Jerry, Pampa Pet For 14 Years, Is Dead

The black pony which has been in the pasture at Harvester and Hamilton for the last 14 years died last Sunday evening. Jerry, a five-gaited show horse belonging to Mrs. W. D. Kelley, 1228 Charles, was the favorite pet of Pampa children for more than a decade.

In his white-fenced pasture, Jerry readily responded to the ministrations of the younger set as they came each day with carrots, grass, and sugar. To many Pampa "city kids," Jerry was a living representative of the popular Western movies and TV shows and served as a link with Texas folklore.

Jerry was 21-years-old last May and was a fixed institution in Pampa. Mrs. W. D. Kelley purchased the horse from Mike Shanks of Ponca City, Okla., when he was only five years old. Jerry was pastured for two years on the site of the present Dr. M. C. Overton residence, then was moved to the Harvester Street pasture where he remained until Sunday to delight Pampa children.

Poaled on May 19, 1937, Jerry's official name was "Chief Squo-yah," but the affectionate nickname given early to the horse was the one that stuck with his loyal Pampa fans. Jerry's sire was Aracochi Reuben, a stallion registered with the American Saddle Horse Breeders' Association. His dam was Lady B, a famous mare.

Jerry could be both ridden and driven, including five separate gaits in his repertoire—the walk, trot, canter, slow gait or pace, and the rack. He never wore a Western saddle, but always the lighter show saddle with the leather boots buckled on his nimble feet. Two reins and 2 bits were also always used with the show horse. Jerry stretched his hind and fore-feet out to his limit to allow his mistress to mount his lowered back.

Coal-black with a white stocking on his left hind foot, Jerry is now and will be a favorite memory of children who have grown up in Pampa during the last decade-and-a-half. The bit of Texas that was in the midst of modern residential Pampa will be missed by many.

JERRY'S GONE...

Long faces were plentiful among Pampa's younger set last week as fans of Mrs. W. D. Kelley's black pony Jerry mourned his sudden death. Ronnie, 6; Mark, 5; and Bobo, 8; all sons of Dr. and Mrs. Carl M. Lang, 1408 Hamilton, sit astride the white fence which surrounds the Kelley pasture at the corner of Harvester and Hamilton Streets. The horse, which has been stabled in the same place for 14 years, was regularly visited and fed by most Pampa children. The Lang boys live just across the street from the pasture and doubly feel the loss. (News Photo)

CENTRAL HIGH

Little Rock Board Majority Wants To Open

By JACK V. FOX
United Press International
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—A majority of the Little Rock school board favored today opening Central High with Negroes barred on Sept. 8, three days before the U.S. Supreme Court meets again on the integration crisis.

It was learned, however, that school board lawyers just back from Washington will tell them Monday night, when they meet to set the opening date, that a Sept. 8 opening may ruin any chance of getting a favorable ruling from the Supreme Court.

When the Supreme Court adjourned its extraordinary meeting on the Little Rock case Thursday night, it did so in the belief that Central will not open until Sept. 15.

Since Central still has the benefit of an appeals court stay, it could open Sept. 8 as an all-white school and remain that way until the Supreme Court handed down its decision on a longer integration stay.

Opening Not Racial Issue
Four of the six school board members said they personally favor Central's opening Sept. 8. But at least one indicated that he was open to argument at the Monday night meeting.

"I would favor the 8th," school board member Henry V. Rath said. "I think that's the normal time. One week's delay is sufficient. I'd certainly prefer that we get started on the 8th, rather than hold off to the 15th."

"We extended the opening from the 2nd to the 8th, and I don't think it's good for the children to keep them out another week."

"If we get started on the 8th, we can shorten the Christmas holiday period and still let schools out as scheduled next spring."

None of the members mentioned the integration issue as a factor in their feelings. They pointed out that they have already delayed the opening from Sept. 2 to Sept. 8 and are stuck for an extra week's salaries for teachers.

"I don't know actually how I will vote on the opening date," school board President Wayne Upton said. "There are a number of factors to be considered in determining what action to take in changing the date."

Faubus Has Shutdown Power
"There is the additional financial burden to the district, and the aspect of the problem insofar as the Supreme Court is concerned."

He pointed out that four members of the board are on vacation.

Veterans Of Korea May Finish School

Veterans of Korean War who have previously initiated education or training objectives under Public Law 560 (Korean G. I. Bill) but have interrupted their training for more than twelve consecutive months may now be eligible to resume their education and training objectives, Robert W. Sisson, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Lubbock, announced yesterday.

This is as a result of a recent change in VA Regulations, Sisson explained.

VA Regulations will now allow a Korean veteran to reenter training if he has been out of training less than twelve months since his cut-off date or if he shows training was interrupted for one of the following reasons:

1. Immediate family or financial obligations beyond his control which required suspension of training to obtain employment.
  2. Personal or family illness or death in the immediate family which prevented continuance of training.
  3. The allowable 12-month period during which training can be suspended with VA approval ended during a vacation, recess, or other period during which it was not possible to reenter school.
  4. Training was suspended because of unavoidable conditions arising in connection with employment.
- Pampa veterans wishing to resume their training interrupted under the Korean G. I. Bill should contact their County Service Officer, American Legion - VFW

AIR FORCE Jet Squadron Sent To East

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force disclosed today a jet fighter squadron and cargo planes were being dispatched to build up U.S. air power in the Far East where Red China threatens invasion of the Chinese Nationalist islands in the Formosa Strait.

The move came as U.S. officials voiced growing concern that China's continued tough-sounding threats might force her into an actual invasion attempt on the Quemoy Islands to "save face."

Some authorities suggested the Reds might decide the long Labor Day weekend would be the best time for such a strike.

The absence from Washington of vacationing President Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Asst. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, who is responsible for the Far East, might encourage the Communists, officials said.

Dispatch of the planes was part of an increasing build-up of U.S. forces in Formosa waters and elsewhere in the Far East. The Navy previously had reported dispatch of additional aircraft carriers and surface ships to reinforce the already powerful U.S. 7th Fleet which patrols the strait to guard against an invasion of Formosa.

The United States is committed to help Nationalist China defend Formosa and the Pescadores Islands. But Congress has left it up to President Eisenhower to decide whether to resist seizure of other Nationalist-held islands, including the Quemoy, lying closer to the Chinese mainland.

Under its "keep-them-guessing" policy, the United States has not said what action it would take if the Quemoy were targets of a Red Chinese landing. But the build-up of U.S. forces showed this country's growing concern.

A normal jet fighter squadron consists of 25 planes. The Air Force would not say, however, whether that many or more were in the squadron going to the Far East. Nor would it say how many cargo planes were involved.

It also did not say specifically where the planes were going.

The United States is still undecided what Red China wants to gain from its steady bombardment of the Nationalist coastal islands. First thoughts were that the Communists would be testing the

Nation Kills 96; Pampa Area Quiet

AUSTIN (UPI)—Traffic deaths in Texas are running approximately 12 per cent under last year. Gov. Price Daniel's office reported Saturday.

An estimated toll of 1,347 deaths through Friday compared with a count of 1,535 through the 25th week last year.

The 12 per cent decrease marked the second time since mid-June that the percentage improvement slipped below 14 per cent.

However, the report included five of the six multiple-death crashes in Texas which claimed a total of 31 lives between Aug. 16 and Aug. 24.

The nation's highways were jammed with motorists Saturday and safety officials were hopeful that advance traffic death estimates for the Labor Day weekend would not be exceeded.

At 5 p.m. c.s.t., the United Press International counted at least 78 traffic deaths since the holiday period began at 6 p.m. (local time) Friday. In addition, there were 7 drownings, 1 death in a plane crash and 10 deaths from miscellaneous causes for an overall holiday-toll of 96.

California paced the nation's highway slaughter with 12 auto fatalities, followed closely by Ohio with 10. Florida reported 6 traffic deaths, New York and Virginia 5 each, and Iowa and Texas 4 apiece.

The toll was running more slowly than the National Safety Council had predicted. The council had estimated 420 persons would lose their lives in traffic mishaps during the three-day holiday. The toll also was running behind the rate of the 1957 Labor Day weekend, when 443 persons died in auto accidents.

Atomic Control Requires 5,400

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—A report released Saturday by the State Department said at least 5,400 "scientific detectives" would be needed to police an East-West ban on nuclear weapons tests.

The report covered the recently concluded conference of Eastern and Western scientists at Geneva on technical ways of monitoring the ban. The scientists, including Russians, agreed that it is possible to set up "a workable and effective control system to detect violations."

The report was prepared by the conferees and was released through the foreign affairs offices of their respective governments.

Posts In U.S.
Ten or 11 observation posts would be required in the United States if the plan is adopted, the report said. Some 16 or 17 inspection posts out of a worldwide total of 180 would be in the Soviet Union.

The entire team of 5,400 "police-men" would be scientists and technicians recruited from around the world by an international control agency charged with remaining on constant guard against sneak tests.

The scientists conceded that their plan would not be foolproof, but they said it would make it risky for any nation to cheat.

"The conference considers that whatever the precautionary measures adopted by a violator he could not be guaranteed against exposure, particularly if notice is taken of the carrying out of inspection at the site of a suspected explosion," the report said.

"The conference considers that whatever the precautionary measures adopted by a violator he could not be guaranteed against exposure, particularly if account is taken of the carrying out of inspection at the site of a suspected explosion," the report said.

President Eisenhower has hailed the Geneva agreement as an encouraging step on the road to world disarmament. He has proposed that the U.S., Britain, and Russia begin negotiating a test ban Oct. 31 and has promised that the U.S. will not test nuclear weapons for one year from the start of such negotiations.

Scientists Avoid Politics
At Geneva the scientists carefully avoided political matters, leaving them for the proposed negotiators. But they made these chief technical recommendations for a control system:

A network of about 180 control posts based on land and sea.

The posts would be equipped with devices for detecting nuclear explosions by collecting radioactive debris, recording seismic waves, recording acoustic waves, and recording radio signals.

Regular air flights to collect radioactive debris at high altitudes.

On-the-spot checks at any point on earth where there are suspicious signs of nuclear explosions.

A master control organ through which all information would be channeled by swift communications.

LEUKEMIA VICTIM DIES; BOMB BLAST BLAMED

LONDON (UPI)—A second British serviceman who took part in H-bomb tests last November died of leukemia, it was revealed Saturday.

Leukemia is an incurable blood disease that can be contracted from radiation.

The latest victim was Royal Navy Lt. David C. Franklin, 29. Franklin was radar officer on the aircraft carrier "Warrior," headquarters ship for British nuclear tests at Christmas Island in the Pacific, last November.

The Admiralty immediately issued a statement that there are "no grounds" for assuming a connection between the tests and Franklin's death.

On Wednesday a coroner's jury, after hearing medical evidence, returned a verdict of "natural causes" in the leukemia death of Royal engineer William Morris, 20.

Leukemia killed many of the victims of the Hiroshima atomic bomb. But there are other causes, as well as this deadly disease, often defined as "blood cancer."

Local Candidates Receive Refunds From Filing Fees
Local candidates in the recent Gray County Democratic Primary have received a record refund on their filing fees, according to Bob Baker, secretary of the County Democratic Executive Committee.

All candidates received a percentage of the total filing fee except the candidates for representative to the State Legislature, who paid a set fee of $10 each. These were Johnny Campbell of Pampa and Granger McIlhenny, Wheeler.

The $1,150 refund, representing 33 1/2 per cent of the total filing fee paid, was distributed among 28 persons and was one of the largest on record, according to Baker.

September Peak Seen For Sickness

TOKYO (UPI)—The epidemic of sleeping sickness that has hit an estimated 4,500 persons, including several Americans in Japan and Korea, will not reach its peak until mid-September, authorities predicted Saturday.

The known death list on the basis of incomplete figures has reached a total of 802, including U.S. Air Force ASC David L. Fulton, of Jackson, Miss., who died Friday in a hospital near Inchon, Korea.

Another U.S. airman and three children of American military personnel were reported ill with the virus in Japan. The children include Myra Davidson, four-year-old daughter of S-Sgt. and Mrs. Bradley Davidson, of Concord, N.C., who was stricken last week at the Itazuke Air Base in southwest Japan.

A spokesman said Fulton was the first member of the Air Force in Korea to succumb in the current sleeping sickness epidemic. He was stricken Aug. 26 at Kunsan Air Base and evacuated to a hospital at Ascom City, outside Inchon, where he died.

In the case of the little Davidson girl, a report last Monday said there was "evidence of slight paralysis in her right arm and leg" and she was "semi-conscious." Saturday, the headquarters of the U.S. armed forces in Japan said her condition was still "serious."

The epidemic thus far is one of the most serious of its type to hit Japan and Korea in recent years. With summer heat expected to continue, Japanese and Korean authorities predicted worse to come.

W. L. LOVING
... Industrial Division
Loving Will Head United Fund Division

W. L. Loving, a Cabot vice president, will head the Industrial Division of the Pampa-Lefors United Fund, General Campaign Chairman Clyde Dickerson announced yesterday. The United Fund drive will get underway Oct. 15.

"Loving has already contacted several of the large industries and is very optimistic as they have said they're a hundred per cent behind the United Fund," Dickerson told the News.

"His company has been one of Pampa's largest contributors," Dickerson added. "In the past it has seen fit to bear the expenses of payroll deduction in helping employees to contribute."

Loving is vice president of Cabot Carbon Company and manager of the Carbon Black Department.

In his statement, Dickerson stressed the importance of the Industrial Division to the United Fund.

"With volunteers like W. L. Loving, the United Fund drive is sure to be enthusiastically received and go way over its $84,000 goal," Dickerson stated.

If it comes from a hardware store, we have it. Lewis Hardware.

Week End Peaceful Here

Pampa's Labor Day weekend began very quietly, according to local peace officers. The Pampa fire department reported no calls for the twenty-four hour period beginning at midnight Friday.

At midnight Saturday, Highland General Hospital reported no emergency patients. Law enforcement officers were optimistic as Sunday dawned that the Gray County area would remain undisturbed by Labor Day violence.

School Traffic Hazards Cited

Pampa Police Chief Jim Conner Saturday asked Pampa motorists' cooperation with new traffic regulations concerning local school areas. Conner, citing the new signs placed at intersections near schools which replace the old stand-up models formerly placed in the intersection centers, warned that the speed limit in the school areas is 15 miles per hour and that no passing is allowed in the entire zone from sign to sign.

School zone hours are 7:30 a.m. to 9 a.m., noon until 1 p.m., and 2:30 p.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Safety patrolmen in white caps will be on duty during hazardous hours at the schools. Conner especially stressed that no double parking will be allowed around the downtown Pampa Junior High School and that regular city policemen will be on hand to enforce this regulation.

Motorists are requested to keep in mind that many students at the grade schools are going to school for the first time and have not had traffic experience. Pupils are also cautioned to use crosswalks to cross streets, Conner said.

SCHOOL TRAFFIC SIGNS

Pampa traffic officials finished placing school speed zone signs around local public and parochial schools Saturday which replace the stand-up signs used in the middle of school-area streets. Richard Qualls, 2141 Aspen, right, points out the new limits to Bruce Campbell, left, 1129 Terrace. The signs limit speed to 15 miles per hour on school days from 7:30 a.m. to 9 a.m., noon to 1 p.m., and 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. (News Photo)

Iraq Gives Fresh Pledges On Oil

By K. C. THALER
United Press International
LONDON (UPI)—The Iraq government of Brigadier Abdul Karim Kassem has given fresh pledges to honor existing international oil agreements which will set plans in motion to double the country's oil production before long.

The assurances were given to G. H. Herridge, managing director of the internationally-owned Iraq Petroleum Co. who just returned from talks with the new leaders in Baghdad.

The new Iraq government has reaffirmed in these discussions its intention to honor the agreements with the foreign oil companies, and it let it be known its policy was to keep the oil flowing.

As an immediate outcome of this development it was reported authoritatively that plans will be put in operation to double the oil output from its present level of 30,000,000 tons annually, to some 60,000,000 tons by the end of 1961. The operation lies in the hands of the Iraq Petroleum Co. which is owned in equal parts by United States, British, Dutch and French interests.

(between 196,000,000 and 224,000,000 dollars) in royalties a year. Iraq presently holds sixth place among oil producing nations. The oil comes from the fields in Kirkuk, Mosul and Basrah.

The new plans for doubling production go hand in hand with other projects for expansion and development in the area.

One such plan was reported to provide for the building of a sea as an artificial port out to the sea at the head of the Persian Gulf.

This would allow tankers of up to 65,000 tons to carry oil from the Basrah fields, whereas presently only ships up to 16,000 tons can operate from the nearest harbor.

To Cooperate
Fears at the time of the recent Baghdad coup for the future of the Iraq oil appears to have now been allayed by the government's proclaimed desire for continued cooperation with the Western interests.

There were strong indications though that before long the Iraq leaders may seek modification of the treaty terms to secure a larger share of the profits derived from the oil operation.

But Herridge's latest on-the-spot soundings have encouraged hopes for compromise when the issue is raised officially.

The Iraq government has in turn received assurances from the oil company that efforts to increase the oil output in the country will be coupled with a policy of expansion of Iraq's oil exports.

The present profit sharing for Iraq oil follows the established pattern in the Middle East—it has been arranged on a 50-50 basis.

But this will have to be modified in Iraq's favor when another oil state in the area obtains better conditions.

Adjusting Ahead
Predictions in informed quarters were that some upward adjustment probably would have to be made in the near future, but nothing definitive so far has been settled.

From its present output — of which much is shipped to Western Europe — the Iraq government has so far derived some 70,000,000 or 80,000,000 sterling

Philpott Joins Tulane Faculty

(Special to The News)
MIAMI — Charles William Philpott, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Philpott of Miami, has been commissioned by Tulane University in New Orleans, La., to teach Comparative Anatomy to Zoology and pre-medical students; and human anatomy and physiology for nursing students. He will also be doing work in Vertebrate Physiology and bio-chemistry toward a Doctor's degree and working under a teaching assistantship.

Philpott was awarded the Master of Science degree in zoology at Texas Tech. in Lubbock this August 1958. His thesis, "The Reproductive Response of Ethionolepis Echidninus When Fed Various Bloods and Blood Fractions", will be published in a leading journal within the next several months. He tells in his thesis how the mite is an important factor in the epidemiology of several diseases.

After four years of college work, Philpott entered the Army in 1954. He served in the Second General Hospital in Landstuhl, Germany while overseas; he was also aide de camp for Major Gen. Post in Germany and was with the American Embassy at Brussels, Belgium for a time. He is also medical specialist to the late

Quotes In The News

Quotes From The News (Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.)
United Press International
LOS ANGELES — Attorney General William P. Rogers, on school integration:
"There is no state, granting the will, which cannot maintain law and order and at the same time permit a final decree of a court to be carried out."
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Gov. Orval Faubus, on President Eisenhower's attitude toward integration:
"If the President thinks the pace of integration should be slowed down to occur peacefully, we are in agreement. I am for him."
BEIRUT, Lebanon — Maj. Gen. Paul Adams, commander of U.S. ground forces in Lebanon, on a rebel demand to withdraw tanks from positions near a rebel-held section:
"If fired on, they (U.S. forces) will return the fire in sufficient volume to stop hostile fire, making sure to attack the hostile fire at its source."
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — An informed source, on the firing of a Jupiter missile:
"There was nothing startlingly different about this bird. It's just another flight in the development series."

DEPENDABILITY of ELECTRIC home freezers

proven by Texas Panhandle's first upright model—still giving faithful everyday service after 12 years!

Mrs. Detton's Recipe for APPLE STRUDEL

Beat one egg in cup. Fill cup with lukewarm water. Add 2 cups of flour (a good pint). Add a pinch of salt and mix well. Beat and knead (by picking up dough and throwing or hitting it on table) until white blisters appear. Divide into 4 parts and cover each. Let stand 2 hours. Roll and pull tissue-paper thin. Spread with sliced apples, sugar, cinnamon, butter and sour cream. Roll up — place in greased pan. Bake in moderate oven for one hour, basting with hot milk. Apple strudel may be frozen unbaked. After removing from freezer, bake, basting with hot milk. Bake slightly longer than one hour.

from an old Austrian Recipe

Ever look into the bright, expectant faces of hungry children eagerly awaiting a freshly-baked cookie? Or see the downcast, disappointed look that only kids can show when the cookie supply is "all out?" Mrs. Detton knows that look — that's one reason she's so pleased with her electric home freezer. She bakes large supplies of cookies, in advance — then freezes 'em. The happy faces of her grandchildren stay happy because Grandmother Detton just never runs out. She's always good for a fresh cookie, thanks to her electric home freezer — the first upright model in the Panhandle of Texas.

City Will Take Bids

(Special to The News) PERRYTON — Sealed bids for furnishing of sanitation disposal equipment and mobile type equipment have been called for by the city of Perryton and will be accepted until 8 p.m. Sept. 18. The city reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to waive informalities and to accept the bid deemed to be the most advantageous to the city.

The equipment to be purchased is for modernization of the sanitation department, with plans for installing the Dempster-Dempster system in the downtown business area.

Ten Stitches Result From Collision

G. R. Pfiel, 843 S. Faulkner, received a scalp laceration Friday when the dump truck he was driving sideswiped with another truck. The collision occurred six miles northwest of Pampa on a County road.

Both trucks belong to the G. W. James Material Company on Price Road. At 5:30 p.m. George Allam, driving north, passed Pfiel and the two trucks sideswiped, going out of control. Allam's veered to the right, going through a fence into a wheat field and coming to rest upright.

Pfiel was released from Highland General Hospital, with ten stitches in his scalp.

Mrs. Biard Dies From A Stroke

Mrs. Margaret Biard died in Worley Hospital Friday afternoon at 4:30 following a stroke. She was born in McNew County, Tenn. on May 8, 1880. At the age of five, she moved to Lamar County and in 1906 moved to a farm 2 1/2 miles west of Pampa with her husband, J. S. Biard, who preceded her in death on July 10, 1954. Mrs. Biard was a member of the Central Church of Christ.

She is survived by one son, W. J. (Bill) Biard, Pampa; two daughters, Helen of Pampa, Mrs. W. L. Herndon, Perryton; one sister, Miss Debbie Archer, Pampa; four grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren, One son, Jack, died Dec. 10, 1912.

Funeral services will be held in Duenkel-Carmichael Chapel tomorrow at 2 p.m. with J. M. Gilpatrick of the Central Church of Christ and Jon Jones of Mary Ellen and Harvester Church of Christ officiating.

Pal-bearers will be Buford Archer, Quentin Archer, Ernest Crane, H. E. Saunders, T. M. Books and J. E. Osborne.

Daugherty Rites Set

Final services for Mrs. B. A. Daugherty, 1108 E. Kingsmill, have been set for 4 p.m. Monday in the Calvary Baptist Church with Rev. Ennis Hill officiating.

Mrs. Daugherty, who died in Highland General Hospital at 3:50 p.m. Saturday after an extended illness, is survived by her husband; a son, Harold Glen of Pampa; two sisters, Mrs. Blanche Tinker of Mount Pleasant, and Mrs. Josephine Mankins of Talco; a half-brother, Floyd Rogers of Amarillo; her mother, Mrs. Hattie Andrews of Mount Pleasant; one brother, Herman Andrews of Mount Pleasant; and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Daugherty was born in Cookville, Tex., on December 1, 1908, and moved to McLean in 1928. She became a Pampa resident in 1937. Duenkel-Carmichael will be in charge of services.

REJUVENATION PROJECT—An airplane is being used by Ralph Davis at Boonville, Mo., to seed Missouri River bottom fields destroyed by the recent floods. Davis says it's an experiment to collect information about livability of crops and seeding rates. The Missouri Farmers Association is cooperating by furnishing seed. Crops being seeded from the air are wheat, milo, sorgho, rye and sudan grass. It will be several weeks before farm equipment can get into the saturated fields.

'The Mystery Or McClellan Creek' Pampan's Mystery Is Very Exciting To Read

Historic McClellan Creek is the setting for Wanda Campbell's tale of the new West. "The Mystery of McClellan Creek," published Friday by E. P. Dutton & Company, Inc. of New York. With her second book, Mrs. Johnny Campbell of Pampa has achieved more than a children's mystery. The book does not end when the mystery is solved. The characters will not let it. The story begins with Mike Peterson bouncing impatiently on the front seat of the family car, approaching McClellan Creek. "Severely in he out of the car than weird sounds resound from Coyote Canyon and Morse code flashes from the island in Hidden Lake. Mike and his buddies, Dean and Andy, are off on an exciting chase with Jeraldine, a girl from the East, Spanielling after. As the mystery unfolds, the boys begin calling her Jeri, which shocks Mike no end. Woman hating Mike wears an Indian Peace Medal around his neck that he picked up the previous summer. Although it is the love of his life, he uses it to make peace with Jeraldine. The tapping of a peg leg in the old trading post is a dramatic clue in the mystery. The tension is pure "Treasure Island." Here is another book for all ages. Mrs. Campbell writes of a real Panhandle, one that we all know.

Staff Slates Training For New Recruits

The Boy Scout Commissioner's Staff is preparing for an "ice cream get together" and training session that it will hold for the new neighborhood commissioners, according to George Snell, commissioner of the Sanle Pe District. The staff met in the Pampa Boy Scout office Thursday to divide the names of 21 prospective neighborhood commissioners. Fourteen new men are needed to carry on the 1958-59 program. The training session for the recruits is set for 7:30 p.m. Sept. 11 in the Palm Room of City Hall. The Commissioner's Staff, including the present neighborhood commissioners, will then number 27. Plans are for each assistant District commissioner, Cletus Mitchell, Roy Russell or Joe Fischer, to take charge of a division of the staff in the training sessions. The new men will receive an explanation of Scouting unit organization that will help them in their work. They will also be brought up to date on the purpose of the Commissioner's Staff.

JET

(Continued From Page 1) munists did not really plan to try to grab the islands but wanted to gain some diplomatic concession by threatening to do so. The State Department has reached only two solid conclusions about the Red Chinese motives. They are: —That Red China is probing to see how far she can go before the United States will act. —That the Reds are trying to provoke the United States into warlike moves. They could then build a case before the world by claiming this country is at the root of tension in the Formosa Strait area. Intensive Red-Chinese propaganda broadcasts have been hammering on this theme. They have become increasingly harsh and have warned that a landing on Quemoy is imminent. One such broadcast monitored here Friday belittled U.S. warnings to Red China as "paper tiger attempts" and "cowardly threatening" gestures. It called on Nationalist Chinese defenders of Quemoy to rise up and "kill the U.S. advisers and defect to our side" before it is too late.

LITTLE ROCK

(Continued From Page 1) bers of the board is a quorum and that if only four attend the meeting, three votes is a majority. In case of a tie vote, the status quo will prevail and Central will open Sept. 8. Gov. Orval E. Faubus has a bill, passed in special session by the Legislature, that gives him the power to delay Central's opening until Sept. 15. All he needs to do is sign it. "We are just sitting around and waiting to see what the Supreme Court will do to get us out of the predicament we have been in for the last 12 months," Negro publisher L. C. Bates said. Bates' wife, Daisy, is president of the NAACP in Arkansas. Bates said that if the Supreme Court upholds the integration of Central, he hopes that the Justice Department will come up with a plan to implement the decision; that is, provide for the protection of Negro students. Another of the bills the Legislature has passed for Faubus allows him to close Central with a stroke of his pen if the federal government integrates it forcibly. He thinks that a law passed in 1975 will allow it to be reopened immediately as a private school from which Negroes are excluded, with the state paying the tuition of white students.

Govt. Ownership

It is only when we approach the area of governmental ownership that we run into both a moral and a definitive snag. Government can and does own property. But there is an assumption, particularly in respect to representative governments, which creates at once both a moral and a legal problem.

The assumption relating to all types of representative government is that whatever it owns is actually owned by the people it represents. Thus, the fiction is created that the people hold title to the property the government owns, even while the government exercises control. The illusion is that the government and the people have entered into a partnership, the one retaining a titular vested interest, the other acting in all manners relating to control, and theoretically in the best interests of the former.

This illusion is buttressed by the fact that at stated intervals, the people may vote in such a manner that they can select the manager of governmental property. And in this fashion it can be claimed that the people are sort of stockholders in the holdings of government, for they can act like stockholders during elections and change the names and faces of those who manage things in their names.

The similarity to ownership perishes at this point. For in truth the people do NOT own, even in title, that which is owned by the government. For if the people did own stock in government properties, they could, if the mood seized them, sell or otherwise dispose of that which they own. This they cannot do. The people retain only the legal power of changing managers. In all other respects title, control and exclusiveness reside in government.

But what is government? It is not a stock company, a partnership, nor an individual. It may create a bonded indebtedness. But the bonds are not secured by property, except in an indirect sense. The bonds are secured by the government's ability to collect taxes. And the government's ability to collect taxes is related to the use of the bayonet and confiscation of private property if the collections cannot be made in any other manner.

Thus, government bonds are backed by force of arms, the force being directed against the taxpayers who are the persons in whose best interests the government is allegedly acting.

The place where the ownership of property by government comes into most serious collision with the facts of life, relates to the placing of responsibility in connection with the control exercised by government.

Let us take a particular piece of property owned by government and examine the nature of that ownership. Here is the giant TVA. This agency of the federal government owns millions of dollars' worth of land, buildings, dams and waterways. This agency controls these holdings totally. But it cannot sell them. It cannot lease them. It cannot mortgage them. It cannot give them. It cannot do anything with them except to operate them.

Where, then, is the responsibility which inevitably resides in private ownership? It is so widely diffused as to be virtually non-existent. Further, it is diffused among persons whose aims and purposes are diverse and opposite. The partners in ownership are in deadly opposition to each other by their very natures. The people are being compelled to meet the deficits of the TVA operation year by year. It would be in their best interests to dispose of this property to a warring private buyer.

But the interests of the government are contrary. TVA is an excellent political contrivance, very pleasing to those who expect to reward their friends with political sinecures. And those rewarded have highly paid employment which employment is backed by the bayonets of government as collections are exacted against the people themselves so that the TVA can be perpetuated.

And those rewarded have highly paid employment which employment is backed by the bayonets of government as collections are exacted against the people themselves so that the TVA can be perpetuated.

Thus, while it is correct to say that government can and does own property, it is necessary to note that the ownership of government property is a type of ownership wherein the blessings of that ownership do not descend to the people as a whole for whom the government acts, but actually pass to the government itself for its own aggrandizement.

It is this type of thing that the socialists long to see accomplished in every avenue of production and distribution. It is this type of thing which must be opposed by every thinking American who believes that ownership must contain responsibility and is characterized by exclusiveness, control and title.

William E. Russell, an attorney from New York City, has taken a good look at the government's social security racket. His letter to the Insurance Economics Society of America makes interesting and informative reading. We reproduce it here.

"Perhaps some of my brethren of the bar may feel that I am using extravagant language in characterizing our existing social security system as social insanity. May I offer some personal evidence in support of my statement? I am an old fossil, past the age of 72 years and, as a self-employed lawyer, was forced to come under the social security system at the beginning of 1936. I paid a $126 social security tax on my 1936 income (3 per cent of $4,200) and $141.75 on my 1937 income (4 1/2 per cent of $4,200). These payments 'entitled' me and my wife to monthly benefits of $162.80 so long as we jointly live. I can continue working and there is no limit on my earnings except that imposed by my clients and continued social security taxes. My tax payments have gone into the general funds of the Treasury and in lieu thereof the government has substituted a like amount of its own bonds in the so-called reserve fund. My posterity will have to pay the interest on these bonds and will have to redeem them at maturity. Therefore, by taking the benefits now available I will merely be drawing future drafts on the earnings of my grandchildren and possibly my great-grandchildren. This is social insanity.

"By what process of tortured reasoning do the politicians arrive at the conclusion that those of us who are self-employed and who have been fortunate enough to give employment to others, require the assistance of a paternalistic government to provide for us in our old age? True, I do not have to accept the so-called 'monthly benefits'—at least, not at the present time. Wisdom probably dictates acceptance thereof for the purpose of creating a trust fund for my grandchildren, thereby enabling them to redeem the government 'IOU's'. Social security was not discovered by the New Dealers. It is an instinct planted in man by Deity and is desirable.

"Mr. Bridenstine (another contributor to the Insurance Economics Society of America) was quite correct, in my opinion, in saying that there is no constitutional basis for compulsory social security. My concept of constitutional liberty and responsibility is that I have not relinquished my right to live within my means, to make a provision for my own old age and to be free and independent of bureaucratic 'do-goodism'.

"When our profession fails in its duty to uphold the constitutional rights of individuals, we have not added luster to our reputation as defenders of liberty. Attorney Russell has pointed his literary finger at a malodorous practice in our government. The philosophy behind compulsory social security is that people are such dolts and imbeciles that they haven't the necessary gumption to look after themselves and, consequently, must be coerced into paying for their old age support at the point of a gun. The insult to the American people is profound.

There is another sophistry inherent in the scheme. It is that by using social security as a virtual universal panacea, the business of relief could be reduced or eliminated. As a spectator to the American scene since the early 30's when Social Security was first enacted, we have observed that relief rolls have grown each year

What Can One Person Do To Stop Dollar Buying Less And Less?

In talking to the Lions Club on the subject of "Beliefs That Cause The Dollar To Buy Less and Less," I tried to answer the question, "What can one person do to stop the dollar buying less and less?" The growth of the federal government is the result of local beliefs. If local people believed in a limited local government, then they would naturally believe in a limited national government.

The question of stopping the decline of the dollar is a local question. I suggested that those who wanted to use their influence to help save the dollar should read the close reasons of the ages. I left with them a copy of "Unemployment Is Avoidable" by F. A. Harper of The Foundation for Economic Education and a copy of "Wages, Unemployment and Inflation" by Ludwig von Mises, who, I believe, understands inflation better than most any other living man. Some 50 years ago he pointed out that all depressions were the aftermath of inflation. I think he was the originator of that doctrine.

Undividable Labor I tried to point out that there were certain responsibilities of labor or that could not be divided; that men could not develop their consciences and their judgments without using and exercising them. And one of the best ways of exercising judgment and conscience is to read such great masterpieces as the Bible. There are found the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule. The Declaration of Independence attempted to put these moral laws into operation.

I told them that the man who understood the limited government about as well as anyone I ever knew was Frederic Bastiat, who wrote about 100 years ago. He showed the hardships that resulted in government doing things that would be wicked and harmful if done by an individual. He believed in a single standard of rightness.

I do not see how anybody can read Frederic Bastiat's "Sophisms," his "Harmonies of Political Economy," and his essay on "The Law" without believing that the government should be the servant of man rather than his master. In short, would believe in a definite limited government; that the government has no right to do anything that the individual hasn't a right to do.

Individual Final Judge? At the question period one individual seemed to argue by his questions that if the majority did not have absolute control, then the individual would have absolute control. Whether it is the individual or the majority who has absolute control, the result would be a form of chaos.

Any government that is not based on Eternal principles, that is, a Higher Power, is bound to get in trouble. The United States government was formed on principles that man was endowed by his Creator, not by the government, with certain inalienable rights; that there were certain rights that the government was not intended to interfere with; that there were certain things that the individual or the majority should not attempt to change; that man through the ages had discovered these natural laws as set forth in the Decalogue and the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence; that rational men have agreed to these principles; that if there is a question as to whether a man is violating man-made laws that are in harmony with these laws, the decision is not made by him as an individual or by the majority, but it is left to the decision of his peers, his equals, who are impartial on the subject and believe in standards of rightness.

It is no more possible to determine right from wrong without a standard like the above guides than it is to measure distance without an agreed unit to measure by or a standard of weight or of heat. Or anything else must be measured by agreed mathematical principles.

While a jury does not insure perfection, it is undoubtedly the closest approach to impartial justice as to whether a man is violating a code of ethics. Rewards For Effort I tried to explain that the man who sacrificed some temporary pleasures and amusements in order to better show his love for mankind by becoming informed on what causes unemployment and the dollar buying less and less and increase in crime, was setting a better example for his children and his friends.

I observed that one philosopher had contended that the feelings or emotions of a lover or artist are as feeble beginnings compared with those of a philosopher (or a man) standing in the presence of unveiled truth. In other words, when a man gets a new idea that helps him to be useful to himself and to his fellowman, he gets a great joy out of this accomplishment.

That is the same idea as was expressed by Andrew Mellon when he said there probably is no greater pleasure and enjoyment than the pleasure of accomplishment. The pleasure that comes from better understanding of right human relations is sure to give a man peace of mind, better health and goodwill toward his fellowman and undoubtedly will add to his prosperity.

Yes, the dollar can only be saved by people in more and more communities realizing that we can not stop the depreciation of the dollar so long as people believe that the government should be aggressive and take from one to give to another rather than simply negative to stop any man from injuring another.

The Longest Under-Ice Journey

Robert Allen Reports:

New AEC Head Is Already Tangling With Congress

WASHINGTON — Chairman John McCone is having a very brief honeymoon as new head of the Atomic Energy Commission.

In office little more than a month, the Californian already is tangling with the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee on two touchy matters:

"Conflict-of-interest" complaints against him involving the SAVANNAH, first nuclear cargo ship now under construction. These charges have been made to the Committee by business and other sources.

McCone's opposition to building a reactor to produce both electricity and plutonium (weapons material). In taking this stand, McCone is following his predecessor, Lewis Strauss, who clashed bitterly with the Joint Committee over this issue. Their prolonged feud was a major factor in the New Yorker's not seeking a second term.

The "conflict-of-interest" contention is flatly denied by McCone. It is based on his large holdings in the Joshua Hendy Corporation, which has "interests in common" with the States Marine Corporation selected to operate the SAVANNAH.

In a written explanation to Representative Carl Durham (D., N.C.) Committee chairman, McCone admits the two companies have "interests in common." But he vigorously asserts the AEC awarded this contract "long before my induction into office," and his Joshua Hendy stock is now in a trust in which he does not vote.

"The staff of the Atomic Energy Commission," declares McCone, "advised the Commerce Department on June 6, 1958, that there was no objection to the selection of States Marine Corporation as the operator of the SAVANNAH. June 6 was prior to my nomination and long before my induction into office; therefore, it is quite obvious that I have no voice in this matter."

"Also, I would like it clearly understood that neither the Joshua Hendy Corporation, nor I personally, nor any corporation or business interest of my family is interested directly or indirectly in the operation of the SAVANNAH or any other AEC contracts."

Further adding fuel to the "conflict-of-interest" charges is a critical blast by Representative Herbert Bonner (D., N.C.), chairman of the Merchant Marine Committee.

Shortly before adjournment, Bonner told the House that States Marine Corporation operates a better example for his children and his friends. I observed that one philosopher had contended that the feelings or emotions of a lover or artist are as feeble beginnings compared with those of a philosopher (or a man) standing in the presence of unveiled truth. In other words, when a man gets a new idea that helps him to be useful to himself and to his fellowman, he gets a great joy out of this accomplishment.

FALLACIOUS SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHING

This writer has just finished reading the discussion of the Sunday School lessons for August, 1958, in the Adult Student, published by the General Board of Education of The Methodist Church at Nashville, Tennessee. It was a most disheartening experience and not the first one of its kind we have had along this line. The discussions of the lessons were fallacious and dangerous, not worthy of a great denomination of the Protestant church and certainly not representative of the thinking of the rank and file membership of the church.

Since this is our own denomination, we feel more free than might otherwise be the case to be critical of the discussions, even as the author was critical of views opposite to his own. It would be easy and less disturbing, of course, to let it go and ignore the matter altogether, except one can hardly rest freely with his own conscience when he sees pronounced in the name of his own church doctrines which he considers highly dangerous and at such variance with the principles of freedom on which our government is based. After all, a church publication can be the most dangerous of all publications — just because it is a church publication and therefore entirely too many people accept the views expressed therein without question.

Space does not allow us to quote copiously from the discussions of the Sunday School lessons, but we are constrained to give one substantial quote because it shows very clearly the devious "hitting below the belt" approach of the author. The following quote leads off the discussion of the August 10th lesson, which bears the heading, "Justice in Government":

"In a certain congressional district Mr. X ran for a seat in the House of Representatives. He belonged to no church. He was known to drink heavily. He advocated policies inconsistent with those held by The Methodist Church or the National Council of Churches: little foreign aid, higher tariffs, weak support of the United Nations, and adoption of the Bricker Amendment."

"His opponent, Mr. Z, was a staunch member of a local church, had been moderator of a section of his denomination and had served on its state social action committee. He was a total abstainer and possessed a fine family. His attitude toward international policies agreed closely with positions taken by major denominations: a deep concern for world peace, strong support of the United Nations, and belief in basic human rights."

"In this district the majority of as yet to 'personally develop all the facts relating' to the controversial plutonium reactor. But on the basis of the 'records available to my office,' he decided against it. 'A decision to convert the reactor (to electricity production) would depend on a number of factors,' declares McCone, 'which cannot be forecast at the present time, such as the duration of the weapons program, the demand for electric power in the particular area, economic considerations...'

NOTE: The new AEC chairman's scope of authority differs importantly from that of his predecessor. McCone wears two fewer "hats" than Strauss. The latter was atomic adviser to the President and consultant to the National Security Council, as well as AEC head. McCone has not been named to the other influential posts.

Peanut Butter Sandwich Living Costs Barometer

By HENRY McEMORE

Unlike most providers for a family, I never bother to look at those consumer price index figures on the cost of living which the government obligingly issues each month.

In the first place, I can't make head or tail of them. For me to read, for example, that "the consumer price index was 123.9 percent of the 1947-49 average, 2.6 higher than in July, 1957," means nothing. I have no idea what the 1947-49 average was, and have no way of translating 2.6 into the cost of a can of lima beans, a bottle of ketchup, or a pair of boxer shorts.

However, I don't go blithely along thinking that the cost of living hasn't soared like a flushed pigeon. For quite a while ago I discovered a guide to the cost of living which, for me, is much quicker, simpler, and every bit as reliable as the haphazard figures put out by Washington.

The guide is the peanut butter sandwich, consisting of a blob of peanut butter spread over two slices of store-bought bread. There couldn't be a less complicated sandwich, or a much cheaper one to make.

But the graph which I have on my study wall, showing the rise in price of the drive-in or restaurant-bought peanut butter sandwich, is shocking proof that the cost of living has gone from sea level to Himalayan heights in no time.

When I first discovered the peanut butter sandwich as a true barometer of prices, and started my graph, it was priced at a nickel. For five cents one could get two slices of bread and enough peanut butter to keep one's jaws semi-grogg for half an hour.

Through the years the price has steadily risen, until today the peanut butter sandwich sells for anywhere from thirty-five to forty-five cents. And please remember, I mean a plain one, with nothing on it such as lettuce or pineapple or accessories like that.

It's just the same unvarnished sandwich that mothers give their children before plopping them down in front of TV to watch Captain Aardvark or The Masochistic Sheriff.

When a peanut butter sandwich costs as much as 45 cents, no wonder the people belonged to some church and were to be found in their seats on Sunday morning. One would expect Mr. Z to win by a landslide. How does one explain such a vote?

"Such actions lead Christian citizens to inquire: How can justice in government be obtained?" There it is! Note the underhand approach used by the author in presenting this entirely hypothetical case. The candidate who believed in "little foreign aid, higher tariffs, weak support of the United Nations, and adoption of the Bricker Amendment" belonged to no church and was a heavy drinker; the candidate who took the opposite position was a staunch member of the church, was a total abstainer, and even possessed a fine family. It is simply dishonest to imply, as the author does, that one who supports the views of Mr. X is immoral, while one who supports the views of Mr. Z is entirely moral.

In fact, it is ironical — and would be amusing if it were not so serious for the author to raise the question, "How does one explain such a vote?" In raising this question at all, he unwittingly "hoists himself upon his own petard" — catches himself in his own trap, because the answer is simply that all those fine church-going people in the district support "Mr. X's" views on these questions and do not agree at all with the view of "Mr. Z." There are plenty more like them in other districts — and for good reason.

All the lesson discussions for August are permeated with this type of comment. Thoughtful people will be able to evaluate them for what they are worth. The danger is that so many people and naturally so accept church publications, especially their own, as the law and gospel.

Bid For A Smile

Butcher — And what will you have today, madam? Lady — I'd like some nice fresh kiddies. Butcher — Excuse me but you said... Lady — Kiddies. Butcher — Ah — er — perhaps you mean 'kiddies'. Lady — Of course, Diddle I say so!

He had told her the age — old story, and with emotion, waited for a few short words that would decide his fate. She — George, before I give you my answer you must tell me something. Do you drink anything? He — A smile of relief lighted his handsome countenance. Was that all she wanted to know? Proudly, triumphantly he clasped her in his arms and whispered in her shell-like ear: He — Anything!

Mother — Did you have a nice time? (Upon his return from a party) Child — I've never been to a worse one. There was a lady there who didn't say anything but try to restore order.

Govt. Ownership

It is only when we approach the area of governmental ownership that we run into both a moral and a definitive snag. Government can and does own property. But there is an assumption, particularly in respect to representative governments, which creates at once both a moral and a legal problem.

The assumption relating to all types of representative government is that whatever it owns is actually owned by the people. It represents, thus, the fiction is created that the people hold title to the property the government owns, even while the government exercises control. The illusion is that the government and the people have entered into a partnership, the one retaining a titular vested interest, the other acting in all manners relating to control, and theoretically in the best interests of the former.

The illusion is buttressed by the fact that at stated intervals, the people may vote in such a manner that they can select the manager of governmental property. And in this fashion it can be claimed that the people are sort of stockholders in the holdings of government, for they can act like stockholders during elections and change the names and faces of those who manage things in their names.

The similarity to ownership persists at this point. For in truth the people do NOT own, even in title, that which is owned by the government. For if the people did own stock in government properties, they could, if the mood seized them, sell or otherwise dispose of that which they own. This they cannot do. The people retain only the legal power of changing managers. In all other respects title, control and exclusiveness reside in government.

But what is government? It is not a stock company, a partnership, nor an individual. It may create a bonded indebtedness. But the bonds are not secured by property, except in an indirect sense. The bonds are secured by the government's ability to collect taxes. And the government's ability to collect taxes is related to the use of the bayonet and confiscation of private property if the collections cannot be made in any other manner.

Thus, government bonds are backed by force of arms, the force being directed against the taxpayers who are the persons in whose best interests the government is allegedly acting.

The place where the ownership of property by government comes into most serious collision with the facts of life, relates to the placing of responsibility in connection with the control exercised by government.

Let us take a particular piece of property owned by government and examine the nature of that ownership.

William E. Russell, an attorney from New York City, has taken a good look at the government's social security racket. His letter to the Insurance Economics Society of America makes interesting and informative reading. We reproduce it here.

"Perhaps some of my brethren of the bar may feel that I am using extravagant language in characterizing our existing social security system as social insanity. May I offer some personal evidence in support of my statement? I am an old fossil, past the age of 72 years and, as a self-employed lawyer, was forced to come under the social security system at the beginning of 1936. I paid $128 social security tax on my 1956 income (3 per cent of $4,200) and $141.75 on my 1957 income 3 1/2 per cent of $4,200. These payments 'entitle' me and my wife to monthly benefits of $129.30 so long as we jointly live. I can continue working and there is no limit on my earnings except that imposed by my clients and continued social security taxes. My tax payments have gone into the general funds of the Treasury and in lieu thereof the government has substituted a like amount of its own bonds in the so-called reserve fund. My posterity will have to pay the interest on these bonds and will have to redeem them at maturity. Therefore, by taking these benefits now available I will be drawing future drafts on the earnings of my grandchildren and possibly my great-grandchildren. This is social insanity.

"By what process of tortured reasoning do the politicians arrive at the conclusion that those of us who are self-employed and who have been fortunate enough to give employment to others, require the assistance of a paternalistic government to provide for us in our

What Can One Person Do To Stop Dollar Buying Less And Less?

In talking to the Lions Club on the subject of "Beliefs That Cause The Dollar To Buy Less and Less," I tried to answer the question, "What can one person do to stop the dollar buying less and less?"

The growth of the federal government is the result of local beliefs. If local people believed in a limited local government, then they would naturally believe in a limited national government.

The question of stopping the decline of the dollar is a local question. I suggested that those who wanted to use their influence to help save the dollar should read the close reasoners of the ages. I left with them a copy of "Unemployment Is Avoidable" by F. A. Harper, The Foundation for Economic Education and a copy of "Wages, Unemployment and Inflation" by Ludwig von Mises, who, I believe, understands inflation better than most any other living man.

Some 50 years ago he pointed out that all depressions were the aftermath of inflation. I think he was the originator of that doctrine.

Undivided Labor
I tried to point out that there were certain responsibilities of labor that could not be divided; that men could not develop their consciences and their judgments without using them and exercising them. And one of the best ways of exercising your judgment and conscience is to read such great masterpieces as the Bible. There are found the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule, The Declaration of Independence attempted to put these moral laws into operation.

I told them that the man who understood the limited government as well as anyone I ever knew was Frederic Bastiat, who wrote about 100 years ago. He showed the hardships that resulted in government doing things that would be wicked and harmful if done by an individual. He believed in a single standard of rightness.

I do not see how anybody can read Frederic Bastiat's "Sophisms," his "Harmonies of Political Economy," and his essay on "The Law" without believing that the government should be the servant of man rather than his master. In short, would believe in a definite limited government; that the government has no right to do anything that the individual has a right to do.

Individual Final Judge?
At the question period one individual seemed to argue by his questions that if the majority did not have absolute control, then the individual would have absolute control. Whether it is the individual or the majority who has absolute control, the result would be a form of chaos.

Any government that is not based on Eternal principles, that is a higher Power, is bound to get in trouble.

The United States government was formed on principles that man was endowed by his Creator, not by the government, with certain inalienable rights; that there were certain rights that the government was not intended to interfere with; that there were certain things that the individual or the majority should not attempt to change; that man through the ages had discovered these natural laws and set forth in the Decalogue and the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence; that rational men have agreed to these principles; that if there is a question as to whether a man is violating man-made laws that are in harmony with these laws, the decision is not made by him as an individual or by the majority, but it is left to the decision of his peers, his equals, who are impartial on the subject and believe in standards of rightness.

It is no more possible to determine right from wrong without a standard like the above guides than it is to measure distance without an agreed unit to measure by or a standard of weight or of heat. Or anything else must be measured by agreed mathematical principles.

While a jury does not insure perfection, it is undoubtedly the closest approach to impartial justice as to whether a man is violating a code of ethics.

Rewards For Effort
I tried to explain that the man who sacrificed some transitory pleasures and amusements in order to better show his love for mankind by becoming informed on what causes unemployment and the dollar buying less and less and increase in crime, was setting a better example for his children and his friends. I observed that one philosopher had contended that the feelings or emotions of a lover or artist are as feeble beginnings compared with those of a philosopher (or a man) standing in the presence of unveiled truth. In other words, when a man gets a new idea that helps him be useful to himself and to his fellowman, he gets a great joy out of this accomplishment. That is the same idea as was expressed by Andrew Mellon when he said there probably is no greater pleasure and enjoyment than the pleasure of accomplishment. The pleasure that comes from better understanding of right human relations is sure to give a man peace of mind, better health and goodwill toward his fellowman and undoubtedly will add to his prosperity.

New AEC Head Is Already Tangling With Congress

WASHINGTON — Chairman John McCone is having a very brief honeymoon as new head of the Atomic Energy Commission.

In office little more than a month, the Californian already is tangling with the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee on two touchy matters:

"Conflict-of-interest" complaints against him involving the SAVANNAH, first nuclear cargo ship now under construction. These charges have been made to the committee by business and other sources.

McCone's opposition to building a reactor to produce both electricity and plutonium (weapons material). In taking this stand, McCone is following his predecessor, Lewis Strauss, who clashed bitterly with the Joint Committee over this issue. Their prolonged feud was a major factor in the New Yorker's not seeking a second term.

The "conflict-of-interest" contention is flatly denied by McCone. It is based on his large holdings in the Joshua Hendy Corporation, which has "interests in common" with the States Marine Corporation that the Atomic Commission selected to operate the SAVANNAH.

In a written explanation to Representative Carl Durham (D., N.C.) committee chairman, McCone admits the two companies have "interests in common." But he vigorously asserts the AEC awarded this contract "long before my induction into office," and his Joshua Hendy stock is now in a trust in which he does not vote.

"The staff of the Atomic Energy Commission," declares McCone, "advised the Commerce Department on June 6, 1958, that there was no objection to the selection of States Marine Corporation as the operator of the SAVANNAH."

Further adding fuel to the "conflict-of-interest" charges is a critical blast by Representative Herbert Bonner (D., N.C.), chairman of the Merchant Marine Committee.

Shortly before adjournment, Bonner told the House that States Marine Corporation operates a better example for his children and his friends. I observed that one philosopher had contended that the feelings or emotions of a lover or artist are as feeble beginnings compared with those of a philosopher (or a man) standing in the presence of unveiled truth. In other words, when a man gets a new idea that helps him be useful to himself and to his fellowman, he gets a great joy out of this accomplishment.

That is the same idea as was expressed by Andrew Mellon when he said there probably is no greater pleasure and enjoyment than the pleasure of accomplishment. The pleasure that comes from better understanding of right human relations is sure to give a man peace of mind, better health and goodwill toward his fellowman and undoubtedly will add to his prosperity.

Yes, the dollar can only be saved by people in more and more numbers realizing that we can not stop the depreciation of the dollar so long as people believe that the government should be aggressive and take from one to give to another rather than simply negative to stop any man from injuring another.

FALLACIOUS SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHING

This writer has just finished reading the discussion of the Sunday School lessons for August, 1958, in the Adult Student, published by the General Board of Education of The Methodist Church at Nashville, Tennessee. It was a most disheartening experience and not the first one of its kind we have had along this line. The discussions of the lessons were fallacious and dangerous, not worthy of a great denomination of the Protestant church and certainly not representative of the thinking of the rank and file membership of the church.

Since this is our own denomination, we feel more free than might otherwise be the case to be critical of the discussions, even as the author was critical of views opposite to his own. It would be easy and less disturbing, of course, to let it go and ignore the matter altogether, except one can hardly rest freely with his own conscience when he sees promulgated in the name of his own church doctrines which he considers highly dangerous and at such variance with the principles of freedom on which our government is based. After all, a church publication can be the most dangerous of all publications — just because it is a church publication and therefore entirely too many people accept the views expressed therein without question.

Space does not allow us to quote copiously from the discussions of the Sunday School lessons, but we are constrained to give one substantial quote because it shows very clearly the devious "hitting below the belt" approach of the author. The following quote leads off the discussion of the August 10th lesson, which bears the heading, "Justice in Government":

"In a certain congressional district Mr. X ran for a seat in the House of Representatives. He belonged to no church. He was known to drink heavily. He advocated policies inconsistent with those held by The Methodist Church or the National Council of Churches: little foreign aid, higher tariffs, weak support of the United Nations, and adoption of the Bricker Amendment."

"His opponent, Mr. Z, was a staunch member of a local church, had been moderator of a section of his denomination and had served on its state social action committee. He was a total abstainer and possessed a fine family. His attitude toward international policies agreed closely with positions taken by major denominations: a deep concern for world peace, strong support of the United Nations, understanding of the need for more world trade through trade agreements, adequate foreign aid, and belief in basic human rights."

"In this district the majority of as yet to "personally develop all the facts relating" to the controversial plutonium reactor. But on the basis of the "records available to my office," he decided against it.

"My decision to convert the reactor (to electricity production) would depend on a number of factors," declares McCone, "which cannot be forecast at the present time, such as the duration of the weapons program, the demand for electric power in the particular area, economic considerations..."

NOTE: The new AEC chairman's scope of authority differs importantly from that of his predecessor. McCone wears two fewer "hats" than Strauss. The latter was atomic adviser to the President and consultant to the National Security Council, as well as AEC head. McCone has not been named to the other influential posts.

Particularly miffed by this are Senators Clinton Anderson (D., N.M.), vice-chairman, and Henry Jackson (D., Wash.) and Representative Melvin Price (D., Ill.) and Chet Holifield (D., Calif.) who led the fight that won authorization for this reactor.

They are now proposing a showdown with McCone on this issue. In his Stanton letter, the AEC head states he hadn't time

Peanut Butter Sandwich Living Costs Barometer

Unlike most providers for a family, I never bother to look at those consumer price index figures on the cost of living which the government obligingly issues each month.

In the first place, I can't make head or tail of them. For me to read, for example, that "the consumer price index was 123.9 per cent of the 1947-49 average, 2.6 higher than in July, 1957," means nothing. I have no idea what the 1947-49 average was, and have no way of translating 2.6 into the cost of a can of lima beans, a bottle of ketchup, or a pair of boxer shorts.

However, I don't go blithely along thinking that the cost of living hasn't soared like a flushed partridge. For quite a while ago I discovered a guide to the cost of living which, for me, is much quicker, simpler, and every bit as reliable as the huffful figures put out by Washington.

The guide is the peanut butter sandwich, consisting of a blob of peanut butter spread over two slices of store-bought bread. There couldn't be a less complicated sandwich, or a much cheaper one to make.

But the graph which I have on my study wall, showing the rise in price of the drive-in or restaurant peanut butter sandwich, is shocking proof that the cost of living has gone from sea level to Himalayan heights in no time.

When I first discovered the peanut butter sandwich as a true barometer of prices, and started my graph, it was priced at a nickel. For five cents one could get two slices of bread and enough peanut butter to keep one's jaws semi-glued for half an hour.

Through the years the price has steadily risen, until today the peanut butter sandwich sells for anywhere from thirty-five to forty-five cents. And please remember, I mean a plain one, with nothing on it such as lettuce or pineapple or accessories like that.

It's just the same unvarnished sandwich that mothers give their children before plopping them down in front of TV to watch Captain Aardvark or The Masochistic Sheriff.

When a peanut butter sandwich costs as much as 45 cents, no wonder the people belonged to some church and were to be found in their seats on Sunday morning. One would expect Mr. X to win by a landslide. Instead Mr. X won by a landslide. How does one explain such a vote?

"Such actions lead Christian citizens to inquire: How can justice in government be obtained?"

There it is! Note the underhand approach used by the author in presenting this entirely hypothetical case. The candidate who believed in "little foreign aid, higher tariffs, weak support of the United Nations, and adoption of the Bricker Amendment" belonged to no church and was a heavy drinker; the candidate who took the opposite position was a staunch member of the church, was a total abstainer, and even possessed a fine family. It is simply dishonest to imply, as the author does, that one who supports the views of Mr. X is immoral, while one who supports the views of Mr. Z is entirely moral.

In fact, it is ironical and would be amusing if it were not so serious for the author to raise the question, "How does one explain such a vote?" In raising this question at all, he unwittingly "hoists himself upon his own petard" — catches himself in his own trap — because the answer is simply that all those fine church-going people in the district supporting "Mr. X's" views on these questions and do not agree at all with the view of "Mr. Z." There are plenty more like them in other districts — and for good reason.

All the lesson discussions for August are permeated with this type of comment. Thoughtful people will be able to evaluate them for what they are worth. The danger is that so many people — and naturally so — accept church publications, especially their own, as the law and gospel.

Bid For A Smile

Butcher — And what will you have?
Lady — I'd like some nice fresh milk.
Butcher — Excuse me but you said —
Lady — Kidney.
Butcher — Ah — perhaps you mean "Kidney" madam?
Lady — Of course. Diddle I say so?

He had told her the age - old story, and torn with emotion, walked for a few short words that would decide his fate.
She — George, before I give you my answer, you must tell me something. Do you drink anything?
A smile of relief lighted his handsome countenance. As that all he wanted to know? Proudly, triumphantly he clasped her in his arms and whispered in her shell - like ear —
He — Anything!

Prospecting while wondering whatever happened to the Pampa Quarterback Club?

Slap-happy California ain't the only place coaches are trying to bamboozle outstanding grid talent out of one of their fraternity brother's back yard.

Bill Cross, the minute citizen who ran rings around the big guys to grab little all-American praise while he was at West Texas State not so many years ago before pushing on for three years with the Chicago Cardinals and a couple in the Canadian League with Toronto, sez it's not only California's Pete Elliott who's recruiting so hard his arches are falling down.

Hands Off, Huh!

When new Tascosa High head football coach, Bill Ellington hit Amarillo from several sweet smells of success seasons at Garland High where he annexed one 2A football state title, he brought his gift of gab with him.

While lunching with Cross the other day he told of buster here and Babe Curfman, that there's been a battle royal waging in Amarillo the past few weeks.

It seems, sez Cross, that Amarillo students have their choice of attending either Tascosa, the still wet - paint Amarillo High School, or old Amarillo High, depending whether or not their family can move on one side or the other of the school boundary lines before Sept. 1.

Ellington, has reportedly already talked one handsome prospect into pulling up stakes and moving into the Rebels' neighborhood.

Naturally, Amarillo High's Homer Simmons ain't dancing no jigs about them kind of goings on. He is even not reported to be a happy citizen of late.

Cross said he heard a rumor that the kid who was talked into transferring into the Tascosa school district, got over in the other part of town, when his dad, a taxi driver, was promised a better job or fatter paycheck or something.

Well, this Cherokee club was going great guns in the national semi - pro tournament at Wichita, Kansas, until they ran into the Alpine Cowboys - Friday night.

Score was 12-0 with the Okies on the embarrassing end of the score. It was a fourth round game, and there's still hope. Double elimination tournament, you know.

There are three other golf tournaments in the state conflicting with the dates of the Top O' Texas meet now going on at the Pampa Country Club here. Tournaments at Muleshoe, Albany, Austin and Hamilton are now being unfurled.

67 and grabbing an early lead in the 22nd annual Top O' Texas Golf Tournament.

Kaplan's 67, however, gave him little breathing room in the Championship Flight at the Pampa Country Club where 30-mile-an-hour gales harassed golfers all afternoon and brought forth a few thousand rather harsh comments.

In 1956, it was Kaplan who wilted the field with a 274 to ease to the Top O' Texas crown over Prigmore by a whopping ten strokes. He won here in 1955 too.

Bunched behind Prigmore's 68, entering the second lap of the 72-hole medal Championship Flight after Saturday's wind-blown play were Pampa's Burt Watkins and Amarillo's John Farquhar, who had a 67 qualifying round Friday.

Friday's medalist, Jimmy Smith of Amarillo, who pocketed the $50 day money for his low card of 66, a good seven-strokes under par, blew higher than a champagne cork at a New Year's blast in Saturday's opening round of play.

Smith was ten strokes over his Friday score with a 76 Saturday, which buried him behind 15 players. The Amarillo linkster didn't take his bad day with any calmness to speak of either.

"He had a big flight day," Pampa CC pro, Hart Warren grinned, in summing up Smith's angered tossing of just about every club in his bag.

The colorful competitor made like a young Tommy Bolt after trudging from the 18th green on the second round of the day while glaring daggers into nobody in particular but the world in general.

Vance Moxom of Borger and Grover Austin Jr. had 72's Saturday and are within striking distance of the crown if they can come up with big rounds today and Monday in the Labor Day finals.

Austin, of course, has been kicking around the Top O' Texas tournament since before some of this year's entrants...

He was runner-up in 1938 and again in 1953 after winning the title in 1950.

Melvin Chisum, who only returned from the 3rd annual Eisenhower Junior Golf Tournament in Denver, Colo., late Thursday, stood at 73 right next to Max Hickey of Pampa and Amarillo's Joe Gibson, Joe Bob Brown and H. G. Cogburn.

Cameron Roach of Amarillo had a 74 and posting 75's were three Pampa players, Larry Tarvin, O. M. Prigmore and Les Howard.

In Friday's qualifying rounds, Prigmore, Foster and Farquhar had 67's behind Smith.

PAMPA'S ELLIS 1ST TO WIN IN DENVER MEET

DENVER — The first young Texas golfer ever to win a flight championship here, steady Johnny Ellis of Pampa, Texas, blistered the fairways with a cool 77 here Thursday to capture Second Flight honors in the 3rd annual Eisenhower Junior Open Golf Tournament.

A quartet of Pampa teen-agers posted an impressive record for four days of qualifying and playing here, winning nine of 12 matches.

Ellis captured five straight in grabbing the Second Flight title. He topped three youthful golfers from Denver, and one each from Colorado Springs and Pueblo.

Melvin Chisum, the only high school grad among the four, was ousted in the quarterfinals of the Championship Flight after notching two match wins.

Larry Tarvin, playing in the First Flight, also reached the quarterfinals before being bumped from the running. He too took two of three matches.

The fourth Pampa swinger to play at Crag Municipal Country Club, George Smith, won his opening match in Second Flight competition but was defeated in the second round.

Oklahoma's Jimmy Wright won the Championship Flight title over a young golfer from Denton.

FRIDAY NIGHT

13 Top O' Texas Grid Games Set

The Texas schoolboy football was open without much fanfare this weekend with 183 games slated involving Class AA, A and B teams from the Gulf Coast to the Panhandle and the Big Bend Country to the East Texas Pineywoods.

Top O' Texas grid fans, who won't have an opportunity to watch the big boys' Class AAAA and AAA — in action can handpick a game this Friday night at 13 different towns.

In District 2-A the favorite, Lefors Pirates with 20 returning lettermen, can sit back and watch the loop's other six members launch their campaigns. The Pirates have an open date before opening with Shamrock on the Irish's field Sept. 12.

White Deer's Bucks, expected to give Lefors its biggest run for the title, plays host to Groom's Tigers of District 1-B Friday night while Canadian's letterman - stacked Wildcats roll out the red carpet for the Wheeler Mustangs of District 1-B. White Deer was the 1-A champ last fall and nosed Lefors out in bi-district, 38-33, before moving into 2-A.

In District 1-B (Six-Man) the Mobette Hornets go to Miami to battle the Warriors while Morse, a new conference member, treks to Booker. Channing, fifth loop member, has an open date. All the 1-B (Six-Man) games are district contests.

Panhandle's purple Panthers travel to Gruver to try and muzzle the Greyhounds of District 1-A, while Clarendon's Bronco's host Stinnett's rugged Rattlers of District 1-A and the Memphis Cyclones, co - champs with Lefors last autumn, open at home against a highly regarded Tulla Hornet club of District 1-AA.

In District 5-AA, Perryton's veteran Rangers open the home gates to the Dalhart Wolves of 1-AA while as mentioned Shamrock hosts McLean, Quanah, rated in many circles as the team to beat for the conference crown, plunges home with a Central West Texas into its ten-game schedule at home with a Central West Texas toughie, Stamford. Wellington's Skyrockets-host the Floydad Whirlwinds and the Bobcats of Childress High open at home against Paducah.

In District 1-B (Six-Man) the Mobette Hornets go to Miami to battle the Warriors while Morse, a new conference member, treks to Booker. Channing, fifth loop member, has an open date. All the 1-B (Six-Man) games are district contests.

TO HARVESTER SUCCESS STORY

Passing Holds The Key

Big Babe Curfman, his flesh tanned a deep bronze from many morning and afternoon hours in the sun, inhaled a deep drag off his cigarette and growled, "You know, we might just be real tough through the air."

The Babe, getting his feet wet in the high school coaching ranks again after several seasons barking out orders to collegiate scrappers at Idaho University, New Mexico A&M, Stephen F. Austin College and Trinity University, had just waded his Pampa High jukies into the dressing room following a light Saturday morning workout and a lengthy publicist's visit before the cameras.

"The Harvesters, a raw inexperienced group for the most part, moved onto the drill field in pads for a two-hour head-bumping session Saturday afternoon.

Curfman, and his two varsity aides, line coach Duane Lyon and back tutor Eural Ramsey, will work their 45-man squad again today, from 3 p.m. to 4:30 in shorts.

"They're hitting just like they did last spring," Curfman said, "and I mean to say plenty hard."

best newcomer to the varsity and had glowing reports about Stokes, a junior.

"I was watching Stokes on one play during a little scrimmage we had Friday afternoon (opening day of workouts) and he cut down a linebacker, jumped up and bowled over a defensive halfback and then sprang to his feet and started leading interference for his back. That sounds like our backs are pretty slow don't it?" Curfman chuckled.

"We've got fair depth but it's all green material," the new harvester boss continued. "If we can get Buddy Rawls (letterman quarter-back) ready physically, we'll fill the sky with footballs," Curfman commented. "We feel like we've got some ends and halfbacks who can catch the ball and hang onto it, and our entire offense is liable to sink or swim with our success through the air," he stated.

Backing up Rawls at the man under post are Ronnie Smith, Bobby Stephens, and Don Hazel.

"This Stephens kid looks like a real center at quarterback," Curfman remarked. "He's a better runner on the option keeper play than either Rawls or Smith. More tricky you might say."

calling position, need good reserve punch behind them, especially since both could have brittle shoulder bones.

Rawls fractured his right collarbone in two places when he was injured in an American Legion baseball game this summer at Stinnett. Smith broke his shoulder in practice last football season.

Gary Wills and Rex Williams, who only gained his release from the hospital after a size of the fit, are presently commanding the first string halfback positions, but Jerry Daniels and Dwayne Urbanczyk are apt to push them for a regular berth.

Other halfbacks expected to log playing time for the Harvesters this fall are Sherril Miller, Lucky Dunham, Steve Dobbins, and Ruben Strickland.

Letterman Mert Cooper, a 154-pound junior, is the first line fullback with gobs of help coming from Tavis Shipp, Keith Yager, Jack Collum and Terry Haralson.

Besides Scott, regular and occasional starters last fall were Brown, Glover, Matlock, Watkins and Clements.

All told, 11 lettermen from the 1957 club that mustered only two wins in ten games, are working in the Harvester camp.

Depth at the wing positions comes from Charles Warren, Kent Mitchell, Larry Ingram, Bennie Stout, Johnny Spotts and Jerry Hayes.

Reserve punch at tackle is being furnished by Larry Heiskell, Benny Stout, Tim Huffaker, Dale Veale, Johnny Gross, Larry Stokes and Lynn McGee.

At guard running behind Matlock and Clements are a pair of youngsters who are probable starters with the defensive unit, Harold Stokes and Richard Newberry. Other guard candidates are Charles Giese, Don North, Rowland Stone and Jackie Brothlow.

Lending a hand at the pivot post behind Watkins are Dwayne Dunham, Dickie Elkins and Duke Garren.

The Harvesters will continue twice daily workouts until next Saturday when they'll taper off what probably will amount to their hardest week of drilling all season with an intra-squad game-type scrimmage.

BIG JOB FOR BIG MEN—These three men have the difficult task of turning a green group of young footballers at Pampa High into a winning football machine. The Harvesters of 1958, with two days of workouts under their trimmed-down waist-lines hope to improve on a shabby 2-8 record hung up by last fall's Green and Gold eleven. Kneeling with the football is head coach, Babe Curfman, while looking on are back coach Eural Ramsey, center, and line coach Duain Lyon. (Daily News Sports Photo)

THIRD SELLOUT FOR N.D.
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Notre Dame has announced a ticket sellout for the Notre Dame third game that has been sold out in advance Oct. 25. It is for the 1958 season. Previously announced were the Army game Oct. 11 and the Duke game Oct. 18.

Tommy Phelps, who had to whip a fellow referee in posting his initial ring decision here this summer last Monday night, may be in for a tougher time in the 8:30 p.m. opener Monday night. Phelps draws the assignment of trying to keep up with rugged Doug Donovan.

Funk, a ferocious competitor, is pitted against Hard Boiled Haggerty and the latter reportedly knows just about every trick in the book, and several that aren't there too.

Two old nemesis, Tokyo Joe and Iron Mike DeBaise will come to blows in the semi-final event. Both the final match and the semi-final affair are slated for two-of-three falls with an hour time limit on the feature attraction and a 45-minute limit on the semi-final battle.

Braves Slam Bucs, 9-1 For Fat 7 1/2 Game NL Cushion

Braves 9, Bucs 1

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves, led by Lew Burdette's pitching and hitting, scored a 9-1 victory over Pittsburgh Saturday to increase their National League lead to 7 1/2 games over the second place Pirates.

Burdette drove in four runs with a double and a triple in Milwaukee's nine-hit attack which also included home runs by Eddie Mathews and Frank Torre. Burdette, who won three games in the 1957 World Series, grabbed his fifth straight victory and ran his season record to 15-9. He has won nine of 11 decisions since the All-Star game.

The Braves broke the game wide open with six runs in the third inning to take an 8-0 lead. Pittsburgh rookie Curt Raydon, who suffered his fourth loss against seven wins, was relieved by Bob Smith after yielding a run base in the 10th inning to give the Chicago Cubs a 3-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday night.

Tigers 6, Chisox 3

CHICAGO (UPI)—Frank Bolling drove in four runs with a bases-filled double and a single on Saturday to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 6-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

The win went to Frank Lary, who scattered 10 hits but was in serious trouble only twice. Lary, who entered the game batting .104, helped his cause with a number run and two singles.

The loss was charged to Sox starter Ray Moore, the first of five pitchers, who lasted only through the third.

Detroit opened with three runs in the first when, with two out,

Moore walked Al Kalline, Gail Harris and Charlie Maxwell. Bolling then cleared the base with a double. Lary added another run when he homered in the second.

Sens 3, Yanks 1

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The last-place Washington Senators made it two in a row over the league-leading Yankees Saturday when Vito Valentinetti and Dick Hyde combined to beat New York, 3-1, on six hits.

The loss was the Yankees' fifth in the last seven games.

A crowd of 10,388, a big attendance for a Saturday afternoon in Washington, saw Valentinetti limit the Yanks to one run in the seven innings he pitched. Then Dick Hyde, fast becoming the majors ace reliever, took over in the eighth and retired the last six men he faced.

Reds 12, Phils 3

CINCINNATI (UPI)—The Cincinnati Reds pushed across five runs in the sixth inning and six more in the seventh to crush the Philadelphia Phillies, 12-3 Saturday with a 16-hit assault.

Walt Dropo and Pete Whisenant had home runs in the Redleg attack, and Whisenant, Jerry Lynch and Frank Robinson drove in three runs apiece.

The Phils' Seth Morehead had a 3-1 lead in the sixth when a walk and two singles loaded the bases and finished him. Dick Farrell relieved Morehead to walk John Temple and force in a run, then gave up two run singles to Lynch and Robinson.

Whisenant and Dropo unloaded their homers off John Anderson in the six-run seventh.

SOPHOMORISH SEASON!

460 SWC Gridders Report For Training Tomorrow

United Press International
More than 460 aspiring football candidates will report to seven Southwest Conference football coaches shortly after daybreak Monday to officially launch a new gridiron season that will be highlighted by the predominance of sophomores and juniors at nearly every turn.

The outpouring of candidates will range from 55 at Baylor to 79 at Arkansas, while the number of lettermen range from 13 each at Texas and Arkansas to 21 at Southern Methodist.

Texas Christian, generally picked as the team to beat for a crown won by Rice last year, will have 12 lettermen among the 89 players due to answer Coach Abe Martin's Labor Day call.

Most observers figure TCU, SMU and Texas as the top three potential outfits with very little to choose between them.

Heavy Drills Loom

Texas will have 66 candidates and 13 lettermen, SMU 64 and 21, Rice 60 and 19, Texas A&M 70 and Army on the date normally occupied by the Rice-Arkansas game.

Off-season injuries and ailments, 16, Arkansas 79 and 13 and Baylor 55 and 14.

Two-a-day workouts will be the order of the day in all seven camps until the opening of school. Six of the teams will have roughly three weeks to get ready for the Sept. 20 openers, but SMU will take a week longer since the Mustangs do not open until Sept. 27 at Columbus, Ohio, against the defending national champion Ohio State Buckeyes.

Texas A&M opens against Texas Tech at neutral Dallas, Rice against Louisiana State at Houston, TCU against Kansas at Lawrence, Kan., and Texas against Georgia at Austin.

An oddity of this year's schedule will find Baylor and Arkansas opening against each other in a conference clash at Little Rock. The change was by mutual agreement so that Rice could meet coupled with some carry-over a knee operation.

There will be two new head coaches who were not around at the close of the 1957 campaign.

Frank Broyles moved to Arkansas from Missouri when Jack Mitchell left to go to Kansas; and Jim Myers was brought in from Iowa State when Bear Bryant took Texas A&M in favor of his alma mater, Alabama.

Five Returning Coaches
Returning coaches include Martin at TCU, Bill Meek at SMU, Jess Neely at Rice, Sam Boyd at Baylor and Darrell Royal at Texas.

Every squad lost heavily by graduation from predominant senior squads a year ago and sophomores and juniors will hold the key to success or failure on practically every squad. Too, new systems will be in vogue at Arkansas where Broyles installed the winged-T, at Texas A&M where Myers returns the old single wing and at Baylor where Boyd is adding the wing-T to his multiple-T.

The conference schedule is loaded with top-grade intersectional fare with SMU playing Ohio State, Notre Dame and Missouri on successive week ends and Georgia Tech in the fifth game; Rice has LSU and Army plus Stanford and Purdue; TCU plays Kansas, Iowa, Texas Tech and Marquette; the Aggies face Tech, Houston, Missouri and Maryland; Baylor tackles Hardin-Simmons, Miami, Duke and Tech; Arkansas meets Tulsa, Ole Miss, Hardin-Simmons and Tech, and Texas plays Georgia, Tulane, and Tech in addition to traditional rival Oklahoma.

Henry said, "We met and discussed the possibility of a new conference, and also scheduling problems and other matters. They agreed to meet here again in the near future, probably in a few weeks."

All of the schools represented are "independents," except Western Kentucky, which belongs to the Ohio Valley Conference, and St. Louis, which has a somewhat tenuous connection with the Missouri Valley Conference.

There'll Be Some Changes Made, Maybe!

LOUISVILLE (UPI)—Basketball coaches and athletic officials of eight major Midwest and upper South basketball powers met Saturday to discuss organization of what would be a powerful new college basketball conference.

Attending the meeting were representatives of Marquette, Xavier of Ohio, Memphis State, Western Kentucky State College, and the universities of Dayton, Detroit, Louisville and St. Louis.

The meeting was called by Bill Henry, sports director of the Kentucky State Fair and Exposition Center, locale of the NCAA basketball finals last March and designated for the finals again in 1959.

Henry said, "We met and discussed the possibility of a new conference, and also scheduling problems and other matters. They agreed to meet here again in the near future, probably in a few weeks."

All of the schools represented are "independents," except Western Kentucky, which belongs to the Ohio Valley Conference, and St. Louis, which has a somewhat tenuous connection with the Missouri Valley Conference.

Modern Art, Antiques Occupy Pampan's Time

By WALLACE TRUEDELLE
Pampa News Staff Writer

Modern art and antiques are the passions of Erian D. Eller, past Pampan. The two may seem to have little in common but with Eller they do.

By now, Eller is on his way back to Europe, which for him is only so far from 416 N. Front where his mother, Mrs. Mary F. Eller, keeps the bulk of his paintings and art treasures in trust.

Eller is of that rare breed of individual who feels at home on the boulevards of Paris and among the paintings of the Louvre. This trip will take him to France and Italy and will undoubtedly result in a doctorate degree back in the States.

TWENTIETH CENTURY ARTIST

About to leave Pampa for Europe, artist Erian D. Eller puts himself in the attitude of a modern thinker. The tipsy angel behind him is one of the antiques that Eller collected while teaching school in Europe. To his right is a very blue and very abstract painting he did.

Institute of Art, Beverly Hills, Calif.; Eastern Washington State League, Salt Lake City, Utah; Art Center, Grants Pass, Ore.; Spokane Art Center, Los Angeles County Art Association; Junior League, Salt Lake City, Utah; Art Center, Phoenix, Ariz. and University of California.

Also his paintings travelled with the National Student Exhibition in 1950 and with the Travelling Exhibition of the UCLA faculty, on which he was a teaching assistant while studying for his MA.

With all this, Eller would seem to have little time for reflection or for collecting things of the past. "Abstract expressionist art is a reflection of the Twentieth Century," he says. As Eller tells it, the school of abstract expressionism, the so-called modern art, runs through the whole history of art, beginning in 1830 with Goya and progressing up through Cezanne and Picasso to the New York school of abstract expressionist painting.

He goes on to say that the modern artist is intrigued by the two dimensional aspects of Persian, Egyptian and primitive art. Although he sees a historic knowledge of art as essential to the understanding of our contemporary culture, he is content to consider Renaissance art from the standpoint of the naturalistic detail of a Renaissance painting is far from the Twentieth Century reality sought.

To form a lasting culture, he believes, the United States must encourage the study of art, science and other forms of knowledge in the schools.

"The immediate is the most easily understood of all," he says in reference to any painting which can be taken in at a glance. In his painting, he follows Picasso's line of reasoning—"Who can understand the song of a bird?" Elaborating on this, Eller observes that no one is going to debunk a jet engine, because he is ignorant of its principle, and no one will discount a scientific theory, simply because he cannot follow its intricacies.

Although Eller's compositions can be said to represent the complexities of Twentieth Century life, he is surrounded by chests, statues and other art objects of past centuries. And with these, he seems to achieve the balance of which he speaks.

'Miss Texas' Having Struggle With Purse

By CHARLES E. WEBB
United Press International
ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI)—Beauty and personality are the chief requirements for the Miss America contest—but Miss Mary Nell Hendricks, Miss Texas of 1958, has been struggling to meet a third requisite.

The 22-year-old brunette, a schoolteacher for four years in one of the richest states in the Union, wishes the cost of competing wasn't so high.

She already has spent some $1,000 out of her own pocket.

Miss Hendricks, who has blue eyes and attractively placed freckles, declined to comment today on reports that she had to borrow from her teacher's credit union to compete in the contest to choose America's most beautiful girl.

But her business manager confirmed it for her.

"Apparently Texas doesn't care whether Miss Texas goes to Atlantic City as Miss Texas should," Dan Fugitt said. "It seems a shame that a schoolteacher should have to foot the bill on a project of such magnitude."

Miss Hendricks, who is 36-25-36 in the vital statistics department, will receive airline tickets for herself and her mother, Mrs. Irma Hendricks, and their hotel bill will be paid by the Atlantic City contest funds.

Several expenses incurred—But the five-foot, five-and-a-half beauty has to pay for several formals and accessories out of her own pocket.

"And that means three or four changes a day for the six-day activities," Fugitt said.

A little embarrassed, Miss Hendricks said today she felt quite independent about the whole thing, but Fugitt exclusively told United Press International about the girl's plight.

He said he wrote several Texas millionaires in an effort to have some of her expenses underwritten. He called off an impressive list.

"But none of them ever bothered to answer," Fugitt said.

"Then, I tried to get some of the department stores interested."

"One store told me they would wipe out her $81 clothing bill," he said, "and another gave her $50 for a personal appearance."

"Last night, we gave a banquet to try to raise personal funds. It was a real nice banquet. We just didn't sell the number of tickets we expected to."

Then Fugitt, a Chance-Vought aircraft employe, told this reporter of other things which irked him.

Textile prices are moving up after a long period in the doldrums caused by over production and slow business. Cannon Mills advanced prices as much as 2 1/2 per cent on most of its sheets and pillowcases. Other producers are expected to follow.

The Federal Reserve Board took steps to tighten bank reserves this week. Free reserves of the nation's banks fell to 111 million dollars.

Questionable Prizes
First, it was a $1,000 scholarship that she won instead of a 4,000 scholarship which was originally quoted. And, that scholarship can be cashed at only 20 per cent of its scholastic value. However, Miss Texas plans to use it to gain her master's degree.

Then, there was the matter of a $500 wardrobe. That turned out to be 7300 in cash and a $200 formal which can't be used in competition because it couldn't be cleaned properly.

Miss Texas of 1958 says she can't remember her father. Her mother also teaches school.

Attending were Messrs. A. and Mrs. David Robinson and Ocie Knox Nichols, Elaine and Jerry; Alvin Cates, Marlene and Douglas; H. L. Teel, Connie and Lonnie; Mmes. Mary Atchley, Angeline and Lanny; Buster Sublett, Troy, John, and Jerry; Messrs. D. Brock and Sharon; Spencer Preley.

The following were unattended by their parents: Frances Clarke, Marcia McDonald, Sherrill Cable, Joyce, Butch and Keith Jernigan, Dickie Sims, Sherry Rosson, Rennie Berry, Ray Carter, Bill Nichols, Bobby Call, Clyde Trusty, Dennis Dunn, Glen Hix, Jimmy Hill, Larry Pruet, Joy Cooke, Herby Butrum, Gretchen Hafley.

But her business manager confirmed it for her.

PERRYTON—Bob Loving, highway patrolman in the Perryton District for two years, has been transferred to the Amarillo District office and will leave Wednesday to assume his new duties.

Loving has served this area for eight years, having been transferred here in Nov. 1948 and staying until Apr. 1954, and then returning in May, 1954. He was assigned to the Dalhart district from 1954 to 1956.

Standard Oil Co. of California plans to go ahead with its public sale of 150 million dollar 25-year sinking fund debentures next Friday. The offering was postponed in late June because of company dissatisfaction with the cost of long-term money prevailing at the time. The sale will be watched as a key test for the bond market.

F.W. Dodge Corp. reported construction contracts in July rose 24 per cent over July, 1957, to $3,607,066,000, bringing awards for the first seven months to a level 3 per cent ahead of 1957. Sparking the July gain were $973,570,000 in heavy construction contracts—49 per cent above July, 1957.

Harlow H. Curlice, retiring president of General Motors Corp., said the top management shift will not affect contract talks with the United Auto Workers Union. He said both Frederic G. Donner, incoming chairman, and John F. Gordon, new president, "have followed negotiations from day to day."

New car sales in the second 10 days of August fell to a 12,100-car daily pace—10 per cent below the first 10 days and 32 per cent below a year ago. The drop stemmed from a limited selection of new cars because of the earlier-than-usual changeovers to 1959 models, economists said.

The Saturday Evening Post announced it will accept liquor advertising for the first time in its 230 years. The change leaves the Readers Digest alone among major national magazines not accepting liquor ads. The Post said its decision reflects a change in the times.

Russia, Red China Up Anti-Tito Drive

By K. C. THALER
United Press International
LONDON (UPI)—Soviet Russia and Red China have stepped up their anti-Tito campaign in new concerted moves to assail Yugoslav revisionism from within and without.

Yugoslav reports said that Moscow has refused to supply wheat due under a long-standing agreement, despite the bumper harvest Russia is expecting this year.

Red China in turn was reported to have cancelled contracts for Yugoslav tobacco, an important export item in Belgrade's precarious trade balance.

Moreover, Peiping has carried the anti-Tito campaign into the very heart of Yugoslavia and, despite strong protests from the Belgrade government, has declined to halt its propaganda war inside Yugoslavia.

The signs were that once again Red China was forcing the pace in the campaign against Belgrade with Russia following suit.

Chinese-Soviet Friendship Society has been widely distributed recently throughout the country.

Belgrade Protests
Protests of the Belgrade government in Peiping have apparently had no effect; this was held to reflect Peiping's determination to carry its campaign against revisionism to the extreme.

The pamphlets also contain reports from attacks on Tito in the official Soviet press. This was seen as a calculated attempt of the Peiping regime to drag Russia into the quarrel more deeply and to commit her irrevocably.

Once again Peiping thus appeared to be forcing the pace in the war against revisionism.

The reports also said that Red China has cancelled contracts for Yugoslav tobacco, which would hurt the country's economy that has been channelling much of its exports to Communist camp nations.

The Russians, in turn were said to be refusing to supply some 200,000 tons of wheat which they undertook to deliver annually to the Yugoslavs under a long standing agreement.

Several fresh developments have marked a new phase in the campaign which was foreshadowed by the official communique issued at the end of the Sino-Russian secret talks in Peiping some three weeks ago.

In outright violation of diplomatic privilege, the Red Chinese embassy in Belgrade has recently been circulating pamphlets in the Russian language inside Yugoslavia which assailed Marshal Tito for his independent socialist line.

Yugoslavia is being bluntly attacked in these pamphlets for its alleged "treason" to the Communist cause, and Tito for having allegedly "sold" the country for American dollars.

The publication, named Druzhba, and printed in Peiping by the Chinese-Soviet Friendship Society has been widely distributed recently throughout the country.

Peg O' Pampa

THIS WAS A SAD WEEK for all concerned . . . and for all Pampans for whom "Jerry the Horse" had become a sort of institution . . . a source of interest . . . a familiar sight in his grassy yard facing the 1400-block of Hamilton . . . for Jerry died a week ago today . . . and his loss is felt by all the children who loved him . . . as well as the rest of us in Pampa . . . we extend our sympathy to Mrs. Nell Kelley . . . we'll miss him, too . . . wouldn't a sort of memorial be nice there?

IT'S A SMALL WORLD DEPARTMENT . . . we heard with some amusement this week of the trip to Kansas and to Denver made by the George Hofsess family . . . if they are trying to get away from Pampa, they didn't succeed very well . . . for they encountered Leone and Loyal Dadies in Denver . . . they passed Ted Gikas and friends on the highway . . . and saw the Jim Dailey family there, . . . it really is a small world . . . everywhere you go you are likely to run into someone you know . . . especially the way Pampans seem to get around . . . if anyone is going Yellowstone way they are likely to meet Curt and Will Beck, who are vacationing amongst the bears . . . the Ray Cales are vacationing in Minnesota . . . a beautiful state, we hear . . . travel . . . travel . . . unfortunately, with the commencement of school next week, some of this has to come to a screeching halt . . . if the children are to get to school that is . . . although a little travel is the best way to get knowledge of geography!

TAKE A BREATH, get another cup of coffee . . . and we'll go on with this . . . saw Dr. Bellamy riding around in his new, and very handsome, Plymouth stationwagon . . . maybe he has it to ride his three grandchildren around in . . . once in a while . . . don't you think so? . . . we certainly enjoyed the look around the new Junior High School . . . Jack Nichols must be very proud of "his" new building . . . we would be in his place . . . this is getting to be the time of year for setting out trees and shrubs . . . we are going to keep our eye peeled for people who are working thusly in their yards . . . maybe we can report on it during the coming months . . . we think Dick Hughes did a very nice thing when he sponsored the North Crest League in bowling . . . bless his heart . . . along with other comments we'll say we are very pleased about the Knife and Fork Club Dinner engagements for the coming year . . . those of you who are avid readers of Science Fiction will not miss the talk by Willy Ley, who writes many Science-Fiction stories for the magazines . . . know Clotilde Thompson, who is the secretary will be very busy soon . . . getting out the first announcement letters to members of the club . . . a secretary's work is demanding, sometimes . . . and lookee how the price for postage has changed . . . ah, busy, busy, Fall season.

LET'S have another two dashes and a star, just for fun, and to break the monotony . . . gadabouts Matt and Ivey Duncan returned from Europe, unfortunately they had to miss some of the northern points on their tour, because of ill health . . . they missed London but got to Rome, and the Brussels Fair, and the southern European points on their itinerary . . . Fanny Fern and Clinton Henry are back in town from an invigorating trip to the North West . . . and both are ready to plunge into fall activities . . . they had a grand time . . . we expect . . . Art and Barbara Dobbin, and the children are back in town . . . they went quickly to Europe . . . leaving the children, Priscilla and Steve in Maine with relatives . . . they went to England, France . . . and Germany, at least . . . and they saw Ed and Margie Eaton, former Pampans who are in Europe with Cabot . . . everyone except yours truly seems to get around . . . and while we are on the subject, we'd like to say that we think Barbara Dobbin is one of the most attractive women we know . . . bridge friends . . . and all her many friends are missing Margaret Rainourd who has left to take up a new life in Houston . . . everybody is thrilled over her marriage, and very happy for her . . . we'll miss her wonderful gift for story-telling, too . . . she can tell the most marvelous tales of the early days when Pampa was pioneered . . . we found out that Sara and Ken Meaders and their children were visiting here last week . . . they enjoyed seeing Theresa McKinney's new home . . . the Meaders used to live here in Pampa, you know . . . golly, it is getting hard to keep up with the coming and going of the population here . . . a sign of the times, we suspect . . . not many communities can have the same people living there for years and years, without change . . . there seems to be a constant "turnover" of people moving in and out . . . used to be that once you got to know everybody, you knew them from then on . . . without having to say goodbye to them . . . and what few new comers there were were soon absorbed into the town, and they in their own turn stayed out their lives in one place . . . here we are waxing philosophical again . . . our apologies . . . mabe we need another star and dashes!

THE RECEPTION AND AUTOGRAPH party held for Wanda Campbell last Thursday turned out to be sort of a farewell party as well . . . as you probably all know by now . . . Johnny is going to the University of Texas to get a Law degree . . . taking the family, of course, which means we'll be losing the Campbells for a few years . . . we're not sure how long this degree will take . . . we wish them the best of luck . . . hope they return to Pampa when Johnny is through . . . Wanda has been a source of encouragement to other Pampa writers, we suspect . . . and she will be missed by everyone . . . guess the men's golf tournament is going strong . . . with the women to help . . . what would the men ever do without us slaves? . . . Pat Jones is off to Rice Institute at Houston . . . or will be within a few days . . . along with lots of other High School graduates who are leaving . . . not necessarily for Rice, but other "institutions of higher learning" . . . or degree-factories, as they are sometimes referred to . . . heard that Beverly Brandt Ross was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brandt . . . no doubt daughter Gina and husband Dwain, also visiting . . . they are back in California by now, we guess . . . Ed and Kay Harris welcomed a new daughter and named her Kimbra Renee . . . which we think is a very, very charming name . . . it's good to have the parents choose such a different and interesting one . . . Kimbra has a sister, too . . . Debbie . . . and there is a new baby boy at the L. J. Oberle's home, too . . . some new little first graders who will be starting school Tuesday are Ebie Beth Bowman . . . Brian Duncan . . . Johnny Palmittier . . . and Rebecca Montgomery . . . and Nancy Bruce will be starting Kindergarten . . . new experiences for the youngsters . . . did you see the gorgeous scenery in the movie that was here last week, THE BRAVADOS . . . beautiful . . . we'd like to visit that kind of scenery . . . so with this comment, guess we will close another week's column . . . until next Sunday . . . when Fall will really seem close . . . Love, Peg

Miss Peggy O'Neal, Gordon R. Stevens Pledge Nuptial Vows In Bronze Setting

With wedding vows exchanged last night at 7:30 o'clock in the White Deer First Methodist Church, Miss Peggy O'Neal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conner O'Neal, White Deer, became the bride of Gordon Ralph Stevens, son of Mrs. Jesse Stevens, Skellytown, and the late Mr. Stevens. The wedding party walked down the bridal aisle marked with bronze mums leading to the altar centered with a large arrangement of bronze mums and decorated with a hedge of huckleberry marked with bittersweet candles. The background was flanked with jade palms and spiral candelabra holding bittersweet candles. Reverend Marvin Menefee performed the double-ring service. Mrs. May Foreman Carr played pre-nuptial selections and the traditional wedding marches on the organ. Miss Christine McFarlin, Dumas, sang "Whither Thou Goest" (Singer) and "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte.

BRIDE
The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of white organdy, styled with an Empire waistline and princess lines flowing into a chapel sweep. The bodice of Chantilly lace accented with iridescent sequins was fashioned with a Sabrina neckline and long, tapered sleeves. Her fingertip-veil of imported Illusion fell from a Chantilly lace half-hat accented with iridescent sequins. She carried an arrangement of white roses showered with white satin streamers with rosebuds tied in Lover's Knots atop a white Bible, a gift of the bridegroom.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Joyce Ballard, White Deer, in a light blue sheer dacron dress with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt encircled with a cummerbund, served as maid of honor. Miss Joan Ann Stratton, Skellytown, and Miss Carlie Monroe of Silverton were bridesmaids, wearing dresses of orange sherbet sheer dacron styled identically to the maid-of-honor's dress. They carried bouquets of bronze mums. Miss Rhonda Fay Brooks and Miss Jimmie Lou Cunningham, nieces of the bridegroom, were flower girls, wearing light blue sheer, dacron dresses. Jerry Stevens, bridegroom's brother, lighted the altar candles. Jerry Mills, Skellytown, was best man for the bridegroom. Glenn Jones, Dallas, Rocky and Ronny Coffee, White Deer, bride's cousins, were groomsmen. Brantley Laycock, Rocky and Ronny Coffee, all of White Deer, seated the wedding guests. Mrs. Herb Meyer, Denver, Colo. and Mrs. Frank Walters, Fort Wayne, Ind., bride's sisters, registered the wedding guests.

RECEPTION
A reception was given in the home of the bride, immediately following the exchange of vows. Miss Gay Lynn Callaway, Silverton, presided at the punch service. Mrs. Jerry O'Neal, White Deer, sister-in-law of the bride and Mrs.

Billie Conway, Denver, Colo., sister of the bride, alternated at the cake service. For a wedding trip to Carlsbad Caverns, the bride traveled in a brown chemise with brown accessories and wore the corsage from the center of her bouquet. Mrs. Stevens was graduated from White Deer High School and is attending West Texas State College, where she is majoring in music education. The bridegroom was graduated from White Deer High School; attended Frank Phillips Junior College, Borger. He is majoring in physical education and plans to further his studies at West Texas State College. After September 3, the couple will be at home in Canyon.

Double-Ring Service Unites With Vows By Sandra Jean Hartman, Ben Sturgeon

A double-ring service united in marriage Miss Sandra Jean Hartman and Benjamin Lee Sturgeon at eight o'clock last night in the Amarillo First Presbyterian Church. Reverend Richard Crews, Pampa First Christian Church, officiated before an altar centered with a white satin kneeling bench placed under a flower-decorated arch interspersed with smilax. The side arrangements of white gladioli, pom poms and mums were flanked by arched candelabra holding cathedral tapers and by wedding posts draped with white silk ropes. Palms banked the entire background and guest pews were decorated with flowers and satin ribbons.

Miss Hartman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hartman, 2017 Fannin, Amarillo. Mr. Sturgeon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Sturgeon, 1331 N. Russell. Mrs. John Greenwalt, Bryan, sang "Through The Years," "One Alone," and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied on the organ by Louis Muckelroy.

BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white, pure silk taffeta fashioned with an Empire waistline. The bodice of imported lace featured a scooped neckline edged with tiny flowers, seed pearls, and scattered butterfly sequins with short sleeves trimmed with tiny flowers. The bouffant, floor-length skirt of silk taffeta swept into a chapel train. The bride wore a bonnet of imported lace trimmed with matching sequins and seed pearls. She carried a satin and lace covered Bible topped with a white orchid surrounded by stephanotis and fleur-d'amour showered with satin streamers tied with clusters of stephanotis.

ATTENDANTS
Mrs. Linville Fouts, Lubbock, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Catherine Davis, Borger; Miss Mary Sturgeon, bridegroom's sister, Pampa; Miss Glenda Temple, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Miss Nina Reynolds, Amarillo. Flower girls were Misses Linda and Judy Hollingsworth, Amarillo, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hollingsworth. The attendants wore identically-styled dresses of gold crystal Pearl with full princess skirts finished with a full circlet neckline with flowing panels topped with a bow

Mrs. Benjamin Lee Sturgeon

in back. Circular nose-tip veils of gold net were attached to hats of gold net and velvet fashioned with a ruffled band of gold net. They carried crescent bouquets of two-toned gold and champagne chrysanthemums tied with tulle and gold bows. The flower girls carried gold baskets trimmed with gold and tulle and meinel and pom poms. Don Haslam, Pampa served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Bill Culpepper, Gary Gafford, Bill Flournoy, all of Fort Worth, and Marion Stone, Pampa. Ushers were John Ivy, Pecos; Lynn Wade, Houston; Joe Donahoe, Bryan; Jim Davis, Fort Worth; Gary Griffin, George Depee, Alton Flynn, all of Pampa. The bride's mother, Mrs. Hartman, chose a Dior Blue lace complemented with matching blue accessories and a white cynoid-

Johnnie Lee Smith Becomes Bride Of Gary N. Griffin

Dr. E. Douglas Carver performed the double-ring service that united in marriage Miss Johnnie Lee Smith and Gary Norman Griffin on August 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church. Miss Smith is the daughter of Mrs. Gene Smith, 333 N. Nelson, and the late Mr. Smith. Mr. Griffin's parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Griffin, 433 N. Hazel.

The vows were repeated before a background of yellow and white gladioli, palms and candelabra. BRIDE
Given in marriage by her uncle, Jack Smith, Las Vegas, Nev., the bride was gowned in imported lace fashioned with an Italian neckline edged with pearls and cap sleeves accenting the figurine bodice enjoined to a full skirt of unpressed pleats. The gown was designed and made by the bride, taken from a Paris original. The elbow-length Veil of imported Illusion net was secured to a Queen's Crown of rhinestones. She carried four orchids arranged with stephanotis and satin streamers atop a white Bible. ATTENDANTS
Mrs. Richard Morgan, wearing yellow chiffon fashioned as the bride's gown, served as matron of honor and carried a bouquet of pale yellow gladioli. Miss Nita Jo Massengale attended as bridesmaid, gowned as the matron of honor and carried a bouquet of yellow gladioli. A. Z. Griffin Jr. served his brother as best man. Groomsman was E. Jay McIlvain. Ushers were Bill Culpepper, Melvin Romine and Eddie Polnac. Steven Ray Morgan was ring-bearer. Miss Dianne Heiskell served as flower girl. Misses Jackie Gayle and Wanda Jean Smith lighted the altar candles. Mrs. Morris Wilson, at the organ, provided the traditional wedding marches and was accompanied for Joe Whitten as he sang, "Because" and "Wither Thou Goest."

Mrs. Trotter Leads Junior High Meet

Pampa Junior High PTA held its first meeting on Thursday morning in the Teacher's Lounge with Mrs. J. H. Trotter, president, presiding. Cameron Marsh, school principal, extended a welcome to all members present.

The resignation of Mrs. Elmer Darnell, as vice president, was accepted with regret. Mrs. R. A. Mack will act in the capacity as vice president for the present. Following discussion, it was decided that future Junior High PTA meetings will change from all evening meetings to four meetings in the afternoon and three meetings in the evenings. September, January, and April will be evening meetings at 7 p.m.; October, February, March and May will be afternoon meetings to be held at 2:15 p.m. The executive committee voted to have their meetings at 9 a.m. on the day of the regular meeting; all meetings to be on the third Thursday of the month.

The suggested program for the year given by Mrs. Elmer Darnell was as follows: Theme, "Education Is Life In The Making"; Sept. 18, Open House for all parents; Oct. 18, Keeping Faith with the Younger Generation with Jon Jones as guest speaker; Nov. 20, American Education (Dad's Night) with Homer Craig as guest speaker; January, PTA Joint Meeting in Robert E. Lee; Feb. 19, Education Inclusive or Exclusive; Mar. 19, Educating the Citizenship; April 16, Our Leisure Time, Constructive or Destructive; May, Education Is Life in the Making. Attending the board meeting were Mrs. Elmer Darnell, Arthur Clark, Don Owens, Alvin MacIntyre, J. L. Hampton, W. E. Reger, A. D. Selman, J. H. Trotter, R. A. Mack, Jim Connor, and Cameron Marsh.

Local Schools To Be Meeting Places

City Council of Faren's and Teachers Association held the first executive board meeting in the Fellowship Hall of the First Christian Church on Friday morning at 9 a.m. with Mrs. R. A. Mack, president, presiding and giving the opening prayer. The board approved dates and location of the monthly meeting for the school year, 1958-59. It was decided that meetings will be held at 9:30 a.m. the first Tuesday of each month, except in September, when the meeting will be the second Tuesday and in January, the joint PTA meeting, will be set later.

The board will meet in the following schools, Woodrow Wilson in September; Lamar in October; Sam Houston in November; Baker in December; Robert E. Lee Junior High in January; Stephen F. Austin in February; Horace Mann in March; Lovett Memorial Library in April; Pampa Junior High in May. A tentative budget was discussed for each unit president to present to her executive board. Plans were made for paying bills accumulated during the month. Invitations were extended by the president to attend the School of Instruction for officers. A chairman, which was held Tuesday morning in the Pampa Hotel, and to the "Back To School Coffee" which was held Monday morning in the Fellowship Hall of the First Christian Church.

Miss Susie Tucker Says Vows With John Marckmann Beall

Mrs. John Marckmann Beall

Miss Anna Mary (Susie) Tucker and John Marckmann Beall repeated wedding vows on August 23 at eight o'clock in Christ Episcopal Church in Nacogdoches.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Blount Tucker, 1401 Mound and the bridegroom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. James Franklin Beall, 2709 Raguet. The Rev. H. Raymond Kearby, rector of Christ Church, read the double-ring ceremony before an altar bearing four vases of bridal white flowers, asters and clematis. Southern smilax entwined the two seven-branched candelabra in which candles burned.

Mrs. Joseph Miller, organist, played the traditional music. Candles were lighted by Thomas Baker and Fred Wyatt Tucker, Jr.

Mrs. Tucker chose for her daughter's wedding a blue chiffon gown with matching shoes and hat, which she wore with long white gloves and a wrist corsage of white carnations.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Beall, wore turquoise chiffon with matching hat, brocade shoes and bag, long white gloves and a wrist corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held on the lawn of the home of the bride's parents. Hurricane lamps lined the curved drive and potted pink caladiums in profusion were used along the front of the house. The receiving line was formed on the south patio of the house, where mass arrangements of white flowers carried the bridal theme over the lawn. Between the bride's and bridegroom's table was a small pool filled in with salvia, palms and periwinkle white to the right of this, a standing bird bath served as a container for another mass arrangement of white flowers.

Flower arrangements at focal points were used throughout the home, and guests were invited in through the sun porch to view the displayed wedding gifts.

When the couple left on their wedding trip, the bride was wearing a Dior blue costume suit with navy shoes, and purse, pale blue short gloves and a matching hat trimmed with green, blue and cerise feathers.

On their return, they will be at home in Bryan.

The bride was graduated from Nacogdoches High School. She received her BS degree in home economics from the University of Texas, where she was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha. For the past year she has been assistant county home demonstration agent in Pampa.

Mr. Beall was also graduated from Nacogdoches High School. He attended the University of the South in Sewanee, Tenn., where he has completed his preparatory studies and plans to enter the School of Veterinary Medicine at Texas A&M in September.

Nuptial Vows Solemnized For Noel-Borg In Seventh Day Adventist Church Rites

Miss Jessie Lee Noel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Noel, south of the city, and Junior O. Borg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Borg, Grand Rapids, Mich., were united in marriage with vows repeated on August 17 at four o'clock in the Seventh Day Adventist Church with Elder M. D. Howard performing the ceremony. White mums decorated the wedding scene.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in floor-length Chantilly lace over white taffeta fashioned with a mandarin collar and long tapering sleeves which came to bridal points over the hands. Her finger-tip Veil of Illusion was secured to a tiara of ruffled tulle backed by orchid satin bows. She carried an orchid showered with stephanotis and orchid satin streamers.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Jeanne Arnold, school friend of the bride, served as maid of honor wearing an orchid organza ballerina-length dress, embroidered around the hemline, and a white tulle bandeau. She carried a colonial bouquet arranged with white carnations tied with orchid ribbon. Bridesmaid, Miss Bonnie Borg, bridegroom's sister, and Misses Glenda Meadows and Shirley Meadows, junior bridesmaids and cousins of the bride, were dressed in white organza fashioned as the maid of honor's. They carried identical colonial bouquets of white carnations.

Clifford Borg served his brother as best man. Richard Barrett seated the wedding guests.

Miss Debbie Noel, bride's cousin, served as flower girl wearing a white organza frock and carried a white basket tied with an orchid bow containing white petals. Donnie Grant, nephew of the bride, was Bible boy.

Mrs. Irvin Cole, aunt of the bride, played the traditional wedding marches and was accompanist for Donald Grant, brother-in-law of the bride, as he sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride's mother, Mrs. Noel, chose a light blue-embroidered linen dress with navy accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Borg, chose green linen. The bride's corsages were white carnations.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Cole, 1106 Charles, immediately following the ceremony. The serving table was covered with a hand-crocheted cloth made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. G. Noel, which has been used in most of the family weddings. The white, two-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride couple was encircled around the base with the bride's maid of honor, Napkins inscribed "We're Mr. and Mrs. Now", silver and crystal completed the table appointments. Mrs. Eugene Noel presided at the mint punch service. Mrs. Glen Lane served cake. Miss Linda Woodall was guest registrar. They were assisted by Mrs. Earl Davis, Mrs. Cole and Miss Gail Cole.

For a honeymoon trip to New Mexico, the bride traveled in a navy blue suit complemented with white accessories and she wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet. The bride was graduated from the Church Academy, Albuquerque, N. M.; attended Southwest Junior College in Keene and Union College in Lincoln, Neb. For the past two years, she has taught Church School in El Paso.

The bridegroom was graduated from the Seventh Day Adventist Academy in Minnesota, and for the past two years has been with the medical corps in the army. Mr. and Mrs. Borg will make their home west of the city, where he will be engaged in farming.

Mrs. Delmer Louis Urbanczyk

High Noon Nuptial Vows Repeated By Miss Muckerman, Delmer Urbanczyk

Miss Suzanne (Suzy) Muckerman and Delmer Louis Urbanczyk were united in marriage with vows repeated on August 22 in the Church of the Annunciation with the Rt. Rev. Charlesville B. Paris officiating at the High Noon ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Muckerman II, 910 Kent Rd., Ladue, Mo. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Buisz Urbanczyk of White Deer.

Two white floral arrangements in white vases on the altar steps and ivy decorated pews formed the double-ring wedding scene.

BRIDE
Miss Muckerman gave her daughter in marriage. She wore ivory silk brocade fashioned with a rounded neckline, three-quarter length sleeves and a full skirt, flowing into a chapelet train. Her hip-length veil of French illusion, edged with Chantilly lace was worn as a mantilla. She carried a bouquet of gardenias.

Sea Theme Setting For Kit Kat Klub Farewell Party

Kit Kat Klub honored its senior members with a dinner in the Colonial Inn on Wednesday evening.

Decorations followed a sea theme with two large gilded fish hankies with balloons placed on the wall behind the head table, which was covered with fish net and large coral fans. The centerpiece was a pirate's treasure chest filled with pompons surrounded by sea shells and jewels.

Doris Bullard gave a farewell speech to the graduates. Miss Linda Steele gave the response. Miss Joy Vanderburg led the group in singing "Star Dust."

Senior members present were Misses Becky Skelly, Marcia Green, Pat Jones, Joy Vanderburg, Sheridan Hopkins, Pat Gorman, Linda Steele, Pat Falkenstein, Raina Storms, Marcie Morrison, Linda Bullard, Heidi Schneider, and Pat Dial.

Approximately 53 members attended with special guests, Mrs. Betty Brown and Miss Jean Chisholm, sponsors.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Marion Muckerman, bride's sister, attended as maid of honor. Misses Carol Gillis, Gertrude Moran, Harriet Reuther, Angela Wittenberg, Judith Sauer were bridesmaids. The maid of honor's dress was of Nile green embroidered organza accented with a bouquet of Orange Delight roses. The bridesmaids' dresses were of identical yellow embroidered organza and they carried bouquet arrangements of yellow roses and ivy.

Marvin Urbanczyk, bridegroom's brother, was best man. Groomsmen were Arnold Urbanczyk, brother of the bridegroom, Jerry Kotara, both of White Deer, Richard McFall Jr., Frank C. Blumeyer Jr., Jack Stolze, all of St. Louis, Mo.; William Davis, Pampa, and Nicholas Kosmiki, whose home is in Nebraska.

Miss Claire Bakewell, cousin of the bride, dressed in miniature as the maid of honor, served as flower girl.

Mrs. Muckerman, bride's mother, wore a cream lace over beige sheath with a brown orchid. Mrs. Urbanczyk, bridegroom's mother, chose Chantilly lace over Nile green with yellow orchids.

RECEPTION

Following the exchange of vows, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The receiving line was formed before the mantle in the living room. The bridal and buffet table were placed in the garden.

Following the ceremony, the couple left for a wedding trip to New York City.

Mrs. Urbanczyk was graduated from the Sacred Heart Convent, Villa Duchene, in June, 1958. Mr. Urbanczyk was graduated from Price Memorial College, Amarillo, 1954 and St. Louis University in June, 1958, where he was a member of the Tau Kappa Epsilon, social fraternity.

Parish Council Has General Workshop

Mrs. A. D. McNamara, president of the Holy Souls Parish Council, presided at a general workshop for the women of the parish Wednesday morning, August 27, in the Holy Souls Parish Hall.

Mrs. William Herr, past Pampa Deanery president, and presently in charge of the parish Council organization and development committee, conducted the workshop. Mrs. Herr explained the organization of the National Council of Catholic Women on the national, diocesan, deanery and parish levels.

In her explanation of the work of each of the Parish Council committees, Mrs. Herr stressed the importance of good leadership in committee chairmen as well as the cooperation of all committee members for the successful operation of each committee, and consequently, the entire Parish Council.

Following the general workshop in the Parish Hall, the ladies met in the homes of committee chairmen for individual workshops. At these, plans were made for the year's work for each committee. Parish Council committees and chairmen include: Mrs. Herr, organization and development; Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, Miss Ellen Keough; legislation, Mrs. C. L. Sullins; immigration and Catholic charities, Mrs. Francis Schwind; spiritual development, Mrs. Emij Urbanczyk; Household of Martha, Mrs. Thomas Wade; youth, Mrs. Henry Urbanczyk; and public relations, Mrs. Joe DiCosimo and Mrs. David C. Roberts.

Five officers from the Pampa Deanery were present at the workshop. They included Mesdames R. E. Laken and Wolf, Berger; Andrew Dunn and Robert Carney, Groom and Martinez, Miami.

Council Of Clubs Have Plan Meet

Pampa Council of Clubs' executive board met in the home of Mrs. Jack Foster on Tuesday morning for its first meeting.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Foster. Mrs. Jeff Bearden, treasurer, gave a financial report.

Mrs. Grant Anderson, secretary, reported that a letter of appreciation had been sent to Lillian Jordan for auditing the Council of Clubs' books.

Plans were made for the first council meeting to be held in the club room on Thursday morning, Sept. 4.

The secretary was asked to prepare a questionnaire to present to the president of each club, asking for suggestions from each club, as to how the council could serve the clubs better.

Members of the board present were Mesdames Jack Foster, Grant Anderson, Jeff Bearden, Elmer Fisher and V. L. Hobbs.

"Back To School" Coffee Kicks Off PTA City Council Year For Units

Highlighting the Monday morning "Back To School" Coffee given by the PTA City Council for all local PTA officers, chairmen and principals, were the publicity pointers given by Mrs. Doris Wilson, women's editor at the Pampa Daily News.

Mrs. Wilson, whose program was directed toward the publicity chairmen of the PTA organization, stated "a good publicity chairman is an important asset to any organization and it helps if this chairman becomes acquainted with all members of the group; it also helps, if she likes to write."

Other pointers given by Mrs. Wilson are "write your story while it is hot; the day it occurs and submit it not later than three days after. Your story should be type-written, if possible, double-spaced, or written neatly and clearly with all names printed. When writing an announcement, be sure to give the name of the person making the announcement and their title. Start your story with the highlight of the meeting."

Mrs. Wilson continued, "Put color into your news story. Read other stories in papers and use those as a guide for your story; in other words, be a copy cat."

RUTH MILLETT

Jane and Bill, both 17, after a year of going steady, got married — and then informed their parents of what they had done.

Their parents, dismayed by the news, but convinced that their responsibility to their children didn't automatically come to an end just because the children had gotten married, decided to finance the marriage until the young people could get on their feet.

Jane's parents gave her an allowance and Bill's parents also gave him one. The two handouts, added together, were enough for the young couple to pay rent on an apartment, buy food, keep up Bill's car and have some spending money. That was a year ago.

Today Jane is back with her parents and Bill has moved back with his and the marriage is going to end in divorce.

But here's a far different story, as told by a young wife in a letter to this column.

"I was 15 when I married and I had a baby when I was 16. "My husband couldn't get a job that would support us both, so I worked when I could the first two years of our marriage. We quarreled constantly because we didn't understand each other. I admit that if I had had the money I would have divorced my husband any time within the first two years of our marriage.

"But we were so hard up we had to stick together. Now after almost four years of marriage, my husband has a good job with a future, we love each other and our two boys and our only regret is that we didn't finish high school. But we plan to do that in night school.

"What turned our infatuation into real love was facing hardship together — because we couldn't afford to run away. We lost a baby that was born prematurely. It was a struggle just to get enough food to eat. But having to face the hardships together made us grow up fast.

"At 19, I am a happy woman. And I have a happy husband and two fine children. I just thought our story might encourage other young couples who are tempted to give up instead of fighting their way through."

Her letter might also encourage parents to keep hands off — instead of thinking they are being helpful by making things financially easy for a young couple who

Safety Tips Given At B&PW Meeting

C. L. McNeil, safety patrolman of Amarillo, presented the program for the Business and Professional Women's Club on Tuesday evening in the City Club Room. Mrs. Laura Bell Cornelius and Mrs. Bonnie Hutchinson were in charge of the program, that brought Mr. McNeil to Pampa as the evening's guest speaker.

Mr. McNeil pointed out that of the eight major factors contributing to accidents, "Speed is the number one contributor. Statistics show that more Americans are killed in highway accidents than in war. We Americans have not learned to live with the automobile."

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Faye Eaton, president, the yearly budget was discussed and approved.

Announcement was made of the district meeting to be held in Borger Oct. 25-26, at which time Mrs. Jewell Dean Lewis, will be chairman in charge of planning the local club's part on the program.

Senior Citizens Week will be observed by the local club during the week of Sept. 22-27, during which B&PW members will be hostess to the meeting of local Senior Citizens in the Lovett Memorial Library on Sept. 25.

Oct. 5-11 has been designated Business Women's Week and activities throughout this week will be directed by Mrs. Ruth Hutchens.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Helen Knox, who attended the B&PW national convention held at the B&PW national convention held gave highlights of the convention.

Miss Jeanette Lynn Hebert Pledges Vows With Robert Harold Wright

Miss Jeanette Lynn Hebert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hebert, 320 N. Gray, and Robert Harold Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stanley Wright, Mangum, Okla., pledged wedding vows on August 17 at four o'clock in the Holy Souls Catholic Church. Father Roche performing the double-ring ceremony before an altar banked with yellow daisies and gladioli.

Mrs. Jack Edwards, organist, played Rossini's recessional and professional for the wedding party and served as accompanist for Mrs. Lynn Boyd as she sang "Ave Maria," "Mother, At Thy Feet We're Kneeling."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in antique silk taffeta fashioned with a Sabrina neckline inset with applique-French lace and long, tapered sleeves, which came to bridal points over the wrists. The floor-length taffeta skirt, accented with appliques of French lace, swept into a chapel-length train. Her finger-tip veil of tulle was secured to a Queen's Crown of sequins and pearls. She carried a white orchid arranged with stephanotis and showered with white satin streamers.

Attendants: Mrs. Oscar Faldalen, matron of honor, wore a floor-length gown of ash green chiffon with matching gloves and carried an arrangement of yellow Spider mums. Misses Jo and Betty Walker, both of Pampa, served as bridesmaids, wearing floor-length yellow chiffon gowns.

Oscar Faldalen was best man. Hebert was Robert E. Hebert and Raymond Smith. Miss Sue King attended as flower girl and ring-bearer was Clifton. They carried yellow mum bouquets. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hebert wore champagne lace with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Wright, wore navy blue silk with matching accessories. Their corsages were of green and brown orchids.

Reception: Yellow gladioli and daisies flanked with green palms and candelabra formed the decorations for the reception held in St. Matthew's Parish Hall. Mrs. Dorothy Driggers presided at the punch service.

Members of the Lamar PTA board will accept dues for membership in the PTA for the new year on Tuesday morning during registration. "Booths will be located at each entrance for this purpose," is has been announced by Mrs. Nolan Cole, membership chairman.

Plans were also made for a Coke party for parents and teachers at the first meeting to be held by the PTA on Sept. 11.

Mrs. W. C. Puryear, vice president, reported on the City Council meeting. Mrs. K. H. Cambren, president, distributed program material to chairmen and presided over a brief business meeting.

In addition to those mentioned, members attending were Mrs. E. Carl Thomas, Jim Cunningham, R. D. Holeman, Dog Cole, Floyd Barrett, K. E. Roscoe, Jim Connor, B. G. Monroe, B. T. Burk, Walter Wooley, Henry Gruben, and J. A. Meek, school principal.

Barbara Maul, Robert Gene Benyshek United In Marriage In Church Service

Miss Barbara Ella Maul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Maul, west of city and Robert Gene Benyshek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steven C. Benyshek, Cuba, Kan. were married at three o'clock on July 27th in the Church of the Brethren with Rev. Ronald Hubbard, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating for the double-ring service.

Vows were exchanged in the church sanctuary decorated with white gladioli, Bells of Ireland and greenery flanked with branched candelabra. Pews of honor were marked with lilies-of-the-valley arranged with wedding bells and blue satin ribbon.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore lace over satin fashioned along princess lines. She wore a matching lace half-hat which held secure her finger-tip Veil of Illusion. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls. She also wore a blue garter made of lace from the wedding gown of the bridegroom's mother and from her mother's wedding dress. She carried white rosebuds centered on a white Bible.

Attendants: Mrs. Mona Patterson attended the bride as matron of honor wearing a blue tulle embroidered dress fashioned with princess lines. Miss Danta Benyshek, wearing white dotted Swiss, was junior bridesmaid and flower girl.

Eldon Benyshek, Wichita Kan., brother-of-the-bridegroom, was best man. Ronald and Donald Maul, twin brothers of the bride, were candlelighters. David Byrum was ring-bearer. Robert Patterson and Stevie Benyshek were ushered assisted by Cecil Hubbard, Harry Miller and Bryce Hubbard.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Maul chose a mauve lace pink dress complemented with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Benyshek wore blue with black accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Reception: The table, at the reception held immediately after the ceremony, was covered with lace over blue and centered with an arrangement of white mums. Miss Sharon Maul provided background music during the party. Miss Dona Byrum was guest registrar.

Miss Sara Lou Harnly served the tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Eldon Benyshek presided at the punch service.

Other members of the houseparty were Mmes. Ralph Byrum, Cecil Hubbard, T. C. Ellington, Misses Barbara Berlin, Glenda Wine, Cheryl Godfrey, Connie Burger, and Barbara Maul, aunt of the bride, from Beverly Hills, Calif.

For the wedding trip, the bride chose a blue brocade cotton sheath with white accessories and wore a white rose corsage.

After a wedding trip to Colorado, the Pikes Peak, Seven Falls and other points of interest, the couple are home at 1404 Columbia Ave., Lawton, Okla.

Mrs. Benyshek was graduated from Pampa High School and from McPherson College, McPherson, Kan., where she received a BA degree in elementary education.

She was a member of the Peps Club, treasurer of PTA and nominated for Homecoming Queen in her junior year.

Mr. Benyshek attended Manhattan College, Manhattan, Kan.; also, McPherson College and is now serving in the enlisted Staff and Faculty Battery US Army Artillery and Missile School, Fort Sill, Okla.

Single-Ring Vows Said By Miss Martin, J. J. Oden

Single-ring vows were repeated by Miss Tommie Ruth Martin and Jon Theodore Oden on August 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the Seymour First Methodist Church. Dr. Vernon N. Henderson, uncle of the bride and pastor of the San Jacinto Methodist Church, Amarillo, performed the ceremony before an altar banked with Woodwordia palms, pink cathedral tapers, and pink mums. The bride aisle, covered with satin carpeting, led to the white satin-covered prie dieux. Cathedral tapers were placed in the stained glass windows of the church and also marked the pews of honor, which were further adorned with mums and large satin bows.

Miss Martin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Martin of Seymour. Mr. Oden's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Farris C. Oden, 2314 Harmony, Amarillo.

Selected wedding music by Chopin, Debussy, Greig and Beethoven was presented by Mrs. Wesley Martin, organist and Miss Diane Lyles, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in silk taffeta fashioned with long sleeves tapering to points over the hands; a scoop neckline appliqued with seed pearls and irridescent. The skirt was beautifully detailed at the back with large taffeta cabbage roses cascading on a deep bias ruffle to the hemline of the chapel train. The bride wore heirloom pearls, given by her aunt, interwoven with a diamond heart necklace, a gift from her mother and father. Her finger-tip veil of Swiss illusion was attached to a Swedish crown of pearls and irridescent. She carried a French nosegay of Sweetheart roses and pink lace.

Mrs. Jon Theodore Oden

Junior ushers were Keith Martin and Bob Young, cousins of the bride.

Mrs. Martin, bride's mother, chose an aqua blue sheath with embroidered detail at the neckline accented with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Oden, wore mauve taffeta fashioned along princess lines, complemented with matching accessories. Their corsages were of cymbidium orchids.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Barbara Martin, bride's sister, was maid of honor. Another sister of the bride, Miss Joy Martin, served as maiden of honor. They were dressed identically in gowns designed with a taffeta bubble skirt attached to a fitted scoop neck bodice of cobalt blue. Their circlet veils in matching blue were attached to a crown braid sparkled with rhinestones. They carried a pink satin wedding ring filled with pink sweetheart roses tied with pink velvet ribbon.

Gary Martin was ring-bearer. Candelighters were Larry Martin and Jerry Smith.

Farris C. Oden served his son as best man. Groomsman were Bruce Campbell, David Fatheree, Jerry Smith, all of Pampa and Larry Martin, Seymour.

Daws, Throckmorton, Miss Nancy Carter, Seymour, Mrs. Dean Floyd, Houston, Miss Rebecca Oden, bridegroom's sister, Amarillo Miss Janay Young, Dallas; Mmes. John A. Young, Seymour, Earl Martin, Pecos, Travis Martin, Seymour; Ed Murphy, also of Seymour, and Miss Ellen Edwards of Manahans.

For a wedding trip through the southern states and New Orleans, the bride traveled in an imported cotton suit of print paisley in shades of blue. Her accessories were matching cobalt blue and her going-away corsage was white gardenias.

After August 25, the couple will be at home in Athens, Ga., where the bridegroom will attend the Naval Supply School for a period of six months.

The bride was graduated from Seymour High School and this Spring from Texas Technological College, Lubbock, with a BS degree in education. She was a member of Delta Delta Delta.

The bridegroom was graduated from Pampa High School and Texas Tech, where he received a BBA degree in finance. Before attending Officer's Candidate School in Newport, R. I., he was employed by Southwestern Investment Co. in Clovis, N. M.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sidwell, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Teed and John, all of Pampa; Mrs. George McCoun, Norman Okla.; Dick Oden, Dallas; Bob Oden, Amarillo; Mrs. John L. Ketter, Amarillo; Jerry Smith, Austin; Mr. and Mrs. David Fatheree, Dumas; Mr. Bruce Campbell, Pampa; Messrs. and Mmes. Waldo Oden, Altus, Okla.; Bill Oden, Shawnee, Okla.; Don Oden, Amarillo; James E. Hampson, Altus, Okla.; Dee Oden, Nancy and

Don't blame anybody but yourself.

If your husband forgets your wedding anniversary. A thoughtful wife subtly reminds her husband of important dates, instead of letting him forget and then acting hurt.

If your husband never wants to take you anywhere. If you make the most of your looks, so that your husband is proud to show you off, and if you are a gay and amusing companion you won't find the TV set and the easy chair unbeatable competition.

If you are bored and frustrated because your life is a dull routine. Nobody but you can shake it up and add a little interest and variety. A bored person is almost always a lazy person, who isn't willing to make the effort to make things happen.

If your husband gives you money instead of going out and selecting a gift for you, himself. If in the past you always received any gift from him with unqualified enthusiasm he would probably not have the feeling that you will be satisfied only with something you pick out.

If your children never accept anything you say without an argument. That's a pretty good indication that you've been afraid to make what you say stick.

If you feel less attractive than you were 10 years ago. It's a woman's duty to replace youth with such lasting qualities as charm, understanding, new interests and skills. The woman who conscientiously follows this course doesn't grow less attractive as she grows older.

If you are feuding with your in-laws. It takes two to start a fight and keep it going, and a woman can get along peacefully with her in-laws if she is determined that she is going to.

If you feel that you have been a good wife but just aren't appreciated by your husband. Chances are that means you have tried to be what you think a good wife is instead of trying to do the things

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: May I congratulate you for your open criticism of bull-fighting. Yours was the first derogatory comment on this sadistic sport I have read in a long time. I've become alarmed at the tremendous amount of favorable propaganda concerning bull-fighting assailing us from books, movies, TV and even interior decorators feature it as their favorite theme. It seems there's a movement afoot to legalize this brutal sport in the U.S. The idle rich or so called "smart set" consider this cruel sport "sophisticated" and call those who voice disapproval "square." Thank you Abby for allowing me to express my gratitude to you for your civilized and humanitarian views.

SARASOTA
Dear Sarasota: I hold firm to my opinion although I fear you and I are outnumbered for I received many more letters which reflect the following opinion:

DEAR ABBY? Will you please confine your writing to subjects you know something about? Your remarks about bull-fighting revealed your ignorance. Bull-fighting is neither sadistic or brutal. It takes great grace, skill and courage to face a bull in the ring. You owe your readers an apology. Now, be a good sport, Abby, and admit you are wrong.

SAN DIEGO

DEAR ABBY: I have been married two years and my husband and I get along fine. We went together a long time and he talked my head off. Now he never talks to me. He isn't rude, he just doesn't like to talk when he is at home. Outside of the house he really talks up a storm and is the life of the party. When I ask him to talk to me and he says there is nothing to say, I feel hurt. Do you think he has lost interest in me or am I being sensitive?

LONELY

DEAR Lonely: A man's home is his castle, and he shouldn't be nagged, pestered or expected to be the court jester when he feels like being silent. Add your silence to his and you'll have an appreciative husband.

DEAR Neighbor: Report her to Children's Protective Association. They will investigate the case and take it from there.

NEIGHBORS

DEAR Neighbor: Report her to Children's Protective Association. They will investigate the case and take it from there.

DEAR Red: Ask your doctor to tell your mother-in-law that he wants things done his way, and preferably by the baby's own mother. She can't argue with doctor's orders. Confidential To Ivy: When she runs her fingers through your hair, it means she's after your scalp. For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. En-

THE ADAPTABILITY OF MAPLE

All too often, when we think of maple furniture, we think of it only in an Early American setting. This is a mistake. The adaptability and versatility of maple are almost boundless. It is a good mixer and accommodates itself graciously to almost any type of informal room.

Simple and sincere in spirit, it blends beautifully with Colonial New England Styles, with Early Chippendale, French Provincial, country style, the simpler Queen Anne styles, and informal modern. Elegance and informality are effectively combined in the bedroom sketched above... and much of the success of this room is due to the rock maple furniture.

The color scheme is composed of a harmonious range of blues—running the gamut from a pale pastel shade to the deep blue-violet carpet. Three walls and ceiling were painted a pale sky blue (to make the room appear larger, and to give a cool feeling to a sunny exposure); on the fourth wall, two badly placed windows

OLD TIME REAL ESTATE PEOPLE SAY

THERE ARE 3 IMPORTANT THINGS TO LOOK FOR IN BUYING A HOME

IT'S BACK TO SCHOOL TIME

School Starts Sept 2 DRIVE CAREFULLY!

Many of our children will be using the streets for the first time -- many others have used them little in the past three months. They'll be careless, so YOU must be extra careful. Approach school areas with the utmost caution. Keep our traffic records tragedy-free, our children alive, and our homes happy.

In The Final Analysis . . .
IT'S UP TO YOU!

FOLLOW THESE SAFE DRIVING RULES:

- Be doubly careful near schools or where children play. Children don't realize the danger and may take chances. That's why you, the driver, must take extra care.
- Slow down. Speed is dangerous at any time—doubly so when visibility is cut by rain, fog, or darkness.
- Keep lights and windshield wipers in good condition during rainy or snowy weather. You have to see danger to avoid it.
- Keep your car in top mechanical condition. Use chains when roads are slippery.
- Obey traffic laws. Know the traffic laws wherever you travel and don't break them.
- If you drive, don't drink—if you drink, don't drive. Remember, Death takes no holiday.
- Be a courteous driver. Yield right-of-way even when it should be yours. It's better to stay alive than be dead right.

Sesame New Cash Crop For Farmers

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Farmers in Texas and other Southern states are learning that sesame refers to something more tangible than the "open sesame!" of Ali Baba and his Forty Thieves of the Arabian Nights.
"Open Sesame!" was the magical phrase which opened the robbers' den to Ali Baba and his followers. But that was only an Oriental dream of the ninth century. The modern sesame is an oilseed that shows promise as a relatively new cash crop for Southern farmers.
It is one of the oldest oilseed crops cultivated by man. It was grown commercially in the United States for the first time in 1951. In 1957, domestic growers harvested an estimated 15,000 acres, nearly all in Texas. Present indications are the 1958 acreage may increase to around 17,000. Average per acre yield in 1957 was about 600 pounds of seed. The 8-9 million pounds of seed produced in 1957 brought an average of $208 per ton.

Requirements Imported
U.S. requirements for whole sesame seed and oil currently are being met chiefly from imports, according to the Agriculture Department. Since World War II, imports have ranged from five to 24 million pounds, averaging nearly 14 million pounds. In 1957, they totaled 15 million pounds. Today the United States relies mainly on Latin American imports.

George W. Kromer, a department economist, said sesame is well adapted to the climate of the cotton belt. The crop is grown under both irrigated and dryland conditions, from South Carolina to California, with main production in Texas. In general, sesame will produce about as much seed per acre as cotton.

Big Three Moves For Conference

LONDON (UPI)—The Western Big Three moved Saturday to revive the deadlocked negotiations for a possible East-West summit conference. The move came as the Soviet Union attacked the British-American decision to continue nuclear weapons tests until Oct. 31 when their conditional offer goes into effect.
The United States, Britain and France delivered identical notes to the Soviet foreign office Friday afternoon expressing hope that preliminary summit preparation talks be resumed, a step that might lead eventually to general nuclear disarmament.
A British foreign office spokesman pointed out that the summit suggestion was made immediately after the East-West agreement of nuclear scientists in Geneva earlier this week and Friday's offer by the United States and Britain to halt nuclear tests for a year beginning Oct. 31, and open talks with the Russians on further suspension of tests.
The foreign office spokesman said the reopening of the general summit issue constituted a "hopeful sign."
However, the critical Tass agency commentary left some doubt about whether the Soviets would accept the Anglo-American offer to cut off further nuclear weapons tests. American officials in Washington predicted Russia would accept after it made sufficient propaganda noise.
Although France joined in calling for resumed talks on the summit preparations, it refused to go along on the offer to end nuclear tests.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: There is a couple who have gotten to be such pests every Sunday (we live near their church unfortunately) that I hate myself for not being able to handle them better. We don't like to hurt people's feelings, so my husband and I leave the church early (we sit in the back) and rush home, go through the back door and hide in the basement. We have to be quiet like two criminals in our own home so as not to be imposed upon by this couple. For a solid year they "called on us" every Sunday and sat seven and eight hours until I either cooked their dinner or took them out. How can we get rid of them without hiding?

PESTERED: You can't faze an elephant with a peashooter. These people are inconsiderate, presumptuous and free loaders. Tell them plainly that your Sundays are spoken for. If they get mad and never speak to you again, you are lucky to lose them.

DEAR ABBY: Your letter about the little boy named Jimmy who had his wagon and tricycle run over by the retired Army officer rang a bell with me. You said this was a pretty severe way to teach a boy a lesson. About six years ago we lived in an apartment house where a little boy named Jimmy also lived. He kept his toys scattered all over the place. He left a roller skate on the steps and a young mother was coming down the steps and didn't see it. She tripped and fell, breaking her back. She is now paralyzed from the waist down and will be confined to a wheel chair for the rest of her life, never to walk again. Now, was this retired Army officer's "lesson" too severe?

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother. I am 18 and people tell me I have more brains than my mother. She has been married three times and is now looking for a fourth husband. My father left her some money and the first thing she does when she meets a man is tell him about her security, holdings and property. Her last two husbands took her for a good ride. How can a daughter advise her own mother not to rush into a fourth marriage?

WORRIED FOR MOM: Dear Worried: You'd think that after three strikes, Mom would give up the game. A mother is not inclined to take advice from her daughter — at any age. Assign a clergyman, or a respected friend to the task of advising her.

DEAR ABBY: How old should a bachelor be to be considered "eligible?"

JUST ASKING: Dear Just: A bachelor is considered eligible at ANY age. Where there's LIFE there's HOPE, and where there's HOPE, there's LIFE.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is 24 and I am 33 and we have three kids. She says she wants one night a week out, so I let her go, thinking she will take in a movie with her girlfriend or something harmless like that, but now I find out that she and her girlfriend go out of town and dance with old men. I asked her about this and she said there is nothing wrong with it. Am I old-fashioned or is this the style these days?

AN OLD-FASHIONED HUSBAND: Dear Old-Fashioned: You are NOT old-fashioned — and this is NO way for a married woman (and a mother of 3) to behave if she wants to keep her marriage in one piece.

Confidential To Frankie: You will not find scotch and soda the right "solution" for your problems. Your parish priest has more of the right answers than your bartender.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your bookstore to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

Horace Mann Unit Has Busy Session

Horace Mann PTA held its first executive board meeting of the new school year on August 27 in Horace Mann School. Mrs. Kenneth McGuire, president, presided with a request for Sam Beget, school principal to open the meeting with prayer. Mrs. James Hall, secretary, read the minutes of the May meeting. After which last year's Fun, Food and Frolic night was discussed and it was determined that proceeds from this project were used to buy science and playground equipment and a ball for each school room.

New officers, installed at the May meeting, and to serve during the current year are Mrs. Kenneth McGuire, president, T. M. Brooks, vice president; James Hall, recording secretary; F. W. Boyles, corresponding secretary; E. C. Cobb, historian; Ott Shewmaker, parliamentarian; Reese Field and Odell Strickland, city council representatives.

The resignation of Mrs. Wilford McLeod was read and accepted with regret. Mrs. T. M. Brooks read the theme and program for each meeting during the coming year. She also stated that hospitality chairman, Mrs. H. L. Meers will serve refreshments at the "Get Acquainted Tea"; also at the meeting honoring all past presidents and at the Guest Day Tea in May.

A nursery will be provided this year by the PTA under the supervision of Mrs. M. Shelton. A special invitation is extended to all first grade parents to attend the first PTA meeting to be held on Sept. 11.

It was announced that members will be able to pick up year books as they register at the "Get Acquainted Tea."

Mr. Beget, as a conclusion to the meeting, expressed appreciation to mothers and teachers, who work in Horace Mann PTA.

Mrs. Ray Frazier was in charge of decorations. Mrs. Combs presided at the punch bowl.

Attending were Mrs. Jim King, Jack Howard, D. W. Swain, J. L. Carlton, T. D. Anderwald, Walter Noel, Roy Tinsley, W. G. Kinzer, H. H. Keashey, V. Smith, Roland Dauer, W. E. Melton, Pat Smathers, Tom Haggard, Ethel Betcham, and Lester Reynolds.

Mrs. W. E. Melton, J. L. Carlton and Jack Howard were named to the nominating committee. Mrs. V. Smith, W. E. Melton, W. G. Kinzer, delegates to the state THDA convention in August, gave reports of this meeting.

Miss Dunlap presented a preview of next year's programs.

After adjournment of council, a surprise party was given for Miss Dunlap, who is leaving to make her home in Kansas. Gifts were given from the council, clubs and members.

Gray County Home Demonstration Council met in Miss Helen Dunlap's office for its regular meeting.

Stockton-Stone Say Vows In Chapel

Miss Shellah Stockton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Stockton, Dallas, and Marion F. Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stone, Route 2, were united in marriage on July 18 in Miller Chapel at Baylor University, Waco, with Rev. Jack Yelvington performing the double-ring service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white length gown of white Chantilly lace fashioned with a low, scooping neckline and sleeveless. The molded bodice was encircled at the waistline with a taffeta, shirred cummerbund. Her brief, flared Veil of Illusion was secured to a bandeau. She carried a white orchid atop a bridal Bible.

Miss Glenda Sue Vanderworth, Dallas, served as maid of honor. Miss Sylvia Stockton, bride's sister and Miss Sue Hays, both of Dallas, were bridesmaids.

Ben Sturgeon, Pampa, was best man. Groomsmen were Bill Blackwood, Dallas, and Farrell R. O. S. Waco. Jimmy Yates, Dallas, seated the wedding guests.

Miss Harva Nell Curry, organist, of Palestine, played the traditional marches and was accompanied by Miss Karen Schwab, Levelland, vocalist.

Guests were received in the chapel, following the exchange of vows.

For a wedding trip to Lake Whitney, the bride wore a blue silk suit and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Stone was graduated from W. W. Samuell High School, Dallas, and attended Baylor University. Mr. Stone was graduated from Pampa High School and is attending Texas A&M. They will make their home in Bryan where the bridegroom will attend school.

If only little boys were as dirt-resistant as the man-made fibers. But synthetic fibers need special handling even as the little guys do. In washing a synthetic of hand, such as Fiberglas curtains, never wring or twist it. In a machine avoid wrinkles by using short cycles, but no spin-drying and a very light load. Let the curtains drip dry.

(1) The first obstacle which must be overcome before man can achieve space flight is Earth's gravity. Gravitational pull can be likened to a great funnel, and a rocket to a daredevil motorcyclist trying to escape. Loops at (a), (b) and (c) above show how high the cyclist would go at different speeds. At 25,000 miles per hour he would be free of Earth's gravity forever. But if he sped around the sides of the funnel, he could maintain an orbit at a speed less than escape velocity. Speed for the orbit closest to Earth (just above the atmosphere) is about 18,000 miles per hour.

(2) The only practical source of power man has at present for space travel is the rocket. Best speed which can be attained with present-day fuels is about 5,000 miles per hour. Thus, no single-stage rocket can escape the Earth's pull.

Three stages appear to be the most practical and efficient number. Most advanced U.S. rocket so far is the Navy Vanguard, which delivers one pound of satellite for 1,000 pounds of rocket, as against 2,000 pounds of rocket for the Jupiter-C.

(3) Even if currently available fuels are improved, a man-carrying rocket will be of tremendous size. Shown at right is the possible shape of a manned satellite or supply rocket to a station in space. It is designed to be able to return to Earth as a supersonic glider. Next: Acceleration, Deceleration, Weightlessness.

purely paydirt

There'll be a hot time in the old town this Labor day, and everybody dreads it.

Thirty-six holes of golf and a blazing sun make a bad parlay, even at the Elks annual picnic. Add the pressure of the rich Top O' Texas Golf Tournament's final day, and you have yourself a lulu indeed.

The heat could tell the tale here today. The wind that whipped drives off course and twisted approaches Saturday, already has the big field here pulling hair and cursing beneath its breath.

The 22nd annual Top O' Texas event yesterday was a miniature Coney Island, with grass and caddies. A weird collection of gallerites and golfers who come from goodness knows where, cluttering the club house lawn with empty beer tins and comparing notes and scores in loud voices, makes for the atmosphere you'll find at just about any golf tournament in the land. And it's a wonderful atmosphere.

As you stomp through the tall dusty rough expecting to step squarely on the third vertebrae of a copperhead, and hug the meager shade trees like lovelorn mistletoe, you begin to wonder how the golfers in the Championship and President's Flight will make it through 36 more holes Monday, especially the old-guarders. It'll be a grind.

Why Not Prigmore?

They say the smart money is riding on Amarillo's John Farquhar to survive the long haul today, chop down the three-stroke lead Borger's Don Kaplan has over him, and ride home the big winner.

Kaplan, whose steady game has him pacing the pack with a 134 on a pair of six-below par 67's, would be plucking off his third Top O' Texas title in four years if he can hold his ground.

Pampa's Don Prigmore, just a putt off the pace - setting Kaplan, with a 135 on a 67 yesterday and a 68 Saturday, hasn't been given much backing by the gallerites for some mysterious reason. He's the "sleeper" they say.

There was even more talk of Borger's cage and links star, Vance Moxom, slipping in from behind five strokes, having a better chance at the crown than Prigmore. It's confusing indeed. The 36-hole trudge today may hamper the oldtimers. But if you'll scan the age sheet of the first four leaders, Kaplan, Prigmore, Farquhar and Moxom, you'll discover all are yet youngsters and their physical condition should be good.

This 36-hole final day play quickly separates the men from the old men.

Kaplan Holds Stroke Top O' Texas Lead

Prigmore 2nd As Field Into Long 36-Hole Finals

By RICK PEZDIRTZ, Daily News Sports Editor

Sizzling six-under par 67's carded by four golfers here Sunday, Borger's Don Kaplan, Pampa's Don Prigmore, Amarillo's John Farquhar and Borger's Vance Moxom - left the field wide open as the 22nd annual Top O' Texas Golf Tournament enters its fifth and final day at the Pampa Country Club today.

It'll be Labor Day indeed, for golfers remaining in flight competition, The Championship and President's Flight (high 14 shooters from Sunday's championship play) faces a grueling 36-holes today while the semi-finalists in the seven other flights are confronted with 18-holes of medal play.

Kaplan, a black-headed 22-year-old Texas Tech swinger who won here in 1955-56, fought off the heat and mounting pressure to post his second straight 67 and hold a slim one-stroke lead over the rest of the field with a 134.

Breathing hot on the back of Kaplan's neck, however, are Don Prigmore at 135 only a shot behind, and Amarillo's John Farquhar, three strokes back at 137. Within fairly close striking distance is young Vance Moxom, the Borger High basketball and golf ace last season, at 139, five shots behind.

The largest gallery of the tournament is anticipated by meet officials to trudge along on the heels of the leaders, especially during their afternoon rounds when one wrong shot could spell out doom for title hopes.

Pampa's Burt Watkins and Melvin Chisum, who fired a 71 and 69 respectively Sunday, have outside chances of donning the Championship Flight crown, but either of the two would have to catch fire during their opening few holes of play Monday morning and stay nothing less than torrid all afternoon to catch up. Watkins stands at 141 and Chisum is 142.

Nine strokes back is Amarillo's H. E. Cogburn while ten shots behind, and almost hopelessly out of the running is Joe Gibson of Amarillo at 144.

Four other Amarillo linksmen follow in ninth and a three-way tie for 10th places. Cameron Roach at 145 is ninth while holding 16th are Bob Geise, Joe Bob Brown and Friday's medalist Jimmy Smith. All have 146's. Geise made up for a poor 77 Saturday with a three-under 69 Sunday while Smith came back from an aggravating 76 Saturday to shoot a 70 Sunday. Brown had duplicate scores of 73 for Saturday and Sunday.

Pampa's Les Howard and Amarillo's Bill Garrett, both at 148, and Tom Cox of Pampa plus Jim Bob Campbell of Amarillo round out the Championship Flight with 149's.

In the President's Flight the competition is expected to be keen.

Grover Austin of Pampa had a near-dissaster, 77 Sunday on the heels of a 72 Saturday to tumble out from the Championship Flight while Amarillo's Orville Reynolds did just the opposite, taking a 77 Saturday and retaliated with a 72 Sunday, for a similar score with Austin, at 149.

Pampa's Larry Tarvin, who'll be a senior at Pampa High this year, holds a 153, while trailing off at C. F. McGinnis plus Borger's Joe Rigdon, all wound up with 150's after Sunday's play. McGinnis going 77-73 for the first two days of the meet and Tarvin and Rigdon both taking 75's both days.

Pampa's Max Hickey and O. M. Prigmore had two day totals of 151 while A. D. Pritchard of Pampa, David Lard of Amarillo and Jimmy Linn of Spearman held 152's.

Citywide champ this summer, holds a 153, while trailing off at Clark Wells, Quannah, over Jerry Smith, Pampa; R. D. Dunham, Pampa, over Bob McCarthy, Amarillo.

All flight champions will be awarded a new set of golf clubs following their final rounds this evening while runners-up will receive a set of irons from the plush $2,000 tournament.

Pampa, over Clayton Husted, Pampa; George Smith, Pampa, over Jerry Angely, Shamrock.

Walter Pung, Pampa, over Pinky Boyd, Hobbs, N.M.; Conley Bishop, McLean, over Harvey Taylor, Amarillo; DeWayne Stealy, Amarillo, over N. S. Hegner, Pampa, over Henry Butler, Pampa.

Preston Garrett, Amarillo, over W. M. Lane, Pampa; Fred Van Shoubrock, Pampa, over R. B. Hughes, Pampa; Loyal Davies, AMARILLO (UPI)—Manager Eddie Bockman of the second-place Amarillo Gold Sox of the Western League has resigned after the Sox lost their eighth game Sunday in 11 outings.

Gale Pringle, a pitcher and coach, was named to replace him. Both Bockman and club officials said the move was made in the best interests of the team.

Bockman, in his fourth season as Amarillo manager, guided the Sox to second place last season and won league manager of the year, honors.

Amarillo lost its third straight Sunday, an 8-4 licking by Pueblo, Colorado Springs is currently leading the league.

The director gave a few warnings for shooters: Be sure you have your new 1958-59 hunting license, on sale with waders, sporting goods stores and county clerks.

After the first day you may have 20 mourning doves in your possession. This doesn't mean you can put 20 in the deep freeze and then go out and kill another daily limit.

Shooting starts at 12 noon and ends at sunset. Be sure to check your time and don't shoot by moonlight.

Former School Teacher Turns Strip Teaser

By GEORGE B. BROWN
United Press International

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI)—A "girlie show" at the Iowa State Fair features a blonde stripteaser who says she is a college graduate and a former school teacher.

Asked how she made the change to stripper, Roxanne said, "It looked so easy, just walking around to music and taking your clothes off."

It was the summer drought in paychecks that led her into stripping for a living, Roxanne told an interviewer.

Several years ago, faced by a dwindling bank account during the summer school recess, she joined a traveling show as a musician in an all-girl band.

It was supposed to be a summer job. But since that unusual shift from teaching English and serving as supervisor of art and music in a West Virginia school, Roxanne has never again stepped into a classroom.

Roxanne was graduated from Belhaven College. She became a teacher in Hardy County, W. Va., and eventually became the art and music supervisor.

She is the mother of two children, aged 12 and 13. They either travel with her or spend their vacations with other shows.

She bleached her hair and began wearing heavy makeup to avoid detection when she made the switch from the band to the runway. After one summer on the road, she was unable to leave the show because of the "excitement of the sounds of the crowds and the rides on the midway."

After several years on the fair-carnival circuit she has no plans

Heavy Pressure For Labor Reform Legislation Expected

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republican determination to make a campaign issue out of labor reform legislation should result in heavy and continued pressure in Congress next year for action.

Meanwhile, a great deal of questionable staff will be dispensed by both parties during the 1958 campaign about who was to blame for the failure of Congress to act this year.

This is one of the few issues which finds the GOP on the attack and the Democrats on the defensive. Since the Democrats did control Congress, they cannot escape final responsibility for failure to enact a bill to deal with corruption and racketeering in unions.

House Democratic leaders tried to protect themselves from this attack by resorting to extraordinary procedure in the closing days of the 1958 session. They attempted to pass the Senate approved bill, which was acceptable to the AFL-CIO leadership, under a rule requiring a two-thirds vote, barring amendments and permitting only 40 minutes of debate.

Rayburn Held Bill
Most Republicans and southern Democrats refused to go along with this all-or-nothing approach. Few in Congress would defend this procedure on a subject so complex as labor legislation but the Democratic leaders in the House obviously felt that they had no other choice.

The Democrats now are blaming the GOP for putting up most of the votes to kill the bill.

Meanwhile, the Republicans are talking about the "40 days and 40 nights" that Speaker Sam Rayburn held the bill without referring it to the Labor Committee.

Most members of Congress would agree that a subject as complicated as labor legislation should be subjected to full committee hearings and a study even if it had already gone through the process in the other chamber.

There was no evidence, however, that the House committee was ready to tackle the subject. Powerful management organiza-acting. If there were such a requirement, the first Congress would not have passed the first federal law in 1789.

It is common for committees in the two Houses to work on companion bills at the same time.

But now union reform legislation survives as a political campaign issue and as unfinished business for Congress next year.

Because of the many pressures involved, Congress has never found it easy to enact general labor legislation. The last bill was the Taft-Hartley law of 1947. Congress passed that one, under the public pressure growing out of postwar strikes, by overriding President Truman's veto. His veto of the Case bill a year earlier had been sustained.

Actress Marilyn Monroe Is Back In Tinsel Town

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Director Billy Wilder paced the sound stage nervously, co-stars Tony Curtis and Jack Lemmon sat around joking, extras and crew waited wearily.

They waited almost two hours.

Marilyn Monroe was back in town, and as usual, she was late.

Finally the blond cutie appeared in a burst of wriggles and giggles and all was forgiven. Wilder was charmed. Curtis and Lemmon beamed. Even the crew perked up. The scene was shot and Marilyn took time to chat.

"I don't know why it is, but I'm still nervous about making pictures," she said. "I'll never get over having butterflies when I walk in front of the camera."

After a two-year absence from tinsel town Marilyn hasn't changed much. She's still beautiful, shapely AND late.

She owns 10 per cent of the gross receipts of her new film, "Some Like It Hot," but it bothers her not at all that for every hour she holds up production it costs the company in the neighborhood of $7,000.

"I never discuss finances. It's too personal," she said.

"But my Marilyn Monroe Productions Co. is all set to start things going in a big way. All the legal troubles have been solved. Now it's a matter of finding a good movie, or play, or television story.

"I'd like to appear in one of Arthur's plays. Who wouldn't?" she said, referring to her playwright husband Arthur Miller.

"But he doesn't write for individual actors."

Marilyn, who has lost her breathy speaking voice, is recovering from an ear infection that prevented her from performing earlier this month.

The ex-calendar girl is learning to play the ukelele for her role as a misfit in an all-girl orchestra. Again, Marilyn is playing comedy despite her longing for serious dramatic roles.

"I've decided comedy can be just as dramatic as drama," she said wisely. "Charlie Chaplin made great drama out of his pictures. And they were all very funny."

State Fair Brings The 'Music Man' To Dallas

"The Music Man" production to be presented at the Music Hall attraction during the 1958 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 4-19, will be an exact replica of the Broadway original.

Currently the hottest musical comedy hit on Broadway, "The Music Man" will have performances nightly during the 16-day State Fair with matinees on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays.

The national company which will play Dallas after opening Aug. 18 in Los Angeles will star Forrest Tucker and Joan Weldon, both familiar to movie and television fans, in the lead roles of Professor Harold Hill and Miss Marian Paroo.

Meredith Willson wrote the story, music and lyrics for the tale of a fast-talking, likeable confidence man who poses as a musician although he cannot play a note, and who becomes enamored romantically with the town librarian. It all takes place in Iowa around 1912. Author-composer Willson called the setting "River City," but it is a thinly disguised Mason City, his own home town.

Prominent in the star-studded cast will be the fabulous "Frisco Four," one of America's foremost

A NEW PAIR OF LEGS...

It takes more than new wooden legs to make a small boy like Lee Jae Ku face life with courage. He was brought to a Korean Amputee center by a nurse who found him crawling on hands and knees searching for food, in the market. His shirt and trousers were tattered and caked with mud. His emaciated legs were retracted and could not be straightened. This was a boy who once had a home and was loved by parents now dead.

He's a promising child and deserves a happier life. The OVERSEAS AID Programs of America's religious faiths are trying to help unfortunate people like him. Please support your faith's Aid Program.

You Get The Parts You Need At Pampa Garage And Salvage Co.

You get the parts you need at the prices you like at Pampa Garage and Salvage Co., 511 Huff Road, one block south of Highway 60, MO 5-5831.

Extra Savings
The recently expanded location enables Pampa Garage to handle more cars, to lower prices and to give you the savings made from greater volume and lower rent.

On the lot now are more than 325 late model cars—models produced from 1949 through 1957. You will find the parts you need for late model, popular makes of cars at Pampa Garage.

Skilled mechanics here work with Lee Roy McBride, owner and operator, to clean and classify automobile parts.

These parts work as well as new and yet cost only half as much or even less. For example: new and, for that matter, all other auto parts—windshields, windows, door glass. Every part is priced to move fast.

Buyers Cars
McBride has been a resident of Pampa for over 20 years, and has been in the automobile business for the past 13 years. For more than a dozen years he has operated Pampa Garage and Salvage.

His civic activities include work with boys in the Pampa Elks Club, of which he is part exalted ruler.

Pampa Garage and Salvage buys used automobiles and wrecked and burned cars. Call MO 5-5831 for your best price when you sell.

Come here first and save when you want parts for your car or truck. Pampa Garage and Salvage, 511 Huff Rd., about a block South of Highway 60.

These auto parts, which work like new ones, bring you the savings you want plus this guarantee: satisfaction if they are installed correctly.

Pampa Garage is open for your convenience from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. week days and is open Sundays.

Late Models
Parts available include those for all late model cars. Selective include all parts: motors, transmissions, rear ends, wheels, tires, starters, bearings, generators, clutches, radios, accessories—plus thousands of other parts.

McBride, a skilled mechanic, and other mechanics remove parts from recently purchased cars, clean the parts, paint and identify them for resale.

Prison Rodeo Slates Four Western Stars

HUNTSVILLE—There's always something new at the Texas Prison Rodeo and the presentation for the 27th Annual event will be the personal appearance of four of the nation's best known western television stars.

H. H. Coffield, of Rockdale, Chairman of the Texas Board of Corrections, announced that Richard Boone, star of "Have Gun—Will Travel"; Dale Robertson, of "Tales of Wells Fargo"; Ward Bond, of "Wagon Train"; and Robert Culp, star of "Trackdown" will make personal benefit appearances on successive Sundays in the prison's million-dollar stadium in Huntsville.

Primarily, these TV personalities were engaged to boost ticket sales for this unusual entertainment feature, which in turn will swell the prisoners' Welfare Fund to aid 10,500 inmates of the Texas Department of Corrections.

"It is our opinion," declared Chairman Coffield, "that the addition of these top-flight stars to the Prison Rodeo will serve a dual purpose.

"First of all, thousands of rodeo fans will be given an opportunity to meet these stars in person. Secondly, inmates attending the rodeo will get an added thrill of another entertainment facility, all of which amounts to the development of a well-rounded prison rehabilitation program."

The need for additional welfare funds was pointed out by Coffield, which he said was due to the unusual growth of the Texas penal system.

GREW-SOME TWIST—Named for its weirdly twisted shape rather than its fruit, this "pretzel" tree stands at Cassville, Wis. A cedar, its branches are believed to have been twisted by prevailing winds off the Mississippi River.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Here is an interesting hand played by my old partner Sherman Stearns.

His leap to six clubs was not particularly scientific, but Sherman was never one for too much science in the bidding.

Sherman won the opening heart lead and noted that he was going to have considerable trouble getting to the dummy, to discard his losing hearts. He also noted that if West happened to hold the guarded king of diamonds he was going to have no play at all for his contract.

Sherman's next step was to try to figure out a combination of cards that would let him make his contract. He might pick up a singleton king of diamonds, but Sherman found a much better possibility. West ought to have seven hearts for his three-heart bid. Now give East the king of diamonds and long clubs and the hand would make.

Sherman simply played two clubs and continued with the ace. East was in the lead and had no way to keep Sherman out of dummy. Actually, he led a spade and Sherman discarded his two hearts and jack of diamonds on the good spades. Now he led dummy's ten of diamonds and d when East failed to cover Sherman played his nine and retained the lead in dummy for a second diamond finesse.

Coffield also reminds citizens of Texas that since the Legislature does not appropriate funds for inmate welfare work, net proceeds from the Annual Prison Rodeo is the only way inmates can receive a host of services not provided by the State.

Prison rodeo officials urge those who plan to attend any one of the four shows each Sunday in October to order reserved seats now. Tickets are $2.40 and $4.40 each and may be obtained by writing Prison Rodeo Ticket Office, Huntsville, Texas, enclosing check or money order.

HE'LL MATCH IT

Frank Skidmore prepares to match the original paint on this car with a Pursley's paint job. Skidmore has worked in the body shop of Pursley Motor Company for six years. The body shop has grown with Pursley and its new location, 701 W. Brown, is bigger and better than ever before.

HE'LL FIX IT

Calvin Follis has been working around cars for 14 years in Pursley's Body Shop. This car has been in a bit of a scrape but before long Follis will have it looking better than ever. Follis has been 23 years in the business.

Pursley's New Body Shop Is Set Up For Jobs Of Any Shape Or Dimension

From a complete body job to a little fender job, satisfaction is guaranteed at Pursley Motor Company, 701 W. Brown. Pursley will also match the colors of your factory paint job and give you fast wrecker service when you're in a jam.

Pursley's new body shop is designed, like the rest of the motor company, to keep the appearance and performance of your car at the top.

The expert body men, who work here, have fixed wrecked cars that lacked only a few dollars of being a total loss and fixed them so well that few can tell they were torn up. Frank Skidmore has worked six years for Pursley, doing paint and body work and Calvin Follis has been 14 years with the firm, 23 years in the business.

In the recently expanded plant, they can handle five wrecks and a paint job at the same time.

This is the place to go if you want doors adjusted, hoods and trunks worked on, windshields replaced or any one of a number of jobs done. The shop, with its twin post lifts is well equipped for any job.

All are invited to come in, look over the facilities and get acquainted.

syncing to a recording; the canned laughter affixed to the sound tracks of situation comedies; the phony "breakups" over jokes by performers who have been rehearsing the lines all week.

In the long run, all of this unpleasantness may be the healthiest event to occur to television in a long, long time.

Are Quiz Shows Really Fixed?

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—This may be remembered as the month in which they came to bury "Dotto" and to appraise it, and its quiz fellows.

Inevitably, the cloudy circumstances surrounding the ditching of "Dotto" on CBS-TV and NBC-TV have led to suspicions about other game shows. Are they fixed?

The answer, I would say, depends upon what you mean by fixed. I know of only one show in which contestants were primed. They were friends of mine from Texas who appeared a few months back on a daytime network low-budget quiz. They told me afterwards that they had been given one of their questions by a production assistant before they went on.

They added that, in talking to another couple used on the show, they discovered that the other couple, too, was given a question in advance. My friends also said they had been given a script complete with jokes to study.

Colorful and Colorless
There is another area of quizzes however, that is more difficult to pin down. Many of the big quizzes test and question prospective contestants so thoroughly that it's not necessary to fix them. A colorful contestant can be fed questions that the producers knew he probably can answer. A dull contestant can be slipped a twister that'll knock him off.

Even so, this method is far from fool proof. As the producers of "The 64,000 Question" have pointed out in answer to this charge, they've lost scads of contestants at early levels who looked like sure ratings builders. Among them were Randolph Churchill, Vivian Kellems, and such good looking girls as Jean Thompson, Nancy Wilson and Renee Norman.

Conversely, some colorless contestants have remained on: Cmdr. Edward Stafford dropped the rating, eight points, but won $64,000; Bobby and Tom O'Rourke dropped the rating six points and won $2,000; Dr. Francis Salvatore also dampened the rating, but went to $2,000.

List Gray Areas
Fix or not, some of the pall that hangs over the quizzes has resulted from viewer suspicion about the obvious small dishonesties that go on. Those small dishonesties lead to puzzlement about the entire character of the quizzes. Some of these gray areas:—Writing jokes in advance for emcees and contestants and trying to make it sound off-the-cuff.

—Coaching contestants to react in a phony manner during the game. The wife of one newsmen at United Press International for example, was instructed before going on a show to laugh it up, look animated, look as if she were having fun playing the game.

—Using "floaters" who move from show to show as contestants. Last summer, for example, NBC-TV's "High-Low" used a fellow who had been seen only a few months before on the Groucho Marx show.

Actress Helen Hayes was born Oct. 10, 1900.

The word "giraffe" means "the one who moves swiftly."

End Small Dishonesties
—Using contestants who are booked into shows by agents who claim 10 per cent of the winnings. I know of one female jazz expert booked into a network quiz last year by someone else. He, incidentally, is screaming because he didn't get his "fee."

—Employing celebrities as contestants. Rightly or wrongly, it leads to the suspicion that, as professionals, they are "guaranteed" a certain fee for appearing. In many ways, the healthiest aspect of the current mess is that it may lead to a new view of the small dishonesties that go on in other areas of TV: The plugs for products that performers insert in their routines in return for money or a case of liquor; the planted funny lines on panel shows; the vocalists who pretend to sing while they're actually just lip-
