Steel Industry Peace Awaits A Formality

Pact Provides For 2½ Years Of No Strikes

Neo Nazi Foment Rages In W. Berlin

Daniel Plans To Make Bid For 3rd Term

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The steelworkers' union called its 171-member Wage Policy Committee today to give expected unanimous approval to the agreement ending the eight-month-old steel dispute.

Only the policy committee's action was needed to wrap up a 2½-year steel labor peace pact on terms recommended by Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell.

The settlement was reported to provide a 30-cent hourly wage benefit boost for the 500,000 steelworkers. The industry estimated the cost over the 30-month period at more than one billion dollars.

Roger M. Blough, board chairman of the pace-setting U.S. Steel Corp., said his firm would hold the line on prices for the immediate future. But he said future developments could change this position.

Steelworkers President David J. McDonald summoned the union's 33-man executive board into session this afternoon when scheduled a meeting of the policy committee to ratify the agreement.

McDonald, speaking at a union rally in Buffalo, N.Y., Monday night, hailed the new agreement as a great pact and predicted that the policy committee would approve it unanimously.

Nixon's back-stage role in helping to work out the agreement gave a shot-in-the arm to his presidential hopes. But some Democrats charged that it was a phony build-up.

The steel agreement wiped out any chance that Congress might revise the Taft-Hartley law this year to deal with national emergency strikes. There was a feeling among legislators that they will have to tackle the problem eventually, however.

Commerce Secretary Frederick H. Mueller said the settlement removed a roadblock to industrial activity and employment. He said 1960 should be "the most prosperous year in our history."

Sources said the agreement reached Monday was patterned closely after the contract the union

BERLIN (UPI) — The West Berlin city government today arrested 13 suspected neo-Nazis and decided to outlaw extreme nationalist groups in a move to wipe out an anti-Semitic underground.

The Berlin police action, toughest crack-down yet against a wave of anti-Semitic outbreaks in West Germany and other sections of Western Europe, came even as new incidents were reported.

The outbreaks marred West Germany's celebration of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's 84th birthday, the nearest thing West Germany has to a national day.

Police in Berlin raided the homes of suspected Nazis and confiscated photographs of Adolf Hitler, copies of his "Mein Kampf," anti-Jewish and pro-Nazi propaganda and military equipment of the type once worn by the Hitler Youth.

The arrested persons ranged in age from 18 to 26. They were members of two extreme right-wing youth organizations.

The West Berlin Executive Council, or Senate, said these organizations would be outlawed. The Senate also moved to ban the "German Reichs Party" whose members desecrated a synagogue in Cologne.

The Senate recommended expulsion from schools and universities of students who engage in Nazi or anti-Jewish activity.

West Berlin's campaign was announced at a press conference by Joachim Lipschitz, head of the city interior department.

Helza Gallinski, leader of West Berlin's Jewish community, praised the Jewish swift action. But he criticized the slowness of the West German federal government.

As the arrests were made, a swastika and a "Jews get out" sign were painted on a wall, and a swastika flag was found in a playground.

West Berlin citizens formed their own protest. Young Socialist torchbearers mounted guard Monday night over the city's memorial for victims of Nazi tyranny and will maintain it through Friday.

APPOINTMENT — Gov. Price Daniel announced Monday night he plans to run for a third term because any other decision would be running from a fight.

He made his decision known over a state-wide radio hookup.

"I have never turned my back on a fight for the people of Texas, and I shall not do so now," Daniel said.

The state legislature in 1959 turned thumbs down on several of the governor's recommendations during a long and bitter tax fight.

"Many of the most important programs of this administration ended up as half-way measures or completely unfinished business," Daniel said.

He listed a 12-plank platform for his 1960 campaign and said the top item on the list was a pay raise for classroom teachers and more money for public school improvements.

With Daniel committed for the gubernatorial race, veteran political observers expected Atty. Gen. Will Wilson to bow out of the picture and also seek reelection.

Jack Cox, a Breckenridge oilman who announced as a candidate for governor several weeks ago, predicted today he would beat Daniel in a runoff ballot.

Cox, 38, a former state representative, welcomed Daniel into the race and said he expected the campaign to develop into a struggle between himself and the incumbent governor.

Cox, like Daniel, said financial

Would Abolish The Title Filling Of Judge Post Discussed

City commissioners discussed the commission discussed applications from three Pampa attorneys for the corporation court judge position. Applicants are former County Judge Bruce Parker, Robert D. McPherson and John Studer. Studer's application was made before Maguire was appointed to the job.

In other action, commissioners heard the second reading of zoning ordinance 534 and approved the public official bond of city tax assessor-collector Aubrey L. Jones.

Also approved were new traffic tickets and a new method of fining traffic violators, suggested by Judge Maguire. Under the new setup an overtime parking ticket would cost 25 cents if paid in 24 hours, $1 if paid between one and four days, $2 if paid between four and ten days, and $3 if paid after ten days. Commissioners also approved a courtesy ticket for out-of-county visitors. Maguire pointed out that visitors will be allowed five courtesy tickets a year, then will be fined on the same basis as county residents.

In final action, commissioners set next Tuesday as the date for a public hearing on the application of M. Roberts to purchase the City Cab Co.

Pampa Blanketed By 4.35 Inch Snow

Storm Dumps Snow On Most Of State Today

United Press International

Another crippling winter storm hit the Texas Panhandle with more than four inches of snow today and spread southeastward into North Central Texas.

The Weather Bureau at Fort Worth predicted two to four inches of snow from the Dallas-Fort Worth area northward into the Red River Valley tonight. It was expected to make highway travel hazardous throughout North Central Texas.

The storm left four inches in a 100-mile-wide band extending from Tucuman, N. M., to Oklahoma City and gradually fanned out southward. At last report two inches covered the ground at Wichita Falls, Tex., and large flakes were falling in Dallas and Fort Worth.

Pampa, Tex., was buried under 4½ inches in a seven-hour period. Snow continued to fall. At Bonham, an early-morning sleet storm turned to snow about 8 a.m. and in less than three hours residents measured 2.8 inches atop cars.

Eight car accidents in two hours were reported to police this morning during the winter's first snowfall.

Traffic jams on heavily-traveled Hobart St. and several other main thoroughfares have been blamed on the four-inch covering of snow that began falling in the early morning hours.

Police believe that if the tempo of accidents continues January will be "more hazardous month than December when 79 accidents occurred on city streets. Twenty injuries were reported in December.

At 10 a.m. today police had counted 12 accidents the first five days of the new year.

At 11:30 today Pampa had received a half-inch of moisture from 4.35 inches of snow, with a low temperature reading last night of 22 degrees.

At McLean, five inches of snow had fallen by 9:30 a.m. today, and it was still snowing there at 10 o'clock. Schools in McLean were open, and roads, though open, are reported hazardous.

Cars were backed up in two lanes of traffic for three blocks as the snow made N. Hobart St. slick and hazardous.

All roads in the area are reported open, but the Texas Highway Patrol advised motorists to travel only with chains and in emergencies.

Back Files Today

County Tax Assessor Jack Back, in office since 1952, today filed for re-election. Back first entered the tax office to fill an unexpired term, was elected and then re-elected. At present Back is unopposed for office.

Quadruple Murder Gives City Jitters

GARDEN CITY, Kan. (UPI) — This community of 13,000 persons on the high western Kansas wheat plains has the jitters. It may never recover from them.

Four counts of first degree murder were filed in Finney County Court here Monday against Richard Eugene Hickock, 28, Edgerton, Kan., and Perry Edward Smith, 31, Las Vegas, Nev.

Hickock confessed the crime Sunday night and named Smith as his accomplice in a mass murder that climaxed a futile robbery attempt at the Clutter home. Clutter, a former Eisenhower appointee to the federal Farm Credit Board, had never locked the doors of his house. Hickock said he and Smith entered the two-story brick structure through the unlocked door leading to Clutter's office on the ground floor.

The pair, led to believe that there was a large amount of money in a safe in the house through a conversation with a former Clutter farmhand whom they met in the Kansas State Penitentiary, is accused of murdering the Clutter family when no cash was found.

Role In Steel Settlement Is Boon To Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's political stock soared today as a result of his backstage role in settling the steel dispute. But some Democrats charged it was a phony build-up.

Many other Democrats conceded privately that Nixon's dramatic efforts to bring about a steel agreement made him a more formidable opponent in the 1960 presidential race.

The settlement also brightened the political future of Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, Nixon's partner in the behind-the-scenes negotiations. Mitchell often has been mentioned as a vice presidential running mate for Nixon.

Republicans from President Eisenhower down heaped praise on Nixon for ending the eight-month-old steel controversy. Mitchell declared, "without the vice president we would not have had settlement."

Nixon and Mitchell worked a team in hammering out the agreement in a series of secret meetings with management and union leaders. Some eight or nine of the meetings were held at Nixon's home here.

Pan Am Goodwill Tour By Ike Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Pan Am goodwill tour of four South American countries from Feb. 1 to about March 4.

Diplomatic sources told United Press International that the White House Monday night delivered final details of the trip to the embassies of the four countries — Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay.

It appeared certain that all governments would approve suggested itinerary.

An official announcement is expected from the White House later this week. Eisenhower may refer to the trip in his State of the Union message to Congress Thursday.

Youths Stone Jewish Center

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police today charged two 16-year-old boys with malicious mischief for stoning a Jewish center and synagogue in Queens Dec. 29.

It was the seventh recent defacement of a Jewish building here. Swastikas—symbol of the Nazi Party—have been smeared on at least four buildings.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner and other authorities have said they were convinced the defacements were the unrelated acts of irresponsible individuals.

It was thought the incidents may have been inspired by similar defacements in West Germany.

Big Steel To Hold The Line On Price Hikes

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — An assurance by "big steel" to hold the line on prices for the present appeared today to shelter the nation's economy from a new inflationary spiral.

U. S. Steel Board Chairman Roger M. Blough in a nationwide television address Monday night said his firm planned "to continue the general level of its prices for the immediate future."

Joseph P. Block, chairman of Inland Steel Co., announced in Chicago his firm "has no present plans to change its prices."

U. S. Steel is the industry's traditional pace-setter in the price pattern.

Abrupt settlement of the longest steel dispute in history Monday provides a half million steelworkers total hourly increases of 39 cents in wages and other benefits.

Ike Readies A Veto For Initial Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats said today President Eisenhower may veto the first major legislation sent to him by the election-year Congress which convenes Wednesday.

They expect the first bill to be a measure calling for a big expansion in federal outlays for sewage plants to curb pollution of waterways. The President has been trying for two years to get Congress to cut the program.

The Democrats said they were confident that a presidential veto would give them a significant issue for the presidential election campaign.

In a session where potential presidential candidates may overshadow the legislative program, Congress appeared likely to become more politically conscious than usual.

The House and the Senate convene at noon e.s.t. Wednesday. They will meet in joint session Thursday to hear the President deliver his annual State of the Union Message. Then they probably will adjourn until next week.

Swift congressional action on the water pollution measure was anticipated because differing versions passed the Senate and House last year. Backers were confident that Senate-House conferees would reach quick agreement on a compromise.

Credit Group To Be Formed

McLEAN (Sp) — Formation of a retail credit association was discussed here last night at a meeting of representatives of 26 business establishments.

A temporary committee was named to make further plans for a permanent organization. The group will meet again Monday. It was voted that the organization would be merchant owned.

McLean has a population of approximately 2,000 and about 40 businesses.

Committee members are Dan Mize, chairman; Dick Dickerson, vice chairman; and S. A. Cousins, secretary-treasurer.

Train Plunges Off Bridge; 25 Dead, 100 Hurt

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — A six-coach train jammed with commuters plunged at high speed off a fog-shrouded temporary bridge today and crashed into a factory yard 25 feet below.

The Transport Ministry in Rome said 25 were known dead and 100 injured in one of Italy's worst postwar disasters. The news agency Italia estimated 30 persons were killed.

The train, made up of a locomotive, a baggage car and six coaches, was carrying commuters from Sondrio and another town to work in Milan. It jumped the tracks on the temporary bridge on the outskirts of suburban Monza.

Mess Around Postoffice' Talked By Traffic Group

Pampa Traffic Commission turned its sights on what called "the traffic mess around postoffice" at a Monday noon (ing in the Pampa Hotel).

Signal lights at the postoffice intersection (Ballard and Foster) were re-timed a week ago but they read at Monday's meeting that motorists were still unhappy with the situation.

Commission Chairman James Hart said the mailbox situation may be ironed out when two more mailboxes are installed either near the library or on Ballard St.

In other business Bob Banks said he would call another session of the legislature to a teachers' pay raise but he did say:

"I shall not abandon hope of accomplishing some of these items before the next regular session. In this connection, there one thing of which I am thoroughly convinced:

"These items of unfinished business will not be completed without the leadership and experience of a governor who has been on the firing line working and fighting for the programs in the past and who is willing to work and fight for them through the 1960 election campaigns."

Daniel lashed out at "selfish interests, pressure groups and powerful lobbyists" which blocked his programs in the legislature and led to block others during his three years as chief executive.

But he said he had beaten these groups before, and is confident he can beat them again.

"They were defeated in many of their modern-day carpet-bagger attempts to escape their fair share of the cost of government and to stop the wheels of progress and good government in this state," Daniel said.

"They can be defeated again with respect to the unfinished business of this administration if there are enough of us who are willing to continue to fight and champion the cause of the people against their special interests which might intervene."

red light "was appealing" and may solve the problem. One unsigned letter complained that red lights worked too long against traffic on Foster St.

James G. Robinson, 1906 Coffee, appeared to tell the commission that the position of the center street mailboxes caused him to switch lanes and receive a traffic citation.

Commission Chairman James Hart said the mailbox situation may be ironed out when two more mailboxes are installed either near the library or on Ballard St.

In other business Bob Banks said he would call another session of the legislature to a teachers' pay raise but he did say:

was appointed to write a series of articles on traffic safety and motorizing "tips." The series will be offered to the Daily News for publication.

Before adjourning the commission was asked to consider the so-called "T-man project," a plan whereby private citizens would be appointed to write courtesy tickets on driving infractions. The plan was first mentioned a week ago by City Commissioner Hershel Wilks.

No official action was taken by the Traffic Commission although considerable interest was expressed in "giving it a try." One member said he would "like to see the newspaper publish a daily list of violators' license numbers" as a means of cutting down driving infractions.

Palbearers will be O. C. Gist, Ernie Pulse, Bill Ellis, Whitley Reese, Bob Mayer and Herbert Cook.

Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Duemmel - Carmichael Funeral Home.

Final plans were made for the Pampa District Golden Gloves tournament, at the weekly meeting Monday night of the Pampa Evening Optimist Club.

The tournament has been set for Jan. 13-14-15. Boxing committee chairman Cliff Dunham said that because of the large number of entries, there will be championship fights all three nights.

It was announced at Monday's meeting that a meeting of the Evening Club board of directors will be held Jan. 11 at 5:30 p.m. A joint meeting of the Evening and Breakfast Optimist clubs will follow at 7:30 p.m.

Edison K. McCoy Rites Wednesday

Funeral services for Edison Keith McCoy, 48, employe of Windsor Well Servicing Co., will be held Wednesday 2:30 p.m. from Fellowship Baptist Church with the Rev. Earl Maddux, pastor, officiating.

Mr. McCoy was pronounced dead on arrival 10:35 a.m. yesterday in Highland General Hospital after suffering a heart attack while at work on an oil lease south of the city.

He was born Dec. 18, 1911, in McCloud, Okla. and came to Pampa from Comanche, Okla., eight years ago. He was a member of Fellowship Baptist Church and a veteran of World War II.

Stanley Draws 3-Year Term

Joe Ellis Stanley, who has no permanent address, was sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary yesterday by District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich.

Stanley, who was arrested by city appliance dealer Paul Crossman, was indicted by the Gray County Grand Jury, entered a plea of guilty and received the sentence, all in a matter of two hours.

One no-bill was returned by the group, that one on Ollie Ruth Morgan, who was held on suspicion of burglary of an automobile and passed without action the car theft case of Max Bryson.

Survivors include his wife, Beatrice, of the home address, 821 W. Wilks; one step-son, John Anderson; three sisters, Mrs. H. D. White of Amarillo, Mrs. James A. Campbell of Denver, Colo., Mrs. Jerry Dunn of Pampa; one sister, Mrs. Helen Gocher of Oklahoma City, Okla.; and 12 grandchildren.

Palbearers will be O. C. Gist, Ernie Pulse, Bill Ellis, Whitley Reese, Bob Mayer and Herbert Cook.

Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Duemmel - Carmichael Funeral Home.

Final plans were made for the Pampa District Golden Gloves tournament, at the weekly meeting Monday night of the Pampa Evening Optimist Club.

The tournament has been set for Jan. 13-14-15. Boxing committee chairman Cliff Dunham said that because of the large number of entries, there will be championship fights all three nights.

It was announced at Monday's meeting that a meeting of the Evening Club board of directors will be held Jan. 11 at 5:30 p.m. A joint meeting of the Evening and Breakfast Optimist clubs will follow at 7:30 p.m.

SETTLEMENT

James C. Hagerly said Nixon acted throughout in accordance with Eisenhower's wishes.

It was learned from other sources that Nixon initiated the delicate backstage discussions last July. Both sides approached him as an intermediary when he attended the All-Star baseball game in Pittsburgh.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski (D-Ill.) charged that the steel settlement was arranged to give political advantage to Nixon, who apparently will get the GOP presidential nomination.

Rep. Ray J. Madden (D-Ind.) said, "Nixon personally had as much to do with settling the strike as I had."

Madden, whose district includes the steel center of Gary, said any reports that Nixon arranged the steel agreement were "just political camouflage to build him up" for the Republican presidential nomination.

Mitchell flatly denied that campaign politics had anything to do with the agreement.

Palbearers will be O. C. Gist, Ernie Pulse, Bill Ellis, Whitley Reese, Bob Mayer and Herbert Cook.

Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Duemmel - Carmichael Funeral Home.

Final plans were made for the Pampa District Golden Gloves tournament, at the weekly meeting Monday night of the Pampa Evening Optimist Club.

Scout Council Officials Meet

The 1960 planning meeting of the district directors of the Adobe Walls Council began today in the first session of a three-day conference at city hall offices.

Alford Hollis, assistant executive of the council, will direct the activities of the meeting, the purpose of which is to collect and organize ideas for scouting during the year Aug. 1960 through July 1961.

Program ideas for camporees, summer cub activities, financing campaigns, and organization of new troops, posts, and cub packs within the council will be discussed.

Further explaining the purpose of the session, Hollis said that the mission of the council's annual meeting is to furnish the scouting organizations of the Adobe Walls council with suggestions for planning their yearly programs. The organizations will draw their programs from the ideas furnished them by the council, using some and rejecting others, at their discretion, he said.

Victims Identify 3 As Robbers

The Dec. 20 armed robbery at the Vaughn and Roth Truck Terminal in Pampa was solved Monday in Wichita Falls, but the three men who confessed the robbery will probably remain in the custody of Wichita Falls police.

Police Chief Jim Conner reported today that confessions were obtained from three Ft. Sill Army men, Oliver Ray Boone, 19, of Lubbock, and Silvester Huggins, 21, of New Orleans.

Positive identification of the three was made by Cleo Ruff, the Vaughn and Roth attendant, and Bill Ledbetter of Kingsmill, one of the robbery victims.

The Ft. Sill men have been charged with a series of robberies in Wichita Falls. They also admitted robbing an Amarillo liquor store Dec. 19 and are suspected of robbing a number of Lubbock business establishments earlier in December.

Golden Gloves Tournery Set

Final plans were made for the Pampa District Golden Gloves tournament, at the weekly meeting Monday night of the Pampa Evening Optimist Club.

The tournament has been set for Jan. 13-14-15. Boxing committee chairman Cliff Dunham said that because of the large number of entries, there will be championship fights all three nights.

It was announced at Monday's meeting that a meeting of the Evening Club board of directors will be held Jan. 11 at 5:30 p.m. A joint meeting of the Evening and Breakfast Optimist clubs will follow at 7:30 p.m.

The program for the meeting consisted of accordion selections by Freddie Lowrance and Dianne Burnett. Guests were Dick Wright, Jim Allison, Otho Burnett and Harold Lewis.

Social Security Law Debate Topic

Pampa's Toastmaster Club debated the Social Security law at their weekly meeting Monday night in the Pampa Hotel.

Speaking for the abolishment of social security were George Crow and Otis Petty. Advocating social security were two speakers, James Hart and Bob Ward. Crow's speech was judged the evening's best.

In ceremonies following the debate Cies Grady Jr. was inducted into the club and the executive committee made plans for a club speech contest and a speechcraft course which will be opened to the public.

Guests were Odell Strickland and David Baker.

Johnson HQ In California

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A state-wide headquarters to get the Democratic presidential nomination for Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) was opened today in Los Angeles.

Ned Redding, a newspaper publisher, was president of the group. He said permission to open the headquarters was given by Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) who has been spearheading the drive to get the Democratic nomination for Johnson.

Fire In Truck

Fire broke out yesterday afternoon on the rear of pickup truck owned by the A. J. Weathered Co. and destroyed a mounted paint spraying machine. The fire ignited a pile of trash lying on the bottom of the pickup by the backfire of the engine powering the paint sprayer.

The scene of the accident was behind the new Coronado Inn and occurred at approximately 1:25 o'clock.

Draws $200 Fine On Two Charges

Kenneth Ray Beezley of Pampa was fined a total of $200 and court costs in county court today on charges of driving while intoxicated and unlawfully carrying a concealed weapon.

Beezley was arrested Dec. 22 in Prairie Village following a minor accident by Texas Ranger Bill Hensee.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
It's raining—and the baby has a bad cold. What with her fretfulness, my worry and broken sleep, I feel very tired and depressed. In the kitchen I am preparing more juice for her when my 4-year-old grabs the unsqueezed half of the orange on the table, and runs out with it into the pelting rain. I follow. When I catch him, I bear him back into the house and there spank him as hard as I can.

I am unjust. I am behaving badly. I am using my little boy's outburst of jealous feeling as an excuse to explode my own frustrations.

Now, in my action, a person who did not love me would see only bad—tempered abuse of my little boy. But a person who loved me would see something else. He would say:

"You wanted more consideration from Bobby, and spanking him was the only way you could think of to get it."
And because the loving person would see through to the original meaning of my bad action, I might burst into tears of gratitude to him, and seek reconciliation with Bobby.

Growups are not the only people whose bad actions have good meanings behind them. Children do, too. When Betty lies to us, her bad action is self-protective as well as cowardly. When Jimmy disobeys the rule against riding his bike in traffic, his misbehavior is enterprising as well as defiant. When Paula is rude to us before guests, her bad action is brave as well as impudent.

All these bad actions contain a good meaning that it is productive to discern. If we see the original goodness behind them, and credit the children with it, they will cling to us in gratitude and relief as I cling to the friend who sees the truth behind my mistreatment of Bobby. And they will not lie, disobey or insult us so readily again.

The idea that we are sinners N. J. Ellis. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Anna Bell Whitley, Mrs. Elaine Rowntree and Thelma Cooper. The Jesus they claim to follow never dealt in total sinfulness. In the act of the prostitute who presented herself to Him, all the respectable people around Him saw only outrageous insolence. But in Him, He saw something else. He saw it for seeking it in our own.

Brand new beauty aid is this lipstick that works like a lip brush. The top comes off, clicks onto the base and becomes the length you need in order to use it like a brush.

Italian Program For Treble Clef

Treble Clef Club will hold its monthly meeting tonight in the City Club Room at 7:45 p.m. Mrs. Ellen Shipp, program director will present a program on Italian and Italian music. Appearing on the program will be the following numbers: Vittoria mia core (Carissimi) by Joe Whitten; Voce di donna from "La Gioconda" (Ponchielli) by Rosemary Lawlor and Vestri le Giubba from "Pagliacci" (Leoncavallo) by Dr. N. J. Ellis. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Anna Bell Whitley, Mrs. Elaine Rowntree and Thelma Cooper. The Jesus they claim to follow never dealt in total sinfulness. In the act of the prostitute who presented herself to Him, all the respectable people around Him saw only outrageous insolence. But in Him, He saw something else. New Lipstick Has Brush Effect

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor
For years, women have been struggling with lip brushes and then giving up. A few women master the art; most do not. Professional models use the lip brush, of course, since their makeup must be absolute perfection before the searching eye of the camera. Since many women are too impatient to use a lip brush, one beauty house has brought out a new lipstick which combines the advantages of brush and lipstick. The top—slides off—and clicks onto a swivel base. Thus it becomes the length you need in order to balance it like a brush. It will, the maker says, give you the feel and control needed to shape or re-shape your lips to perfection. It develops a fine pointed edge which assures you a precise outline. To use this new lipstick, start with the upper lip and outline, from the center to the corners of your mouth. If your mouth is too wide, don't fill in the corners. If your mouth is too small, reshape the outline, then fill in clear to the corners. Always do the upper lip first. If your lower lip is too thick, outline it within the true lip-line, then fill it in. This will create the wanted illusion of a smaller lip.

Infants Don Adult Wardrobe For Trip Home From Hospital

By MARY PRIME
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Maybe you can't tell if the baby looks like dad or grandma, but he's bound to look more grown up than children of the past. There's a trend toward dressing babies to look like little men and women. Infants just home from the hospital aren't too young for man-styled polo-shirts. Toddlers can don blazers and pants, cardigan jackets, sailor suits, shortie nightgowns, hooded beach robes, and bermuda shorts. Even the traditional baby colors—pink and blue—are passe, reports Ken Childs, infants' wear merchandise manager for the William Carter Co. The firm makes 300 styles of infants' wear alone, not including sleepers, sun suits and cardigan jackets. Yellow and azure are the most popular colors today, Childs said in an interview after a fashion show. White also is used widely, and orchid is gaining. Red, Navy, green and cocoa also are shown. The firm has done special-request garments in such sophisticated shades as Kelly green, orange and purple. Someday these colors may become standard. "People either love 'em or hate 'em," said Childs. Although the pink and blue distinction has faded, prints differ widely for girls and boys. "Mothers want boys to look like boys. The babies come home from the hospital—almost with cowboy boots on," Childs said. For boys, there are cowboy, sailor and animal prints. For girls, flowers and checks. Ruffles, puffed sleeves and smocking add feminine details. Many outfits come in solid colors with texture interest—knit in stripes, triangles, honeycombs, and jacquard patterns. Baby garments used to be made of silk and wool or cotton and wool, with long sleeves, lots of buttons down the front, and crocheted work with draw string at the neck. All were cream colored because white wouldn't sell, Childs said. Today, doctors recommend short sleeves and cotton year-round because of central heating and closed automobiles. Fifty years ago, Childs added, a sid and wool shirt coat at least $2.50. And the price went up as the size went up. Today, shirts range from 75 cents to $1.

No matter how much money spent on Christmas gifts and many woman-hours were spent shopping for just the right gift for individuals who "have everything," some of the nicest this year, as every year, were:—The ceramic ash tray crudely shaped, the sewing machine made of large ice cream cart the potholders held together by big, uneven stitches, the gingham cushions fashioned by first second graders or made in Scout or Brownie troops "mom."—The invitation to spend a with a family—received by older person living alone, by working girl living in a room house or efficiency apartment by a boy in one of the arm services.—The holiday visit made to a patient in a hospital or a resident of a home for the aged. It is unhurried and gracious enough convince the one cut off from warmth and good spirits of a truly Christmas that he was not forgotten.—The gift painstakingly made hand from someone who had little to spend, but who never let it be a reason for cutting out Christmas giving.—The impractical, romantic gift received from husbands by hard working, budget-minded wives who never buy such extravagant bits feminine frippery for themselves heart-lifting reminders that a man who can't give his wife everything that he could.—The gift—whatever it was—that a child was so pleased with having selected and paid for of his own allowance that he begged, "Open my present first."

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Four months ago, after being a widow for six years, I married again. I have a 15-year-old daughter and when my husband is home he can't sit down without having her on his lap. He's always putting her arms around her and kissing her. They dance together like sweethearts and she seems to enjoy his embrace. He says his love for her is only fiercer, yet he doesn't want her to go out with any boys.

DEAR ABBY: I like my children (ages 9 and 11) to have company, but I wonder what kind of parents their friends must have. When six o'clock comes, I ask these children—if their mothers know where they are. (Most of the time their mothers do not know.) Then I invite the youngsters to stay for supper, reminding them to call home for permission first. They can always stay. We have had 3 and 4 extra children for supper every night this week. What do you suggest?

MRS. W. T.

DEAR MRS. W. T.: Occasionally an impromptu supper guest is permissible, but it shouldn't be a nightly occurrence. These children's parents obviously do not give them the supervision you give yours. I suggest that you make an effort to meet them and judge for yourself. If you let youngsters to wangle a dinner invitation simply because they remain unattended, you will soon be running a juvenile boarding house.

CONFIDENTIAL TO STRAWBERRY BLONDE WIFE: You can avoid triangles by staying out of dangerous circles.

VERY WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: Don't permit an obviously unhealthy relationship to go any further. Insist that your husband keep his hands off your daughter and encourage her to spend her spare time with boys and girls her own age. It's natural for a 15-year-old girl to be flattered by the attention of an older man, but make it plain that this man is YOUR husband, even if you have a confirm it by initiating an affectionate demonstration of your own. Don't sit back, feeling sorry for yourself. Get in there and pitch.

DEAR ABBY: I wish every teenager and parents of teen-agers could read your book, DEAR TEEN-AGER. I am the director of a 61-bed hospital residence for unmarried mothers. We are always filled to capacity and have a waiting list of about 90. Most of our girls are from the typical American family. Your advice to young people—"love" was the best I have ever read on the subject. God bless you.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Following a reducing diet is much easier during hot days. Most of us have less appetite and are refreshed only by eating slimming fruit and vegetable salads. However, beware of washing away necessary vitamins during summer months with too many iced drinks and too little food.

So we have top authority for seeking the original virtue behind the only outrageous insolence. But in Him, He saw something else. He saw it for seeking it in our own.

PHS Opens District Play At Borger

8 THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS 52nd Year
TUESDAY, JANUARY 5, 1960

Red Griggs ★ the pipeline

If any Borger scouts were in the stands here Saturday night (and some undoubtedly were), they saw a sight which would unnerve any future Pampa opponent.

Saturday afternoon, there were probably a few people who thought Pampa would come back to beat Denton Saturday night. In fact, Coach Clifton McNeely later said that he thought Denton would have won if Pampa had played the same type of run-and-shoot game they did Friday.

The ace up McNeely's sleeve, though, was that he had no intention of playing a run-and-shoot game. Instead, he had the Harvesters play ball control for the entire 32 minutes. The result was that Pampa not only won, but handily.

The Harvesters handled the ball-control game like they had been playing it all their lives. Actually, though, this particular Harvester team had never tried these slow-down tactics, except for a few minutes at a time. And McNeely said that he does not remember any of his Harvester teams ever using those tactics for more than a quarter or two at a time.

Saturday's game is history now, but history could well repeat itself tonight at Borger.

Ball Control Could Pay Off

The Harvesters' mastery of the ball-control game throws the entire District 3-4A championship race into a different light. As late as Friday night, Pampa appeared to be a short, bustling, sharp-shooting team which would be beaten by a taller, equally sharp-shooting, hustling team. (And that is actually what happened Friday night.)

However, it is now apparent that the Harvesters have two entirely separate styles of offense, which can be turned on or off whenever McNeely gives the word. The advantages of this are obvious. Any time the Harvesters get a lead, they can start playing the ball-control game and it will be extremely tough for anyone to ever overcome that lead.

Against a tall-high-scoring team like Borger, this new "secret weapon" could be very dangerous.

McNeely describes the use of the new tactics Saturday as "just a gamble."

"I knew we couldn't beat Denton by trying to match them shooting," he declared, "so we had to try something else. It so happens that it worked."

McNeely says that the Harvesters' usual style is not as wide open as it seems. "We always try to work in for a close shot if we possibly can," he declares. "Actually," he continues, "we work on stalling as a routine part of our workout. It's nothing really new. We just didn't use it much in games until Saturday."

You can bet, though, that you'll see it used again before the season's over.

Great Individual Performances

The changed style of attack wasn't the only reason for optimism following Saturday's game. The defensive work of two players and the play-making and shooting of a couple of others also were impressive.

In the zone defense used by Pampa Saturday night, Craig Winborn and Allen Wise guarded Denton's center, Dan Smith, most of the time. They did such a good job that Smith's point production was cut by 18 below the 33 he got the previous night. (He scored only 15 Saturday.)

Pampa's rebounding against the taller Denton boys was also remarkable. They captured 18, to 13 for Denton, in contrast to Friday night when they had a bad beating on the boards.

Two of the guards, Joe Timms and Phillip Gist, turned in their best performances of the year.

Gist's 13 points was his high for the year and second high on the team. Timms scored 9 points, as he dunked several clutch shots. He also did an excellent job of dribbling, to keep the ball-control game going and keep the ball away from Denton.

Timms set a season-low record for fouls Saturday, when he didn't collect a single personal. This was an especially good performance for Timms, since previously excessive fouling was his worst fault. The Harvesters always have done a good job of avoiding fouls, but they did better than usual Saturday. Allen Wise also avoided drawing a foul.

Just as you'd have had to see Denton's 15-point win to believe it, you'd have had to see Pampa's Saturday night comeback to believe it. It may prove to be the spark that ignited another great season for the Harvesters.

Four Pampa Golfers 'In The Money'

Four Pampa golfers finished in the money in the recent Eskimo Golf tournament at Ross Rogers course in Amarillo, and one other Pampa linkster wasn't far off the pace.

The tournament was played in three flights, according to handicaps. One flight was for those with 0-10 handicaps, the second for those with 10-20, and the third for those with handicaps over 21.

Max Hickey and Grover Heiskell tied for net 71 to tie for second in the 0-10 handicap division. Jim Keating was fourth in that division with a net 72. Lloyd Jones had the lowest net, 70, in the over 21 handicap flight. Jack Foster, with a net of 70 in the 0-10 flight, finished out of the money only because several others were bunched at 72.

Four Pampa Boxers Reach Hereford District Finals

HEREFORD—Four Pampa boxers will be fighting tonight in the finals of Hereford District Golden Gloves tournament.

Vlaile of Levelland; and Gary Wills, 160, will clash with Manuel Gonzales of Plainview.

Ironmonger won his way into the finals with a knockout, the first of his career. Rexroat scored a TKO, and Wills won on a disqualification. Murray drew a bye into the finals. Overall, Pampa won three bouts and lost three Monday night.

Ironmonger blasted Lee Johnson of Dumas with a hard right uppercut after only 51 seconds of the first round, to put an abrupt end to a fight that had been fairly even, up to that point.

Rexroat followed his usual pattern of moving in on his opponent with lefts and rights to the face, and ignoring defense, to score a TKO over Larry Lopez of Hereford in 36 seconds of the first round.

Wills was winning over Pito Pienda of Levelland in the second round, on points, when Pienda hit Wills three successive times below the belt. Pienda was disqualified and Wills awarded the decision.

Rabbit Ramirez, 135, got in some good punches during the eight-minute fight against Vlaile, but the Levelland fighter's six-inch reach advantage took its toll at long range, and Vlaile was declared the winner.

Johnny Claunch, a heavyweight, was forced to default to Pete Peterson of Levelland, after he hurt his arm in practice.

The Pampa District Golden Gloves meet will be held next week, Jan. 13-14-15. Teams will be entered from Borger, LeFors, Dumas, Hereford and Amarillo.

Cincy Dominates Cage Poll; California Moves To Second

NEW YORK (UPI)—Oscar Robertson and his Cincinnati Bearcat basketball mates today topped United Press International's major college ratings with 346 points, the second highest total ever recorded in the voting.

The only higher total recorded during the 10-year history of the ratings was the 348 count collected by the Bill Russell-aped San Francisco Dons on Dec. 27, 1955.

The maximum possible score is 350. Each of the 35 leading coaches who rate the major schools for UPI selects 10 teams in the order he ranks them nationally. The points are awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first through 10th place.

Cincinnati, with Robertson setting single game (50) and tournament (122) scoring records, won the Holiday Festival last week in New York and dethroned Dayton Saturday night to boost its season record to 10-0. This record earned the Bearcats 32 first-place votes, two second-place votes and one third-place vote. The coaches based their ballots on games played through Saturday night.

California, which defeated West Virginia in the Los Angeles Classic last week before being upset Saturday night by Southern California, replaced the Mountaineers in second place. West Virginia slipped to third. Bradley, beaten only by Cincinnati, advanced from seventh to fourth. Ohio State, beaten last week by Kentucky, slipped from fourth to fifth.

Utah was sixth. Southern California, tied for 18th last week, advanced to seventh. Georgia Tech, 17th last week, moved to eighth. St. Louis, dropped from sixth to ninth. Texas A & M, winner of the Southwest Conference tournament, advanced from 12th to 10th to become the third newcomer in the top 10.

Carter May Be Weak From Flu; Bulldogs Picked to Win

BORGER — The Pampa Harvesters open their District 3-4A campaign here at 8 p.m. against the Borger Bulldogs, who are favored to win the district championship.

For the second time in three games, the Harvesters will be hampered by illness. Pat Carter missed school Monday with a case of flu, but is expected to start tonight. Coach Clifton McNeely said, however, that he may be in a weakened condition.

Friday, Craig Winborn started against Denton although weak from a virus infection, but scored only seven points before fouling out 30 seconds before halftime.

Denton played an inspired game that night to end two Harvester streaks — both of which started after losses to Borger. The Bulldogs stopped Pampa 63-62 in 1957 to hand the Harvesters their last home loss before last Friday, and beat Pampa 69-63 at Borger in 1958 just before the Harvesters started their 53-game winning streak.

Borger, which seldom loses at home, will be favored to win tonight's game. The Harvesters, however, have the district's best record, 10-1. Borger is 11-3. Harvester hopes for an upset were whetted by Saturday's 50-35 comeback victory over Denton, in which Pampa played a complete ball-control game for the first time in several years.

Borger's team may be better than their 11-3 mark indicates. Two of Borger's losses were to powerful Midland, and the other was to the Odessa Bronchos, at Odessa. The Bulldogs have beaten Dismitt, Childress, Norman, and Gaymen twice each, and Phillips, Sweetwater and Artesia once. They have outscored their opponents by an average of 69.7 to 54.3.

Tonight's game, besides being a contest between two 3-4A contenders, will be a duel between the two winningest high school basketball coaches in Texas — McNeely of Pampa and Tex Hanna of Borger.

McNeely has won 214, last 35, for a percentage of 90.1. Hanna has a winning percentage of well over .500.

Going for Hanna tonight will be a starting lineup averaging between 6-1½ and 6-3 in height, depending on who starts at one past position.

John Kent, 6-5 post man, is Borger's leading scorer, averaging about 18 points per game. He is tops in rebounding with 200. Seamaner, 6-0, who is averaging 10 points per game. The other two

Harvester Shooting Average Now .484

It's been said that figures don't lie, but Coach Clifton McNeely and the Harvesters might not agree. Pampa's shooting percentage was boosted 11 points over the weekend, yet Pampa lost a game for the first time in nearly two years.

For their 11 non-district games, the Harvesters compiled a shooting percentage from the floor of .484. They also finished their non-district competition with a .763 free throw percentage, nine points higher than the average which they carried into the Denton series.

Actually, Saturday night's beautifully executed 50-35 "ball-control" win was mainly responsible for the improvement. Pampa hit 15 of 23 field goal attempts and 18 of 19 free throw tries to give them a total for the weekend of 41 for 75 and 31 for 38.

All of the top seven Harvesters now have a shooting average of at least .400 from the floor, and at least .688 from the free throw line.

Two 5-11 guards, Joe Timms and Phillip Gist, marked up the most improvement over the weekend, as they took a leading part in Pampa's comeback victory. Gist, with 15 points Saturday and 19 for the series, moved from fourth to third scoring, with 72 points, and boosted his shooting percentage—50 points, from .357 to .407. Timms tallied 18 points to move up from fifth to fourth in scoring, with 66 points, and upped his percentage from .429 to .444.

Craig Winborn regained his free throw percentage lead, and now tops the team in every department. He also went over the 200 mark, with 23 points for a total of 215. Winborn turned in a good defensive job, along with Allen Wise, in helping hold Dan Smith of Denton to 15 points Saturday after Smith had scored 33 Friday.

Craig played only about a game and a half over the weekend. He went into Friday's game weak from a virus infection, and fouled out before the half. Saturday, his scoring was held down by the Harvesters' deliberate style of play. Winborn now has a shooting percentage of .558 from the floor and .813 from the free throw line. He has sunk 75 field goals and 65 free throws, and has grabbed 105 rebounds.

Pat Carter, who kept Pampa in Friday's game with his 22 points, is still a solid second in scoring with 187 points. His 13 field goals in the Denton series boosted him to 71 in that department, and upped his shooting average from .487 to an even .500. His shooting average

Loop Action Is Underway

The Palo Duro Dons opened the District 3-4A race Monday night at Lubbock, with a 65-43 win over the Lubbock Westerners. Four teams playing their openers tonight, and two others start district play Thursday.

Tonight, Pampa meets Borger at Borger and Tascosa meets the Amarillo Sandies in Amarillo. Thursday, the Plainview Bulldogs meet the Monterey Plainsmen in Lubbock. All eight teams will play Friday, with Tascosa at Palo Duro, Lubbock at Amarillo, Borger at Plainview, and Monterey at Pampa.

In non-district play, Pampa has the best win-loss record, 10-1. The Harvesters were picked in the pre-season poll, to finish second in the district.

Palo Duro, picked fourth, is 11-2, for the second best record in non-district play. Borger, the favorite, is next with 11-3. Every team in the district except Monterey has won at least three more games than it has lost. The Plainsmen, picked for the cellar, have a 7-5 record.

Wichita's Shockers Top North Texas

DENTON, Tex. (UPI)—The Wichita Shockers, cold in the first half, warmed up in the second half to notch a 92-64 win over North Texas State in a Missouri Valley Conference game Monday night.

Johnny Gales and Al Tals paced the Shockers in their second-half surge. Gales netted 20 points while Tals fired in 17. The Shockers held a 36-33 halftime edge, but widened the gap early in the second half when they ran up 17 points while holding the Eagles scoreless.

Jim Mudd of North Texas State hooped 24 points to lead all scorers.

Ten-Pin Tales

BY MARVIN OLSEN

Hershel Wilks' superb 660 a week ago at Garden Lanes must have raised the hopes of low average bowlers all over Pampa.

Wilks is one of nearly 100 Celanese bowlers who alternate each week on 12 of the company teams Tuesday nights. His games, rolled on alleys 11 and 12, were 204, 235 and 221. He raised his 136 average 11 pins.

Garden Lanes owner Gil Burgund said Wilks' 660 was the highest score rolled at Garden in at least the past two years. And you 136-average men and women, take heart.

Out at Harvester Bowl, where 660's occur more often, the highest game of the New Year's Week was a fine 639 rolled by George Gray, Gray rolled games of 235, 181 and 224.

—E. W. Fottly rolled a 627, Howard Musgrave had a 620, Gene James had a 607, and Gray followed up his 639 with a 625 Wednesday night to complete the week's 600 scores.

Another of the week's better scores was Jack Kenner's 597 in the Wednesday night Harvester Men's League. Kenner's average on the rise since the season began, is 153.

Kenner, along with Charlene Reeves won Harvester's "Bowling of the Week" awards with handicap scores of 699 and 662 respectively.

Back At Garden
In a holiday shortened week the best scores at Garden were Elmer Nichols' 233-232, Harvey Hoopner's 554, and Don Bird's 174-164-154-198 series.

Another of the league's closes its first half the past week with the all-conquering Lions Club finishing first in the Civic League.

Over At Harvester
First half winners of the two Harvester Men's Leagues were the Hughes Investment Co. and Protection Service. Both leagues roll Wednesday nights.

Women leggers at the southside bowl went on a more or less scoring rampage the past week. Four women, including Lily Hawkins, Kandy Esker, Dorothy Davis and Lela Swain, finished in the 500's. The best scores were Lily's 220-552 and Lela's 517.

Two women, Dorothy Jeffries and Delores Hawthorne, both made the difficult 6-7-10 split.

The women bowlers of the area were again reminded today that the second annual Pampa Merchants Women's Invitational will begin in just 11 days.

Tournament Secretary Dorothy Davis said the big annual event is set for Jan. 16-17 and 23-24 at Harvester Bowl. For more information call Dorothy at MO 4-3238.

Each event costs $3.50 and a record-sized field is expected.

Nobel Winner Dead In Crash

PARIS (UPI)—France mourned today for Nobel-prize writer Albert Camus, killed Monday in a highway accident at the age of 46. Relatives have not yet dared tell ailing, 85-year-old Yvonne Camus of the death of her son.

His mother, who lives in Algiers, is recovering from a serious illness.

The body of the famed novelist, playwright and newspaperman lay in a darkened room in the town hall at Villeneuve-la-Guyard, a few miles from where he died in the wreck of a French-made sports car. Three friends were injured in the crash.

Plane Wrecked In Road Landing

KOUNTZE, Tex. (UPI)—Two Houston flyers landed their plane on a four-lane highway Monday night and wrecked it avoiding a collision with an oncoming car.

E. D. Tobola, the pilot, and R. L. Brooks said they had been flying around during the day and got lost when darkness set in.

They told the sheriff's office that they decided to land on the highway when they couldn't find an airport. But they set down heading south on the northbound lane of a divided highway and had to swerve into a guard rail to keep from hitting an approaching car.

Neither Tobola or Brooks were injured.

Rites Today For Pioneer Texan

LAREDO (UPI)—Funeral services are scheduled today for Miss Grace Clark, 99, who was believed to be the last survivor of the disastrous Rio Grande hurricane in 1867 that wiped out two towns.

Miss Clark died Sunday night. The hurricane destroyed Clarksville, on the Texas side of the Rio Grande, and Bagdad on the Mexican side.

Clarkville was founded by Henry Clark's father, William Miss Clark, in 1847 after the U.S.-Mexican war. It was located 10 miles from the Gulf of Mexico.

In an effort to bridge the gap between the inner six and outer seven, European economic ministers and experts, plus representatives of the United States and Canada will meet in Paris the middle of this month.

As of now, it appears the bridge will be a difficult one to construct because of the political nature of the inner six organization and Britain's unalterable opposition to it.

A possibility under discussion is a recommendation that work be started on a world-wide reduction of tariffs applicable to all nations, regardless of organization or boundary lines.

Such a plan might be supported in principle by the United States but would be difficult to apply so long as the U. S. trade balance remains unfavorable.

Attorney Urges Clients To Plead 'Fifth' In Parker Case

By CLIFF SESSIONS United Press International

PARIS, a Negro truck driver accused of raping a young white woman, was dragged from his jail cell at Poplarville by a mob of masked men. He was shot to death and his body dumped in the Pearl River near Bogalusa, La.

The lawyer, who asked that his name not be used, told a UPI reporter he advised eight of his clients to plead the Fifth Amendment when questioned by U.S. attorneys about the abduction and murder last April 25 of Mack Charles Parker, 23. At least one witness questioned by the grand jury Monday said he followed the lawyer's advice.

The 23-man grand jury, which includes one Negro, began its investigation two months after a county grand jury at Poplarville, Miss., refused to take any action in the case.

Four witnesses, including the husband of the woman Parker was accused of raping, went before the grand jury Monday. The hearing was recessed while Jeff Lee, a young mechanic, was in the room, and Lee was the first witness today.

Lee said the FBI, which investigated the lynching for a month last summer, accused him of being in Hattiesburg, Miss., the day before Parker was abducted, "looking for somebody to join the gang." Lee said he had gone to Hattiesburg only to look for a job.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Corporate profits will hit a new all-time peak in 1960, studies by Standard & Poor's show.

The total is expected to exceed 27 billion dollars as against an estimated $23,600,000,000 in 1959, an increase of 15 per cent, the statistical research agency said.

"With steel output expected to rise by 35-40 per cent, compared with an over-all production increase of about 7 per cent, the earnings potential of this industry is exceptionally good."

The carryover of demand that could not be filled because of supply shortages in late 1959 will contribute to expanding earnings in automotive and metal fabricating lines, as well as in other steel-consuming industries, the agency reports.

Swift & Co. is a well-managed firm whose stock is selling substantially below its five-year average price-earnings ratio, says Van Alstyne, Noel & Co., which recommends purchase for immediate and long-range appreciation.

Richard T. Leahy of J. W. Sparks & Co. believes Beckman Instruments technically has met standards necessary for a recommendation and at the present time appears ready to stage a strong near-term upsurge.

There Is A Third Party In Politics

The Lighter Side By DICK WEST United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States, as every schoolboy knows, has three major political parties—Democrats, Republicans and women.

There is, of course, quite a bit of party-line crossing. Many women also are Democrats or Republicans or, as frequently happens, both.

In the news recently have been a Republican who surprised everybody by dropping out of the presidential race and two Democrats who surprised nobody by dropping in. In the interest of partisanship, I thought it was only fair to see what the women are up to.

Convenient for this purpose, the National Woman's Party is holding a convention here. For enlightenment of their activities, I was fortunate enough to contact Mrs. Amelia Himes Walker of Winter Park, Fla., the national chairman and one of the nicest ladies ever arrested for disturbing the peace.

I mention Mrs. Walker's police record only because she is proud of it. So are her eight grandchildren. One of them got up in school one day and boasted to his classmates that his grandmother had been in jail.

He neglected to mention that it happened 42 years ago when Mrs. Walker and 15 other ladies were picketing in front of the White House in behalf of woman's suffrage.

As she tells it, 15 burly cops—one for each lady—descended upon them, herded them into the "black maria" and escorted them to the calaboose. The police, however, were unable to make the charges stick.

A tiny, white-haired woman who takes 7 a.m. swims with the grandkids, Mrs. Walker related the experience with relish while explaining how the National Woman's Party came into being.

An outgrowth of the suffrage movement, the party has no candidates and only one line—to Zane Grey Theater. Burt Reynolds' Congress to approve a constitutional amendment giving women "equal rights" with men in all legal ways.

The ladies have been presenting this proposal to every session of Congress since 1923. This year they feel their patience finally will be rewarded.

When not sightseeing and laying waste to before states of deputized suffragettes, the delegates are buttonholing lawmakers to round up the few remaining votes necessary to put the amendment across.

They also are seeking statements of support from the various presidential candidates of the other two parties.

I asked Mrs. Walker whether she planned to do any picketing while she was in town. No, she said, the party doesn't go in for that sort of thing any more.

But from the gleam in her eye, I gathered that she sort of regretted it.

Foreign News

Foreign News Commentary By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign Editor

One of the pressing problems left unsolved by the recent Western summit conference in Paris was the dangerous economic division developing between Europe's "inner six" and "outer seven."

Aside from the nations directly involved, the conflict also represents a basically different approach to a United States of Europe as advocated by the United States of America on the one hand and Great Britain on the other.

Both the "inner six" and the "outer seven" are trade groups, set up to knock down tariff barriers within each group, while retaining trade barriers against each other.

In the "inner six" are West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg, with a total population of 170 million.

In the "outer seven" are Great Britain, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Switzerland, Austria and Portugal, with a population of 90 million.

While each is a trade group, the "inner six" actually goes much further than trade. Its members see it as the beginning of a program which will link Europe politically.

It has had the firm support of the United States on the theory that a united Europe would greatly strengthen the defensive capabilities of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance (NATO).

That it also might divide Europe had not been foreseen.

The division arises from the fact that the common market of the inner six also requires the surrender of a certain amount of sovereignty. This, Britain especially, was unwilling to do. The British believe that economic and political matters should remain separate.

Seeing itself thereby shut out from the common market and fearing the effects on its own trade, Britain therefore hastily set up the "outer seven."

Hence the economic war developing among the very nations upon which the United States must depend for its allies.

The U. S. presently exports more to the inner six than does any member of the outer seven. But it must do so now at a disadvantage as compared to any member of the trading group.

Cadillac

Silence is the Voice of Quality

Get behind the wheel of a new Cadillac car some day soon—point its handsome hood down your favorite stretch of highway—and listen!

Except for the occasional lullaby of the passing breeze, there will be literally nothing but silence to greet your ears.

But, oh, how meaningful that silence is!

For it speaks, with irrefutable logic, of the ingenuity of Cadillac design—and of the soundness of Cadillac engineering—and of the excellence and solid integrity of Cadillac craftsmanship.

And just as silence is the voice of quality in a motor car—so quality is the product of experience.

For almost six decades, Cadillac has devoted itself exclusively to the creation of the finest motor cars that the current automotive science would permit.

So rigid, in fact, has been Cadillac's adherence to the principles of quality that the two have become virtually inseparable in the public mind.

Never before, however, has this quest for perfection been as fruitful as for 1960.

In its styling and design, in its construction and assembly, and in its attention to detail—it is, far and away, the finest Cadillac yet.

We suggest that you see this new Cadillac—and drive it—and listen to it—very soon.

You'll find, we're certain, that the quiet of a Cadillac is the most eloquent sound in motordom.

Highways - Taxwise

Some years ago, a "tax expert" made quite an impression in a public argument respecting taxes on gasoline for highway construction. This savant pointed out: Gasoline taxes are paid by people who drive cars or trucks on the highway. 2. The taxes thus collected are paid in proportion to the usage made of highways. 3. Thus, these taxes are the most fair and just of all taxes, for they are paid by the persons who receive the benefits from the expenditure of the money.

Would that we could get more people to realize the necessity of competition as being stimulating to production. Competition is life. It is a struggle to develop, to survive.

I was especially impressed by this statement in an address made by Rt. Hon. Lord Grantchester at a luncheon of the Society for Individual Freedom at London, England. I have never been able to attend these meetings but I always read their speeches. The following is quoted from this speech by Lord Grantchester:

NEW YORK — There is, as such, precious little dancing in "The Sound of Music," since the story doesn't allow for prancing choruses and scampering maids.

There's a tiny moment of ballroom dancing, the seven kids have to move in concert from time to time and Mary Martin has to accomplish a few graceful steps.

A good dancer, maybe, but if you're a shotgun up Broadway at sunset you'd probably hit 47 good dancers. Maybe 67. One night a bunch of us were hacking things up and someone mentioned that a place in Pennsylvania called Tamiment did summer musicals and the choreography job was good pay."

Scientists Pulled Off Many Noble Projects

by HENRY McLEMORE

Our neighborhood scientific society — we meet on the Tuesday following each successful shot of one or more monkeys into space from Cape Canaveral — had a most interesting guest speaker recently.

Surprisingly, he voiced the opinion that this country is spending too much money and using too many brains in an effort to put a man on the moon. Particularly brains.

Dr. Klaut was months, maybe only days, away from a breakthrough on the problem of how to make new towels absorbent before they are sent to the laundry," our speaker said. He had been working on this problem since he was 22, or since the day he first tried to dry himself on a new towel and found he was just as wet when finished as when he started.

The Doctor Says:

by EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

If you were going to make a speech or testify in court you'd make certain the words you chose conveyed your exact meaning.

Most diagnoses are established or narrowed down to a relatively few possibilities by the patient's recital of the course and features of his illness.

Whether they do it intentionally or unintentionally, some patients omit details or give a wholly misleading history that may lead to errors which threaten their health. Here are some common examples of the unhappy results of this deception.

The high school miss who does not report pain in the lower right abdomen because she fears she might be prevented from going to the Junior Prom — and whose appendix bursts before she is seen by the physician.

The athlete who tries to "walk off" an injury to his leg for fear he'll be taken out of the game — and who converts a simple fracture into a compound break that has to be set by open surgery.

The apprehensive man who sends an emergency call to his doctor each time he hears or reads of an attack of coronary thrombosis. After answering multiple false alarms, the physician finishes what he is doing before responding to the call and discovers that the summons is genuine for the very first time.

Stocks Soar After Steel Strike News

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Dow Jones industrial average soared to a new record high on heavy trading on the stock exchange today in response to news of a settlement of the steel wage dispute.

Wall Street interpreted the settlement as inflationary and as a big aid to industry, which now could plan ahead for a boom in production during the first half of the year. On these two counts it was held the new pact would be a boon to the stock market.

Prices immediately responded to the news which caught the market in a strong position after closing 1959 at a new industrial record.

Net gains in the early trading ranged to more than $5 a share with the steel, railroad, automobile and electronic issues the best performers.

At the high the market showed an overall gain in valuation of all listed shares of around three billion dollars.

The Dow-Jones industrial average Monday stood at 663.67, up 4.31 points and a new record. Railroads which will benefit substantially from the steel settlement made a wider percentage gain than the industrials.

Trading in the first hour amounted to 1,140,000 shares, most for the period for about a year. At noon the sales total stood at 2,010,000 shares, contrasted with 1,560,000 on Thursday, the previous session.

Shortly after noon U.S. Steel was holding a gain of $3.75 a share, and Bethlehem Steel more than $2. Zenith was up $3.25 in the electronics. Auto held gains running to more than $1. Oils ruled stronger. Rails had advances of $1 to more than $2.

Compact Cars Reducing Demand For Accessories

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT (UPI)—The auto industry's accessory engineers are watching with an unfriendly eye the inroads being made by compact cars in America.

These engineers are working feverishly toward development of a central hydraulic system that would provide power for two to ten accessories on cars.

They feel this new system, which they have dreamed of for several years, will be ready for introduction on American cars in two to four years.

But the trend toward compact cars could throw a monkey wrench into their plans.

The new system would make it possible to reduce the cost and complexity of the power accessories on cars, would make installation of easier and would provide more trouble-free operation, all of which would make motorists more inclined to buy more power gadgets for their cars.

And in the mind of an accessory engineer a car loaded with power accessories engineer a car loaded with power accessories is the best kind of car.

The central hydraulic system could provide energy for power brakes, power steering, windshield wipers, window lifts, adjustable seats, convertible tops, clutches, starter, air conditioning, suspension system, level-ride gear, built-in jacks, electrical generator, gas tank fuel pump and fuel injection equipment.

All of these, the accessory engineer argues, would lessen driver fatigue and improve safety and reliability.

But if the trend toward more economical and functional cars continues, there would be less need for such a system. A motorist who puts economy ahead of comfort isn't apt to be in the market for many accessories.

And if the public isn't buying, the auto companies aren't going to invest as much in developing the central hydraulic system. This means the budgets of the accessory engineers will be cut and they won't be able to progress as rapidly.

Actually most of the technological work on this system has already been completed. No major engineering breakthroughs are needed but there is still a great deal of work needed to simplify the system and make it economical.

The engineers still have to develop a quiet, high-pressure pump, and a hydraulic fluid that will combine the characteristics of a brake fluid and a power steering fluid.

And when the new fluid is developed, legislation may be needed in as many as 14 states that now have laws specifying the types of fluids that can be used for car brakes.

Education Board To Spend Money For Treasury Bonds

AUSTIN (UPI)—The State Board of Education voted today to spend 13 million dollars of its cash balance and expected revenue on U.S. treasury bonds with maturities from 1964 to 1990.

Dr. J. W. Edgar, commissioner of education, called the bond purchase authorization an "unusually large amount," made possible by receipt of cash from state of Texas bonds and a December lease sale.

The board outlined the purchase schedule for three million dollars of treasury bonds to mature in February, 1961, three million dollars for August, 1966, five million dollars for November, 1974, and two million for February, 1990.

Members also voted to purchase $75,000 of unlimited tax school bonds from San Perita independent school district, with one to 12-year maturities.

Rockefeller 'Available'

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who bowed out of a head-on clash with Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination, today kept the door open for a possible draft.

The New York governor said his withdrawal from primary battles for the nomination did not preclude further trips throughout the country.

In answering a reporter's question as to whether he would accept a draft nomination, Rockefeller replied, smilingly: "There've been a lot of drafts in this country."

He declined to say whether he would support Nixon, although he disclosed he recently had talked with the vice president by telephone.

In quitting the presidential race, Rockefeller said he was convinced those who control the convention did not want a fight for the nomination.

Neo Nazis Active In West Berlin

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—Neo-Nazis Monday painted swastikas and anti-Jewish slogans on four West Berlin buildings and police set up guards around Jewish centers to guard against further vandalism.

The new reports came as Chancellor Konrad Adenauer prepared to meet with his cabinet on Wednesday to discuss the growing wave of anti-Semitism in West Germany. There also were reports the West German Parliament may debate the outbreak.

Berlin dispatches said the anti-Semitic vandalism took place in downtown West Berlin in the borough of Charlottenburg in the British sector. Buildings were defaced during the night and "Out with the Jews" slogans were discovered this morning.

Police paid particular attention to the acts in Berlin because 25 nationalists tried Sunday to rally around a Swastika-decorated flag in a park there. Nine were arrested and the rest fled. Today police posted guards around three synagogues, two schools and similar centers.

The rally was organized by a group calling itself the "National Youth of Germany" and police said many participants were members of the extreme right-wing "German Reichs Party." Two members of the party touched off the wave of anti-Semitism by daubing a Cologne church on Christmas Eve.

There are 7,500 Jews in West Berlin. Before the Nazis came to power there were 180,000.

Estes Succeeds Judge Dooley As District Judge

DALLAS (UPI)—Judge Joe Ewing Estes, 54, officially assumed the post of chief judge for the northern federal district of Texas today.

He succeeds Judge Joe E. Dooley of Amarillo, who retired as chief judge at the age of 70 as required by federal law. Dooley will remain on the bench as judge for the Amarillo area.

Judges Dooley, T. Whitfield Davidson and William Hawley Atty were all present today when Estes was installed in the new post at an official session if the Dallas federal district court.

Atwell and Davidson also a past the age of 70.

As he stepped down, Dooley predicted that in another decade Dallas will have three resident federal district judges.
