel Hour" offering, "The Littlest Enemy," was a bomb all-around.

Tonight's TV highlights: "Playhouse 90" (CBS-TV). Rod Serling's "A Town Has Turned to Dust," a horseless Western about the moral effects a lynching has on a town, Rod Steiger and William Shatner star. "Confession" (ABC-TV). Network debut of a series out of Dallas in which convicted criminals are interviewed about their off-campus activities.

Friday highlights: "Person to Person" (CBS-TV). Ed Murrow shares a cigarette with William Rogers, this nation's attorney general, and Bob Evans, a handsome garment center manufacturer who makes ladies pants and who recently turned actor and now makes ladies pant.

The Channel Swim: Mary Martin will star in a 60-minute special for CBS-TV next season based on the "Rodgers and Hart Songbook." It'll be live and from New York, sponsored by the same automaker who'll also present a 60-minute Victor Borge show, a Phil Silvers revue and a musical produced and directed by Bob Banner, Dinah Shore's former guiding hand.

Arthur Godfrey has quietly dropped the $5,000 monthly prize from his CBS-TV "Talent Scouts" show. Oscar Levant has been signed for one of Jack Benny's fall shows on CBS-TV. Barry Sullivan pulled out of the June 26 CBS-TV "Climax" offering, "Cabin B13." Leslie Nielsen will fill in.

Jan Murray will take a three week breather from his NBC-TV "Treasure Hunt" after June 27. Keefe Brasselle, Dennis James and Paul Winchell will spell Murray. NBC-TV and radio will carry the 25th annual All-Star baseball game on July 8. "Jim Bowie" won't be back next season on ABC-TV.

Pampan Serves In Viet Nam

Master Sgt. Horace H. Henry of Pampa is a member of the Temporary Equipment Recovery Mission (TERM) to Viet Nam. As Pampa's personal representative in this country, he has a hand in a program that has saved the United States vast amounts of money and strengthened U.S. foreign military aid at the same time.

He is the son of Mrs. Hattie Matheson, 1317 Garland, Pampa. As Depot Representative at Bein Hoa Air Force depot, he is responsible for salvaging unusual defense equipment shipped into Viet Nam for use by French forces fighting the Communist Viet Minh from 1950 to 1954.

He is enthusiastic about the Vietnamese armed forces. "They're eager and in a hurry to make their armed forces strong. After all," he pointed out, "they've had first hand experience with armed Communist aggression. They're determined to be ready if the Reds ever threaten again."

CHRISTMAS IN JUNE?

The Christmas decoration across Cuyler is down now but it didn't blow down. According to the Merchants Activities Committee, the aluminum garland is guaranteed to withstand 70 mile per hour winds. The Committee promises that it will not put up any more decorations until December since only one display company has submitted a sample. The display was tried out last week. See story, page one.

J. R. Martin Of Shamrock Dies Saturday

(Special to The News)

SHAMROCK — Mr. Jack Robert Martin, prominent Shamrock businessman, farmer and rancher, died at 3:30 a.m. yesterday at Northwest Texas Hospital, Amarillo.

Born in Shamrock on Aug. 21, 1913, Mr. Martin has lived there all his life with the exception of three years' service in the South Pacific during World War II.

He was a graduate of Shamrock High School and Texas A & M College. Owner of the Town and Country Furniture Store, Shamrock, he was a member of the First Baptist Church and the Masonic Lodge.

He is survived by his wife, Vixie, a son, Robert Earl of Shamrock; and his brother, Earl of Waynesville, Mo.

Services will be held in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. J. E. Byars, pastor, in charge. The time of the service has not been announced.

W. J. Jones Dies Friday

(Special to The News)

SHAMROCK — Oil field worker Mr. Walter J. Jones died at 9:50 p.m. Friday in Shamrock General Hospital. Mr. Jones had been in Shamrock for the past five weeks with the James Colvin Drilling Company. He had been a driller since 1925.

Mr. Jones was born on Jan. 30, 1898 in Bell Plain.

Survivors are his mother, Mrs. Ella Jones, Woodson; four sisters, Mrs. Ollie Brantley and Mrs. J. E. Parrot of Woodson, Mrs. Eau Breuda of Hobbs, N.M. and Mrs. E. L. Jernigan of Wickett; and three brothers, Ed, Roy, and A. T. of Woodson.

He was a member of the Woodson First Baptist Church. The body will be carried to Woodson for burial.

Presentation Of Service Pins Highlights Cabot Barbecue

The presentation of 30-year service pins to Selgel A. Tinsley and Booker Mohon highlighted the annual Cabot Carbon Company barbecue at Lake McClellan yesterday.

N. Dudley Steele, carbon black superintendent, and Don M. Conley, director of the safety and insurance department, presented watches to 25-year men W. S. Dixon, Everest N. Franklin and Robert M. Klinger of the Pampa Plant.

Lester R. McKenzie, Schafer plant, received the one 20-year award.

Despite unsettled weather, employees of the Pampa Plant received 30-year service pins from the white students of the part of the white students of the people of Little Rock, "rather, the course of the trouble was the deep-seated popular opposition in Little Rock to the principle of integration which, as is known, runs counter to the pattern of Southern life which has existed over 300 years."

Ernest Green became the first Negro to graduate from Central High May 27. Minnijean Brown was expelled. The other seven Negro students were underclassmen.

There were at least 37 separate bomb threats, witnesses in the petition hearing earlier this month said, and about 40 fires were set in lockers and other places around the school. Several white students were suspended and then reinstated for anti-Negro demonstrations.

Tells of Threats Superintendent Blossom said he had a number of anonymous threats against his life, and there were many incidents of slugging, pushing, tripping, cat-calls, abusive language and destruction of property.

Man Takes Post In Panhandle Johnny Williams, former used car salesman with Noblitt - Coffey Pontiac in Pampa, has announced that he has taken a job with Universal Motors in Panhandle.

Williams said he'd like to thank all of his former customers here and would like them to visit him in Panhandle.

Commemorating the 52nd anniversary of the First National Bank, 190 N. Cuyler, a drive-in bank will go into construction Tuesday on the lot across the alley east of the bank.

Lyle Stout of Pampa will be the general contractor. The building expected to cost $50,000, will have two drive-in and two walk-up windows. It will enable the bank to employ four more persons, Bank President A. A. Schuneman said Saturday.

Schuneman expects the facility to be finished in four months. "Cabot Shops is fabricating the steel and the granite is being polished at Cold Springs, Minn.," he said.

The band made the first step in its 52nd anniversary expansion late last fall when it purchased the property for the drive-in. Pursley Motor Company was the former owner.

The new drive-in banking facility will be located directly across from the post office. As with banks in the larger cities it will provide depositors with the "most up to the minute service, enabling depositors to bank "on the run."

Funeral services for Mrs. Alice Towe, 71, 701 E. Foster, will be held tomorrow at the First Baptist Church with Rev. E. Douglas Carver officiating.

Mrs. Towe, who died Saturday in Highland General Hospital, had been ill for the last year and a half.

She is survived by her husband, W. E. Towe; three sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Williams of Waxahachie, Mrs. Sue Prather of Greenville and Mrs. Madge Nevorney, also of Greenville.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. J. B. O'Bannon, J. Evans, Louis Allen, C. G. Shirley and Cecil Hamilton.

Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery with Duenkel - Carmichael in charge.

The judge said it was important to note that the trouble did not stem from lawlessness on the part of the white students or the people of Little Rock, "rather, the course of the trouble was the deep-seated popular opposition in Little Rock to the principle of integration which, as is known, runs counter to the pattern of Southern life which has existed over 300 years."

Retail Merchants Group Hears Of Its Progress

The progress of the Pampa Retail Merchants Association was reported in the luncheon meeting Friday, forming the background for Charles T. Lux's speech on what merchants should expect of their association. Lux, who is executive vice president of the Associated Credit Bureaus of Texas, followed Pampa Association President Lucien Young and Manager W. L. Veale to the speakers stand.

Young reminded the merchants and professional people that the Association had adjusted its rates to the current economy, moved into new offices with enough room for the operation of a collection agency. The Association has purchased new office furniture and will provide its telephone girls with headsets.

Veale said that the office now has five lines, four of which go directly to the office girls. The fifth line will eventually lead to the collection office.

He asked member merchants for a list of their accounts so that the Association can bring its files up to date. "The more you use us, the more information we will have for you and everyone else," Veale said.

The Association is working on a Medical Credit Division which will serve the doctors of Pampa.

Lux suggested that merchants look at their association as they would any other business. Merchants Associations in Texas are set up to operate credit bureaus, collection agencies and newcomer reporting services, Lux explained.

And an efficient organization guarantees its members six basic services, "first class reports," hot check service, public relations work and free collection aids.

Lux said that merchants would get the maximum benefit from their Association if they check their accounts through the credit bureau whenever their accounts become past due.

Man Arrested In Canada For Murders

PERTH, N. B. (UPI)—Howard B. Stickney, 20-year-old Texas Highway Department draftsman was being held here Saturday awaiting extradition to Houston, Tex., where he is wanted for the double murder of a Houston couple.

Stickney was arrested here late Friday night by Royal Canadian Mounted Police who traced him down through gasoline credit slips. He is charged with the bludgeoning slaying of Mrs. Shirley Elaine Barnes, 26, whose body was discovered in her apartment in Houston May 27.

Stickney was being held here on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon pending the arrival of Houston police officers and representatives of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The arrest of the man ended a three-week international search for Stickney and Mrs. Barnes' husband, Clifford C. Barnes, 26, which began after Mrs. Barnes' body was discovered.

Barnes' body was discovered Wednesday in a patch of bushes off a lonely farm road, near Houston, his head beaten in with an automobile lug wrench. The Harris county pathologist said he had been dead about three weeks.

Michael Miller Dies Friday

(Special to The News) SHAMROCK — Michael B. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Miller of Shamrock, died at 9:30 p.m. Friday in Shamrock General Hospital. He was born May 31 in the Hospital.

Other survivors are the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Crow of Shamrock and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Miller, Erick, Okla.

Burial will be in Shamrock Cemetery under the direction of Richerson Funeral Home.

United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Katherine Lacey was enroute home today after a "just wonderful" time in Washington.

Katherine told me about her visit. She is from Ulrich, Mo., a town of 400 population in the northwest part of Henry county. She sort of bubbled over, discussing the things she saw and heard during a "much-too-short" week as a delegate to the national 4-H conference.

As the United Press International reporter at the Agriculture Department, I picked Katherine's name from the list of some 200 4-H delegates as a likely subject for interview. Her home town was the deciding factor. It's my home town, too.

Katherine lives with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lacey, on the "Galbreath farm" about 3 1/2 miles south of Ulrich. The farm is on Highway K, a blacktop road, which wasn't there when I was a youngster. The good road made transportation to town so easy that the crossroad, store known as Lucas a half mile from the farm had to close. People in the community just didn't bother to stop and shop there any more as they did 30 years ago.

Katherine was chosen by officials of the Missouri 4-H Clubs as one of four state delegates to the national conference. The selection was made on the basis of achieving her 12 years as a 4-H'er her completed projects in sewing, cooking, woodwork, gardening, food preservation, raised some calves and pigs, and recently concentrated on Delaware hens for sale as fryers. She has won almost 400 ribbons and some cash prizes for exhibits at local, county, and state fairs. She has won ribbons also at the American Royal Livestock Show at Kansas City and the International Livestock Exhibition at Chicago.

"Those Delaware hens helped pay my way through college," Katherine said. She was graduated with an education degree and a teacher's certificate by the Central Missouri State Teachers College at Warrensburg early this month. She has a job lined up to teach commerce at the Chillicothe, Mo., high school beginning in September.

B. Betty Enters Miss America Preliminary

(Special to The News)
PERRYTON — Barbara Betty 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Betty, is the first contestant in the Jaycee sponsored Miss America contest in Perryton. Miss Betty will be a sophomore next year at Texas Tech, Lubbock. She moved here with her parents from Hazelton, Kansas, about a year ago. Her sponsor is Young's Flower Shop.

The Perryton show will be held Saturday June 28, with the place yet to be determined. Bob Close is chairman of the contest committee.

The winner of the Perryton contest will be sent to compete in the state Miss America contest in Amarillo.

Pampans Tell Of Oil Drilling In Venezuela

By WALLACE TRUESDELL
Pampa News Staff Writer

"De petroleo. Ni una gota." Ray Neithercutt told a Panorama reporter. Drilling for oil within the city limits of Maracaibo, Venezuela. Neithercutt had hit a rock crevice and lost mud in a blow out. The company finally did get a gusher from the well-watched well, seven blocks from the spot where Neithercutt and his wife lived.

For the last four months, the Neithercutts have been very happy with their motel at 321 E. Brown. That's what they were thinking of all the time they were in Venezuela.

During his four years with Loffland Brothers in Venezuela, Neithercutt drilled wells for Gulf, Humble, Phillips, Shell and Standard Oil of California. Living for two years in Eastern Venezuela, the Neithercutts came home to Texas for their two months vacation; then went back for two years in the Western area.

Their last sixteen months, living 95 miles from Maracaibo, Mrs. Neithercutt drove into Maracaibo for groceries or in her words "food that we'd eat." The best village store could do for them was rice and dried fish. Although a "snobbed mob" took out its frustration on Vice President Nixon when he visited Caracas, the Neithercutts with them books and language records. But Neithercutt learned his Spanish on the job. He had to. One of the rulings of the Venezuelan government is that a technician must give orders in Spanish that workers can understand. "But they'd bend over backward to teach you," Neithercutt says.

Good And Bad Of The Week's News

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCANN
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The international balance sheet: Soviet-bloc Communist rulers reverted to the murderous brutality of the Stalin era this week. Former Premier Imre Nagy and Gen. Pal Maleter were executed undoubtedly by order of Soviet Russia—for leading the Hungarian revolt of October, 1956.

It was evident that the executions were perpetrated, 20 months after the Red Army crushed the rebellion, as a result of a crisis in the Communist world. It was evident also that the crisis was due to fear in Russia, the Red-ruled countries of Eastern Europe and Communist China of "Titoism"—the movement toward independent communism, free of Kremlin domination, led by President Tito of Yugoslavia.

The executions shocked the entire free world. They were denounced formally by Allied and neutral governments. They led to foreign capitals. Comment by President Eisenhower and other Allied leaders made it plain that the executions had further weakened any belief that a summit conference with Russia on cold war issues could be fruitful.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said at a press conference in Washington that the United States might find it necessary to give military support, including troops, to the government of Lebanon. Lebanese government forces are fighting rebels who are receiving military support from the United Arab Republic. Nasser has supported the rebels and most likely fomented the en-dent Nixon when he visited Caracas, the Neithercutts with them books and language records. But Neithercutt learned his Spanish on the job. He had to. One of the rulings of the Venezuelan government is that a technician must give orders in Spanish that workers can understand. "But they'd bend over backward to teach you," Neithercutt says.

The government, which owns every oil well in Venezuela, is content to have foreigners in the oil fields as long as there is not a Venezuelan for the job.

Since the government gets from 50 to 60 per cent of the profits, Venezuela has no national debt. Companies can set their own production quota but now must get a government permit to drill, plug and abandon. This is so no well worth production will be plugged and abandoned, he explains. As Neithercutt found out, Venezuelans really love their oil wells. When he was drilling in Maracaibo he had as many as 120 visitors a day. "Kids from the University of Caracas flew down," he recalls, "and shell flew in dignitaries." "We had to put up a cyclone fence and post guards to keep people out."

Now that the Neithercutt's dream of a Texas motel has come true, Ray Neithercutt may never say "De petroleo. Ni una gota." again

Male Tosses Tirade Against 'The Girls'

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—An observant male in our office tossed a bitter tirade against us girls and fashions the other day. "Why do they have to try everything new at once?" he complained. "I saw a girl on Fifth Avenue today, dressed in one of those exaggerated chemises. You know the kind I mean, the ones that hobble the derriere."

"She had her hair in one of those new sheep-dog cuts," said our man, warming to the subject. "She was wearing a headscarf band and I've yet to see anybody besides a model look good in one of those."
"She wore stockings tinted to match her dress. The whole costume was corpse green."
"And she was dumpy. I thought, Great Scott, she looks like she is on her way to a costume party."

"Honest now. Why does a woman put ALL that's new in fashion on at once?"
Maybe our man has something there. Maybe a basic rule of the well-dressed woman needs repeating: Try the new, only when it becomes you.
Or, to steal from Alexander Pope:
"Be not the first by whom the new is tried,
"Nor yet the last to lay the old aside."

Bill To Label

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Commerce Committee has approved a Senate bill to require that all new cars be labeled with the manufacturer's suggested retail price. The manufacturer would put on the price tag which also would show: —The suggested retail price for accessory items attached to the car but not included in the price of the car itself.

—The place where the car was assembled, the dealer to whom it and cost of delivery. The bill is aimed at preventing packing car prices with false charges, and to stamp out bootlegging of new cars. The bill provides penalties of up to $1,000 fine and a year in prison.

'SAYONARA' RETURNS

"Sayonara," starring Marlon Brando and Miiko Taka, has been brought back to the LaNora Theatre for a three-day engagement at regular prices. Returned "by popular demand," the picture also stars Red Buttons, who won the Academy Award this year for his performance in this attraction. Also included in the cast is Patricia Owens, Martha Scott, Ricardo Montalban and James "Maverick" Garner.

Dr. Carver Will Discuss Missions Work

The history of mission work done by the First Baptist Church in recent years will be the central theme of the sermon by Dr. Douglas Carver today at the First Baptist Church. At the evening service the ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed. Sunday School begins at 9:45 a.m., Morning Worship at 11 a.m., Training Union at 6:30 p.m., and Evening Worship at 7 p.m. At 8 p.m. the Training Union executive committee will meet to make plans for the work of this organization in July.

The Church choir has prepared a special number for the morning service which will be a medley of mission hymns. Mr. Joe Whitten will also be featured singing "I'll Walk With God," taken from "The Student Prince." In the evening service the special music will be "Man of Sorrows" by the choir and a duet, "Nestle the Old Olive Tree" in keeping with the Lord's Supper service. The two offertory numbers by Miss Eloise Lane at the Console of the Tom and Ora May Rose Memorial Organ will be "I Love to Tell the Story" by Fisher, and "Lament," a Negro spiritual.

Tonight following the evening service the youth of the church will launch a new program for all young people for the summer. This youth movement will be directed by the college young people, who are home for the summer, and the Youth Council. Their first meeting will be held at 8:30 p.m. Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Langham, 1806 N. Sumner. All youth are invited to attend.

Wednesday will see the first in a series of Church-wide fellowship suppers. This is a feature of the summer program in which many members participate. The meal will be served at 6:30 p.m. A program will follow while the members are still at the table. Teacher's meeting at 7:45 will follow the program.

Registrations are now being taken for the camps to be held at the Pan Fork Baptist Encampment. The boys camp which begins July 7 will be the first of four to be held in July. This camp is open to all boys 9 to 14. The registration fee is $17 which includes meals during the camp.

Glamorous Clothes Are Simple Says Actress Loretta Young

Editors Note: Vernon Scott is on vacation. Writing a column today is Loretta Young, whose TV wardrobe is the best in Hollywood. The actress says simple clothes are the best.

By LORETTA YOUNG
Written for UPI

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Women like myself, who are in the public eye, must dress for glamour. It's part of our job. However, I confess that I enjoy it.

Right now, though, I'd better be sure that we—you and I—mean the same thing by "glamour." Glamorous clothes are not necessarily super-sophisticated or ultra-advanced in style or terribly expensive.

Glamorous clothes are those which are suited to you, individually, so as to be the greatest compliment to your personality, and they're suited to the occasion for which they're to be worn.

Also, they're simple. They're based on good lines... are exquisite and timeless. I have dresses that are 10 years old, and as undated today as when I bought them. I put them away every few years, and then bring them out again to the "ooohs" and "aahs" of friends who have forgotten them, and I think I have Playing up one important feature of an ensemble will almost invariably lead to a smart appearance. If I have a sensational hat, I wear a very simple dress so that nothing detracts from my chapeaux. My husband gave me a beautiful pair of diamond earrings for one of our anniversaries, and when I wear them, I'm always careful to choose a dress with a plain neckline, so that all eyes turn ear-wards.

To my way of thinking, a woman should spend as much thought and effort on the way she looks for her family as for her public appearances. After all, our families mean more to us than anyone else.

So we should be willing to put more effort into making them happy. Again—blue jeans are wonderful for house cleaning chores... but any man likes to see his wife wearing a charming dress or attractive hostess gown at dinner. If she doesn't dress for him... some other woman undoubtedly will!

The oval patent leather handbag with red lining is a nice touch for spring. Match it to a pair of patent leather shoes with sharp toe and tiny shaped heel.

What Caused Martyr's Action In Hungary?

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the story of a grieved and trouble woman — Mrs. Maria Maletter, former wife of Hungarian Major Gen. Pal Maletter, executed by the Communists this week with former Premier Imre Nagy, for their roles as leaders of the resistance in the Hungarian uprising of 1956 against Soviet oppression. Mrs. Maletter, 34, now lives with her three children in New York, where she hopes to make a living as a photographer of children.

By MARIA MALETTER (As told to Claire Cox), United Press International NEW YORK (UPI) — What makes a hero and a martyr? What turns a man with fierce love of country into a Communist?

The answers are Pal Maletter's secret, a secret he carried to his grave. Even I, who was his wife for nine years and am the mother of his three children, can only guess the reasons.

For Pal, I can see no good coming out of his death. It was a terrible tragedy for a born leader to be executed at the age of 41. But all is not hopeless for Hungary. I have always had hope for Hungary, and I have hope now. Knowing my country, I think that it will be impossible for the Communists to oppress the Hungarian people forever.

DIGS GARDEN

Digging in her garden is Mrs. William Castleberry, 221 Ward. "I just love to dig and take care of flowers," she says. Mrs. Castleberry has some of the prettiest flowers in Pampa. She also has a very nice garden. (News Photo)

Pampa Woman Is All-Year Gardener

By RONNIE CROSS Pampa News Staff Writer One of Pampa's finest all-year gardeners is Mrs. William Castleberry, 221 Ward.

Mrs. Castleberry can be seen digging in her garden, which by now is reputed to be one of the prettiest and best in town. A lot of time is spent watering the flowers, which she disclosed is one of the secrets of her success.

"I water the garden every other day in the winter and twice a day in the summer," Mrs. Castleberry revealed. Mrs. Castleberry has all kinds of tomato plants which she has kept inside ready to put in her garden. "If the tomatoes are put out now they'll be out by Aug. 1," she stated. "Last year we furnished nearly everyone in the block with tomatoes and they were huge," she pointed out. Her secret, "I just take special care of them."

However, later she said that she puts paper cups on the bottom, cut over the vines when she first puts them in the ground. This protects them from the dust.

Mrs. Castleberry's "pride and joy" are her rose bushes, which last year yielded roses that measured 3 inches in diameter. The bushes are supposed to grow to about four feet in height. Mrs. Castleberry related, and last year most of hers were over six feet tall.

Another reason for the beauty and abundance of Mrs. Castleberry's roses is that she puts small mounds of earth around each bush. "The frost kills them to the soil line, but it won't kill below that," she explained. "They still come out above the graft."

To revitalize the soil, Mrs. Castleberry used fertilizer, which she and her husband haul themselves. "We do it just because we like to," she stated.

Mrs. Castleberry's garden also includes pear trees, around which she has planted tulips, daffodils, and gladioli. "I have to water the trees anyway so I might as well have some flowers, too," she said.

Among the many-colored flowers in her garden are Columbine, mostly blue, white, yellow and red; lilies; huge iris that look like orchids, in pale blue with dark blue veins and 13 other colors; mums; hardy phlox and delphiniums.

Another interesting feature of her garden is her barrels. "I have them cut in half and plant them in flowers," she explained. "I use evergreens as a background, and they also act as a windbreak."

In her vegetable plot, she has English peas, greens, cabbage, and onions, to name a few, all of which are already beginning to come up. Some of her problems with this section of her garden included birds. "One year we had nearly everything eaten by birds," she explained. To eliminate this menace, she tied what looks like Japanese ornamented oblong pieces of glass hung on strings which strike each other as they are blown by the wind. The "tinkling" sound they produce is very effective in keeping birds away she stated. "They won't even land anywhere in the yard, now."

Also around her flowers and vegetables, Mrs. Castleberry has dead grass and roots. "I leave that dead stuff there all winter," she said. "It keeps the wind from beating them down and keeps the moisture in."

"I plant to have something to

Divorce Shook Him

I divorced Pal in 1954. It was more for the children's sake than anything else. I could not bear for them to hear the arguments over Communism.

The divorce was a shock to Pal, possibly so much of one that it shook some of his faith in Communism. I think his disillusionment may have started then. Not only was he shut off from his friends, but his children as well. Then another thing happened. He was put in charge of a labor camp to which anti-Communist students were sent. He became friendly with some of the students, and it is possible they opened his eyes fully to the evils of communism.

It was not difficult for him to step to the head of the anti-Communist forces in the November uprising in 1956.

ROCKY TO REFEREE

BOSTON (UPI)—Former world heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano will be the third man in the ring at Sargent Field, New Bedford, June 23 when former featherweight champion Willie Pep meets Pat McCoy. Marciano also will serve as referee the following night at Athol for the Gordon Parker-Lou Caroma bout. CONTRACT INKED

Glass Takes Spotlight In Lamps

By SHERRIE KAHN United Press International CHICAGO (UPI) — Glass takes the spotlight on the lamp offerings at the International Home Furnishings Market here.

Milk glass, textured, woven, clear, smoked and tinted — The bases turn to glass. One offering incorporates a new etching process into the base. The etch process combines visual texture with the actual feel of woven fiber in the lamp base.

The process is also used in graceful bottle shapes bringing raised stripes to the bases in contrast to the inset clear, or contrasting color. Smoked glass is offered in a 35-inch tall Venetian lamp attached to a bench table. Lamp poles are coupled with round, square and oblong tables in anything from walnut — and other wood finishes — to the new synthetic materials.

The designers borrowed the warmth of trends toward Early American and Colonial settings and offer a wide selection of old-time chandeliers.

'Blind Drivers' To Be On Highways 4th

CHICAGO — Forty-five million blind drivers—momentarily blind, that is—will be on the nation's highways over the Fourth of July weekend, the National Safety Council said today.

The Council explains that the average person blinks his eyes 25 times a minute and the blink lasts an average of one-fifth of a second. So, if a driver averages 40 miles an hour on a 10-hour motor trip, he will drive almost 35 miles of the trip with his eyes closed.

"Such statistics don't mean a thing," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the Council, "except that an accident can happen in the wink of an eye — as 371 persons who died in traffic over the Memorial Day weekend found out too late. The toll dramatically points up the need for extra driving caution when traffic is at a peak. The Fourth, which comes during the peak of the three-month vacation season, usually brings more deaths from traffic accidents than Memorial Day."

The most dangerous period for the holiday highway traveler is while enroute to his holiday destination, rather than on the trip home. This was found, the Council said, in a special study of holiday highway accidents made after 435 persons were killed in traffic last Labor Day weekend.

- The study also showed that:
1. Speed was a factor in 71 per cent of the accidents.
 2. Drinking was a factor in nearly half the accidents.
 3. Accidents were most frequent early in the weekend.
 4. Accidents were most frequent during evening hours.
 5. Non-collision accidents were the most frequent type.

"My family likes soups and stews. The electric deep well cooker makes it easy for me to give them what they like!"

SAYS
Mrs. Cecil Alf,
1824 ORANGE,
AMARILLO, TEXAS

★ "The deep well cooker is so wonderful for making soups and stews that it's not surprising it does a wonderful job sterilizing baby's bottles. This is a new use that the Public Service Home Service Advisor told me about when I first got my electric range."

"I've found it's economical and practical to prepare soups and stews in large quantities in the deep well cooker and then freeze part for later use. There just seems to be no limit to the things you can do with an electric range."

"Thanks to the dependability of electric cooking, I can set my range to cook while I'm out. I love to entertain and with people in the house, I'm not tied down to the kitchen. I just let Reddy take over. So, in or out of the house, Reddy makes a good, silent, non-complaining servant."

Pampan's Son Gets Degree

Roy Eldon Hubbard, son of Mrs. Ruth Hubbard, 406 N. Dwight, received his Bachelor of Science degree from East Texas Baptist College on June 2, 1958.
He graduated from Miami High School with the class of 1949. Since that time he was employed by the First National Bank of Borger for a year and served four years with the US Air Force. He received his discharge in August of 1954 and in September of that year entered ETBC. During his years in college he worked at a radio and television shop.
At present, he is employed by the Upjohn Co., of Detroit, Mich.

Rick Pezdirtz purely paydirt

If Rip Van Winkle were alive today, he'd be half dead. He'd be reeling down Cuyler or maybe Kingsmill Street with drooping eye-lids and wondering what was the number of that truck.

It musta been more than 200 years ago when Rip sat-himself-down for a 20-year snooze. The mind slips when trying to recall how or why he wanted to saw off that many Zzzzz's without waking, but we do remember something about tiny men, beer or was it ale? And a close connection with duck-pins, which are midget ten-pins or some such jazz.

Anyhow, if the Ripper had been around yesterday when they first flipped open the doors out at the "watch-it wet-paint" new Harvester Bowl, he'd of had to faint dead-away like with shock and surprise.

Granted Mr. Van Winkle got something of a pulsated-heart when he returned from his sleep in the Catskills, or was it the Adirondacks?, to the sleepy little hamlet he called home.

But it wouldn't have been nothing, you understand, next to the bubbling marvel he'd have seen out at Pampa's new bowling palace on the Clarendon Highway, south.

You'd have to pack your bags and do some hard road work too, before you'd come across two cities the size of Pampa with top-flight bowling alleys. It's our understanding that the Pampa Bowl is presently doing some spending of their own, remodeling and putting on some patches for the approaching league bowling seasons.

Plush Like A Palace

If you're a real bowling bug, one of them guys who just can't get out to the lanes fast enough and who hates so much to leave his partners have to nearly tear his shoes off, and drag him away from the scorer's stand, the Harvester Bowl has just got to be right down your alley, if you'll excuse the pun.

The plush new Pampa sports center has everything. But then at a cost of no-less than a quart-

One Alley; $5,000

Pampa can do its cap-doffing to three men, John Sands, the owner; Jack Dyer, business manager; and Bob Hoekendorf, alley manager.

They're the boys who had enough foresight to build Pampa a bowling center, that'll have to rank along with the best in the country, if not in lane numbers, in beauty.

You might be wondering how a 120 by 150 structure can dip into the red by so much as $250,000. But when you take into close consideration that each er-million skins, why not? You'll not only find a fully equipped restaurant at the Harvester Bowl, but a beautiful air-conditioned 20-lane setup, complete with automatic pin-spotters, electric-eye foul lines, new rental shoes, racks upon racks of "your-finger-size" balls, and seating arrangements for over 100 spectators.

There's nothing to be desired, you'll see upon the first visit.

lane runs in the neighborhood of $5,000 apiece, you can take pencil in hand and figure that the Harvester Bowl folks plunked down a cool 100 G's for the 20-alleys alone.

They're made of maple and pine, and built to withstand the "lotts" of weak-armed bowlers. They're planning some big-dollars within the next few weeks too. There'll be a three-states bowling meet next weekend to feature the gala formal opening next Saturday. Also upcoming are men and women's meets, for local keggers.

All-Night Bowling, Yet!

The bowling was free up until midnight Saturday.

Nope! They didn't shut down the new Harvester Bowl then. There were so many bowlers waiting, with shoes - in - hand, in line, the management decided to see if their venture would be a paying project.

"We think this city's bowlers will be taking to our lanes like ducks to water," a weary but happy Jack Dyer, exclaimed late Saturday night, after between an estimated 1,500 and 2,000 had come, saw and gasped.

"There'll be people bowling here until 10 a.m. Sunday morning," Dyer said. "We'll close down then for three hours, so they can go to church. We plan to open up again at 1. Yeah, you might say we're trying to cater to the public's every whim, after all they're the ones who can make or break us."

The three bowling businessmen, who opened a similar alley in Plainview, a year ago to the day, that the Harvester Bowl was born, said they were working on building still a third such sports attraction in a nearby Panhandle city.

Many folks think fishing is the No. 1 participant sport. Tain't so. Bowling is. And softball, not basketball, draws more fans per year, than any other spectator sport.

The new Harvester Bowl is almost too good to be true. Like we say, if Rip Van Winkle were alive today, he'd be half dead.

HEAP 'O BOWLING BALLS—Bob Hoekendorf, new Harvester Bowl manager, poses with a couple racks of balls for a camera-grin. Bob, who bowled at the ABC Meet in Fort Worth last year, claims he stays too busy minding the alleys to bowl over half dozen games a week. However, he still finds time to keep his average in the 180's. (News Sports Photo by Wally Truesdell)

GEORGE WHITE ... 3rd flight victim

Rain may have played havoc with most of the 104-man City Wide Golf Tournament field Friday and Saturday, but one healthy swinger, C. F. McGinnis, is all smiles and singing, "Let it Rain," today.

Friday McGinnis tramped to a tight 2 and 1 victory over Henry Rose in his initial Championship Flight match. Anxious to play while his game was in good order, McGinnis took on and tripped Jim Deaton, in a second round chiller Saturday, winning 1-up in 19 holes, after the two worthies shot it out to an 18-hole deadlock.

The going was soggy most of the way Saturday, and many of the golfers put off matches while others were rained out after 12 holes of play.

But not so, was the case with McGinnis. He took to the dripping greens and moist fairways like Esther Williams takes to aqua-blue swimming pools.

World Mile Mark Broke

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI)—Herb Elliott, Australia's lanky young distance star, cracked the recognized world mark for the mile Saturday night as he outlasted countryman Merv Lincoln in a grinding stretch duel to win the National AAU mile in 3:57.9.

In one of the great duels of track history, involving Gail Hodgson of Oklahoma and South Africa and Don Bowden of California, the two Australians took over the final 200 yards and made a run-away of it.

But the early leaders faded quickly when Elliott and Lincoln battled like arch-enemies, circling around the back curve. They had passed the U. S. collegians, with Elliott in the lead. But Lincoln, the defending champion, came right along on his heels.

But the superb conditioning of Elliott told the story. As Lincoln struggled vainly to catch the flying Elliott, the 20-year-old Herb just increased his pace. He finally won by about three yards.

Bolt Beat Himself During Past Years

(Last of two dispatches on the talents and tantrums of Tommy Bolt, the new United States Open champion.)

By JIMMY BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Grand BLANC, Mich. (NEA) — Sam Snead put it best.

"Mah, swing!" he drawled. "What about that Bolt? He hits it fluster than any other human being. But he's got a head worse than mine."

This was in April and those in the press tent for the Tournament of Champions over the Desert Inn course at Las Vegas laughed.

But when Tommy Bolt, with that every-swing-the-same game of his, took Tulsa's Southern Hills and the United States Open Championship in stride—and controlled his flashing temper—you saw what Snead meant.

"Don't ever say that Tommy isn't a big player," says Jimmy Demaret. "He has beaten himself oftener than we've beaten him in the last couple of years."

Bolt's record of broken clubs and snarling walk-offs would seem to back that up. Now, with Bolt the Open Champion, the professionals have an idea that it will be considerably different.

"I believe it will," says Doug

TOMMY BOLT ... belongs at top

Ford. "The guy certainly can play golf. He is every bit as good as he showed."

Dugan Aycock, pro at the Lexington, N.C., Country Club, sees it the same way and that's important. At this year's Augusta Masters, the tall, balding Aycock, who ran an Army tournament in Italy in which Bolt, the GI, played, decided to have a talk with

Tommy. "We went over it all," explains Aycock, "and Tommy said to me, 'I'm changing. Do you see any difference?' I told him I did, but wanted to see more of it. He was too fine a player and friend to let go."

No-more-thunder. Tommy Bolt, fired a par 72 Saturday to hike his Buick Open Lead to two strokes at Grand Blanc, Michigan. For the full story see on page 16, 7th and 8th columns.

A week later, Bolt sat in the locker room of the Starmount Country Club in Greensboro, N.C., watching the rain which knocked out the first day's play in the Greater Greensboro Open.

"You can forget the Thunder Bolt stuff," he said to a couple of people talking to him. "I'm going to do it the right way now."

The "new" Bolt, as they put it still did not pass the big test until he came up with the big shot of the U.S. Open—a wood from the rough on the 15th hole of the final round. Now it all should be different.

"This is wonderful," says Bolt. "This is wonderful for the $20,000 Buick Open Invitational over the Warwick Hills course. 'The most wonderful feeling,' he adds and quietly.

20,000-SEATER

WTS To Build New Grid Bowl

AMARILLO (SpI)—Final plans have been completed for West Texas state College's new 20,000-seat football stadium and work is scheduled to begin about July 1.

An area campaign to raise $300,000 is the first item on the agenda. That goal is the amount needed by West Texas State to assure completion of the modern and spacious plant, which will be built at an estimated cost of $700,000 and be ready for the 1959 season. The college already has $400,000 earmarked for the structure.

Located in a natural bowl setting on the Amarillo-Canyon Expressway, it will be two miles north of the college campus and 15 miles south of Amarillo. It will be situated just east of the Expressway and the overpass that was built specially for stadium traffic.

The structure, which will have the distinction of seating more people than any other plant in the Panhandle, will be composed of two 10,000-seat stands, facing east and west. When the need arises, it can be expanded to seat 50,000 fans.

All 20,000 seats that will be completed in 1958 will be below the ground level. The press box and concession stands will be located on ground level and team dressing rooms will be at the south end.

"The new stadium will give West Texas an opportunity to bring big-time college football to the Golden Spread," said Frank Kinbrough, Buffalo athletic director. "We are attempting to bring the best possible college ball to fans of this great football area and the stadium is one of the key factors."

The Buffaloes, who this year have reached major status in football, will play a home schedule of five games in 1959, the first in the new arena. It will be dedicated Sept. 26 with the University of Arizona, a Border Conference rival, furnishing the opposition. Then come visits from Mississippi Southern, Oct. 17; Hardin-Simmons University, Oct. 24; Drake University, Oct. 31; and Virginia Tech, Nov. 7.

BORGER—Seven Pampa Country Club fem golfers attended the second monthly meeting of the Panhandle Women's Golf Association at the Phillips Country Club here Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Scott Hall was low gross shooter for Pampa while Mrs. C. F. McGinnis had the low net score.

Also attending from Pampa were Meses. Ralph Sidwell, Del Beagle, Tom Wade, Grover Austin Jr., and R. E. Dobbin.

Next PWGA meeting will be held at the Tascosa Country Club in Amarillo on July 8. Pampa will host the following month's meeting, on August 7.

Rebel Blues Bop Greys In 6-3 Tilt

Deck Woldt's hoping with all his might he can land at least a dozen games for his American Legion Rebels this summer.

And if his baseballers continue their top-flight defensive play, he has extra-good cause for his wishing.

Woldt ran his crew through a six-inning Blue-Grey inter-squad Friday night, and neither side committed an error.

"Our hitting and pitching wasn't half bad either," Woldt exclaimed Saturday.

The Blues beat the Greys, 6-3, but the Greys showed more punch at the plate, cracking out two more hits than the victors, 7 to 5.

But hits don't always win ball games.

Grey pitcher, Buddy Rawls, had spotty trouble with his control, doling out a half dozen walks, which cost him dearly. In fact they cost him the hill verdict over the Blues.

ed four, but his free trips didn't do the damage, Rawl's did.

Woldt plans another Blue-Grey tilt for 4 p.m. today and stated, "We're trying real hard to land a possible game for Sunday with one of six outside teams."

Woldt has already booked two games for sure, to be unfurled here, on Sunday July 4, against Pleasant Valley, one of the two Amarillo Legion outfits; and another for Harvester Park the following Sunday, July 13, against D&D Pharmacy, an Amarillo senior YMCA club.

He said there was a strong possibility he'd play a night game this week in Borger, also.

Second-sacker Ruben Strickland paced hitting in Friday's Blue-Grey clash, slamming out two for two, for the losers.

Rightfielder Gary Willis topped the Blue attack with two for three.

Lane Will Sign
MUSKEGON, Mich. (UPI)—Michigan's Kenny Lane will sign Wednesday for a title bout with lightweight champion Joe Brown, Lane's co-manager reported here Saturday.

Pete Petroskey, co-manager of Lane, said the signing will take place in Houston, Tex., but the site of the fight has not been settled.

Tigers Do It Again, 1-0

DETROIT (UPI) — Al Kaline lined a home run and cut down a runner at the plate with a rife throw from rightfield Saturday to preserve Frank Lary's third straight shutout and give the Detroit Tigers a 1-0 victory over the New York Yankees, their seventh straight win over the league leaders.

Kaline, batting a phenomenal .500 against New York this season with 21 hits in 42 trips to the plate, delivered his game-winning homer off former teammate Duke Maas in the fourth inning. It was his seventh homer of the season and his second hit of the game as he ran his hitting streak to 18 games. Lary, who beat New York for the fourth straight time this season and ran his lifetime mark against the Yankees to 13-4, gave up six hits but was in trouble only once during the game. That was in the sixth inning when the Yankees got half of their hits but were denied a run by Kaline's accurate arm. Norm Siebern led off with a single but was forced at second by Maas, Hank Bauer singled to left with Maas moving to second and Tony Kubek struck out. Kaline scooped up Mickey Mantle's sharp single on the first bounce and threw out Maas as he tried to score from second. Kubek led off the ninth with a single but Lary disposed of Mantle, Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron in easy fashion to seal his eighth victory of the season against five losses. He hasn't allowed a run in the past 28 2-3 innings, blanking Boston on June 11 and pitching a 2-0 shutout against New York last Sunday. Maas, making his first start since joining the Yankees in a trade with Kansas City six days ago, held the Tigers to only four hits. But the one by Kaline doomed him.

Pierce Pitches 1-0 Two-Hitter

CHICAGO (UPI) — Little Billy Pierce set down the Baltimore Orioles on two hits Saturday to collect his second straight shutout of the season and help the Chicago White Sox to a 1-0 victory, their fifth shutout in the last seven games.

Pierce faced only 29 batters.

Willie Will Come Back!

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Manager Bill Rigney of the San Francisco Giants said Saturday Willie Mays spent a restful night in a New York hospital and his return to the lineup will be left up to the outfielder.

Rigney said he received a report on Mays from Dr. Stewart Cosgriff and later talked to Mays on the telephone. Rigney said their conversation ended this way: "Mays—'I watched the game last night. You think you could have used me?'"

Rigney—"I think so."
Mays—"O.K. I'll see you later."
How much later, no one knows. Willie failed to show up for the start of Saturday's game with the Phillies here.

Mays left the Giants Thursday and was admitted to Harkness Pavilion where he underwent numerous tests to determine what was causing him to be "tired."
Mays' batting average dipped 31 points in the last few weeks but his current .382 mark still tops the National League.

Patty, the defending champion in search of her seventh WPGA title, carded her second sub-par round of the tournament for a 218, four strokes in front of Mickey Wright and Beverly Hanson.

SENS SPANK TRIBE, 11-7

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Washington Senators piked up all their runs in the first five innings and reliever Tra Cleveinger put down a ninth-inning Cleveland threat to defeat the Indians 11-7, Saturday.

The Senators scored two runs in the first and two more in the second to kayo Cleveland starter Cal McLish.

Don Ferrarese, making his first appearance since spraining an ankle May 27, was routed in the fourth when the Senators scored six runs on five hits. Ferrarese re-injured the ankle slightly, slipping on the mound on a pitch to Jim Lemon.

After the Senators had built an 11-0 lead, the Indians scored five times in the sixth and finally finished Washington starter Pedro Ramos in the ninth.

Cleveinger came in with one run in, none out and runners on second and third. He walked Gary Geiger to lead the bases. But Rocky Colavito hit into a double play and Woody Held fled out to end the threat and the game.

In the big Washington fourth, Clint Courtney's two-run homer and Herb Plews' two-run double were the most productive blows. Courtney's drive was off Jim Constable, who relieved Ferrarese.

Plews had a perfect day at the plate with three singles, a double and a walk. Albie Pearson had four hits in five trips. Lemon also homered for Washington. The Senators collected 16 hits.

Vic Power homered for the first runs off Ramos. Walks to Colavito and Held and consecutive singles by Dick Brown, Billy Moran, Larry Doby and Minnie Mirosan accounted for the other four in the sixth.

McKay, Gibson Doubles Winners

LONDON (UPI) — Barry McKay of Dayton, Ohio, and Althes Gibson of New York each earned a quarter share of a doubles championship in the London Grass Courts tennis tournament Saturday when rain washed out their scheduled final matches in the men's and women's divisions.

However, Margaret Varner, a Texas girl who teaches school in Boston, lost out in her bid for the women's singles championship when she was defeated in the final by Bernice Carr of South Africa, 6-4, 5-7, 8-6, on the Queen's Club courts.

The men's singles title was won by Mal Anderson of Australia, who rallied brilliantly to defeat his countryman, Bob Mark, 1-6, 11-9, 6-3. Anderson is seeded second in the Wimbledon Tournament which starts Monday.

Miss Gibson and Maria Bueno of Brazil won the first set of the women's doubles final from Australia's Mary Hawton and Thelma, 6-2, and then a heavy rain forced postponement of the rest of the day's program.

Because English laws forbid Sunday sports to which admission is paid, and because the Wimbledon tournament starts on Monday, there was no opportunity for playing off these doubles finals. As a result, the championship honors were divided among the finalists.

NO HAPPINESS HERE—A grim Casey Stengel, despite his Yankees fat American League lead, shows no sign of glee as he stands on the dug out steps watching his Yankees drop Saturday's seventh straight game to the rejuvenated Detroit Tigers, 1-0. That's Jim Turner, the pitching coach in the corner, and he's wondering too what kind of jinx the Bengals are holding over the Bombers.

Mizel Muffles Milwaukee, 2-1

By FRED LINDECKE United Press International

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizel, with help from Larry Jackson in the ninth, held off two late threats by Milwaukee to set down the Braves and Lew Burdette on four hits Saturday and give the St. Louis Cardinals a 2-1 victory.

The Braves put potential tying runs on base in both the eighth and ninth innings. Mizel pitched out of the first threat by getting pinch hitter Mel Roach then Red Schoendienst to fly out. Jackson came in during the second emergency in the ninth to retire Henry Aaron and pinch batter Frank Torre.

Mizel had allowed no hits and faced the minimum of 19 batters until with one out in the seventh Felix Mantilla hit his fourth home run of the season over the left centerfield fence.

The big lanky left-hander picked up his fourth win of the season against six losses and handed Burdette, who allowed only five hits, his fifth setback against as many wins.

The Cardinals scored their two runs in the fourth when Don Blasingame led off with an infield hit. First baseman Joe Cunningham hit a grounder to Eddie Mathews, but Mathews threw wild to first, allowing Blasingame and Cunningham to advance to second and third.

Stan Musial was purposely passed. Blasingame scored when an attempt for a double play by Ken Boyer's grounder failed. Gene Green then singled to right, pushing Cunningham across the plate.

During Mizel's no-hit stint, he walked Aaron to lead off the second. But the runner was quickly erased when Joe Adcock hit into a double play.

Two Horses Die In Track Mishap

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Three jockeys were injured, one seriously, and two horses were killed Saturday in a freak accident during workouts at the Charles Town race track.

Philip Sage, 47, Schuylerville, was the most seriously injured of the jockeys. He was reported in serious condition at Charles Town Hospital. Attendants said he was paralyzed from the waist down.

The accident occurred when Bob Hensley, 18, Orange, Va., was exercising Nicest Man on the back stretch near the half mile pole. Four other horses were already started on a trial race at the usual starting point.

Nicest Man bolted, throwing Hensley to the ground. The mount then began running in the opposite direction and ran head on into Sod, and two horses were killed instantly.

The three other horses were shaken up.

Charles Jenkins of Vancouver, B. C., finished a fast-closing second, with Jack Yerman of University of California third.

Southern equaled a mark set by Jim Lea of USC and the Air Force at Modesto in 1956. However, Glenn Davis of Ohio State, who set a world mark in the 440-yard hurdles Friday night, ran a 45.7 in the NCAA meet a week ago Saturday.

Jenkins was timed in 46.1 and Yerman in 46.6.

Bolt Holds Lead In Buick Open

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI) — Tommy Bolt, more concerned over the huge gallery's rudeness to young Gary Player than his own game, Saturday shot an even par 72 and boosted his early second round lead in the $52,000 Buick Open to two strokes over paunchy Bill Casper Jr. and Bob Rosburg.

Arnold Palmer, whose course record 67 Friday was wiped out by rain, saw playing partner Don January equal that 67 Saturday. Palmer had a 71 and was 76-71-147 after two rounds to Bolt's 69-

72-141. Jack Fleck was the top Michigan pro and was three strokes behind Bolt with a 73-71-144 with Max Evans, of Utica, right behind him with a 72-73-145.

"Why that poor fella didn't have a chance," Bolt said of Player. "The gallery was polite to me but when I finished putting they'd start walking away and as a result Gary missed two little putts."

Player, 22-year-old South African who was second to Bolt in the U.S. Open last week, finished with a 75 for a 149 total. Bolt asked officials to have the marshalls control the crowd better. Tommy was painstaking in explaining he was very polite when he asked the fans to stand and keep quiet.

"I said 'please' three times and I was humble," the reformed Bolt said. Tommy, who had praised the gallery on Thursday when he shot a 69 to take the lead, didn't blame the fans.

"The fans are the same all over and if the marshalls ask them to be quiet, they always stay silent when a player is taking his swings," Bolt said.

Bolt was one under on the front nine but he bogied the 10th and 11th holes and had only one birdie on the back nine.

Despite his par over the tough, 7280-yard Warwick Hills course, Bolt said he should have scored

REDS TOP CUBS, 9-3

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Southpaw Harvey Haddix of the Cincinnati Redlegs gave up three home runs but also hit one himself Saturday to help beat the Chicago Cubs, 9-3, in a 27-hit slugfest.

The victory was Haddix' fourth straight complete game triumph and his fifth against three defeats.

All three Cub runs scored on bases — empty homers by Dale Long, Alvin Dark and Cal Neenan. Dark's homer was his fourth hit of the game and his 16th in his last 22 times at bat, raising his average to .344. Until Long homered with one out in the fourth Haddix had a string of 18 1-3 scoreless innings against the Cubs going.

Eight of the nine Redleg starters contributed to the 15-run hit attack on three Cub pitchers.

Roy McMillan doubled home two runs off starter and loser Dick Drott in the second and Ed Bailey repeated the act in the third. A bases-loaded double by George Crowe drove in three unearned runs to kayo Drott in the fourth.

Haddix' homer was hit off Don Elston in the sixth, and the last Redleg run was singled home by Don Hoak off Dolan Nichols in the eighth.

The game was delayed 80 minutes at the start by rain and the drizzle fell occasionally through the afternoon.

The Redlegs finished under the hand of Coach Jimmy Dykes after Manager Birdie Tebbetts and pitcher Joe Nuxhall were banished by Umpire Shag Crawford in the fifth.

A Glitter In Belmont Win

NEW YORK (UPI) — Calumet Farm's A Glitter, fighting off a strong challenge in the stretch, won the 42nd running of the $71,450 Coaching Club American Oaks at Belmont Park Saturday to give the famed racing stable permanent possession of the Coaching Club trophy.

It takes three victories to retire the silver cup and A Glitter, scoring by half a length over Edward M. O'Brien's Spar Maid, joined the 1949 winner, and Real Delight, the 1952 victor, as Calumet Farm's winners in the current series.

The mile and three-eighths stake for 3-year-old fillies turned into a two-horse race in the battle through the stretch. At the end of the head-and-head battle, Short Brook Farm's Craftiness was nine full lengths back in third position and four lengths ahead of James C. Brady's Foreword.

Ismael Valenzuela, who won the Kentucky Derby and Preakness Stakes with Tim Tam for Calumet Farm and now rides regularly for the stable, rode A Glitter. He never let the daughter of Khaled get far from the front and gave her a strong hand ride through the stretch after taking the lead coming into the straightaway.

It was the fourth straight win for A Glitter who earlier in the season won the Betsy Ross Stakes at Garden State Park. She earned $45,792.50 in this filly counterpart of the Belmont Stakes, in which Tim Tam's bid for a triple crown victory ended with a broken sesamoid bone.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies — San Francisco Giants game was halted by rain in the first inning Saturday and will be replayed at a date to be announced.

Softball Race Is White-Hot!

Pampa's Industrial League continues hotter than noon temperatures, with four of the seven clubs setting a blistering pace.

Only one game splits the first four teams, with Richardson's Sinclair Oilers holding first by a mere half game over KP Lodge. Richardson owns an 11-3 record while the Dodgers are 10-5.

Breathing hot down the top two club's necks are Kempa Humble with a 9-3 mark and Phillips with a 10-4 showing, both one game behind.

Lefors leads the second division with a 3-0 record, good for fifth place, while Motor Inn is sixth at 2-1 and the struggling Panhandle Packers are in the basement with a 0-12 record.

League head, Ben Hamilton, has pointed out that the competition is expected to become even keener during the remainder of the campaign, with four clubs fighting for the pennant.

INTERNATIONAL THAT IS

Bouts Will Have Flavor

Mix the Great Zoro, pride of the East German woodlands, with Japann's slippery Tokyo Joe, garnish in an excited arena of wrestling fans and you'll have an internationally-flavored sports dish every time.

IRON MIKE DEBAISE tests Bolo here

That's the way the taste will be, come main-event time here Monday night when Zorro tries to put Tokyo Joe back on the skid-row with a loss.

Two weeks, Tokyo was well on his way to whipping Dory Funk, when Iron Mike, who fought in the semi-final match, popped between the ropes and began slugging away on Funk.

Then tough Zorro couldn't keep out of trouble, he bloodied up Tokyo's head by smashing a chair to splinters over the Jap's cranium.

You have to give Tokyo credit. He ain't backing down from nobody, and he's vowed to do some skull-cracking of his own in this draw list, his "jinx joint" Monday night.

Tokyo and Zorro tangled in a best 2-of-3 falls main event with an hour time limit. The smart money, however, is betting that the fight will go over an hour if neither is knocked out before the 60 minutes are up.

Actually a twin main-event program is on tap here Monday. The Great Bolo, no slouch himself when it comes to getting in trouble, squares off against Iron Mike in a match, billed as a second main event.

Iron Mike will be out to regain some lost popularity over last week's technical loss to Tokyo Joe. He'll grapple with Bolo in a duplicate best 2-of-3, hour time limit event.

Capable Ricky Romero meets McDonald in a single fall, 20 minute time limit, opening bout at 8:30 p.m. Romero struggled to a 20-minute draw with Bolo. He's hoping for a better showing against McDonald.

Rex Rose Wins, 23-7

Rex Rose Ford scrambled to an easy 23-7 Little Farm League victory over Sportsman Store Friday night behind the steady hurling of Larry Leonard.

Billy Dickie and James Weatherly paced the winner's hitting attack, with Weatherly rapping out a long solo-homer.

Foxx Hospitalized Due To Blood Pressure; Not Heart

BOSTON (UPI)—Baseball Hall of Fame slugger Jimmy Foxx was hospitalized in Minneapolis for "a rest and series of tests" his business manager said Saturday.

Henry Sillin, agent for the batting coach of the Minneapolis Millers of the American Association, said Foxx was not hospitalized Thursday because of a heart attack, but for "extremely high blood pressure."

Sillin said Foxx has had a "heart condition" for several years but added that he had talked with the former major league slugger Friday night and that Foxx told him he had gone into the hospital "for a week or 10 days" to rest and bring his blood pressure down to normal.

Sillin said he does not expect the illness to curb Foxx's activities as a special batting coach within the Boston Red Sox farm organization, and said Foxx expected to return to work with the Millers after being released from the hospital.

Rain Washes Out Net Meet

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—The $15,000 Round-Robin Professional tennis tournament was washed out by rain for the second straight time Saturday and as a result the tourney will be extended through Tuesday.

Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles and Ken Rosewall of Australia, both of whom sport unbeaten records in the tournament, were slated to have played each other in Saturday's feature match but will meet Sunday afternoon instead.

Monday and Tuesday's programs will be held at night. The tournament originally was to have ended Sunday.

Rosewall has won all four of his matches while Gonzales is unbeaten in the three matches he played.

FLYING START — Christine Truman, showing that she has improved her court coverage, is regarded a definite threat to Althea Gibson in the Wimbledon Championships, which runs Monday through July 5.

Aussie's Anderson 5-2 Net Favorite

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—London bookmakers have installed Mel Anderson of Australia's tennis task force as the 5-2 favorite for the men's singles title in the Wimbledon championships, which open on the velvety lawns of the All-England Club Monday.

Although seeded second behind compatriot Ashley Cooper, Anderson took over the favorite's role when his dark-haired teammate sustained a pulled muscle in his right thigh earlier this week. The injury forced Cooper to withdraw from the London championships, which concluded Saturday, but he hopes to be ready for his opening match on Wimbledon's famed center court.

Cooper and third-seeded Mervyn Rose of Australia are the co-second choices at 3-1 and fourth-seeded Neale Fraser, another member of the "down under" contingent, is a 6-1 shot in the

IN BRITISH OPEN

Player, Thomson Are Co-Favorites

ST. ANNES ON SEA, England (UPI)—Bookmakers made South African Gary Player and Australian Peter Thomson co-favorites at 7-2 Saturday for the 1958 British Open golf championship starting here June 30.

Defending champion Bobby Locke of South Africa was third favorite at 6-1 with Cary Middlecoff, making his second successive attempt to win the title, fourth at odds of 7-1.

Englishman Bernard Hunt, presently the hottest of the home contingent, was fifth favorite at 10-1 followed by Frank Stranahan of the U.S. at 12-1.

Commonwealth golfers were in such good form on British courses in pre-open tournaments that the bookies issued special odds of 1-2 on a Briton winning. A better could have 5-1 against an American.

About 12 Americans were expected to drive off from one of the first two days of qualification play. Of the 17 U.S. challengers still listed several like Bob Sweeney, Jimmy McHale, and Clarke Hardwick were expected to withdraw.

Americans Ken Venturi and Jack Penrose pulled out of the tournament Friday. Venturi's withdrawal was especially disappointing to the tournament organizers, as he was regarded a leading overseas attraction.

So far 360 names remain on the draw list—the same as the previous record entry at Hoylake, Liverpool, two years ago.

Out Of The Past

Whatever Happened To... Wild Bill Hallahan

In the days when the old St. Louis Cardinals Gas House Gang was at its gasiest, one of the venerable characters of the cast was Wild Bill Hallahan, a left-handed pitcher. He never did learn enough control to be called anything but Wild Bill, even after 13 years in the majors and four World Series. In 1931, he led the National League in victories with 19, led in strikeouts (159) and he led in walks, too, with 112. He led the league in walks three different times but his speed made him tough to beat. In the 1931 World Series he trimmed the lofty Philadelphia Athletics twice, allowing only one run in his two starts. Hallahan, traded to Cincinnati in 1936, went out of the majors after the 1938 season.

Whatever happened to Wild Bill Hallahan? Now 53, he is back in his native Binghamton, N.Y., as a foreman at the Ozalid Film Manufacturing Company.

THIS WEEK 'Top Dogs' Fight In Little Loops

They'll be a hot time in the 'ol Eastern and Western Little Leagues this week.

Tuesday night third-place Optimist battles Celanese in an attempt to stay out of the cellar.

And Wednesday night, Cabot and Duncan Insurance, both currently dead-locked for first place with identical 10-2 records, lock horns in a sizzler for the top rung of the loop's ladder.

Utility Oil's crew, who've been in and out of the Western League's first place off and on all season, gets a ripe opportunity to take over the top again Tuesday night when they tangle with current front-runner, E. M. Keller.

Keller, at present, holds a half game advantage over the Oilers, with a 7-5 record compared to Utility's 6-5 mark.

The rest of the Western Loop's schedule has Keller tackling One Bull Race on Wednesday, C. R. Hoover meeting Utility Oil on Thursday and One Bull on Friday.

After the two "big ones" in the Eastern Little League, Cabot faces Celanese on Thursday and Duncan meets Optimists on Friday.

Cabot raced to an 8-0 shutout win over Optimist Friday night to slip into a tie for first in the Eastern Loop.

Bob Price pitched a neat one-hitter, posted a dozen strikeouts and walked only three in gaining the win, while Warren Head absorbed the loss, as he was tagged for nine safeties.

Price aided his own cause with a homerun and two singled but the big bat for Cabot belonged to Catcher Dee Wright who teed off on a pair of round-trippers.

Catcher Larry Johnson played the role of spoiler for the losers, slapping out their lone hit off Price.

Hoover, rose up from the basement to crush leading Keller, 12-6, in the Western League, chopping the latter's lead down to a half game over Utility Oil.

Ralph Hickey pitched Hoover to its upset win while Gene Frazier was tabbed with the loss.

Panhandle Outdoor Life

By STARKEY WHITEHORN

It would be interesting to know just how much game birds raised each year compared to how much there would be if each game bird and animal were one hundred percent successful in their reproduction activities.

Each year there are countless turkey nests broken up. Many young turkey, fawns and other wild life fall victim to predators.

Last week Dick de Arment, wildlife biologist from Wheeler, said that he rode the hay mower on the Henry Young Ranch on the Washita River while a forty-acre field of alfalfa was being cut. There were exactly eighteen turkey nests found and, as a result of hay mowing, all were broken up. Only two of these nests showed any signs of incubation. One of these two nests contained eggs that were about ready to hatch. There were two turkey hens killed by the mower and another was crippled. The eighteen nests contained 118 eggs altogether.

This fact isn't at all unusual but rather commonplace each year on alfalfa or grass hay meadows.

Won't Take Flight

Instead of setting turkey hens taking to flight when they hear the tractor and mower coming their way, they usually sit all the more close to the ground. Mr. Young has in time past made "flushing bars" to go ahead of the mower blades in an attempt to save the nesting hens but this didn't work out to any success.

Even though the amount of nests destroyed was large, it wasn't nearly so bad this year as last. Mr. de Arment said last year the nesting sites were in very short supply due to lack of vegetation.

On the same alfalfa patch there were six hens killed and 300 eggs left to go unatched. Considering this fact, there was still a higher population of turkeys on the Henry Young Ranch than almost any other in the same locality.

New Warden; New Hatchery

Frank F. Ordener, from Seymour, has been stationed as the new game warden in Canadian. Warden Ordener was assigned to work Hemphill, Ochiltree and Lipscomb Counties. P. D. Moseley, veteran Game Warden, will continue to work the same counties in connection with Ordener.

These two wardens will be working under the supervision of Jim Maggard, Game Warden Supervisor for the Panhandle.

According to the May issue of "Texas Game and Fish," construction work has been started on a complete rehabilitation of the Dundee Fish Hatchery near Wichita Falls.

Contract for the work was awarded to Boyd Callan, Inc., of Waco. The contract price was $78,667.25, and the job is to be completed in 150 working days.

New ditches, water lines, and levees will be installed under the project. Work will be carried on without disturbing the present operation, which will continue in approximately half of the hatchery.

After the first half of the project has been completed, operations will be switched over to the new installation while the other half will be rehabilitated.

This hatchery provides fish for restocking in the hundreds of small lakes in the North Texas and Panhandle areas. Under the improvement program, a constant source of water is assured for the hatchery. Previously, propagation was seriously affected by drought conditions.

Cree Challenges Newsmen's Lead

Pony League followers have circled Thursday in red on their calendars. For that's the night Pampa News' lengthy occupancy of first place will be in danger, possibly even up for grabs.

Cree Drilling hope to push the Newsmen out of first. They've been hot on the leaders' heels all season, and Thursday night they get a chance to make good when they tackle the Newsmen in a vital contest.

At the moment, Cree stands a game behind the Newsmen, who smashed third-place Kist, 15-6, Friday night. Pampa News is 9-3 in the won-lost column while the Drillers are 8-4.

They'll set the stage for their Thursday night showdown battle with warm-up games Tuesday and Wednesday nights; Cree meeting Kist on Tuesday, and Pampa News hosting First National Bank on Wednesday. Friday night, the Bankers try to vacate the basement when they face Kist.

Robert Woodard scattered seven Perryton Hires James Love As Assistant Coach

(Special To The News) PERRYTON — James Love has been hired as an assistant coach in the Perryton school system, replacing Royce "Bubba" Hillman, who has resigned.

Love will coach in junior high school and will assist with high school football.

He was head coach at Lefors for several years after serving as assistant coach under Joe Champion, now principal in Perryton junior high school. He also was head coach at Electra.

For about three years, Love has been in private business and has not been coaching.

Hillman resigned about two weeks ago to take the head baseball coaching job at Palo Duro high school in Amarillo. He has been coaching in Perryton for one year.

Peg O' Pampa

WE HEARD A PRETTY CUTE one this week . . . concerning the everpresent children, who swarm through the house during the summer vacation . . . summer is the time of the year when children slam the doors they left open all winter . . . don't you think that is just the case? . . . it is for our house, at any rate . . . and summer this year seems to be, so far, the time for fighting bugs . . . honestly, we have yet to hear or participate in, a conversation which is about anything other than the grasshoppers, and other assorted insect-type beasts . . . the plague is upon us all.

FOR THE WEEK just past . . . let's see, what can we remember that we have overheard or found out by other nefarious ways . . . we were sad to hear that Judy and Horton Russell are leaving us . . . transferred to New York . . . although they should have a fine time in the East . . . it is quite a change of ways of life and thinking, sometimes, to go from one region to another . . . and it is a fine thing to be able to see "how the other half lives" once in a while . . . Blanche Thorley was looking fine and cheerful downtown last week . . . we think she resembles that incredibly intelligent woman on the quiz show, Elfrida von Nardroff . . . hope she does not mind the comparison . . . as we mean it as a fine compliment . . . we heard round-a-bout that there was a bit of luck at Las Vegas (and we mean Nevada) a week or so ago . . . seems Marion George hit the jackpot on one of those one-armed-bandits that are in such profusion in the city . . . and after only a few dimes, too! . . . she should go to the races and try her luck don't you think? . . . she and Don had a grand time on their trip to California . . . we gathered something about a trip through Disneyland . . . and through Knotts Berry Farm . . . and lolling on the beach and so forth . . . you know the routine . . . Marion came back to Pampa only to plunge (pun intended, you-all) into the Red Cross Water Safety program of swimming instruction at the Municipal Pool . . . we parked in the lot one day recently to watch proceedings, wishing we had had sense enough to enroll ourselves, not just the little ones . . . saw Hilda Duncan and Johnnie Sybert, with their oldest fry there, and Mary Ann Hawkins with her son, although she wasn't in a suit . . . and Frank Kelley, Jr. was there . . . Libby Shotwell busy with various duties, looking smart in blue-white pinstriped, summer Red Cross uniform . . . not sure if it is any kind of official uniform, afraid we don't know as much as we should of this aspect of the Red Cross . . . did you know, by the by, that the instruction given here in Pampa for free, or for the nominal sum, rather, of a dollar, costs anywhere from ten to fifteen good, American dollars anywhere else you can name? . . . just hope you realize how good you have it . . . absolutely, where can you possibly get more for your money than Pampa's Water Safety and Summer Recreation program ??? . . . Mrs. Wayne ones strikes us as being a very nice person to know . . . she's helping with all this swimming-stuff this summer, too. let's come up for air.

CORN HARVEST TIME . . . it says here . . . that there are two kinds of women . . . those of us who lose both earrings . . . and the careful ones who lose just one . . . and if you are looking for used tires, just ask for "experienced" tires!! . . . and a filler item in the paper says that the trained circus seals are almost always just California sea lion cubs . . . somehow, this bit of news strikes us as very disenchanting, although we suppose that the sea lion is some species of seal, anyhow . . . it is the principle of the thing don't you think? . . . what right have they to cheat like that!

BACK TO BUSINESS . . . saw Clarence Qualls out watering his garden in the backyard . . . he has some nice "things" growing . . . we don't know what they are, beans or peas or both . . . Dr. Hrdlicka had a birthday last week . . . that makes him Leo the Lion, according to the signs of the Zodiac . . . forceful . . . extroverted . . . etc. . . after the rain last Wednesday, did you see the huge rainbow, and smell the wonderful odor of freshly washed atmosphere . . . good for the lawns . . . in town, and not so good for unharvested wheat . . . although by the looks of truck traffic into Pampa from all directions there should not be too much around here that is not harvested already . . . most of the fields have that peeled look . . . John Gikas surely takes a good picture . . . some of us unlucky ones always resemble idiots in a photo, at least to our own critical view . . . but John, now, he is really handsome! . . . we saw all those Girl Scouts on the Wells' lawn, ha-ha . . . quite a bunch . . . Barbara Lunsford will be busy next year as president of the Thespians . . . took an eager look-see at the custom purses we read about in the paper last Sunday . . . we vote them most likely to succeed . . . nice idea . . . the Homer Decks had lots of company recently . . . from California . . . Mrs. Bert Deck and Mrs. Carl Allen and daughter Carla Jean . . . summer is a pleasant time and full of visitors . . . nice season.

THIS IS THE SEASON . . . when knots of girls with their heads together over cokes are planning new gimmicks for rush parties . . . and when the painters start to work on the trim of the Post Office downtown . . . and acres and acres of bare flesh becomes exposed to the sun's rays . . . and lawn sprinklers are hauled around hour after hour . . . and . . . and . . . well, you know . . . all you out-of-condition housewives . . . there are going to be two bowling alleys in operation presently . . . the new one just opened, and the Pampa Bowl is having a complete remodeling job to be just like new . . . so lets get the old kinks out of the legs and arms, shall we? . . . why don't they have a morning housewives league, maybe . . . we might go for it . . . say, just a hint to the wise . . . there is a paper-back book out on the newstands that lists hundreds and hundreds of things you can get free . . . that is, FREE, for the asking . . . for kids . . . all the way from maps to coloring books, to articles on how various industries work, where we get spices, etc. . . even, how-to-do-it pamphlets such as "How to Roller-Skate" . . . posters for the walls of the kids' room, how to do soap-sculpture, and so on ad infinitum . . . we are all fired up to send off for some of the things . . . to keep the kids busy this summer when they tire of loafing, if possible . . . guess we'd better shut up for now, huh?

Love, Peg

Double-Ring Wedding Service Unites Miss Juanell Wegner, Harold Halford

(Special to The News)
WHEELER — Miss Juanell Wegner and Harold Halford were united in marriage on June 5 in a double-ring service read by Rev. Carlton H. Thompson in the Wheeler Methodist Church. Vows were exchanged before an altar centered with an arrangement of white gladioli. An arched candleabra holding white tapers and a white satin prie dix completed the altar arrangements.
Miss Wegner is the daughter of Mrs. Willie Mae Wegner of Wheeler and Gus Wegner of Tulla. Mr. Halford's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Halford of Childress.
Mrs. Lyndon Sims, organist, played traditional wedding selections and was accompanist for Miss Dorothy Hall as she sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly," and "The Wedding Prayer."
The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her uncle, James L. Hollibaugh of Shamrock. She wore a white satin wedding gown topped with a jacket of white lace styled with long, tapering sleeves terminating in bridal points over the hands. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was held secure by a headpiece of white pleated ribbon. She carried a white Bible covered with white carnations.
Miss Linda Halford, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Janice Wegner, sister of the bride, were candlelighters, wearing dresses of blue novelty faille and wristlets of white carnations.

Miss Roles Feted At Bride's Party

(Special to The News)
WHITE DEER — Miss Betty Fern Roles, bride-elect of Richard Fancher of Beaumont, was complimented with a bridal shower on Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. C. Powers.
Assisting Mrs. Powers as hostesses were Meses. Harvey Bates, Lloyd Collis, C. R. Pickens, Orman Bentley, J. R. Driskill, Frank Evans, R. M. Smith, Winburn Bates, J. W. Wells, E. L. Colgrove, W. O. Franklin, E. C. Shuman, and Jay Phillips.
Mrs. Powers, Miss Roles, and her mother, Mrs. Ray Roles, were in the receiving line; Miss Suzanne Bates presided at the guest register; and Mrs. Allen Ray Young, at the refreshment table.
The centerpiece for the table was a novel arrangement of cornflowers, morning bride, and feverfew at the base of a graceful limb from the branches of which hung tiny white Bibles, gift packages, and bouquets of flowers. Matching rings on the topmost branch, a pair of blue lovebirds nesting at the base, and dainty white packages scattered about, completed the arrangement.
Miss Roles was presented with a heart-shaped corsage of white chrysanthemums tied with blue and white ribbons. Other members of the house party wore similar corsages.

ENGAGED

Miss Dixie Neeley SHAMROCK—Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Neeley are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dixie to Kenneth Wayne Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Richardson of Wheeler. The wedding is planned for June 27 in the First Methodist Church Parsonage in Shamrock.

RUTH MILLETT

She is more attractive at 40 than she was at 20. Since that is quite an achievement for any woman, you might like to know how this woman managed it.

Here are a few — if not all — of the things she has done in those 10 years that make her a more attractive woman.

She got back the slender figure she lost during the years when she was having children, and through diet and exercise she has managed to keep it.

She has learned the type of clothes best suited to her and how to wear them. So you notice her now when 10 years ago she was easily lost in the crowd.

In taking on community work she has developed her talents and gained in self-confidence and poise. She has done all the little things necessary to keep in touch with old friends and to make new ones.

So, having made a place for herself, her personality has become easy and natural. But 10 years ago anyone meeting her would have described her as shy or unsure.

She has entertained enough to have become a charming, gracious hostess, one who makes each guest feel like a very special one.

She has moved right along at her husband's side as he has moved ahead in his career, instead of hanging back.

In a few words, what this woman has done is what more women could do. She left girlhood behind without trying to cling to it and stepped out with head high on the road to becoming a charming, attractive, helpful, happy woman.

It's the woman who refuses to move ahead who grows less attractive with each passing year.

Knitted sides on a new type fitted crib sheet hold the sheet snugly to either a regular or outside crib mattress. This percale item needs no ironing after washing.

There would be fewer accidents if more people drove as if they owned the car instead of the road.

The Groves Hosts To Merten Club

Teens Miss Fun Opportunities When Clothes Are Not Ready To Go Places

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor Teen-agers live a spontaneous life. A group can be lounging around doing nothing when someone will suggest going for a swim. Everyone likes the idea. But this is the time when Sloppy Sue is hurt. She can't find her bathing suit—and the gang won't wait.

It's not smart to be sloppy about your wardrobe. You miss a lot of fun, and you deserve to, if you're that indifferent. It isn't difficult to have a neat closet, and bureau drawers arranged so that you can select whatever article you're after with no trouble at all.

In your closet you can have clear plastic clothes bags and shoe bags and clear plastic hat boxes, neatly arranged. Because of the transparency, you can choose what you need to wear without unnecessarily opening containers. In your bureau drawers, various articles can be neatly separated with plastic envelopes or boxes, eliminating any reason for digging in with a heavy hand for a particular pair of socks.

Try it. You'll be "Johnny on the spot" for any last-minute date.

Though we can't have the fresh beauty of youth once we're past 40, the poise and charm achieved through years of living, plus an attractive, well-groomed appearance, make the mature woman pretty much of a femme fatale.

But there's one woman who will never be sought after as a welcome addition to any group. And that's the gal with the whining voice. A woman with such a voice allows herself no outlook on life but a dreary one, and must find it depressing even to live with herself.

The surest cure for her would be to change her point of view on life. When she can find the one bright spot on an otherwise drab day, and laugh about it, her voice will automatically change, too. Only then will she find that people who have avoided her previously will be delighted to have her around.

There's nothing more uncomfortable than stockings that don't fit properly just because you're tall. Your height may be from the shoulder to the waist, rather than from the knee to the foot.

On the other hand, a stocking that is too short drags across the flesh of the knee. It not only pulls on the leg, but makes tearing a certainty. Be sure, too, that your stockings give you a half-inch leeway at the toe. No matter how good they are, they shrink from perspiration.

So if you're wise, you'll have your foot and leg carefully measured, and you'll have no discomfort from badly fitting hose.

Tip For Brides: Plan Beauty Ahead

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor The bride who wants to look lovely all day on her wedding day has to plan ahead. If its a morning wedding with afternoon reception, she has hours of looking her very best.

True, there should be a few minutes in which to slip upstairs and freshen her make-up. But since there will also be great numbers of people, much bustle and confusion, she should not count too heavily on these few precious moments.

A light make-up applied over a liquid, tinted foundation is her best bet. Lipstick should go on over a colorless or pale rose powder if it's on stay on. It should be allowed to set for about 20 minutes, then be blotted with cleansing tissue. Her hair should be one that will look well if it goes uncombed for several hours. It should be simple, and natural, the very reverse of an elaborate structure.

Bonnie Kaye Shelton Pledges Vows With Larry Spraggins In Home Rites

(Special To The News) SHAMROCK—Miss Bonnie Kaye Shelton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shelton and Seaman Larry Spraggins, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Spraggins, exchanged wedding vows on June 6 at 8:30 p.m. in the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Rev. J. H. Sharp, First Methodist Church, read the double-ring service before an arch of flower candelabras entwined with jade leaves. Tall baskets of Agapanthus and Majestic daisies flanked the altar.

Mrs. Ronald Settle, sister of the bride, Borer, was matron of honor wearing a dress of pale blue sheer cotton, lace trimmed and studded with rhinestones with a full, street-length skirt. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations showered with white satin ribbons.

Jerry Kelly, Eunice, N.M., cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man.

BRIDE The bride entered on the arm of her father, wearing a princess-styled dress of white nylon lace over taffeta, fashioned with a fitted bodice, cap sleeves, low-v neckline, and a waist-length skirt. Her veil of illusion was edged with lace and fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of white carnations showered with white satin streamers tied in lover's knots.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding, a pink linen dress with which she wore white accessories and a corsage of carnations. The mother of the bridegroom wore a dress of navy sheer with a corsage of red carnations.

RECEPTION A reception followed the service. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and appointed in blue and white, the bride's chosen colors. Miss Karen Shelton was guest registrar. Mrs. Marie Kelly and Mrs. Ruby Louy presided and the cake and punch service.

For a wedding trip, the bride chose a black and white ensemble with white accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet. Mrs. Spraggins was graduated from Shamrock High School this Spring. Mr. Spraggins attended Shamrock High School and is serving with the Navy, stationed on Treasure Island, San Francisco, Calif.

Local Delegates To Represent PWO At Purdue University Mrs. Glenn Ritchhart and Mrs. L. W. Jolly, both of Pampa, will represent the Amarillo Presbyterians at the fifth Quadrennial National Meeting of the Presbyterian Women's Organizations to be held at Purdue University in Lafayette, Ind., on June 25 through July 1.

More than 5,000 delegates from women's organizations of local Presbyterian and overseas churches will attend the week-long meeting.

Among the special guests at the national meeting will be representatives of Presbyterian Societies of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, which last month became united with the Presbyterian Church in the USA to form the United Presbyterian Church in the USA. The new-elected executive committee, representing the women's organizations of both churches, will meet at the conclusion of the national meeting as the first official gathering of United Presbyterian Women.

Overseas guests of the Presbyterian women will come from churches in Egypt, Czechoslovakia, Cuba, Brazil, Alaska, Chile, Mexico, Indonesia, and Cameroun, West Africa.

Highlight of the meeting will be adoption on July 1 of a "Charter for Christian Action," which was developed out of a study, made by 4,000 groups of church women during the past year, of problems facing the church locally, nationally, and world-wide.

Home Ceremony Unites In Marriage DeAnn Clayton, Paul Tracy Cooper

(Special To The News)
McLEAN — Miss De Ann Clayton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Clayton, Alanreed, and Paul Tracy Cooper, son of Rev. and Mrs. Paul F. Cooper, Alanreed, were united in marriage on June 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church in McLean.
The double-ring ceremony was read by the bridegroom's father, Rev. Paul Cooper.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white nylon embroidered net wedding dress, fashioned with a fitted bodice and full skirt over taffeta. The high neckline was accented by the long, tapering sleeves, which ended in petal points over the hands. Her bridal bouquet was of white carnations arranged atop a white Bible. Her veil of nylon tulle was secured to a tiarra.
Mrs. Cecil Ferguson, matron of honor and Mrs. David Miller, bridesmaids, wore matching pink cotton satin dresses and each carried a colonial bouquet.
Serving the bridegroom as best man was David Miller. Ushers were Sammy Cooper, Cecil Ferguson and Leo Brittain. Other attendants were Miss Elizabeth Ann Gage, and Jerry Wayne Cooper, who served as candlelighters.
The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a pink suit complemented with a corsage of white carnations.
The bridegroom's mother wore a blue linen dress with a white carnation corsage.
A reception was held in the church parlor immediately following the ceremony. Miss Charlene Hall presided at the punch bowl. Miss Darlene Potter served the wedding cake. Miss Janiece Magee and Mrs. Sammy Cooper registered the guests.
The bride wore a pink dress with pink and white accessories and a white carnation corsage, as the couple left for a wedding trip.
Mr. and Mrs. Cooper will make their home in Lamitta, Calif., near Torrance, where the bridegroom is stationed.
Mrs. Cooper was graduated in 1958 from McLean High School. Mr. Cooper was graduated in 1956 and was employed by the First National Bank of Amarillo, prior to his entering military service.

Mrs. Vard Smith Gives Jelly Topic For Merten Home Demonstration Club

Jelly-making was the program topic presented by Mrs. Vard Smith at the Tuesday morning meeting of the Merten Home Demonstration Club held in the home of Mrs. Bob Brandon.
Mrs. Smith told members that good jelly will have a beautiful color, will be transparent and palatable and will quiver, not flow, when removed from the glass.
She stated that the fruit juice from which jelly is made must contain pectin and acid in the correct proportions to make a good jelly. "Combination of fruits give good results, too, and an interesting blend of flavors," she said.
"To test jelly to see if it is ready, you should dip a large spoon into the boiling syrup and lift the spoon so that the syrup runs off the side. When the syrup separates into two distinct lines of drops, stop the cooking," she stated.
"Pour jelly into hot dry glasses to within 1/4 inch from the top. Pour melted paraffin into the top to cover. When cool, add more paraffin and rotate glass, so that it will run up to the rim and form a good seal."
In concluding the demonstration, Mrs. Smith said, "The best place to store jelly is in a ventilated pantry."
During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Jack Howard, president, plans were made for a watermelon feast for members' families to be held Thursday evening in City Park.

Party Set Around Western Theme For Sub Deb Club

A campfire, lanterns, hay bales, saddles formed the setting for the western party held Monday evening in the home of Miss Carol Triplehorn, 1616 Charles, for Sub Deb rushees and members. Chuck-wagon invitations inscribed, "Sub Debs or Bust" bid guests to the party, where they were served hot dogs, potato chips, baked beans, Cokes and ice cream bars from a table covered with a red-checked cloth centered with a bronze boots holding a floral arrangement.

Rushees and guests were entertained with a song, "Home On The Range," comically sung by Miss Phyllis Burrell, Barbara Baer and Betty Lou Smith. Square-dance games and "get-acquainted" western games were played, followed by western hymns and ballads sung around the campfire.

Hostesses were Mmes. Azelle Loftus, Macy James, Nancy McDall, Bob Miller, W. L. Waggoner, and Bob Triplehorn. Mrs. Linda Ousley was a special guest.

Approximately 30 rushees and 30 members attended.

BACON CAPERS

Regular bacon is generally thought of in terms of a breakfast meat. However many other uses for bacon can be incorporated into menus. In preparing baked products, try crumbling crisp bacon into corn bread batter. Other baked products have also incorporated bacon into the ranks. Apple-Bacon Crisp is one such recipe. In this case, the bacon, flour and sugar act as the crisp topping.

An interest in clothes is a normal and healthy interest in any woman's life. But it should be backed by an equal interest in taking care of them. Have clothes cleaned, repaired and mended as they need it and they'll repay you by far longer service.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

learn they can get away with. DEAR ABBY: I don't agree with you when you say parents who punish their children in public are a disgrace. My father is a fireman. As soon as the five o'clock whistle goes off so does he. He gets home by two in the afternoon and all he does is get under my mother's feet so she can't get anything done. This makes her mad and they fight. I think if he was not a fireman and didn't have such crazy hours they would get along better. What do you think?

DEAR ABBY: My father is a fireman. As soon as the five o'clock whistle goes off so does he. He gets home by two in the afternoon and all he does is get under my mother's feet so she can't get anything done. This makes her mad and they fight. I think if he was not a fireman and didn't have such crazy hours they would get along better. What do you think?

DEAR ABBY: I met Don at the Roller Rink and although I was only 16 and he was 17 we fell in love. We got married in sort of a hurry and I had to quit school because of the baby which was on the way. I am expecting in August and Don goes out to the roller skate almost every night. I can't go with him because the doctor says no skating past my sixth month. I am very lonesome. Should I go to watch him skate with other girls or should he stay home with me?

DEAR CAN'T: Your husband should forego this recreation until you can resume it together. Sounds like Don is still going around in circles. Maybe your doctor can straighten him out.

RUTH MILLETT

A reader asks: "Why don't you write a column about acquaintances who say, 'We must get together some time,' or, 'Do stop by when you're in our neighborhood.'"

"By offering that kind of vague invitation they give the appearance of being friendly and hospitable—but it doesn't mean a thing. They know and you know that nobody would presume to accept such a vague invitation."

What's the problem? If you really want to get better acquainted with a person, what is to prevent you from making the first move?

Instead of being annoyed by vague suggestions on getting together some time in the future, why not be definite yourself? Invite the other person to a party, or to join a group that is planning a get-together you think the person would enjoy.

It wouldn't even hurt anything to test one of those vague invitations by actually stopping by for a short visit.

If the person is obviously pleased to see you, then his invitation, though vague, was probably prompted by a real wish to see you again.

Don't forget that others are as busy as you are and that others may be just as hesitant as you are about making the first real move toward friendship.

The first move isn't always up to the other person. Why not try making it yourself? Usually people often blame others for not being friendly. But is the person who says, "Stop by and see me some time," any less friendly than the person who wouldn't think of taking him at his word, or who wouldn't dream of extending a definite first invitation himself?

"Witch Doctor" Is Hostess For KKK Third Rush Party

Name tags shaped as small, native, shrunken heads were presented to Kit Kat Klub rushees as they arrived at the "Witch Doctor" party held in the home of Miss Kay Baker, KKK president, 2216 Charles, on Thursday evening.

A primitive atmosphere prevailed in the back yard of Miss Baker's home, where the "witch doctor," Miss DeAnne Prince and the other is Regional President of the D. A. R.

DEAR ABBY: I have a lady friend who is not poor by any means. She lives alone and gets around socially quite a lot. When she is at a luncheon or tea or even a dinner she is never "hungry" so she asks the hostess if she can put the food in a sack and take it home. Naturally they give her plenty? Do you think this is all right?

DEAR FRIEND: It's all right with me. What's eating YOU?

DEAR ABBY: I started to go with this boy last spring. On our first date he tried to kiss me and I stopped him saying, "I'm not that kind of a girl." I have grown very fond of him and we still date but now whenever we are together I put myself in a position to be kissed and he turns my head away and says, "Remember, you're not THAT kind of a girl." How can I get him to kiss me without throwing myself at him?

DEAR UNKISSSED: If your boyfriend has been sulking because you refused to be kissed on your first date, he is too young for you. Don't put yourself in any more kissable positions. Make him ask for it.

Double-Ring Rites For Revious-Baird

(Special To The News)

WHEELER—Miss Barbara Ann Revious, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Coy Revious became the bride of Ferrell Baird, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Baird, Mobettie, recently in the Highland Baptist Church, Pampa, with Rev. M. B.

Smith, pastor, officiating at the double-ring service.

Miss Marilyn Smith, Pampa, played the traditional wedding marches and "I Love You Truly."

Miss Bill Helton, Pampa, was matron of honor, wearing a street-length dress of pink lace and carried a bouquet of white carnations, Nathan Lancaster, Pampa, served the bridegroom as best man.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a white, all-over embrodered sheath, studded with seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations tied with blue steamers mounted on a white Bible. After a short wedding trip to Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Baird are at home to friends at 204 First St., Wheeler. Read The News Classified Ads.

Dreaming Of Charmers Is Easier If Dreamers Look Neat While Dreaming

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA) — You can't dream of charmers — in sloppy pajamas.

Looking neat at night isn't so hard in spring, fall or winter, when the normal, well-tailored pajamas are around. But in summer, when it gets hot, the usual pajamas begin to feel (and look) like last year's sweatshirt.

So it's nice to report on new, good-looking, cool summer pajamas, just right for pleasant July dreaming.

These are just now reaching the stores, so they'll be ready when you are — just in time to beat the heat. They're designed to keep you comfortable, yet neat and sartorially elegant on the hottest nights — or as comfortable and neat as you can be on those nights.

Pioneering in this field have been the Carter people. Last year they introduced the cotton-dacron knot model — short pants and pullover, T-shirt style top. This year, this popular set is back (plus a new, matching pajama for boys) in a bigger variety of colors.

Other manufacturers are getting into the act, too, with a wide selection of cool and comfortable summer pajamas. You'll find them in all styles — long and short pants, long and short sleeves, pullover and button-front — in many different fabrics.

Give them a try this summer and see if you don't have nicer dreams.

ONE STRANGE ASPECT of the current Italian craze is reported by Mrs. Marjorie Alfus, whose firm, Alberto Imports, is one of the biggest in this end of the men's wear business.

All the sweaters and sweater shirts with the Alberto label are made in Italy — but the designs are generally created here. While American men seem to like Italian-flavored clothes — and especially Italian workmanship and materials — they don't go for the identical styled that Italians themselves like.

Mrs. Alfus says some firms that import Italian garments as is have done poorly. So what she does is go to Italy, give Italian factories orders based on American styles, and import the results. And the results are exceptionally beautiful clothes — with workmanship and materials that can't be matched here.

Most of the successful Italian styles that you see here are done in this way. That's why some tourists who visit Italy and hope to pick up bargains are disappointed — what they see in Italian stores is a far cry from what they've expected. In fact, the Italian styles that are available in the U.S. are generally not available at all in Italy.

It seems the Italians, in turn, don't like them.

dew tell!

Pampa News Women's Editor

When a woman says, "The shower season is in full swing," she's not talking about the weather. Most likely, she's referring to the avalanche of showers that are being given for summer brides.

Because linens make practical as well as attractive gifts, the American Institute of Laundering, has compiled some guides in buying linens to assure quality gifts.

When purchasing towels, make sure the ones you get are colorfast. All towels don't hold their rainbow colors after the first laundering. A further aid in getting top quality toweling is to observe, feel and pull the different sections to make sure that all stretch equally. Uneven tension in the weaving process can cause towel parts to pucker or become distorted after laundering. A n. choose close, large, loosely-twisted and thickly-packed loops, which indicate that the towels will be absorbent and will give good service.

Cotton sheets come in two basic types, muslin and percale. Muslin is a utility-type sheet that is heavier, less expensive and usually gives longer wear. Percale sheets are lighter and have a more luxurious feel. For quality bed linens, look for threads that are evenly woven and of the same thickness. Check sheeting for firm compact selvedge edges and hems that are straight with even stitching.

If you're thinking about embroidered tablecloths, placemats or napkins for the summer bride, make sure you're getting embroidery. Some of the "embroidery" is only glued to the fabric. One washing can loosen the backing and can cause the edging to go down the drain. Inspect embroidery to make sure the edging is sewed on.

Whether buying bedroom, bathroom or kitchen linens, laundry technicians advise shoppers to make sure that the articles are colorfast, pre-shrunk, show quality construction and have the Certified Washable Seal.

AND THE LATEST fashion news throws the spotlight on knees as more men adopt walking shorts. "I wouldn't be caught dead in that!" women said in 1947 of Dior's New Look. "Isn't it lovely?" they exclaimed the next year while showing it off.

"Not for me," scoffed men when they first spotted some intrepid fellow in walking shorts.

"Pretty sharp, eh?" is the consensus today of men who are adopting walking shorts for vacationing, weekending or after-hours

Charcoal Steak Is Resistable!

A sizzling "Charcoal Broil" steak brimming over with delectable flavor is a meal not many can resist. Serve it with coal-baked buttered onions in oil and 1 1/2 m. beans for that satisfied, after-meal feeling.

- 3 to 4-pound steak,
- 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 inches thick
- 1/2 cup salad oil
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 clove garlic minced
- 1 teaspoon onion salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon Kitchen Bouquet.

Combine salad oil, lemon juice, garlic, onion salt, pepper and Kitchen Bouquet to make marinade. Coat entire surface of steak on both sides with marinade, place steak in remaining marinade in shallow dish and marinate 4 to 6 hours before broiling. Broil over moderate heat on outdoor grill 5 minutes each side for Rare steak; 10 minutes each side for Medium; 12 to 15 minutes each side for Well-done. Makes 4 generous servings.

Decision On DuPont

It takes something to shock us these days. But we've just been handed an 8,000 volt jolt. It relates to the DuPont Co. and the plans of government respecting this fine, productive company.

To fill you in on the background, way back in 1949 the DuPont Co. was challenged by the Justice Department. It seems that our then attorney general had it in mind that DuPont was in violation of the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust acts.

It was true that certain stocks of General Motors had been purchased by certain members of the DuPont Co. and that some shares of this stock also resided in Christiana Securities Co., a holding corporation owned by DuPont. This was construed to be a serious offense.

A lengthy trial about five years ensued. On Dec. 3, 1954, the government dismissed all charges against DuPont and Judge Walter J. LaBuy of the U. S. District Court in Chicago stated: "The government has failed to prove conspiracy, monopolization, a restraint of trade, or any reasonable probability of a restraint."

Following this ruling, the Justice Department took its sadly depleted case to the Supreme Court. The Conspiracy charge was dropped. But on June 3, 1957, by a vote of 4-2 the Supreme Court reversed the district court's findings and ruled that the Clayton Act had been violated because DuPont owned 23 per cent of General Motors stock.

So the case is being returned to district court in Chicago probably some time this fall. Meanwhile, the federal government has issued a ruling that, indeed, should curl your hair.

It seems the Internal Revenue Service, in response to a court order, has demanded that DuPont divest itself of all General Motors stock during the next 10-year period. Now that, in itself, is wholly unreasonable and silly. But, let that stand. Divestment must occur. But the Internal Revenue people have decided that each distribution would be taxable to individual stockholders as ORDINARY INCOME at rates which, as we know range from 20 to 91 per cent.

By this decision, some 900,000 stockholders, who are themselves wholly innocent and constructive bystanders, are about to be milked of millions of dollars in taxes.

Additionally, the stock market is going to be asked to absorb between 3 and 4 million General Motors shares every year for ten years in addition to whatever normal year might occur.

Independent financial experts have taken a look at this proposed forced distribution of assets and have forecast that such sales in all likelihood would depress the market price of both DuPont and General Motors stock. They figure a 15 per cent loss to DuPont, a 25 to 40 per cent loss to General Motors. In dollars this could total a net loss of something between $3,700,000,000 and $5,100,000,000. And that would be a catastrophe of colossal proportions—wholly unnecessary, too.

Crawford H. Greenwalt, president of DuPont, has objected to this ruling from the Internal Revenue people and has suggested another method whereby the divestiture can occur without the penalties being heaped upon the stockholders and upon the companies themselves.

He says: "The company will oppose such a drastic and punitive proposal with every means at its command. The government plan would not only do violence to the public interest by prompting severe and possibly widespread economic dislocations, but would outrage every tenet of justice by imposing penalties upon hundreds of thousands of shareholders who were in no wise responsible for what, through a new interpretation of the 40 years after the fact, was found to be a violation of the Clayton Act."

But even this sharply-worded statement is, if anything, an understatement. The government's move in this case is far reaching.

It could cripple two of our major firms and cast a pall over much of industry.

It is predatory and vicious and plays directly into the hands of the internationalist crew which is out to wreck our economy and to transfer all means of production and distribution into the hands of the state, or at least into incompetent hands where it must eventually be gobbled up by the hungry maw of the federal moloch.

This is one of the most serious and deadly proposals ever made by any government anywhere. So far as we can discover, it is without parallel in our own history. Quite frankly, we are shocked and alarmed. If this comes about as the federal government has it planned, it will affect the economy totally. It must be opposed.

We certainly hope DuPont will be successful in this opposition.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

France's Present Revolution

In the last issue I was quoting a summary of Edmund Burke's reflections in 1790 "On the Revolution in France" as it appeared in the "U.S.A." magazine.

The last article ended by pointing out that men are led by degrees into losing their liberty. And that seems exactly what we have been doing in the United States.

Very few people believe in state socialism or state communism. If it is called another name and entered into by degrees, they seldom realize what is taking place. That is usually the way men lose their liberty.

I am continuing the article, which was under the heading of "The Literary Monopoly." I quote: "It is not with much credulity I listen to any, when they speak evil of those whom they are going to plunder. An enemy is a bad witness; a robber is a worse."

"We do not draw the moral lessons we might from history. On the contrary, without care it may be used to vitiate our minds and to destroy our happiness. In history a great volume is unrolled for our instruction, drawing the materials of future wisdom from the past errors and infirmities of mankind. It may, in the perversion, serve for a magazine, furnishing offensive and defensive weapons. . . and adding fuel to civil fury."

"History consists, for the greater part, of the miseries brought upon the world by pride, ambition, avarice, revenge, lust, sedition, hypocrisy, ungoverned zeal, and the train of disorderly appetites which shake the public with the same 'troublesome storms that toss the private state, and render life unsweet.' These vices are the causes of those storms."

"Religion, morals, laws, prerogatives, privileges, liberties, rights of men, are the pretenses. The pretenses are always found in some specious appearance of a real good."

"You would not secure men from tyranny and sedition by rooting out of the mind the principles to which these fraudulent pretenses apply? If you did, you would root out everything that is valuable in the human breast."

"Wise men will apply their remedies to vices, not to names; to the causes of evil which are permanent, not to the occasional organs by which they act, and the transitory modes in which they appear."

Irredeemable Paper Money
One of the ways that people lose their liberty and are led into state socialism is by the government making it a crime to own money of value in itself. A few years ago it was a crime in the United States to own whisky, and now it is a crime to own gold.

Walter E. Spahr is head of an organization that is trying to awaken people as to the effects of irredeemable paper money. Sometime back he said that when the government goes off the gold standard, the citizens lose control of the government. They do that because the government can print as much credit as it sees fit in order to keep itself in power.

Poisonous Drug

In an article in "U.S.A." Spahr writes: "Irredeemable currency is perhaps the most subtle poisonous drug that can be fed to an entire nation with the general approval of the great majority of people. They mistake the temporary lift or intoxication they experience for revived health and vigor. Their sense of renewed well-being is sufficient proof for them of the benefits of the drug. The sad consequences which await them are not foreseen and understood. Deaf ears are turned to the warnings of experienced doctors who understand the nature of the drug, who know the reactions and symptoms of the victims, who can foretell the ultimate consequences of its use."

Automatic Watchman

Spahr finishes this article in this manner: "Gold money is the automatic watchman on the tower of the government of a people dedicated to the preservation of private enterprise and human freedom which are indivisible. It permits the survival of democracy. It is the people's policeman controlling the politician. It is the ultimate safeguard of human liberty. It is the enemy of economic demagoguery. It is an unimpeachable legal tender."

"A circulating gold money is the world currency par excellence. No equally good or adequate substitute for it has been found during thousands of years of human experiment. Gold money is the common denominator throughout the world for economic value."

"If gold standards could be re-introduced throughout Europe, we all agree this would promote, as nothing else can, the revival not only of trade and production but of international credit and the movement of capital to where it is needed most." (Keynes himself in 1921!)

"Gold money forces governments to rectify abuses or accept unpleasant consequences. It provides the only means by which the extravagance and waste of a central government can be brought under control. It is an essential regulator and disciplinarian if trade is to be easy and honest."

"Gold money is the only reliable exchange and payment medium. It forces a national economy to subject itself to strict compliance with its obligations. It is the only objectively sound money known to man. Its value does not depend on authoritarian government. If

Robert Allen Reports:

Internal Revenue Service Enters The Adams Case

WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service is now being brought into the clamorous case of White House assistant Sherman Adams.

This latest backstage development is at the direct behest of the House investigators, who are on the trail of certain tax angles. They have asked the Revenue Service particularly for details regarding the following:

Whether Bernard Goldfine, New England industrialist, claimed as business expenses the hotel payments and gifts he gave Adams and others in Washington.

Total amount of such tax deductions claimed by Goldfine.

Whether Adams collected per diem traveling expenses from the government on occasions when his hotel bills were paid by Goldfine.

Source and financing of a $20,000 loan Adams obtained in 1953 to purchase a house near the Capital.

Significantly, these matters are also under quiet scrutiny by members of the powerful Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation. Several of them have been sharply critical of Adams.

Headed by Representative Wilbur Mills (D., Ark.), this Joint Committee has wide authority over tax affairs. Its recommendations carry special weight with the Revenue Service and Justice Department. Both agencies make regular reports to this Committee.

HOT SPLINTERS — George Allen, neighbor and close friend of President Eisenhower, phoned a number of Washingtonians, in and out of the government, last weekend to ascertain their opinion on what should be done about Adams.

Allen explained their views would be conveyed to the President. Among those quizzed by Allen were newspapermen. . . Goldfine made one serious tactical mistake so far as House Committee Chairman Owen Harris is concerned. The textile manufacturer should not have told reporters that he would "abolish" the investigating group. That remark infuriated Harris. The Arkansan disclosed this during a talk with a colleague. Said Harris, "No one can make a threat like that where I am concerned and get away with it." The colleague pointed out that, "Maybe Goldfine made his statement under strain." Retorted Harris, "Regardless of how or why he made it, it was published all over the country and put us squarely on the spot. There is going to be a full investigation of this matter if it's the last thing we do." . . . The furore over Adams has revived the probers' interest in the long-pending case of Murray Chotiner, Los Angeles attorney and one-time campaign manager of Vice President Nixon. A large file on Chotiner's activities in government agencies has been shuttling between Senate and House investigating committees for several years. These records concern Adams, former Attorney General Herbert Brownell, and other high officials.

Solons Afraid To Fight Union 'Holy Institutions'

LOS ANGELES — Senator Knowland and others in the fight against predatory unions have been afraid to attack the ugly proposition that unions are a holy institution. Nowadays, unions and unioners enjoy practically the same favors as churches and the clergy and with no better constitutional right.

The record of the hearings of the McClellan Committee is a record of rottenness. The power that Congress conferred on union racketeers by law is an invitation to wage extortion and send around their agents to negotiate relief for the victims. The pirate, the robber baron and the bowery gangster of 50 years ago were models for the criminals exposed by this panel of paltry handwashers in hearings dragged out for more than a year. But the boss unioners have out-scored those historic roustes and, now, the few victims who have shown that practical sense to pay tribute and charge it to operating cost have been damned as rascals.

It should be fairly stated that unions are public enemies deserving to be destroyed. That should be the basic proposition of all debate on the subject. The bosses, from Meany, Reuther and Lewis down to the cheap little thieves of the catch-all unions licensed by the combined job-trust, all admit facts which prove that unions are public enemies. They all admit that unions cannot exist without power to extort a percentage of every dollar paid as wages to all the workers in the country. That is the meaning of their insistence on the closed shop. They all admit, in fact insist, that under unionism no American citizen has a right to seek his own job and agree upon his own terms, including wages and hours.

They insist that there is not the slightest difference in the value of a good worker's hour of time and the value of an hour spent by a stupid, malicious bum, stalling, inflicting damage on machinery and materials, and disrupting the work of his betters. They insist that when hard times come the newest men of the job be laid off first and so forth up the line of seniority, regardless of the obvious fact that a brisk, honest, competent young man, hired only yesterday, is incomparable better than some aged and less willing and efficient veteran.

"Seniority" has no constitutional authority. Unioners reduce all Americans to a common level of stupid facelessness. The McClellan hearing have shown that these horrible violations of the Constitution and laws of the nation and the states are by no means repeated as crimes against the right of our people, but only excused as rub-of-the-green.

The Roosevelt regime brought to an imposing majesty the sinister office of the "Labor Relations Adviser." Roosevelt planted unknown fakers in big suites in the war bureaucracy who were lifted out of centers where they had quietly practiced this racket for many years unknown except to employers who called them up to turn off the heat. They became government agents now, adjusting extortionate demands always at the taxpayers' cost.

Newspapers saluted these frauds with stupidly credulous biographies, never disclosing the details of their dirty careers.

What is a Labor Relations Adviser but a go-between who can adjust a shakedown by a racket union because he happens to be

THE TRUTH OF LIFE

"Life itself, reality, doesn't try to trap anybody. It is not exploited, commercialized, or baited for the sacker and his dollar. It offers merely the truth, the greatest value in creation though it often can command no price at all."

These are the words of Howard Whitman in one of his articles on "Crisis in Morals" that have been appearing in newspapers over the country. And, to these words are tremendously significant.

They remind us that Christ-of-whom Pilate asked, "What is truth?"—on an earlier occasion said, "I am the way, the truth, and the life."

But, as "the truth and the life" were crucified then, so they are today. Do we not spend far too much of our time and energies on that which is the opposite of "the truth and the life"? And, while we are wasting away the creative energies with which God has endowed us, truth and life go begging. No wonder so many of us become bored and stifled. Or, worse yet, find our lives tumbling down in ruins around us. And how sad this is for it is literally true, as Whitman says, that truth and life do "offer the greatest value in creation." He who will consistently give himself to truth and to life can never be bored—never destroyed; on the contrary, he will be filled at the very least with joy and exhilaration, and at best with the "peace that passeth all understanding."

on mysterious terms with the crooks in the union office? Is this extortion by the union or bribery by the corporation? The issue is never put to any test except in the quiet routine which business men have learned to submit to under the labor relations laws, Wagner's and Taft-Hartley.

The workers, who are the pawns in this racket, never appear in the negotiations. In fact it is a crime by the employer to try to bargain with the individual and a crime by the worker against his union to try to bargain as a person with the boss. In the Wagner days, a salaried parasite selected to inflict this atrocity on a people with nostalgic thoughts of personality and manhood went so far as to hold an employer guilty of a crime because he offered a good worker a raise for superior skill, diligence and "production." According to the Federal Law which is still the subject of this fight, the American citizen must do all business with his employer through and "agent" whom he knows to be a dirty crook, or traitor, and who will rob for trivial ends, and who never even asked him for authority to do his business.

This is a portion of the truth of the fight for the right to work.

Scholarship Placed 1st At Trier School

Editor's Note: In the following dispatch, United Press International reports on the curriculum, faculty and student programs at the second of two high schools in the Chicago area which are generally recognized as leaders in the field of high school education. The first dispatch told of Evanston Township High School, and this one deals with a nearby school.

By EVERETT R. IRWIN
United Press International
WINNETKA, Ill. (UPI)—Sputnik touched off no soul-searching and curriculum-juggling at New Trier Township High School.

Years before Russia's first earth satellite focused attention on American education last fall, scholarship was placed first in the aims of this 13-million-dollar school serving Chicago's swankiest north shore suburbs.

"We were well advanced on a program of intense education of the able student long before Sputnik," said Dr. William H. Cornog, superintendent and principal. "We're doing nothing different now."

Over coffee in the plush faculty lounge, Cornog told a United Press International reporter that the administration and board of education of the 3,400-student high school "believe that our primary task is to train the mind."

90 per cent go to college. "We think this can best be done through the difficult and challenging intellectual disciplines of literature, history, mathematics, languages, sciences and creative and performing arts," he said.

More than 90 per cent of New Trier's graduates go on to college—an achievement surpassed by only a few high schools in the nation. The school has produced 10 National Merit scholars in three years of rigorous competition, including four this year. Five graduates who are now upperclassmen in Harvard College won honorary scholarships this year for "marked excellence" in their work.

Cornog and Robert H. Carpenter, faculty dean and director of studies, said one key distinguishing quality of New Trier is the thorough system of ability grouping by which a student is placed in classes geared to his pace.

They said the school's "adviser room" system provides a school-within-a-school, "takes the curse off bigness," and prevents a boy or girl from becoming "lost" in the large student body. Under the system, a faculty member takes 30 boys under his wing, meets with them daily, visits in their homes and remains head of their home room through all four years.

Fast-Paced Math
Cornog and Carpenter explained how New Trier organizes advanced courses for the most talented youngsters. In a program planned long before Sputnik brought American science instruction under scrutiny, the high school last fall enrolled 120 of its 850 freshmen in biology, usually a sophomore subject. Next fall the talented 120 will move on to chemistry, the following year they'll study physics, and in their senior year they can choose a college level course in any of the three laboratory sciences.

Fast-paced work in mathematics was inaugurated three years ago. The ablest sophomores, a year of algebra behind them, were fed a diet of both plane and solid geometry. In their third year they studied higher algebra, trigonometry and some analytic geometry. This year they got college-level analytic geometry and calculus.

The school also offers college-level classes in English (every student must take four years of English) and history. Students who survive the advanced courses take examinations for advanced placement, with or without college credit, in colleges and universities.

Junior Is Smarter Than The Adults

Woman To Woman
By MARY PRIME
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Junior's funny sayings are no laughing matter. He may be smarter than you are, says the editor of a children's encyclopedia.

"Today's children are inherently smarter than adults, although youngsters don't have as much useless knowledge," said Miss Ellen McLoughlin, who has edited the Book of Knowledge for 28 years.

"We tend to develop psychological blocks to knowledge as we grow older. But if parents explain and feed this early smartness, youngsters won't lose it."

In the advanced placement program. Big Electronics Lab For the youth who isn't college-bound, and for the college prep student who wants to enrich his program, New Trier offers a wide range of subject matter.

Within the rambling red-brick structure there are such varied facilities as a 1,600-seat auditorium, a 16,000-volume library, an EMH classroom for the Educable and Mentally Handicapped, an electronics laboratory with $25,000 worth of equipment, and an automotive shop in which students re-build 10 motors last semester.

Some vocal critics of secondary education would call some of the facilities "frills." Administrators of New Trier say they're part of the plan needed to offer a well-rounded educational program—and what the community wants.

'Titoism' Fear Is Seen In Execution

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCANN
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Fear of "Titoism" seems to be emerging as the chief reason for the execution of Hungarian revolt leaders Imre Nagy and Pal Malastor.

For months, Russian and satellite Communist leaders have been trying to pull back from the liberalized policy which Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev inaugurated after the death of Josef Stalin.

There has been no indication that the rulers of any Red-ruled country had any reason to fear an uprising—an anti-Communist popular explosion. Nor has there been any indication that there was any organized "Titoist" activity in Soviet Russia, Communist China or the East European satellite countries.

But official and semi-official statements coming from Moscow and Budapest, the Hungarian capital, point to fears that a popular uprising is possible in one or more of the satellites and that a tendency toward what Red leaders call "Titoism," "revisionism" and "nationalism" is dangerously strong among Communist Party members in Russia and Red China as well as in the satellite states.

"Will Frighten Others" "This will frighten others who intend to attack the people," the official Budapest radio said of the executions—"the people" meaning the Communist regime.

Dispatches from Belgrade, President Tito's capital, and from Western European capitals speculate on the possibility that there may now be a wave of executions in the Communist world that would mark a reversion to the bestial, sadistic purges of the Stalin era.

There are some adults whose marvelous sense of wonder about the world is as sharp as a youngster's. That's our aim—to keep that wonder alive," said Miss McLoughlin in an interview.

"Children can learn anything at an early age, but they aren't born knowing. To help them, always answer their questions. If you don't know the answer, say, 'let's find out together.'"

"Put children's books in the home by the time the youngsters are three years old so they'll get used to books. Don't put books on high shelves. Keep attractive material around, but don't push it at children. They'll go to it eventually. Comic books and television have their place, too. They start many a child reading," she said.

Miss McLoughlin, who lives in Pelham, N. Y., with a sister and an aunt, joined the encyclopedia staff 33 years ago as an advertising copy writer. Her editorial job has included okaying Chinese ads ("I couldn't read a word") and revamping the book's science program.

"My sister talks about my affair with the atom," said Miss McLoughlin. "If scientists get dizzy keeping up with the atom, imagine how this poor editor got. My knowledge of science was so rusty that I had to study it on the side for three years."

By avoiding anti-Russian riots, Gomulka won his revolt where Nagy failed in Hungary. But there can be no doubt that Gomulka is regarded by the Kremlin as second only to Tito as a horrible example of independent-mindedness.

There is speculation that, following the Hungarian executions, the Russian Communists may try to take some action against Tito himself. But what they could do, short of open war, is hard to figure out.

Tito is a formidable enemy. It will be 10 years on June 28 since the Communist Information Bureau, the now defunct central propaganda agency of the Communist countries, denounced Tito for "undertaking an entirely wrong policy on the principal questions of foreign and internal politics, which means a retreat from Marxism-Leninism."

WASHINGTON—Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.), after being asked whether he thinks Sherman Adams should resign as assistant to the President:
"I think this is something which the President and Governor Adams should carefully weigh as to whether Adams has so hurt his usefulness that it might be harmful to the broad policies which the President must carry out in the remaining two years of his administration."

Clark Reed, 51, a groom at Hollywood Park race track, who was unmasked Wednesday as a top-flight aeronautical engineer who vanished mysteriously six years ago after working at top secret jobs for the government at California Institute of Technology:
"I don't know why I suddenly left my wife and child. I don't know what I will do now, but I love this work and hope to stay with horses."
NICOSIA, Cyprus — Sir Hugh Foot, governor of Cyprus, appealing to both Greek and Turkish Minister Harold Macmillan's plan for the island's future:
"I myself believe this policy of partnership is just and right policy. Indeed I believe it is the only policy which can prevent dreadful catastrophe and bring comfort to all Cyprus."

But this Brahman bull proved more than his equal in a rodeo at Midland, Tex. As Shoulders sails through the air for a landing elsewhere than on his shoulders, a clown (partially obscured at right) attempts to distract the bull.

Ernie had his head shaved in New York for his role as a railroad tycoon in the new film, "Miss Casey Jones." Barber Angelo Resciniti doesn't seem worried at Ernie's threat to sue for $2,000,000 if the hair doesn't grow back.

AERIAL MILESTONE—This is the F-27 airliner, shown in test flight near Hagerstown, Md. It may have a greater impact on commercial aviation than the huge transcontinental jet transports. Its great significance is that it's the first jet-age plane built for short-haul routes. Built by Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp., it is the first high-wing airplane used in this country since the famous Ford tri-motor jobs. Its wing goes through the top of the fuselage instead of underneath.

JL Supply, Tank Firm In Agreement

TULSA, Okla. — Jones & Laughlin Supply Division of Tulsa and Continental Tank Company of Oklahoma City have announced an agreement for exclusive supply company distribution of Continental tanks throughout the oil fields of the United States, Canada and overseas.

The announcement was made jointly by Rainey Elliott, president of Jones & Laughlin Supply, and Guy O. Marchant, president of Continental Tank Company.

Representing a major departure from traditional methods of tank distribution to the oil industry, this agreement provides J&L with a complete "package of production equipment" for the oil producer and makes available to Continental J&L's distribution network of eighty-two stores and 32 offices in the oil fields. Past practice has generally been for manufacturers of tanks to sell direct to the oil producer.

Slight Changes In Stock Market

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks moved through wide arcs during the past week and closed with only a slight change from the previous week.

Trading picked up to the most active pace since the week ended May 9 with daily average turnover at 2,746,429. That compared with 2,641,076 shares a week before and 2,120,599 shares in the corresponding week of last year.

The week's volume of 13,732,147 shares brought the year's volume to date to 281,695,146, well above the 255,275,725 shares of this time last year, and within touching distance of the 1956 total of 286,039,791 shares.

The market rose on Monday and Tuesday in the industrials, declined moderately on Wednesday and sharply on Thursday with a rally Friday. Ralls were up Monday and Friday and down the other three days. The drop on Thursday induced mainly by fears railroad transportation taxes would be maintained, was the most severe of any decline since Dec. 16.

Rails Near Top
After the Thursday close the Senate voted to kill the rail excises and on Friday the carriers more than made up the Thursday loss.

At the close of the week, the rail average stood at 119.17 off 0.04 point on the week and within 0.40 point of the high since Oct. 20 set Monday.

Industrials made their 1958 high on Tuesday and closed more than five points under it at 473.60 off 1.17 on the week. Utilities on Tuesday set a new high since Oct. 3, 1930, and closed the week at 78.50 off 0.11 point.

Measured by the Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks, the average loss per share for the market as a whole amounted to stacked high with Christmas toys, for example.

Most of the gifts to presidents fall into two categories: Handiwork such as antimaccassars, pillow slips, ash trays and the like, or consumable items such as food and drink and golf balls.

Truman got Ford

A Texan long kept the Eisenhoweres supplied with a favorite delicacy, the hairy pheasant. There usually is a fairly steady flow of food, steaks, turkeys and similar food items. Publicity-minded persons or institutions in Maine and in the Pacific Northwest sometimes appear to be contesting for the honor of presenting a president with the biggest and best salmon.

Smith recalls that Harry S. Truman accepted a gift Ford while in office and that his daughter, Margaret, received a Plymouth distinguished by gold plated fixtures. There was no backfire of criticism in either case, both substantial gifts having been acknowledged publicly and photographed with their owners as received.

During casual conversations with newsmen after the 1952 election and before the Eisenhower inauguration, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said firmly that it would be his policy to announce all gifts of substantial value as they arrived and to distribute photographs of them. That has protected the Eisenhoweres from adverse publicity breaks as it protected White House families before then.

Lacked Radio Sets
Back there in the Coolidge era before Smith came to Washington, a frequent and favorite gift to the president was a radio receiver. They ran into a bit of money then, and Coolidge accepted them willingly along with the free advertising the manufacturer got with announcement of the gift.

Told around town is the story that Herbert Hoover's White House inaugural guests were to have heard on March 4, 1929, when they returned to the White House from the Capitol, a broadcast concert by the glee club of Stanford University, the new president's alma mater.

It didn't come off. The young Californians sang on schedule and on key but nary a radio set could be found at 1800 Pennsylvania Avenue. Just how many sets retiring President Coolidge had loaded in trucks and carted off to Massachusetts, none knew. It must have been at least a couple dozen gift sets.

Coolidge liked things for free, especially board and lodging.

This trapped him occasionally in publicity schemes for real estate ventures in Florida and elsewhere, but there was no great outcry.

Senate investigators in 1950 absolved Mrs. Hess Truman of any fault in accepting one of those famous deep freezes. The investigators held that there was a valid tradition in the United States of making gifts to presidential families.

Decision By Court Welcomed

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Oil industry spokesmen for this week welcomed the Supreme Court's decision that employers cannot be forced to observe "hot cargo" contracts.

"It gives us a weapon against unfair economic pressure," one said.

Non-union and strike-affected goods are known in the huge transport industry as hot cargo. Until now the powerful teamsters union has successfully been-passed the secondary boycott provision of the Taft-Hartley Law by insisting on contracts which exempted it from handling "unfair" cargo.

The Supreme Court ruled that such clauses are legal but only if the employer wants to stick by them. If he balks, and the union causes trouble, the employer can now file secondary boycott charges with the National Labor Relations Board.

Another spokesman for petroleum said "there have been only a few instances of coercion in the past but, in any event, we now have a counter weapon enforceable by the labor board and the courts."

The decision, in effect, backed up several rulings by the labor board and also a flat declaration by the Interstate Commerce Commission that interstate common carriers cannot reject goods because of hot cargo restrictions.

Hot cargo contracts are common in oil which depends on trucking for much of its transportation. But instances of coercion have been confined to small companies. Even these should end now.

The court said that even though an employer accepts a hot cargo clause he retains "freedom of choice in a situation calling for the exercise of judgment on a particular matter of labor and business policy."

CHANGES ON CAPITOL HILL—An extensive face-lifting now going on at Capitol Hill in Washington will result in a vastly expanded, modernized and more efficient plant for the nation's lawmakers. Costing a quarter of a billion dollars, the job will take about six more years for completion. On The Business Scene

By United Press International
The Senate voted to kill the 3 per cent excise tax on rail freight and the 10 per cent levy on passenger tickets. The measures were tacked on a House-passed bill to extend for another year the 52 per cent corporate tax rate and present excise rates on liquor, cigarettes and autos.

to change our prices' until various commercial and economic factors clarify themselves.

Assistant Commerce Secretary Frederick H. Mueller said voluntary controls on imports of crude petroleum have been successful and that all but a few importers have cooperated fully. He characterized as untrue statements that the nation has been flooded with foreign oil and that the voluntary import curbs have failed.

Retail volume dipped fractionally from a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet reported. Despite Father's Day men's apparel sales were slightly below last year, but there were slight year-to-year increases in purchases of women's clothing. Volume in new passenger cars was close to the prior week, but continued noticeably below a year ago.

Rod Serling's Play Was Too Much 'Open And Shut'

United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Rod Serling is the only writer of stature still turning out plays regularly for television.

Earlier this season, Serling wrote three plays for CBS-TV's "Playhouse 90" and Thursday night that 90-minute showcase offered a fourth Serling piece, "A Town Has Turned to Dust," a play about a lynching and its effects upon a town. The players included Rod Steiger, William Shatner and James Gregory.

Millionaire Louis E. Wolfson has sold about 100,000 of his 400,000 shares in American Motors Corp. stock, and plans to sell the balance probably before the end of the summer, it was reported. It was said he wants to free himself to devote greater attention to Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corp., a heavy construction firm he heads.

Just About Everything Gets Lost

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Miss Mary A.E. Morris, 71, is convinced that people would "tug their heads if they weren't attached."

She has found in 14 years of bossing the lost and found offices of the Staten Island ferries that just about everything else gets misplaced.

"Skeletons, automobiles, children, pets... well, you just name it," said the sprightly Miss Morris, who this week retires from the job.

"I guess the most unusual thing that I ever showed up was the bombs," she said.

"The what?" I asked.

"The bombs. Four of them," she answered. "It was during World War II when a deckhand brought in a brown carton, inside was something wrapped in rags.

"I began to investigate and noticed it was some kind of ammunition. I didn't know what, I'm not used to dealing with such things. But I did have sense enough to call the police department bomb squad.

"One of the police told me later if I'd dropped one of those things, it would have blown me and the whole ferry slip to kingdom come. They found out later the bombs were stolen from a New Jersey arsenal."

Miss Morris, a Brooklynite all her life, joined the city's Department of Marine and Aviation in 1939. In 1944, she organized the ferries' lost and found department, and since has picked up after the careless and absent-minded, at the rate of about 200 items a month.

Some 23 million persons—regular commuters from Staten Island to Manhattan and tourists—ride the ferries each year. The crossing is one of the world's best known for two reasons—it is one of the few 5-cent rides left anywhere; and it gives a spectacular view of the Manhattan skyline from the harbor.

"I love the sea and sky. I never tired of the view," said Miss Morris. "I suppose it must have enchanted a lot of people. We frequently had motorists climb out of their cars to go up on deck... and just walk off the boat when it docks."

Once she said a deckhand came into her office with a non-descript black satchel. Opened, it produced a skeleton. It belonged to an anatomy class at a Staten Island college and was being taken to Manhattan for rewrapping.

More Meat On Table In Prospect

CHICAGO (UPI) — More meat on the table is in prospect for next year, according to Homer Davison, president of the American Meat Institute.

Davison addressed the 35th annual meeting of the National Live Stock and Meat Board today.

"Government figures indicate that meat supplies, especially pork, should begin to increase this fall and continue through 1959, at levels greater than those of this year," Davison said.

The per capita consumption of meat this year will be 14 pounds below last year's 165 pounds, Davison added, because producers and ranchers have reduced their cattle and hog marketings and are holding onto their breeding stock in a rebuilding program.

Davison said although the price of some meat cuts to the consumer has advanced rather sharply in recent months, the government's consumer price index shows that meat prices have increased only to the same extent as the average of all food prices.

Paul Bowers

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.

Yes, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: For Thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: Thou fillest my head with oil: My cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: And I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.
