Ramsey Talks Against More Taxes Here

Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey visited with his supporters in Pampa yesterday and then visited neighboring towns during the afternoon.

Speaking to his supporters Ramsey said, "If we allow the spenders to outrun the taxpayer, we can have a recession in government just like we can have a recession in business."

"I am not running for re-election on a tax program. We should have no additional or new taxes until the need is absolutely proven," Ramsey stated. "We must separate the essential from non-essential spending. And I do not think a majority of the people should be taxed by a minority of the legislature. I advocate a two-thirds majority of legislative votes be required on any tax measure. I believe such a requirement will separate the essential from non-essential spending."

Ramsey, a small town lawyer, has been recognized by an unbroken string of four political victories for lieutenant governor, once by a record setting Democratic primary majority.

The Lieutenant Governor was born in San Augustine, grew up there, and lives there with his wife, the former Florine Hankala, and their two daughters, Rita Rhea, 8, and Ann Hanala, who is six.

Ramsey has deep concern for the economic welfare of all Texans and has a habit of talking plainly and straightforwardly with them. He puts economy ahead of taxes in his platform for re-election and cautions that the soundness of state policies must not be lost in the next years through inept leadership and hasty action.

Ramsey, a tall man with piercing brown eyes and sharp features is a member of the Methodist Church, State Bar of Texas, the American Bar Association and in 1955-56 he served as Texas' Democratic National Committeeman.

One of the most important points in Ramsey's platform calls for adequate support for schools, hospitals, roads and public health, safety and welfare, with careful evaluation to make sure that the tax dollar is being wisely divided and spent.

He urged special attention to the courses offered in public schools and colleges: "The parents and taxpayers of Texas are aware of the intensified demands upon our schools, teachers and students," Ramsey said. "I believe it is the Legislature's responsibility to see that Texas children are being educated to meet the challenge of the Space Era."

VALUE ROUND-UP TO BE DOWNTOWN FEATURE

The Rodeo Value Round Up, Aug. 4-9, will feature downtown entertainment by the Ruby Nance and Leon McAlliff Bands, Al Metz reported yesterday. Metz chairs the subcommittee of the Merchants Activity Committee that is dealing with retail participation during Rodeo week.

The MAC, which is a Pampa Chamber of Commerce committee, met in the Chamber conference room yesterday to hear the Metz report.

Beginning with the regular Dollar Day Monday Aug. 4, the merchants will offer super values in their stores. Following an out of

PAMPA VISITOR

Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey, seeking re-election was in Pampa Thursday, meeting with political backers and friends. One young supporter, John Curry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Curry, 1126 Charles St., is shown shaking hands with the Lieutenant Governor. Looking on at left is Clifford Braly and at right is E. L. PRICE MAKES MUD SLINGING CHARGES

By RENE GNAM
United Press International

Gov. Price Daniel charged his two opponents with mud-slinging Thursday.

Daniel said State Sen. Henry Gonzalez and former U.S. Sen. and ex-Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel "are seemingly engaged in a daily contest to see who can sling the most mud in my direction."

He said he is campaigning for a second term "on my record and not on the demerits of my opponents," and said he has "not engaged in personalities, name-calling or mud-slinging."

Meanwhile, Gonzalez leveled a few charges of his own and O'Daniel claimed Texans "want me back down there as governor to get the state out of the red and in good business shape again."

"Recumbent Incumbent" Gonzalez called Price Daniel a "recumbent incumbent" and said the governor had "not kept faith with the youth of this state." The San Antonio senator claimed Daniel never should have signed last year's bill to double tuition at state colleges.

O'Daniel said that on his West Texas tour he found "they like my plan for further industrialization of Texas, and for making Texas the greatest manufacturing and merchandising empire on earth."

Gov. Daniel stuck to his belief that "Texas needs clean politics as well as clean government." In the U.S. Senate race, incumbent Ralph Yarborough toured Fort Worth and Decatur and spoke at a $10-a-plate fund-raising dinner at Lake Dallas in Denton county Thursday night, while his opponent, William A. Blakley, campaigned for a second day at Houston.

No Runoff, Says White
Incumbent Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey said Thursday at Amarillo "We should have no additional or new taxes until the need is absolutely proven."

Agriculture Commissioner John White said he will be re-elected without a runoff.

"You can't argue with successful policies that have made Texas first in the South in modern farm practices," White said.

But, White's claims were disputed by his two opponents.

Bastrop County Judge Tom Griffin said, in reference to White, "The greatest losses of Texas agriculture have come during the administration of the least experienced agriculture commissioner in history."

And, State Rep. Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio said White's advocacy of a constitutional amendment to permit the state to advertise its attractions is a "rather obvious attempt 'to try and divert attention from his own shabby record in the four terms he has been in office.'"

Goldfine Still Tight Lipped With Probers

BY 6 TROOPERS

Crazed Prospector Is Captured Alive

LLAVES, N.M. (UPI) — State police wounded and captured alive just after sunrise a crazed, bearded prospector who killed two youngsters Thursday before stunned eyewitnesses.

State Police Sgt. Milton Mattison reported by radio that six troopers "got the drop" on the tall husky gunman in a fold in rolling hill country a few miles north of here.

Police fired several shots, one of them striking the fugitive in the foot. Mattison said the hunted gunman did not return the posse members' fire.

He was taken to Cuba for first aid treatment and then was to be brought to Albuquerque for possible mental hospitalization.

State Police Chief Roe Roach identified the man as Norman A. Foost, 47, and said he was released recently from a mental hospital at Everett, Wash.

Thursday night Roach warned the 35 members of his posse who followed the suspect to use every precaution, and predicted then that the fugitive would not be taken alive.

"He is a paranoid, irresponsible for what he is doing and definitely a mental case," Roach said.

The gunman staged a one-man reign of terror in Cuba just before lunch time Thursday, shattering the quiet of the small logging community with two rifle shots that killed Arlene Cebada, 12, her cousin, Eddie Cebada, 16, and wounded her mother.

Then he escaped in a green jeep pickup truck traced to a Norman A. Foost, St. George, Utah.

Indian police from the Jicarilla Apache Reservation guided the posse to the campsite. One posse member, Sam Hill of Bernalillo, was wounded in the shoulder by the gunman who then vanished in brush east of his campsite, discovered in a box canyon five miles north of here.

Posse members, armed with rifles and tear gas, laid low under Roach's orders, taking no further chances on being shot by the prospector who has been working in this area for the past three months.

Store owners who received his business said he "surely didn't talk to anyone."

Why he shoved his rifle from the pickup and shot his three victims in Cuba was not known. Weldon Vernon, 16, a grocery clerk and eyewitness, described the shooting and declared "he must be nuts."

Roach said Everest, Wash., hospital officials who identified Foost warned he suffered from paranoia, or a persecution complex, believing other people are "out to get" them.

Rain Fed Floods Kill At Least 4

By United Press International

Rain-fed floods, high winds and thunderstorms buffeted portions of four states Thursday night and early today, leaving at least four persons dead in their wake.

At Atchison, Kan., one of the hardest-hit of the weather stricken communities, a woman and a Negro man, both unidentified, drowned when up to 7 or 8 inches of rain cascaded flash floods into the streets of the downtown district beginning shortly after midnight. Helen East, 12, drowned in a ravine near Topeka when her family fled its trailer home. Water pulled her from her father's grasp.

At West Milton, Ohio, Donald Overholser, 14, was hoing the family tomato patch and was killed by a bolt of lightning.

Winds clocked at up to 92 miles an hour caused damage in western Missouri and eastern Kansas, snapping wires, uprooting trees and blocking some highways.

In eastern Ohio, a heavy down-pour brought flash floods into the Salineville area of Columbiana County, and civil defense units helped evacuate about 200 families. Portions of Indiana recently plagued by flooding reported heavy rainfall, but no new inundations.

Creeks and rivers swollen by high rains pushed over thousands of acres of cropland in southeastern Nebraska.

At Atchison, the sheriff's office said several blocks of the main business district were flooded as storm sewers proved inadequate to handle the rainfall. Deputies who counted the two dead said autos and trucks were "pushed about by the flood currents, which subsided as the rainfall stopped."

White Clay Creek waters washed away a highway commission building along the Missouri-Kansas border.

May Be Hit With Contempt Charges

By TOM NELSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bernard Goldfine, in the face of a formal move to hold him in contempt of Congress, refused again today to talk about his complicated financial affairs.

The Boston textile tycoon's stubborn refusal to answer questions of House influence investigators came after the subcommittee put Goldfine under subpoena and took deliberate steps to build a contempt action against him.

The millionaire friend of Presidential Aide Sherman Adams stuck by his earlier weren't relevant to the inquiry. He said they exceeded the authority of the subcommittee looking into charges that Goldfine got favored treatment from government agencies as a result of his favors to Adams.

Subcommittee Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) had gone to great pains to show this wasn't so.

Refused to Answer
He had read a 13-page statement into the record in an effort to show that Goldfine's "misquotations" with funds of two Boston firms were relevant and pertinent to the inquiry.

Harris accused Goldfine of having run his East Boston Co. and the Boston Port Development Co. in a high-handed manner to eliminate minority stockholders.

He said this was of proper concern to the subcommittee in its inquiry into whether some firms have received favored treatment from federal agencies.

The immediate basis for the contempt charge, the subcommittee was building was Goldfine's refusal Thursday to talk about two $20,000 checks he and an associate, the late W. J. McDonald, had drawn on the Boston Port Development Co. in 1947.

Harris, after today's elaborate technical preparations, renewed the question, and directed Goldfine to answer.

After consultation with his attorneys, Goldfine again refused to answer.

Until the subpoena was served, Goldfine had been appearing as a witness in the subcommittee's inquiry into the "28th of July movement," twice in the past week ordered Raul to free all the hostages "immediately."

Informed sources said Raul carried out the raids without prior consultation or sanction from Fidel. They pointed to Fidel's use of the rebel radio to transmit the orders as an indication of his "deep anger" at his younger brother's actions.

The first of the servicemen to be freed was Navy Airman T. Robert Monness, 22, of Ames, Iowa. His release left 18 sailors, 11 Marines and one Canadian civilian still in rebel hands. Seventeen American and two Canadian civilian captives were flown out previously in small groups.

Monness came out of the jungles in a Navy helicopter to the U. S. base at Guantanamo. Also aboard was U. S. Vice Consul Park Wollam, who has been in the hills for the past two weeks negotiating with the rebels.

Wollam said there were no "overwhelming difficulties" remaining to be discussed and said he was hopeful the remainder of the captives would be freed "in a short time" — possibly the next few days.

BEFORE RACKETS COMMITTEE

Chicago Crime Head Takes Fifth; Asks TV Blackout

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tony Accardo, reputed leader of the Chicago crime syndicate, appeared before the Senate Rackets Committee today, invoked the Fifth Amendment and made an unsuccessful plea for a television blackout.

The stocky, swarthy Accardo declined on grounds of possible self-incrimination to tell the committee anything except his name.

He appeared as a witness shortly after the committee revealed that the FBI is investigating attempts in Chicago and Detroit to "intimidate" three persons scheduled to testify later.

Before coming to Washington under subpoena, Accardo sought a Federal Court injunction to prevent a telecast of his appearance.

The current hearings involving gangster infiltration of labor and management groups in Chicago, are being carried "live" by a Chicago TV station.

AF Grounds All Lockheed U2 Jets

DEL RIO, Tex. (UPI) — The Air Force has grounded all of its Lockheed U2 jets, used for secret high altitude weather information gathering, until it determines why two of the planes exploded within 24 hours this week.

Authorities indicated today they had no idea when a 30-man investigating team would conclude its probe of the wreckage of the U2s and two F100D Super Sabres which crashed within 100 miles of sparsely populated western Texas and eastern New Mexico.

Accardo was denied a court order but his attorney, H. Clifford Alder of Washington, renewed the plea for a TV ban before the committee.

"He is a private citizen whose rights of privacy should not be invaded," Alder said. "He... is not here to appear on a television show."

But chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) told Accardo "Your request is denied." He said the committee could prohibit TV coverage if it wished, but to do so could discriminate against an important medium for the dissemination of information.

The committee heard testimony Thursday that Accardo initially supported an ill-fated attempt by two hoodlums to set up restaurant and tavern associations with a (See CHICAGO Page 3)

"KELLEY & ME" STAR

Movie Mutt To Appear Here Nightly During Rodeo Week

Top of Texas Rodeo officials announced this week that contracts have been signed for the appearance of KELLY, Hollywood's Wonder Dog who will be featured nightly at this year's show. Kelly made himself famous by starring in the motion picture "Kelly and Me," a recent Cinemascope, Technicolor production by Universal-International Studios.

Kelly's trainer, Ernie Smith will appear with him in his routine of canine, almost human tricks.

Something new has been added at the Top of Texas Rodeo in that the calf roping and bull dogging events will originate from the north end of the arena, thus giving spectators in the grand stand a better view of the action in these events.

At a meeting of all committee chairmen this week, the various divisions of the show were pronounced ready for action. The all new lighting system, which will increase the light in the arena by some five times, has been completed.

Oscar Is Given Back To World

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Exasperated by her husband's charges that she tried to kill him, Mrs. June Levant today made a gift of sharp-tongued Oscar Levant to the world.

"He's gotten too big for one woman," said the former actress-singer—a veteran of 18 years of marriage with the shaly pianist. "So I have decided to give him to the world. I hope the world can take him as well as I have" (See OSCAR Page 3)

Five car loads of gaily bedecked cowgirls distributed one thousand window placards in the Top of Texas area Thursday of this week.

On July 28th Rodeo Headquarters will open in the lobby of the Pampa Hotel, at which time advance sale of reserve seats will begin and all entries will be taken.

The Rudy Nance Band of Oklahoma City will be on hand to cue the show each night and Leon McAlliff and his Cimarron Boys of Tulsa, Oklahoma will be playing for dancing nightly.

Yes, big things are in store in Pampa during Rodeo Week. A full schedule of down town entertainment is being arranged by Pampa merchants insuring that every day will be filled with outstanding features.

The Gradual Danger

Socialism is an idea so old that it outdates the pyramids. The fundamental premise of socialism is that the world in which we live is static. If we temporarily lend our ears to this fantasy, here is how it sounds.

All of us live in the same world. The world consists of so many acres of land and so many square miles of water. It would be presumptuous for any person to presume that any particular part of the world belonged to him exclusively. Actually, everything in the world, by moral right, ought to belong to everyone in the world. Therefore, the concept of private ownership is terribly wrong. Any person who succumbs to the temptation to own anything personally, has clearly committed a wrong against all other persons. Only when all property is owned equally by all the people will we have the kind of world we should have.

As we have expressed it here, the idea sounds wonderful. That is the way any socialist will express the concept. And the reason people become socialists is because they have a moral conviction that the basic premise is correct.

The only trouble is that this is not a true picture. It is true only up to a point. The falsity of the picture is found when we come to recognize that although the world may exist in its entirety as the socialist pictures it, the world is entirely useless to people until human energy is applied to the natural resources that are here. It is only by changing the natural resources so that they can be used gainfully, that value accrues to any part of the world. The world is not static but is progressive.

Therefore, it must follow that the person who is capable of converting certain natural resources so that many people can use them, is deserving of far more reward than the person who is incapable or unwilling to convert any natural resource in any way.

The idea of equal sharing disappears. It must disappear, because our Creator made us all different. As a matter of fact we depend upon our differences for our ability to survive. No one of us could begin to supply himself with all the products and services which a capitalist economy has provided for us. And it follows that if we believe in moral law, we must believe that the person who works harder and more productively is entitled to a greater share of the benefits.

Thus, the person who believes in socialism as a moral way of life comes into head-on collision with the belief of the person who supports a just reward for a service rendered. But still the fallacy persists. Plato outlines a socialist state in his "Republic." Moore outlines a socialist state in his "Utopia." Rousseau dreams of socialism as he curses progress and calls for a return to nature and the abandonment of tool and the products tools provide.

To the whirlpool of writers who dream of socialism, a relatively recent contributor was Karl Marx. Marx was a socialist with the same old fallacious dream. But unlike his predecessors, he thought of a method for obtaining a socialist condition. Most socialists prior to Marx simply outlined the end product of their misinterpretation. Marx, in communism, provided a modus whereby private ownership could be abolished.

So the fact is that socialism is the aim and communism is the method. Many of our moderns confuse the aim with the method, believing that communism is the aim and socialism the method. This is in error.

But the method of communism is abhorred by many socialists. They long for the results of equal sharing. They seek to avoid the violence and the direct stealing which Marx advocated.

Instead, they have turned to the Fabian concept sired by the Webbs, Annie Besant and George Bernard Shaw. They saw that socialism could be brought into existence by vote of the people if it were gradually done.

It is the gradual encroachment of socialism which is our principal danger—an encroachment made possible by a fallacious belief concerning the ownership of property.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

President Clark Kerr's
Boost For Labor Unions

I want to continue to quote from the pamphlet issued by "The Fund for the Republic" and written by Clark Kerr, new president of the University of California.

In the last issue I quoted one paragraph from this pamphlet. This paragraph contended that unions have generally brought on better legislation. I had considerable question about what legislation was better.

Now I want to continue to comment on some of his other statements from this pamphlet. He says: "... They (labor unions) have done this without the consequences that were so feared in times just past. ... That is simply his personal opinion.

Those people who have had experience in reducing costs and furnishing better jobs have an entirely different opinion than Mr. Kerr. Those people who will answer questions and not hide behind the printed word can see clearly how unions lead to unemployment and unemployment leads to going off the gold standard and inflation. And that certainly has done great harm to those people who have their savings in cedis.

Another statement Kerr makes: "... It was believed that industrial conflict would tear society apart; the fact is that industrial peace is now the commonplace and, except for the few unions still under Communist domination, American unions most certainly contribute to the social stability and security of our whole system. ..."

Does Mr. Kerr think 5 or 6 million people out of work and millions of people working less time than they want to and those people trying to live on savings in the form of credits are contributing to "social stability and security of our whole system?" How in the world can a man make such non-factual statements?

Then he says: "... It was feared that unions would hamper productive efficiency and stifle progress."

Does Mr. Kerr contend that limiting apprentices, seniority, keeping inefficient men in jobs, striking, interfering with the employer hiring a dependable man rather than an irresponsible man do not hamper production? If it were not for labor unions that practice these nefarious means individuals who will answer questions believe our standard of living would be a lot higher than it is today.

Then Kerr says: "... It was feared that unions might distort inter-industry wage structures and that their actions would assure wild inflation; ..."

Does Mr. Kerr contend that truck drivers with little experience getting, by threats of strikes, more per hour than many employers, professional men, preachers, has not distorted inter-industry wage structures?

Does Mr. Kerr contend that prices can be arbitrarily raised, as do unions by threats of strikes and boycotts, and still not cause unemployment?

Just what does Mr. Kerr mean by wild inflation? Having the dollar depreciate 50 per cent in a dozen years is not wild inflation?

Does Mr. Kerr think we can stop inflation from continuing? Does Mr. Kerr contend that there is not a continuous sequence to labor unions establishing artificial wages by strikes?

Then Mr. Kerr says: "... In fact, it is one of the wonders of the economic world that unions have had so little effect on wage structures; ..."

Of course unions cannot raise total wages. They only can lower them. They can distort them, requiring some people to get a lot less than they are worth, judging by a free market, and others a lot more.

Just what rule or principle does Mr. Kerr use to determine whether unions have an effect on wage structures when he says that inflation and distortion have been no more than moderate?

Here is another personal opinion of the president of the University of California: "... The fears of costly social conflict, of strangled production, and, of course, we have not as yet seen the full results of any belief that striking labor unions ever advocated that has not been harmful to mankind. This pamphlet is undoubtedly a result of the graduated income and inheritance taxes as advocated by labor unions.

Ford, in order to keep control of his industry, established trust funds that his heirs could continue to control. And they are supposed to use them for charity and education purposes, and they select such men as Robert M. Hutchins, A. A. Berle Jr., Henry R. Luce and Clark Kerr to issue pamphlets about a free society.

It is a great pity that money is wasted, but it is a greater pity when it is used to advocate a form of collectivism or communism.

Education Needed

Robert Allen Reports:

Adams Will Face Three Big Issues

WASHINGTON — White House assistant Sherman Adams faces questioning on these three matters when he again appears before the House probers:

Discussions with General Services Administrator Franklin Floete on his demand for a 25 percent cut in rates charged for the government for "private lines" by AT&T.

Pressure on an Interstate Commerce Commissioner to resign; and discussions with other Commissioners regarding a major case pending before them.

Similar direct intervention in the affairs of the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission concerning cases pending before it.

Considerable information regarding these instances has been assembled by the House investigators, including names, dates and documents.

Administrator Floete asked the Federal Communications Commission to order a 25 percent reduction in the government's cost for "private line service" as a counter to an AT&T move for a rate increase. The House probers have been told Floete was summoned to Adams' office and urged to "drop his demand."

The GSA chief refused to do that. Several weeks ago, the FCC tentatively cut private line rates by 15 percent.

Representative Owen Harris (D., Ark.), chairman, has already laid the groundwork for airing the reported attempt to oust an Interstate Commerce Commissioner. Harris did this during Adams' first appearance before the investigators.

Although unnoticed at the time, Adams acknowledged, in reply to Harris' questioning, that discussions had taken place with an ICC member about his quitting.

Harris mentioned no names, and Adams volunteered none. But the full story is slated to be brought out into the open when Adams again testifies before the committee.

Invited by the Gentlemen's Home Journal to weave my memories of a busy life, I went back to our old homestead. Known throughout Rhode Island as the old Pegler Place, which we recently sold to the government for the Pegler Memorial Library.

Standing there on the gracefully curving flagstone walk, I seemed to see her again. She was elfin and shy and her golden hair gleamed as a picture-frame enclosing her quiet, violet eyes and wistful profile. My daddy had been Religious Editor for Frank Munsey's publications, but he had resigned on an issue of principle. He had used the word "damn," but in a purely religious context, and Mr. Munsey had sent him a curt note: "We publish nothing in the Munsey Press which might offend the pure in heart."

In the meantime we had moved to Dodge City and daddy took me by the hand, fixing indignantly, and led me down by the Bell's Starr Saloon where he partook of an overdraft of spirits. His self-control was shaken. He then led me down to watch the local boys marching home victorious from the war. My elfin goddess was there with her Auntie Mame, a prim lady locally known as La Gordon, a rather clumsy allusion to the local superstition that her grandfather in London had invented Gordon gin. Actually, it was Chutney.

I shyly smiled at my goddess, but she was repelled by my freckles, as big as cornflakes, and ran down the street, hippity-hop, after a handsome little fellow who was walking along in a velvet suit with a lace collar and high button shoes. He was carrying a violin case, on his way to his lesson, and rolling an enormous hoop with a jewelled baton, for his family were foreigners and so musical they made me sick. This little fellow's name was Paul Gallico. Later, he caused some disturbance with a fantastic novel about a tomcat that apparently had deviationist tendencies, for the title of the book was Thomasina. I have wanted to read it to make sure, but my spiritual adviser says quite, and

I quote, no unquote, "The years rushed by and when I next heard of her she had developed unmistakable literary leanings. Margaret Case Harriman, an affectionate colleague of hers on the old Vanity Fair—eh! how times flies!—spotted this one bright Sunday morning at Joseph Hergeshimer's home where they were spending a weekend. Little Clare got up early, stole down to the library and curled up with a stack of books, chosen from the great shelves. When Margaret came down for her coffee she espied a winsome vision in frilly things, bathed in sunlight, quietly sipping pages of first editions of Ignacio Carlos Balzac.

Clare and Margaret used to talk "girl talk," mostly about boys, as Margaret told me one night as we tarried late over one more oyster stew, double-cream, at the Union News Oyster Bar in Grand Central. Margaret said Clare had been secretly but remotely infatuated with Chauncey M. Depew and thereafter, in quick succession, with Kid McCoy, General Nelson A. Miles and Andrew Volstead—all before she was 14! Bernice Baruch once remarked to me with that dry humor which softens the clarity of his classical wisdom, "I sometimes wonder if she is n't prettier than I think she is."

Jimmy London, known as "the limousine body, had said "The correct pronunciation is not Strom-burris pie, but strawberry pie," starting an intellectual controversy that raged for years. Henry Seidel Canby replied "Faugh!" and Gene Tunney exclaimed "Bosh!" Long afterward, Marie McDonald adopted Jimmy's grand honorific but, for the purposes of the movie Marquess, shortened it to "The Body."

There was a sturdy little tomboy on our street who licked little Dwight Eisenhower, little Harry Truman and little Cole Porter three nights running after school. It was stranger than fiction that this little tomboy, whose name then was Perle Skirvin, now Perle Meta, became Ambassador in Luxembourg. But, in the next turn of the wheel of destiny, our de-

Spend Fourth Of July In Some Foreign Country

By HENRY McLEMORE

It would be helpful to this country, I am sure, if every one of its citizens could spend at least one Fourth of July in a foreign land.

Helpful to the citizens, too. There is no better way of recharging the batteries of patriotism.

The Flag looks good to an American anytime, and especially good on the Fourth, but to see it flying when you're on alien soil, thousands of miles from home, and on Independence Day — well, it'll put stars and stripes in your eyes. Americans abroad, who don't even bother to hang out the Flag on the Fourth when they're home, or take the trouble to go to the window to watch it pass by in a parade, make a search for old Glory when they're in a strange land.

I have been a member of many just such searching parties more than once. We were determined, no matter the city, town or village, to get a glimpse of the red, white, and blue before the sun went down. It became important, it was a real need.

I don't even remember such a searching party failing. It seems that nowhere on the face of the globe, is it impossible to find some official, or some expatriate, who doesn't have a Flag somewhere on the premises.

Call me foolish if you want, but does that Flag look good? It must be just about the prettiest thing in the world, even when it's a tiny, hand-sized one. And if you happen to be where there's a big one flying, and if you happen to come round a corner and catch it by surprise, so to speak, it'll stop you dead in your tracks, and do some funny things to your throat, your eyes, and the back of your neck.

An American feels extra proud on the Fourth in a foreign land. It's the one day when you want every blessed soul to know you are an American, and no mistake about it.

Mary and I were in Denmark this time last year, and if Copenhagen folks didn't know what country we belonged to, then they were either blind or deaf, or both. We had the colors flying, and spent a good deal of our time whistling "Yankee Doodle."

Denmark's island of Jutland, by the way, really puts on a Fourth of July celebration. There is a vast park of Jutland, owned by Americans of Danish birth, and each year thousands of them return to celebrate Independence Day. They are joined by thousands of their relatives, and more than once the King has delivered the principal address. The celebration goes on for days and there are all the trimmings — lemonade, fireworks, rousing speeches, and games for young and old.

We didn't make it to Jutland for the celebration, and perhaps it is just as well. I don't believe I could have been prevented from making a speech, and as fired up as I am sure I would have been, I probably would be talking yet.

An American's country becomes mighty, mighty dear to him when he is far from it on the Fourth. He is likely to take out that green passport and pat it, and thank the Lord he was fortunate enough to be born a citizen, and promise himself that he will do his best never to let it go.

WEALTH AND SOCIAL WELFARE

(Christian Economics)
A CORRESPONDENT writes: "In a world in which so much poverty exists, the problem for the most part is wealth itself." The sentence needs amending to read: "The problem is lack of wealth."

Since poverty is bad, what we need is more wealth. A constructive man with a great fortune can create an enormous quantity of wealth for the relief of poverty. If he gives away his wealth, it will be spent and what he would have created will be lost to society, resulting in greater poverty.

Our correspondent implies that one should not have more wealth than he needs. If a man is able to use wealth constructively to create more goods, the more he has to use for that purpose the better off the rest of us will be. It is not how much one has which should trouble his conscience but how well and able he uses it as God's trustee for the creation of more goods to relieve poverty and suffering.

Taking wealth from the control of our most constructive men would produce a depth of poverty heretofore unknown in our country. Voluntary giving has an important place but to emphasize it only would result in nearly total consumption and decapitalization with resulting decline in production and more poverty.

On the other hand, the one who wishes to relieve suffering and help his fellows should use his capital constructively for the creation of more wealth and the supplying of more well-paying jobs. If he has not sufficient resources of his own to do that, let him combine with others until sufficient capital is accumulated to make goods that people want which will in turn relieve poverty by supplying jobs. This is the only way poverty can be conquered, suffering assuaged, and the scale of living made better for all. Only temporary relief is achieved by giving away wealth. Permanent improvement in the well-being of the people comes from using it constructively.

pena. "I never had it in my hand," he asserted, "but I'd be glad to accept it right now."

One Last Chance Their patience tried by Goldfine's refusal to answer questions about the complicated financial transactions of his manifold New England enterprises, the influence investigators gave him a last chance today to redeem himself.

The 11-man subcommittee made it unmistakably clear it would seek a contempt citation from Congress if the Boston magnate persisted in refusing to answer a citation that could lead to a jail sentence, a fine or both if upheld in the courts.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) insisted it was relevant and ordered Goldfine to reply. When Goldfine repeated his previous answer Harris ordered the subcommittee into secret session to denounce for contempt?

But subcommittee members said privately they were unanimous in their agreement to push contempt proceedings if Goldfine did not avail himself of the chance today to purge himself.

They added additional questions about financial deals would be fired at Goldfine and if he refused to reply these instances would probably be wrapped up into any contempt proceeding.

From all indications he will persist in his refusal to answer," Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich.) said. "And at the conclusion of the hearings, assuming he does persist, I think the subcommittee will cite him for contempt."

Conviction for contempt carries a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $1,000 fine on each count. It is customary to make the penalties concurrent for all counts.

Will Take Lie Tests The bizarre case carried these other developments: —Jack Lotto, Goldfine's press agent, and Mildred Paperman, bureau blonde secretary to the textile baron, said they would take lie detector tests today for putting a microphone next to the hotel room of Lotto, and Jack Anderson, aide to columnist Drew Pearson and a colleague of Shacklette in the "bugging" incident, declined to accept police suggestions they take tests too.

The manufacturer identified $1,916.55 in hotel bills he paid for three Republican senators from the New England area where his mills are located — Frederick G. Payne of Maine and Norris Cotton and Styles Bridges of New Hampshire. The subcommittee also brought out that Goldfine actually paid 21 hotel bills totaling $3,096.55 for Adams rather than the $2,000 figure previously mentioned.

Harris said the House panel would issue a subpoena for records of one of Goldfine's firms to get to the bottom of $776,879 worth of "mysterious" uncashed checks.

3 Planes In Last Search For Rocket

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Three search planes crisscrossed the vast south Atlantic today in a "last resort" effort to locate an experimental nose cone and Mia II, the white mouse blasted into space at the tip of a hybrid rocket.

But the Air Force indicated that whether or not the little passenger is recovered, the nose cone passed the crucial test of re-entry into the earth's atmosphere in a flight of more than 6,000 miles—the range of an intercontinental ballistic missile.

Air Force officials said search planes saw the nose cone of the Thor-Able rocket returning to earth from space minutes after the missile was fired Wednesday night. That meant the United States can deliver larger nuclear payloads more accurately.

But efforts to find the rocket tip and its tiny captive passenger proved futile Thursday, and Air Force officials said the search task force would be reduced to only three planes to comb the impact area 5,500 miles southeast of here near Ascension Island.

The rocket's wee voyager was no ordinary house mouse, and she was treated accordingly. Air Force Pentagon officials, who at first would not confirm the mouse was aboard when the rocket was fired, said later the little creature was reclining in a hammock in the cone when the Thor-Able blasted off.

Mia II is an albino female which emerged the winner over several other mice in pressure chamber tests prior to the big trip she took Wednesday night. Gen. Curtis LeMay, Air Force vice chief of staff, described the test as "entirely successful." But he described the inclusion of the rodent in the nose cone as a sideline experiment for "the biomedical people."

"I don't particularly care what became of the mouse," LeMay said.

The disclosure of the "intimidation" incidents came at the outset of today's session. Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said there were two such reported incidents in Detroit last weekend and one in Chicago. He said the Chicago witness is scheduled to testify next week. He said the two witnesses in Detroit are slated to testify later this summer.

McClellan said the committee would start contempt of Congress action against any persons who in any way threaten, coerce or otherwise attempt to keep witnesses from testifying.

The committee's investigation of underworld penetration of business and union groups in the Chicago area has turned up a situation which makes ordinary thievery look as innocent as a game of jackstones.

It involves a reported attempt by one group of hoodlums to set up a restaurant association in competition with another group of hoodlums who were running a labor racket through another association.

In the process, according to the Abraham Teitelbaum testimony, Abraham Teitelbaum, an association attorney who got his start as the late mobster Al Capone's lawyer, was in danger of getting shoved out of his own office window.

And the two hoodlums who allegedly planned to do the shoving — Joseph Weinberg and Paul (Needlenose) Labriola — themselves wound up as victims of a gangland slaying.

The committee tried to find out more about these bizarre goings-on today by calling in Anthony (Tough Tony) Accardo, reputed boss of the Chicago crime syndicate. Accardo was scheduled to testify Thursday but the committee didn't get around to him.

Slated to share witness duties with Accardo were five citizens who bear the names of Sam (Teets) Battaglia, Marshall Caffano, Ross Prio, Joseph (Jay Caesar) Divarco and Jack Cerone.

According to Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy, these were the neighborhood leaders who would okay or veto any attempt by an association to operate in their territory.

"AROUND THE WORLD..."

Todd's Classic '80 Days' Opens Today At The LaVista Theatre

The Academy Award winning picture of the year, "Around the World in 80 Days" is truly a "big show" for young and old! It opens at the La Vista Theatre tonight.

The charm of the picture lies mainly in the hero — Phileas Fogg, the most punctual man in England — who takes on a bet that he can go around the world in 80 days. Since this was 1872, Fogg's only chance for air travel was a balloon trip from France to England.

Underneath Fogg's punctuality there beats a romantic heart. So in this race for time, he finds the time for the amenities of life — tea punctually at 4 when wind and rain lashed shipboard; a toast in champagne while crossing the Alps as Passepartout, his servant, scoops up ice from an alp to cool the wine.

In Fogg, there is a dash of the knight-in-shining armor, as he rescues a beautiful-Indian-princess from a funeral pyre. And there is the humanitarian, as he misses a train to send a rescue party for his servant who was captured by the Sioux Indians.

The most perfect casting of all was David Niven as Phileas Fogg. Niven performed with elegance as well as warmth. The great Mexican comedian, Cantinflas, baggy pants and all, was delightful as Passepartout, his servant. Shirley MacLaine, the Indian Maharanee, Aouda, added the needed romance. And Robert Newton as the Scotland Yard man, who suspects Fogg of robbing the Bank of England, played his role with the leer and air of a villain.

The committee tried to find out more about these bizarre goings-on today by calling in Anthony (Tough Tony) Accardo, reputed boss of the Chicago crime syndicate. Accardo was scheduled to testify Thursday but the committee didn't get around to him.

Slated to share witness duties with Accardo were five citizens who bear the names of Sam (Teets) Battaglia, Marshall Caffano, Ross Prio, Joseph (Jay Caesar) Divarco and Jack Cerone.

According to Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy, these were the neighborhood leaders who would okay or veto any attempt by an association to operate in their territory.

Chicago Police Lt. Joseph Morris told the committee Thursday Weinberg and Labriola had the backing of such underworld kingpins as Accardo and Sam (Golf-bag) Hunt in their plan to set up restaurant and tavern associations.

CULLIO

MATURE PARENT

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Mrs. Hart gets the call on Saturday morning. Her daughter says, "Jim wants us to go to the Parsons' tonight. Mother, but our sister has a date. Can you sit for us? Why don't you and Dad come to dinner so that you can be with the kids before they go to bed?"

But Dad doesn't care to be with the kids at the price of spending six hours of boredom in his daughter's house. So Mrs. Hart prepares his supper, leaves him to eat it alone and drives off with her son-in-law to the dinner and bedtime confusions of her daughter's house.

Finally alone, she finds herself thinking resentfully, "Why can't Liz phone her sister before the girl makes a date? Does she forget to do it because she knows she can count on me? Why does she assume that what Dad and I do on Saturday night is of no importance compared with what she and Jim want to do?"

And promptly she begins to despise herself for this resistance to the role of All-Helpful Mama.

So she'll probably be stuck with her role for a long, long time.

Because when we despise some flaw in perfection in ourselves, we expect others to despise it, too. And we hide it from them desperately, just as poor Hester Prynne hid the "A" for Adultery branded upon her breast.

How simple would be Mrs. Hart's solution were she not ashamed of her unmotherly resentment. When her children came home, she'd just have to say, "My dears, I don't enjoy this lonely baby sitting business. Next time you want an evening off, why not arrange to bring the children over to us for the night so that Dad and I can have fun together in our way, too?"

Have you ever considered the meaning of the word "meekness"? We should, Jesus called it "blessed." When he goes out of his way to single out a human character quality for such high praise, we owe its meaning some thought of our own instead of sleeping on the definitions of our Sunday school teachers.

I think meekness is the courage to present ourselves to others as we are, not as we think we ought to be or may be tomorrow.

And I think Jesus promised the meek the inheritance of the earth because He put such store by emotional honesty.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I like to take rides in the car on the summer evenings. We are friends with another couple who are neighbors and they usually go with us and we stop for a shake or sundae or something. My problem is that my wife always puts the other man in the front seat with me and she gets in back with the neighbor lady. They talk like a pair of hens and I don't have anything to talk to this man about. The women don't let me turn on the radio because they can't hear each other. What is your advice?

BORED
Dear Bored: Tell your wife in so many loving words that the reason you married her was because you liked her company. Ask her to ride in the front with you and gab with the ladyfriend on her own time.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widower 76 years of age and in good health. The last three years I've been thinking of taking a trip to my home town in Italy. I have my own money to go with and the only thing that's holding me back is that my children are very much against my going. They think I'm too old to travel alone. I keep telling them when I came here I came alone, so what's the difference? Should I go?

FRONSINONE, HERE I COME
Dear Fronsino: If you are in good health and have your own money, you don't need permission from your children. Tell them you can take care of yourself, and Fronsino had better watch out.

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about small-town gossip? I have a daughter who is 17 and if what people are saying about her is true, I think I ought to have a long talk with her. She's a senior in high school, is very popular with the boys (not girls) makes average grades and has always been very quiet and secretive about her personal affairs. She's in the house every night by eleven. I hate to write this but people have said they heard she is the fastest girl in town. Should I ask her about this or ignore the gossip?

HER MOTHER
Dear Mother: What people say about your daughter (true or false) constitutes her reputation, and should not be ignored. You should have had many talks with your daughter by this time, but maybe it's not too late to start. Ask direct questions and demand direct answers.

DEAR ABBY: There is a woman who goes to our church who is giving the church a very bad name. She has not been baptized and goes to church just for social reasons. She mixes and mingles and gets friendly with all the church members and they take her in just like she belonged there. I don't know if she pays any dues or has filled out card membership but I don't think she has. I don't want to ask the Parson because I don't want him to think I am a busybody. What do you think of a situation like this? If you use my letter, don't use my name.

MRS. NO NAME
Dear Mrs.: All churches keep their doors open for all people because everyone is welcome. If you don't want people to think you are a busybody—quit acting like one.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Tiny Barbecued Meat Balls Make Delicious Appetizers

NEA Food and Markets Editor
Bit-sized barbecued meat balls make festive hot appetizers before an outdoor meal—easy to prepare, too. Simply put tiny meat balls on skewers or a long-handled fork and cook over your charcoal grill. Have a tangy barbecue sauce ready for dunking and toothpicks for individual service.

BARBECUED MEAT BALLS
(Makes 35-40)
One pound ground beef, ½ pound ground pork or ground mild pork sausage meat, 1 egg, 1 package old-fashioned French salad dressing mix, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper, 2 teaspoons chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, 3 tablespoons dry bread crumbs. Combine ingredients and mix well. Form mixture into small meat balls—about one inch in diameter. Place meat balls on skewers and grill 10 minutes. Serve as appetizers with herb sauce.

Note: Meat balls may also be broiled 10 minutes on rotisserie rack placed in lowest position, or browned and cooked in a skillet.

HERB SAUCE
(Makes ½ cups)
Three teaspoons old-fashioned garlic salad dressing mix, ½ cups chili sauce. Combine salad dressing mix and chili sauce, mixing well. Serve with barbecued meat balls.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Barbecued meat balls with herb sauce, grilled chicken broilers, vegetable salad, French dressing, French bread, butter or margarine, fruit platter, cookies, iced tea, iced coffee, milk.

The jersey coat, in pink or red, is good now and this summer, too. It's a steady traveler, emerging fresh and unwrinkled.

JUDGE PARKER DESERVES TO BE PROMOTED TO DISTRICT JUDGE BECAUSE:

He is well trained and experienced in the law and has a good record as County Judge. He has served Gray County as County Attorney and County Judge for 12 years. Records will reveal that under his leadership Gray County is in excellent condition, financially and otherwise. He is asking the voters of Gray County and the four other counties of the 31st Judicial District of Texas for a promotion to the office of District Judge.

He is soliciting the good will and support of everyone in his campaign but is not accepting financial help as he does not want to be obligated to anyone. He feels that a judge cannot be fair and impartial in his decisions if he accepts financial assistance in being elected.

Burdette Is Taking Matters Into Own Hands For Braves

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

Lew Burdette, who took matters into his own hands for the Milwaukee Braves in the 1957 World Series, may be about to do the same for them in the currently snarled-up National League pennant race.

The World Series hero, an in-and-outer the first half of this season, staged a one-man show at Los Angeles Thursday night when he hit two homers, including a grand slammer, to lead the Braves to an 8-4 victory over the Dodgers. Burdette's first homer, off Johnny Podres in the fourth inning, made him the only active N.L. pitcher with a grand slam to his credit.

The victory enabled the Braves to go 1 1/2 games ahead of the second-place San Francisco Giants who were beaten, 4-0, by Bob Purkey and the Cincinnati Redlegs. The Philadelphia Phillies moved into third place with a 13-3 rout of the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8-7, in other N.L. games.

In the American League, the New York Yankees opened up an 11 1/2-game margin by sweeping a four-game series from the Cleveland Indians, 7-4, and 4-3. The Boston Red Sox crushed the Chicago

White Sox, 11-2, and took over the second place when the Baltimore Orioles swept the Kansas City Athletics, 8-3 and 3-2, while the Washington Senators downed the Detroit Tigers, 5-3.

Burdette Booeed
A crowd of 40,508 at Los Angeles booted Burdette, who got into frequent disputes with umpire Shag Crawford over ball-and-strike calls but went the distance with an 11-hitter. The win squared his record at 7-7 while the loss was Johnny Podres' eighth in 12 decisions.

Burdette hit his grand slam in the fourth inning after the Braves filled the bases on a single by Del Crandall, Johnny Logan's double and an intentional walk to Andy Pafo. The blow went over the Coliseum's short left field screen and Felix Mantilla followed with another in the same spot to put the Braves ahead, 5-0.

Purkey shut out the Giants for the second time this year and won his 10th game for the Redlegs with a near seven-hitter. Frank Robinson homered and singled in a run for the Redlegs while Johnny Temple and Don Hoak each has two hits. Al Worthington suffered his fourth loss.

Harry Anderson and Richie Ashburn collected a total of seven hits and drove in eight runs as the Phillies scored their eighth win in nine games. Anderson had a homer and two singles to knock in five runs and Ashburn a double and three singles to drive in three. Robin Roberts pitched a nine-hitter behind a 13-hit attack for his seventh win.

Pirate Rally Falls
The Cubs survived a five-run Pittsburgh rally in the ninth as Taylor Phillips won his sixth game and Vern Law lost his seventh. Frank Thomas hit two homers and Dick Stuart one for the Pirates while Lee Walls homered for the Cubs.

Elston Howard knocked in three runs with a fourth-inning triple and an eighth-inning single as the Yankees rallied to win their day game. Relief pitchers Johnny Kucks and Ryne Duren held the Indians to one hit over the last 5 2/3 innings. In the night game, Jerry Lumpe's two-run double was the big blow of a four-run eighth inning New York rally and Duren again came to the rescue with his flame-thrower in the ninth.

Jackie Jensen paced a 13-hit Red Sox attack with a grand slam homer and two other hits to make it easy for Frank Sullivan to win his seventh game. Jensen now leads the majors with 25 homers and 72 runs batted in. Early Wynn suffered the loss for the White Sox.

Billy O'Dell, A.L. All-Star hero, smuffed out a ninth-inning threat in the first game for the Orioles and Arnold Portocarrero pitched a five-hitter in the nightcap. Al Pizarick knocked in three runs in the first game and Billy Gardner singled home the winning run in the second.

Roy Sievers, Clint Courtney and Jim Lemon homered for the Senators, Pedro Ramos winning his seventh game with ninth-inning relief help from Dick Hyde.

BUD IN JAM? NCAA Checking Sooner Recruiting

DALLAS (UPI)—The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. is investigating the recruiting of Texas high school athletes by the University of Oklahoma, the Dallas Times-Herald said Thursday.

The newspaper said an NCAA investigator visited Dallas to check Oklahoma's recruiting of three Texas — Bobby Boyd of Garland, Gene Burks of Royse City and Carl Milstead of Athens — and possibly a fourth, Mike McClellan, star Stamford back who played freshman football at Baylor last fall before quitting with the intention of entering Oklahoma.

Sooner football Coach and Athletic Director Bud Wilkinson, who was reported to be on a fishing trip in Canada Thursday, refused to give McClellan a scholarship at midterm this year, but indicated he would do so in September if the boy still wanted to attend Oklahoma.

In all, Oklahoma recruited 39 Texas high school football players this spring. The Times-Herald said the last count showed 21 Texans on the Sooner varsity football roster for 1958.

The newspaper said "excessive entertainment and a high-paying oil field job are under scrutiny in two of the recruiting cases involving Texans."

Boyd, an all-state back at Garland, signed a letter of intent with Southern Methodist University, but switched to Oklahoma a few weeks before he was to enroll at SMU.

Burks, star guard at Royse City, signed a letter of intent with Texas A&M this spring, but changed his mind and decided to enter Oklahoma.

Milstead, Athens' all-state guard, had been courted by every major school in the Southwest.

Lila Loses In PWGA Meet

AMARILLO — Lila Austin was ousted in the semi-finals of the annual Panhandle Women's Golf Association tournament here Thursday.

Medalist on Tuesday with a 79, good for a new course record for women, and a 6-5 winner over Spring Austin Wednesday, the tables turned on Pampa's crack fem golfer Thursday as she was defeated by her sister-in-law and wife of the Tascosa Country Club pro, Johnny Austin.

Lila, champ of the meet in 1954-56, was upset by Mrs. Austin, 1-up, sending the latter into today's finals against Mrs. Claude Sloan, who copied her semi-finals match with a 1-up victory over Amarillo Country Club's Mrs. Mike Fitzpatrick.

The finals match today will be a repeat of the recent finals match of the Tascosa Country Club Women's Tournament. In the first meeting between Mrs. Austin and Mrs. Sloan, victory went to Mrs. Austin, 1-up after 21 holes.

OVER 40 MEET IS SET

The third annual "Over 40" Golf Tournament will be launched at the Pampa Country Club Sunday, with all entrants asked to submit their names and qualifying scores no later than Saturday at 6 p.m.

Hart Warren, club pro, said Friday morning that the senior tournament was originated three years ago to let the "fat and flabby" have a chance to exercise for prizes.

Warren pointed out that 48 completed in last year's "Over 40" tournament and that he'd like to have at least 50 for this year's event.

The Championship Flight will be composed of the top 18 shooters with eight-man lower flights formed for as many golfers remaining in the original field of entries.

Finals in the meet will be held a week from this Sunday, July 20, with all opening and semi-final matches cleared off during next week.

Grover Austin Jr. is the defending champion from last year's meet, and will be among the favorites to repeat this year.

Harris Starts To Work In Earnest

TOMBALL, Tex. (UPI) — Unbeaten Roy Harris and his entourage shifted to Camp Holden here today to begin serious training for his title fight with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson at Los Angeles, Aug. 18.

He joined stablemate Joe Brown, world lightweight champion, at this excellent YMCA resort. Brown is training for a title defense against Kenny Lane at Houston, Tex., July 23.

Manager Lou Viscusi explained, "our chief problem with Roy is to keep him sharp without letting him get stale. He's a workhorse — loves to train."

At Camp Holden, where Harris has been conditioning in his own gym, the indoor temperatures beneath the galvanized roof have approached 100 degrees, Viscusi pointed out.

"But here at Camp Holden he can bear down in the cooler outdoor ring without being melted away."

Harris, 25, will make another shift about July 17 to a camp near Los Angeles, site of the Rebels Face Amarillo Club Here Sunday

Pampa's American Legion Rebels, with six players still licking their wounds from injuries sustained in a wild 17-1 win at Stinnett Wednesday night, have until Sunday to get ready to hit the diamond again.

Coach Deck Woldt said Friday morning he wouldn't try to land a game for tonight in Sayre, Okla., and that his club would not play a Saturday night game unless he is contacted by an Amarillo team.

The Sunday game here, set for 3:30 p.m., is against D&D Pharmacy of Amarillo, a senior YMCA League club.

Relief pitcher, Buddy Rawls, who suffered a double fracture of the collar-bone in the game at Stinnett Wednesday night is definitely out for the remainder of the season.

First-sacker Larry Stroud, who was spiked high on the right heel, and outfielder, Terry Haralson, who was hit with a fast ball on the ear, are both expected to be in shape for Sunday's tilt here.

Three other Pampa players, Clovis Shipp, Bobby Stephens and Wendell Ridgway, hit by pitched balls in the Stinnett fracas, will also be ready to play.

However, four other Rebels who haven't attended recent practice sessions and didn't show up to make the trip to Stinnett, give Woldt cause for more worry. The four, DeWayne Glover, Gary Willis, Billy Wray and John Ayres have not reported that they have quit the team, only stopped coming out for practice and the games without offering any excuses.

Woldt is expected to send either Mack Taylor or Keith Yager to the hill Sunday against D&D Pharmacy.

JET AGE RIVALRY—Visitors to the recent British Columbia Centennial Aviation Show at Vancouver got a chance to compare Russian and U.S. commercial jet airliners parked at the airport. In the foreground, above, is America's showpiece, the Boeing 707, powered by four Pratt & Whitney JT3 engines. The twin-jet Tupolev TU-104, background, is a veteran of service in the Soviet Aeroflot national airline, but the 707 will be able to carry more passengers at higher speeds when it goes into service. Comparison view illustrates design ideas in the two countries, reflected both in military and commercial aircraft. Russians make the jet engine an integral part of the wing unit, while Americans favor the underslung type.

Federal Court Backs Oil Curbing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government's right to enforce curbs on oil imports to this country had the backing of a federal court Thursday. U.S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff dismissed a suit by the Eastern State Petroleum and Chemical Corp., a refining company of Houston, Tex., which challenged this power. Company lawyers said they would appeal Holtzoff's ruling, announced Tuesday. The government assigns import quotas to 41 American oil import program set up last summer. The program was designed to keep the American oil industry running at a high rate so it would be ready in case of national emergencies which might cut off oil imports.

WANTS GIFTS REPORTED

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. John F. Baldwin (R-Calif.) proposed Monday that Congress require its members and top government and White House officials to disclose yearly all financial transactions including receipt of gifts valued at more than $10.

Oil From Shale Will Save Money

NEW YORK (UPI)—A process to produce oil from the nation's vast supply of shale at prices lower than conventional crude oil was announced here Thursday by the Research Institute of the University of Denver.

The new process enables Colorado shale oil to be produced and delivered to the West Coast at $1.42 to $1.92 a barrel, according to Shirley A. Johnson Jr., institute director, and Charles H. Frien, head of the institute's chemical and engineering division.

Published quotations place the current price of California crude oil at $3 to $3.25 a barrel.

The officials said the institute has conducted two years of research and development on the process for Oil Shale Corp., Carson City, Nev., owner of the so-called Aspeco process and patents.

Shale for the research process was mined from deposits in north-west Colorado—estimated to contain some 1,000,000,000 barrels of shale oil. This is 50 times as much as the nation's proven crude reserves and more than seven times as much oil as is known to exist in the world.

Other large deposits of oil shale are located in Wyoming and Utah. In addition oil shale has been found in at least half of the 48 states and Alaska.

The shale is heated to a point where the organic substance it contains is chemically transformed into liquid and gaseous hydrocarbon and separated from the shale.

The new process was said to do this cheaply and speedily by mixing the crushed shale in a rotary receptacle with previous heated walnut-sized balls composed of metal or ceramic material.

This raises the temperature of the shale to the point where the necessary chemical reaction takes place, Frien explained.

Oh! For A Safe Job As A Lion Tamer

QUIN, Ala. (UPI)—It started out as just another neighborly visit.

Truck driver W. E. Boyette, making his regular run with a load of shale, stopped by the home of a friend.

When he entered the yard, the friend's dog attacked him, ripping his trousers and inflicting some damage on his leg.

Jarking loose from the dog, Boyette ran into the house. He seated himself to have a look at his wounds.

The chair collapsed. A nail ripped the other leg of his trousers and gashed the flesh.

And he suffered a minor back injury.

BILL HONORS CHURCH
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House passed and sent to the Senate Monday legislation designating St. Ann's Church in New York City a national historic site. The churchyard is the burial place of Governor Morris, chief stylist of the United States Constitution, Lewis Morris, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and other early patriots.

Ozark Pilots Set Monday Strike Date

CHICAGO (UPI)—The All Line Pilots Assn., AFL-CIO Thursday set a strike date of "July 14 or shortly thereafter" for pilots of Ozark Air Lines.

C.N. Sayen, ALPA president, said negotiations have been terminated after 10 months of talks, and the 30-day cooling off period required under the Railway Labor Act expires July 14.

Ozark, with headquarters in St. Louis, employs 118 pilots and serves 40 cities in Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Kansas.

NYAS Announces New Antibiotic

NEW YORK (UPI)—Successful experimental use of a new antibiotic drug which will kill germs resistant to penicillin was announced Thursday at a conference sponsored by the New York Academy of Sciences.

The drug, kanamycin, is reported to be effective against strains of staphylococcus aureus, the germ most frequently involved in hospital epidemics of antibiotic-resistant germs.

It also has killed germs which cause such diseases as anthrax, tuberculosis, leprosy, and gastrointestinal disorders, the report said.

The drug was developed by Bristol Laboratories, of Syracuse, N.Y., based on research done in Japan by Dr. Hamao Umezawa.

However, the latest antibiotic was found to have no effect on some other germs, such as streptococcus.

The drug is used in dilute form of as little as two parts in a million. There was no evidence of drug accumulation in the blood of experimental patients, according to Dr. Henry Welch, director of the Food and Drug Administration's antibiotic division.

Vegetables Are Best Buys For This Weekend

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mid-summer food shoppers will find vegetables about their best buys this weekend, as supplies increase daily and prices prove more favorable.

Markets will offer abundant supplies of potatoes, corn, lettuce, snap beans, cabbage, radishes, onions, squash, tomatoes, cucumbers, spinach, and green peppers. Fruits are increasing in supply, and among those bearing budget-saving price tags are peaches, watermelons, canteloups, plums, lemons, grapes, cherries, nectarines, and bananas. Blueberries are good buys at some markets.

Red meats continue high at some marketing centers, but the more economical cuts of beef, and always-popular ground beef for outdoor eating, along with broilers and fryers, lead the best food buys.

Dairy products are reasonably priced this summer and fit well into every family's picnic plans.

In fish, best buys right now are shrimp, fish sticks, and canned tuna.

NEW TAX TAKE HIGH

AUSTIN (UPI)—Fiscal tax collection for the southern district of Texas for the 1958 fiscal year hit an all-time high of $1,430,000,000, R. L. (Bob) Phinney, district director of Internal Revenue, reported Wednesday.

With Pursley Motor Company, Pampa Has Never Seen The Like

The grand opening of Pursley Motor Company's new headquarters tomorrow will climax 18 years of Pampa auto business for Ervin Pursley, owner and manager.

Pursley Motor Company has been in its new place at 701 W. Brown for three weeks now. The plant will be open as usual at 8 a.m. At 8 p.m. will come the grand drawing with prizes of a Fury Jr., electrically controlled car, and prizes ranging from $100 to $25.

"You can register right up to the last minute," says Pursley, "but you must be present to win. Also children under 12 may register if accompanied by an adult."

In the grand opening, more people than ever before will get a look at Pursley's modern showroom, the 19,000 square foot service department and the convenient used car lot.

Pursley has put a lot of his life into this enterprise. In Mar., 1940 he came to Pampa with $18 from a Miami grocery business. "You have to treat people right in order to stay here," says Pursley. "In this day in time the car you buy is no better than the dealer you buy it from regardless of make." And that goes for both new and used cars.

J. T. Cornutt, assistant manager, has been with Pursley 10 years and Assistant Manager John White for seven. Pursley has had the services of Bookkeeper for 11 years, Parts Manager Troy Johnson, six, and Service Manager Tommy McCall for one.

Also Pursley depends on his nine mechanics and body men, three car salesmen, two assistant bookkeepers and four porters.

The company has a complete line of Chrysler 9's, Dodge trucks, Imperials, Plymouths and Desotos. He used car lot is well filled with all makes. On the lot is a special office.

With its new quarters the company has plenty of parking area. The service department has all the latest equipment, for accuracy and fast service. One of the more amazing features is a new automatic car washer. "The three wash jobs automatically give you a $25 polish job," Pursley says.

A tour through the hangar like service department, past the mechanics' stalls to the paint shop shows how close Pampa has come to Detroit.

"I'm thrilled with Pampa and the people in it," says Pursley. "They have made us what we are."

NYAS Announces
New Antibiotic

NEW YORK (UPI)—Successful experimental use of a new antibiotic drug which will kill germs resistant to penicillin was announced Thursday at a conference sponsored by the New York Academy of Sciences.

The drug, kanamycin, is reported to be effective against strains of staphylococcus aureus, the germ most frequently involved in hospital epidemics of antibiotic-resistant germs.

It also has killed germs which cause such diseases as anthrax, tuberculosis, leprosy, and gastrointestinal disorders, the report said.

The drug was developed by Bristol Laboratories, of Syracuse, N.Y., based on research done in Japan by Dr. Hamao Umezawa.

However, the latest antibiotic was found to have no effect on some other germs, such as streptococcus.

The drug is used in dilute form of as little as two parts in a million. There was no evidence of drug accumulation in the blood of experimental patients, according to Dr. Henry Welch, director of the Food and Drug Administration's antibiotic division.

THE SHOWROOM

Ervin Pursley, in the far background, surveys his new showroom at 701 W. Brown. Pursley Motor Company will hold its grand opening tomorrow with a prize drawing at 8 p.m. First prize will be a Fury Jr., remote-controlled vehicle worth $475. Second will be a $350 automobile air conditioner installed. A cash prize of $100 will be third followed by $50 and $25 cash prizes. (News Photo)

Vegetables Are Best Buys For This Weekend

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mid-summer food shoppers will find vegetables about their best buys this weekend, as supplies increase daily and prices prove more favorable.

Markets will offer abundant supplies of potatoes, corn, lettuce, snap beans, cabbage, radishes, onions, squash, tomatoes, cucumbers, spinach, and green peppers. Fruits are increasing in supply, and among those bearing budget-saving price tags are peaches, watermelons, canteloups, plums, lemons, grapes, cherries, nectarines, and bananas. Blueberries are good buys at some markets.

Red meats continue high at some marketing centers, but the more economical cuts of beef, and always-popular ground beef for outdoor eating, along with broilers and fryers, lead the best food buys.

Dairy products are reasonably priced this summer and fit well into every family's picnic plans. In fish, best buys right now are shrimp, fish sticks, and canned tuna.

PAVED WITH FLOWERS—Spectators jam the curbs to get a closer look as artists put the finishing touches on the mammoth floral carpet in the streets of Genzano, Italy. Each year, in a traditional ceremony dating back hundreds of years, flowers by the ton are used to "pave" the streets leading to the cathedral (background) a half-mile away. More than eight tons of petals and leaves are used in fashioning the lovely floral mosaic.

UNDERWATER DEW LINE—Within a decade, the United States should be able to develop an underwater DEW (distant early warning) line that would protect our shores against submarines to a range of 1,000 miles in the same manner as the radar network in upper Canada guards against the approach of enemy aircraft. The prediction comes from Frank Massa, an ultrasonics expert who created more than 100 different antisubmarine underwater sound devices during World War II and who now heads a division of Cohn Electronics, Inc. Artist's sketch above visualizes this warning system, showing how a monitor in coastal city might watch for submarines by means of high-frequency, high-intensity sound waves.

TOO MUCH TILT—City fathers in Pisa, Italy, have appealed to engineers all over the world for help to keep the famed Leaning Tower of Pisa from toppling. The tower, pictured above in a rare night photo made in 1954, tilted another 1.5 millimeters during the last 12 months. This is one and a half times the annual rate of lean. Since it was erected, the 784-year-old white marble bell tower has developed a lean of 4 meters, 55 centimeters and 4 millimeters (less than five yards) away from the perpendicular. The problem is a big blob of soft clay on which one side of the base rests. Massive injections of concrete earlier, this century apparently did not help.

Scientists Probing Girl's Hemophilia

By DELOS SMITH UPI Science Editor NEW YORK (UPI)—Worldwide scientific interest has been focused suddenly upon an 11-year-old American girl. She has hemophilia, "the royal disease," which, according to the textbooks, never occurs in females although women are the "carriers."

Furthermore, she didn't acquire it through her heredity but through a quirk in her own chemistry. There is no record of such a thing happening before. So in this child, science has new hope of clearing up the mysteries of hemophilia whose victims are called "bleeders" because their blood clots only with extreme difficulty, if at all.

She goes through life under the constant danger of bleeding to death through some slight wound or bruise. It is hereditary in one European royal family; hence its common name, "the royal disease."

Dr. Armand J. Quick, professor of biochemistry, Marquette University, Milwaukee, reported the child's case to world science through the international technical journal, "The Lancet." She was born in Fargo, N.D. She wasn't otherwise identified, because of medical ethics.

The blood chemistry of her mother and father is normal. There is no history of "bleeders" in either's family. The child has two brothers and neither is a "bleeder." Therefore, you have to reason that a gene changed or mutated in the formative reproductive chemistry which created the child.

As logical as this is, it is "speculation," Quick acknowledged. But if the speculation proves to be true, it shows clearly how hemophilia as a disease got started far back in the misty past. A gene mutated and this mutated gene became part of the reproduction chemistry of a female who then unknowingly founded generations of "bleeders."

In due course, this speculation either will be proved or disproved through the child. If the speculation is true, as Quick pointed out, "all her sons should bleeders."

But Williams told Hancock that he had brought some empty drink bottles back to the store and they got into an argument over the deposit on the bottles, which led to the slashing.

Ex-Con Admits Slashing Woman

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—A 19-year-old Negro ex-convict was arrested Thursday and admitted that he slashed a woman's face with a butcher knife.

The woman, Mrs. Esther Gann, 46, who works in a grocery, was hospitalized with severe lacerations on her face. She was reported in good condition today.

Bexar county Constable Bill Hancock arrested James Williams Jr., who was released from the penitentiary only 15 days ago where he had served a burglary term.

Mrs. Gann said the Negro came into the grocery where she works Wednesday and asked for a can of chili and when she turned to get the chili he grabbed her around the neck and started slashing her face with a seven-inch butcher knife.

Gasoline Price Report Coming

AUSTIN (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has said a report on his investigation of gasoline pricing practices in El Paso "can be expected in the near future."

price wars in El Paso was started last January. Similar inquiries, still continuing, have been started since that time by the attorney general department in other Texas cities.

Sure You Paid!

AUSTIN (UPI) — Federal tax collections for the Southern District of Texas for the 1958 fiscal year hit an all-time high of $1,430,000,000, R. L. (Bob) Phinney, district director of Internal Revenue, reported Wednesday.

Phinney said the total exceeded 1757 record collections by more than 52 million dollars.

No More Riots!

PANAMA CITY, Panama (UPI) — Student leaders urged their followers today to behave themselves during the forthcoming visit of Milton Eisenhower, brother of the President.

The leaders warned against any demonstrations such as those that marked Vice President Richard M. Nixon's recent visit to various Latin American countries. The leaders pointed out that any difference of views on U.S.-Panama issues cannot be resolved by such outbursts.

Congress created the service that inspects and grades meat in packing houses on June 30, 1906.

Baboons Do Too Have A Sweet Tooth

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Southwest Foundation researchers are cooking up 100 pounds of chocolate which they will air express to Africa for a drove of baboons awaiting shipment to the U.S.

The chocolate contains primaquin, an anti-malarial drug. A scientist in Africa will feed it for 14 days to the baboons to free them of simian malaria.

Simian malaria can't be transferred to human beings, but the baboons must be free of it before they can be shipped to San Antonio for use in research on arteriosclerosis.

Baboons will be used because they are the only animal, outside of man, which develops the fatty deposits in its blood vessels that are the trademark of arteriosclerosis.

The disease is responsible for more than half the deaths in the United States.

Scientists from Southwest Foundation for Research and Education and the Louisiana State University School of Medicine are on their way to Nairobi, Africa.

They will collect baboon material for a tissue library and arrange for shipment of at least 200 baboons to San Antonio within the next six weeks.

White hunter Hugh Santon has advised Southwest Research that he already has 80 baboons in cages, which natives are guarding.

A shipment was ready two weeks ago, but one of the baboons managed to lift the bar on the cage and release itself and the other animals.

The scientists want the baboon tissue library to compare the progress of the disease in the animals with its progress in humans.

They will examine the aorta, large blood vessel of the heart, and photograph it there, and ship the other material back to New Orleans for microscopic and chemical analysis.

The goal of the scientist is to produce a predictable animal which can be used to test agents to control the disease.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Some gourmets who like their food pickled are the objects of a city-wide search here today.

A food shop owner told police that burglars broke into his store and stole eight gallon jars of pickled pigs' feet, eight gallon jars of pickled ham hocks and six 2 1/2-gallon jars of pickled sausages.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — An ardent sports lover pleaded with Judge Clem Smith for a softening of his probation sentence—on compassionate grounds.

Richard Castleman, 20, begged to be allowed to leave Illinois for brief periods, because he could not bear to miss seeing the St. Louis Cardinals.

PLANE CRASH KILLS THREE

DACCA, Pakistan (UPI) — Authorities said today all three crew members were killed

Wednesday when an Indian Airlines cargo transport crashed into a swamp near Pupshi, 10 miles from here.

"Military law" means that troops are being used to maintain peace, not wage war; "military law" implies a state of siege.

PURSLEY MOTOR CO.
Opens New Dodge Sales and Service Facilities at 701 W. Brown

YOU'RE INVITED TO OUR GRAND OPPENING! All this week, we're holding "Open House" in this new and modern Dodge Headquarters and we look forward to greeting you during our gala celebration. This move to larger quarters was necessitated by a fast-growing demand for both Dodge cars and trucks in the community—and also because our former Service Shop could not adequately care for our many loyal customers. Won't you drop in and see how splendidly we are prepared to serve you?

Get our "Celebration Deal" on a Swept-Wing '58 Dodge

SO ADVANCED IT LEAVES THE REST BEHIND! That's what owners are saying about this long, low, swept-wing beauty. And it's true! The 1958 Dodge brings you advanced features that other cars can't match. For example, the marvelous, sway-free, dip-free TORSION-AIRE RIDE, and TOTAL-CONTACT BRAKES—both standard equipment at not a penny's extra cost. You can also have new CONSTANT CONTROL POWER STEERING and push-button TorqueFlite. Once you experience these great advantages, you'll agree that to own and drive this great Dodge is a new adventure.
