Nine Patients Die in Mental Hospital Fire

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—(AP)—Nine women patients perished here early today in the blazing inferno of a mental hospital fire.

Seven of the victims were trapped helplessly on upper floors of the four-story central building of the Highland Hospital for Nervous Diseases, Dr. B. T. Bennett, medical director, reported.

Two others were evacuated by firemen who dashed into the fiery structure but they died soon afterward.

The fire, discovered about midnight, started in the kitchen of the hospital's central building. It quickly spread to an elevator shaft and the licking the building's roof when firemen arrived.

Screams of trapped women rang as above the roaring conflagration, doctors, nurses, firemen and police ran through the blazing structure, risking their lives in an effort to save the 20 patients in the building.

They quickly huddled the rescued patients into another building where some sat silently and others wailed hysterically.

The death toll was announced by Dr. Bennett after he and hospital authorities checked the list of patients in the building.

Dr. Bennett said some of the hospital's most violent patients were in the destroyed building but they were among the first to be released.

The hospital, housed in several buildings, about three miles from the heart of Asheville, is a unit of Duke University Hospital in Durham.

Airplane Keeping This Horse Alive

PECATONICA, Ill.—(AP)—An airplane is keeping a horse from dying of starvation.

The horse has been standing on a piece of land surrounded by the swollen Pecatonica River for about a week. He refuses to step on the ice to walk to safety.

Leroy Berkebile, an employe of the Pecatonica Airport, has been flying over the spot and dropping bundles of corn and hay.

Warmer Weather Is Forecast Tomorrow

The peak of a severe March storm, which brought the winter's deepest freeze to many sections and toppled many seasonal records, moved to the south of Texas today.

This morning between 6:30 and 7:30 the temperature reached six degrees below zero here, the lowest reported to the Dallas Weather Bureau.

Telephone and transportation facilities were heavily hit here.

Damage from the blast, which brought sub-zero temperatures to the Panhandle and freezing weather elsewhere, except in the extreme south, remained to be counted. The Federal Crop Reporting Service as Austin said such severe cold this late in the season "could be disastrous."

Martial Law Decreed in Holy Land

IN NORTHERN PALESTINE —(AP)— Martial law has been decreed in all Northern Palestine, effective at dawn today, by Fawzi Bey Al Kaukji, Arab commander.

"Every order from this headquarters will now become the law of the land (Northern Palestine) for civil and military alike," Fawzi Bey declared in his order last night.

His headquarters said prisons now are being established in the mountain top village where Fawzi Bey has set up his command. Several persons already have been arrested and are awaiting trial before military courts, which officers said will begin sitting soon in all major towns and cities of the northern Holy Land.

The courts are to be operated by Arab lawyers now attached to the Arab Army, which entered Palestine last week in readiness to fight partition of the Holy Land, the northern Holy Land.

The courts are to be operated by Arab lawyers now attached to the Arab Army, which entered Palestine last week in readiness to fight partition of the Holy Land, the northern Holy Land.

Army informants said among those now being held for trial is a Jewish woman "who tried to pose as an English newspaper woman." They said the woman, whose identity was not disclosed, was arrested in a Samaritan mountain village Tuesday while trying to arrange an interview with Fawzi Bey.

The Arab commander and his staff now are busy studying maps and intelligence reports in preparation to take the offensive against the Jews.

They intend to remain in the tiny mountain villages for at least another week. An aide said one phase of the planning involves protection for thousands of Arabs living near Jewish settlements in the north, who might suffer counterattacks once the Arabs begin operations.

February Was Big Month for Postal Receipts at Office

Postal receipts here for February were the second largest for that month in the history of the office, O. K. Gaylor, assistant postmaster, said this morning.

Receipts for last month totaled $9,990.83, second only to Feb. 1945 when receipts totaled $11,350.23. The air base here at that time is said to be responsible for the large figure that year.

Last year the February receipts totaled $8,620.89, while the Feb. 1946 receipts totaled $9,459.05.

This is quite an advance when compared to February receipts in 1926, which totaled $3,129.40, or 1921, when the total receipts for the year were only $6,278.23.

13 Killed as Delta Airline DC-4 Crashes

CHICAGO—(AP)—A Delta Airlines DC-4 plane crashed and burned explosively late last night a few seconds after it took off from Chicago's Municipal Airport. Twelve of 13 aboard were killed.

The only survivor was a 33-year-old mother whose seven-year-old son perished in the fiery wreckage. She screamed hysterically for her child as she was pulled from the flames.

The woman, Mrs. Tripolino Meo, of suburban Oak Lawn, Ill., suffered severe burns. Both of her legs and both of her arms were broken.

All four members of the crew were killed. The plane was bound for Miami, Fla. It splashed into an orange-colored, flaming mass south of the nearby prairie at 10:58 p. m. (CST) from a height of 500 to 1,000 feet, during a snow flurry, witnesses said.

It was Delta's first accident in scheduled operations since 1934. Last year the airlines received a special citation from the National Safety Council.

"Something went wrong" and the huge craft caught fire when only a few feet from the runway, Delta's district traffic manager said.

There was no further explanation. The crash identified dead were two Chicago brothers on their way to the bedside of their father, near death in Miami, Fla. The two were Harold Levy, 47, prominent criminal lawyer, and Ralph Raymond Levy, 41, an insurance broker in Chicago.

The plane had a capacity of 44 passengers. At least two persons who had reservations for the flight, No. 705 with stops at Cincinnati, Ohio, and Jacksonville, Fla., cancelled their shortly before it took off.

It burned fiercely for more than an hour. Some of the bodies pulled out by firemen were burned or mangled beyond immediate recognition.

Pat Smith, an airport cargo handler, said the plane "came down in a vertical dive and splattered and exploded on the ground."

Flames shot up 80 feet as the plane flopped to earth "like a pancake," said another witness, C. K. Firth, a gasoline dealer who helped recover the wreckage.

Relatives said Mrs. Meo, wife of a restaurant owner, was on her way to Miami, Fla., for her health. Mrs. Meo's son's body was found clutched in the arms of another woman. Both bodies were badly burned.

An inquest was scheduled for 10:30 a. m. Friday.

Eight Killed in Explosion

JERUSALEM—(AP)—The closely guarded Jewish Agency Building was badly damaged by an explosion today soon after a car flying an American flag was seen entering its courtyard.

The Jewish Agency announced eight persons were killed and 89 were injured.

None of the casualties was a top officer of the agency, official spokesman for Palestine Jewry, though three of those slightly hurt were minor officials.

Jews in the building at the time said the automobile with the American flag entered the courtyard through the guarded gate with two men inside. The men parked the car, walked out past the guard and drove away in a waiting taxi cab, the witness said. The building caught fire after the blast.

Witnesses speculated that the car may have been one of the automobiles stolen in the last two weeks from the United States Consulate.

The semicircular two-story stone-and-concrete building had hundreds of rooms and was one of Jerusalem's finest.

Speaker Is In Demand

Senor Roberto de la Rosa, cultural ambassador from Mexico who spoke today before the Lions Club luncheon and whose last appearance in Pampa was before the Chamber of Commerce Jan. 13, will speak at the regular meeting of the Pampa Rotary Club next Wednesday noon in the Palm Room at the City Hall.

Herashel Coffey, economist from West Texas State College, who had been invited to discuss the Marshall Plan at yesterday's meeting, was prevented by inclement weather from appearing.

In his place, Knox Kinard, superintendent of Pampa Public Schools, gave a short report on the convention of the American Association of School Administrators he attended at Atlantic City, Feb. 21 to 26.

At this convention, Kinard said, Prof. Robert Montgomery, head of the Department of Economics of the University of Texas, presented a very reasoned and intelligent picture of America's future as world leader in the coming atomic age.

Kinard urged the Rotary Club to obtain Montgomery as a speaker if at all possible.

Steve Matthews, Ray Evans, and George Scott were elected delegates to attend the 127th Rotary District convention at Big Spring, Mar. 28 to 30. Mayor C. A. Huff, Joe Key, and Jack Sullivan were named alternate delegates.

There were four visitors at yesterday's meeting. Virgil Mott led the singing, and Ray Evans conducted the business meeting.

King of Sweden Is Reported Safe

STOCKHOLM, Sweden—(AP)—A rumor spread through Europe today that King Gustav V of Sweden died on a train en route to the Riviera.

A Belgian stationmaster stated, however, that he saw the 89-year-old monarch alive at 11:15 a. m. (6:15 a. m. EST), several hours after the rumors began circulating.

Developments in Military Are Stressed

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Military developments in the United States reflect the "very, very serious" world situation noted by Secretary of State Marshall.

High command conferences... new weapons... requests for military manpower... Congressional warnings against cutting defense funds.

All these coincide today with Marshall's grave summation of the trend of global affairs.

But just as the secretary voiced an implied plea to the American people to keep cool, other top officials in both the diplomatic and military branches of the government took pains to stress this:

All efforts to build up the United States' armed might are aimed solely at guarding against aggressive attack.

These officials shun the idea of a "preventive" war to beat any would-be attacker to the draw. Secretary of Defense Forrestal told a news conference yesterday that it is not the nature of democracies, "particularly this democracy," to plan a war deliberately.

But the United States is determined to put its military house in order.

Here are some of the latest efforts:

High command: Forrestal has ordered the joint chiefs of staff to meet with him and tell him where they disagree about what service should do what in a war.

If these military commanders of the Army, Navy and Air Force and the chief of staff to the President still can't agree, Forrestal will make his own decisions.

Weapons: While making ready for further tests of atomic weapons in the Pacific, the military has begun experiments in California with the world's biggest standard explosive bomb—a 21-ton missile.

The first phase of the test was for a B-29 to drop a dud. Later live bombs will be exploded.

The Air Force plans these tests drops from its biggest bomber, the B-36.

The Navy, stressing more and more the role of carrier-borne aviation in its fleet, proposes to build a giant 80,000-ton flat-top.

Manpower: A new effort to push universal military training through Congress is underway.

The Senate Armed Services Committee decided yesterday to ignore House delays and begin its own hearings on a bill next week.

Meanwhile the office of selective service records is training officers to put a new draft program into effect quickly if the necessity arises.

Defense funds: House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) said Congress not only will find it difficult to appropriate more than the $11,000,000,000 President Truman asked for national defense in his budget.

Meyers Rests His Defense

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers rested his case today without calling a single witness in defense of a charge that he induced a business associate to lie to a Senate committee.

Attorneys for the retired Air Force officer laid the groundwork, however, for a plea for the general's outright acquittal. This plea to the court was to be based on a contention that the Senate group which inquired into Meyers' business affairs last Fall was illegal.

The only evidence placed before the federal jury in defense of Meyers was a series of Senate resolutions creating the Senate War Investigating Committee.

For the first time in the trial, Meyers' wife, the former Hollywood Actress Ila Ray, showed up in the courtroom.

Eleven Girls to Receive Award of Curved Bar

Eleven girls will receive the award of the Curved Bar, the highest award in Girl Scouting, and more than 300 girls will receive other badges and awards at the Girl Scout birthday party and get-together at 7 p. m. Friday in the Junior High School Gymnasium.

Dr. Douglas Nelson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will award Curved Bars to Carolyn Dial, Phoebe Carter, Greta Miller, Wynell W. and her friend, Adelaide Skelly, Carlotta Dalton, Janice Baker, Kay Gene Meyers, Mary M. Burns, Dorothy Mackie, and Ann Miller.

The Rev. B. A. Norris, pastor of the First Christian Church and president of the Girl Scout Association, will present caps to those girls who have reached the age limit and are going into Senior Scouting.

Since the last Court of Awards met last Fall, more than 300 girls have completed advance work and will be given the badges and awards they have earned Friday evening.

In connection with the 36th birthday of the Girl Scout troops of Pampa, will hold a city-wide Brownie Revue at 2 p. m. Saturday in the gymnasium of the Junior High School.

State Funeral Set Saturday For Masaryk

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia—(AP)—Jan Masaryk will be given a state funeral Saturday by Czechoslovakia's Communist-controlled government. He will be laid to rest beside his father, founder and first president of the republic.

The 61-year-old non-party foreign minister was found dead yesterday, two weeks after the new cabinet came to power, in a stone courtyard more than 80 feet below his bathroom window at the Foreign Office. The government said he jumped.

Funeral services will be held in the Pantheon of the Prague Museum in the Capital's Central Square. Communist Premier Klement Gottwald will speak. Burial will be in the family plot at Lany, beside the grave of Thomas G. Masaryk, who was president from 1918 to 1938 and died in 1937.

Czechoslovakia mourned the minister today in shocked melancholy. Half-staffed tricolors and black banners did not begin to tell the story of the loss felt by the nation's "little people."

Czechoslovaks are a hard-headed, soft-hearted people, unashamed of sentimentality. The love they lavished on their world famous son in his lifetime was matched at his death by a nation's mourning, by radio broadcasts, with continuous reference to his death and with the somber melodies of Czech funeral music.

To thousands the loss was personal, because Masaryk numbered his personal friends in the thousands. And to millions the country's loss was real, because they shared with him the tradition of Masaryk family name and the big part he played in the birth and building of the republic after the First World War.

They knew the young Jan who stood up in the councils of the world and talked with the mighty. And they knew how he liked to enjoy picnics in the country, to swim at public beaches in the Vitava River here, to chat and joke with shopkeepers, waiters and workmen in a familiar way his father had done before him. (See MASARYK, Page 8)

Sweatt Asks New Hearing

AUSTIN—(AP)—Heman Marion Sweatt, Houston Negro mail carrier, today asked the Court of Civil Appeals for a new hearing on his effort to enter the University of Texas Law School.

The intermediate court recently affirmed a trial court judgment denying Sweatt's application for a writ of mandamus to compel university officials to admit him. Today was the deadline for Sweatt's motion for rehearing.

If the Court of Civil Appeals denies the motion for a new hearing, Sweatt's next move will be his long legal battle would be to appeal to the State Supreme Court.

He said he would carry the fight to the United States Supreme Court if necessary.

Sweatt applied for admission to the university law school more than two years ago. His fight has been in the courts since the spring of 1946.

Since that time, the Legislature has established the Texas State University for Negroes at Austin with a law branch at Austin utilizing University of Texas faculty members. It has two students. Sweatt did not seek admission.

Serving as pallbearers will be Ben White, Ed Poe, D. R. Henry, Wilson Hatcher, L. H. Sullins, and Mutt Watson.

Paper Says Yanks For Evacuation

NEW YORK—The Marines who recently were sent to the Mediterranean are not primarily combat troops as reported at that time, says Business Week, but are specially trained evacuation forces. "Their job," the magazine reports, "will be to get Americans out of the Middle East—fast—if the times comes."

The U. S. has established a port consulate at Haifa, Palestine; theoretically, any port consulate area has diplomatic immunity. There are 4,500 Americans in Palestine alone.

Oklahoma Lass Makes Own Way

MOORELAND, Okla.—(AP)—Here's one young lady who won't need an assist from leap year. She's a pert little 17-year-old blonde named Ellabelle Swigart, and she lives on a farm up near Oklahoma's Panhandle. She only gets to town for livestock shows, and she was visiting one at Oklahoma City Tuesday.

But she doesn't need any sympathy from her city sisters. In the past seven years, she has won seven championships with sheep or steers.

Won state blue ribbons for fancy dressmaking. Won state blue ribbons for cooking. And she sold all those animals for $12,700.

Congressman Says U. S. Is Backing Down on Promise

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Rep. Short (R-Mo) said the State Department is backing down on a promise to push oil exploration in South America. He told a reporter the department has decided not to insist on a discussion of oil supply problems at the Inter-American Economic Conference in Bogota, Colombia, late this month.

The switch in plans, he added, was made at the request of a "friendly country" which department officials have refused to identify.

Short is chairman of a House Armed Services Subcommittee studying world oil supplies. He said he had asked that hemispheric self-sufficiency in oil be a major topic at the conference.

Man Dies by Own Schedule

WELEETKA, Okla.—(AP)—When 76-year-old Rette Evelyn Smith died here last Friday, her 77-year-old husband, Isom, said he would not live more than three days. An hour before her funeral Sunday he sickened. At 6 p.m. he died.

Case of Dirty Laundry Aired

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Congressmen's speeches are not the only things traveling free through the mail in "franked" envelopes. The Postoffice Department sends out its dirty laundry that way.

This came to light in hearings released by the House Appropriations Committee. Committee members asked department officials what postoffices around the country do with dirty towels. Some they send to local laundries, the officials said, others are sent off to federal penitentiaries, and the rest go to veterans' hospitals. For laundering of course.

Rep. Canfield (R-NJ) wanted to "know how much all this cost the government every year."

Nothing, replied F. J. Buckley, deputy fourth assistant postmaster general. The towels travel by frank, that is, free.

New Jersey Demos Will Go for HST

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—(AP)—A spokesman for the New Jersey Democratic organization headed by former Mayor Frank Hague said the state's delegation to the Democratic Convention will be "one hundred percent for President Truman."

"We will work for him all the way," the spokesman said. "We have no other candidate in mind."

There Just Ain't No Escapin' It

PORTLAND, Me.—(AP)—Philip Reuben, vice president of the Maine Association of Master Plumbers, was 45 minutes late Tuesday for the organization's 50th annual convention.

The reason: A leaking pipe in his home. It happens in the best of families, said Reuben.

People were wringing their hands when commodity prices got high, and now it looks like they might go down again they are wringing them all over again, or unwriving them: I don't know which.

Opening Round in National Cage Meet Slated for Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Four of the country's classier college basketball teams, together owning 93 victories against 12 defeats, square off tonight in the opening round of the choicest National Invitation Tournament.

This is the stellar lineup awaiting a sellout crowd of 18,000 at Madison Square Garden:

Western Kentucky (26-1) vs. LaSalle of Philadelphia (19-2). St. Louis (21-3) vs. Bowling Green, O. (27-5).

The sharpshooters get underway at 7 p. m. (CST).

The Hilltoppers of Western Kentucky, top-seeded on the strength of the nation's best college competitive record, and St. Louis, No. 4 in the rankings, are favored to win semifinal berths.

The second set of first round games in the fast eight team elimination is scheduled for Saturday, like this: Texas (26-4) vs. New York U. (20-2), North Carolina State (29-2) vs. DePaul (21-6).

Western Kentucky will field an experienced outfit of four seniors and one junior with plenty of height. Don Ray and Otto Spears are six feet-five while Owen McKinney is six-four.

By contrast, LaSalle is a hot longshot, is short on seasoning, the most junior and one senior.

However, one of the sophomores—six-foot-nine Larry Foust, rates among the country's better basket-hitters. He has totaled 236 points this season for an average of 16.7 a game.

Man to Grapple Alligator on Weekly Wrestling Card Tonite

Something new will appear in the local ring tonight at the sportorium when an alligator and a man will engage in a wrestling match.

A Helping Hand

And along with this added attraction Promoter Vic Burnett will present a double-main event on which Dory Funk of Hammond, Ind., will grapple The Mask, and Gorilla Poggi will match holds with Pierre LaBelle, of Portland, Ore.

The alligator, known as "Rodey," will tangle with his owner Tuffy Truesdell, who minded his own business as a straight man-wrestler for 11 years before entering the 'gator grappling business.

Contrary to what people believe—the alligator is not tick, or—and a lot of them do, seemingly wired, or hypnotized when it's in the ring.

However, Tuffy says, there is a trick to it, but it's nothing to do with mesmerism or anything like that. It's a matter of getting to know your animal—and watching him closely.

Johnny Corlin will referee tonight's matches. The first event is scheduled to begin at 8:15.

Beloit, San Jose Rated Favorites in Kansas City Meet

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Rugged Beloit College and the surprising San Jose State Spartans became favorites by the slightest margins today as the National Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament moved into the quarterfinal play.

San Jose (Calif.) State upset the defending champion Marshall College 74-72 in an overtime period last night. The Spartans are certain to have trouble tonight in quarterfinal play with Indiana State. The Terre Haute, Ind., team walloped Brigham Young University 42-48 yesterday.

Beloit, a hard driving outfit from Wisconsin, bowled over Lawrence Tech of Detroit, 78-62. Beloit meets the University of Louisville tonight.

Eight top notch teams, from the starting field of 32, remain in the six-day meet.

San Jose shares the upper bracket with Indiana State, Hamline University of St. Paul and Manhattan College of the Bronx, N. Y.

Beloit is bracketed with Louisville, Xavier University of Cincinnati, and Mankato (Minn.) State.

Negro Series Dates Set

WACO (AP)—The Negro baseball championship of the South will be determined July 24-30 at the second annual Dixie Series which will be played either at Dallas or Waco.

The Dixie champions will be eligible to compete in the 14th annual National Tournament at Wichita, Kans., Aug. 12-25. The winner will receive a $10,000 purse.

Eddie Dyer and Red Birds

Somehow, regardless of the year, the happy-go-lucky St. Louis Cardinals are always laughing. Even a smack on the head by a line drive ball didn't dampen the spirit of Manager Eddie Dyer shown here talking to his squad in the Cardinals' training camp dressing room in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Bankhead Works With Dodgers

CINCINNATI, D. R.—Dan Bankhead, Brooklyn pitcher from the Memphis Negro League, is getting a chance to show how he can play outfield. Bankhead's single helped the Dodgers score four runs in the second inning of an exhibition game yesterday with the Montreal Royals of the International League. Brooklyn won, 8-2.

BRADENTON, Fla.—A real battle looms for the Boston Braves second base job between ex-Dodger Eddie Stanky and Connie Ryan, Tribe veteran. Ryan punched a single, double and triple in five trips yesterday, as Boston frustrated the Cincinnati Reds, 14-3. Stanky is expected in camp Saturday.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—Zeb Eaton, 28-year-old former Detroit Tigers pitcher, is hitting the comeback trail with the Philadelphia Athletics as an outfielder.

"This is the best break I've ever had—getting another chance in the majors, and as an outfielder," he said.

Clearwater, Fla.—The Phillies' pitching is beginning to worry Manager Ben Chapman. In two straight games with Cincinnati and Detroit, they have been touched for 28 runs. In contrast, the Phils have been able to score only eight times. Detroit blasted Philadelphia yesterday, 14-5.

FULLERTON, Calif.—Bob Lemon, Al Gettel and Bob Muncie drew pitching assignments for the Cleveland Indians in today's exhibition game with the Los Angeles Angels.

Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon surveyed the boundary line between Pennsylvania and Maryland which came to be known as the Mason-Dixon Line.

Tinsley Is Head Grid Coach at LSU

BATON ROUGE, La.—(AP)—Gaynell Tinsley had his "lifelong wish" today—He was head football coach at Louisiana State University, where he was an all-American end a dozen years ago.

The 33-year-old Tinsley was promoted from end coach to head coach last night. He succeeds Bernie Moore, who resigned after 13 years to become commissioner of the Southeastern Conference.

From a club that won five, lost three and tied one last year, Moore leaves Tinsley a roster minus the best passer, two most sparkling runners, four starting tacklers, and a few other graduating stalwarts.

As to prospects for next season, he evaded with the remark that "LSU has a bunch of boys eager to play and enthusiastic as any team in the Southeastern Conference."

Tinsley is the youngest man, and the first alumnus, among the 21 head coaches LSU has had in its 55 years of football. He was also the school's first all-American, making it in 1935 and 1936, under Moore's coaching.

He played with the Chicago Cardinals in 1937-38, then came to LSU as end coach. He joined

Walcott Wins Timid Four Round Exhibition

CHICAGO (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott, who lost an unpopular decision to Joe Louis and who, to meet the heavyweight champion again June 25, won a timid four round boxing exhibition with Austin Johnson of Atlantic City, last night in the Coliseum.

There was very little action throughout the match and the customers boomed steadily throughout the four rounds. Johnson, 196 pounds, showed little inclination to mix it and retreated most of the distance.

Walcott weighed 202 1/2 pounds and alarmed Johnson occasionally with a flurry of punches.

As to prospects for next season, he evaded with the remark that "LSU has a bunch of boys eager to play and enthusiastic as any team in the Southeastern Conference."

Health, Conferees Say, Is More Than Private Affair—State's Concern, Too

AUSTIN—(AP)—Will more or even better laws solve the problem of juvenile delinquency? Is not the real problem more basic?

These questions were put frequently at the recent meeting of the Texas Committee on Children and Youth. In the face of these questions, the committee recommended sweeping revision of all the statutes bearing on children, but it put the finger on home deficiencies as holding the key to why so many children begin life short-handed.

One of the first to raise the question and sharply drawing a line of demarcation between the state's responsibility and that of the home was Mrs. Richard J. Turrentine of Denton, chairman of the State Board of Public Welfare.

After outlining certain fields in which she said the state had basic responsibility in seeing to it that children be born physically and mentally fit, of healthy parents and into a home reasonably secure economically and socially, Mrs. Turrentine added:

"Health is not a private affair. It follows that to have healthy, happy, well-adjusted children we must have healthy, happy, well-adjusted parents and a secure family unit. This involves the Departments of Labor, Health, Education and programs of social insurance, adequate housing and employment."

"The basis of child welfare upon all levels is the home, a home that furnishes security and affection."

There is no substitute for this type of home in safeguarding the child's wellbeing and promoting his growth into a worthy citizen.

The attitude of many of the representatives of some 70 organizations interested in child welfare was generally in agreement with this. But the conference members felt that, while the home was basically responsible, the state should stopgap as far as possible to make up for home deficiencies.

One of the chief exponents of the view that home weaknesses are fundamentally responsible for breakdowns in the process of making good citizens of children was Dr. Harold E. Fey, managing editor of the Christian Century, Chicago.

He quoted Dr. Edward A. Strecker, chairman of the Psychiatry Division of the National Research Council, as saying: "America is on the brink of disintegration because of the increase in divorce and adult and juvenile delinquency. Somewhere along the line we have lost our spiritual values."

Commenting on this, Dr. Fey said that we must recover "our sense of sacredness of each personality and the sanctity of the marriage bond."

The editor suggested that all persons, including children, should be regarded as "ends in themselves, not means to an end; as immortal souls and not simply as soldiers, contributors to church budgets, names on a playground roster, or problems for the police or church janitor."

Ben's Bride Gets Chickenhearted

Ben Ryder was mighty proud of his young bride when she offered to care for his new flock of baby chicks. "Just like a mother with her brood," he boasts.

Then came market time for fryers—and the crisis! Sue simply wouldn't let Ben near her chickens with an axe. She'd raised them as babes... she'd named them... they were her very own!

Ben poured himself a glass of beer, to think things over sensibly. He hated to lose the price on fryers... but he figured Sue had put up with his peculiarities, he guessed he could put up with her fondness for the chickens.

So now Ben has the nicest brood of laying hens in town, and from where I sit, one of the most successful marriages, too. All because he "lived-and-let-live"—literally. And whenever he wants fried chicken, he takes his bride over to Andy's Garden Tavern for a crisp wing and a glass of beer.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Snaring a rich husband is a highly developed art in New York, and smart mothers now are hiring press agents to get their debutante even daughters married.

Here is the way it works: Mrs. Maggie Nobody is a social climbing widow of middle age. She has a little money, a daughter and more brass than a shell factory.

The only object Mrs. Nobody has in life is to muscle her way into what passes for society here—it is sometimes called "chaos with class"—and marry off her empty-headed kid into a family with big dough.

Some time back Mrs. Nobody forked out a considerable number of dollars to an impoverished lady of quality with lots of social entree but little cash. This hardup peddler in lavender and old lace saw that little Gladys Nobody went to the right schools and met the right people.

She also superintended the coming out party at which Gladys was formally introduced to society. About half the social register guests who were invited showed up. They didn't care much for Mrs. Nobody but after all their kids had all gone to the same school and anyway the champagne was free.

Gladys looks like twelve miles of broken road before she puts her makeup on. But she's been taught how to wear expensive clothes and talks a smart hard patter.

Everyone in their circle knows that Mrs. Nobody has now put Gladys on the matrimonial market and is looking for a sucker. But that doesn't change the game any.

Dipping again into her slender resources, Mrs. Nobody hires a press agent to advertise her product. He may line up Gladys a job as a society model—as everybody knows the rich young boys like to date glamorous models.

He also will see to it that Gladys is mentioned frequently in the society news and that she goes to the fashionable places. Like all debutantes Gladys is eager to lend her glamor to charity events. But the first question she asks is, "Will the photographers be there?" If no cameras are coming, she's just too busy to be bothered.

How will it all end? Well, the field is cluttered with brittle even dowdier daughters being pushed by conspiring mothers. The chances are that Gladys will marry some equally brittle young man who lives on his prospects rather than by his sweat.

Girls Carry on After 100 Years Battle for Rights

By F. WILLIAM DAVIDSON
AP Newsfeatures

TROY, N. Y.—After fighting 100 years for women's rights, leading feminists smile when asked if man still is boss of the world.

Asked if women are happier galavanting around in public life, or taking care of families, they explode: "That's a silly question."

But asked what the next century holds in store for women's emancipation, they talk for hours.

An array of the leading feminists of the day rededicated themselves to an assault upon man's mastery of the world—a fictitious theory, some claim—at Russell Sage College. The two-day conference marked the centennial of the first women's rights convention at Seneca Falls in 1848.

It was no place for a man. Surrounded by hundreds of career women, a few executives present were willing to concede that it is a woman's world.

There were feminine doctors, scientists, engineers, educators, authors, judges, politicians, business women—and even mothers. They orated for two days about the victories the fair sex has scored over the male since those dark days when Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucretia Mott raised the banner for women's emancipation.

Mrs. Chase Going Woodhouse of New London, Conn., executive director of the women's division of the Democratic national committee and a former Democratic congresswoman, threw a barb at man's smugness in a pre-convention interview.

"Remember, sir, there are potentially 1,000,000 more women voters in the United States than men."

"It is my hope that the concept of minorities—including that of women—will be broken in the near future," she continued.

Miss Josephine Schain of New York City, United States delegate to the United Nations conference on food and agriculture at Hot Springs, Va., in 1943, and chairwoman of the foreign policy committee of the Greater New York League of Women Voters, said women exercised great interest in national and international affairs.

"The four walls of a home can not corral a woman today. When a woman rears a son, gives him to the world as a fighting man and learns that his body has been washed up on a beach of an Okinawa, she develops intense interest in international life," Miss Schain continued.

The women could have pointed to a census bureau report for proof that men were no longer corraling women within the four walls of a home. Twenty out of 100 married women living with husbands worked or were looking for jobs last April, compared with 15 out of 100 in April, 1940, the bureau reported.

Mrs. Woodhouse told the Troy conference that "women have a bad habit of living longer than men." She considered this proof that women had to step into public life whether they wanted to or not. "It is a matter of self-preservation," she noted.

Speaker Discusses 'Mental Patients' At Club Meeting

The Civic Culture Club met Tuesday, March 9, in the home of Mrs. Irvin Cole with Mrs. W. W. Waters conducting the business.

Mrs. Kenneth Meyers spoke to club members on the topic of "Mental Patients, a Challenge to Conscience." In her talk the speaker said that of all those seeking medical attention 50 to 75 percent also needed mental aid. She discussed the various types of insanity and stated that the victims of temporary insanity deserved much more understanding than is usually accorded them.

Attention was called to the deplorable conditions in many of our mental institutions, but in contrast to the great strides being made in our mental hospitals for veterans which is most commendable.

Members brought books to the meeting to be given to the library for colored children. They were reminded to bring articles to the next meeting to be sent to Boys Ranch at Tascosa.

Refreshments in the St. Patrick's theme were served to those mentioned and Meadames John Branigan, H. M. Stull, Katie Vincent, Frank Shotwell, L. E. Cool, Emmett Osborne, and Lloyd Rinehart.

SERIOUS BUSINESS

Wise homemakers find it economical to buy a large cut of meat, then use it for several meals. The value of the meat, plus the value of the fat consumed in cooking a large cut, is usually considered less than that required for cooking several smaller cuts.

Club Has Program On Hose and Kitchens

The Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. J. A. Grundy Friday for a program on "How to dye hose" and "selecting color combinations for kitchens." Mrs. O. G. Smith directed a berry game. Roll call was answered with "kitchen equipment that I would like to buy."

Mrs. G. H. Anderson presided for the business, in which the club voted to donate tea towels and dish cloths to the H. D. Council for the city club rooms, and voted $8.00 into the T. H. D. A. fund to be used by the Gray County chairman of THDA.

Mrs. D. E. Bump gave the council report and urged the members to enter the essay writing contest sponsored by the Texas Home Demonstration Association.

Mrs. N. E. Cude gave a ten minute demonstration on buying and dyeing hose. She suggested that all purpose rit be used and that black and brown produce the various shades desired in hose.

Miss Ann Hastings, home demonstration agent, spoke on kitchen color combinations. To be clean, the kitchen need not be all-white like a laboratory, but may be colorful and cheerful, such as a combination of jonquil, blue, and coral. She asked, "How many of you recall cozy warm kitchens of your mother or grandmother, which was the center of family activities after the day's work was over?"

This idea, she stated, may be kept in mind, when one plans decorative schemes for her own kitchen. Some of those which may be used are Early American, Swedish, Mexican, Dutch and others. Sometimes pottery or a plate may be used for a color scheme, or one may wish to use the wallpaper, or the dress materials used for curtains.

Refreshments were served to those mentioned and to Mrs. B. G. Waggoner, Mrs. A. French, Mrs. E. B. Stuebgen, Mrs. Ray Robertson, Mrs. J. C. Payne, Mrs. D. L. Lunford, members, and to one guest, Mrs. C. F. Barritt of Hobart, Okla.

"I am glad to be home," he said in his last public news conference, upon his return from the 1947 United Nations Assembly meeting in New York. "I am glad to be back with my little people."

That was the last time western correspondents saw him in any number. During and after the political crisis that saw Czechoslovakia go under Communist control, he denied himself to western newsmen.

What politics, what policies lay behind his moves and his statements while he remained a non-party member of the Communist-controlled government may never be known.

What went on in his mind through a sleepless night in his apartment in the foreign ministry's Czernin Palace was a compelling mystery in the personal life of Masaryk and the political life of his country.

His government said officially that he was ill, suffered from insomnia, was overworked from reading reproachful messages from friends in England and America, and in a nervous crisis ended his life.

No suicide note has been mentioned. Masaryk was found huddled on the stone flagging, his head against his eyes closed, the official version said. The cause of death still was to be made known by post-mortem examinations.

Business Lags

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Jim Hyland, 19, Pittsburgh, is learning the bridge business from the water up.

Hyland, an apprentice, sits in a rowboat under the Wabash Railroad Bridge here, now being demolished, to rescue any workmen who fall into the Monongahela River. So far, he hasn't been needed.

Moved eastward but forecasters said no readings comparable to the 30 below reported in the Midwest today were expected. They said the cold weather will continue through tonight over most of the ice belt.

In other sections of the country temperatures were normal or above seasonal levels. The 31 at Miami was the high on yesterday's weather map.

WEATHER

cury dropped to 6 below.

This is the lowest reading for this year—the next lowest having been recorded on Jan. 28 when the indicator showed 1 below.

Six below is an all-time record for March here, according to the bureau. Since records have been kept here—1937—there has never been a six below recording in March. There was not even such a reading in any February, according to the records. On Jan. 19, 1943, the thermometer showed 10 below.

The weatherman said the mercury would ascend to the 15 degree mark by this afternoon, and that there would be around 5-degree weather tonight. It would remain clear, he said.

It was announced here that in all likelihood the present storm was over, considering the fact that clear skies were reported today in Colorado, New Mexico, and Kansas—where this area's storms are usually manufactured. Thawing was expected to begin here tomorrow, although there would be a few clouds. No further falling weather was in sight—but it was intimated that weathermen in these parts can't "see" too far. In other words, according to the weathermen, the elements here are definitely unpredictable beyond a limited length of time.

Schools remained closed here. They were also closed at Lefors, Texline, Dumas, Spearman, Claude and Hedley.

Snowfall here was estimated at 12 inches. The total moisture for the year so far is 2.13 inches. The total so far in March is .60-inch. This is compared to the normal of .91-inch for all of March, and 2.23 inches for the normal year through March.

Snowdrifts as high as 10 feet were reported in the Oklahoma Panhandle. Oklahoma City had eight inches of snow yesterday and the Tulsa, Okla., airport closed its doors for the first time in 20 years.

Many persons were stranded by the snow in Kansas. Near Salina, Kans., 39 persons were rescued yesterday after they took refuge in a small building when a bus and trucks in which they were riding stalled in drifts. Several Kansas towns were snowbound.

Gas company officials appealed to users to conserve heat because of the heavy drain on the supply.

The severe cold wave engulfed 16 states. The sub-zero line extended into the Texas Panhandle. The Federal Weather Bureau said the biting cold extended from New Mexico to Northern Texas, north to the Canadian border and northeast to lower Michigan.

Parts of the South felt the sting of the frigid blasts, too, and temperatures skidded to below freezing in parts of Tennessee, Arkansas and northern Missouri. The mass of cold air

AS LONG AS I LIVE

By Ione Sandberg Shriber © BY IONE SANDBERG SHRIBER, DISTRIBUTED BY NEA-SERVICE, INC.

THIS STORY: Ann Bancroft—Mrs. Rush Bancroft—suddenly became terrified. Someone had seen the sales of her new pumpkins. Someone who evidently wants her to slip and fall down the steep staircase at Tophill. Ann discovers the man of wax in her closet. Her fright increases when she gets a letter from a Mr. Stank about work done on the swinging bridge over the ravine in the garden. The workman writes that the bridge was in perfect condition on May 23. But on May 29 the bridge collapsed, carrying Louise the gardener to his death. Ann wonders if the "accident" was meant to kill not Luke, but Ann. . . . The shock back to the day Rush first suggested the picnic. Rinda, her one-time college roommate, had just arrived at Tophill for a long-delayed visit. Everyone—including Louise, Ann's 18-year-old sister, and Tommy, Laurie's fiancé—was having tea in the library. Gay, Rush's attractive young laboratory assistant, had just left. (Rush is a bacteriologist—his lab is separate from the house.) Laurie makes a shrewd remark about Gay's romance for Rush but Ann refuses to take it up. Rinda admits she is engaged—to Don Allison.

RUSH was telling Rinda about the picnic grounds. Laurie and Tommy were playing gin rummy. The fire murmured contentedly in the hearth. Ann leaned her head back against the chair. The picnic grounds were on the far hill beyond the rose garden to the rear of the house, on the other side of the ravine. Ann was as fond of the ravine as she was of the gas fireplace in her bedroom or the grandfather clock on the landing. It was deep and rocky (treacherous, too, and dangerous, although those words were never used to describe it until after the 13th of May) and there were broad stone steps leading from the rose garden down into the ravine. There were steps going up the other side, of course. Steps that led to the picnic grounds. The climb was arduous and steep but no one ever complained after they reached the top because the picnic grounds were so perfect.

There was a green tiled pool 30 feet long and 30 feet wide. And opposite the pool were the picnic tables, the portable grill and the big one built of fieldstone, the well-equipped bar. The picnic grounds were so perfect that it was almost easier to have a picnic for twenty than a dinner party for four. So, since it was so easy to have a picnic, Rush couldn't be blamed for suggesting it, could he? He always took over the cooking when they had a picnic; so he was actually suggesting a lot of work for himself. "But you'll all have to help," he had said to the others, "because the servants have the day off." Ann had given them the day off before she'd received Rinda's letter inviting herself to Tophill. The shock of the thought brought her upright. Inviting herself? Rinda?

What is the matter with me? she wondered. I've urged Rinda to come for years. She pressed her hands to her throbbing temples. Her head was aching in earnest now. She forced herself back . . . back to the picnic . . . back to Decoration Day. . . . ANN awakened early that morning. She jumped out of bed and went downstairs to see if she could help Stella, the cook, and Mary and Susan, the maids, with breakfast. Stella and the girls were going to Akron for the holiday and their bus left at nine o'clock. Everyone had been warned that breakfast would be early, the only surprising thing was that everyone was prompt. While the others were lingering over coffee and cigars, Ann went into the kitchen to do the dishes and attend to last minute preparations for the picnic. One by one the others straggled out.

"All set?" Laurie asked, peering on the kitchen table. "Ann, for crying in a tin cup, what are you doing? Cooking? I thought Stella got everything ready? I thought—" "Now never mind, baby," Ann said. "And I'm not cooking. Just deviling the eggs. Stella didn't have time. Everything else—well, practically everything else—is ready. Rush, your basket is over there"—she nodded toward the outside door—"And Tommy, there's yours." Rush had the oil and potatoes, Tommy the gin and vermouth, the lemons and olives and cherries. "Luke took 50 pounds of ice up this morning while he was doing chores." Luke was the gardener. "Well, look, funny face,"—Rush ambled over—and reached for a hard-boiled egg—"what gives? Aren't we all going?" Ann shook her head. "My sinus is acting up," she said. "So I can't go swimming. I'm going to gather up odds and ends and meet you at the pool in an hour or so." "Can't we take most of the stuff now?" "Nope. I want to keep it in the refrigerator." "Well, ring the bell when you're ready and I'll come for you." "Pooh," said Ann airily. "I'll come by the bridge." "Bridge?" said Rinda and Gay shuddered and said she, for one, would never cross the ravine that way. "It goes right over the ravine at the steepest part . . . and it actually swings while you're on it!" "Well, naturally," Laurie said, "it's a swinging bridge." "O. K.," Rush said, "but if you want me whistle." She flashed him a smile and he bent and his kiss caught her on the end of her nose. She shooed them from the kitchen, got on with the eggs. She was very nearly finished and humming as she moved briskly around the kitchen when she heard someone at the back door. "Come in," she called. "It didn't occur to her to be afraid. Life was fine and life was beautiful and there wasn't anything in the world to be afraid of." (To Be Continued)

River Flow, Water Storage Report Offers Much Contrast

AUSTIN—(AP)—A sharply contrasting picture of river flow and water storage for February was reported by the State Board of Water Engineers. The board's survey in conjunction with the U. S. Geological Survey found rainfall was generally above normal, with some sections getting three times normal. This caused floods on some rivers, but others were running very low. A discharge exceeding 40,000 cubic feet per second was recorded at the stream gauging station on Trinity River at Dallas. This was the largest since March, 1945, although 32 feet below the 1908 peak. Three reservoirs in the upper Trinity River Basin—Eagle Mountain, Bridgeport and Lake Dallas—contained nearly 600,000 acre-feet of water at the end of the month, representing a gain of 170,000 acre-feet during February. Flow for the month on the North Boque River near Clifton was 659 second-feet, the largest February flow since 1941, and the fourth highest since the gauge was established in 1923. Possum Kingdom Reservoir on the Brazos River held slightly less than 470,000 acre-feet Feb. 29 as compared to 483,000 acre-feet on Feb. 1. Marshall Ford Reservoir on the Colorado River gained a slight amount of storage but Buchanan Reservoir lost storage, the total loss being about 3 percent. There is stored back of these two dams, more water than passed the river gauge at Austin in 1947. Each reservoir contains more than half a million acre-feet of water. Guadalupe River at New Braunfels had a monthly flow of 30 cubic feet per second, the lowest February flow since 1940 and about half of the median flow for the month. Delaware River in West Texas, a tributary of the Pecos, had the lowest February flow since 1941. In contrast, Neches River at Evadale in East Texas, had an average flow of 15,000 second-feet, or 140 percent of median flow.

Objections to Stand Taken

DALLAS—(AP)—The Texas Council of Church Women today felt two repercussions of its approval of six points of President Truman's civil rights program. The Women's Auxiliary of St. Matthew's Episcopal Cathedral here resigned from the council yesterday, saying the council had entered politics by its civil rights stand. At Marshall Monday night, 400 women passed a resolution condemning the council's action. It said the council's approval "definitely places the church in politics." It called on Texas women to band together against the pernicious idea of using the church in politics. The Texas Council of Church Women approved six points of the civil rights program at a meeting here last week. Mrs. George Starr Hart, Marshall clubwoman and member of the State Democratic Executive Committee, called the protest meeting at Marshall. The sole object, she said, was to keep the church out of politics. Mrs. O. J. Van Vain of Dallas, president of the Episcopal Cathedral Auxiliary, said shortly after the state council meeting in Dallas members of the auxiliary began asking for a called meeting to protest the state council's civil rights action.

133 Clemencies
Granted by Jester Past Six Months
AUSTIN—(AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester has granted 133 initial clemencies recommended by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles in the past six months. The Governor granted clemency in 86.3 percent of the 154 initial clemency cases on which action has been taken, the board has reported. Jester has not yet acted on 251 other cases in which freedom has been recommended for the first time. During the same period, Sept. 1, 1947, through Feb. 29, 1948, the Governor has approved 38 of 35 revocations recommended by the board. The other two have not been acted on. In addition, Jester initiated action on three revocations not recommended by the board and one constitutional 30-day reprieve and stay of execution. Including extension of clemencies previously granted the remission of jail sentences and fines, and restoration of hunting rights or driver's licenses, the Governor has granted clemency in 85.5 percent of the 983 cases on which action has been taken, the board reported.

Crude Production Breaks Month Climax
INS—14—CRUDE PRODUCTION TULEA, Okla.—(AP)—A month's long climb in the nation's crude oil production came to a halt during the week ended March 6. The daily average output dropped 17,000 barrels from the previous week's figure, the Oil & Gas Journal has reported. Total daily average production for the week was 5,379,220 barrels. Texas was responsible for most of the decline, its output dropping 32,150 barrels to a daily average of 2,400,675 barrels. Other declines included: Mississippi, down 5,665 barrels to 113,910. Louisiana recorded a gain of 900 barrels or less.

Was Price Drop Just a Dip on Inflation Road?

Simultaneously with the government's announcement to turn commodity purchaser again, the nation's commodity markets showed definite signs of leveling off, and possibly heading up again. For six weeks, beginning Jan. 18, the food markets dropped sharply. As March came in like a bull, they started up again. Some commodities have regained 50 percent of their losses. The government's announcement that it would buy flour helped increase the bullish tendencies. The chart traces price fluctuations since 1929 for two important commodities. Figures are from the Department of Commerce Statistical Abstract and the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Wheat Raisers May Get $1 Guarantee

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Give us one-dollar wheat and we'll be happy." That was the cry of American wheat farmers in the thirties—a decade in which the price reached $1 a bushel in only one year. It sank as low as 35 cents in 1932. The depression, shrunken foreign markets and surpluses were largely to blame. Many farmers wonder if the prices of the thirties will return. The government says they need not.

It says the international wheat agreement signed by 26 nations here last Saturday would guarantee growers more than $1 for a five-year period. The agreement could be extended indefinitely. But it first must be approved by

Says Few Realize Danger of Foot, Mouth Disease

HOUSTON, Tex.—(AP)—A former president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association said here today $35,000,000 has been wasted on unsuccessful fights against the foot and mouth disease.

It would put a ceiling of $2 on most of the wheat moving in world markets. That ceiling is designed to protect importing countries from excessive prices.

It also would put price floors under such wheat to protect growers in this and other exporting countries. The floor would be $1.50 a bushel on wheat from the 1948 crop, $1.40 on the 1949 crop, $1.30 on the 1950 crop, $1.20 on the 1951 and $1.10 on the 1952 harvest.

There is a tendency among some farm leaders to oppose the agreement. They cite the fact that wheat is bringing more than $2 now and may continue to do so for another crop year.

Would the agreement mean farmers would get less than otherwise would be the case? The government's answer is "no." It says the agreement would not interfere with prices in the domestic market.

The government would buy wheat for export at the market price, whatever that might be. Then it either would sell abroad for $2, or it would pay exporters a subsidy covering the difference between the market price and the export price. In either case the government would take a loss.

The agreement would not interfere with a government pledge to support government prices at 90 percent of parity.

(Parity is a price formula which tries to be fair to both farmers and consumers—designed to give farmers the same purchasing power they had at some previous favorable period, usually 1909 to 1914.)

The present support price is about $1.85. For the 1948 crop it may be close to $2.

But the 90 percent support price pledge for wheat will expire June 30, 1949, unless extended by Congress. If not extended, it will be replaced by one authorizing lower support levels.

What if domestic prices tend to drop below $1, how would the agreement work? It would help hold the domestic market above $1 because foreign buyers would be committed to pay not less than $1.10 during the life of the agreement.

The agreement might save future export subsidies by the

Texas Counties Show Interest In Rural Fire Fighting Work

By LOUIS FRANKLE Extension Editor Texas A. & M.

March 5 was a big day in Jacksboro. That was the day the Jack County rural fire department tried out its new fire truck and held its first rural firemen's training school.

Jack County is not the first in Texas to have equipment for fighting fires out in the country, because several progress-minded commissioners' courts have bought trucks and accessories of that kind.

Jack County is probably the first where farmers and ranchmen pitched in, bought a truck and equipment out of their own pockets and operated a rural fire fighting department on a voluntary cooperative basis.

The city of Jacksboro has a couple of fire trucks, an efficient voluntary fire department—it sends a couple of members to the A. & M. College firemen's short course every year to take the tests and pick up new wrinkles in fire fighting—but that's not much help to the people out in the country.

TWO-WAY PLAN If you go strictly according to law, a fire department's trucks can't go outside the city limits. But in Jacksboro, they don't pay much attention to that kind of technicality and it's always been pretty well understood that if there is a fire out in the country someplace the new truck will stand by to take care of any emergency that might come up in town while the other truck, Old Betsy, will go out to see what the trouble was that Old can be done. It's just that—pretty old. And last year Jack County had more than its share of big grass fires out on the ranches, plus some houses and barns that burned up and old Betsy just couldn't stand up to the demands of the IDEA BORN People around Jacksboro will tell you that Buck Davis started the cooperative fire fighting deal there. Buck and his brother, Dude, and his father, Wright Davis, have an agency for a farm implement and tractor company, and on top of that they are about one-third mechanics and two-thirds inventor will be closed to traffic on both sides.

Japans Hot Springs TOKYO (AP)—Now they may nationalize Japan's hot springs, long a major attraction for tourists. Kyoto News Agency says the Welfare Ministry is considering such a step to make sure the hot springs are used for the public's benefit.

Japan already has nationalized horse racing. In the past, the government has paid these subsidies to exporters to help them sell American grain at world prices which were lower than support levels in this country.

But what would happen if American prices jumped a way above $2, say to $3.50 or $4? The government then undoubtedly would take advantage of a provision in the agreement to cut its exports below a basic annual quota of 185,000,000 bushels. The chances are such high prices would reflect a critical shortage in this country.

Roberts County Soil District Outlines Work

The Roberts County Soil Conservation District has several projects underway at present, including construction of tanks, soil studies and planting windbreaks.

Horace Smith, whose place is south of Miami is constructing a tank for stock water and erosion control. A large gully which is eating into some of his best pasture land will be stopped, and the pond will also furnish stock water where the cattle will not trail so far to water. This will save pounds of beef walked off and help prevent trampling of grass.

John Haggard, whose livestock farm is 10 miles west of Miami is working up a soil conservation plan on his place. Soil Conservation Service technicians assisting the Roberts County Wind Erosion plan will spread. County Agent Hulseley has already had letters from a score of Texas counties asking about the plan, plus inquiries from Oklahoma and New Mexico people.

Latest Soviet Moves Indicate 'Big Stick' Coming Into Use

By JOHN FISHER
The alarming Red moves in Czechoslovakia, Finland and other threatened countries reveal that the hard-boiled Politburo fears it cannot dominate its prey by parliamentary methods and must resort to the "big stick."

The Prague coup caught the American public by surprise. But for several months the storm signals have been flying not only in Beneš's doomed nation but all over Eastern Europe. Ever since the Cominform was started in Belgrade last September, Communist activity has been stepped up in the Soviet sphere.

At first it was glacial pressure—banning a newspaper here, repealing democratic laws there, murdering a liberal leader, grinding down opposition in Poland, Hungary, Romania and elsewhere—blowing out the lamps of freedom, one by one.

PRETENSE OF DEMOCRACY
Coalition regimes and other "window dressing" were allowed. But now this pretense of democracy has been junked, too. Communists are taking over regardless of whether or not the Reds are in the majority. "Blood and iron" is the repeated slogan.

The assault on freedom is succeeding because every Communist party member in Eastern Europe knows that behind him is the Soviet military power and the NKVD. Often Russian generals and top diplomats arrive in puppet capitals to direct the purge.

But in addition, Communist sweeps today are aided by left wing Socialists, who have become disenchanted with the West. By bolstering the economy of their puppets, Russia hopes to draw strength from them—as Dracula sucked blood from his victims—when the economic showdown between the West and the East begins.

By all the accepted rules of communism should have had a poor time of it in Czechoslovakia. Yet before the seizure of power, the Communists were the country's biggest party. And when they set out to take over completely, the opposition folded up almost overnight.

This sad affair leaves two questions about past events and one for the future. Why were the Communists so strong? Why was the opposition so weak? And how are the Communists going to run Czechoslovakia?

The answer to question one seems to be that communism got its strength partly from gratitude and partly from "realism," or fear. The Red Army liberated Czechoslovakia. After the German surrender Moscow ordered the Communists to take over before they could build up the resentment among the natives that Soviet occupation forces are reported to have created in other countries.

Then there is the fact that Czechoslovakia was a Russia's neighbor. It might be that many Czechs took note of what had happened to most of the other neighbors, decided that their day of reckoning was not far off, and determined to get on the winning side. Stories of a big rush to join the Communist Party since the coup tend to support this theory.

The same sort of thinking may account for the non-Communist quick collapse. President Benes and his followers probably saw that, with the policy under Communist control and an arrogant pro-Soviet general leading the army, resistance would only mean useless bloodshed and inevitable defeat.

As for the third question, the Communists have at last secured a going concern. Some Russian Communists have admitted that it isn't really "communism" that is practiced in their country, and that they would have to get control of a country like the U. S. before their theories really are supposed to work.

Well, the Marxists have a fine opportunity in Czechoslovakia. Here is the ideal laboratory for the Kremlin and its stooges to create the workers' paradise they are always talking about. This can be their show place. They can banish purges and secret police, for the Czechs accepted the new order without a struggle. They can stop such foolishness as ordering composers and writers to turn out a certain type of music and books. The new leaders can ring up the iron curtain and fearlessly let their system stand comparison with decadent capitalism. The Czechs, literate, socialistic-minded people, won't need intellectual spoon-feeding.

All this and more the Communists might do in Czechoslovakia, their new, modern, well-equipped experimental laboratory. What do you bet they don't?

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLES

High Prices
I want to quote a little more from F. A. Harper's book "High Prices." This book was issued by the Foundation for Economic Education.

Mr. Harper quotes from John Maynard Keynes: "Lenin is said to have declared that the best way to destroy the Capitalist System was to debauch the currency. By a continuing process of inflation, governments can confiscate, secretly and unobserved, an important part of the wealth of their citizens."

Then the author says, "They knew!" We seem to be travelling the same way as Russia travelled. We seem to be using the same methods of becoming a socialist state.

Mr. Harper asks ten different questions as to what should be done to prevent an eventual panic in our money system. I quote the last two questions, then I quote his conclusion.

"Should the government discontinue taxing 'profits' and 'gains' arising solely from inflation? Should the government, having first created the inflation money for its own over-spending (as a "test" to question 9 and the first question in 10 and "no" to the second question in ten.

"Such measures, in brief, point to the fact that agents of government have been mainly responsible for the inflation we have had. And if inflation is to be curbed, agents of government must reverse the processes of past years. Since inflation is basically a money question, and since control over money resides with the government, the placement of guilt for past events as well as responsibility for the future rests nearly wholly upon the shoulders of those persons with authority in the government."

"Instead of accepting this responsibility, and taking the necessary measures, we find some agents in government engaging in the old game of throwing decoys in the way of search for enlightenment on this subject. Whether done in innocence or with malicious intent, they studiously avoid the confusion and perpetuate the disease. The good intentions of a mistaken doctor will not protect a patient against a poisonous medicine given him by mistake."

"In self-defense, agents of the government may contend that the ignorance of the people will not allow them to take sound measures against inflation. Perhaps there is some truth in this claim. Pressure groups have been conspicuous in supporting measures of economic quackery. But many leaders in government have studiously avoided statesmanship on these issues too! Like the pressure groups, these persons have pressed toward more and more inflation, not less; they have been feeding the patient toxin, not antidote."

"Under the spell of 'rising prices'—the present penalties for 'past sins' of inflation—some persons in government have encouraged turning the search for the truth into a witch hunt. One is reminded of the trick of a robber who commits a crime and then joins the angry mob in search of the robber. In this inflation crime, persons who have been parties to the crime divert attention from themselves by accusing innocent persons."

"The situation calls for courageous statesmanship by members of the government, who should be encouraged in their efforts by all intelligent citizens. Though the situation is serious, it is not hopeless."

"The one sure hope, the only means of avoiding catastrophe and panic, is to have a thorough understanding of the problem—and then to act accordingly."

DIVIDED—Southern leaders are in such an angry mood against Mr. Truman that many would prefer to lose with or without him than to see him re-elected on a platform containing his civil rights pledges. But they are so divided that there is no assurance they would continue to exert their historic control of the party.

Southern conservatives line up behind Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia. It was Governor William M. Tucker, who owes his advancement to Mr. Byrd, who framed the Virginia plan for keeping Mr. Truman out of the ballot in that state. In fact, the President's friends charge that the "Tucker scheme" was hatched at Washington, meaning that Senator Byrd inspired it.

Senator Lister Hill of Alabama is regarded as Mr. Byrd's principal rival for leadership of any Southern Democratic organization. Mr. Hill was an ultra-loyal Roosevelt spokesman and he says that he will stand by Mr. Truman at the polls.

The Runaway

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—Henry A. Wallace's managers have rejected in advance a purported proposal from the American Democrats for Action group that he pull out of the presidential race along with Harry S. Truman, and permit the Democrats to organize a united front against the now jubilant Republicans under a new champion.

The ADA, whose leaders consist of such former New Dealers as Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Leon Henderson and ex-Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt, are understood to have broached this sort of a move because they were in the Wallace camp. If he agreed to the compromise, they intended to approach Mr. Truman.

NEUTRALITY—The ADA's apparently felt that they were in a strategic spot for making such a move because they were in general agreement with Mr. Wallace until he declared himself as a third-party candidate and took such an extreme pro-Russian stand. But a Wallace representative has assured them of his belief in their so-called neutrality.

"You ADA's," he sneered, "are just a bunch of New Dealers who got rich or who could afford to be New Dealers because you were rich! You are the Bevin's of the United States! There is a fundamental difference between us: You are for ERP and we are against it!"

WRECK—The Democrats' desperation has now become so complete that, in the opinion of numerous leaders of the party, the Philadelphia convention will merely witness a battle among contending factions and individuals for future control of the national organization. Nomination of a presidential candidate will be a side issue.

They liken the situation to that which prevailed at the Republican convention of 1912 when the Taft-Roosevelt schism threatened to destroy the GOP.

When a Roosevelt Progressive begged Penrose, barely Pennsylvania boss, to support T. R., arguing that Taft's renomination would make a "wreck of the party," Penrose rocked on his heels and smiled: "Yes, but we shall own the 'wreckage!'"

DESPERATE—It is no different in Chicago. Boss Ed Kelly is virtually in retirement. Chicago Mayor Martin Kennedy is keeping a tight rein on the boys, including cops, contractors, saloon keepers and ward heelers. He has promised that there will be no vote-stealing during his regime.

Perhaps the cruelest blow was thrown by red-headed Ed Crump of Memphis, one of F. D. R.'s great admirers. Says Ed: "I will vote for a Democrat next November, but it won't be Harry Truman!"

These are a few of the reasons—and only a few—why the Democrats are more desperate and disorganized than they have been since the morning after Al Smith's defeat in 1928!
