DEMOS SCORE EXPECTED LANDSLIDE

ASSURED OF 61 SEATS FOR '59

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Democrats rode into commanding control of the House and Senate today with the biggest congressional landslide victory since the Roosevelt New Deal era.

A Democratic tide which surged in Maine two months ago swept across such Republican strongholds as Vermont, Ohio, South Dakota, Nebraska and Wisconsin.

Democrats won 25 Senate races, with one unsettled, to assure them of at least 61 seats in the new Congress, while the GOP had won 8 for a total of only 34.

Democrats held 272 sure House seats against 132 for the Republicans. Fifty Senate and 219 House seats are needed for control.

President Eisenhower thus faces a Congress more heavily under control of the opposition party than any president in this century.

Knowland, Knight Out

The Democratic sweep wiped out a solid Republican House delegation and retired a GOP senator in Connecticut. It engulfed Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California, heir to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft in the Senate, and Sen. John W. Bricker, Taft's heir as the head man in the Ohio GOP.

Down with Knowland, running for governor, went Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, who reluctantly ran for the Senate. He lost to Democratic Rep. Clair Engle.

Bricker was beaten in Ohio by former Rep. Stephen M. Young, Democratic running mate of Michael V. DiSalle, who unseated Gov. C. William O'Neill.

Surveying the GOP wreckage, Vice President Richard M. Nixon said the Democrats deserved to win because they had been campaigning for two years, and GOP Chairman Mead Alcorn admitted his party had taken a "bad mauling." Both served notice that the Republican campaign for 1960 would start at once.

Few GOP Victories

All was not lost for the GOP. Republicans found a few bright spots, particularly in New York, where Nelson A. Rockefeller upended Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman and killed him off as a potential presidential contender. Rockefeller carried Rep. Kenneth B. Keating into a Senate seat over Democrat Frank S. Hogan.

Democratic governors also were displaced by Republicans in Arizona and Rhode Island.

The 7 a.m. c.s.t. rundown on the standings shown by the United Press International count (including results from the Maine election Sept. 8) showed:

Democrats re-elected all 13 of their incumbent senators whose seats were at stake this year, won 12 and led in a tight race in Wyoming for seats now held by Republicans. With 36 holdovers, their indicated Senate membership was 49.

There will be a report meeting in the United Fund office, city hall on Friday between the hours of 4:30 and 6 p.m. The meeting will be for all United Fund Workers and is for the purpose of getting the money that has already been collected by workers turned into Mrs. Emmett Gee, the United Fund secretary.

The meeting will be informal, and a "come and go" affair. Workers need not stay longer than is necessary to report their collections and determine what is left to do. Coffey will be served. Clyde Dickerson, campaign chairman said that it is necessary that all workers report in on Friday so that it will be possible to determine where the weak spots are and get additional help for those who need it. Dickerson said this meeting should not be considered a deadline for those workers who have made definite arrangements with firms to pickup contributions later than Friday.

$29,433.21 has been reported to the United Fund office as of this morning at 10 a.m. This represents 46 percent of the 1958-1959 goal of $64,000. This amount is encouraging due to the fact that the majority of the volunteer workers have not yet reported in.

Thomas defeated Constitutional party candidate Robert E. Nesmith, 30,645 to 4,431; Casey put down Kennedy 37,272 to 20,508 with Constitution party candidate Jack Gardner getting 3,729; and Dowdy defeated Republican Joseph Ross 11,353 to 366.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn, one of the 18 congressmen elected without opposition called the national election "a great victory" for the Democrats.

"The people of the United States believe the Democratic party more than the Republican party and expressed that belief at the polls," he said.

Daniel, the titular head of the Democrat party in Texas, said his overwhelming re-election was an endorsement of his administration.

"My administrative program shall continue to be based upon complete confidence in the future growth and progress of our country and in the ability of our people to meet any challenge which may arise," Daniel said.

Death Blow Is Dealt Out To California's Governor

By JAMES C. ANDERSON
United Press International

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—California hailed Democrat Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, a genial 53-year-old Irish Catholic, as its governor-elect today after dealing a death blow to the political career of Republican Sen. William Fife Knowland.

Both Knowland, the GOP leader in the Senate, and the issue he fought so hard for—right-to-work—went down to defeat in Tuesday's election.

The right-to-work proposal, which would have outlawed the union shop, lost by a ratio of about 5 to 2. Knowland fell by a margin which may approach one million votes when final returns from the state's 26,836 precincts are in.

Another Republican stalwart went down to defeat when Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, 61, lost to Democratic Congressman Clair Engle, 46, in their battle for a six-year term in the U.S. Senate.

Returns from 11,730 precincts gave for governor: Brown 761,504, Knowland 466,204, for senator, 11,862 precincts: Engle 643,134, Knight 488,837; right to work, 11,124 precincts: Yes 344,092, no 579,192.

For Knowland, 50, defeat meant the end of a 25 year career in public office. The senator said he intended to return to Oakland to take up his duties as assistant publisher of the Oakland Tribune and said he did not expect again to seek elective office.

Asked if he had been offered a federal post by President Eisenhower, Knowland told reporters, "Absolutely not. I am looking forward to returning to my family business and my family."

Republican Congressman Patrick J. Hillings, close personal friend and political ally of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, lost his bid to become the state's attorney general when he was defeated by Superior Judge Stanley Mosk of Los Angeles.

Brown's victory meant a re-ward to the statehouse for the Democratic Party for the first time in 16 years and it shoved Brown into the national spotlight as a potential contender for a place on the national ticket in 1960 or 1964 although he pledged to be attorney general when he was de-

Red Guns Shatter Lull With Heavy Quemoy Bombardment

By ALBERT E. KAFF
United Press International

TAIPEI (UPI)—Chinese Communist artillery shattered a 27-hour lull in the Quemoy islands today with another heavy bombardment. Nationalist guns roared back.

The artillery duel began a few hours after the Communists accused the Nationalists of using poison gas shells in Monday's firing. The Nationalists denied the charges but prepared for Red "reprisals."

Moscow Radio echoed the Peiping charges early today and said the United States and Nationalist China were guilty of "barbarism" and violation of international law.

The Nationalist government said it seriously feared the Red charges were a smokescreen to justify Communist use of gas or some other unorthodox weapons. The United States accused Peiping of lying as it did in Korea when it said American troops used "germ warfare."

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said the Communist shore guns broke the Quemoy lull with a light pre-dawn shelling and then launched heavy firing at 8 a.m.

This was an odd numbered day and, under Peiping's weird stop-and-go cease-fire, all parts of the islands were subject to bombardment. Peiping has warned the Nationalists not to try to land supplies on odd numbered days.

TV Dance Troupe On Way To Pampa

Television dancers Bambi Linn and Rod Alexander, at the head of their new dance company, will open the Pampa Community Center season with their "Minstrel Days to Swingtime" Dance Jubilee. The event is scheduled for the Junior High School auditorium Saturday at 8 p.m.

Linn and Alexander made their television debut with Max Liebman on "Show of Shows," the award winning variety show with Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca. In the seven short years that followed, they have established themselves as "television's top dance team." Although each had separately racked up an impressive list of Broadway credits before they teamed up after their marriage in 1950 and though both have been seen from coast to coast by patrons of first-class supper clubs, this season marks the attractive duo's debut as a concert attraction. Heading a company of sixteen, they will be seen here in a program called "Dance Jubilee," an all-American survey covering dance from Minstrel Days to Swingtime.

One of their last major TV appearances before the tour was on the widely-acclaimed Victor Borzage hour. Since then choreographer Alexander has been occupied with staging the Arthur Godfrey Talent Scout Show, staging a Broadway revue for the elaborate new Cafe de Paris and narrating an ethnic dance film for 20th Century Fox based on rhythms of the world, which will be shown as a short subject in movie-houses throughout the country. And the Alexander choreography for the filmed version of the Rodgers and Hammerstein Broadway success "Carousel" — much of it filmed on location in Boothbay Harbor, Me. — is still on view in many movie houses around the nation.

Nothing on the program of "Dance Jubilee" is arty, pretentious, burdened with a message or a Freudian overtone. The aim is entertainment and the range is from the tap - dance, clog - dance and cbe - walk of minstrel shows and vaudeville when the American theatre was in its infancy, right on to rock and roll. The program takes in the old soft shoe, a puppet ballet to the music of Victor Her-

Ritz Brothers To Re-Invade Tee Vee

UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The Ritz brothers have formed their own production company to re-invade television after a five-year layoff.

Harry, ring-leader of the rany trio, has a ready explanation for the move. "Comedy is in pretty bad shape, and TV could use a few laughs. We could use the dough, too."

Brothers Jimmy and Al nodded agreement.

"We'll do the shows on film and get rich from the residuals," Harry added, rolling his eyes wildly.

"Yeah, and..." Jimmy began, but Harry cut him off.

"It's going to be a series on fairy tales — like Shirley Temple does," Harry hurried on. "Only ours will be crazy. We're gonna do stuff like 'hysterical history,' 'Hamlet and eggs,' 'Sons of Dracula' and like that."

"You see..." Al put in hopefully, but to no avail.

"Satire. That's what we'll be doing. Satire," Harry said.

"This is a good time for us to return to TV," Al added in a rush. "Nobody's going slapstick anymore. It's either stand-up monologue or situation comedy. Television needs some funny comedians."

"Right," said Jimmy, flashing an apprehensive glance at Harry. "Too many of the good ones have changed their style. Not us. We're the same old Ritz brothers. W.C. Fields never changed."

"Go back, Jackie Gleason. Go back to your old format," Al warned. "Go back to the things that made people love you. Go back to being great."

The 20-ton boat can carry as many as 72 passengers plus considerable cargo with a smooth motion that virtually eliminates seasickness.

Program Launched At Camp Kiowa

The new Explorer Program for the Boy Scouts of America has officially been launched at Camp Kiowa, where Explorer Trainers of the five districts of the Adobe Walls Council gathered to study the training techniques of the new program.

John Ayres, Paul Buchanan, Leonard McCloskey attended from Santa Fe District, and are preparing for the first training session for all Explorer leaders and Scouters to be held at Skellytown Public School Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The Training session will be titled "What Exploring Is and the New Look Into the New Program."

The next program was brought about in a nationwide survey to learn the dominant needs of teenage boys. Researchers have found that most young men were concerned with their future jobs and achieving success in some field. Very few had definite, concrete ideas of what their lifelong jobs should be. The young men called for more job information and for vocational help and exploration.

The New Exploring program, launched this fall by the Boy Scouts of America for high-school age boys, had as one of its principal objectives to help young men look to the future and prepare for it.

John Ayres chairman of the Exploring Training Committee of the Santa Fe District, said that many adults can make a contribution by sharing their experiences with Explorers.

Post activities include vocational exploration in several forms. One, known as the "Career Parade," helps Explorers work out the important problem of what to do for a living, whether it will be a specific job or a general field of work.

At a post meeting several men describe their occupations, and answer Explorer's questions about them. Each speaker describes his work and tells how to get a start in this field and the training and education needed. Also discussed are the potentials of both the occupation and opportunities for advancement and such factors as union membership, professional association, and government controls. On "Help Wanted Nights," Explorers are coached in applying for employment. Post commitments and Explorer aids serve as consultants. There are dramatizations on applying for jobs, personal interviews, and

Medical Science May Be In Process Of Reversing Itself

NEW YORK (UPI)—Medical science may be in the process of reversing itself on the use of vitamin "E" in treating spasms in the surface blood vessels of people's legs.

Nine years ago a medical scientist found this obscure vitamin relieved those spasms in a number of victims. This caused a medical stir because those spasms cause a painful lameness and can lead to such blood starvation in the legs they have to be amputated to avoid gangrene.

Other scientists tried out vitamin E in other victims. Some couldn't verify the hopeful results; others verified them only in part. Medical interest slipped. But now it has been revived with a bang. Results of a "blind test" strongly indicate the vitamin can end those spasms.

Half Get Blanks

The test was made by Drs. Peter D. Livingstone and Clifford Jones in 40 men who had had the spasms for years and some of whom were in a bad way in their legs as the result. Twenty of the 40 got vitamin E in heavy daily doses for 40 weeks. The other 20 got pills which looked exactly like the vitamin pills but were chemically blank.

Neither doctors nor patients knew which patients were getting the vitamin E until the end of the experiment when the identifying code was "broken." While the experiment was going on, every effort was made to spot the results, if any, as they appeared.

But that's hard. The victim felt the spasms if he has his weight on his legs, but the result of an individual spasm is not detectable by the doctor. The doctor sees only the damage continuing spasms do to blood vessels by breaking them down slowly.

So the men were required to walk up two steep steps and then turn and walk down them. This was done daily and they kept walking until the aching pain appeared, indicating spasm. In that science doesn't know — it is one of the many secrets of body chemistry science hopes to lay bare, with persistent striving

BUSINESS IS GROWING—That's a long waiting line for the barber's chair, and that's a lady barber, all right—but this is no barber shop. It's just the family recreation room of the John Wetzel home in the Cleveland, Ohio, suburb of Maple Heights. Here, every three weeks, Mrs. Wetzel assembles her eight children for their regular shearing. Johnny, 3, is the client in the center. Waiting patiently for their turns are, left to right: Donna, 5, Jeanette, 18 months, Gayle, 7, Marion, 4, Greg, 11; Larry, 9, and Gordon, 8. It all began when the third son was born, "I faced reality," Mrs. Wetzel says, "and a friend sent a gift of barber shears." Now she estimates that her barbering saves the family some $250 a year.

Ponca City Boys Admit Purse Nab

Four Ponca City boys, ages 13 and 16, admitted this morning at Ponca City, Okla., they snatched a purse from a Pampa woman Monday, Police Chief Jim Conner reported.

Ponca City Police Chief Don Thurber told Chief Conner the boys are being held on charges of car theft and will be handled by Ponca City juvenile authorities. Conner said that if the boys make restitution of the purse and contents (about $28) they will probably not be returned to Pampa.

Chief Thurber reported the boys also admitted stealing a set of 1958 Texas license plates in Pampa shortly after snatching the purse from a Pampa woman, Mrs. Joe Crane, 525 N. Cuyler. The plates were taken from a Pampa savage yard.

The purse-snatching occurred about noon Monday on Cuyler St. near Sunset Drive, Mrs. Crane said two of the boys came up behind her, one on each side. One took her purse and both ran to a waiting car.

Chief Thurber also reported the boys stole one car in Ponca City and another from near Ponca City before their arrest. They have been in similar trouble with the law previously, he said.

Thor Missile Destroyed Off Launching Pad

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—An intermediate range Thor missile twisted out of control a few hundred feet off the launching stand early today and was destroyed after only 20 seconds of flight.

Flery fragments showered the edge of the cape and the ocean, and ambulances and fire trucks raced to the impact area. No one was injured.

The stubby, cigar-shaped Thor, designed to hurl a hydrogen warhead at targets up to 1,500 miles away, blasted off at 2:52 a.m. C.S.T., but began tilting over too soon on its flight down the Atlantic tracking range.

Then, like an airplane "peeling off" into a dive, it began veering off to its left and at the same time turning on its back. It was at this point that the range safety officer flipped a switch to destroy the missile.

"A malfunction occurred approximately 30 seconds after liftoff and the missile was destroyed by the range safety officer," the Air Force said. It did not elaborate.

It was the fifth unsuccessful ballistic missile test in a row since the first all-the-way attempt with an intercontinental Atlas ended in explosion Sept. 18. Others that failed were two Polaris test rockets and an Army Jupiter.

DEATH

In addition to the right-to-work measure, two other controversial issues went down to defeat in an election which attracted the greatest turnout for a non-presidential year in the state's history. A measure to repeal the property tax exemption for parochial and private schools was soundly beaten as was a labor-backed proposition to cut the state sales tax but boost high-bracket income taxes.

SEATS

Besides the Senate gains in Connecticut and Ohio, the Democrats wrested two GOP seats in West Virginia and one each in California, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Nevada, New Jersey, and Utah. They took one in Maine in September.

Republicans elected 8 senators for an indicated membership of 34, counting their 26 holdovers.

In the House, Democrats had elected 272 members and led in 6 other contests for an indicated total of 278, compared with 219 needed to control. Republicans had elected 132 and led in 24 other races for an indicated total of 186.

An independent segregationist candidate in Arkansas was a Democratic incumbent in one un-settled contest.

Alaska elected two senators and a House member in its first election Nov. 25.

In gubernatorial races, Democrats won 22 and led in 3 others for an indicated total of 34, including their 9 holdovers. Republicans elected 6 and led in 2 other contests for an indicated total of 14. The present lineup of governors is 29 Democrats and 19 Republicans.

Along with their grand slam in Connecticut, Democrats unseated five Republican House members in Indiana. They gained three each in Maryland and Pennsylvania, including President Eisenhower's home district.

Nebraska, where Democrats have had a hard time for 20 years, elected two Democrats in its four-member House delegation. Rep. A. L. Miller, eight-term veteran and ranking Republican on the House Interior Committee was defeated.

Thye Loses Seat

Rep. Paul Cunningham, a nine-term member, was a GOP casualty in Iowa, where the Democrats re-elected their one incumbent House member and added two more.

In Minnesota, Republican Sen. Edward J. Thye lost his seat to Democratic Rep. Eugene J. McCarthy in another contest which indicated that the farm belt was still swinging away from, not toward, the GOP.

The results meant that President Eisenhower will be dealing with a Democratic Congress during his last two years in office, making a total of six years during the eight years of his administration that he has had an opposition party Congress.

Right-to-work propositions to outlaw union shop contacts were on the ballot in California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Ohio and Washington. Incomplete returns showed a majority voting for these proposals in Idaho and Kansas and against them in the other states.

Rockefeller's New York victory projected him inevitably into the 1960 picture as a potential candidate for the GOP presidential nomination and the only possible challenger now in sight for Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The course content included the philosophy of Girl Scouting, techniques of leadership, program resources and program skills.

Ariz.), one of the brightest new faces in the conservative wing of the GOP, had a fairly easy time defeating Gov. Ernest W. McFarland, who was Senate Democratic leader when he lost the same Senate seat to Goldwater in 1952.

In Nevada, Sen. George W. Malone, the two-term foe of the Republican trade program, was unseated by Democrat Howard W. Cannon.

Then the tide rolled into California and retired Knowland to private life.

In Michigan, Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams, another prospective presidential contender, won an unprecedented sixth term. His running mate, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, unseated Republican Sen. Charles A. Potter.

In the South, the GOP hung on to all seven of their seats, including two each in Virginia and Tennessee and one each in Texas, Florida and North Carolina.

Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

When John's father was a small boy, his mother called his hands his "bannies."

One day she was visiting his wife and son when John got a splinter in his palm. She removed it, put a medicated adhesive bandage over the wound saying, "Now your banny will feel good and comfy again."

Later after he'd retired to his nap, her daughter-in-law said stiffly, "Mother Payne, I wish you wouldn't talk baby talk to John. We don't believe in it. We are teaching him to use correct words for all parts of his body, not baby talk ones."

Today many parents share this scorn of baby talk to little children. As soon as a small boy or girl can speak, he is taught the scientific adult words for all portions of his anatomy as well as for the functions.

To hear them mouthing these clinical terms always reminds me of Charles Kingsley's "Tom-Toddies" — those poor little children whose parents stuffed their heads with so much grownup information that their heads turned into turnips, and burst like popguns.

Where did modern young parents get their scorn of baby talk? Well, many of the experts who write their child training books are passionate disciples of a school of psychology which regards tenderness as "goal-inhibited sexuality."

As baby talk to a little child is an expression of tenderness, I expect it comes under the same suspicion these people feel toward tenderness.

It seems a pity to me. For when we use some easily pronounced, baby word for some part of John's body or its function, we are meeting him on his own level of development. In warm and spontaneous understanding, we are accepting his two-year-old experience of his body and its uses as different from our adult experience of ours.

If this is "inhibited sexuality" in us, let's just put up with it. Whatever tenderness in little children surely need it. In a world that continually badgers them to be old before their time, they can use tenderness expressed by any kind of talk.

Heaven knows where we'll all end if nobody ever dares to speak in the other fellow's terms.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My wife gets me sore. When I ask her if she wants to go out she says she would love to, but she has nothing to wear. I go to her clothes closet and I see no less than thirty dresses hanging there and still she tells me she has nothing to wear! I buy one suit a year, and I have plenty to wear. What's the answer?

HACK DRIVER
DEAR DRIVER: Your wife means she has nothing NEW to wear. But this excuse is no longer legitimate because now the older a lady's dress is, the newer it looks.

DEAR ABBY: For almost two years I have been happily married to a wonderful man. His parents treat me like their own daughter, but this one thing bothers me. My husband was married and divorced before I met him. His mother has picture albums which she shows to everyone when she has company. There are many pictures of my husband and his wife in this album. Some are cheek-to-cheek on the beach in affectionate poses. This hurts me very much. My in-laws have no use for this woman now, so why do they keep her pictures in the book? About a year ago I asked my mother-in-law to remove the pictures and she said it would ruin her book. I think if she really loved me she would get rid of the pictures. Should I mention it again? It bothers me terribly.

MERRY OLD WIDOW
DEAR MERRY: Suggest to this gentleman that perhaps he should talk it over with his relatives if he is interested in their opinion. If you occupy separate quarters and behave like well-bred adults, there should be no cause for criticism.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LORRIE: The girl who is not too sure of herself lets a fellow become too sure of HER. Wait till he calls you.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a person who spends $120 on a reducing course for herself and refuses to help her own sister out with a loan for the grocery bill?

DISGUSTED
DEAR DISGUSTED: She must be penny wise and pound foolish.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 14, and I have the most terrible habit but I can't help it. I crack my knuckles. The teachers give me dirty looks, and sometimes my father will send me out of the room and my brother yells at me. I've tried hard to break this habit, but when they've got to be cracked, they've got to be cracked or I think I will go crazy. Please help me, Abby?

"KNUCKLE CRACKER"
DEAR K.C.: When you get the urge to "crack" your knuckles, say to yourself over and over, "I

RUTH MILLETT
Her husband died a year ago. And ever since his death her children have been trying to persuade her to sell her home and move in with one of them.
So far she has refused to give up her independence, but she feels a little guilty because she hates to have the children worry about her.
A little worry won't hurt the children. It won't hurt them nearly as much as giving up her independence would hurt her.
And, while trying to do the right thing, the children are bound to feel respect for her independent spirit and admiration for her courage in refusing to become dependent.
Furthermore, in holding on to her own home and her place in her community she is protecting her identity as a person.
She is insisting on remaining the person she has always been — instead of trading her independence to become just somebody's mother in somebody else's home.
It isn't always easy for an older woman to maintain her independence — especially when she has to buck the wishes of her well-meaning children to do it.
But in the end it is much easier than it would be for her to learn to adjust herself to the routine of another household — a household in which she is no longer "mistress."
And it is easier for an older woman to overcome loneliness than to adjust herself to living in the midst of a busy young family.
Children mean well when they try to get a lone parent to trade independence for dependence. But parents know best when they insist on being independent just as long as they can.

Shockers Seek Fifth Victory

Trice Says Squad Works Hard, Without Complaint

RIDING HIGH—Deck Woldt, left, Shocker assistant coach, and Weldon (Bird Dog) Trice, Shocker coach, are two of the three most fortunate football mentors in Pampa. Their B teamers have won three of their last four games, and will be gunning for their fifth victory of the season here Thursday night against Amarillo B.

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

"This is the hardest working bunch I've ever seen."
That was what Weldon (Bird Dog) Trice had to say about his football team, the Pampa B squad "Shockers."
The Shockers play their last home-night game of the season in Harvester Park Thursday, and they hope their hard work will pay off in their fifth win of the year, against Amarillo B.

Trice's gridders have won four ball games and lost three, and have hit the "30" mark in two of their four victories.

Much of their success probably is due to their courage and determination. "They never complain about the hardest work," said Trice, "and they can really hit. Some of them are small, but they tackle like big men."

A lot of courageous, hard-hitting teams have had the socks beaten off them, but not the Shockers. Their spirit is backed up by a versatile, hard-hitting offense and an adequate defense.

The Shockers have an offense just good enough, and a defense just erratic enough, to make every ball game they play an exciting one.

Varied Attack

In games so far, the Shockers have beaten Perryton 19-12, lost to Phillips 34-6, fallen before Borge 14-6, whipped Plainview 20-14, dropped a 28-6 decision to Lubbock, blanked Palo Duro 16-0, and routed Tascosa 38-14.

Their last three victories have all been on the road, and the Tascosa victory was the most one-sided triumph marked up by any Pampa football team this season. The Shockers, along with the Lee Junior High Rebels have the best won-loss record in town. They've used a three-edged sword in gaining this record — passing, power running, and end sweeps.

Quarterback Steve Dobbins has been doing most of the passing. He can throw short or long, and has tossed several for touchdowns and extra points. Ends Jim Wilburn and Bob Followell, and halfback Roy Don Stephens have been his favorite targets.

Halfback Billy Cooper also tosses an occasional pass, usually a quick one.

Power Runners

The Shockers have four good power runners — fullbacks Larry Taylor and Mack Taylor, and halfbacks Ruben Strickland and Stephens. They've made some good yardage on various power plays.

One of the big gainers has been the option play, on which Dobbins moves toward the end, then either keeps the ball and cuts downfield, or pitches to another back.

Trice named Dobbins and Taylor as his hardest runners. Stephens as his fastest. "We did have a couple of other fast backs," added Trice, "Sherrill Miller and Lucky Dunham. But they got a little too fast for us and went up to the varsity."

Dobbins and Stephens have been the Shockers' biggest scoring threats. Dobbins is the punter and kickoff man. Leroy Watson sometimes takes over the quarterback slot and Dobbins goes to halfback.

The Shockers lost a couple of good potential receivers and ball carriers when end Bill Byerly and fullback Jim Cruch were lost because of knee injuries.

Blockers, Defense

Paving the way for the B team ground game have been a group of fine blockers. Three of the best are center Alton Stokes, guard Charley Giese, and tackle Orvil Thornburg.

"We have several fine defensive men," said Trice. "Quite a few of them are great tacklers."

He named linebackers Giese and Larry Rexroat, corner linebacker Dickie Williams, middle guard Stephen French, and halfbacks Billy Cooper and Jimmy Storms.

Many of the positions on the squad are still "up for grabs" among the 37 players working out with Trice and his assistant coach, Deck Woldt.

Team Roster

The Shockers, with their positions and weights, are as follows: Quarterbacks Watson, 140; Dobbins, 155, and Wills, 130; fullbacks Larry Taylor, 145, Richard Brooks, 155, Mack Taylor, 155; halfbacks Jay Baker, 150, Ruben Strickland, 150, Billy Cooper, 125, James Walker, 135, Stephens, 135; Jimmy Storms, 135, John Shumaker, 145, Centers Alton Stokes, 155, Thomas Foster, 155, and Stephen French, 165; Guards John Carlson, 160, Bill Langley, 145, Jerrill Reed, 200, Lynn Schoolfield, 155, Jackie Bromiow, 190; Jimmy Crouch, 137, Charles Giese, 175, Terry Rexroat, 160.

Tackles Jack Carlson, 160; Lynn McGee, 175, Orvil Thornburg, 175, Jack Watson, 160; Ends John Grimley, 143, Frank Pryor, 140, Jim Wilburn, 150, Mike Moreman, 155, Mack Slippin, 147, Followell, 140; Jimmy Boyles, 140; Keith Cable, 145, and Bill Byerly, 140. Managers are Ralph Trice and Freddy Thuman.

Prospecting while wondering whatever happened to Briedy Murphy!

Babe Curfman, Duain Lyon and Eural Ramsey need not blush when they step to the pay window this week. Viewing the Harvesters latest heartbreak, 15-8, against Palo Duro, at last night's QB meeting here, it's obvious to see why the Babe can claim his club is 100 per cent improved since the start of the season. But the man is still disgruntled. He sez "a coach has to win to exist."

The late Red Sanders, UCLA straw-boss, said it: "Winning's not the important thing, it's the only thing." Jobless Homer Simmons, late of Amarillo High, knows this only too well. Curfman spoke with Homer long-distance Tuesday of last week, and was sadly told by the portly Simmons, "If I don't win this week, they'll run me out of town." They didn't wait that long. He was dropped from the payroll the next night.

Ed's Outa Jim's Dog-House

From Jones Ramsey, the sparkplug who doubles for sports publicity director at Texas A&M comes a note:
"We're glad to give credit where credit is due. Dudley (Pampa's Ed Dudley) provided the spark in our come-back win (33-27) over Baylor. It was his best game in five years at A&M."

It was Mr. Dudley, the black-headed bruiser who scored the Ags only TD in losing 21-8 to Arkansas last week, and flipped a pass for the two-point conversion, who guided the second platoon to a pair of quick scores in the last period against Baylor, throwing one TD pass.

Even when Charlie Milstead, the nation's total offense leader, and his shock-troop first liners reentered the conflict in the waning moments, it was a play given him by Dudley that snapped the Bruins' backbones.

Said Dudley to Milstead as the teams were exchanging places on the field:
"Charlie, if you fake the ends down on hooks, and send the fullback flanker down deep, I'll guarantee you it'll be a touchdown."
That's what happened. Milstead sent end John Tracey and Barney Smith down to feint the hook pass, and Luther Hall, on the flanker, went deep and took the pass with nary a soul 25 yards within reaching distance.

Clovis, Rex Are Ailing

Pampa's hard-luck and snake-bitten Harvesters received more bad news this week. Illness will probably keep Clovis Shipp, the fine senior fullback and defensive cog out of the lineup the rest of the season, and Rex Williams, a senior halfback and a starter last week, is bed-ridden with a bad boil on his leg. Ouch, again Mr. Curfman.

Bill Holmes at Texas Tech is booming E. J. Holub, 6-4, 210-pound sodb for All-America laurel wreaths. The former Tom S. Lubbock High slammer has already been voted two SWC linemen by the Dallas Morning News three times, including last week. Called "The Beast" it was this 20-year-old laddie who cracked Panhandle's Gene Bentley such a wallop the 225-pound guard spend three days chasing the nurses about a Lubbock hospital.

Yes, um, they're still fishing: R. J. Sallor and S. A. Hukill of Pampa reeled in 25 crappie and five black bass and Cleo Bolin snagged 20 sand bass at Possum Kingdom recently.

Lubbock Has Best Defense In District 3-4A

Pampa's Harvesters played their best game of the year last week against a strong defensive team, Palo Duro, and lost.

This week they face an even rougher defensive outfit — the Tom S. Lubbock Westerners. And to make matters worse, the game will be in Lubbock.

The Westerners have the best defensive record of any District 3-4A team, allowing only 79 points to seven opponents. In five of their seven games, Lubbock has allowed its foe only one touchdown.

Under a new coach, J. O. (Buddy) Brothers, the Westerners have won five games while losing two. They trounced Crozier Tech 28-6, fell to the Odessa Bronchos, 6-0, outscored Fort Worth Northside 23-21, edged Palo Duro 13-8, nipped Tascosa 13-6, lost to Borger 26-20, and defeated Plainview 15-6.

The three things responsible for this fine record, besides defense, are experience, depth, and coaching.

The Lubbock squad has eight returning regulars, seven of whom started on defense, and a total of 13 lettermen — all of whom saw considerable action last year.

In addition, several of last year's squadmen, and boys up from junior high and the B team, are almost as good as some of the regulars; so Brothers has no lack of capable substitutes.

Brothers is considered one of the top high school coaches in the state. He was good enough to hold the head coaching job at Tulsa University from 1946 until 1953. Darrell Royal of Texas and Jack Mitchell of Kansas both served under Brothers at Tulsa.

Taking over from Wilford Moore, who is now coaching at Port Neches, Brothers has guided his squad to as many victories in seven games as the Westerners won all last season. Lubbock's 1957 record was 5-4-1.

Lubbock is second to Borger in District play, with a 3-1 record, and is the only team with even an outside chance of beating the Bulldogs for the district title.

The Westerners are especially strong at quarterback, with three returning lettermen — Darwin Hilliard, Ben Fralin, and Akie Sanders.

They have at least one letterman for every other position, except one halfback post, Richard Fifer is the only returnee there.

Returning regulars from the 1957 squad are Jerry Parson, 195, and Larry Jones, 160; fullback Coolidge Hunt, 197 (a converted end); guards Jackie Nichols, 165, and Ted Jackson, 180; halfback Fifer, 150; quarterback Hilliard, 150, and tackle Jesse Headley, 195.

Other returning lettermen are quarterbacks Fralin, 145, and Sanders, 155; tackle Bob Hall, 160; center Allen Stapleton, 175, and fullback Gary Milburn, 160.

All of the regulars, except Jackson, started on defense. All except Jones, Parson, and Nichols started on offense.

Parsons, though not a starter last year, saw enough action to become the club's leading pass receiver. A 175-pound squadman, Lew Bullion, saw quite a bit of action at the tackle slot, although he didn't letter.

How Production Is Divided

The American Economic Foundation, headed by Fred G. Clark and Richard Stanton Rimanoczy, has issued a small tract under the heading of "The Economic Facts of Life" or "Who Gets How Much For Doing What in America's 100 Largest Corporations."

Here are the facts and figures that they reproduce as a summary prepared each year by the First National City Bank of New York: "Last year the 100 largest U. S. corporations, employing about 6,200,000 people, did about $124,000,000,000 of business, using about $148,000,000,000 worth of tools."

The tools in use amounted to about $24,000 per employee. "The payroll and benefits amounted to about $5,660 per employee. "The tools performed more than 85 per cent of the work done."

The dividends paid out to the owners of the tools amounted to about $900 per employee (about 3.7 per cent of the value of the tools). "The earnings 'ploughed back' into the business amounted to about $640 per employee."

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is breaking some distressing news to the three military services. He is limiting their spending in the next budget to $42 billion.

That is $3 billion less than the Army, Navy and Air Force are proposing for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1959.

Currently they are spending at the rate of $40.8 billion a year. The President would increase that by 1.2 billion. But the armed forces contend this is inadequate, and that a spending ceiling of $45 billion is necessary to avert serious curtailments.

This White House - Pentagon budgetary difference is certain to have stormy reverberations in the new Congress that convenes January 7.

In fact, the powerful House Armed Services Committee already is evincing critical interest in this backstage controversy. Representative Carl Vinson (D., Ga.)

Ike Will Limit Military Spending

Looking Sideways

By Whitney Bolton

NEW YORK — It is a little early to alert you to Christmas, but because you may be struck in the next several weeks for ideas I thought it would be helpful to tell you a few of the little knickknacks showing up in New York shops.

A jeweler of renown has a charming little bedside clock in a solid gold case with gold hands and figures and authentic jewels scattered over it like stardust in a moonbeam's path.

There is a sort of jangle rash going on this season and I even have seen sleeping boards, those plywood things that go between mattress and box spring to firm the bed up for better sleeping.

In the fur department, I like mink breakfast jackets at $900 to $1,400, depending on the mutation; pink fly swatters and girls' bellie cable egg warmers and charmingly inventive little household articles like that.

If your wife loves jewels, let me suggest a modest, clean-cut, unobtrusive little necklace of diamonds I saw the other day in a window. It was $25,000, plus Federal tax, and as a bonus an item of small jewelry as I've run across in years.

There will be one or two further reports between now and Christmas, but this will get you off to a modest little start.

Fair Enough

Chennault Fought Cancer Til The End

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — Patriots with unblinking respect for the bravery of a hero may enjoy a letter written by Lieut. Gen. Clair Chennault, who, knowing that he was taking with cancer in his lungs, insisted, nevertheless, that death could not conquer him.

Having read that General Chennault was sick unto death a hero had been, in effect, abandoned by some doctors, I composed a note of respect and sympathy and shot it into the air in the general direction of New Orleans where he was walled up for one of his more and more frequent inspections.

"Dear Peg," he said. "Your letter was batted around for several weeks during my return from Formosa and visits to the Ochsner Hospital, New Orleans, to New York on business and, finally, to Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, for treatment. This explains the delay in my reply."

I had referred to pessimistic reports on his condition and of these ominous items in the papers, he now said: "Anything you read which quoted me as saying that I had no recourse or further hope in this fight with lung cancer was a greatly magnified misstatement."

"I also visited the Lahey Clinic at the New England Baptist Hospital in October 1937 but they held out very little hope and did not offer to give me treatment.

"I am glad to know that you are still fighting the enemy and I look forward to reading your work for many more years. I hope you are feeling much better."

That's why the President is prescribing a specific defense spending ceiling for the coming fiscal year. Regardless of how much money the new Congress may vote the armed services, he proposes to limit their overall expenditures to $42 billion.

This is being done, Pentagon chiefs have been told, to "do everything reasonably possible to achieve a balanced budget by 1960."

THE DISSENTERS — In preliminary reports to Representative Vinson's Committee, the military services list a number of slashes that will result from the President's proposed spending ceiling.

Army — Strength reduced by another 20,000 below the $70,000 level set for next June 30.

Navy — "Pilot training will be cut from 3,100 pilots per year to 2,100, or approximately 33 1-3 per cent."

Air Force — Practically similar pilot training slash. Also around $800,000,000 in continental defense measures; such as new radar outposts, latest model interceptor planes, missile installations.

Home Is Still Where The Heart Is Though!

By HENRY McLEMORE

A man's home is his castle. Once inside it he's the king and all that sort of fabled, but when the National Association of Home Builders wanted to find out what was wrong with houses now being built, please notice whom they invited to Washington to tell them.

Women! Scores of them! From 35 States. Not a man was invited. Not a husband was in sight. Males weren't even asked to send in suggestions by postcard.

The women in Washington naturally made suggestions that would make a house easier for them to manage. Women who can't back up a car — and try to name one who can't — wanted garages with doors at both ends. They all wanted more closet space. Closet space is a phobia with wives, and they won't be satisfied until someone builds nothing but a closet on a lot, puts a chimney on top, and calls it a home.

Quite a few of the ladies wanted houses to have dressing rooms, but not one suggested an undressing room, the addition of which would please a lot of men.

By an undressing room, I mean one in which a man could undress as he pleased, with no wife standing by like a top sergeant to tell him what to do with his clothes.

There would be a chair, or a couch, plainly marked, "For Coats," and there would be a shallow indentation in the floor to hold socks. There also would be a decorative bucket by the side of the bed for kicked off shoes.

This sort of a room would please a husband much more than a 50-by-30 laundry room, or a sewing room in which they could place personal belongings and know they would stay there were placed.

A "No Tidy Up" room. Old envelopes which don't look important but are would be safe in this room. So would old but comfortable shirts. So would odd cuff links, scraps of paper with names and addresses on them, and loose cigarettes.

This room would be fitted electronically so that if a wife touched anything for the purpose of tidying up she would get a shock, and a large red M (for Medder) would be stamped on her forehead.

Let no man hang by his thumbs until such rooms are added. A husband still has the right to carry his bride across the threshold, but once inside she'd better like the floor plan, or he is in for it!

PLACEMENT SERVICE GASTONIA, N. C. (UPI)—Joe Westbrook, a Negro, told why he was sitting in city court, he was looking for a job.

"I came up here to see who Judge (Verne) Shive sends to the roads and then I can get that man's job," Westbrook told officers.

The Doctor Says:

Dr. Edwin P. Jordan

Every year I am deluged with letters from readers who suffer from sinus trouble. Many of them are pathetic indeed and give a long history of attempts to overcome this difficulty with little or no success.

One such letter recently received is fairly typical. The writer says he has had severe sinus pains for many years. Twenty years ago she had an operation on the right side and now she is told she needs it on the left.

The first, she says, was very painful and she does not want to go through the experience again. She has had many kinds of treatment, but without success. Now she wishes to know what can be done, if anything.

LITTLE LIZ

Some girls want a man with a future and others just want a future with a man.

It is possible that this alone may be a source of pain. Probably most students of the subject feel that surgery offers the best chance of permanent relief, though efforts to avoid irritating substances in the atmosphere and irrigation with drugs have some measure of success.

In spite of all the medical measures which are available, a large number of victims of chronic sinusitis continue with their suffering. They frequently ask whether a change of climate would bring them relief — a difficult question indeed.

places would be happy to supply specific information on climate. In some areas, particularly those of high altitude, there is considerable fluctuation between day and night temperature and the air is too dry to be satisfactory for some sinus sufferers. I know of some who become worse in such areas.

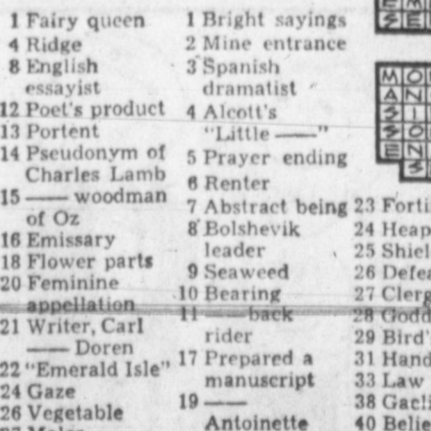

When a person with sinusitis wishes to consider a change of residence it is best to try the new climate for several weeks or months before making a final decision. Although the climate of the northern sections of the continent is not good for sinus sufferers, what climate is best for the individual has to be chosen by trial and error, a choice that is both difficult and costly.

Watchit, Those Cocktails May Bring On Big Case Of Amnesia

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—All persons concerned about their inability to remember what happened at cocktail parties (and they must number a majority of persons who go to them), can put their worries at rest on the word of a scientific authority on the odd ins and outs of human behavior. It's not simple forgetfulness, he agreed, but pure amnesia which is a complete loss of memory. Rather than meaning a mental cog has slipped out of place, however, it most likely means the amnesia "victim" doesn't care to be aware of or to associate himself with cocktail party goings-on.

Dr. Chandler Washburne of the University of Florida, Gainesville, was arguing that pure amnesia (although not amnesia due to any illness), is common among people who drink a number of drinks, or no drinks at all. Based on Awareness, he said, is based first on all awareness—awareness of one's self in relation to people and circumstances. Awareness depends upon two things: One is to feel associated with the people and the circumstances and the other is to pay attention to them.

Washburne reasoned that no person can remember something of which he was not aware, even if it happened under his nose. And he can't be aware of anything unless he pays attention to it and unless he also feels associated with it, for one reason or another. Unawareness with inattention and disassociation goes on all the time among the soberest.

Since alcohol depresses body activities, Washburne reasoned it must depress the hidden "drives and motivations" of people as well. A theory held by some scientists as well as most laymen is that people do things while intoxicated they'd never do while sober because the mind's suppressing control over these drives and motivations is "dissolved by alcohol."

He thought it much more likely that alcohol decreases the drinker's awareness of himself and his association of himself with circumstances and people. What happens is not that he stops "controlling" himself but he stops "monitoring" himself. Amnesia results from this lack of attention and that is the meaning of alcoholic memory loss. Rather than the drinker having disgraced himself so horribly, amnesia protects him from the memory of it.

"Intoxicated people not only do unimpaired or self-forbidden things, but also just plain stupid or unforeseen things," he said in the technical journal of the Yale University center of studies on alcohol. "The trained user of

Science Says Fear Can Squeeze The Heart And Produce A Faint

By DELOS SMITH UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Science has produced evidence that a strong emotion like fear can squeeze the heart and thus cause a faint. The scientists who produced it spoke especially of brides and grooms who faint on the altar steps.

Emotion Can Do It The faint has scientific fascination. Often emotion alone sets off the dramatic physical event — a person collapses, unconscious. If people's minds and bodies were less tightly tied together, that kind of faint would never happen.

Prof. E. P. Sharpey-Schafer and his associates, C. J. Hayter and E. D. Harlow, began their investigation with the established physical fact of the faint—there is a sudden drop in blood pressure. This pressure is created by the resistance of surface blood vessels to the output strokes of the heart.

Comes The Fall By measurements of blood flow fearful in men about to lose teeth, they established that the contracting or squeezing phase of the heart beat was greatly intensified. At the same time, blood vessels were enlarged, offering less resistance to a more powerful heart stroke.

Newman Isn't Any Brando, & Vice-Versa If You Don't Mind By VERNON SCOTT UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Quickest way to raise the hackles on Paul Newman is to liken him to Marlon Brando, a comparison which doesn't sit well with Marlon, either.

TREED — When the average Hollywood star gets temperamental, he or she merely walks off the set. But Susan, a 275-pound black bear, climbed a tree. The rest of the cast of the "Bat Master" TV series took a couple of hours to get her down to work on location at Charlton Flats, Calif.

Gleason-Godfrey Chinning Has Real Striking-Power

By WILLIAM EWALD United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — This week, two of TV's more explosive tenants, Jackie Gleason and Arthur Godfrey, are engaging in a tilt of words that I recommend highly.

Godfrey and Gleason met for the first round of chinning Monday and I must say I found it pretty fascinating. It was a little like watching two cobras weaving around in their baskets and wondering where they'd pounce next.

cause: "I had to quit cigarettes. They made me sick."

The pair went on to take a gentle and rather patronizing side-swipe at Julius LaRosa, to talk about Gleason's start in show business and actors' egos.

Short Shots: Eli Wallich threaded a skillful performance Monday night through a spongy drama, "My Father, The Fool," on CBS-TV's "Desilu Playhouse."

all the show — Paar's first from Hollywood — struck me as a little stiff and uncomfortable.

The Channel Swim: "Pack's Bad Girl" with Patty McCormack is again a hot contender for a CBS-TV berth.

Sid Caesar racked up a 25.3 Trendex Sunday night on his NBC-TV hour, outpacing all of his CBS-TV and NBC-TV opposition.
