Government Joins NAACP In Effort To Open Schools

By PRESTON MCGRAW
United Press International

LITTLE ROCK (UPI)—The federal government joined the National Association for Advancement of Colored People Saturday in an effort to have the Little Rock school board forbidden to let a corporation have four city high schools for private, segregated operation.

The school board is now under a restraining order, which expires next Monday, and which was issued last Monday by two judges of the Eighth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The whole appeals court, meeting in St. Louis, will hear the NAACP's and the government's petitions Monday to make the restraining order an injunction, a legal action of more lasting and forceful nature.

Expected to Favor NAACP

The decision of the court is the next landmark in the Little Rock integration crisis. It is generally expected to be in favor of the NAACP.

The Little Rock private schools corporation, which is taking contributions to establish classes in private buildings and homes, is waiting until Monday to see what the court does before trying to put its new plan into operation.

The corporation leased the four high school buildings, hoping to use them. But the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals stopped transfer of the buildings with the restraining order to the school board.

"The time has come... for the courts to call a halt to further dilatory and obstructive actions which have no legal sanctions, but which can, nonetheless, cause delay and produce needless further litigation," the government's brief filed in support of the NAACP, said.

Can't Subvert Process

"The courts cannot allow the processes of law to be subverted in such fashion, for otherwise legal rights and judicial remedies would become meaningless forms."

The government also asked the appeals court to send the case back to U. S. district court "with explicit instructions to issue such further decrees... that the adjudicated constitutional rights of the appellants shall fully enforce and shall not be obstructed or interfered with in any manner by any persons, public and private."

U. S. District Judge John E. Miller declined to rule in the case before the NAACP appealed to the Eighth Circuit Court.

The speaker of the state House of Representatives and Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon, president of the state Senate, said they doubt legislative reports that the Arkansas legislature may be asked to abolish the state's entire public school system.

"I don't know anything about it," Speaker of the House, Glen Walther said. "I talked to the governor yesterday afternoon and nothing was mentioned. I don't think there is anything to it."

60,000 Ready To Flee Their Homes

IN HOME BLAZE

Coal Miner, Wife And Children Die

INDIANA, Pa. (UPI)—An unemployed coal miner, his wife and five of his seven children died Saturday when fire touched off by a kerosene explosion swept their home 12 miles east of here.

One other child was rescued but suffered critical burns. Another escaped by clambering out a cellar coal chute at the direction of her father, who despite the flames which licked from his clothing made a desperate effort to save the other members of the family.

State police said the blast occurred at the Father, Clair Kinter, 42, was using the kerosene to start a fire in the kitchen stove of his home.

Perishing in the flames were Kinter, his wife, Jennie, 39, and their children, Peggy, 13, Virginia, 11, June, 7, Jimmy, 6, and Ruth, 5. In critical condition at Indiana Hospital was Linda 9.

The other child, Elizabeth, 12, said her father was having trouble getting the fire started and sent her to the cellar to get more kindling and he got a can of kerosene.

While Linda was in the cellar, the blast occurred. She said she ran back up stairs and saw her father in the kitchen, his clothing ablaze. Elizabeth said her father shouted to her get out the coal chute and said he was going upstairs to get the others.

Within minutes, Bill Ponds, Erie, Pa., who was visiting at a house about 75 feet away arrived.

"I could hear a girl screaming," he said. "I ran into the flames and could see this little girl on the steps to the upstairs. I grabbed her and took her outside."

The rescued child suffered third degree burns of the entire body.

Firemen from Clymer and Dixonville were forced to pump water from a creek to fight the blaze because there are no water lines in the area.

Matamoros Threatened; 500 Driven From Homes

MATAMOROS, Mexico (UPI)—The residents of Matamoros fought to save their city from the Rio Grande Saturday night as a new flood crest hurtled down-stream from Reynosa, where it drove 500 persons from their homes.

The 60,000 residents of Matamoros, across the border from Brownsville, were ready to desert the town if necessary. But flood gates on lakes of the river were being manipulated and 75-foot cuts were chopped along two Mexican highways upriver from Matamoros in hopes it would divert the water into a harmless 400,000 acre lake.

Upriver at Reynosa, where 300 persons evacuated Friday and 200 more Saturday, officials feared for the city jail, which contained 600 prisoners. It is located in a hard-hit section of the Mexican city.

H. J. Clifford, chief of the International Water and Boundary Commission in McAllen, Tex., said "The Mexicans are doing a fine job getting rid of water so far. We hope they can keep it up."

Halfway between Reynosa and Matamoros, operations at 16 oil wells were suspended.

At Brownsville, Tex., authorities mounted a 24-hour watch for the rushing river's crest. The weather bureau predicted an 18-foot flood stage at Brownsville Sunday night.

At Matamoros about 300 workers shored up levees that guard the town's business district.

Mexican International Water and Boundary Commission officials said they were prepared to start diverting water above Reynosa into a canal that would flood interior lowlands but take some of the pressure off the city.

Officials have already cut a levee in Lake Culebron above Matamoros to send water through a floodway and into the Gulf of Mexico.

The Mexican Department of Hydraulic Resources explained that the cuts in the highways were necessary as the roads are built on high ground and act as dikes holding back waters which cause heavy floods in low-lying areas.

3,000 Moved out

In preparation for the cuts, more than 3,000 persons living in Campamento Village were transferred to Matamoros.

Meanwhile, Matamoros was completely cut off from the rest of the country by land.

The flood crest of the Rio Grande is expected in Matamoros within the next 24 hours.

Authorities said the U. S. Navy sent a helicopter and salvage equipment to aid in possible evacuation operations.

At Reynosa, 300 persons forced from their homes when Rio

C-C Manager Lauds Local Business Gals

"There is sometimes a lot of truth found in slogans," Pampa Chamber of Commerce manager, E. O. Wedgeworth said Saturday. "This is especially true in the slogan adopted by our National Business Women, for use in their annual observance of National Business Women's Week, when they say 'More Power With Women Power.' Wedgeworth commented.

The local C-C chief in lauding Pampa business women on their week outlined in detail just what business women locally have meant to Pampa as a community.

Wedgeworth said: "Business women in Pampa in years past have made a great contribution through their organization, The Business and Professional Women's Club, in helping to build a better town and community. There is seldom a civic program undertaken that the B&PWC is not involved in some way. They are noted for their thorough organization and 'follow through' so necessary in civic activities.

"A few of the major projects that the B&PWC Club has been identified with recently include their good work with the Merchants Activities Committee of the Chamber of Commerce in personally soliciting funds for Christmas Activities to provide street decorations and other phases of the overall Christmas Program.

"For many years the B&PWC Club has sold street decorations for the Top o' Texas Rodeo and handled collections so that the decorators are ready to go to work when they get to town.

"Then, the Business Women of Pampa have been conspicuous with their good work in helping with the Youth Center Program through cash contributions and Women Power in soliciting funds. The Annual United Fund Campaign also

Chinese Reds Have Been Firing Duds

BIG QUEMOY (UPI)—The Chinese Communists have been firing an unusually high percentage of dud shells at Big Quemooy, suggesting possible sabotage behind the Bamboo Curtain, American military advisers said Saturday.

Army Col. Douglas Lane of Mayville, Okla., chief of the U. S. Military Advisory Detachment on the beleaguered island, said duds and misfires have accounted for the relatively low percentage of Chinese Nationalist casualties in the saturation shelling.

Lane said he believed that the Russians either have supplied the Chinese Communists old ammunition with faulty fuses or else there has been sabotage in Russia or China.

"There are bound to be some duds in every concentration of artillery fire," Lane said. "But the percentage of misfires, short rounds and duds counted on Quemooy runs four to five times the average expectancy."

"This is attributable to only two things. Either the Russians are supplying the Chinese (Army) with old, outdated ammunition or somewhere along the line, the ammunition is being tampered with to cause the misfires."

Maj. Han Ken Lee, a Korean-American from Niles, Mich., said most of the dud shells found on Quemooy were made in Russia.

Lee said there were "dozens of places" from factory to gun where shells easily could be sabotaged.

"It is not difficult to sabotage ammunition either during manufacture or in handling, Lee said.

PHYSICIAN SAYS:

Ike's In 'The Pink'

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower's doctors said Saturday he is in "an excellent state of health."

The report was issued after the chief executive underwent a complete physical examination at the Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, commanding officer of the center and one of those who examined the President, told reporters the results of the checkup were "fine—best yet."

The brief medical bulletin said: "The President underwent a complete physical examination, which included barium studies of the gastrointestinal tract and appropriate laboratory tests, at Walter Reed Army Hospital on Oct. 2-4, 1958."

"The results of these all-inclusive studies show that the President continues to maintain an excellent state of health."

The terse report was signed by Maj. Gen. Howard C. McN Snyder, the President's own physician, and Heaton.

The President entered the hospital for the examination late Friday and spent the night there.

As though to emphasize his good health, he drove directly from the hospital Friday afternoon to the Burning Tree Club in nearby Maryland for a game of golf.

He had lunch at the hospital.

The new medical report came just 10 days before the President's 68th birthday and a few days before he planned to plunge into the political campaign on behalf of Republican candidates.

After past medical checkups, the President's doctors have issued more detailed reports on their findings, providing such information as his blood pressure and the results of blood analyses.

Such details were completely absent from Saturday's two-paragraph report.

Mrs. Anne W. Wheaton, the associate White House press secretary, said the bulletin was deliberately brief because Eisenhower wanted it that way.

She said that the overnight examinations covered all areas of the President's medical background, including his 1955 heart attack, his 1956 surgery for linitis, and the slight stroke he suffered last fall.

Ike Warns Demos On Policy Attacks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower Saturday bluntly told Democratic opponents of his controversial Formosa Strait policy that their attacks might make a war "almost inevitable."

He took this stand in a blistering letter to Chairman Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Green, in a letter to Eisenhower.

Troops Begin Withdrawal Despite Lebanon Violence

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—The United States Army began leaving Lebanon Saturday despite a wave of kidnappings, beatings and strikes that threatened renewed civil war.

About 1,000 American soldiers, waving and shouting happily, rolled through the streets in open trucks to the Beirut dock area and boarded a ship to return to bases in Germany.

The last 90 Marines were expected to depart Sunday and the remaining 5,900 soldiers to go within two weeks, leaving the Lebanese army to handle the simmering new revolt by itself. In August there were 14,000 U.S. troops in Lebanon.

Pro and anti-government forces accused each other of hundreds of sectarian kidnappings and beatings.

Christian Phalangists maintained roadblocks on main roads leading into the city. They burned attacks of tires and sent women and children before the barricades to halt traffic.

On one road south of the city, where Phalangists burned three trucks and beat their drivers, the Lebanese army moved in 10 tanks and armored cars to beef up hastily built sandbagged positions.

In the Moslem Basta section, pro-government forces began throwing up barricades they had torn down only a week after Gen. Fuad Chehab was installed as president.

Armed guards manned the barricades in open defiance of army orders.

Britain Has Commercial Jet Service

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two sleek British airplanes blazed a new trail over the Atlantic Saturday with the first commercial jet passenger flights.

One British Overseas Airways passenger plane record of 6 hours and 12 minutes. It left New York at 6:01 a.m. e.d.t. and landed in London at 12:13 p.m. e.d.t.

The other Comet made the trip from London to New York in the elapsed time of 10 hours and 20 minutes, including a refueling stop of 1 hour and 10 minutes at Gander, Nfld. The plane left London at 3:55 a.m. e.d.t. and landed at New York's Idlewild International Airport at 2:15 p.m.

The actual flying time from London to New York was 9 hours and 2 minutes.

This fell short of the mark of a Pan American World Airways 707 jet plane that arrived at Idlewild on a shakedown flight from London in a flying time of 7 hours and 58 minutes.

Lefors Dial System Goes Into Effect

Lefors' new $60,000 dial telephone exchange went into effect at midnight with the central office prefix TERNAL 4. Telephone users in Lefors will now dial two letters, and five numbers instead of using the old four-number dialing system.

"Possibly some of the phone customers were cut off last night when we chopped the cable to the old central office," commented Clyde Dickerson, manager of the local Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. "For quite a few years we were unable to supply new customers in Lefors with phone service because we didn't have the equipment. Many of those people who had to use party line service may now have straight lines," he added.

The one story frame building, housing the new central office, was built by Wes-Tec Construction Company, Borger, and contains equipment made by Western Electric.

Construction In September Sets Record

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government has reported that construction in September set another record.

The Commerce and Labor Departments estimated construction work for the month at $4,838,000,000, up 32 million dollars from the previous monthly record reported for August.

For the first eight months of 1958, construction outlays amounted to $36,367,000,000, a slight increase from the comparable 1957 pace.

Government-financed construction from January through August totaled $11,282,000,000, up 6 per cent from the similar 1957 figure. Most of the increase was attributed to spending for highways and public housing.

Private construction outlays totaled $25,085,000,000. That was a slight dip from a year earlier, reflecting heavy retrenchment in industrial construction which was only partially offset by a pickup in residential activity.

In another economic signpost, the Commerce Department reported sales by merchant wholesalers totaled $9,800,000,000 in August, an increase of 2 per cent over July.

The August total was 4 per cent less than a year earlier. Sales for the first eight months of the year dipped 6 per cent below the comparable 1957 figure.

Fight To Sell Canadian Gas Nears Federal Power Decision

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Midwestern Gas Transmission Company's long fight for authority to sell imported Canadian gas in Virginia markets in the upper Midwest is finally headed for decision.

The Federal Power Commission, which has wrestled with the complex case since 1954, will hold final hearings on it starting next Thursday, and Midwest, owned by Tennessee Gas Transmission, Houston, should know by Nov. 1 whether it has won out over rival companies which bid for the same rich territory.

The commission said it would try to rush through its decision by that date after Midwestern asked for a speed up. Midwestern said that under its proposed import contract with Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., it would have to pay a higher price for the Canadian gas—18 million dollars over the life of the contract—if the FPC decision was delayed beyond Nov. 1.

Long-Standing Contest
The commission, which originally consolidated 20 applications for nine pipeline companies for review and interim decision by Trial Examiner Francis L. Hall, decided to dispense with this intermediate procedure in the interests of speed. Hall had held hearings on the 20 applications and had issued five recommendations disposing of 11 of them.

Crux of the case is a long-standing contest between Midwestern and opposing companies for the right to supply gas to 120 communities in Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin and North Dakota which now depend on coal and electricity.

Three of Midwestern's rivals, American Natural Gas Co., New York; Northern Natural Gas Co., Omaha, and Peoples Gas and Coke Co., Chicago, were indicted by a federal grand jury at Milwaukee last spring on charges of trying to freeze Midwestern out of the market and block imports from Trans-Canada.

Want "Particulars"
The Justice Department said Saturday the case is still being prepared for trial and that meanwhile the defendants have filed motions to require the department to submit a "bill of particulars." The indictments, however, are separate and distinct from issues pending before the FPC and hence will have no bearing whatsoever on the commission's final decision. In fact, the defendants, who operate subsidiaries which crisscross the Midwest, asserted the Justice Department had violated the FPC's jurisdiction by "attempting to extend the anti-trust laws to matters before the commission."

Midwestern, if it wins, would get 204 million cubic feet of gas a day from Trans-Canada which is just completing a 2400-mile pipeline from Montreal Abitibi to the West Coast. Another 200 million feet would come from Tennessee Gas Transmission via a pipeline to be constructed from Portland, Tenn.

Cuba Warns Of Commie Aggression

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press International

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Cuba has warned Russia and its Communist allies may have decided to "embark on the conquest of the free world" through outbreak of aggression in various parts of the globe.

Cuban Ambassador Emilio Nuñez-Portuondo, noted for his fiery attacks on Communism, issued the warning in a speech prepared for delivery to the United Nations General Assembly.

He proposed the United Nations create "an emergency fund for the maintenance of peace," financed voluntarily by the major powers, for use by the secretary general in dealing with crisis situations.

The Cuban diplomat said delegates thought that after the emergency assembly session on the Middle East in August there would be "conditions of relative peace in the world over an appreciable period of time."

"But what actually happened was that the meeting was no sooner over than, as if by sinister design of minds cynical of the rules of international law and of the human race itself, there were outbreaks of aggression in other parts of the globe, especially in the Far East, which brought this dangerous situation forcibly to our attention."

"For public opinion is puzzled as to whether the rulers of the aggressor powers, heedless of what their own people may think, have decided to embark on the conquest of the free world on the mistaken assumption that this is the most favorable time for the attempt..."

Inspection Time Here

Captain Alan Johnson, of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Service, Texas Department of Public Safety, reminds motorists that there are over 4 million vehicles registered in Texas, and 15,213 vehicles registered in this county which must be inspected, approved and bear the new inspection sticker prior to midnight, April 15, 1959.

Passenger cars are inspected for brakes, lights, reflectors, horn and windshield wipers; while commercial vehicles are inspected for the above plus additional items are required by law. Due to the fact that in 1957, five out of every 100 accidents were caused by a mechanical defect, motor vehicle owners are urged to have their vehicles inspected as soon as possible, to be sure their vehicles are as safe as possible.

There are 14 inspection stations in this county at which owners can get their vehicles inspected now, without having to wait in line as thousands of motorists did as the deadline neared at the close of the last inspection period. Motorists arrested for not displaying a current inspection sticker on their motor vehicle are subject to a fine up to $200 and cost of court.

United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Not just around the corner but far down the road there appears to be one decisive home-grown answer to the South's problem of racial integration of its schools.

That answer would be a resounding "aye" in favor of integration. It could and may come from increased political activity by southern Negroes. The Negro vote already is a political powerhouse in the United States. James A. Farley always was easy in his mind during FDR's campaign when he could figure that he had the Negro vote going for his candidate. Farley estimated that the Negro vote was the balance of power between parties in 17 substantially industrial states outside the South.

Southern Negroes are more numerous actually and proportionately than are Negroes in the North. Disinterest, disenfranchisement and one thing and another, however, so diminished voting activity by southern Negroes that they had practically no political impact. That situation began to change some time ago and the change continues at an accelerating pace. The federal civil rights bill of 1957 was intended to speed the movement already under way. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is campaigning to register three million southern Negroes for the 1960 presidential election. That registration in 1956 was about 1,300,000.

It is calculated that in 10 southern states plus Texas there are about 9,100,000 Negroes and 27,500,000 white persons, 75 per cent of the aggregate population being white and 25 per cent Negro. The percentage of Negroes in these states is calculated as follows:

- Virginia 22 per cent; Tennessee 18; Arkansas 22; North Carolina 26; South Carolina 39; Georgia 31; Florida 22; Alabama 32; Mississippi 45; Louisiana 33; and Texas 13. It is obvious that if Negroes in any of those states other than Texas and Tennessee voted together, they would become a political power of tremendous possibilities.

That is what may come about and with it, perhaps, pressures on the southern political structure so severe as to bring about a real local elections voting Negroes might put into state capitols and county court houses officials as enthusiastically in favor of intermingling the races as some of the present office holders are opposed.

Political stature of the Negro voter is increasing in the North as well as in the South. It was estimated a year ago that the non-white (mostly Negro) population of metropolitan New York City had increased 42.5 per cent since 1950. The Negro increase was more than 350,000.

Fast Broken Bone Glue Now Ready

CHICAGO (UPI)—A Philadelphia physician has revealed development of a glue which unites broken bones so tightly that the affected limb can be used in 48 hours.

Dr. Michael Manderino, assistant professor at Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia, discussed the material at a meeting in advance of the American College of Surgeons convention which opens Monday.

Manderino said the substance, called polyurethane, had been tested clinically for the past two years on both animals and humans.

The material is plastic which foams when mixed with a catalyst. The foam is poured into the fracture and solidifies, Manderino said. He said the glue knits the bones so effectively that in most cases the patient can resume use of the affected area without splints in two days.

CHALK UP A WRONG CAREER
ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Miss Martha Krodel, 21, has started her high school teaching career with the uncomfortable knowledge that she is allergic to blackboard chalk. She must stand at the back of the room when students write on the blackboard. Given a choice of subjects on which to write in chalk recently, one class chose the topic "Allergies."

Ford Unveils New Car Line To The Press

DETROIT (UPI)—Ford unveiled its 1959 line of cars to the press today and drew the styling front as the battle line for the sales struggle in the coming year. Tastefulness versus extremism—fins versus functional design was the way J. O. Wright, Ford vice-president and Ford division general manager outlined the coming battle. "Despite the temporary postwar successes of garish design, inevitably there must be the reversion against tasteless extremes," said Wright. "We feel that time is now."

The '59 Ford models on display bore out Wright's statement that "this year we placed our bets on offering our buyers a truly fine car, a quality car with lines of classic simplicity rather than brassy ostentation." There was just the suggestion of fins on the rear fenders, the roof was flatter than last year, there was greater glass area, with wrap-around rear window as well as windshield. Ford went back to the single large taillight in each fender, and chrome trim is used sparingly.

PRINT IN A SMALL ROOM?

YES! You can use print, and use it most effectively, in a small room if you choose a small-scale design—and use just one print. Strike a note of unity by repeating it several places in the room. Matching fabric and wallpaper offer almost limitless possibilities for carrying out a one-pattern theme. Or, if you prefer to use fabric alone, don't overlook the opportunity for novel effects that you can achieve by using the fabric for a partial wall covering. Apply it exactly as you would wallpaper. There's a textile gum made expressly for this purpose.

This trick has been employed to decorative advantage in the Provincial living room sketched above. The same small-print fabric has been used for draperies, sofa slip cover and dado. Plain painted walls pick up a color from the design—in this case a soft avocado green. The wall-to-wall carpet is a shade darker than the walls. The rich wood tones of the turn-

Pezdirtz Is Named New Mgr. Editor

Rick Pezdirtz, Pampa Daily News sports editor for almost five months, has been named new managing editor here, replacing Joel R. Combs, who resigned to enter private business at McLean.

Pezdirtz, age 22, has had nearly five years experience in the newspaper field. He was one of the state's youngest sports editors of a daily paper, assuming command of the Lufkin Daily News sports desk at the age of 18. He was a 1954 graduate of Lufkin High School and attended college at St. Edward's University, Austin; Stephen F. Austin State Teacher's College, Nacogdoches; and the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., where he was active in journalism with a major in the field.

Pezdirtz came to Pampa after working as a combination writer-editor and general reporter on the Abilene Reporter-News for a brief spell.

Replacing Pezdirtz as sports editor of the Daily News is Carol (Red) Griggs, who comes to Pampa from Wichita Falls, where he has been a sports writer for the past eight months with the Wichita Falls Record-News.

Griggs, age 24, holds a BA degree in journalism from North Texas State College and is a service veteran. A native of San Angelo, where he graduated from high school and worked part-time for the San Angelo Standard-Times, Griggs is married and has one son, three months old.

Dunlap Will Snip Ribbon Here Monday

With the cutting of the ribbon Monday, the consolidation of Dunlap's and Dunlap's Friendly Men's Wear will be complete. Work began on the project in February and was completed last week, according to Jerry Cole, manager.

Ray Duncan, representing the Duncan Estate, owners of the property, will cut the ribbon at 9 a.m. Monday, opening Dunlap's Department Store.

With three floors and an elevator, Dunlap's houses men's, women's, and children's wear. The first floor is devoted almost entirely to men's and boys' wear. Household furnishings, piece goods and gift wares are on the mezzanine with the business office and credit department. On Third is the ready to wear department with women's coats, suits, sportswear, lingerie and foundation garments, also the children's shop.

Reed Home After Service On Nautilus

Danny Reed is back in Pampa after serving aboard the USSN Nautilus before and after her run under the Pole. Reed was discharged from the sub service Monday and hopes to make a fast adjustment to civilian life.

Reed enlisted with the idea of staying in but circumstances proved otherwise. His wife has her hands full this week with the prospect of their second child.

Although he attended Pampa High School, Reed finished school in the Navy and has the equivalent of a high school diploma. He enlisted in 1956, going to boot camp in San Diego, Calif. and submarine school in New London, Conn.

He was one of the top ten chosen to go to Nuclear Power School but chose the shorter Basic Nuclear School rather than take the advanced training that would mean a career in the Navy.

Having trained on a fleet type submarine before becoming an engineman on the Nautilus, Reed is positive that in the future all ships will be nuclear powered. He missed the last cruise of the Nautilus because he was going to school.

Getting out a little early because of his dependents, Reed came back to town on the bus. A Navy career forgotten, he is looking for a good job.

Green said "this is encouraging and may be attributable in part to various expressions of the kind to which I have given voice."

Expresses Fear Green had expressed fear that the President's policy toward Quemoy might force the United States into war "at the wrong time, the wrong place, on issues not of vital concern to our own security and without allies."

He also questioned — as have some other Democrats and Republicans — whether the President would have the "support of the American people essential to successful military action" in such an event.

Eisenhower had no sooner answered Green than he received a plea from 10 House Democrats to call a special session of Congress to help work out a new Far East policy "that the American people can believe in."

The Democrats said they had found the "great majority" of their constituents were "deeply disturbed" by the administration's policy toward the Chiang Kai-shek nationalist-held Quemoy and Matsu Islands.

Msgr. Mattheisen Will Speak Here

Msgr. L. T. Mattheisen, editor of the West Texas Register, Amarillo, will speak on his recent trip to Lourdes and other points of interest he visited in Europe here Tuesday night in the Holy Souls Parish Hall.

Mattheisen, beginning at 8 p.m. "I think we Americans need to be challenged to come to grips with the realities of life."

Mattheisen, said recently in discussing the European tour, conducted under his leadership in which some 20 persons from the Amarillo diocese visited Lourdes.

"The entertainment media has led us Americans into a make-believe world, in which we are no longer interested in the injustices suffered by an enslaved Hungary, the poverty and misery lived by the people of India, the troubles besetting an unhappy France, or the desperation felt by Nationalist China.

"It is at a Place like Lourdes where sickness and joy, humility and charity live side by side, that one senses the realities of life. And experiences peace of soul."

The priest-editor will elaborate more fully his impressions of the tour, to the Parish Council groups of Holy Soul's Church Tuesday night.

In addition to being editor of the diocese Catholic news weekly, a position he has had since 1946, Msgr. Mattheisen is pastor of St. Lawrence Church in Amarillo. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1949 following his brother Monroe J. Mattheisen's ordination in 1943.

Father Monroe J. is now pastor of Sacred Heart Church in Spearman.

The Mattheisen family also has a sister in religious life, Sister M. Rosaria, a Benedictine nun who is superior of Blessed Trinity School in Ocala, Fla.

FLOODS

(Continued from page 1) Grande floodwaters washed over low-lying sections of this city Friday were being cared for by relatives and friends.

Several persons were also driven from their homes at Matamoros when a flood crest swirled in Friday.

At Presidio, Tex., where destructive floodwaters have done the greatest damage, two U. S. Air Force helicopters carried 3,000 pounds of food staples to flood-isolated cities and villages on the Mexican side of the river.

The Rio Grande dropped slowly at Presidio Saturday but downpours along the watershed of its tributary, Mexico's Rio Conchos, posed new flood threats for the area.

Mexican officials said the Conchos destroyed several bridges as it rushed north to empty into the Rio Grande near Presidio.

Water stood three feet deep in four apartment houses owned by Jim Halper of Presidio Saturday. The floods have isolated more than 20,000 persons on the Mexican side of the river and a food crisis was reported developing.

US Anticipates No Treaty Difficulty

By EARNEST HOBEBRECHT
United Press International
TOKYO (UPI)—The United States anticipates no really great difficulty in negotiating a new mutual defense treaty with Japan and the first formal exploratory talks will begin here within a few days, authoritative sources told United Press International today.

It is expected that the old security treaty signed Sept. 8, 1951, will be replaced by a completely new document. This is the Japanese desire, and it was understood that the Americans will approach the problem from that angle.

U.S. Ambassador to Japan

Douglas MacArthur II will head the American negotiating team in the talks with Japanese Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi and Japanese Foreign Minister Aichiro Fujiyama.

UPI was told that the United States will seek to work out a new treaty instrument between Japan and the United States along with the lines of those which America has with its other allies. But at the same time, the Americans will take into consideration Japan's special problems, such as her post-war constitution which is interpreted as prohibiting the stationing of Japanese troops abroad.

Needs Time

The Americans were said to feel it will take some time to reach agreement on all details of the new treaty but were described as approaching the talks with an open mind and a desire to achieve results which recognize the equality and partnership of the two countries.

The Japanese have not yet given the Americans any details of what they want in the new treaty, the sources told United Press International.

They stressed that there was no connection between these treaty talks and the current Formosan Crisis. Neither, they said, is the remission of the treaty connected with the Japanese rearmament problem.

The United States has not attached any conditions—such as speedier development of the Japanese defense forces—as a basis for considering the new treaty, the United Press International

Quotes In The News

WASHINGTON — Adm. Harry D. Felt, commander-in-chief of U. S. Pacific forces, on breaking the blockade of Quemoy Island: "I think we will have another situation like the Berlin airlift when the United States proved to the world we would come to the help of our friends."

CHICAGO — Producer Richard Adler, on why he is not having Margaret O'Brien, as Beth, die in his forthcoming television production of "Little Women": "She can't die in an hour show. Besides, there's also about eight minutes for commercials, etc."

was told. The Americans recognize Japan has grounds for wanting to revise or replace the old treaty, the sources said.

No Obligation

They pointed out, for one thing, that the present treaty actually does not obligate the United States to defend Japan. Of course, they said, the United States had troops here and would have defended Japan if Japan were attacked.

The Americans were said to feel a new treaty would spotlight the "new era" which Japanese Prime Minister Kishi and President Eisenhower have talked about.

When the present treaty was signed, Japan had absolutely no defense forces and could not defend herself.

Now Japan is one of the world's great powers. While admitting her forces may be inadequate, the Japanese want to play a large role and want relations between Japan and the United States based on the spirit of equality and partnership.

Matter of FACT

After the Battle of San Jacinto, April 21, 1836, the independence of Texas from Mexico was established. For the next 10 years Texas was an independent republic with Sam Houston, the hero of San Jacinto, as president. The Republic's government was patterned after that of the United States. The Texas congress adopted a red, white and blue flag bearing a single star, from which Texas derives its "Lone Star State" nickname.

PHELPS IS RELIEVED

Chief Quartermaster Given W. Vance, right, relieves CS I Robert W. Phelps as petty officer in charge of the Naval Recruiting Station for the Pampa area. Phelps will remain in Pampa until May when he will be reassigned. (News Photo)

New Recruiter Assigned To Local Station

Chief Quartermaster Given W. Vance arrived in town last week to relieve CS I Robert W. Phelps as the petty officer in charge of the US Navy Recruiting Branch Station for the Pampa area. Phelps will remain on duty here until May when he will be reassigned.

Both men have served 18 years of their Naval career. Phelps came to Pampa from Pearl Harbor two and a half years ago, applying for a year's extension when his two year tour of duty was up. Vance last served aboard the USS Sherman, based at Newport, R.I.

Vance's wife and three children accompanied him to Pampa. Phelps also is the father of three.

Originally from Wichita Falls, Phelps has served on numerous submarines. His last sub was the Stickleback at Pearl Harbor.

Vance, from Enid, Okla. has made a career of ships and destroyers, ranging from World War II to the Sub Base at New London, Conn. In two years he plans to retire and live in Pampa.

US Tobacco May Lose A Market

By BERNARD BRENNER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration farm officials fear U. S. tobacco growers may lose much of their lucrative overseas market if Congress doesn't revamp farm support laws to halt a steady climb in tobacco prices.

Behind this fear is a quirk in the price support law and a drastic change in the habits of American smokers.

An Agriculture Department report said tobacco exports this year were expected to be about 465 million pounds—7 per cent below last year and 4 per cent below the 1952-56 average. An on-the-spot survey in major Western European markets by a pair of department tobacco experts last summer left them convinced that unless prices of U. S. tobacco can be brought closer to the prices quoted by competing countries, the overseas market for American leaf will continue to disappear at the rate of about 3 per cent a year.

Working On Changes

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has already said publicly that his aides are working on proposed changes in the price support law for consideration next year. Agriculture Department aides also are quietly laying the problem before farm organizations, tobacco industry groups, and legislators from growing areas in an effort to get advance agreement on a solution.

One reason for the steadily-rising cost of U. S. tobacco to foreign buyers—who generally take more than a third of the crop of flue-cured leaf, a major cigarette type—is operation of the "modernized" farm parity formula. A second reason, department experts explain, is the switch to filter-tip cigarettes in this country.

The parity formula was revamped by Congress several years ago in an effort to bring this indicator of "fair" agricultural prices up to date. The "modernized" version now relates parity for any crop not only to the cost of things farmers must buy but to the prices of other agricultural products.

Tobacco Value Increases

If an individual farm product maintains its price level while prices of other crops go down, its relative value is increased and its parity price goes up under the new system this has been happening to tobacco, because its support price is pegged at 90 per cent of parity by law while support and market prices for other major crops have been dropped below that level.

The switch to filter-tip cigarettes by U. S. smokers threw a wrench into the export picture because it brought domestic cigarette companies into the market for the heavier-flavored leaves from the past, domestic cigarette makers had concentrated on the milder-flavored leaves grown on the lower half of the plant, leaving the top half for export buyers.

With both domestic and export buyers competing for the heavier-flavored leaves, the cost of the types most in demand among exporters has about doubled in the last five years, Agriculture Department experts said.

World Cannot Expect Much Relief From Current Tensions

The world spins now into the last quarter of a year that has been shaken by recurring crises. What direction will events and nations take in future months? This is an attempt to sense the shape of coming events on the foreign scene. It is based on advice from United Press International correspondents at key points the world over who are seasoned observers. They have contacts with political experts who regularly assess what to expect next from movements and men.

By H.D. QUIGG
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—The world cannot expect much relief from current tensions in the months ahead. That is the consensus of a worldwide evaluation by United Press International staff correspondents whose job is to watch the postures of the nations for a clue to what will happen next.

Briefly, the outlook is this:

—Competent observers feel Mao Tse-tung is fast emerging as the Communist world's prophet No. 1. The relationship of Soviet Russia with Communist China and with Mao, its chief of state, will be a considerable factor in world affairs—and a shift in balance of the Russo-Chinese axis might be something to watch for.

The Yugoslavia Feud

—Observers expect more fireworks and possible changes in the Kremlin at the extraordinary congress of the Soviet Communist Party next January. Before long, Russia may be expected to open a new diplomatic drive for some summit meeting to push Red China's recognition.

—Things are likely to keep going Nasser's way in the Middle East in the coming year. Any one of several countries could come under his sway during the year, whether he encourages them or not. The U.A.R. president is the symbol of Arab nationalism and may be even its prisoner.

—The consensus is that Eastern Europe is in the greatest ferment since the autumn of 1956 preceding the Hungarian revolution and the "Polish October" that brought Wladyslaw Gomulka to power. Main interest probably will center around the progressively rougher feud between Yugoslavia and the rest of the Communist bloc. There is expected to be more pressure on the church, more repression of intellectuals, more minor trials, but no really big purges.

Latin American Unrest

—Western Europe will continue its "great debate" on the extent to which it will support the United States if there is a Far Eastern showdown. Both Britain and France have come out publicly backing the U.S. stand, but there are powerful political undercurrents in both countries and in other Western European nations high-pressureing the governments to keep out of Far East embroilment almost at any cost.

—In Latin America, there is the possibility of political unrest due to economic problems arising from the inflation of world raw material prices and the cost of maintaining ambitious social legislation. These problems may be accompanied by a rising anti-United States feeling. The United States is a principal market for most of these products, and rightly or wrongly it has been blamed for the market instability.

—In Asia, aside from the explosive Formosa Strait situation, there has been trouble along the border of Burma and Communist China which, together with the tense political atmosphere in Rangoon, makes that area a place to watch in coming months. There have been clashes, too, on the borders of Thailand and Cambodia, and Cambodia and South Viet Nam. In Japan, the Kishi government is said to be worried about extreme leftist and pro-Communist influences.

Oregon Gives Sooners Fight

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI)—Oklahoma's new wide-open offense uttered badly football team's top-rated Saturday team gained a 6-0 victory over Oregon in an inter-sectional thriller before a capacity crowd of 41,700.

Oklahoma was on the short end of the yardage totals—a sharp reversal from last week's 599-yard total—but capitalized on an Oregon fumble for the winning points.

Oregon controlled the ball through most of the first period and stood off three Oklahoma drives inside the 30 in the second before Oklahoma could score. Five minutes before half-time, Oregon's Paul Grover dropped the ball at his 17 and Oklahoma guard Dick Corbitt covered it.

Carries to Nine
Two rushes carried Oklahoma to the nine. From there quarterback Bobby Boyd swept wide to his left and shot a touchdown to halfback Dick Carpenter, waiting in the end zone corner. Boyd's run around end for the extra point failed.

Oregon, ranked 19th in the United Press International poll, ran and passed a total of 261 yards to 156 for the Sooners. Coach Bud Wilkinson's Orange Bowl champions completed only three of 13 pass attempts and Oregon connected with eight of 17.

Oregon never penetrated inside Oklahoma's 20. Its best threat came in the third period when Willie West sprung through the line for 53 yards. He was hauled down from behind at the Oklahoma 37 by Oklahoma fullback Prentice Gault.

Sandifer has Best Yardage
Oklahoma halfback Jackie Sandifer had the best rushing yardage, carrying four times for 49 yards with West's total of 75 yards gained in 10 plays.

Oklahoma had led the nation last week in offensive yardage gained from a dazzling array of multiple offense plays. Quick kicks which knocked Oregon back on two occasions in the fourth period helped save the Sooners.

Abilene Leads Upset Parade

United Press International
Abilene exploded the Breckenridge myth of invincibility 22-0 Friday night to lead a parade of upsets that saw 27 previously undefeated-united teams bite the dust in a typical Texas schoolboy football program.

Coach Chuck Moser's Eagles, themselves knocked off their lofty perch only two weeks ago by AAA power Sweetwater—a team beaten 35-0 by Breckenridge—held the heralded Breckenridge attack to 64 yards, divided equally between rushing and passing and amassed 297 themselves.

It was an impressive performance for the Eagles, three times state champs and losing a 51-game unbeaten string until Sweetwater came along. It is sure to boost Moser's marauders back toward the No. 1 Class AAAA rating they gave up last week to Wichita Falls.

Evicted from the perfect record class were El Paso Borges, Amarillo Palo Duro, Arlington, Sherman, Longview, Waco and Temple in AAAA, Dumas, Snyder, Breckenridge and Beaumont French in AAA, Fort Stockton, Perryton, Burk Burnett, Dalingerfield, Brady, Liberty, and Pearsall in AA and Timpson, Grape-land, Mart, Elgin, Thorndale, Hull-Daisettac Houston King, Sugar Land and George West in A.

In addition, Denison, Houston Milby and San Antonio Burbank in AAAA, Beeville in AAA, Muleshoe and Cameron in A and Dilley and Tuloso-Midway in—all previously unbeaten but tied—felt the sting of defeat. Longview, Pearsall and Timpson dropped no further than the once-tied bracket from the perfect record list.

Brave Lead Cut To 2-1 Margin

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hank Bauer drove in two runs with a fifth-inning single and two more with a seventh-inning home run Saturday to lead the New York Yankees to a 4-0 victory over the Milwaukee Braves in the third game of the World Series.

It was the Yankees' first triumph in this 1938 classic and came before a throng of 71,000 on this crisp, sun-shining October afternoon. The Braves had won the first two games in Milwaukee. Larsen gave up all six hits the Braves collected, but struck out eight batters in the seven innings he worked. Duren had trouble because of wildness but was able to preserve Larsen's shutout.

The Yankees got only three hits off the starting and losing Milwaukee pitcher, Bob Rush and one off reliever Don McMahon—and Bauer made three of them. Don Larsen, who pitched the first perfect game in World Series history in 1936, was the winning pitcher. But the sore-shouldered right-hander tired in the seventh inning and needed relief help from fireballer Ryne Duren.

In 1936, Larsen pitched a perfect game against the Dodgers, not a runner reaching first base. In that series, too, the Yankees lost the first two games.

Larsen and Rush matched shut-out pitching for four innings Saturday and then the roof caved in on Rush. He walked three batters in the fifth and with two to go, Bauer hit a looping single to right field. Hank Aaron just missed making a shoe-string catch, and two Yankees scored.

In the seventh after Enos (Country) Slaughter, pinch-hitting for Larsen was hit by a pitch, Bauer lined a ball into the left field stands for a home run.

That wrapped up all the day's scoring and in Sunday's fourth game starting at 1 p.m. c.d.t.—it will be the two southpaws, Whitely Ford and Warren Spahn who faced each other in the first game at Milwaukee last Wednesday.

Rebels Hit Fast Twice, Stop Harvester Marches

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

Tascosa crammed two touchdowns and an extra point into one minute, 36 seconds of the first quarter here Friday, then staved off several Harvester threats to take a 13-6 victory.

The Rebels made the first district game in the history of the school a successful one, and spoiled Pampa's District 34-A opener.

Tascosa drove 61 yards in 13 plays for its initial touchdown. Key play of the drive was a 17 yard pass from quarterback Bill Brooks to halfback Frank Thompson, which moved the ball from the Pampa 49 to the 32.

Brooks, halfback Don Mobbs, and fullback Don Broom alternated in pushing the ground attack, plunging through the middle of the line, shunting off the tackles, and sweeping around the ends for short to medium gains. Brooks drove off right tackle from the 3-yard line for the touchdown.

Morgan's kick was good, and Tascosa led 7-0 with one minute, 40 seconds left in the first quarter.

Dwain Urbanczyk returned the kickoff to the Harvester 29, but two runs and a pass pushed the pigskin forward only a yard, and Pampa was forced to punt.

Thompson took Mert Cooper's kick at his own 38 and handed off to Brooks on a reverse. The powerful fullback cut toward the left sidelines, ran over two would-be tacklers, and raced all the way to the goal line.

Thompson's attempt to run for two extra points was piled up by alert Harvesters, and Tascosa led 13-0 with four seconds remaining in the first quarter.

The Harvesters and the Rebels each threatened in the second quarter, but neither squad could get up enough steam to push past stubborn defenders.

Pampa, after the kickoff following Tascosa's second touchdown, marched from Tascosa's 46 to the Rebel 11, but was unable to make one yard in two tries at the line and lost the ball on downs. Dwain Urbanczyk, incidentally, went 38 yards on the kickoff return — one of the best runs of the night — and almost broke into the clear.

Tascosa rambled from its own 11 to the Harvester 6 late in the second period, but was stopped on three line plays and an incomplete pass. Moments later, the Rebels recovered a fumble on the Pampa 25, but lost a scoring chance by themselves bobbling away the pig-

TASCOSA'S BILL ELLINGTON
... Pampa defense was superb

Bill Sez Rebels Were Real Lucky

By RICK PEZDIRTZ
Daily News Managing Editor

Bill Ellington's usually bubbling personality was spilling all over the dressing room as he clasped friendly paws and insisted with a stony grin, "We were lucky, real lucky. And you can spell that with a capital L."

The commander of Tascosa High's shock troops was twisting the middle button on a snazzy sports jacket and smiling. "You darn right Pampa has a fine football team. They're the best defensive club we've faced this year, and that includes Dallas Sunset who whipped us 19-7. Why, my defensive backs' rumps will be raw tomorrow morning from rubbing against the goal posts so much there in the second half."

Our passing looked improved (Rebels hit five of 10) but we still make to many mental mistakes. Take for instance there at the end, I sent in strict orders by a sub to try and run the clock out, not to call any more timeouts or to run out of bounds.

"So what happened? Right away one of my backs loses a shoe and yells for timeout. He should've tried to finish the game with one shoe. And then there was this one back, Mobbs I think it was, who got loose for 16 yards there in the last minute and almost ran up in the grandstand trying to get out of bounds. Then kind of muffs will hurt us later on if they don't subside."

The balding Rebel boss continued, "I didn't feel good about this game all week. Pampa's had me plenty worried, and now I've got to try to keep from losing some more hair over next week's game with Berger. Gosh, they must have a tremendous club."

"They've always told me it's hard to bring a losing club back up, make late season winners out of them. Pampa may be an exception. They've got some good players, they won't be pushed around by anybody this year very bad. With his young kids, Curfman may develop real threat in the next couple years too."

"Yep, it's always harder to coach a losing club. There's too much that always has to be done, and never enough time to do it. In Yes sir, it's a whole for easier to build character in a winning outfit."

"Sure we lost several good boys to Homer Simmons and Amarillo High, and it hurt us plenty. We could have had a whole of a club if all the boys who lived in the Tascosa school district didn't move off. I'm not bitter about it, but I'm sure not happy either."

Ellington has done amazingly well already with his Rebels as Tascosa's first football coach. In four games he has won three, and that's as good as Palo Duro (12-0) loser to Berger Friday night) and way better than Amarillo High's Sandies who are floundering with a 1-2 mark.

Ellington quit a good job at Garland to accept a three-year contract at Tascosa for a salary in the $8,500 neighborhood. At Garland he won 45 of his last 50 games, winning state in 1956, over Nederland, 3-0; and finished (See REBELS, Page 10)

The Pipeline

By the time you read this, the World Series may be over — or the Yankees may be right back in the running.

Regardless of the outcome of this series, though, one record will go on the books. When Lew Burdette beat the Yankees Thursday, he became the only man in history to stop the Bombers in four World Series games.

Of course, Lew's performance Thursday wasn't quite as impressive as his three sterling performances last year, but he did keep the New Yorkers pretty well in check until the ninth inning.

Lew's Feat Was Tops

Burdette's feat last year should probably rank as the top pitching performance in World Series history. One man, Christy Mathewson, did better on paper, hurling three shutouts, while Burdette allowed one run during his three completed games.

However, Mathewson did his hurling back in the early 1900's, when the deck was loaded in favor of the pitchers. They threw a dead ball, and besides that were allowed to use the spitball (Burdette would never do a thing like that) and rough up the ball in different ways.

Burdette, on the other hand, is hurling at a time when the pitcher has two strikes against him to start with. The ball is pure rabbit and the strike zone is about one by two. Besides, Lew hurled his three near-runless games against one of the best hitting teams in baseball history.

Mathewson and Burdette aren't

Blackhawks Rip Perryton, 15-6

PERRYTON — A good big team beat a good little team here Friday, as the undefeated Phillips Blackhawks handed the Perryton Rangers their first licking, 15-6.

It was the third straight win for the Blackhawks, ranked 10th among Texas 2A grid squads. The Rangers, a 2A power, now have a record of three wins and one loss.

Turning a bad break into a good one, Phillips scored the first time it got the ball. Donald Rickey, carrying the ball from the five yard line, was hit at the two and Early McKinley was a one-man gang on the fourth-quarter Perryton scoring drive. He accounted for 58 yards on the 62 yard march, set up the touchdown, and scored it.

Facing third and five on his own 28, McKinley took a pitchout and romped 36 yards to the Phillips 36. Several plays later he plunged over left tackle for the counter.

Fumbles ruined scoring opportunities for both teams, as Perryton lost two fumbles in Phillips territory and the Blackhawks lost one fumble in Ranger's end of the field.

NW-28, Stanford 0

EVANSTON, Ill. (UPI)—Northwestern scored in every period Saturday against an outclassed Stanford team which made only one genuine scoring threat to pile up a 28-0 victory for its second win of the season and the third Stanford defeat.

Two catches during the past 12 years might be considered as the top fielding gems. One was Al Giontriddo's snag of Joe DiMaggio's 400-foot blast to the fence in 1947; the other was Sandy Amoroso's grab of Yogi Berra's long drive in 1955 (that catch saved Podres' win in the deciding game).

Feller Wasn't So Lucky

Some other pitchers weren't so fortunate, though. Bob Feller, the best hurler of the past two or three decades, never won a contest in the October Classic. Bill Bevens pitched eight and two-thirds innings of no-hit ball for the Yanks in 1947, but lost the game on a two-out double by Cookie Lavagetto.

Hitters, fielders, and base runners have produced their share of Series thrills. It's almost impossible to pick the greatest offensive play in Series history, but we'll settle for Lavagetto's blast heard around the world.

Wilhelm Waltzes His Pampa Boxers To Amarillo Arena

O. F. (Ollie) Wilhelm will take a star-studded lineup of Pampa boxers into Amarillo Wednesday for a series of fights at the Sports Arena.

Wilhelm's best boxers are out for football and will not be able to compete, but most of the available boys are rough enough to give just about any team a run for their money.

The boxing show, originally scheduled as a two-night tournament but later changed to a one-night series of matches begins at 8 p.m. Biffers are expected from Amarillo, Clovis, N.M., Hereford, Borger, Memphis, Dumas, Plainview, and Levelland.

Slinging leather for Pampa will be heavyweight Herman Guys, light-heavyweight Wesley Crites, middleweight Glenn Ward, welterweight Jesse Ring, lightweights Norman Rexroat and Chares Coffey, and Levelland.

Borger Takes Loop Game; 3 4-A Squads Win, Lose

Borger and Tascosa of Amarillo jumped into the District 3 4-A lead Friday night, as they won their loop opener from Palo Duro and Pampa, respectively.

Borger's 12-0 victory over previously undefeated Palo Duro was considered a definite upset. The Amarillo school had been picked to win the district. Borger had been rated sixth.

The inflated Bulldogs completely outplayed the Dons, racking up 15 first downs to 7 for the Dons, and rambling to 239 yards rushing to 44 for Palo Duro. The Dons gained only 58 yards through the air.

Borger scored in the first quarter and again in the fourth. The clock stopped Palo Duro's only serious threat in the fourth period, as the Dons reached the Bulldog 16.

Campy Watches Series Contest

NEW YORK (UPI)—Roy Campanella, the ex-Dodger catcher who is still partially paralyzed, came out to the ball park today for the first time this season—in a wheelchair.

Campanella, injured in an auto accident last January, was carried to his seat behind home plate during the second inning and all action at the World Series ceased as the crowd gave him a tremendous round of applause.

teams won one and lost one Odesa routed the Amarillo Sandies 36-12 and Monterey of Lubbock upset Midland 21-8 for its first victory of the year.

The Odesa Broncho victory was just as convincing as the score showed. Odesa outgained the Sandies in total yardage by more than 2 to 1 — 403 yards to 196 — and grabbed a 25 to 8 advantage in first downs.

The win gave Odesa 11 triumphs in 15 starts against Amarillo.

Monterey, which had been picked to finish second in the district, began to live up to its reputation. The Plainman scored in the second, third and fourth quarters and held the favored Bulldogs scoreless until the last period. Monterey now has a 1-2 mark.

purely paydirt

Give a man an inch—say we, curled snugly atop the cracker barrel and puffing on a trusty old briar—and he'll want a daddled house and lot, air-conditioned with the lot already in.

Specially a young fellow, by cracky. Impatient. Impetuous. Impertinent. Impracticable.

Like this here Bill Ellington, the young citizen who toots the whistle at Tascosa.

His Rebel people bounced a pretty good Pampa eleven Friday night by a seven-point spread. But Ellington was laughing on the outside and crying on the inside, crying 'cause his young 'hosses' are making too many mental muffs and booting too many balls about.

"Errors of judgement hurt the execution of plays," Ellington grinned looking very healthy indeed.

Eyeball witnesses say Tascosa never looked better on defense than they did here Friday night. The Rebels are 3-1 and Pampa is 1-3, which makes Ellington out as a guy with a club that might do some real serious title chasing in this the school's first year.

However, when an outfit like Tascosa, without a single offensive regular of Amarillo High's super squad from last year in the 1958 fold, it ain't exactly like eating chocolate cake knowing a Borger bunch who has been gulping down opponents in large bites of late, is next on the agenda. Not near as fattening.

Well, Slap Mah Back!

Babe Curfman had his share of well-wishers come by after the game, all informing that his Harvesters had played a whale of a ball game.

"Yeah, but we didn't win," sighed the Babe over and over. One stopper, Frank McKinney spread a solemn face and retorted, "Babe, have you ever bitten into a green apple?"

McKinney was referring, of course, to Babe's inheriting an inexperienced and greenish outfit to work with in his first season here. On the other hand, Curfman, like any other coach, is knocking himself out trying to fashion a fair record in his first season. He has no cause to be worrying about keeping the "winter wolves" from trampling on his door-step.

Curfman may not know it, but most of the Harvesters faithful are of the opinion he is doing a bang-up job. There's never been as many kids out for football in Pampa, down through the two junior high seventh grade programs.

Another back-slapper asked

Babe, "I thought you had some tricks, how come you didn't pull 'em on Tascosa?" The coach laughed, "How am I gonna spring my tricks with their guards playing in our backfield all night?"

On one occasion, quarterback Buddy Rawls hid the ball on his hip, and started to drift back for a "sneak" pass when pow, he was rolled under from behind. He had ten men fooled but Rebel guard Durward Epps, who Curfman neared as the biggest defensive cog in the visitor's machine, wasn't buying and of Rawls' fancy ball-handling.

Curfman ran his improved troops through a short practice Saturday morning and then sighed, "I wanna get away from athletics awhile, a couple hours just to relax."

If you were in the vicinity of the 13th hole at Pampa Country Club Saturday evening, that was Curfman getting away from it all with Rex Rose, whopping it up on the green after long putts dropped home for both.

Smiley Wuz Delighted

Curfman had a big chuckle Saturday morning when he was informed El Paso Bowie, the team his Harvesters mixed into a 22-8 haah the previous week, staggered an undefeated El Paso Burgos eleven, 39-0, in a District 1-AAAA opener. "And that ole Pult Powell over at Amarillo said Bowie was probably the worst 1A outfit in the state and that we'd beat 'em by six touchdowns," Curfman jibed. "Why, ya know those El Paso kids spent the night in Amarillo and after reading that in Pult's column those guys got up Friday morning and put in a stiff workout before coming over to play."

Jack Riley, the gracious McLean coach who we can't help but call "Smiley" was overjoyed with his Tigers' surprising 36-22 conquest of Canadian. "We played a terrific game, maybe we were playing over our heads, but we won, and I don't care how we did it, I had my doubts before the game that we could stay up with Grady Burnett's kids. You know, we've got a bang-up junior high club down here too. Why, they're undefeated and only the other night gave up their first score. If we can beat Wellington next Friday night, we'll be a fine shape." Yes, at 5-0, that's somewhat obvious, Smiley.

He Rolls His Own

Report from Lefors says the defense didn't really get hot against Memphis until the riddid Larry (Pop) Blair, a guard, got into the game. Blair had a big paw in on almost every second half tackle.

"Whatta doing, Trav, chewing Bull Durham?" we wisecracked. "Yeah, have been for 22 years," said the QB club sec, as he proceeded to roll his own before a set of near-sighted unbelieving eyes.

We kidded Pampa Ql. Back Club secretary, Travis Lively Jr., about having a loose string hanging out of his shirt pocket as he milled about in the press box Friday night.

And then there was the baseball player who stuck in baseball for years after his prime because he was like Sally Rand. Couldn't stand to let his fans down.

McLean Upsets Canadian, 36-22

CANADIAN (SPL) — McLean surprised Canadian 36-22 here Friday night in a free-scoring District 2-A opener for both teams. McLean held the edge in everything but passing, as the Tigers clawed to 285 yards on the ground, 17 first downs, and six penetrations. However, McLean lost a yard on its only pass completion. With seven regulars back from last year, Canadian was expected to have an easy time with Coach Jack Riley's McLean outfit. Canadian ran for 200 yards, racked up 14 first downs, and penetrated inside the McLean 20-yard line four times. They also completed one of three past attempts for seven yards. The Tigers jumped off to a 14-0 first quarter lead as Davy Crockett took aim at the goal line and hit from 46 yards out; Jim Rice scored from the seven, and Billy Crockett ran for two extra points. Panhandle Wins Over Clarendon

CLARENDON — Panhandle scored early and late here Friday to take its District 2-A opener over the Clarendon Broncos, 16-6. The Panthers tallied in the first and fourth quarters, while Clarendon marked up its touchdown in the second period. Fullback Roy Bonner went two yards for the first Panther touchdown, and Leson Adcock ran for the extra points. Jimmy Richards passes 12 yards to William Simpson for the second tally, and Adcock again plunged over for the extra points. Neil Carter passed 20 yards to Dewey Wilson for the only Clarendon counter. Jerry Morrow failed in a running attempt to convert. A crowd of more than 2,000 fans watched the game, which opened district play for both squads.

Lefors Goal Line Stays Uncrossed

LEFORS — It's impossible to beat a team that can't be scored on — and it seems it's impossible to score against Lefors.

At least, that's what the four teams who have walked the Pirates' plank this season would tell you. Lefors has scored 172 points, and its goal line has yet to be crossed.

The latest to be raided and plundered by the Pirates was a Memphis, which became a 56-0 victim here Friday night. Senior quarterback Tommy Johnson engineered the Lefors attack and scored 28 points.

The Pirates scored three touchdowns in the first quarter, two in the third period, and three more in the fourth. Lefors scoring went like this:

First quarter — Junior Taylor plunged one yard and Tommy Johnson ran two extra points; Johnson then broke loose on scampers of 15 and 45 yards.

Third Quarter — Tex Nolan galloped 40 yards, then Johnson ran 12.

ing second behind Port Neches in 1955, losing a 20-12 thriller on the last play of the game. Garland bowed to Cleburn, 20-0, in last year's quarterfinals after humbling Gainsville, 53-7, in bi-district play.

Probably the best grid product Ellington ever manufactured from Garland was Bobby Bowy, current Oklahoma Sooner back-buster. "I wish I had that guy around now," Bill grinned as he swatted a passing player on the backside and yipped, "Great game, son."

Ellington, of course, is no stranger to the "Top o' Texas" area. He was a 1939 graduate at Lefors and then went on to pump adrenalin into McMurry College athletics before serving a hitch with the Air Force. His first coaching job was at Winters in 1946, giving him an even dozen years of tutoring Texas schoolboy elevens.

"Heck no I'm no stranger around here, why I used to deliver the Pampa Daily News down at Lefors several years ago," Ellington chuckled as if to make up for coming back and signing the city's first conference outing of '58.

dist 14-6 Saturday before 61,500 fans.

The home town Methodists fought savagely to avenge a 54-21 licking handed them last season by Notre Dame, but fumbled away a golden opportunity late in the third quarter and had to play the final period without its great passer, Don Meredith.

In fact, the hard-hitting Irish crippled two other SMU quarter-backs in the fourth quarter and forced the losers to dig deep on the bench to come up with someone to try and engineer a desperation drive that failed miserably.

Through Gaping Hole
Mack's sudden touchdown burst through a gaping hole at the SMU left guard capped a 90-yard drive and gave Notre Dame a 7-0 halftime lead, but the game was never quite in the Irish's possession until midway the final quarter when quarterback Bob Williams sneaked the 72nd yard of the payoff surge and end Monty Sticklekicks had kicked his second conversion.

SMU uncorked an explosive runner of its own for its lone touchdown less than four minutes deep into the third quarter when Titch Wilemon took a wide pitchout from Meredith and, behind some crunching blocks by backs Glynn Gregory and Jim Welch, pumped his way 44 yards for a score. But Stan Eckert's placement try was wide and SMU was never able to recoup.

Fumbles Away Pass
The Methodists had a chance late in that same period after Nick Pietrosante's punt slithered only 5 yards out of bounds on his own 23. Meredith hit halfback Norman Marshall with a pass on the first play, but Marshall fumbled it away. SMU drove back inside the Notre Dame 50 early in the fourth quarter but Meredith went out during the drive and it bogged down.

Pietrosante, Gdyniec, James Just and Pat Doyle led the Notre Dame ground attack that piled up 268 yards to SMU's 115 and more than offset SMU's 128 yards passing, 10 of the latter coming on Meredith's eight completions in 14 tries before he was hurt.

Texas Clips Tech, 12-7

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas Saturday night ground out a 12-7 victory over Texas Tech as Coach Darrell Royal's scrappy Longhorns unwrapped their best defensive performance since the start of the 1958 season.

For Royal, it marked the first time in a string of 14 games that Texas has held its opposition to less than 200 yards gained on total offense.

Stalemated in the first half, the Longhorns launched their two touchdown victory offensive in the second half, while Coach DeWitt Weaver's Tech Raiders scored their lone marker with two minutes, 50 seconds to play in the fourth quarter.

Gains 282 Yards
Offensively, Texas gained 282 yards while holding Tech to 124. The Longhorns completed 18 first downs to eight for the Raiders.

Quarterback—Bobby Lackey, nine minutes and 55 seconds deep in the third quarter, capped a 60-yard Longhorn drive that wrapped up 14 plays and five first downs when he went over right tackle for the first touchdown. Lackey's kick was low and the Longhorns failed to add the extra point.

With one minute and two seconds still to go in the third period, Lackey again crossed the Tech goal line to add the second six points for Texas.

Slips in on Keeper
On a keeper, Lackey went inside right end for the final nine yards that ended a march that had started four plays and 43 yards down the field.

Tech quarterback Jerry Bell smashed over from the one-yard stripe in the fourth quarter. Then, with Bell holding, right halfback Floyd Dellinger kicked to add the extra point.

A fumble by Lackey, recovered by right guard Gene Bentley on the Longhorn's 46, sparked the Raiders' touchdown drive. Tech drove to the 24, and then picked up 15 yards on a personal foul charged against the Longhorns. Six plays, netting two first downs, took Tech across the Longhorn line.

Score by Periods:
Texas 0 0 12 0-12
Tech 0 0 0 7-7

Scoring:
Tex—Lackey 1 run (kick failed)
Tex—Lackey 9 run (pass failed)
Tech—Bell 1 run (Dellinger kick)

Miami Bait Bears, 14-8

By DICK HARDWICK
United Press International

WACO (UPI)—Fran Curci and George MacIntyre, two high school-size quarterbacks in college uniforms, led the University of Miami Hurricanes to a 14-8 victory over Baylor University Saturday night before 20,000 fans at Baylor Stadium.

Curci, a well-publicized junior from Miami, weighs 148 pounds and MacIntyre, a sophomore from Jacksonville, weighs only 155 pounds.

Baylor's big defenders were usually grabbing at air—much like a man trying to fight off flies—as they tried to keep track of the two little men.

First Win for Miami
It was the first win of the season for Coach Andy Gustafson's Miami team after an opening loss to Wisconsin last week and for Coach Sam Boyd's Baylor Bears it was their first loss after two victories.

Miami scored in the second and fourth quarters and Baylor scored its touchdown with only 37 seconds left to play in the game when Miami led 14-0.

Score by periods:
Baylor 0 0 0 8-8
Miami 0 7 0 7-14

Scoring:
TCU—Harris 2 run (Kick failed)
Ark—Stone 1 run (Horton kick)
TCU—Rowland 5 pass from Enis (Pass failed).

TCU Edges Arkansas

By ED FITTE
United Press International

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Jolting Jack Spikes jarred Texas Christian out of its fumble-ridden lethargy with a 39-yard run to set up the winning touchdown Saturday as the Southwest Conference favorites opened their title bid with a 12-7 victory over Arkansas. Spikes didn't get the glory of punching across the goal line, but his booming bursts into an unexpectedly tough Arkansas line provided the crowd of 25,000 with most of its thrills and set up both TCU touchdowns.

The 195-pound junior fullback churned 17 yards of a 24-yard surge that brought TCU its first quarter touchdown on Marshall Harris' two-yard plunge and he accounted for 42 of the crucial 47-yard fourth-period drive that sent Arkansas down to its third straight defeat.

Score by Periods:
TCU 6 0 0 6-12
Arkansas 0 7 0 7-7

Scoring:
TCU—Harris 2 run (Kick failed)
Ark—Stone 1 run (Horton kick)
TCU—Rowland 5 pass from Enis (Pass failed).

Aggies Blank Purdue Flogs Rice, 24-0

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Texas A&M fashioned a methodical ground attack, powered by Charley Milstead and Gordon Leboeuf, to take a 12-0 victory over Missouri Saturday night before 15,000 fans in Kyle Field.

Coach Jim Myers' Aggies, employing the single wing, scored in the first and second periods as they gained their first victory of the 1958 season after two defeats.

The Aggies marched 59 yards on the ground to their first-quarter score, counted by Leboeuf on a two-yard slant. Milstead contributed 16 yards on a key run, and Leboeuf set up the marker with a 17-yard carry to the 3.

Penalty Nullifies Kick
However, Milstead's successful conversion kick was nullified by a penalty, and his second try was wide.

A 66-yard quick kick by Leboeuf late in the first period put the Tigers in trouble on their 4, and three plays later Aggie end Don Smith set the stage for the final score by partially blocking a punt by Missouri quarterback Robert Haas.

A&M's 17-yard drive was climaxed by a two-yard carry by Milstead. But Missouri tackle Michael Magoo dumped Milstead and spoiled a pass-or-run attempt for a two-point conversion. Missouri staged its most serious threat early in the fourth period when the Tigers, paced by the running and passing of quarterback Phil Snowden, moved 81 yards to the A&M one-foot line. But there the Cadet line held and thwarted a fourth-down scoring effort by Snowden.

Mixes His Passes
Snowden, mixing passes to halfback Jerry Curtright with runs by halfback Melvin West, moved Missouri to the Aggie 29 after A&M's first-period score, but Aggie end John Tracey broke up the drive there by intercepting a pass from Snowden.

The game ended in a wild flurry of interceptions and fumbles, and was marked by a 34-yard run by Aggie third-team tailback Bubba McLean for the longest ground gain of the night, moving to the Missouri 19. But A&M stalled at the 10 to end the threat.

Score by Periods:
Texas A&M 6 6 0 12
Missouri 0 0 0 0-0

Scoring:
A&M—Leboeuf 1 run (kick failed)
A&M—Milstead 2 run (run failed)

Ore. St. 14, UCLA 0
PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Resurgent Oregon State, sparked by a 50-yard touchdown run by center Bruce Hake on an intercepted pass, blanked the UCLA Bruins 14-0 in a Pacific Coast Conference game Saturday to preserve Coach Tommy Prothro's record of never having lost a home game.

FISHING
Recent fishing report from Possum Kingdon says Orville Simms and Glenn Shehan and Cleo Bolin thinned the Fox Hollow Camp waters of 75 sand bass and a dozen black bass. Clyde Redkief hooked 78 white bass at Canton Reservoir in other fish dispatches.

Pitt 13, Minn. 7
MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Pittsburgh's powerful Panthers, with reserve quarterback Bill Kaliden carefully marshaling his forces, came from behind to past slow-moving Minnesota, 13-7, Saturday in the Gopher's home opener in sunny Memorial Stadium.

Michigan State 12,
EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Michigan State Saturday pounded 97 yards in the dying minutes with Bob Berchch diving in from the two to tie the game, but Sammy Williams' extra-point attempt failed wide and the Spartans just managed to pull out a 12-12 tie with archrival Michigan.

Ga. Tech Victor
ATLANTA (UPI)—Joe Delaney's pin-point punting and Larry Font's fumble-smatching set up two touchdowns for a 14-0 Georgia Tech victory over Tulane that was strictly the work of the defense.

Peg O' Pampa

DON'T KNOW WHETHER it is hayfever or just the "last red rose" of summer... but we've been sorta under the weather this week... tried to get Mr. Peg to write this weekly column for us... but he talked completely... thought it was such a wonderful idea to add an off-beat note to our usually sane chatter... had to get most of news by phone this week, which reminds us... some areas already have their new phone books... are you sentimental about yours?... we are... when the freshly-printed and slightly larger phone book arrived and just before we dunked the well-used one in the waste basket... we noted and remembered to re-copy a new recipe we had phoned a friend for... there was a list of committee names, who were to be contacted for our fall luncheon, besides each was marked a "yes" or "no"... quite a few hours of calling had gone into that venture... there was the number of a long-distance telephone operator, whom we were to call back last Spring when our new niece arrived... yes, with a bit of nostalgia, ye olde phone book, dogeared and scarred with rips, coffee stains and butter drippings was cast aside but with the new one we can start all over again!

PARTIES THAT WERE OR WILL BE... Pretty and petite Mary Klein had a lovely party given for her just before she and her husband, Wesley, left for Farmington, N. M. this week to make their home... Iva Hall and Shirley Boday were the charming hostesses... Wesley is going to go into the TV business for himself and blonde Mary will be missed by her circle of friends... heard there was a pretty bridal shower given for Phyllis Trullinger, bride-elect or Ralph Gardner on Wednesday afternoon by Fran Noblitt and Sandy Williams in Fran's home... Phyllis and Ralph have set the date for the fricay after Thanksgiving in the First Christian Church... Betty Ledet was a most surprised mother-to-be recently when a group of friends called on her one morning recently for coffee... It was her birthday, but guests brought remembrances for the baby-to-be... and the refreshments of course... and don't you know that Mrs. D. L. Mackie, who resides south of the city, was a most surprised and happy individual when 83 of her nearest and dearest showed up for a surprise dinner party... her 80th birthday wasn't really until this Wednesday... but more friends and relatives could come on Sunday... so they did... We'll say, 83 of 'em... Country Club members are to have a rare treat this Thursday... when the fabulous Jimmy Dorsey Band arrives for a one-night session at the club... Lee Castle is the new director but he was the musical conductor and feature trumpeter while Jimmy was alive... so it is guaranteed to be the real Jimmy Dorsey orchestra... so if you like to dance, sit and listen, or just breathe... here is the members' opportunity to do so in real style!

That which is striking and beautiful is not always good; but that which is good is always beautiful.
—Ninon de l'Enclos.

WHEN YOU GET in the mood for a "cute sight"... just drive past Gladys Harkins' Lollipop School some morning close to noon when her young "students" are getting out of "school"... these little types look as important and serious-minded as any senior striding across the highschool campus across the street... and there's a whole covey of proud-tressed "mamas" there to pick up their "scholars"... Twentieth Century Allegro resumed its Story Hour this week... and will be held each Thursday morning from 9:30 to 10:30 throughout the winter months... with only two Thursdays out... Christmas and New Years... which do fall on Thursdays this year... France Ogden is the story-teller... and we envy the youngsters the opportunity to sit in on her stories... which she tells in such a charming and vivacious manner... stories and activities are planned for the interest of five and six-year-old youngsters... two to four years-old are a wee bit too young to thoroughly enjoy the stories and activities that are planned and might detract from the interest of the older children... too, for heaven sakes, mothers, pick up your kiddoes by the end of story-time, 10:30, so the story-teller and Allegro hostesses can get home to fix lunch for their own families... when Mr. Peg brought our Chamber of Commerce Banquet tickets home early this year, we just couldn't imagine why... we usually get in just under the wire... and then we read that Miss Texas is to be one of the guest artists on the program... Hobart Street Underpass, we hear, is to be dedicated on Oct. 24... now whether that means that traffic will be resumed by that date, or even immediately afterwards, we don't know... but at least the construction will have formal dedication ceremonies on that date... and since we've followed that bit of masterpiece, since the first scoop of dirt, we don't want to miss it... why we can remember when it was nothing but a bumpy lane across the tracks... it will be so nice to have the convenience of the underpass available... and for news on a national level... plans for the Alaska star to be added to the flag is still in the indecisive state... but decisions will be made and the newly-starred flag will first be flown come next Fourth O' July.

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL Women have a busy week coming up when, nation wide, clubs stress "More Power With Woman Power"... Ruth Hutchens, Mattie Crowson and Faye Eaton have been busy for the past several weeks planning activities for the group locally... nice honor for Helen Knox, who has been named "Business Woman of the Week"... she is to be honored this morning at a breakfast in the City Club Room... Wednesday a Coffee in Johnson's Cafe... and on Thursday Bea York will entertain with a breakfast in her home... sounds like a busy and lots-of-fun week for everyone... saw Vera Lord this week strolling across Kingsmill towards the post office wearing a beautiful dusty-rose coat with a matching brushed fur beret... looked so pretty... and its nice to see H. A. Yoder up and about... if only for short periods of time... his illness made it impossible for him to go back to school at Woodrow Wilson this fall... if he hasn't already resumed his principalship... hope he will be able to do so soon... and the Emmett Osbornes have returned from a sojourn in Hawaii... which almost turned out to be a family reunion for them... Bob Echols parents arrived this week from St. Louis, Mo. for a few days visit... hope all of you registered adult Girl Scout workers have your tickets to the Council Banquet, which will be held Thursday evening in the palm room... we hear through the scouting keyhole that there is a lot of important-to-you business... in addition to good food... on the agenda... Gay Sheppard of Dallas, council advisor will be the guest speaker... new officers will be elected, Vera Andis is up for the presidency... and the council coverage plan will be discussed... this council coverage, upon investigation, we learned is to bring girl scouting to more girls in the area... there are a lot of lone councils out in the area that do not receive benefit from the local council... thus the American girls' choice to belong to a troop is denied a lot of girls who would like to join.

SAY! WHATCHA doin' these days between 12:45 and mid-afternoon... you are?... well, so are we!
Bravely yours,
Peg.

Important Business Slated At Council Banquet Of Top O' Texas Girl Scouts

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The advent of fall is always exciting in terms of beauty. For at the end of each season, every woman feels she's been in an established rut long enough, and a change is welcome fun.

This year the change will be more refreshing than ever. The high, lifted waists and wide, dipping necklines are extremely flattering, and so are the new Empire coils.

These hairstyles achieve height with upswep tresses, smoothly, sleekly brushed into high-rising poufs. Gone is the lousied look, but in its place come smooth, curly, lifted lines that add the finishing touch of elegance to tall styles.

If you've seen photos of these new formal coiffures, you may have become discouraged, for they look as though they'd be pretty complicated to maintain. Yet they're not.

All you need is a good, professional shaping and cut and, if your hair is straight, a permanent wave to give it body. After that a comb and brush will do the trick.

If you go to a beauty salon for your permanent and setting, you will, of course, have no trouble at all with the new hairdo. But if you prefer to give yourself a permanent at home, you, too, will be able to handle the fall hairstyles with ease.

Home permanents have become more effective and less messy to use throughout the years, until they are now as simple to do as setting your hair. If done correctly, they look beautifully natural and last a good long time.

The formula for waving lotions has been scientifically perfected to the point where, when directions are carefully followed, there is no chance for tight, frizzy curls.

And now, one manufacturer claims to have added new built-in conditioners that wave hidden body right into the hair, enabling you to keep the new upswep tresses firmly in place from shampoo to shampoo.

So, if your daily schedule is too crowded to permit hours at the beauty salon, try a home permanent. Have your hair cut and set at least once in the Empire style you prefer, and you'll find it surprisingly easy to follow at home.

Then, from your pretty pointed shoes to your softly elegant hair, you will be as gracefully feminine as any lady in the court of Napoleon.

Eyes Of Business World Focused Upon Business, Professional Women's Clubs

The eyes of the business world this week will be focused upon Business and Professional Women's Clubs around the country as National Business Women's Week is observed locally and nationally from Oct. 5-11.

The local B&PW Club, organized April 23, 1929, is served by the following officers, Mrs. Faye Eaton, president; Mrs. Lucille Turner, vice president; Alma Ash, treasurer; Mrs. Bonnie Hutchinson, recording secretary; Mrs. Gladys Jaynes, corresponding secretary; and Mattie Crowson, parliamentary. Mrs. Ruth Hutchens is general chairman of National Business Week activities.

On April 23, 1929, three members of the Amarillo Business and Professional Women's Club met with 16 prominent business and professional women in Pampa in the home of Mrs. C. W. Mitchell for the purpose of organizing a Pampa B&PW Club. Mrs. Finis Jordan was elected temporary chairman and the organization was completed at a dinner meeting held April 29 in the Schneider Hotel at which time 36 charter members were enrolled. Charter members still active in the club are Mrs. Jordan and Mrs. Frank Lard.

The purpose of the B&PW Club is to bring about a spirit of cooperation among business and professional women in Pampa for all causes tending toward the upbuilding of the city, good citizenship, civic pride and in the support of public welfare. The object is to promote the interests of business and professional women; the motto is "Better Business Women For A Better Business World."

The club is non-political, non-secretarian, self-governing, and self-supporting. Only women actively engaged in business or professions are accepted as members; although members retiring from business may continue their membership if they desire.

In the early years, many special entertainments were held that have become annual events; such as, the Mother's Day breakfast, Christmas Party, Fall Round-Up for new members; and the annual observance of National Business Women's Week, with special emphasis on some observance each day of this week.

Among the special projects promoted by the club during the past 29 years has been the organization of the Boy and Girl Scouts, which was sponsored by the local organization until the local organization of the Boy and Girl Scouts; cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development in many special projects; financing a delegates expenses to Girltown; donated playground equipment to the Salvation Army; served as hostesses for several charity affairs; several hundreds of dollars have been given to the school cafeteria fund to provide lunches for needy school children; each year several Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets of food have been given to destitute families; money has been collected for the milk fund; contributes annually to the Community fund; cooperated with the Welfare Index blood-typing program; awards a nurses scholarship annually; conducted a Safety Campaign with prizes given to the most courteous women drivers during Business Women's Week; at the time of the Higgins tornado, members helped collect clothing for the victims and several donated their time during this disaster.

Among the past presidents of the club are Mmes. Grace Pool, W. C. Mitchell, Nina McKimling, Miss Lara Lee Shewmaker; Mmes. M. P. Downs, Finis Jordan, D. E. Robinson, Ernest Gee; Miss Mildred Overall; Mmes. Bob Cecil, Frank Lard, George Walstad, Audrey Fowler; E. E. McNutt; Miss Maurine Jones, Miss Mirriell Kitchens; Mmes. Tommie Stone, Mildred Lafferty; Roy Chisum; Miss Florence Merriman and Miss Kines French; Mmes. Finis Jordan, Ivan Howard, W. A. York, H. F. McDonald, Hazel Jay and Mattie Crowson.

Planned locally for observance of National Business Women's Week is a kick-off breakfast this morning in the Pampa Hotel at which time the Business Woman of the week will be named; the breakfast is scheduled for 8 p.m. Members of the club, under the direction of Mrs. Crowson will appear on "Staff Breakfast" over Bowers.

A social hour followed in which each guest listed a place of interest that she had visited and things she had done during the summer. These lists were read aloud by the secretary, who did not disclose the writer's name. Guests were asked to identify the writer. As each writer was identified, she was "branded" with a KKI ribbon.

Refreshments of cowboy-shaped cookies, mints, nuts and coffee were served from a table covered with a cut-work linen cloth arranged with miniature cowboy boots filled with yellow chrysanthemums and autumn leaves. Coffee was served from a copper coffee service.

It was announced that the next meeting for the group would be a Rush Party on Oct. 27 in the City Club Room.

Attending the "round-up" were Mmes. Arthur Rankin, O. H. Odom, Warren Cochran, B. R. Nuckols, Dock Mackie, B. G. Gordon, Homer Bowers, John Woods, C. W. Stowell, L. S. Riley, Fred Ammeter, Otto Mangold, Roy Sparkman, John Evans, Herbert Coker, Lee Heaton, Floyd Smith, Charles Meech, Walter Parker, Teresa Humphreys, Lois Morrison, Misses Alma Wilson, Mildred Hogland and Elizabeth Enns.

Mrs. Helen Knox

Mrs. Helen Knox will be named "Business Woman of the Week" at the breakfast to be given this morning in the Pampa Hotel. The selection of Mrs. Knox for this honor is based on her contribution to the business world, to her home and family.

Mrs. Knox, widow of James A. Knox, was born in Harvey, Ill., where she received her education in the public schools there and Gregg Business College. Before moving to Texas, she was employed by the Whiting Foundry and Equipment Co.; the Chicago Steel Car Co. and the Hudson Motor Car Co. as secretary. She moved to Ranger, with her mother, where she was employed by a railroad. She there met and married James A. Knox, who was with Cities Service Co.

For a time they made their home in Elceira, where she was a charter member of the Centennial Club; a member of the Music and Delphinia Clubs; served as vice president of the Parent-Teacher Association; taught the primary department of the Methodist Church; and was president of the Home Demonstration Club.

She is a member of the DMF Auxiliary and the First Methodist Church where she has served for three years as secretary of the Friendship Class and the Wesleyan Service Guild; has been active in the B&PW Club for several years; has been chairman of the International Relations Committee and last year was chairman of the newly-formed "Women In Government" committee.

Three years ago, she represented the B&PW Club at the National Convention in Miami, Fla. and in July of this year in Seattle, Wash. at the national convention. She was a delegate this year to the state convention in Dallas and has attended several district meetings. She is interested in music, art, and gardening. Her hobby is stamp collecting, especially First Issues.

Mrs. Knox has two children, a daughter who is married to Dr. E. J. Ashcraft of Harlingen and a son, who is a research-chemical engineer for the Halliburton Co. in Duncan, Okla.; and she is the grandmother of two grandsons.

Mrs. Knox has lived in Pampa for the past 20 years and has been employed by Cities Service Gas for the past 15 years. She severed her employment with that company on Sept. 1 of this year and is planning to make her home in Harlingen after trips to Chicago, Ill., Denver, Colo., and Duncan. Plans for later dates include trips to California and Hawaii.

Teen-agers will find cleanliness fundamental to healthy skin and hair. Because of active oil glands during adolescence, they may be troubled with acne. Frequent washings with a mild soap help prevent infection which can be serious, and getting an extra hour's sleep each night contributes to better overall health.

GS Troop 5 Has Out-Door Session At Camp Mel Davis

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 5 met at Camp Mel Davis last Saturday for an all-day session of fun in the out-of-doors and to earn points to apply on Rambler and Tree badges, planned by their leaders, Mrs. V. C. Moore and Mrs. John Holt Jr.

An exploration hike brought attention to many wild flowers and plants. The one plant, which held the most interest, according to the leaders' report, was the devil-claw in the green state. Following the hike, the scouts made terrariums to contain wild flowers and plants to be observed at home for the next several weeks.

After a sack-lunch and soft drink, the girls were driven to Bruce's Nursery near Alanreed for a sight-seeing tour. Several hundred varieties of trees, plants, bushes and flowers were observed at different growing stages.

Leaves were collected by the girls to add to their scrapbook of leaves.

Before returning home the group took a short hike up McTelan Creek to find rocks and items of interest. The "find" of this venture came when Mrs. Holt, instructing the scouts to look-around for arrow-heads, looked down, and there at her toe-tip was the only arrow head found on the hike.

Scouts attending were Misses Patricia Collett, Vickie Cox, Carletta Johnson, Judy Kitto, Barbara Holt, Nancy Holt, Melinda Malone, Linda More, Natalie Skellv, Diana St. Clair and Kimberly Wilson.

Guests attending were Mmes. Sam Malone, H. J. Johnson, Walter Colwell and Vicky Jo Moore.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Mrs. B. writes, "You say that kids are sometimes nagged out of their desire to study. Well, I nag my Tom because his teachers force it. They insisted that I 'help' him learn to count and read."

"He's now in the fifth grade—and if I withdraw my 'help' with his homework, the next day I get a note or phone call from his teacher. On school nights we can have to keep our conversation dull so Tom won't get interested in it instead of doing his assignments."

What's the effective threat behind those notes and phone calls, Mrs. B.? It's "If you don't make Tom produce, I'll fall him." Isn't it?

O.K. If this bright little boy so attracted to interesting conversation fails to get promoted, why can't they be trusted to use his failure profitably?

Oh, I know that it's considered psychologically dangerous to expose a child to school failure. But parents whose failures have tapped new powers in themselves don't share this view. They know that children are scared by failure only when the adults they live with fear and despise it instead of trusting it.

In response to the notes and phone calls, they say "Perhaps, Miss Jones, what Tom needs this term is not promotion but the discovery of his own power to work."

In this world of pushers pushed, we just can't allow ourselves to be shoved without knowing where we're going. We have to shake them off and think, "Do I want what you're pushing me toward? Are you shoving me to do what I know is wrong?"

In the case of teachers who press us to make Tom produce, we have to say, "Hey, what are you up to? I ought to go on playing voodoo with Tom's zombie—that he has no initiative or vitality of his own and can only work if I pour mine into him."

"Well, I don't share your idea of my obligation. I think I'd better let him have an experience that may stimulate his own power instead of keeping him dependent on mine. Instead of getting pushed through the sixth grade, I think he'd better repeat the fifth one on his own steam."

We can't let anyone, including school authorities, define our views of "failure." We need values of our own that can see the seed of success in a failure.

Mrs. Ernest Vehrs works at a multipurpose sewing-storage cabinet of her own design. Lid, shown raised, can be folded open to double counter top area for pattern cutting.

When work is done, cabinet resumes its role as a graceful piece of furniture, and becomes a charming addition to the guest room. "Picture" above cabinet is made of sewing addments.

Housewife Stitches Sewing-Guest Room Together For Dual-Purpose Quarters

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

A neat result of planning can be a dual-purpose room where the purposes have no relationship to each other. The familiar study-guest room combination, for example, is not too difficult to arrange because the sofa that becomes a bed is also logical as a comfortable reading or sitting place in a study.

Storage chests suit either purpose without looking out of place. Desks that can double as vanities are not rarities, either.

A guest room that shares the same space as the sewing room is something else, again.

On the surface it would seem to be quite a trick to transform the efficient clutter of a busy sewing room into a neat, quiet and cheerful guest room.

One homemaker who knows the trick is Mrs. Ernest Vehrs, who, as Frances Pfaff, heads the Pfaff home sewing schools and the home service institute in the country.

In her own home in Niles, Ill., Mrs. Vehrs has turned a room, 10 feet by 10 feet, into a charming, efficient and relaxing place.

There, she can pursue her major interest and hobby, sewing.

In a matter of minutes, she can have the room ready for the overnight guest.

Mrs. Vehrs, a gay and pretty woman with long, naturally blonde hair, told me how she does it.

Her theory is: in a small room, one or two large pieces of furniture serve better than several small pieces, each serving only one purpose.

That rules out a collection of separate sewing machine cabinet, storage chests, dressing table and so on.

In her room, a green modern, armless couch, is also a fold-out bed.

The heart of her combination room, is a piece of furniture made for her by a cabinetmaker.

This is a sleek combination of storage chests, sewing table, cutting table, and desk work space.

The wood is pine, the finish is fruitwood and to duplicate it would cost about $300, Mrs. Vehrs estimates.

The combination is 72 inches long by 30 inches tall by 24 inches deep.

The hinged top is double and can be opened out to a 48-inch width to make a cutting table surface.

Each chest has three three-inch drawers on top and two 9-inch drawers.

One feature that added to the expense but which is worth every penny, says Mrs. Vehrs, is that all drawers are fitted with full extension ball bearing rollers.

This makes every drawers usable to the very back. The shallow drawers are filled with threads and findings, deeper drawers with patterns, work-in-progress and fabrics.

One shallow and one deep drawer are reserved for guest use.

The sewing machine head is mounted under the top and swings up when needed.

Marking the inside edges of the hinged top are tape measure details which are great timesavers when she wants to cut or pin fabrics accurately and quickly.

The unit, set on a flush base, is mounted on concealed casters and can be pulled forward easily to open the top to its full width.

Mrs. Vehrs uses a swivel chair when sewing. She sets her adjustable ironing board in back of her so that she can swing around to press her work as she sews.

When a guest arrives, the ironing board and dressmaker's dummy tuck away in the closet; sewing head disappears into its slot, the top flips down and its surface is taken over by a portable TV, flowers or plants and the latest newspapers and magazines.

An occasional chair is pulled in from the hallway.

The guests were received by Messrs. and Mmes. Rex Clark, Mrs. Clet Anderson, Spencer P. Whippo, A. K. Wilson, Robert Thurman, Leon Shrader, Paul Shrader. Mrs. O. O. Cox presided at the guest register.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our 14-year-old daughter returned from summer camp and she is so lovelick over a boy she met from a neighboring boring camp that it is pitiful. We talk to her and she doesn't hear a thing. She locks herself in her room and plays "their record" over and over until I think we will lose our minds. She writes to him and lives for the mailman. How can we get her to stop mooning over this boy? Should we try to tease her out of it, talk her out of him, leave her alone or what?

CONCERNED MOM
Dear Mom: You'll never "talk" a 14-year-old moonstruck girl out of her first big romance. Childish as it may seem to you — it is very real to her. Be a little more sympathetic and perhaps she'll come out of her dream world of memories and back to reality.

DEAR ABBY: What does a girl say to a boy who keeps after her to "go all the way" to prove her love? I have been raised to be a good girl, but I have gone steady with this same boy for three years and we are very much in love. He tells me that if anything happens he will marry me, but he is still going to school and I wouldn't want him to have to quit school to support me. I love him, Abby, but what can I say when he asks me to "prove my love?"

ALICE
Dear Alice: This line was old when I was young. If the boy is decent and he really loves you, he will love you more than his momentary pleasures. Stay out of tempting situations, give him the straight — arm and the straight answer, "No!"

DEAR ABBY: My older sister likes to get the credit for being the best one in the family. We are in our forties and fifties but she still bosses us and dictates. An aunt celebrated her 75th birthday so our older sister said she'd bake the cake and we'd give her a party. All six of us went over there and our older sister brought the cake. She said she baked it and it took 4 eggs, 3 cups flour, 3 cups sugar, 1 cup buttermilk, etc. When my aunt cut it, she hit the cardboard that is underneath all bakery cakes. Nobody said anything. Should I tell my sister she didn't fool anybody?

NOT FOOLED
Dear Not: Your sister knows. Why pour salt (one teaspoon) on the wound?

DEAR ABBY: We have a very nice geography teacher for whom we are trying to find a husband. She is very pretty and young (about 25) has blonde hair and a wonderful personality. We would hate to see her become an old maid. Do you know of any nice unattached millionaires who could fill the bill? Thank you.

HER STUDENTS
Dear Students: A young good-looking blonde who teaches geometry should know all the angles. Don't be obtuse!

Confidential to "Honey": If the something OLD is the bridegroom, the something BLUE will be the bride. Think it over, Honey—Money isn't everything.

For a personal reply write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your bookdealer to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

Twenty members were present.

It's a parent's duty to decide what is right for a child and then see that he does it.

It is not a parent's duty to persuade the child that he "wants" to do what the parent says he must, or doesn't "want" to do what the parent says he can't do.

When parents once again accept that fact, then they won't be in such a constant turmoil, and bringing up children won't be such a frustrating business.

A widowed mother writes: "I would like your advice on how to make my daughter, 14 realize she is too young to date a boy of 19."

My answer to that is that the mother doesn't have to make her daughter "understand." It very well may be impossible to make her understand.

What the mother has to do is much more simple and down to earth. She just has to say "No, you can't date him because he is too old for you," and make it stick.

If the mother is convinced she is right, she doesn't have to argue, or persuade, or explain, or try to make her daughter like her decision. Because if she is sure she is right she can be firm in her judgment. And if she is firm and refuses to argue, the girl will accept her "No" answer, whether she likes it and understands it or not.

It isn't a parent's duty to make a child see things from an adult point of view, yet a surprising number of today's parents feel that it is. And all too many of them end up by accepting the child's viewpoint instead of persuading him that theirs is right.

It's a wise parent who realizes that he doesn't always have to explain why when he says "No," and that it isn't necessary to make a child understand an adult decision. All that is required is to make it stick.

Girl Scout Council Banquet for all registered adult scouts will be given on Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Palm Room of the City Hall.

Gay Sheppard, council advisor, from the regional office in Dallas will be the guest speaker. Other proposed business on the agenda is discussion and approval of the 1958-59 budget; election of officers; and discussion for approval of the council coverage plan.

Hostesses for the banquet are senior scouts, Misses Ann Duncan and Shirley Keach of Troop 47, Skellytown; Misses Linda Sue Abbott, Chris Grayson, Katherine Bullard, Marjorie Word, Mickie Baird, Beverly White and Carolyn Jalinek of Troop 17, Pampa. General chairman for banquet preparations is Mrs. W. K. McDonald.

The council officers' slate presented by the Membership-Nominating committee for election includes Mrs. Bob Andis for president; Mrs. Forgas Blackmore for secretary; William H. Kelley, employed personnel; Mrs. Jack P. Foster, organization chairman; Mrs. K. R. Dodd, training chairman; on the nominating committee are Mmes. Calvin Duncan, Julian M. Key, E. A. Myatt.

Tickets to the banquet, which are $1.25, may be picked up from the following neighborhood chairmen nearest you, Mrs. Wayne Broyles, Lamar-Horace Mann-Hopkins; Mrs. L. B. Paden, Woodrow Wilson-Baker; Mrs. Bob Gordon, Highland.

According to Mrs. Jane Kadings, executive director and Mrs. John Holt Jr., president of the Top O' Texas Girl Scout Council, the business agenda of the banquet is of utmost importance to all registered adults scouts, who are interested in the accomplishments and goals of the local council.

Dry or normal hair often calls for a hair dressing to keep it from looking dry and frizzy. The best time to apply such a dressing is after your hair is dry and has been brushed and combed. Apply only a little and be certain the ends benefit from the dressing.

Franklin Pierce was U.S. president when the Republican party was founded at a meeting in Ripon, Wis., Feb. 28, 1854.

Contrary to belief, dandruff actually results from a too oily scalp rather than a dry one. The oil builds up in layers. When bacteria take residence in this oily home, inflammation may result. Thorough brushing and frequent shampoos discourage such a scalp condition.

An aid to facial and chin muscles doesn't take much time. About 10 or 20 times, open your mouth wide, drop your jaw. Then close your mouth. Repeat this several times during the week. You'll appreciate results of this exercise and others as you get older.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. F. writes, "My husband is an alcoholic. We live with his mother who calls his drunkenness his 'stomach trouble.' Though there's an AA group in our city, he won't ask their help. So night after night I have to ask my 8-year-old kid to help me get his drunken father to bed."

"Why do you put up with your husband's drinking, Mrs. F.?" "Duty? Need of his mother's financial support?"

"Of a wife's duty to an alcoholic husband psychiatrist Karl Menninger has written some words which merit wide publicity. They are, 'Time after time in my professional experience a wife could have put a stop to the drinking or compelled her husband to get treatment had she been willing to take a firm step — and refuse to tolerate it.'"

Unlike you, Mrs. F., AA begs nobody to seek their help. They wait until suffering has broken the addict into humility that enables him to confess his own need for help. That is why they are successful. They know that the alcoholic must thirst for his own salvation before he can find it. It is when he confesses his weakness that AA rushes supporting strength to him.

Sometimes a wife shares her alcoholic husband's real problem — the egotistical refusal to acknowledge limitation. So intent may she be on being the other fellow's salvation that she cannot relinquish pride in her noble mission to say, "This is too much for me. I don't possess the understanding or experience to work it out."

I think that Mrs. F. is close to this brave admission of her own limitations. And may be ready to write to the organization that gives the same kind of support to alcoholics' families that AA gives to the addicts themselves. It's Al-Anon Family Group Headquarters, P.O. Box 182, Madison Square Station, New York 10, N. Y. It will put her in touch with its group nearest her.

Mrs. Burnett Is Class Hostess

CANADIAN — Installation of officers of the Faithful Workers Class of the First Baptist Church was held in the home of Mrs. Grady Burnett recently.

Conducting the installation was Mrs. Nay Benich. Officers installed were Mmes. Grady Burnett, president; Joe Vernon, vice-president; Buddy Hobby, secretary-treasurer; and group captains Mmes. Frank Guthrie, Thomas Chitwood, Paul Read, and Jack King. Class teacher is Mrs. L. E. Owens.

Others attending the coffee installation were Mmes. Clyde Blair, Nan Hitchcock, Clifford Sells and Sarah Reeves.

Her husband may profit by her example of humility. Her ability to say "I've reached the end of my rope" may encourage him to think, "I have reached the end of mine — and need help too."

Exile Of Pro Nasserite Aref Regarded As No Surprise

United Press International Correspondent Herbert G. Spencer was in Baghdad following the July coup that overthrew King Faisal's Regime. In the following dispatch, he analyzes the reasons behind the latest shake-up in the Baghdad revolutionary government.

By HERBERT G. SPENCER

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—The diplomatic exile of Abdel Salem Aref, the rabid pro-Nasserite who was premier Abdel Kerim Kassem's righthand man in masterminding the Iraqi revolt, came as no surprise to some observers of the Baghdad scene.

These observers had foreseen the strong possibility of his downfall more than a month ago when he was relieved of his position as deputy armed forces commander. Fiery tongued and violently anti-American, Aref was too extreme an Arab nationalist to fit the pattern of the Republican regime's determination to get the best of all camps—East, West and Arab.

There was also a strong possibility that Aref, now shorn of his posts as Deputy Premier, Deputy Armed Forces Minister and Minister of the Interior, had personal ambitions which clashed with those of Kassem and Guidance Minister Sadiq Shanshal.

Impressed by Aref's ability to excite crowds with the Nasserite oratory he perfected day by day while barnstorming the Iraqi countryside, many correspondents and even some diplomats began tagging him as the "Nasser of Iraq."

They supposed Aref would eventually unseat Kassem much as Nasser had removed the more moderate Gen. Naguib in Egypt in 1952.

But diplomatic observers in Baghdad who seemed to have the surest knowledge of Iraqi army matters were confident that Kassem rather than Aref had the army's real confidence.

And in Iraq he who has the army has power. It also became increasingly apparent by late August that Kassem and Shanshal were at the point where it was necessary to take steps to tone down Aref. His anti-Western tirades were painfully embarrassing to the new government, which wanted to please everybody.

By then, in private conversations with the highest Iraqi officials Aref got no stronger accolade than "he's a good army officer."

Aref's heavy-handed manner of dealing with delicate international problems proved embarrassing.

For instance, while Kassem and Shanshal advocated closer ties with the United Arab Republic—and there is no doubt the revolutionaries wanted a close-knit alliance with Nasser—Aref was openly plumping for union with the U.A.R.

Laredo Ranks As Tourist Gateway

LAREDO, Tex. (UPI)—Laredo continues to rank far ahead as the favorite tourist gateway to Mexico, according to a American Automobile Assn. report.

During the first eight months of 1958, 109,630 U.S. tourists and 40,993 tourist automobiles passed to the interior of Mexico through Laredo, the report said.

Nogales was second with 46,133 tourists, followed by Hidalgo with 27,735, El Paso with 27,241 and Brownsville with 15,769.

August was the heaviest tourist month in Laredo's history, with 23,215 tourists.

ORPHANS SEE SERIES GAME
MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Two orphans from St. Joseph's Orphanage had grandstand seats for the World Series opener Wednesday to prove once again that crime doesn't pay — for the criminal.

The kids got the tickets when a judge gave Harold Torke the choice of paying a $50 fine or donating to the orphanage the tickets he was accused of trying to scalp.

CASE FOR AN EXPERT
NEW YORK (UPI)—A plastic surgeon is expected to testify in a divorce suit here whether Mrs. Bernard Simon has a face that stopped a clock.
The surgeon is to be called to settle a difference of opinion between Mrs. Simon, who says she got a scar on her face when Simon threw an alarm clock at her, and Simon, who says he didn't throw any such thing and that she had the scar before he married her.

Webster Is Remembered On Birthday

By JAMES BAAR
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Library of Congress is celebrating the 200th anniversary of the birth of the nation's most famous spell-caster—Noah Webster.
Webster was born Oct. 16, 1783. By the time he died in 1843 the phrase "Webster says" ended any argument over how to spell a word in these United States.
He wrote the first edition of his spelling book in 1783. By 1890 Americans had bought 60 million copies of the book in its various editions. (The U. S. population in 1890 was 62,900,000.)
The Library of Congress is making its bow to the great spell-caster with a prominent display of first editions of his spelling book, dictionaries and related works. Even a casual perusal shows Webster offered Americans their money's worth.
A 1790 second edition of the spell-caster added a long list of maxims including:
"Hot love is soon cold."
"Give an inch and take an ell."
"When wine is in, wit is out."
Then came Webster's "Compendious dictionary" in 1806 offering more than 400 pages of words and

SAN FRANCISCO—Vice President Nixon, on China policy:
"Interpretation of the press conference remarks of the secretary of state and the President on Tuesday and Wednesday to the effect that they represented a change in U.S. policy or a weakening of our position is completely erroneous."
Definitions including:
"Silk—the produce of worms; luxury—excess in eating, dress or pleasure; sex—the distinction between male and female (no details); rum—ardent spirit." (Gin, a popular beverage in certain quarters of London, didn't get a mention.)
"Finally Webster, in an apparently more devil-may-care mood, published his huge two volume "American Dictionary" in 1828. Along with the greatly expanded definitions and many new words, it included:
"Silk—fine soft thread produced by the insect called the silkworm."
"Luxury—anything delightful to the senses."
"Sex—the distinction between male and female. The male sex is usually characterized by muscular strength, boldness and firmness. The female is characterized by softness, sensibility and modesty."
"Rum—(he gave a recipe for making it.)"
Gin still didn't get a line.

'Days Of Wine And Roses' Was 'Awfully Good Drama'

Television In Review
By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — There are times when I despair of television. Those are the times when I am forced to review rubbish like Thursday night's "Yancy Derringer" and "Behind Closed Doors." But there are other times. They occur infrequently.

They are the times when television picks itself off its garbage heap of shanty-town shows and turns out a luminous piece like Thursday night's CBS-TV "Playhouse 90" drama, "The Days of Wine and Roses."

It was, very simply, an awfully good drama, one of the finest chunks of theatre I've seen on TV. J. P. Miller, its author, took a shopworn subject — the corrosive effects of alcoholism — and laced it with newness and glisten.

Chases Truth

I can't recall any TV play that walked the delicate tightrope between sweetness and terror with such success. It was, in many ways, an agonizing 90 minutes because Miller was so unrelenting in his chase of hard truth.

Some of the acting, particularly Piper Laurie's, was golden. Miss Laurie is a young actress who has been gaining increased confidence in her skills and Thursday night, that confidence showed. She turned in a performance that had depth, honesty and something else, something that I guess could be called glow.

Cliff Robertson and Charles Bickford also turned in fine performances.

A special bow, too, to director John Frankenheimer who boxed a succession of taut scenes — I recall particularly one in a greenhouse, another in a motel — into an artful package. And one Thursday hurrah for Fred Coe, a producer with vision.

Should Have Stopped

As for NBC-TV's "Behind Closed Doors," that is where the first episode of this adventure series should have stayed. It was a slightly hysterical piece in which the owner of a private boat was asked by Naval Intelligence to help drop depth bombs on a Russian submarine that was stationed outside the three-mile limit off Cape Canaveral.

The series' claim is that its stories are based on the files of Rear Admiral Ellis Zacharias, formerly of Naval Intelligence. However, Zacharias retired in 1946 and it's rather difficult to understand how he had such a story in his files.

CBS-TV's "Yancy Derringer" is incredible. It's a thing about a Civil War veteran who travels with a gun in his hat and a Pawnee Indian by his side. The Indian's name is "Pahoo-Ka-Ta-Wah" which means in Pawnee, "You had to be there to appreciate it." I was, Ool-Ya-Koo, which means in Pawnee, "And it was simply terrible."

ACCIDENTAL ART — If it were entitled "Still Life With Bird," this nature study of a fence post and waving wheat heads might receive a photographic salon award. But the photographer whose lens caught the artistic composition was merely snapping away to illustrate new slip-on fence fasteners nailed to the post.

Truck Driver Gets Texas Citizenship

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — A Wichita truck driver who performed a meritorious deed on a Texas highway last June 9 has been made an honorary citizen of Texas.

The driver, John O. Meyer, at the same time received one of the Hobbs Trailers' Knight of the Road award.

Brad Smith, Texas traffic safety director in the office of Texas Gov. Price Daniel, presented the award and honorary citizenship on behalf of Daniel at a meeting of the Kansas Motors Carriers Assn.

Meyer works for National Van Lines, Inc., of Broadview, Ill. He was driving near Kent, in southwest Texas, when he came upon a traffic accident.

One of the drivers was Jerry C. Wilcox of Robertsdale, Ala. His pickup and house trailer were damaged, and Wilcox was injured. Meyer stopped and helped direct traffic until patrolmen arrived. Then he saw that Wilcox got medical attention and as a favor hauled Wilcox' possessions to Austin and stored them for him.

The Texas Department of Public Safety and Texas Safety Assn. recommended Meyer's for the award.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOTI... A History-Making Judicial Decision. I am continuing to reproduce the decision by Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson freeing J. Everett Haley Jr. from fines assessed against him by the Agriculture Department, because the judge so clearly presents the real meaning and safeguards set forth in the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

In the former article he had explained how the Department of Agriculture had no authority under the Commerce Clause in the Constitution to assess a fine against a man for producing wheat and consuming it on his own farm.

The General Welfare Clause. Then, under the General Welfare Clause, the federal judge writes: "The General Welfare Clause of the Constitution is not an affirmative part of the Constitution, and if it is then all of the balance of the document has gone by the board and we have a government of men and not a government of law."

"What is commerce? Take your best text on the subject. We have copied one here: "Commerce strictly consists in the intercourse, including the terms and negotiations and transportation, like the transit of property and persons, as well as the purchase and the sale and the barter of commodities—citing in Re Green, 52, Fed. 112, and other authorities."

"Has this man had anything to do with commerce? Only in production. You have to extend the law to production in order to administer any punishment in this case.

But Congress certainly has not the power or authority under the commerce clause, or any other provision of the Constitution, to limit and restrict the right of corporations created by the states, or the citizens of the states, in the acquisition, control, and disposition of property. Neither can Congress regulate or prescribe the price or prices at which such property, or the products thereof, shall be sold by the owner or owners, whether corporations or individuals...

The judge goes into the question of driving people off the farm. He stresses the fact that the independent farmer is the most likely to stand for liberty and freedom than any other class and that anything that reduces their number, by having prices so high that farm products cannot be shipped abroad, is fraught with great danger to our way of life. He continues:

"Public policy — while not the intent of the Congress — the Agriculture Department has so construed its powers it has created a practice which is against public policy and is unlawful. A public policy which is injurious to the entire people is unlawful. You cannot perform a greater injury to the American citizenship than to destroy even in part the agricultural population."

"All of this shows that the regulation of the farm and this managerial resolution and these practices which prevail are bad; and our Congress would do well to read the testimony of Mr. Benson; they would do well to read the record that has been made in this case; and then they should ask themselves if it is their purpose and their intention to wipe out entirely that provision of the Constitution that draws a distinction between interstate commerce and intrastate commerce, and to say that everything in the way of production is also commerce."

"This man's only violation of the small businessman to see this, until it has happened to him. Then it will be to late."

Robert Allen Reports:

Rogers Has 'Last Resort' Integration Plans

WASHINGTON — Attorney General William Rogers has an extraordinary new measure to counter the states balking at complying with the Supreme Court's school desegregation edict.

The Justice Department head would have the federal government establish and operate integrated schools in these areas.

The President voiced this "reluctant approval" in a lengthy conference with Rogers, during which he stressed the following: It is essential for the federal government to devise a "constructive course of action" to provide education for "citizens" confronted with prolonged shutdowns of schools.

No new legislation is needed for this purpose. Both law and precedent exist under which the federal government can set up and maintain non-segregated schools.

However, it will be necessary to go to Congress to obtain the required funds. Admittedly, such a request would be vehemently opposed. But Rogers contends this fight would be worth making, and a recommendation of that kind by the President would be certain of powerful bipartisan support.

Beyond a "general meeting of minds" on Rogers' explosive proposal, no decisions have so far been made on details.

Planning on them is in the Attorney General's hands. His preparations include cabinet-level discussions on such matters as the federal agencies which would execute the plan, amount of money that would be sought from Congress, and the possible localities where the schools would be established.

How Much Actual Harm Has Frank Costello Done?

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

Frank Costello, under sentence of five years in a federal prison for a relatively small and highly dubious fraud against the income tax, has done this nation infinitely less moral and substantial harm than Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, Earl Warren and Dwight D. Eisenhower, who threw away the victory won by American fighting men, thus empowering the worst enemy that ever confronted the United States.

All Costello did, even at worst, was refuse or neglect to pay the Treasury about $35,000. Roosevelt's Kinnery swindled many individual victims of 20 times that much, to our certain knowledge, using the White House and the smirking scoundrel's prestige, conferred by the people of the nation, as instruments for the commission of their frauds. At least $500,000 of that money was exempt from income tax under corrupt political rulings of the treasury.

Morally there is not the slightest preference for Truman's income tax deduction if it be a fact that he kept some of all of the $200,000 for his own over Costello's problematical debt. (There is grave doubt that Costello did owe anything and the prosecution was an outrageous corruption of the pathetic old ideal of decency and honor before the Federal Jurisprudence. It finally involved some 18 or 20 mountaineers in black robes, haggling, bickering and chattering like Armenian peddlers in a reeking bazaar.)

Yet all this was gravely set forth by bench, bar, pulpit and press as a lesson in the majesty of the law. Costello, himself, put down as a Prime Minister of a shapeless realm called the underworld, was expected to meditate upon his grotesque affront to even a gangster's concept of honor and dignity and ask God to help him be more like a Federal Judge than a Harlem Fedshooter.

The fact that Costello had personally made about 50 judges in his time was not expected to impair his reverential awe. Time was when Costello kept a row of slot machines in his apartment which paid 20 quarters back for every quarter dropped in the gutter by his even-tide of social visitors, many of them New York judges. They loaded up with quarters while swilling his grog, and went away bought, over and over.

If Truman accounted for this $200,000 in his tax returns and paid tax on any portion that accrued to him he would still be morally at fault because the intent of congress was tainted with an invitation to larceny. Although Truman was in law entitled to the money, in honor and ethics any part of it that was not spent for legitimate expense incidental to his duties obviously should have been returned.

The absence of any declaration by Truman on this point constitutes an implied invitation to all American citizens to do as they please. It would not have been enough to pay income tax in the right bracket on the whole $200,000 or any portion left over. The money was labelled for expenses. It was not additional pay.

These are matters that simply do not permit quibbling by a President. Roosevelt, unknown to most of us, had at least $25,000,000 under his hand, subject to no more restriction than Jimmy Hoffa, Dave Beck, or Dave Dubinsky encountered in financial matters. Congressman John Taber, who sought the General Accounting Office, got nothing but evasions amounting to refusal. That Roosevelt would have stolen a few millions of currency for his greedy circle is more plausible than doubtful. No other set in our history wallowed and snuffed as greedily and unrestrained by inhibitions of decency as his.

The Nation's Press

GUTTER DIPLOMACY (The Daily Oklahoman) There's a comfortable if somewhat degrading aspect of dealing with an adversary who makes no pretense of having any morals. Since he hasn't any honor to defend it's nearly impossible to insult him. Since he can't be insulted he can't be goaded into any brash course he wouldn't have pursued otherwise. So it goes with the communists.

In the present exchange of diplomatic courtesies it is apparent that the ultimatum has lost all the terrible finality it once held as the recognized forerunner of war. As a matter of fact it has become nearly impossible to know when an ultimatum is being served. Apparently the ultimatum departed with the advent of the undeclared war. What remains is the propaganda gambit wherein nations fulminate publicly for the presumed effect on world opinion. Meanwhile the world is learning to swim at these exhibitions. The White House points out that an unprecedented situation now exists with respect to official communications with the Russians.

The latest Khrushchev note was so vituperative that President Eisenhower refused to accept it. Formerly such a deteriorating state of affairs would have been taken to mean that the brawling antagonists were at least on the point of breaking off diplomatic relations. But in the perverse present circumstances nothing of the sort is about to happen. All that happens is a reciprocating propaganda blast from Russia to the effect that the president's indignant behavior demonstrates his unwillingness to "listen to the voice of reason."

In rejecting Khrushchev's letter the White House referred to the communist habit of torturing the truth to the point where black is represented to be white. The White House said that "only in an 'inside down' world could it be regarded that it is 'aggressive' when the United States co-operates with a friendly government purely for defense, but that it is 'peace' for the Soviet Union to pledge its support to the Chinese Communist regime in its effort to acquire by armed force territory over which it has never exercised authority."

It is axiomatic that a wise man who tries to reason with a fool will soon be reduced to the fool's level. Similarly an honest person who tries to reason with an invader is in danger of being reduced to the invader's level. In creating what the White House calls an "upside-down" world the communists have only applied the completely cynical teachings of Lenin. The present degrading diplomatic debacle could have been anticipated at the time Franklin D. Roosevelt extended recognition to the Kremlin. Whoever sips with the devil will require a long spoon.

Carrie—They tell me that woman is a gossip. Do you think she is reliable? Harriett—I know that whatever she says goes. WHO CAN SOLVE THIS ONE? The Palace barber shop charges 20 cents for a shave and 40 cents for a haircut. Total 60 cents. The Bon Ton shop charges for 15 cents, but cuts hair for 25. Total 40 cents. Thinking he would save a dime, a farmer got a shave at the Palace for 20 cents and a haircut at the Bon Ton for 25. He paid 45 cents. The farmer saved only a nickel.

D-D Club Prexy To Attend Convention

KNOXINE RUSSELL
... to LA convention

Knoxine Russell, president of the Deak and Derrick Club of Pampa, will represent Pampa's oil women as delegate to the annual international convention of the Association of Deak and Derrick Clubs of North American countries in Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 10 and 11.

Desk and Derrick is an educational organization for women employed in the petroleum industry. Miss Russell will meet with the more than 1000 oil women expected to attend from the United States and Canada.

Climax of the two-day meet, according to Miss Russell, will be an address by A. C. Rubel, president of the Union Oil Company of California. Rubel joined his company in 1923 as an exploration geologist at the Dominguez Field in the Los Angeles Basin of California. With him, he brought a degree in Mining Engineering and Metallurgy from the University of Arizona and approximately four years experience working for oil companies in Mexico and Central America.

Six years later he became chief petroleum engineer followed by successive promotions until in 1956 he was elected president of his company.

Rubel holds the Distinguished Service Cross awarded him while a member of the Corp of Engineers during World War I. He is vice chairman of the Military Petroleum Advisory Board, a director of Northrop Aircraft, Inc., a trustee of Occidental College, and a director of the American Petroleum Institute.

Other highlights of the oil women's meeting will be the election of officers for the coming year, revision of association bylaws and the opportunity to meet women in the petroleum industry from all sections of the United States and Canada.

On the entertainment side, Miss Russell added, there will be a fiesta in the Spanish-California tradition, a reception honoring candidates for office and an Hawaiian theme luncheon.

Johnny Johnson, nine miles south of Pampa, has done an excellent job of stubble mulching this year. Johnson maintained his wheat stubble on the surface of the soil by using a sweep type plow with large sweeps and then later using a rod weeder. Johnson has his land seeded to wheat again. He used a drill that had the shovel or sweep type openers.

Stubble mulching requires more time and labor but it does reduce erosion and wind-erosion and tends to stabilize crop yields. Crop yields during dry years will tend to hold up and not fall as far down as yields drop on land that has been clean farmed.

Harry Yelps!
CHEYENNE, Wyo. - Former President Truman, in charging the Republican Party is trying to brainwash the American people into thinking it is new, liberal and different from Republicanism of the 1920s.

And now with President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles suddenly changing their position it looks as though the administration has joined the saboteurs. But I have an idea that our agile vice president won't have much trouble quickly identifying himself with the new position.
