PAMPA, TEXAS, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1958

... THREE TO GET READY

George Olds, senior drum major of the Pampa High School band, was the model of patience during rehearsals Friday while his two pretty friends, Ann Kennedy, left, and Mary Ann Kelley, made themselves beautiful. Olds, the Misses Kennedy and Kelley (senior twirlers with the Harvester band) along with other members of Pampa's three scholastic bands, are slated to take part Tuesday in the Interscholastic League marching contest in Amarillo. In 1957 the Harvesters carried away First Division honors. The Pampa bands, according to Director W. E. Tregoe, will be judged during a solo 5 to 10 minute performance sometime between 6:30 and 10:30 p. m. in the Amarillo Stadium. Also invited to compete are the Pampa Junior High band and the Robert E. Lee band, along with some 41 other musical organizations from around the Panhandle. (News Photo by Marvin Olsen)

32 Are Injured In Blast

83 MEN ARE FEARED DEAD

No Signs Of Life In Mine

By DAVE HILTON

United Press International

SPRINGHILLS, N. S. (UPI) — Rescue crews found no sign of life Saturday in the gas-filled coal mine, raising fears that a 118 men trapped by an earth shock Thursday night were buried alive. Ten bodies had been recovered and identified. Other bodies were found Saturday but authorities would not say how many until they had been identified.

The Cumberland Railway and Coal Company's No. 2 colliery was wrecked by a thundering earth "bump" at 7:10 p. m. Thursday. Tons of earth, coal, splintered timbers and mine machinery were dumped into the shaft, sealing escape routes for men working 13,000 feet and even farther from the pit entrance.

A total of 79 miners were rescued. Fifteen of them were injured. Most were able to stagger from the mine, but some, crawled or were carried.

Fifty men had been working at the 13,000-foot level of the mine. Any survivors would come from that level. Officials gave up all hope of finding the more than 30 men who were trapped at lower levels.

Dominion Steel and Coal Corp., parent company of the Cumberland organization, said the mine is the deepest coal pit in North America. United States mines average 800 feet in depth. This runs 4,200 feet from the earth's surface.

The shaft of the No. 2 pit slopes as steep as 30 degrees in places. Rescue workers tried to cut a passage through to the 13,000-foot working level. They said there was a slight possibility that some oxygen still was circulating at that level but that the air would be foul after two days.

Explosion In Ottawa Thought Caused By Gas

By WILLIAM NEVILLE

United Press International

OTTAWA (UPI) — An explosion flattened buildings in the heart of downtown Ottawa five blocks from the Canadian Houses of Parliament Saturday only an hour before the start of the Saturday shopping rush.

Authorities said no bodies had been found in the craterblasted with blockbuster force by the explosion, which apparently was caused by an accumulation of gas under a small building.

Two hospitals reported receiving a total of 32 injured persons, most of whom were only slightly hurt.

The explosion was Canada's second disaster in two days. A mine collapse in Nova Scotia Thursday night caused heavy loss of life.

Officials said that if the 8:20 a. m. explosion in the Canadian capital had come a few hours later, it might have caused a major tragedy. The area of the blast would have been teeming with shoppers, and a seriously damaged movie theater would have been occupied by a matinee audience.

Firemen fearful that a broken gas pipe might cause another explosion ordered all stores, pilot lights and other flames put out over a wide area and put a strict no-smoking ban in force throughout the danger zone.

Heavy police reinforcements were rushed into the downtown section to put a halt to looting that began as soon as smashed store windows were discovered.

Debris was scattered heavily over a four-block downtown section and the explosion was felt up to 10 miles away. Picture windows in some suburban homes were smashed and every window in a nine-story building, opposite the blast site was blown out. Power lines were cut, but telephone wires were undamaged.

First damage estimates were as high as $2,000,000. A new automobile showroom and all the cars in it were wrecked. A printing establishment, a hobby house and a vacant store were leveled.

Reports Go To Austin

Accreditation reports from 48 schools in the Pampa School District will be sent to Austin for further consideration of the Southwestern Association of Schools, Knox Kinard, president of the Pampa District, said following a meeting here last week. Kinard, who is also superintendent of Pampa Schools, and five District members examined reports submitted for the accreditation of schools in the district.

The present members of the District represent Lamesa, Seagrass, Canyon, Abilene and White Deer. The representative from White Deer is Huelyn Laycock.

The meeting showed four new schools applying for accreditation. Kinard said the reports would be reviewed again at the general meeting of the Southwestern Association of Schools Nov. 11-12 in Austin.

Cardinal Dies Just Prior To Election

By CHARLES W. RIDLEY

United Press International

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Edward Cardinal Mooney of Detroit, senior Roman Catholic prelate in the United States, died of a heart attack Saturday 70 minutes before he was to join the secret conclave to elect a new Pope. He was 76. His death reduced the Sacred College of Cardinals to 53 and left the United States with only two cardinals — Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York and James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles. Samuel Cardinal Stritch of Chicago died in Rome last May after a stroke and arm amputation.

The body was to be returned to Detroit for burial after a funeral ceremony in the North American college of Rome. Death was sudden. Cardinal

Mooney had appeared in good spirits when he attended the Mass with the other princes of the church before the secret conclave.

He returned to the North American College of Rome with Cardinals Spellman and McIntyre to have lunch with them and rest before joining in the procession of cardinals to the conclave in the Sistine Chapel of the Vatican.

A church source said the Cardinal "was in his usual good spirits and was quite jovial."

At 2:20 p. m. (9:20 a. m. e. d. t.) the prelate told his secretary, Msgr. Joseph M. Breitenbeck, that he was going to take a nap before the conclave.

"Wake me up at 2:45," he said. When Msgr. Breitenbeck went into the cardinal's room at the appointed time, he found him dying. The priest immediately administered extreme unction, the sacrament of the church for the dying.

He called for a doctor and summoned Cardinals Spellman and McIntyre. By the time they arrived, Cardinal Mooney was dead. Both cardinals tearfully gave absolution to their old friend and fellow churchman.

The time of death was fixed at 2:50 p. m. Spellman in Tears

Despite their grief, Cardinals Spellman and McIntyre obeyed the mandate of the church and went to the conclave. Cardinal Spellman (See CARDINAL, Page 3)

UPSETS! THERE WERE DOZENS

Get out the aspirin box now, the football upsets flew hot and heavy Saturday.

Rice out-hooted Texas in a king-sized 34-7 surprise while Texas A&M came from behind a third quarter 27-6 deficit to topple favored Baylor, 33-27. SMU had an easy 30-0 time with Georgia Tech and Arkansas scared the living daylight out of Mississippi before bowing 14-12, in conflicts involving South-west Conference teams.

Other big shockers saw the nation's No. 1 ranked Army tied by Pittsburg, 11-14; and No. 2 rated Ohio State deadlocked by Wisconsin, 7-7.

There were others, like Purdue 29, Notre Dame 22; Illinois 16, Michigan State 9; Kansas 14, Tulane 9; Alabama 9, Miss. State 7; Florida College 6, Miami 3; and Boston State 16, Tennessee 6.

For stories on these and other Saturday shockers see pages 7-8-9.

REDS MAKE FAT OFFERS

By ALBERT E. KAFF

United Press International

TAIPEI (UPI) — Communist China, in one of its strongest bids yet to win over the Nationalist Chinese forces, offered Saturday to supply troops and civilians on the offshore islands with "anything" they need. The Reds also announced they would shell the islands on alternate days only.

They said the offer again, on-again cease fire would continue only as long as U.S. naval ships refrained from escorting supply vessels to the Formosa Strait.

United States sources called the maneuver another attempt by the Reds to drive a wedge between the U.S. and Nationalist China.

"It is time now to turn from foe to friend," Red China's Defense Minister Peng Teh-huai said in a declaration broadcast by Radio Peiping. He told the Nationalists on Quemoy and other offshore islands "if there is a lack of anything, just say it and we will give it to you."

Girl Scout Fund Drives Will Blast Off Monday-Tuesday

Independent fund raising campaigns in several non-United Fund communities of the Top O' Texas Girl Scout Council will get underway Monday and Tuesday, according to T. M. Whitley, independent fund drive chairman.

Funds collected in the drive will go into the council's operating fund which makes possible professional guidance and services to troops, in the form of program aids and resources for leaders, training for leaders, the extension of Scouting and organization of new troops and maintenance of a Council office.

These services are available to all troops in the Council's jurisdiction which includes Roberts, Wheeler and Gray Counties and White Deer and Skellytown in Carson County.

There are 896 girls and 246 adults in the Council. Assisting Whitley in setting up the campaigns are Dick Zimmerman, Finance Committee chairman, M. H. Taylor, John Gikas and Bill Tolbert of Miami.

The campaign in Miami will be kicked off with a 9 a. m. Monday breakfast for all workers. Tolbert is heading the drive. He will be assisted by Mrs. Joe Cunningham, Miami neighborhood chairman.

Skellytown will begin its drive Monday at 9:30 a. m. with a meeting of workers in Harmon's Drug Store. Mrs. Gene Harlan, neighborhood chairman, is heading the drive.

Rebels Reject De Gaulle's Plan For French Talks; Prefer Neutral Discussion

CAIRO (UPI) — Premier Ferhat Abbas of the Algerian rebel government in exile Saturday night rejected French Premier Charles de Gaulle's proposal for peace talks in Paris but left the door open for negotiations "on neutral territory."

He insisted the only final solution can be Algerian independence and warned the French government not to mistake the rebels' willingness to discuss peace as a sign of weakness. His tough statement, issued after a meeting of his cabinet in Cairo appeared to rule out any early talks with the French aimed at ending the four-year-old Algerian rebellion.

De Gaulle had invited the rebel leaders to Paris to discuss what he termed a "peace of brave men"

HOBART UNDERPASS

At Last, It's Officially Open

The dedication of the long-awaited $1,280,000 Hobart Street underpass was finalized Friday when the chairman of the State Highway Commission, Marshall Formby, from Plainview, cut a purple ribbon across S. Hobart on Highway 70. The underpass, blocked off during the dedication, was opened to an estimated thousand cars an hour thereafter. Formby and other speakers viewed the opening as an act of progress for the City, the County and the State.

The dedication proceedings got underway at noon Friday in the Palm Room of City Hall where E. L. Henderson, president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, presided at a dedication luncheon.

Fred Thompson, chairman of the C-C Highway Commission, recognized the men who have made the underpass a reality. Charles W. Smith, District engineer for the State Highway Department, Amarillo, introduced District Highway officials and G. K. Reading, resident State Highway engineer, the local personnel. G. R. Buchanan, Sante Fe general manager, introduced the men in his department.

Mayor Lynn Boyd, in his introductory remarks, said of the Pampa's gratitude to the State Highway Commission, for financial and other assistance with the underpass construction.

At the luncheon Formby covered the problems and aims of his Commission. "The Interstate Highway Bill will not solve highway problems for the people of Texas," said Formby, pointing out that the interstate network will only carry about five or six per cent of Texas mileage and 15 per cent of its vehicles. Formby termed the urban traffic problem "very critical." He said that the State's job is not only to get motorists up to cities but through them and, if necessary around them.

"It is the duty of the Highway Department to build farm to market roads," he declared, mentioning a $605,000 contract signed for work on 182.

At 2 p. m. Formby and a representative group mounted a bandstand south of the underpass. After the rendition of the National Anthem by the Pampa Harvester Band, Thompson called on Mayor Boyd, County Judge Bruce Parker, G. R. Buchanan, Judge Vance Gilbreath, Congressman Walter Rogers and Senator Ralph Yarborough for extemporaneous remarks. Judge Gilbreath from Matador is president of the State Highway 70 Association.

Formby, the speaker, cited the cooperation of City, Sante Fe and State in eliminating the old grade crossing and speeding up traffic on Highway 70. Breaking down the $1,280,000 construction and paving total he showed that $308,000 came from the City of Pampa, $50,000 from the Sante Fe and $921,000 from the State.

Then Formby, accompanied by Mayor Boyd, Judge Parker, Henderson, Senator Yarborough, Congressman Rogers, Buchanan and Judge Gilbreath, descended from the platform and cut the ribbon, representing the State's participation in the highway program.

UNITED FUND DRIVE IS 32% COMPLETED

The Pampa-Lefors United Fund Drive hopped over the 30 percent mark Saturday, Clyde Dickerson, general campaign chairman, reported.

Dickerson told the Daily News that cash and pledges now total $20,634.57, or about 32 percent of the $64,000 goal. He said the response so far has been "better than expected."

Most of the pledge cards are now in the worker's hands, Chairman Dickerson said, but workers without cards should notify Dickerson at MO 4-7491, or Mrs. Emmett Gee, UF secretary, at MO 9-9522.

Dickerson also disclosed goals based on last year's figures, have been set for collection campaigns in the various industries and professions of this area. The "Oil and Gas" division has the highest goal, $9,280, of which $2,790 has been collected.

Other goals, along with the totals reported are: "Retail" division, goal $9,920, $4,119 collected; "Wholesale" division, goal $1,920 $390 collected; "Professional" division, goal $5,760, collected, $3,164; "Individual" division, goal $21,120, collected $2,736; "Services" division, goal $6,400, collected $2,029; and "Individual" division, goal $8,320, collected $4,883.

Dickerson reported that in Lefors $180 of the $1,280 goal has been collected. In the whole Pampa-Lefors area, 12 of the 115 fund workers have completed their work.

Ike's Doc Is One Expert On Golf!

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House, it seems a trifle odd to talk with Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, the White House physician, about the condition of President Eisenhower as the chief executive starts his 69th year.

Snyder talks rather detachedly about what can be expected of a person nearing 70. Although he doesn't play himself, the white-haired, ramrod-straight Army doctor has become probably the ranking expert on Eisenhower's golf.

Store Sales Hold Steady

DALLAS (UPI) — Department store sales for the week ended Oct. 18 compared with a similar period last year in the 11th Federal Reserve District held steady, the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas reports.

However, Fort Worth showed a 6 per cent gain for the single week, and Houston and San Antonio also had gains of 1 per cent each. Dallas sales were off 7 per cent and El Paso 3 per cent.

Garrison Off For Florida Meet

AUSTIN (UPI) — Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, left Saturday for Miami, Florida, to attend the 65th annual conference of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

The conference opens Monday. Garrison is a past president of the organization, and is now a member of the executive committee.

The President hits his first tee shot, Snyder snubs out a cigarette with a grimace as he notices that the yardage is about 150 short for an Eisenhower tee shot.

The President hops in his blue electric golf cart and buzzes down the fairway. Snyder keeps up with the cart, loping along in a full-legged stride with his sporty maroon jacket flapping in the wind.

This could be accepted as a fairly normal picture except for one thing—Snyder is 77 years old. Eisenhower walks some level golf holes, but since his 1955 heart attack, he has used the electric cart increasingly. But not and stands off to one side at the first tee, watching with a highly practiced eye as the chief executive hits a series of practice shots.

Snyder can tell from watching Eisenhower's swing, from the accuracy and length of his shots, just about how his No. 1 patient is feeling physically and mentally.

In fact, Snyder may have walked something like 2,000 miles in the wake of the President. This is an admittedly rough calculation based on an average of two 18-hole rounds a week for the chief executive since he's been in office.

Give or take a few miles, the durable doctor is an active example of his own medicine. He's a real bear for exercise and would like to see Eisenhower on the golf course three times a week.

SO WHAT'S A FEW YEARS ANYHOW, HUH!

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — A Health Ministry medical team said Sayed Ali Salehi That was exaggerating slightly when he claimed to be 196 years of age.

The team said he was 185 years old and that he might even be 188 years old but that 196 was just too much.

Sayed lives in Koluah village, a long way from the capital. The medical team said his health was still excellent but that they had decided not to bring him to the capital.

The Ole Pocketbook Isn't Hit So Hard!

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) survey shows that increasing production and consumption of convenience food items has had only a slight effect on the family pocketbook.

In fact, many of the ready serviced foods are cheaper than equivalent unserved items.

On the face of things, it would appear that the cost of packaged frozen ground beef patties, of cut-up ready-to-try chicken would be greater, respectively, than bulk ground beef or an eviscerated whole chicken. Up until a few months ago no less an authority than Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson indicated in speeches that the "built-in maid service" supplied by convenience foods was responsible in part for increased food costs.

The AMS survey, a pilot operation conducted in December, 1957, gave little credence to this. And of late, Benson has stressed that people like built-in maid service because "it has brought them better living." He has soft-pedaled the increased cost angle.

Food prices have risen fairly steadily since 1940. So have the production and use of the convenience food items. Any tie-in between these two facts appears to be almost non-existent.

Roland G. Harris and Phillip B. Dvoskin, AMS economists, said the pilot study showed the average housewife was paying only about 1 per cent more for serviced foods. On $100 worth of groceries, she added only $1 cents to cover the cost of the built-in maid service.

Harris and Dvoskin said that for the most part, the 27 billion dollar increase in the cost of marketing food products (since 1940) has been due to the larger volume being marketed and he generally higher costs of marketing operations. More away-from-home eating and other marketing services such as better packaging also account for some of the increase.

The AMS survey pointed up clearly that only a small portion of today's marketing costs can be charged to increased sales of convenience foods. The study compared 52 serviced and 52 non-serviced food items. Prices were obtained in supermarkets of three of the largest chain organizations in the Washington area.

Items Closely Matched

All items included in the price comparison between the serviced and non-serviced foods were as nearly comparable as possible. Grades, varieties, and other food characteristics were closely matched. So were quantities. Quality was the only factor that didn't always match closely. Some fresh foods lacked a processed item of equal quality, while other processed foods were superior to the quality of the products displayed in many retail stores.

Lake Poison Wasn't So Very Potent

AUSTIN (UPI) — State authorities have learned belatedly that almost 10,000 gallons of poison used to kill shad in Possum Kingdom Lake was only about two-thirds as strong as it should have been.

The state, through its purchasing division in the State Board of Control, is protesting to the New Jersey manufacturer.

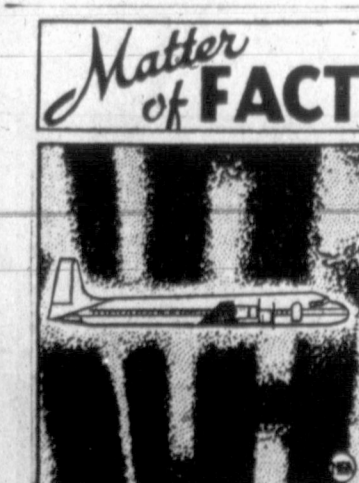

Cost of the chemical, rotenone, exceeded $30,000 on a low bid basis.

Daylight Time Is All Over

CHICAGO (UPI) — Time stood still for an hour Sunday morning when areas of the nation still on daylight savings time turn back the clock.

The change was set for 2 a.m. local time. Areas reverting to standard time include 500 communities in Illinois, including Chicago; New York, Pennsylvania; Massachusetts; Rhode Island; Maine; New Hampshire; Delaware; Connecticut; Vermont; New Jersey; Maryland; parts of northern Ohio, including Cleveland and Youngstown; Washington, D.C.; a few communities in Virginia; the Missouri area around St. Louis; parts of northern Kentucky, including Louisville and Lexington; parts of eastern Canada east of Sault Ste. Marie, and northwest Indiana near Chicago.

Other areas in the nation observed the last Sunday in September as the end of daylight time. Indiana presented the most confusing picture, since a number of cities in the eastern part of the state have voted themselves into the eastern time belt. They stay on central daylight time year 'round.

Scientists believe that the so-called "northern lights" (aurora borealis) are caused by electrically charged particles coming from the sun at high speed. When these particles meet the earth's magnetic field, they are turned aside, toward the earth's poles. If the particles then collide with atoms of the earth's upper atmosphere, some of the electrons are removed from them. When these atoms combine again with other electrons, they send out the glowing light of the aurora.

Eisenhower Puts Choice To Russia

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower put it squarely up to Russia Saturday to decide whether a worldwide one-year suspension of nuclear tests goes into effect six days hence.

He renewed his call on the Soviet Union to join this country and Britain in such a suspension while East and West discuss a permanent test ban in talks to start at Geneva Oct. 31.

He noted that Russia "has not yet accepted" this proposal and said he "still hopes" it will do so.

"It thus lies with the Soviet Union to decide whether on Oct. 31 all countries which have tested nuclear weapons will have voluntarily suspended testing," the President said.

He made the statement after a meeting with Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter and Ambassador James J. Wadsworth, deputy U.S. representative to the United Nations and the man selected to represent this country at the proposed test ban talks.

The State Department, meanwhile, announced that the United States and four other Western allies have completed consultations here in preparation for another Geneva conference which the Russians have agreed to attend.

These talks, starting Nov. 10, will concern ways of guarding against sneak attacks. Technicians from this country, Britain, France, Canada and Italy will meet with experts from Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and perhaps other Soviet bloc nations.

While the State Department did not say so, the Western experts are believed to have worked out their position on aerial inspection, ground control posts, weapons potentialities and similar problems bearing on prevention of sneak attacks.

Dallas Police Seek Two Sets Of Criminals

DALLAS (UPI)—Dallas police Saturday searched for two sets of armed thugs who abducted seven persons in two separate holdups Friday night and early Saturday forcing their victims to drive to deserted sections before robbing them of $11 at gunpoint.

Duclard Clayton Bean, 23, a student at Southern Methodist University, told police two armed men who first asked for a light jumped near a bus stop with his two-year-old daughter and 8-month-old son early Saturday.

Bean said he was waiting for his wife to arrive on a bus when the men forced him to drive them to a lonely road at gunpoint. They made him park behind another car already stationed on the road and beat and robbed him, he said.

The screams of his daughter finally routed the hoodlums. The pair, who apparently fled in the other parked car, got $3 from Bean.

Police said four high school students were abducted by two young Negroes Friday night. They said the students riding in a car driven by Robert Rhodes, 17, had stopped for a red light when two Negro men jumped into their car.

The thugs held guns on the youths forcing them to drive out to a dumping ground where they robbed them of $8. Police said the Negroes threatened to kill the students and "slapped one of them around because they said he looked like a punk who was going to call the cops."

AF Develops A Speedy Missile For Land Targets

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force revealed Saturday that it is developing a speedy new missile, dubbed the "White Lance," for use by bombers attacking land targets.

A little brother of the liquid-fueled "Rascal," the White Lance is a solid-propellant rocket to be released from distances of at least several miles to streak ahead of the bomber.

Basic design for the new weapon was taken from the Navy-developed "Bullpup," which is 11 feet long and a foot in diameter.

The Air Force indicated the Martin Aircraft Company, in converting the Bullpup into the White Lance, is seeking much greater range and speed in thousands of miles per hour.

The Rascal, 30 feet long, is for release by bombers many miles from the target with heavy payloads of nuclear explosives.

The White Lance which is also large enough to carry a nuclear warhead, presumably will be used with greater accuracy. The missile could be carried by medium bombers or even by fighter-bombers.

Last Of A 14,400 Strong US Force Leaves Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—The last of a 14,400-man U.S. military force pulled out of Lebanon in peace and quiet Saturday to end America's historic intervention in the Lebanese civil war.

Only 10 claims officers, unarmed and in civilian clothes, remained behind to clean up outstanding bills left after the 2½-month stay by American Marines and soldiers.

There was no fanfare and little ceremony. A six-ship squadron was loaded with Army equipment and a battalion of Marines which had covered the previous withdrawal of Army troops. The ships steamed out with three toots of their whistles, watched only by small groups of Lebanese dock workers. The supply ship U.S.S. Pococino led the convoy in single file.

The complete departure was symbolized at noon when Maj. Gen. Paul Adams, the American armed forces commander, boarded an Air Force transport for a flight to West Germany.

Eugene Cardinal Tisserant of France, dean of the Sacred College, was notified formally of the death of the American cardinal only a few minutes before the cardinals were bricked up in the Sistine Chapel. He agreed that the North American College, a seminary for Americans in Rome, should hold a funeral mass and that the body be returned to Detroit.

Only Cardinal Tisserant has the jurisdiction over the funeral and disposition of the body of a cardinal.

Mgr. Ernest Primeau, rector of the Chicago House Seminary, and Father Joseph Emmenegger rushed to the Vatican shortly after Mooney was pronounced dead to inform Tisserant and ask about funeral details.

It was the second time since the death of Pope Pius XII on Oct. 9 that a cardinal had passed away. Cino Cardinal Costantini, 82, an Italian, died Oct. 17 in a Rome hospital.

US Expected To Pressure Red China

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States is expected to intensify its pressure on Red China to renounce use of force in the Formosa crisis now that Chiang Kai-shek has openly pledged not to employ military means in an effort to regain the mainland.

Officials said Saturday that such pressure will be renewed in the Warsaw peace negotiations with Red China and also may come in United Nations debate and administration declarations here.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles are said to be hopeful of winning somewhat more free world support for Chiang now that the Nationalist leader has agreed not to risk all-out war in Asia by attempting a military attack.

The American strategy is to try to get China admitted to the group of anti-Communist governments of divided countries which have the confidence of free world allies because they have declared they will try to achieve reunification only by peaceful means and not by force. Present members of this group include West Germany, South Korea and South Vietnam.

Diplomatic authorities said Dulles obviously is attempting to get a reciprocal renunciation of force from the Chinese Reds in order to "freeze" the situation in the Formosa Strait into an indefinite de facto cease fire.

He then would count on the moral—and possibly economic—pressure of world opinion to keep the Reds from resuming the attack.

Officials acknowledged that pressure on Red China to renounce the use of force and the effort to get more backing for Chiang may not succeed. But they hope to maneuver the Communists into a defensive position in world opinion.

Hinkley Cast In Comedy At West Texas

CANYON (Spl)—James Hinkley of Pampa is cast in the West Texas State College production of Christopher Fry's poetic comedy, "The Lady's Not For Burning," bound for a Nov. 8 opening in the Branding Iron Theatre.

"The Lady's Not For Burning" will run through Nov. 8 with curtain time 8:15 p.m. Director is William A. Moore, associate director of speech; and technical director, Robert L. Antrim, speech instructor.

Fifteenth Century England is the setting for Fry's Comedy, concerning Thomas Mendip, a philosophical humorist, and Jennet Jourdemayne, a girl who has no wish to die. Mendip, a discharged soldier, comes to a small town and, weary of the world, announces that he has committed murder. He demands to be hanged and is annoyed when the officials take his request lightly.

Shortly afterward the "girl" is brought before the mayor and charged with witchcraft. Mendip comes to her defense by trying to show the officials "how absurd it would be to refuse to hang a man who wants to be hanged" and "how unreasonable to kill an attractive young lady who is not only guiltless but doesn't want to die."

The two fall in love and it appears that neither will be hanged, a situation that satisfies both. Hinkley, a junior speech major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hinkley of Pampa.

Birds are an offshoot of reptile stock that was laying eggs millions of years before the first bird flew.

The U. S. Treasury Department won't tell the American people the hard truth. The truth is that United States Savings Bonds are a bad investment for thrifty citizens— and have been for 25 years—because of wasteful federal spending that leads to inflation and a dollar of declining value.

In the press and on radio and TV, the Treasury Department is actually misleading the public by saying that savings bonds represent "a more attractive long-term investment than ever." Oil Troubles Will Be Tackled Today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Independent Petroleum Association of America meets in Dallas Sunday to tackle worrisome industry problems, including recent crude oil price cuts and oil imports. More than 900 registrations were expected. The program will be given a thorough airing at a panel discussion in which questions will be put to Roland A. Wheately, assistant to federal oil imports administrator Matthew V. Carson Jr. Other vital issues up for review are what the new Congress may do about the 27 1/2 per cent tax depletion allowance, public lands legislation, and whether it will look with favor on measures to exempt independent natural gas producers from federal regulation. In another, he said the government's revised voluntary oil imports program scheduled to take effect Jan. 1 was a step in the right direction but still falls short of adequate protection for domestic products. The speaker has been with the Shreveport Little theatre, is the author of a Harper and Brothers book going on sale Oct. 29. Title of the volume is "Directing the Play."

dustry badly, the IPAA is concerned by the economic outlook. Brown said the crude price cuts "cannot help but aggravate the deterioration already evident in domestic exploratory, drilling and development trends." He said that so far in 1958 exploratory drilling is 20 per cent below 1957, total drilling is down 12 per cent, and working drilling rigs are off 18 per cent. He said this "represents a clear threat to the industry's ability to maintain adequate petroleum supplies for the future."

Brown said the industry simply has not had the money to maintain these programs and that crude price cuts can only further aggravate the situation. He pointed out that in five and one-half years there has been only one general increase in crude prices—25 cents a barrel in January, 1957. Oil imports will be debated by a panel representing the government, independent producers, bankers, integrated oil companies and firms with both domestic and foreign production.

Right-to-Work Issue Puts All Else On Sidelines In Ohio

Editors: The following is another in a number of political dispatches which will move everything else on the sidelines in a rough and tumble Ohio election campaign.

By HASKELL SHORT
United Press International

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—An increasingly bitter fight over the right to work issue has put everything else on the sidelines in a rough and tumble Ohio election campaign.

The politicians, economic groups, church spokesmen, and major newspapers are split in their stand on the issue with both sides having important support.

Both camps have well-financed campaigns whose publicity staffs turn out an endless barrage of charges and counter-charges.

The issue has put the spotlight on the governor's race where Republican Gov. C. William O'Dell has made support of the proposal the No. 1 issue in his campaign against Michael V. DiSalle.

Newspaper pollsters feel that Republican Sen. John W. Bricker will defeat Stephen Young, former four-term congressman-at-large.

Battleground for Labor
The polls show that O'Neill is in trouble this year in his rematch with DiSalle. O'Neill beat DiSalle two years ago by 427,000 votes, the biggest margin ever scored by a candidate for governor in Ohio. This time the race is rated a toss-up. The pollsters also rate the right to work question a toss-up.

Organized labor has tagged Ohio as the "real battleground" of 1958 because Ohio is the largest industrial state where the issue has gone to a vote. Union leaders, defeated in two major statewide campaigns within eight years, are putting more fight into their campaign against the right to work issue than they did in their losing drive against Republican Sen. Robert A. Taft in 1950.

Both parties wanted to postpone a vote on the question until next year but the business groups leading the fight for its approval went ahead with their plans. The issue is being submitted as an amendment to the state constitution. If adopted, it would outlaw the union shop.

Democrats put a plank in their state platform denouncing the proposal. Republicans, under heavy pressure from congressional candidates in industrial states, declared the issue non-partisan and left it to each candidate to take any stand he desired.

Ike-Harry In 'Who Struck John' Type Dispute

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The ruckus between President Eisenhower and former President Truman over responsibility for the disgraceful debasement of the U.S. dollar and for spending the nation into almost unmanageable debt is one of those "Who struck John?" disputes.

"Who struck John?" was slangy World War II GI ridicule of any dispute in which the disputants just went 'round and 'round without arriving anywhere.

This fiscal "Who struck John?" dispute relating to the shambles in which the fiscal affairs of the nation have fallen can be exposed, however, to certain mathematical checks and measurements. So exposed, the dispute between the President and the former President just about adds up to a draw bet. They are both wrong or, more precisely, each is about half right, which is just as bad. Take spending, for example.

The Digest Figures
The brightly edited "Democratic Digest" for October compares the spending record of HST with the spending record of DDE, and DDE doesn't look so good. The Digest offers HST's surplus and deficit figures for the fiscal years 1946-51, inclusive and discovers three surplus years and three deficit years. The aggregate of the three surplus years exceeded the aggregate of the three deficit years by $3,773,000,000 which is designated the real surplus for the period covered.

DDE's record for fiscal years 1954 to 1959, inclusive, shows two surplus years and four deficit years for what is described as a real deficit of $19,111,000,000. Their respective spending records for these six years were: HST, $267,700,000,000; DDE $419,400,000,000. Eisenhower is the champ spender. No doubt about that.

MEETING A DEADLINE

THE LITTLE LADY STILL WANTS MINK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mink is the fur most in demand in the United States but the fur industry used about six times as many rabbit pelts last year, according to the Commerce Department.

It said in a survey of the billion-dollar fur trade that mink production in 1957 was estimated at nearly 4,500,000 pelts. Imports brought more than 3 million more into the country.

In comparison, the department reported that 72 million rabbits were imported by the fur and hat industry last year. Many were touched up to simulate almost every known fur, the survey said, and rabbit pelts found their way into hats, gloves and novelty jewelry.

Demand for rabbit is declining, however, it said, mainly because of an "inexplicable consumer reaction against the connotation of the name."

"For many years rabbits masqueraded as mink (but) have been replaced by the more commonplace name required under the Fur Labeling Act," the survey writer explained.

Mink, on the contrary, is one of the most popular furs in the United States and a mainstay of the fur industry. In addition, "mink offers good serviceability" despite its upper-bracket price tags, the department said.

Baptists Will Hear Starlet

DALLAS (UPI) — A movie star, nationally known finance and education leaders will appear at the 73rd annual session of the Baptist General Convention of Texas in San Antonio Nov. 3-5.

Miss Georgia Lee, a Hollywood actress who has dedicated her talents to making religious films, will be one of the guest speakers to messengers from the 3,814 Texas Baptist churches.

Other speakers include Doak Campbell, president emeritus of Florida State University; Ben Wooten, president of the First National Bank of Dallas; Dr. Leonard Sanderson, evangelism secretary for the SBC Home Mission Board and Dr. James Sullivan, secretary of the Baptist Sunday School Board.

Heading the convention's agenda will be a discussion of a record $11,500,000 1959 cooperative program budget.

Baptist officials expect more than 5,500 persons.

Quill & Scroll Is An Active Group

By WALLY TRUESDELL
Daily News Staff Writer

Some of the professional rivalry between the paper and annual staffs at Pampa High School is softened when the Quill and Scroll Society holds an initiation or a party. Every junior who has worked a year on either publication and meets certain other requirements may become a Quill and Scroll member.

One of the stiffest requirements is maintaining an 85 average. Quill and Scroll seeks to build scholarship at the same time that it seeks to build good journalism habits such as dispassionate thinking, clear and forceful writing.

The Society was founded in 1926 to encourage individual achievement in journalism and allied fields. At the end of their senior year, members may get local and national recognition for their work on the Little Harvester paper and The Harvester yearbook and in the field of creative writing.

Last year, Gale Harris, editor-in-chief of the Little Harvester, won the Quill and Scroll creative writing award here and Gary Dockery, the journalism award.

Quill & Scroll, with headquarters at the University of Iowa, sponsors a number of scholarships for those who want to take up journalism in college. Lately, no one has applied for a Quill & Scroll scholarship.

The board of trustees of the national society includes such persons as George Gallup of Gallup Polls fame and high officials of the publishing media. Last year the Little Harvester won the Gallup Award, one of the top awards given by the Society.

Quill & Scroll here is a very active honor society. Putting out the Little Harvester and the annual is a full time job but the group finds time for two initiations a year and a couple of parties. In December Quill & Scroll members spread Christmas cheer by adopting a family to gift with a food basket and toys.

A Quill & Scroll Initiation shows the high standards that Miss Elizabeth Hurley and other Q & S sponsors try to build up. New members stand at a table emblazoned with the Quill & Scroll motto, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

At the fall initiation, Bob Jernigan, president, lit the tall candle, Truth. From the Truth candle, JoAnn Thompson, vice president and editor in chief of the Little Harvester, lit the first, third and fifth candles, Initiative, Leadership and Enlightenment in that order. Carol Rochelle, secretary treasurer, lit the second, fourth and sixth candles, Opportunity, Loyalty, Friendship.

Seniors initiated were Bernice and Pat Beuselink, Marie Golden, Sylvia Grider, Bobby Hebert, Wanda Huff, Jere Teed and Anne Tripplhorn, editor of the annual.

Juniors were Michael Brown, Paultette Cook, Ruth Irwin, Toney Patterson and Lynda Wilhelm.

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — Four prominent Colombian financiers fly to Houston, Tex., Saturday for talks with U.S. government officials and businessmen on the possibility of private American investments in Colombia.

Goodbye Witchweed!

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department said today an intensive effort to eradicate witchweed is getting under way in North Carolina and South Carolina.

Witchweed is a parasite plant capable of destroying corn, sorghum, sugarcane crops and various grasses. Roots of the witchweed attach to the roots of host plants, depriving them of water and nutrients. Affected plants wilt, gradually turn yellow and die. The pest, long known in Asia, Africa and Australia, was found in this country in 1956.

The department, in a cooperative undertaking with agricultural agencies of the two states and farmers in the infested area, hopes to have the eradication program in full operation by next spring. Congress appropriated three million dollars to initiate the program.

The pest presently is in six counties of northeastern South Carolina and 12 adjoining counties in southeastern North Carolina. It has been located on some 75,000 acres of cultivated land and 20,000 acres of uncultivated land on 3,404 farms in the 18 quarantined counties.

The department said farmers in the area now are being asked to use or permit witchweed-killing practices on their land beginning next spring.

The department said both chemical and cultural methods of eradication would be used in order to disrupt normal farm practices as little as possible.

Pampa's TEC Office Gets 1st Application

Pampa's office of the Texas Employment Commission, last week, received its first application for unemployment benefits as provided under the ex-servicemen's new federal program.

The new program, according to Pampa office manager W. J. Ragsdale, gives benefits to ex-GI's for weeks of unemployment ending after Oct. 27. To be eligible the serviceman must have had 90 or more continuous days of active service after Jan. 31, 1955, and an honorable discharge.

Ragsdale added that servicemen, though unemployed, will not receive payments until after periods covered by lump-sum terminal leaves and mustering out payments have expired.

The new law allows a peacetime serviceman, who registered for employment, the right to collect jobless benefits while trying to get a civilian job. Earlier laws covered only World War II and Korean conflict vets. Amount of payments will be governed by rank at the time of separation from the service.

Ragsdale estimates some 7,250 Texas veterans are eligible for the new jobless benefits.

SMU Must angs Smear Georgia Tech, 20 To 0

Gregory, Welch, Dunn Lead Ponies to Victory

By ED FITTE
United Press International

DALLAS (UPI)—Southern Methodist shackled Georgia Tech with a smothering defense Saturday and capitalized on Billy Dunn's passes and spectacular runs by Glynn Gregory and Jim Welch for a 20-0 triumph that was Tech's worst defeat in eight years.

Dunn riddled Tech's aerial defenses with a 71-yard second quarter drive capped with a 19-yard touchdown heave to Dave Sherer, scored another touchdown personally from the one at the far end of an 86-yard third period surge and turned in several key tackles much to the delight of the crowd of 27,000.

Rangers Romp Over Bobcats

CHILDRESS — Perryton's Rangers ran wild here Friday night, routing the Childress Bobcats 72-12 to stay undefeated atop District 5-AA.

Earl McKinley ran 95 yards for Perryton's sixth touchdown, and also tallied three other times on runs of one, 31, and 29 yards.

Rickey Shaffer passed to Barry Acker for a Ranger touchdown after a conversion, and Shaffer sprinted 40 yards for another TD.

James Lellis broke through on two long touchdown runs for the Rangers, 34 yards in the first quarter and 40 in the fourth. Others tallying six-pointers for the Rangers were Tommy Elzey on an 8-yard run, Robert McGarraugh on a 1-yard plunge, and Robert Neely on a pass from Gary Hoos.

Perryton made its three two-point conversions on a run by Danny Pletcher and passes from Shaffer to Acker and Hoos to Neely. Childress scored in the second quarter on a 5-yard toss from Fred Cawthon to Donald Darling, and in the third quarter on a 1-yard plunge by Dan Mitchell.

Until Friday night, it looked as if nobody in District 3-4A could make it interesting for Borger.

Well, Lubbock made it interesting for the Bulldogs, but that's about all. Borger, playing on its home field, came through with a 26-20 win.

Borger must be a mighty lonesome team right now, sitting all by itself at the top of the district. The Bulldogs are the only squad still undefeated in district competition.

Monterey is the only team which still has a real chance of slowing, much less stopping, the Bulldogs' championship drive. The Plainsmen meet the Bulldogs next Friday in Borger. Monterey has lost only one game, so they could share the title by knocking off Borger.

Borger All the Way?

I sure hope the Bulldogs don't fall down on the job, though—at least not until they play the Harvesters. It's always a great thrill to see a team picked for fifth place or worse come up with a powerhouse and lick the stuffings out of everybody.

Borger seems to be doing what the Pittsburgh Pirates did during baseball season — except that the Pirates lost the pennant, and Borger isn't likely to lose the district championship.

It would be especially great to see the Bulldogs bite a sizeable chunk from the hide of Monterey. The Plainsmen handed the Harvesters a worse licking than even mighty Wichita Falls, and it would do Pampa fans a lot of good to see someone do the same to Monterey.

Another reason I'd like to see Borger wallop the Plainsmen is that I hate to have mixed emotions about a ball game. If Borger goes down on the job, though — at least not until they play the Harvesters. It's always a great thrill to see a team picked for fifth place or worse come up with a powerhouse and lick the stuffings out of everybody.

White Deer is Terrific

Speaking of surprise teams, what about those White Deer Bucks? Not that the Bucks were supposed to be anybody's pushover, but they were ranked behind Lefors in District 2-A.

The Bucks walloped Lefors 36-6 two weeks ago (Lefors hadn't been scored on in four games), then Friday they knocked off a good Canadian team 38-16. McLean is next on the list of intended victims.

The Tigers are nobody's patsy, but neither were Lefors or Canadian. It's quite possible that the Bucks could repeat the entire performance of the Lefors and Canadian games.

If you're wondering why the Bucks are so tough, here are some figures which give the whys and what-fores. Ordinarily, I'm not much of a believer in statistics, but when they're as overwhelming as these, you have to be a believer.

The Bucks have averaged 455 yards per game against their seven opponents — and this average includes the Stinnett game, in which they were held to a 6-6 tie.

White Deer has made a total of 2,800 yards on rushing, and 386 through the air — a total of 3,186 yards. That's just 324 yards short of two miles.

One White Deer back, Hershel Powell, has gained two-thirds of a mile rushing. Powell has a grand total of 1,183 yards. Team mate Allen Harmon has amassed 605 yards on the ground, and a third back, Don Adams, has gained over 550 yards.

The Bucks have outscored their seven opponents by an average of 40.5 to 7.5. If there's a class A school in Texas which can match that, they're going some.

St. Louis Cards Beat Japanese Ball Club

TOKYO (UPI)—Kazuhsa Inao, Japan's 21-year-old "wonder pitcher," was treated roughly by the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday as they knocked him out in the fourth inning and went on to an 8-3 victory over an all-star team in a game curtailed by rain.

Stan Musial, who went hitless Friday when the Cards opened their tour of Japan with a 5-2 triumph, collected three hits in as many times at bat. Although the Cardinals made 13 hits, they failed to hit a home run for the

Georgia Tops Kentucky

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI)—The Georgia Bulldogs, frustrated for half a season, finally found a punch Saturday so effective they scored twice in 10 seconds with the aid on a stolen kickoff to trounce fading Kentucky 28-0 before 31,000 fans.

Georgia dominated play through the first three periods but held only a 7-0 lead going into a third-quarter fourth period.

Sophomore half back Fred Brown, moving like a frightened deer, dashed for 11 yards to climax a 77-yard Georgia drive which began late in the third period.

Then, with only four minutes remaining, half back George Whitton went on another 11-yard touchdown dash to put the game out of Kentucky's reach. But Georgia wasn't through. Ten seconds later sophomore guard Pat Dye plucked the kickoff ball from Kentucky's Calvin Biard and went 28 yards untouched to score again.

The first period gave no indication of the Georgia rout to follow as Kentucky, paced by the off-tackle slants of 200-pound halfbacks Bobby Cravens and Glenn Shaw bent the Bulldog line.

But Georgia began to take command in the second period with fullbacks Cicero Lucas and Theron Sapp pounding the Kentucky middle and quarterbacks Tommy Lewis and Francis Taskerton moving the ball overhead.

Follett Nips Wheeler, 20-8

FOLLETT — The Follett Panthers evened their District 1-B record at 1-1 here Friday night with a 20-8 win over Wheeler's Mustangs.

It was Follett's second win of the season against five losses, and Wheeler's sixth loss, against five wins. Wheeler is also 1-1 in District 1-B competition.

After a scoreless first half, Kenneth Hargrove galloped 25 yards to put the Panthers ahead in the third quarter. Homer Wolley ran for the extra points.

Jack Holcomb scored for Wheeler on a 30-yard pass play in the fourth quarter, but the conversion try failed, and Follett led 8-6 going into the fourth quarter.

The Panthers scored two insurance touchdowns in the fourth period, as Ronnie Laubhan plunged one yard and Hargrove sprinted 14 yards. Wheeler added two points to their score by downing a Follett ball carrier in the end zone.

Miami Rios Eagles, 55-6

CHANNING (Sp1) — Channing's Eagles scored first here Friday night, but all they accomplished was to make the Miami Warriors angry.

The Warriors came back to score nine straight touchdowns and take a 55-6 victory in the District 1-B contest. Miami now has a 5-F district record, and is tied for the lead with Mobeelle.

Gary Green passed 10 yards to Carleton Roach in the first quarter to give Channing a 6-0 lead, but Miami roared back on runs of 15 yards by Sam Harris and 20 yards by Billy Lard, plus a drop kick by Jimmy Bowers, to take a 14-0 first quarter lead.

In the second quarter, Harris sprinted 10 yards, Lard went 20, and Jimmy Seitz galloped 25 to give the Warriors a 34-6 margin at halftime. Bowers dropped-kicked the two extra points after Harris' second-quarter tally.

Miami tallied in the third quarter on 25-yard dashes by Toby Cunningham and Paul Thompson, and a drop-kick by Bowers, to lead 48-6 going into the fourth quarter.

Harris passed 30 yards to Cunningham for the final Warrior touchdown, and Bowers took a short pass from Lard to put a 1-point icing on the cake.

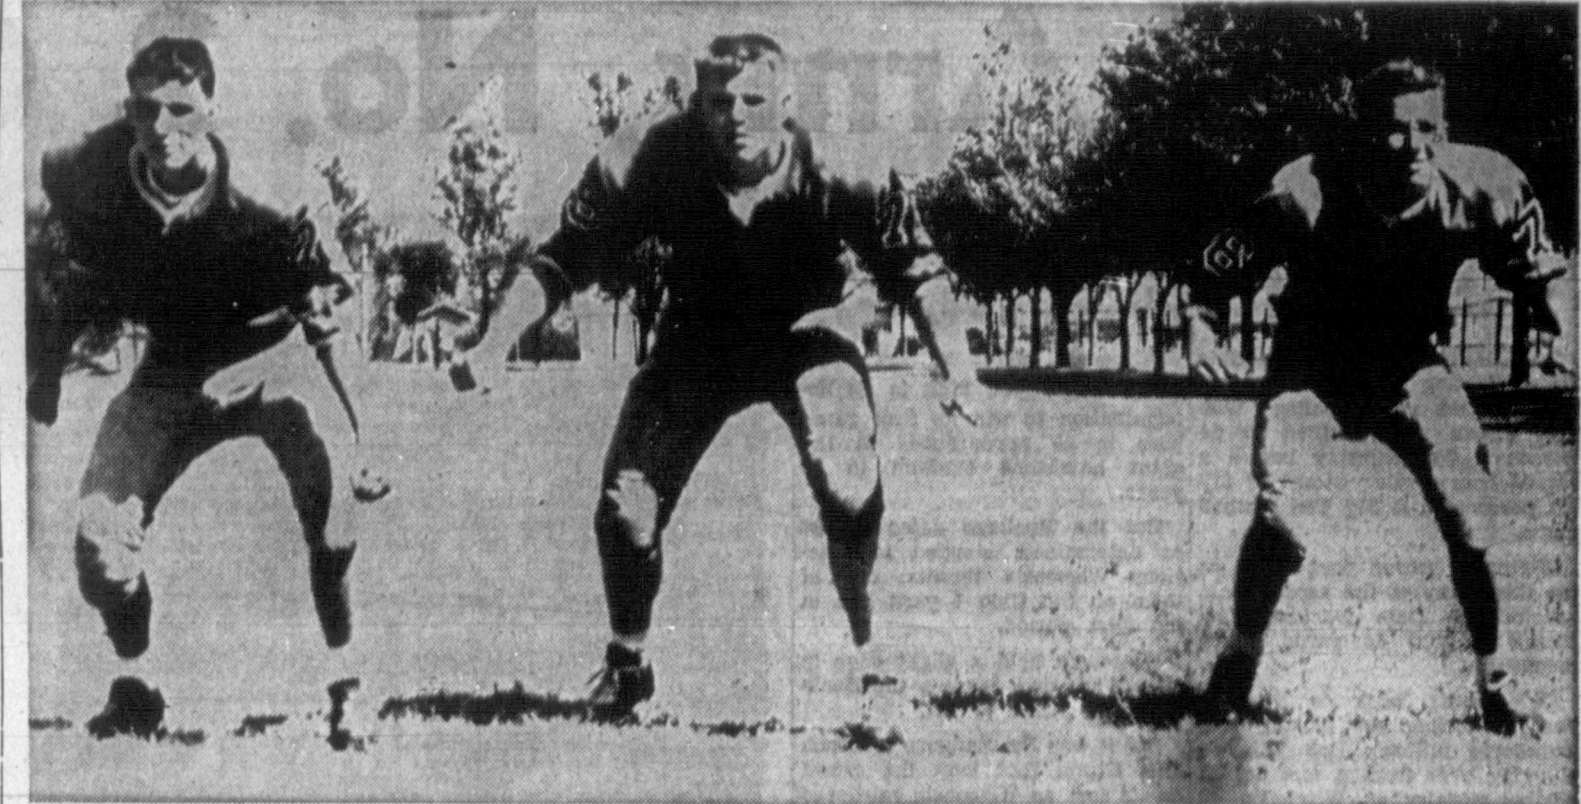

Score by Quarters
Channing 8 0 0 0—8

West Virginia Edges Va. Tech

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—West Virginia, showing a beefy but fast-charging line and a slippery quarterback in Dick Longfellow, used an old-fashioned extra point kick by tackle Dick Guesman Saturday to edge Virginia Tech 21-20 for its 26th straight Southern conference win.

The Mountaineers came back from a two-touchdown deficit in the annual Tobacco Festival contest to stun Tech's hopes for its first conference crown before 22,000 fans.

A third-period West Virginia drive covering 60 yards in 12 bruising plays, climaxed by Mel Reight's 5-yard end run, tied the game 20-20 and Guesman came through with a dead-center placement.

Duke Edges NC State

DURHAM, N. C. (UPI)—Duke punched over two last-period touchdowns on a break and a 59-yard march Saturday to beat North Carolina State 20-13 before 20,000 fans.

The Blue Devils got the points they needed for their first Atlantic Coast Conference victory on a two-point conversion after a 10-yard touchdown pass from half-back George Dutrow to half-back Wray Carlton. That put Duke ahead 14-7.

State hit right back with a 23-yard punt return by halfback Ken Trowbridge and Trowbridge's 53-yard touchdown pass to end Bob Pepe on the succeeding play. But the Wolfpack, which tied Duke 14-14 last year, wasn't content to kick for a tie and Duke guard Mike McGee broke up a pass for the attempted conversion.

Carlton and Dutrow then powered Duke 59 yards on the following kickoff and Dutrow piled over the left side of the State line one yard for the third Duke touchdown.

Halfback Bunny Bell, an unheralded speedster, hauled a punt 65 yards down the right sideline for Duke's first touchdown in the second period, but State led 7-6 at halftime. The Wolfpack scored on a 70-yard march early in the second period with fullback Arnold Nelson crashing one yard for the touchdown. Tackle Larry Dixon kicked the extra point.

White Deer Runs Past Canadian

WHITE DEER (Sp1) — White Deer removed its second big obstacle on the road to the District 2-A championship here Friday by rambling past the Canadian Wildcats, 38-16.

White Deer and McLean are tied for the district lead with 3-0 records. They meet next Friday in McLean. White Deer had a season record of six wins, one tie.

The Bucks ran for 421 yards and tried only one pass, which went incomplete. Canadian rushed for 255 yards and completed one pass for 43 yards. White Deer led in first downs, 20-15.

Allen Harmon scored three touchdowns for White Deer and ran for 150 yards on 18 carries.

Browns, Cards Clash Sunday

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

The Baltimore Colts and Cleveland Browns are favored to boost the National Football League's only perfect records to 5-0 during Sunday's six-game card.

Baltimore, always tough to beat at home, entertains the Washington Redskins (2-2) and is favored by 7 1/2 points. The game is expected to draw 55,000.

Cleveland, always tough to beat any place except at Detroit's Briggs Stadium, invades Chicago and is a six-point choice to retain its two-game Eastern Division lead by downing the Cardinals (2-2).

The Chicago Bears (3-1) trail the Colts by a game in the Western Division and are favored by 8 1/2 points for their game with the Forty-Niners (2-2) at San Francisco.

In the other games, the New York Giants (2-2) are favored over the visiting Pittsburgh Steelers (1-3) by six points, the Rams (2-2) are 9 1/2 point picks to beat the Detroit Lions (0-3-1) at Los Angeles, and the Packers (0-3-1) are favored over the Philadelphia Eagles (1-3) by two at Green Bay.

Washington meets a Baltimore club that boasts the league's top touchdown thrower in John Unkrus (8) and its top pass receiver, in Ray Berry (23 catches). Eddie LeBaron of the Redskins, who has averaged 9.70 yards per throw, leads the league's passing standings.

The Cardinals, confusing rival defenses with their double and triple wing T formations, lead the league in total yards with 1,671. They dropped a 35-27 decision to the Browns two weeks ago and get another chance to stop Jim Brown and Ebbot Mitchell, Cleveland's rushing stars. Brown is the league's top rusher with 638 yards and his top scorer with 10 touchdowns and 60 points. Mitchell is the No. 2 rusher with 370 yards, averaging 8.8 per try.

Scotter McLean, Green Bay coach, bawled out his players after they fell behind Washington last Sunday, 37-0, and lost, 37-21. This dressing down may make things tougher for the Eagles.

The Eagles, 30-24 victims of the Forty-Niners last week, have beaten the Packers only once in 13 tries.

Florida State Stuns Vols

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Florida State, which someday hopes to join the Southeastern conference, boosted its credentials Saturday by scoring a touchdown and field goal in the third quarter to upset favored Tennessee 10-0 for its first victory over an SEC member.

A slick crowd of 32,700 watched the red-crowned Seminoles upset the Vols for their fifth win against two losses. Tennessee has won two and lost three.

Florida State came out of the half-time intermission with a razzle-dazzle offensive show that left the Vols completely dazed for the rest of the game.

Florida State took the second half kickoff and three plays later Fred Pickard, a 160-pound battering ram, romped through the middle of Tennessee's line for 51 yards before he was brought down from behind by fullback Carl Smith on the Tennessee 26.

The Seminoles made a first down on the 16 but the Vols stiffened and held on the 10.

Then the Floridians sent in senior John Shepperd who kicked the field goal from the 16.

A few minutes later guard Al Ulman intercepted a Tennessee pass and trundled to the Vol 27.

On the first play, quarterback Vic Prinzi fired a pass to right end Tony Romeo who was downed on the one as he caught the ball.

Borger Blasts Lee 7th, 34-0

Borger closed Lee seventh grade's football season on a sad note here Friday afternoon, downing the Rebels 34-0 on Harvester practice field.

The Rebels were able to stop Borger from going through the line effectively, but the speedy Borger backs moved around the ends without too much trouble.

Lee's pass defense was excellent. Borger completed two of four aerials, but lost yardage on both. One pass lost four yards, the other cost Borger three.

The Rebels moved into Borger territory three times. They pushed to the 44 as time ran out in the first half, marched to the 25 early in the fourth quarter, and penetrated to the 9 with seconds left in the game. Key plays on the drive to the 9 were a 28-yard pass from Gene Storrs to Norman Rexroat and a 10-yard plunge through the middle of the line by Rexroat.

Rexroat and Storrs sparked the erratic Rebel ground attack. Rexroat carried nine times for 32 yards, and Storrs lugged the leather 11 times for 18 yards.

Borger outgained the Rebels on the ground 224 yards to 56, but trailed in passing -7 to 34. Lee had eight first downs to seven for Borger.

Kenneth Hall kept the Borger score from going even higher by making several crucial tackles. Hank Henry and Rexroat also stopped some dangerous Borger runs.

George Sanchez tallied three touchdowns for Borger, going 45 yards around left end in the first quarter, 13 yards in the second quarter, and 45 yards around left end in the third period.

A. C. Tijlman made the longest run of the game, 75 yards around right end in the fourth quarter, for the final touchdown. Joe Robinson made the second Rebel tally, in the first quarter, on a 3-yard plunge.

Kansas Startles Tulane, 14 to 9

By JERE COX
United Press International

LAWRENCE Kan. (UPI)—Bill Crank scored once, stopped three touchdown drives with intercepted passes and got the split-T option play rolling for the first time this season Saturday as lowly Kansas startled Tulane with a 14-9 upset.

A hard-charging Kansas line kept the Green Wave off balance and Tulane quarterback Richie Pettibone, who led Tulane to an upset over Navy last week, was ineffective.

Benavides crushed San Diego 54-24, Farwell beat Anton 50-0, Crowell stomped Archer City 56-16, Trinity beat Elkhart 50-6 and Warren downed Sour Lake 52-14.

Seven previously undefeated clubs, three of them also upset, were cut from the list as Fort Arthur beat Orange 12-7, South San Antonio beat Uvalde 22-8, Lockney upset Abernathy 22-12, Crane knocked off Denver City 28-18, Terrell beat Kaufman 33-6, Electrica nipped Nocona 8-6 and Midlothian upended Springtown 31-13.

Abilene and Sweetwater, the No. 1 clubs in AAAA and AAA, opened their district races impressively with 38-8 and 26-0 victories over Big Spring and Lamesa, respectively.

Indians Massacre Shamrock, 58 to 6

QUANAH—The Indians and the Irish met here Friday night in football combat, and the Irish didn't have any cavalry to rescue them in the nick of time.

Quannah's Indians massacred the Shamrock Irish 58-6 in a District 5-AA grid contest. The Indians have a 1-1 mark in loop play, while the Irish are 0-1.

A pair of brothers with the fine old Indian name of Smith did most of the damage. James Smith scored five touchdowns, three on passes from Corky, and ran for two extra points. Corky Smith threw four touchdown passes, lateraled for another, and ran for a two-point conversion.

Ernest Cadenhead scored Shamrock's only touchdown in the closing seconds, as he powered over from the 1-yard line.

State's Best Grid Teams Stay With Winning Ways

United Press International

Highland Park, Terrell, White Oak and Mart — defending state champions — and most of the other highly-rated schoolboy football powers had a rollicking good time Friday night in outdistancing their foes.

Touchdowns were a cheap commodity in all divisions with scores of 80 or more points showing up frequently on a schedule that still had its usual quota of surprise upsets.

Class AAAA champ Highland Park, rated No. 2 behind Abilene, pumped across 44 points in the third quarter to smother Denton 74-0 in its district opener; AA tilted Terrell breezed past on center half Kaufman 33-6 in another district game and White Oak and Mart — Class A co-champs — whipped Hallsville 38-0 and Bremont 37-6, respectively.

Highest Points Large

Most point production of the night was credited to Ozona in an 88-14 romp past Big Lake, but Cleburne turned in a 79-6 walloping of Stephenville, Garland strangled Denison, 56-0, Houston S. F. Austin blasted Houston San Jacinto 62-0, Harlandale beat San Antonio Central Catholic 63-0, Perryton stomped Childress 72-12, Quannah beat Shamrock 58-6, New London stopped Willis Point 52-0, Center whipped Crockett 53-28,

No. 1 Army, No. 2 Ohio State Are Tied

Wisconsin In Stalemate With Big 10 Buckeyes, 7-7

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Ohio State, fighting to keep the country's longest major college winning streak alive, rallied to tie the Wisconsin 7-7 Saturday before a record homecoming crowd of 83,142 persons in a Big Ten football game.

Wisconsin scored first when on the third play of the second half, quarterback Dale Hackbart returned a punt 64 yards for a touchdown.

Ohio came back to drive 65 yards following the kickoff with workhorse fullback Bob White plunging over from a foot out. A holding penalty on Wisconsin on the play before the touchdown nullified a nice bit of defensive work by the Badgers and moved the ball to the one foot line.

The tie was the first black spot on Ohio's record since its opening day loss to Texas Christian here last year. Since, Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes' team had won 13 in a row.

CAPABLE CADET—Bob Anderson has been one of the mainstays of the Army backfield throughout the season. Anderson passed for a touchdown in Army's 14-14 tie with Pittsburgh Saturday.

Pittsburgh Deadlocks Cadets In 14-14 Thriller

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Fired-up Pittsburgh spotted top-ranked Army a two-touchdown lead Saturday and then stormed back on the passing of quarterbacks Ivan Tonic and Bill Kaliden to knock the Cadets from the perfect ranks with a 14-14 tie.

The Pitt team made it a "long gray afternoon" for the long gray line from West Point as Kaliden, second-string signal-caller from nearby Homestead, Pa., passed to halfback Johnny Flara, of Midland, Pa., for a 43-yard scoring play with 55 seconds left in the first half.

Whatever Happened To... SAL YVARS

United Press International

Sal Yvars, a native New Yorker, achieved one of his boyhood ambitions by sticking with the New York baseball Giants for seven seasons as a catcher. But his dreams of stardom never quite came off. Stocky Sal was second-string first to Walker Cooper and later to Wes Westrum and spent more time warming up pitchers than he did behind the bat in competition. However, Sal was a dependable replacement and contributed a .317 batting average in the 25 clutch games he played for the 1951 world champs. He caught 66 games the following year, his busiest, but hit only .245. In 1953 he was sold to the Cardinals and soon called it quits on his baseball career.

Whatever happened to Sal Yvars? Now 34, he is employed by a brokerage office in Westchester County, just north of New York City.

One of the more famous young citizens in the country this autumn is named Bill Carpenter, but maybe the name doesn't press a buzzer.

Maybe you know Bill Carpenter by his vocation, which is being anti-social for the U. S. Military Academy. Bill is the "lonesome end" on the No. 1 team in the nation, so voted last week by all Experts and Sage Observers before the 14-14 Cadet stumble at Pittsburgh Saturday.

He's the Army football citizen who planked his 205-pounds some 20 yards away from the rest of his teammates, when his teammates are on the offense.

He doesn't even huddle with his friends. Garlic maybe, or perhaps he's been careless with his underthings.

Anyway, Mr. Carpenter stands way off at the side of the field, humming to himself and watching the Redhead in Section DD. When his teammates break out of the huddle, they give him some secret hand sign, informing him of their immediate plans.

McLean Mauls Memphis

MEMPHIS — McLean turned up here Friday for next week's showdown with White Deer, by romping to a 46-6 win over the hapless Memphis Cyclones.

The Tigers remain undefeated in district play, with a 3-0 record. White Deer also has a 3-0 record. The winner of Friday's clash between the two clubs is expected to take the District 2-A championship.

The Crockett brothers, David and Billy, scored three touchdowns each to lead the Tiger attack. David Crockett ran four conversions, Billy scampered for one.

Quarterback Bunky Adcock plunged six yards through the middle of the line for Memphis' only score in the third quarter.

Billy Crockett scored on runs of 13 and 22 yards in the first quarter and on a 3-yard romp in the second. David Crockett tallied touchdowns on runs of 18 yards in the second quarter and 12 yards in the fourth quarter. Jim Reid passed 47 yards to David Crockett in the fourth period, on the longest scoring play of the night.

Boston College Upsets Miami

BOSTON (UPI)—Reserve halfback Vin Hogan skirred through on a 48-yard third period scamper Saturday to give Boston College a 6-2 upset victory over the University of Miami.

Hogan, a 180-pound junior from Springfield, Mass., who had been troubled by a leg injury most of the season, gave no sign of the ailment on his scoring dash before 11,000 spectators.

The touchdown overcame a 2-0 Miami lead gained in the second quarter on a gift safety. The Eagles, winning their third game in five starts, used a muddy gridiron to squelch free-wheeling Miami quarterback Fran Curci.

Borger Leaps Title Hurdle

Borger's pennant express kept rolling down the track Friday night, as the Bulldogs whipped the Lubbock Westerners, 26-20.

The Bulldogs are now the undefeated team in District 3-4A competition, with a 4-0 loop record. Lubbock was previously undefeated, and was considered as Borger's most serious contender for the district championship.

Lubbock and Monterey are now tied for second place with 2-1 records, and Blairview is fourth with 1-1. All other teams have lost two or more games, and are for all practical purposes, out of the race.

Monterey plays Borger Friday at Borger. By taking that game, the Plainsmen could grab a share of the title.

Plainview and Palo Duro were to have played Saturday night in Amarillo. Plainview has already lost to Borger, so they had to win Saturday to keep alive their slim hopes of taking or sharing the championship.

Monterey stayed in the race Friday night by walling the Amarillo Sandies, 31-6, before a crowd of 6,000. The Plainsmen completely dominated play, piling up 467 yards and 27 first downs to 187 yards and 10 first downs for Amarillo.

The Constant Threat

When the ball is snapped, he dashes downfield for a pass, or he dashes downfield to make people THINK he is going to catch a pass.

Therein lies where the Lonesome End's value lies... as a decoy, a lever that pries open the defense and gives the Army attack more room to wheel and deal, this being an old Academy expression meaning to score touchdowns.

The Lonesome End offense was dreamed up by Coach Red Blaik while on a January visit to Florida, presumably after eating too much lobster.

"We always played the regular T formation," said the Colonel to an eastern writer the other day. "And other teams were coming up with variable defenses. Lately we haven't had much of a bench, just one good solid first team."

How true, Mr. Blaik, that was a 14-0 first half lead you blew yesterday afternoon to the Pitts.

The Cadet mentor said his first team has been taking a big beating so far, which is why he had to figure out a way to operate more effectively and cut down on this physical punishment business.

The idea of the Lonesome End being way out there (and Carpenter is a hurdler and sprinter) popped into Red's punkin' head and it's been keeping loose and uneasy ever since. The foe can't use a close defense in its secondary and therefore can't give as much support to its line and linebackers on defense. They got to send out a "lonesome halfback" to guard the Lonesome End.

And the remainder of the secondary has to remain aware of the Lonesome End, because he may cut into their zones, eluding his keeper.

We can see where it would be rather unnerving, like being in a dark room with Zorro, and him therefore can't give as much support to its line and linebackers on defense. They got to send out a "lonesome halfback" to guard the Lonesome End.

Auburn Blasts Maryland, 20-7

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI)—Third-ranked Auburn, its pride and win streak shattered by a tie last week, rushed across 14 points in a wild third quarter Saturday to trounce Maryland 20-7 and bid again for top national recognition.

Third-string quarterback Johnny Kern, coming through under varsity pressure, and second string fullback Jimmy Reynolds provided the offensive fury to give Coach Ralph Jordan his 50th victory and 19th straight game without defeat for the Tigers who were rated No. 1 two weeks ago.

With Auburn behind for the first time this season, Reynolds banged through center, found an opening and sprinted 82 yards for a touchdown in the opening minutes of the third quarter.

Then the crowd of 28,500 watched scabback Tommy Lorino intercept one of Bob Rusevian's passes on the Terrapin 25 and return it to the 20. Kern, who had completed only three passes until this game, reached second string end Mike Simmons on the 14. Lorino heaved to Simmons on the four and three plays later Lorino crunched over from the one to close out the scoring.

Auburn's offensive power was touched off in second half after the Terp's Rusevian, ranked 15th nationally in passing, connected with end Ben Scotti and the New Jersey senior burst from a pile of defenders and sprinted 62 yards for the touchdown. Right end Vincent Scotti kicked the extra point and Maryland led 7-6, the first time the Tigers have been behind this season.

Lefors Rides Again

LEFORS — The Pirates got back on the high seas Friday, after being scuttled in two straight games by White Deer and Stinnett.

The Pirates took undisputed possession of third place in District 2-A with an easy 20-0 win over the Clarendon Bronchos. Lefors now has a 2-1 loop mark, compared with 3-0 for the leaders, White Deer and McLean.

Lefors dominated the game completely, taking the lead in first downs, rushing yardage, and almost all the other statistics.

Junior Taylor pounced on a Broncho fumble in the end zone for the Pirates' first touchdown in the second quarter. Tommy Johnson ran for the conversion.

An alert defense again paid off in the second quarter, as Tex Nolan intercepted a Broncho pass and scampered 28 yards to the promised land.

Lefors marched for their third touchdown in the final period, with Johnson bullying over from the four.

He'll Stay Lonesome

The Army offense, with Mr. Carpenter luring attention his way, averaged more than 790 yards per game against South Carolina and Penn State.

When the Cadets toppled Notre Dame they gained 276 yards. Carpenter snagged only two passes for 16 yards, but he deceived the Irish into dizziness.

Army launched its fleet halfback, Pete Dawkins, wide in the opposite direction on man-in-motion plays. Dawkins gained 75 yards against the Irish meat-grinder and was the chief cannon in the West Point broadside.

Several other teams are trying variations of it. After Army would

Oklahoma Thumps K-State, 40 to 6

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI)—Oklahoma struck a touchdown gusher in the third period Saturday, collected bonuses on pass interception, fumbles and fabulous punt returns to defeat Kansas State, 40-6, for the 22nd consecutive year.

In a lackadaisical first half that failed to excite most of the 47,000 spectators, the once-beaten Sooners pumped only 13 points into the tank, but in the third quarter, they hit the spigot for 21 quick points to more than justify their pre-game rating as 26-point favorites.

The eighth-ranked Oklahomans, winning their 65th straight Big Eight Conference victory, amassed a total of 284 yards rushing to only 51 for the hapless Kansas, who had a record of two victories and four losses for the year.

Nine Scorers

Nine Oklahomans figured in the scoring and Coach Bud Wilkinson sent his fourth and fifth teams into the fray late in the game.

Oklahoma tackle Steve Jennings set up the first touchdown by blocking a Kansas State quick kick after seven minutes of play. Three plays later, halfback Jackie Sandfer passed from the 15 to end Jerry Tillery at the goal line.

The big scoring for Oklahoma started when Sooner tackle G. L. Mer Lewis intercepted Kent McConnell's pass on the Kansas

Owls Run, Pass For Upset Win

By KYLE THOMPSON
United Press International
HOUSTON (UPI) — Rice Institute, fired to a red-hot pitch by the sensational passing and running of quarterbacks Jon Schnable and Alvin Hartman, downed the nationally fourth-ranked Texas University Longhorns, 34-7. Saturday night before a capacity crowd of 72,000 fans.

The defeat was the first of the season for Texas and moved Rice into a strong position as a contender for its second straight Southwest Conference crown.

Hartman and Schnable personally accounted for three of the Owls' first four touchdowns. Halfback Gordon Spear went over from the five and Bobby Wright passed to end Lester Veltman for the other Owl scores.

Texas, which only two weeks ago rose up to defeat the University of Oklahoma 15-14, was stopped cold by a tremendous Rice defense. The only bright spot in the game for the Longhorns came with 39 seconds to go when fullback Clair Branch intercepted a pass by Rice quarterback Bobby Wright and ran 90 yards to score.

Dial Makes Great Catch
The Rice attack went off like clockwork. Following a scoreless first quarter, Schnable led the Owls 61 yards in seven plays highlighted by a sensational 31-yard pass to end Buddy Dial, who had to jump forward to catch the ball over his left shoulder to down the ball on the Texas five.

Spear scored on the next play. Hartman then took the helm and the Owls drove 69 yards in five plays to score. The speedy second-unit quarterback ran 24 yards to the Texas 45, then two plays later threw a 41-yard pass to right half Larry Dusett with Hartman scoring from the one on the next play.

Hartman scored again near the end of the half and the Owls went to the dressing room with a 13-0 lead. It was in the third quarter that it became obvious that the Longhorns were beaten to their knees.

With Hartman's and Schnable eating up yardage in the air and on the ground, Rice Coach Jess Neely began to clean his bench and send in players not listed on the first three teams.

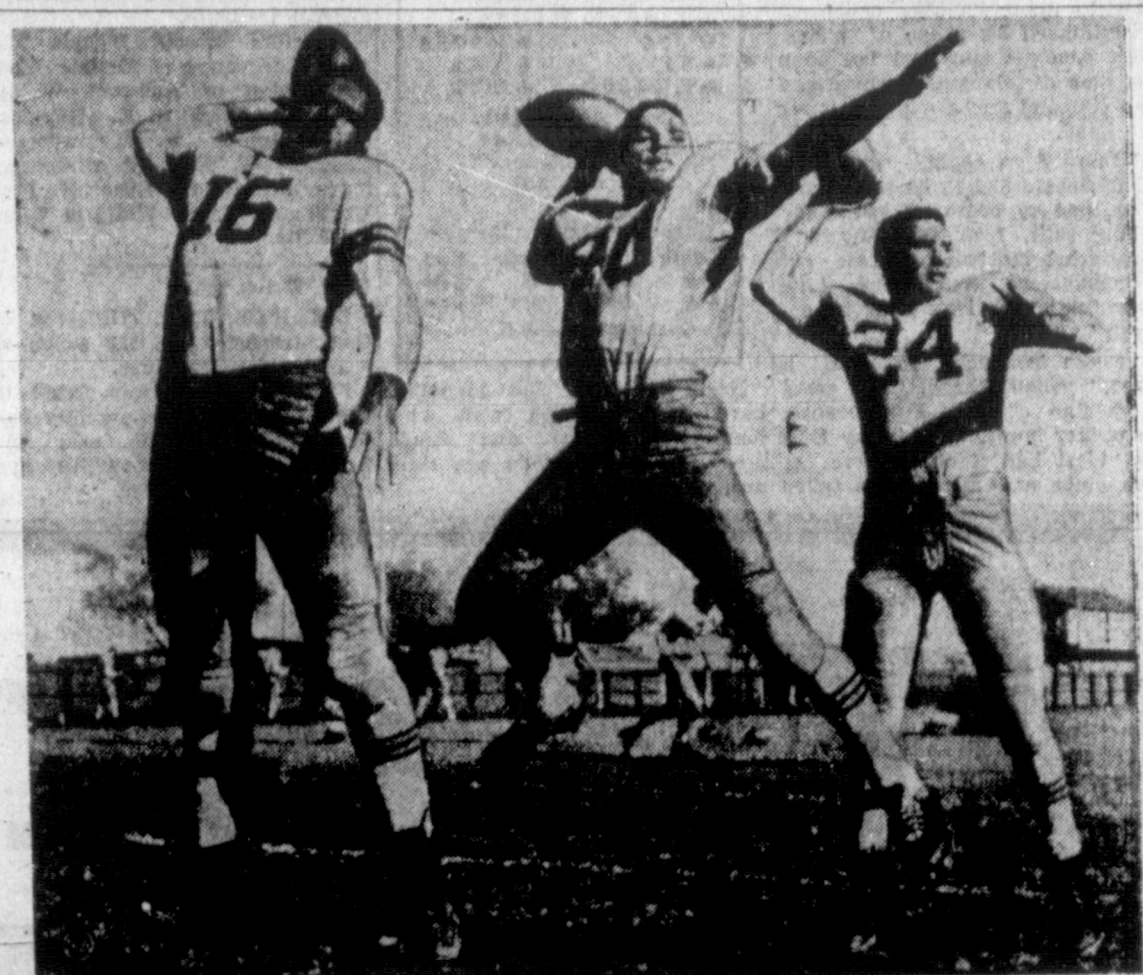

A Texas fumble less than two minutes in the third period on its own 26 set up the third Rice score. Then Hartman intercepted a pass by Texas quarterback Vince Matthews on the Longhorn 33 and scored from the five to climax a series of nine plays.

The power of the Owls' attack was showed by a net of 279 yards rushing and 90 in the air. Texas was held to 119 yards rushing and 75 passing. Rice had the edge in first downs 20 to 10 and intercepted four of the 20 passes tossed by the Longhorns.

Rice fullback Hart Peebles was the leading ground-gainer with 60 yards in 15 carries. Dusett netted 11 in tries for the Owls.

Backs Rene Ramirez and George Blanch each netted 18 yards in six carries to lead the Longhorn ground game.

Navy Submerges Pennsylvania, 50-8

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Crippled Navy poured in a floodtide of reserves headed by third-string sophomore fullback Joe Matavigne Saturday to swamp Pennsylvania, 50-8, in a rain-soaked time-up for the Notre Dame game next week.

The Tars, limping with a season-long series of casualties, used their first unit sparingly, turned over the game to the reserves and saw the eager youngsters keep up the pace with little pause before 18,914, the smallest crowd in school history.

The Midshipmen, looking ahead to Notre Dame, kept the varsity in action for less than 25 minutes. But the replacements hauled the lead with gusto as the Tars rolled to 320 yards in the mud.

A&M Trails By 20 Points; Scores 4 TD'S, 12 Minutes

By LLOYD LARRABE
United Press International
WACO, Tex. (UPI) — A valiant band of Texas Aggies fought from 20 points behind and scored the winning touchdown on a 62-yard pass from tailback Charley Milstead to fullback Luther Hall to take a 33-27 storybook thriller from Baylor Saturday night.

Coach Jim Myers' Cadets, behind 27-7 late in the third quarter, tallied a marker on the final play of that period and counted three more times in the final stanza in a rough-and-tumble Southwest Conference contest.

Milstead passed nine yards to end John Tracey midway in the fourth quarter to come within one point, 27-26, of Baylor, but the Cadets' cause seemed doomed when Milstead gambled on a pass for a two-point conversion and lost as Bear tackle Billy Joe Kell intercepted it at the goal line.

Milstead Races 74 Yards
However, A&M rallied to win its first conference game in two starts when Milstead cocked his arm, looked far downfield and found Hall in the clear for the 62-yard winning marker. Milstead's kick was good for the final point.

The wild-and-wooly finish before 38,000 Baylor homecoming fans added luster to Milstead, who raced 74 yards to score midway in the first period, for the longest play from scrimmage for a Southwest Conference runner since 1955.

An even wilder climax seemed in the making when reserve quarterback Robert Starr of Baylor connected on a 50-yard aerial to halfback Merton Fuquay at the Aggie 12 with less than two minutes left in the game, but the gain was nullified by a penalty.

Hickman Counts Trio
Baylor fullback Larry Hickman, a bruising runner, scored three times — on three-yard plunges in the first and second periods and a one-yard smash in the third period.

The Bears' other touchdown came in the second period when reserve fullback Gaylen Crain cracked over from the 1.

Then, with Baylor leading 27-7, A&M marched 37 yards and scored on tailback Ed Dudley's 10-yard pass to end Travis Nevill on the final play of the third period.

The complexion of the game changed with the kickoff opening the fourth quarter when Fuquay fumbled the return on the Baylor 25, and A&M recovered. Dudley passed 24 yards to Nevill on the next play, and Hall went over from there.

Iowa Topples Northwestern

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI) — Dazzling Randy Duncan, an all-American candidate, fired three touchdowns passes Saturday to propel Iowa past surprising Northwestern, 26-20, before a record crowd of 59,275 Homecoming fans.

The victory stamped undefeated Iowa as the favorite for its second Big Ten title in three years.

Northwestern, unbeaten and untied until Saturday, scored all of its points in the second half and kept the pressure on Iowa until the final seconds.

Iowa's third win against no losses in conference play and gave the Hawkeyes full possession of the Big Ten's top spot, Ohio State, tied by Wisconsin, 7-7, Saturday, was second with a 2-0-1 record.

Duncan completed 14 of 18 pass attempts, good for 174 yards as Iowa stopped Northwestern cold in the first half.

Ole Miss Edges Arkansas, 14-12

By PHIL NEWMAN
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — The Mississippi Rebels, master-minded by competent quarterbacks Billy Brewer and Bobby Franklin, got a scare from a revived Arkansas team, but extended their win streak Saturday with a 14-12 win over the Razorbacks.

The Rebels started off confidently enough, but halfback Jim Mooty kept the fires of hope burning for Arkansas partisans in the crowd of 36,000.

Mooty, an El Dorado, Ark. junior, scored both Arkansas touchdowns and ripped off a total of 120 yards in 14 plays, which brought the crowd to its feet many times.

Franklin, a Clarksdale, Miss., speedster, counted both Mississippi touchdowns.

Sixth Straight Loss
For the hapless Razorbacks, it was the sixth consecutive setback in a dreary season, and got the Rebels over the game that has become a hex contest for the Porkers' cross-river rivals.

The victory was sweet for Coach Johnny Vaught's crew because they had not won at Little Rock since 1952, and had been beaten by Arkansas since 1955.

Mississippi, favored by 16-12 points, started out with a rush. The Rebels recovered a fumble on the Arkansas 33 in the first quarter. Five plays later, Franklin went two yards around right end for the score. Right guard Robert Khayat converted.

Arkansas used three quick kicks to keep out of trouble in the first quarter. Two by left halfback Freddy Akers caught Mississippi without a man back.

25-Yard Run
The Porkers got inside the Ole Miss 50 yard line for the first time at the start of the second quarter. Shortly afterward, Mooty burst around right end, picked up four blockers and went 23 yards for the first Arkansas touchdown.

Mississippi took Arkansas' kickoff on the 27 and in 14 plays went 73 yards to send Franklin stumbling over the goal marker flag for the Rebels' second touchdown.

Khayat continued his smooth converting with a 45-degree kick for the extra point.

In the last period, quarterback Jim Monroe flipped a four-yard pass to halfback Don Horton to start a 10-play series for the second Arkansas score. That came when Mooty went through center for two yards. The attempted pass Monroe — Mooty for the two points needed to tie the score fell to the ground.

Arkansas 0 8 0 6-12
Mississippi 7 7 0 0-14
Scoring:
Arkansas — Mooty 23 run (Kick failed)
Arkansas — Mooty 2 run (Pass failed)
Mississippi — Franklin 7 run (Khayat kick)
Mississippi — Franklin 2 run (Khayat kick)

Tag Team Match Set

A tag team match will be the feature event on Monday night's wrestling card at Top o' Texas Sportsman's Club.

Dory Funk and Tommy Phelps go against Rip Hawk and Jerry Woods. Only one man is allowed in the ring at a time, but a wrestler may tag his partner to come in and take his place.

The tag team match will be decided by the best of three falls, in one hour time limit.

All four wrestlers will be in special events before the tag team match. In the second event, Funk wrestles Hawk; and in the first match of the night Phelps and Woods are opponents. The second match is one fall, 30 minutes time limit; the first is one fall, 20 minute time limit.

The first match begins at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale at Thompson Prescription Shop.

Purdue Shatters Irish, 29 to 22

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Purdue's rugged football team stood off a blistering finish by Notre Dame Saturday to punch out a 29-22 victory with an alert defense and driving attack in a rainstorm before 59,563 fans.

But the Bollermakers' nearly gave up the triumph. Substitute quarterback George Igo sparked the Irish to two touchdowns in the late 12 minutes and directed another drive which broke up on the Purdue one but which led to a safety to add to Notre Dame's total.

Until Notre Dame's rally, as the skies cleared and the rains quit, Bob Jarus was the hero of the game. He scored three touchdowns for Purdue — twice on plunges of one yard and again on a drive of five yards.

The fourth Purdue tally was by Jarus' substitute, Jack Laraway, on a 28-yard sprint.

Purdue's defense was equally good until it cracked apart at the seams when Igo took the Irish into a sprud formation and went into the air.

Notre Dame's first touchdown was by Bob Williams on a 10-yard sprint after recovering a Purdue fumble in the first period. Then the Irish were handcuffed, but for Igo.

It was the fourth win in five starts for the Bollermakers and the second loss in five games for Notre Dame.

Groom Outscores Darrouzett, 40-22
GROOM — Melvin Britten scored four of five Groom touchdowns here Friday night as the Tigers whipped the Darrouzett Longhorns, 40-22.

Robert Reed scored the other Tiger touchdown, on a 40-yard gallop in the first quarter.

Britten galloped 84 yards in the first quarter, ran for 8 and 32 yards in the second, and scampered for six in the fourth period.

The J. W. Perkins-Kenny Miller passing combination made it a fairly close game for the Longhorns. Perkins found Miller in the end zone with touchdown passes three times, once in the second quarter and twice in the fourth.

It was a yardage and scoring duel all the way, as Groom marked up 21 first downs to 15 for Darrouzett.

Score by Quarters:
Darrouzett 0 8 0 14-22
Groom 12 20 8 0-40

1958 Wheat Crop Prices Are Way Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department has reported prices of the record 1958 wheat crop are higher than anticipated because of war scares in the Far East and the fact that farmers are withholding some of the crop from market. The department noted in its publication "The Wheat Situation" that wheat prices in mid-October had advanced to, or close to, the highest level of the marketing year to date. It said the advance "reflects an unusual degree of withholding of wheat by farmers and the effects of the tensions in the Far East."

Because of these strengthening factors, the department said, prices for the marketing year as a whole may average higher than was considered likely earlier in the year.

The department said however, wheat prices this year will be lower than in 1957, reflecting the reduction in the government support rate from $2 last year to $1.82 in 1958.

Earlier this year the department forecast a drop in wheat prices to their lowest in 13 years. It said today there was nothing at that time to offset the record large production and large degree of overplanting.

The Weather Bureau reports that central and eastern sections of the cotton belt had practically ideal harvesting weather in the

HER PRIDE — Mrs. William Frigmeier, 18, is the picture of a proud new mother at her Lakewood, Ohio, home as she holds her tiny son, Timothy Paul. Two months premature at birth, Tiny Tim weighed only two pounds, two ounces. Now, two months later, he's a hefty five pounds but Mrs. Frigmeier confesses, "Though I bought the smallest sizes, some of the clothes are twice as big as Tim."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Hard Luck Joe does even worse at duplicate than at rubber bridge. He took his ace of clubs, went over to dummy's king of hearts and finessed his queen of spades. West won his king and led back the nine of diamonds whereupon two diamond tricks and a ruff set the hand.

"There I go again," said Joe. "The finesse had to be wrong and West had to come up with the killing shift. I guess I shouldn't have tried the trump finesse, but I thought we would need the overtrick if the king had been right."

"Guess is much too mild a word," yelled North. "We were at a fine contract. Furthermore, no matter how the cards lay East and West had a cheap save at five clubs and might have taken away."

it at other tables. You should have played your ace of spades and given yourself the best chance for your contract."

North was right. Joe should have been satisfied with the four-spade contract and should have played the spade ace right away.

Lufkin Man Is Elected Head

DALLAS (UPI) — John Reditt of Lufkin has been elected chairman of the trustees of the Texas Methodist Foundation. A spokesman explained Thursday that the foundation is being reactivated to seek new funds for the church's general program.

Directors elected include Eugene McElvaney of Dallas; Monroe Vivian of Houston; W. A. Pounds of Tyler; S. E. McCress of San Antonio; R. E. Cowden of Midland; W. E. Lord of Georgetown; Frank C. Bliss of Fort Worth and Wayne Watts of Wichita Falls.

Student Council Plans Carnival

A carnival midway will open in Pampa High School cafeteria Saturday Nov. 8, Linda Skewes, Student Body president, told the Daily News. The event will be the All School Carnival in which many student organizations will have booths.

The Carnival will open at 7:30 p. m. for PHS students. As they enter, students will cast their vote for the Carnival king and queen to be crowned during the evening. Some of the stellar attractions will be a sidewalk cafe sponsored by the French Club and "Little Las Vegas" by the seniors. The Girls Choir will run a night club and the A Cappella Choir will provide a marriage booth for make believe marriages.

Members of the Future Teachers of America will be on hand with a fortune telling booth. Down the hall in the music room, the cheerleaders will entertain with a floor show.

Matter of FACT

The Andes Mountains of South America are the longest mountain chain in the world, 500 miles longer than the North American Rockies. Geologists say they are among the youngest mountains on earth. The highest large body of navigable water, Lake Titicaca, is on the plateau of Bolivia and Peru. The lake is 125 miles long, 12,507 feet above sea level.

Texas Firm Buys Oklahoma Lines

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Sale of gas and water service lines in several Oklahoma Panhandle counties to a Texas firm has been approved by the State Corporation Commission.

Lea County Gas Co., Yale, Tex., an El Paso suburb, bought the lines from Southwestern Public Service Co., Amarillo, for approximately $4,600,000.

The gas service lines are in Baker, Beaver, Boise, Boise City, Forgan, Goodwell, Hooker, Opal, Texoma, Turpin, and Tyrone, Okla., and the water lines are in Beaver, Boise City, Forgan, Cuymon, Keyes and Texoma.

The commission agreed the sale will not determine the value of the property involved, nor will it limit the rates of these utilities, and shall in no way be binding in any future rate procedure.

WE'RE GETTING an early start this time... while the nippy morning air is giving us lots of energy... the old vim-vigor-and-vitality platitude... nice, fresh, crisp Fall air is certainly cheaper than the various vitamin tablets and patent medicine tonics... and in energy and feeling well, the result is the same... at least for us... so, on with the day.

ARE WE GLAD TO SEE that the underpass is now official... and what a convenience, although we didn't realize it would be quite so large and long and magnificent while they were building it... quite a nice feather in Pampa's cap we think... we follow these remarks with some personalized comments... we heard of an exciting and interesting thing a Pampa couple are going to do... seems Bobby Gene and Ernestine Smith have their home in Pampa up for sale, and they are going to Nevada, where they own a tract of land which they are going to homestead... they have certain "improvements" they must make on the property... irrigation wells, and so on... and then they will build their house... and farm the land... sounds good to us, and in the tradition of the pioneers of America... have you seen copies of the new "book-magazine" called HORIZON that some people of the city have?... quite a magazine, with articles on science and art and exploring and so on... sort of an AMERICAN HERITAGE in the field of art and culture in general... say, isn't that a puddle puppy we have seen playing on the lawn at the Bill Waggoner's... as we have driven by once or twice?... and speaking of puddles, it is a cute sight to see the gray puddle that Bev and Kay Fancher own peering into the front window with his bright little eyes.

Today's pioneers are bulding tomorrow's progress
Thomas J. Watson

INCIDENTAL INTELLIGENCE... for your mental edification we now insert a few tasty little facts... we were reading recently about the maintenance problems at the United Nations buildings in New York... did you know it costs about five million dollars a year just to maintain the buildings?... in the first place... there are fifteen miles or twelve thousand square yards of carpeting to be vacuumed... along with two million square feet of waxed flooring... and there are about seven thousand visitors a day that walk all over the floors, to say nothing of the thirty-five hundred staff members, and some eleven hundred delegates, alternates and advisers... it takes a hundred and ten porters and fifty-two charwomen to clean up the joint every night... and we never thought about it before, but there is a big bill for cleaning and repairing all the flags of the member nations which fly so jauntily over the buildings... they are made of nylon, and they use up three sets a year, at a price of fifteen hundred dollars a set... and all the plants require four gardeners... there are eighteen hundred plants INSIDE the building to be watered and fed... don't complain about your house-work for that mere two thousand feet of floor space, or that nine-hundred feet that seem so big when strewn with socks, jeans, toys and shoes!

ONWARD TOWARD the bottom of the page we merrily go... have been hearing Calanese people discussing all the social activities they have planned for the next couple of months... for instance, Nov. brings a bingo party on the first... with bicycles and watches among the prizes... and there was a formal dance at the Country Club last Friday... and a big Thanksgiving turkey dinner for the women on November 20th... with Mrs. Wayne (Mary) Howell in charge... and the men's stag party... satirically called the "Men's Social"... will be around the second week in November... sounds as if the people will be busy... along with baby-sitters... Holy Souls Catholic Church had a Home and School Organization fun night last night... Rita Simpson was working hard on the project... heard that Lillian Smith made a scrumptious-looking clown, about four by six feet with a wide grinning mouth into which you try to throw a bean-bag... all red and yellow and green... with a huge yellow ruff, and so on... Jean Dorley made some bean-bags for it... the Church sponsors an Information Forum on Wednesday nights... open to the public, with Father Cashman conducting it... and while we are on churches... the Episcopal women are working on stuffed toys, breads... fruit cakes and so on for their annual Christmas bazaar which is scheduled for November 14th... you know, this is their fifth Annual Bazaar... and year after year they seem to generate the same wonderful enthusiasm for the project... which in itself is a record... so often something like that will pall and grow stale... but not so with this... incidentally, Katherine Reeve is in charge this year... we can barely wait.

Reflect upon your present blessings, of which every man has many; not on your past misfortunes of which all men have some. — Charles Dickens

WE'LL BET THAT Terry Culley is celebrating enormously this week... Betty and the new baby boy are the cause... now he will have that football player or that track star... or that basketball jumper... we have heard talk about the enormous castor-bean plants... more like trees... that Marilyn Jones has growing in her back yard... according to reports they are taller than the house, and she may have to have 'em cut out like trees... those things really do well here in the Panhandle if they have the right kind of soil... wish we knew the trick... we think that the new "Thrifty Shop" set up on Foster by the Episcopal Church women is a very fine idea... you might consider contributing to it one of these days... we should like to applaud the letter written by Mrs. Dell Gunter to the Lovett Memorial Library board of directors... we were trying to use the Library facilities one evening, and it was impossible to concentrate because of the disturbance of the students present... but it is a shame that because of a few, the facilities have to be sharply curtailed... a hand-clap for Lillian Snow and the others working for their efforts in dealing with the problem.

NEWS AND VIEWS... the United Fund is coming along fine, but don't think the battle is won yet... if your contribution is the one that puts the drive over the top, wouldn't you be proud?... one of our favorite people is Ellen Campaigne, who is active in golf, as you know, and who has two very attractive children... by the by, you must be looking forward to the book-review to be given by Evelyn Oppenheimer, of Dallas at the Country Club Thursday... the party has as hostesses Mr. George Cree and Mrs. George Cree, Jr., Mrs. Jack Foster, Mrs. H. E. Schwartz, and Mrs. J. E. Windsor... we seem to remember Mrs. Oppenheimer here before, doing a book by Daphne DuMaurier... and it was excellent... friends of Kay Bruce received announcements of the birth of a daughter, named Margaret Ann a week or so ago that makes it even, with two girls and two boys... we're proud of Lorene Locke, new president of Panhandle PenWomen... incidentally, Helene Huff placed third in the Juvenile section of the story contest, and Marcella Hudson won 4th, an Honorable Mention in the same contest... did our eyes deceive us, or did we see Ronald Hubbard hoping it up with a hula hoop one day last week?... we applaud... Jane Kadingo is busy, busy these days... executive Girl Scout director is a whole of a job... we had hoped to give you all the dope on where to go for a drive this Sunday afternoon, but the leaves and flowers are not cooperating properly at the moment... we'll just wait a week or two... say, there is to be a Community Concert coming up pretty soon... See you next week... Peg

Mrs. Gene Leon Doggett

Sydna Mauri Morris Pledges Wedding Vows With Gene Leon Doggett In Rites

Wedding vows were solemnized in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in floor-length white nylon tulle over white silk taffeta fashioned with a molded bodice, featuring a Sweetheart neckline edged with Chantilly lace with a lulle yoke extending to a high-neck lace collar. The bodice and long tapering sleeves, which came to bridal points over the hands, were closed with tiny, self-covered buttons. The bouffant skirt of nylon tulle was encrusted with Chantilly lace inserts. Her finger-tip Veil of imported illusion was secured to a halo hat of rusing trimmed with sea shell pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried an arrangement of white roses showered with white satin streamers atop a white Bridal Bible. For something borrowed, Miss Morris carried a net and lace handkerchief belonging to her friend, Mrs. Gerald Marlar; for something old, the bride wore a leaf-shaped, 200-year-old Mother-

Of-Pearl pin, which belonged to the bridegroom's great-grandmother; for something blue, a garter; and a penny in her slipper. ATENDANTS Miss Kay Sprinkle was maid of honor wearing a sheath of blue lace over blue taffeta with a blue mouseline de soie scarf, shirred at the front neckline, and draped to the back neckline, and fell to the hemline of her dress. She carried a colonial nosegay of white feathery chrysanthemums. Misses Mary Heflin and Bonnie Glaxner were bridesmaids dressed identically as the maid of honor and carried colonial nosegays of white feathery chrysanthemums. Danny Johnson, friend of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Gerald Marlar and Robert Morris, bride's brother. Misses LaNita Penton and Rita Joyce Armstrong, bridegroom's nieces, in dresses of blue taffeta wearing white flower wristlets, lighted the altar candles. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Morris chose a Copen Blue dress of embossed crepe with black accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Doggett, chose a two-piece dress of brown Abantop with satin trim and mauve accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations. RECEPTION Guests were received in the church parlor, following the pledge of vows. The bride's table was center with an arrangement of Fiji mums flanked on one side with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a bridal couple and punch service on the other side. Mrs. W. C. McElroy, bridegroom's sister, presided at the punch service with Mrs. H. W. Mildren, bride's sister, serving cake. Mrs. Gerald Marlar was guest registrar. Assisting with the hospitality were Mrs. M. F. Eller, bride's aunt, Mrs. Melvin Armstrong, bride-

Miss Eleanor Rae Martin

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Eleanor Rae Martin to Billy Gene Robertson, is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Martin, south of the city. The prospective bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Robertson of Amarillo. The wedding is planned for November 21 in the Lefors Church of Christ. (Photo, Call's Studio)

Miss Lynon Marie Followell

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Followell, 1216 E. Browning, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lynon Marie to Harold Wynne Cline, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Cline of Fort Worth. Their wedding will be solemnized on December 27 in St. Matthew's Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Fatheree Has Parent Ed Meeting

Mrs. Tom Braly was guest speaker, assisted by Mrs. Roy K. Russell, at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of Parent Education Club held in the home of Mrs. Warren Fatheree, 2126 Russell. An open discussion was conducted on the topic, "Social Growth Of Our Children." Among the group questions asked were 1) Do you think children follow behavior patterns? 2) What do you mean by conformity? 3) How much should they conform? 4) What can we do about a shy child? 5) Are children's activities becoming too organized? 6) Should children be forced to continue what they have started? 7) What is necessary for a well-adjusted child? 8) How necessary are manners? In concluding remarks, Mrs. Braly said, "It is impossible to see your child as others see him. It is much easier to see yourself objectively than your child. Timing is in all things a most important factor; not only in more important activities but in the little things in the social development of a child."

Mrs. Herd Has BWC Meeting

Art Club Planning Program Exchange

The Pampa Art Club met Tuesday for an all-day workshop in the studio-garage of Mrs. Howard Johnson, 1728 Dogwood. Mrs. Raymond Harrah and her houseguest, Mrs. Joel Gibson, her sister from Lubbock, were afternoon guests. Mrs. Gibson demonstrated a method of waxing flowers and fruits for preserving their freshness many months. The local art club voted to accept an invitation extended by the West Texas Art Guild of Amarillo to exchange a program this year. This year the Pampa Art Club is having all-day work sessions twice monthly. Programs or demonstrations will be given on special occasions. Members are working on a variety of arts and crafts this season, which include copper enameling and silver jewelry, mosaic tile, wood-carving, china painting, felt and net Holiday spreads and designs on glass.

groom's sister-in-law and Mrs. Cleo Hoyer. All members of the house-party wore corsages of white feathered chrysanthemums.

For a wedding trip to Colorado, the bride-traveled in a blue suit with a blue velvet flowered hat and black accessories. She wore the red's corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Doggett was graduated from Pampa High School in 1955, where she was homeschool president for two years; member of the student council, Tri-H-Y, and a capella choir. She is employed at Peabody Insurance Agency. Doggett was graduated from Pampa High School in 1955 where he was a member of the basketball team. He is employed with the Texas Highway engineering department.

Upon their return, this weekend, from their wedding trip, they will be at home to friends at 415 N. First.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. H. M. Mildren and son, James, of Sheridan, Wyo.; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Jones of Midwest City, Okla.; and Mrs. Howard Logan of Lubbock.

TEA HOSTESSES—Twentieth Century Cotillion hostesses for the Guest Day Tea held Tuesday afternoon in Lovett Memorial Library were, l. to r., Mmes. J. B. Maguire Jr., Bill Coffey, Gene Barber, Jim Campbell, and James Brown. The Honorable Walter Rogers was guest speaker during the afternoon.

A bridal shower complimented the bride prior to her marriage given by Mmes. G. L. Marlar, Cleo Hoyer, W. R. Campbell, Mary P. Eller, Joe Shelton, Fred Cary, Al Lawson, W. E. Jarvis, and Lee Harrah in the First Methodist Church parlor.

A gift of an electric skillet was presented to the honoree by the hostesses.

The serving table was centered with an arrangement of white carnations; the edge of the table was draped with scallops of blue satin ribbon caught up at the corners with white wedding bells.

Mrs. Gerald Marlar presided at the guest book, which was created by the bride's great-aunt, Mrs. W. E. Henry and presented as gift for the shower and wedding reception. The book, covered in white satin, was centered on the cover with a bride doll which had the face of the honoree.

Punch and cake were served to 40 guests attending. Twenty guests sent gifts but were unable to attend.

Fidelis Class Has New Officers

New officers for the Fidelis Sunday School Class of Central Baptist Church were installed in an evening meeting held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Billy R. Parish, 1823 Chestnut.

Mrs. Robert E. Callahan installed the following officers, Mmes. M. T. Buck, class teacher; N. R. Lowe, president, Paul Howard, vice president; L. C. Bevel, secretary; Ralph Tyler, treasurer; J. H. Reeves, social chairman, Paul Wills, reporter. Mmes. Bill Farnsworth, Claude Turner, Billy R. Parish and E. L. Haigus were installed as group chairmen.

New officers unable to be present were Mmes. Rex Spence and Robert Smith, group chairmen, and Mrs. Norman Siblett, class hostess.

A short business meeting was held with the new president, Mrs. Lowe, presiding. Following the business meeting, the class honored Mrs. Fred Clark Jr. with a Stork Shower.

Members present, other than the new officers and Mrs. Clark, were Mmes. Curtis Liles, Jim Johnston, Sam Brandon, Earl H. Wallin Jr., Neal Herd, L. G. McDaniel and Floyd G. Vaughn.

RUTH MILLETT

Which is more important — your house or your family?

Any woman asked that question would indignantly reply, "My family, of course."

But some women have a mighty funny way of showing that family is more important than "things."

These are the women who make a child feel like a criminal if he unintentionally breaks a vase or spills a glass of milk.

They are the ones who think of a house as something with which to impress friends and neighbors, instead of as a comfortable, convenient, attractive shelter for the family.

There are the ones who have beautiful big yards in which their children aren't allowed to play baseball or football for fear that the grass might develop worn spots.

They are the ones who are so intent on keeping their houses looking perfect, they are never happy unless the children are somewhere else. To them, children make work and clutter and spoil the perfect picture of a perfectly kept house.

They are the ones who can never leave the dishes in the sink to join a family outing, help a child with a project that is momentarily important, or vary their housekeeping routine in order to enjoy an unplanned-for hour or two of family fun.

They are the women who discourage their children from bringing the gang home, because crumbs on the kitchen floor and the noise of high-spirited youngsters upsets them.

They would never admit that their houses are more important than their families. But daily their actions say that they are.

Beef should be brought to room temperature before broiling, the Texas Beef Council advises. Depending on the size of the steaks, remove them from the refrigerator 30 minutes to 2 hours before cooking time. To retain the fresh red coloring of the beef, press a piece of waxed paper or foil against the cut surface, but leave the edges loose for air circulation.

Congressman Walter Rogers Speaker For Twentieth Century Cotillion Tea

Twentieth Century Cotillion Club held its annual Guest Day Tea on Tuesday afternoon in Lovett Memorial Library with The Honorable Walter Rogers as honored guest and speaker.

Upon arrival guests were pinned with nametags imprinted with a small American flag and directed to the tea table, where Mrs. Thelma Bray presided. The serving table was covered with a red cloth centered with a white scroll inscribed with an excerpt from the American constitution, rolled on brass rollers and placed on a blue velvet backdrop, which was encircled at the base with a semicircle of white chrysanthemums. This arrangement was flanked with three stalks of Pampas grass, one red and blue with one a natural color.

Mrs. Dale Thut, Cotillion president, welcomed guests and directed members to introduce their guests.

Presentation of the guest speaker, Congressman Walter Rogers, was made by Mrs. J. B. Maguire Jr. Rogers, nattily dressed in a blue business suit, expressed appreciation at being invited to speak before a group which he described as a "flower garden with brains." Discarding a prepared speech, Congressman Rogers spoke informally on foreign policy as related to the near, far, and middle east.

In an informal question and answer period, Congressman Rogers answered questions posed by the group on labor, farm and commerce. In answer to a question relating to the social life of a congressman and his wife in Washington, Rogers replied that there were so many time-consuming activities in Washington that a representative must decide early what circuit they are to follow; if the party or family circuit.

Two new club members were welcomed, Mrs. Harbard Cox and Mrs. Weldon Adair.

Members present were Mmes. Alvin Agan, Gene Barber, Robert Boyd, Thelma Bray, James Brown, Bill Coffey, Jim Campbell, Cleo Coffey Jr., N. J. Ellis, J. B. Maguire Jr., Den Morrison, Ralph McKinney, Bob Price, W. D. Price Jr. and Dale Thut.

Guests attending were Mmes. Dale Stone, C. C. Goodwin Jr., Gordon Lyons, Coy Palmer, Reed Carr, Charles D. Thompson, A. J. Carubi, Ralph Gardner, Sam Malone, Babe Curfman, W. R. Ewing, W. J. Derrington, Patrick H. LeBlanc, Joe Whitten, T. D. Harvey, Malcolm Douglass, Cur' Douglass, Paul M. Wiley, J. W. Edminster, T. B. Parker, Clinton

Hobart St. Circles Convene for Study

WILLIE MAE KENNEDY CIRCLE of Hobart Street Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Bill McCrate on Wednesday for mission study with Mrs. Bill Wright, chairman, presiding over the business meeting.

Mrs. E. T. Clark read the prayer calendar and Mrs. A. V. Hale gave the opening prayer.

Mrs. Bobby Lee gave Chapter One from the mission book, "Into A New World."

Prayer pal gifts were exchanged. Five members and one visitor were present with Mrs. Eugene Quarles closing the meeting with prayer.

SARAH LOU HENLEY CIRCLE met in the home of Mrs. J. D. Crawford with Mrs. I. H. Woodward, president, presiding. The WMU watchword was repeated in unison.

Mrs. J. L. Schaub read the prayer calendar and offered opening prayer.

Mrs. Robert McCain taught the first chapter of the mission book, "Into A New World."

In lieu of exchanging prayer pal gifts, members contributed to the circle's treasury.

Five members were present with Mrs. Woodward offering a special closing prayer for missionaries.

Mrs. Edward Foran presided at the business meeting of the LOIS C GLASS CIRCLE in the home of Mrs. Carl Barnes. Meeting opened with the repetition of the WMU watchword, Psalms 98:2.

Mrs. J. N. Tackett read the prayer calendar and Mrs. C. W. Briester offered prayer for the missionaries.

The mission book, "Into A New World" was taught by Mrs. Delmar Barefoot. Meeting closed with prayer. Eight members present were served refreshments.

Miss Lou Ella Patterson Gives Topic For Goodwill Home Demonstration Club

"Planning Drives and Walks" was the subject for the program presented by Miss Lou Ella Patterson, Gray County home demonstration agent, at the Goodwill Home Demonstration Club meeting held Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. A. P. Coombes, 1230 E. Frederic.

"Walks and drives should be built for use and not beauty and should not detract from the landscape," Miss Patterson stated. "For convenience they should be built straight and not curved. Besides convenience, one should consider proper drainage and the materials to be used. Walks should be high enough to keep water from standing, but low enough to run a mower over. And when building a driveway, do not obstruct the view when entering the road or highway."

Miss Patterson showed slides of various walks and drives and pointed out the advantages and disadvantages of each.

Mrs. Coombes opened the meeting with the club prayer. A report was given on the club's achievement day, followed by the reading of an invitation from the Lovett Home Demonstration Club inviting members to its Achievement Day which was held Thursday.

The opening prayer was given by Miss Ella Pool and the business session was conducted by Miss Minnie Allen.

The worship center was arranged and devotional given by Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson who used as her scriptural background John 14:6: "I am the way, the truth and the life".

Miss Inez Clubb led the study "The Middle East", including the countries of Saudi Arabia, Egypt, Syria, Turkey and Armenia. She was assisted by Mrs. Lillie May Fowler, Miss Minnie Allen, and Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson. A bulletin board was provided for Mrs. E. V. Boston which contained many interesting clippings and pictures of interest in connection with the study.

In attendance not already mentioned were: Mmes. Iri Smith, J. M. Turner, Malcolm Denison, and Misses Lillian Mullinax.

WSG Continues Mid East Study

Mrs. W. B. Fountain and Mrs. Ben Ogden were co-hostesses when the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church met in their home, 1608 Christine on Monday evening.

The opening prayer was given by Miss Ella Pool and the business session was conducted by Miss Minnie Allen.

"Queen For Day" Named At Auxiliary

DMF Auxiliary, Cities Service Gas, met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. C. D. Anderson, Cities Service Camp, for a turkey dinner.

Guests were seated at individual tables, which were decorated in autumn colors. Each place-setting was marked with Halloween favors and noisemakers.

Mrs. Gene Guinn, Mrs. Carl D. Anderson Jr. were co-hostesses with Mrs. Anderson.

Mrs. Guinn greeted guests at the door dressed in a witch costume and served them "witches brew."

Mrs. J. W. Gambill, vice president, conducted a brief business.

Mrs. Bob Brandon won the door prize, which was an autumn floral arrangement.

Table prizes were won by Mmes. Gambill, Ray Sutton, Leon Casey, Ralph Paxson, and Ray Cales.

Secret pal gifts were exchanged. Mrs. Ed Wiens was welcomed as a new member. Special guests were Mrs. R. C. Hamilton and Mrs. Nellie Richmond.

During the recreational hour, a "Queen For A Day" program was presented. Mrs. Thomas Bruce, impersonating Jack Bailey, TV emcee, interviewed the Queen candidates which were Mmes. Sandy McGuigg, Hupp Clark, Leon Brown, L. C. Wassell, and Grover Austin Jr. Mrs. Austin was judged the winner.

Members present in addition to those mentioned were Mmes. Charles Tate, Art Kahler, Dava Kerna, W. H. Scherer, Dorothy Wheelock, Clyde Martin, Thomas Pruce, Homer Kessinger, and Sam Goodin.

The next meeting for the group will be on Nov. 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. McQuigg.

Carving tip from the Texas Beef Council: Plan the servings before carving so that the choicest portions will be divided equally among the guests. Second helpings cool quickly if sliced before they are needed.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How can respect-able women protect themselves against unscrupulous professional men who attempt to take advantage of them in the privacy of their offices? Must she always bring along male protection (which is not always possible) or forget the services she needs? It isn't possible to test your own eyes, fill your own teeth or X-ray yourself. How can we expect skillful attention when they don't keep their minds on their business?

INSULTED Dear insulted: Professional men are bound by a strict code of ethics and most of them behave like gentlemen. Those exceptions should be reported to the Professional Ethics Committee of the Medical Society, Dental Society or the group to whom that doctor must answer for malpractice.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of the nickname "Junior"? I don't see anything wrong with calling a little boy "Junior," but how about when "Junior" turns out to be six feet two, weighs 240 pounds and is 23 years old? I'm referring to my fiancée whose family still calls him "Junior" in public. Am I wrong in thinking this nickname is absurd? I would never say anything to his parents because I think HE is the one who should have asked them to stop calling him "Junior" ten years ago. I am interested in your opinion.

JUNIOR'S GIRL Dear Girl: If "Junior" objects to being called "Junior," let him say so. If you plan to call him your husband, disregard what others call him and call him "Sweetheart."

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman of

Dessert Roundtable At Morton HDC

Mrs. T. G. Groves was hostess to the Morton Home Demonstration Club on Tuesday morning in her home, 500 Powell.

Mrs. Jack Howard, president, opened the meeting with the club prayer. An invitation was read from the Lefors Home Demonstration Club inviting members to attend its Achievement Exhibit on Thursday.

Mrs. A. M. Nash won the recreation prize in a contest of making the prettiest bow conducted by Mrs. Groves.

Mrs. Sanford McQuigg, of Cities Service Camp, was welcomed as a new member.

The program on "My Favorite Frozen Food" and "Freezer Meals" was given in a round-table discussion.

For dessert, ice cream was rated the favorite of most members. Among the useful pointers given by for serving ice cream was the idea of storing the freezer can in the deep freeze for future servings or putting it into containers for convenience.

In answer to a question on successful freezing of turnips, it was suggested to prepare the turnips as for cooking; place in collander and hold in boiling water for about three minutes; then immerse in cold water and drain; then place the turnips in plastic bags or freezer containers and freeze.

It was announced that the next meeting will be on Nov. 4 at 9:30 a.m. with Mrs. John Brandon, 2232 Williston.

Spice cake and coffee was served to Mmes. A. M. Nash, Vard Smith, Sanford McQuigg and children, Bob Brandon and daughter, Jack Howard and John Brandon.

Manners Makes Friends

Any shopper who wants to get the best service possible should make it a habit to find out the name of a particular clerk in each store where he normally trades and ask for that clerk to wait on him. This is especially true in clothing stores, since a good clerk easily learns enough about a steady customer to be really helpful in finding just what the customer wants.

And in stores where clerks work on a commission, it is also a good way for a customer to show his appreciation when he finds a clerk who is especially helpful and cooperative.

As Seen in Mademoiselle

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
On the phone the bright impersonal voice of our youngster's sixth grade teacher says, "Could you come to see me after school tomorrow? There's a little problem of Steven's I'd like to talk over with you."

After a moment we ask, "What sort of problem, Miss Barnes?" "One that I'd prefer to discuss with you personally," Miss Barnes says so firmly that we agree to the interview — and hang up.

The palms of our hands have broken out into a light mist of sweat. Our mouth feels dry. Under our breastbone, anxiety is fusing itself into the familiar, resisting lump of tension. We sleep badly. The next day Steven's problem turns out to be evasion of fines on some overdue school library books. Relieved, we promise to do something about it — and forget all about those sweating palms, the tension under our breastbone, our restless night.

This is wasteful of us. For those signs of anxiety have told us something we need to know about ourselves. They have told us that we are a mother who feels obliged to produce a problemless child. They've told us that the merest suggestion that Steven isn't functioning perfectly had the power to make us feel attacked and helpless. By forgetting those painful symptoms, we are evading important knowledge about ourselves. Unless we register the fact that we cannot produce a problemless child, we may go on for years responding with anxiety every time Steven gives evidence of one. If anyone criticizes him, our pride in his faultlessness will force us to react with fear and resentment. When he's rude, disobedient or deceitful toward us, the pride will compel us to find excuses for him — and teach him to start finding them for himself.

So we'd better get on to what that resisting lump under the breastbone was really resisting yesterday — our self-imposed obligation to produce a perfect child. We need to see the connection between our sweating palms and Miss Barnes' hint that Steven had a little problem. Anxiety is not something to forget. It is for use.

Manners Make Friends

If you promise to do something for someone at a certain time, make every effort to do it when you said you would. The person who says, "I'll do that tomorrow" and then waits a week soon has a reputation for being dependable — even though he finally gets around to doing what he promised to do.

If you make a promise, do it on time.

There once was a girl who favored long hair. But she also didn't like to wash her neck because she didn't want to get her hair wet. Certainly an adult shouldn't be caught in such a trick, but younger persons may fall into hit-and-miss cleanliness habits that detract from their overall freshness because they are so busy with activities.

There's more to wearing a glove becomingly than just pulling it on, as this girl knows. She picks a color that blends with her suit and a length that meets her sleeve.

RUTH MILLETT

"What do you do about a husband who refuses to act his age?" asks a wife who wants to settle down to middle-aged comfort, but whose husband thinks that with the children grown it's high time they had a little fun out of life.

"For years we led a quiet life," says his wife. "Now we have to be going all the time. He insists on my taking up all his new enthusiasms and it's wearing me out. Frankly, I'm ready to sit down and admit to being middle-aged, but I don't know how to get my husband to face the fact that he is, too."

Quit trying. Get your rest in the daytime while your husband is at work, so you'll feel like sharing his projects and enthusiasms.

Your problem is that you are probably using all your energy to keep house the way you did when you had a family around and to get your fun and recreation through women's organizations.

Cut down on your housework and make things easy for yourself. Spend less time on the organization that got you out of the house when your children were small. Then you'll have more energy and more inclination to be the kind of companion your husband needs at the moment.

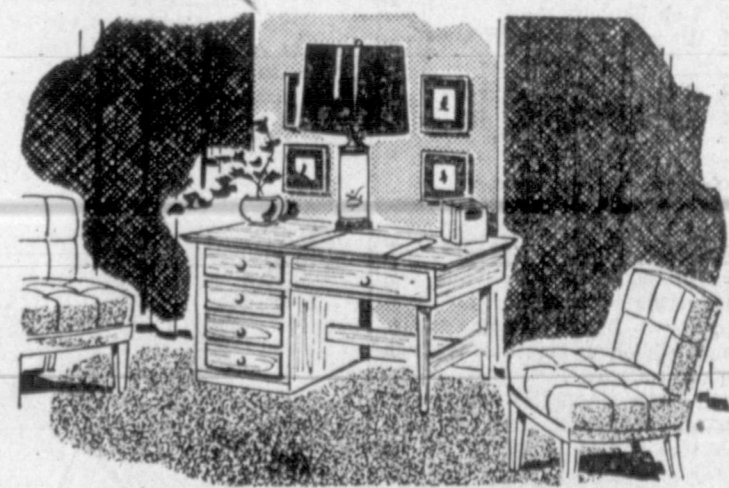

Don't think your husband is silly for feeling that now is the time to have fun. After all, if he has supported a family for years and put their needs and interests ahead of his own he has some fun coming to him.

Join in enthusiastically instead of trying to make him feel his age, and you'll soon discover that you are having fun too.

The middle years don't have to be sit-down, take-it-easy years. They can be filled with new adventures and increased companionship between a husband and a wife, if neither one gives in to the thought, "Isn't this kind of silly at our age?"

Simple garments during summer mean less work in the laundry department. For sunbathing or lounging comfortably at home, there are toga-size towels. No ironing is necessary, just throw them in with the bath laundry.

YOU... and YOUR HOME by Jack Foster

AVOID RUBBER STAMP ROOMS

You've no doubt heard of the girl who couldn't boil water without burning it, and later turned out to be one of the best cooks in the family. It was just a matter of practice. Being your own successful home decorator is much the same. The more aware you become of colors and their uses and effects, and the better your eye is trained to recognize good line, design and style in furnishings, the easier it will be for you to combine these elements to create an attractive, individualized room.

That touch of individuality is one of—if not the most important factor in your decorating scheme. It is what lifts your room out of the rubber-stamp class—saves it from looking just like countless other rooms.

How can you individualize your rooms? With those little touches that are "you"—like the way you select and group pictures, the way furniture.

presses individuality to a marked degree. The desk with lamp and picture group between two windows has been made the focal point. The contemporary upholstered chairs with simple lines adapt themselves perfectly to this pleasant setting.

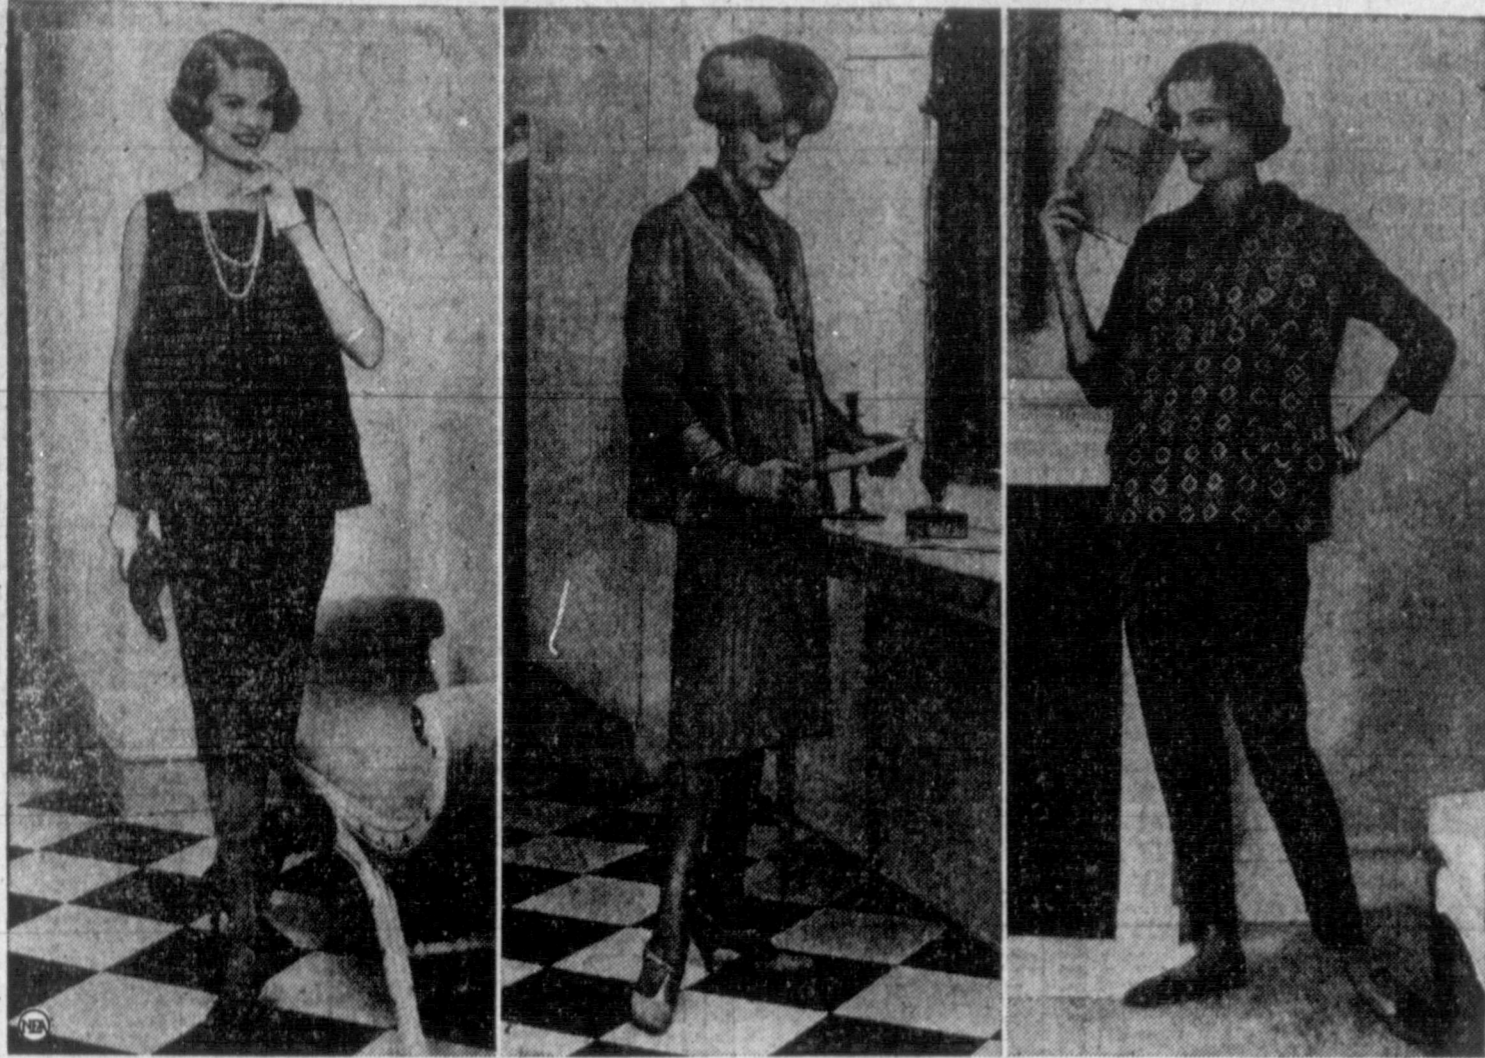

Our varied selections of furniture styles offer you a broad scope for expressing your own individuality in your home. Beautiful, dutiful pieces that will be a joy to live with. Good construction, colorful, long-wearing materials, make every piece a standout value. Come in, see for yourself.

Big Pins Rate New Placement

By GAILE DUGAS NEA Women's Editor NEW YORK (NEA) — The Empire look has brought about some changes in the way you'll wear your jewelry this winter. The high bustline calls for pins in new designs placed front and center. Most of these are big pins glowing with color; some offer pendant effects. Tailored pins for daytime clothes are done in textures and they, too, are oversized. Pearls, rhinestones and crystals are used for the big pins seen on cocktail, dinner and evening clothes. These are matched up with slender, cascading drop earrings. Pins also appear at the neckline of the new longer-length sweaters. And they appear in new versions of the elongated bar pin, worn in pairs on blouses. There are even new ways of wearing the new pins. One is to group them in a pyramid of three at the neckline or collar of a simple, straight-lined dress. Another is to slip a pin through a neckline for this year's pendant look. We show here two examples of the new jewelry designs. One is a big, glittering pin with pendant (left) worn to emphasize the neckline of a dark dinner dress. Long earrings reach nearly to the shoulders. For daytime, a tailored...

Advertisement REMOVAL OF EXCESSIVE HAIR by Iona M. Thompson

Excessive misplaced hairiness in women is a very distressing problem. It is a source of a great deal of mental suffering. There are many inadvisable hair removers on the market. Besides being uncomfortable the hair continues to grow. The safest method of permanent removal of excessive hair is by treating the roots of the hair with an electric needle or the short-wave system. The ultra fine needle is inserted into each hair follicle and destroys the papilla. Almost every patient feels a slight sensation but patients have been known to doze during treatment. Why not call Mrs. Iona M. Thompson for free consultation concerning your particular hair problem? (MO 4-20368. Office at 1204 Garland. adv.)

Safety Discussion For A-C Club Meet

LEFORNS (Spl) — "Safety" was the theme of the program for the Lefors Art and Civic Club at its regular meeting held in the civic center, on Tuesday night, with Trooper McNeely of Amarillo as guest speaker. Approximately 2,539 persons lost their lives in rural accidents last year, with an insurance loss of $320,000," state McNeely, who followed this statement with rules, regulations for highway driving, and safety in general. "Chain Reaction," a film narrated by Bob Hope, was shown in connection with the program. Special guests for the program were the members of the Driver's Education Class of Lefors High School. Mrs. C. H. Gustia, president, presided over the business meeting, opening with repeating the club collect. Plans were discussed for a Christmas Bazaar. A cemetery work day was announced for Sunday, Oct. 26, between the hours of 2:30 and 4:30. The next meeting will be held one day early, Monday, Nov. 3. Members present were Mmes. Ray Boyd, C. H. Gustin, Bill Mc-Bee, Raymond Jordan, James Jinks, J. E. Carter, Carl Ferguson, C. C. Mullins, R. H. Barron, Bud Cumberledge, D. D. Lewis, H. W. Callan, L. R. Food Sense—Not Nonsense

Hold Fast to Your Weight Line Don't let the leprechaun's pranks with tape measure and scale discourage you in your efforts to hold to your ideal weight. If you have inherited a tendency to be fat, it will pay you to keep that nimble pixie and your weight under control. For a longer life may be yours, providing you hold fast to your weight line. This promise for the obesity-prone is told in the first reported research dedicated to their problems. Working with genetically obese animals, scientists found this way to make them live as long as they should: They restricted their weight by restricting food intake. Under such control, animals with an inherited tendency to be fat lived much longer than the obese which were allowed to gain as they would. They also outlived the perennially lean animal. These studies suggest that it pays the man and woman with the bewitched tendency to be obese to outwit the wily leprechaun of tape measure and scale. A longer life may be within their grasp—their grasp of the weight line. To be eligible for a longer lease on life, the man or woman who is apt to gain must control weight by eating less and exercising more. Eating less calls for added care in selecting foods for the day. Choosing a variety of these foods — enriched and whole grain breads and cereals, fruits and vegetables, milk and meat or its alternates—may make the longer life a merrier one.

Demos Are Favored In West Virginia

By J. RICHARD TOREN
United Press International
CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI)—West Virginia elects two U.S. senators Nov. 4—the only state to do so—and the odds favor the Democratic challengers in a campaign based largely on the recession issue.

Not only has the state been hit hard by unemployment, with about 8 per cent of its work force without jobs, but the Democrats hold an edge of some 250,000 of one million registered voters.

Only twice in nine Senate elections in the past 28 years have the out-numbered Republicans beaten those odds, and in each case it was Chapman Revercomb who turned the trick.

In 1942 he defeated former senator and then Gov. Matthew Neely, and after two unsuccessful tries in 1948 and 1952, came back in 1956 to win the unexpired term of the late Harley M. Kilgore by a 60,000 majority.

Revercomb, a Charleston attorney long identified with the more conservative wing of the GOP, is now seeking a full six-year term against Robert C. Byrd, a third-term congressman who won the Democratic nomination against only token opposition.

The other seat at stake is the

29 States Have Oil Plus Plenty Of Confusion

By MAC SEBREE
United Press International
OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Twenty nine states have oil or gas production, and there are 29 methods for regulating the oil and gas industry. The task of drawing some order out of all that confusion has fallen to the Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

The commission, a creature of the 29 states, is attacking the problem on two fronts:

—It is drafting a model statute to provide for uniform regulation of the industry by the various states and —It has put the finishing touches on a set of standardized report forms, for use by companies in reporting information required by law.

Lawrence Alley, acting executive director of the IOCC, which has its headquarters here, said today the proposed model statute will be submitted to the IOCC's next big meeting, set for Dec. 1 in Kansas City.

States Disagree
"This will be one of the biggest issues at the Kansas City meet-

Advantages Cited

The use of standard forms by oil and gas companies in all states has been pushed aggressively by the IOCC for years and has been the special project of a committee headed by Ray C. Jones, chairman of Oklahoma's State Corporation Commission.

"I believe that all the states will adopt these standard forms sooner or later," Jones told United Press International. Few states, if any would have to change their statutes to comply, Jones said.

Some of the advantages of uniform reports, Jones asserted, are:

—The job of making out reports for numerous states will be far simpler for the companies if the same data goes to all states.

—Forms will adopt easily for machine processing.

—Reports will contain fewer errors.

Ford Turns Out 'Tin Lizzie' To Mark Golden Anniversary

By JACK VANDENBERG UPI Automotive Editor MAHWAH, N. J. (UPI)—Ford Motor Co. turned out what undoubtedly will be the last Model T ever assembled last week to commemorate the golden anniversary of the first "Tin Lizzie."

Actually, the Model T—a twin lever job—was not new. It was reconstructed from parts obtained from an antique car hobbyist throughout the nation.

The bulk of the antique unit was purchased from John Skaff, a Flint, Mich., furniture dealer who collects antique cars as a hobby.

Wheat Storage Costs Government 14 Million Monthly

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Wheat storage bills are costing the government about $14 million per month.

Engineers To Hear Ploedert Talk On Corrosion Control

Frank Ploedert, in charge of coating research and development with the Wisconsin Protective Coating Co., Green Bay, will be guest speaker Tuesday night at a meeting of the Panhandle section of the National Association of Corrosion Engineers.

"Ploedert's specialty has been the formulation and application of highly resistant type coatings."
