BAMBI, BELINDA AND ROD

Two gracious show-people, Bambi Linn and husband Rod Alexander, coaxed a smile from the third member of their family, 17-month-old Belinda, shortly after their arrival in Pampa Saturday noon. The Linn-Alexander troupe, on a 15-stop tour of the nation, gave their last previous show at Garden City, Kansas, Friday night. Saturday night they presented their "Dance Jubilee From Minstrel Days to Springtime" at the Pampa Junior high school.

Famed Dancing Duo Is Big Concert Crowd Pleaser Here

The Bambi Linn-Rod Alexander Dance Company played its first Texas stand Saturday night, opening the Pampa Community Concert season to a dazzled audience. With eight dancers and five musicians, the duo presented a theatrical evening of dance, tagged "Dance Jubilee."

Before forming the "Dance Jubilee" company, Miss Linn and Alexander, who in private life are Mr. and Mrs. were best known for their television appearances. The tour began in Lynn, Mass., and went to Bangor, Me.; Amherst, Mass.; Storrs, Conn.; Milwaukee, Wis.; and St. Louis, Mo. From Pampa the bus will roll to Vernon, Dallas and Houston. Five weeks after Christmas will wind up the tour.

Not to be caught short, the troupe carries its own properties, and stage drapes. A stage crew is provided by the local Concert Association. Before the Pampa performance in the junior high school, Alexander directed the hanging of lights.

Another responsibility of local concert associations is finding a baby sitter for the Alexanders' 17-month old daughter, Belinda, who is still a little young to join the show. The mascot of the troupe is a black poodle, named Paf.

The dancers and musicians of the company were last in New York for Linn-Alexander's first tour. Alexander is the choreographer as well as leading dancer and technical director.

From the response here Saturday night, the Alexanders need have no fear of Texas audiences.

PHS ROYALTY IS CROWNED

Kevin Chisholm and Theresa Marak were crowned king and queen of Pampa High's All School Carnival Saturday night. Runners-up were Paul Brown and Marilyn Fite.

Twelve students were nominated from all classes. The king and queen were senior class nominees. The other ten served as attendants. Besides Brown and Miss Fite, they were Jim Scott, Craig Capps, Lucky Dunham, Pete Lewis, Lyn Stroble and Frances Aftergut.

ARMY GETS NEXT CRACK

AF Moon Bird Fails

By RICHARD F. ROPER
United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—A failure where it was least expected crashed the Air Force's hopes of being first to probe the moon Saturday and left the job up to the Army.

The Air Force's third and last assigned moon rocket made a business-like start before dawn and for a few happy minutes it looked as though the 88-foot vehicle was well on its way on the roundabout 250,000-mile voyage to the rim of the lunar sphere.

But the premature jubilation of Air Force rocketeers turned to disappointment when a closer look at data received from the rocket showed the third stage never fired. Instead of hurtling deep into space, Pioneer II plunged back into the earth's atmosphere over east central Africa and died a fiery death.

Thus a gallant cheer inscribed on the missile itself — "After it, follow it, follow the gleam," taken from Tennyson — went for naught.

This time the hundreds of men working on the moon bird had felt strongly they would succeed, because they came close last month when only a fault in trajectory stopped the rocket in space. Even so, the October shoot carried 79,000 miles, 27 times farther than an earthly object has ever traveled.

Consumed By Friction
Saturday's rocket went only 7,500 miles at a top altitude of 1,000 miles before it dropped down and was consumed by friction. It attained a top speed of 16,000 miles an hour, about that of an intercontinental ballistic missile.

Air Force and Douglas Aircraft Co. technicians, who spent long hours checking and rechecking every minute detail in the 52-ton rocket, could only try to hide their frustration and gracefully relinquish the space spotlight to the Army.

The Army has not said when it plans to fire, but the earliest another lunar probe could be made is Dec. 4, when the moon again is in the necessary relationship to the earth.

In six tries, the Army has put three satellites into orbit and Maj.

Gen. John B. Medaris, Army missile chief, said recently he believes his team of German and American scientists have a 50-50 chance of getting a rocket to the edge of the moon.

For the attempt, the Army is expected to use a five-stage vehicle with a Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile as its main booster. But Army officials have kept as a closely guarded secret the rest of the hardware of its moon probe rocket.

Premature Announcement
The Air Force, eager to spread the news of the success its rocketeers believed they had achieved, announced 11 minutes after the Pioneer II vehicle soared off smoothly that all three main stages of the rocket had fired.

TO ARMS, YANKEES ... THAT SINGING SOUTH IS RISING

DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas Civic Opera Company called off Saturday a threatened invasion of New York, spearheaded by tempestuous soprano Maria Meneghini Callis, for fear of setting off an artistic war.

Lawrence Kelly, general manager of the Dallas Civic Opera Company, said he might settle for Chicago, if Miss Callis is willing. A spokesman said Miss Callis hadn't accepted any offers.

The manager of the New York Metropolitan Opera Company, Rudolph Bing, fired Miss Callis from an $18,000-a-year contract by telegram Thursday for inaudition.

Competing With Met
The Dallas Civic Opera Company immediately began toying with the idea of taking on Miss Callis as a semi-permanent star and competing in January with the Metropolitan on its home grounds.

The Metropolitan is one of the world's great opera companies and has most of the top operatic singers in the country under contract. The Dallas Civic Opera Company is 18 months old.

"New York is far away," Kelly said. "For one reason, we don't want to get into an artistic war." But Kelly said the Metropolitan might as well expect eventual competition in New York from the Dallas Civic Opera Company.

"It has to happen," he said. "But we don't want to rush things. We'll be there before or in 1960."

He said that if the Dallas Civic Opera Company takes Miss Callis on tour during the current season, it will include the whole opera company and the Dallas Symphony.

Miss Callis sings "Medea" in Dallas Saturday night. Local critics said she gave a notable performance Thursday in the same role after Bing fired her.

A spokesman said she is leaving Sunday for New York, where she will spend a week before appearing in Cleveland, Detroit and Washington.

The spokesman said she will meet Carol Fox, general manager of the Lyric Opera of Chicago, in New York to discuss an offer to appear in Chicago, perhaps with the Dallas Civic Opera Company.

FIVE CUBAN REBELS SLAIN

BY POLICE IN BIG GUN DUEL

HAVANA (UPI)—Police and army intelligence agents flushed a nest of rebels in an apartment in suburban Vibora early Saturday and killed five of them in a 3½ hour gun and grenade battle.

Two women and two army officers were wounded in the fight. Police said the five dead—all men—had criminal records.

One of the women, Norma Borrás Reyes, was found shot through the chest, still clutching a .45 caliber pistol in her hand in the apartment. She was in serious condition and was rushed under police guard to emergency hospital.

The battle started at 4:30 a.m. When the raiders entered the building, the rebels, apparently members of Fidel Castro's forces, opened fire. The rattle of gunfire was punctuated with occasional explosions. It was believed the rebels used grenades in their desperate fight for survival. Police cordoned off the block and seven patrol cars sealed off the streets leading to it.

Take Arms, Ammunition

Two hours after the fight started, police called for help from the fire department. A hook and ladder apparatus was raised and police sharpshooters scaled the two-story walls to fire down into the building.

The other women wounded in the apartment was identified by police as the wife of Policarpo Soler, Cuba's top gangster who was exiled by President Fulgencio Batista in 1952.

When the battle was over, the police collected a quantity of arms and ammunition.

The rebel radio reported other clashes that indicated more pressure by Castro's troops against Santiago. Cuba's second largest city and the capital of rebellious Oriente province.

The rebels said their forces clashed with an army patrol at Puerto Boniato just outside the city.

Other skirmishes were reported at Yara, Gibara and Songo, all in Oriente.

To Free Passengers
The rebels were said to have attacked the police headquarters in Songo and captured arms and ammunition. They seized more arms in an attack on a rural garrison at La Arana on the outskirts of Songo.

The rebel radio reports did not mention casualties.

The rebel radio, using a more powerful transmitter to overcome government jamming of the airwaves, promised to free the passengers of a Cubana airliner hijacked with 29 persons aboard last Wednesday on a flight from Havana to Holguin in northern Oriente.

There was no mention of the two-man crew.

Unconfirmed reports said the rebels might be willing to exchange the plane's purse-steward, Amado Castillo, son of Maj. Gen. Eulogio Castillo, for two other high-ranking Cuban army officers who were jailed two years ago for anti-government activities.

MENTAL WIZARDS SET K-F VISIT THURSDAY

An astounding act of mental wizardry, coming straight from New York City, will be the program menu of the Top 'O Texas Knife and Fork Club Thursday, Travis Lively Sr., president, has announced. The performers, Tom and Betty Tucker, will appear in the High School auditorium, following a 7:30 dinner in the school's cafeteria.

The Tuckers became famous when Tom, blindfolded, took the wheel of a car and with Betty beside him, silent except through telepathy, drove through the streets of Boston with a journalist who thought they would never make it. Tucker drove the correct route through reading the mind of his wife.

During the trip, they passed dozens of cars, turned the proper corners and stopped at street lights and stop signs. Once Tucker abruptly halted the car when a pedestrian suddenly strode into its path.

Mrs. Tucker is equally facile. In one place she held a conversation with an unknown man, told him his name and what he had in his pockets. His comment: "Glad she's not my wife!"

Deadline for purchasing tickets is 1 p.m. Wednesday at Malone Pharmacy.

Damage High In 4-Car Collision

James Jones, 35, 856 Foster, was arrested Saturday noon for driving while intoxicated following a four-car collision on Sunset Drive. Two of the cars were parked.

Jones, attempting a left turn, ran head-on into a car driven by James Tunnyhill, 43, 428 Hill. Both cars careened into two parked cars owned by Bobby Rogers, 1706 Duncan, and Robert Kelly, 839 Sunset Dr.

Patrolman William Robinson estimated damages to Jones' car at about $300, while the Tunnyhill machine was a total wreck. Rogers' car had $10 damages, and Kelly's car about $10.

BAGGING BULBS

Lions Gratified By Response

"We are hoping for 100 per cent participation Monday night," B. G. Gordon, sales manager of the Lions Light Bulb Sale said today. Although a number of Evening Lions were out of town Friday, the Club sold 270 bags of bulbs to help the Lions Crippled Childrens Camp in Kerrville.

Two assortments are on sale. There are four bulbs in a dollar bag and eight in a two dollar assortment. These bulbs cannot be bought any cheaper downtown, according to Gordon.

The Lions are gratified by the rapid response shown by the people of Pampa. The Light Bulb Sale, they have found, is the best way to raise money for the Lions Crippled Childrens Camp and Rehabilitation Center for the blind.

The sale began Thursday night and will continue until all the bulbs are sold. Since the Lions bought wholesale they are able to sell the bulbs for their value and still make money for the Crippled Childrens Home.

Atchison, Atkinson and Cartwright of Lubbock, were the designers and Gene Hollar of Pampa was the supervising architect.

Bing?" the spokesman asked. "We don't hear him say anything."

No Word Battle
Bing announced after firing Miss Callas that he wasn't going to get into a protracted word battle with Miss Callas because she was better at that than he.

Miss Callas considers working for the Metropolitan "routine singing" and announced that she is giving up that kind of work.

"I have never been bought and I'm proud of it," she said. "I have always fought for my artistic principles—which are high—and always will. That's what makes me Callas."

"When any of my colleagues can do in 50 years — no, make it 100 — what I have already done with 'Norma' or 'Sonnambula,' then maybe they can ride the back of my publicity."

St. Paul Methodist Church is located at 511 N. Hobart. Dr. Burgin Watkins is the minister. The congregation of this church has extended an invitation to the public to attend these services and to see the new building.

Perryton Has Big Building Boom Going On

PERRYTON (Spl) — Perryton had its biggest building boom the past month, with 45 new homes being started to boost building permits to $625,000. Five business permits were included in the above total.

Indications are that there will be another 45 homes started within the next few weeks, and local builders have commitments to start at least 100 houses in Perryton the next 90 days.

This is the biggest increase ever in Perryton, and when these homes are completed the residential area of Perryton will be extending another half-mile to the southwest.

The new development, where

Tech Has Area Valedictorians

LUBBOCK (Spl) — Enrolled in Texas Tech as freshmen this fall are 64 students who were graduated from high school as valedictorians of their classes.

The boys slightly outnumber the girls, 34 to 32. This year's total is 11 above last fall's 55 valedictorians.

"We are expecting great things from this group of students, and we know that they will set the pace this year as in years before," said Dr. Floyd D. Bose, Dean of Admissions and Registrar.

High school valedictorians now enrolled in Tech are Mary Kathryn Cole, Lefors; Molly Beth Miller, McLean; Mansel Woodford Williams, Mobeetie; Mary Lou Simms, Panhandle; and Carl H. Freeman, Wheeler.

In October, there were $529,825 in new residential construction, $23,000 in new business construction, $32,200 in building remodeling and alteration, and $40,000 for the new Perry Memorial Library.

Most of the homes started in October have been in the $10-13,000 class, with several in the $8-9,000 class.

Lions Gratified By Response

"We are hoping for 100 per cent participation Monday night," B. G. Gordon, sales manager of the Lions Light Bulb Sale said today. Although a number of Evening Lions were out of town Friday, the Club sold 270 bags of bulbs to help the Lions Crippled Childrens Camp in Kerrville.

Two assortments are on sale. There are four bulbs in a dollar bag and eight in a two dollar assortment. These bulbs cannot be bought any cheaper downtown, according to Gordon.

The Lions are gratified by the rapid response shown by the people of Pampa. The Light Bulb Sale, they have found, is the best way to raise money for the Lions Crippled Childrens Camp and Rehabilitation Center for the blind.

The sale began Thursday night and will continue until all the bulbs are sold. Since the Lions bought wholesale they are able to sell the bulbs for their value and still make money for the Crippled Childrens Home.

No Word Battle

Bing announced after firing Miss Callas that he wasn't going to get into a protracted word battle with Miss Callas because she was better at that than he.

Miss Callas considers working for the Metropolitan "routine singing" and announced that she is giving up that kind of work.

"I have never been bought and I'm proud of it," she said. "I have always fought for my artistic principles—which are high—and always will. That's what makes me Callas."

"When any of my colleagues can do in 50 years — no, make it 100 — what I have already done with 'Norma' or 'Sonnambula', then maybe they can ride the back of my publicity."

Economists Believe Milk Prices May Soon Be Hiked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Some government economists believe a new upturn in costs handling and distributing milk will lead before long to another round of retail price increases.

The Agriculture Department, which keeps track of costs and margins in the milk handling industry, reports that operating costs for the second quarter of 1958 rose 4.21 per hundred pounds of milk and cream processed.

This was 11 cents above the previous quarter and 17 cents above the average for the second three months of 1957.

Department experts said this indicated that after two years of relative stability, operating costs may be beginning another upward trend.

The department report made no mention of trends in retail milk prices. But some economists said it is likely that the rising cost of milk will be followed by rising retail prices — assuming no significant drop in prices paid to farmers.

Per quart profit margins in handling fluid milk are relatively small, one economist said, and milk handlers cannot be expected to absorb any sizable cost jumps without raising up prices.

The official department report estimated milk handlers' net profits before taxes in the second quarter of 1958 at 34 cents per hundred pounds. This was up 10 cents from the first quarter of 1958 but, more significantly, was 34 cents below the margin for the second quarter of 1957.

Figured on another basis, net profits before taxes in the second quarter of 1958 were about three cents on each dollar of sales. For the first six months of 1958 net profits, as a percentage of the sales dollar, were down more than one-third from the same period in 1957.

Department studies showed the net in profits was due entirely to rising operating costs.

THINK FAST!

MONROE, Wis. (UPI)—Judge Marshal Peterson knows how to mix vodka martinis as well as the next man and his knowledge cost restaurant owner Paul Wilson $100.

Wilson, who is licensed to sell only beer, told Peterson the vodka and vermouth in his kitchen was used for cooking purposes.

When Peterson asked Wilson to name some recipes in which he used the strong stuff Wilson couldn't name any and Peterson lowered the boom.

Libby, A Living Symbol Of American Red Cross

By MARVIN OLSEN
Daily News Staff Writer

Mrs. Mamie "Libby" Shotwell, the familiar "woman in a hurry" at the Pampa city court house and wherever her work takes her, probably symbolizes the American Red Cross here more than any other person or group of persons.

Libby, the Red Cross's busy goodwill ambassador, officially holds the office of executive secretary of the Pampa chapter of the Red Cross, the only position in the Pampa chapter paying a salary.

But to Mrs. Shotwell (perhaps better known as "Libby") "It is not so much a job; it's an enjoyable work that needs doing."

Her Red Cross work takes up most of her time, but in spare time, Libby manages to busy herself in numerous other activities.

At the moment she is an active member of eight Pampa service clubs, among them the Business and Professional Women's club (five years), the Altrusa club (charter member), the American Legion Auxiliary, the Wesleyan Service Guild, the Wesleyan Society of Christian Service (WSSCS), the Chamber of Commerce and the "850" club.

In past years she has also been a president of the Woodrow Wilson PTA for two years, the Wesleyan Society for another two years and Legion Auxiliary.

Mamie Libby Egger Shotwell was born Dec. 11, 1902 at Carthage. "In the deep piney woods of east Texas." In her teens she went to school at Denton's school for girls and later she attended West Texas Teachers College.

"When college was out, I taught school, first at Carthage, then Clarbourne, Spearman and Happy," she said. "I kept moving farther west and farther from home, and it seemed as if I were always terribly homesick."

She met her husband, Frank Shotwell, during her fourth year of college, and they were married in February, 1924. Libby, unhappily, never received a college degree. The newly-wed Shotwells moved to Canyon after their marriage, and ten years later, 1934, they moved to Pampa.

Libby, though now 56, has not let the years dim her abiding "love of doing things for people."

She has an infectious smile and ready laugh. She calls herself "disgustingly heavy" at 136 pounds, and a "shorty" at 4 foot, 9 1/2 inches tall.

Concerning her Red Cross work Libby says, "I don't know what

MRS. LIBBY SHOTWELL
... ARC Goodwill Ambassador

brought me into it, something of my background, I suppose. She describes her job as mainly "being a liaison between the serviceman and his family at home."

In regard to criticism of the Red Cross Libby said it has been founded on two complaints voiced by servicemen. One, that the Red Cross did not always notify the servicemen of troubles at home, and two, that the Red Cross should not have charged for certain of its services.

"The Red Cross certainly made its share of mistakes," according to Libby, "but it was never fully brought out that in most cases our instructions came from the military."

Summing up her many past and present activities, Libby says with a sigh, "Until the time I went into Red Cross work (1953) I considered myself a leader of sorts. Now I'm a follower."

In their Pampa home, 1312 Duncan, the Shotwells raised two children, Frank Jr., now 34, of

FHA Trying To Make A Little Authority Go A Long Way

By EDWARD COWAN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Caught in a pinch between a dwindling balance of insuring authority and an unexpectedly heavy demand for home mortgage insurance, the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) is trying to make a little go a long way.

Officials told United Press International there is "good evidence" the agency will be able to honor all its obligations before Congress reconvenes in January. But they make no flat predictions. Moreover, they hope that the lawmakers will act quickly to prime FHA's pump with new insuring authority.

The squeeze developed, FHA said, because instead of tapering off as they usually do in the autumn, applications for mortgage insurance rose contra seasonally through September. The volume turned down somewhat in October, however.

Funds Run Short

After FHA ran out of insuring authority late last May and stopped issuing insurance commitments for a week, Congress gave it four billion dollars of new authority. That sum, it has since turned out, was not enough.

But FHA officials maintain that the autumn bulge in insurance applications could not have been foreseen and that they could not have justified asking for more than four billion dollars.

The agency now has about one billion dollars of uncommitted authority, plus some 300 to 400 million dollars that becomes available each month as mortgages are paid off or insurance commitments are not used and lapse.

To stretch these limited funds as far as possible, the FHA stopped issuing insurance commitments, which tie up insuring authority before the coverage takes effect, and substituted

"agreements to insure," which do not.

Reason Behind Switch
The reason for the switch was this: About 35 per cent of commitments issued on unsold, existing housing are not actually used. In the present situation such commitments would tie up scarce insuring authority that might otherwise be made available to new homebuyers who are ready to buy and take occupancy.

"No two people drive alike—if you have a light touch or drive slower than I did you might even top my 21.7 miles per gallon. But no matter how you drive—or where you drive—you'll be amazed at the mileage you get from this big, roomy full-powered Pontiac V-8."

We asked one of America's most respected automotive writers and car testers—"Uncle Tom" McCahill—to put a standard Pontiac Catalina Sedan with our new economy V-8 to the test . . . coast to coast.

And with only one specification—that the run would be exactly like you would drive coast to coast yourself—in mountains, in city traffic, across deserts, buying gas wherever the tank ran low.

And here's the phenomenal story in every complete detail—all supervised and officially certified by NASCAR, America's top automobile competition authority.

What does it mean to you?
Simply—and very importantly—this: For the first time, you can get deep-chested V-8 pep with better mileage than from many smaller so-called "economy cars" . . . and get it on regular fuel!

If you owned a Pontiac with this revolutionary new Tempest 420E V-8 power plant right now you'd be enjoying savings of up to 5 cents a gallon on regular fuel.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

1001 South Christy
Rois Standifer, Pastor

"PRAYER IN THE NAME OF JESUS"

Probably the most neglected of all the blessed privileges of the Christian life is that of prayer. It accounts for the barrenness and fruitlessness of countless lives. There needs to be more knee-drill. Especially is this true in view of the prayer exhortations given by our Lord Jesus Christ. He said, "And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. If ye ask anything in my name, that I will do." John 14: 13, 14. Again He declared, Verily, verily I say unto you, If ye shall ask anything of the Father, He will give it you in my name. Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be made full." John 16: 23, 24. We should pray in Jesus name. Many prayers are not in Jesus' name.

Several important truths are implied when we speak of praying in Jesus name.

First of all, we pray through His sacrifice. We come in the name of Jesus, for that is His name by virtue of His Saviorhood. Matt. 1:21. The manner of our entrance to God is well set forth in Hebrews 10: 19-23. It is because of the blood shed and the life forfeited. To pray in Jesus' name is then to come through and on the basis of His sacrificial work. The altar of incense (prayer) had to be lighted from the altar of burnt offering (sacrifice). Christ's death is our only claim to God's presence.

SEARCH CONTINUES FOR OTHER SALKS

By CLAIRE COX United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) - A 175-million-dollar search is underway for at least a dozen more Dr. Jonas E. Salks.

Campaigns are being waged to raise funds to battle many diseases, ranging from HIVES to cancer. The directors of each drive hope for a success as spectacular as that scored by Salk over the scourge of polio.

Americans, as no other people in the world, are involved in scores of private battles against disease and poverty, thus sharing the burdens with the government.

For one cause or another, they give away something like six billion dollars a year, including religious donations.

Part of the grand total - about a half-billion dollars - is collected in campaigns in the fall of each year by various community and united funds. Of that sum, about 75 million dollars goes to national health groups. The money contributed this fall will help them reach their current goals of more than 75 million dollars to fight disease during the next year.

Funds Used Locally
Much of the money given stays at the local level - for research, clinics, rehabilitation and other uses. The rest goes to the national headquarters of the various health organizations, mainly for research such as that conducted by Salk for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The organization for which Salk scored the great vaccine victory has since changed its name to the National Foundation. It hopes to raise 65 million dollars to deal of fighting arthritis, birth defects, nervous disorders and viruses in general, along with polio.

Each of the associations dealing with disease commuted figures showing the number of Americans who suffer from its ailment and will die of it. The total claimed to suffer from about a more than a third of the nation's population. But that is because some persons are afflicted with more than one ailment, and the work of some foundation overlaps.

Many Have Heart Disease
The American Heart Association says that more than 10 million Americans have some form of heart or blood vessel disease. The Tuberculosis Association says that about 55 million Americans are infected with germs that may cause TB unless their resistance is maintained. United Cerebral Palsy figures more than 600,000 persons are afflicted with the ailment in its province. The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation claims it has more than 11 million sufferers to worry about.

Those are just some of the causes asking for help this fall. And, as usual, they are not being turned away empty-handed.

Tax Returns To Be Mailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Internal Revenue Service will start mailing out a record 60 million individual income tax returns shortly after Christmas.

Persons who did not file last year and who don't get forms in the mail may obtain them from post offices, banks and local internal revenue offices.

Officials said the service held off mailing out the returns until after Christmas so they would not swell the normally heavy Christmas-time burden on the post office.

The most important change in this year's tax filing procedure is that the short, punch card return may be used by taxpayers who earn up to $10,000 a year. Previously the punch card could be filed only by those making up to $5,000.

BIG DIG - Designed for the deepest penetration of earth ever attempted by man is the drill shown in painting above. A group of British scientists, led by Dr. T. F. Gaskell of the British Petroleum Co., plans to use the device to dig 10 miles down, and hopes some day to sink a hole all the way to the earth's core.

FORMULA 9

Reduces Corrosion in the Crankcase

Motor Formula 9 is a 100% petroleum product designed to provide hi-point lubrication at all operating temperatures. MF-9 mixes readily with all petroleum oils and maintains oil at original viscosity at all running temperatures between regular oil changes.

Motor Formula 9 is a practical, logical advance in the field of engine lubrication, and the most casual observation of its performance will establish the truth of the claims made for it.

Motor Formula 9 actually increases engine power by creating greater compression and increased vacuum. It reduces the formation of hard carbon in the crankcase oil, keeps spark plugs clean and reduces oil dilution.

Motor Formula 9 cleans up engines of all ages and keeps them clean as only a true petroleum additive does. It contains no lead soaps, chemicals, coal tar derivatives or volatile substances of any type.

Motor Formula 9 reduces corrosion and mechanical wear to practically zero, and is the result of exhaustive research in gasoline, diesel and dual motor lubrication.

Motor Formula 9 cleans sticky valves and gives proper hydraulic valve lifter operation—this extra valve efficiency and cutting of waste means increased gas mileage and adds miles and miles to the life of any engine.

Motor Formula 9 gives a strong oil film on the cylinder wall and all the internal parts of the motor.

WHAT IS IT?

It Is the Natural Viscosity Index Improver

WHEN IS HIGH V. I. IMPORTANT?

Whenever oil must work at widely varying temperatures. A good example of an oil in such service is motor oil. It must perform satisfactorily at the starting temperature of a cold motor and at the operating temperatures on cylinder walls and pistons after the engine is heated. The less the oil thickens when cold the easier the motor will crank and start, and the faster the oil will circulate; the less it thins out when hot, the better will be the oil mileage.

HOW DOES MOTOR FORMULA 9 WORK?

It changes the temperature viscosity relationship of the oil in which it is blended. MOTOR FORMULA 9 is a long-chain polymer of such a nature that at low temperatures it is "coiled" up in solution in the lubricating oil. In this state the MOTOR FORMULA 9 molecules cause minimum hindrance to flow of the oil. At higher temperatures the chain of MOTOR FORMULA 9 molecules becomes "uncoiled" or extended in solution in the oil and causes maximum hindrance to flow of the oil. Therefore, the use of MOTOR FORMULA 9 causes relatively less thickening at low temperatures than it does at high temperatures, which means higher V. I.

WHY SHOULD MOTOR FORMULA 9 BE USED?

MOTOR FORMULA 9, added to your motor oil will achieve a higher V. I., therefore gives the oil a more desirable combination of quick starting at low temperature and low oil consumption at high temperature. MOTOR FORMULA 9 is used to improve performance by making moderate increases in V. I. in any lubricating oil, giving added protection against dry starting. It also keeps hydraulic valve lifters quiet, by not allowing them to become sticky and noisy. Use MOTOR FORMULA 9 in gear oils, automatic transmissions, and torque converter fluids, to reduce friction which naturally reduces heat and oxidation.

WHEN SHOULD MOTOR FORMULA 9 BE USED?

MOTOR FORMULA 9 should be included in every oil change, in every internal combustion engine. It is a 100% petroleum product, and gives maximum protection against loss of viscosity in service.

NOW—WHY BE SCIENTIFIC?—

When all you have to do is ask your service station operator to add Motor Formula 9 to your oil today—and you will see, hear, and feel these advantages yourself in a positive way in which WORDS CAN NOT DESCRIBE.

HAVE YOU BEEN MISSING OUT ?

-- Then Investigate Right Now!

Not Just Another "Additive"—

AN ENTIRELY NEW CONCEPT
IN LUBRICATING SCIENCE!

How Motor Formula 9 Acts In Your Motor—

1. Raises the burning point of the crankcase oil, minimizing carbon and stabilizes oil consumption.
2. Speeds carbon removal through softening and dissolving effect.
3. Maintains oil at original viscosity at all running temperatures between oil changes.
4. Permeates and adheres to all motor parts. At engine temperatures, either normal or extreme, does not "throw", foam or vaporize.
5. Brings about higher vacuum and compression values, better fuel combustion and lower engine and crankcase temperatures.
6. Improved valve action due to lower temperatures results in better valve stem lubrication, less valve clatter, and longer valve life.
7. Higher viscosity at running temperatures provides better piston seal, minimizes blow by and substantially reduces fuel dilution and acid corrosion in crankcase.
8. Negligible drainback between starts. Rings and pistons always sealed for easy starting. Insure reliable starting of emergency equipment.
9. Motor Formula 9 mixes readily with all petroleum oils and retains in suspension; all residues in crankcase for better filter recovery.
10. Motor Formula 9 has an affinity to hot and cold metal parts which enables it to adhere to, plate and protect, all moving parts under any climatic extremes.
11. Motor Formula 9 is an exceptionally effective lubricant for hydraulic valve lifters. It increases efficiency and imparts an ease-of-action not offered by any other product known to the manufacturers. Used continually, it will inordinately increase the effective action and life expectancy of all hydraulic lifters.

"I have a pickup and two cars. I have been using Motor Formula 9 in all of them for nearly a year. It is almost unbelievable the difference that it has made in the overall performance of these vehicles. They get better gas mileage, it stopped the excessive oil use in the one that was burning oil, it stopped hydraulic valve sticking that I had never been able to stop completely with any other product. I use it in my differentials and transmissions, including automatic transmission, and find it does a superb job here also. I highly recommend its use anywhere and any place that oil or grease is normally used."

"We operate some 25 trucks, pickups, tractors, ditchers and automobiles. We have our own shop and do all our maintenance work. We use Formula 9 in all of the equipment. We have used many types of additives through the years, but have found nothing to compare with Motor Formula 9. We find all the manufacturer's claims are true, and we do not hesitate to recommend it as the finest product of its kind."

R. B. BRUMMETT, farmer, Box 254, Pampa

"Tractors, combines, and pickups take a hard beating on a farm. Having farmed most of my life, I know as well as anyone the time and expense involved in keeping them in good running order. I do most of my own mechanical work including motor overhauls. I know from many years of experience what good lubrication, or the lack of it can do to an engine. With this background I feel I am qualified to judge the effectiveness of any oil, or oil additive that might be used in an engine or piece of equipment. I say this without reservation or qualification. Motor Formula 9 is so effective in the things that it does, that it borders on being fantastic. I urge everyone who is not using it to do so and experience a new concept in performance."

Twentieth Century TV Show Will Present Rockne Films

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notre Dame's far-flung "subway alumni," and football fans in general, will be served up a series of thrills and laughs Sunday when "The Twentieth Century" TV show presents a documentary on Knute Rockne.

Composed of film clips of the great gridiron mentor, and narrated segments of Irish teams in action, the program rekindles many a memory for football buffs.

"Cheer, Cheer for Old Notre Dame..." the film starts out, and moves quickly into streaked and blotchy old celluloid shots of the great Rockne's practice sessions.

Devoted To Honor
Unlike the Pat O'Brien portrayals of the famed coach, this half-hour show is devoted to Rockne's humor and philosophy on college football, interspersed with pulse-pounding shots from spectacular games.

During one practice workout Rockne can be heard raising Cain with his quarterback, Frank Leahy, when he goofs an assignment.

Though he was killed in a 1931 plane crash, Rockne's humor was recorded on thousands of feet of film. During a battle over his controversial backfield shift, he said:

"If they abolish the shift I'll change my kind of play from the intelligent, smart, slim, ankle player like the Four Horsemen and I'll go in for the cow-minded hippopotamus fatty type that so many schools use now. And so when you see a football picture of a Notre Dame team about four years from now, you'll notice the bovine expressions and ox-knuckle ankles predomination.

"And the fellow with the mustache doing his best to exude an aroma of cunning—why, that'll be me."

Oldtimers Get Preview
At a preview of the half-hour show CBS-TV invited 16 Notre Dame oldtimers to see themselves in action. Such Irish greats as Clipper Smith, George Trafton, Curly Lambeau and Leo Ward were on hand to swap experiences with teammates they hadn't seen for 30 years.

Their faces were wreathed in smiles as they listened to Rockne's old dressing room peals, and they howled happily when the coach barked:

"Hey! I guess that fellow didn't know who you were, All-Indiana halfback. Next time he comes by he won't dare run past you. Show him your clippings again."

Shots of the Four Horsemen in action caused a stir among the old-timers when it was recalled the famed backfield averaged only 157 pounds—lighter than today's average high school team.

Rockne's concern for his players' future was brought out, too. In one sequence he asks:

"After you graduate from school, Tommy, are you going to be a football coach, a bond salesman or are you going to work?"

BURY ST. EDMUNDS, Eng.—Mrs. Mildred Elvin is a determined woman. A magistrate fined Mrs. Elvin, who already had spent $280 on fruitless driving lessons, $2.85 for trying to bribe a driving examiner to pass her after her eighth unsuccessful test. Then Mrs. Elvin, who had since failed tests 9 and 10, hurried off to prepare for test 11.

Local Albums Shipped To 3 Countries

Music album records made by the Pampa Junior Red Cross have been sent to three countries, it is reported. The records were made in the elementary schools.

Pampa sent four of the 41 recordings sent from the 16 state mid-western areas.

The Lamar and Sam Houston Choir albums are destined for Yugoslavia, the Woodrow Wilson Chorus records for Italy and the Austin Chorus album for the Netherlands.

The following letter accompanied each album.

"We hope it will be possible for Junior Red Cross members in your Society to listen to this recording. We should be pleased to have your comments on those of the boys and girls, on this selection. It is our hope that the music will be accepted in the same spirit in which we have sent it, as an expression of our friendship and hope for increased good will and understanding between Junior Red Cross members of our two countries."

Board Okays Transfers To 6 Institutions

AUSTIN (UPI)—The legislative budget board has approved transfers to six institutions in the state hospital system totaling $587,294.

Transfer of the money, appropriated by the legislature last year for the current biennium, will be made from unspent balances. They include:

Austin State Hospital—$396,894, for personnel to staff an additional 800 beds in new buildings that are now ready for occupancy. It was pointed out there is no increased capacity but the construction permits "spreading out" of patients in separate beds who now use double-decked bunks.

Rusk State Hospital—$21,900, for paying nurse technicians available for attending duty at the hospital, which now has a shortage of attendants.

San Antonio Tuberculosis Hospital—$55,000, to operate a new laundry and to provide for an increase in number of patients.

Harlingen Tuberculosis Hospital—$95,000, providing for care of an increased number of patients. The hospital now has more than 640 patients and had been budgeted for less than 500 during the current fiscal year. A staff report said the hospital is "badly crowded" and that "prospects for a drop in population at this institution is practically non-existent."

Abilene State School—$8,500, to purchase shop equipment and tools for a vocational training program.

Mexia State School—$10,000, to complete construction of a school building.

ONE HOLIDAY DOWN, TWO TO GO before the end of this busy year... think you can last through Thanksgiving and Christmas? We are seriously beginning to doubt our strength...

WELL, WHAT'S NEW let me think... oh, yes. Mrs. Raymond Harrah was in Dallas last week... we know a secret that Rex Rose has a very charming "Grandma Moses" painting in his office...

SOMETIMES a little levity is nice... according to Changing Times, sometimes a girl is glad to have a run in her stockings if she is pursued by the right man...

We go on fancying that each man is thinking of us but he is not; his is like us; he is thinking of her. —Charles Reade

HEY HEY GALS, gather round... we will give the best tip of the year!... there is news for your little pink ears... guess who is Pampa's most eligible bachelor...

LET'S BEGIN another paragraph, just for fun... heard that Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Wright and Gladys Harvey left last week for a holiday in Hawaii...

MORE CHIT CHAT before we close up shop until this time next week... Otto Specht is, logically enough, teaching a class in the German language at the library...

Tiwan, Green Gem Of China Sea, Topic For First Baptist Royal Service Meet

Women's Missionary Union met Wednesday in the church for a Royal Service Program with Mrs. R. L. McDonald in charge. Singing of the hymn of the year, "O For A Thousand Songs To Sing" was followed by repeating the WMU Watchword in unison from the Psalm 96:2.

Prayers for missionaries having birthdays in the month of November was led by Mrs. C. L. McKinney. Secretary's report by Mrs. A. L. Prigmore and the treasurer's report by Mrs. Lee Moore was followed by committee reports.

Devotional was given by Mrs. D. A. Caldwell with prayer by Mrs. J. H. Tucker.

Mrs. Ed L. V. Hopp, Mrs. Earl Dodson and Mrs. Ed Miller presented the program on "Taiwan."

Mrs. Hopp commented that the Portuguese navigators call "This green gem in the China Sea, Formosa (Isle of beauty) but the Chinese have renamed it Taiwan.

"Basically," she said, "the people of Taiwan are Chinese. The Tiwanese, who originally came from the southern coast of China number about six million. In addition to the Chinese there are several hundred thousand aboriginal mountain tribespeople. Thus, this little island, barely 240 miles long and about 90 miles wide is the home of approximately 9,000,000 people."

Areas of Evangelism was given by Mrs. Earl Dodson, who stated, "On Taiwan, Southern Baptist from the beginning have emphasized evangelism, done chiefly through the churches. Most of the chapels on Taiwan grow into churches. Sometimes a chapel is started from a Sunday school for children; later evangelistic services are held and adults are invited. Sometimes a chapel springs from English Bible classes held in the homes of missionaries. Oft times a chapel is the result of an invitation to a missionary to teach English in a university or army center."

"Through student work," Mrs. Dodson continued, "The students in colleges and universities will fact become the leaders in all phases of life on the island of Taiwan. Contacts by missionaries and national Christians with these students are bringing souls into the kingdom and as they become Christians, they become ardent soul-winners. So, as the member of conversions among the students grow, so will Christian witnessing grow."

Mrs. Ed Miller's topic, "Living The Day," was a story of a girl named Sue Chen, who is interning in pharmacy at Duke University in North Carolina. "She hopes to teach pharmacy in the national Taiwan University from which she was graduated," Mrs. Miller said.

Closing prayer was given by Mrs. Earl Barnett.

The WMU executive board met preceding the Royal Service program and luncheon with Mrs. McDonald presiding. Mrs. V. L. Hopp gave the secretary's report. Mrs. S. E. Waters gave the opening prayer, followed by reports from the various committees.

Use Chocolate Milk For Quick Treat

Dropping a marshmallow or a stick of cinnamon into a cup of hot chocolate is about the only fusing the homemaker need do when preparing this favorite breakfast treat today. The chocolate milk and chocolate dairy drink which milk companies put out now, have taken all the measuring and mixing from its preparation. They need only be heated before serving hot.

Both beverages are highly nourishing drinks, according to home economists at Beatrice Foods Company, as they contain calcium and other food values found in regular fresh, fluid milk.

Women who make regular visits to a beauty salon may wonder why their hair and scalp are unusually dry. Chances are they had dry or normal hair and too-long sessions of artificial drying continues to steal natural oils from them. Avoid this by shortening sessions under a dryer at home or in the beauty salon and have an oil treatment.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Before my husband gives me my weekly allowance, he looks over the shirts I have ironed. If there is too much starch in the collar, he docks me. He won't let me do them over because he says that in the way his father trained his mother to iron his shirts the way he likes them. Do you think this is fair?

DOCKED Dear Docked: The penalty is much stiffer than the collar.

DEAR ABBY: A neighborhood passed away. All the neighborhood donated for flowers, but we left one neighbor out on purpose because the deceased had not spoken to that family for years. It was no secret. After the funeral this neighbor who was left out called up all the neighbors and spit fire over the telephone. She said we had no business leaving her out and it was a dirty trick. Do you think we did wrong or not?

THE NEIGHBORS Dear Neighbors: You did right. This kind of neighbor "spits fire" if you do, and "spits fire" if you don't. If she had wanted to send flowers, nothing prevented her from sending a little bouquet on her own.

DEAR ABBY: Here's a sure cure for BACKSEAT DRIVERS as complained about by "DRIVEN NUTS." Every time the little woman starts cooking, go out into the kitchen with her. If she reaches for a pan, holler at her to be careful she doesn't hurt herself. When she reaches for the pepper tell her not to forget the pepper. When she goes to turn the gas on, tell her to be sure to turn on the gas. Stand over her and point everything out to be sure she doesn't miss a thing in the recipe. If she complains, tell her to remember this the next time she tries to drive the car for you.

Brussels World's Fair Described By Speakers At Twentieth Century Cotillion

Twentieth Century Cotillion Club met Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 with Mrs. Alvin Agan, 2221 Willis, for a program presented by Mrs. Jim Campbell and Mrs. Luther Pierson.

Mrs. Pierson told of her recent trip to Europe from the sailing on the Queen Mary going to South Hampton; touring the countries of England and Holland. In Amsterdam she told of the "flower market of the world;" then on to Brussels, Belgium, and touring the city of Brussels; of the first viewing of the antonium at the Brussels Fair, which was 360 feet wide and represented all atomic electrons.

"The United States' building at the Fair," Mrs. Pierson said, "depicted the American way of life. The simplicity of how we, as Americans, live and the aspects and facets of American life. Shown in the building were 25 years of advance hints; there was the 1903 Ford car, representing America on wheels; the big giant redwood tree, representing the antiquity of natural agriculture; the newspaper display, representing the Freedom of the Press. On display also, were two typical model American cities, Philadelphia, Pa. and Manhattan, N.Y.; scientific research and American Art; the oil industry, and many phases of America and the American way of life."

Five brand-new, little Brownie names were inadvertently omitted from last Sunday's article concerning news of the newly-organized Brownie Troop #1 in Woodrow Wilson Neighborhood. For this the editor offers apologies to Carolyn McKinley, Nina Paden, Diana Ross, Susan Smith and Gayla Weaver, who are members of this troop.

MIAMI (SpI) — Monday is Scout Day in Miami. Troop 7 with four patrols are really busy. Patrol 1 of this troop meets in the Roberts County Library in the Courthouse. Scouts Margot Gill, Susan Maddox, Valjean Brines, Dee Morris and Zeida Sirmans with their leader, Mrs. Charles Lyons (who is also librarian) are going over the books, seeing that they have the proper numbers in them; stamp them; and fix pockets and cards for them. Later on, they will repair those books that need it.

Patrol 2 meets in the home of their leader, Mrs. Randall Gill and have started making bird-feeders out of gourds, while working on their conservation badges, which is one of the requirements on their Curved Bar Rank. Four of these girls, if they continue to work hard enough, will have all the requirements for their Curved Bar Rank by next June. There's a Big Secret in this patrol, too. Cheryl Gill, Ruth Ann Cunningham, Sue Lyons, Sandra Saul and Patsy McCormick are beginning to work on Christmas presents for their mothers, which they will keep secret until the gifts are presented.

Patrol 3, with Mrs. W. O. Kiser as leader and members, Connie Dodson, Cheri Kiser, Ettavie Sirmans, Saranne Montgomery, Mary Casey and Cheri Jackson are working on requirements of their First Class Rank. They have completed "You and Your Home" requirements and each girl has made a First Aid Kit. At present they are working on "Health Aid" and "Hospitality" badges. These busy scouts have promised to give a play for the WSCS in December and they're making Christmas presents for their mothers, too.

Patrol four of Troop 7 haven't been idle, either. They have planted tulips and hyacinths in the flower beds around the Methodist Church, where they meet. Watching for their growth and color are Cindy Coffee, Joy Lynn Flowers, Katherine Kivlehen, Linda Holland, Wanda Seitz, Martha Paris and Connie Ratliff. They're also working on their Second Class Rank and are presenting a costumed playlet to the WSCS Circle 2 about their current study on "Island Speaks." Mrs. Bryant Flowers, the leader, has arranged for a cake decorating demonstration for the girls sometime this month.

Troop Six, which is a Brownie Fly-Up Troop also meets in the Court House. These scouts have been on a hike taking a sack lunch; they also had a Halloween party at Ann Arrington's home. They are starting work on their Girl Scout Promise and Laws which they must know to fly up into an Intermediate Troop. Troop 6 members are Ann Arrington, Betty Graham, Mary Ellen Kivlehen, Jackie Ramsay, Debbie Thompson and Elaine Seitz. Karen Lyons is their leader.

Brownie Troop 21, whose membership is composed of first and second year Brownies, have had only two meetings this fall. This is the only Miami troop that does not meet on Monday. The troop meets Thursday in the Methodist Church with their leaders, Mrs. Bill Tolbert and Mrs. Ed Haynes. At present,

Rural Life Topic For Council Meet

Mrs. A. D. McNamara, president, presided at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Parish Council of Holy Souls Catholic Church.

Rev. Fr. Ed Cashman opened the meeting with prayer. Reports were heard from standing committees. The group was reminded of the Parish dinner to be held today in the Parish Hall, serving from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. to which the public is invited.

Mrs. J. J. Berg, of St. Francis, guest speaker, spoke on "Rural Life." Her subject was the same as was used in her recent report to workshop attendees at the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women in San Angelo.

Mrs. Berg told the group that "family ties are strengthened and there is a profound awareness of God's presence in farm families. The problems of young people are limited on the farm, where families pray and play together."

Mrs. Berg urged the group to support legislation that supports the owner-operated, family-sized farms.

Mrs. Pat Spelman was in charge of the program. Cookies and coffee were served following the program and meeting by hostesses Misses S. W. Kretzmeier, George Dillman, T. M. Whitley, Lloyd Simpson, Ed Daley, Jerry Thomas, Max Hickley, Bill Braly, R. A. Webb, and Roger Farrow.

The council's next meeting is on Dec. 2 at 8:15 p.m. in the parish hall.

Hawaiian Fashion Guild Makes Plans To Prove Island Fashions Are Tame

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
HONOLULU (UPI) — Hawaiian fashions are tamer than their reputations.

"The whole mainland thinks of us in terms of those wild Aloha shirts," said Robert F. Gaffney, president of the Hawaiian Fashion Guild. "But the real Hawaiian is what we're selling."

The "real Hawaiian" stuff features its share of bold pineapple and palm tree prints, especially during Aloha Week, the annual festival celebrated throughout the islands last week.

But Gaffney said demands from style-conscious women in the United States are helping to tame both colors and designs of sports and resort fashions.

"Hale," says the manufacturer, when they talk of mainlanders' preference for subdued hues and prints.

Sales on Increase
More than half of the fashion industry's annual sales now are export, Gaffney said. And the guild, with a membership of 21 out of the 50 island manufacturers, hopes to increase to a total annual gross of 100 million 20 years hence — which would put Munger, Phyllis Masse, Barbara Brandt, Bert Riley, Marcella Har- der, Nancy Walker, Jimmy Rains, Elaine Truman, Mike Carter, Carol Graves and Robil West.

Mrs. J. B. Lindley Leads Mother's Meet

CANADIAN (SpI) — Mrs. J. B. Lindley presided at the Mother's meeting held recently in the WSTU building.

Mrs. Paul McMeans gave the devotional, "Faith." Members participating on the program were Mrs. Ben Ezzell, Misses Sandra Waters, and Marcia Crowell.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Jess Lindley, Charles Alford, Frank Hutton, A. V. McQuiddy, John Pundt, E. W. Crowell, and Paul McMeans.

The meeting closed with the group repeating the Aaronic Benediction.

Mostly for lounge wear.

One of the first to make the tea-timer was nani sportswear, and President F. Robert Frazer said he got the idea from a picture of Siamese dress in National Geographic Magazine. Gaffney's firm has adapted it even for toddlers — lining the under-pants with protective plastic.

For some silhouettes, the Hawaiian manufacturers have looked to the West — the chemise and over-blouse fashions both are going strong.

And the feminine demand that figure should show even has caused less voluminous versions of the muiumu, that super-sack native to the islands.

Now, manufacturers are making the holomu, fitted sheath-like to just below the knees. The rest of the way to the floor is flounce.

'FISHING FLEET'

This small painting of a fishing fleet is one of about two-dozen works of a young British artist, Paul Thompson Sampson Lake, now being displayed at West Texas

State College. The paintings were sent as a gift to Dr. Emily Hicks, of Pampa, who sent them to WTSC for exhibit.

Dr. Hicks Hopes To Help British Artist

CANYON (Sp) — Exquisitely designed paintings, brushed on scrap material of all sorts, by a young British artist, are on display on the West Texas State College campus.

The two dozen opaques and water colors, which were mounted for exhibit by Dr. Emilio Caballero, were sent first to a Pampa woman, Dr. Emily Hicks, as a gift from the artist, Paul Thompson Sampson Lake. They are being displayed in the Administration Building in the second floor corridor.

Dr. Hicks became acquainted with Lake while she visited in England last summer, and he acted as her guide in and around Southampton. In a letter accompanying the paintings, Lake expressed appreciation for her kindness and made the small paintings as a gift.

"Mrs. Hicks said that she would like to sell the paintings for what she can get, to send the money to Lake," Dr. Caballero said. "Apparently the boy has not even the money to buy materials."

The paintings range from realistic to abstract designs, and are intricate in minute detail, with a rich flow of colors and texture in each one. Two of the works apparently were designs for book plates, and one was a design for the cover of a play, "The Teahouse of the August Moon."

"This man has remarkably fine creative ability," Dr. Caballero, head of the WT art department, said. "He must have studied formally in England to create such work."

Lawsuit Filed Against Six Loan Concerns

AUSTIN (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson today announced filing of a lawsuit at Houston against six loan companies alleging that they have charged usurious interest.

Wilson, joined by County Atty. Joe Resweber of Harris county, filed the injunction suit against General Southwestern Corp., Thriftway Finance Co., Apex Credit Co., Southwestern Subsidiary Corp., Cordial Finance Co., and Intercontinental Business Corp., and 10 individuals.

Named also as defendants were James P. Markham, Jr.; Horace O. Menking, Jo W. Walker, Jr.; Benjamin Taylor, Jr.; Otis D. Jenkins, Douglas Gordon, Jim Handson and O. L. Martin, all of Houston, and Ronald Coleman and L. W. Box, both of Dallas.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Larry Jones said the suit was the 13th such action filed by the state, involving loan offices.

The suit alleged that the defendants were engaged in the business of habitually loaning money for which usurious interest—in excess of 10 per cent annually—has been charged borrowers.

Wilson asked that the defendants be permanently enjoined from entering into any agreement or acting to charge usurious interest.

Dr. Caballero said that Lake's works emphasize texture and form rather than a visual interpretation of nature. He felt that the British artist must have been influenced by both the contemporary and the classical artists of his country.

"I can see much of Constable and Turner in Lake's paintings," Dr. Caballero said, "and there is something of Rembrandt, too. Dr. Hicks said that Lake was about 22, and he has accomplished a great deal for one so young."

Lake was doing odd jobs, and was painting murals and portraits for a living when Dr. Hicks met him last summer. The paintings he sent to her are small, and several of them have notes on the back describing the paintings and what the artist wished to picture.

NEW ROCKEFELLER FUND

Mrs. Gobel Not Really a Nagger

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The best-known, least-seen wife in television is Alice Gobel—George's wife.

She's also the most maligned. To listen to George on Tuesday nights you'd think Alice was a nagging battle-axe who locks the comedian in a closet the other six nights of the week. It gets laughs on the air—and at home, too.

Alice, in reality, is a pretty, soft-spoken housewife who is terrified of publicity and the Hollywood limelight. Her world centers around the Gobel family—George, 38; Gregg, 13; George, 8, and Leslie, 4.

Sounds like a simple enough little world, but it includes a 6 1/2-acre estate in the San Fernando Valley and a home (under three separate roofs) that resembles the club house of a fancy country club.

Fine, but what does Alice think about being the butt of George's eggs?

"Everybody wants to know that," she said timidly. "All I can say is that if I didn't approve of it George wouldn't make the jokes."

Two TV Wives

George, sitting in their sumptuous living room, nodded agreement. At Alice's insistence, the crew-cut comedian is always present when she is being interviewed.

"Whenever I go out with Alice people think I'm cheating on my TV wife," he said. "First it was Jeff Donnell, and now Phyllis Avery."

"Sometimes I feel like a scarlet woman, the way people look at me," Alice blushed. "At the time it isn't very funny."

"It is to me," George chuckled. "Them characters edge up to me and give me the elbow, winking and nudging like I'm a gay old dog out on the town with another girl.

"Funny thing, Alice doesn't believe show business is here to stay. She's a real good mother and wife, but she could never be the typical 'stage wife.' Sometimes I'm disappointed that she doesn't take more interest in my work. I ask her if she thinks something is funny and Alice says, 'Don't ask me.'"

Iddy Biddy Gobel is carefully protective of Alice, answering questions put to her whenever he can.

Awfully Nice Girls

"We try to keep our life as private and normal as possible," Alice volunteered, "especially for the children. Anyhow, we're just not party people."

The petite brunette said she approved of both Gobel TV wives, adding, "I'm terribly happy for Jeff Donnell and her new marriage. Both she and Phyllis are awfully nice girls."

Again, George nodded agreement. Alice was George's childhood sweetheart in Chicago. They both continue to exude midwestern wholesomeness. Whenever George makes with a funny Alice beams with pride.

"The Alice on the program is purely fiction," George concluded. "Here at home Alice never needles me—and I sorta miss it."

Secret Service Didn't Get Tips

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House:

Members of President Eisenhower's Secret Service detail are enjoying large laughs at the expense of a distinguished New York commentator who fell hard for an old fable about their business.

The President recently campaigned in New York and during the course of his brief trip, attended the annual banquet of the National Football Foundation at the Astor Hotel.

The day after the banquet, the distinguished commentator breathlessly informed America that during the banquet, a Secret Service agent was stationed in the men's room on the floor below the huge dining hall. So polite and not wishing to disclose his identity, the agent, just inside the men's room door was required to accept $18 in tips before the evening was over.

Sad to say, no agent was stationed there, not even on that floor.

But the story is a good one. In fact it was a howler among the agents 20 years ago and they never cease to laugh about it when they hear it in one hotel after another. The answer has been the same for years — the Secret Service does not station agents in those places.

Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, the former ambassador to Italy, made two recent trips to Rome as one of the President's personal representatives at the funeral of Pope Pius XII, then at the coronation this week of Pope John XXIII.

On the way back from her first trip to Rome, the chic, blond Mrs. Luce was sitting in the bar at Orly Airfield outside Paris chatting with a friend.

A Washingtonian who knew Mrs. Luce was standing close by and noted the feeling with which she was discussing her attitude toward former President Truman and Mrs. Truman.

Truman had recently and publicly expressed his dislike for Mrs. Luce because something she was supposed to have said about Mr. Truman. Mrs. Luce issued a statement saying she had never spoken disparagingly of the former first lady.

Perched on a stool at Orly, Mrs. Luce added clearly and audibly to the record, saying, "I've always considered Mrs. Truman a very fine lady, but I've never understood how she could marry such (a man)." Only her language actually was a bit more pungently critical than "a man."

ALLEN GREER
... Hard Worker

COLLEGE 1st, THEN THE THEATRE, KIDS

By WALLY TRUESDELL
Daily News Staff Writer

"Tell me all about show business," she cooed.

"It's a rotten, rough business," he told her.

This is Pampa to Allen Greer, an ABC Paramount recording artist, who made good as a dispatcher at McCullough Tool Company. Greer was one of the brave souls who tried to raise a little theatre company this fall.

Greer's advice to one young woman, not yet out of high school, was to go to college before making a pitch for the theatre so that, show business being what it is, "you'll have something to fall back on."

This boy has sung in more musicals than anyone else in Pampa, even if they were State Fair musicals. Not everybody gets to co-star with Jack Carson in "Texas

Little Darlin'" and tape Patrice Munsel's ankle in a rehearsal for "South Pacific."

So, all in all, Greer has been around, Dallas, New York, night clubs, supper clubs, television, record contract. He's one of the hardest working boys in town. If you want to meet this fabulous character, you may find him among the pennants at a local barbecue club.

Greer made his way from New York in June and is lodged with his uncle S. B. Bateas, 428 Hughes. The Greer story begins in Canyon. The year, 1954. Greer was a vocalist with Buddy Knox and his Rhythm Orchids at West Texas State. Later he won on Ted Mack's Amateur Hour in New York City and got a guest spot on an ABC television show.

In '56 he appeared in Dallas supper clubs and night clubs such as the Sapango. Then back to New

George C. Scott Blossoms As Another Broadway Star

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Theatergoers who explore the off-Broadway precincts already knew about George C. Scott. Those who stick to the creature comforts of the Broadway showboats found out about him Thursday night.

In Speed Lamkin's "Comes A Day," at the Ambassador Theater, the 31-year-old, sardonic-faced Scott is giving what must be one of the most horribly fascinating portrayals the modern theater has known.

In this drama of a mother's determination that her daughter make a wealthy marriage, Scott plays a psychopath whose disintegration begins slowly, then gains speed in a suspenseful manner until the final devastating collapse.

Lamkin's creation of the character and Scott's masterful interpretation under the steady directorial hand of Robert Mulligan make the play. Without this lift, it would not be too noteworthy despite the presence of Judith Anderson as the star in the role of the mother.

Possible Playwright
However, Lamkin does give evidence of being a new playwright of promise with a good sense of dramatic ingredients and their handling.

Miss Anderson plays a woman who married a man of great wealth, passing up the love of her life. He lost everything shortly thereafter.

She has waited and schemed for years for the day when her daughter will marry wealth and restore her position and pride.

The daughter dutifully agrees to marry a very rich self-made man, sending away the youth she loves. Come warnings of the man's true background and nature, but the mother refused to credit them, and forges ahead with the wedding plans.

The weakling father tries to save his daughter. The fiancé's final collapse saves the girl.

Do Well
Diana van der Vlis, Brandon de Wilde, Larry Hagman, Eileen Ryan, Ruth Hammond and Charles White do excellently in their roles, while Arthur O'Connell is completely admirable as the father. Miss Anderson is superb, as usual.

Scott is a native of Wise, Va., and went to the University of Missouri with journalism in mind. But he began acting there, later got experience in stock companies and landed in New York a couple of seasons ago.

He found employment in off-Broadway Shakespearean productions and won all of the off-Broadway acting awards in sight.

Lamkin is a native of Monroe, La. Cheryl Crawford and Alan Pakula produced "Comes A Day."

The morning newspaper critics said:

Brooks Atkinson in the New York Times: "Mr. Scott has it under full control in a brilliantly calculated performance."

"Comes A Day" is a puzzling drama that looks like art every now and then but turns out to be only a sensation in the final scene . . . There are moments when

"Comes A Day" looks like a serious attempt . . . Has at least a surface resemblance to art in the Tennessee Williams manner . . . But . . . dramatic values are more commonplace than the author's style . . . Except for the acting there is little that is genuine in this uneven, baffling drama."

Herald Tribune
Walter Kerr in the New York Herald Tribune: "Oddly enough, the premise that keeps Speed Lamkin's play from moving toward solid belief also provides it with its most arresting-written character and its most vivid performance . . . Mr. Scott's work is fascinating. The play, unhappily, is never quite able to catch up with it."

John Chapman in the New York Daily News: "Speed Lamkin's first drama . . . is fairly bursting with exciting theatre. It is acutely penetrating, completely absorbing, and almost frighteningly 'right' piece of playmaking . . . Writes with incredible tautness and surprising understanding . . . In the hands of a less able writer, this could be a dispiriting and monotonous tale of frustration. But in each case Lamkin goes beneath the surface of his characters and brings up for them human qualities and motivations . . . A fine play and a whole company has risen to it."

Choirs Merge To Present 'Messiah'

Four Pampa churches have merged choirs for the presentation of Handel's Messiah Dec. 14. A 310 voice choir with five soloists and two directors, will bring the oratorio to life for the people here.

The singers come from the First Baptist, First Methodist, First Presbyterian and First Christian Churches. Ministers of music from the churches are heading the coalition.

An hour and a half of the three hour oratorio will be presented. The Messiah has been tried here before but never on so grand a scale. Joe Whitten, minister of music in the First Baptist Church, reported.

Whitten will direct the Christmas section of the Messiah and William A. Hunt, the Easter part. In addition to his duties as Pampa High School choral director, Hunt is minister of music in the First Presbyterian Church.

'FISHING FLEET'

This small painting of a fishing fleet is one of about two-dozen works of a young British artist, Paul Thompson Sampson Lake, now being displayed at West Texas

State College. The paintings were sent as a gift to Dr. Emily Hicks, of Pampa, who sent them to WTSC for exhibit.

Dr. Hicks Hopes To Help British Artist

CANYON (Sp) — Exquisitely designed paintings, brushed on scrap material of all sorts, by a young British artist, are on display on the West Texas State College campus.

The two dozen opaques and water colors, which were mounted for exhibit by Dr. Emilio Caballero, were sent first to a Pampa woman, Dr. Emily Hicks, as a gift from the artist, Paul Thompson Sampson Lake. They are being displayed in the Administration Building in the second floor corridor.

Dr. Hicks became acquainted with Lake while she visited in England last summer, and he acted as her guide in and around Southampton. In a letter accompanying the paintings, Lake expressed appreciation for her kindness and made the small paintings as a gift.

"Mrs. Hicks said that she would like to sell the paintings for what she can get, to send the money to Lake," Dr. Caballero said. "Apparently the boy has not even the money to buy materials."

The paintings range from realistic to abstract designs, and are intricate in minute detail, with a rich flow of colors and texture in each one. Two of the works apparently were designs for book plates, and one was a design for the cover of a play, "The Teahouse of the August Moon."

"This man has remarkably fine creative ability," Dr. Caballero, head of the WT art department, said. "He must have studied formally in England to create a such work."

Dr. Caballero said that Lake's works emphasize texture and form rather than a visual interpretation of nature. He felt that the British artist must have been influenced by both the contemporary and the classical artists of his country.

"I can see much of Constable and Turner in Lake's paintings," Dr. Caballero said, "and there is something of Rembrandt, too. Dr. Hicks said that Lake was about 22, and he has accomplished a great deal for one so young."

Lake was doing odd jobs, and was painting murals and portraits for a living when Dr. Hicks met him last summer. The paintings he sent to her are small, and several of them have notes on the back describing the paintings and what the artist wished to picture.

Lawsuit Filed Against Six Loan Concerns

AUSTIN (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson today announced filing of a lawsuit at Houston against six loan companies alleging that they have charged usurious interest.

Wilson, joined by County Atty. Joe Resweber of Harris county, filed the injunction suit against General Southwestern Corp., Thriftway Finance Co., Apex Credit Co., Southwestern Subsidiary Corp., Cordial Finance Co., and Intercoastal Business Corp., and 10 individuals.

Named also as defendants were James P. Markham, Jr.; Horace O. Menking, Jo W. Walker, Jr.; Benjamin Taylor, Jr.; Otis D. Jenkins, Douglas Gordon, Jim Handson and O. L. Martin, all of Houston, and Ronald Coleman and L. W. Box, both of Dallas.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Larry Jones said the suit was the 13th such action filed by the state, involving loan offices.

The suit alleged that the defendants were engaged in the business of habitually loaning money for which usurious interest—in excess of 10 per cent annually—has been charged borrowers.

Wilson asked that the defendants be permanently enjoined from entering into any agreement or acting to charge usurious interest.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The best-known, least-seen wife in television is Alice Gobel — George's wife.

She's also the most maligned. To listen to George on Tuesday nights you'd think Alice was a nagging battle-axe who locks the comedian in a closet the other six nights of the week. It gets laughs on the air — and at home, too.

Alice, in reality, is a pretty, soft-spoken housewife who is terrified of publicity and the Hollywood limelight. Her world centers around the Gobel family—George, 38; Gregg, 13; George, 8, and Leslie, 4.

Sounds like a simple enough little world, but it includes a 6 1/2-acre estate in the San Fernando Valley and a home (under three separate roofs) that resembles the club house of a fancy country club.

Fine, but what does Alice think about being the butt of George's gags?

"Everybody wants to know that," she said timidly. "All I can say is that if I didn't approve of it George wouldn't make the jokes."

Two TV Wives

George, sitting in their sumptuous living room, nodded agreement. At Alice's insistence, the crew-cut comedian is always present when she is being interviewed.

"Whenever I go out with Alice people think I'm cheating on my TV wife," he said. "First it was Jeff Donnell, and now Phyllis Avery."

"Sometimes I feel like a scarlet woman, the way people look at me," Alice blushed. "At the time it isn't very funny. "It is to me," George chuckled. "Them characters edge up to me and give me the elbow, winkin' and nudgin' like I'm a gay old dog out on the town with another girl."

"Funny thing, Alice doesn't believe show business is here to stay. She's a real good mother and wife, but she could never be the typical 'stage wife.' Sometimes I'm disappointed that she doesn't take more interest in my work. I ask her if she thinks something is funny and Alice says, 'Don't ask me.'"

Iddy Biddy Gobel is carefully protective of Alice, answering questions put to her whenever he can.

Disorganization

We've all been hearing for years how some people are accident-prone. You have only to look about you with a keen eye to convince that some surety be disorganized.

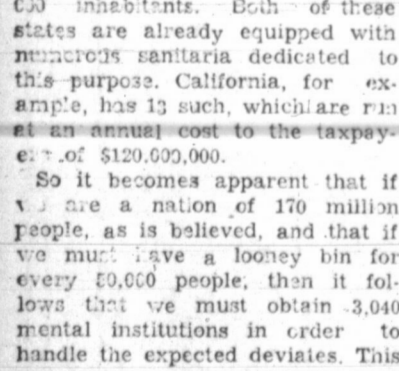

Take a fast run to the bank, while the wife, who could go on over with the kids and the luggage, carries over some nylon purchases. They make it to the station with minutes to spare. Our man rushes through the concourse, herding his family down the steps to the train. He breathes a sigh of relief, and smiles. But the smile can't last. As the train moved out, crisis strikes again, in fullest force. The luggage isn't aboard.

Politics creates some amazing mental mutations in the minds of otherwise normal people. Among the strangest of these is the current national excitement over mental health.

means, in simple terms, that virtually every county in the nation must have its own government-installed asylum. The new metaphysics seems to mean that if you don't approve of the United Nations, if you are opposed to high taxation, if you believe that the individual ought to make his own way, if you favor free enterprise, and if you think that some of our highly-touted statesmen are making donkeys out of themselves, then, you are afflicted with the dread malady of "untogelness."

GERMAN WAGES ADVANCE

After World War II Germany chose much more economic freedom and Great Britain plunged deeper into the mire of socialism. What was the effect upon the poor people of the relatively free market economy in Germany as compared with the poor in Great Britain under the socialistic welfare state?

During the 10-year period 1948 to 1957 real wages of West German workers advanced 99 per cent while real wages in Britain advanced only 32 per cent during the 10-year period.

ARE UNIONS ADVOCATING STATE SOCIALISM?

The Associated-Press carried a story reporting that AFL-CIO President George Meany had said over a nationwide radio broadcast (CBS) that organized labor is more active in politics than ever before, not to control the nation or guide it along the road to socialism but to win a better way of life.

It quotes Meany as saying: "The labor movement helped to win enactment of Social Security, unemployment insurance, 'slum' clearance, bank deposit insurance and many other reforms, all of which were denounced years ago as Socialistic."

"The hidden purpose behind this cry of socialism, and such phrases as leading America 'down the left lane', is to plant in the minds of the American people the idea that labor is pro-Communist."

"This is an unforfeitable and completely unjustified trick." Define State Socialism. "Socialism," according to Webster, is "a political and economic theory of social organization based on collective or governmental ownership and democratic management of the essential means for the production and distribution of goods; also, a policy or practice based on this theory."

You will note the definition above includes management. And, of course, no rational person would object to socialism that was not based on the use of aggressive force but was voluntary. The unions, of course, do not advocate voluntary socialism. They advocate the government using its power to largely help distribute what is produced.

Past Year Has Been Loaded With Tests

WASHINGTON — The U.S., Britain and Russia have conducted more nuclear tests in the past year than any previous similar period. Behind those accusations and denials of troop mobilizations, virtually every nation in this strategic cockpit is busily seeking more arms from either the East or the West.

FANNING THE FLAMES — The strife-racked Middle East is in the throes of a new weapons race. In one instance — Iraq — such overtures are apparently being made to both the U.S. and Russia.

FROM THE SOVIET — United Arab Republic (Egypt and Syria) — an estimated $50,000,000, chiefly in jet bombers and new-type missiles, particularly air-to-air "Sidewinder" type. Oil-rich Yemen — $10,000,000 in tanks, artillery and mechanized weapons.

ANNOUNCE MERGER PLANS — NEW YORK (UPI) — The directors of General Telephone Corp. and Sylvania Electric Products have announced plans to merge into a firm to be known as General Telephone and Electronics Corp.

Down South

Nothing less than the survival of local control of local affairs is involved in the general elections November 4th. The primary election is the real election in the Southern states. But this year the elections in Northern and Western states will have a marked influence on the amount of freedom we shall have in the South.

This year, the Northern and Western members of the coalition are hard-pressed. Some of the most determined and outspoken conservatives outside the South have retired from public life. Other conservatives have been subjected to fierce attacks.

Removal from Congress of conservative individuals and conservative parliamentary devices would be a national tragedy. The ruinous economic policies of recent years — the excessive spending and boondoggling projects would be multiplied many times.

Sanctify Horse — TOKYO (UPI) — First Frost, the dapple grey horse which used to be Crown Prince Akihito's favorite mount, is to be called out of retirement to be sanctified. The horse will be given to the Ise Grand Shrine, dedicated to the legendary sun goddess, to replace the shrine's sacred horse which died last year.

Nation's 'Mr. Safety' Quits Council; Still Thinks Safety

By ROBERT CRAM
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI)—The nation's "Mr. Safety" for the last 16 years is retiring to a Pennsylvania farm.

"Mr. Safety" is Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, the national safety organization on the nation's highways. His name, ironically, has become linked with death.

According to Dearborn, it's a "privilege and not a right" to own and drive an auto.

But at each holiday period, the name Dearborn has been foremost in the mounting highway fatality tolls. After Jan. 1, 1959, Dearborn—now 65—will no longer be connected directly with the specter of traffic death, and will retire to a farm near Conneautville, Pa.

Matter of Attitude
His thoughts and actions, however, constantly will be concerned with safety. For if a man lived and slept safely, it has been Ned H. Dearborn.

"When you boil it all down," he said, "safety is largely a matter of attitude."

He always had praise for the vast majority of motorists who are good drivers. They are "decent, thoughtful, considerate and reasonably skillful," Dearborn said. "But there are a handful who are crazy folks—and they ought to be driven off the road," he added.

Dearborn, a quiet man except for his zeal in fighting traffic death, became executive head of the National Safety Council in 1942. This was just a few months after President Franklin D. Roosevelt had asked the council to mobilize the forces of the nation in a campaign to curb the "alarming" rise in accidents.

A Personal Project

Dearborn directed the council during its years of transition from war to peace. During that time and at present the council has stressed the belief that "accident prevention is a project for everyone."

"The most important man in the safety movement is the man behind the wheel, in front of the auto or at the head of the table in his home," Dearborn said.

Dearborn, who was educated at Pennsylvania State Normal School and received his doctoral degree from Columbia University, has served as dean of the Division of General Education at New York University where he also headed the center for safety education.

He has been a member of the coordinating committees of three presidents' conferences since the

Reply Filed By Five Gulf States

AUSTIN (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has announced filing in the U.S. Supreme Court of a reply by five Gulf Coast states to contentions in the federal government's latest brief in its tidelands suit.

The joint reply brief was filed

President's Highway Safety Conference was organized in 1946, the President's Conference on Fire Prevention in 1947 and the President's Industrial Safety Conference in 1948.

by Texas, Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi and Florida. The brief complained of a letter from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and a letter from Adrian S. Fisher, reporter for the American Law Institute.

In its brief, the states said the Dulles letter, contending that the high court should consider the foreign policy of the United States in deciding the tidelands case, was based upon an incorrect assumption of the legal issues involved.

The brief said relations with foreign nations are not involved in the case and that national foreign policy is irrelevant to the case.

Body Chemistry Shift Possible

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—The possibility of science learning how to shift the gears (so to speak) in the body chemistry of an injured person in order to speed the healing of his wounds has been raised by experiments with the "growth" chemical of cows in the bodies of white rats.

This chemical, a "hormone," is in abundance in the infancy and youth of all animals and people. It keeps the pertinent body chemistry geared to the business of providing chemical building blocks without which the tissues and organs could not expand in growth. When full growth is accomplished, the hormone goes into short supply and the high gear is disengaged.

Presumably these building blocks are urgently needed by wounds and the more the chemistry provides, the faster they heal. So Dr. John F. Prudden, Genaro Nishihara, and Lourdes Ocampo of Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons put it to the test.

Seven-Day Interval
They took 168 rats which were almost identical as to strain, age, and weight. One half of them were injected daily with cows' growth hormone and this was believed to have made them young again in stepped-up supplies of building blocks.

A long surgical wound was made along the belly of each rat. Seven days were allowed for the healing process to take its course, and then all the wounds were tested to determine the tensile strength of the new tissue which was knitting the two sides of the cuts together.

The tensile strength in the wounds of all the treated rats was greater than that in the wounds of the paired "controls." On the average it was 8.8 per cent greater which showed these wounds were healing that much faster. This the scientists took as a clear demonstration that they had shifted rat chemistry over to speedy tissue-building.

Large Doses Dangerous
At this stage, the experiment could not be tried in people because cow growth hormone seems to be inactive in them. However, Prudden and his associates, in reporting to the American College of Surgeons, said they had reason to believe that it would be active if larger doses were injected into them. Larger doses could mean peril, and they said they were still engaged in preliminary studies.

The chemistry involved is that of nutrition. It has two sides. One tears down your food into its very basic chemicals, amino acids and such. The other side takes those basic chemicals, or "building blocks," and makes new cells and tissues with them.

The scientists acknowledge "the considerable body of (scientific) opinion" which holds that in the nature of the injured person doesn't really matter, unless it is altogether dreadful. The wound's need for building blocks takes what it needs. The experiments challenged this opinion.

Growth hormone is one of the many body-regulating chemicals manufactured by the pituitary gland.

ROYAL EXCUSE

LONDON (UPI)—General Sir Richard McCreery was fined $8.40 for speeding despite his excuse that "I was only trying to avoid keeping the Duke of Edinburgh waiting for his polo."

SAFETY 'CHUTE—Paratroopers who have sprained and even broken ankles in a hard landing will welcome this new personnel parachute. The picture shows parajump expert Lew Vinson coming in to a stand-up landing at Lake Elsinore, Calif. Secret of the radical new 'chute is a series of rings with present-shaped slots in each nylon gore. It reduces landing shock by at least 35 per cent. It was designed and developed for the Navy by Radioplane, a division of Northrop Aircraft, Inc.
