

Airliner Collides With Jet Fighter

Loss Of Life High In Italy Disaster

ANZIO, Italy (UPI)—A British European Airways Viscount airliner with 30 or 31 persons aboard collided in the air with an Italian air force jet fighter today and plunged to earth with one wing sheared off.

"There is practically no hope for survivors," a BEA spokesman said.

The Italian pilot parachuted into the sea off this World War II beachhead battle area and was rescued.

A BEA spokesman at Naples said the plane carried 25 passengers and a crew of five. BEA headquarters in London said it carried 26 passengers and a crew of five.

BEA did not release a passenger list immediately, but an airline official in London said "a number of journalists were aboard."

The London Daily Sketch said three of its reporters and 22-year-old model Jane Buckingham were among the passengers.

Police said the force of the collision about 23,000 feet above the coast clipped off the British airliner's left wing and the plane plummeted.

A Nettuno public security agent said that after the collision, an explosion rocked the airliner and it plunged to earth with a force so great that it was shattered into pieces no more than a yard across.

Part of the wreckage landed in the restricted area of the Italian artillery range.

The Italian news agency Italia said an Italian civilian was believed killed by falling wreckage.

Capt. Giovanni Savorelli, pilot of the Italian jet, parachuted into the sea, where he was picked up by a motorboat at Nettuno Hospital. It was reported he was not injured but was suffering from shock and could make no statement.

Airport control towers at Rome and Naples said the collision was so sudden that neither pilot had time to radio any message.

One police source said a male passenger had been found alive in the wreckage, but died en route to a hospital.

Miss Buckingham had been the constant dancing partner of Prince Shiv of Palitana until 11 days ago, when he met actress Eva Bartok. The actress, who had been dating the British manager of Milford Haven, a town on a road through her press agents Tuesday said she planned to marry Prince Shiv.

But Miss Buckingham, angered over the development, was reported to have accused the rich Indian of leading her "up the garden path." In a reference to Eva, Jane warned: "I'm telling her once again that I won't let her have my man."

She may have been on her way to Italy to try to straighten out the situation when the BEA plane on which she was a passenger crashed. Prince Shiv was reported en route to Naples to tell his father about his engagement to Miss Bartok. Eva reported in London that the price had an accident Tuesday as he drove across France.

Private School Opens Classes In Little Rock

By JOHN HASLAM
United Press International

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Segregated classes opened in private school today for Little Rock high school seniors who have been scholastically idle for eight weeks.

More than 230 students from the city's three white high schools went to their classrooms in an old University of Arkansas building bought by an Arkansas businessman and leased to the Little Rock Private School Corp.

The students were given their assignments and schedules and began their first day's work.

The school is supported by public contributions.

Private school officials said 231 students had registered through Monday, and 10 or 15 more Tuesday. They did not have the exact figure early today.

A Baptist school will have its final day of enrollment today.

W. C. Brashears, superintendent of the private school, said junior students would enroll at 2:30 p.m. today and sophomores would sign-up at the same time Thursday. Brashears said he had "no idea" how many students to expect in the two lower grades.

November 1st Deadline
Brashears said he did not know when classes for the sophomores and juniors could start but hoped they could begin by Nov. 1. That is the "point of no return" after which school officials say the eight weeks missed so far can't be made up.

Gov. Orval Faubus ordered the schools closed before the fall term opening to prevent them from being integrated. He blamed the federal government for keeping them closed.

Another private school system, sponsored by the Ouachita Baptist College of Arkadelphia, Ark., has enrolled 472 students. Classes in three Baptist churches start next Monday.

Dr. J. W. Candy, principal, said he expected about 25 more students at today's final enrollment session.

Teacher Supply Problem
The locating of enough teachers remained the chief problem for both the Baptist school and the private school corporation.

"I think we've done very well up to now," said Brashears. "But this time of year, it's next to impossible to find teachers."

He said that when classes for juniors and sophomores could start would be when the corporation finds more teachers. None has been hired for the lower grades.

"But I have five or six on a standby basis," Brashears said.

Bomb Found Near Atlanta High School

By LEON BURNETT
United Press International

ATLANTA (UPI)—The finding of a dynamite charge similar to that used to blast a Jewish temple here Oct. 5, lent added urgency today to investigation of recent racist bombings in the South.

Richard E. Pounds found the bomb Tuesday in a patch of weeds less than three blocks from a white high school just north of Atlanta. Officers said the slightest jar could have touched off an explosion.

Demolition experts of the Federal Bureau of Investigation removed the package of 20 dynamite sticks, fuses and caps to a powder company's magazine. Authorities sealed off the area where the charge was discovered.

Officers said in their opinion the charge was similar to one used to blast a Jewish temple. Five men have been indicted in connection with the bombing and authorities are attempting to tie it in with similar incidents in other Southern cities.

Bond hearings were scheduled today for the five men, who have been without privilege of bail since a grand jury indicted them last week. They are charged under a law carrying the maximum penalty of death.

Police said they had a report that a 1950 model car was seen recently in the area where the bomb was found. Plaster casts were made of tire tracks found there.

Clyde Dickerson, general campaign chairman, anticipates a highly successful campaign by the Art and Civic, women judging by their accomplishments in past United Fund drives.

Today the United Fund achievement totalled $18,591.50. A hundred and eighty dollars of this was mailed in from Lefors. Campaigners gained on Tuesday a figure of $653, Tuesday the Fund had reached $17,938.50.

Dickerson said that the Lefors Lions Club, headed by Boyd Beck, president, will carry the campaign to the outlying areas and oil companies and other industries of Lefors.

Pen Women meetings are held quarterly in all-day sessions in January, April, August and October at the Amarillo County Club on the third Tuesday of those months. Workshops comprise the morning sessions, during which the works of members are read and criticized. Following luncheon, outstanding guest speakers are presented and winners in the morning competition are announced and cash prizes awarded. Miss Huff placed third in yesterday's competition with her "Cowhand Firefighters."

Mrs. Eleanor Phillips of Amarillo, successful play and television writer, was Tuesday's guest speaker with a presentation of requirements for this field of creative work and shared with pen women some of her experiences in gaining recognition.

DULLES SAYS US Navy Convoys May Be Resumed

By ALBERT E. KAFF
United Press International

TAIPEI (UPI)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles reassured President Chiang Kai-shek today the U.S. Navy would resume its Quemoys convoys if necessary, but they reached no other major agreements, an American spokesman said.

Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state, appeared before a news conference shortly after the talks ended. He denied rumors a "rift" had developed between Chiang and Dulles and said "their talks have been completely friendly."

Communist China said today a U.S. "strategic reconnaissance plane" flew over the China mainland today on a high-altitude flight and issued its 29th "serious warning" against U.S. intrusions into Red sea and air space. A 38th warning earlier today said

two U.S. warships entered Chinese waters.

A Peiping broadcast said the alleged flight was a "criminal action which gravely violates the sovereignty of our country and is a deliberate war provocation."

Give Convoy Pledge
At the same time the Moscow newspaper "Soviet Russia" accused Dulles of "crude interference" in Chinese internal affairs and said nothing he did could prevent the eventual downfall of the Chiang regime and the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Formosa.

It said Dulles' "diplomatic descent only adds to the aggression committed by the United States naval and air forces."

Robertson said the Nationalists asked for a convoy pledge when the Dulles-Chiang talks opened and "we have reassured them."

"When it is considered by military authorities to be necessary to resume convoys, they will be resumed," Robertson said. "It is entirely within the authority of military officials."

Vice Adm. Roland N. Smoot, commander of the U.S. Taiwan (Formosa) Defense Command, said which controls the naval escort vessels, said convoy operations have not been resumed but that the Taiwan Defense Command was "ready and prepared to do so if military necessity requires it."

Reds Shell Islands
Robertson also was asked if the question of demilitarizing the offshore islands was brought up in the three talks held so far by Dulles and Chiang. He replied, "If that subject was raised I did not hear it."

While Dulles was meeting Chiang for 45 minutes today the Communists hurled 2,453 high explosive shells at the Quemoys islands (See U.S. NAVY, Page 8)

Shoplifter Given 6-Months Sentence

Pampa police officers arrested Corbin Tuesday morning at Levine's Department Store after a clerk noticed him leave the store with two pairs of pants under his coat. The pants were valued at about $13.

FBI Probes Buddliner's Derailment

By ROBERT E. DALLOS
United Press International

METHUEN, Mass. (UPI)—The FBI early today began an "inquiry" into reports that the Boston & Maine's "Rockingham Special" which jumped the tracks Tuesday night, was deliberately derailed.

The report was made by police and railroad officials shortly after the accident which injured more than a score of persons, 14 of whom required hospitalization. All but four were released early today and those who remained were in "good" condition.

The slow moving two-car Buddliner, carrying 47 persons from night harness racing at Rockingham Race Track in Salem, N. H., went off the main track in the center of the community and plowed into the first of two unloaded grain cars parked on a siding.

A Buddliner is a single-unit railroad car used primarily for commuter purposes. It may be operated from either end. Several units may be connected together to form a train.

George Hill, public relations director for the railroad, said a lock had been "removed from a switch and the switch tampered with sometime after the train had got through on its way to Rockingham Race Track in the evening." This threw the train onto the siding where the freight cars were parked.

He explained that the line was used only by the special race track train and freight service.

Hill said the broken lock was found on the ground next to the switch.

Willis G. Lyman, superintendent of the B & M police, said he believed the wreck was caused by juveniles.

Mrs. R. H. Barron, City secretary, has volunteered her office in the Civic Center as headquarters for all United Fund workers. The 22 women of the Art and Civic Club and eight Lions Club members, who will be working in the United Fund, can leave the money and pledges with Mrs. Barron.

LEFORS ORGANIZES FOR BIG UF PUSH

The Lefors division of the United Fund Campaign got underway Tuesday evening at the Art and Civic Club meeting.

Mrs. C. H. Guston, president, organized the members of the club into the Lefors downtown division. Beginning today, members will begin their solicitation for the Pampa-Lefors United Fund.

Clyde Dickerson, general campaign chairman, anticipates a highly successful campaign by the Art and Civic women judging by their accomplishments in past United Fund drives.

Today the United Fund achievement totalled $18,591.50. A hundred and eighty dollars of this was mailed in from Lefors. Campaigners gained on Tuesday a figure by $653. Tuesday the Fund had reached $17,938.50.

Dickerson said that the Lefors Lions Club, headed by Boyd Beck, president, will carry the campaign to the outlying areas and oil companies and other industries of Lefors.

Mrs. R. H. Barron, City secretary, has volunteered her office in the Civic Center as headquarters for all United Fund workers.

The 22 women of the Art and Civic Club and eight Lions Club members, who will be working in the United Fund, can leave the money and pledges with Mrs. Barron.

Art and Civic members received their solicitation cards at the Club meeting Tuesday. Before the kickoff, Patrolman Cecil L. McNeil, of the Texas Department of Public Safety, presented a program on safe driving practices complete with the film "Chain Reaction," narrated by Bob Hope.

The drivers education class of Lefors High School was guests at the Club for this special occasion.

Shoplifter Given 6-Months Sentence

A transient laborer, James Wesley Corbin, 57, entered a plea of guilty to shoplifting today in county court and was sentenced to six months in county jail.

Corbin, who has a lengthy record of convictions for numerous felonies, had been arrested in Pampa once before, in 1954, for theft.

Pampa police officers arrested Corbin Tuesday morning at Levine's Department Store after a clerk noticed him leave the store with two pairs of pants under his coat. The pants were valued at about $13.

Lorene Locke Named Pen Women President

By DORIS WILSON
Daily News Women's Editor

Mrs. Lorene Locke, 1123 Mary Ellen, was named president of the Penhandle Pen Women at its quarterly meeting held Tuesday in the Amarillo Country Club. Mrs. Lorene, who will be installed at the January meeting, will head the organization of professional writers, which began in this area in Feb. 1920 and now has a roster of 80 professional writers from the Texas Panhandle, Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Colorado.

Pampa Penwomen, in addition to Mrs. Locke are Macie Pickett, who was elected fourth vice president at the meeting yesterday, Helene Huff, Evelyn Nace, Marcella Hudson, Ann Breining, Eleanor Wagoner and Wanda Campbell.

Mrs. Locke began her writing career in 1936 with an article which won first prize in a contest sponsored by the Daily News for the best historical article concerning this area. Since that time, she has written feature articles on hobbies in addition to historical features. She is now working on a book about women whose hobbies have grown into money. At one time, she was employed as area news correspondent for the Fort Worth Star Telegram, Amarillo Globe News and the Daily News, as correspondent from Miami.

Mrs. Locke is now finishing her sixth year as Merchant Hostess in Pampa; is the current chairman of Constitution and By-Laws of the Altruism Club; critic for the Twentieth-Century Club; has a leave of absence from the Business and Professional Women's Club; and is volunteer chairman for the Red Cross.

To qualify for membership, Pen Women must have articles accepted for publication for which they have been paid; associate memberships of practicing writers are accepted, but they must qualify with paid published material within two years.

Pen Women meetings are held quarterly in all-day sessions in January, April, August and October at the Amarillo Country Club on the third Tuesday of those months. Workshops comprise the morning sessions, during which the works of members are read and criticized. Following luncheon, outstanding guest speakers are presented and winners in the morning competition are announced and cash prizes awarded. Miss Huff placed third in yesterday's competition with her "Cowhand Firefighters."

Mrs. Eleanor Phillips of Amarillo, successful play and television writer, was Tuesday's guest speaker with a presentation of requirements for this field of creative work and shared with pen women some of her experiences in gaining recognition.

To serve with Mrs. Locke during her term of office are Mrs. Basile Patterson of Hereford, first vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Lucy Ann Clawson, Amarillo, (See LOCKE, Page 8)

C-C Banquet, A Sell Out

"The annual membership banquet is sold out," E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, exclaimed today. Four hundred and fifty $2.50 tickets have been sold for the Chamber's annual membership banquet Oct. 30.

Dr. Kenneth McFarland, consultant for the General Motors Corporation, will come here from Topeka, Kan. to speak at the banquet and Mary Nell Hendricks, Miss Texas of 1958, will come from Arlington to sing.

Although the banquet is sold out, Wedgeworth invites persons to call the CC office to get first chance at cancellations. Their names will go on a preferred waiting list and they will be called as cancellations come up.

COP'S WIFE GUNS DOWN HUSBAND, 2 KIDS, SELF

By CARL SOTO
United Press International

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI)—Two officers checking Tuesday night to see why Patrolman Edward J. Biddeman, 36, failed to report for duty, found all four members of his family shot to death.

Six bullets fired by Biddeman's wife, Mildred, 36, from his .38 caliber service revolver wiped out what neighbors said was a quiet, home-loving family.

Biddeman and two children, Edward Jr., 5, and Maureen, 3, were found in bed. Mrs. Biddeman, who had saved the last bullet for herself, lay dead on the kitchen floor in her nightgown and pink housecoat.

Detective Chief John J. Whalen said Mrs. Biddeman, who had suffered a nervous breakdown early this year following the death of her father, apparently went berserk in the tidily kept dwelling about 2 a.m. Tuesday.

Whalen theorized the woman slipped out of bed while the rest of the household slept and went to a closet to remove the revolver from where it hung in a holster-belt. She then returned to the bedroom, shot her husband in the head and killed her children by shooting each twice in the head.

Medical Examiner James F. Benedict called it a case of homicide and suicide.

DULLES SAYS US Navy Convoys May Be Resumed

By ALBERT E. KAFF
United Press International

TAIPEI (UPI)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles reassured President Chiang Kai-shek today the U.S. Navy would resume its Quemoy convoys if necessary, but they reached no other major agreements, an American spokesman said.

Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state, appeared before a news conference shortly after the talks ended. He denied rumors a "rift" had developed between Chiang and Dulles and said "their talks have been completely friendly."

Communist China said today a U.S. "strategic reconnaissance plane" flew over the China mainland today on a high-altitude flight and issued its 29th "serious warning" against U.S. intrusions into Red sea and air space. A 38th warning earlier today said

two U.S. warships entered Chinese waters.

A Peiping broadcast said the alleged flight was a "criminal action which gravely violates the sovereignty of our country and is a deliberate war provocation."

Give Convoy Pledge
At the same time the Moscow newspaper "Soviet Russia" accused Dulles of "crude interference" in Chinese internal affairs and said nothing he did could prevent the eventual downfall of the Chiang regime and the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Formosa.

It said Dulles' "diplomatic descent only adds to the aggression committed by the United States naval and air forces."

Robertson said the Nationalists asked for a convoy pledge when the Dulles-Chiang talks opened and "we have reassured them."

"When it is considered by military authorities to be necessary to resume convoys, they will be resumed," Robertson said. "It is entirely within the authority of military officials."

Vice Adm. Roland N. Smoot, commander of the U.S. Taiwan (Formosa) Defense Command which controls the naval escort vessels, said convoy operations have not been resumed but that the Taiwan Defense Command was "ready and prepared to do so if military necessity requires it."

Reds Shell Islands
Robertson also was asked if the question of demilitarizing the offshore islands was brought up by Dulles and Chiang. He replied, "If that subject was raised I did not hear it."

While Dulles was meeting Chiang for 45 minutes today the Communists hurled 2,453 high explosive shells at the Quemoy Islands.

Crisis In Morocco Is Threatening

PARIS (UPI)—Morocco's worst government crisis since the nation gained its independence two and a half years ago is threatening to topple its government of Premier Ahmed Balafrej, reports reaching here said today.

Balafrej and his government have been in almost continual session with King Mohammed V since Sunday.

Reports from Rabat have made no mention of the current crisis, but informed sources here said an ultimatum has been handed to Balafrej—demanding that he resign or face the threat of an armed uprising.

Cause of the trouble, the sources said, is the Istiqlal Party's monopoly of government jobs. Other political factions feel they should have a say in the government, and their demands have crystallized into a "Balafrej must go" movement.

According to unconfirmed reports reaching here, the leader of the anti-Balafrej movement is Ben Meloudi, a former anti-French guerrilla.

Meloudi has a force of several thousand guerrillas ready for action in the wild Rif Mountains and has warned Balafrej that unless he broadens his government and releases three guerrilla leaders now under arrest his men will "begin operations," the reports said.

Some minor clashes between the Guerrillas and Moroccan troops have already taken place, the reports added, and many desertions to the rebel cause from the army have been reported.

ike's Speech To Be Broadcast

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The White House has announced that President Eisenhower's speech Wednesday night will be broadcast nationally by radio—the chief executive's first nationwide political speech in his current effort to stop up the Republican congressional campaign.

The President's speech in Chicago originally was scheduled only as a regional affair beamed at the Middle West, as have been his appearances in Iowa and California.

Shortly after the President's arrival here for two campaign appearances today, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said—in conjunction with the Republican National Committee and the National Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon 1958

Committee—the White House had decided to put Eisenhower on the air from coast to coast.

This meant two things—that the Republicans were pleased with the reaction to the chief executive's rough-and-tough tactics against the Democrats in Los Angeles Monday night, and second, that cash contributions were improving.

Eisenhower arrives in Chicago late tonight and will undertake a heavy political schedule in the Windy City Wednesday.

His nationwide speech was scheduled for 8:30 p.m. c.d.t. from the Stockyard Arena before a "live" audience of Republican precinct workers.

Instruments Lauded For Sub's Success

CHICAGO (UPI)—Cmdr. Richard F. Dobbins, chief medical officer of the atomic submarine Nautilus, said the vessel's successful voyage under the North Pole was due in large part to perfect functioning of its navigational instruments.

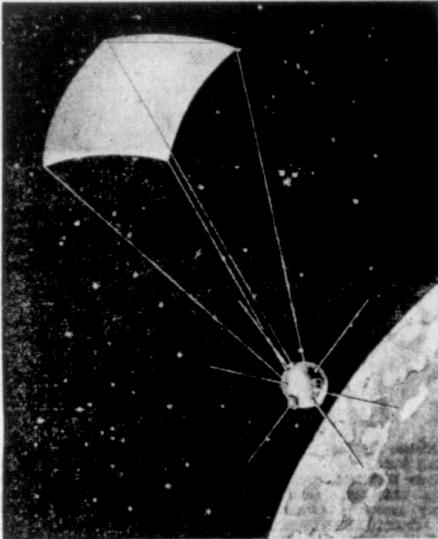

Dobbins spoke Monday at the annual meeting of the Inland Daily Press Assn.

The naval officer said during the 8,000-mile cruise from Pearl Harbor to Portland, England, there was danger that instruments would be affected by magnetism at the pole.

This would have resulted in "longitudinal roulette," he said, and the sub could have become lost under the polar ice cap indefinitely.

The crew had all the comforts of home during the long cruise, including a daily newspaper, Dobbins said. He said there was a count-down of tenshs of miles when the Nautilus approached the pole, and when it was reached on Aug. 3 the crew was "tremendously proud rather than wildly exuberant."

SOLAR SAILS IN THE SUNSET—Space travelers of tomorrow may well be "sailors." One scientist has proposed the use of "radiation pressure" sails as a means of getting around the problem of transporting bulky and heavy chemical fuels on long "space" journeys. Drawing above pictures this idea, the brainchild of General Electric engineer Norman F. Barnes. A thin plastic sheet, attached to a satellite or spaceship, utilizes the small but steady force of particles of light called "photons" which continually stream from the sun at 186,000 miles a second. Striking the sail, these particles exert a force that could, according to Barnes, increase the space vehicle's speed by about 350 m.p.h. each day.

Dulles May Propose A Dual Pullback

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration sources said Tuesday Secretary of State John Foster Dulles may propose a military pullback by both sides in the Quemoy area to lessen the friction in that explosive region.

They said it was possible Dulles, now conferring in Taipei, Formosa, with Chiang Kai-shek, would propose that the Chinese Nationalist leader signify his willingness to demilitarize Quemoy—without relinquishing sovereignty—if the Chinese Reds give assurances they will withdraw their garrisons from nearby Amoy on the mainland.

Whether the Nationalist leader would even consider such a step was not known here. However, some American officials felt he would strengthen his position in world opinion if he showed willingness to seek reciprocal measures to blunt the sharp point of conflict in the area.

Such a Communist-Nationalist agreement would do nothing to solve the basic dispute between the two, officials acknowledged. But they said it would at least considerably reduce the danger of renewed warfare.

Officials here had their fingers crossed, hoping Monday's Communist bombardment of Quemoy would prove an isolated gesture and not indicative of Red intentions to resume full-scale shelling of the beleaguered offshore islands. Most officials said they believed chances were good the cease-fire would last now. They interpreted Monday's sudden breach of the truce as a gesture of contempt toward the United States and Dulles, designed to impress particularly Asian opinion with the fact that Peiping still holds the initiative.

Some diplomatic authorities speculated privately that the renewed bombardment might well have been sparked by Red resentment at claims by some Republican politicians in this country that the cease-fire was a "victory" for the "firm" Eisenhower administration Far East policy.

Top O' Texas Is Featured By Texas Parade Magazine

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following has been taken in part from the October issue of the magazine 'Texas Parade' which featured the Top O' Texas in story and picture form. The monthly magazine is published in Austin.)

Pampa is a modern, enterprising city of 25,251 population. It has a metropolitan area of 450 square miles and a retail trade territory reaching into 20 counties in Texas and Oklahoma. Its economy is ranching, oil, gas and allied industries and businesses. The climate is temperate with an average annual temperature of 56.9 degrees (F) and average rainfall of 20.59 inches annually. The elevation is 3,218 feet above sea level.

The growing season lasts 167 days. Industries in and near Pampa are primarily of oil, gas and related products. The city is headquarters for many oil and gas companies operating in the region; it also has oil field supply houses, machine shops, carbon black plants.

The Southwestern division headquarters of the Cabot Company, one of the world's largest manufacturers of carbon black, is located in Pampa. Cabot recently purchased Franks Manufacturing Company of Tulsa and moved it to Pampa. It is now a part of the Cabot operations. Cabot is now making oil field drilling rigs, pumping equipment, carbon black, gun barrels, steel fabricators. Cabot has recently constructed several new buildings to take care of the expanded operations.

Cabot is an old-timer in Pampa. It has been highly successful there, and Cabot likes Pampa.

Near Pampa is the Celanese Corporation of America plant. It produces acetic acid, which is a basic product in the manufacture of synthetic yarns and cloth. Celanese opened in Pampa in 1952. It has expanded several times. It now employs more than 250 persons. Like Cabot, Celanese has found Pampa a highly desirable place. Celanese just recently announced that the Pampa plant would double its production. The new expansion will be completed early in 1959.

Other major industries in the Pampa area include oil refineries, carbon black plants, foundries, grain elevators.

Pampa's spirit of enterprise is now taking form in a new community hotel. The hotel will cost $1,300,000; $830,000 of this was raised in Pampa. The hotel will have 10 guest rooms, dining rooms, ball rooms, swimming pool, convention facilities; it will open for business late in 1959.

A new $2,000,000 junior high school has just been completed and put into operation in Pampa; it is the city's second modern junior high school.

Pampa is a city of good homes, churches, schools and hospitals. Forty new rooms were added recently to Highland Hospital, one county-owned hospital in Texas that is staying in the black.

Although industry has meant much to the growth of Pampa, agriculture is still basic there. Vast ranches and productive farms spread over the area. In 1958, the Pampa vicinity had an all-time record wheat crop and a bumper "IRREPRESSIBLE"—In her new picture "Rally 'Round the Flag, Boys," Joan Collins plays a predatory, no-holds-barred femme fatale chasing Paul Newman. "But," she says, "sexy isn't the word for me." What is, then? "I like the word 'irrepressible.'" says Joan.

Big Labor Will Be Short In Michigan

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The political activities of Big Labor in Michigan are financed by a 6-cents-per-month levy on AFL-CIO members. This gentle head-tax on Michigan union members raises about $500,000 in good times but this year of Michigan recession and unemployment. The fund supports all activities of the Michigan AFL-CIO.

Even so, the end political result of this levy on union members should arouse the envy of Republican campaign fund raisers, perhaps causing them to wish they could lay a head tax of even a nickel a month on somebody. They cannot do that. Neither can the heads of the great corporations lay a head tax of even 1 cent per month on their stockholders, or employes, a device which, if feasible, would raise funds beyond belief to be available for expenditure for purposes of political education.

The Republicans and some of the managers of the great corporations are accusing Big Labor of having "politically kidnaped" the state of Michigan. Specifically, they charge that the kidnap was Walter P. Reuther. The man in charge of Big Labor politics in Michigan, however, is August Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO Council. Scholle has Reuther's active support, of course, else he could not be so sure of collecting that head tax.

Print Many Circulars
In response to questions from United Press International, Scholle said that only about $60,000 of the $500,000 head tax will raise this year could be cited as political expenditures. His phrase was "for educational expenditures in the political field."

This sum is spent, Scholle said, mainly for printing circulars although occasionally the council, by agreement, will permit a political candidate to have something printed and the council will pay the bill. This instead of ordering the printing on its own. Scholle estimates that about $10,000 has been spent so far this year to pay bills for printing ordered by candidates.

The AFL-CIO council received about $14,000 this year, according to Scholle, from the international union treasury. This money, he said, was contributed voluntarily by union members and has been contributed to the campaign funds of the politicians the givers favored.

Says Legally Right
Scholle said everything the AFL-CIO council does in the political area is both legally and morally right. He emphasized that any union member who does not want any portion of his dues to go for the political purposes decided upon by the council may specify that his portion shall go to any charity or political organization of his choice.

Hoosier Voters To Decide On Senator

By BOYD GILL
United Press International

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Indiana voters decide next month whether they want six more years of conservative Republican representation in the U.S. Senate or their first Democratic senator since the early 1940s.

Gov. Harold W. Handley, the Republican nominee for the seat Sen. William E. Jenner voluntarily relinquished after a two-term tenure, is a prototype of the conservative Republicanism which Jenner espoused during his 12 years in Washington.

Handley's Democratic opponent is Evansville Mayor R. Vance Hartke, who at 35 became the youngest mayor in the history of Indiana's fifth largest city. Hartke calls himself a "middle-of-the-road" Democrat but he is generally considered to be a "liberal."

Handley, 48, was handpicked by Jenner as his successor. Shortly after the fiery Jenner announced last December he would not seek re-nomination, he tagged Handley to take his place on Capitol Hill.

Many State Issues
Handley's first obstacle was to hurdle an Indiana constitution provision which says a governor cannot hold any other office during the term for which he was elected. Handley's four-year gubernatorial term runs to January, 1961.

The Indiana Supreme Court, ruling in a test suit, said it was up to the Senate to determine the eligibility of its own members.

Handley sees eye to eye with Jenner on most issues, chiefly domestic. He is a vigorous opponent of federal aid to states.

Hartke and his campaign crew have concentrated their campaign on state issues, including Handley's willingness to leave the governor's chair after serving half a term, and a highway scandal over land buying and equipment purchases which occurred in a Republican administration immediately preceding Handley's and resulted in conviction of five men on charges including embezzlement and bribery.

Handley was lieutenant-governor during the time the scandals occurred but claimed he knew nothing of what was going on because he and then Gov. George N. Craig were in opposite GOP factions and scarcely on speaking terms.

Democrats See Chance
Hartke is a tireless campaigner. He began campaigning for the nomination nearly a year before the nominating convention and shook so many hands in so many towns that he overcame four opponents with relative ease.

Democrats haven't had anyone from Indiana in the Senate since the early 1940s. They see their biggest chance for victory this time in a national reaction to the recession and an Indiana industrial area reaction to a "right to work" law which the 1957 Legislature imposed.

Handley let the bill become law without his signature, defying a statehouse march by nearly 10,000 labor union members demanding that he veto it. He never took a stand on the issue until a month before the election when he announced he believed it worked well in Indiana but he would oppose it in Congress on a federal basis because states should have the right to decide for themselves.

Indiana farmers held the balance of power, and they were strangely silent on how they intended to vote.

Newspaper polls in two pivotal cities—Indianapolis and Evansville—showed rather strong Democratic margins, although Hartke was barely trailing Handley in Hartke's own city.

Pampa has enjoyed steady growth for 20 years; it is no boom town, but rather a solid community that offers many advantages to industry.

Small towns should never be counted out either, especially in the Panhandle. A few years ago a brassiere factory was located in McLean, a town of little more than 1,000 population in Gray County. It has been a great uplift to the community, and the factory has done exceptionally well.

Princess Grace Is Not Expecting Child

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI)—A spokesman for Prince Rainier III denied Tuesday that Princess Grace is expecting a third child.

"The princess is not expecting at all," the palace press spokesman declared when asked about reports that Princess Grace was pregnant.

"The prince is so tired of these ridiculous and false news stories that he does not even bother denying them."
"If the prince should become pregnant, the prince will announce the news himself."

"THIS IS WHERE I LIVE"—Although 11-month-old David Wright is too young to know it, he lives and plays in a very strange house. David and his parents are the occupants of a living laboratory in Urbana, Ill. His daddy, scientist Richard Wright of the University of Illinois, helps direct a research project on how best to heat or cool a home. Their $40,000 "test tube" house includes every form of current home construction in its design. Eight miles of wire connect 475 temperature-measuring locations with a central control system, where David is standing above. The house was built by the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Association of Cleveland, Ohio.

Farm Parity Ratio Expected To Drop

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department indicated today lower farm prices in the wake of heavy production will send the farm parity ratio somewhat lower by the end of the month.

The parity ratio is the relation of prices farmers receive to the cost of things they must buy. The ratio in mid-September was 85 per cent. It was 83 per cent in mid-August and in September, 1957.

Economists writing in the department's publication, "The Demand and Price Situation," noted that prices of important farm commodities on major central markets the first part of October averaged slightly lower than in mid-September. Declines were reported for corn, eggs, broilers, hogs, and potatoes. A drop in farm prices of these cash crops without a corresponding cut in production expenses would cause the parity ratio to fall. No drop in production expenses was forecast.

The next farm price report, giving conditions as of mid-October, will be issued Oct. 31.

Meantime, the department estimated farmers' cash receipts from marketings in the first nine months of 1958—up to Oct. 1—at $22,800,000,000, up 11 per cent over the corresponding period in 1957. Prices averaged 6 per cent over the corresponding period in 1957. Prices averaged 6 per cent above last year, and the volume of marketings was up 5 per cent.

Receipts from livestock and products for the first nine months totaled $13,800,000,000 up 10 per cent from a year ago, largely because of higher prices for cattle, hogs, and eggs. Crop receipts of 9 billion dollars were up 13 per cent from a year ago. This was due mostly to the large wheat and cotton crops. Higher average prices resulted in somewhat larger cash receipts from fruits.

Total cash receipts in September were about $3,300,000,000, 12 per cent more than year ago. Prices and marketings both were up from September, 1957. Receipts from livestock and products were $1,700,000,000, up 10 per cent from a year ago. Crop receipts in September were about $1,600,000,000, up 15 per cent from September a year ago. Prices of crops averaged slightly higher than a year ago, and marketings were up substantially.

The department noted that the farm price of corn dropped a little more than usual from Aug. 15 to the early part of October.

Boiler Blast Kills Convict

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (UPI)—A convicted murderer was buried alive on his 30th birthday and another prisoner critically burned late Monday in a boiler explosion at the Indiana State Penitentiary.

Edgar Harris, a Negro, who was sentenced in 1952 to a life term on second-degree murder charges, was killed. William Sandage, 33, who suffered second and third degree burns over most of his body, was fighting for life in the prison hospital.

Authorities said Harris had been standing below a hopper which dumped ashes from the three-story building into trucks. The blast ripped out a corner of the building, entombing Harris in a pile of rubble.

Sandage, a car thief and a parole violator, was sitting in a parked truck when a flaming avalanche of ashes covered the vehicle. Rescuers were unable to remove Sandage from the flaming truck for 15 minutes.

Officials immediately began an investigation and hinted the blast may have been touched off by gases in the ash.

Jaycees Make Plans, Hear Congressman

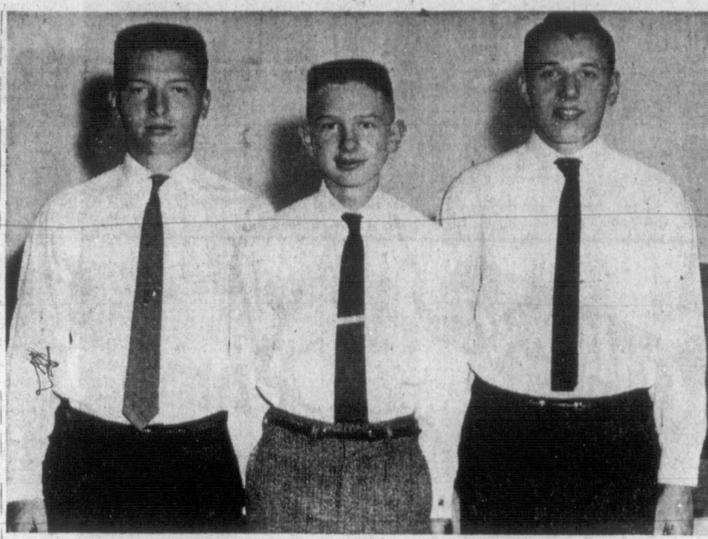

Young farmers will receive questionnaires from the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce next week. In November one will be named "The Outstanding Young Farmer in Gray County." The announcement was made in the course of a Jaycee business meeting Wednesday. A speech by Congressman Walter Rogers constituted the program.

The Jaycees, who are advocating an amendment to the State Constitution listened with interest as Rogers explained the bill he has introduced into the House. In general, the Rogers' bill would give more power back to the states.

Amendment 1, approved by the Jaycees, will come to vote in the general election Nov. 4. The main feature of the amendment concerns annual sessions of the State legislature and adequate salaries for representatives. It also provides for temporary residence of the speaker of the House of Representatives and lieutenant governor in Austin.

Oct. 30 will be the day for the Jaycees on which Miss Mary Nell Hendricks, Miss Texas of 1958, lands in Amarillo. The Jaycees will play host to Miss Hendricks when she comes here to attend the big Chamber of Commerce banquet Oct. 30.

The outstanding young farmer will be one who makes farming his profession, practicing soil conservation and crop rotation. He would also be active in civic work, according to Leroy Thornburg, Agriculture Committee chairman. The Jaycees will send their man to the State contest. Time and place have yet to be announced.

The installation was performed by boys from the Lubbock chapter of DeMolay.

Daniel Forsees No Necessity For Sales Tax

By O. B. LLOYD JR., United Press-International

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. Price Daniel has expressed confidence Texas can raise an additional $154 million in revenue without creating a sales tax or income tax, but at the same time declined to say if he would veto either measure if the legislature enacts it.

At a news conference Tuesday the governor said Texas has "plenty of room" in which to find more revenue, by raising present taxes or levying new ones.

However, Daniel did not mention anything specifically which might be under consideration as a source of additional revenue. Daniel said about general sales and income taxes, "you know I am strongly opposed to such taxes, have been for years, and will be as long as I serve the state." He said it would be improper as governor to say what action he would take in a specific piece of legislation before the legislature had opportunity to consider it.

Daniel said the estimated need of $154 million additional revenue over the next two fiscal years might or might not be correct.

TV Damaged As Transformer Burns

A small fire, apparently caused by a short circuit in a television transformer, filled the Dr. W. L. Campbell home, East of Pampa, with smoke Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Campbell reported she noticed smoke from the set, about 3:40. She disconnected the plug and then called Pampa firemen. The set itself was slightly damaged.

Class Schedule Is Announced

Father William E. West, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, will lead the discussions on Christianity in the Great Religions series. Mrs. D. J. George said in announcing the class schedule of the Pampa Adult Education group. "Due to unforeseen circumstances, the French class scheduled will not be held this fall," Secretary George reported.

The Foreign Affairs class will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. and German Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Great Religions will meet Nov. 10, 24, and Dec. 8 at 8 p.m. All meetings will take place in the back room of Lovett Memorial Library. To enroll, persons may call Mrs. George.

Motorist Fined $125 for DWI

William Lee Arnold, 53, 539 S. Gray, was fined $125 plus costs this morning after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated. Judge Bruce Parker also sentenced Arnold to three days in county jail and suspended his driver's license six months.

The Pampa man was arrested at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday in the 500 block on S. Gray. It was Arnold's second D.W.I. conviction.

Robertson said the talks were progressing "very satisfactorily" and that they had cleared up two misunderstandings — Nationalist fears that Washington wanted Chiang to give up the islands and Washington fears that Chiang might mount an invasion of the mainland from the offshore islands.

Chiang was believed to have pressed Dulles for a statement that the defense of Quemoy and the Matsu was essential to the defense of Formosa itself, but such a statement committing the U. S. armed forces further than come only from President Eisenhower.

The Nationalists believed that even with renewed Communist shelling of the Quemoy islands forces or to take other steps to reduce chances of Communist-Nationalist fighting.

No Backing Down
But today's convoy statement showed the United States was not backing down from earlier commitments despite Peiping warnings to get out of Formosa. The Communists consider the U.S. convoy escort operations highly provocative, and Dulles might have attempted to persuade Chiang to accept American withdrawal from the escort commitment.

The Communists shattered the Quemoy cease fire Monday on the specific charge — flatly denied by the United States — that U.S. escort vessels had intruded into the Quemoy and Matsu waters. The United States said it had ceased its escorts Oct. 8 and that they had not resumed.

First Balloon Shot Is Fired Over Nevada

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (UPI)—The Atomic Energy Commission today fired the first shot of a scheduled triple-feature of nuclear devices suspended from balloons over the Nevada test site.

The detonation called Socorro burst just before daylight from 1,500 feet over Yucca Flat, becoming the 10th shot in the AEC's current test series. Its flash with the explosive force of 10,000 tons of TNT came at 8:30 a.m. c.d.t.

A fireball visible over a wide area of the desert 70 miles northeast of Las Vegas gave off an ominous rumble but failed to touch the ground.

Socorro was the initial shot of three slated to go off within 9½ hours today, the shortest time in which the AEC had ever conducted three blasts.

Officials originally scheduled the shots for Sunday but were plagued by weather and technical difficulties as they rushed to complete the 13-device series before a proposed Oct. 31 deadline on nuclear testing. The Socorro device was set again for detonation Tuesday but was cancelled.

Officials Sift Debris For Clue To Explosion

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UPI)—Officials today sifted through the debris of a building in which nitroglycerine was manufactured in an effort to learn what may have touched off an explosion that killed four men and injured three others.

But there was little hope that a cause of the blast would be uncovered since the structure was reduced to rubble. The explosion occurred at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday in the gelatin cartridge plant building of the Liberty Powder Defense Corp., six miles north of here.

The dead were identified as Robert Trimbath, 49, Morrell, Pa., father of five children; Leonard McGee, 39, also of Morrell; Len Burns, 41, Uniontown, and John Holub, 35, Dunbar, Pa.

Engineer's sketch above shows how two types of measuring units will be carried in the same package (1). Parachute-borne radiosonde (2) will monitor at low altitudes, while one in rocket (4) will take readings at some 30 miles above the earth. Totally Blind Singer Is Encouraged

EL PASO (UPI)—Cipriano Marquez, a mariachi musician blind almost since birth, has become nearly as famous as the folk heroes he sings of during nine years as a wandering troubadour in northern Mexico.

He carries the best wishes of thousands on both sides of the border in his struggle for success as a singer and songwriter.

Cipriano, 27, puts on a radio program over station XEF in the neighboring city of Ciudad Juarez, every morning, sells radio advertising in the afternoons, and sings at the Old Mexico Cafe every night.

The young singer, nicknamed "The Durango Troubadour," has written five songs, all regionally famous but unknown in the Mexican capital.

Gains Goodwill

He has received thousands of encouraging letters from listeners in the El Paso Valley and northern Mexico since starting his radio program a year ago.

His correspondents urge him to keep struggling until he becomes famous in Mexico.

Tamale vendors, cabaret dancers, policemen and early rising workmen take turns guiding him to his home on Damian Carmona street when he finishes work at the Old Mexico just before dawn each day.

Blind since 10 days after birth, Cipriano said he once despaired of finding a vocation.

"When I was 13 I became dependent because I felt I knew nothing and could do nothing," he said. "It was then Juan Romero, a Durango radio announcer, encouraged me to learn to play the guitar."

He sold the newspaper "El Sol de Durango" to finance his les-

Reds Will Crack Down On Drunks

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, in a speech made public Tuesday, announced the government was writing new laws to crack down on the many "drunkards" in the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev admitted drinking was a serious problem in Russia in a speech Oct. 17 to farmers and citizens of his native village of Kalinovka in the Kurash district.

"One cannot shut one's eyes to the fact that in our society there still are drunkards, thieves and swindlers," he said. "The government is at present working out a bill under which sterner measures will be taken against drunkards and those who contribute to drunkenness."

The premier said however, there was nothing wrong with drinking a glass now and then.

"One may drink, but not to excess so as not to disgrace oneself and one's neighbors," he said.

Khrushchev explained that under the new laws persons will be allowed only one drink in a restaurant.

"A second glass will be forbid-

Election Campaign Goes Into Last Two Weeks; Claims Fly

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The congressional election campaign today entered its final two weeks with foreign policy debate drifting back into the spotlight because of renewed Communist activity in the Formosa Strait.

Some Republican politicians have claimed that the Quemoy cease-fire was a "victory" for the "firm" Eisenhower administration. Far East policy, whether the resumption of hostilities would inspire a burst of partisan comment was uncertain.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), in a speech at Nashville, Tenn. Monday night, tried to calm the ruffled foreign policy waters by declaring he agreed with President Eisenhower that "foreign policy... should be bipartisan."

Deplores Campaign Issue

Johnson also denounced what he called efforts of some Republicans to make President Eisenhower's foreign policy the chief issue in the current political campaign. The Democratic Party, he said, shall never "participate in dividing this country in the face of a foreign aggressor."

Johnson's remarks were interpreted as a rebuke to Nixon for assailing previous Democratic foreign policy as one that led to war.

Business Views

United Press International

Custom smelters hiked their copper prices 1 1/2 cents to 30 cents a pound—7 cents above the recession low quoted earlier this year and 2 1/2 cents above the major producers' price. The rising prices reflect a tight supply situation created by prolonged strikes at mines in northern Rhodesia, Canada and the U.S.

But Meade Alcorn, chairman of the Republican National Committee, issued a statement today declaring that "no Democrat has or could—challenge the vice president's factual assertion that Democrat foreign policy has led to war while Republican foreign policy has led to peace."

Alcorn said that instead, "the Democrats have unleashed a name-calling vendetta" on Nixon.

"Vice President Nixon's forceful presentation of the issues of this campaign has dealt a body-blow to Democrat election hopes," Alcorn said.

Attack Truman

Both Alcorn and Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.), chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, named former President Truman as the Democrats' "hatchet man."

"Richard Nixon is putting before the American people the facts and Truman, unable to answer them, is trying to cloud the situation with vilification," Simpson charged in a statement.

At New York, Truman said that the Formosa Strait "little war" was forced on the Eisenhower administration by its "surrender" to the Communists in Korea.

Truman said the Formosa Strait problem had been brought on by the "Dulles foreign policy."

The resumption of the Communist firing caused extensive speech revision for Eisenhower after he arrived on the West Coast Monday for two days of campaigning in behalf of California Republicans.

In a speech at Los Angeles Monday night, the president said that in six years of serious international stress, the United States had remained at peace while its enemies had learned that America would not countenance territorial expansion by force, "nor would she desert her friends."

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI)—A new afternoon newspaper hit the streets of Caracas Monday. The 32-page tabloid Pregon was printed in three colors besides black. It was published by Alejandro and Miguel Otero Silva, who also publish the morning newspaper El Nacional.

Egan's Ill, Can't Attend Own Trial

AURORA, Ill. (UPI)—Mayor Paul Egan sent word from a Chicago hospital today that he was injured, and unable to appear at his trial on charges of disorderly conduct.

Justice of the Peace Albert Zettinger continued the trial to Nov. 6.

Meanwhile, it was not clear when Egan would return to Aurora.

From his hospital bed, where the mayor said he has been confined since Friday, Egan said he wouldn't go back to Aurora unless the U.S. Army protects him. He said he will seek that help from President Eisenhower, during the chief executive's visit in Chicago Wednesday.

"I'm going to demand the protection of federal troops," Egan vowed. "I'm not going back to Aurora without the help of the Army."

Egan said he was hurt when police arrested him Oct. 14, and tossed him in his own jail.

"I'm going to sue," Egan said.

Girl Scouters To Meet Wednesday

Girl Scout leaders, assistant leaders, committee members and mothers of Girl Scouts in the Horace Mann-Lamar neighborhood are urged to attend a 9 a.m. meeting Wednesday at 2131 Christine St. Also urged to attend are leaders and mothers of Holy Souls Girl Scouts.

Under discussion will be items of neighborhood business. Plans will also be made for the Council Barbecue skit.

Take a look at the North and South hands only. You are in three no-trump, but the game is duplicate and overtricks count. West wins the opening queen of hearts with the ace and returns the suit. You take your king and see that you have 11 top tricks and lots of plays for the 12th.

If you could only see the East and West hands you would guarantee to make 12 tricks against any distribution, but East and West aren't showing their cards. What is the best play? A consensus of experts suggests taking two spades and the ace and king of diamonds and then running the clubs. South discards a heart on the fourth club and the jack of diamonds on the last.

Now look at the East and West cards and you will see that the consensus play would have worked. West would have to unguard his jack of spades to keep the high heart and that would be all.

When the hand was actually played, one of the best players in the country held himself to rour-odd. He was a little tired and started by taking three spades to see if the jack would drop. Then he started after the clubs and West's first discard was the eight of diamonds. On the last club South let his ten of spades go and West threw the jack.

The diamonds were both good but South did not know it. He tried the diamond finesse and West made the last two tricks.

"The Case for Dr. Mudd" on CBS-TV's "Desilu Playhouse."

It was all about this Maryland doctor named Sam Mudd who helped out John Wilkes Booth after Booth had shot Lincoln and how the North put Mudd in jail and really treated him bad.

Now, I figure it like this: If I say the show was bad, the whole South will be mad at me.

If I say the show was good, the whole North will be mad at me. And if I don't say anything at all, Desi and Lucy—or is it Desy and Luei—will be mad at me.

Well, I'll chicken out and split it this way:

The good side: Lew Ayres and Mary Anderson as Dr. and Mrs. Mudd were quite satisfactory and the acting of James Westerfield as Mudd's lawyer was better than satisfactory. Some of the scenes—such as the one in which Mudd was tried and the law flouted—were mildly gripping.

On The Other Side

The bad side: The whole production had the skimpy air of a cheap movie, a kind of let's-get-on-with-it—we've-got-a-lot-of-ground-to-cover atmosphere.

Also, Mudd, as a person, was never explored satisfactorily—we learned nothing, for example, about Mudd, the proprietor of 800 acres who had once owned 11 slaves.

Okay, that's as far as I'll go. North and South, you now can now fight it out on your own.

Monday night, I also watched NBC-TV's "Restless Gun," "Wells Fargo," and "Peter Gunn" and CBS-TV's "Ann Southern Show."

The first was about a wild youngster, the second about some wild Indians, the third about some wild gangsters and the fourth—well, like most situation comedies it wasn't about anything—but it had a wildly hysterical sound track.

Nothing But Formula

Their merits were varied, but what was most important about all four was their unashamed addiction to formula.

It's sad but true of almost all mass entertainment—pop music, movies, TV shows, popular fiction—that it relies on an unre-peating repetition of the same recipes.

I suppose many viewers derive some sort of satisfaction from the constant-repetition of the familiar, but it seems to me a condition both deadening and dolorous.

The Channel Swim: CBS-TV will present a one-hour special show starring Phil Silvers on Jan. 23. CBS-TV's "Jack Benny" the wives of Bob Hope, Dean Show" on Nov. 2 will feature the wives of Bob Hope, Dean Martin, Ray Milland, and David Niven.

Esther Williams will star in a show devoted to the atomic submarine on NBC-TV's "Omnibus" Nov. 9. Also on tap for "Omnibus": Peter Ustinov as star of his own play, "The Empty Chair," and a George Panetta comedy, "The So-Called Human Race"—no date yet for either show.

"Encounter," the Canadian drama series scheduled to end on ABC-TV this Sunday, has been extended to Nov. 2. Ed Murrow's CBS-TV "Small World" will offer as its Nov. 2 guests authors Mark Van Doren, and Rebecca West and Rear Admiral Hyman Rickover.

Jerry Lewis' 24.9 Trendex for his Saturday night NBC-TV special swamped under the competition—ABC-TV's Lawrence Welk pulled a 14.9 for his hour and CBS-TV's "Gale Storm Show" and "Have Gun, Will Travel" racked up 16.3 and 18.0, respectively.

Why Not 'Sail' Into The Far Reaches Of Space, Dr. Tsu Asks

By DARRELL GARWOOD
United Press International
PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Dr. T.C. Tsu believes that the simple procedure of unfurling a sail heats all the fancier space-propulsion systems for reaching the planets Mars and Venus.

Tsu, of the Westinghouse Research Laboratories, has made detailed studies of the force which the sun's radiation could apply against a parachute-like sail, and has reached these conclusions:

A space ship weighing 1,000 pounds and bound for Mars would need a sail 1,600 feet in diameter, big enough to provide a tent for the Pentagon. But the sail would be very thin, would weigh only 800 pounds and would be unfurled after the ship had been rocketed into orbit.

Faster Mars Trip
—Solar radiation would provide a force of only half-a-pound or about half a horsepower, but this would continue indefinitely and would propel the ship to Mars in 118 days. By comparison, Dr. Werner von Braun allows 280 days for reaching Mars in a rocket ship.

Although the planet Venus is closer to the sun than is the earth, Tsu believes it could be reached with almost equal ease by a system that amounts to "tacking"—changing the position of the sail so as to move either toward or away from the sun. The same kind of "tacking," he said, could be used to slow down in space.

After leaving its 18,000-mile-an-hour earth orbit, Tsu said the ship would hit a peak speed of 50,000 to 60,000 miles and hour on its journey to Mars. The scientist outlined his plan during a series of scientific demonstrations Monday. He said his ship would need no return fuel, but might want to carry an auxiliary landing craft nearer planets.

Demonstrates Dishwasher
Sailing would be inefficient for reaching distant planets, he said, and would become worthless outside the solar system, where heat radiation from the stars would compete with that from the sun.

Dr. R. A. Ramey, head of the laboratories' new products division, meanwhile, said he is installing in his home an "ultra-sonic" dishwasher that cleans dishes by sending sound vibrations through water.

LOOKING UP—Jockey Billy Pearson seems to have little choice except to follow the instructions of hefty William Russell, director of "The Case of the Jilted Jockey," the TV whodunit in which Billy appears.

It's Official, The Recession Is All Over

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government reported today that the economy poured out goods and services in the third three months of the year at an annual rate of 440 billion dollars.

believe that national output in the fourth three months will hit an all-time record rate of 450 billion dollars.

The gross national product for all of 1957 was $440,300,000,000.

The third quarter figure for goods and services, called gross national product, was nearly 15 billion dollars higher than the recession low reported last January-March.

But it was still some five billion dollars below the all-time high rate rung up in the boom months of July-September, 1957, just before the recession began.

Today's estimate for the 1958 third quarter was made by President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers.

Previous government reports have indicated that output of both durable and soft goods expanded during the summer as unemployment declined.

The council's figures, adjusted to take account of normal seasonal variations, showed that economic recovery proceeded much faster in the third quarter than in the April-June. The second-quarter rate was 429 billion dollars, compared to 425,800,000,000 in the first three months of the year.

Beer production of the United States amounts to 37.8 per cent of the world total.

Asia is unique among continents in that its major rivers radiate like the spokes of a wheel from the center of the land. The reason for this is that the great plateaus and lofty mountains are in the middle of Asia instead of being located along the rim, as they are in the Americas, Africa and Australia. The rivers flow down from the mountains to the outside lowlands.

Halloween Now Has Worthwhile Cause With Children Collecting For UNICEF

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Nostalgic memories of Halloween mischief lead the reminder to shake his head and note how times have changed.

Quite right. Times have changed. Halloween but the fun hasn't disappeared from this ancient festival. Youngsters aren't so often seized to copy the pranks and mischievous deeds their elders recall so fondly. Close adult supervision and modern brightly lighted streets and homes, for instance, make it difficult for a self-respecting goblin to cart off garden furniture or soap a picture window with any degree of success.

Little would be mischief-makers have adopted with gusto the practice of "tricks or treat" and compete happily for honors in the grammar school costume parade. Teen-agers may join in or plan a party on their own.

In the last eight years a much more meaningful substitute for the open bag of little tricksters has emerged. This is the milk carton with the UNICEF emblem, the United Nations children's fund, into which, instead of candy, pennies are dropped to treat the world's children to better health. Last year children in 8,500 communities added one million dollars to the fund.

Sharing a holiday in this way comes under the heading of fun, too. A UNICEF Halloween is usually sponsored locally by one or more community groups. From personal observation, I think it's important that the children participating be old enough to understand clearly what they're doing and to have parental approval of their participation.

As much a part of Halloween as Jack-o-lanterns and witches for the small fry is a costume to wear in school parade or neighborhood romp. New ideas for making masks promise more imaginative get-ups in the parade this year. Paper-bags, flame-proof crepe paper, glue and scissors are the main ingredients for amusing animal face masks. Sheets of aluminum foil folded over an inflated balloon can be transformed into masks.

After struggling with paper bag masks which always look more like paper bags than masks, I learned some pointers from directions sent out by the LePage Home Crafts council.

"I'm sick and tired," writes a working wife, "of having the 'average working wife compared with the 'average' stay-at-home housewife."

"Just who is this average representative of each group?"

"I know there are working wives who neglect their children, because they aren't good managers and planners."

"But looking around my neighborhood I can also see wives who don't earn a nickel neglecting their families for sorority meetings, club meetings, morning coffee klatches, afternoon bridge sessions and so on."

"Is a child more neglected because his mama is earning a pay check tesseu apvc sha lbeiot-unha check than because she is out playing bridge?"

"On the other hand I know plenty of working wives like myself who have the energy and the family cooperation and the know-how to combine a career with running a home. It can be done and a lot of women are doing it, thereby helping to pay for homes and send kids to college."

"I'll gladly admit, of course, that many full-time homemakers do an excellent job, too. But there just isn't any 'average' career housewife or stay-at-home housewife. There are only individuals."

"Some can be of most use by being full-time homemakers. Others can serve their families best by combining a job and homemaking. And some are going to be poor homemakers and mothers whether they escape from their duties by taking on a job or by filling their days with outside activities for which they are paid nothing."

"So let's quit making comparisons. Let's just have a kind word for the woman whose home is nappy and whose children are well cared for whether she works or doesn't work outside the home."

This little miss being readied for Halloween will "trick or treat" for a worthwhile cause, collecting pennies for the United Nations children's fund. Her bright costume features a lamb's head made from a paper bag and crepe paper.

Set the bag over an inverted wastebasket to steady it while you work on the face. Use flame-proof crepe paper cut in two-to-four-inch strips and curled over a pencil to make a wig. When glued to the bag the wig hides the boxy contours.

As a case in point, a lamb's head mask uses white paper party curris. Its pink cheeks are circles of pink paper and its twinkling blue eyes are notarial seals. Different colored papers and features can be worked up into a variety of masks.

More elaborate are the aluminum foil heads in which several sheets of foil are molded around a large inflated balloon. Features, such as kitten ears, noses and so on, are molded separately and taped or glued in place.

After struggling with paper bag masks which always look more like paper bags than masks, I learned some pointers from directions sent out by the LePage Home Crafts council.

Legs Rate Extra Special Grooming In This Day's Fashions Of Shorter Skirts

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The teen-ager who spends hours on her hair and make-up but neglects her hands labels herself as careless and sloppy. For hands are one of the first things many people notice. And therefore, rough skin, broken and grubby nails or chipped nail polish are all unattractive attention-getters.

The best way to make sure that your hands always look their best is to set aside one hour each week for your manicure. This is the time to strip off the old polish and apply new, to file your nails with an emery board, to push back the cuticle. Each night, before you go to bed, cream your hands and your elbows thoroughly.

This care is enough to keep your hands looking pretty through the week. Daily use of both an orange stick and a nail brush to keep the nails clean is essential, of course.

Shorter skirts focus attention on your legs this season. This means that your legs rate extra-special care.

They need careful and frequent shaving with an electric razor about twice a week. They need lightly creaming with a liquid lotion after your shower or bath. Use a pumice stone on those rough spots on your heels since the new colored hose help to rivet glances to your feet and ankles, too.

And though skirts are shorter, yours should never be so short that they ride up over your knees when you're seated. To say that skirts are 17 inches this season is silly if you haven't 17 inches of leg length.

So have your skirt lengths adjusted to your body proportion. That way, you'll look graceful and pretty, not ridiculous.

Now that the neat and tidy head with a polished look has replaced tousled curls, it's time to wield the hairbrush with vigor. It's one of the best beauty aids a girl has at any time.

Others helps to having a head of thick, lustrous hair are cod liver oil capsules, a couple of envelopes of gelatin a day and a terry towel after a shampoo rather than a hot dryer.

To achieve beautiful hair, you must tackle the problem from inside and out.

Flowers are in for a regular scrub, down, especially the artificial ones. With improvements in plastics, artificial roses, tulips, camellias and such are almost terra lends itself to daily dusting and an occasional soap bath.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We play bridge with our next-door neighbors and for an evening snack we agreed not to fuss. Just to serve coffee and doughnuts. That's what I served. When we went to her house she served chicken salad sandwiches and coffee and brownies. The next time at my house I served coffee and doughnuts. When it was her turn again she served ham sandwiches, fruit salad, coffee and ice cream. I told my husband I didn't care if she served porter house steak, I am only going to have coffee and doughnuts. And they don't have any more money than we do. Please tell me if I am doing right?

PLAIN PEOPLE
DEAR ABBY: If you agreed to serve only coffee and doughnuts, serve coffee and doughnuts.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is about religion. My father won't let me accept a date with a boy who is not of my own faith. I am only 16 years old, Abby, but I think I have pretty good sense. I wouldn't turn away from my own religion for any boy, but how can I convince my father that just because I have a few dates with a boy of a different faith it doesn't mean I am going to marry him?

VOTED DOWN
DEAR ABBY: As long as you feel strongly about your own religion, why tempt the Fates and complicate your life? Do yourself a favor and confine your dates to boys you could marry should Cupid's dart prematurely find your heart.

DEAR ABBY: My husband

Hostesses for the occasion were Mmes. Virgil Olmstead, Leo Johnson, Joe Cox, Lina Schweitzer and Lorraine Kershman.

The serving table was covered with an ecru lace cloth underlined with brown centered with an arrangement of fall flowers flanked on either side with cream colored tapers in silver candelabras. The table appointments were of silver. Mrs. Glen Ellenwood and Mrs. Brad Shaul alternated at the silver coffee service.

The guests were received and registered by Mrs. Olmstead and Mrs. Cox assisted the honoree with her gifts.

Corsages of bronze chrysanthemums were presented to the honoree, Mrs. Shaul and Mrs. Ellenwood.

Approximately fifty guests called or sent gifts during the appointed hours.

works as night electrician at a hospital. A few months ago a woman who works in the laundry started to do his wash for him so he wouldn't have to bring it home for me to do it. I took my sister about it and she said, "No woman is doing a man's wash just because she likes to wash." I got mad and said I thought it was very nice of her to do it. I asked a few other friends what they thought about it and they changed the subject. My husband is 44 and most women at the hospital are much younger than he is so they wouldn't go for a man his age. He told me so. Should I make him bring his wash home or not?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: A married man (age 44) should not give a co-worker the shirt off his back—even if she offers to launder it for him. Quit asking your friends and relatives what they think about it and short-circuit the connection between your hubby and the laundry lady—pronto!

DEAR ABBY: I don't object half as much to the woman who, when shopping for a dress, will let me show her every dress in the place and then say, "That isn't what I had in mind," as the woman who wears a size 42, tries a dress on without a grille and says, "It doesn't do a thing for me."

ELLEN B. (25 years experience)
DEAR ABBY: Since sales people are airing their complaints, may I add mine? How about the woman who will come into the drapery department, spend hours of your time while you help her match colors, compare, explain and educate and then she will leave—undecided. She returns the next day with her ladyfriend and I go through the same routine all over again. They leave—undecided. The next week she will bring her husband in. This makes three times I must go through the same routine. She leaves with my name and sales number on a card—still undecided. Then one day I come back from lunch and find out that the lady was back and bought the first thing I showed her—from somebody else.

Cleaning the inside of booties is possible with a small brush, like a bottle brush. Dip this in hot suds and scrub the shoe interior. Shape and dry thoroughly.

Circle two of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Harrah Methodist Church met Thursday morning for the third lesson of the study "Middle East Pilgrimage."

Mrs. F. D. Gross, study leader, gave the opening prayer and read a version of the Apostle's Creed that the Moslems could accept according to their beliefs. She spoke about world illiteracy and used a chart to show the percentage of illiterates in the world as reported in 1956 by UNESCO.

Mrs. O. M. Butler spoke on "Islam: A Religion of Submission." Mrs. G. O. Hall told the story "Hinduism: A Way of Life."

Rev. O. M. Butler read passages from the Koran, holy book of the Moslems.

An area report on Iraq, a country belonging to the Arab Federation was presented by Mrs. Tommie Alexander.

Current events were given by other members present. Mmes. Burt Brown, A. L. Patrick, Joe Singleton, Dallas Hodges and Dale Gross.

The meeting adjourned after the benediction by Rev. Butler. The next will be a joint meeting of Circles One and Two, to be held Oct. 23, at 7:30 p.m. This will be the last lesson of the study and a party in Middle East style. All ladies are to come dressed in Middle East costumes.

Some Youngsters Need Careful Aid In Overcoming Fear Of Attending School

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — You'll have to develop the traits of an amateur detective, psychologist and public relations expert if your child reacted to his first day in school as if it signaled the end of the world.

The application of these techniques to the art of raising children sums up the advice of a National Education Association official on how parents should deal with tots who simply hate to go to school.

Ethel Thompson, the association's consultant on elementary education declares: "The idea of going to school gives some kids a real feeling of fright. Helping them overcome it often takes a great

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
As usual, Ken had left his bicycle sprawled across the driveway blocking passage into the garage. Muttering profanely, his father braked his car. Then he got out of it, hesitated, got back in, slammed the door and roared, "Ken!"

When his son appeared, he yelled, "If you don't want your wheel run over, get it out of my way. Next time you park it here I will run over it. How many times do you have to be told . . . ?"

He was shutting the garage doors when his son said, "Can I have my allowance now, Dad? It's Saturday — and I gotta lot of things to do this afternoon . . ."

Without hesitation his still fuming parent reached into his pocket and counted out four dimes into his child's hand.

Honor to him.

For many of us it's uncomfortable to hand money to a child who has just annoyed us with carelessness or disobedience. We feel that we are appearing to reward his offensive behavior.

But this is a sophisticated, grown-up feeling that the child does not share. Because he understood this, Ken's father was able to give him his 40 cents without discomfort.

To us, money comes as reward for disciplined effort. We are paid salaries or wages for taking buses on time, for managing relationships with bosses and fellow employees, for producing sales, ideas, merchandise and services despite our occasional inclination to stop producing them and take off for a South Sea island where no disciplined effort is required of us.

But to children who have not begun to earn their living, an allowance is just equipment that enables them to extend their spheres of action, just as their rubbers and sweaters enable them to leave the house. We are not their employers, and do not give them money in exchange for disciplined effort, but because they need it to get along as they need the rubbers and sweaters.

Dependent children and earning grown-ups feel differently about money. Once this difference is clear to us, we can pay irritating Ken his allowance without discomfort, and hand him his dimes as easily as we serve him his meat for supper.

deal of patience and time." She explains that some kids are either too shy or frightened to tell their parents why they don't like school. In such cases, she recommends that mom do a little quiet sleuthing by immediately consulting the teacher.

Miss Thompson explains that teachers can always offer advice and often can actually find out what's bothering the child. Sometimes the problems turn out to be remarkably simple.

For instance, Miss Thompson tells of one case where the parents and teacher were completely baffled about why a little girl disliked school. One day the child shyly admitted in class that she had trouble writing the letter "e" in her name. It turned out that she was so sensitive about the difficulty that it made her dread going to class.

Sometimes, however, the trouble is much more complicated. This is usually the case, Miss Thompson explains, when the child lacks confidence and is afraid to be away from his parents.

Miss Thompson recommends that parents use a little psychology by encouraging these children to make some of their own decisions at home, like what clothes they will wear to school each day. The confidence they gain will soon carry over into their increased ability to tackle school work, she says.

Another way parents can help instill confidence in their youngsters is to give them the responsibility of performing simple household tasks. Miss Thompson suggests, "If they're allowed to do things on their own at home, they will attack every situation that comes along with the same willingness to learn."

The consultant explains that there are two important things that a mother can do to help a child overcome his fear of leaving her while he goes to school. The first is for her to always assure the child that she will be on hand to pick him up at the close of each school day.

The second is to convince him that the school bell will not ring an end to their doing things together. For example Miss Thompson tells about a small boy who was afraid that going to school would prevent him from shopping with delay going to the store each day until he came home, the youngster changed his whole outlook about school.

Parents can employ public relations in helping their children overcome classroom fears by helping them understand why they must go to school. Miss Thompson emphasizes that mother and dad should always stress the value that school has in helping them grow up.

Miss Thompson gained her insight into the reluctant school child problem through extensive experience in teaching. Before taking her present position, she held jobs as both teacher and principal in the New Brighton, Pa., schools.

Later she taught in Battle Creek, Mich., and Arlington, Va. Miss Thompson also received teaching experience in several colleges including the University of Florida and the University of Maryland. She was born in Niles, Ohio.

Abraham Lincoln was the first U.S. president to be born outside the original 13 states.

Gloves Do More Than Give Warmth

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Looking like a lady in well-cut leather gloves is more than just a matter of pulling them on any old which way.

The reason that some women are able to make gloves a point of elegance in a costume is that they are careful both about selecting them and wearing them.

It isn't enough to tell a saleslady your glove size. Always try them on before you buy. French glove makers advise. They should fit snugly with no room left at the fingertips. The gauntlet part should fit the arm as well.

Rows of stitching will give your hands an illusion of slenderness if they tend to be wide. And if you do not consider that you have a pretty wrist, don't wear a shorty glove. A glove that covers the wrist is your best bet.

A basic glove wardrobe should include shorties, elbow-length gloves and the long evening lengths in white, black and pale beige. To these you can add the pastel and vibrant colors for wear with particular costumes.

For the most part, keep decorated gloves for evening wear. The classic white kid glove with beausvals embroidery or seed pearl trim is lovely. But highly trimmed gloves look out of place in the daytime.

Rick Pezdirtz

purely paydirt

When Amarillo High's mighty 1957 Sandies blew upon the Pampa scene last year, there was much quaking and headlong dashes for the storm cellars.

The Sandies were superbly muscled and fleet of foot and they had chewed all opposition beyond recognition. They had won all of their games and there was talk of matching them against Red China, winner take all.

Pampa, on the other hand was in the midst of a rebuilding program, and they're still at it. The humane society got several calls after Amarillo butchered Pampa 46-6 last season. This year it was a different story. A slight tinge of rosy bloom might have sneaked across Babe Curfman's cheek bones after his green-as-all-get-out gridders held the Sandies to a 15-12 score last week, in a game they should have won if you're the type who likes to go by the stats, and who ain't when they're more favorable than that mean ole scoreboard.

By grannies, this year's Amarillo-Pampa frolic turned out to be a blistering ball game. Those young Harvesters played it pretty raunchy and there was some of the toughest defensive play you've ever witnessed. Or heard.

With two weeks to whip themselves into a fighting frenzy for an up-again-down-again Palo Duro outfit, the Harvesters may be coming of age. If by some stroke of fate they could get hot, not only hot but sure-fired sizzling, the Big Green still has an outside chance at a 5-5 season. It would mean winning four straight tough ones. Unlikely but not beyond the realm of possible.

Big Breaks For Bond

You may think it's the battle of Bull Run all over again if you squat in Harvester Park Thursday night when the first intra-city junior high struggle is unfurled here. It's hard for this ole sentimentalist not to pull for the Pampa Junior High Reapers, who'll be badly outnumbered and probably badly outclassed by the new Robert E. Lee Rebels.

You recall gentleman Jim Bond, Pampa's contribution to California's cage game at Pasadena College. With his undergraduate studies completed, Jim has decided to continue his studies in the school's graduate religious department, and to help pay his way he's been appointed Director of Inter-mural Athletics and will double as a physical education instructor and assistant basketball and baseball coach.

Working toward a career in the ministry, Jim is also employed by the First Nazarene Church of Pasadena as assistant pastor.

Jim Bond received many honors at Pasadena College; they included, in part, selection to the Southern California Basketball Writers All-Star team three years (1956, 1957 and 1958), selection to the Helms Foundation N. A. I. A. All-American team in 1956 and 1958, winning the A. A. U. Basketball Tournament's "Most Promising Young Player" award in 1956 and was selected as Southern California's "Athlete of the Month" by Helms Athletic Foundation during February, 1958.

Mags Feature Pampa

The wrinkled ole grey-head who answers to the name of 'Cmon George' every time we wanna borrow a sawbuck furrowed into our burrow last week a telling about how he shouldered his way through the wall-to-wall people at the fairgrounds in Dallas recently and fought into the Music Hall to see 'Music Man.'

His view blocked by a lady with a large hat, the old boy said, "She left that dang hat on through the whole show. I couldn't have seen a thing if she hadn't had her-ears pierced."

Two magazines that come sliding through the mails have Pampa pussies plastered all over 'em.

Hinkle's Hooping It Up

Pampa's Ken Hinkle at North Texas State, about the only offensive punch Pete Shands had in stumbling to a pitiful 3-18 season last year, and Sam Condo at Hardin-Simmons are already being hustled through their daily hit-and-run cage exercises. Both ex-Harvesters are being counted on heavily to spearhead their respective clubs during the approaching 85-89 campaigns. The former team-mates oppose one another, North Texas playing in Abilene on Dec. 9, and Hardin-Simmons going to Denton, Feb. 3. Then there's Jerry Pope, a sport with a loaded TCU quirt, and of course, flashy Bill Brown at Texas.

Sweetwater Captures Lead In UPI's State AAA Poll

DALLAS (UPI)—Sweetwater's Mustangs took over the No. 1 spot from Breckenridge for the first time this season in the United Press International coaches board Class AAA schoolboy football ratings today, while Weatherford leaped five places to fifth.

These were the principal developments in the sixth weekly poll of the season, although there were minor changes throughout the top 10.

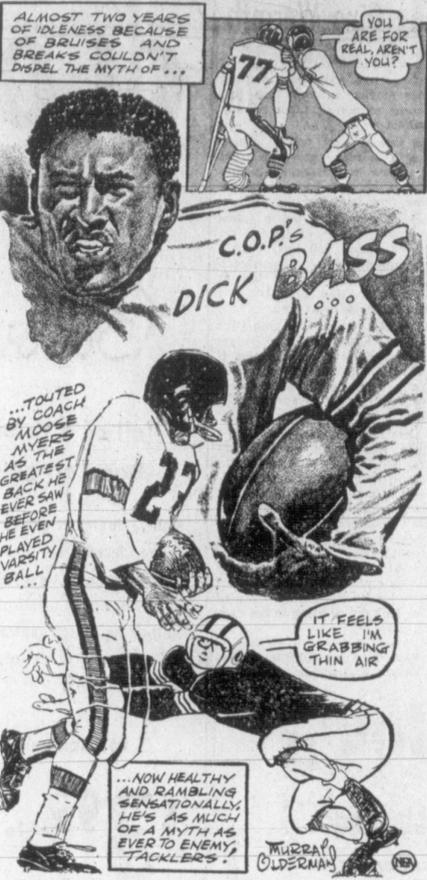

The only actual change in the makeup of the list was the return of Snyder, which has been in and out of the select group all season, in place of San Marcos, which lost some support because it was idle.

Coach Elwood Turner's Sweetwater crew, trailing Breckenridge by 11 points a week ago, picked up 11 first place votes and 154 points as compared to four first-place ballots for the idle Bucks, who wound up with 136 points. Weatherford got the other No. 1 ballot.

Cleburne Third

Cleburne wound up third with 85 points, followed by Carthage with 79, Weatherford with 74, Levelland with 69, Nacogdoches with 55, Phillips with 45, Kerrville with 35, Andrews with 29, and San Marcos (27 points); McKinney (19); Dumas and Nederland (18 each); El Campo (10); San Benito (7); San Antonio Sam Houston (5); Kingsville (4); Lamesa, Brownwood, Beaumont French and Killeen (3 each); Aldine (2); Andrews (1).

MOST ACTIVE MYTH

Coast Gridders Lead in Offense

NEW YORK (UPI)—A pair of whiz kids from the Far West are totaling the most mileage these weekends along the major college football front.

Dick Bass of College of the Pacific was the leader in total offense and rushing while Bob Newman of Washington State regained as the top passer in the latest statistics released by the NCAA Service Bureau.

Banks Named Player of Year

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ernie Banks, perhaps the National League's best shortstop since Honus Wagner, was an overwhelming choice today as the United Press International's 1958 National League Player of the Year.

The 27-year-old Banks, who set a major league record for shirtpops by hitting 47 homers and sparked the Chicago Cubs to tie for fifth place, was the choice of 22 of the 24 baseball writers who made up UPI's special committee.

Second baseman Bill Mazerowski of the Pittsburgh Pirates and pitcher Lew Burdette of the league champion Milwaukee Braves received one vote each. The Committee was composed of three writers from each city in the league.

Banks, a lithe, 180-pound Negro from Dallas, Tex., enjoyed the finest season of his career. His 47 homers broke a record which he previously had set in 1955, he drove in 129 runs and he batted .313. All this while playing his position flawlessly.

In the minds of the 16 coaches making up the UPI board, Weatherford's jump was based on a 10-0 blanking of AAAA Garland, the first proven major foe it had faced.

Cleburne, which had been tied with Carthage for third, pulled out alone after a 36-0 pasting of Corsicana while the East Texas team was idle.

Levelland blasted Yleta 39-14, but eased a bit to make room for Weatherford.

Holds Own Nacogdoches held its own on the strength of a 34-0 whitewashing of Gladewater; Phillips dropped two notches after beating Vernon only 18-0 and Kerrville slipped while taking the week off.

Snyder bounced back in after mauling Midland 34-22. Sweetwater and Breckenridge both open their district slates this week against teams that at least got mentioned by the coaches.

The Mustangs play at Lamesa, while the Bucks play at Brownwood. Phillips also may encounter some resistance from and-out Littlefield in a district opener, while Levelland faces a rugged Dumas entry that is rated in a tie for 13th.

Lee, Rebels Have Power, Passing, And Defense

By RED GRIGGS Daily News Sports Editor Take good power, good passing, a back who's scored four touchdowns in five games, and a good defense — put them together and what do you get? The Robert E. Lee Junior High Rebels, would be a good answer to that question, because the Rebels have all four. For that reason, they will be favored in Thursday night's game over the Pampa Junior High Reapers.

The Rebels and the Reapers meet Thursday at 7 p.m. in Harvester Park, in the first intra-city junior high clash in Pampa's history. Coach Norman Phillips has a good chance to lead his Rebels to victory in this civil (football) war. The Rebs have won three and lost two, while the Reapers are winless in five games. Lee opened its season with two shutout victories, 14-0 over Sam Houston and 8-0 over Bowie, both Amarillo schools. Then the Rebels hit a pair of double-dough teams, and lost 35-0 to Dumas and 26-8 to Phillips. In their last effort, the Lee gridders whipped Perryton 26-14.

Robert E. Lee has done somewhat better against two common foes than has Pampa Junior High. The Reapers fell before Dumas 47-0 and lost to Perryton 30-16. Robby Robison, Rebel halfback, has scored four touchdowns and three conversions for Lee. Randy Haralson, fullback, and Dennis Mills, halfback, are other Rebel power runners.

Phillips said Tuesday that while his backfield has good power, it lacks speed. "Our lack of speed prevents us from running around the end very much," Phillips said. However, the Rebels are not completely earthbound. Quarterback Butch Crossland has a good pitching arm, and has connected on some long throws. End George Simmons has snagged a couple of the long passes, one for a touchdown and one for a 50-yard extra point.

"All our backs and ends are pretty good receivers," Phillips commented. He added that halfback Charlie Fant is, along with Simmons, perhaps Lee's best pass catcher. Lee does all its running and passing from a straight T formation. Phillips rated all his defensive linemen as "about the same." He explained that "they all play pretty well most of the time, but they all make some mistakes."

Randy Haralson, linebacker, and Dennis Mills, halfback were mentioned by Phillips as outstanding defensive men in the secondary. However, he hastened to add that all his backs and linebackers were capable of doing a pretty fair job. Lee's probable starters for Thursday's game are Crossland, quarterback; Robison and Mills, halfbacks; Haralson, fullback; Mark Russell and Roy Dyer, ends; Curtis Smith and James Webb, tackles; Larry Braly and G. M. Walls, guards, and Dicky Hopkins, center. Mike Stewart and Jimmy Hoyler are probably defensive starters not going on offense.

Lee reserves are quarterbacks Lynn Houston, W. E. Pool, Roy Smith and Larry Satterwhite; halfbacks Eugene Jackson, Gerrel Owens, and Fant; fullbacks Roy Webb and Preston Parish; halfbacks Dick Batson, Michael Trimble, and Marvin Pung; centers Jerry Hill, denbrand and Jimmy Nations; guards Randy Glesler, David Trippehorn, Tommy Woodruff, John Yates, and John Hubbard; tackle Claude Bradley, and ends Mike Clark, Jerry Barrett, David Price, Jim Tarr, George Simmons, Gary Bolek, and Bob Neslage.

Lee has not been especially impressive on the ground, but has made some fair yardage through the air. Second-team quarterback Ronnie Chase and halfback Jack Criss have sparked the aerial game, and Jerry Glover, John Pitts, Dick Hafley, and Roger Merrill have proved to be capable receivers.

Lee's offense may be hampered this week by the loss of injured right halfback Travis Tucker. Tucker will probably not be able to start, according to Dobson. The Rebs' excellent defense, however, will be in tip-top physical condition. Especially tough on defense have been middle guard Dean Henderson, line backer Wilbur Walls, and halfback Hafley.

Craig's Pampa Gridders are placing their hopes for victory largely on the running and passing Larkin Miller and the pass-snagging and defensive skill of right end Randy Matson.

Gerald Vance, one of the Reaper eight-graders' best running and defensive backs, will be unable to play. Vance fractured several bones in his hand during last week's game at Dumas. Reserves for the two teams are as follows: PAMPA — Linemen: Duane Schaub, Alvin Flippen, Jerry Don Eaten; backs: Leon Bray, John Weatherly, Kenneth Collins. LEE — Dee Allen, Charles Anderson, John Brown, Bobby Bybee, Perry Cable, Dwight Chase, Ronnie Chase, Carl Clark, John Cobb, Robert Harrison, Mike Hall Cobb, Hoggatt, George Huff, Jeff Johnson, Glen McCathern, Bill Martin, Roger Merrill, Trent Olson, Howard Reed, Nelson Rockwell, and Dee Wright.

Army, the nation's No. 1 team, was a seven-point choice over Pitt in the East's top game while second-ranked Ohio State was a one-touchdown favorite over Wisconsin and sixth-ranked Iowa was a 10-point pick over 10th-ranked Northwestern in the Big Ten Conference headlines.

Ninth-ranked Notre Dame was a slim two-point favorite over Purdue and fifth-ranked Louisiana State was pegged 13 points better than Florida in the other games involving top-rated teams.

Both leaders are being hard-pressed. Bass by Billy Holsclaw of Virginia Tech for the total offense leadership and Newman by Lee Grosscup of Utah.

Gruver-Rattler Clash Among Best In 1A United Press International Springtown and Midlothian, a pair of high-scoring undefeated teams, collide this Friday in the feature contest of a busy Class A schoolboy football schedule that should find most of the division's 21 undefeated teams surviving at least another week.

Coach Clifford Clay's Springtown team is the second highest scoring outfit in Class A with a near-point-a-minute performance in seven victories, but its 39.3-point average seems sure to take a whacking against a Midlothian team that has averaged 31.8 points itself while limiting six rivals to only 12 points. The game should project the winner into the state playoffs as the 12-A representative.

A couple of the other unbeaten teams may find this week's hurdle a bit too high to clear. Gruver, for example, bumps into double-tough Stinnett's Rattlers, whose 3-1-2 record doesn't depict the true strength of the pre-natal Panhandle power.

And, Poth encounters a Yorktown team that only last week spoiled Pettus' perfect record in the only casualty among the division's list of unbeaten clubs.

The others, however, seem to be in for smooth sailing into the final three weeks of the season. Stratford plays Texhoma, Farwell meets Anton, Albany takes on Abilene Wylie, Mason engages Burnet, defending state co-champ White Oak plays Hallsville, Shelbyville tackles Hemphill, Trinity plays Wikhart, Itasca is idle, Granger-meets-Bastrop, Warren plays Sour Lake, West Orange meets Bridge City, Potet plays Carrizo Springs, Bishop meets Calallen, White Deer engages Canadian, McLean plays Menphis, Timpon takes on Joaquin, and Madisonville plays Corrigan.

Madisonville owns the best scoring record, averaging 49.3 points per game, while Shelbyville has the stingiest defense, its 48-6 win over Joaquin last week marking the first time it had yielded a point.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Oklahoma, Auburn and Mississippi are expected to have the easiest sledding among the nation's top-ranked college football teams this weekend.

The oddsmakers are quoting eighth-ranked Oklahoma as a 28-point favorite over Kansas State, third-ranked Auburn as a 14-point choice over Maryland, and seventh-ranked Ole Miss as a 15-point pick over Arkansas.

Fourth-ranked Texas, on the other hand, was rated no more than even-money for its clash with Rice. Georgia Tech vs. Southern Methodist also was tabbed a "pick 'em" affair.

Fangio started as the former and became the best of the latter, turning racing into a cold and calculated science. He walked the track for hours, inspecting the turns and searching for danger spots. The week before a race he

It was a formula which produced racing's greatest success story. Despite the encroaching years, Fangio won them all, and kept right on winning. So great was his fame that last February, before a Cuban race, he was kidnapped from his Havana hotel by Cuban rebels because they knew it would gain them world-wide attention.

National Officials Reject Weeks' National Tax Plea

By VINCENT J. BURKE United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Treasury officials and the chairman of the Republican National Congressional Committee Tuesday rejected Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks' plea for a national sales tax on manufacturers.

They asserted that the administration will not recommend such legislation despite Weeks' announcement that he will try to sell the President on the idea.

Weeks told reporters last Saturday that he will urge the administration to include in its legislative proposals next January a board uniform excise tax levied at the factory. He said federal revenue is too dependent on the income tax which falls off sharply in times of economic recession.

Weeks emphasized he was speaking only for himself. Nevertheless, the wide publicity given his statement in the closing weeks of the congressional election campaign caused some dismay among GOP campaign strategists. They feared voters might tend to associate Republican congressional candidates with Weeks' advocacy of a new and unpopular tax. Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.), chairman of the Republican National Congressional Committee, took the lead in publicly repudiating Weeks' proposal. "I have been assured by officials in the Treasury Department that the administration is not contemplating any recommendation to the Congress for the enactment of a new broadly based excise tax as recently mentioned by Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks," Simpson said.

Doubts Consideration This was confirmed by a United Press International reporter in private talks with top Treasury officials.

"We have no intention of recommending such a tax and haven't even been considering it," one official said. "You'll note that Weeks said he was speaking for himself — well, he sure was!" Simpson, a key member of the tax-writing House Ways & Means Committee, went on to say that in the absence of a recommendation from the administration he doubted that Congress would even "consider" such sweeping changes in federal excise taxes.

Various proposals for a uniform excise tax on manufacturers have but have never generated any enthusiasm in the Treasury of Congress.

Sergeant Admits To Some Charges

FT. JACKSON, S.C. (UPI) — M.Sgt. George R. Sovie admitted from the witness stand Tuesday that he made Ft. Jackson trainees eat dollar bills and hold footlockers over their heads as punishment.

But Sovie, 30, a 13-year Army veteran from Ogdensburg, N.Y., flatly denied a long list of other alleged indignities against trainees, including a charge that he ordered a recruit's head dunked in a mess hall grease trap and that he ordered another recruit to pour a can full of the malodorous scum from the grease trap into his pocket.

He denied stamping on the foot of another recruit but admitted he "kicked" the trainee's feet together when he failed to come to attention in the presence of the company commander.

Three defense witnesses praised Sovie for his efficiency and disciplinary prowess. Lt. John G. Shea, the prosecutor, rested his case this morning after calling 23 witnesses during Monday's testimony. Civilian defense lawyer William Townsend of Columbia, S.C., said he would call "six or eight" witnesses.

SEES KHRUSHCHEV LONDON (UPI) — War Minister Abdel Hakim Amer of the United Arab Republic conferred with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the Kremlin Monday. Radio Moscow reported. Relations between the two states was discussed, it was said.

Matter of FACT

Tin is the one metal of great industrial importance which is not found in valuable quantities in the United States. Almost two-thirds of the world's tin supply comes from Malaya, Indonesia and Bolivia. The United States imports every year nearly 100,000 tons at a cost of more than $200,000,000. The U.S. is the largest consumer of tin, using nearly half the world's production annually.

Thompson Products Memo To Managers On Right-To-Work

I was interested in reading a 4-page pamphlet issued by Thompson Products, Inc. on how they explained to their managers and even stockholders the right-to-work initiative that is to be voted on in six states—Ohio, California, Colorado, Kansas, Washington and Idaho.

The first four paragraphs explain that everybody should take an interest in understanding what this right-to-work initiative is intended to do. Then the folder goes on under the heading of "The Simple Truth":

"In all of the inflammatory ranting against the Right to Work in newspaper ads and on broadcasts in recent weeks, not once have we seen or heard the actual text of the proposal quoted. All the furor has been caused by these two simple sentences which make up the section which is proposed to add to the Bill of Rights of the Ohio Constitution by amendment in the general election:

"No employer or labor organization shall deny or abridge the right to work by requiring membership or non-membership in, or payment or non-payment of money to a labor organization as a condition of employment or continued employment in this state. All agreements in conflict with this section are, to the extent of such conflict, unlawful and of no effect in this state."

"That is the full, complete wording of the proposed amendment that has been so blatantly misrepresented to the voters of Ohio by leaders of the big union monopolies who want to make union membership compulsory upon every man and woman who works in this state."

The above summarizes the proposed initiative in California and Colorado. It is too bad California has a longer initiative.

The folder continues: "As you can plainly see, the truth is that the proposed amendment would simply make it unlawful for EITHER an employer or a labor union to deny anyone the right to work by requiring him to JOIN or NOT TO JOIN a union."

"It is as simple as that. The proposed law would guarantee everybody in Ohio the right to express their individual freedom of choice in selecting their place of employment and retaining their jobs REGARDLESS OF MEMBERSHIP OR NON-MEMBERSHIP in a labor organization. It's complete freedom of choice!

"It would simply grant to every working man or woman the right to make up their own minds on the question of whether or not they choose to join a particular labor organization."

"It simply means that an employee would be protected in his right to JOIN or NOT TO JOIN a union, as he sees fit. It means that an employee could not be forced to JOIN a labor union, or out of a labor union, in order to have the right to work and earn an honest living."

"Is there anything wrong or 'evil' about that?" "Almost everyone in this country takes freedom for granted. The philosophy of freedom touches on just about every phase of the daily lives of all Americans."

"Religion recognizes freedom of choice as a priceless gift from God to man."

"The right to life and liberty is a basic principle set forth in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States. Freedom of choice is the very essence of democracy."

"Nearly everyone agrees on or at least gives lip service to other basic freedoms such as free speech, press, worship and assembly."

"The Right to Work proposal on the November ballot certainly is an equally precious freedom. It would simply insure Ohioans individual freedom of choice in the matter of working for a living without paying tribute to anyone."

"What About 'Free Riders'?" "The labor monopolists advance the fallacious argument that since their organizations claim to work to improve the lot of all employees, all employees, regardless of their personal convictions, should be forced into their organizations and compelled to pay the cost of running them. Those who do not join, they claim, are 'free riders,' and should be deprived of the right to work."

"It could be argued that all of the churches, and countless service and civic organizations, farm groups, fraternal societies, etc., also work for the good of all in a community. But is this a valid reason for compelling that every citizen, regardless of his personal convictions, should be compelled to join them and support them financially?"

"Should everyone, for example, be forced to support the Citizens League or Boy Scouts, or should every veteran be compelled to join the American Legion? Should all citizens—who do not join these groups be condemned as 'free riders'?"

"The truth is that in a plant the 'free rider' argument is the bunk. In many instances where unions win the exclusive bargaining right in plants, their unsought services are thrust upon non-members who become, NOT 'free riders,' but 'forced followers' whose right to speak for themselves as individuals has been denied."

"It is no secret that there are many people in plants dominated by the powerful monopolies today

France's Anguish Caused By Political Disease

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

The anguish of France was caused in large part by a political disease that was helpful to Earl Warren in the years when he was minimizing, most denying, his allegiance to the Republican party. This disease is "cross-filing."

It was brought into existence by the late Senator Hiram Johnson in 1913, but Johnson, be it said, was a statesman of conscience amounting almost to nobility, who thought he thus would permit voters to select wisely in voting for the "man" rather than the "machine." In voting for Warren as a free-lance nominee, actually, they were mistaking as to his character, regarding him as a selfless patriot, and they were voting for Warren's own bi-partisan or non-partisan machine, after all.

"Cross-filing" is a malady that dissolves the components of the blood in the body politic. It nullifies the safeguards of the two-party system.

In France, prior to the first war, there were principal parties, but few splinters. The politicians were known and judged by their commitments. In recent years parties have been so numerous that they could be bought in bunches like asparagus and seldom were effective separately.

In New York, Dave Dubinsky's so-called Liberal party is strictly a nuisance party, with a price tag expressed in favoritism and patronage. It is European in character, being Social-Democratic or Marxist-Democratic and tainted with the evil of "labor" in the continental political meaning.

In the first two decades of this century, restless experimenters in political reform introduced proposals which probably seemed to their authors to be good. By special elections, we were to recall not only judges but even judicial decisions, as though the rank-and-file voters, educated in the issues only by painful reading or mendacious editorials and speeches, could be capable of wise adjudication of complicated cases.

We completely abandoned the old republican system of selecting senators and the practical result has been the substitution of two more congressmen from each state, but for terms of six years, not two, and in a separate house.

We destroyed the character of the Senate as a chamber of ambassadors representing their states. They became, instead, representatives of their political parties and the conduct of the McClellan committee has been an example of that gross degradation, with graceless hacks groveling for the financial support of Walter Reuther, George Meany and a generally criminal cabal.

California resembles France in that just now there is very little difference between the Democrats and the Republicans. Brown, the Democratic candidate for governor, and Knight, the Republican candidate for senator, are like two nickels. Drop either one into the slot, pull the lever and the wheels whir. Warren, a fairly smart politician who actually are paid less than they would have been if the natural law of supply and demand had been permitted to operate. In many plants there are good people who have been laid off or passed over for promotions because of iron-bound contract provisions that completely ignore the relative abilities of people. Workers are legion who have lost large sums of pay by being called out on senseless strikes over issues with which they were not in agreement.

"Should people in these situations be denied the right to personally determine whether something hurts them or helps them?" (To be continued)

It's Up To You

by Howard Kershner L. H. D.

Why Didn't Roosevelt End World War II Sooner?

Six months before the close of the War in the Pacific, Japan made peace overtures to the Allies virtually identical with those which became the basis for ending hostilities late the following summer. For reasons known possibly only to himself, President Roosevelt chose to disregard them and to continue the War. This resulted not only in the crimes of Hiroshima and Nagasaki but in the loss of tens of thousands of American lives during the next six months of bloody struggle in the Pacific.

While this story has been published, it was not widely reported in the press nor discussed by the popular magazines and radio commentators. There seems to have been a conspiracy to keep these terrible facts from penetrating the minds of the public.

Writing in the National Review, May 10, 1958, the distinguished historian, Harry Elmer Barnes, makes clear the facts as viewed by General Douglas MacArthur and our most distinguished elder statesman, Herbert Hoover.

With permission of Professor Barnes and the National Review we quote the two following paragraphs from the article in question:

"Two days before President Roosevelt left for the Yalta Conference, he had received from General Douglas MacArthur valid Japanese peace overtures virtually identical with those which were accepted in August as the basis for the Japanese surrender. They were made up of some five separate proposals, two of which came through American channels and three through British. These Japanese peace 'feelers' were not irresponsible, anonymous, 'fly-by-night' proposals but came from responsible Japanese acting for Emperor Hirohito."

General MacArthur urged President Roosevelt to start immediate negotiations with the Japanese on the basis of these overtures, and warned against inviting or urging the Russians to enter the war in the Far East."

"Roosevelt rejected MacArthur's advice and, figuratively, threw MacArthur's vitally important information and suggestions into the waste basket, with the remark that 'MacArthur is our greatest general and our poorest politician.' Roosevelt proceeded to Yalta where he granted the concessions to Russia that made the Soviet Union the dominant power in the Far East and played a crucial role in the later victory of the Communists in China. The bloody warfare in the Pacific was allowed to drag on for six more months without any real military necessity."

Professor Barnes points out that at Yalta "Russia was invited, even bribed, to enter the War against Japan, with the disastrous results we now know all too well, although Russia took no actual part in hostilities against Japan until August 8, two days after the bombing of Hiroshima. She merely waited until the War was over and picked up the War Eastern booty and spoils that Roosevelt and Churchill had almost forced on her at Yalta."

It is not known whether Churchill knew of the Japanese offer to surrender or not, but, certainly Roosevelt knew it. It is difficult to see how he could have ignored it unless he wanted to prolong the war to give Communist Russia an opportunity to gather her strength for the conquest of Eastern Asia at its close.

Twenty-two years ago, we wrote a book called "The Menace of Roosevelt and His Policy." Not until many years later did we begin to comprehend the magnitude of that menace.

Looking Sideways

By Whitney Bolton

NEW YORK — All kinds of things can go on around you in a small, seaside town. A bluff old fellow in a war corduroy suit can turn out to be not only a neighbor but a renowned scientist who does his pattering in calculated rage over crabgrass. The old man with the wrinkled face and blue eyes like a chunk of polar ice, the one who scrapes paint off a little 12-foot dory each spring while sucking at a leaky old briar pipe, can be a charming, simple, unpretentious gaffer with seven million dollars in cash and blue chip stocks, as Big Daddy says in "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof" or the lean, alert young man who fusses with an aging British car can be a novelist.

Under the benign skies of our little, salted community, no one wears a puffed chest and uses proud words.

For several years I have noticed an erect, unburied young man with a clipped mustache and a briar in and around the village. He lived, I found, right down by the seaview in a little house with an attractive wife and two young sons under five years old. This was a rigid Briton, for all his seeming casualness. The kind of Briton who, hearing of the besieged on the beach at Dunkirk and without any hue of emotion or show of hysteria, would say: "Bad thing. Expect we'd best ask the chaps with launches and cabin cruisers to make up a flotilla and get the men off the beach and safe home." Which is the way the British soldiers were got off that bloody beach.

His name, it took me two years to discover, was Gavin. John Gavin. No one seemed to know exactly what he did or how he did it, but it was acknowledged that he studied tides and clouds and winds with uncommon interest.

"They tell me," said the gnarled old man with the seven million dollars, "that he gets over to the South Shore when his wuthering and looks intently at sky and water."

That's our town, too. They use words like wuthering and use them correctly. Miss Bronte didn't make it up when she wrote "Wuthering Heights," she didn't create a word to sound stormy and gloomy and threatening. The word wuthering is fine old English, goes far back and has eloquent use.

But now we all know your young Gavin studied salt water and keeping wind and the sea of clouds. He had a job for three long years. His job was to fly the Atlantic both ways in a mythical jet airplane—and all on paper. His employers were BOAC, British Overseas Airways Corp. Three years ago they not only knew that jet transport for paying passengers was right at hand but that before one, even one, screamed out over the sea they had to know all there was to know about weather during any given day of 365, plus the averages. So, on paper, flying a ghost plane so to speak, Gavin took his insubstantial plane out over the sea. January or June, March or October, any time, any hour. What was the wind, what was the cloud layer, what was the sea itself? Carefully, painstakingly, which is also a British custom he flew 104 flights a year for three solid years before BOAC put the actually into the air and knew precisely just what to expect. Then he flew a few actual flights, testing his reports. They all checked.

And, thanks to a trim young neighbor in a small seaside town, British jets have burst into paid trans-Atlantic air travel. Their pilots can have the benefit of what John Gavin, silently checking water, air and sky for so long, learned for himself and passed on to them.

It's a nice little town. Warm, friendly, and fascinating.

All The Way

As we foresaw that it would should be followed in all cities, towns and counties, wherever funds have been collected for education.

Our reason for making this suggestion is two-fold. First it would serve to establish in the light of the federal government and also in the light of the people of this nation, that the removal of the government from educational picture in Arkansas is not an artful dodge, but a sincere relinquishment of power. This is an essential, for the Supreme Court has excellent grounds to insist that no artful dodge be employed to circumvent the purpose of its rulings.

The second reason we believe this step is an important one for the State of Arkansas to take, is that it will restore to the people that of state the financial power to undertake the private education which the children there can reasonably expect. To keep the money, now when the effort toward private support is aborting, would be unwise. Further, it would unnecessarily handicap the efforts with in the state toward a most worthy goal. It would be reasonable, in fact, to assume that many of the other states, in some measure, is facing the same problems raised by government intrusion into the educational field, although not necessarily in the same manner or the same degree of intensity.

It is up to Arkansas, now, to provide a most meritorious example of how the transfer from government operation of schools to private operation can be accomplished and, at the same time, the standards of education generally be improved. If Arkansas can do this job, the future generations of America will owe her a great debt of gratitude.

Meanwhile, however, there are one or two other matters that should be considered by the Arkansas chief executive. Apparently, some rather large sums of money have been collected by the state government in Arkansas which are earmarked for educational purposes. Since the state is now, to all intents and purposes, stepping out of the educational picture entirely, as indeed it should, then what is to become of that money?

Our suggestion to the governor would be that he immediately undertake to make a general rebate, handing the money back to the taxpayers so they may use it as they see fit. This same process has been highly productive one for a number of years. In January, word soon got out that the Pinkerton guards were working the area—and the burglars decided to go elsewhere. Many of the buildings in this block are town houses with the residents often away for long periods of time, aside from weekends.

A spokesman for the thirty who pay the bill conceded that they did not ask the government to hire more policemen or to send more foot patrolmen and the radio cars don't do the trick."

A police official, apprised of the hiring of the Pinkerton Agency, said: "There wasn't any upsurge of burglaries over in that area. The people who live there evidently got scared after hearing of a burglary and probably magnified it into a whole series of crimes. If there had been a considerable number of burglaries over there, you can bet that we would have flooded the place with cops. There was no reason for it."

A man who has been victimized by burglars several times, is Roddy McDowall, the actor, Frederick W. Roloff, outdoor editor for "Cavalier" magazine. Mr. Roloff said: "I have lived in the same apartment for the last six years. During that time I have had six attempted burglaries (breaking and entering), and unfortunately, the fourth attempt was successful. I lost what seems to be the usual — an expensive camera, a slide projector, some cash."

"I am typical of thousands in the 17th precinct. There have been five burglaries in the last month. One of these was actually done while the tenant was gone. There's nothing like coming home and finding a splintered door frame and your house pawed over by some tawny swine."

In any case, it seems that protection, like any other service, can be supplied by private enterprise. And admittedly, this type of protection at the moment is costly. Still, if the demand for it increases, and the means for providing it are thus multiplied, who knows how inexpensive it could ultimately become? Meanwhile, it obviously is effective.

While we're thinking of the high cost of police protection, a story which appeared in the New York Herald Tribune last month might get some well-deserved attention. It seems that the residents of one square block on the east side of Manhattan got tired of repeated attempts made to burglarize their places. So, they organized a local committee, consisting of thirty persons who live within that single square. Each of the 30 contributes a sum of $20 per month. With that money the Pinkerton Detective Agency was hired to patrol the area and to keep away burglars and other unsavory characters.

The block in question runs from Second to Third Avenues and includes both sides of Sixty-first and Sixty-second streets. Among those who live there are Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Faye Emerson, John Gimpther, Beardsley Ruml, Aly Khan and Tallulah Bankhead. Most of these folks have long been advocates of high taxes and devotees of the idea that government can always do a great job. But it seems when it comes to self-protection, a person must be practical, not theoretical. And these good people want to be protected practically, despite their various and sundry theories.

Anyway, Pinkerton is on the job now. And, strangely, there hasn't been a burglary in that block since Pinkerton's took over. The patrolling began last January, and all has been serene since.

There had been a great many burglaries on the square block according to one of the residents, who said that since the agency was hired there have been no break-ins and thievery has stopped.

Naturally, while only thirty are paying the bill, everybody living in the block has benefited by this protection since the Pinkerton men have to circle the whole block and aren't particularly impressed with the addresses of those who have paid up. While the guards were hired primarily to keep burglars away, they have the effect of eliminating muggers and rapists and also of controlling looters.

In fact, as one property owner explained, where the block had

Free Enterprise Cops

Many of the buildings in this block are town houses with the residents often away for long periods of time, aside from weekends.

Dispatches from Washington say America may lend military assistance to Chiang Kai-shek but only under certain TRIED AND TRUE rules. The rules are that the Reds will be allowed to bomb Chiang's bases but that he won't be allowed to bomb theirs. Those rules have been TRIED all right. They led to our defeat in Korea. But just who are they TRUE to?
