Soviet Says Berlin Stand Will Be Liquidated Soon

Ambulance Driver Tries 'Last Chance' Operation

HOUSTON (UPI)—Ambulance driver R. W. Bill said today that he tried to cut into a drowned baby's throat with a razor blade because it was the only possible chance of restoring life to her. The baby was Cynthia Anne Broadbudd, 15-months-old. Mrs. Una Lee Glover, 54, a baby sitter found her lying face down in three inches of water in a bathtub Wednesday. Bill said he didn't go through with making an incision in her throat, which doctors call a "tracheotomy." No blood welled up when he nicked skin, so he knew she was dead and gave up. County medical officer Dr. Joseph A. Jachimczyk ruled Cynthia Anne an accidental drowning victim but ordered an investigation of Bill's emergency operation.

"These people have started a procedure that is more than first aid," the doctor said. "It is very difficult to say if this should have been done routinely by any other than a doctor." Bill said it was the first time he had attempted a tracheotomy alone, but said he had watched doctors do it "hundreds of times." He said he had performed a tracheotomy once while a doctor watched.

West Berliners Fear US Departure From Hot-Spot

By JOSEPH B. FLEMING
United Press International

BERLIN (UPI)—Soviet Ambassador Andrei Smirnov told Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today in Bonn that Russia would "liquidate" the occupation status of Berlin, the Soviet Embassy announced.

Russian and East German pressure has been building slowly and steadily against West Berlin, worrying the West Berliners and bringing fears the Americans might leave the occupied city.

Today the Russian embassy said Smirnov asked for a meeting with Adenauer and outlined for him the "measures the Soviet government plans taking with the aim of liquidating the occupation status of Berlin."

The phrase "liquidating the occupation status of Berlin" was taken here to mean the Soviet now proposes to transfer to East Germany the right of control of Western Allied traffic to and from Berlin.

Until now the Russians as well as the Americans, British and French have considered Berlin to be under Big Four administration. Right of access to and from Berlin is governed by Big Four regulations rather than by any German laws.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in a speech in Moscow last week, announced his government's intention of ending this foreign control of Berlin and Berlin-bound traffic and transferring it to the Communist east-zone government.

West Germans were faced with the immediate threat of a blockade to force Western recognition of the move. The world "blockade" is one of fear in this city 110 miles deep in Communist territory, but the greater fear is the United States might abandon the city.

A West German government spokesman confirmed the Soviet Embassy announcement and said Smirnov's statement was given orally and that no notes were handed over. He said West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano participated in the meeting.

In the last Adenauer-Smirnov talks, held at Adenauer's request on Oct. 14, the chancellor asked the Russian to arrange some relaxation on personal freedoms inside East Germany and to ease up on East-West travel restrictions. Smirnov refused. This started the present crisis and intensified the fears of West Berliners.

"We can go through another blockade, but the Americans must not leave," one woman said. "Then we will be swallowed up by the Russians. Then we will all have to flee."

To the average West Berliner the issue comes down to that—Americans or Russians. There is talk about four-power agreements and their abrogation. (See DEPARTURE Page 2)

Hope Abandoned For Missing Seamen; Rescued Pair Never Surrendered Hope

Search Efforts To Continue Today; 15 Still Missing In Lake Michigan

By TOM FARRELL
United Press International

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (UPI)—Coast Guardsmen held virtually no hope today for the 15 crewmen of the ill-fated Great Lakes cargo ship Carl D. Bradley still missing in the storm-tossed waters of Lake Michigan that smashed and swallowed the craft.

A Coast Guard spokesman said search efforts would "continue all day" today but veteran seamen said there was little chance anyone could have survived in the icy waters since the disaster Tuesday.

Of the 35 men aboard the limestone hauler, only two survived. Eighteen bodies have been found so far and 15 still are missing.

"We prayed like we never prayed before," said first mate Elmer Fleming and deck watchman Frank Mays, both of Rogers City, Mich., who were saved Wednesday.

"It was useless for us to shout because of the tremendous roar of the gale," Mays said. He told reporters that at one time during the 14-hour nightmare he and Fleming were

Survivors Knew Help Would Come With The Dawn

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (UPI)—Two crewmen of the sunken cargo ship Carl D. Bradley never lost hope during their 14 hours on a small raft on wind-whipped northern Lake Michigan.

"I was convinced we'd be rescued if we could last through the night," deck watchman Frank Mays said from his hospital bed. "I knew that as soon as daylight came we'd be spotted."

Mays and first mate Elmer Fleming clung to a 6 by 10 foot wooden raft for 14 hours after the 615-foot Bradley broke in two and sank in the northern reaches of the lake late Tuesday.

They were rescued about 8 a.m. c.s.t. Wednesday by the Coast Guard cutter Sundew, but little hope was held for 33 other crewmen of the ill-fated limestone carrier.

Sent Distress Signal

The two survivors said two other members of the crew climbed aboard the frail raft after the Bradley went down but were lost during the night as mountainous waves kicked up by whole gale winds of 50 miles an hour flipped the raft over three times.

Each time, Mays and Fleming managed to climb back on the raft. Fleming said he was in the pilot house with Capt. Roland Bryan, Loudonville, N.Y., and "heard a thud."

"I turned and looked stern," Fleming said. "The stern appeared to be going down, although I did not see a split in the ship."

He said he sent out a distress signal on the ship radio but got no answer because the ship's power went out.

Mays was in a conveyor room below deck when the Bradley started to break up. He managed to get to the deck and clambered onto the raft before the ship went down.

Useless To Shout

Fleming said "I asked someone to get me a life jacket, but he couldn't find one. I went to my room and got my own. As I came up from the room, the ship was listing badly. The ship sank beneath me and I found myself in the water. I was only about a foot from the raft when it hit the water and I climbed aboard it."

Shortly after the sinking, the men saw flares dropping from search planes.

"We knew the search for all of us was going on," Mays said.

He said at one time the Sundew was within 1/2 mile of their raft. "But we knew it was useless to shout because of the tremendous roar of the gale," Mays said.

Fleming said ice formed on his jacket and in his hair during the long, bitter night.

"I've never been so cold in all my life," he said.

Both men said "We prayed like we never prayed before."

Fugate Fate In Hands Of The Jury

By MARGUERITE DAVIS
United Press International

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—The jury retired at 10 a.m. today to decide whether Carl and Fugate, 15, should pay with her life for the slaying of Robert Jensen, 17.

District Judge Harry A. Spencer, in his instructions, offered a seven-man, five-woman jury three choices: They may find her guilty of first-degree murder, guilty of second-degree murder, or innocent.

If the jurors find Carl guilty of first-degree murder they also must set the punishment—life imprisonment or death in the electric chair.

The penalty for second-degree murder ranges from 10 years to life imprisonment and is set by the court, not the jury.

*Carl is charged with aiding and abetting Charles Starkweather in the first-degree murder of Jensen and is subject to the same death penalty from which Starkweather is now appealing.

According to Spencer's instruction, she must be found guilty of first-degree murder if the jurors decide she purposely and with premeditation, malice aided in the murder or in the robbery from which the slaying resulted.

A second-degree murder verdict should be returned, the judge said, if the jurors decide Carl purposely and maliciously but without deliberation or premeditation aided and abetted in the crime.

After the pair repeatedly were washed from their frail life raft and their frozen fingers were barely able to cling to it, the Sundew spotted them. Rescue men pulled them from the small raft and took them to Charlevoix along with eight corpses.

Fleming's description of the sinking and night at sea paralleled terrifying accounts of 14 survivors told May 11, 1953, when the Henry Steinbrenner, an oil carrier, foundered in the lake with a loss of 17 lives.

"The entire stern of the ship was sagging," Fleming said. "I knew we were going to sink. I asked someone to get me a life jacket but he couldn't find one so I went to my room and got my own."

"As I came up the ship was listing badly. The superstructure of the ship roled over on its side. The ship sank beneath me and I found myself in the water," he said.

Fleming's Hair Freezes

Temperatures dipped below freezing during the seemingly endless night and ice formed in 48-year-old Fleming's hair.

Fleming and Mays, 26, heard shouting and managed to direct two men to their wave-tossed raft. They grabbed the men's limbs and pulled them aboard only to have both of them washed away to watery graves when Fleming and Mays clung tenaciously to the tiny raft.

"I've never been so cold in my life," Fleming said.

They were taken to Charlevoix Hospital where their tearful wives embraced them. Dr. Lawrence E. Grate, who examined Fleming and Mays, said they were in fairly good condition despite exposure and shock.

"It's an amazing piece of human endurance," Grate said.

Free Turkey's On The Block In Mall Today

The first gobbler raffle of today's "Turkey in the Mall" promotion will be staged at 6:30 p.m. on the middle block of a newly created Cuyler shopping mall. Three blocks of Cuyler, Atchison and Francis inclusive, have been roped off to provide space for a display of new 1959 cars, trucks and motorbikes.

The Merchants Activities Committee, Pampa Chamber of Commerce, is doing this with the help of the local Automobile Dealers Association.

Registration for turkey giveaways was to begin at 2:30 p.m. when the mall opened. Each dealer has a registration table next to his middle-of-the-street display and people 18 or older can register at each table.

Twelve tables, one for each dealer, are set up. Twenty-four stub holders will be winners and will get a 10-12 pound Thanksgiving turkey free as there is nothing to buy and nothing to do except register.

The first batch of eight frozen turkeys will be raffled off at 6:30 between Foster and Kingsmill. At 7:30 the give-away will move to the south block, Foster-Atchison and at 8:30 to the north block, Kingsmill-Francis.

Downtown stores will remain open until 9 p.m. to accommodate the pre-Thanksgiving crowd and make way for Christmas shopping.

A jet pilot training plane, with an open cockpit, and movable parts visible through a transparent body is on display in front of the LaNora Theatre. With it is an airman from the Amarillo Air Force Base.

From the marquee of the LaNora, organ music wafts over Cuyler.

The mall will last until 9 p.m. (See TURKEYS Page 2)

DUMAS MEN GET RED CARPET TREATMENT

Pampa played host to a dozen Dumas business men Wednesday with a luncheon in the Pampa Hotel and a tour of the City.

The Dumas group, headed by Mayor A. W. McMurray and Chamber president Jack C. Elliott, spent the day observing operations of the City of Pampa and the Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development.

Before a Chamber session in City Hall, the men were luncheon guests of the Chamber.

City and Chamber officials spent most of the day in conference with the Dumas delegation. Ed Myatt, City commissioner, and City Manager John Kooz were on hand, along with Warren Hasse, president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce; E. L. Henderson, immediate past president; and Chamber Manager E. O. Wedgeworth.

Dumas, a thriving County Seat town in Moore County, surrounded by a rich agriculture area, with oil and gas and related industry, is one of West Texas' most progressive cities. Growing pains are found in all growing cities, bring about problems facing the City and Chamber of Commerce.

Following the conference period lasting from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., the group observed the operations in the City Hall and then took an automobile tour of the City.

Speeding Tickets Issued 15 Here
Fifteen traffic tickets for speeding were issued Wednesday by Pampa police using radar at three Hobart St. locations. One motorist was issued a warning.

Chief Jim Conner reported the radar unit was stationed in the morning hours on the 900 block N. Hobart, the 1100 block S. Hobart, and the 900 block N. Hobart.

Wednesday's 15 tickets brings to 171 the number of motorists tagged for speeding since the radar unit went into operation Oct. 16. Also issued during that time were 242 warnings. Full-scale writing of tickets began Oct. 29.

Fenders Bent In 2-Car Brush
No injuries were reported Wednesday evening in a two-car "fender-bender" accident at the W. Foster-Somerville intersection. One of the drivers, Morice Jumbo Roberts, 25, 838 Murphy, was tagged for failure to control his speed to avoid collision.

Roberts' 1933 sedan collided with a car driven by Sallie B. Holcomb, 54, 406 N. Somerville. The mishap occurred at 5 p.m.

There is no doubt here the Russians are going to do something. There is little doubt of this in the Western capitals. In Washington the only question is how far will Russia go toward the brink of war.

The U.S. top level Security Council was meeting today in Washington to study the situation. The United States, Britain and France were holding consultations in the various Western capitals.

They are bound by a NATO resolution of October, 1954, to fight a war if necessary to hold Berlin. Their major worry is that Russian harassment of the city could touch off a war, accidentally.

Pair Arrested On DWI Counts
Two Pampa motorists were arrested the past 24 hours on charges of driving while intoxicated. Both will be charged in county court sometime today.

Motorists arrested were Haskel W. Smock, 36, 1710 Alcock St., and Ray Franklin Jones Jr., 31, 2250 Christine. Smock was cited at 12:25 this morning in the 200 block E. Tule where he was observed by officers. Jones was arrested at 6:40 p.m. Wednesday near his home.

Suit Is Brought For Furnace Installation
A $29,495 petition for damages was filed today by the American Hardware Mutual Insurance Co. against four defendants connected with the installation of a furnace in the Hobart St. Baptist church.

American Hardware, in a petition filed with the District court clerk, alleged the furnace was unsafe and was to blame for a fire Nov. 23, 1956, which caused heavy damages to the Pampa Church.

The insurance company states it paid a claim of $29,495. It now asks that the defendants pay that amount to Hardware Mutual, accusing them of breach of warranty.

The defendants, Day and Night Manufacturing Co., Affiliated Gas Equipment, Morrison Supply Co. and Ray Robertson of Pampa, gave the church warranties that the furnace was safe, according to the petition.

Suit Is Brought For Furnace Installation

A $29,495 petition for damages was filed today by the American Hardware Mutual Insurance Co. against four defendants connected with the installation of a furnace in the Hobart St. Baptist church.

American Hardware, in a petition filed with the District court clerk, alleged the furnace was unsafe and was to blame for a fire Nov. 23, 1956, which caused heavy damages to the Pampa Church.

The insurance company states it paid a claim of $29,495. It now asks that the defendants pay that amount to Hardware Mutual, accusing them of breach of warranty.

The defendants, Day and Night Manufacturing Co., Affiliated Gas Equipment, Morrison Supply Co. and Ray Robertson of Pampa, gave the church warranties that the furnace was safe, according to the petition.

United Fund Nears Goal

The Pampa-Lefors United Fund is well into its campaign with $48,216.35 in the till, according to Clyde Dickerson, general campaign chairman.

Now the United Fund is approaching its $64,000 goal.

Agencies that will benefit from the fulfillment of the Fund drive are the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Heart Fund, Milk Fund, USO, Welfare Index, Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

Dickerson thanks those who have responded to the appeal of the drive and notes that contributors can earmark their donation for any of the eight agencies served by the United Fund.

Little Rock's Temper Might Keep Schools Shut Indefinitely

By JACK V. FOX
United Press International
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—The temper of this city right now is such that it will keep its public schools shut indefinitely rather than integrate white and Negro children.

Gov. Orval Faubus was never riding higher. He unquestionably has the support of a vast majority in defying the courts and the federal government. Little Rock has the sense that it is fighting the segregation battle for the entire South.

A striking manifestation of impatience with "moderates" was the Nov. 4 election defeat of Arkansas veteran Congressman Brooks Hays by a well known but politically inexperienced doctor who said bluntly he would not accept integration at any price.

The label "moderate" is the kiss of death for a politician in Arkansas today.

BOLL BELLE—This long-stemmed beauty will compete for one of the South's prize beauty crowns—1959 Maid of Cotton. She's Margaret Ellen Price, a sophomore at Mississippi State College for Women in Columbus. Contest finals are Dec. 29-30 at Memphis, Tenn.

And there is a definite fear on the part of those who do not agree with Faubus to speak their mind.

These are the main impressions an outsider gets in Little Rock today.

The final mark of the dominance of those who will not accept the Supreme Court ruling as the "law of the land" came just last week when the Little Rock School Board resigned.

A faint resistance
The board had thought that the shutdown of this city's high schools would bring a groundswell of public demand that some way be found to open them. No such swell ever came and Board Chairman Wayne Upton said he and his colleagues faced "utter hopelessness, helplessness and frustration."

There is rather faint but growing resistance now on the part of a group calling themselves the Woman's Emergency Committee to open the schools which has increased its membership from 200 to 750 in the last week.

One of its organizers is Mrs. Byron House Jr., a woman in her early 30s with four small children. It has no answer to the integration dilemma "but just wants the schools reopened."

Dr. Dale Alford, the only outspoken segregationist on the school board, entered the race as a write-in candidate only 12 days before the election and beat out Hays whose compromise efforts included the meeting between Faubus and President Eisenhower shortly before the troops were sent to Little Rock last year.

That action still ripples most all here and on every side, every day one hears remarks about the "occupation forces."

The man most soundly routed has been Superintendent Blossom who has fought Faubus and attempted to put in effect a limited integration plan. After some 30 years educational background in Arkansas, it is highly doubtful if he can find a job in the field in the state.

A huge man of about 6 feet 4 inches and 280 pounds, yet tears come to Blossom's eyes when he recalls the threats made against his family during the past year. He once said that if he and the school board ever quit, the moderate approach to integration was hopeless.

They have quit.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Chief Petty Officer John Ebaugh has in-law problems—but not the ordinary kind. "I can't tell kinkfos without a score card," the retiring Navy man said Tuesday.

WINGED HIGH CHAIR—A dummy, fully attired in pressure suit, sits in ejection position in an X-15 pilot's seat for an engineering test. Note the foot clamps, arm guards and striped stabilizing fins by the dummy's shoulders. The seat, which will be used in America's first space ship, the recently unveiled X-15, is designed to enable stabilized ejection at supersonic speeds with maximum protection to the pilot.

SO, HE'S HIS OWN BROTHER-IN-LAW!
The confusion arose, he said, when his father married his sister-in-law. This made the sister-in-law Ebaugh's stepmother, and his wife his stepfather.

Not only that, his stepmother is both the stepmother and the grandmother, by marriage, of Ebaugh's son.

"The problem is relative," Ebaugh quipped, "once you get the hang of being your own brother-in-law."

Hospital Patients Send Gifts To Their Families From A Store

TYLER, Tex. (UPI)—There used to be an exodus of patients against the advice of their doctors every year at Christmas from the East Texas Tuberculosis hospital.

As each patient finished his shopping, he was assured that his package would be gift-wrapped, his personal greetings enclosed with it and the whole thing mailed at no expense to him.

The patients couldn't bear to stay away from their families at Christmas. But it was bad for the patients and subjected their families to the danger of catching tuberculosis.

Last year, the hospital opened a Christmas store where every patient could shop for presents for his family. Each patient got a gift certificate and could use it any way he wanted.

Mrs. Ina Goff, the hospital's volunteer coordinator, reports that departures from the hospital against doctors' advice dropped 80 per cent last Christmas.

"In the past, emphasis was placed on gifts for the patients themselves," B. L. McGee Jr., personnel officer at the hospital, said. "But until we started the project, the patients never had any gifts to send their families."

The 1958 Christmas store, staffed by 50 volunteers, has already opened its doors to 625 patients. Each patient has 45 minutes to do his Christmas shopping with a $5.50 gift certificate from a selection of gifts ranging from household items and clothing to jewelry, toys and novelties.

The value of the gift certificate was arrived at by dividing the number of patients into the estimated $5,000 value of the merchandise.

TO PAY ALIMONY
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Actor Charles Chaplin Jr. was ordered Wednesday to pay his wife, and expectant mother, $150 monthly alimony pending a divorce hearing. Chaplin Jr. and his estranged wife, actress Susan Magness, 22, were married last August and separated two months later.

Commie Shelling Off In Quemoy

TAIPEI (UPI)—Communist shelling of the Quemoy Islands dropped off Wednesday to one of the lowest points since the bombardment started Aug. 23.

Red shore guns sprinkled four of the 14 Quemoy islands with only 78 shells up to noon, the Defense Ministry said.

An estimated 250,000 Americans have active tuberculosis.

Teachers While Away Time In LR

EDITOR'S NOTE: Jack V. Fox, UPI roving reporter, was sent to Little Rock to report latest developments on integration. The following dispatch contrasts what is happening at the closed Central High with the activity at the private, all-white high school.

By JACK V. FOX
United Press International
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—This morning, as on every weekday, the teachers park their cars and walk into the fine building that was Central High School. They hold a brief staff meeting and then go to their separate classrooms. The desks are polished, the rooms spotless. The chemistry and physics labs and the biology room are ready for experiments. On the row after row of lockers are the familiar combination locks put there early this fall in anticipation of school opening.

There is everything except pupils. The teachers sit at their desks in the empty rooms. They try to make the day useful by devising improvements in their courses. Then they write letters, practice typing, read, look out the window. For the 3,700 students of Central and Little Rock's three other high schools have scattered from coast to coast, enrolled in makeshift private schools, taken correspondence courses — or just given up their education temporarily.

Use Old Building
A few blocks away is an old building which bears the only resemblance to a high school in Little Rock today. It is a former orphanage, later used by the University of Arkansas Graduate Division.

It is the site of the Little Rock private high school, run on donations and staffed by 34 teachers who came out of retirement or are just beginning teachers. There are 217 seniors and 288 juniors here plus 312 sophomores in a new Sunday school building of the Highland Methodist Church nearby.

Thursday the students hold an election for president of the student body and other offices. The campaign posters are stuck on the walls with endorsements like "peppy," "reliable," "real guy."

But nowhere is there any mention that these children's education has been crippled because

Matter of FACT

In 1857, using two warships, the U.S. Niagara and the British Agamemnon, Cyrus W. Field and the English scientist Lord Kelvin tried to span the Atlantic with a submarine telegraph cable. The cable broke several times while being laid. Finally, on Aug. 13, 1858, the first message was sent over the cable. After three months, because the electric current was too strong for the insulation, the cable burned out.

© Encyclopaedia Britannica

their state and nation haven't been able to find a reasonable solution to putting Negro and white children through school.

Proud of Makeshift Schools
W. C. Breshears, a former elementary school principal and a superintendent of schools in Texas, is the superintendent of the private schools. He is justifiably proud of having made available education in Little Rock, and he points out what a tremendous job it has been.

"It was as if Little Rock had suffered a major disaster," he said, "and that not only the buildings and laboratories and libraries all had been destroyed, but the entire teaching staff wiped out."

For the 178 regular teachers are under federal injunction not to teach in a private school. The desks, the chairs, the test tubes and bunsen burners, even the books cannot be made available to the children.

Scientists Present New Evidence

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two scientists presented more evidence today of a link between dirty air and lung cancer.

Dr. Thomas F. Mancuso, industrial hygiene chief for the Ohio Health Department, called air contamination a "highly probable and important factor" in the higher rate of lung cancer in cities than in rural areas.

He said studies showed a "marked excess" in city lung cancer rates "distinct from smoking patterns" of the victims.

The U.S. Public Health Service last year found heavy cigarette smoking to be one cause of lung cancer. Its chief, Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney, said Tuesday there was increasing "circumstantial evidence" that air pollution also is a cause.

Both spoke at the National Conference on Air Pollution. Mancuso, in a speech prepared for delivery to the conference, said statistics show that the urban lung cancer rate "increases by the size of city" even when smoking rates remain the same.

He said lung cancer rates among non-white city residents are higher than among white residents even though the latter smoke much more.

Dr. Paul Kotin, associate professor of pathology at the University of Southern California Medical School, said in another prepared speech that air pollution "must be regarded as one of multiple factors operating in combination to result in lung cancer."

"It is generally accepted that the development of cancer is a step-wise procedure and logically, any one of the causative links in the chain can be supplied from other environmental sources," Kotin said.

In laboratory test with animals, he said, air pollution "uniquely supplies in and by itself the links necessary for the experimental induction of lung cancer."

Some 800 delegates are attending the conference, called by the Public Health Service to map a long-range program to combat air pollution. The annual cost of unclean air was pegged at $7,800,000,000 by one expert.

15 Slain In Cuba After Massacre

HAVANA (UPI)—Fifteen persons have been killed here in 24 hours, apparently in clashes between rebel sympathizers and police looking for the tommy gunners who killed seven patrolmen in a gang-style massacre Tuesday night in suburban Marianao.

The official announcement of the casualties said only that nine persons had been "found dead" in Marianao and six in Havana proper. Such vagueness about a violent death in Cuba usually means that the victim was shot by police who don't want to talk about the incident.

In all, 23 persons have been killed in or near Havana in 10 days in a running battle between police and rebels which started when police killed insurgent leader Angel Almeida and three companions Nov. 7.

Is Everything Phony About Fem Makeup These Days?

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—The ladies who have already improved their figures by adding a bit here and there are being offered such improvements above the neck.

The newest makeup calls for false eyelashes, false eyebrows, and false hairpieces, says Guy Nicolet, a Frenchman who has made over feminine faces from Cairo to California.

To show what the means about the new look, Nicolet described how he would make up two models for a gathering which his boss, Elizabeth Arden, is staging for her sales representatives Friday night.

"We'll show a last year's girl and a this year's girl," said Nicolet. "Last year's will be decked out in the sackiest sack we could find...wearing no rouge, done up in pale makeup, with pointed eyebrows, and lipstick in two shades — a dark outside line and lighter inside.

Describes "This Year's" "This year's will wear an empire gown, lots of eye makeup, a false hairpiece, false lashes, lots of rouge — the Empress Josephine wore lots of rouge, you know. We'll use a pale pink foundation and powder, and shape her eyebrows to a thin, high line like Harlow or Dietrich. Most women don't have much eyebrows anyway and have to fake them."

For added phyness, he will mix "star sprinkle," a harmless gold dust, on her eyeshadow, in her hair and on her lipstick.

Nicolet does not recommend that we women put on all this gook for supermarket or office; save it for evening and grand occasions.

more makeup for daytime gets pretty discouraging anyway, he indicated. "If I advise too many things, the woman won't do. So I try to tell her how she can draw attention to her good features with skillful application of cosmetics."

Fredlets Hair Styles
Nicolet, whose home base is Paris, travels the world to advise women. He started his career because an uncle was a motion picture producer in France. His uncle signed him on in 1942 as "about the fifth ranking makeup man" on a picture, and since he has done theatrical makeup both in Hollywood and New York.

He joined Mrs. Arden 11 years ago.

"Fashions in clothes determine fashions in makeup," said Nicolet. "I won't know specifically what we'll feature for spring until I see the new collections in Paris. But I do think we will see hair styles a lot simpler and smoother, no longer bouffant. Lipstick will be light again, pink with a yellow cast instead of blue."

Nicolet said his work with American women has convinced him we all make one makeup error — "trying to look sun-tanned the year round." "All of you wear your foundation too dark," he said. "Looks terrible with winter clothes and furs."

In half a century the Christmas Seal Sale has grown from an effort to raise $300 for an experiment TB hospital in Delaware to support a nationwide program of education, research, rehabilitation, and case finding carried on by 3,000 affiliated tuberculosis associations.

NAPOLEON'S HOUSE GOES TO FRANCE

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI)—Dame Mabel Brookes, Australian socialite, is presenting to the French government the house and plot of land where Napoleon spent his exile on Saint Helena. Dame Mabel's grandfather, William Balcombe, was a resident agent of the East India Company on Saint Helena when Napoleon was sent to the island in the south Atlantic in 1815. Balcombe lived in a two-story house, "The Briars," next to "The Pavilion," where Napoleon lived.

Bake Holiday Cookies Soon For Gift Giving To Say "Just For You"

One nice way to say "just for you" during the gift giving season is with a small package of homemade cookies.

Best time to make them if you have a freezer for storage, is two to three weeks before you plan to give them to neighbors or relatives. This way you will avoid a last minute scramble.

With Thanksgiving the first festive occasion coming up, you may appreciate having these two rich, butter cookie recipes well ahead of time. Both are popular holiday cookies overseas and have been adapted to American standards by Beatrice Cooke, Meadow Gold Dairy home economist.

SWEDISH BUTTER COOKIES (Six Dozen)

1 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
Red cinnamon candies
Cream butter and sugar together until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks and vanilla. Stir in sifted dry ingredients. Press through a cookie press onto a lightly greased cookie sheet. Press a cinnamon candy in center of each cookie. Bake at 375 degrees for 8-10 minutes.

ENGLISH YULE CAKES (Three Dozen)

1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
3 tablespoons milk
1/2 cup chopped citron
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 cup (1 envelope) instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder
1 egg white, slightly beaten
Granulated sugar
Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in egg. Stir in milk, citron and currants. Add sifted dry ingredients gradually, mixing well after each addition. Chill. Form dough into 1-inch balls; dip tops in egg white, then sugar. Place sugared side up on greased cookie sheet. Bake at 400 degrees for 12-15 minutes.

Savory Chili Is Budget Balancer

Some homemakers have a knack of making a thrifty dish a favorite for family meals. One homemaker we know has a chili recipe that her family simply adores, and yet the total cost of the recipe is only about $1.23 for six to eight servings. That makes her Savory Chili recipe a fine food budget balancer.

APPLE-RAISIN DRESSING (For one 12-pound turkey)

Two and one-half quarts fine bread crumbs, 1 cup butter or margarine, soft; 2 1/2 cups rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked); 1 cup finely chopped celery; 1 cup raisins, 2 cups diced raw apple; 2 teaspoons poultry seasoning; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/4 teaspoon pepper; 1 teaspoon baking powder; 1 to 1 1/2 cups water.

Rub butter into bread crumbs; toast until golden brown under broiler or in a hot oven (425 degrees F.). Add oats, celery, raisins, apple, seasonings and baking powder, mixing thoroughly. Sprinkle water over surface, stirring lightly until dressing is of desired moistness. Stuff lightly into body cavity and neck region of turkey. Truss and roast turkey according to standard directions.

Melt shortening in skillet over medium heat; saute onions until tender. Combine beef and instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder; blend until powder is no longer visible. Add to onions; mix well; brown over medium heat, stirring occasionally. Stir in tomatoes, water, chili powder, sugar, salt and garlic. Cover; simmer over low heat 1 hour. Remove cover; continue cooking 30 minutes. Add kidney beans and juice; continue cooking until beans are hot.

Note: Chili may be thinned by additional water until of desired consistency.

Broiling Meat—An Easy Guide

STEPS TO FOLLOW

1. Set oven regulator for broiling.
2. Place meat 2 to 5 inches from heat.
3. Broil until top of meat is brown.
4. Season with salt and pepper.
5. Turn meat and cook until done.
6. Season and serve at once.

CUTS TO USE

Beef: Rib Steak, Club Steak, Tenderloin (filet mignon), T-bone Steak, Porterhouse Steak, Sirloin Steak, Top Round Steak, Patties.
LAMB: Shoulder Chops, Rib Chops, Loin Chops, Patties.
VARIETY MEATS: Sweetbreads, Brains, Veal or Lamb Liver and Kidneys.
SMOKED PORK: Bacon, Canadian-Style Bacon, Ham Slice.

COOK'S NOOK

Raisins Go Into Easy-Make Thanksgiving Mince Pie

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Not only in the Midwest, but in many other parts of the United States, mince as well as pumpkin pie is a Thanksgiving "must."

An old fashioned treat, today mince pie gets the jet-age treatment. Quick, sure, yet with the "good old days" deliciousness.

THANKSGIVING MINCE PIE

One recipe pastry, or 2 sticks pie crust mix; one 9-ounce package condensed mince meat, 1 1/2 cups raisins soaked in 1/4 cup orange juice.
Break mince meat into small pieces in a saucepan; add 3 tablespoons sugar and 1/4 cup water. Stir over heat until all lumps are thoroughly broken down. Boil briskly for one minute. Cool. Add raisins soaked in orange juice and mix lightly. Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Pour in mince meat mixture. Cut strips of pastry for lattice top. Wet rim of lower crust with cold water and apply strips, pressing ends down. Arrange a strip of pastry around edge of pie. Bake in hot oven (325 degrees F.) 25 minutes, or until golden brown.

Surprise Stuffing Follows Tradition

If there is an occasion in the year when a housewife doesn't dare tamper with family custom, it's the Thanksgiving Day dinner. Creamed onions, candied sweet potatoes, cider — if she served them last year, she will probably serve them this year.

But there is one place on the menu where she can add an element of surprise without offending tradition — the turkey stuffing. Here are a few suggestions, all bound to enhance the golden bird, and easy to try with packaged prepared stuffing.

Mushroom Stuffing: Mix stuffing; add one cup drained, sliced, cooked or canned mushrooms per package.

Celery Stuffing: Mix stuffing; add 1/2 cup diced celery per package.

Cranberry Stuffing: Mix stuffing; add 1 cup chopped raw cranberries per package.

Oyster Stuffing: Mix stuffing; add 1/2 pt. (1 cup) drained, chopped, fresh or frozen oysters per package.

Giblet Stuffing: Mix stuffing; simmer turkey giblets with celery stalks, onion, sprig of parsley, about 4 hours, or till tender. Drain, chop; add to mixed stuffing.

Chocolate Turkey Cookies Inspire After School Snack

Mom's kitchen is the "heart of the home", and the small fry over the years have found the cookie jar a tempting feature of the kitchen. Of course, a filled cookie jar is the inspiration for a nourishing after-school or mid-day snack for active youngsters.

CHOCOLATE TURKEY COOKIES

(Makes about 36 cookies — 3 1/2 x 2 1/2 inches)
1/2 cup butter, softened
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup light brown sugar
2 eggs, unbeaten
3 teaspoons orange juice
2 tablespoons finely grated orange rind
2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled slightly
2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup (one envelope) instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
Cream butter, gradually add both sugars; beat until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs. Blend in orange juice, rind and chocolate. Sift together flour, instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder, baking powder and salt. Gradually add dry ingredients; beat until smooth. Wrap a piece of dough in waxed paper; chill in refrigerator at least 2 hours. Unwrap dough; roll to 1/4 inch thickness on well-floured board. Cut with turkey-shaped cookie cutter; place on greased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 5-7 minutes or until cookies are firm. If desired, outline baked cookies with Confectioner's Frosting.

Heaven High Meringue Covers Unmeltable Strawberry Dessert

A heaven high meringue covers this delicious strawberry rice dessert. It is an Alaska-type dessert which won't melt if not served immediately. Now, you can have those fancy Alaskas easily!

INGREDIENTS:

1/2 cup uncooked white rice
2 1/2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen strawberries thawed and mashed
1 cup granulated sugar
4 egg whites

METHOD: Put the rice, water and salt in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat down. Cover. Simmer about 25 minutes or until water is absorbed but rice is still moist, not dry. Stir in the milk. Cover and cook slowly until the milk is absorbed, about 15 minutes. Do not boil. Stir constantly.

Add the strawberries and 1/2 cup of the sugar. Cook slowly, uncovered, until very stiff, about 30 minutes. Stir frequently toward the end of the cooking. Cool. Pack into greased 6 ounce custard cups. When cold, cover well and store in the refrigerator.

At meal time, dip cups into hot water. Unmold onto a board. Beat egg whites until foamy. Add the vanilla and part of the remaining 1/2 cup sugar. Continue beating, gradually adding the rest of the sugar. Beat until stiff and sugar dissolves.

Completely cover rice molds with the meringue sealing at the bottom against the board. Place in a preheated 425 degree F. oven until meringue browns. This recipe makes 7-8 servings.

Fitting Finale For Thanksgiving Day

Here is a fitting "finale" for the big Thanksgiving Day turkey that has already reappeared as a "warmed-over" dinner; in sandwiches for lunch; as a late-evening snack.

It calls for only two cups of leftover turkey and is made with packaged prepared stuffing that should be as handy as your pantry shelf. Incidentally, this recipe can be used also with cooked chicken, ham, veal, or fish.

TURKEY SUPREME

2 cups (about) sliced or diced cooked turkey
1 package frozen string beans, French-cut; cooked till almost tender

1/2 cup sliced blanched almonds
1/2 cup of milk
mushroom soup

1 can condensed cream of 2 cups prepared packaged stuffing

2 tablespoons butter, melted
1/2 cup hot water

In buttered shallow baking dish, distribute 2-3 cup of packaged prepared stuffing crumbs. Arrange beans in layer over crumbs; then scatter on almonds. Over this, put turkey. Blend condensed soup with milk, pour over casserole. Top with remaining 1-1 1/2 cup stuffing crumbs blended with 1/2 cup hot water and melted butter. Bake in hot oven (400 F.) 25-30 minutes or until nicely browned and bubbly.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Beef Heel of Round.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It is a boneless wedge-shaped cut from lower part of round and contains very little fat, except for a thin layer of fat on the face. It is the least tender cut of the round.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. Being less tender, it is cooked slowly by moist heat, namely braising. It also can be cooked in liquid. This meat cut requires 3 1/2 to 4 hours cooking time.

Eggnog For Milk In Pumpkin Pie

It's pumpkin pie time again! Of the myriad versions most cooks have tried, few are as fluffy and rich as the ones that use dairy eggnog in the filling.

Dairy eggnog replaces the milk at the same time it increases the usual amount of eggs, point out Meadow Gold home economists. Their version of this popular dessert includes cottage cheese, too, creating a doubly nourishing pumpkin pie.

EGGNOG PUMPKIN PIE

1 9-inch graham cracker crust
1 cup cottage cheese, sieved
1/2 cup canned pumpkin
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2-3 tablespoons eggnog
2 egg whites, beaten stiff
1/4 cup graham cracker crumbs

Combine cottage cheese, pumpkin, egg yolks, sugar, nutmeg, lemon rind and juice; mix well. Make a paste of cornstarch and a little eggnog. Add to pumpkin mixture. Stir in rest of eggnog. Fold in egg whites. Fill crust. Sprinkle remaining crumbs on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 55-60 minutes, or until silver knife inserted near edge comes out clean.

Norfolk Has Blessing Of The Voters

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — The Norfolk City Council had the voters' three-to-two blessing today to ride with the state's anti-integration policy, which has closed six of Norfolk's public schools.

In the first direct ballot on Virginia's "massive resistance" program, three out of five voters said they would rather have the schools remain closed than have them opened and integrated.

The vote Tuesday was 12,855 "against" and 8,781 "for" this proposal.

"Shall the council of the city of Norfolk, pursuant to state law, petition the governor to return to the city control of schools, now closed, to be opened by the city on an integrated basis as required by the federal court?"

City Council called the referendum strictly to test the people's feelings on the school closures, and the results are binding in no way upon council or the state.

Five of the seven councilmen, however, indicated before hand they would follow the verdict of the voters.

State law would permit Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, at his discretion, to return the schools to local control for reopening if jointly requested to do so by council and the city school board. No such request now is expected.

Segregationists hailed the outcome as a mandate for "massive resistance."

But other spokesmen said the vote was swayed by a footnote on the ballot which reminded voters that should the schools be opened on an integrated basis state funds would be cut off from all Norfolk schools of the same class and a "substantial tuition for each of the six schools, all Norfolk's

Four Top O' Texans Lauded At WTSC

CANYON (Sp) — Four men from Pampa and vicinity were among 30 juniors and seniors named Thursday to represent West Texas State College in the 1958-59 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

They are Clifford G. Ryan Jr. and Wayne Smith of Pampa, and Dean Foshee of Shamrock and Wendell Seitz of Mobeetie. They, with others named, were honored in a special WT assembly program.

Students picked for the honor have shown outstanding scholastic ability, campus leadership, and balanced participation in campus affairs and activities. They were chosen from several hundred nominations made by WT's organizations and departments of instruction.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford G. Ryan, 1215 Duncan in Pampa, Ryan is a senior history major. He is vice-president of Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary history fraternity, and is secretary for Alpha Chi, national honor society.

A history department assistant, Ryan is also a member of Gamma Theta Upsilon, national geography fraternity, and is a member of the Student Education Association, History Club, and Buffalo Bills, campus service organization.

Smith is a junior English major, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Smith, 200 N. Sloan in Pampa. He is vice-president of the Student Senate, student body government, and is president of the English Club.

Smith is also a member of Alpha Chi, Buffalo Bills, Phi Alpha Theta, and Student Education Association. He is a pledge for Epsilon Beta, men's social club.

Foshee is a senior music major white junior and senior high schools, have been closed since Sept. 27.

and is band director for Claude High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Foshee, 302 S. Wall in Shamrock.

A Distinguished Military Student Foshee is vice-president of the Buffalo Band and is secretary for Kappa Kappa Psi, national band fraternity for men. He is a member of the Amarillo Symphony, the Collegians; WT dance band, and the Music Educators National Conference.

Seitz is the son of Mrs. Alma Seitz of Mobeetie. He is a junior physics major, and is a member of Alpha Chi, national honor society, and of Epsilon Beta, men's social club.

In Europe, where no one seems to have thought of making candy for its own sake, sweet sirup was first used to conceal the taste of medicine. In the 17th century, with the introduction of large quantities of sugar from the colonies, candymaking began to be a separate art. The French candied fruits and developed other recipes including what may have been the forerunner of the New Orleans pralines.

Hopscotching About TV; And A Slap At Those Westerns

By WILLIAM EWALD United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—I mustered up enough stupefaction Tuesday night to watch ABC-TV's "Cheyenne" all the way through and I must say that its hero, Ty Hardin, possesses an almost spectacular lack of acting skills.

I would place Hardin one level below Dale Robertson of NBC-TV's "Wells Fargo" and Rory Calhoun of CBS-TV's "The Texan."

I'm afraid I didn't understand the camera work on one portion of CBS-TV's "To Tell The Truth," Tuesday night — while Polly Bergen was spinning a hula hoop, the lensman was zeroing in on her face. Henry Morgan visited CBS-TV's "Arthur Godfrey Show" Tuesday night and the following exchange took place:

Godfrey: "I have no talent. I play the ukelele — badly. That's all."

Morgan: "That's true."

Carl Reiner, a brilliant second banana, really sparked the portions of the NBC-TV "George Gobel Show" that I caught Tuesday night. One skit set in a supermarket packed some wonderfully funny bits.

Steve Allen, interviewed Tuesday night on "The Ben Hect Show" — which is seen only in the New York area — had this to say: "I could put on a much better show than I put on now on Sundays if I were working for, say, the EBC." Allen was referring to the need to cater to mass tastes because of the pressures of ratings and sponsors' needs.

I believe my favorite line of the TV week occurred Tuesday night on the NBC-TV "Jack Paar Show" when Tallulah Bankhead casually remarked: "I smoked hashish once and got sick as a dog."

The Channel Swim: NBC-TV has an option on "Showpost" and wants Polly Bergen to star in it. Bill Leyden will pinch hit for Jack Paar on the latter's NBC-TV show this Friday — Paar is going to Washington to accept an award.

CBS Radio will revamp its entire schedule on Jan. 5—network time will be cut from the present 65 or 60 hours a week to about 30 hours per week. Bishop Fulton J. Sheen will be featured in a special half-hour ABC-TV Christmas Day show.

ABC-TV is looking for a new time slot for "Man With A Camera" — its Friday night ratings are a little soggy. Tammy Grimes, who is Christopher Plummer's wife, will play a couple of floozies in the CBS-TV special "Gift of the Magi," Dec. 9.

An NBC-TV Dec. 14 special, "The Hallmark Christmas Tree," will offer Ralph Bellamy, Carol Channing, Maurice Evans, Tom Poston, Cyril Ritchard, William Shatner and Jessica Tandy. Cliff Arquette will be featured once a month as "Charlie Weaver" on the NBC-TV "Tennessee Ernie Ford Show."

ABC-TV will launch a series of

U.S. AIR MAIL 7c
ALASKA STATEHOOD 1958
STATE SECRET—The U.S. Post Office Department plays it cagey in releasing this design for the Alaskan statehood commemorative air mail stamp. Since Alaska won't become a state till President Eisenhower issues a proclamation, either this year or next, master dies and engraving plates with both "1958" and "1959" are being made. That's the Big Dipper and the North Star on a map of Alaska.

"Meet McGraw" repeats in a spot. Ratings are the reason—the nighttime spot this Sunday. CBS' latest Nielsen gives the competing TV may shift the morning Arthur Godfrey show to an earlier time to Godfrey's 3.5.

New Scientific Find Brings More Probing

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Certain radioactive substances and chemical compounds when put into female muscles or blood streams end up in close proximity to the eggs from which spring human lives.

This new scientific find is basic in science's worries over the inherited make-ups of future generations — because today's parents are subjected to radiation and chemical hazards that their own progenitors never had.

Science already knew for facts that (1) radioactive substances and some chemicals will cause germ cells to "mutate" or change and (2) those substances get into human bodies. But it didn't know for sure until now that they get to the reproductive chemistry even when they enter bodies in places remote from that chemistry.

Provided Missing Link

Drs. Kurt N. von Kaula, Jerry K. Aikawa, and John D. Pettigrew of the University of Colorado School of Medicine, Denver, provided this missing link in precise scientific knowledge through relatively simple and harmless experiments in 29 female bodies. These women were undergoing hysterectomies for compelling medical reasons, which meant their reproductive tracts were exposed surgically. Before surgery, one or more of the following substances was put into their bodies, either by injection into a vein or muscle or by mouth:

The radioactive isotope, iodine-131; human gamma globulin "tagged" with iodine-131; surgical medications "tagged" with the radioactive isotopes, carbon-14 or mercury-203. Medications included the tranquilizing drug, meprobamate, and penicillin.

Substances Were Present

During surgery, samples were taken of the fluid of the cells which surround the egg-producing organs and through which eggs pass. In all cases, the injected and mouth-taken substances were present. Indeed, there was some suggestion that they were "concentrated."

There was no suggestion that either meprobamate or penicillin is capable of causing germ cells to mutate. Neither have that power. But some chemical compounds do have that power, and there is no doubt of radiation either from x-rays or the "fall-out" from atomic explosions, having that power.

The scientists reported to the international technical journal, "Nature," that their studies "suggested" that the human egg is "exposed to therapeutic agents introduced into the general circulation."

They said they did not know whether drugs present with in the ovarian fluid could do harm to the egg.

AND HOW THEY GREW—For the second time since World War II, the Soviet Union has published almost complete information on its exports, showing that a new record was set in 1957 in terms of raw materials. An indication of Russian industrial growth is seen in the fact that the 1957 exports of refined oil products doubled the 1954 figure. Tin exports exploded from 3,300 tons in 1956 to 18,300 tons in 1957, only 7,000 tons of which went to other Communist countries.

But they're going to find out. They said they were currently trying to show whether the substances conveyed to the blood "actually penetrate into the egg proper."

Cowtown Voters Vote Down Bonds

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Almost complete returns Wednesday showed Fort Worth voters decisively turned down nine of 11 proposed bond issues, plus two charter amendments that would have increased city taxes, in a municipal election on a $42 million improvement program.

The turnout more than doubled the previous high of 14,800 for a city bond issue.

One of the two tax proposals was a city income tax.

With 95 of 98 precincts reporting, 81 of them complete, the ballot count showed the city-income tax went down 23,066 to 7,386.

A companion proposal to increase the property tax limit, was defeated 21,861 to 8,108.

The only two items voters approved, both by relatively close margins, were a $400,000 fire station, and a massive $22,875,000 street-improvement program.

The income tax amendment called for a 1 per cent levy on all income earned in Fort Worth, and was designed in part to tax the income of persons who live outside the city, but work here.

The property tax limit increase which was proposed was $2.20 per $100 valuation, in comparison with the present $1.90 rate.

Motordom's New Measurement of Greatness!

The American motorist has long since adopted his own technique for judging the year's automotive offerings.

He simply looks to the new Cadillac car to discover motordom's fullest measure of all that is new and good and wonderful.

And never before has Cadillac placed such a high standard on the world's motor cars as it has for 1959.

For the new "car of cars" has introduced a whole new concept of what an automobile can do and be... and how it should look and act.

To the eye alone, it is a revelation. Elegant, majestic, substantial, poised—it has brought a new magic and splendor to the world of motion.

Its Fleetwood interiors are miracles of advanced design.

The majestic new Cadillac for 1959 is now on display—inspect and drive it today!

This young housewife has learned to make her daily chores pay off in the terms of exercise that keeps her figure trim. Working with a mop (left) helps her to develop good posture since she must keep her back straight as she works. It also strengthens abdominal and back muscles. She uses small strokes, working to the left and right. Bending is part of daily routine and good for the waistline. When this housewife wipes off lower cabinets or refrigerator (center) with a sponge dipped into a special no-rinse cleaner, she never tires herself by bending from the waist. With feet apart, she bends knees, keeping her back straight. When she has to reach (right), she makes this a stretching exercise. This is good for shoulder muscles, too. She is careful to keep weight evenly distributed on both feet; this prevents fatigue.

Using Daily Chores As Part of Beauty Routine Can Pay Off With Trim Figure

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor

If housework is a monotonous and tiring chore to you, what about trying a new approach?

To start off with a good feeling, be sure that you look neat while you are cleaning. Then use each individual task to correct your posture and improve your figure.

This way, your day's work becomes a beauty routine. And beauty is far more pleasant to contemplate than scrubbing.

There's no need to get down on your hands and knees to wash floors these days. Get yourself a squeeze-type sponge mop. It will do a thorough job for you, with a minimum of effort on your part.

Working with a mop develops good posture. Keep your back straight and use short strokes, a few to the left, then a few to the right. It's good for the abdominal muscles, too.

When you're cleaning lower cabinets and shelves, you'll find the job less tiring if you don't bend from the waist. Stand with your feet apart, then bend from your knees, keeping your spine straight. Working in this position is good exercise, and your face won't be flushed from bending over for too long a time.

Sponging off wall cabinets is, of course, an excellent stretching exercise that can do wonders for the waistline and stomach muscles. Be sure your weight is evenly distributed on both feet, then stretch up and wipe off the cabinets.

Even when it's thought of as a beauty routine, housework can be fatiguing when not properly planned. Do all your washing and wiping with a no-rinse cleaning solution so that the whole process doesn't have to be repeated in order to remove a dull film.

Did you realize that even making beds, a simple enough task, is good for slimming the waist and upper arms? Be smart, though and don't run a marathon around the bed so that you'll tire easily. Finish one side first. Then do the other.

Wear pretty but loose-fitting clothes while you clean. And get a good-looking pair of comfortable play shoes for the job. Wearing old shoes with run-down heels is harmful to the feet and can make you feel like a drudge even before you start.

Think of your task not only as a means of a cheerful and clean home for your family, but as a way to a trim figure for yourself. You'll find boredom bowing out in deference to your new goal.

Philippines Recognize Feminine Ability And Name Women To Political Offices

By GAY PAULEY UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Politicians cater to the woman voter in the Philippines as in the United States, says the islands' only lady senator.

Mrs. Pacita Madrigal Gonzalez says that in her homeland women make up 82 per cent of the total registered vote; and they make for some of the most ardent party workers at the local, district and national level.

"Very definitely, our women can swing any election," she said.

"Magsaysay (the late president) gave full credit to the women for putting him in."

Mrs. Gonzalez is the first woman in the Philippines has sent to the United Nations General Assembly. From New York, she continues to Paris for the seventh general conference of UNESCO.

Any party would count this politician an asset. She's young, 41; she's smart — she attended a list of schools that long and graduated magna cum laude from the University of Santo Tomas. And she's pretty — small, with an excellent figure, good legs, and chic clothes.

Mrs. Gonzalez moved into politics when Ramon Magsaysay was running for the presidency. "Politics had been another world to me," she said, although her father had been a senator, representing the Liberal Party. She's a Nationalist.

"I was more interested in ballet," said Mrs. Gonzalez.

But at Magsaysay's urging, she headed up the women's division of his campaign and after his election, was named to the cabinet, as social welfare administrator.

In 1955, she decided to run for the Senate and stumped the country like any other politician. "But no kissing babies," she laughed. "I save that for home." There are two children in the family.

A 12-year-old son from her marriage to the late Herman Warns, and a 15-month-old daughter, by her husband, Gonzalo, an attorney.

Gets Whopping Margin Mrs. Gonzalez topped the party slate with a whopping margin of 500,000 more votes than any other candidate. She explained that in the Philippines eight senators are chosen each election, and all run as candidates at-large, instead of from a specific district, for a six-year term. Members of the lower house are selected by district.

The Philippines has only one woman in the House, but the ladies have moved rapidly into both elective and appointive public office since they won the right to vote in 1935, she said — serving as judges, mayors, councilmen, and on boards of education. The Philippines has one woman ambassador — to Vietnam.

Costume Play For Wednesday Study WHEELER (Sp) — Mrs. M. McIlhany and Mrs. Grainger McIlhany were co-hostesses for the recent meeting of the Wednesday Study Club in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Frank Wofford, vice president, presided during the business meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. George Porter. Mrs. D. O. Beene read a letter from Senator Grady Hazelwood in regard to compulsory Driver Education in public schools.

In a federation report, Mrs. Fred Farmer presented plans for a National Club project of "Community Revival." "This is a physical facelift of American communities, which has been adopted as a major objective for the 1958-59-60 administration," she said. Mrs. Aubrey Stewart of Ft. Worth is in charge of this program in Texas.

In observation of Federation Day, a costumed playlet, "Jennie June, Mother of Clubs," was presented under the direction of Mrs. R. W. Brown. Appearing in the cast were Mmes. Grainger McIlhany, R. W. Brown, Cora Hyatt and Harry Wofford. Costumes were dresses of ninety years ago. Refreshments were served during the social hour.

The Toy Scout

A Bumper Toy Crop Offers Good Pickin's

I never saw so many new toys as have cropped up this year. While scouting around, I picked what I think are the best values for $6.00 and under.

But first, I want to point out that in selecting toys as gifts, there are three categories to consider:

1) Toys that call for action on the part of the child — such as imitative and sports toys, board games, building sets, coloring and hobbying.

2) Toys that act or play by themselves such as mechanical toys, music boxes, wind-up and pop-up figures. These are called "novelty toys" as their purpose is to help develop children mentally, physically and emotionally.

3) Cuddly toys such as dolls and stuffed animals. These are little friends and companions to children, and their purpose is to provide an outlet for emotional expression.

All three categories are necessary to a child but the first group is more important to his growth and curiosity about adult life. I am therefore concentrating here on Group 1.

Starting with pre-school toys, a good pickin' is a complete learning unit — "Tak-A-Peg Deskette". It has an alphabetized black-board lid which covers wooden pegs, hammer and pegboard for pounding fun. Attached to it is a perfectly balanced straddle seat with safety lock and comfortable leg room.

For mental stimulation — ages 6 to 12 — I suggest adventure games such as "Disneyland"; "Dragon"; "Rin Tin Tin"; "Gray Ghost"; and "Wyatt Earp". An especially good game is "Around the World in 80 Days".

You can also build up a youngster's IQ with the new quiz game "Tic Tac Dough" which has a real automatic category selector and 540 questions for ages 7 to 10, and also 10 to adult.

Another good brain teaser is "Quick-Quick". It works like a pin ball machine demanding quick hand-eye coordination. You insert a quiz card in the machine and then try to beat the ball with the correct answer — but fast!

For creative fun — ages 6 to 60 — I recommend the plastic modeling material "Pyrocon". Unlike clay and other materials, it is forever pliant before baking, and practically unbreakable. The colors are bright and clean, and it takes only 13 min. baking time in an ordinary kitchen oven!

I've also gone daff about a fashionable new craft — "Paint by Number Mosaic Art Pictures". They're fun to do and make wonderful gifts. The pictures are clear plastic sheets embossed in 3-D designs and include everything from butterflies to oriental ladies. You simply dab the 3-D squares on the reverse side, in different colored paints using a number guide and color chart. When finished, you turn it over and voila! You have a beautiful mosaic picture ready to frame and hang on your wall. Two pictures come in each package with complete equipment including water soluble paints in 8 colors. Prices run $2, $3 and $5 according to picture size. Good for anyone aged from 10 to 80.

The best values I could find for all-family gifts were the "Bingo-Matic Bingo Game" and the "52 Variety Game Chest" which contains a different game for every week in the year.

If you want more information on these or other toys, write to The Toy Scout, 200 Fifth Ave., New York 10.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: "What's wrong with musicians? I happen to be a musician by profession and every time I get interested in a girl she chills me off because her folks don't want her going with a musician. They say we are lazy, no good tramps, even dope addicts. One father told me he liked me personally and if I gave up music and settled down he would get me a job in a "respectable" business. I studied hard to be a musician and I am a good one, but it seems to be a handicap in getting a decent girl. Why, Abby?"

MUSICIAN

Dear Musician: All parents want to see their daughters marry well. A musician sleeps days and works nights. Temptations are many. He travels and when jobs are scarce he is not equipped to make a living doing something else. But one thing is in your favor — when a girl marries a musician, he can be sure it's love!

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I married a man I didn't love and six months after we were married he joined the Navy. He was overseas for 24 months and while he was gone I fell head over heels in love with another fellow. We goofed and I became pregnant. I planned to divorce my husband and marry the man I loved, but when my husband came home, the baby's father took off and we can't locate him. My husband is very mad at me. Should I keep trying to find the father of my baby (the baby is adorable and looks a lot like my legal husband) or should I stay married and try to make the best of it?

IN DOUBT

Dear In: If your legal husband will have you, you are luckier than you deserve. Beg his forgiveness and try to make a respectable woman of yourself.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do in my case? My husband will not sit down and write his mother a letter or a card to let her know he is all right. His parents are quite old and I know they skimp and save but they have to put in a long-distance call to find out if their son is still living. I am sick of nagging him about this. Please give me a solution.

SICK OF NAGGING

Dear Sick: Quit aggravating yourself. Write to his folks yourself. They will appreciate it more than you know. Your husband will have a long time to regret his thoughtlessness.

DEAR ABBY: Can Bingo be fixed? Where I go to play there is a

The club extends a cordial invitation to bridge players to meet and play each Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall, 727 W. Browning.

BABY CARE

Your Baby And Sleep

How much sleep does an infant need? There is no hard and fast rule to apply since babies differ widely in their sleeping requirements — others get along with less. If he appears to be satisfied with his feedings, is comfortable, and gets plenty of fresh air, a young baby will usually determine his own requirements automatically and sleep from one feeding to the next.

Here are some tips from the Beech-Nut baby food staff on good sleeping habits for your baby:

1.—Try to get your baby used to going to bed and to sleep right after a meal. Some infants like to be playful after meals, a habit which should be discouraged. Too much activity may overstimulate him.

2.—Some babies are often restless for a short while before going to sleep. Prolonged crying may indicate some discomfort — try patting him in the crib, and if that doesn't succeed, pick him up.

3.—Most infants can get accustomed to normal household sounds, such as conversation, the TV or radio playing at a reasonable level. Hence, there is no point in tiptoeing and whispering around the house — you will only be training him to be easily awakened by unexpected sounds.

4.—If he has been asleep for a few hours and then awakens, he may be hungry again. Don't hesitate to feed him — repeated satisfactions increase his confidence and feelings of security.

5.—Many babies, in the beginning seem to be more comfortable sleeping on their stomachs instead of their backs. In the case of infants who develop colic, pressure on the abdomen seems to relieve gas pains.

6.—Starting at six months, a child should be in a room by himself if possible, away from his parents. In fact, he can sleep in his own room from the time he is born, provided he is near enough to be heard if he starts to cry. The older he is, the more difficult it may become to move him and to train him to sleep in new surroundings.

7.—Avoid bringing the child into your bed when he goes through a period of waking up frightened at night. Even if the child's anxiety seems to improve at the time, it is difficult to break him of the habit of clinging to the security of his parents' bed.

8.—Never give your child any kind of medicine to soothe him to sleep unless it is specifically prescribed by your doctor.

RUTH MILLETT

Here are some tips on how to be a good visitor to the sick, included in an article in "Today's Health," published by the American Medical Association.

Don't show up for a hospital visit until the third day after major surgery, or the second day after minor surgery. (In other words, however kind your intentions, an earlier visit is likely to do the patient more harm than good.)

If you have a cold or don't feel up to par, send a card instead of making a visit. (You certainly don't bring germs along with you by bringing germs along with a bouquet of flowers.)

As you walk along hospital corridors going to or from the room of the person you are visiting, don't peer inquisitively into rooms whose doors are standing ajar. (Keep your eyes straight ahead and give the patients a little privacy. They don't get much in a hospital.)

Don't stay long when you are paying a sick call. (Long visits tire a patient who, however bad he may feel, will make some effort to talk to visitors and make them feel welcome.)

Make happy talk. (This is the time to forget your own troubles and your own illnesses, and to try to bring a little sunshine into the sick room.)

Go alone or with just one other person when you make a hospital call. Too many visitors in the room at once tire the patient. (A hospital room is no place for friends to congregate and have a party.)

Don't play doctor. (Let the patient's doctor take care of his illness, without your giving the patient your idea of what should be done for him.)

Don't smoke unless it's all right with the hospital, with the patient you are visiting and other patients close by. If you can't do without a cigarette for 15 minutes maybe you'd better stay at home and send flowers.)

Halliburton Ladies Plan Turkey Basket Halliburton Ladies Club met recently in the Halliburton Conference Room. Each member brought an item for a Thanksgiving basket to be given to a needy family.

Following a brief business meeting, Thanksgiving games were played with prizes awarded to Mmes. Billy Rape, Boyd Butler, Leonard Cable, Dave Wilson and Weldon Rogers.

Hostesses, Mmes. John Triplett, R. E. Klingenberg, Ray Burney, Roel Morrison and Marvin Ingie, served pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee during the social hour.

Attending in addition to those mentioned above were Mmes. Ed Cruz, Gene Winegart, Joe Crotts, Earl Weatherford, Byt Skinner, Buddy Cauthorn, Eddie Parker, Bob Burrows, John Christner and Boyd Stewart.

Baseball season has been over for two months now, but the mayor of New York brought it back into the news recently by threatening to form an outlaw league.

Mayor Wagner feels that New York should have major league baseball, and he's announced that he's willing to spearhead an outlaw league to get it, if necessary.

He was blasted for his statement by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick. (That was about as surprising as Krushchev blasting John Foster Dulles).

Civic leaders and baseball men in possible "third major league" cities have shown some interest, but they've been very cautious.

Outlaw Leagues Don't Last

Their caution is understandable, because "operating an outlaw league is about as risky as going over Niagara Falls WITHOUT a barrel."

It's been tried in both baseball and football, and it's almost invariably failed in both. The Federal League tried to buck the two major leagues for a few years back in the early 1900's, but it died.

More recent attempts were the Mexican League and the All-American football conference. Both lost money. The Mexican League is now in organized baseball, as a AA league, and the All-American conference merged with the National football league.

About the only successful effort at operating an extra league was the American League. It was something of an outlaw organization in its early days.

In those days, though, professional baseball didn't have to compete with Gussak, little leagues, softball, and Rock Hudson. Things are a lot different now.

Even the two existing major leagues are having a rough time of it. To draw a million fans now, you have to be a pennant contender. Just a few years ago, the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates used to draw a million with second division teams.

Four baseball teams have been forced to move in the past five years (Walter O'Malley was a n't FORCED to move the Dodgers). They've all been doing pretty well in their new locations—but there's a limit to new locations. Everybody can't move.

The minor leagues are in even worse shape. In fact, there's not many of them left.

Talent Spread Too Thin

What we want to know is, how do they expect to make a success of a third major league, when two are barely operating successfully?

You must have a winner, or at least a near-winner, to make any money nowadays. People just won't come out to see a club like the Washington Senators. And with an extra league, the quality of each individual team would get worse, not better.

The available major league players would spread too thin, and many of the teams would have to use minor leaguers who aren't yet ready for the big time.

Assuming that the third league was able to operate farm clubs and develop its own talent, it would still take a period of several years. And during those several years, people aren't likely to come out in large numbers, to pay major league prices to see minor league ball.

Maybe there are a few civic-minded and sports-minded men around who'd be willing to operate at a loss for a few years. If such a group of men exists, though, they're a different breed of cat from the present major league owners.

Take Walter (Ugh!) O'Malley, for instance. He moves out of Brooklyn because the city won't give him a parking lot and new stadium, or some such thing, free for nothing. Then he cries because he has to play his games in the 100,000 seat Coliseum. (I should have something like that to cry about!)

Shame on those nasty tax payers in Los Angeles. Trying to keep the city from giving pore ol' Walter a measly $11 million dollars worth of real estate.

Come to think of it, we'd be tickled pink to see a third major league operating, providing one of the teams was operating in Los Angeles and slowly cutting Mr. O'Malley's financial throat.

But that's probably one of those pipe dreams, like the New York Yankees, losing three straight pennants, or the Russians telling the truth about something.

TWO MORE YEARS—Sherrill Miller, a sophomore halfback, will be back with the Harvesters for two more years. He was promoted from the Shockers earlier this season, and he immediately proceeded to score a touchdown against Monterey.

Harris Sets Dec. 1 Fight

CONROE, Tex. (UPI)—Ray Harris, the Texas heavyweight champion from Cut 'N Shoot, Tex., has signed to defend his title against Donnie Fleeman in Dallas, Dec. 1.

Dallas promoter Ralph Smith said immediately after the signing yesterday that he expects a sellout $44,000 gate for the bout, to be held in Dallas' Municipal Auditorium.

Harris hasn't had a fight since world champion Floyd Patterson knocked him out in a Los Angeles match last August.

Harvesters Meet Borger There At 2 p.m. Saturday

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

If the Pampa Harvesters win their final game of the season Saturday, they'll make David look like a piker.

Their Goliath will be a big, bad Bulldog named Borger. The Harvesters meet the Bulldogs, in Borger, at 2 p.m. Saturday. It will be Borger's homecoming game.

Borger, the eighth ranked team in the state, has breezed past six straight district opponents. The Harvesters have lost six straight district games.

For Pampa, this game will be the end of the line. They'll finish with a 1-9 season record if they lose, or a 2-8 mark if they win.

By winning, the Harvesters can finish in a seventh-place tie with Amarillo. If they lose, they'll have the basement all to themselves.

The game means nothing to Borger, except prestige. The Bulldogs have clinched the district championship and are looking forward, with mixed anticipation and dread, to next week's bi-district clash with powerful Wichita Falls.

The Bulldogs depend heavily on their speed especially in the backfield, and Harvester coaches have been trying to devise a defense which might stop, or at least slow down, the Bulldogs.

Coach Babe Curfman said that the Harvesters will work on defense almost exclusively Thursday and Friday.

Harvester coaches have been taking it easy on contact work, in an effort to avoid any further injuries. Two quarterbacks, Buddy Rawls and Ronnie Smith, have been knocked out with injuries during the past two weeks.

Tuesday was the only day this week on which the Harvesters ran through a heavy scrimmage.

The Shockers have completed their season, and are now working out with the Harvesters. Curfman said that a number of the B teamers may see some action against Borger, though none are scheduled to start.

Steve Dobbins may spell Bobby Stephens at quarterback, Charlie Giese may play either at offensive guard or defensive linebacker. Halfbacks Roy Don Stephens and Bill Cooper and fullback Larry Taylor are other Shockers whom Curfman said would probably play some.

Barring further injuries, the Harvesters will field the same starting lineup as last week against Plainview.

Stephens will be at quarterback, Rex Williams at fullback, Dwain Urbanczyk at right halfback, and Gary Wills at left half. On the line, DeWayne Glover and Paul Brown will be the ends; Delbert Simmons and Jim Scott, tackles; Gary Matlock and Richard Newberry, guards, and Dickie Watkins, center.

Probable defensive starters will be ends Glover and Harold Stokes; tackles Benny Stout and Simmons; guards Bailey Clements and Larry Heiskell; linebackers Matlock and Scott; and halfbacks Williams, Stephens, and Urbanczyk.

LAST GAME—Saturday's will be Dicky Elkins' last game as a Harvester. He's a senior reserve center.

Baylor Quarterback Connects On TD Passes—In Practice

United Press International

Baylor quarterback Buddy Humphrey was connecting with scoring passes as the first two varsity teams scored nine touchdowns against the "Redshirts" in a full dress scrimmage Wednesday.

Robert Starr hit Roy Downen and Gerry Moore with two more TD tosses and Dilmus Chidress threw the fifth to Gary Wisener, before the Bears turned to end-of-the-workout punt protection and play timing drills.

The Bears play Southern Methodist Saturday in Dallas' Cotton Bowl.

Texas Christian Coach Abe Martin stressed passing offense and defense at Fort Worth, as the Horned Frogs split into two groups with one working on offense and the other on defense.

Full Back

Halfback Marvin Lanster, injured last week, was running at full steam as Martin warned the squad they face their toughest game of the season when they met Rice Saturday.

At Fayetteville, Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles worried that Texas Tech would be "up" for an upset over his Razorbacks when they tackle the Red Raiders at Lubbock Saturday.

Broyles said "any coach would rather play a team that won than one that lost." Tech lost 9-7 to Tulsa last week while Arkansas topped SMU.

The Razorbacks put the emphasis on pass defense in an hour-and-a-half drill.

The University of Texas team resumed practice after a two-day layoff, but did not put on pads as the Longhorns went through a running workout in preparation for the Texas A&M game at Austin on Thanksgiving Day.

Tickets Available

Coach Darrell Royal said the Longhorn lineup for the Aggie tilt will stay the same as it was against TCU last week. Some 5,000 tickets are still available for the game.

The A&M Aggies, meanwhile, held an hour-and-a-half dummy defensive scrimmage and polished its offense at College Station.

No injuries were reported following the upset over Rice last week.

Sneed, Hogan Picked in Golf 'World Series'

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Sammy Sneed and Ben Hogan, teeing off as a U. S. team today, were 4 to 1 favorites to win the "world series" of golf or the International Trophy and Canada Cup championships as it is called in more formal circles.

Sneed and Hogan, both looking more grim than opening day World Series pitchers, were scheduled to tee off at noon in the first of four daily 18-hole rounds that will decide which nation among the 31 entered will wind up with the coveted Canada Cup.

The new Bel Air 4-Door Sedan

Be our guest for a pleasure test . . . drive a Chevy today!

DEFINITELY NEW, DECIDEDLY DIFFERENT!

Chevrolet shatters precedent beautifully with a completely new car for the second year in a row. It's new and different in its vastly increased areas of visibility, in the roominess of its new Body by Fisher, in the way it rides and holds the road—even in the sheen of its finish. This is your kind of car!

Chevy's new all over! In the fresh slant of its Slimline design. In the spacious comfort of its beautiful Body by Fisher. New from the graceful sweep of its Vista-Panoramic windshield to its safer, softer riding Tyrex cord tires.

There's a new, peppier Hi-Thrift 6 engine that delivers up to 10% greater gas economy. A wide choice of quick-springing V8's. Better-than-ever suspensions. Bigger brakes for safer stops. A new Magic-Mirror finish that keeps its shine without wax or polish for up to three years.

And Chevy's new in a way that's decidedly different—unlike any car you've seen. Its new style is shaped to the modern American taste for design that reflects function as well as good form. Drop by your Chevrolet dealer's and see how beautifully the '59 Chevrolet combines fresh, fine design with traditional practicality.

51st Year THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1958 13

Fraley Picks Rice, Baylor, Arkansas

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Fraley's follies and the weekend football "winners"—and after all, seniors, they're your pesos.

Game of the Week — Iowa over Notre Dame — The Hawkeyes always come up big for this one and last week they had to be looking over Ohio State's shoulder toward another whack at the Irish.

The East — Syracuse over West Virginia — Who invented basketball? Princeton over Dartmouth — Naim Smith copped the credit. Rutgers over Columbia — But the Aztecs played it 1,000 years ago.

The Midwest — Northwestern over Illinois — Maximilian's palace is a pip. Ohio State over Michigan — His swimming pool even had an island. Purdue over Indiana — His wife's pool was as big as a midget's bath tub.

Also: Wisconsin over Minnesota, Oklahoma over Nebraska, Michigan State over Kansas State and Missouri over Kansas.

The West — California over Stanford — The drivers here are daredevils. Oregon State over Oregon — They break up cars faster than they can be imported. UCLA over Southern California — Pedestrians, too.

Also: Washington State over Washington, Iowa State over San Jose State, COP over San Diego State, Air Force over New Mexico and Wyoming over Brigham Young.

The South — Auburn over Wake Forest — Zappa must have been a great man.

LSU over Tulane — He fought all over Mexico.

North Carolina over Duke — And, at this altitude, that's a lot of fighting.

Also: North Carolina State over South Carolina, Tennessee over Kentucky, Maryland over Virginia, Alabama over Memphis State, Georgia over Citadel, Miami over Houston and Boston College over Clemson.

The Southwest — Rice over TCU — The golfers here at the Canada Cup don't like Speed and Hogan getting all the publicity.

Baylor over SMU — They figure they're overrated.

Arkansas over Texas Tech — And figure they'll be beaten.

Tampe over Arizona — Which re-tempe over Arizona — Which re-

Joey Caught in Spider's Webb

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— This city by the Golden Gate was nothing more than "w h a m m y v i l l e" today as far as Joey Giardello was concerned.

Last June he lost a controversial decision here in the Cow Palace to Joey Giambra. Then Wednesday night, after being introduced as "the uncrowned middleweight champion of the world," he was stopped in seven rounds by Spider Webb.

A nationwide television audience plus a crowd of 8,571 cash customers sat in on Giardello's pre-fight "coronation" by announcer Jack Reed and ultimate slaughter by the sharp workman from Chicago.

The gross gate was $42,790 and the net $39,948.66, of which Giardello took 30 per cent and Webb 25 per cent.

Referee Vern Bybee stopped the bout at 1:36 of the seventh as a river of blood coursed down the Long Islander's features from a cut left eye which he suffered in the fourth round.

Bucks, Perryton, Groom, Miami Prep For Playoff Tilts

Four area class AA, A, and B teams swing into bi-district action Friday. For the AA and A teams, it could mean the first step toward a possible state championship. For the class B squads, it could be the halfway station on the road to a regional title.

White Deer of 2-A tangles with Gruver of 1-A at 7:30 p.m. in White Deer; Perryton of 5-AA meets Stamford of 6-AA at 2:30 p.m. in Childress; Groom of 1-B travels to Happy of 2-B, for a 7:20 p.m. contest; and Miami of 1-B (six-man) goes to Hale Center to meet Cotton Center of 2-B (six-man), at 7:30 p.m.

Both White Deer and Perryton are rated good chances of taking the championships of their respective divisions if they can get by these first hurdles — but the hurdles are big ones.

WHITE DEER — The White Deer Bucks have won nine games this year, while tying one and losing none. The only thing marring their record is a 6-6 tie with Stinnett.

The Bucks moved through a tough district schedule with surprising ease, beating all six loop opponents. Only McLean gave White Deer a real scare, before bowing 22-6.

The Bucks averaged more than 450 yards per game, mostly on the ground. However, they can also move through the air. White Deer is ranked second in the state among class A teams, trailing only defending champion White Oak.

The Bucks scored 378 points during the full season, compared to 72 for their combined opponents. In district play, they scored 208 points and allowed 48.

Gruver is the only undefeated, untitled class A team in the Panhandle, with a 9-0 record. The Greyhounds are a surprise winner in 1-A, having taken only one game last year.

The Greyhounds, who took their first class A district title last week by beating Stratford, are among the top 10 class A teams in the state.

PERRYTON — Perryton's Rangers will be meeting Stamford Friday for the second time in three years. Two years ago, the Bulldogs, whipped the Rangers on their way to a state championship.

The Warriors also had an assist from the Booker Kiowas, who split with Mobeetie in two games.

Miami had a 7-1 record in district play, scoring 343 points to 17 for its opponents. Its only loss was to Mobeetie, 28-22, in the district opener.

One of the Warriors' proudest accomplishments, however, was in non-district game against Turpin, Oklahoma. Turpin, ranked as the number one six-man team in Oklahoma, had allowed its combined opponents, up to the Miami game, only 55 points; but Miami beat them 32-24.

GROOM — The Groom Tigers had to fight every inch of the way for their B title, and they'll have to keep fighting to take the bi-district game at Happy.

The Happy Cowboys have been the top class B team in the Panhandle since the beginning of the season.

Groom had to come from behind last Friday to beat Claude, 20-16, and capture the District 1-B title. The Tigers won five district games, without a loss, and had a 43-1 mark for the season.

Groom outscored its district opponents, 172 to 88, and racked up 242 points over the full season, 115 for its opponents.

GARY WILHELM ... Pampa welterweight boxer

Pampa Boxers Clash Friday With Dumas And Hereford

Pampa boxers will meet teams from Dumas and Hereford Friday night at 8 p.m., at Pampa Optimist Boys' Club.

This will be the first match ever held at Pampa Optimist Boys' Club, and the Pampa team's first home match of the year.

In their only other match so far this season, O. F. (Ollie) Wilhelm's biffers took four of ten fights at Amarillo.

New bleachers were moved into the Boys' Club this week. They will seat approximately 500 people. In addition, ringside chairs will seat another hundred.

Coach of the Dumas team is Carl McClure, who represented Texas in the national Golden Gloves tournament last year. McClure, needless to say, is a fighting coach.

The Dumas squad also has a couple of other highly-regarded heavyweights. The Pampa boxing coaches expect quite a bit of trouble from them.

Hereford, coached by David Young, has had a boxing program for only three years, so does not have many experienced boxers. However, they may bring up some fighters from Levelland.

Going for Pampa in the open class will be featherweight Dickie James, 118; lightweight — Rabbit Ramirez, 135; middleweight Glenn Ward, 160; and heavyweight Herman Gliese.

Fighting for Pampa in the high school division will be Trent Olsen 105; Kenny Powell, featherweight, 118; and James Morse, featherweight, 126.

Other fighters will also be scheduled as soon as they can be matched against Hereford or Dumas boxers.

Several of the Pampa fighters are holders of regional and district Golden Gloves titles. Pampa boxers have piled up a large percentage of wins in the 12 years Wilhelm has been at the head of the boxing program.

Several new fighters have started working out at the Boys' Club this week. One of them is Bud Wells, a Lefors heavyweight who is rated as a fine prospect.

Others, with weights, are Nelson Rockwell, 110; Bill Martin, 105; Steven Martin, 80; David Frasier, 80; Stanley Mathis, 70 Mark Falstein, 50, and John Falkenstein, 55.

Tickets for the fight, priced at 75 cents, are on sale at the door. The club is located at the corner of Craven and Barnes, just a block to the left of Starkweather Street.

Pampa's next scheduled match will be against Fort Sill, Dec. 3 at the Boys' Club. Fort Sill has some of the top service boxers in the country.

Also fighting for Pampa will be John Ironmonger, 65; Charles Kimbell, 147, and Norman Rexroat, 135.

Royals Break Losing Streak

United Press International — Jack Twyman's almost point-a-minute scoring spree helped the Cincinnati Royals break an eight-game losing streak Wednesday night.

Twyman hit for 45 points, including a spurge of 14 during a three and one-half minute space, to lead Cincinnati to a 119-103 victory over the Boston Celtics in the lone National Basketball Association action.

Jensen Named as American Loop's Most Valuable Player

JACKIE JENSEN ... most valuable

BOSTON (UPI) — Outfielder Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox, who gained All-American football honors a decade ago, today won one of baseball's most coveted awards when he was named the American League's Most Valuable Player of 1958.

The 31-year-old Jensen polled 233 points in balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America, beating out pitcher Bob Turley of the New York Yankees and outfielder Rocky Colavito of the Cleveland Indians in fairly close voting. Turley received 191 points and Colavito 181.

Jensen was the first member of a non-pennant-winning club to win the award since Yogi Berra of the Yankees captured it four years ago when Cleveland finished first. The Red Sox finished in third place the past season, 13 games behind New York.

The naming of the blond-haired, square-shouldered former All-American fullback for the University of California in 1948 also broke a four-year Yankee hold on the award. Mickey Vernon won it in 1954 and 1957, while Berra took it in 1954 and 1955.

Hard luck outfielder Bob Cerv of the Kansas City Athletics finished fourth with 164 votes.

'Tickled Pink' Says Jack

BOSTON (UPI)—Jackie Jensen said today he was "tickled pink" at the news he had won the American League Most Valuable Player award for 1958.

"Winning this makes the season as big a one as you could have," the 31-year-old Boston Red Sox outfielder said by telephone from his Lake Tahoe, Nev., home.

"You have no idea how happy this makes me. The Most Valuable Player award is the ultimate goal of all baseball players.

"It really thrills me to death. This was the best year I've ever had. I felt halfway through the season that I was going to have a big year because I hadn't a slump. Of course, I ran into one in September and while 1958 was my best season I was hoping to have a better one."

FLYING QUEENS—The famed Wayland College Flying Queens will tangle with Clarendon Junior College tonight in McLean's Municipal Building. Four times AAU champs and winners of 131 straight games before last season, the Queens from Plainview will be helping aid a McLean Lions Club benefit. Tip-off time is 7:30 p. m. The Queens are kneeling, Joyce King, middle row, l-to-r, Carla Lowry, Mona Poff, Nedda Smith, Bettie Lou Hallford, and Katherine Washington. Back row, l-to-r, national free-throw champ, Patsy Neal, Margaret Odom, Marsha Scroggins, Jan Wiginton, Carolyn Miller and Mary Searls.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is not license. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, The Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to promoting and preserving YOUR freedom as well as our own. For only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

Election Picture

Just before the elections, and the chance that we might find out something of particular interest, we wrote to the state registrar of voters in each of the other 47 states, requesting that a sample ballot for that state's state of candidates and issues be sent to us.

Forty-one of the forty-seven responded. Three sent no ballots as such a practice was prohibited by state law, or as in Alabama, each county prepares its own ballot and there is no one particular form that is used statewide.

The two smallest ballots came from Vermont and Virginia, with Virginia having the smallest piece of printed matter to be thus distributed. A number of states used large ballots. Minnesota's contained the largest number of square inches of printed matter. It measured 24 inches by 18 1/2 inches.

We were particularly interested in the issues offered to the voters in the various states, so we did a bit of tabulating. The single most voted upon issue seemed to be a general reworking of existing laws to change wording, alter names, revise meanings.

There was a wide swath of issues calculating to increase taxes, to pass bonds and to expand the powers of government. The home rule idea was apparently being pushed in a number of counties in various states. Colorado, Oregon, Minnesota, South Dakota and Ohio had moved toward home rule. New York, on the other hand, approved.

There was a rush across the nation to play bingo. Colorado, Nebraska and Delaware legalized it. In New York state, several cities including New York City authorized it for charity purposes only. Utah and Louisiana both attempted to legalize pari-mutuel betting at horse races. The move lost in Utah, and we don't know how it came out in Louisiana.

Special tax exemptions for veterans were voted by Georgia and Louisiana. Illinois turned down a bonus for Korean War vets, and Oregon voters said no to a special tax which would have paid for veterans' loans.

In the area of bonded indebtedness, voters approved about $2 billion worth, which was about 73 percent of all the bond issues offered. There were more than 125 separate bond issues submitted in the various states — all of which means higher taxes and more spending by state and local governments for everything from schools, water and sewer facilities, to courthouses, roads, bridges and sundry public works.

This is one of the most serious results of the November 4 election. The fear of debt which once marked this nation, has graduated, first to a loss of respect for debt, and finally to an actual open-armed welcome of debt. If we recognize that many bonds voted in previous elections have not yet been sold, that there are still more issues respecting bonds coming up all over the country within the next 12-month period which presumably stand a fair chance of passage, it is not too rash to suggest that by this time next year, local governments will have plunged the citizens of the nation into an additional $6 billion of debt. And all of this debt must be paid by more taxes, greater restrictions and in a larger loss of freedom.

Altogether, the election spelled out an increase in governmental power, a decrease in freedom, and an enormous rise in debt and interventionism.

All of which tends to show that the mere act of putting X's on paper is no guarantee that the things we hold dear will be retained. This nation is far gone in debt. Millions of dollars of everything desirable can be obtained via the ballot. What a rude awakening is awaiting a majority.

The Farmer's Melon

It's time we took another look at the government's agricultural program. Ever since Uncle Sam assumed the role of benefactor to farmer and rancher, this nation has been piling up costly surpluses and running into debt at a staggering rate, all to keep the farmers happy. The irony of the situation is found in the fact that farmers aren't any happier than they used to be. Conversely many of the trials of a good many farmers verify. These men who resist government control have gone to court rather than comply with some ridiculous farm order.

But a look at the farm picture means that we must look at money. In 1957, the federal government paid out some $44 million to 2,422 farming firms or individual farmers, each of whom received $10,000 or more. The payments were made to these farmers for participating in the government's "acreage reserve program," which is alphabetically called the soil bank.

These 2,422 firms or individual farmers took 1.6 million acres out of cultivation. However, they put enough into cultivation to offset any losses in supply. So that once more, a huge surplus has been gathered, and the payment for the idle acres is just so much waste.

It is worth noting that the $44 million thus distributed amounts to the total income taxes paid by 130,000 workers who earned a total of $4,500 per year. It is interesting to reason that 130,000 workers must be enslaved so that 2,422 farmers can be paid for not working their land.

Biggest recipient of this fat melon was the Kansas concern of John W. Baughman Farms, which banked 197,000 acres and picked up a check in the amount of $22,000. Another Kansas wheat growing company banked $278,157 for not growing wheat and an Arizona firm received $209,701 for pulling some of its cotton acreage into "reserve."

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Reader Writes On "Responsibility"

I have a letter from H. C. Zarecor, Jr. of Harlingen, Tex., containing an article on "Responsibility." In sending me the article, he writes:

"In reading your column, 'Better Jobs,' every day, I have become extremely interested in your philosophy of government and have noticed that you have from time to time printed several guest editorials.

"Seeing that our views are practically the same, I wanted to get in my two-cents worth and would like to have you consider the enclosed article, 'Responsibility,' for printing in your column."

The article is rather long, so I can quote only part of it: "I've often wondered who it was that started the nonsense that the Federal Government was responsible for the welfare of its citizens. It was a very artful change from, responsible to the people, to responsible for the people; and it hit home, for responsibility requires effort; and people, Americans notwithstanding, are inherently lazy. This person did not mention at any time nor did it occur to a majority of these people who were more than anxious to be cared for by the state; that when they forfeited their responsibility, they forfeited their freedom. By defaulting, they had made the state the master and themselves dependents. Principles along with responsibilities were shed as the citizens looked more and more to the state for care and protection. Security became the number one goal; and the jealous guardians of freedom who challenged that, 'Pardon offer the greatest security; a roof over your head, a bed to sleep on, clothes enough to fill your needs, and three meals a day' were smeared and ridiculed.

"We are on the road to that prison right now, and unless a greater number of persons are ready and willing to face their responsibilities and assert themselves as masters of their own fate, not as servants of the state ready to act without superior authority or guidance, then that prison is not many days of travel away. Your security is measured by your vigilance, and the only real security you will ever have can be found in yourself.

"Not only did these citizens allow themselves to be led to the hitching post, they went a long way in helping to hog-tie themselves. They listened and believed the most nefarious and sly of their group, who attacked the responsible people still around, as pernicious, and gave as proof these peoples' ability to make money and hold on to it. And so the progressive income tax was allowed to replace investment, and with it chances for new industries, tools, employment, and progress. And in this country, where free enterprise, strong incentive, open competition, and freedom of thought had been its main motivation and ultimately its greatness, a new era was born."

Take Over Schools "But this malignancy did not stop here; the power-seeking politicians and the welfare staters knew their victory would be long if the nation's children were educated in the old traditions that had made the United States the world's most respected nation, and the insidious pollution of our education system began and once again went unchallenged. The three R's, because of their success, were scrapped and replaced by the three I's, Irresponsibility, Indifference, and Immorality. Homework and studying became bad words; parents who held their children responsible for their actions were mentally sick or at least old-fashioned ogres. Morals were assailed as old-fashioned, and youngsters were entreated to let themselves go, and all whims and perversions were smiled on and ignored. Literature was allowed to settle at a new, all-time low. In a country where 30 years ago illegitimate children were to a large majority just dark whispers, homes for unwed mothers sprang up. Pre-marital sex and divorce were considered base, duty to oneself and family or marriage vows were considered things of the past. School children were confused and taught rationalization and adjustment rather than morals, spiritual principles, and truth. Disrespect and indifference to the basic tenets and traditions that had lifted this country out of the commonplace, was preached in the students' texts. By 1968, in a country-wide survey made among 6,000 high school students, it showed that 60 per cent believed the profit motive can be killed without hurting the American system; and in another study on who contributed most towards improved living standards, business, government or union leaders — government and union leaders got first and second place. Business ran a very poor third. The nation's schools have become the breeding grounds of socialism.

"Not your responsibility because you have no school-age children? What if you ever do, or even closer to home, are these the type of people you want running your country? These children are tomorrow's businessmen, artists, and leaders. It is your responsibility to give them at least as good of a chance as we had. This responsibility cannot be delegated! You should allow no one to act for you, vote for you. No one will take the blame for your failures! Only you can fulfill that responsibility."

Robert Allen Reports:

Titan, Will Finally Be Put To The Test

WASHINGTON—The Air Force's long-developing intercontinental ballistic missile TITAN is finally going to be tested — at Cape Canaveral, Fla., around December 12.

The first firing of the 6,000-mile ICBM will be limited to several hundred miles. Its first full-distance test won't take place for some time.

December is slated to be one of the busiest and most eventful months in the history of the Cape Canaveral range. In addition to the initial TITAN launching, all three military services have major "shots" scheduled there. For example, among them the following: ARMY — December 4 will make the first of its two authorized attempts to shoot the moon. This will be done with a composite of the JUPITER and REDSTONE ballistic missiles. This successful Army combination launched the three EXPLORER satellites, one of them the first this country orbited into space.

AIR FORCE — December 16-17 will undertake to launch a military reconnaissance satellite. Weighing several hundred pounds, it will carry more instruments than any previous U.S. satellite. This firing will be the first of six planned up to 1960.

NAVY — Another effort (sixth) to put one of its temperamental VANGUARDs into orbit around the globe. It will weigh 21 pounds, and the principal scientific equipment will be an "infra-red scanner" designed to report data on the earth's cloud cover.

Also due by December 1 is Defense Secretary McElroy's repeatedly postponed decision on the choice between the Army's intermediate range JUPITER and the Air Force's rival THOR.

All inside indications point to THOR getting the preference. That is, JUPITER production will be limited to around 60, but no ceiling will be put on the THOR.

ability; and where so much is at stake, careful, sincere action is warranted. Don't fail yourself, the freedom you save may be your own. Let's return to our children the same American heritage we started with."

Highlights of this backstage survey are: "The extent to which Soviet delegates introduced contentious political issues depended largely on the subject matter of the conferences. . . . Where the conferences dealt with carefully delineated technical subjects, such as whaling, fur sealing and health, the behavior of the Soviet delegates may be described as generally affable, correct and cooperative."

"U.S. delegates report that even in cases where the Soviet representatives introduced extraneous political language or sweeping propositions known to be unacceptable to the U.S., they were willing to consult and acquiesce in amendments which altered the original Soviet formulae. This occurred particularly during the World Health Organization Assembly meetings."

Bad Or Good Road, It's All The Same!

By HENRY McEMORE

Some day I am going to get a State Highway Commissioner to one side and ask him how he and his fellows figure there is any sense in having the same speed limit on narrow, two-lane roads, and on four- and six-lane thoroughfares.

Yet this is what you find all across the United States. On a bumpy highway, which affords a scant room for two cars to pass, the sign reads Speed Limit — 60 Miles. Then you emerge onto a magnificent stretch of road, but the sign still says 60. I'm not asking for a hike in the speed limit, but if 60 is all that is safe on the fine road, then 30 should be the maximum on the poorer highways.

Why is it, with all the handsome service stations there are, most of them manned by strong, energetic, and helpful personnel, that I invariably wind up pulling into a station operated by an obviously weary woman, spelling her husband for an hour or two (2) a ten-year-old who has not yet quite mastered the intricacies of the pump and the art of washing a windshield (3) a station where the air pump is on the blink (4) the attendant is out of sight under a car giving it a grease job, and has to be horned out of his hiding place (5) the soft drink machine is stuck (6) the owner is either on the phone or doing his books and takes ten minutes to man the pumps.

Only once in ten times do I manage to pull into a smooth-working station with capable help. Most of the time I have to put air in the tires myself, raise my own hood, go across the street or next door for change for my bill, test my own oil gauge, and always wind up with a package of peanut butter or cheese crackers that have been on hand since the Crimean War.

If it's late, then I'm sore at late. Nothing is worse than getting behind a speed cup who is tooling along at about five miles under the legal limit — at, say, 55, when the law allows 60. Mile after mile I follow him, praying that he will either turn off and have himself a stretch, or that I will have bravely enough to pass him at an even 60.

Most of them never turn off, and I have all but given up any thought that someday I'll be valuable enough to go on by. If that's a sign of being chicken, then I am about due to molt any day.

The French fried potato is massacred a million times a day in a million roadside eateries in the United States. And what is so bad for Bar-B-Q along the highways is usually not fit to be used by eaters in building a temporary dam. A billion dollars awaits the man who invents a paper container which does not make coffee taste like a wet comic section.

My favorite sign so far (in Texas): Oliver Goldsmith—Termites.

same and against James Jones, too, because I believe in truth they are trying to be shocking and soiled, I can say that I believe O'Hara is not trying to be shocking but is only reporting conversation as his people would conduct it. O'Hara's characters, both men and women, are not of a kind and milieu customarily addicted to saying 'By jeebers' or 'Oh, shucks.' They are forthright, direct men and women and they use Anglo-Saxon at its classic most descriptive when speaking without heat, indignation or even lubricity. They can ask for nothing more formidable than another cup of coffee or please pass the toast and Anglo-Saxon will be there because such people use it that idly and casually. If the matter has to be brought into personal focus: I am surrounded in New York by three main worlds: the theatre books and music; Men and women in these areas use Anglo-Saxon habitually, artlessly and without self-consciousness and are considered no less worthy for it. I do not condone it or defend it or recommend it. But I report this as a truth and it no longer seems even startling. There was a time — but all barefoot boys have to grow up and learn city ways and that was one I learned. Never turn pale if a born lady of unimpeachable rectitude and ethical probity salts her words with some unprintables.

It has never seemed to me that O'Hara kept a stock of unprintables on hand just to prove, like a mischievous boy, that they could be made printable. There is a slim to me always effective, little novella of his called "The Farmer's Hotel." I read it about once a year. In it there is one and only one Anglo-Saxon usage and it comes from a perfect source at a perfect time. It is exactly what that character would have said in that circumstance. Could O'Hara have avoided using it? Of course, Dickens never did, nor did John Galsworthy, to name only two, and they wrote with a lasting tread. This in no way puts any barriers in O'Hara's way. The times, for one thing, have changed — and the milieu.

But there still are 15 days until Nov. 27 — and this is no review of "From The Terrace." It is only a facet of it.

been a marked increase in exports to the Soviet. Three of the largest shipments were $5,574,000 in cold-rolled steel sheets, $2,580,000 in galvanized iron, and $960,000 in steel mill parts.

The Doctor Says:

Dr. Edwin F. Jordan

Milk is one of the most valuable and widely used foods available. It provides energy and contains some minerals, and is rich in carbohydrates, fats, proteins and certain vitamins.

But many germs can grow in milk rapidly. The germs can get into milk directly from an infected cow or may drop in any where along its path between the cow and the consumer.

Milk has caused dangerous illness in many people. The germ of tuberculosis is carried in milk. Typhoid fever, septic sore throat and undulant fever or brucellosis also can be spread by contaminated milk.

The spread of disease through milk can be checked. The way to do this is simple and well known. It is merely necessary to use a process of treating milk with heat which destroys the disease germs which may be present. This heat treatment is called pasteurization, a name which I received from the great French pioneer in bacteriology, Louis Pasteur.

For a long time the idea of pasteurizing milk was objected to because people thought that it harmed the taste or destroyed some of the nutritious value.

These ideas are wrong. The taste is altered only slightly by pasteurization. It has been shown conclusively that the seasonal variation in the nutritional quality of milk is greater than any effect which pasteurization has on this excellent food.

Destroying germs by heating is no excuse for supplying consumers with dirty milk. The healthier the cows, the cleaner the collecting methods, transportation and bottling, the fewer the germs which have to be destroyed by pasteurization. Modern dairy herds are healthier and milk collecting and transportation methods are much better than they used to be.

Certified milk is that which has been obtained from specially selected dairy herds and collected and distributed under conditions of rigid care. Some certified milk is also pasteurized, and the fact that milk is pasteurized does not mean that it was not also obtained from inspected cows and has been carefully handled.

A hard to interpret story comes from a lady who signs herself "Desperate." She says that about five years ago all four members of her family became seriously ill from some milk, but she does not know what was wrong with it.

The year-old little girl in the family had to be taken to the hospital with a temperature of 105 degrees. She was dehydrated and had to be fed through her veins. Since then, she says, none of the family has been able to eat or drink anything made with milk.

One would suspect that the incident of five years ago was the result of milk contaminated with germs, possibly of the streptococcus family. The other possibility, that all members of the family developed a severe allergic reaction to milk which still prevents them from taking any milk or milk products, seems almost incredible.

Filmdom, Entertainers Hit Links For Favorite Sport

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A cloud of divots will engulf movieland next week when a pack of stars from the golf course for the title "world entertainment golf champion."

Duffers and one-handicappers will bell it out at Los Coyotes Country Club with comedians, leading men, character actors and cowpokes vying for honors.

Golf rates highest with Hollywood celebrities, many of whom devote more time to curing a disease than perfecting their acting techniques.

And some of them are mighty good.

But because they're a part of show biz only a few private clubs allow them membership. The great bulk of movie and TV stars belong to one of three clubs—Bel Air, Lakeside and Hillcrest. Some belong to all three.

Los Angeles Country Club has a strict ban on the greasepaint set. Anyone faintly connected with the movies hasn't a chance.

Bing Crosby once said, "It'd be all right if a distant cousin of mine applied. But I live a short four from the LA club and I can't join."

Crosby and Bob Hope, tinsel town's most famous golfers, are foregoing the tournament because of work. But most of the other hackers are having a go at it.

Favored is Bob Sterling (of TV's "Topper" series) who shoots a "1" handicap. Also in contention are crooner Don Cherry (a scotch player), Gordon MacRae (5) and Dean Martin (7).

A pair of dancers, Ray Bolger (10) and Fred Astaire (7) will be falling away against such cowboy stars as Jim Garner — a 9-handicapper who claims he can't afford to join a private club—Richard (the Californians) Cooogan (9), Ty (Cheyenne) Hardin (12), Guy Madison (9), Gene Autry (12).

Two former screen "Tarzans," Johnny Weissmuller (8) and Lex Barker (7) will be bunching their muscles in a private duel for tourney honors.

Jack Benny, a magnificent scrambler with a 16 handicap, withdrew from competition after checking the opposition.

Mickey Will Compete

But little George Gobel, sporting a 10 handicap, Phil Harris (9) and Mickey Rooney (9) will be on hand to provide laughs along with some better-than-average golf.

Two of golfdom's zaniest adherents will be missing — Jerry Lewis (who is ill) and Victor Mature (who limits himself to two-timen tournaments). Jerry and Vic play one another frequently in rigged tourneys.

The winner buys the loser a huge loving cup for second place, and the loser presents the winner with an impressive plaque. Both Mature and Lewis have lined their den walls with eye-popping trophies.

All told some 120 golfer-entertainers will compete at Los Coyotes (located in Bellehurst) to raise money for the Motion Picture Relief Fund.

And for the first time in history a champion will be named among movietown golf addicts, an accolade many would prefer to an Academy Award.

The Texas Railroad Commission hiked the crude oil production allowable to 12 days, increasing permissible output by 105,094 barrels daily over the mid-November level. Commission Chairman Olin Culberson said the increase was put through because crude oil stocks are sharply below the year-ago level.

The Treasury announced a short term refinancing of $12,201,000,000 of maturing debt and the issuance next month of a new regular series of 26-week securities. In exchange for maturing securities a 3 1/2 per cent certificate maturing in 1 1/2 months and a 3 per cent note due in 2 1/2 years. The new securities will be issued at small discounts to give investors better yields.

Paperboard production last week rose slightly above the previous week and was considerably higher than a year ago. The industry, considered a barometer of business activity, has been producing at an unprecedented rate since Labor Day.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. formally applied to the Securities & Exchange Commission for registration of the new stock it plans to issue in preparation for a listing on the New York Stock Exchange. The new voting common shares, created through a proposed 10 for one split, are expected to be eligible for trading on Dec. 15.

Red Cross Asks For Gift Help

The Pampa Red Cross hopes to send presents to the men at the William Beaumont Army Hospital, El Paso, for distribution Christmas Eve. Mrs. F. W. "Libby" Shotwell, executive secretary, has asked support from all civic clubs, groups and individuals to fulfill the local chapter's part of the program.

The veterans' hospital is asking for over 400 new gifts to cost not less than $1 and not more than $2.

Gift suggestions are leather address books, loaded flashlights, ornamental key rings, T shirts, stretch socks, neckties, boxed handkerchiefs, identification bracelets, pocket photograph albums, ball point pens and toilet articles but no tooth brushes or tooth paste.

Specifically excluded are reading matter, standard games, perishable goods and perishable items. The hospital has a library and game shelf.

Local gifts must be in Red Cross hands by Dec. 11.
