

16 Teams Slated To Complete First Round of Tourney

KANSAS CITY.—(AP)—The "name" teams in the National Inter-Collegiate (NAIB) Basketball Tournament today had fair warning that the six-day championship stretch is loaded with booby-traps. The sixteen teams scheduled to play today, Iowa State Teachers, and Denver, had only to look back a day to see what happened to Northeast (Mo.) State Teachers, of Kirksville, and what almost happened to champion Brigham Young of the Skyline Six.

Kirksville, whipped only once in 30 regular season games, blew a couple of leads and was eliminated by Arizona State College of Tempe, 68-66.

Brigham Young's Cougars remain in the running through the hospitality of unheralded, DePa State Teachers College of Cleveland, Miss.

The Cougars won 66-61, in an overtime after capitalizing on an enemy error to tie the game 59 with four seconds of play remaining.

Xavier was paired with Northwestern (La.) State, followed by Manhattan and Arkansas State of Conway, Indiana State (Terre Haute) and St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., and Hamline and Mercer of Macon, Ga., today.

Southern Illinois University of Carbondale, 1945 champion, rallied to beat Southern Oregon College of Education, 54-50, in another tough game yesterday.

Lawrence Tech of Detroit overpowered Appalachian (N.C.) Teachers, 76-49.

Defending champion Marshall College, Huntington, W. Va., breezed past Peru (Ohio) Teachers, 72-53.

In other opening day games, University of Louisville beat South Dakota State, 63-60; Belmont (Wis.) College beat East Central (Okla.) 81-60, and Teachers College of Connecticut from New Britain, Conn., whipped Montana University, 63-42.

Tonight's games match Gonzaga and Texas Wesleyan, Emporia (Kas.) State and Loyola of Balt.

Man to Wrestle Alligator on Wrestling Card

A battle between a man and an eight-foot alligator will share the limelight with Promoter Vic Burnett's double-main wrestling event at the Sportatorium, Thursday night.

The 'gator will meet its owner, a very good wrestler, Tuffy Truesdell. Tuffy, an ex-U. S. Army sergeant, is a one-time Olympic champion. Truesdell has been in the alligator business for nine months, and figures it's better than getting hit by a truck, anyway.

On the first event of the scheduled twin bill Dory Funk of Hammond, Ind., will meet The Mask. The hooded, 190-pounder refuses to give his identity and has been mute when asked if he is the Masked Marvel that appeared in the Panhandle area back in 1936 and 1937.

The companion feature will pit the ex-Argentine Navy champion Gorilla Poggi, against the handsome French-Canadian Pierre LaBelle of Portland, Ore.

The company feature will pit the Kentucky Navy champion Gorilla Poggi, against the handsome French-Canadian Pierre LaBelle of Portland, Ore.

The Kentuckians, awarded the brilliant spot on the basis of their record, 26-1, will meet LaSalle of Philadelphia (19-3) in the opening game.

NYU, with 20 wins in 21 starts, was seeded second but established the unofficial tourney favorite at odds of 2-1. North Carolina State Southern Conference champions (29-2) were seeded third with St. Louis (21-3) fourth.

Here's the first round schedule: Western Kentucky vs. LaSalle, 8 p. m. EST, Thursday; St. Louis vs. Bowling Green, O., 12:51, 9:45 p. m. Thursday; NYU vs. Texas (19-4), 8 p. m. Saturday.

The other reason is that it now appears there will be a playoff each year between the Southwest and Border conference champions. The basketball playoffs will be held in the NCAA Tournament.

If a Southwest-Border conference playoff is required each year, Dr. Messersmith says the question of expense will arise. Expenses are great over the Southwest for such a series. The cost would be heavy. College basketball hasn't yet reached the point where it will draw a paying crowd if there's any expense of promotion in staging the games.

There has been some talk that the Texans are fading in the golfing world, that players from the Lone Star State will hog the limelight.

There doesn't seem to be any noticeable slacking off in Texas golf. At this time two Texans are leading in the battle for the Vardon Trophy. They are Lloyd Mangrum and Ben Hogan. Bobby Locke, the Britisher, is the actual leader but since he is not an American citizen he is not eligible. Jimmy Demaret, also ineligible. He disqualified himself by picking up during the New Orleans Open. In sixth place is Dick Metz, another Texan.

In money-winning, Texans again hog the limelight. Mangrum is top by a large margin. Demaret is third and Hogan fourth. Henry Ransom broke into the headlines the other day by taking $1,500 first money in the Palm Beach, Fla. tournament. Henry Demaret had another type of publicity three weeks ago when he figured in a fist fight with Norman Von Nida, the Australian pro, at Harlingen. It brought him headlines and a two-week suspension from the golf tour. Ransom got more publicity at Harlingen than he did at Palm Beach but it cost him a lot more.

Demaret, the Houston songbird, leads the field for the Ryder Cup with 126 points. Two other Texans also rate with the top seven. They are Hogan and Mangrum.

We made the golfing tour with the pros while they were at the Texas Open in San Antonio at the Lower Rio Grande Valley Open at Harlingen. About all we heard was how great the North Carolina professionals were and that they would take over everything as soon as the Texans had been doing in the past.

Well, Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., ranks fifth for the Vardon Trophy and Skip Alexander of Lexington, N. C., is ninth. Palmer and Alexander are eighth and ninth in contention for the Ryder cup team. In money won, Palmer is fifth and Alexander ninth. The North Carolina boys better start making their move if they aim to overshadow the Texans.

Tip: Don't be surprised if Bob Woodruff, young head coach of Baylor University, turns up as a head coach of Louisiana State. His announcement is likely this week. Bernie Moore quit to become Southeastern Conference commissioner, throwing the place wide open.

There is talk of hiring an alumnae but Woodruff is the leading candidate among the non-alumni, so the reports go.

DALLAS.—(AP)—The big leagues quit bothering the high school athletes after a howl was raised and Commissioner Happy Chandler decided there ought to be a law. Now the colleges are having the same trouble.

They want the major league scouts to lay off while the boys are in college to play baseball. They'd like this rule: when a boy finishes high school, he can decide whether he wants to enter pro baseball or play in college. If he chooses the latter, the major leagues leave him alone until he finishes.

But the big leagues say the colleges are going to have to keep their baseball coaches off the major league payroll first. What they're complaining about is the practice of some college coaches being paid by major league clubs. In other words, they don't think it quite right for a college coach to line up his boys for certain clubs with the others having no right to contact them. It looks like a fair request.

Lloyd Messersmith, baseball coach of Southern Methodist University who is chairman for district 2 in the National Collegiate Athletic Association baseball playoff, says two obstacles have arisen in the path of Southwest Conference members toward participating in the Western regional tournament which is to be held at Denver again this year.

One comes from the fact that the schools close earlier in the Southwest than in the North and East. The baseball players go to work. In order for a team to meet a trip to the NCAA playoff, these boys have to be called back. Last year, for instance, the University of Texas, representing the Southwest Conference, didn't have its full team when it went to Denver for the regional playoff.

The other reason is that it now appears there will be a playoff each year between the Southwest and Border conference champions. The basketball playoffs will be held in the NCAA Tournament.

If a Southwest-Border conference playoff is required each year, Dr. Messersmith says the question of expense will arise. Expenses are great over the Southwest for such a series. BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
TAMPA, Fla.—(AP) Johnny Neun, the Cincinnati Reds' pitcher, thinks that Pittsburgh will be an unopposed ball club this year.

And in the next breath he adds, "I may be the only one who thinks so."

Some other members of the Red's official family believe Dixie Walker won't be as effective in Pittsburgh as he was in Ebbets Field, where the fans were all on his side.

Word from Clearwater is that Jim Tabor is holding for his unconditional release from the Phillies so he can join a semi-pro club.

INDIRECT APPROACH
One who is sure to miss the departure of Bill McKechnie is Bill's polished way of insulting umpires, some of whom Johnny Neun hasn't yet been able to match.

A few years ago, for instance, four umpires turned up for one game. All went well until there was a decision at third which Bill didn't like.

McKechnie merely wandered down to the coaching box, studied the umpire, and returned to the opposing third-baseman.

The tipoff on you guys is that you have to have four umpires to get a decision.

CLEANING THE CUFF
Bibi Falk, who coaches U. of Texas baseball in big league style, already is moaning because First Baseman Tom Hamilton and Shortstop Chuck Zimberoff will miss the early-season games while they go with the basketball squad to the National Invitation Tournament.

Howard Fox, Cincinnati's six-foot-three pitcher from Bend, Ore., is a member of a basketball team of five Fox brothers. Howard says he's the smallest of the lot which inspired Dave Grody, the Reds' publicist, to remark, "I'd hate to pay the food bills when they were growing up."

PARIS—(NEA)—Even Paris, where the "new look" started, is divided into two camps: the partisans and the objectors. The Parisiennes marketing on the Rue Lupeux, who wrathfully ripped off a "new look" dress recently from an American model, are not the only objectors here. Siding with the embattled gals is Molyneux, leading French couturier who says the "new look" is undemocratic and furnishes propaganda for the Communists.

Backing the "new look" is couturier Jacques Fath, a strong partisan who claims he started it a year and a half ago with longer skirts. Fath contends that since trends are always created for rich women, who set the styles for the masses, fashion has never been democratic.

Interpreted below are the opposing arguments gleaned from interviews with these two leading members of the French couture:

MOLYNEUX
The new look is badly timed. It reflects bad psychology, and it asks for trouble.

The extravagance of the new styles creates a class distinction between the average girl in the street who can't afford to change her wardrobe and the rich woman who can.

Using from 25 to 30 yards to make a dress in a period of world-fabric shortages is sheer stupidity. We're limiting a dress to five to six yards, and we're doing a good business. It's not the dress that matters but the woman who wears it.

The protests of the women—some are angry manifestations—are proof that they aren't liking the extravagant fashions.

More conservative and more wearable clothes make a woman look more ladylike. Extravagant drapery can make a lady look like the exact opposite. I can't stand to see a couple of enormous things, for instance, on a derriere.

FATH
Fashions were never born with the times. If a creator thought about the complications of life, he'd never make a dress. If he did, it would be a flop.

Undemocratic? A designer always creates for rich women. They launch fashions; the masses follow.

My collection is selling very well, too.

There's always plenty of fabric. When we didn't have fabric, we used ingenuity. During the war when we had many more limitations, we created two collections a year: used old towels and things for linings.

I don't believe in the manifestations. Women will wear the "new look." Fashions will be stabilized after a few modifications.

The new fashions underscore a woman's best points. If she hasn't good points, she can always fake them: false padding over her hips and bosom. After all, the fill-in bra was invented in America. Women don't have to diet now. They can let their hips grow.

SHOE TREES
Tension shoe trees should not be used when shoes are wet because they may stretch the leather out of shape. Wet shoes should be stuffed with soft paper to take up moisture inside. The outside of the shoe should be patted with a cloth to soak up excess moisture.

Early Christians of Rome met in the catacombs which were underground cemeteries.

Roe Davis Honored With Birthday Party
Roe Davis was honored Saturday night by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Vernon Davis, at 521 N. West.

The evening's entertainment consisted of "42" with prizes going to Mrs. H. P. Harrison, Mrs. Jake Hyatt, and to Messrs. H. P. Harrison, Jake Hyatt, Lance Kenner, and Gilbert Moore.

The honoree was the recipient of many nice gifts.

Birthday cake and ice cream were served to nineteen guests.

WOODROW WILSON P-TA
The Rev. Clyde Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will be guest speaker at the Woodrow Wilson P-TA Thursday afternoon, March 11, at 2:15.

Miss Minnie Allen, teacher, will discuss the Federal Aids Bill for Education.

A representative of the organization requests that all members be urged to attend as this is the month for the election of officers for next year's work in the local P-TA.

Delegates will be elected to go to the District Convention in Amarillo Apr. 20-22.

There will be an Executive Board meeting in Mr. Yoder's office at 1:30.

"Two-in-One" Party Is Held in Boyette Home

McLEAN (Special)—A bridal shower was given recently honoring Mrs. Donald R. Randall of San Diego, Calif., who before her marriage was Betty Joe Andrews. Mesdames W. E. Bogan, H. A. Longino, J. L. Hess, Bob Black, Ellen Wilson, J. E. Kirby, and Willie Boyette were hostesses for the occasion in a "Two in One" program at the home of Mrs. Boyette.

The Women's Society of Christian Service met at 2 o'clock for a short business session, conducted by the president, Mrs. Kirby. A program on "World Brotherhood" was presented by Mrs. J. L. Andrews, assisted by Mrs. J. W. Story, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Bonnie Swanson.

Others attending were Mesdames Ernest Beck, Earl Stubbiefield, Earl Eustace, Frank Rodgers, Ryrd Guili, Bill Bailey, R. D. Patterson, R. F. Sanders, W. L. Hinton, and Christa Carol Rodgers.

Between the programs, refreshments consisting of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served by the hostesses.

Piano music was furnished by Misses La Wanda Shadid and Jan Black.

The bridal shower was given at three o'clock. Mrs. Johnnie Mertel registered the guests in a lovely bride's book which she had made for the occasion. In the absence of the honoree her mother, Mrs. Andrews, accepted the gifts.

Those attending and sending gifts included 67 relatives and friends.

Prune Coffee Cake
For an energy pick-up, quick and nutritious, serve this excellent prune cake with a mug of milk.

Hot breads are an appetizing invitation to "come and get it," especially when winter storms are blowing outside. This year's good supplies of dried fruits make them a good item to team with enriched flour's thrifty protein, iron and B-vitamins for nourishing, flavorful coffee cakes.

A versatile bread, indeed, is this prune coffee cake with its attractive crumbly topping. Serve it for breakfast, of course—but also for luncheon with a Lenten salad plate of diced fruits and cheese, and when friends drop in for "a snack."

If you dip your scissors in water before cutting the prunes, the fruit will be less likely to stick to the blades. You will also find it a good idea to "dust" the chopped fruit with part of the sifted dry ingredients to keep the fruit from sticking together.

Mrs. Fannon to Head Benevolence Project

Last Wednesday night Mrs. Bill Fannon was appointed by the Jaycee-Elites to head the work of the organization in sponsoring two Pampa boys who live in the Presbyterian Home at Amarillo. Mrs. Fannon led the discussion in which tentative plans to make contributions to Europeans through "Care" were discarded in favor of the boys at Amarillo.

It was voted to take up a collection at every meeting of the Jaycee-Elites and at intervals for a committee to go to Amarillo and take the boys selected on a shopping tour personally supervising the purchase of clothing and other necessities.

The ladies voted also to give appropriate recognition to the boys' birthdays and other special days that youngsters expect to have noticed.

Last Sunday Mrs. Fannon was accompanied to Amarillo by several other Jaycee-Elites to consult with authorities in charge of the home regarding the selection of boys to sponsor. Those who went with her were Mesdames Arthur Aftergut, Bud Johnson, Z. R. Osborne, Jim Arndt, Floyd Watson, and Wilfred Boyles.

It might even be equipped with a radio if one member of the family insists on listening to programs the others find irritating.

Since the small, modern home offers no real place to which members of a family can run off and hide to avoid the many and varied annoyances of family living, the sound-proof booth may be the answer to a long-felt need.

Instead of the rest of the family fleeing from junior's howling or teenage Sue's telephone conversations, the disturbing member of the family could be sent to the booth.

Dinner Dates Make Marriages Happier

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Husbands who boast about their wives' culinary talents better take the little woman out to dinner occasionally if they want to keep their marriages happy.

The reason, says J. B. Verheiden in the March Journal of Living, is that when a woman cooks, she figuratively eats the same meal three times. When she plans a meal and shops for the ingredients, she eats it mentally before it comes to the table. When she cooks the meal, she eats it the second time. By the time she's finally seated at the table and her plate is actually filled, the novelty of the food is nil and her appetite almost appeased.

While every good cook may claim there is great satisfaction in seeing others do her handiwork, she herself has been shortchanged. That's why, declares the Journal of Living, article, every housewife should be treated to a homecooked meal—in a restaurant.

Southwestern Life Reports to the PEOPLE OF TEXAS

Several years ago, recognizing that interest rates were falling and that more than normal fluctuations of economic conditions might be expected, the Company began setting aside a portion of earnings to provide a fund to preserve the integrity of Southwestern Life's obligations under all conditions. Even though interest rates may rise somewhat in the future and economic conditions become less likely to produce adverse fluctuations, contingency funds will still be maintained to add a comforting measure of strength to the policy reserves required by law. During the year 1947, $531,293.88 was added to the contingency funds, bringing the total to $6,998,999.60.

The year 1947 marked the completion of the new, modern, four-story annex to the Home Office Building. The Home Office property fronts 177 feet on Main Street at the corner of Akard Street in the center of the business district of Dallas.

Southwestern Life employs a trained force of more than 800 citizens of Texas to serve you. A well organized and continuing program of instruction for both field representatives and home office employees assures you of a staff qualified to offer you the best insurance counsel. Of the number employed, more than 400 are full-time agents giving Southwestern Life insurance service to the citizens in the 254 counties of the State.

I Am Private Enterprise

The following definitive article—written by Benjamin DeCasseres, in the New York Journal-American—is clear and understandable that is reprinted here in its entirety:

I am the Spirit of Private Enterprise. Wherever I have existed freedom of mind and body have existed. Wherever I have been murdered by collectivist laws and governmental strangulation freedom of mind and freedom of body have died.

I was the physical lever of Athenian civilization. I died in the collectivist feudal ages. I was resurrected by the Renaissance, beginning the modern age. With the rebirth of free private trading came the vastest expansion in the arts and sciences the world has ever known.

I am Private Enterprise. I have brought men of distant countries closer together in friendly intercourse than all the socialistic and communistic doctrines combined. My trade routes have been the routes of human progress.

High Prices

by R. C. HOILES

"I have just finished reading a very interesting book under the subject of 'High Prices' by F. A. Harper. This book was issued by the Foundation for Economic Education.

The author points out that the best way to avoid panic is to frankly discuss things that might bring about a panic.

"Happiness has been aptly defined as the state of mind in which one finds himself when he meets up with conditions more favorable than he had expected, no matter how high or low his expectations may have been.

People are unwise because they have been promised so many things that haven't come to pass. They expected to have an easier time to get a home, they didn't expect prices to be so high.

High Prices, Tracks. Mr. Harper explains that inflation is the increase of credit or circulating media.

Increased Production. Mr. Harper points out that increased production is new buying power so it is not the sole remedy of inflation.

Great Danger. The author explains that we have increased what is commonly called our money supply from $60 billion before the war to $165 billion.

Gracie Reports. The National Bureau of Standards, which seems to have a low opinion of the public's intelligence, has put out a booklet warning against putting our fingers in lawnmowers and throwing eggs into electric fans.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER. WASHINGTON — The majority of questions for this week's forum deal with the fascinating subject of current American politics.

Unpredictable — J. T. of Brooklyn asks whether there is any likelihood that the Truman-McGrath forces will patch up a truce with Henry Wallace's left wing faction before the election.

Sacrifice — Answer: Absolutely not, although I recognize that nothing is as such a mercurial game as politics.

Respect — National Chairman McGrath would welcome the prodigious support of the military.

Rebellion — M. A. of Concord, N. H. whom I judge to be a Republican, is eager to know whether Southern rebellion against President Truman's civil rights program will peter out.

Devotion — The same considerations apply here as in the Wallace case. If President Truman backs down, he will lose the important colored vote in the North and Midwest.

Baylor Group Tries Something New in Theater Productions

By MARTHA COLE

WACO—(AP)—Film sequences, a good musical score and a 10-year-old girl carried off the latest experiment of the Baylor Experimental Theater group with aplomb here last night.

The experiment was "Eileen Loves of Leo," a play written by A. B. Shiffrin, New York. The innovation was the interweaving of musical scenes with the plot. The music score, played on a recording helped bridge the gaps among the numerous scenes.

Little 10-year-old Martha Montgomery, whose father is a carpenter in south Waco, sailed through the entire experiment with no sign of a bobble. The whole play was seen through the child's eyes. The flat backdrops were adapted from designs as a 10-year-old child would draw them.

Four of the movie sequences, flashed rather than shown on the backdrops, were dramas the child would have of her hero. In this case it was her father.

The father, Leo Dowling, was played by Richard Hawkins. He came back from the war mangled and wore tales of fantasy to impress his child. Just how she brought him back to earth was the plot.

The play was produced by Paul Baker, director of the Baylor group. Working with him was Samuel Leve, who designed the sets. Both wore the harried looks of last night of fathers who had been up nights walking the baby.

Their baby was all right, with only a touch of colic. The film sequences weren't as smooth as Martha's performance but there were too many technical difficulties to overcome.

"It's new," Leve said, about the film, "but there's no reason why it shouldn't be done. You're sitting around thinking. You have the image in your mind and all at once you're talking out loud to yourself."

That was the idea in the experiment. The characters on the stage started talking, arguing, pleading with the characters projected on the backdrop.

The play and the experiment were well suited to the intimacy of Baylor's small square theater.

2,000,000 Poles Are Said to Have VD

WARSAW—(AP)—The newspaper Robotnik reported venereal diseases in Poland had shown a 40 percent increase over pre-war figures. The journal urged the ministry of health to start immediate activities to stop a further spread of these diseases. The number of venereal cases in Poland, based upon demands for drugs, has been estimated at 2,000,000.

In Hollywood

NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Exclusively yours: The first definite bid for strictly adult entertainment will be made by John Steinbeck, Burgess Meredith and director Lewis Milestone. When they film the Steinbeck novel, "Cannery Row," as an independent film, it will go before the cameras as Steinbeck wrote it, letting the censors scream where they may.

The picture will be shown with the "Adult Only" label. Children will be barred. I'm wishing them luck. I've been yelling for two years now that separate pictures for adults and children is the big answer to Hollywood's woes.

Dorothy Lamour will check in to Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore for an ear operation when she completes "Let's Fall in Love" at Columbia.

The Deanna Durbin-Vincent Price romance is still blazing. They were dining by candlelight in a secluded corner at the Mocambo.

JOLSON AS JOLSON?

There's still no story written on the sequel to the "Jolson Story." It's all in Jolie's mind, and he's determined to play himself.

Annabella is upset, but plenty over the publicity about the "fabulous" property settlement she received from Ty Power. Since the $50,000 a year she receives from Power is less whatever she earns as an actress, she doesn't stand to collect much if she continues her career. This year Power pays only the child support fee, since Annabella's earnings from the film start next month in Paris will be more than $50,000.

Paramount is hatching another "Road" picture, the result of high grosses on "Road to Rio."

Rita Hayworth probably will make another European jaunt after completing "Carmen." That's the film's new title, since the censors snipped off "The Loves of."

There's an ironic note to director Charles Vidor's raves over John Huston's direction of "Treasure of the Sierra Madre." Huston is married to Vidor's ex-wife, Evelyn Keyes.

There have been quite a few notes of late kidding Hollywood's indecision over film titles. Title changes may come and go, but nobody will ever top that wonderful switch of 20 years ago when "The Pink Chimney" was retitled "Come on Marines."

NEW STAR AWARD

Sneak preview reports indicate that Hollywood has a new star in radio comic Henry Morgan in "So This is New York." Which gives rise to a thought the Academy might consider. Since the life-blood of Hollywood is new faces and fresh ideas, why not an annual plaque for the star discovery of the year?

Yvonne de Carlo has been seeing a lot of Hurd Hatfield. Virginia Belmont, three-time beauty contest winner, was playing several sparkling roles recently, is up for a contract at a major lot.

It's good to see Sonny Tufts getting a break in "The Wrangler." Hollywood and Vine scuttlebutt says "State of the Union" is emerging better than the play, and that is a triumph for Angela Lansbury, who has wanted a long time since "Gaslight" to get a role paying off her promise of stardom.

With "Noose" being made in England and Jimmy Stewart starring in "Rope" in Hollywood, I'm wondering if someone will announce filming of De Maupassant's "A Piece of Strig."

It was refreshing to hear Susan Hayward admit she wanted that orange nomination. Other stars generally get silly-shy at the mention of the possibility.

'Gas Masks' Increase Storage Life of Apples

ITHACA, N. Y.—(AP)—The storage life of apples can be increased 25 percent by using charcoal "gas masks" in storage room, two Cornell University scientists found.

Ripe apples give off ethylene gas, they discovered, and this gas will make other apples in the room ripen much faster. Using the gas mask principle, Dr. C. E. F. Uterman and R. M. Smock circulated the storage room air through containers of charcoal. The charcoal captured the ethylene gas and cleaned the air. Tests have been made in actual commercial storage, they said, and in a normal year at normal prices the method might add $500,000 to growers' profits.

Judge and Mrs. Sherman White were in Amarillo today to be with Mrs. White's mother, Mrs. M. R. Upham, of McLean. She is undergoing an operation at the Northwest Texas Hospital.

POLITICS

work for equal rights for all. But Southerners have said that isn't enough. Their contention is that no matter what the party says, Mr. Truman will be running on his own civil rights platform. McGrath also took notice of the criticism that has been directed against the administration's handling of the Palestine problem.

Warren R. Austin, American representative, told the United Nations safety council last month it must act to restore peace in the Holy Land but that the council has no power to enforce a "political settlement"—the partitioning of Palestine.

"We asked the President to explain the present status of the Palestine situation and he did," McGrath said. "The President will continue to handle the problem without consideration of its effect on politics." The chairman added: "The President has assured me that our original position of backing up decisions of the United Nations has not and will not be changed."

To a question whether a vice presidential candidate had been discussed, McGrath laughingly replied: "My gosh, we forgot that."

The Tokyo announcement plainly surprised most Republicans. They had looked for the allied commander to remain silent for some time to come.

But the move served blunt notice on both Dewey and Stassen—the two contenders in today's New Hampshire balloting—that a victory for MacArthur in Wisconsin's three-way race next month would be followed by widespread efforts in his behalf elsewhere.

Most politicians looked for MacArthur's entry in the race to affect Taft most directly. Many of Taft's backers have had a good word to say for the general.

Southern Democrats were hostile to the Truman announcement. Senator Eastland (Miss.), one of the leaders of the party revolt against the civil rights program, declared: "I am going along with the Democratic Party of Mississippi. Our course is clear."

That course, as explained by Eastland, is to deny Mississippi's electoral votes to Mr. Truman. There have been strong indications that the Mississippi and other Dixie delegates to the party's July convention in Philadelphia will walk out on Mr. Truman's nomination.
