'BABY, ITS COLD OUTSIDE'

Pampa motorists found the going slippery and visibility hampered by a three-inch snow which fell Friday evening. Many stalled autos resulted from a downward plunge of the mercury, but a bright sun Saturday helped the situation considerably. (Daily News Photo)

Snow Blankets Dixie; Top O' Texas Hit Hard

Traffic Is Snarled In The South

United Press International

A severe snowstorm swept across Dixie and snarled traffic Saturday as one of the waves in recent years expanded bitter early season cold deep into Texas.

There was no sign of relief from bone-chilling temperatures as the U.S. Weather Bureau posted cold wave and snow readings over the Lone Star state. In addition, weather men issued heavy snow warnings of six inches or more for most of South Carolina, and provisional warnings for North Carolina and Virginia.

New snow squalls developed, meanwhile, on the eastern shores of Lakes Erie and Ontario, already buried under deep snows from the past week. New snows also spread from the northern Rockies into the Plains, and from the Great Lakes eastward across the western slopes of the Appalachians.

At least 60 persons have died from causes attributable to weather since the cold and snow onslaught began in the northern Plains about 12 days ago.

About 24 persons died in home fires or from fumes from overburdened furnaces, at least 27 on snow and ice-covered highways, while at least 8 persons froze to death or died from exhaustion.

Snow, Sleet In South

In Chicago, three adults died in an apartment house fire that drove 25 persons into near zero weather. At Brookport, Ill., three children perished in a fire that began around an oil heater in the living room of their farm home.

Snow, freezing sleet or drizzle spread across the Southland from Texas and Arkansas through Tennessee and parts of Mississippi and Alabama.

Traffic quickly became snarled in the snow areas of Dixie as motorists, unaccustomed to driving on snow and ice, skid and spun on highways and streets. State police in Arkansas, where snow up to 10 inches fell, closed several highways as many autos and trucks were ditched and abandoned.

At Little Rock, Ark., a boy was struck and killed by an auto on an ice-slicked street. An icy bridge at Dallas, Tex., caused a pile up of 12 cars during the morning rush hour, including a police car. An ambulance dispatched to the scene also was involved in an accident.

SNOW BABY

Tanya Lee Organ, 17 months old, took one bewildered look at Friday evening's snow and was convinced it was not for her, as a snowball, at left, whizzes towards her. Shortly after this picture was taken Tanya was in tears and running for mother's arms. Tanya is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Organ, 408 Boyd. (Daily News Photo)

GRAND JURY BRINGS EIGHT INDICTMENTS

Eight indictments were returned late Friday by the Gray county grand jury in Pampa.

Defendants indicted included Elijah Williams Jr., 20 year-old Pampa man, who confessed Thursday he burglarized four Pampa business establishments.

District Court Judge Lewis M. Goodrich, who presided at Friday's grand jury session, set Williams' release bond at $1,500. Williams is charged with burglary with intent to commit theft.

Also indicted were Bobby Joe Remy, 13-year-old Pampa youth,

'Old Reliable' Monkey Makes Vital Research Contribution

Police Hunt Young Killer

By CLARENCE RAWLINGS

EL CAJON, Calif. (UPI) — Police and sheriff's deputies manned roadblocks in this area and authorities in the entire West were alerted Saturday in a massive manhunt for an 18-year-old boy, who they believe shot a mother to death and then fatally slashed her four small children.

The hunt for the suspect, a youth whom the family had befriended, was touched off when the father, Thomas Pendergast, came home to find the bodies of his wife and four children strewn about in one of the bloodiest mass slayings in California history.

Pendergast said when he arrived home from work Friday, the youth who has given his name as Charles Harrison and said he was from Rochester, N. Y., met him at the door with a pistol in his hand and forced him to drive to downtown San Diego, 20 miles to the west. Pendergast later managed to wrest the pistol from the youth who fled on foot.

It was then that Pendergast, an aircraft worker, went back to his home to find the carnage.

Discovers Family Dead He was not long in learning the horrible truth. His 37-year-old wife, Lois, lay in the hallway of their home. She had been shot to death.

Then in other parts of the house and the garage he found his children, their throats slashed and two of them dismembered.

The children were Allen, 2, and Diana, 4, found in the bathroom with their throats cut; Thomas, 6, found in a bedroom with his throat slashed and his abdomen ripped open; and David, 9, the eldest, found in a bathroom in the garage, also dismembered and with his throat cut.

Police Sgt. Frank Lee Count, one of the first investigators on the scene, said "It was like a slaughterhouse — the most sickening (See POLICE Page 5)

Space Chimp Rides Nose Cone Of Missile Into Sea

By RICHARD F. ROPER United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — A sturdy little monkey outfitted like a jet pilot rode a missile nose cone through space early Saturday only to be swallowed up in the Atlantic at the end of its historic voyage.

But the Army hailed the swift trip of the surprise rocket passenger, named 'Li'l Old Reliable,' as an important contribution to a research program aimed ultimately at sending man into space.

Ships and planes criss-crossing the cone's impact area 1,700 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral found no trace of the wedge-shaped chunk of metal and its valuable voyager, and the search finally was called off less than six hours after the 3 a. m. c.s.t. launching of the Jupiter missile carrier.

There was no indication of whether 'Li'l Old Reliable' survived when the cone plunged back into the earth's atmosphere from about 300 miles up and smashed into the ocean.

It was certain, however, that the wee space traveler lived through at least 13 minutes of the 15-minute hop. But something went wrong in the recovery package that should have suspended the nose cone just below the ocean's surface and it appeared 'Li'l Old Reliable' was a goner.

The little primate, weighing less than 1 pound, was the fourth living creature to be shot into space in a rocket's nose cone. Three mice were hurled aloft last summer in Air Force Thor-Ables, but none was recovered.

The Army kept its experiment a closely guarded secret until it was certain the Jupiter had gotten off without a hitch. At first officials said only that the cone carried a primate — which could have meant a human.

But later it was disclosed that the cone's passenger was a male squirrel monkey, an intelligent creature native to Central and South America. The Army said 'Li'l Old Reliable' was given his name by doctors because he passed his preflight tests with flying colors.

For his momentous voyage, the space monkey wore a helmet on his tiny head and a foam rubber pad on his chest. With his knees drawn up over his stomach, he sped through space in a capsule 10 inches long and 13 inches wide. The capsule was attached to the back of the nose cone. Instruments were attached to the cone's passenger to transmit his heart reaction, blood pressure, breathing, pulse and voice response. The temperature and pressure in his capsule also were recorded.

Scientists Are Jubilant

The capsule and its occupant were placed in the Jupiter cone at 10 p.m., five hours before the launching. Officials said the monkey's knees were drawn up to provide maximum resistance to the force of gravity at blastoff.

There was no attempt to put the soft, furry bright-eyed monkey into satellite orbit as Russia did with Laika the dog in Sputnik II. But the monkey, with more human-like biological and anatomical makeup and higher intelligence than Laika, was in this respect the most perfect 'guinea pig' (See MONKEY Page 5)

PHS BAND HAS AN ALL-STATER

Twenty-one Pampa High School Harvester Band members were among 208 students from this region who played an All-Region Band concert Saturday night in the high school Fieldhouse here.

Eighteen high schools were represented in two regional bands under the baton of A. Clyde Roller, director of the Amarillo Symphony, and Dr. Ted J. Crager, director of music at West Texas State College, Canyon.

In the bands were young musicians from Pampa, Spearman, Gruver, Dalhart, Stinnett, Dumas, Phillips, Borger, Amarillo, Hereford, Tulla, Canyon, Dimmitt, Memphis, McLean, Shamrock and Childress.

One Harvester Band member Jere Teed, will go to Galveston in February to play in an All-State Band. Teed made All-State last year and again was the only Pampa member.

All-State try outs were held Saturday afternoon. Bands from 45 schools arrived here Thursday to try out for the All-Region Bands. Rehearsals were held Friday and Saturday for the 8 p.m. concert.

Each school sent one-fourth of its band here for try outs.

Also chosen for the All-State Band was Lunette Castle from Perryton. Amarillo will have a representation of four; Borger and Tulla will send one each.

In the Saturday concert, the hands played such varied selections as "Hands across the Sea" by John Philip Sousa, highlights from Rodgers and Hammerstein's "South Pacific" and "Folk Song Suite" by Ralph Vaughn Williams.

Pampa musicians making All-Regional were: Janet Osborne, flute-piccolo; Linda Woodall, flute; David Scarberry, clarinet; Wileta Lowther, clarinet; Dean Hearn, clarinet; Patsy Prichard, bass clarinet; Pamela Goodlett, contra-bass clarinet.

Bob Jernigan, cornet; Gary Schultz, cornet; Joe Bourland, cornet; John Waggoner, tenor sax; Leonard Haught, French horn; Carroll Husted, French horn; John Goff, baritone; Charles Hunt, trombone; Cecil Colium, trombone; Jere Teed, bass; George Olds, snare drum; Mary Ann Kelley, tympani, bass drum; and James Byars, oboe.

Third Snow Covers Pampa With 3 Inches

Pampa and the rest of the Top O' Texas area was blanketed in white for the third time in less than a month with upwards of three inches reported here.

Wind, however, drifted some of the snow as high as a foot and a half. But the cold, wet stuff didn't cool off the rush of holiday-spirited Christmas shoppers who packed into downtown stores here and returned loaded down with boxes of all shapes and sizes.

Snow flurries began whipping around Pampa about 4:30 p.m. Friday and by 6 p.m. the ground was almost completely covered. Light snow continued to fall until about 10:30 p.m.

A bright sun and clear skies greeted Saturday morning shoppers. The busiest concerns, however, were the wrecker companies who had numerous calls from owners of vehicles stalled or skidded into ditches.

Tire-chains sold at a rapid clip also. Children were quick, however, to pursue the usual snowy pastimes of snowballing and building snowmen. Several youngsters were sighted sledding in Central Park Saturday morning.

A snow warning for the Top O' Texas area and South Plains was still out for Saturday and Sunday with the possibility that another 3-4 inches would fall. Cloudy and very cold temperatures have been forecast for Sunday, ranging from 5 to 15 in the Panhandle.

Twelve Accidents Occur On Snowy Roads This Weekend

Pampa motorists, plagued by icy streets and snow that fell late Friday, have been involved in 12 minor collisions on city streets since late Friday.

Seven drivers have been tagged for traffic violations. Police reported the following:

Bonnie Mae Lee, Pampa, failure to control speed, in a wreck Saturday afternoon.

Betty Rose Shorter, Pampa, failure to control speed, no operator's license, in a mishap Saturday morning.

Robert Mike Maguire, Amarillo, exceeding safe speed, in a wreck Saturday afternoon.

Thomas W. Walker, Pampa, Driving While Intoxicated, in a two-car wreck Friday.

Richard Ray Bright, Lefors, in a one-car wreck Friday night.

Since Friday police officers have investigated the following collisions. By times the motorists were:

4:30 p.m. Friday: Letha Imhoff McCallip Taylor, 401 S. Starkweather, lost control of a 1957 Buick on the 400 block of E. Browning. Damage, $150.

7:31 p.m. Friday: David Leon Schaffer, 530 N. Perry, and Leo Herbert Benson, 833 S. Dwight collided at the intersection of Francis and N. Hobart. Damage to Benson's 1951 Studebaker pick-up was $75.

9:38 p.m. Friday: Richard Ray Bright, Lefors, lost control of his 1952 Oldsmobile at the intersection of N. Starkweather and E. Kingsmill. Damage: $300.

10:25 p.m. Friday: Billy Lawrence McPherson, 301 E. Foster, and Thomas Wilson Walker, Pampa, collided at the intersection of E. Francis and Pitts. $425 damage to the 1956 Ford driven by McPherson. $275 to the 1956 Studebaker pick-up driven by Walker.

11 p.m. Friday: Harry Grant Cambern, 1536 Coffee, and Gary Wayne Dalton, 1011 Christine, collided on Decatur, 10 feet east of Hobart. $15 damage to the 1957 DeSoto driven by Cambern. $225 (See ACCIDENTS Page 5)

EFFORTS GO ON IN PAPER STRIKE

NEW YORK (UPI)—A four-day deliverers' strike plunged New York City Saturday into a weekend without newspapers. The stoppage prevented publication of nearly 8 million Sunday papers that would have contained the largest volume of news and advertising of the year.

Efforts continued to halt the stoppage that hit the newspapers at the height of the Christmas advertising season. Representatives of both sides resumed negotiations Saturday but there was little chance for the presses to start rolling before Monday, even if a settlement were reached.

Officials of the Publishers Association of New York City and the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union failed to reach an agreement in renewed talks Friday.

Spurns Demand

The union spurned a management demand for a new rank-and-file vote on a contract that was accepted by union negotiators last Sunday night and then turned down by a vote of only 35 per cent of the union's 4,300 members Tuesday night.

The publishers said the outcome might be different in a new ballot if a majority of the union members were to participate. The truck drivers and other delivery workers who distribute newspapers throughout the nation's most concentrated news consumption area originally (See EFFORTS Page 5)

Policy Makers Set Review of Troubles

By THOMAS WEYER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An imposing galaxy of free world policy-makers will converge on the Palais de Chaillot in Paris Tuesday for a full-dress review of all problems — military and political — facing the north Atlantic alliance.

Berlin is only one point on the crowded agenda of the three-day December meeting of the NATO ministerial meeting. The foreign, defense and finance ministers of the 15-member nations will attend the conclave, traditionally the "big" meeting as opposed to the spring session where political problems are considered exclusively.

American officials are generally optimistic about the progress made in building up NATO's miliitary shield. They also claim that the system of political consultation inside the alliance has been greatly improved. Lack of sufficient consultation has proved troublesome in the past.

The latter problem is expected to arise during the general review of the international situation, when political developments both inside and outside the NATO area are assessed. A full day is generally devoted to this topic.

Berlin Big Topic

While the situation in Berlin is expected to take up a large part of the discussions, such other problems as Cyprus and the Middle and Far East crises will also be aired.

In this connection, France and some of the smaller NATO members, notably Norway, may again urge the big powers to give the NATO council, the permanent governing body of the alliance, more advance notice of action planned outside the NATO area.

The has proved difficult in the past. The United States has maintained it has always kept NATO informed and advised well ahead of proposed action. Germany and NATO Secretary General Paul Henri Spaak have applauded American efforts. But France, Norway and other small members have insisted not enough has been done.

French plans for closer big power cooperation outside the alliance may also be discussed. The proposals originally created fear of a three-power directorate ruling NATO.

Show Little Interest

U. S. officials said NATO countries have indicated little interest in discussing the revised Rapacki Plan to ban nuclear weapons from Central Europe.

Discussion of military problems centers on a study of how well the allies are succeeding in meeting goals set for the build-up of NATO forces and their equipment with modern weapons.

Experiments will be continued to evaluate their value and place in the feed formulation picture.

Latest Jewelry Sure To Dazzle Males

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The newest costume jewelry is bound to dazzle any male.

Jewelry manufacturers by the dozen are producing pins, necklaces, earrings and other doodads in iridescent shades and brilliant old miss weak eyes have been looking at them through colored glasses.

The industry calls the jewelry "aurora borealis," after the luminous meteorological phenomenon also known as Northern Lights. This brilliance is possible through a metallic coating process, perfected four years ago by a gem stone firm in Austria.

Used On Cut Gems

Ernest Lowenstein, president of a New York importing firm which distributes the Austrian products, says that now the coating is being applied by makers in Germany and this country. It is used almost exclusively on clear crystal or colored cut beads and stones. "After this, rhinestones look dull," said Lowenstein. "Diamonds too? No ma'am, they're still a girl's best friend."

The Fashion Coordination Institute, which keeps tabs on style trends for the jewelry industry council, said aurora can be found from the cheapest to the most expensive costume jewelry available today.

Used on clear, colorless stones or beads the coating reflects the color of the costume. Used on colored stones or beads, it intensifies and diffuses the basic shade. An emerald stone given the thin metallic cover, takes on a peacock sheen. A pale blue stone becomes a deeper, more glittering shade.

Introduced Four Years Ago

The institute has no overall estimates of the percentage of cut gems being coated. But Lowenstein said his firm alone imported seven to eight million dollars in cut gems this year and "we can't

ACTRESS TO WED

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actress Sheree North and Dr. Gerhart Sommer announced today that they will be married Wednesday at the Unitarian Community Church in nearby Westwood.

PLACE DEATH CAUSE

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mrs. Hazel Voight, 45, manager for Gov. Goodwin J. Knight's unsuccessful bid for the U.S. Senate last month, died of an overdose of barbiturates, Coroner Theodore J. Curphey announced Friday. Curphey said tests indicated that acute alcoholism contributed to the political publicist's death earlier this week.

He said the aurora treatment first was introduced in jewelry lines four years ago "but fell flat". Then Paris designers showed luminous jewelry with their last collections. And the fashion was on its way.

This winter, it was used on deep tones such as ruby, emerald and amethyst.

For spring, the industry says, we girls will dazzle with paler tones — light rose, jonquil and peridot green.

Central Baptist Sets Big Open House Today For Education Building

A large, tan-brick building valued at $115,000 furnished, will be on display at an open house scheduled for 2 until 5 p.m. today at the Central Baptist Church, 513 E. Francis.

The new educational building has two floors enclosing 15,000 square feet of floor space. This large church addition will allow a 50 per cent enlargement of the educational program of the church. Ten new departments are being added to the Sunday school bringing the total from 20 to 30 departments.

The organization within the two main buildings. The houses which have been utilized for educational space are being sold to make way for expanded parking facilities.

THURMAN O. UPSHAW ... Central's pastor

Upshaw Has Fine Ministry At Central

Pastor Thurman O. Upshaw came to Central Baptist church in May of 1957. He surrendered his life to the preaching ministry in 1947 at the Crossroads Baptist Church out of Rotan.

His first full-time pastorate was in Hobbs, N.M., where he spent four years. From New Mexico he came to the First Baptist Church, Lefors, where he pastored for five years. He came to Central from Lefors.

His educational preparation for the ministry was gained at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

He married the former George Gruben of Rotan and they are the parents of three children: Fredey, 11, Kay, 6, and Karen, 5 months. They make their home in the church parsonage at 511 E. Browning.

Rev. Upshaw is active in denominational affairs. He has served as president of the Pan-Fork Baptist Encampment, on the committee to nominate trustees for Wayland College, as well as filling many other places of responsibility.

The effectiveness of his ministry is indicated in that 94 people were received into the membership of the church last year by baptism. One hundred and thirty-two joined the church last year or on transfer of letter. Church membership as reported to the association now stands at 1,348. Total gifts for all purposes through the church last year amounted to 76,967. Of this amount $11,201 went to world missions through the Cooperative Program of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The spirit within the church is evidenced by the presence of a full house morning and evening almost every Sunday. It is expected that two morning worship services will become a necessity in the spring to care for the crowds. The prayer meeting service on Wednesday evening is attended by seldom less than 150 people while often the number is more than 200.

Central Baptist Has A Standard Sunday School

The Sunday school of Central Baptist Church has just recently been recognized as a Standard Sunday School by the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. Bob Callahan, general superintendent, and Wayne Cobb, associate superintendent, are leading in an emphasis on the Standard of Excellence as a guide to effective Sunday school work.

In order for a Sunday School to be recognized as being Standard, there are ten specific requirements. The Church must elect all officers and teachers and the Sunday school must make regular monthly reports to the church. The school must be graded according to ages as recommended by the Sunday School Board. Baptist literature must be used. The Bible must be used as the textbook of the school.

At least 70 per cent of the boys will be as accommodating as all and air-conditioning, the building times as it can be made. Separate units will permit the nurseries to be heated or cooled, when they are in use during the week, without having to heat or cool the rest of the building.

A ribbon-cutting service is planned for 9:30 a.m. today as the church moves into the building. Consisting of only the singing of the Doxology, a prayer, and the cutting of the ribbon, this service will signal the beginning of a new day in the growth of Central Baptist Church.

Growth Through The Years

(A History of Central Baptist Church)

The Central Baptist Church, Pampa, was organized on the last Sunday of April, 1930, when 52 people met in the upstairs of the Culbertson-Smalling Chevrolet garage for the purpose of organizing a church. E. M. Dunisworth was moderator for the election of officers. O. H. Gilstrap was elected clerk, Mrs. Kate Thomas was elected treasurer, G. C. Stark was elected Sunday School superintendent, and Ray Hingate was elected Training Union director. Rev. D. H. Truhitte of Oilton, Okla., was called as the first pastor. Miss Mary Burke was the first educational director.

In June of 1930 the women of the church met at the home of Mrs. G. C. Stark and organized the Women's Missionary Union. Mrs. C. T. Locke of Miami joined in the organization and Mrs. John Dallan was elected the first president. There have been fourteen presidents leading the Women's Missionary Society since that time.

Soon after organization, the property at the corner of Francis and Starkweather was secured and construction was started on a building in which the church might meet.

Pastors who have served the church through the years are: D. H. Truhitte, 1930-31; W. O. Cooley, 1931-33; Vernie Pipe, 1933-34; E. H. McGaha, 1934-35; John Scott, 1935-40; T. D. Sumrall, 1940-44; R. Q. Harvey, 1945-47; Hal Upchurch, 1948-52; O. C. Curtis, 1952-53; Carroll Ray, 1953-57; Thurman O. Upshaw, 1957.

There are eight present members who were charter members of the church. They are Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Lunford, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Beckham, Mrs. S. L. Anderson, Mrs. Kate Thomas, Mrs. Helen Lunford, Mrs. Esther Haslam, and Mrs. G. C. Stark.

Training Union, Basis For Christian Service

"We Study That We May Serve," "Individual participation" is the key to the success of the Baptist Training Union, as each individual member is encouraged to actively take part in the presentation of the program, serving as an officer, or a committee member, thereby becoming acquainted with the varied and complex organization of the church.

Of utmost importance is the encouragement to daily Bible reading and prayer. This serves as an integral part of the day-by-day work of the Training Union as it is carried over into the lives of its members. Church attendance, prayer service attendance, individual giving to the church, personal soul-winning, and other Christian duties and obligations are also incorporated into the work of the Training Union.

In 1896, the Baptist Young People's Union was recognized as a part of the Southern Baptist Convention, and as time passed, the distinctive ministry of the B.Y.P.U. expanded to encompass all ages, Younger and Older.

In 1934, the name "The Baptist Training Union" was adopted to include all ages from Nursery children to adults, with graded curriculum materials provided for each group.

The primary purpose of the Baptist Training Union today is to "Train in Church Membership". This means providing opportunities of practical Christian service for every member of the church, and leading them to a full appreciation for the Christian life, and everyday experiences that strengthen the organization within the two main buildings. The houses which have been utilized for educational space are being sold to make way for expanded parking facilities.

The new educational building has two floors enclosing 15,000 square feet of floor space. This large church addition will allow a 50 per cent enlargement of the educational program of the church.

Ten new departments are being added to the Sunday school bringing the total from 20 to 30 departments.

Central Serves Youth

Beginner workers have no greater privilege than leading children to worship. The consciousness of the reality of God, and the feeling that God's presence is related to all the activities of life, is one of the richest experiences children have in church. Worship is most real to children when it is related to their every day activity.

Because of this, four departments divided at six months intervals are provided for four and five year olds. Adequate provision of equipment is made whereby a child may have happy times in playing, yet through which an adult may lead to a worship experience.

The centers of activity provided for beginners are: home - living, nature, blocks, books, painting, puzzles, and work. Through the work center the beginner child is encouraged to make free - hand drawings, rather than using color patterns, making a poster, making gifts for others, making a book of pictures which are related to the lesson for the day. Many other activities are also possible. The main purpose is to stimulate the child to use his own creative ability and develop his creative thinking.

The workers in the four Beginner Departments are: Beginner 1A: Mrs. R. D. Gallaber, superintendent, Mrs. Burl Lewter, Mrs. Jeff Ward, and Miss Maryion Brown. Beginner 4B: Mrs. E. R. Miller, Mrs. A. H. Jones, Mrs. Leon Brown, Mrs. Bob Derris, Miss Virginia Stoops and Miss Erma Estick. Beginner 5A: Mrs. Stanley Stein, superintendent, Mrs. Dorothea Johnson, Mrs. Laven Greer and Mrs. Bill Lam. Beginner 5B: Mrs. James Johnston, superintendent, Mrs. Sam Battas, Mrs. Lee Estick, Mrs. T. V. Parks, and Mrs. George Long.

SOMETHING NEW

Something new has been added. Central Baptist Church, Pampa, opens a $115,000 education building today after many months and many years of planning. The new facility will allow a 50 per cent expansion of the education program, directed by Robert E. "Bob" Callahan.

W. C. MAPLES ... head deacon

Deacons Lead Baptist Way

The deacons of Central Baptist Church are leaders in all the work being accomplished through the church.

Headed by deacon chairman, W. C. Maples, they give significant guidance to the educational, evangelistic and financial phases of church life. They meet monthly for the consideration of such matters as are referred to them by the church.

Since according to Baptist policy, the church is completely democratic with every member entitled to an equal vote on all matters, the deacons and church committees act only in such instances as they are specifically instructed by the church.

Nursery Division Larger

The Nursery division of Central's Sunday school has been expanded from five departments to seven departments to more adequately meet the needs of every child who is brought to the church by his parents.

Nursery 1A is planned for the "Sleepers", or the very youngest babies. Mrs. D. J. Pierce and Mrs. Travis Patterson give constant care to every baby through the entire period the child is in the nursery. Individual beds are provided with clean linens after each use. This nursery also features an observation window for parents and friends of tiny babies.

Nursery 1B is designed for "Creeper" or those young children just crawling and learning to walk. Mrs. R. E. Bradford and Mrs. Don Riley endeavor to give each child the very best of care. Toys are provided which are designed especially for that age group. The comfort and happiness of each child is paramount in this nursery.

Nursery 1C is for "Toddlers". Mrs. James Bailey and Mrs. E. Menefee, seek to provide for each child a rich happy experience which will cause him to want to return. These workers take advantage of every opportunity to teach Biblical Truths. The Children make use of educational equipment suited to their physical and mental development.

Nursery 2A is designed for early two-year-olds. Equipment in this department is more advanced than the child has been able to appreciate before. Included are items of home-living equipment such as stove, dutch cabinet, doll and doll-bed, child's rocker, record player and recordings, puzzles, and various other items. Workers with this group are Mrs. Fred Laminack and Barbara Brown.

Nursery 2B will care for the older two-year-old boys and girls. Nursery 3A will house early three-year-olds while Nursery 3B will care for older three-year-olds. Activities in these departments become more complex as the child develops physically.

Nursery 3A, Mrs. Don Rosenbach, Mrs. Frank Conner, Miss Becky Rice, Mrs. W. L. Epps, and Mrs. Robert Smith serve with Nursery 3A. Mrs. Tommy Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. James Baird and Mrs. J. H. Reeves lead in the work with Nursery 3B.

In the two and three year nurseries several activities are available when the child arrives on Sunday morning. From these activities he selects the one which interests him most. These activities include books, puzzles, nature materials, home-living equipment, blocks, music, and others.

Through play activities, a child can be made conscious of others, the idea of sharing, taking turns, being kind, and helping to put toys away under the proper type of supervision. Countless opportunities arise for a worker to emphasize a Bible story, or to use a picture, to help lodge a truth in the mind of a child.

In order to eliminate as much confusion as possible, a nursery reception room is provided, equipped with occasional chairs for the convenience of parents, and a fully equipped aquarium to lead the children to want to stay in the nurseries. Mrs. John Hennig is nursery receptionist.

The ministry of Central Baptist to a child in the first three years of life is carefully planned and executed in order that worthwhile experiences will properly color his character and personality will be provided in such a way that your child will have "happy times in God's House".

R. E. CALLAHAN ... music-education

Callahan, Busy Central Man

Robert E. (Bob) Callahan is the minister of music and education at the Central Baptist Church. It is his responsibility to give direction to much of the educational program carried on by the church.

He also gives direction to the graded choir program and assists in the work with youth.

A graduate of Wayland College, Plainview, and of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Callahan works alongside pastor Thurman O. Upshaw to advance the total program of the church.

He married the former Muriel Guthrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Guthrie of Lefors. They are the parents of two children, Ray, 12, and Rhonda Lois, 2 1/2. Mrs. Callahan is a sister of Mrs. Jack Cullison of Pampa.

As Sunday school superintendent the education director is responsible for giving immediate direction to the development of the best teaching and training program possible, both for the leadership of the Sunday school and all those enrolled in the Sunday school. Every Wednesday evening at 7 he meets with the superintendents of the 27 departments of the Sunday school for a brief period instruction in the work before the Sunday school that particular week.

As minister of music, Callahan directs three choirs. The church choir is composed of more than 40 voices. The Junior choir is composed of 28 boys and girls nine through twelve years of age, and an intermediate girls ensemble is made up of ten girls 13 and 14 years of age. Jerry Baxter gives assistance in the graded choir program in directing the Primary choir composed of 26 boys and girls 6 through 8 years of age.

Junior Departments Well Provided For

During the years of nine through twelve, Baptists have found that boys and girls are receptive to the message of salvation. It is during these years that serious effort is put forth by workers, leaders, and pastor, to win these boys and girls to acceptance of Christ as Saviour.

The new educational building will house four junior departments, one for each year of age. Located on the second floor, each department is equipped with seven class rooms opening off the assembly area. Some of the rooms in each department are divided by modern - fold curtains which when pushed back provides a larger room in which a union of the Junior Training Union which meets on Sunday night may meet.

Classrooms are equipped with combination tackboard - chalk board units as well as coat and hat rack provisions.

Workers with juniors are: Junior 9: Mrs. Ralph Brock, superintendent, Mrs. Neal Herd, Mrs. Sam Hanks, Mrs. J. C. Scott, Mrs. L. B. Paden, O. W. Terry, Mrs. O. W. Terry, Mr. T. F. Snow, and Jack Phillips Junior 10: Mrs. W. L. Hubbard, superintendent, Mrs. Louie Allen, Mrs. Richard Muncie, Mrs. T. C. Narron, John Mitchell, J. B. Hilburn, Mrs. John Mitchell, L. E. Building Committee Spends Nights Planning

The completion of the educational building at Central Baptist Church is the culmination of many months and years of planning.

Following several meetings with the architect, the committee presented its findings to the church. A step by step procedure was decided upon. All the plans were adopted and the construction contract was awarded to the Charles Fletcher Construction Company of Dallas. Due to no fault of the church, the Fletcher Construction Company went bankrupt after construction was about half completed.

The contract to complete the building was later let to the K and W Construction Company of Dallas. As construction began, the church launched an intensive campaign to sell $125,000 in Providence Church bonds to finance construction cost. This effort was brought to conclusion several weeks ago as the last bonds were sold.

Members of the building committee are: Wayne Cobb, chairman; J. B. Hilburn, H. T. Beckham, James Baird, and Charles Terrell.

Primary Students Prepared

By providing special departments for six, seven, and eight year old children, the church joins hands with the home in providing adequate religious nurture and training for boys and girls.

Of special concern in these departments, is that each child be properly prepared spiritually for the time within the next few years when he will face the question, "What will you do with Jesus?"

Help is given in these departments along this line by guiding the feelings and attitudes of the child and by seeking to turn his emotional expression into the right channels. Christian ideals and good habits are built through stories and adequately supervised activities.

Activities for this age child are chosen in such a manner as to challenge his ability to think through, then participate in accomplishing a given task. Each activity is directly related to the child opportunity to use his hands as well as his mind.

Six departments are provided for primary children, two for each year of age divided upon a six-month age span. Weekly planning meetings are held by the workers of each department to carefully plan the activities for the coming Sunday.

The workers in the Primary departments are: Primary 6A: Billy Joe Chance, superintendent, Miss Jeanette Smith, Mrs. J. D. White, Mrs. Billy Joe Chance, Primary 6B: Mrs. Clarence Qualls, superintendent; Mrs. H. E. Beaty, Mrs. Don Turner, W. T. Broxson, J. D. White, Primary 7A: Mrs. R. L. Murray, superintendent, Mrs. Juanita Dadds, Mrs. E. L. Waters, Bob Dorris, and Mrs. J. L. Becker. Primary 7B: Mrs. R. F. McCallip, superintendent, Mrs. Henry Holtman, Mrs. Paul Baker, Clyde Morris, and Mrs. Noah Cude. Primary 8A: Mrs. L. G. McDaniel, superintendent, Mrs. Bill Farnsworth, Mrs. Dan Johnson, Mrs. Jess Hagemann, Lee E. Edick, and George Long. Primary 8B: Mrs. Bob Bird, superintendent, Mrs. Tommy Stewart, Mrs. Carl Sexton, Mrs. Bill Stafford, Mrs. Axie Lee, Mrs. Gerald Beaty, and Jess Hagemann.

Choir Will Give Cantata By Petterson

The church choir made up of adults and young people 15 years of age and above, will present John Petterson's "Love Transcending" in the evening service at Central Baptist Church today.

Published only a year and half ago, this beautiful cantata has achieved great success in this brief period. Into this beautiful music have been incorporated many of the traditional themes of Christmas in such a masterful way that the message contained in the words is made very effective. This is only the second season during which the cantata will have been given but it will no doubt take its place among the most widely acclaimed pieces of music for the Christmas season.

The composer, John Petterson, is a present day composer of many gospel songs, namely "It Took a Miracle". His ability in the field of sacred music composition is widely recognized.

The choir is made up of more than forty voices. Soloist for the occasion will be Mrs. A. D. Alexander, soprano, and Miss Lou Hayes, Alto. Miss Nannette Flynn will be organist and Mrs. Dan Johnson will be Pianist. Wendell Wardlow is president of the choir and Mr. Bob Callahan is the director.

"Love Transcending" will be sung during the evening worship hour at 7:30.

East German Commies Hint At Berlin Campaign Speedup

BERLIN (UPI) — East German Communist leaders hinted Saturday at a possible speedup in the Soviet campaign to force the Western powers to pull out of isolated West Berlin.

The threat apparently was part of the intensified Communist "war of nerves" against the West and the defiant West Berliners. West Berlin political parties, meanwhile, discounted soviet warnings of atomic war if the West tried to break through any new blockade and closed ranks behind Socialist Mayor Willy Brandt.

East Berlin's Mayor Friedrich Ebert claimed there was no time for "detailed discussions" concerning the withdrawal of the American, British and French garrisons from the free city of Berlin and called for the unconditional evacuation of the Allied troops.

Herbert Hultsch, first secretary of the Communist-run "National Front," East Berlin's political organization, urged quick action on the Soviet proposals to neutralize West Berlin by converting it into a "free, demilitarized city."

Observers said the statements indicated the Russians might move before the June 1 deadline set by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in notes to the Western powers last Nov. 27.

The official Communist newspaper Neues Deutschland quoted Hultsch as demanding action because of the refusal of the Big Three Western powers to accept the Soviet "solution" to the West Berlin question.

'Chicken Hearted' They Were Not In Long Cold Ordeal

JOLIET, Ill. (UPI)—It shouldn't happen to a chicken, let alone 25 of them.

The outlook never was too promising for the 25 fryers in Anthony Bombasaro's grocery. They were due for a meeting with the butcher's ax when a fate intervened.

Bombasaro's grocery, situated on the first floor of the historic National Hotel, was destroyed a week ago along with the hotel in an early morning blaze. Bombasaro, the fire department, the hotel owner, all agreed the building was a total loss.

Then, Friday, following a week of bitter cold weather, the grocer and some firemen probing the ruins heard a cackle.

Charred boards were thrown aside. Corn was strewn about. The small heavy of half-staved chickens strutted weakly across the water-filled basement and began pecking at the corn. Some had frost-bitten feet.

Officials surmised they had survived through an unusual combination of events, including the positions of fallen boards which shielded them.

Thompson Talks To Secretaries

James Thompson, Pampa political leader, had the floor at a Pampa meeting of the Hutchinson County Legal Secretaries recently when he spoke on "Politics, Everybody's Business."

Giving a brief history of today's political parties, Thompson told the Secretaries how they could take an active part in Precinct Conventions held on Primary day.

Mike and Diane Phillips entertained members and guests with versions of "Silver Bell," "I Ain't Getting Nothing for Christmas," and "I Saw Mama Kissing Santa Claus." Mike plays the electric guitar and Diane, the piano. Both children sing.

Thompson was introduced by Delane McHone, Pampa, following a call to order by Lanora Johnson, president.

SANDERS WILL DROP CITIZENSHIP

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Actor George Sanders plans to renounce his American citizenship and become a British subject again in the near future, a spokesman said today.

Sanders, 52, wants to be of the same nationality as his future bride, Benita Hume, widow of actor Ronald Colman, the spokesman said.

Sanders, who is now working on the film "Solomon and Sheba," and Miss Hume plan to get married after the first of the year, the spokesman said.

Farmers To Vote On Market Quotas

GAYLORD P. GOODWIN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cotton farmers will have their turn Monday at showing the new Congress what kind of farm policy they want.

Some 800,000 cotton farmers in 21 states are eligible to vote in the Agriculture Department's referendum Monday to decide whether marketing quotas — and some new program choices — will apply to the 1959 crop of upland cotton. Based on past cotton referendums, probably fewer than 250,000 growers will vote.

Farmers also will vote Monday in referendums to decide whether to continue marketing quotas for flue-cured tobacco, rice, and extra-long staple cotton.

Corn growers expressed their feelings in a nationwide referendum Nov. 25. More than 71 per cent of those voting approved a program eliminating government control over how much corn they could plant. Of course, farmers had to agree to take lower government price supports in order to get freedom to plant. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson was jubilant at the result.

Against Strict Controls
The corn growers showed by an almost three to one margin that they don't like acreage allotments and that they prefer lower prices to strict government controls.

In the cotton referendum, the issue of more freedom to plant is presented in a different way. The question in the cotton referendum is simply whether to continue government marketing quotas. There is little doubt that growers will do this, because they have always favored marketing quotas by heavy margins. Furthermore, cotton farmers have stayed pretty well within their acreage allotments, because they would be penalized if they didn't. Additionally, few if any cotton buyers will buy from a farmer who doesn't have a marketing card showing he is in compliance. Corn farmers didn't have that problem, because there were no corn marketing quotas. Given Two Choices

The gimmick in the cotton referendum, is that if farmers again approve quotas, they will be given two choices on how they shall be applied.

Here is what is offered:
—If at least two-thirds of the votes are "yes," marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1959 upland crop.

—Each farm operator with an allotment will have an individual choice between two programs.
Under choice A, a farmer may elect to grow his crop in compliance with his regular cotton farm allotment. In that case he will be eligible for price support at not less than 80 per cent of parity.

Under choice B, a farmer may increase his cotton acreage by not more than 40 per cent over his regular allotment. In return for being permitted to increase his acreage, his crop would be eligible for price support at 15 per cent points below the level provided under choice A. In no case would the price support under choice B be less than 65 per cent of parity.

Price Supports Specified
Under choice A, the national average price support would be about 30 cents a pound. Under choice B, the price support would be about 25 cents a pound.

If the cotton growers do not approve quotas, the regular acreage allotments will remain in effect, but price support will drop to 80 per cent of parity for those who comply.

If a big percentage of the growers take choice B, this would seem to indicate that farmers want more freedom to plant cotton, even if price supports are lower.

Benson seems convinced that quotas will be approved and that choice B will be the program selected by a large number of cotton farmers.

Integration In Schools Were Top Stories

NEW YORK (UPI) — The continuing struggle over the racial integration of schools was chosen by editors of United Press International as the biggest news story of 1958.

They noted that the battle was waged all the way from the Supreme Court of the United States to remote hamlets in the South. Integration confronted the American people with one of the most acute sociological problems since the days of reconstruction.

The other nine top stories picked by the editors:

2. American and Russian probes into outer space, bringing within the range of possibility interplanetary travel by human beings.
3. The Democratic victory at the November polls, giving the party the biggest congressional majority since the high tide of the New Deal.

4. Anglo-American intervention in Lebanon and Jordan.

5. The resignation of Sherman Adams and the indictment of Bernard Goldfine on charges of contempt of Congress.

6. The death of Pope Pius XII and the election of Joan XXIII.

7. The economic upturn in the United States.

8. The Red government's consolidation of its rule over the Chinese mainland, and the bombardment of Quemoy. It was a year in which Peiping appeared to have won equal status with Moscow in directing the strategy of world communism.

9. The Chicago school fire.

10. The stabbing of Johnny Stompanato by Lana Turner's daughter.

Other stories that won prominent mention: The Berlin crisis; the cruise of the Nautilus under the North Pole; De Gaulle's rise to power; the railroad disaster at Newark Bay, N.J.; Pasternak rejects the Nobel Prize; Alaska wins statehood; the Springhill, N.S., mine disaster; plane collision over Nevada kills 49; death of Mike Todd in an airplane crash.

Retail Christmas Sales Are Raised

NEW YORK (UPI)—Christmas shopping, stimulated by cold weather and sales promotions, was well underway this week with total retail volume 1 to 5 per cent ahead of the similar year ago period, Dun & Bradstreet reported. Geographically the best showing was made in the middle Atlantic and east south central areas and ended Dec. 6 ran 7 per cent ahead of a year ago, while year-to-date sales held unchanged. E FOR EFFORT KNOXVILLE, Tenn. ALGERIANS HAVEN'T ASKED FOR RED ARMS

By WILBUR C. LANDREX United Press International
CAIRO (UPI)—Exiled Premier Ferhat Abbas said Saturday he does not exclude an Algerian request to Communist countries for arms to help fight the war for independence against France.

Abbas made the statement in an interview with United Press International.

Informed sources said the Algerians have refrained from asking for Communist arms for the past four years but their "moderation" has made no impression on the United States, which they believe could influence France to end the war.

The sources predicted the Algerians now will take arms where they can get them. Abbas' statement that he did not exclude such action appeared to indicate that an Algerian delegation visiting Communist China may make a request.

Dressed in a dark blue suit, Abbas sat in his modest third floor office in the building here occupied by the Algerian provisional government in exile. Speaking in French, he made these other points:

—The Algerian provisional government is always ready to meet the French government on neutral ground and negotiate the whole Algerian question. But at the moment there are neither negotiations nor contacts.

—Paris reports that the Tunisian police have arrested a number of Algerian officers and soldiers in Tunisia are false.

—Algeria does not intend to get mixed up in the quarrel between the United Arab Republic and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia.

—The Algerians want the United Nations to demand an end to the war in Algeria "which threatens to extend to all North Africa." The United States is in a position to ask for and get a settlement.

Algerian sources here add that the United States, with its influence on the Latin American countries and even on France, is in a position to determine what to get a little drunk." He was convicted of moonshining and put on two years probation.

kind of resolution emerges from the U.N. General Assembly this year. They were not optimistic the U.S. would take a strong stand.

Pampa Pastor On Committee

DALLAS (SpI) — Dr. E. D. Carter, pastor, First Baptist Church, Pampa, has been named a member of the Endowment Committee for the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The 15-member committee meets during the year with George Shearin, secretary and legal counsel for the Texas Baptist endowment department, to plan educational and endowment securing programs for the denomination's schools and benevolent institutions.

Texas Baptist endowment funds invested by the foundation now totals more than $38 million. Institutions in the state received $1,653,330 in 1958 from the endowment funds. However, this investment return is only four per cent of the institutions' operating budgets, said Shearin.

WRONG PROCESSION

WIGAN, England (UPI)—Truck driver Arthur Denton was fined $32 Friday for weaving in and out of a funeral procession. It was a policeman's funeral and most of the local force was on hand to take Denton's license number.

Agriculture Conditions Are Varied

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Texas agricultural conditions vary from too wet to plow to wheat dying from a lack of moisture with the 1958 crop harvest near an end, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reports.

The Rolling Plains seems to be the hardest hit so far as every county is reported needing moisture, and many cattle in the Panhandle will have to find a new home if rain or snow doesn't fall on rapidly declining wheat pastures.

Stalk fields also are disappearing fast.

Land preparation again is in progress in the southern part of the state, except along the coast, as farmers plant flax in the Beeville-Karnes City area and winter vegetables and additional acreage of oats in Winter Garden and Lower Rio Grande Valley area. Fruit and vegetables also are moving to market.

The record breaking South Plains cotton crop is 90 per cent more harvested and some still is in the field in the El Paso area. Peanut harvest in Central Texas and parts of the Edwards Plateau is nearing an end.

A generally light crop of pecans still is being gathered in many sections.

Livestock is in good to excellent condition for this time of the year, and pastures and ranges remain generally in good shape with growth of small grains and winter grass and weeds. Stockwater shortages are reported in the Rolling Plains and in Coke, Runnels, Coleman and Concho counties in the Edwards Plateau where small grain can use a rain or snow for moisture.

soil improvement in the eastern part of the state are making excellent growth.

Both George Washington and Abraham Lincoln had been survivors before becoming presidents.

MAN OF MINSTRELS
B. R. "Bunny" Shultz, 632 N. Wells, looks back on ten years of Minstrels that he has directed for the Pampa Noon Lions Club. Shultz creases his forehead and wonders how he's going to stay out of another one. (Daily News Photo)

You End Men Better Look Out

By WALLY TRUEDELL, Daily News Staff Writer
"Strictly ad lib" says B. R. Shultz, Pampa Lion, and with the state of show business in Pampa what it is, Shultz could have reference only to the annual Minstrel, staged by the Noon Lions Club. Shultz, known to his Lion pals as "Bunny," is the veteran of more annual minstrels than you can shake a Cotton Club at. This Mike Todd of minstrels has directed 10 years of Dixieland shows.
Now cries of "What are we gonna do! What are we gonna do!" are coming from Lion haunts. Lion "Bunny" says he's not gonna and Lions are casting about for another director.
So far no one has stepped up to Boss Lion Joe Tooley and said, "Here am I, Joe." So the case rests. No heads in the Lion's mouth, not even Rufe Jordan's.
But the Lions, with their tradition of "The Show Must Go On," are sure to come up with something even if its reluctant "Here am I" from the indomitable "Bunny."
Director "Bunny" has shown himself a hard man to some end men. Anything goes in rehearsal. But once you're on stage, just watch out. Once a joke is killed, its verboten, and woe be unto an end man if it slips out.
A founder of the local Barber-shoppers, Inc., "Bunny" has enough activities to keep him busy without the back breaking Minstrel show. He is one of the faithful in the First Christian Church and seems to do everything but sing in the choir. Maybe he gets enough singing with the Barber-shoppers.
With a heart of Oklahoma gold and enough tricks in his hat to float ten more minstrels, Shultz came to Pampa the hard way via five years of tenting from town to town.
Before he got out, "Bunny" learned every trick of the tent shows. If he wasn't driving stakes he was playing romantic leads in plays written for theatres on Broadway. He sang and he danced.
With his wife along, he played one night stands in Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and Texas. "Never more than a week," he recalls.
Trouping, hard though it may be, is a night and day proposition and he who troupees, troupes all the time. "Bunny" is not a strolling player anymore and like the other Lions has to sandwich play-time in between the evening and the morning of two good days work.

Ike Is Blamed For GOP Election Losses Last Month

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI) — Clarence Budington Kelland, author and former executive director of the Republican National Committee, blamed President Eisenhower Saturday for the Republican losses in nationwide elections last month.
Kelland, in a letter to Republican National Chairman Mendel A. McCormack, said Eisenhower's pursuit of "a thing called new Republicanism" has betrayed every principle of the GOP.
"The blame for the disgraceful Republican defeat on election day should be placed squarely where it belongs—on the lap of President Dwight Eisenhower," Kelland wrote.
He said neither of Eisenhower's two presidential victories was a victory for the Republican Party. He termed each as "a curious phenomenon resulting from an unreasoning hallucination that he possessed qualities of leadership which would lift us out of the slough of socialism and statism into which we had been plunged by Roosevelt and Truman."
Kelland said, "Dwight Eisenhower was a facade with no solid structure behind it. Like a stage set on a motion picture lot he presented an attractive and impressive picture; but you opened any door in the scenery and found yourself in a vacant lot."
"The public, for a time, was in the grip of hysterical infatuation for an idealized personage who never existed, save in its hopeful imagination."
Kelland characterized Eisenhower as a military man who, after six years in office, still does not know whether he is a Republican or Democrat.
"He charged that under the regime of former White House assistant 'cold, austere, self-righteous' Sherman Adams, the Republican Party all but ceased to exist. He accused Eisenhower of delegating his theoretical political thinking to 'his devious, dangerous, left wing brother Milton and others of that subversive ilk.'" Kelland said Eisenhower had made incredibly stupid appointments chief of which was that of Earl Warren as chief justice of the United States.
"He placed in the highest judicial position in the world a man who did not know the difference between a law book and the Farmers' Almanac," Kelland said.
All that can save the Republican Party now, Kelland said, is the elimination of Eisenhowerism.

Harvesters Top Hobbs, 68-55, 74-64

Coyle Winborn Gets 25 Points

HOBBS, New Mexico — Clifton McNeely's Pampa High Harvesters parleyed fast-breaking racehorse tactics with sweet superiority on the backboards here Friday night to lengthen their winning string to 19 straight. The defending Texas AAAA champions smothered stubborn Hobbs — schoolboy cage champs in New Mexico the past three years — by an easy 68-55 count, in the first of a weekend doublebill.

The home-standing Eagles, who had their feathers badly ruffled while making their first appearance of the season in their own nest, never really got warmed up in the "battle of state champions" until there were only seven minutes left in the game.

While the temperatures outside were flirting with zero, the Hobbs High hoopers were following suit from the firing line, hitting only 27 per cent of their first half shots while the Harvesters were pouring through a hefty 14 of 25 first half attempts for a torrid 50 per cent average from the field.

Pampa, in notching No. 9 for the current campaign, entered the fourth period with a fat 55-30 lead. A bucket by Coyle Winborn, who paced the night's scoring with 25 markers, showed the Harvesters into their widest advantage of the night, 27 points on a 57-30 cushion, but then the tide began to turn.

Fleet Goose Clay, who had been checked with only five points during the game's first three quarters, decided it was high time he went to work. And work the young guard did. Clay rifled in long, short, jump and crisp shots like he had his own personal lease on the basket to spearhead a brilliant Hobbs rally that was destined to fall way shy, however.

The Eagles outscored the Harvesters 25-13 in those last eight minutes with Clay showing the way with an amazing 16 points on seven field goals and a pair of house shots. He finished the night with 21 points.

The Eagles, who used a full-court press much of the game, had enjoyed another slightly cooler breeze in the third stanza, closing a 48-20 Pampa lead to 48-30 with John Webb, who didn't even start the game, heading the attack.

Webb with 17 points and Clay with his 21 were almost the entire offense for Hobbs, netting all but 17 of the loser's points.

Center Mack Layne played his usual sparkling brand of ball in controlling both backboards and chipping in with 11 points for Pampa. Joe Timms, making his initial starting appearance of the season in place of flu-ridden Craig Winborn who stayed behind at home in bed, also hit double figures for

Shockers In Split With Hobbs Crew

HOBBS, N.M. — Hobbs High B-team and the Pampa High Shockers took turns snapping each other's win streaks here Friday and Saturday nights.

The Hobbs reserves nipped Coach Terry Culley's cagers, 34-33, Friday night to extend a two-year victory skein to 26 games but the Shockers, angry at having a six-game win skein over two seasons snapped, bounced back like real champs to smuff out the Hobbs string with a tense 46-41 Saturday night decision.

Larry Stroud and Pat Carter teamed up to bucket 12 and 11 points respectively Saturday night in the Shockers victory while teammates Allen Wise chipped in with nine, and Herschell Terrell and Bill Neslage both added seven apiece.

Larry Dunaway, who was the Hobbs hero with three points in the last 40 seconds to snap a 21-31 tie in the Friday night engagement, led the home-owners in the scoring column both nights with 13 and 16 respectively. Dunaway is the son of a former Pampa High cage star, Pete Dunaway.

In the Friday night tilt Carter had 17 while Terrell and Stroud both netted five. Neslage had four, and Wise and Jim Wilburn both tallied two.

Pampa Captures 20th Straight Tilt

HOBBS, N.M. — Pampa High's dazzling Harvesters had to rely on Hobbs mistakes here Saturday night to post their 20th straight basketball victory over a two-year period.

Coach Clifton McNeely's super-charged athletes were cut scored in field goals, 27 to 26, but 22 of 33 charity tosses a gain against only ten of 20 for the Eagles earned the visiting Texans a 74-64 triumph.

It was victory No. 7 for the still young season and sends the talented Green and Gold hoopers into this week's Lawton, Okla., tournament with an immaculate record.

The Harvesters are the defending champs of the Lawton classic which will have Duncan, Okla., and a tough Bowie team rounding out the field with host Lawton. Pampa's two wins over Hobbs handed the Eagles their fifth and sixth losses in their own field house during the last five seasons.

The Harvesters had a much tougher time with a fired-up band of Eagles here Saturday night but a big grin was caught escaping McNeely's face after the decision. The veteran Pampa mentor had reason to smile, or laugh out loud with sheer glee for that matter. His big center, 6-5 Mack Layne, finally came into his own, leading game scoring with a sizzling 24 points. The giant pivot man hasn't exactly been a disappointment to McNeely this far this season, for he's done a brilliant job on controlling his and the opposition's backboards. But still he had not blossomed out fully as a point producer.

Layne's tree-top tall running mate, 6-4 Coyle Winborn, continued to live up to his all-state billing, by banging in 20 points. In the two nights of play here the big dark-headed youth wrecked the Eagles with 45 points in the weekend twinbill. Fine crowds of 1,700 Friday night and just over 1,000 Saturday night attended the contests.

Bob Gindorf tallied 14 points and Charlie Minor contributed 13 as four Harvesters found their way into double figures. Phillip Gist had two and Joe Timms had one free throw respectively to round out Pampa scoring.

Goose Clay, for the second night in a row, led Hobbs scoring with 22 while Arthur Brantly and John Webb swished cotton for 13 apiece.

Hobbs held a four point lead early in the game, at 7-3, but the Harvesters rallied to gain a 16-18 stalemate by the first quarter's end. The Harvesters, nipping 12 of 24 shots, gained a healthy 37-23 lead by halftime and at one time in the third stanza spurred to a 15 point advantage, 46-31. It was 51-41 entering the last eight minutes and both clubs put on their hottest hoop hitting sprees of the night, each pouring through 23 points.

Steelers Top Cards, 38-21

By RUDY CERNKOVIC
United Press International
PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The passing wizardry of Bobby Layne and the record-breaking rushing of his roommate Tom Tracy swept the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 38-21 victory Saturday over the Chicago Cardinals in 20 degree temperature at Pitt Stadium.

Defensive halfback Dean Derby played an assist role by intercepting three Cardinal passes that helped set up Steeler scores.

The fantastic performance on the icy field enabled the Steelers to close out their best season in 11 years. Their 7-4-1 showing is their best in regular season since 1947 when the late J. Sutherland turned in an 8-4 championship.

Tracy gained 714 yards rushing this season, shattering the club mark of 705 set by Joe Geri in 1950. Layne surpassed the club season passing distance mark of 2,307 yards set by Jim Finks in 1955 with 2,599 yards.

Tracy and Layne, former Detroit Lions players, made the 16,660 shivering fans forget about the cold. Layne hurled two touchdown passes and ran for a score. Tracy added versatility to his display by throwing a fourth-period touchdown pass to Jimmy Orr that covered 72 yards.

Tom Miner also set a new club record with his field goal and five conversions which raised his season scoring total to 73 points, six points better than the club mark set by Geri in 1950.

White Deer Gains Class A Finals

Four Miami Players Place On Six-Man All-Star Teams

MIAMI (Sp) — Four players from Miami, and three from Mobeetie, are on the 1-B (six-man) all-district football team, selected by the coaches.

Two complete teams were named, without regard for positions. All six men on the first team were backs.

Sam Harris and Billy Lard, Miami's touchdown twins, led the first team selections. Harris was short of the 200-point mark, with 199 points on 23 touchdowns and a conversion. Lard scored 78 points.

Other first team men were Clinton Simpson of Mobeetie, Donnie Clanton of Channing; Barrie Moussey and Steve Guy of Booker.

Members of the second team were Toby Cunningham and Bill Breeding, Miami; Jerry Worble, Morse; Paul and Dan Hathaway, Mobeetie, and Wayne Weaver, Channing.

Miami won the all-district championship, while Mobeetie finished second in the district. Booker was third, Channing fourth, and Morse fifth.

Harris, Lard, and Cunningham were named to the all-district squad for the second time. Harris was on the first team last year; Lard and Cunningham were on the second squad.

In other business conducted at the district meeting, the coaches voted to continue playing six-man football, instead of switching to eight-man; and named player representatives to coaching clinics.

Lard was named to represent the district in football at the coaching school, and Clinton Simpson of Mobeetie was named as his alternate.

Orin Pitts of Booker will represent the district in basketball; His alternates will be Gary Green of Channing and Charles Dixon of Morse.

FRANKIE ALBERT ... quits coaching job

Frankie Albert Quits 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Frankie Albert resigned as head coach of the San Francisco Forty Niners "because I love my family more than I do football."

Albert said the reason he decided to quit was because his wife and three daughters were being subjected too much to the pressure of the game.

"My wife and daughters, aged 15, 12, and 6, ran out of supermarkets where they could shop without being insulted," said Albert. "My oldest daughter, Nancy, quit coming to football games this year because she couldn't stand to sit in the stands and hear her father called a bum."

Murray Warmath Keeps His Job

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Minnesota's Board of Regents slipped a last minute reprieve to Gopher Athletic Director Oke Armstrong and football coach Murray Warmath while howling Gopherites petitioned for scalps or victories.

Petitions of no, the regents said Armstrong and Warmath both would be around next season.

"Athletic entertainment is not the primary purpose of the University of Minnesota nor the justification for its existence," University President James L. Morrill said.

The statements were made following a three hour, closed-door meeting Friday of the university's regents.

Bucks Edge Mason, 12-8; Will Play Elgin In Final

SNYDER — The United States could have sent up a moon try Saturday afternoon from the main street of White Deer, Texas, and it is doubtful more than a handful of folks would have even bothered to turn out to watch.

Most of that bustling little city's populace was burrowed in freezing-beneath heavy blankets in freezing 14-degree cold here watching their favorite football heroes, the White Deer High Bucks, forge into the Class A state finals with a chilling 12-8 triumph over previously undefeated Mason.

White Deer residents and their own form of missile-guided as their two fastest Bucks left the launching pad time and again to rip the state's top Class A defensive line to shreds. Fullback Herschel Powell and his running-mate Allen Harmon continued to lead Coach Otis Holladay's ground-attack before 1,500 fans.

White Deer will meet Elgin, 14-6 victor over George West Friday night, in the state finals this week, probably Saturday afternoon in San Angelo.

The Bucks, who had to play catch-up in two of their three previous playoff outings, were in command of the scoring situation from the very beginning here.

Groom Dominates All-Loop Selections in District 1-B

GROOM (Sp) — Groom's regional champion, Tigers dominate the District 1-B all district team, with six men on the first team and three players on the second squad.

Wheeler placed one man, back Gary Satterfield, on the second team. Both squads were picked by district coaches at a recent meeting in Stinnett.

Leading the first team backfield are Melvin Britten and Ernest Lewis of Groom. Britten scored 114 points. Lewis scored 70 points and three eight touchdown passes.

Other Groom first-team all-district men are guard Leonard Koetting; Stocky Lamberson, a center and defensive end; Steve Garmon, a tackle and defensive linebacker; and end Billy Homer.

Placing on the second team were halfback James Neves, who scored 30 points; guard Scooter Stamps, and tackle Don Kirk.

Groom players making honorable mention are backs Robert Reed and Lloyd Littlefield; center Jimmy Hudson; guard Herman Koetting; tackle Don Case; end Joe Thornton and Jimmy Burgin, and guard Pat Weinheimer.

Those from Wheeler receiving honorable mention are back Childress, center Cox, guard Watson, and tackles Farris and Ford.

Members of the first team, besides those from Groom and Wheeler, are backs Billy Flowers, Texline, Harry Wood, Claude, and Ronnie Laubham, Follett; guard Keith Hubbard, Claude; tackle Jesse Fiel, Darrouzett; and end Dale Dunn, Claude.

Iowa Nips Tech, 75-73

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI) — Forward Dave Gunther tipped in a basket with 58 seconds left to play Saturday to give Iowa a 75-73 victory over Texas Tech in a regionally televised inter-sectional basketball game.

Gunther's tip-in climaxed a closely-fought game in which Tech's Red Raiders battled to the final gun. Tech guard Charley Lynch missed a last second desperation shot from mid-court as the game ended.

Gunther, who was held to four points in the first half, collected 19 in the final period for an overall total of 23 to win scoring honors. Teammate Nolden Center netted 20, while forward Gene Arrington paced the Red Raiders with 20.

Iowa's Hawkeyes, trailing 37-36 at halftime, gained the lead after the intermission and widened it to four points with about five minutes to play. But Tech, on baskets by Gerald Myers and Leon Hill, got the lead with better than three minutes left.

Iowa, mainly on foul shots and baskets by Gunther and Gentry, regained the lead, but Meyers hit on a jump shot with about a minute to play to knot the score before Gunther tipped in the winning basket.

Red Griggs the pipeline

We were a little disappointed about the all-district selections, because only one Pampa boy, Dickie Watkins, made either the first or second team, offensive or defensive.

It wasn't pick-on-Pampa-week, though, when the votes were sent in; because the same thing happened to the Amarillo Sandies. They placed just one man, end Buddy York, on the second defensive team.

Watkins got strong backing for the center spot, with 10 points—the equivalent of five out of 14 first place votes. But none of the other Harvesters drew enough support to land a position.

That's the way the pigskin bounds. If you're winning, everybody loves you. If you're losing, nobody notices you. Really, though, the Harvesters and Sandies weren't that bad.

Two Harvesters Wuz Robbed!

Actually, at least two Harvesters belonged somewhere on one of the all-district teams. They are Gary Willis and DeWayne Glover.

Willis was one of the top runners in the district, and was a good pass receiver, and a pretty good passer. He could also block and tackle. About all he didn't do was punt and sell tickets.

Glover was great on both offense and defense. He didn't let very many ball-carriers get around him, and he caught just about everything thrown his way.

Good arguments could also be made for Gary Matlock, Delbert Simmons, Jim Scott, Benny Stout, Mert Cooper, and Buddy Rawls. All of them, as well as Glover and Willis, got honorable mention for

Ammons Voted Class Prexy

DARYL AMMONS ... class president

Daryl Ammons, a former Harvester, is going great in the classroom as well as on the basketball court. He was recently voted president of the freshman class at Decatur College.

On the court this week, he tossed in a last minute free throw, which gave Decatur a win over Claco Junior College.

Ammons was a member of the 1958 state championship Harvester squad.

There's been a nasty rumor going around, since Thursday's Archie Moore-Yvon Durrell fight, that Archie fought in the Civil War.

Actually, there's no truth in it, because he was 4-F at the time. An old boxing injury.

Understand the same draft board also turned down Satchel Paige. Too old, they said.

Don't take offense at his little joke, Archie, because I have an incurable disease which keeps me from going into the ring with you. I'm a coward.

Another scurrilous piece of gossip is that the Harvesters will have to wear weighted gym shoes in the state tournament. Weights, you know, are used in the horse races to handicap the favorite.

Coach Gets The Axe

This week, one well-known coach got the axe and another got a raise. Which once again proves (swiping Mitchell's material) that it's not how you play the game, it's whether you win or lose.

Sam Boyd finally got his top-knot lifted at Baylor, after hanging on for a few days.

"When the boss man says you're through," philosophized Sammy, "you're through. I just hung on for a while to get a better deal."

Yep, when those aintam war parties hit the trail, they don't usually come back until they leave the coach's scalp hung out to dry in front of their teepees.

Gene Mayfield at Borger, who led the Bulldogs to their first district championship is now getting slightly less than the president of General Motors.

He got a new three-year contract, calling for a raise each year. The raise was a well deserved one, because Gene built a winning team at Borger in his very first year as coach. The Bulldogs hadn't been rated better than sixth in the district.

Who knows? With this kind of record, Mayfield might even lose a couple of games in the next two or three years without being strung up in effigy.

Stamford, Elgin Win Playoffs

United Press International

Defending champion Highland Park and the other teams figuring in the wrap-up of the state schoolboy semifinals Saturday will well consider spotting their opponents a touchdown lead.

For, in two of the three semifinal contests unrec'd Friday night, the team that scored first went on to lose the game as Stamford kayeed defending Class AA champion Terrell on penetrations 3-2 after an 8-8 tie game. Angleton won a final berth against Stamford with a 24-8 rout of Liberty, and Elgin came up with the clutch passes to beat George West 14-6 in a Class A southern bracket game.

Liberty and George West both scored first, but couldn't stand the prosperity.

Lubanski In Keg Win

CHICAGO (UPI) — Perennial challenger Ed Lubanski of Detroit and relative novice Charlotte Grubic of Steelton, Pa., were kingpins of the bowling world today, winners of the grueling, 10-day, $50,200 second annual World's Invitational match game championships.

Lubanski and Mrs. Grubic copped their titles before a national television audience Friday night at the climax of the tourney's 64-game finals.

Lubanski, 28, grabbed the $3,000 first place money with ease, chalking up a Petersen point total of 317.02 to beat out defending champ Don Carter of St. Louis, who totaled 310.02, good for $2,500.

Mrs. Grubic, 34, a secretary with a daughter, 12, held out against veteran Elvira Tjepfer, a bowling instructor from Detroit, who came within a 10th frame strike of the title. As it was, Mrs. Grubic took the $2,500 first prize women's money by a Petersen point edge of .05—equal to five pins for the women's 32 game finals.

For Lubanski, who finished third in last year's opening tourney, it was a victory of the mind.

AA FINAL SET

WACO (UPI) — Representatives of Stamford and Angleton met here Saturday and decided to play their football game for the Class AA state championship at 2 p.m. next Saturday in Baylor Stadium.

Mac For Hall O' Fame

Get out the snow plows, we plan to be in Amarillo this afternoon for a meeting to chin over plans for establishing a Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame.

The way they tell it now, one coach and one player of the year from this area in football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis and golf will be added to the Hall each year.

Toby Druin, Borger sports editor, will nominate Gene Mayfield for coach of the year.

So who goes first, McNeely or Mayfield. Age and superior record before youth and ambition Mr. Druin. I thank you, Harumph!

We spoke with Coach Mayfield at the Pampa Quarterback Club grid, late the other night, and Gene reports he'll lose an even two dozens of the youngsters who brought Borger its first conference crown in history.

Santa Monica Tops Oklahoma College in Little Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Altiminded Santa Monica City College defeated Northeastern Oklahoma A&M by a 30-12 score Saturday in the 13th annual Junior Rose Bowl game which was dull in the first half but erupted in a wild and woolly affair in the second half.

Both teams seemed to have trouble getting started in the first period and it was not until late in the second quarter that Santa Monica managed to put on a scoring drive, largely on the running of Lloyd Winston, a 6 foot 1 inch 212-pound halfback from Merced, Calif., who is headed for the University of Southern California.

After an exchange of punts late in the first quarter, the Corsairs started on their own 38-yard line and went 62 yards in 12 plays for their first of four touchdowns.

The longest scoring play in this series was a 23-yarder which was strictly a gamble by Corsair quarterback Pat Young.

Wichita Falls, Breckenridge Advance to Schoolboy Finals

DALLAS (UPI)—Johnny Genung and Travis Reagan, a pair of fleet lightweights, carried Wichita Falls' Coyotes into the state Class AAAA schoolboy football finals Saturday as they shot down defending champion Highland Park 22-14.

Genung scored twice and picked up 141 yards rushing while Reagan got 112 yards and set up another Wichita Falls touchdown with a spectacular 31-yard run early in the second quarter.

The Coyotes had jumped into the lead almost before the crowd of 7,500 shivering fans caught their breaths following the opening kickoff and the Coyotes were never headed.

Genung, working from the Coyotes' single wing and spread formations, sparked a 52-yard drive after the Coyotes had recovered a Highland Park fumble on the opening kickoff.

Highland Park got even near the end of the first period when a 46-yard run by Brad Urquhart covered nearly half of an 85-yard drive and Ken Waldrop raced 32 yards for the touchdown.

Reagan, who had dropped a Genung pass in the end zone on the next to the last play of the first quarter, made up for it early in the second with his 31-yard scamper down to the Highland Park 13.

Breck Wins, 26-7

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Breckenridge advanced to the Class AAA finals Saturday with a 26-7 victory over McKinney in cold and windy Amon-Carter Stadium.

Fullback Dick Rogers scored three of the Buckaroo touchdowns. Breckenridge took an 18-0 half-time lead and scored again in the third quarter to come through just about like the game was predicted.

Breckenridge was a 20-point favorite. The Bucks scored the first two times they got the ball, marching 63 yards in 14 plays with Rogers going over from the one for the initial points and traveling nine yards on four plays with Jimmy Wilson going the final steps for the second quarter.

Breckenridge scored again with two and a half minutes left in the first half, with Rogers cracking over from one yard out to end a 64-yard drive that used only four plays. Jerry Gibson passed to Wilson for 35 yards in the drive and Rogers ran up the middle 28 more yards.

The last Breckenridge touchdown was for 25 yards in four plays, with Rogers traveling three yards for the score.

Gibson passed to Wilson for the two-point conversion, the only one Breckenridge made all day. McKinney's score came with 28 seconds left when Charlie McEntire plowed three yards for the points. Rogers was the game's leading ball-carrier with 97 yards in 17 carries. C. W. Williams led McKinney with 48 yards on 16 carries.

Pasadena Triumphs

HOUSTON (UPI)—Randall Kerbow heaved a 42-yard touchdown pass to tie the score in the fourth quarter Saturday and then kicked the point that gave Pasadena a 7-6 victory over Corpus Christi Miller in the Class AAAA Texas high school football semifinals.

Pasadena will meet Wichita Falls in the finals. The Coyotes upending defending champion Highland Park 22-14 Saturday.

After a scoreless first half, Miller scored on fullback Thomas Gonzalez's one-yard plunge, capping a 78-yard drive. Gonzalez tried to run the extra points but failed.

He had carried five straight times, scoring on the fifth with three minutes and 27 seconds remaining in the third period.

Halfback Bobby Smith had reversed around end for 22 yards to put the ball deep in Pasadena territory. Early in the drive, quarterback Freddie Cuevas threw a 27-yard pass to Mike Carow.

With eight minutes and 11 seconds left in the final quarter, Kerbow fired a pass to Gerald Batchelor good for 426 yards and the touchdown. Kerbow then kicked the winning point.

In the waning moments of the game, Corpus Christi drove to the Pasadena nine, but was thrown back to the 15. From there a field goal failed.

Each team had one penetration in the first half. The game was played before about 12,000 persons in 40-degree weather, with light drizzle falling most of the time.

OSU RIPS FLA. STATE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Oklahoma State's hard-riding band of Cowboys, led by halfback Duane Wood, bucked their way to a pair of touchdowns, then turned back a last-period passing threat to beat Florida State 15-6, Saturday on a frozen field in the first Blue Grass Bowl football game.

Wood accounted for all but one of Oklahoma State's 15 points as he burst 17 yards off tackle on the second play of the second period for the first touchdown, bucked over from the one-foot line in the third period, and took a pass from quarterback Dick Soergel for the two-point conversion. End Jim Wood, no relation, booted the conversion after the first cowpoke touchdown.

The Cowboys played possession football for the most part, sending Wood, Jim Wiggins and fullback Tom Campbell driving inside and outside the tackles to beat down the vastly outweighed Seminoles.

Florida State displayed a daring and determined offense, but it failed to click until the final period when quarterback Joe Majors, middle brother of the famous Tennessee football family, came in to throw a 38-yard scoring pass to halfback Carl Meyers. Fred Pickard, the devastating 160-pound dot on Florida State's "I" formation, sparked the Seminoles on two first period drives that carried deep into Oklahoma

'IN LOVE AND WAR'

Robert Wagner, Jeffrey Hunter, and Bradford Dillman are shown here in a scene from "In Love And War" which starts today at the LaNora Theatre for four day engagement. Filmed in Cinemascope and color the picture presents a study of fighting Marines and their lives and loves. Sweeping from the mansions of San Francisco's Bay area to the fishing hamlets of the West Coast, and then to the battle-torn islands of the South Pacific, the picture provides an electric background to the exciting cast headed by seven important young stars.

Tibet Being Carpeted With Missile Launching Pads

Editors Note: Donald Wise of the London Daily Express has spent some time on the border of Tibet interviewing travelers and businessmen from that remote kingdom. In the following dispatch he reports on Soviet military activities in Tibet.

ON THE TIBETAN BORDER (UPI)—A quarter of a million Chinese, working under the direction of Russian rocket experts, are carpeting the roof of the world in Tibet with the deadliest pattern of missile launching pads facing the free world.

The two dozen or more pads stretch from the northeastern frontier of India opposite Bhutan along the Himalayas to the Karakoram mountain range against the Indian and Pakistani frontiers of Kashmir.

In terms of what the West already knows of the 6,000 mile Russian intercontinental ballistic missile, H-bomb warheads could be fired off the Tibetan Plateau to hit accurately anything in the world except maybe for parts of Africa and America.

Altitude Makes Difference

What makes these launching pads so deadly is their altitude. Anywhere in this icy windswept area the Reds have a 15,000 to 20,000 foot start over the West at launching. What this means in terms of added flight range of an ICBM is not accurately known. But it must certainly be prodigious since missile men's greatest struggle is the initial surge off the pad and here the Reds will blast off with a three mile start over anything lifting off say

Cape Canveral. The rocket pad building plan which is being pressed ahead at breakneck speed is the third stage of Red Chinese military planning in Tibet.

The green light from Moscow for technicians to come in with their know-how and missiles was given by Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev when he flew to Peiping with an outside military advisory group shortly before Mao Tse-tung's gunners started shelling Quency in August.

Adjusted To Standards
Mao's "liberators" started infiltrating into Tibet early in the 1950's. They spoke the language, drank Tibetan tea with salt and yak butter in it, and dressed in long coats, high soft leather boots and round fur hats.

Around 1954, with his fifth column of tobacco traders and teachers (all of them soldiers or political commissars) thoroughly spying out the land, the Red dictator sent his blue and khaki-clad soldiers scrambling up the wicker passes and ravines from Langchow on to the Tibetan plateau. Led by the warlike Kampa tribe, Tibetans lost thousands of dead fighting their "liberators" with British and German weapons until the Dalai Lama, living Buddha and ruler of Tibet, called a halt to all resistance.

The only way of preserving his national entity was to go along with Mao's plans and he knew it. As Czech trucks ground up

Matter of FACT

A baby can tell his mother his troubles by the way he cries—for he has five different cries. One cry means he's hungry, another that he is in pain. The others mean he is uncomfortable, is frightened by a loud noise or he thinks he is about to fall.

Disc Jockey To Korea 12th Time

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Movie folk once traveled to Korea by the plane to entertain American troops stationed in that desolate area at Christmas time, but such junkets no longer make news and the tours quit cold.

However, one little five-by-five Hollywood disc jockey will be making his 12th trip to Korea this week with a plane full of pretty girls, entertainers and musicians to cheer the lonely GIs.

He's Johnny Grant, a cherub-faced platter spinner for radio Station KMPC.

Johnny says there are approximately 100,000 servicemen still sweating it out in Korea and that they are starved for entertainment from the States.

"We'll be out there 16 days, doing two shows a day," he said. "There are 17 performers in our troupe, 10 of whom are well-stacked girls. Some of those poor guys haven't seen gals from home since they shipped out."

Uses Hope's Jokes

John's cornball humor is supplemented by a complete file of Bob Hope's jokes—including the usual jibes at officers, Army food and hardboiled sergeants. He wears a cheerful of phony ribbons and a 30-gallon Texas hat decorated with five stars.

In past years, Johnny has managed to provide such stars as Debbie Reynolds, Piper Laurie, Jane Russell, Terry Moore and Jayne Mansfield.

This Christmas all the stars Grant asked to go along begged off. Neither Johnny nor any other members of the troupe are paid for their efforts. Nor are Johnny's jaunts publicized.

"We do it for fun. And because I'm a big ham at heart, too," he grinned. "Talking into a radio every day you don't get any audience reaction. Out there those soldiers and sailors are the best audience in the world."

The shows are held on makeshift stages, sometimes out in the middle of snow storms. But we always have a huge crowd.

Oriental Audience

"One year I ran through my usual patter to warm up the audience, but nobody laughed. I looked closely at the crowd and realized that of about 2500 men there were only 40 or 50 Americans. The rest were Oriental GIs. So I asked a liaison officer to interpret for me."

"When I cracked a joke he would translate it for me. The monologue was a howling success. After the show I thanked my interpreter for handling my gags so well."

"Your stuff?" he said. "Heck, I used my own material."

This year John's troupe includes Japanese actress Miiko Taka, Connie Stevens and Valerie Allen. But Johnny himself is the star of the show and a great favorite of the GIs, who write to him and stop by for visits when they return to the United States.

He also contacts as many Southern California service men as possible, then calls their parents or wives on his return to give them news of the men overseas.

"It's the only vacation I have all year," Johnny explained. "And I can't think of a better way to spend it."

WAR SONGS POPULAR

LONDON (UPI)—British movie fans are showing a new interest in World War II. A survey of "Films and Filming" revealed Thursday that Britain's three top hits up to Oct. 31 this year were "The Bridge on the River Kwai," "Dunkirk," and "Carry On Sergeant."

CHERYL'S DOING NICELY, LANAI!

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI)—Cheryl Crane, 15, daughter of actress Lana Turner, is making good progress and will remain in the custody of her maternal grandmother for at least six more months.

Superior Judge Allen T. Lynch said Thursday a review of the ten-year-old case since she killed her mother's lover, Johnny Stompanato, with a butcher knife last April 4, showed she was doing well.

She will remain a ward of the court while in her grandmother's custody, Lynch said.

Neither Miss Turner nor Cheryl's father, restaurant owner Stephen Crane, objected to Cheryl remaining with Mrs. Mildred Turner, the grandmother.

IT'S BEGINNING to look a lot like Christmas all around the town, isn't it? . . . homes are beginning to be bedecked with decorations and lights to reflect the warmth and good cheer within. . . Christmas carols (and how we do love them!) form the major portion of radio programs and also fills the town's streets as shoppers by the hundreds mill in and out of the stores, which reminds us of the parking problem downtown. . . the solution, we guess, is to buy a cheaper car and then to abandon it. . . the only uncomfortable note struck is when we hear someone say, "I've finished my shopping and have my Christmas cards addressed and mailed!" . . . and then we squirm when we think of the myriad of shopping, decorating, addressing, mailing, and baking tasks that are still facing us to be done in addition to the everyday mechanics of living. . . but we are comforted when we remember that we have survived numerous Christmases in grand style. . . somehow it all got done. . . say, have you heard the "Chipmunk Song?" . . . it's guaranteed to set your mind up with a "no worry" sign for Christmas or make you want to give up all together.

WE ALMOST LISTED "parties" as one of the tasks to be done before Christmas, but it is completely out of that category. . . so many have been given this week. . . a group of real cute "little" ladies entertained with a dance last Saturday evening in the Parish Hall which they turned into a veritable Christmas wonderland with green and white Christmas bells and mistletoe all over the place. . . the charming younger-set hostesses were Linda Kay Key, Linda Holt, Janie Ledrick, Janie Thompson, Judy Vanderburg, De Ann Lewis, Gail Champion and Joy Buchanan. . . nearly 250 of their friends were bid to the dance with cleverly-rhymed invitations that went something like this: "The littlest Angels listed below, Are having a dance 'neath the mistletoe; The invitations were sent with the greatest of care, so please present them when you get there; The date, Dec. 5 from seven to eleven; The Parish Hall, our own little Heaven". . . another charming event given this week by a group of young "Pearl Mestas" was the traveling dinner that Sharon Carmon, Judy Collum, Martha Lou Kelley and Carolyn Jelinek hostessed.

THE CHRISTMAS SEASON was ushered in in grand style with the fabulous party given this week by the Dr. and Mrs. Calvin Jones and the John Bowers in the Country Club. . . it was an all-white and silver affair. . . following a cocktail hour, guests danced to the music of "The Neighbors," an orchestra especially engaged from Dallas. . . and the Hors D'oeuvres table was breathtakingly beautiful in all white and silver covered with a white satin cloth and centered with a Christmas tree covered with white roses and gardenias on a silver stand. . . another lovely party, rather a series of parties, was given by Ethel Dunigan and Becky Schuneman in Becky's home during this holiday season. . . Doris Vendrell and Peg Daniel entertained with a two-coffee series on Friday and Saturday mornings. . . and we heard that J. C. Hopkins really put the Kiwanis installation banquet in a festive mood by outdoing himself in the decorations. . . tall, white stylized Christmas trees with shiny red balls, alternated grandly down the banquet tables. . . and tall candelabras dramatically appointed the speaker's table. . . the high school choir, under the direction of Bill Hunt, gave a wonderful performance for the Kiwanians. . . we hear, too, that the Dr. Malcolm Browns, the Bob Triplehorns, the Jim Triplehorns and the Clinton Evans are planning a pre-party before the formal Christmas Dance in the Country Club this Saturday. . . Hawaii came to Pampa recently when Bess and Murlin Griffith entertained their Saturday Night supper club with a Hawaiian party in their home. . . as soft Hawaiian music played in the background, they greeted their guests, dressed in colorful Hawaiian clothes and presented each with a lei. . . there were salads of every description. . . Hors D'oeuvres Hawaii, Palola Party Drink, Luana nuts, Paradise Salad, Maui peas, banana tantulus and Aloha pudding. . . The Griffiths, who recently vacationed in Hawaii really brought back the south-sea island atmosphere for their guests to enjoy. . . their home was decorated with lanterns, fans, out-rigger canal grass-huts. . . and the centerpiece for the salad was a lovely arrangement of red anthurium in a white bowl with tall vases holding woodroses. . . the flowers were flown in for the party. . . enjoying the gala affair were the Henry Butlers, the G. F. Bransons and their houseguests, the Tomlins from Springfield, Ill., the Wyatt Lemons, the Ray Goodnights, the Fred Brooks, the Jeff Beardens and Miss Mary Reeves. . . another pretty party given this week was the Lullaby Shower given for Charlene Atkin. . . a sort of "This Is Your Life" theme was carried out in story and song. . . and, of course, "Rock Abye, Baby" was one of the songs featured. . . hostesses honoring Charlene were Thelma Gray, Grace Adcock, Mrs. W. R. Campbell, Ruby Gunn, Betty Cox, Evelyn Pettifils, Mrs. Reed Carr, Jan Doster, Louise Fisher and Doris Wilson.

UNCLASSIFIED INFORMATION. . . the Community Concert board is sitting on top of a really important engagement, "The Voyage to the Moon" which they have marked "hold" for next season. . . at a meeting this week, they presented a lovely Art Book to Icie Harrah in appreciation of her many years' service to the board, from which she is retiring. . . we have heard board members say at one time or another how much they appreciate the hospitality and thoughtfulness that A. A. Schuneman extends to them when they have their meetings in the First National Bank conference room. . . Leora Rose had such a pretty Holiday table decorated for the board's meeting this week. . . we know a very lucky, young couple, Carolyn and Richard Anderson, who are to be married soon and will have a lovely, new, completely furnished home to move into as soon as they return from their wedding trip. . . Carolyn is such a lovely and poised young lady. . . Mr. and Mrs. W. Braddock with their friends the L. H. Fraleys of Amarillo have returned from a wonderfully interesting trip to Sarasota, Fla. . . sometime when you see Mrs. Braddock have her tell you about the colorful wild fowl from every continent, which they saw roaming uncaged amid some of Florida's most beautiful scenery. . . and the flock of 40 vivid flamingos at close range. . . and the display of giant Royal Palms which border the jungle trails. . . new honors for Jo Ann Jones, who is away at school in Columbia, Mo., attending Stephens College. . . she has been elected to represent her dorm members in Wales House Council. . . this is really a high honor for a freshman student since there are only four girls on this council from each hall. . . The J. G. Morrisons are proudly telling all their friends about the arrival of Amy Katherine, their new granddaughter. . . Amy's mother is the former Barbara Morrison, now Mrs. F. T. Focht of Houston. . . and the Fletcher Kennedys are elated over the prospects of being grandparents in the near future.

NOT EVERYONE, it seems, is planning on staying in town for Christmas. . . some are off to other parts of the country to join their families. . . Joe and Marilyn Page and daughter, Iris Lee, have plans to spend Christmas in California. . . Bob and Carole Swanson are off as soon as school is dismissed to spend Christmas in Houston with Carole's parents and New Year's with Bob's parents in the Valley. . . leaving before Christmas but to be back before the Day are the Dr. Frank Kelley's, who are going on a "fun" trip to California to visit with Mrs. Kelley's brother there. . . a popular young couple, who are going to be missed by their many friends are Bob and Mary Ann Russell. . . they are moving to the deep, deep south in South Carolina. . . Alice and Howard Federer will be the proud owners of the Russell's adorable and tastefully decorated home. . . another attractive couple soon to trade the Panhandle area for a new home in the south are Bill and Ruthie Rice who are being transferred to Mississippi. . . their friends will be sorry to see them go.

Love,
Peg

"Art In Religion" Program Discussion For Twentieth Century Culture Study

Twentieth Century Culture Club met in the home of Mrs. R. E. Dobbin on December 9 with Mrs. V. L. Hobbs as co-hostess. The entertaining rooms were decorated in the holiday motif. Refreshments were served from a table covered in green, centered with Christmas ornaments in a copper bowl. During the social period members exchanged favorite recipes, previously inscribed on cards. Items brought for a needy family were inventoried, and plans made for delivery of this gift. Presiding in the absence of the president, Mrs. Doyce Osborne, vice-president, conducted a brief business meeting, and presented Mrs. Warren Hasse who introduced the program. As one segment of the current study, "Fine Arts Around the World," Mrs. G. L. Craddock discussed "Art in Religion," commenting on her visit to the National Gallery in Washington, D.C. Reviewing the origins of art in religion, Mrs. Craddock stated that in the early period the church was the patron of the arts. "Later Puritanism divorced art from religion. But religious people today see that the function of art is to reveal the divine," she said. Contrasting photography with art, the speaker pointed out that a "view" is taken directly from nature, whereas the artist seeks to interpret the idea, to show us what we have not seen. Numerous reproductions of famous religious paintings were shown, including Raphael's "Madonna and Child," Murillo's "Santiago Madonna." The speaker emphasized that religious themes still attract artists today and displayed "Head of Christ" by Warner Sallman, "Madonna and Child" by Mona Fryland and individual paintings of the twelve disciples of Alberta Roe Richards. Mrs. J. L. Chase gave a devotional, "The Wonder of Christmas," pointing out that "God used a star to show where the Christ-Child was, because we must look up to see a star." "The wonder of Christmas is its simplicity," Mrs. Chase stated, concluding by quoting Proverbs 3:5-6. The hostessed presented gifts from the tree in the traditional holiday exchange. Approximately eighteen members were present.

Twentieth Century Club's Program Illustrates "The Miracle of Christmas"

"The gladness of Christmas, which is peace; the heart of Christmas, which is love" was the opening thoughts for the "Miracle of Christmas" program presented Tuesday afternoon for members of the Twentieth Century Club in the home of Mrs. Raymond Harrah. Mrs. W. R. Campbell, as leader, assisted by Mrs. Lloyd Hicks, Mrs. Walter Pung and Mrs. Richard Stowers, presented a playlet entitled, "The Most Precious Gift." The theme of the play illustrated that "if we really believe that Christ came to give us a fuller and richer life, then we need to re-examine our lives and our needs at this Christmas time; that children especially enjoy the simple things and that if we wish to give our children real pleasure at Christmas time, keep it simple and real. Plan a Christmas, the play suggested, that puts Christ into Christmas and makes it a religious experience." The program closed with the playing of the record, "The Small One," narrated by Bing Crosby. Mrs. Kirk Duncan, president, conducted the business meeting during which the federation counselor, Mrs. Bob Andis, called attention to the federation's plans for "The Teacher of the Year" awards and the "Nurses Scholarship" programs as mentioned in the December issue of "Texas Clubwoman's" magazine. In the Council of Clubs report, Mrs. Jack P. Foster said that the clubs have cooperated in selecting Christmas gifts for the Colored Day Nursery. Club Critic, Mrs. Lorene Locke, called attention to the correct pronunciation of commonly used and mispronounced words. Mrs. Harrah's home was decorated for the yuletide season. Members held a gift exchange around the Christmas tree. Refreshments were served from a beautifully appointed Christmas table. Those mentioned previously were Mmes. E. L. Campbell, F. M. Her veil of scalloped French illusion was attached to a crown of lace embroidered with seed pearls. Mrs. John Gill Hostess To Sharp Group For Annual Christmas Party

The Sharp Group of the First Christian Church held its annual Christmas party and salad supper on Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. John Gill. Invocation was given by Mrs. K. L. Green.

Salads, hot rolls and coffee were served on individual tables covered with Christmas cloths centered with Christmas arrangements and elves holding musical instruments. A hi-fi provided seasonal music throughout the evening.

Secret pals were revealed and gifts exchanged. New secret pals were drawn for next year.

A heart-warming Christmas story, "The Miracle At Derrick Texas" was presented by Mrs. L. C. Wassell.

Mrs. Green presided during the business session and reminded members that the Sharp Group will be hostess for the Christian Women's Fellowship meeting in the Church on Dec. 18 at 9:15 a.m.

Members are also asked to make cookies for Juliette Fowler Children's Home in Dallas. The cookies are to be brought to the church on Dec. 18 for shipment.

She also reported that the group has received a card from Hazel Green Academy in Kentucky expressing appreciation for the clothing sent to them.

Mrs. Wassell volunteered to be program chairman for the group next year to relieve Mrs. Gill for the presidency of the CWP.

Mrs. Green asked members to bring their General Mills silverware coupons to the church for more silverware for the church kitchen. Mrs. Gill announced that the church kitchen will receive a thorough cleaning in January; date to be set later. Members of each group will be asked to assist.

Attending were one guest, Miss Kitty Jaynes; two new members, Mmes. G. W. Vance, Ford Herring; and members, Mmes. C. N. Gage, Walton Bailey, Bill Ridgeway, John Gill, Lloyd Laramore, Robert Trampe, O. H. Odom, Leon Howell, Crystal Crow, E. B. Jackson, Cecil Deist, L. C. Wassell, E. K. Haner, Burl Graham Jr.,

An enterprising housewife can use the automatic washer to launder dust and scrub cloths. Presoak the cloths and mop in a pail of hot suds. With a rinsing, the worst of the dirt is gone. Then you may toss them in with the regular laundry for a more thorough laundering.

If you go to a party where there is a guest of honor, don't just get off in a corner with a few friends and ignore him.

A dash of this and a pinch of that may be a bold way of measuring. But in baking it pays to be conservative. Use level measurements, experts say, in standard measuring cups and spoons. Too much or too little of something like baking powder spoils the results.

Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. B. feels a strong dislike for her son's girl.

The other night after Harry had phoned the girl to check their date, his mother said venomously, "Going out again with that fresh, little, boy-chasing Millie Hopkins?"

So angry was Harry that he ran upstairs without answering. At once his mother began to experience an old familiar anxiety. As soon as she'd finished the dishes she made Harry a cup of cocoa. He not only rejected this peace offering but has scarcely spoken to her since.

She's been very upset about it. Tonight when he left the house without saying goodby, she told herself just as her own mother used to, "You really must learn to control your tongue."

This is stupid counsel.

Mrs. B. can't control her tongue. She's never been able to. All her life it has been blurring out hateful feelings toward other people with an intensity that often frightens her — and promptly involves her in a panicky need to apologize.

Mrs. B. is a pious "good" woman. She cannot be casual about her dislike of Millie Hopkins because she has been raised to regard resentment of anyone as a bad, forbidden thing.

So when she feels it, intense dislike of herself is added to her dislike of the other person, creating a violence of feeling that overwhelms controls of her tongue.

Once the words are out, she's compelled to seek the forgiveness she needs to relax — and recover her ideal of herself as a "good," never-offensive, Christian woman.

To solve that old problem of the uncontrollable tongue, she'd better start working on that pride in her "goodness."

It's expensive. It keeps her in terror of what her tongue may say next. It keeps her self-respect dependent on others' forgiveness.

This discipline is not pleasant

LEFTOVERS PRESENT ARTFUL DISPLAY

During the winter months when roasts are an integral part of your menu plans, keep this suggestion handy to incorporate leftover meats into second-day dishes. Add one cup chopped or ground leftover beef to a scalloped corn mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes.

PORK LOIN FINERY

In garnishing a platter which is carrying a pork loin roast to the Christmas dinner table, never forget the adaptability of grapes. For a winter hit, simply brush small bunches of green grapes with egg whites which have been beaten until frothy, then sprinkle with granulated sugar. Allow the sugared grapes to set.

Invocation by Mrs. V. L. Hobbs, president of the Altrusa Club, opened the Monday noon luncheon meeting in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church.

Reports were given by Mrs. Irl Smith, recording secretary and Miss Jean Chisholm, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Hobbs welcomed new members, Meses Ella Phillips, Libby Atchison, Eloise Braly, Gladys Robinson and Miss Lou Ella Phillips.

Miss Jo Ann Thompson, Altrusa Girl of the Month for October, was a special guest and in the absence of the Girl of the month of November, Miss Sylvia Grider, introduced Miss Jeannine Harvey, who has been selected by the club as the December GOM.

Following a recommendation by the executive board, members voted to resume luncheon meetings in the Pampa Hotel Pine Room.

Mrs. Grand Anderson, Altrusa Information chairman, introduced Mrs. Lillian Snow, who gave an informative report on activities at Lovett Memorial Library. She stated that the library staff receives unusual questions ranging from "Who was the first woman doctor?" to "who was the first couple married in an airplane?"

"Approximately 245 books per day are checked out," she said, "with this many books in circulation, you know someone in town is reading."

"The library subscribes to over 100 magazines and there are approximately 4,202 books on the library shelves," she said. "The library is also a meeting place for educational groups."

In connection with an attendance contest being conducted within the club, Miss Ola Gregory's team, winner at the last meeting, relinquished the gold loving cup to Mrs. Marie Thornburg's team until the January meeting.

Miss Jay Flanagan, Senior Center chairman, announced that the

Miss Jeannine Harvey

Members are to take to Miss Flanagan's office before the party, or to the Library by 1:30 p.m. the day of the party, two gifts for the female members of the center. Miss Flanagan and Mrs. Mark Heath will provide gifts for the male members. Altrusans are asked to also bring a dozen open-faced sandwiches for the party.

For an emergency, of course, it is quite all right to call him at home.

A SCENE EVER NEW—Rich costumes of the kings contrast with the humble garb of the Virgin and Joseph in this "Adoration of the Kings." The Holy Family receives the royal homage in the traditional scene which has been depicted many times but never loses the freshness of the spirit of Christmas. It's an anonymous oil-on-wood painting of the 15th century German school. The work is in Toledo (Ohio) Museum of Art.

Labor's Meany Is Conservative Man

By LYLE C. WILSON
Meany Not Enthusiastic
 Your correspondent interviewed Ramsey MacDonald in 1958 in the small House of Commons office allotted to the leader of His Majesty's loyal opposition. The Labor Party had come so far since 1900 as to be second most numerous in the House of Commons at the expense of the somewhat left wing Liberal Party. The Conservatives were in power.

Ramsey MacDonald recommended in that interview that U.S. labor follow the British lead and create a political party of its own. The United Press New York news desk referred that London dispatch promptly to Sam Gompers for comment. With snap and vigor the old man repudiated the whole idea. No political party for him! Reward your friends and oppose your enemies, was Gompers' political creed.

Meany wasn't very enthusiastic this week about setting up a party. He said it would be done if labor could not otherwise gain its political objectives. The 2,842 listening delegates of the New York AFL-CIO convention, however, greeted the idea with booming cheers.

Gompers wouldn't have been cheering had he been there. He watched labor go political in his native land and was not pleased.

AGAINST FORMING PARTY
 Gompers was one of the founders of the AFL and its president from that founding in 1886 until his death, except during the year 1895.

Gompers was firmly against organized labor setting up its own political party although as an Englishman he must have been intimately aware of the political movement sparked by British labor in 1900 which is the powerful British Socialist Party of today. Perhaps that was because Gompers also was acutely aware of what was happening inside the British Labor Party. The substantially conservative British laborites who founded a party 58 years ago had no suspicion, in their innocence, that they actually had contrived the political cradle of bigtime British socialism.

By 1924, however, and the years immediately preceding Gompers' death the socialist identity of what is mis-called the British Labor Party was clearly evident. Its first and long time secretary, the man who molded it in the socialist pattern was, himself, an intellectual and a socialist, the late James Ramsay MacDonald. MacDonald came to be British Prime Minister in time.

Conference's End Near for East, West

By K. C. THALER
United Press International
 GENEVA (UPI)—East and West have agreed in principle to break up the hopelessly stalemated conference on prevention of surprise attack this week without setting a resumption date, informed sources report.

They said an understanding reached in behind-the-scenes moves would end the talks Wednesday or Thursday, ostensibly for the Christmas holidays.

However, it was agreed that the United States and Russia would enter new diplomatic negotiations to redefine the task of the conference and that no new meeting date would be set until both sides agreed on an agenda in advance.

The Soviet delegation presented today's session of the conference with the details of their previously proposed ground and aerial inspection scheme to prevent surprise attacks.

The seven-page Soviet program included a detailed blueprint of ground control posts in ports, rail

 Despite a decline of 77 million dollars in auto loans, consumers added 31 million dollars to their installment debt in October, the Federal Reserve Board reported. The increase raised the amount of installment credit outstanding to 33 billion dollars, which was 432 million less than the total a year ago.

U.S. commercial exports in October increased nearly 200 million dollars over September but were still 170 million under the year-ago volume, the Commerce Department reported. The U.S. sales abroad have been running consistently behind record 1957, largely reflecting sagging business activity in foreign countries.

AROUND THE WORLD

SEEING DOUBLE—And a lovely vision it is, too, as singing star Abbe Lane finds she can lead that horse to water but just can't make him stop looking fondly at his reflection in a pool of it. The vain nag was taking Mrs. Xavier Cugat, Abbe's married name, through the Borghese Gardens in Rome when it happened to get into this Narcissistic pose. The curvaceous Abbe made a movie there.

FATHERS AND SONS

IN THEIR FOOTSTEPS—Linden Crow, halfback for the New York football Giants, is already teaching young Linden Jr., who's just two, how to pass back from center at Yankee Stadium (left). No uniform small enough to fit the lad was handy, so he wore the next best thing—his snow suit. Jimmy Patton's son, Kyle, isn't yet two (right), and he had no uniform, either. Nevertheless, the boys were on hand during a practice session, so it seemed natural to break them in.

HOME PRACTICE—In London, Mrs. Monica Springer has turned fight promoter to stage a boxing show for charity. The 29-year-old ex-fashion model got sons Andrew and Geoffrey to show her some of the finer points of fisticuffs as she got ready to make her entrance into the professional fight game.

FEELIN' GREAT—That's obvious enough as pretty Maizie McHugh hies through the air in Detroit with grace and agility. The energetic young lady posed for the camera on a rooftop where she made a few leaps and bounds. When this bit of business was over, she found a coat mighty comfortable.

ONE-RINGER—As she gives other youngsters something to think about, seven-year-old Yvonne Joanides does her hula-hooping while riding a tricky unicycle at Miami Beach, Fla. The cute youngster is a star with a circus that was appearing there, just as her parents are, and she's obviously an active one.

GOAL CONFLICT—Montreal Canadiens' goalie Jacques Plante (right) is assisted by teammate Jean Guy Talbot in withstanding an attack by New York Rangers' forward Wally Hergesheimer in Montreal, Que. The Rangers beat the Canadiens, 6 to 5.

WELL PLACED—Canadian middleweight Burke Emery (left) connected with a right uppercut to the chin of Jose Torres during their bout in New York. Torres, the unbeaten Puerto Rican sensation, scored his eighth straight pro win via a TKO in the fifth round before a crowd of over 4,000 fans.

OVER HE GOES—While doing some water skiing on Lake Mead, near Las Vegas, Nev., this man had to duck that fowl. With the duck hunting season under way, the bird was content to take its chances with winging skis rather than blazing shot guns. It's a much safer feeling to any bird that wants to go on living.

TEEING OFF—Tourney Queen Linda Camara watches at left as Bill Rigney, manager of the San Francisco Giants, keeps his eye on the ball during a golf tourney in Oakland, Calif. Proceeds of the tournament were given to charity.

GETTING HER INNING—The monkey mascot of the Mexican equestrian team, which competed at the National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden, did some riding of her own on the last day of the show. "Gladys" hopped onto the shoulders of one of the team's grooms to prove that she'd learned a thing or two.

MUMMY!—Harvard's Stuart Hershon (bottom, left) is really at the bottom of the pile after catching a pass on Princeton's five-yard line during their game in Princeton, N. J. Princeton's Hugh Scott brought him down, which started this tangle. Harvard lost, 16-14, but it was an evenly divided tussle all the way.

Lobby Battle Shaking

With the opening of the 86th Congress only a month away, lobbyists are taking their places for a year-long tug-of-war, Congressional Quarterly reports. The biggest lobby battles will be dollars-and-cents ones. The Eisenhower administration, faced with a $12 billion deficit in its budget, says it will try to economize by pulling the federal government out of several programs which give money to states and cities. It will also oppose many new programs that involve spending federal money. But since every major program has pressure groups guarding it, the administration's attempts will be challenged. Often, the Eisenhower administration and conservative lobbies will be on one side and the Democratic majority in Congress and liberal lobbies on the other. These shape up as major battles in the administration's expected economy campaign. HOUSING - The Administration says it will want to reduce the federal government's role in helping cities clean up slums, re-new cities and build public housing units. The AFL-CIO, American Municipal Assn. and National Housing Conference will press for more federal help, not less. The National Assn. of Home Builders and National Assn. of Real Estate Boards are likely to push for a housing bill more liberal than the administration wants. The Democratic leadership is committed to getting an omnibus housing bill passed. EDUCATION - The administration opposed giving states federal money to build schools in 1958. It is expected to take a similar stand in 1959. But the National Education Assn., teachers' lobby, will press for a broad federal aid program, including both money for construction and teachers' salaries. The administration will be supported by the Chamber of Commerce of the U.S., long opposed to federal aid for school construction. AIRPORTS - The Air Transport Assn., American Municipal Assn. and AFL-CIO will press for new and federal money to help

Brainwashing in Foreign Affairs
E. Merrill Root's book, "Brainwashing in the High Schools," whose book I have been reviewing for several days, has a chapter on "Brainwashing in Foreign Affairs." This is a 20-page chapter. He starts the chapter by telling how Major Mayer found that one-third of the American prisoners were "even more poorly informed about the politics, economics and social problems of other countries" than about those of their own. He gives example after example, giving the pages, showing how they had been brainwashed on foreign affairs. As a illustration, he writes:

"As a further expression of the authors' favoritism of international socialism, some even ascribe the blame for the cold war and the threat of a hot war equally to the Soviets and the United States. Thus, Muzey writes: "... the United States and the Soviet Union ... stood facing each other in an attitude of mutual suspicion which threatened to supplant the noble ideal of One World of United Nations by a world divided into two hostile blocs of nations. . . . (P. 589)." "What can this mean but that both the United States and the Soviet Union have equal grounds for 'mutual suspicion' and that their conflict is something for which both are equally to blame?"

He cites paragraph after paragraph to show that the students in high schools using these textbooks had no conception of the difference between Fascism and communism and had little conception of the difference between these and Americanism where the government is the agent and servant of the individual rather than his master.

Anti-Anti-Communism
Root has a 15-page chapter on "Anti-anti-communism." Root goes on to show that at the time these books were published the authors should have known much better than to be apologizing for communism. He puts it this way:

"In evaluating these authors' interpretation of the 'Red Scare' (as they call it) even in the 1920s, we must remember that all the texts were written from a perspective in time that should have made it possible for the authors to see the Communist menace as it is. These events had happened before any of these texts were written: The Nazi-Soviet Pact, the invasion of Finland by the Soviets, the imperialistic bogging up of the Baltic countries and half of Poland (later, all Poland), the Soviet reaction to satellite status of Albania, Bulgaria, Rumania, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and East Germany, the Communist subversion and seizure of the Republic of China, and the Berlin Airlift. There had also been an exposure of the Harold Ware cell in the United States Department of Agriculture which made public the pervasive and serious infiltration of the Communist conspiracy even into the government at Washington. After such educative events - which even he who shuns should at least heed - there is no excuse for the dual standard of regarding Nazi Nazis as deadly serious but Soviet espionage and infiltration as faintly comic."

From the perspective of time historians should accept the fact of the Soviet conspiracy and should not refer to an attempt to face it as a 'Red Scare' that foolishly excited (as Craven and Johnson put it p. 661) 'old ladies of both sexes.' "In all these history textbooks but one every attempt of the American people to meet infiltration and subversion by the Communist conspiracy is misinterpreted, attacked, ridiculed - or ignored. . . . Root closes the chapter with these statements: "So goes the anti-anti-Communist line in our schools in the late 1940s and into the 1950s. Subversion is 'hysteria' and a 'Red Scare.' But is this true? Testifying before the Senate Internal Subcommittee in August 1957, Boris Morros, the F. B. I. counterspy, said, "I want to emphasize that the Russian plot is far more strongly organized in this country and throughout the world than is generally understood by our people. . . . And why not, when texts like these have lulled us with the opiate of the people? In answer to a question, Morros continued: "I say 'Russian plot' . . . because the schemes of the present dictatorship in the Soviet Union go beyond Communism. They are for pan-Slavism on a scale more ambitious than Hitler's fanatical dreams of world conquest. "Nor should we, he said, be unaware of subversion by Americans - and by such Americans. Of many of Russia's agents in the United States, he said: "Important people financially independent and often held in high esteem. They are people who have the kind of contacts which will be useful to the Soviets and they are being paid to do their jobs of treason to the United States. "These are the words of a man who knows, because, as a counterspy, he has had intimate acquaintance with low and high in the Soviet apparatus itself. "That government secrets were stolen, that government policies were manipulated to disastrous ends, that conferences like Yalta were rigged by hidden Soviet agents sitting side by side with naive government officials that

WASHINGTON - The U. S. is having a hard time tailing Chinese Communist forces of 30 divisions. The Pentagon is now considering these petitions. After that, the whole issue will be placed before the new Draper Committee of businessmen and military and financial experts which President Eisenhower has set up to review the foreign aid program.

THE OTHER CRISIS - Satellite little East Germany is interfering classified U. S. diplomatic and military messages from Berlin and West Germany. . . . State Department and Pentagon authorities are fully aware of this and will discuss it at the NATO conference in Paris this week. . . . Intelligence authorities uncovered this leak through West German sources who reported that expensive machines have been rigged in the Soviet Zone to monitor all cables and radio circuits linking Berlin with U. S. military centers in West Germany.

Foreign Investments Are Doubled In Eight Years
During the eight years ending with 1957 private citizens in our country increased their investment in foreign countries from $12 billion to $25 billion more than double. These funds went from individual savers into the hands of the individual managers of business.

In contrast the foreign aid program of our government goes from politician to politician. The spenders of the funds did not earn them and are not careful about their use while the receivers - politicians in the countries receiving the so-called aid - did not earn them, do not have to repay them and are careless and incompetent with reference to how they are used.

If our government would stop its excessive taxation and if foreign governments needing help would stabilize their currencies, refrain from confiscating foreign investments and allow the savers to be rewarded in proportion to the usefulness of the invested funds far more American capital would be available to produce wealth in foreign countries than ever can be obtained under the coercive incompetent action of politicians in our country taxing our citizens in order to promote the interests of politicians abroad.

In government-to-government relief the emphasis is on the political aims and ambitions of the politicians in both countries while under the system of savers in our country loaning their funds to managers abroad the emphasis is on the production of wealth. There is just no comparison between the results attained under the two systems. Government - to - government aid accomplishes little, is extremely wasteful, and promotes statism while individual-to-individual aid in the form of investments in enterprise increases the production of wealth and improves living conditions both for the savers and the users of the funds.

The people of the world would be much happier and much wealthier if they would keep these fiscal matters in their own hands and apprise their governments of the power to spend their money for them. Government - to - government aid is socializing our own country in order to promote socialism abroad. Socialism has never succeeded and neither will the socialist program.

Looking Sideways

NEW YORK - Next summer, if things don't fly apart and screw themselves, this reporter may start telling you about snow-shoes and bobbeds. Right now, in the midst of the glare of ice and the gleam of snow, with wintry winds blowing hard and knife-like, let's talk about ice cream. This is known, among less harsh words, as being quotic. But there is a grain of reason. It seems, certainly to my astonishment if not yours, that the week of Dec. 15 is Ice Cream for the Holiday Week, a commercially contrived little stunt if I ever detected one, but it did cause me, in rebellion, to make a survey of the history of ice cream and it turns out that a snappish, reserved little introvert of a druggist in Boston did NOT invent the stuff.

The nearest name you can pin on an early form of ice cream would be Catherine de Medici of Italy who became a Queen of France by the gambit of marrying Henry II, of the latter country. Wanting to smack the French Court right in the eye, lest they think her a provincial queen, she served fruit ices for dinners and on occasion whipped a little cream into them. Hence, ice cream. You didn't know that? Charles I, of England, in time hired a French chef named Jacques, and he, wanting to keep his cushy job, used even more cream in the formula and served what amounts to real ice cream. Charles was so enchanted he sent for Jacques and said "I will give you 500 pounds more pay a year if you keep the secret for me, but will make things bitter hard (aigre et dur) for you if you fail us and tell it." Jacques was no dope. He sat on the secret for years.

The knowledge of ice cream, however, reached our pulsing shores in possession of colonial forefathers. The New York Gazette, in the summer of 1777 (hey, this guy is a REAL researcher, the advertiser would "supply the ladies and gentlemen of the garrison upon the most favorable terms with ice cream." So much for the tattered legend of the little Boston druggist.

The first ice cream parlor in New York was at 75 Chatham St. under the name of Mr. Hall (his first name is not mentioned), who sold "fine ice creams." But a rival down the street, Mr. Cowe, was better equipped to get himself mentioned in later years. He, it seems, kept more detailed books and these show that in the summer of 1790 between June 17 and Aug. 29, he sold George Washington $200 worth of ice cream. This either means that it cost a lot of money in those days or George was a real good addict for ice cream. Indeed, the inventory of household articles at Mount Vernon includes "two pewter ice cream pots." Later, Washington bought in Philadelphia "a cream machine for making dessert confections."

James Madison on the White House menu for his second inaugural ball featured not the usual champagne but strawberry ice cream. The strawberries came from the White House gardens and the cream from the White House cows. This was before dried egg, glucose, artificial flavors and coloring and similar dodges of today.

Now we come to something of importance: the invention of the first hand-cranked ice cream freezer. What man was the genius? None. A housewife named Nancy Johnson was the inventor. The year was 1846. And for decades making ice cream was largely a home industry, because packaging could not come along until commercial freezing and keeping came along. And it was not until 1902 that Harvey Miller enlarged on the hand-cranked idea and made larger batches of ice cream possible. Nowadays, it is manufactured at 1,000 gallons per hour in single factories and shipped frozen and kept that way, until it reaches the home dinner table.

One more note: Air Force pilots, in World War II, flew many a heroic mission, as we all know, but often enough each bomber contained four or more huge cans of fluid ice cream. The high altitudes at which the bombers flew froze the liquid into ice cream smoothly blended by the vibration of the planes.

And that's all there is to the survey, which, hopefully, has filled your noggin with brand-new ideas.

US Confidence In Constitution Childish!

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

The childish confidence of the American people in the nobility of our Constitution and the protection which we believe it sets up between us and many terrible evils is a political hallucination. We dose ourselves with "education" at colossal expense and even drive murderous lunatic children into schools for confinement for three to five hours a day, but cannot maintain the intelligence to realize more than a few minutes at a stretch that the Constitution long ago crumbled and blew away.

The Emancipation Proclamation, a political trick represented as an act of spiritual nobility, was also a repudiation of the right of an owner to his property. The fact that the Southern states were at war with the Northern states gave no moral benefit to Lincoln's Sanctimonious Act. The war was not yet decided and, at the time of the Proclamation, the South was as right as the North. So the North struck a fraudulent pose of nobility to sanctify an act of War which achieved without bloodshed a victory worth an ocean of Union blood. It was a heavy contribution to the military decision and that was the sole actual purpose of the North.

If the North had waited until the surrender and then had emancipated the slaves by Proclamation, the issue of confiscation or nullification of property values would have been un-avoidable. True, the North, in the savage mood of reconstruction and sanctimonious revenge, did undertake to ratify this mean course by adopting the 13th Amendment. But that was ex post facto approval of a wrong already done. And it violated by Constitutional Amendment a verboten in the original Constitution against the ex post facto method. Although it would have been unthinkable to return the slaves to bondage, the principle of abusive confiscation was endorsed for the rest of the life of this Republic.

We followed the same method in the 18th Amendment and again in the Gold Clause Case. The 18th was an act of hysteria and its nullification of property for the manufacture and sale of beer, wine and booze was a warning, not yet understood, that the Constitution can be and often is used to refute the whole body of the Constitution. There were interesting objections to prohibition on personal grounds which got no hearing. And outrages against confiscation or nullification of wealth were derided as the death rattle of the Demon Rum, European inventors who lost their investments without a consideration of their rights got a paltry public hearing than Americans, but no more than that.

The many other violations of the Constitution, inherent in the 18th which were argued in court-stone courts for years, were equally important as impairments of a writ held up to the world as the noblest of mortal scriptures. None got a decent adjudication. The Gold Clause Case was a swindle hit upon by a faker who will be acclaimed in the fitness of time as the Greatest Con-Man in History. Roosevelt took the United States "off gold" for a moment a profit. He soon squandered the windfall on whimsies of no benefit to the nation. The Supreme Court's approval was dishonest and political and its motive was tainted with fear of the results of denial. Gold always had been the basis of money in civilized commerce and economy. China has tried silver and Indians Wampum, but the major league standard was gold. Gold alone could stand even when people lost confidence in ephemeral governments. When we lose confidence our money, without gold backing, will be worthless.

The British Constitution is no better. The British Confiscated Foreign Securities and values and bankrupted most of their middle and upper class early in the Second War. Thereafter, their socialist regime confiscated railroads, truck lines and other efficient private properties and paid for them in flimsy bonds. But the British Constitution is imaginary whereas ours is spelled out and punctuated, with the cancerous proviso that the whole thing may be revoked and good riddance.

The Sixteenth Amendment is the clincher reiterating the total repudiation of individual freedom and manhood by its allocation to Congress of power to confiscate all the income of all our people. The remaining illusion of freedom is only an illusion because income is the fruit of toil, diligence and ingenuity. A people denied that profit is a breed of slaves.

KHRUSHCHEV'S GRAB AT BERLIN (N.Y. Daily News)

After four more than two weeks of bluster and buildup, Nikita Khrushchev cut loose Thursday with his plan for Berlin's future. The Red Czar says the U.S.-British-French-Soviet 1945 agreement for four-power occupation of the old German capital is out the window and the Western Allies must quit West Berlin in six months. During that period, Khrushchev says Russia would gradually turn East Berlin over to the East German Reds. West Berlin would become a demilitarized free city, like pre-war Danzig or postwar Trieste, with the United Nations acting as a sort of overseer.

This would leave West Berlin defenseless against the East German Commies, and surrounded by Red-run East Germany. The UN has no armed forces with which to protect West Berlin. The area could be grabbed at any time by the Kremlin or its East German stooges. The Western Big Three are giving every sign of determination not to fall for this Khrushchev swindle under any circumstances. For the sake of their own prestige and the peace of the world, we think they had best stick to that resolve, come what may.

Correcting Lost Art Of Making Conversation

By HENRY McLENORE

Conversation is a dead art in America. Every high-brow, middle-brow and upper low-brow says so, anyway.

If this is true, then I believe I know where the fault lies, and how to correct it. The fault usually is placed on the person spoken to. He answers haltingly if at all, and the conversation is dead almost before it is started.

For example, if one speaks to his companion at dinner, and gets a plain "Yes" or "No," answer in reply, and the conversation stops, one always blames the party spoken to, calling him a dumb bunny, or a cold fish.

Actually, in 99 cases out of 100, our survey shows, the blame is with the person who initiates the talk. His opening remark is either dull, or offers the other party little chance to keep the conversation going.

Miserable weather we're having, isn't it?" is a typical opening remark. There isn't much there to draw a sparkling reply, is there? "Yep" or "Uh-huh" is about all there is to answer.

Other popular conversation openers are, "Been to town lately?" "This has been a long day, hasn't it?" "Ran across John Smith today, and he said to tell you hello," and "When did you get into town?" Not even Oscar Wilde could give a scintillating reply to any of these.

What is needed to revive the art of conversation - if it is dead - are better opening remarks. The man who starts talking first should say something that will arouse interest in the person addressed, and afford him a chance to make a reply that will keep the ball rolling. "Isn't it outrageous the prices they are charging these days for kangaroo cutlets?" I used this the other night at a dinner, and my companion said she and her family had had to give them up, and from there on we talked like crazy straight through the dessert course. A charming woman she was, too, even if there was a mad glint in her eyes. That could have been the candlelight, of course. A friend of mine always has good luck when he opens a conversation by asking if anyone knows of a good dueling ground nearby, and goes on to say that it must not only be secluded, but large, as his challenger has insisted on shotguns at 100 yards. You'd be surprised my friend tells me, how many people know the perfect spot for two enemies to settle matters with buckshot. "So goes the anti-anti-Communist line in our schools in the late 1940s and into the 1950s. Subversion is 'hysteria' and a 'Red Scare.' But is this true? Testifying before the Senate Internal Subcommittee in August 1957, Boris Morros, the F. B. "That government secrets were stolen, that government policies were manipulated to disastrous ends, that conferences like Yalta were rigged by hidden Soviet agents sitting side by side with naive government officials that

They were still talking when I left. Other suggested openers: "If you are looking for a pet, I have an otter for sale." "This is the last time I'll ever come to a cocktail party straight from the operating table." "I wish you could have seen the look on that teller's face when I showed that land mine through the cage."

The thing I remember most about Tyrone Power is his modesty. When, at the age of 23, he got his big break in "Lloyd's of London," he showed up at the studio prepared to play the role of the young boy in the prologue. He just couldn't believe the public would accept a person as immature as himself as the head of the great British insurance firm. JACK MOFFITT

No Changes For Station On Corner

By MAC SEBREE United Press International TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—One thing that hasn't changed, basically, in an ever-changing oil industry, is the corner filling station. They've added chrome and electric pumps, but you still have to drive in and say "fill 'er up!"

All that's changed now, by an Oklahoma City man. American Petroleum Inc., of Dallas, last week unveiled the newest thing in petroleum retailing: a pump that goes to the customer.

Invented and patented by Joe S. Cline of Oklahoma City, the mobile pump is mounted on a vehicle looking like an oversized, canopied golf cart.

The mobile pump was tested at a shopping center in Warr Acres, a suburb of Oklahoma City, and will continue to be tested there.

Expanded Facilities Due At the same time, Midwestern said it was holding discussions with northern natural in the hope that when its application for the upper midwest is filed, "it will be in cooperation with northern natural and other companies interested in serving this area."

This aroused speculation that the way may be opened to ending a costly competitive war which has resulted in the indictment of some of midwestern's rivals.

REVOLVING PARACHUTE—Acclaimed as the first new development in parachutes in 50 years is this one of sail-like cloth blades that spin like a helicopter's rotor. Known as the Vertex Ring parachute, it was designed by David T. Barish, 37-year-old New York aeronautical engineering consultant.

Hard Luck Joe opened the deuce of spades, South won in dummy and led a diamond to his king. His next play was a small club and Joe played the ten.

Now South played the nine of hearts and Joe was in with the ten. He led his ace of hearts and dummy ruffed. Now South ruffed a spade; cashed the king of hearts; ruffed his last heart and made game and rubber.

"Doggone!" said Hard Luck Joe. "I sure thought I was going to set that one."

Can you see where Joe made his usual fatal mistake? It was at trick six when he overrudded South. If Joe had simply discarded a heart South would have been unable to make the hand and the rubber would still be going on.
