The Commander overtook with the ace and returned the suit.

Sidney won South's jack with the queen and carefully led the nine spot. It was up to the Commander to ruff and he did ruff with the queen.

This play constituted the socalled "Uppercut." The queen was no use in Lig's hand. Played on that trick it effectively doomed the contract. South overruffed, but this made Sidney's ten-spot a sure trump trick and South also had to lose the diamond finesse.

Simple enough, but most good play is simple when you see how

The following books are available at Lovett Memorial Library 'All In One Lifetime'

James F. Byrnes Taft was President when South Carolina first sent young James F. Byrnes to Washington as its junior Congressman; Truman was President when Byrnes resigned as Secretary of State and then became Governor of South Carolina He has the distinction of having held a greater variety of high offices than has any American since the days of Jefferson, Wherever these offices took him, he was at the heart of great affairs and was dedicated to the interests of all Americans everywhere.

'The Voyages of Joshua Slocum' Walter Teller

When he brought the 37 - foot Spray into harbor at Newport, R.I. on the morning of June 27, 1898, he completed a feat of scamanship never before accomplished - for the first time a man had sailed alone around the world. Eleven years later, Slocum set out again alone, bound for the Orinoco River. He and the Spray were never seen again and no clue to his fate was ever found. This volume is the first complete collection of all his known writing,

'Out of My Heart'

Agnes Sligh Turnbull Agnes Sligh Turnbull is known to a wide audience as the author of such novels as the 'Bishop's Mantle," "The Gown of Glory," and "The Golden Journey." Her many readers will welcome this book and fine in it a working philospphy for everyday life.

'Crazy in Berlin'

Thomas Berger This original novel takes place in Berlin during the early days of the American - Russian occupation; but the author is first of all concerned with individuals - with Germans and Americans, moving in a pattern of loyalty and betrayal, guilt and redemption.

'Spannish Stirrup' John Prebble

This novel concerns the first great cattle drive northward from Texas - more than a thousand miles - through Comanche country to Kansas.

'Preacher's Kids'

Grace Nies Fletcher This is a book to laugh over and be comforted by, and on every page is the glow of family happiness - a record that captures to the fullest the inspiration and happiness in a preacher's family. 'The Insolent Charlots'

John Keats This is a book about what America and the automobile have done to each other. Do you ever wonder why today's cars look the way they do and why they cost so much? Is the public at the mercy of Detroit? Or vice - versa? Whether you want to get a horse or settle for a horse laugh - you will never again look at your car, yourself, or your native land in quite the same way.

lor, educational director of the First Christian Church,

Fifth and sixth grade members of the Woolrow Wilson chorus presented the program under the direction of Mrs. Jo Johnson, director of music. Selections presented by the choir included "Angels We Have Heard on High," "Oh Come All Ye Faithful," "Silent Night," "Deck The Halls," and Silver Bells." The octet, with Mrs. Johnson accompanying on the piano, sang "White Christmas."

Mrs. McLennan gave a report on her recent trip to the PTA state convention in El Paso. She added that the Pampa City Council is the only PTA unit in the state who has a standing radio program. Mr. Alex Swenn gave the City Council report.

The door prize, a Christmas corsage was won by Mrs. Ted Atwood. The fourth grade class of Mrs. Margare Sparkman won the room count with the fifth grade class of Mrs. Helen Davis, second place, and sixth grade class of Mrs. Bill'

We'll Take Those Car Worries Culberson Chevrolet, Inc.

For months, Dick Coon, manager of the Sanford Ranch, had carefully laid plans for a day of upland game bird hunting. He invited several of his close friends to participate. There had been bird feeders installed up the creek from the house and the quail had swarmed into the haven.

By STARKEY WHITEHORN

At 2 p. m., December 9, the party started their safari equipped with ammo, improved cylinder bore guns and one dog for a retriever. The temperature was below freezing but the group weathered the cold and had nearly a half-limit each on the march from the ranch house.

The hunt would remind one of the Spanish Redlegged Partridge hunts for the nobility of Spain. It was a drive-type excursion in the fact that the host knew that the birds were centrally located along the creek. The hunters, including Mr. Coon acting as guide, Messrs. Bagot, Dunn, Chastain, Hallbaker and others, spread out and walked the birds up for themselves as well as the other gunners. The trip back to the ranch house concluded with the twelve bag limit each for the guests since the quail count was tabulated at the halfway mark to determine the number killed and the number still sought after.

WHITE DEER (Spl)-The White Deer Bucks meet Elgin Saturday at 7:30 p. m., in Sweetwater, for the state class A football championship.

White Deer moved into the finals with a 12-8 win Saturday over previously undefeated Mason. Elgin went into the championship game with a 14-6 victory Friday over George West, after dumping defending state co-champion Mart a week earlier in a quarterfinal contest.

Allen Harmon and Hershel Powell, White Deer's two tailbacks, led the attack against Mason Saturday.

HOW TO MAKE A NOSE CONE-Missile re-entry from space into the dense atmosphere of the earth calls for a nose cone that can resist terrific heat. A coating of tungsten, which has a melting point of over 6,000 degrees F., is shown being applied to a cone by a flame-coating process made possible by a high-heat arc torch. The tungsten particles, still in fluid or plastic state, strike the cone at near-sonic speed, are cooled at once by carbon dioxide, and form a hard, dense surface that "We have seen a part of the reason. American professors and students have not had any realistic experience of what collectivism is when it openly seizes the power and the glory. They idealize it in terms of its slogans and its glamorous promises; they too often fail to criticize it in terms of its practices. And they write, or they are brought up on, textbooks such as we have studied and in an intellectual and spiritual climate that criticizes free enterprise in terms of its flaws but dealizes collectivism in terms of its promises. Students are prevented from seeing history, home or abroad, as it is. They do not know that individualism, competition, free enterprise, the free market, and well-distributed private property are necessities if life is to be free. And unless life is free, the mind cannot be free. Students are led to believe that America is 'reactionary' unless it cramps free enterprise with the fetters of government and 'progressive' only if it moves in the strait-jacket of socialism."

MORE MUSCLE - General Norstad is gaining important new powers under the unified command system now going into effect for all American services.

Until now, when the supreme head of our European forces wanted more planes, men or equipment, he had to send his request to the Air Force Chief of Staff at the Pentagon. If approved, it would go to the three-service Joint Chiefs of Staff organization for further consideration. Finally, it would be passed on by the Defense Secretary. Now, General Norstad bypasses the Air Force on strategic and command matters. He deals directy with the Joint Chiefs.

Under this system, Army, Navy and Air Force heads at the Pentagon act as "supply sergeants," sending troops and equipment to the unified commands when and as directed

There are eight of these commands: Strategic Air, Alaskan, European, Eastern Atlantic - Mediterranean, Caribbean, Atlantic, Pa cific, and Continental Air Defense.

The other sullen afternoon, with the weight of snow hanging in the still, threatening air, it seemed to me that a good thing to do would be to call Julie and ask her, f she was not otherwise occupied if she would like to meet me at a less than evil retreat called Schrafit's and nip at some hot tea and toasted crumpets. She said that would be fine, if we could make it after 4 o'clock, because until then she would be kneedeep in choosing her first, her very own mink coat paid for with her own earnings. On the whole the skin gives rerest of the body. But it will not stand unlimited abuse. Its proper care is important to the maintenance of health. Actually the skin is much more than merely a protective layer. It contains sweat glands which empty moisture on the skin. This evaporates and cools the body in hot weather or when overheated from exercise. It is interesting to note that dogs, for example, do not have this mechanism. They must cool the body by evaporation from the tongue, which is why the tongue hangs out so far when

Oil glands help to make the skin loose and pliable. The skin is uncomfortable or looks bad when there is either too little or too much oil.

Improper clothing, overheated rooms or insufficient exercise all interfere with the normal ability of the skin to regulate body temperature. Cothing delays the loss of heat by enclosing air between garments and the skin, or between the fibers of the clothing

The kind of fiber and the nature of the weave is important. Woolen fibers keep air in the mesh quite well. Cotton and many other fabrics retain air less well and are consequently known as "cooler" fabrics and are worn more in hot weather. Rubber clothing has certain special uses, but it is not desir

Imagine me, the sister of a genius. Not that I feel stupid, but he is SO smart." "No interest at all?"

"Yes, but it's new. It burgeons out of the show and the role. I mean it. ELNA AUTOMATIC

Low

No matter what others claim, the new ELNA is the ONLY portable that sews everything automatically.

It's more than a machine! It's like a dressmaker with four hands; can outfit your whole family in no time! Does everything, makes buttonholes; sews on buttons, smocks, appliques; embroiders; monograms. Does more than others, yet costs no more! Never gets out - dated because only ELNA has a straight stitch machine that can be turned into an automatic at any time.
