TOY DRIVE BEGINS

OLD TOYS NEEDED BY FIREMEN

Pampa firemen this week began their annual drive to collect worn-out toys for needy children in the Pampa area. Captain Paul Skidmore, head of the 1958 drive, told the Daily News today the firemen need more toys, games or books, and the means to put them in shape—enamel paint of all colors (no lacquer), and several small paint brushes. "What we need are toys that can be repaired," said Skidmore. "Most of them, with a little paint and a few new bolts, can be made as good as new. They make wonderful Christmas gifts for some little boy or girl." Toys, paint and brushes can be brought to any Pampa fire station. Enquiries can be made by calling the fire station office, MO 4-6441. Among gifts already donated are numerous stuffed animals, toy autos, sports equipment and books.

Russia Releases Note On Geneva

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG United Press International GENEVA (UPI)—The Soviet Union made public today a formal note to the United States declaring the Geneva talks on preventing surprise attacks are useless unless they are linked directly with disarmament. The Soviet statement broadcast by Moscow Radio Tuesday night threw the East-West talks here into even-lighter deadlock. The note, handed to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, said the purpose of the Geneva talks "is to work out practical recommendations for measures to prevent a surprise attack, coupled with definite steps in disarmament." "Without these steps, it is useless to consider the question of preventing a surprise attack," the note said. The note was in reply

Selection Underway

The Executive Board, Pampa Chamber of Commerce, was to meet at 1:30 p.m. today to begin selection of work committees for the year ahead, President Warren Hasse reported. Hasse expects the choice of committee chairman and board representatives to be completed in time for the board of directors meeting Monday noon. The Executive Board is made up of Hasse, H. V. Wilks, vice president, and Don Cain, finance chairman. Tentative plans call for a luncheon meeting Dec. 3 at which time members will engage in a "66" type discussion. Seated six to a table, they will gather suggestions for civic improvement to bring before the chairman at the close of the meeting. The luncheon will take place in the Palm Room of City Hall.

Hussein Being Blasted By Outside Broadcasts

By LARRY COLLINS United Press International BEIRUT (UPI)—The Cairo and Damascus radios resumed their attacks on Jordan's King Hussein today. One Cairo broadcast said Hussein was in league with Israel on the timing of the Monday air incident in which Syrian jet fighters chased Hussein's private plane back to Jordan shortly after he had taken off for Europe on vacation. The broadcast said the "joint effort" by Hussein and Israel was "contrived to create a problem through which an attempt could be made to defame the United Arab Republic." It predicted Hussein would renew his appeal for "foreign intervention and the occupation of Jordan." Ready U. N. Fight Cairo took note of Jordan's decision to report the Syrian MIG incident to the United Nations and advised its own delegation to be ready to fight any complaint Jordan makes. Informed sources in Cairo said the government was sending full details to UAR delegate Omar Loufi in case Jordan does make a complaint. Other Syrian and Cairo broadcasts poked fun at Hussein's account and said he "should use his dramatic talents in Hollywood where people like adventures and imaginary acts of heroism." Baghdad Radio said Monday's incident was "nothing but a comedy staged by Hussein and his British masters and his Zionist allies." Israel is considered the No. 1 foe of all Arab nations and the radio's linking of Hussein with Israel might weaken his cause. Carte Blanche Powers A dispatch from Amman said Jordan's parliament had given the government of Premier Samir Rifai carte blanche powers to deal with the plane incident after Rifai told the legislators Jordan would protest to the United Nations. The Middle East tension communicated itself to Beirut, where two bombs exploded Tuesday night, injuring three persons and

United Fund Goes Over Halfway Point

The Pampa-Lefors United Fund Campaign is over the halfway mark, General Campaign Chairman Clyde Dickerson announced today. The United Fund now amounts to $35,117.50 of its $64,000 goal. Heavy returns are awaited from Max Bolick's Oil & Gas Division and W. L. Loving's Industrial Division which, in all probability, will swell the Fund to $50,000 by Monday.

Last Big City Boss Dies

BOSTON (UPI)—James Michael Curley, last of America's big city political bosses, died today, just eight days before his 84th birthday. The life-long Democrat had made good progress during the week following his operation, but he suffered a sudden weak spell Tuesday night. He was taken into emergency surgery shortly after. Curley amazed physicians only two years ago, with his rapid recovery from a massive internal hemorrhage caused by a fall that fractured both shoulders. The day following the surgery he was wisecracking with his doctors. To the end, Curley, who was born Nov. 20, 1874, in a Boston tenement, remained a fighter. In 1955 he made his last unsuccessful bid to regain the office of mayor he prized so highly. Always Was Colorful He was licked by Mayor John B. Hynes, the quiet city clerk who replaced Curley in 1947 when he went to Federal Prison for mail fraud right after being elected mayor. Curley spent only five months behind bars and finished both considerable damage. Both blew up within minutes of each other in the eastern sector of Beirut. The first explosion occurred in a furniture factory, injuring three passersby. The second happened in front of the home of a minor official of the intelligence service. He said eventually the parts would pile up in the company's 23 factories still in production to a point where they too would have to be closed. This would boost the number of idled Chrysler Workers from the present figure to 95,000, the total employment of the company, including both production and salaried workers. Chrysler's total employment breaks down into 65,000 production or hourly rated employees, 8,000 salaried employees are members of the United Auto Workers Union and 2,000 salaried employees who are not union members. Leary said the salaried workers' strike would close all the company's car-making operations within a matter of days. Picket lines were set up at many of the plants this morning despite an announcement by the United Auto Workers Tuesday that the picket lines would be withdrawn while shifts were changing to allow production workers to report for work without a strike. By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY United Press International HAVANA (UPI)—Thirty-two persons, including two American sailors, who were aboard two Cuban airliners hijacked by the rebels were released during a truce that ended at 6 p. m. Tuesday the Cuban Red Cross said today. The prisoners were delivered to Cuban government and Red Cross officials at the village of Alto Songo in Oriente Province at noon Tuesday and taken by convoy to the Moncada army headquarters at Santiago de Cuba. They included 28 passengers and six crewmen of two DC-3 airliners hijacked Oct. 21 and Nov. 5 on flights across Cuba. The Americans were identified as U. S. Navy Airman Robert M. Montgomery of Miami, Fla., and William Parker Woolman. A spokesman for Cubana Airlines said the rebels also returned the body of an 8-month old girl who accidentally strangled while in rebel hands when food lodged in her windpipe. Capt. Francisco Valliciego, pilot of the plane hijacked last Oct. 21, was wounded slightly when a pistol carried by one of the rebels fired accidentally. However, all the prisoners said they received excellent treatment while with the rebels.

Red Officials Back Down On Western Berlin Threats

PLANTS CLOSED

Strike Paralyzes Chrysler Output

By JACK VANDENBERG UPI Automotive Editor DETROIT (UPI)—Chrysler Corporation's production of 1959 cars was paralyzed today when it was forced to close all of its assembly and body plants because of a strike by 8,000 office workers. Most of the company's 65,000 production workers reported for work as usual at the beginning of the first shifts this morning, some of them crossing picket lines established by the office workers. But refusal of unionized truck drivers to cross the picket lines with truck loads of new car bodies and difficulties in carrying out operations without the salaried workers soon forced the company to close all of the plants. The last assembly plant to close down was the Plymouth and Dodge assembly plant at Newark,

Del., where the company sent 2,500 production workers home because it could get along "just so long" without an office staff. More to Be Idled Other closed plants included the Plymouth body and assembly plants, the Imperial assembly plant, the Dodge assembly plant, the Jefferson assembly plant, the Dodge truck assembly plant, the Mound Road engine plant, the Lynch Road gear and axle plant, the Chrysler foundry and the Amplex-Harper plant, all in Detroit, the Plymouth body and assembly plants in Evansville, Ind., and the Chrysler assembly plant in Los Angeles, idling more than 21,800 workers on the first shifts alone. The number of idled workers was expected to be swelled by second shift workers being sent home when they report for work this afternoon. The Mound Road engine plant was the first plants to be affected by the salaried workers' strike. A company spokesman said its 900 employees were sent home because of a shortage of engine parts from other plants. Chrysler Vice President John D. Leary explained the plants could not operate long without the salaried workers because many of them operated electronic machines which cut routing orders by which parts were sent to various factories for assembly. He said eventually the parts would pile up in the company's 23 factories still in production to a point where they too would have to be closed. This would boost the number of idled Chrysler Workers from the present figure to 95,000, the total employment of the company, including both production and salaried workers. MARY ANN KELLEY ... Lifesaver

PHS Twirler Given Red Cross Award

Miss Mary Ann Kelley, popular Pampa High School twirler, today became the second Pampa in two months to receive the Certificate of Merit, highest award given by the American Red Cross. She is the girl who saved little Cindy Lou Klock of Dumas from a death by drowning at the Episcopal Youth Camp, near Amarillo, July 9. The earlier award went to Harry Glen Hoyler III in October for his swimming rescue of Michael Luther, 5, near the Duncan Street Bridge, Aug. 8. A PHS senior, Miss Kelly accepted her award at a high school assembly this morning. James Hart, water safety chairman of the Pampa Red Cross, presented the certificate. According to Hart, Miss Kelley is the 112th Texas resident to receive this honored recognition. Awards for saving life were established by the Red Cross in 1913. The life saving incident on which

Statements Are Sharply Contrasted By Premier

By JOSEPH B. FLEMING United Press International

BERLIN (UPI)—East German Premier Otto Grotewohl and Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz backed down today on their threats to take over isolated Western Berlin. The two Communist officials, faced by Western determination to hold the city by force, made conciliatory statements today which contrasted sharply with earlier Red statements. Grotewohl, in one of his rare news conferences, denounced as "sensational" Western reports that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev planned to turn over four power occupation rights to East Germany. He said the main point of Khrushchev's speech was not Berlin but the demand that Germany be given a peace treaty. Bolz even sidetracked an opportunity to assert that the East Germans will take over control of West Berlin's lifelines to West Germany through the Soviet Zone. Bolz was asked if the East German-Soviet agreement under which the Soviets retain the right to pass Western Allied traffic to Berlin would be revised or annulled. He replied, "If changes are necessary they will be followed in a general settlement." Grotewohl holds a news conference once a year at the most, and when today's was announced it was thought he might announce official nullification of the city's four-power status and East German takeover of control of the routes to the West. Grotewohl did make mild attacks on the Western position in the city, but they were mild when read in context of his statement. He did not repeat Communist threats against the West or say they must leave the city. It appeared that the Communists had abandoned for the time being at least any plans they might have had for a direct attempt to force out Western powers. Though West Berliners themselves showed no sign of fear, they were aware they might be facing another test of their ability to hold out under Communist pressure. Some were convinced there would be another deadly Red blockade. West Berliners were reassured by their leaders that they could trust Allied security pledges to hold the city—including a pledge by the U. S. State Department to (See BERLIN, Page 3)

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I read your column every day to see if I can find someone as crazy as I was. I lived with this man for 15 years and we have two children. Not once did he ask me if I wanted to get married. When we got together he had nothing, but now he is sitting pretty. He worked hard for what he has but I helped him. Everyone thinks we are man and wife. I am sick of bringing up the subject because he says a little piece of paper doesn't make any difference. He doesn't run around on me and he treats me better than some married men treat their wives, but how do I get him to legalize my name?

LIVING IN SIN
Dear Living: (You are EXISTING; he is LIVING) Perhaps he doesn't realize that you two could go quietly to a clergyman and have him perform a simple ceremony. No filing, no public notices, no waiting. Ask your clergyman.

DEAR ABBY: Our sister is 74 years old and she has money piling up under the Old Age Benefits, but believe it or not she won't collect it because she doesn't want to admit her age. I've tried to talk to her and so have others, but it is like talking to a brick wall. How can we convince her that she should forget her vanity and take what she has coming to her under the Law?

HER SISTERS
Dear Sisters: Contact your local Social Security office. They've heard that song before and will be glad to furnish you with some convincing arguments.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is an overly neat wife. She gave away my fishing hat and all the fishing clothes I had. She also cleaned me out of every comfortable pair of shoes I wore for gardening and around the house. My High School sweater is also missing and I kept it for 14 years. As soon as I get used to something she gives it away. She says she can't stand shabby things around. How can I cure her once and for all?

PLAIN MAD
Dear Plain: Every woman has a favorite extra comfortable old girly. Confiscate it and see if that doesn't snap her back to attention.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 64-year-old woman who has been taking care of a 93-year-old man for two years. I have never had a day off in all that time. I do his cooking, cleaning, laundry and even gardening (75 ft. by 200 ft.). He found out I could do office work so I am also taking care of his finances. He willed me $10,000 but he told his lawyer he has no intention of letting me have it as he is going to try to outlive me and the way things are going, the chances are good. I draw $250 a month. He is as mean as the devil himself and pretends to be sleeping when I pass by him, but he will pinch me hard. I don't drink or smoke. Should I walk out or wait?

TIRED
Dear Tired: Your present working conditions are far from ideal, but many a 64-year-old woman would be glad to change places with you. If you can get a job more to your liking, take it — otherwise stay where you are. Your job will do in a pinch. (P. S. How hard can a 93-year-old man pinch?)

CONFIDENTIAL TO PRAN: Trying to stop an affair at this stage is like trying to stop a toboggan going full speed ahead. But remember — you deliberately climb.

MARTIN-TURNER INSURANCE

"Emotional Security" Program Topic For Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority Meet

Beta Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma held its regular meeting Saturday at 2:30 in the home of Mrs. Wm. Karr of Canadian.

Mrs. Kenneth Walters, president, presided during the business session. Following the report from the Council of Clubs by Mrs. Sam Irwin, the society voted to cooperate with other Pampa clubs making donations to the tuberculosis sanatorium in San Antonio and to the children's nursery in Pampa.

Miss Evelyn Milano, chairman of the scholarship committee, announced plans for a silver offering to be made at the December meeting.

A panel composed of Mrs. Burniece Johnson, Mrs. R. T. Foster, and Mrs. Weldon Reno of Groom presented a discussion on "Emotional Security." They stressed the importance of recognizing the early danger signals of emotional disturbances, preventative steps to be taken, and proper treatment of the mentally ill.

Mental illness has become America's number one health problem with more than one half of the hospital beds today occupied by its victims. "Mental health is everybody's business," Mrs. Johnson stressed.

"People living beyond their speed limit," Mrs. Johnson continued, "is a contributing factor to the problem."

The panel pointed out that parents and teachers need to realize that prevention of mental illnesses begin at birth. "The atmosphere of the home with proper attitudes between mother and father is of utmost importance."

Absorbing interest, hobbies, counseling, and a feeling of being cherished but not possessed promote growth in good mental health, are among the factors described by the panel.

"For proper treatment of the mentally ill," the panel concluded, "your doctor is the first person to call. If a specialist is needed, he can make recommendations."

Approximately fifty members from Panhandle, White Deer, Groom, Mobeetie, Shamrock, Pampa, and Canadian attended the meeting.

Hostesses were Miss Daisy Childers, Mmes. Lillian Carr, Wm. Karr, Gracie Harris, Alfred S. Jackson, and George L. Pounds.

Miss Fugate Is Expected To Testify Today

By MARGUERITE DAVIS
United Press International
LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Caril Ann Fugate, 15, charged with aiding and abetting in murder, was expected to testify today in her own defense. The prosecution's last "witness" was Caril's unsigned statement about her part in the slaying of 10 persons last January. County Atty. Elmer Scheele had read all but 15 pages of the 166-page statement before court adjourned Monday for the Veterans Day holiday. Caril contended she was the innocent captive of her boy friend, Charles Starkweather, 19, accompanying him in the vain hope that she could save the lives of her family. She said he told her they were being held hostage and would be safe if she obeyed him. Starkweather has admitted slaying 11 persons, one of them last December while alone, and 10 others last January while accompanied by Caril. The state charges she helped Starkweather along his murderous course, and specifically accuses her of aiding in the murder of Robert Jensen, 17, last Jan. 27.

STRIKE

out crossing a picket line. A company spokesman said he presumed the picket lines were up because the union still had not had time to organize its strike procedures. No Resumption Date Set. No date was set for a resumption of negotiations, which were adjourned Tuesday after a 17-hour marathon session. The UAW said it would seek an early resumption of the talks. The company and union early last month reached agreement covering 65,000 production workers across the country. No settlement was reached then for the 8,000 of Chrysler's 3,000 salaried workers covered by the UAW. The strike was called when another month of bargaining failed to produce agreement, with the talks still deadlocked over three major issues — wage inequities, wage progression raises and area wide seniority. The union attempted to place the blame for closing the assembly plants on the company. Salaried workers picket lines were ordered withdrawn at shift changes to allow production workers to report without crossing picket lines. Ignore UAW Order. However, some salaried workers refused to heed the UAW order and remained picketing all day Tuesday. Chrysler truck drivers, who deliver parts from plant to plant in the Detroit area, also would not cross picket lines, creating shortages at key factories. The UAW said the strike would not affect Chrysler's defense operations, including an Army missile plant near Detroit and a tank facility in Delaware. The only two assembly plants operating Tuesday were at Newark, Del., and Los Angeles. The Newark plant produces Plymouths and Dodges and the Los Angeles plant Plymouths, Dodges, De Sotos and Chryslers. The plants employ 3,400,000. The plants closed down included the Imperial assembly plant, the Dodge truck assembly plant, the Plymouth body and assembly plants and the Jefferson assembly plant, all in Detroit, and the Plymouth body and assembly plants in Evansville, Ind. The shutdowns at all except the Jefferson plant were caused by refusal of truck drivers to cross the picket lines. At the Jefferson plant, 3,000 production workers went out for lunch and did not return. Highland Park engineering was the largest striking white collar unit with 2,043 engineers and clerical workers.

China Will Increase Its Armed Force

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Vice President and Premier Chen Cheng said today Nationalist China will increase its military strength to reunite divided China. Chen told a group of top Nationalist leaders at a meeting commemorating the 92nd anniversary of the birth of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen that a stronger military force was needed to battle the Communists on the mainland. Nationalist China pledged in a joint statement with the United States last month not to use force as a primary means of reconquering the mainland. But, Chen warned today, "Not only will we not reduce our military strength, but we will also continue to strengthen and solidify our military strength as a means to achieve our mission of fighting the Communists and reuniting our country." In Manila, the Manila Chronicle reported today that Nationalist and Communist China were negotiating a peace treaty. A dispatch from Hong Kong said that neutral overseas businessmen were acting as go-betweens. The report said agreement would be based on recognition of the Nationalist regime by the Communists, withdrawal of U.S. troops from Formosa and agreement on the status of overseas Chinese. Communist Chinese mainland guns remained silent today, continuing the alternate day ceasefire. The Reds hurled 693 shells at the Quemoy offshore islands Tuesday.

BERLIN

If necessary to save Berlin. Bonn, the West German capital, buzzed with conferences between the federal government and American, British and French diplomats whose countries agreed with the defeat of Nazi Germany to occupy Berlin with the Soviet Union. East German Deputy Premier Hans Loch said Tuesday night the Western Allies must get out of Berlin because they have broken the Potsdam agreement which provided for four-power occupation. His statement went far beyond the one by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Monday night, touching off the present crisis. Khrushchev said Russia was withdrawing from the agreement and turning its role over to Communist East Germany. The Communist government, in a major effort to win recognition from the West, moved swiftly. Loch stated flatly the Western Allies must "get out of Berlin."

Agenda Being Laid Out By Congressmen

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congressional leaders are laying out for the heavily Democratic 86th Congress, a program of housing, farm, labor reform and economic legislation for which they believe the voters spoke in Tuesday's landslide election.

Speaker Sam Rayburn rejected President Eisenhower's "radical" label for the new Congress, said it was Eisenhower himself who had turned out to be history's big spender and promised for the new Congress a constructive course geared to the country's best interests.

In a telephone interview from his home at Bonham, Tex., the veteran Democratic leader said Tuesday's balloting — in which Democrats added 13 Senate seats and at least 44 House seats to the majorities they already held in both houses — stacked up as a protest against recession, high prices and the Benson farm program, and that it reflected also general disappointment in the leadership of President Eisenhower.

Forecasters Labor Reform Bill. Although no formal legislative goals have as yet been set for the new Congress Rayburn forecast passage of:

—A housing bill, its details still to be worked out, but presumably to embody key alum clearance and college housing 'loan features of a Democratic measure which the House this year failed to pass.

—A new Kennedy-Ives labor reform bill or something along it lines to combat racketeers as exposed in some unions by Senate investigators. Although such a bill was passed by the Senate in the 85th Congress the House turned it down.

—Farm legislation "to straighten out some of the kinks" in the Benson farm program, dissatisfaction with which apparently was a factor in election of a number of Democratic House members from farm state districts that previously were Republican.

Records show that 16.9 per cent of all U.S. households own more than one auto, compared to only 6.2 per cent in 1949.

Italians Drink Wine For Sake Of Health; Thus No Trouble

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Here are the main reasons why Italians are among the world's heaviest consumers of alcohol but at the same time have one of the lowest rates for alcoholism in the world. They drink wine and they drink it for health, in their opinion, and rarely for stimulation. To them wine-drinking is taken for granted—it causes no comment and needs no defense. And they eat when they drink.

This is from the final report of a years-long comparative study of the drinking and eating of 247 representative Italians and 251 representative descendants of Italian emigrants to the United States.

These Americans do not handle alcohol nearly as well as their racial brethren in Italy, the study showed. They consume less alcohol but have a much higher rate of alcoholism.

They drink whisky and beer in the United States rather than wine and they drink not for health but to be "sociable" and for kicks. They separate drinking and eating, and they find it necessary to defend even moderate drinking. In these and other particulars they conform to the common American "pattern."

The detailed scientific study was under the auspices of the

Tony, Jack Pull Expensive Prank

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Director Billy Wilder was the victim of a Tony Curtis-Jack Lemmon practical joke that resulted in some spectacular footage that will never be seen on the screen.

Wilder, a bustling, intent little man, was preparing a ganster banquet scene in which 25 bent-nose hoodlums were to sing "for he's a jolly good fellow." During the action a mammoth papier mache cake was rolled on stage.

Now the script called for Edward G. Robinson Jr. to pop out of the confection, machine gun in hand, and promptly mow down George Raft and a couple of side-kicks.

Fine. But what happens? After lengthy rehearsal the cameras were set in motion and Wilder beamed with pride as the action unfolded.

when he didn't have anything to say," Tony grinned. "Boy, we really got him that time. I thought he would faint."

"We've been planning this for two days," Jack went on. "It was a real job smuggling the girl into the cake without Billy catching on."

Marilyn Is Absent

The gag cost the actors about $20,000 but they considered it well worth the trouble and expense. Both Lemmon and Curtis agree he is one of the finest directors in the business—and a good guy to boot.

"It was a lot better this way," Tony observed, "than if we'd gotten mushy about trying to tell him how much we appreciate all he's done on this picture (Some Like It Hot)."

Co-star Marilyn Monroe was absent from the festivities. Jean Hildey, the girl in the cake, is a Moulou Rouge show girl, a former stripper. Other than cramped muscles from hiding in the cake for half an hour, Jean suffered only minor scratches from the rough plaster sides of the cake—and perhaps a chill.

"It was a very sweet thing for the boys to cook up," Billy said after the excitement died down. "But it ruined the take. So back to work, let's do it again. Next girl... er, ah... next take, please."

Out Pops Girl

Then to his total bewilderment the top of the cake popped open and instead of young Robinson appearing, a flame-haired, nude girl jumped up, quivering.

Wilder staggered with surprise as cast and crew broke into "for he's a jolly good fellow"—directed at Billy.

The cameras continued to roll as Wilder, red-faced but pleased as punch, accepted a smaller cake with the "good fellow" inscription written out in script.

During the confusion Lemmon and Curtis collapsed with mirth. "Did you catch the look on his face," Jack gasped.

"First time I ever saw Billy

Taller and Fatter

The Americans of Italian descent were both taller and fatter than the Italians, they had had more education and had a higher standard of living. They were "heavy eaters" and ate large while the Italians were "moderate eaters" and also monotonous eaters. The Americans were "irregular, sporadic" eaters.

The report found that the "drinking behavior" of Italians "provides a variety of protections against some dangerous effects of alcoholic beverage." But when Italians become Americans these protections are lost. The study traced increasing degrees of loss in first, second, and third generation Italo-Americans.

It gave emphasis to the psychological side of American drinking. In Italy, this side is minor, since wine is a food, like any food. But in America, "the custom of using alcoholic beverages separately from other food items—notably at the cocktail hour—is linked with a search for the psychological effects of alcohol." And this "cannot fail to favor those conditions which are conducive to intoxication and the excessive use of alcohol."

Bulldogs Depend on Weight In Line, Single Wing Power

By RED GRIGGS Daily News Sports Editor

Saturday, for the first time in several weeks, the Harvesters will play a team they have at least an even chance of beating.

The Plainview Bulldogs will, however, have two things going for them - a lot of weight in the line and the single wing formation, unfamiliar to the Harvesters.

The Bulldogs have a line averaging 185 pounds. Four men on the line weigh 190 or more.

Buzz Warren, in his third year as Bulldog coach, uses the single wing exclusively. He has not been too successful with it this year...

Returning defensive regulars are back Elgin Conner, 165, guard Mike Bates, 195, and end Butch Hannard.

Conner and Stokes alternate at the tailback and wingback positions. All last year's regulars, except Hannard, are regular offensive starters.

Six boys who are either lettermen or squadmen battle it out for the other three starting positions. Jimmy Carter and Ray Strickel, both lightweights, are blocking backs.

Schoendienst May Have TB

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Joy and sorrow came back-to-back for Albert "Red" Schoendienst.

Last week the switch - hitting second baseman of the Milwaukee Braves celebrated the birth of his fourth child and his first boy, and Tuesday, just eight days later, Red learned that he may have tuberculosis.

There is, as yet, no positive diagnosis.

Dr. Raymond T. Martin, his physician, put it this way: "There's no proof of tuberculosis yet but it's one of the possibilities. Tests so far have been inconclusive."

Martin said he notified John J. Quinn, vice president and general manager of the Braves, of Schoendienst's condition after the news leaked out that he had entered St. John's Hospital for a checkup.

Schoendienst, a Germantown, Ill., native who spent most of his playing career with the St. Louis Cardinals, will be 26 next February.

Swapped to the San Francisco Giants in 1957, Red was traded to the Braves in the middle of that season.

In Milwaukee, Braves trainer Robert "Doc" Feron and club physician Dr. Bruce Brewer, received the news of Schoendienst's illness with amazement and concern.

Brewer said Red had passed a post-season physical examination although he had numerous colds during the season.

"Also he complained of soreness in the chest," Brewer said, "and we believed for a time that he might be suffering from pleurisy."

The Pampa Daily News YOUR FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is not license. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, The Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Hoover Commission

It is our purpose here to pay tribute to the service performed by a devoted group of Americans. We are referring to the Hoover Commission, and to the men and women associated with Mr. Hoover in a mammoth job of research and compilation aimed at bringing economy into government.

This report, issued in 1949 and filling 19 volumes of printed matter, included 273 specific recommendations. These recommendations were of a pattern, each one striving to streamline government organization, to create greater efficiency, to eliminate overlapping, duplication and waste.

Greatness Declines

We can only say we hope readers of the Saturday Evening Post's "Adventures of the Mind" for the week of November 1, will persevere to the end. Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr. is the author, and his particular contribution to thought is entitled, "The Decline of Greatness."

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOLLES "Whose Eye Should Be At The Keyhole?" The Unitarian Register has an interesting article in their October magazine on the subject of "Whose eye should be at the keyhole?"

"Article IV of the United States Bill of Rights guarantees that the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated."

There is just one nagging fact that must not be overlooked. So far as we can discover, there has been no greater efficiency created as a result of the enactment of policies and laws recommended by the Hoover Commission.

North and South have a cheap save at four spades against West's heart game, but not one pair at the summer Nationals chose to take it.

The normal opening lead was a trump and West would lead a spade to dummy. North usually played the ace and led back the queen, whereupon declarer would take dummy's king, ruff the last spade, draw the last trump and lead a diamond. North would take his king and play a second diamond to his partner's ace.

At this point, South would see that he could not afford a third diamond lead and would play the deuce of clubs. West's eight would force North's jack and West would proceed to finesse against South's queen and make his contract.

If North plays the king of diamonds right after winning his ace of spades he can beat the hand, since declarer will have to play the clubs himself, but no North player found that defense.

However, a couple of Souths did find a defense. Instead of playing the deuce of clubs they led the queen. This fooled West and he won in dummy and played South for having the club jack also. Curtains for West! Top for South!

Nobel Prize Winner Backs Theory With 'Miracle' Belief

SCIENCE TODAY
By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Harold C. Urey, a Nobel Prize winner and one of America's most distinguished scientists, believes in one "miracle." That is that "now and then" the head of a comet collides with the earth and causes an explosion that can be compared only to the blast of "some million or more atomic bombs."

This would be a "miracle" (as well as a staggering disaster) because science can show such a collision is "highly improbable." But Urey acknowledged his belief in it while arguing with a scientific colleague whom he accused of believing in a much greater "miracle."

Urey implied that Dr. T. P. Kohman, evidently believes earth-like rocks can somehow accumulate in the vast reaches of "the great cold vacuum" of outer space and there encounter the extremely high temperatures of some 2,700 degrees (F) needed to melt them. Urey was being sarcastic, of course, but for a purpose.

Origins Debated

He was endeavoring to destroy Kohman's theory that tektites are not of this earth although they are found in some parts of it but are a very special kind of meteorites or cosmic debris which acquired their highly individualistic properties in the space that separates the stars.

The origin of tektites has been the subject of a scientific argument for generations. Tektites are glassy globes shaped like buttons or pear, indicating they had been in flight while in a molten state. They're entirely unique among the earth's large variety of stones and they're found only in widely scattered belts—in Texas, North Africa, Australia and Czechoslovakia.

Urey's attack upon the Kohman theory was in support of his own theory that tektites originated on the earth. His theory has all the logic on its side, he said, since it accounts for all the peculiarities.

Their chemical composition is "remarkably similar" to the more acid of earth's sedimentary rocks, which suggests they once were sedimentary rocks. To make a sedimentary rock into a tektite you would need a melting temperature of 2,732 degrees (F) and no such high temperatures occurs naturally on the earth's surface.

Tektites Once Molten
But if a comet's head collided with the earth such a high temperature would be commonplace around the point of impact. And globes of sedimentary rock in the molten state would be put into flight in a direct line away from this point of impact.

In this way his theory accounts for the obvious fact that tektites once were in a molten state, for their distribution in belt-like patterns, and for their chemical similarity to the earth's rocks. Kohman had buttressed his theory by reporting the detection, in trace amounts, of minerals not found on earth. This Urey dismissed by challenging the accuracy of the detection techniques.

The argument is taking place in the International technical journal, "Nature," where Kohman will answer Urey in due course. Both are nuclear chemists. Urey provided much of the chemical spawwork for the atomic bomb. He is a University of Chicago professor currently working and teaching in England. Kohman is a professor at the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh.

Religious Feeling Ebbs In Politics

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Religious prejudice appears to be a rapidly diminishing factor in American politics.

That conclusion stands out from an analysis of last week's election results. It has practical political significance in that it heightens the possibility that Sen. John F. Kennedy or some other Catholic candidate may win a place on the 1960 Democratic presidential ticket.

Kennedy's own re-election in Massachusetts, a state with a large Catholic population, does not of itself prove anything. Vincent J. Celeste, the Republican opponent whom Kennedy crushed by a 3-to-1 majority, also is a Catholic.

Much more meaning can be read into the Senate race in strongly Lutheran Minnesota, where Catholic Eugene J. McCarthy, a Democrat, unseated veteran GOP Sen. William J. Thye, a Lutheran.

Other Catholic candidates who scored major victories in predominantly non-Catholic states were: Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, who unseated Sen. William F. Knowland, a Methodist, in California.

David L. Lawrence, who defeated Lutheran Arthur T. McGonigle to become the first Catholic governor in Pennsylvania's history.

Philip A. Hart, who defeated incumbent Sen. Charles Potter, Methodist, in Michigan.

Michael V. DeSalle, who defeated incumbent Gov. C. William O'Neill, a Baptist, in Ohio.

Edmund S. Muskie, elected to the Senate in Maine's Sept. 8 balloting, also is a Catholic. He defeated a Congregationalist, Sen. Frederick G. Payne.

The other side of the coin is that Catholic candidates lost in two states which have heavy Catholic populations. They were Frank S. Hogan, defeated for the Senate in New York by Presbyterian Kenneth B. Keating, and Thomas D'Alesandro, defeated for the Senate in Maryland by Episcopalian Glenn Beall.

A Jewish candidate, Gov. Abraham Ribicoff, won re-election in Connecticut by the biggest plurality ever recorded in a Connecticut gubernatorial race. His opponent, Fred R. Zeller, is a Baptist.

The candidates' religious faith was not an overt issue in any of the above-mentioned contests.

Business Views

United Press International

Steel magazine forecast fourth quarter steel output of about 26 million tons, which would boost the year's total output to 85 million tons. The magazine said that operations during the fourth quarter would average about 74 per cent of capacity, against 54.1 per cent in the first two quarters and 60.1 per cent in the third.

New car sales in October rose to 292,000 units from 255,600 in September. Top spokesmen for General Motors, Ford, Chrysler, American Motors and Studebaker-Packard all have expressed optimism over the outlook for 1959 volume. Sales of 1959 Fords, according to the company, in the first two weeks since their introduction ran 8 per cent ahead of the corresponding 1957 period.

The tool and die industry, a key barometer of industrial activity, is showing some signs of a surge in business. An industry survey by its trade association showed that farm equipment activity is leading the recovery parade. Average activity was reported in appliances, automotive accessories, electronics, aircraft, missile development and business machines.

The Treasury this Friday is expected to offer 21-day tax anticipation bills designed to raise three billion dollars of additional cash. This would satisfy new money needs for calendar 1958, but the Treasury is expected to have to borrow up to $4,500,000 in the first quarter of 1959.

Court Will Not Take Back Seat

NEW YORK (UPI)—U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has reported that the court will not "take a back seat" to demands that its power be curbed.

Declaring that "despots dislike an independent judiciary," Douglas said the American democratic system was stable because the judiciary was like a "great rock" unmoved by storms breaking over it even when they lead to attempts to nullify its decisions.

Douglas made the first such forthright public defense of the high court by one of its members in a speech to the Columbia Law School at a meeting celebrating its 100th anniversary.

There have been a number of attacks on the Supreme Court in recent months for allegedly usurping the law-making powers of Congress and the states in decisions on racial segregation and subversion.

Douglas acknowledged that courts, in interpreting laws, do take on a kind of law-making power. But he said in such cases the Legislature has the final word and "if the congressional will is defied the error can be corrected by an amendment of the law."

Douglas, commenting on this decision, said "double regulation—both by state and federal laws—may be logically permissible but practically unworkable. Dual regulation may be inherently so disruptive of the policy of the federal law that the purpose of Congress to foreclose state action may be implied."

Abraham Lincoln was the first U.S. president to be born outside the original 13 states.

Matter of FACT

All shipping on the Baltic Sea must be done within seven months of the year. For five months it is completely ice-bound. The Baltic freezes more readily than other seas because it contains less salt. The tides from the salt waters outside are checked in the straits that lead to the Baltic, while fresh water poured into it from rivers cannot easily escape.
