Bridge Falls; 16 Are Killed

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI)—Skin divers today searched among the twisted wreckage of a partially completed 16-million-dollar bridge that collapsed Tuesday carrying at least 16 men to their deaths.

BILL BLAKLEY
... to visit Friday

Candidate For Senate Is Due Here

William A. Blakley, candidate for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate, will be in Pampa Friday morning for an "on the street" handshaking campaign and to meet with friends and political backers during a 10 a.m. meeting in the County Court Room.

Blakley, currently on his seventh such extended trip made during recent weeks, will come to Pampa from Amarillo. He will be feted with a reception at the Herring Hotel in Amarillo Thursday night, following stops at Levelland, Littlefield, Plainview, Tulla and Canyon, earlier in the day.

Robert Mack, campaign chairman for Blakley here, has pointed out that the 59-year-old candidate spent Monday in San Angelo, Tuesday in Sterling City, Slaton, Big Spring, Midland and Odessa. Blakley was to be in Brownfield, Andrews, Lamesa and Lubbock today.

All interested Pampa citizens have been urged by Mack to meet Blakley at the 10 a.m. reception Friday.

The present race is the first for public office by Blakley, who was a U.S. Senator by appointment, after Price Daniel resigned. However, he served only a short time before Daniel's successor was elected.

Explorer III's Radio Dead

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The second transmitter in the U.S. Explorer III satellite has gone dead, the Naval Research Laboratory announced Tuesday night.

The Navy said no signals from Explorer III have been received since 10:56 p.m. c.d.t. Monday when a minitrack station at Antofagasta, Chile, picked up the signal.

The other transmitter in Explorer III went silent on June 5. That leaves Vanguard I as the only U.S. satellite still transmitting.

Chapman Jaycee Of The Month

Bill Chapman was named Jaycee of the Month of May at the meeting of the club in the Palm Room of City Hall yesterday.

Chapman was honored for his work on a recent club profit-making project.

The club voted down a proposed amendment to its constitution. The amendment would have provided for the election of a president by the membership instead of by the board of directors, as it is now done.

Visitors for the day included Carl Kennedy Herbert, Trimble Don Miller of Borger and Bob Hoekendorf.

morning after an all night search. Skin divers continued their search below the surface for at least two other workers still unaccounted for.

Twenty survivors of the tragedy were hospitalized but none was reported critically injured.

One of the survivors said he believed the weight of a 180-ton mobile crane that was perched near the end of one of the sections was too heavy for the temporary pier to support.

The huge crane was driven close to the end of a new section a few minutes before the thundering collapse. The crane toppled into Burrard inlet as the section fell.

The force of the first section giving way bent a cement pylon by about 10 degrees which dislodged the second section. Damage was estimated at three million dollars and engineers said the collapse would delay completion of the bridge by about six months.

A full investigation into the disaster got underway today.

Moments after the collapse, hundreds of small boats rushed to the scene to pick up survivors and bodies. One boat picked up five bodies which were swept several hundred feet away by a swift current. Other boats conducted an all-night search along the shore for bodies washed up on the beaches.

Thirteen ex-high school girls have already made their bid for the "Miss Pampa" title, according to the Jaycee Beauty Pageant report. Chairman Eldon Blumer, has set Saturday as deadline for sponsors to make additional entries.

"Miss Pampa" contestants must be at least 18, not over 28, single and never married. They will be judged on talent, beauty, poise and personality.

The Jaycee-produced pageant will take place at 8 p.m. June 27 in the High School auditorium. Tickets will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

The thirteen entered are Bonnie Lou Glaxner, piano; Patsy Lynn Gorman, three minute speech; Linda Kay Steel, piano; Monica Marak, voice; Dianne Zachry, piano; Linda Bullard, three minute talk; Kay Sprinkle, dramatics; Martha Gordon, dramatic monologue; Maynette Loftus, dance; Nelda Cooper, dance; Karla Cox, art, and Raina Storms, dramatics.

Five Cases Heard In Court Here

Five cases were heard in Gray County Court this morning.

Mrs. J. C. Hutson, Panhandle, entered a plea of guilty to charges of swindling with a worthless check and was fined $5 and costs. She gave the check to Buddy's Super Market in the amount of $28 on April 5, 1958.

R. F. Benton, 1417 E. Francis, entered a plea of guilty to charges of swindling with a worthless check and was given a 30-day jail sentence. He gave the check to Trimble Gulf Service Station on June 7, 1958, in the amount of $20.

Eli Glover of Lakeview entered a guilty plea after being charged with transporting liquor in a wet area without a permit. He was fined $250 and costs of court.

A charge of aggravated assault was filed against Glen Crouch, 1608 Alcott. He entered a plea of guilty and was fined $25 and costs. The complaint was filed by D. C. West, who said that Crouch "kicked" his son, Sherman, in the back.

Orlin Victor Boyer of Lefors entered a plea of guilty to charges of sale of liquor from a package store during prohibited hours and was fined $100 and costs.

Ellison Named 'Best Speaker'

Paul Ellison was voted "best speaker" at the regular meeting of the Pampa Toastmasters Club yesterday. Toastmaster of the evening was Otis Petty.

Finally!

GREENVILLE, Mich. (UPI)—It's finally happened.

An Eskimo has bought an icebox.

Word of the sale came from C. J. Gibson, president of a Greenville appliance manufacturing firm.

"The sale of a refrigerator was made last month to an Eskimo living near Churchill, Alaska," Gibson said. "Thanks to the U. S. dollars being spent on projects like the DEW Distant Early Warning line, the Eskimos have money these days."

Tito Might Have Proof Of Recording

By RUSSELL JONES
United Press International

WARSAW, Poland (UPI)—Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito may have factual proof that the Soviet Union broke its solemn word to support the Hungarian government of Imre Nagy in October 1956.

Many Hungarian experts are convinced of the truth of a report that Nagy secretly tape recorded promises given him by Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan and top party leader Mikhail Suslov, after the Hungarian people rose up against the harsh Stalinists who had been running the country.

Nagy and three of his compatriots have been executed for leading the rebellion. Announcement of the secret trial and executions was made Tuesday.

According to the reports, Nagy took the recording with him to the Yugoslav Embassy in Budapest when he fled before the Soviet tanks and troops who crushed the revolution.

Whether Tito actually has such proof of Russia's doublecross is not known. But this much is fact: Suslov and Mikoyan came to Budapest in the last days of October and held long conversations with Nagy, the present party leader. Janos Kadar and other top Hungarians. These discussions were held in the Hungarian Communist Party headquarters and in Nagy's office in the parliament building.

US Prepared For Action In Lebanon

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mideast troublemakers were on notice today the United States is prepared to take swift military action in Lebanon if the United Nations is unable to preserve the independence of that revolt-torn country.

American officials emphasized the hope that presence of U.N. observers will help restore order and prevent the infiltration of leaders and arms for the rebels from neighboring Syria, a part of the United Arab Republic (UAR).

But they made it clear the United States, with its powerful Sixth Fleet cruising in the eastern Mediterranean, will not sit idly by and watch the tides of chaos engulf the government of pro-Western Lebanese President Camille Chamoun.

Disclosure of the firm American position came after Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told a news conference Tuesday there were "possible contingencies" in which U.S. Marines would be sent into Lebanon apart from any U.N. action.

Dulles said he was "aware of the fact" that the Sixth Fleet has elements close to Lebanon with Marines aboard who could "if need be, respond to appropriate invitations."

Later in the day Dulles went to the Pentagon where he conferred with Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy.

Authoritative sources, interpreting Dulles' remarks, said he intended to serve notice on UAR

WHEAT HARVEST CONTINUES

A scene like this will be hard to find in the Top o' Texas area by the end of this month. Farmers are expected to have all their wheat combined by then and it will be another year before wheat combining will start again. Here, E. L. Sikes is combining the last five acres of some 70 that he had planted in wheat on his farm, five miles East of Pampa.

Local grain elevators pointed out this morning that they are still taking wheat and are not "overflowing" to the point they can take no more as might have been inferred in previous reports.

The Fisher Panhandle Grain Company, which has a total storage capacity of 1,000,000 bushels, said it was still taking wheat and plans to accommodate all local customers before taking out of area wheat.

The Barnett and Wilkinson Grain Company reported having taken in around 125,000 bushels since the harvest began. The elevator is full, according to officials of the firm, but they can still handle wheat as long as freight cars hold out and more come in.

The E. F. Tubb Grain Company has handled approximately 100,000 bushels of wheat at its Kingsmill and Pampa plants combined. The firm has a new building at Kingsmill still taking wheat and its situation also depends to a large degree on the amount of freight cars available.

Sante Fe freight officials reported this morning that they expected enough cars in today to handle all they orders they now have. They pointed out that "from here on out, it will depend on how soon the first cars to be moved out of here get back."

The Borger area has reported the harvest about five per cent completed and "in full swing." Yields are averaging from 20 to 45 bushels per acre and there is a shortage of approximately 300 combines with trucks in the area.

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy went back before the Senate Armed Services Committee to continue testimony on President Eisenhower's defense reorganization plan. The House version is under the committee's scrutiny.

Other congressional developments:

Labor Reform: The Senate eliminated five days of debate by passing a "moderate" labor reform bill aimed at correcting union corruption and undemocratic practices exposed by the Senate Rackets Committee. The vote was 88 to 1. The bill would safeguard labor funds, guarantee secret elections, and require employers as well as union officers to sign non-Communist affidavits before they could seek the help of government services in any labor dispute.

Education: The House Education Committee tentatively approved a compromise federal scholarship program that would provide an estimated 19,000 to 22,000 scholarships annual for four years to enable bright students to attend college.

President 'Needs' Aide, However

By JAMES BAAR
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower agreed today that Sherman Adams had been "imprudent" in his relations with Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine. But he said he needs Adams as his assistant.

The President opened his news conference with a prepared statement in which he said:

"Admitting the lack of that careful prudence in this incident that Governor Adams Tuesday referred to, I believe with my whole heart that he is an invaluable public servant, doing a difficult job efficiently, honestly and tirelessly."

This, the President said, was "all that I can, all that I shall say" about Adams.

Voice Is Stern
He brushed aside a query whether he would respond to some Republican demands to fire his chief White House aide.

In response to that question, the President said he considered his prepared statement what was demanded and needed and expected of him.

Eisenhower's face was flushed and his tone was stern as he read the statement at a rapid pace.

He said he had dictated it because he wanted it to be taken down exactly as he intended. Reading from 5 by 7-inch cards on which it was typed in large letters, Eisenhower led off by saying:

"The intense publicity lately surrounding the name of Sherman Adams makes it desirable, even necessary, that I start this conference with an expression of my own views about the matter."

Couldn't Be Bought
He told the 257 newsmen that "anyone who knows Sherman Adams has never had any doubt of his personal integrity and honesty."

"No one has believed that he could be bought," the President said.

But Eisenhower said "There is a feeling or belief that he was not sufficiently alert in making certain that the gifts, of which he was the recipient, could be misinterpreted as to be considered as attempts to influence his official actions."

"To that extent he has been, as he stated yesterday, imprudent," Eisenhower declared.

The President said today that "the utmost prudence must necessarily be observed by everyone attached to the White House because of the possible effect of any slightest inquiry, suggestion or observation emanating from this office and reaching any other part of the government."

"Carelessness must be avoided," he added.

Kept His Temper
He was asked if he were aware of a charge by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) that Adams had violated the law in obtaining confidential information for Goldfine from the Federal Trade Commission. Harris is chairman of the House subcommittee before which Adams testified.

Eisenhower sharply countered that the reporter had violated the injunction against questions on the Adams-Goldfine issue. But the President nevertheless said there were some pertinent facts about this which White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty could provide.

Eisenhower, bouncing back and forth on his heels and looking as if he might explode with anger, listened through a question in which he also was asked to compare the Adams situation to incidents in the Truman administration. The President kept his temper and referred the questioner to Hagerty, who was sitting nearby.

In his prepared statement, the President also had said that "First, as a result of this entire incident, all of us should have been made aware of one truth."

"That is," he said, "that a gift is not necessarily a bribe. One is evil; the other is a tangible expression of friendship."

Evaluate the Circumstances
"Almost without exception everybody seeking public office accepts political contributions," he continued. "These are gifts to further his political career."

"Yet we do not make a general rule that these gifts are intended to color the later official votes, recommendations and actions of the recipients. In the general case this whole activity is understood, accepted and approved."

Eisenhower said that "the circumstances surrounding the innocent receipt by a public official of any gift are therefore important" (See PRESIDENT, Page 3)

State Highway Department will pay its portion of the cost of spraying state highways and will add other counties in which landowners are spraying each side of the highways. Additional counties requesting this action at Monday's meeting with Daniel were Donley, Collingsworth, Hall, Wheeler, Gray, Carson, Armstrong, Randall, Potter, Oldham and Deaf Smith.

National Guard jeeps will be made available to speed up spraying of highways and roads as soon as additional spraying units can be obtained.

The state will pay the cost of spraying state-owned sections of land in the middle of a 500,000-acre tract in Dallas county, with funds furnished either by the land office or agriculture department. The state owns about 20 sections of land there.

Cost of the spraying program is being shared on a one-third basis by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and two-thirds by landowners.

Daniel said it was apparent that the grasshopper plague was the worst suffered by the Panhandle in 20 years. He said grasshoppers in Moore county were so thick they would soon completely destroy the crops and grass.

Noon Lions Installation Thursday
The Installation and Ladies Night banquet of the Pampa Noon Lions Club will start at 7 p.m. tomorrow in the First Methodist Church banquet hall. Bill Hunter, Lions District governor from Amarillo, will install the new officers.

For entertainment, the Lions will have two numbers by "Sissy" Milliron and an organ-piano duo by "Sissy" and Maxine Milliron.

J. C. Roberts, who is making all the arrangements, expects 200 Lions, Lionesses, Kiwanians, Rotarians and Evening Lions.

"Wear your loudest sport shirt," says Roberts. "The loudest sport shirt will win a prize. If you don't wear a sport shirt we'll have to cut your belt off, your belt and your shoe strings."

The Lions Fashion Board, when it voted for sport shirts to be worn at the affair, made no mention of the chemise, Roberts said.

McIlhany Is Honored At Banquet

(Special to The News)
WHEELER — The agriculture committee of the Wheeler Chamber of Commerce honored State Representative Grainger McIlhany with a special appreciation banquet Tuesday night for his "outstanding contributions to agriculture."
Rep. McIlhany received the award following a county poll which indicated that he had contributed the most to the betterment of agriculture in Wheeler County.
An unusually large number of farmers, ranchers, businessmen and their wives turned out for the banquet to show their appreciation to McIlhany.
T. M. Britt, Wheeler County rancher and community leader, was the principal speaker and outlined the work of Rep. McIlhany in the Texas Legislature which was the basis for his selection for the agriculture award. Cotton John Smith from KINCOP, Amarillo, presented McIlhany with a scroll signed by the officers of the Wheeler Chamber of Commerce.
Britt pointed out that during 1957, McIlhany sponsored legislation to set up on-the-farm demonstrations of improved farming methods in the eastern Panhandle area. This program has already been set up in Collingsworth, Hall, and Wheeler Counties. McIlhany also secured state aid in the eradication of crops, which annually cause damage to grain crops.
McIlhany successfully sponsored amendments to the general appropriations bill to expand the services of the county agent's office and to improve the Texas E&M experiment station and forestry programs. He was the author of the complete revision of the livestock feed laws of Texas.
In the field of water conservation, he authored the bill to validate the creation of the underground water district in Gray County and was also one of the planners of the present loan program for the building of water conservation dams.
The speaker noted that Rep. McIlhany is now a senior member of

Blakley Blasts 'Centralization'

By United Press International
Senatorial candidate William A. Blakley has called for a halt in the trend toward centralization in government.
Speaking at Odessa Tuesday in his seventh "grassroots" campaign trip, the Dallas millionaire proclaimed: "If we are to continue to be free and to enjoy the rights and privileges of free men, we must halt the trend toward more and more centralization and less and less local authority in government."
Blakley called centralization an "infringement of the rights and freedoms of individual citizens" and warned "we are rapidly approaching a one-government system which cannot be accurately termed the United States of America."
Speech Canceled
In Houston, the River Oaks Baptist Church canceled a speaking engagement for Dallas Dist. Judge Sarah T. Hughes, candidate for the State Supreme Court.
The Rev. W. E. Denham said the appearance was called off because the impression might be left that "our church is endorsing Judge Hughes."
Rev. Denham explained "we as a church have consistently refused to hold political rallies. When we agreed to let (the River Oaks Business and Professional Women's) club hold their meeting in our youth lounge, we did not know it was to be a political gathering."
State Sen. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio, a candidate for governor, canceled a speaking engagement for Dallas Dist. Judge Sarah T. Hughes, candidate for the State Supreme Court.

so that the public may clearly distinguish between innocent and guilty action."
"Among these circumstances," the President said, "are the character and reputation of the individual, the record of his subsequent actions, and evidence of intent or lack of intent to exert undue influence."
Adams testified Tuesday before a House influence-investigation subcommittee that Goldfine gave him vicuna cloth for a coat; loaned him a rug for his rented Washington home and paid bills at hotels in New York, Boston and Plymouth, Mass. Adams denied that he exerted any influence on Goldfine's behalf before government agencies but acknowledged that if he had to do it over again he might have acted "more prudently."
Refers to Deep Freeze
Some Democrats and some Republicans declared Adams failed to emerge "clean as a hound's tooth."
Refers to Deep Freeze
One of the Republicans on the subcommittee called for Adams' resignation. The other, Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.) said he could not accept Adams' explanation and saw no difference between getting an oriental rug and a deep-freeze, the latter being the symbol of corruption in the Truman administration.
The subcommittee member was Rep. John B. Bennett of Michigan. He said he thought Adams had caused his integrity to be questioned and his continued tenure seemed unjustifiable.
Rep. Owen Harris (D-Ark.), chairman of the subcommittee which is investigating federal regulatory agencies, said Adams technically violated the law by passing certain forbidden information to his long-time friend, Goldfine, and unquestionably "overstepped the bounds of propriety."
Harris said, however, he doubted "very seriously" the case would be referred to the Justice Department. But he added that whether Adams quit or not was up to the consciences of the White House aide and Eisenhower.
"Remember what it says in the Bible," Harris said. "Judge not..."

Trujillo Tells Cadets To 'Come Home'

CUADRU TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (UPI)—Thirty Dominican officers and cadets attending military schools in the United States were ordered Tuesday to leave immediately and return home.
The order, issued by the secretary of state for the armed forces, was considered a retaliation for the refusal of a U.S. Army staff school to grant a graduation diploma to Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo Jr., son of the Dominican Republic's strongman ruler.
The Dominican Congress was summoned to a special session to consider the discussions in the U.S. Congress in connection with military aid received by the Dominican Republic and to take any decisions as required by the national dignity.
Young Trujillo's lavish spending while in the U.S., including gifts of expensive foreign sports cars to Hollywood actresses Kim Novak and Zsa Zsa Gabor, led to criticism from some American congressmen who suggested that military aid to the Dominican Republic should be reviewed.
Trujillo was appointed chief of staff of the Dominican combined chiefs of staff on the same day the U.S. Army announced he would receive only a certificate of attendance from the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., because he "did not successfully complete the course."

Labor Reform Backers See House Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Backers of the Senate's "moderate" labor reform bill hoped today its overwhelming 83-1 victory in the Senate would spur a reluctant House to act on the measure this year.
The bill, aimed at ending labor-management abuses turned up by the Senate Rackets Committee, was sent to the House Tuesday night after five days of debate with the blessing of Democratic leaders, the administration and Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland who had sought a stiffer measure.
The Senate bill was designed to crack down on labor racketeers by safeguarding union funds, guaranteeing secret elections and promoting other democratic practices. It would also require employers as well as union officers to sign non-Communist affidavits before they could seek the help of government services in any labor dispute.
House Democratic leaders had no immediate comment. They were expected to confer soon with Rep. Graham Barden (D-N.C.), chairman of the House Labor Committee who has been reluctant to act on any labor legislation in an election year.
Barden told United Press International he had not read the Senate bill and "could guess the weather with as much accuracy" as the outlook for the measure in his committee.
Rep. Ralph W. Gwinn (R-N.Y.), senior GOP member of the committee and advocate of a much tougher union-control bill predicted the committee will not act on broad labor reform legislation.
"Not that I wouldn't like to see a good, honest labor bill but we just don't have the votes," he said.

The committee will meet with a third company before reaching a definite decision.

error, announced he will make a "non-political" speech in San Marcos tonight.
Gonzalez, a vehement anti-segregationist, said he will make a brief "preliminary" tour of West Texas, ending Saturday night with a speech at Hereford.
Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey's opponent, Waco attorney George Nokes, said in San Angelo Tuesday should "wake up to the vital importance of the lieutenant governor's office and end boss rule in the state."
"Virtual Stranglehold"
Nokes claimed "The lieutenant governor, by virtue of his position as presiding officer over the Texas Senate, has a virtual stranglehold on legislation."
Gov. Daniel took time out of his grasshopper inspection tour in West Texas to make grassroots political talk in Lubbock.
The gubernatorial candidate continued his attack on the Liberal-Labor Democrats of Texas (L.L.D.) claiming that it is a front for "the labor group that is trying to take over the Democratic party."
In another Lubbock speech, the governor urged modernization of the state's crime fighting equipment.
Daniel, who said murder showed a 25.2 per cent increase in Texas, claimed "laws passed and enforcement procedures established a generation ago cannot be fully effective without continued re-examination and necessary improvements."
One of the governor's opponents, former Gov. and U.S. Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel, broadcast a plea for the state to "abolish tickle-finance" by putting an experienced business executive (O'Daniel) back in the governor's chair.
O'Daniel charged Texas is now writing hot checks to pay current expenses although the present administration had a surplus of around 100 million dollars when it took over.

200 Feared Drowned In Pacific Gale
TUXTLA GUTIERREZ, Mexico (UPI) — Two hundred Mexican fishermen were feared drowned in a storm Monday off the Pacific Coast near Oaxaca state when a sudden storm sank their fleet.
Chiapas state officials said the men, aboard 21 boats, disappeared without a trace when the storm caught them by surprise.
If all were drowned it would constitute the worst maritime disaster in Mexican history, they said.
First reports of the disaster came from Capt. Sabino Ortiz whose fishing boat went aground after five of his seven crewmen had been washed overboard.
"The waves were a nightmare," Ortiz said. "It took us two hours to reach the beach. Twenty-one other boats just disappeared and I'm sure all aboard them were lost."

Slayer Is Sentenced To 'Chair'
TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (UPI)—Convicted "wife-swapper" slayer Thomas Whitaker, 38, Tuesday was sentenced to die in the Indiana electric chair Nov. 19.
Whitaker was found guilty last April 17 of slaying his 9-year-old daughter, Regina. In the same spree, he slew his former wife, Alma, 36, and the couple's son, Jackie, 31.
The trial of the ex-truck driver was marked by lurid testimony concerning how he and businesswoman Stewart Martin exchanged wives before the outbreak of violence. On June 25, Whitaker invaded Martin's fashionable $30,000 home and shot his wife and two children.
Attorneys for Whitaker said they would appeal the case to the Indiana Supreme Court, after Vigo County Circuit Court Judge Herbert Criss denied an appeal for a new trial.

5 Workers Held For Observation
OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (UPI)—Five of eight atomic plant workers exposed to excessive radiation are being held in a hospital for observation.
Plant and Atomic Energy Commission officials said they are launching an investigation into the incident which was the first of its kind in the plant's 14 years of operation.
Officials said the accident occurred when a workman in the uranium recovery room of the huge 12 plant dumped a container of enriched uranium into a larger drum.
A nuclear reaction took place which raised the radiation level in the plant.
Officials would not release names of those exposed, but said they are receiving the best of medical attention by leading specialists in the field of radiation medicine.

Why does a family buy a home in the suburbs? Usually, it's because they think it is a good place to bring up children. And what happens when they become the proud owners of a suburban home? Well, all too often Mama and Papa get so engrossed in having a beautiful yard (especially if Mama joins the neighborhood garden club) that the yard becomes a kind of keep-off-the-grass show place, where the kids aren't allowed to play.

Missouri Shoots For NCAA Title Against Trojans

By JIM WEBSTER
United Press International
OMAHA (UPI)—Southern California goes against unbeaten Missouri tonight in an attempt to keep the NCAA college world series baseball championship in its home state.

The University of California won last year's meet but fell victim to the Trojans in the Pacific Coast Conference this year. USC, beaten once by the spunky Holy Cross team it eliminated Tuesday night, meets Missouri in what may be the final game.

If Missouri wins, it takes the title — but the Trojans have to beat old Missouri twice to win the double elimination meet.

USC Coach Raouf (Rod) Dedaux tabbed Bill Thom (7-1) to go against the fighting Tigers and young John O'Donoghue (6-2) will take the hill for Missouri.

Southern California bounced touted Holy Cross from the tournament Tuesday night, 4-2, after Ken Guffey opened with a triple and scored when Mike Castanon grounded out.

Half a dozen singles in the second frame produced four runs and a single coupled with three walks brought in another run in the seventh.

The Trojans worked particular vengeance on the two players who had a major role in shutting them out, 3-0, in the first round.

Ken Komodinski, who belted a homer, a triple and a single Friday night, went 1 for 4 Tuesday night. Hal Deitz, who scattered seven hits across six innings in the first game, was sent to the showers after allowing five runs in the first two innings.

Missouri's 3-1 win over Western Michigan, a duplication of the opener Friday night, sent the Broncos home to Kalamazoo.

Doug Gulick, a Moberly, Mo., senior, took credit for his second straight win over the Mid-American Conference champions while Dick Sosnowski absorbed his second series defeat from the Missourians. Sosnowski gave up eight hits.

Bo Toft and Sonny Siebert opened the second inning with back-to-back singles to left and right. Toft scored when Western Michigan elected to pick off Siebert and Ralph Hochgrebe in a double play.

Siebert, who collected two singles and a triple in four trips, scored after singling in the seventh and after his ninth-inning triple.

WILLIE MAYS ... in home slump

WILLIE BEHIND 8-Ball WITH HOME HITTING

By HAL WOOD
United Press International
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Willie Mays, who loves nothing better than to be loved, was glad to get out of San Francisco for the current road trip of the Giants.

The "most exciting" player in the game of baseball tried so hard to put a show on for his home-town followers that he came up with his all-time record slump — so bad, in fact, that he is barely leading the league in hitting.

But the records show that poor Willie, for his $70,000 a year salary, hit only .118 for his last nine games at home, during which he went to the plate 34 times and collected only four hits.

For the 13-game series here he clouted at a respectable (for most players) .321 clip, because he got 13 hits in the first four games. But after that Willie was kaput!

"He's just trying too hard," said Manager Bill Rigney. "He wants to do his best in front of the home town fans."

There were offers of advice, what he was doing wrong, what he should be doing, etc.

"He's swinging with only one hand," said an "expert" in the press box.

This brought a snort from Rigney.

20-Game Home Stretch May Put Braves Away

They Could Run Off And Get Lost

FRED DOWN
United Press International
The Milwaukee Braves, who weren't hurt while they marked time for a while, appear to be making a big bet to crack open the National League to crack open only 13-14 from June 10 to June 10, the Braves ran off their fifth victory in six on Tuesday night when they beat the Chicago Cubs, 6-3, and 2 1/2 games ahead of the fading San Francisco Giants. With 20 1/2 games at home before they hit the road again, the defending world champions suddenly have stepped into a spot to take command of the race.

And perhaps it's no coincidence, that Lew Burdette, the World Series hero who discovered the rubber-chicken circuit can be tougher than pitching against the New York Yankees, went the distance for the win. It was Burdette's fifth win of the year and his first since May 22.

The Giants, dropping fast after their early-season heroics, were beaten, 6-1, by the Pittsburgh Pirates, the St. Louis Cardinals topped the Cincinnati Redlegs, 10-4, with six runs in the ninth inning and the Philadelphia Phillies downed the Los Angeles Dodgers, 9-6, in other NL games.

World Great Place To See

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—"You have no idea what a wonderful place the world is when you can see it and how horrible it is when you can't see it."

That's the way Ted Husing sums up his misfortunes. He was one of radio's best known and best paid voices before a brain tumor crippled him and took away his sight and fortune.

He spoke from a chair in the living room of his mother's modest Pasadena cottage, an Afghan around his legs and a cane by his side.

Has Doubts About Comeback
He has taped two interviews with sportscaster Tom Harmon and boxer Maxie Rosenbloom for a series entitled "Ted Husing Reminiscences" but he is not particularly hopeful about his comeback.

The voice is there — the resonant voice which in dramatic style related most of the great moments in sports more than a generation ago — but he admits himself the spirit is weak.

In the right within himself, Husing conceded he may not be all washed up, and he has not lost his sense of humor.

Hasn't Lost Religion
"I'm my own best critic," he continued, "and I want to rise above the difficulties of my illness but sometimes I wonder."

Husing hastened to add that he hasn't lost faith in himself completely.

"I am terribly religious," he said, "and this was not occasioned by my illness. I always went to church before my programs and prayed for help."

Buzzy Raps TV Beer War

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Television of big league baseball is getting out of hand, in the opinion of E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi, vice president and general manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Speaking of the flood of National League games that are being beamed into New York from Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and St. Louis since the Dodgers and Giants have moved to the Pacific Coast, Bavasi declared:

"It's now a beer war back there. And it's not a healthy situation."

"I'm not against the televising of a limited number of games. It always has been our attitude that the home club should do what it wants with television.

"But I never thought we'd go this far. You are giving your show away for nothing when you over-televise. You are making it too easy for people to see ball games — for free."

"TV has its place. It makes fans and, in that respect, helps baseball. But you can't afford to saturate the market," he said.

Pampa Gals Both Lose In NCAA Golf

AMES, Iowa (UPI)—Defending champion Meriam Bailey, national amateur champ Jo Anne Gunderson and medalist Clifford Ann Creed paced the field into the quarter-finals of the National Women's Collegiate golf tournament today.

Neither was seriously pressed Tuesday in winning first round matches.

But the best round of the day was turned in by Ann Rutherford of Penn State University, who fired a one-over-par 74 over the Iowa State College course to defeat Elaine Woodman of Wichita University, 4 and 2.

AUSTIN'S BOW

Pampa's Austin sisters, Lila and Shirley, met with first round dismissal in the National Women's Collegiate Golf Tournament at Ames, Iowa, Tuesday, representing Odessa Junior College. Lila lost in the First Flight to Lorraine Abbott of Rollings College, 5-4. Shirley was humbled, 8 and 7, in the Third Flight by Bonnie Reid of Iowa.

In the quarter-finals, Miss Creed meets Miss Rutherford, Judy Bell of Wichita University plays Judy Kimball of the University of Kansas; Miss Gunderson meets Carol Pushing of Carleton College, and Miss Bailey takes on Laurayne Conway of Northern Illinois State College.

Miss Bailey, a 20-year-old Northwestern University coed, defeated Rae Ann Weigart, a University of Iowa student, 4 and 3, in the first round while Miss Creed beat Lamar Tech in Texas, 5 and 3. Miss Gunderson of Arizona State downed Karen Schull of the University of Miami, 6 and 5.

In other matches, Miss Kimball defeated Lindsay Nordyke of the University of Michigan, 4 and 3; Miss Bell eliminated Constance Gorusch of Guilford College, 4 and 3; Miss Pushing downed Marcia Rand of Ohio Wesleyan, 3 and 2; and Miss Conway defeated Miss McCoy of Iowa State College, 5 and 3.

Rangers Dumped In Pair By Cats

By United Press International
Fort Worth edged Dallas in both ends of a twin bill Tuesday, 2-1, 5-4, and picked up two games on second-ranked Austin as the Senators dropped two to the Tulsa Oilers, 2-0, 9-7.

Victoria edged San Antonio, 2-1, and Corpus Christi moved past Houston, 5-5.

Dallas dropped from sixth to seventh as Fort Worth took revenge for the doubleheader which the Rangers swept on the weekend.

FOXX IS HAPPY WITH MILLER BAT POSITION

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Jimmy Foxx, the hall of fame member of the Boston Red Sox hired last winter, is happy as a rookie with his job with the Minneapolis Millers of the American Association.

Foxx, 50, has been under a doctor's care the past few weeks with "fluctuating blood pressure."

"It's not being back in uniform, though, that's raising the pressure, it's hereditary," he said. "I just couldn't be happier with my work."

Reds' Newk Hurls Tonite

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Big Don Newcombe, who is glad to be out of the Los Angeles Coliseum, goes to the mound to pitch for the Cincinnati Redlegs tonight for the first time and face what he calls "a big challenge."

Newcombe, battered from the box in his last appearance for the Los Angeles Dodgers on Sunday, was acquired from the Dodgers just before the trading deadline expired.

The big righthander admitted today he "lost confidence as things went badly" for him with the Dodgers, where he had a record of no victories and six defeats. But he added that he knows the Redlegs "are counting on me."

Walsh, 77, was receiving blood in a Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., hospital to build up his strength so that he can attend the game. He'll be honored with a plaque on which will be engraved the lengthy list of his feats while with the White Sox from 1904 through 1916.

But he'll draw benefits in another way too. For Baseball Anonymous, founded to help old-time players ineligible for the present day pensions but who have financial problems, is earmarking funds received for a trust fund to pay Walsh's everyday living expenses and his medical bills.

E. M. Keller tightened it's hold on first place in the Western Little League Tuesday with a 9-5 win over Utility Oil.

Ricky Goodwin pitched and hit Keller to the win going 3 for 3 with two doubles and four RBI's. He allowed only seven hits and fanned seven.

Walter Ross took the loss for Utility, giving up nine runs on 11 hits.

In Eastern Little League play, front running Cabot continued it's winning ways with a 11-4 win over basement-ridden Celanese.

Winning pitcher Ronald Curlee gave up four runs on eight hits while losing pitcher Kenneth McWilliams was touched for 11 runs on 10 hits. Nine Celanese errors sided the Cabot cause.

Three Cabot boys slugged home-runners. Ricky Fritz, Dee Wright and Cary Roper all hit four baggers.

Cree Moves 1 Off Pace

The Cree Drivers sliced a full game from Pampa News' Pony League lead Tuesday night and there was no fluke about it. They got brilliant one-hit hurling from Jerry Glover to subdue the News-men, 13-1.

Cree smacked out 13 hits for their 13 runs to pull within one game of the News and first place. Pampa News has an 8-3 season record while Cree is 7-4.

For the third are First National Bank and Kist. They trounced that middle tonight.

Beside his fifty one-hit hurling, Glover socked a homerun or Cree. He was given solid support by teammates John Arthur and J. Owens who also hammered out round-trippers.

Arthur was the leading pitcher for Cree with a 4 for 5 night. Bill Coffin ruined Glover's bid for a no-hitter. He collected the loser's lone single. Both clubs had two errors apiece.

'Cowntown Rodeo' Is No Great Shakes Of Television Show

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rodeos are almost as popular as necking at this time of the year. (Well, remember "almost" covers a lot of territory.)

Between now and Oct. 31 when the national championships kick off in San Francisco, some 200 rodeos will be staged around the country. Last year, they attracted about 16 million fans, only a million less than major league baseball pulled in.

Monday night ABC-TV, in an effort to cash in on the boom, launched an "Castern Western 'Cowntown Rodeo.'" It was a half-hour rodeo telecast from New Jersey, a situation that strikes me as being as incongruous as a steamboat race over the Mojave Desert. However that, as they say, is show biz.

Emceed by Marty Glickman, a city slicker who seems to know as much about rodeos as I do (nothing), "Cowntown Rodeo" isn't any great shakes of a show. It will appeal, I suspect, only to red rodeo fans and horses who own TV sets.

But it does demonstrate something that needs occasional demonstration—the virtues of live television. On film, "Cowntown Rodeo" would be a first class drag. However, live it does have its moments that stem from what I guess you could label a feeling of "nowness."

Last night there were a couple of moments when performers were shucked off the backs of 1,600 pound Brahms bulls and the bulls thrust those mean horns bullward that had a kind of isolation both tenseness. And some of the screwball efforts of a trio of clowns to chase the bull back in their pens, or whatever it is the beasts play in, were funny in a frightening way.

One thing I would suggest to Glickman and that is that he lay off the interviews with the cowboys. They all seem to be paid-up members of the "yup" school of talk who make Gary Cooper sound like Zsa Zsa Gabor.

One interview last night went approximately like this: Glickman: "This is your second win tonight, isn't it?"

Cowboy: "Is that right?"

Glickman: "I guess you're feeling pretty good about it all."

Cowboy: "Uh-huh."

Glickman: "I guess you can get on a real hot streak where you win for several weeks in a row."

Cowboy: "Uh-huh... then you lose several weeks in a row."

End of interview. Meanwhile back at the ranchhouse...

Short shots: "The Left Hand Welcome," a drama about a young singer who returns to his home town, was a mildly diverting "Studio One" last night—Tommy Sands and Elaine Stritch both gave it zip. Elfrida von Nardroff went to $253,500 on NBC-TV's "Twenty One" last night and I can't decide which is more urgent—breaking up the Yankees or Elfrida. I managed to catch a few minutes of the Modern Jazz Quartet's appearance on ABC-TV's "Starts of Jazz" and they were miles above any jazz group I've heard on TV this season.

Tonight's TV highlights: There are no highlights on TV tonight and I suggest everybody keep their sets off and talk to each other for a change. It's known as do-it-yourself entertainment.

The Channel Swim: All of the singers on "Your Hit Parade" have been given the heave-ho. Signed on for next season's CBS-TV entry are Gogi Grant and Johnny Desmond. At least one more singer will be added.

Jimmy Dean, recently signed to a long-term by CBS-TV, gets a Monday-through-Friday afternoon show on the network next season. Ed Murrow's "Person to Person" summer replacement on CBS starting July 4 will be a series of re-runs, "Screen Directors Playhouse." A panel show, "Keep Talking," originally set to go in the Murrow spot, will be dropped into a Tuesday night slot.

Ed Sullivan is negotiating with Elvis Presley for another live shot on his CBS-TV hour. ABC-TV has decided to uncork "Naked City," a filmed detective series in New York, on Sept. 30 in the spot now held by "Pantomime Quiz."

CBS-TV will put the Monday-through-Friday "Captain Kan-

Reciprocal Trade

Last week there were two matters of extremely vital importance to the future of this nation debated in the House of Representatives. The first was the proposal to extend the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act for a period of five years. It appeared for some time prior to the debate that there would be a very close vote on this measure. The reason was that many who subscribed to reciprocal trade policies felt that there should be some effective restraints by the Congress to at least partially control the activities of an Administration, whether it be Republican or Democrat, in the administration of the foreign trade policy. The need for this control in the hands of the elected officials of the people has been brought into sharp focus since the end of World War II and the Korean conflict. This country, through its foreign aid activities, has provided the means for many countries throughout the world, both former allies and former enemies, to rebuild their economies—industrial, agricultural, etc. Many countries that had not enjoyed an industrial economy, and a very poor agricultural economy, have been helped to move into the industrial economy area and to greatly improve their agricultural economy. In carrying out this program, this country has also engaged in the most liberal trade policies. As these countries recovered and developed, as the case might be, they began to search for markets for the products which we had helped them to become able to produce. This search did produce markets for those countries—markets which formerly had been supplied by the production of this country. This meant these lost markets had to be recovered by American business, of the productive capacity of America.

can business had to be cut back. This, of course, would result in unemployment in many areas, as it has to a limited extent in ours. The larger business groups, who operate internationally, are able to protect themselves, generally, in the shifting market developments. However, the same is not true of the small businesses in this country that are dependent on a strong and vigorous domestic purchasing power. It is the economic situation that develops with relations to the average and small business in this country that brings into focus the real problem. That is, the extent to which we can go in foreign relations activities in order to satisfy the demands of some countries. The State Department works diligently and hard to maintain good and friendly relationships between this and other countries. But, when these relationships require the bankruptcy of many a small and independent business as a sacrificial lamb on the altar of foreign policy, the need for a re-evaluation of this country's position by its duly elected Representatives becomes indispensable. No one denies the need for flexibility in the administration of our foreign trade policies, but when past experience reflects an abuse by the Executive Department of the powers that have heretofore provided that flexibility, then the law itself should provide an effective limitation on how far the President can go in yielding to the demands of foreign countries on trade matters.

Defense Reorganization Act
The House of Representatives last week passed the Defense Reorganization Bill by a vote of 402 to 1. This was after bitter debate as to the language of the bill with reference to 3 amendments asked by the President. The fact is that the bill, as written by the Armed Services Committee, constituted a compromise between the White House and the Congress and was, in effect, accepted by the White House. However, several days before the matter was brought before the House of Representatives proper, the White House apparently reversed its position and demanded a change in the language. This touched off a "battle of words" on the House Floor. The President lost in his demands, but got everything he had originally requested. It occurred to some that the President is getting to be a pretty good trader; that his subsequent demands were, in effect, asking for more than he expected to get in order to get everything that had been contained in the Committee bill. The bill which passed is in keeping with the requirements recommended as necessary to streamline the Defense Organization.

Liquidation Of Imre Nagy Was 'Clear Betrayal'

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI)—Official Yugoslav sources said Tuesday the liquidation of Imre Nagy and his co-leaders in the Hungarian revolt was a "clear betrayal" of trust. Execution of the four men, was expected to set off immediate repercussions in Yugoslavia which already has broken with the rest of the Communists states over differences of policy. The general expectation was that this one, stroke might drive President Tito closer to the West. Yugoslavia apparently was taken utterly by surprise by the execution of the leaders who had taken refuge in the Yugoslav embassy in Budapest after Russia quashed the 1956 revolt.

Old Favorites Play Top Role At Show

By SHERRIE KAHN
United Press International
CHICAGO (UPI) — Old metals and modern alloys, the old favorite woods and modern plastics play decorative roles with an eye to the consumer's whims and to the everyday uses of furniture at the International Home Furnishings Market here.

Pewter is used to ornament drawer pulls and handles. Brass is used on modern, contemporary and traditional lines. Copper, anodized aluminum, plastics and leather are used for decorations. But many manufacturers bowed to the housewives' penchant for change by providing adaptable ornamentation on their cabinets, dressers and wall storage units. Interchangeable knobs are provided with pewter and brass reversible back plates. In many styles, the back plates may be removed entirely leaving the piece with a self-handle and accents of the natural wood graining. Designer Jack Cartwright stayed close to nature with his designs. Using walnut and teak, he brought out distinctive graining by using a boiled cottonseed oil finish. His group includes an over-sized cocktail table in walnut, topped with occasional table makes its appearance shaped as a half-moon with two pie-shaped stools hidden under the eaves. Cartwright included reversible cabinet panels which can be switched from cash to walnut at the whim of the decorator. And he used black and white plastics sparingly as spotlights for design. And white, he incorporated a small black plastic square into the coffee table design to be used as a hot pad for serving.

Socialized Medicine

When a man commits his thought to paper, inadvertently he will reveal a portion of himself, however he may try to avoid the revelation.

This thought persisted as we read the current "Adventure of the Mind" offering in the May 31 edition of the Saturday Evening Post. This magazine is offering a series of articles which are calculated to be stimulating and penetrating. Dr. Vladimir K. Zworykin is the author who reveals himself as he writes about "Magic Eyes for Medicine."

Through the bulk of the piece, Dr. Zworykin makes a splendid contribution to the lay knowledge of electronic advances in the field of medicine. Essentially, his brief article is simply a cataloguing of new techniques, devices and gadgets which have come into existence in recent years and which, as Zworykin sees it, are all too slowly being adapted to the medical fraternity.

He says that the reason for the time lag between the advancement of other sciences and medical adaptation of these advances, lies in the fact that medicine speaks a different language than the other sciences and, consequently, a gulf of non-communication lies between the practicing physician and surgeon and the electronic world of tomorrow.

On this point we can agree. And Zworykin should have a valid opinion in this area. For a quarter of a century he has been director of electronic research with RCA and has played a leading role in the development of electronic devices ranging from the multiplier phototube, the infra-red image converter and the electron microscope, to the instrumentation for traffic control work. Recently he has been playing around with ultra-violet color-translating TV microscopes and the so-called "radio pill" at Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

If there's a language gap between electronics and medicine, Dr. Zworykin would be apt to know of it.

He talks about electronic image intensifiers, image amplifier panels, and special television systems which "provide x-ray images which are 100 to 1000 times as bright as those delivered by the old-fashioned fluoroscope."

Then he discusses the electronic microscope and shows its usage in medical research. From this he plunges into an exploration of the "Cytoanalyzer," which is an electronic gadget capable of examining a "smear" through an automatic process which accurately distinguishes between "genuine nuclei and other dense areas of the specimen formed by debris and by folder or overlapping cells." The list goes on and on.

Then, suddenly we see Dr. Zworykin and what he is driving at. He refers to it as the "dream future." In this dream future, the electronics expert sees this happening in the field of medicine.

"When you arrive at your doctor's office or at your local hospital for an annual checkup or with some complaint, the standard questions which today take up too much of the doctor's time are put to you by a magnetic-tape player. You punch out 'yes' and 'no' answers on a small keyboard. . . . One copy of this record is transmitted automatically to the central file, where it is compared electronically with your previous record." The explanation is complete.

... a complete personal record for yourself and all your fellow citizens is kept. . . . at a central medical file for your country, state or nation. Similar centralized files form repositories of up-to-date knowledge concerning human illnesses, their symptoms, and their reactions to various drugs and treatments."

Dr. Zworykin is actually reciting the final culmination of socialized medicine in about as subtle an approach as we have ever seen. While electronic methods can undoubtedly aid the medical field, we shudder to think that the day may come when a permanent central file on us will be available to the politicians in county, state and federal offices. When this occurs, man's individuality and his ability to choose for himself will have vanished irrevocably. The state will decide what we are to be treated for. And this will be only one step removed from compulsory medication for the "good of society." Man will have become the property of the state, his health a matter of state concern. No wonder Lenin claimed that socialized medicine would be the key to the arch of communism.

However, we should not be surprised, unduly. In addition to his scientific background, Dr. Zworykin has a long record of affiliation with several groups and organizations which have been cited as communist fronts of communist-controlled groups. He was a member of the executive committee of the American-Soviet Science Society, a sponsor of the American Russian Committee, a sponsor of the American Russian Institute. For a number of years he has been a sponsor of the National Council of American Soviet Friendship and the U.S.-Soviet Friendship Congress.

He thinks in terms of bureaucracy, of vast government-controlled and politically-ordained medicine, aided at every hand by the latest scientific achievement. Not one word does the doctor say about human freedom and human dignity. Not one word about the cost of the elaborate and costly central filing system in his "dream future."

We are somewhat surprised that the Saturday Evening Post would lend its prestige to this indirect plug for socialized medical controls.

A Comparison Of Two Towns

I want to quote from and comment on a speech made by Roger M. Blough, chairman of the board of United States Steel Corp., at the annual meeting of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce in April of this year.

He compares Cleveland, Ohio, with Dusseldorf, Germany. He points out that both of these cities are big producers of steel. He states:

"Now by a curious coincidence — which is by no means unintentional — it happens that a major industry of both of these towns is steelmaking. Steel is one of Cleveland's largest single industries; and Dusseldorf is the center of an industrial area which produces 85 per cent of all the steel that is made in West Germany."

"But right at this point the similarity between Dusseldorf and Cleveland gives way to a number of significant differences which provide considerable food for thought. Let's look at a few of them."

"First and foremost, perhaps, is the fact of the recession. In Cleveland many steelworkers — together with many men and women from other industries — are currently unemployed; and the primary concern of all of us in this room here today is to get these people back on the job and to find markets for the products they once made. But in Dusseldorf, steel and other industries are humming along at much higher rates of operation. There is no marked unemployment, and they are managing very well with the markets for their products."

"Next is the fact that virtually all of the market for Cleveland's steel lies here in the United States. At best, only a minor percentage of your steel is sold in foreign markets. But 27 per cent of the steel that is made in the Dusseldorf area is exported; and these export markets for German steel have been growing considerably in recent years. So the prosperity of Dusseldorf's steel mills does not depend on the ups and downs of their domestic demand to nearly the same extent that yours does here in Cleveland."

"Then, too, most of the steel mills here in the Cleveland area are modern and highly efficient; and while it is true that great strides are being made in improving the Dusseldorf area mills, it is also true that a steelworker in Cleveland — using its modern, highly productive tools — can turn out more high quality steel with the expenditure of less time and effort than this German counterpart can. There is, however, another major difference; and the weekly wage of a steelworker in Cleveland is more than three times as high as the corresponding pay of the steelworker in Dusseldorf. So the cost of producing finished steel products there is substantially lower than it is here."

"Now what does all this mean to you in Cleveland? What does Dusseldorf matter to you?" "Well, let me give you just one example which concerns a reel of barbed wire."

"This one I am talking about is a very ordinary reel of barbed wire — one of the types most commonly used for fences. It was manufactured by our American Steel & Wire Division; and it was delivered to a jobber whose warehouse is right here in Cleveland."

"But in the jobber's warehouse it was placed alongside another reel of barbed wire that had been manufactured in Dusseldorf. That German wire was of exactly the same type, and it had come from a mill many thousands of miles away. It had been shipped from Dusseldorf to the sea, and across the ocean to New York. It had been freighted to Cleveland by rail and hauled from the freight-yards to the warehouse by truck. Yet, delivered to that warehouse, it still cost the jobber $40 a ton less than the reel of wire we sold right here in Cleveland."

"Now next spring, of course, the people of Cleveland will celebrate the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, and Cleveland itself will become a great inland seaport of the United States."

"Perhaps the people of Dusseldorf will have reason to celebrate, too. Their wire will no longer face the costly overland haul from New York to Cleveland. It can be shipped by boat direct to the docks on your Lake Erie Waterfront, and thus it can be sold here even more cheaply than it is today."

"Now it is certainly true there must be give and take in order to have international trade. It is also true that many Americans had jobs in the last few years because our exports of steel were considerably greater — primarily because of availability and quality — than our imports, although the historic pattern is changing. Nevertheless had this foreign wire — some 64,000 tons of it last year — been produced at home as much of it formerly was, it would have provided hundreds of thousands of man hours of work in the steel industry alone and kept coming those more important pay envelopes to the many American steel workers who formerly made that wire; pay envelopes to the tune of about 6 million dollars."

Warren Is Making Highest Salary; Gets Pension, Too

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

LOS ANGELES — As Chief Justice, Earl Warren draws the highest salary he ever got in his life, $35,000 a year. In addition, California pays him $12,101.88 a year, or $1,008.49 a month, which will be increased to $16,000 a year next Jan. 1. Under his original "contract" with the California pension apparatus, he was to get only $953.32 a month, or $11,439.84 a year. But he and others excited the pity of the Legislature in Sacramento where they all constitute an enormous predatory bureaucracy, the Legislature put through an emergency "cost of living" raise this year.

The only reason why Warren's pension will go up from $12,101.88 to $16,000 is that the Legislature raised the salary of the Governor from $25,000 to $40,000, starting next January. Warren will get a pension of 40 per cent of that pay, even though his salary as Governor from 1942 to 1953 was only $25,000. In 1953 he was tagged for his present job as reward for political services to the Eisenhower Party. So now his salary from the Federal government is $4,500 less than the new salary of the California Governor, but he has life tenure whereas Governors have to go to the polls every four years and party funds to the extent of about 10 per cent of their gross pay.

Warren's henchmen in the state capital tried to fix things so that the public could not learn how much pension he is entitled to. But although they did establish "secrecy" this stealth was undone by a little proviso elsewhere which compels the controller's office to tell the truth. Nevertheless, the California public had come to accept secrecy with dumb docility so this essay probably will be news to many Californians. Warren's $12,101.88, soon to be $16,000 a year, cannot be taxed as federal income. Thus it will have the financial effect of perhaps twice as much money as it is actually earned by a productive citizen subject to taxes in Warren's brackets. He has had 39 years of uninterrupted attachment to the California public payroll, starting as clerk of the lower house of the Legislature in 1919.

As governor he had free rent in a "mansion" plus about $5,000 a year for household help. He also got all the cars the family needed and three chauffeurs. He has six children, three of each, and he has been noted for his enlightened self-interest ever since, in 1944, he showed reluctance to run for veep because his three daughters were heavily needing all the gear and junk that teen-age daughters notoriously do need. But in 1948 when Dewey fell into the manhole Warren went down with him.

Records show that the "Legislative Intent" of the secrecy now dispelled was to protect the likes of Warren from "stigma." The citizen-taxpayers face a prospect of $108 a month as old-age dole, subject to cease if they should earn more than a few pennies. They might not applaud such lavishness to the Chief Justice.

Harold K. Levering, a Republican member of the Legislature, who abominates Warren's stripes, wrote recently that "There was a tendency during the Warren administration to make many governmental records secret." He wrote that the bill which tried to maintain secrecy was written by two "administrators" of Warren, men "In Sacramento," Mr. Levering further wrote, "there are a great many state employees and a powerful state employees' association which lobbies through many bills through their local 'assemblymen in routine and non-controversial guise."

Governor Goodwin Knight, running for Senator William Knowland's seat in Washington, will get $16,000 pension as ex-governor even though he is defeated. Knowland is running for Governor on the right-to-work issue. If he wins he need serve only two years as Governor to qualify for $16,000 for life after his 63rd birthday.

Capitalism, Socialism; Comparison Of The Two

Capitalism levels down; socialism levels up. Socialism reduces the man who has more. Capitalism ups all, including the fellow who has less. Reduced to their simplest proportions, let us see how these two systems operate:

Picture a small community of 1,000 men. One man is wealthy; the others are poor. Socialism would level down by equalizing the wealth. The 999 men would still be poor, with small chance of improvement, and the one rich man would also be poor. Capitalism tries a different way. The rich man is protected in his inherent right to use his capital as he sees fit. He invests it in constructive enterprise. A few men develop thriving smaller enterprises required to furnish Man No. 1 with the many things he needs to operate his big business. This great industry employs many men at good wages. The lesser manufacturers supply many well-paying jobs. Many others become small or medium-sized businessmen, or succeed in a great variety of service trades and professions.

After a lapse of twenty-five years we take another census. The rich man is now richer. The smaller businessmen have grown rich. Most of the men employed in these industries have accumulated substantial savings, own stock in the companies they work for, or share in various incentive plans. Smaller businessmen also are prospering and those in the professions and service trades are doing well. There is little need for bureaucrats as the whole system operates on the basis of the free market with a strictly limited government exercising few functions.

Consequently, taxes are low and a substantial part of the profits earned by the big, medium and small businesses are plowed back into them for expansion of their activities. This increases production and makes possible higher real wages. In turn, the professional men, service traders and shopkeepers profit by the increasing amount of wealth that is being produced. Doctors, lawyers and other professional men have earned substantial sums. All are free to work hard as they like within the limitations of consumer demand and to retain and enjoy nearly all of their earnings. Capital accumulates rapidly, making possible a continuous expansion of industrial activity.

To be sure, great inequality still exists but the poorest now have more than the richest under the leveling down of socialism. Capitalism has leveled up. It hasn't decreased anyone but it has made all more prosperous. Of course a few, a very few, are unfortunate or handicapped in some manner. They are liberally cared for by churches and private agencies set up to meet their needs. It is better to help everyone up than to pull everyone down.

De Gaulle Plans Atomic Program

By ARTHUR L. HIGBEE
United Press International
PARIS (UPI)—Premier Charles de Gaulle will press an "offensive" to make France the world's fourth producer of atomic weapons, sources close to the government said.

They said plans to expedite France's atomic program got top priority at Tuesday's meeting of the De Gaulle cabinet, which also discussed a variety of foreign policy questions.

The foreign ministry declined comment on reports that De Gaulle, who said Friday that the French want a place in the Western world "without confining ourselves to it," is preparing to recognize Red China.

Sources close to the government said De Gaulle is anxious to enhance France's prestige by winning it a place in the exclusive circle of atomic powers, which now includes only the United States, Britain and Russia.

He is expected to press ahead with the research program already in progress, which is expected to culminate in the explosion of France's first atomic bomb sometime this year, and to demand "full access" to U.S. nuclear secrets.

The demand for nuclear information is expected to be a key feature of De Gaulle's talks with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles here next month.

Issues discussed by the cabinet in addition to the atomic question were believed to include:

- Plans for meetings between De Gaulle and other chiefs of government.
- The situation in once-French Lebanon.
- The prospect of restoring dip-

Inflation Next US Problem

AUSTIN (UPI)—A federal economist said Monday the recession has been "stopped in its tracks" but warned that the next problem facing the nation is inflation.

The economic advisor to the Small Business Administration, Jules Abels, made the statement at the 48th annual meeting of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Abels said the recession has been stopped but noted "We must now prepare to surmount the problem of inflation—inflation that destroys the value of the dollar."

Small businesses, Abels said, continue to increase by about 50,000 a year and show an increase of over one million since the end of World War II.

—East-West summit talks.

—The perennial problem of the Algerian war.

Highest single span concrete arch bridge in the world is the Boxby Creek bridge near Big Gold was so plentiful in color that ranchers used it for shoeing their horses.

There are more than 7,000,000 pleasure boats now in use in the United States.

On The Business Scene

By United Press International
Anaconda Co. boosted its price for copper 1 1/2 cents to 26 1/2 cents a pound—the first change in the quotation of a major producer since mid-January. Two other big mine producers, Kennecott Copper Corp. and Phelps Dodge Corp. had no immediate comment, but it was expected they would follow. Custom smelters continued prices at 26 cents a pound.

Net assets of 144 mutual funds members of the National Association of Investment Companies topped 10 billion dollars for the first time on May 31. Investors' purchases during the month, however, slowed to $109,483,000 from $122,206,000 in April and $116,354,300 in May, 1957.

Retail store chains in May had 3.1 per cent higher sales than May, 1957. In April sales showed a year-to-year gain of 1.2 per cent. Drug, shoe and grocery concerns scored the biggest increases in May.

Monsanto Chemical Co. cut its base price on nitrogen solution fertilizer $8 to $120 a ton to meet competition. Meanwhile, in Bartlesville, Okla., Phillips Petroleum Co. announced it has established off-season price cuts for anhydrous ammonia fertilizer to encourage its use in the next fertilizer season.
