Fake Officers In Teamsters Suspected

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate racketeers investigators, who discovered phony Teamsters "paper locals" last year, believe now they have dredged up a case of "paper officers" in the big union. The committee today continued its investigation of Harold J. Gibbons, the St. Louis Teamsters vice president considered closest to the presidential throne occupied by James R. Hoffa.

While inquiring into the disputed election of Gibbons to head St. Louis Joint Council 13 of the Teamsters, the committee ran into Local 447, also called the Carnival and Allied Workers Union. That union's founder, Harry Karsh, and six of its officers cast the votes that gave Gibbons a 76-70 victory in the joint council election last January. Karsh was pictured as a favored protégé of Gibbons.

The new discovery came Thursday when the committee called president Vernon F. Kohn and two of the Local 447 officers, president Vernon F. Kohn and secretary-treasurer Harold L. Brocies. They testified they lived in Tampa, Fla., not St. Louis where the local is headquartered, and that they were appointed by Karsh, not elected by the membership. The appointments were made by telephone just before the joint council election.

Further, Kohn testified, he didn't know the first thing about the joint council, had never seen Local 447's books and wasn't even sure where the union's office was located.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Kohn and his fellow officers actually were "foremen" working as operators of various "kiddie rides" for Royal American Shows, and weren't even union members in good standing because they paid dues only six months a year.

The committee called Karsh, but got no information other than his name and address. He refused to answer 52 other questions on grounds he might incriminate himself.

In addition to the traffic death toll, the holiday also will see an estimated 12,000 persons suffer disabling injuries, the council said. If motorists "hold" the toll to 430 killed, it would be the lowest Labor Day holiday figure since 1954 when 368 persons died in traffic. Last year, United Press International counted 443 persons killed on the highways.

Underlining the seriousness of the anticipated highway carnage is the all-out mobilization of police and safety officials in an effort to keep the toll to a minimum.

There will be no vacation for most of the country's police officers and in many states National Guardsmen have been ordered out to beef up state and city police units.

Illinois officials have issued a "Traffic Condition Red" alert for the holiday, aimed at warning motorists of highway hazards. The state's 1,100-man state police force and three air patrols have been ordered out to crack down on speeders, drunk drivers and traffic violators.

In Iowa, state officials have asked 10,000 clergymen to make this Sunday "Traffic Safety Sunday" by stressing from the pulpit "the individual's moral responsibility for safe driving."

The council said its estimate of 420 fatalities compares with a normal toll of 350 deaths during a similar non-holiday period at this time of year.

Stores Here To Observe Holiday

Most of the businesses in Pampa will be closed Monday, Labor Day, according to B. M. "Bonny" Behrman, head of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce merchant's activities committee.

The stores will observe regular closing hours Saturday and regular opening hours Tuesday, Behrman said.

This is one of the six holidays annually observed by the chamber and marked on the merchants' activities committee calendar.

Six Carriers Near Formosa

Navy Orders Giant 'Midway' To Area

By CHARLES CORDRY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Navy ordered the giant carrier Midway to the Formosa area today. The move brings to six the number of carriers operating with the 7th fleet in the far Pacific.

The Navy said the carrier force will be maintained at this strength for at least another week or two.

The Midway sailed from Honolulu accompanied by the Navy cruiser Los Angeles.

Reinforcement of the 7th fleet in the face of Red China's menacing activities in the Formosa straits brings its total strength to 53 combat ships.

The Navy did not say how many airplanes were aboard the Midway. The 45,000-ton carrier is able to handle up to 100 aircraft.

Authoritative sources reported meantime that U.S. Pacific forces have given their jet pilots permission to pursue attacking Red planes across most of the Formosa Straits.

BULLETIN

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Communist Chinese artillery blasted the Nationalist-held Quemoy islands again today in what some sources said was a pre-invasion bombardment.

The sources told United Press International the Pacific command has relaxed the "hot pursuit" boundary line that in the past strait a haven for Red Chinese made part of the embattled strait a haven for Red Chinese jets.

The report came as the State Department warned the Reds that it would be folly for them to carry out their new threat to invade the Nationalist-held offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

The former "hot pursuit" boundary line generally followed the Red-held mainland at distances ranging from 25 to 30 miles from shore.

It was understood the new pursuit line order would not extend to the mainland itself, but details were not revealed.

Meanwhile, several Nationalist Chinese government offices have begun evacuating Taipei to suburban areas as a precaution against expected Communist air raids, the official government information office disclosed today.

The move was announced shortly after Premier Chen Cheng called on the nation to "prepare for any crisis," including the bombing of Formosa, and as the Nationalists defied around-the-clock Communist demands it surrender the offshore islands.

Judges Hit FBI Head's Statement

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)

Judges throughout the nation sharply disagreed today with FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's statement the nation's youth is "going to the dogs."

Rather, the judges felt, today's youth is better informed, more inclined to religion and more law-abiding than previous generations.

The jurists came to the defense of the younger generation Thursday in a resolution passed by the Advisory Council of Judges of the National Probation and Parole Assn., meeting in conjunction with the American Bar Assn.

The resolution deplored Hoover's statements before the ABA this week about juvenile crime.

Hoover said the nation had tried understanding, now it was the time for stricter control.

"We believe that in his speech to the ABA, Mr. Hoover stated or implied three fundamental fallacies," the judges declared.

"1—That there is a general breakdown of law and order amongst the present youth of America as contrasted with earlier generations.

"2—That the satisfactory and complete answer to crime is a 'get tough' policy with primary emphasis upon the use of iron bars as a tool for correction.

"3—That there is an increase in crime which is directly attributed to 'failure' of the juvenile courts and our probation and parole system."

The resolution, approved by 44 juvenile, criminal and appellate court judges, held that none of the propositions were true.

New York DA Is Questioning TV Quiz Show Producers

NEW YORK (UPI)—District Attorney Frank Hogan said he would question today the producers of the big money TV quiz show "Twenty-One" and the former contestant who charges he was cheated.

Hogan, who is investigating two yet-unnamed quiz shows besides "Twenty-One" and the defunct show "Dotto," said he would question about a dozen persons today about charges of rigging.

Hogan said Thursday he has not found any evidence that would require grand jury action. He said there did not appear to be any law against fixing a quiz show unless it could be shown the sponsor had been defrauded.

No Basis For Complaint

"I don't think the people viewing have any basis to lodge a complaint under the penal law although they have a right to be angry," he said.

Hogan said if it proves to be true some shows were fixed "it might be proper to recommend legislation or to send the matter to the Federal Communications Commission."

The National Broadcasting Company, which carries "Twenty-One" said Thursday night the charges made by Stempel "first came to our attention over a year ago."

"At that time we made an investigation and found them (the charges) to be utterly baseless and untrue," NBC said. "We are completely convinced of the integrity of 'Twenty-One' as a program and of the integrity of its producers, Barry and Enright."

"Dotto" Investigated

Stempel won $60,000 on the program before he lost to Charles Van Doren, who went on to win $29,000 before he was unseated by Vivian Nearing. Van Doren said he never had any reason to doubt the integrity of the show.

High Winds, Tides

'Daisy' Hovers Near US Coast

By IRWIN KRAKOWSKY
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Severe" Hurricane Daisy swept north-northeastward early today off the Maryland coast and the North-eastern Seaboard was warned to prepare for high winds and tides and coastal floods.

The full force of the hurricane was not expected to hit the mainland.

Daisy, with top winds of 125 miles per hour, was located about 140 miles east of Ocean City, Md., at 3 a.m., e.d.t., the U.S. Weather Bureau at Boston said. It was moving north-northeast at 20 m.p.h.

The hurricane will turn more to the northeast, the Weather Bureau said, and will pass close to the southeast of Nantucket Island, which is off Massachusetts, early in the afternoon.

In Washington, the storm caused President Eisenhower to delay a decision on when to leave for a Newport, R. I., vacation. He had planned to leave by plane in mid-morning.

Hurricane warnings were up from Provincetown, Mass., to the tip of Cape Cod; to Block Island, R. I. Winds were expected to increase in this area to 60 to 75 m.p.h., weathermen said. Winds of 74 m.p.h. or more are considered hurricane strength.

A hurricane watch was in effect in Connecticut and eastern Long Island.

400 Attend Barbecue

Four hundred Top o' Texas Hereford Breeders' Association members, their families, and 200 guests gathered at Rube Thompson Park east of Miami on highway 60 Thursday evening to view cattle, pig, and cake judging contests and to eat barbecue.

Rev. Dick Crews, pastor of the First Christian Church here, spoke to the group following the barbecue. Awards were presented to contest winners by Clyde Carruth, president of the association, Mrs. Cliff Vincent of Lufkin and Mrs. Paul Callihan of Conway judged the seven senior calves and the eight junior calves. Carruth, in presenting the judges to the group, announced that "These two always sit on the sidelines at all the Hereford judging contests and place the cattle the way they ought to be. . . . So today we're giving them an opportunity to do the judging themselves."

Placings by the two judges were as follows: Senior calves: first, Marvella Forrest of Canadian; second, Miss Forrest; third, Terry McCaslin of Wheeler; fourth, Russell Maddox of Miami; fifth, Dean Sims of Wheeler; sixth, Mike McCormick of Miami; and seventh, Miss Forrest, Junior Calves: first, Richard Kiker of Allison; second, Butch Thompson of Miami; third, Kay Maddox of Miami; fourth, Leonard Keeton of Canadian; fifth, Warren Burton of Canadian; sixth, Joe Wheatley of Pampa; seventh, Sharon Wheatley of Pampa; and eighth, Shelby Burton Canadian. Miss Forrest's calf, an October steer named "Clyde," was adjudged grand champion of the show. Miss Forrest said he is named for Hereford raiser Clyde (See 400, Page 3)

Faubus Out-Maneuvers Court

By JACK V. FOX
United Press International

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Gov. Orval Faubus appeared today to have maneuvered the U.S. Supreme Court into a spot where it may not decide on integration in Little Rock's Central High until after the school has opened with white students only.

A special session of the Arkansas Legislature was set to recess today after voting Faubus personal power to close Central if it is faced with Negro integration.

The lawmakers also passed a bill delaying Central's opening until Sept. 15. Chief Justice Earl Warren announced late Thursday the Supreme Court would meet Monday in Little Rock to consider the date of Central's opening. He would not say what recommendation he would make to the board.

Warren said in announcing the delay the court had assurances Central would not open until Sept. 15. But it was learned members of the board and their attorneys claimed none of them gave the

"Until I sign the bill which provides for the opening of the school on Sept. 15, the school opening will be in the hands of the school board," Faubus, told a press conference.

"You can ask them when school will open."

The school board already has announced Little Rock schools will open on Sept. 8, three days before the next Supreme Court hearing.

Faubus' action put squarely on the hot seat School Superintendent Virgil T. Blossom with whom the governor has feuded since last September.

Will Meet Monday

court any "assurance" about the date.

Blossom will have tough sledding if he tries to delay the opening.

Won't Sign Under Pressure

United Press International asked a source close to the governor why Faubus did not sign into law the bills he himself had requested so vehemently in his opening speech to the special session.

"The bills were passed in an emotional crisis and under pressure," the informant said. "The governor does not want to sign them under pressure."

He would have no necessity to use the bills at all if the Supreme Court would uphold the stay granted by Justice Gardner and order a full-dress review of the case.

Board was to tell a federal judge today whether it plans to enroll any of 151 Negroes in white schools under court order.

Officials at Charlottesville, Va., decided Thursday night to delay opening of the Charlottesville schools for two weeks while an attempt is made to answer legal questions involving the racial issue. White schools at both Norfolk and Charlottesville must, under state law, close if Negroes enroll. The delay was decided upon to give school officials time to consider whether to follow court orders and see the schools closed or disregard the federal mandate and run the risk of contempt citations.

In Greensboro, N.C., five Negro students were turned down in their efforts to enroll at an all-white school and another in which whites predominate. Two Negroes were "cleared" to enter white schools earlier this year along with five, and possibly six, whose applications were carried forward from last year when schools were integrated for the first time.

US Heads Into Last Big Summer Fling

United Press International

The nation heads into its last big family fling of the summer, the Labor Day holiday, this week-end with a warning that about one person per 100,000 cars may be marked for death on the highways.

The National Safety Council has estimated as many as 420 persons may be killed in traffic during the three-day vacation which begins tonight at 6 p.m. and ends at midnight Monday.

About 45 million cars will crowd streets and highways over the holiday.

In addition to the traffic death toll, the holiday also will see an estimated 12,000 persons suffer disabling injuries, the council said.

If motorists "hold" the toll to 430 killed, it would be the lowest Labor Day holiday figure since 1954 when 368 persons died in traffic. Last year, United Press International counted 443 persons killed on the highways.

Underlining the seriousness of the anticipated highway carnage is the all-out mobilization of police and safety officials in an effort to keep the toll to a minimum.

The council said its estimate of 420 fatalities compares with a normal toll of 350 deaths during a similar non-holiday period at this time of year.

Stores Here To Observe Holiday

Most of the businesses in Pampa will be closed Monday, Labor Day, according to B. M. "Bonny" Behrman, head of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce merchant's activities committee.

The stores will observe regular closing hours Saturday and regular opening hours Tuesday, Behrman said.

This is one of the six holidays annually observed by the chamber and marked on the merchants' activities committee calendar.

29 Deaths In Texas Seen Over Weekend

Texas Highway Patrol Sgt. E. G. (Butch) Albers, Jr., Friday warned that Department of Public Safety officials expect the Texas death toll to reach 29 over the Labor Day weekend.

During the weekend, Operation Motocycle will be in operation which will include "round-the-clock traffic surveillance" by department officials and employees.

Sgt. Albers said all available men will be on duty and are scheduled to work extra hours.

"We ask the motoring public to give all traffic law enforcement officers its cooperation in driving safely and in reporting all erratic driving to the nearest officers or their headquarters," Sgt. Albers concluded.

Archway Of Blue Tapers Nuptial Scene For Carolyn Gurley And Phil Goostree

PERRYTON—Miss Carolyn Gurley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Gurley and Phil Goostree, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Goostree, Sayre, Okla., pledged wedding vows in the Perryton First Baptist Church on August 16 with Rev. Carroll B. Ray performing the ceremony.

Double-ring vows were repeated before an archway of candelabra holding blue tapers entwined with greenery and centered with three gold wedding bells. The archway was flanked with baskets of gold chrysanthemums and blue tapers in branched candelabra.

Mrs. Don Gurley, bride's sister-in-law, pianist, played a medley of nuptial airs and accompanied Miss Sondra Gardener of Quinlan, Okla., as she sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "Because."

BRIDE

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of white silk organza and lace underlined with net and satin. The molded bodice was fashioned with a scoop neckline accented with heavy embroidered lace and shirred short sleeves, which were complemented with mitts of the same material as the gown.

The bouffant skirt was designed with insets of embroidered lace on either side and extended into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of imported French illusion fell in tiers from a half-hat of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a white Bible crested with a white orchid encircled with tiny red rosebuds and white net showered with white satin ribbon and rose-buds.

Davy Lee Gurley, nephew of the bride and Cathy Gurley, niece, were miniature bride and bridegroom. Miss Gurley's gown and bouquet were identical to the bride's. Davy Lee wore a white jacket and navy blue trousers identical to the bridegroom's.

Mrs. Charles Gift, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a white length gown of light blue taffeta accented by a sash of light blue chiffon. She carried a cascade bouquet of gold chrysanthemums showered with gold ribbon streamers.

Bridesmaids were Misses Charleen Selby and Marilyn Reitz, wearing gowns of royal blue taffeta and chiffon identical to the matron of honor's. They carried nosegays of gold carnations and white ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Theron Tankersley and Ray Castle lighted the candles. Mrs. Tankersley's dress was identical to the other attendants and she wore a wristlet of gold asters.

Misses Peggy and Patty Gurley, nieces of the bride, were flower girls.

Randy Gurley and Mike Gift, bride's nephews, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Bob Williams attended the bridegroom as best man. Groomsman were Don Hulsey and Don Gurley, bride's brother, Edlon Gurley, bride's brother, was an usher.

The bride's mother wore a light blue dress trimmed with beads at the neckline and accessories of white. Mrs. Goostree chose a dress of light blue silk over brocaded taffeta with white accessories. Their corsages were of gold asters tied in gold.

Guests were registered by Miss Jo Anna Gradener of Quinlan, Okla.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church, following the ceremony.

For a wedding trip to Colorado, the bride chose a blue and white two-piece dress with white accessories and a white orchid from the "bride's bouquet." Mr. and Mrs. Goostree will be at home in Goodwell, Okla., where both will attend Panhandle A&M College.

The bride was graduated from Perryton High School and attended Mary Hardin-Baylor at Belton and PAMC. Mr. Goostree was graduated from Sayre High School; attended Oklahoma A&M; and PAMC.

Low Calorie Mushrooms Star in Cooked Shrimp Salad

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

Because canned mushrooms are low in calories yet high in gourmet appeal, they belong naturally in many August menus. You'll welcome this delicious Alhambra Salad with its shrimp, mushroom and vegetable flavors. Has only about 110 calories per serving.

Mushroom Salad-Alhambra (6-8 generous servings)

Two envelopes unflavored gelatin, 1 cup bouillon or consommé, 2-3 cup water, 1 clove garlic, mashed; 2 firm ripe tomatoes, peeled; 1 cucumber, peeled and seeded; 2 small white onions, in rings; 1 small green pepper, chopped; 2 cans (4-ounce) sliced mushrooms, 1 tablespoon olive oil, 4 tablespoons wine vinegar, generous dash hot pepper sauce, 1/4 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper, salt to taste, 1 pound shrimp, cooked; 1 package frozen asparagus spears, cooked; greens and other garnish.

Soften gelatin in a little of the combined consommé and water. Heat with remaining liquid and 4 garlic clove until dissolved. Cool.

Remove garlic. Carefully dice tomatoes, saving a few good sized pieces for garnish. Chop cucumber and prepare other vegetables as indicated. In each case save a few pieces for garnish. Drain mushrooms, reserving liquid. Combine cooled gelatin liquid with prepared vegetables, olive oil, vinegar and seasonings. Taste and add salt if indicated. Turn into a ring mold and chill until firm. To serve, turn ring out on large platter and surround with cooked and chilled shrimp and asparagus. Fill center of vegetable ring with chopped greens and reserved vegetables. Garnish with additional chopped greens or have them ready for service in a separate bowl. Serve with a low-calorie yogurt dressing for dieters — or a favorite French dressing for nondieters.

Low-Calorie Dressing: Stir together 1 container unflavored yogurt, 2 tablespoons wine vinegar, 2 tablespoons mushroom liquid (reserved), and 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Season lightly with pepper sauce or cayenne, salt, pepper, etc.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a man of 29 who is in a predicament. I am in love with two women. They are mother and daughter. The daughter is 17 and her mother is 35. Actually I prefer the mother. She is only six years older than me while I am 12 years older than the daughter. Please don't tell me I should have my head examined but I know I could be happy with either one of them. They are both very much in love with me and I can't seem to make up my mind. Which one should I choose?

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: Absolutely not! Get in touch with your family Service Association.

FISHERMAN BILL

DEAR BILL: Marrying one and being related to the other could present problems you didn't count on. Change your location and fish off another dock.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: Whenever I try to discipline our children, the wife steps in and tells me I am wrong. When I criticize the children for anything, the wife gets into the act and tries to make me look small. She thinks she is winning the children over but I think she is mixing them up. She says she is the one who has to stay home with them all day and if I make them mean they take it out on her. How do you live with a wife like that?

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 years old and am in love with the most wonderful boy in the world. He gets out in two years. My parents fight with me all the time because they don't want me to wait for him. They try to get me to go out with other boys, but Abby, I am IN LOVE with this guy and I don't want to date anybody else. I sleep with his picture under my pillow and I think about him all the time. Do you think my parents have a right to keep after me? How can I get them to leave me alone?

MAN OR MOUSE

DEAR MAN: Your wife should stay out of the act — even when she thinks you are wrong. A woman who causes a man to wonder whether he is a man or mouse shouldn't be surprised if he turns into a rat.

VERY MUCH IN LOVE

DEAR VERY: One of my readers has the answer for you and here it is:

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend and I are having an argument. Which is worn first on the finger, the wedding band or the engagement ring? And why, please?

DEAR ABBY: I am just 16 and for the past year I thought I was "in love" and now that it is all over I can see if I had listened to my mother I would have been going out and enjoying life and dating a lot of people and having fun like a 16-year-old girl should. All these girls of 14, 15, and 16 think their folks are unfair because they want them to go with lots of boys, and not see too much of any one. They had better slow down and remember that their folks know a lot more about life than they do and God would not have given us parents if we were able to get along without them.

JOSIE AND FLORA

DEAR GIRLS: The wedding band is slipped on first, and then the engagement ring. I don't know why, and no one whom I have asked knows why, either.

It's a little early for a "snow job." Change your technique.

Spot Bandages Hide Blemishes

By ALICIA HART

NEA Beauty Editor

When an otherwise flawless skin pops a blemish on the night of a big dinner date, it's enough to make a girl want to stay home.

But since this sort of thing happens often, it's best not to give in to it. The first thing to do is to get busy drying it up. And a remedy that your mother used, which is still excellent, is one sold at any pharmacy: spirits of camphor. This takes care of a pimple, bump or blemish in a matter of hours. Meanwhile, don't touch the spot or squeeze it.

If you feel that the spot must be covered, you'll be cheered to know that there are some new spot bandages for tiny blemishes which are flash-colored. They have a sheer plastic backing and come in patches and strips, too.

Using one of these tiny spot bandages to mask a blemish, you can go through an evening feeling and looking attractive.

Children's Camp Counselor Speaks To Lions Club Here

Miss Classia Blakesley stole the show with a short speech at the downtown Pampa Lions Club meeting yesterday, as she spoke on the work of the Lions' Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville. A. S. O. Lion F. D. Montgomery introduced the boys of the Lions' sponsored air rifle club. The Crippled Children's Camp has operated for six summers and last year had an attendance of 743, according to Miss Blakesley. Although some children have spent part of all six summers at Kerrville, new children will be given first priority, she stated. The camp is not limited to crippled children but will take in any child with a hearing, speech or other defect. "Financial status has nothing to do with their coming to camp," Miss Blakesley added. During the two week summer sessions, there are 60 counselors for 120 children. Most of these are juniors or seniors in college as well as school teachers. The children swim twice a day, work in arts and crafts and take one overnight camping trip. In the summer, Miss Blakesley works as a psychologist counselor; in the fall she becomes coordinator of the adult visual rehabilitation program.

Counselors work with the visually handicapped very intensively for three months, teaching cane travel, orientation, and braille. "Counseling is important," says Miss Blakesley, who is blind herself. "They must learn to accept loss of sight." The rehabilitation program is aimed at making them "tax payers instead of tax recipients." Typing, dictaphone and homemaking skills are among those taught. Lion Montgomery reported on the activities of the boys in the air rifle club, one of whom, Tony Bowman, has attained the Distinguished Rifleman stage, the highest award made by the National Rifle Association. To do this he had to score five bulls eyes per target in 40 targets. The air rifle club received its Lions Club charter last June. It is open to any boy or girl, 8-15. "We had one girl for a while," said Montgomery, "and she was a fine shot, as the boys well know." The club has a membership of 15, who must abide by the Air Rifle code to stay in the club.

Curfew Imposed The Nationalists clamped a five-hour curfew on the major cities of Formosa during the night and police and soldiers carried out a house-by-house search for Communist agents. For security reasons there was no announcement of the number arrested. Communist shore batteries bombarded the Quemoy Islands for the seventh straight day while Peiping Radio broadcast surrender demands around the clock to the Nationalist garrisons on Quemoy and on Matsui, 120 miles to the north. The United States rushed another giant aircraft carrier to the Formosa Straits from Honolulu and repeated its warning to Peiping it would be "folly" for them to carry out their new threat of invasion. Another warning to the Communists was voiced in Seoul, Korea, by U. S. Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker who advised Russia and Communist China to heed the warnings of U. S. government leaders against carrying out aggressive action in the Formosa Strait.

The spokesman said the Atlas hurtled "right down the rifle barrel onto the bullseye — a pre-determined target position in the South Atlantic." It was learned that unless a major high development in further short-range tests, an Atlas will be launched on a 5,500-mile flight late in September or early in October. Here... at last! The most significant development in jewelry design since the introduction of the 58-facet diamond. We've taken our cue from the stars and created a diamond series as brilliant as the galaxies that inspired it! Secondary diamonds are mounted beneath larger diamonds to heighten their brilliance through prismatic light reflection. So effective is the new process that the center diamond reflects almost twice the usual amount of light. A 30-day trial will convince you!

Interracial Work Camp Draws Students From Ten States

(Special to The News)
HAWKINS — A rough site on the Sabine River was transformed into a recreation and retreat area for Jarvis-Christian College this summer during an interracial Disciples Student Fellowship work camp.

Twenty college-age young people, more than half of them white, attended the month-long camp, which closed Friday at the Negro church-related school.

They cleared brush around a backwater lake, erected an open shelter, built an outdoor worship center, constructed docks and cleaned a spot in the lake for swimming.

Work campers included white students from 10 states, Negroes, an Austrian girl and a Japanese boy.

Developing recreation and retreat facilities for the Negro college was only the "physical project" of the camp, stressed Director Robert Story of Nashville, Tenn.

"As the students worked together, they learned to understand each other and gained insights into the Christian community's responsibility in race relations," Story said.

The youth made a sign for the truck they rode from the Jarvis campus to the work site. It said, "The Church at Work Through Students."

After eight-hour working days the campers conducted worship and study sessions at night.

The students tried to relate Christianity to their physical labor, where severe adjustments had to be made, and to the problems brought up in group discussions," Story said.

In preparation for their work camp experience many of the students had participated for several months in a prayer and reading program, the director said.

Interdenominational and international as well as interracial, the camp included Ikki Matsumoto of Tokyo, Japan, and Miss Doris Kimmel of Vienna, Austria.

The camp was sponsored by the United Christian Missionary Society, an international board of Christian education and world missions of the Disciples of Christ, and the Texas Board of Christian Churches.

Workers other than Matsumoto and Miss Kimmel were Donald Anderson, Duncan, Okla.; Jerry Clay, Mineral Wells; Miss Sharilyn Cooper, Iowa City, Iowa; Miss Wilma Faye Durbin, Richmond, Ky.; David Huland, Jackson, Miss.; Miss Aberstine Jewett, Tyler; Mack Duff Johnson, Lufkin; Miss Hazel M. Kantola, Waukegan, Ill.; and Miss Annie Lyles, Palestine.

Also Miss Elise Norris, Bowling Green, Ky.; Obie Phillips, Neches; Miss Joyce Powers, Jamesville, N. C.; Charles Selee, Fort Collins, Colo.; Miss Georgia Smith, Gilson, Miss.; Miss Janet Elizabeth Stone, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Leon Turner, Hope, Ark.; and Miss Connie Wylie, Kentucky.

Rev. and Mrs. Russell West ... on Preaching Mission

The Wests Leave On Missions

On Thursday, Rev. and Mrs. Russell G. West, who have been visiting in and around Pampa during August, left for their fall Evangelistic Program. Rev. West, who lived in Pampa from 1939 to 1951 and served as pastor of the Church of the Brethren, is now engaged in a four-year nationwide preaching mission for the Church of the Brethren.

His fall program will include nine preaching missions through Indiana, Virginia, West Virginia, and Kansas. The Wests are booked up through 1960. They have two sons in Pampa, Russell Jr. and Don. Both of the Wests have taught in the Pampa schools, and their four children graduated from the Pampa High School.

TWO FOR REVIVAL
Homer Martinez, left, and Billy Bob Moore, appear during the revival they are conducting in the Pampa Central Baptist Church. Martinez is the evangelist and Moore the song leader but Moore has been known to lead revivals himself; Martinez went to Southwestern Seminary via Georgetown College in Kentucky. He is in his last year of Seminary. (News Photo)

Baptist Evangelist Tells Of Early Conversion

Conducted revivals—from Jamestown, N.Y. to Los Angeles, Calif. Only this summer he brought revivals to Alabama, Kentucky, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Florida and Texas. Martinez is not through. He will leave Pampa for a revival in Memphis, Tenn.

Martinez preached his first sermon at the age of 11, in the San Antonio mission where he was converted when he was five. "When God Spoke Spanish" is the story of his conversion.

Doing revival work in Kentucky, Martinez came to the attention of Georgetown leaders and was invited to attend college there, which he did, but returned to Texas for his seminary training rather than attending Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky.

With his Memphis revival at an end he will go back to Southwestern for his year as a senior but will fly to Amarillo for a speaking engagement in September.

Church Of The Nazarene Will Laud Pioneers

(Special to The News)
KANSAS CITY — Fifty-three Texans are among the 389 living pioneers in the Church of the Nazarene which is celebrating its denominational golden anniversary this year. All the pioneers have been members continuously for 50 years or longer and will be especially honored.

There are 286 Nazarene churches in Texas with a total of approximately 16,000 members.

Of the 389 living pioneers, 103 are ordained elders and of these 24 are women. There are 48 couples. They are the survivors of 10,414 persons who joined and formed the denomination at union services held at Pilot Point, Texas, Oct. 13, 1908.

Pioneers able to attend the great church-wide ceremonies at Pilot Point next Oct. 13 will be honored at that time. They also will be honored in their respective churches on anniversary Sunday, Oct. 12.

The original Nazarene church was founded in Los Angeles in 1855 by Dr. Phineas F. Bresee, and California has 89 living pioneers. Massachusetts has 31 and Oklahoma, 18.

The Nazarene church is something of a phenomenon in that it is not the result of a split-off from another group, but the merging of many independent holiness bodies in 1908. Five additional small denominations and groups have joined the Nazarenes since.

In the Wesleyan tradition, Nazarenes stand for the conservation and spread of the doctrine of entire sanctification. It has been the fastest growing holiness denomination in modern history and now has 330,000 members in 5,000 churches.

Among the pioneers in West Texas is Rev. Lula Ann Williams, Shamrock.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

AUSTIN T. MOORE
Pastor of the Church of the Nazarene

FAITH AS WE PRAY

TEXT: Therefore I say unto you, what things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them Mk. 11. 24.

What are some of the requirements for effective praying.

1. The first is genuineness. Rev. Thomas E. Hill says, among the most deading blights on true prayer are monotony, mistaken piety, superficial imitation. Few escape the peril of pretense.
2. A second requirement of effective prayer is expectancy. Jesus praying in the Garden of Gethsemane showed this, expectancy, confidence in God, Have faith in God.
3. A third requirement is surrender. Jesus loved life. Yet his Gethsemane prayer said, Nevertheless, thy will be done. Not what I will, but what thou wilt.
4. And we see a fourth requirement of prayer visible in Gethsemane scene is its issuing in practical deeds. True prayer must lead to action. So if we are to pray effectually and forcible, we are to pray in genuineness, in expectancy, in surrender, in the practical deeds of prayerful living. All this is realized through faith as we pray. What so ever things ye desire when ye pray, believe. So faith brings the victory. When our faith in God becomes a dominant factor in our daily lives, in our daily praying, it works in us many transformations. Faith is the power in our praying. Faith as we pray links us with divine wisdom. It does for us and through us much that nothing else can accomplish. It gives strength in temptation, it gives comfort in time of sorrow, it provides guidance in time of perplexity. It gives victory as we pray. Faith is the Victory. It overcomes the world. It lifts us above its example, influence and spirit. Faith as we pray will bring us the victory for every spiritual need, it will satisfy our ever spiritual hungar, our every spiritual desire. What things so ever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them. So let us have faith as we pray.

3 Teams Tie For 1st In Pro-Am Shooting

Top O' Texas Qualifying Today; Buffet Set Tonight

Rick Pezdirtz

purely paydirt

By RICK PEZDIRTZ
Daily News Sports Editor

If Thursday's West Texas Pro-Am results are anything of what's expected when they start playing for keeps in the 22nd annual Top O' Texas Golf Tournament here Saturday, you can head for cover right now. Three teams wound up in a dead heat for top money in Thursday's Pro-Am, all carding 120 points on the basis of one point for each bogey, two for a par, three for a birdie and four for an eagle. However, it took a late ruling from tournament officials to accomplish the three-way deadlock. A team captained by Tascosa Country Club pro Johnny Austin, reported a 121 score to the present and that would have meant a one-stroke verdict, but it was discovered a penalty stroke on a water hazard had not been counted and a point was clipped from the team of Austin, Joe Dunlap, Ben McClendon, and Bob Hardy. The other two teams tying for first were made up of Bob Guise, Pat Jones, Hedy Moore and Orval Reynolds plus Leslie Howard, Jim Deaton, Chunky Leonard and Coy Howard.

Match-O-Gram

120 — Leslie Howard, Jim Deaton, Chunky Leonard, Coy Howard.

PETE ELLIOTT
...oh drat him!

The class will now stand and clasp noses firmly between thumb and forefinger, whilst we inspect closer the pretty kettle of fish on the West Coast. It ain't exactly the most peaceful territory in the universe, at that, David O. Seltzer is always having the boom at Joe Pasteurize, or Jerry Lewis is spiking Dean Martin's spaghetti soup with lye, or somebody is pushing somebody else in the swimming pool or the face.

The natives are usually restless in never-never land. Its chief athletic organization, the Pacific Coast Conference, has ever been a hotbed of indigestion. Intramural Sniping has been one of its favorite sports. There were such blights as the Slush Fund and other recruiting scandals and punishments. "You tell on me and I'll tell on you," has been a popular theme.

Finally, the conference got a divorce from itself earlier this month. Washington, UCLA, Southern California and California tidied up in clean aprons and started another little family. The new family was exactly 48 hours old when the old slashing started again.

Have You No Respect...

George Dickerson has only been at the UCLA helm about ten days. He assured the chores when his boss, Red Sanders, struck out on a heart attack. George, who's big as a b a i anyway, didn't waste time buckling on his sword and going dragon-hunting. He caused several faces to turn quite red. He accused the University of California with illegal recruiting at a funeral, Red Sanders' funeral at that, which heaped insult to injury. Young citizen named Bill Kilmer had already agreed to pursue his higher education at UCLA. Young citizen Kilmer approached by old citizen Herman Weiner, who tried to cram large coarse bank notes in young citizen's pocket. Old citizen Weiner is closely associated with the University of California. Young citizen Kilmer says unhand me you villain, and escapes to the comforting arms of George Dickerson. This is all highly unethical, says George Dickerson, whether at a funeral or an Elks picnic. So George and young citizen Kilmer fly to Berkeley, Calif., to confront Pete Elliott, the California coach.

Somebody's Lying Someplace

Herman Weiner is identified as president of the Southern Seas, a fancy name for a group identified as a Recruiting Agency for California U. That's what it said, a Recruiting Agency, like the Marines at the post office. You think they don't do things on a grand scale in California, hey? Dickerson tells Elliott in no uncertain terms. Your Recruiting Agency should ought to lay off my boys, at their coach's funeral, or anywhere else, says Elliott.

George. Dern you anyway. Elliott says I know nothing about this, but leave us keep it under our respective caps and I will tell Weiner to halt his Recruiting Agency in your neighborhood. Temporarily, at least sez Elliott. Weiner, in the meantime, says it is a bare-faced carnard. He sees young citizen Kilmer at the funeral all right, but all he says to him is howdydo and how is your mother and have you read any good books of late?

Whereas, The Whistle Is Blown

But, instead of keeping this business under his hat, Dickerson informs the newspapers of his charges. They leap upon it with gleeful typewriters. Elliott roars in the fashion of a wounded lion. Dickerson has broken the Silence they had agreed upon. That ain't no way to act.

Even Dickerson's boss, UCLA athletic director Wilbur Johns, said his new coach was talking when he should have been listening. The young conference blushes furiously. So this is where the thickened plot stands right now: Dickerson and Elliott, sweating under the noon sun, face each other on the dusty, deserted street. Their hands are poised like talons, above their holsters as they stalk, stiff-legged and grim, toward the center of the set. Frightened faces of the townspeople peer through the dim windows of the Recruiting Agency. The clock strikes twelve. There's a double explosion of six-shooters. We'll have another sack of popcorn, please. It's a B picture all right, but Kim Novak might come along in the next reel and save the day from being a total loss.

Ezzard Wins

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI) — Former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles was one step further along his "serious" comeback trail today after defeating Johnny Harper of Steubenville, Ohio, in a slow-moving bout here. The 37-year-old Charles, who had trimmed down from a pudgy 234 last January, to 198 at weigh-in time, was given a unanimous decision in the 10-round bout at East - West Stadium Thursday night.

But, instead of keeping this business under his hat, Dickerson informs the newspapers of his charges. They leap upon it with gleeful typewriters. Elliott roars in the fashion of a wounded lion. Dickerson has broken the Silence they had agreed upon. That ain't no way to act. Even Dickerson's boss, UCLA athletic director Wilbur Johns, said his new coach was talking when he should have been listening. The young conference blushes furiously. So this is where the thickened plot stands right now: Dickerson and Elliott, sweating under the noon sun, face each other on the dusty, deserted street. Miami May Muddle 1-B 6-Man Picture

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series outlining Top O' Texas schoolboy football teams from material gathered by Pampa Daily News sports Editor, Rick Pezdirtz, currently visiting area fall grid training camps. Today's installment deals with the Miami Warriors of District 1-B Six-Man.)

MIAMI — If young Bill Hines, the new head football coach at Miami High, appears the picture of a pessimist, it's understandable. Hines, a 1955 graduate of nearby Canadian High spent two years playing under the country's Mr. Pessimism, Bud Wilkerson, and it's likely some of the ultra-successful Oklahoma University Coaches gloom just naturally rubbed off on Hines.

Despite lettermen stacked two deep at every position — quarterback, halfback, end and center — any bright outlook for his Warrior squad which opens against arch-rival Mobeetie in District 1-B Six-Man play next Friday night.

Hines, who was an offensive tackle and defensive end with the Sooners, summed up his 1958 club like this: "We'll be short on speed and won't have any extra weight to brag about either."

In district play where a double round-robin schedule is carried out on a home-and-home basis, Hines sees Booker as the circuit's top threat to the crown with Mobeetie the leading contender.

"Booker has the size to win it," Hines commented, and this Morse team could give everybody fits. They're a new bunch." He admitted he knew little about the fifth member of the conference, Channing.

With an even dozen monogram winners back from a squad that finished at a .500 level last season, winning four, losing four and tying one, the Purple and Gold clad Warriors of Miami High could develop into a tough contender for the district crown.

Expected to shoulder the brunt of this fall's offense is fleet 140-pound Sam Harris, who was an all-District performer at halfback last autumn in his Junior year.

Wally Bailey and Bill Lard, senior lettermen, give the Tribe added punch at halfback. Senior first stringer Toby Cunningham is the letterman Toby Cunningham is the first string Warrior signal-caller but junior, Larry Anderson, who lettered last year too, is likely to log plenty of playing time this fall.

Up front, likely regulars will be ends, Jimmy Seitz and Charles Christopher and center, Terry Gill.

In posting their 4-4-1 mark last season, Miami slumped down Channing twice, split with Turpin, Okla., took one of three from Mobeetie and tied and lost to Booker.

SMU, 2nd, Texas 3rd

PORT WORTH (SPI) — Texas Christian is the choice to win the 1958 Southwest Conference championship as voted in the 25th annual TCU Sports Service poll.

The area's 96 "experts" — newsmen, radio and TV personnel — gave the nod to Coach Abe Martin's Horned Frogs in a race-down-the-wire with SMU and Texas. The Frogs picked up 32 first-place votes and 33 seconds, giving them a total of 211½ points. Points are based on one for first, two for second, and etc.

SMU ranked next with 230½, receiving 29 championship nods and 32 for second. Texas took third ahead of defending champion Rice, with 274, including 23 first-place votes. The Owls gathered 428½ for fourth with Texas A&M, fifth; Arkansas, sixth; and Baylor, seventh.

TCU became the choice to enter the throne room for the fifth time in the 25-year history of the poll. And the first year the Purples were tabbed Blue-chip caliber, they walked to the crown, taking the national championship in 1938. The other three trips proved fruitless.

In 1939, they were picked to repeat, but wound up fifth. In 1952, again the Frogs were a heavy favorite over A&M and the Baptists didn't win a SWC battle, finishing in the cellar.

It was just the 20th miss for the "experts." They have called the shot right only four times — TCU, 1938; and Texas, 1942; 1945 and 1950. Rice and SMU came close to helping the voters, being for titles in 1953 and 1940, respectively.

Besides the Frogs, Mustangs and Longhorns, other first place nods went to Baylor, three; Rice and Texas A&M, two each; and Arkansas, one. One writer had TCU and Texas tied for the crown; another liked SMU and Arkansas.

All the clubs received votes for all seven positions except — the Frogs, who had only 12 votes for lower than third and none for the cellar.

Pampa, 3 4-A Males Open

The big boys of Texas' vast schoolboy grid program — Class 4A and 3A footballers — jogged onto the practice fields this morning to open fall training.

Most of the clubs have until Sept. 12 to reach a fighting edge. Five of the eight District 3-AAA clubs open with non-conference games on that date: Pampa at Wichita Falls, Borger at Snyder, Littlefield at Plainview, Crozier Tech. of Dallas at Lubbock and Arlington Heights of Fort Worth at Amarillo Tascosa.

On Sept. 13 (Saturday), Palo Duro hosts Northwest Classen of Oklahoma City and Monterey meets Fort Worth Paschal in Lubbock.

Defending district champ, Amarillo High, draws an open date the first week before plunging into the grid wars in Fort Worth against Paschal on Sept. 19, the night Pampa will also be in Fort Worth to meet Arlington Heights.

Coach Babe Curfman will work his Harvesters gridders twice daily until Sept. 6 (Saturday) when a full-game type scrimmage will be staged. He'll taper off with single drills daily leading up to the Wichita Falls opener.

Afternoon sessions in pads will run from 2:30 to 3 p.m. through Monday. The Big Green will drill briefly before school for the first week and from 2:30 to 6 after school in the afternoons.

Icemen Face Bucs

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press International

With the San Francisco Giants packed away in cold storage, the Braves flew back to Milwaukee today fully confident of shutting the same treacher door on the Pittsburgh Pirates this week end.

The "Icemen" from Milwaukee just about eliminated the Giants from the pennant race during their latest hop to the West Coast — winning four of five games, including a 3-0 victory in Thursday's only major league game. Now it's the Pirates' turn to "fish or cut bait." They open a three-game set at Milwaukee tonight, trailing the defending National League champions by 7½ games. So they must shoot for a sweep because, like the Giants, time is running out on Danny Murtaugh's upstarts.

Del Crandall, Red Schoendienst and Bob Rush got the job done Thursday for Milwaukee. Crandall figured in two runs, Schoendienst collected four of the Braves' six hits off Johnny Antonelli and Rush scattered 10 hits in posting his second shutout of the season.

The Giants looked futile in defeat, stranding 11 after getting men aboard in every inning. They presented Milwaukee with its first run in the fifth inning when Crandall walked, stole second and raced all the way home on errors by catcher Bob Schmidt and center fielder Willie Mays.

Schoendienst doubled home the Braves' second run in the sixth, and Antonelli walked Crandall with the bases loaded in the eighth to force across Milwaukee's final marker.

Griffith Wants To Shift Sens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A board of directors meeting which virtually amounts to a family gathering was expected today to give Calvin Griffith permission to try to transfer the Washington Senators to Minneapolis.

The Washington baseball club president went behind closed doors ready to ask and undoubtedly get a green light to dicker on the franchise move.

Griffith would still have to seek American League permission to leave the nation's capital without making the shift which would leave the nation's capital without a baseball team. Whether his fellow club owners would allow him to move from the "show case" city of Washington was still problematical.

Methods Of Owning

There is another area of ownership which must be studied. This area is that of collectivized ownership. Fundamentally, ownership is an individual affair and property owned becomes merely an extension of the individual who owns it.

Many times, however, when an individual wishes to own something that is large or costly, he finds that as an individual he is financially incapable of acquiring such ownership without help. The would-be owner, therefore, has recourse to several methods of acquiring the property thru legitimate and moral avenues.

First of all, the individual may apply to a bank or an insurance company for a loan. If he can negotiate that loan successfully, in effect he has entered into a partnership with the lending agency for the purpose of acquiring ownership.

Technically, what happens is that he achieves control of the property he seeks, but does not acquire a clear title to it until he pays off the loan. A mortgage encumbers his title until his note is paid. And failure to pay the note, grants the power to the holder of the note to seize control of the property along with the title.

There is another device which is in common usage. Instead of a mortgage, the lender and the borrower agree to the enactment of a trust deed. This document has the virtue of passing the note into the hands of the lender, control into the hands of the purchaser, and title into the hands of a neutral third party, who holds title in trust until the terms of the note have been satisfied. Then a full ownership descends on the purchaser, the title is passed to him and the lender secures all of his money back, plus whatever interest fees he has charged for this service.

The practice is normal and valid. Another method of borrowing for the purpose of acquiring ownership relates to a bonded indebtedness. Instead of borrowing all the sums that are needed to complete a purchase from a single person or institution such as a bank or insurance company, the borrower may put out a bond issue.

Bonds can be purchased by any number of individuals or firms. In a very real sense the bond holders, then, become partners to the purchase. But the process is identical.

Ownership

Recognizing as we must that the great debate of our times centers on the ownership of property, it behooves us to study this matter of ownership so that we can define our terms.

The socialist ideal aims at the abolition of private ownership. The capitalist ideal aims at the perpetuation and preservation of private ownership. But what is this business of ownership?

As we see it, ownership consists of three separate and distinct characteristics. These are 1) exclusiveness, 2) total control, and 3) title. When an individual actually possesses something, all three of these characteristics apply. The person in his ownership excludes all the rest of the world; he can control that he owns totally; and he has title. If one or more of these characteristics is lacking, then we do not have full and complete ownership.

Organized moves which have aimed at the abolition of private ownership originally sought to abolish such ownership totally. As the avowed aim of the socialists and communists of a few generations ago to cause all property to pass from the ownership of persons into the hands of government. The government, according to these theorists, would then own everything, but since the government would be acting for all the people, essentially, all the people would own everything, but no one person would own anything.

As efforts began in this direction opposition arose as Karl Marx correctly foresaw, those who own property will not give it up without a struggle. In a few instances, notably in Russia, a violent and bloody coup successfully transferred ownership of everything from individual owners into the hands of a collective ownership called the state.

But in other geographic locations, resistance to this move was stronger and communism failed of its objective.

Then came the Fabians and the idea of a gradual usurpation of property ownership via political routes. In general, this Fabian technique has been far and away more successful than the overt grab endorsed by communists. One of the reasons why it has been more successful is that it has not sought to deprive individuals of TOTAL ownership. It has been content to approach the socialist ideal by gradual means.

Thus, socialists of Fabian persuasion are quite content when they can switch control of property into the hands of the state, leaving title in the hands of individuals. So far as the characteristic of exclusiveness is concerned, the Fabians have prostituted it. They have managed in many instances to create exclusive control for the state while exclusive title was retained by the individual. But exclusiveness is thus divided and made meaningless.

Yet, if we understand the true nature of ownership we will discover that ownership, like liberty, is indivisible. If a man is deprived of his freedom in a given area, he cannot claim to be free. And if a man is deprived of his control over what he owns, even the title remains in his name it can not be said that he owns that to which he has title.

Examples of this process abound. The wage earner is deprived of his earnings in the precise amount that the government dictates. This has no immediate effect on the services government allegedly provides. The sums taken by government relate to the demands of government for both services rendered and schemes in execution.

Again, the farmer finds that he cannot plant and harvest what he wishes to plant and harvest. He may have title to his farm or ranch, but its control in large measure has passed from his hands. The socialist is content to leave title in the hands of the farmer and rancher if the socialist government is able to control the farm or ranch. The farmer is duped into believing that the farm is his. The government knows that the most important element of ownership . . . total control . . . is lacking.

By this ruse, the government can act as though it owned all the land, even the title remains elsewhere. And this is even more advantageous to government than otherwise. For if title passed, the government would have to manage

BETTER JOBS

Beliefs That Cause Our Money To Buy Less And Less

I talked to a Lions Club the other day on the subject "Beliefs That Cause Our Money To Buy Less and Less." It is rather hard to think of a subject that needs to be better understood than why our dollar is continuing to depreciate.

It was my contention that the cause of the dollar shrinking was a result of monopolies which pushed prices up and government spending; that prices would continue to go up and we could not stop higher prices as long as people believed the government had a right to do things that would hurt most people if done by the individual.

Prices are raised by two reasons - by monopoly and increase in credit, commonly called money. Most of the monopoly that causes the rise in prices is labor monopoly. This is true because the government has made it legal for labor to have a monopoly, while the Sherman Anti-Trust Law makes it a crime for a conspiracy among employers to raise prices.

Then the question arises as to why people believe in labor monopolies and government doing things that would be wicked if done by an individual. It was my contention that this was summed up in one word - involuntarism; that people have ceased to believe that each and every person must live by the sweat of his own brow rather than by the sweat of someone else's.

It is very difficult for an individual for long to live by the sweat of other people's brows, but so hard, for a time at least, when the government intervenes to make this possible. Of course, the man who tries to live by the sweat of other people's brows does not respect creative initiative. He has no real goodwill or love in his heart, no standard of right. He is motivated by complete selfishness. Oh, he might take in some of his associates and accomplices, but in the final analysis his acts are guided by selfishness. And when people seem to succeed in living by the sweat of other people's brows by having the government pass laws that give them an advantage, the practice grows and grows until more and more people are a party to it and in most cases not even realizing the great harm they are doing to their fellowman.

Examples
Then I gave some examples of involuntarism or living by the sweat of other people's brows.

One of these was Social Security that compels the employer to rob his employees and turn it over to the government, leaving the belief that the employees are getting security. Some of the older ones might get material benefits but it is just plain robbery for the younger workers. Now the government has extended it so the self-employed are compelled to contribute to his fund. It is not security. It is simply a tax, and a cruel tax at that, because it fools people.

Another form of intervention or attempting to live by the sweat of other people's brows rather than on a competitive basis is tariffs and quotas.

Another is immigration quotas. Another is the Federal Reserve System that gives the politicians the power to increase credit that can be used to pay indebtedness and buy things with.

Another belief that results in prices going up is minimum wage laws. It is hard to conceive how wages can be set artificially by the government without causing unemployment. In order to reduce the unemployment of those who can't earn the minimum wage, the dollar is made of less value by increasing credit.

Another law that causes inflation is the Clayton Amendment to the Sherman Anti-Trust Law that permits labor unions to artificially raise wages and not violate the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

Another is the Norris-Laguard Law that restrains employers from getting an injunction against boycotts and strikes.

In the Wagner Law and the Taft-Hartley Law, both give the majority a right to make a bargain for the individual against his will. In short, it reduces competition. And I know of no act that benefits mankind that was not the result of competition.

Another belief that is probably the primary cause of money buying less and less is involuntary, non-free enterprise schools. They cannot teach how government should be supported because they are practicing that it should be supported by might-makes-right; that people should be compelled to pay for "services" that they regard as harmful rather than beneficial.

The graduated income tax is one of the most harmful taxes ever devised by man. This is true because it retards the accumulation of tools and causes many, many people to believe that they are not paying taxes by higher prices. It causes them to believe that somebody else is going to support them rather than have them live by the sweat of their own brows.

Thus they want the government to do many, many things that they would not think of asking the government to do if the government was supported on the basis of the cost of the service rendered, which the farm. Since it does not pass, the farmer is retained as a sort of collectivized serf, who operates as skillfully as he can with the farm, believing that it is his; whereas in fact, control has passed from his and the farm is not his. If the farmer believed this fully, he might not act as skillfully as he goes.

Robert Allen Reports:

HST To Travel Far In Congressional Elections

WASHINGTON - Former President Harry Truman is set to cut a farflung swath in the impending state and congressional elections.

His campaigning schedule will take him from New England to Alaska.

Already, Truman has drafted a half-dozen "major addresses" for the first round of his transcontinental barnstorming, the most extensive since his 1952 campaigning for Adlai Stevenson.

Significantly, all these speeches deal solely with domestic issues. They are in Truman's characteristic "give 'em hell" style. But they are confined wholly to home problems; particularly agriculture, cost of living, housing, education, water power.

Barring a sudden change in plans, Truman will not discuss foreign policies.

Privately, he is highly critical of President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles on these matters. But Truman is telling friends he deems the Middle East situation too explosive for political controversy. So he is limiting his electrifying oratory to the domestic field.

"There is plenty to talk about on that," Truman told a former cabinet member. "I am not going to stoop to the sort of thing the Republicans did when they made a political football of the Korean war."

Obama on September 12 is the first stop on Truman's wide-ranging itinerary.

From there he will head East, for two other "major addresses" in rapid succession. The first will be in Albany, N. Y., on September 18; the second in Baltimore the following night. On both occasions he will be the main speaker at Democratic "kick-off" rallies.

After a rest, Truman will head West for more campaigning in Montana, California, Washington State and Alaska.

His schedule in the new 49th state is still undecided. Democratic leaders are trying to persuade him to go to Anchorage, Fairbanks and Juneau. But it's doubtful whether Truman will agree.

He is under strict medical orders to conserve his strength, so his Alaskan sortie probably will be confined to several stops, at the most.

Other cities on his campaigning list are Philadelphia, Detroit, Indianapolis, Cleveland, Chicago, and Kansas City, in behalf of Senator Stuart Symington (D. Mo.), just before the November 4 election.

Note: The former President doesn't rule out the possibility that Stevenson will again be a candidate in 1960. Asked if he would oppose the Illinoisan, Truman replied, "I'm not ready yet to answer that."

POLITICALS - President Eisenhower will definitely go to New York to make a campaign speech for Nelson Rockefeller, the GOP gubernatorial candidate that has personal word from the President. That talk will be made in the final week of the campaign.

California's former State Democratic Chairman Roger Kent is National Chairman Paul Butler's choice as his successor. The Indian is telling that to intimates.

It should be if we believe in man's equal rights in private property.

If a man had lots of wealth to be protected, he should pay in proportion, but not a higher rate per unit of protection than the small man. Then again, when the man with small income pays less in proportion, he loses his own self-respect, his own self-reliance. It makes classes out of society. In short, it develops the caste system. There is nothing worse than having artificial classes in any society.

Sideways Looking

By Whitney Bolton

NEW YORK—An important book

obviously based upon the Loeb-Leopold case came out some time ago. It was called "Compulsion" and written by Meyer Levin. It became an immediate best-seller the country over and in time, it became a play on Broadway. And Mr. Levin sued the producer and held up the royalties of the man who had rewritten the play. This caused some people of the theater to say that Levin was a chronic suer and some others to say that the play, as re-written, was not nearly as good as Levin's original. All of which is set down merely as informative detail.

Stanley Warren, a good friend, operates the Capri Theater each summer at Atlantic Beach on Long Island and he said he was going to do "Compulsion" with Sheppert Strudwick in the Clarence, Darrow role. He did it and I went to see it. This was the Levin original, the only one Levin would allow to be done. Stanley and I talked afterward.

"The script is liches thick," said Warren. "It would run, I would guess, four hours of playing time. I had to cut a great deal to get it within an evening's compass. Cuts are made. Changes are not. We can chop away whole scenes but we cannot alter lines. That's reasonable enough. Most authors will not allow line changes. I think Levin, by now, knows it is unwieldy. Too long. Did you miss anything?"

"Not really," I said. "I have only the Broadway production to go by and Levin was so irritated by that he went to court, as you know. You cut all of the engagement party scenes and I must say it improved the play. It never was needed. You cut several bridging scenes which obviously were sound cuts. They failed to make the play choppy. It always was episodic - it still is. The dunes scene in this version makes more sense than it did in the Broadway version. At least the motivations between Ruth and Judd (Leopold) now are clearer. Before that he was merely hysterical and she was captious. Did Levin come out to see it?"

"No, he didn't," said Warren. "I thought he would. There have been only three summer stock productions of which this is one. Long Beach had one. I can't remember the third. I hope there are more."

He is right to hope. If Levin would take the Warren editing into account and let that be his play about a fascinating still dramatic crime, he would have a work which stock companies from New York to California could do with honor and success. A long, repetitious play has been trimmed and tautened into an evening's re-enactment of the crime, the expose and the trial. It requires of any company doing it three superb actors: one character man to play Darrow, who is called Will in the play, and two young men to play Leopold and Strauss and Steiner in the play, as they were in the book. The fact that one of the two is long dead and the surviving one is out on parole working obscurely in a Puerto Rican hospital in no way dulls the work or diminishes its impact.

The legalities of using true names in a work plainly and unequivocally to do with Loeb and Leopold escape me. I never have understood the reason for these minor evasions. The boys did exist, they did commit a brutal and stupid murder; they did go to prison and Clarence Darrow not only chided the doors to modern criminal psychiatry. If for no other reason, both the book and the play merited doing. They justify the accomplishment.

It's not my job to promote any particular play or any one or group of authors. I neither gain nor lose by attention to Levin and "Compulsion." But it is a highly charged, superbly dramatic work because it deals in the realities and currents of a famed case of crime. And if any resident stock company anywhere in the United States is looking for a challenging, demanding play to do, this is it.

Don't Tell Mac How To Raise A Baby!

By HENRY McEMORE

The next parent who says to Mary and me, "Wait'll you have a second baby, and then you'll wonder why you fussed and fretted over Megan so much," is going to get a slap on the jaw.

I am sick and tired of hearing how our concern over Megan is silly, and with it the implication that we should let her boil her own milk, fill her own bottles, make her own bed and do her own shopping.

That, I have been given to understand by owners of two or more babies, is what happens with Nos. 2, 3, 4 and the rest. You wear yourself out with No. 1, which is foolish, and then all but abandon the babies that follow.

If I hear one more time that a baby is as tough as a rock, that it is all right for a baby to cry and cry and cry, that a baby just thinks it needs a lot of changing, that a baby won't freeze, that a baby can roll off a bed without harm, I believe I am going to run slightly amok.

If second babies are treated in the manner most parents say they are, it is a wonder to me that America's population is as large as it is. Just what is it, I would like to know, that makes a second baby so self-sufficient, so mighty-muscled, so poised, so able to stand neglect? Second babies look like first babies to me.

I would also like for all those who tell us to treat Megan, who is barely a month old, as if she were a second baby, to know once and for all that not only is she our first baby, but to us she is the first baby ever born anywhere to anybody.

She is a complete, brand-new miracle, and if we want to devote all of our time to a miracle, then why should anyone else care?

It makes me laugh when I am told that I stay up too much at night with Megan, that I am going to wear myself out - I, who used to spend night after night at Toots Shor's and Dave Chasen's and other spots, not caring when the sun rose, now can't stay awake to share the company of a moonbeam in diapers?

I, who have walked thousands of miles at Santa Anita and Belmont and Churchill Downs seeking a tip, can't go up and down the stairs a few hundred times a day for Megan?

I, who have worn out my feet sight-seeing the glories of Greece

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M.D.

There are many possible causes for the unpleasant disorder known as polyneuritis. However, possibly the most important is the long-continued and heavy use of alcoholic beverages.

Involving principally the nerves of the legs and arms, this is called alcoholic polyneuritis. When translated into understandable words, this means inflammation and pain in several nerves, resulting from the overuse of alcohol - and perhaps the underuse of foods which might have prevented the condition.

It is usual for the limbs supplied by the affected nerves to show weakness, wasting of the muscles, pain, tenderness and often changes in sensation of feeling. Sometimes the pain is severe, and once in a while the interference with sensation is so great that a pin can be stuck into the skin of the involved areas without even being felt.

Among the possible causes, besides alcohol, are poisoning from such well-known metals as mercury, bismuth arsenic and lead. Vitamin deficiency diseases, particularly beriberi (a vitamin B deficiency), or pellagra may be at fault.

Polyneuritis sometimes develops from general dietary deficiencies during pregnancy and in the presence of certain diseases such as diabetes or pernicious anemia.

Infections may also produce polyneuritis. Polyneuritis may complicate some of the so-called rheumatic infections.

It may be present, in typhoid, scarlet fever, influenza, mumps and almost any infectious diseases.

The victim of this affliction often has to rest in bed, not only because of the muscular weakness, but also because the heart may become involved. Serious deformities can develop because of the muscular weakness, if the limbs are not supported by splints, sandbags or other means.

A person with polyneuritis is to be pitied. The pain and the muscular weakness usually interfere with walking or with the use of the hands and arms, depending on where the trouble is located.

Treatment usually requires great patience on the part of the patient and ingenuity on the part of the physician.

Alcohol is prohibited, of course, and treatment of any abnormality is desirable. Vitamin preparations are generally used. The outlook for eventual recovery is favorable for the majority.

and Rome, can't walk a few hundred miles more to look at something much more wonderful than those ancient civilizations ever built, carved or painted?

Maybe our second baby, as so many say second babies are, will be made of granite, whalebone and stainless steel, but Megan isn't. She is as soft as the shady side of a kitten's wrist, and helpless as a minnow in a net, and needs 24-hour attention and love.

And she is going to get it, and let those who fall back in horror, fall back.

Her tiniest cry is a trumpet call to action for me, and her silences are all ominous ones, and call for a quick peek to see that they are okay silences.

Let no one tell me that she will be spoiled, I know that, and have known she would be long before she was born. I wouldn't be surprised if she doesn't win all spoiled-child championships before she is six months old.

But I'd rather have a spoiled first baby than one of those sound babies who drive the car when you aren't looking, fall out the window and bounce, and spend his or her time talking behind your back as to how badly they are treated.

ON SAVING THE WORLD (The Wall Street Journal)

'FAIR TRADE' DIES HARD (The Daily Oklahoman)

Fond notions die hard even when they're repeatedly shown to be wrong.

Accordingly the legislation that's aimed at giving them effect usually has the proverbial nine lives of the cat.

A current example is "fair trade" which has undergone such a flogging in the marketplace and in the courts that it ought to be thoroughly dead by now. It's nevertheless still feebly stirring like the resolute heart of a horribly mangled turtle. At a time when "fair trade" is tearing itself apart with its own built-in contradictions congress is being asked to consider new legislation to restore it.

Pending are proposed revisions to the Robinson-Patman act that would attempt to substitute mandatory pricing practices for the normal operations of the marketplace. Proposed is a system of mandatory price differentials to be imposed on sellers. Prices would vary according to localistic distinctions between wholesalers, retailers, and consumers. Refusal to make such price "discrimination" although the proposed legislation doesn't suggest the amount of the differentials. The result would be the same stultification of trade that finally brought on wide-spread evasion and a breakdown of the price fixing laws of the states.

It's hard to see how legalized price fixing will ever be reconciled with the elaborate prohibitions that the anti-trust laws impose on similar attempted practices when undertaken without benefit of "fair trade" legislation. Precisely this point was once raised by Attorney General William P. Rogers. As a deputy under former Attorney General Brownell he voiced a strong dissent in a letter to a senate committee considering a "fair trade" law for the District of Columbia. He was convinced that "so-called 'fair trade' is in fact price fixing and as such is inconsistent with the philosophy of the anti-trust laws."

He added that "the basic American principle which has kept our economy dynamic and vigorous is that the regulator of our free enterprise system shall be competition, not the suppression of competition either by governmental regulation or by private agreements."

In the hazy earlier days of "fair trade" the selling prices of 45 states were largely those prescribed by the manufacturers. The typical state "fair trade" law allows manufacturers to make resale price agreements with the retailers handling their lines. These agreements are deemed equally binding on retailers who refuse to sign. This was the aspect of "fair trade" that brought it a cropper in state courts, in the courts voided "fair trade" on the ground that its nonsigner clause deprived independent price cutting retailers of "life, liberty or property" without due process of law.

More important than any court decision was the post-war upsurge of manufacturing capacity which flooded the country with civilian goods seeking markets. Manufacturers trying to move goods hastened "fair trade's" demise by working at the discount houses. Lower prices are still the best answer to lagging sales. No amount of legislative legislation will change that stubborn fact. The effort nevertheless persists.

Use The Way Auto... THE WAY TO LIVE

ARTY TANGLE—Back in San Francisco after eight years in Paris, Claire Falkenstein displays one of her "abstract structures," the nearly completed "Sun No. 14." Rated highly abroad by art collectors, the sculptress is showing her works at the San Francisco Museum of Art.

BEAR-BACK RIDER—The exception that proves the rule, Dancer Julie Hawk, 17, is one back-seat driver it's a pleasure to look at. Riding on this bear-stuff at a Detroit shopping center, Julie makes even the metal "mahout" smile.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS (5)—The V-2

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

By the late 1930s rockets had reached an advanced stage. Some of Goddard's and those of the American Rocket Society were achieving speeds near that of sound. But in 1944 the world was unprepared for anything like the performance of the terrifying V-2.

astic rocket amateur, Werner von Braun. Their first motor exploded in 1932. By 1934 a new model had soared to one and a half miles. By 1939 a one-ton rocket rose to five miles.

sent to the border of space. But red tape, the Gestapo and a devastating raid by British bombers in 1943 severely retarded the work.

Patrol Sets Labor Day Operation

In an intensive effort to reduce traffic deaths, injuries and property damage over the Labor Day Holiday, the Department of Public Safety will conduct "Operation Motorcade" from 12:01 a. m. August 30, through 11:59 p. m., September 1, 1958.

Operation Motorcade — an all-out traffic safety campaign which calls for constant patrolling of Texas highways by officers of the Highway Patrol, Motor Vehicle Inspection, License and Weight, and Safety Education Services — is geared to eliminate the "Tragic Two", and as many more accidents as possible of a predicted total of 29 highway deaths for the state during the Labor Day weekend.

Commander of the Amarillo district of the Highway Patrol, explained that the "Tragic Two" refers to the last two fatal fatalities in the total of 29 for the Labor Day period.

and main Texans during prolonged holiday periods. Blackwell has authorized his men to use all possible means to halt traffic violations that lead to automobile accidents.

Hearing Set On Proposed City Budget

(Special to The News) PERRYTON — A public hearing has been set for Sept. 16 on the proposed city budget which was given tentative approval by the City Council of Perryton recently.
