ODUS MITCHELL
... he'll be remembered

Every citizen wishes to be remembered long after he has returned to dust, or Terre Haute or from wherever whence he came. He wishes to have a town named after him, or a street or a disease. He would dearly love to compose an Immortal Stardust or to invent a cotton gin or the single-wing. Every soul cries out for eternal recognition.

Not so the case with Odus Mitchell, a kindly man with deep Texas twang to his voice, and winning football games as his business. He's already accomplished football immortality.

For over a decade and a half now this man Mitchell has been coaching fine football teams. He started in 1925 upon graduation from West Texas State College where he still ranks as the institution's only four-year four sport (football, basketball, baseball and track) letterman in history.

In 1928 Mitchell came to Pampa. Thirteen years later, in 1941, he left, for a coaching job in Marshall. Behind, he left an awesome record in athletics, not only in the won-lost column but in the departments of sportsmanship and fair play.

Thursday night Odus Mitchell came home.

The present-day North Texas State College grid mentor, who debunked all wild superstitions that 13 was an unlucky number by snaring the Missouri Valley Conference grid title in his 13th season at the helm of the Eagles from Denton, spoke before an appreciative crowd of four hundred and forty.

Occasion for Mitchell's "homecoming" was to address the football faithful who gathered to pay a final and fitting tribute to a fighting group of young men—the 1958 Pampa High Harvesters—at this city's annual Quarterback Club post-season banquet.

"I always like to think of Pampa as home. Maybe because my parents and a brother all live here. Mostly because the people here are so genuine and friendly. Many still remember me, and that makes you feel real good," said Mitchell.

Besides Coach Mitchell's after-dinner (turkey with all the trimmings) speech, two other major events highlighted a gala evening. They were:

- 1) The naming of blonde Lucky Dunham to the 12th annual "Fighting Heart Award." Dunham, a promising 133-pound halfback who scored a touchdown in the Harvesters' final game of a bleak season, became the first sophomore in history to win the award.
- 2) The crowning of lovely Betty Lou Smith, head Harvester cheerleader, as the 1958 Harvester Football Queen. Miss Smith was escorted by football captain Gary Matlock and attended by Lyn Stroble and Brenda Brown, who were escorted by captains Dickie Watkins and Delbert Simmons respectively.

The football royalty was chosen by popular vote of the Harvester gridders while Pampa High coaches decide on which athlete is most worthy of the "Fighting Heart Award" on the merit of his hustle and determination during the season.

Brushing tears of pride from his pinkish cheeks, Dunham exclaimed gleefully after receiving the award, "Gosh no I didn't dream I'd get it. I still can't believe it really happened to me. It's too wonderful to talk about."

The award, originated in 1948, has previously been won by Pete Cooper in '48 and again in 1949. After that it was: 1950, Buzzy Tarpley; 1951, Oscar Sargent; 1952, Lee Fraser; 1953, Travis Taylor; 1954, Don Babcock; 1955, Johnnie Clauch; 1956, Robert Langford; 1957, Bill Fraser, a brother of the 1952 winner.

Mitchell, who has fashioned a fascinating winning percentage of .703 since he took his first coaching job in 1925, was the guest of honor.

and it appeared plans were proceeding on schedule to launch the stately space vehicle this weekend.

The German-born Von Braun, chief Army missile scientist, visited the Cape only on special occasions and his presence strengthened reports that the Army's first moon bird would be fired as early as Saturday.

If the four-stage rocket does go Saturday, the world will know before the weekend is over whether the team of scientists and rocketeers which put the first American satellite into orbit has succeeded in stabbing deep into space past the moon.

Although the Air Force set a new altitude record when Pioneer I hurtled 79,000 miles from the earth Oct. 11-12, the Air Force probes fell far short in three tries to reach the moon, 220,000 miles away.

The Army thus finds itself in a position similar to the circumstances that surrounded its triumph early this year. After the first Vanguard had failed, an Army Jupiter-C rocket thrilled the free world by putting Explorer I into orbit last Jan. 31.

The Army's first moon rocket is little more than the big brother of the Jupiter-C. Instead of a short-range Redstone ballistic missile, Juno II will use a Jupiter intermediate range war rocket as its booster.

Unlike the Air Force's moon probes, the Army vehicle is not intended to orbit the moon. Instead, as Von Braun has explained, the Army will aim the rocket at the moon with the expectation that it will skim past the lunar sphere and go on to become a satellite of the sun, 93 million miles away.

The Army's moon rockets are instrumented to measure the intense band of radiation surrounding the earth to determine the hazards awaiting the first man in space.

Big Bond Issue Balloting Is Set

The polls will open at 8 a.m. Saturday in a $1,250,000 school bond election called by Pampa's School Board. Voting will end at 7 p.m. in Pampa Junior High School. Some 2,200 citizens, who own property in the Pampa Independent School District, are qualified to vote.

The proposed bond issue would provide for six improvements in the Pampa Public School System. It would finance construction of a new elementary school, expand Senior High School facilities and modernize Baker School.

The bond issue, moreover, would enable the School System to remodel Pampa Junior High School, build a High School metal shop and vocational agriculture shop and secure two sites for future expansion as well as purchase the old Junior High School property.

The cost to the taxpayer would be 11 cents per year on each $100 property valuation. The bonds will run 14 years.

First on the list of improvements is an elementary school for the North Creek Addition. The new school would have 18 classrooms, a gymnasium, cafeteria and cafeteria facilities.

The need for this construction can best be seen at Pampa Junior High School where 127 elementary students are lodged. All elementary classrooms are in use.

Expansion in Senior High School would amount to 14 classrooms, a choral room and a publications classroom. The High School, built for 900 students, now serves 983, and by 1960 may have to handle 1,100.

Baker School is up for six additional classrooms and a new cafeteria. With school population on the upswing and housing projects underway in the Baker attendance area, this move is deemed advisable. Plans are to build a new cafeteria to replace a barracks-like, outside building.

Junior High School remodeling would mean tearing down an old red brick building, now housing a band room and cafeteria, and setting up band and cafeteria facilities in one corner of the Junior High School building.

Under the bond issue, Pampa High School would get the metal

$155 TAKEN FROM PENNANT CLUB

Burglars invaded the Pennant Club, 543 W. Brown, sometime last night. Police Chief Jim Conner reported today.

The loss was estimated at $155 in silver and currency from a cash register and about $9 in change from a cigarette vending machine. Owner Jessie Mayes believed nothing else was missing.

The burglar or burglars entered the club by breaking a window on the building's east side near the kitchen. Pampa police discovered the break-in shortly after 4 a.m.

PAPER PICKET LINE VIOLENCE BREAKS OUT

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Picket-line violence flared today in the opening hours of a strike by members of the American Newspaper Guild AFL-CIO against the Washington Evening Star.

Harris Monroe, administrative officer of the Washington Guild, was arrested and charged with simple assault by Washington police after a scuffle between pickets and a non-striking stereotyper.

Star business manager Jack Kauffmann said the paper would publish despite the walkout by editorial and business department employees. But he said the paper's first edition, scheduled for 11 a.m., was going to be late.

Kauffmann said members of other unions were crossing the picket line. Guild strike leader Harry Bacas, chairman of the Star unit, said most stereotypers and nearly 100 printers have refused to pass the pickets and enter the building.

Police were given assurances that Guild officers would try to prevent violence during the strike, Bacas said.

"We deplore this sort of thing," Bacas said in referring to the scuffle which prompted Monroe's arrest.

The strike was called after last-ditch contract negotiations broke off without agreement early today.

Guild spokesmen said members of the Teamsters union who deliver newspaper had indicated they would not cross the picket lines. The paper is believed to have only a one-day supply.

Pickets paraded before the newspaper's plant downtown, its warehouse and the new building now under construction in another section of the city.

ing whistle, stated he was making his third address of the week. "That's because we had a good year. Last year I only made one speech, and that was to a personal friend," joked the coach as he laughed. "It's not how you play the game, it's whether you win or lose."
He also quipped, "Coaching is the only business where one year they'll name a street after a man, and the next they'll run him down it."

Striking out on a serious vein, Coach Mitchell said, "There are better days ahead for football here, and I can guarantee that. After all, Rome wasn't built in a day." Stressing the value of good football to a city, Mitchell remarked, "Along with the favorable publicity a good football team has many people working together."
The North Texas task-master said, "Football certainly develops courage and determination in a young athlete. It has a high moral, mental and physical value to any boy." In closing, the former four-sport Pampa High coach pointed out that he would hesitate to name all of the great football players he coached during his 13 year stint here.

"Let's just say they all fitted somewhere in between the sizes of little Grover Lee Heitzel and big 'vy Noblitt. That's taking in a lot of ground," Mitchell praised the play of an unsung hero from the 30's, John Henry Nelson, killed in World War II, as the most spirited he'd ever had the privilege to coach.
Coach Babe Curtman stole some of Mitchell's thunder when he remarked after introducing members of the Shocker (B-team) and Harvester squads, "I'm really happy to see you Shockers eat so hardy, 'cause you guys are gonna save my job for me next year."

Curtman and his four aides, Dwayne Lyon, Eural Ramsey, Welton Trice and Deek Weidt, were presented appreciation checks from the Pampa Quarterback Club, an organization which has grown from a 1957 membership of 25 to the present enrollment of 132. President Charles L. Robison, who served as emcee of the banquet, announced the club would have 234 members by the end of next season. Travis Lively Sr. introduced his long-time friend, Coach Mitchell.

Introduction of guests were made by O. E. Worley. Attending from out of town were Coach and Mrs. Gene Mayfield of Pampa High School, former Little American Bill Cross and wife of Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hoare of the Amarillo Globe-News.

Damages Light In Two Collisions

Police investigated two minor collisions on Pampa streets Thursday afternoon. Damages were light and no persons were injured.

At 4:35 p.m. cars driven by Walter Durham, 1829 N. Banks, and Max Lee Havenhill, 531 S. Benks, collided on N. Hobart near W. Harvester St.

Havenhill, driver of a 1950 sedan, was tagged for failure to control his speed to avoid a wreck. His car had damages estimated at $150. Durham's 1953 coach had about $75 damages.

A 1936 truck and a 1949 coach bumped at 5:40 p.m. at the intersection of S. Finley and Campbell. Driver of the car, Lois Heary, Pampa, was tagged by police for failure to grant the right of way.

Her car collided with a truck driven by Reaver D. Milligan, Amarillo. Car damages were set at $75, truck damages were $25.

Teenage Boys Admit Breakins

Two teenage Pampa boys, 16 and 17, admitted to police Thursday they damaged coin boxes at a Pampa laundromat early Thursday morning in an apparent burglary attempt. Police Chief Jim Conner said both boys have been in trouble before.

The break-in occurred about 3 a.m. Thursday at a laundromat owned by the late Bev Plunkett at 211 E. Francis. Money changers and coin operated machines were damaged in unsuccessful attempts to open coin boxes.

No charges have been brought against the Pampa teenagers yet.

Man Fined $125

Willie Lee Aaron, 29, 1001 E. Gordon, was fined $125 and costs this morning in county court after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated. It was Aaron's second D.W.I. conviction in Gray county.

Aaron was cited by officers Thursday in the 106 block on S. Purviance.

Graham was driving a 1955 sedan. Cooper was driving a 1950 coach.

Teed Speaks On School Bond Issue

"There are always people who will vote against any bond issue, any city improvement in a town. You can be sure they'll be out there," School Attorney Arthur Teed told Pampa Lion's Thursday. Teed urged Lions to get out and vote in a $1,250,000 school bond issue Saturday.

Before Teed's visit, Homer Craig, school business manager, and an active Lion, presented the Baker Barbershoppers, eight singing lads from Baker Elementary School, accompanied by Mrs. Claudie Gailman, the boy Barbershoppers sang "I Was Seeing Nellie Home." "Down in the Valley" and "Ain't Gonna Grieve My Lord No More."

Nation Speaks On Bond Issue

Jim Nation, a Pampa School Board member, speaking for a $1,250,000 school bond issue, was warmly received at an Evening Lions Club meeting Thursday night.

The speaker was accompanied to Poole's Steak House by Knox Kinard, superintendent of Pampa Public Schools, and D. E. Holt, a Board member. Nation's talk called attention to a school bond election Saturday in which over 6,200 property owners may have their say on the bonds.

"Pampa Senior High School has served us for a long time without an addition," said Nation, referring to High School expansion contemplated under the bond issue.

Architecture Topic For TC Culture

Mrs. Jeff Bearden and Mrs. J. W. Edminster were hostesses to members of Twentieth Century Culture Club recently in the home of Mrs. Bearden. During the social period which preceded the meeting, refreshments of Apple Sauce cake, coffee and tea were served.

Mrs. N. D. Steele, president, conducted a business session during which members voted to continue the custom of preparing a Christmas basket for a family. Items are to be brought to the Dec. 9 meeting.

Mrs. Edminster, parliamentarian, gave a concise refresher course in parliamentary procedure. A poem by Grace Noll Crowell entitled, "Thank God For Home," was read by Mrs. V. L. Hobbs as the thought for the day.

"Architecture, Past and Present" featured the discussion introduced by Mrs. Doyle Osborne. Shelling's definition, "Architecture, in general, is frozen music" suggested the development of the subject as outlined by Mrs. Warren Hasse and Mrs. E. L. Henderson.

In addition to those already mentioned, others present were Mmes. Ross Buzard, R. E. Dobbin, Philip Gates, H. H. Hahn, Rufe Jordan, Ronald Merrill, E. E. Shelhamer and L. J. Zachry.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am nuts about this guy who ushers at the local theater. I can't wait until Friday because that's the night my cousin and I go to this theater. I always sit in the aisle seat and I think he likes me because he flirts up my row first and sometimes he flashes the flashlight in my face and grins. As an excuse to talk to him I go to the lobby and buy popcorn. I shouldn't eat there because I can't help it. I am 15 and he won't tell me how old he is or what his last name is. How can I get him interested enough in me to ask to see me sometime?

NUTS FOR HIM

DEAR ABBY: (and if you build up a crush without any encouragement, you are!) That usher has walked plenty of cute chicks down the aisle. Find out who he is, how old he is, and WHO he is before you become a popcorn pauper.

DEAR ABBY: I want your opinion, please. My husband has a secretary who travels with him because his business demands it. Lately they have been flying together as "Mr. and Mrs." using the FAMILY PLAN because it is cheaper. (I believe a man's wife can fly for half-fare certain days of the week.) Perhaps there is no reason for my getting riled up, but I resent another woman traveling as "MRS." with my husband. Would you insist that this be stopped if you were I?

every time I think about entertaining these people. My husband says if it is going to make a nervous wreck out of me we should take them to a restaurant. I would like your opinion.

PLAIN PEOPLE

DEAR PLAIN: You needn't be ashamed of a "plain" home. But if the thought of making a complete dinner upsets you — invite them to your home for cocktails (or fruit punch) and take them out for dinner. Or take them "out" for dinner and return to your home for coffee and dessert.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MAN OF THE HOUSE": A man may make the living — but it takes a woman to make the living worthwhile.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your bookdealer to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

When broiling steaks or chops, make several cuts in the fat along the outer edge so as to keep the chop from curling. Be careful not to cut into the meat.

Mrs. Johnson Is Hostess To Club

Mrs. Homer Johnson 1220 Hamilton was hostess to the recent meeting of Parent Education Club in her home.

During a brief business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Warren Fatheree, president, the club's project of aid to the exceptional children's classroom in Woodrow Wilson School was further discussed.

Mrs. R. M. Hampton introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Arnold Peitilla, who capably dramatized the Christmas story, "Joy To The World."

Refreshments were served during the social hour by the hostess. The club's next meeting will be a Christmas Party in the City Club Room on Dec. 16 at 3:45 p.m.

Costume Blouses For Yule Parties

By GAILLE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — A costume blouse is one way to perk up your wardrobe for the holidays without spending a fortune. For there are times when the budget will not stretch to cover a new dress, however much it's coveted.

In keeping with the new softer look of dresses and suits, blouses for holiday wear offer large collars, lace, embroidery, fuller sleeves and beautiful bow trim.

The new blouses are cut from satin, taffeta, crepe, chiffon, jersey and matalcassa. Colors are warm and include the vivid blues and greens as well as orange and rust.

But somehow modern parents have given up that idea. Now all they want is for their children to be happy and well-adjusted.

So if Junior grumbles about mowing the lawn, and Sis says none of the other girls have to do the dinner dishes, Pop gets behind the lawn mower and Mom heads from the dinner table to the kitchen sink — while Junior goes cruising around in the family car and Sis gets on the telephone until the dishes are done.

The old-fashioned idea was that a kid could go out and have fun after he did his chores and if he wasn't needed for any extra jobs.

Now the fun comes first — and the chores naturally don't get done.

So let's not blame the kids for being lazy. They're just doing what comes naturally to kids — as little as possible.

And it will be that way until parents go back to the old-fashioned idea of work first, play later.

It is we who are encouraging them to believe that nothing is as important as having fun.

RUTH MILLETT

"What makes kids today so lazy?" asks one of my older readers. She complains, "I've just returned from visiting my son. His children, ages 12, 15 and 17, don't do anything but have a good time. Neither do their friends."

"I honestly don't see how their parents manage — without any help at all from their children."

Children have always been naturally lazy. Even great — great grandpa, as a boy, probably never looked around for work to do.

He did his chores because parents used to hold to the theory that a family was a working unit — with each member being responsible for his share of the jobs to be done.

But somehow modern parents have given up that idea. Now all they want is for their children to be happy and well-adjusted.

So if Junior grumbles about mowing the lawn, and Sis says none of the other girls have to do the dinner dishes, Pop gets behind the lawn mower and Mom heads from the dinner table to the kitchen sink — while Junior goes cruising around in the family car and Sis gets on the telephone until the dishes are done.

Eastern Orthodox Churches Irritated By 'Big 3 Faiths' Idea

EDITORS: This is the ninth in an intermittent series of dispatches profiling America's major religious bodies.

By LOUIS CASSELLS United Press International

It comes natural to most people to speak of "the three great religions," meaning Protestants, Catholics and Jews.

This national habit is a source of considerable irritation to some 5,000,000 Americans who are members of the Eastern Orthodox churches.

They believe that Eastern Orthodoxy is entitled to public recognition as a fourth major confession. Slowly but steadily, they seem to be getting their point across.

The U.S. armed forces now use the letters "EO" on dog tags to identify Eastern Orthodox Christians, who were previously lumped in with Protestants.

Not Pride

To Orthodox Christians, this is not just a matter of pride, but of bringing popular usage into line

Student Group Will Present Service Here

A group of students from McPherson College, McPherson, Kan., will present a service of worship at the Pampa Church of the Brethren Sunday at 11 a.m.

All take an active interest in the McPherson Christian Association and other religious groups on campus.

with the facts of history.

For the first thousand years of its existence the Christian church was undivided. But friction developed between its two main centers of ecclesiastical power—Constantinople in the East and Rome in the West.

The patriarch of Constantinople, and the Greek-speaking Eastern churches which followed his leadership, refused to acknowledge the claims of the Pope of Rome for supremacy over the entire church.

In 1054, the estrangement was formalized by what historians call "the great schism." The Roman arch of Constantinople, and the patriarch excommunicated the Pope. The Latin speaking Western churches remained under the Pope, and became what is called today the Roman Catholic Church.

Orthodox Christians say they did not split off from Rome—Rome split off from them. Their churches claim to be the "direct heirs and true conservators" of the original Christian faith as it was spelled out at the seven great councils of the primitive church.

Recite Nicene Creed

The familiar Nicene Creed, formulated at the Council of Nicea in 325 A.D., is one of the fullest expressions of Orthodox doctrine, and is recited at each liturgy.

Orthodox worship is elaborately ritualistic. The church recognizes seven sacraments: Baptism (which is administered to infants and adults by triple immersion); Anointing or confirmation, which immediately follows Baptism; Penance; Communion; Holy Orders; Marriage; and Holy Unction (which is administered to the sick, but not necessarily as a last rite).

Candidates for the priesthood may marry before they are ordained, but not afterwards. All Orthodox bishops are members of a monastic order which practices celibacy.

Orthodox churches have never been governed by a single head. Since the time of the great schism, the patriarch of Constantinople has shared ecclesiastical authority with four other patriarchs of major Eastern cities.

Eastern Orthodoxy has tended to divide into independent, self-governing national churches, which have remained in full communion with one another. The largest national churches grew up in the Middle East and the Slavic countries, notably Greece, Russia, Bulgaria, Romania and Albania.

The first Orthodox church on American soil was built by Russian monks at Kodiak, Alaska, in 1792. The Russian missionaries won many converts among Eskimos, and built a cathedral at Sitka, before Alaska passed into U.S. hands.

Spiritual Basis Of All Creation Rates Sunday Emphasis

The spiritual basis of all creation will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Only Cause and Creator."

Scriptural selections will include this from Isaiah (43:15, 21): "I am the Lord, your Holy One, the creator of Israel, your King... This people have I formed for myself; they shall show forth my praise."

Also included will be the following passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is individual, incorporeal. He is divine Principle, Love, the universal cause, the only creator, and there is no other self-existence. He is all-inclusive, and is reflected by all that is real and eternal and by nothing else" (331:18-22).

The Golden Text is from Malachi (2:10): "Have we not all one father? hath not one God created us?"

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Pampa, welcomes you to its services and the Christian Science Reading Room located in the church building at 901 N. Frost, where further information about Christian Science may be obtained.

An Answer to the Pressures of Modern Living

To those troubled with the fears, tensions, and anxieties of modern living, Christian Science offers new hope and healing.

Men and women in all walks of life have found that spiritual understanding of God and man, as revealed in Christian Science, enables them to solve the pressing problems of daily life more successfully. They are proving—many to a remarkable degree—that Christ Jesus' method of overcoming sin, sickness, and lack is completely practical today.

Learn what this can mean for you by attending this free lecture entitled:

Strange Custom Is Subject Of Comedy

FORT WORTH (Sp) — Joel Climenhaga's "Marriage Wheel," a charming comedy dealing with customs of a religious sect in Pennsylvania, will be the second full production of Texas Christian University's theatre arts department.

The play will open at 8 p.m. Saturday in the University's Little Theatre. Other performances will be given on Dec. 8, 10-13. It is directed by Dr. Walther Volbach, chairman of the department.

"Marriage Wheel" concerns the strange marriage customs of a Pennsylvania sect, which require that boys and girls wanting to be married put their names on a marriage list. The names that come at the top of the list are the boy and girl who must marry. If one refuses, the other has to remain unmarried. Out of this principle come the complications of the comedy.

Designer of scenery and costumes for the production is Cleve

Haubold, instructor in the department. Assistant director is Catherine Davis, senior from Berger. Stage manager is Charles Pierr, Fort Worth senior.

The play has been presented by a series of little theatres and professional theatres since it was written in 1953, including the Margo Jones Theatre in Dallas, where it was given in 1956, and the Pasadena Playhouse.

Climenhaga is on the faculty of Willington College, Willington, where he is in charge of a program of creative writing in English department. Born in 1922 of missionary parents in Bulawayo, Southern Rhodesia, Africa, he came to the United States in 1930.

He has a background of newspaper work, having been on the staff of the Pottstown (Pa.) Mercury, the San Bernardino (Cal.) Sun and the Los Angeles Times.

He received his master's degree from UCLA in 1954. In 1955, he won the Samuel Goldwin Award for Creative Writing for "Marriage Wheel," and in 1955-56 received a Rockefeller Fellowship in Playwriting, studying with Kenneth Macgowan at UCLA.

Individual tickets for the TCU production of "Marriage Wheel" may be purchased for $1.25 at Little Theatre boxoffice. Tickets will go on sale Dec. 3.

Hillon Speaks For 'Old Time Religion'

Barrett Baptist Chapel, 903 E. Beryl, will launch a revival tonight, Lee Hillon, pastor, has announced. Hillon will lead the Chapel in revival through Dec. 14.

Music will be arranged by Bob Stroble and Joe Whitten of Pampa's First Christian Church. Barrett Chapel is sponsored by First Church.

The revival will open tonight at 7:30. There will be three worship services each Sunday during the revival; 8:30 a.m., 10:30 a.m., 7:30 p.m.

Hillon came to Barrett Chapel from Berger Aug. 15. He was associate pastor of First Church,

Berger, for two years. "There is no place in the church or pulpit for modernism," says Hillon. "The need of the hour in which we live is the old-time religion."

A special film has been planned to be shown in the 6 p.m. service in the Parish House. The film is "An American Girl" which depicts the experiences of a mid-westerner teenager with her problems and emotional troubles. That the conflict between what people do and what they say causes much of the emotional conflict in our teenagers today is the message of the film. The showing is open to the public.

The regular midweek Holy Communion will be held at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Dec. 10. The choir will rehearse in the home of Mrs. George Casey, 114 N. Houston on Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Carver To Speak Sunday

Dr. E. Douglas Carver will be in the pulpit for both Pampa First Baptist Church services Sunday, speaking from the following subjects: Sunday morning, "Three Crosses on Calvary," and Sunday evening, "Partnership In The Gospel."

The Church Choir will sing an arrangement of, "There Is A Fountain Filled With Blood," at the morning service, and "Victory In Jesus" in the evening.

Sunday will be Nursery Focus Day. The Church has six Nursery Departments in the Sunday School ministering to children from birth through three years of age. The Training Union has three departments ministering to the same age group. The parents who have children in both of these organizations will be recognized next Sunday.

A Baptismal Service will be held at the beginning of the evening worship hour.

Activities during the week will include a banquet for Intermediate and their parents on Tuesday evening, and a banquet for the Junior boys and girls on Thursday evening.

Mid-week Services will be held on Wednesday at 7:15 p.m. The Teachers and Officers will meet at 7 p.m. At 8:30 p.m. the choir will rehearse.

Windows Dedicated

Two new imported stained glass windows were dedicated Sunday morning, by the Rev. William E. West, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church.

The window, in memory of Mrs. C. P. Buckler, shows St. Paul with the sword of the Spirit, a symbol fitting for this Apostle. The calling of Mary by the Angel Gabriel, called the "Annunciation" is the subject of the other window, in memory of Mrs. Anna Beck, mother of Curt Beck of this city. Both windows were executed in the studios of William Morris Ltd., London, England.

"The workmanship, colors and details of these windows is some of the finest in this country," was the comment of the Rev. West. "The windows are dedicated to the glory of God and in loving memory of two faithful servants of Christ."

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

M. B. Smith, Pastor
HIGHLAND BAPTIST CHURCH

SURE THINGS

These days are days of grave uncertainty in many realms, but there are some things spoken of in God's Word that are sure or certain. Consider these things with me.

I. BE SURE your sin will find you out—Numbers 32:23.
Many people have tried to hide from God the things that were wrong in their lives, but to no avail. A writer of long ago said, "God's laws make a net of such fine mesh that no sinner can escape." Jacob tried to hide from God. Jacob's sons—the brothers of Joseph—thought they could hide, but to no avail. David thought to hide himself, and his sins from God, but one came to say, "David, thou art the man."

II. "To him that soweth in righteousness shall be a SURE REWARD." Proverbs 11:18.

God has promised to reward His own for their faithfulness. Read Galatians 6:8. God rewarded men of old like Enoch, Noah, Daniel, Abraham, and many others. He will reward His own in days ahead when we stand before Him to hear His "Well Done."

III. "The Testimony of the Lord is SURE." Psalm 19:7.
Many men give expression to purposes and opinions in which we can place no confidence, but when God's Word is read, we can know that in its pages there is no error, and what God has promised, He is able also to perform.

"How firm a foundation, ye saints of the Lord,
Is laid for your faith in His excellent Word."
IV. There is a SURE FOUNDATION. Isaiah 28:16.
Take your Bible and read—Matthew 16:13 ff; 1 Cor. 3:11, and then sing again with the hymn writer—

"My hope is built on nothing less
Than Jesus' blood and righteousness;
I dare not trust the sweetest frame,
But wholly lean on Jesus Name.
On Christ the solid Rock I stand
All other ground is sinking sand,
All other ground is sinking sand."

V. We have also a more SURE WORD OF PROPHECY — 2 Peter 1:15-19.

This sure word of prophecy concerning the coming of the Lord Jesus Christ to the earth is like a light that shineth in a dark place. Here this word, and lean on its truth.

A REAL SCRAPPER— Harvester football coach Babe Curfman presents the Fighting Heart Award to halfback Lucky Dunham at Thursday night's football banquet. Dunham is the first sophomore ever to receive the award.

LETTERMEN ANNOUNCED

Fighting Heart Award Goes To Halfback Lucky Dunham

Lucky Dunham, scrappy little 130-pound halfback, was given the Fighting Heart Award at Thursday night's Harvester-Shocker football banquet.

The award, which was originated in 1948 by the Chamber of Commerce, goes each year to the player who showed the most spirit throughout the football season.

Dunham is the first sophomore ever to win the award. Although he played only in spots, he did break into the scoring column, with a touchdown against Borger.

Coach Babe Curfman, when presenting the award, said that he had a hard time deciding who should get the honor. "Almost every player on the team deserves it," said Curfman.

Akins Picked In Welter Title Fight

By JACK CUDDY
United Press International

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Hot-and-cold Virgil Akins is favored at 12-5 to make a successful first defense of his world welterweight championship tonight against speedy Young Don Jordan of Los Angeles.

Despite Akins' punching prowess and Jordan's skill, their scheduled 15-rounder leaves local fans lukewarm. Less than 6,000 are expected at the Olympic Auditorium, where the gate may approach $40,000.

Because the bout will be televised and broadcast nationally by NBC, it must be started at 7 p.m. p.s.t.—10 p.m. e.s.t. That early start may have hurt the ticket sale, although there's a TV blackout in a 300-mile radius.

Regardless of the crowd and gate, Los Angeles' first welterweight fight in 19 years will be a financial success because of $50,000 in TV-radio money, and because each fighter works strictly on percentage.

The 30-year-old champion from St. Louis gets 40 per cent of all net receipts, and the 24-year-old Negro-Indian challenger gets 20 per cent.

White Deer Bucks to Meet Plains Saturday in Plainview

WHITE DEER (Sp) — The White Deer Bucks meet Plains Saturday at 7 p.m. in Plainview, in a class A quarterfinal game.

White Deer and Plains are the highest scoring teams still in the class A playoffs. The Bucks are the leaders with 452 points in 12 games, and Plains is second with 446 points in the same number of contests.

White Deer has a record of 11 wins and one tie, and Plains has a mark of 11 wins and one loss. White Deer's tie was a 6-6 deadlock with Stinnett early in the season. The only other teams playing the Bucks a reasonably close game were McLean (22-8), and Farwell in last week's regional playoff (28-16).

The Cowboys' only loss was a 24-22 defeat by Farwell early in the year. However, Plains was a playing without Joe Don Marrow, one of its two leading scorers.

Marrow and another Cowboy back, Jim Williams, have both scored more than 130 points. Marrow is the tailback and Williams the wingback in Coach Jack Pierce's winged T formation.

Plains' formation and its play patterns are both very similar to White Deer's.

The Cowboys beat Rotan 34-16 in bi-district and 20-18 in the regional playoff. They move well both on the ground and through the air.

Big, Bad Bucks

White Deer has an awesome offense, and has made a practice of ripping the best defenses to shreds. Early in the season, they demolished a previously unscorced-on Lefores team, 36-6; then in bi-district they roared past Gruber (the best defensive class A team in the state) by 46-6.

Nine White Deer players have scored 20 or more points. A total of 15 White Deer players have broken into the scoring column.

Tailback Hershel Powell has scored 112 points, and halfback Allen Harmon has tallied 74. End Jeff Bearden has scored 60, and number two tailback Don Adams has amassed 58 points.

Other big scorers have been Ronnie Cade, 32; Jackie Burns, 22; Tommy Lester, 22; Don Driskill, 20; Charles Jackson, 20. Filling out the scoring list are Rodney DeFever, 8; Joe Grange, 8; Don Carter, 6; Mark Collins, 6; Tommy Powell, 2, and Bryan Coody, 2. Three Miles Made

The Bucks have made more than three miles in total offense, with a total of 5478 yards — 4467 rushing and 1011 passing. They have allowed their opponents 2020 yards rushing and 628 passing.

Powell has made almost a mile on rushing alone. He has gained 1645 yards rushing, and passed for 79 more. Harmon has netted 875 yards rushing and Adams has run for 829.

Don Driskill, who was injured in the Gruber game and will be out for the season, has made 261 yards. Don Carter, up from the B team, has become the fourth leading rusher after playing in only three games. He has carried for 243 yards.

The two quarterbacks, Burns and Dickie Hanna, have done most of the aerial damage for the Bucks. Burns has completed 20 passes for 872 yards and nine touchdowns; Hanna has connected on 11 for 270 yards and five touchdowns.

The winner of Saturday's game will meet the winner of the Mason-Talco game in the semi-finals. Mason is the only team in class A with a perfect record (12-0).

Bobcats Also Scheduled To Play Here Saturday

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

The San Angelo Bobcats move into Pampa today for a two night stand. The Harvesters take on the Bobcats tonight at 8 p. m., in Harvester Field House, again Saturday at 8 p. m.

Both games will be preceded by B team games at 6:30 p. m.

The Harvesters will be shooting for their 17th straight win tonight, and their fourth straight triumph of the season. The Shockers will also be going for their fourth straight victory of the year.

The defending state champions are taller than San Angelo, but less experienced. The Bobcats have seven lettermen, the Harvesters four; the Harvesters average 6-3 in height, the Bobcat starters average slightly over 6 feet.

San Angelo had a 16-19 record last year, and finished fourth in District 2-4A. They placed two men on the all - district team — guard Al Dason, 5-10, and forward Mack McCoulskey, 6-0.

Other Bobcat starters, all lettermen, are post men Ronnie Cole, 6-3, and Harold Guess, 6-3; and forward David Warner, 5-10. Other lettermen are David Alexander, 5-10, and David Senter, 6-2.

Because of football playoffs, the San Angelo team started its season late. It's first game was Tuesday against Sweetwater.

In three games this year, the Harvesters defeated Mangum, Okla., by 55-42 and 87-43, and downed Quanah 67 - 51. Leading scorer has been 6-4 center: Coyle Winborn (an all - star last year) with 56 points. Guard Charles Minor, 5-11, has tallied 47.

Other probable starters are 6-5 center Mack Layne, 6-4 forward Bob Gindorf, and 6-3 forward Craig Winborn.

The Shockers have defeated Mangum B by scores of 43 - 34 and 56-32, and whipped Quanah B 34-27. Guard Pat Carter is the Shockers' leading scorer with 33 points. Center Allen Wise has netted 25,

Moon Traded For Cimoli

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals acquired a new center fielder and hired an "old pro" as their pitching coach on the final day of the annual baseball meetings.

Wally Moon was traded to the Los Angeles Dodgers for Gino Cimoli, and Howie Pollet agreed to return to baseball as the Cardinals' pitching coach.

Moon, the National League's rookie of the year in 1914, batted only .238, in 108 games for the Cardinals last season. Cimoli wasn't much better at the plate, hitting .246 in 109 games.

As part of the deal, the Cardinals turned over Phil Paine, a pitcher on their Omaha farm club, to the Dodgers. Because the Dodgers have no room in their 40-man roster for Paine, they assigned the former Milwaukee Braves' pitcher to Spokane of the Pacific Coast League.

Kelton, Canadian Win At Wheeler

WHEELER (Sp) — Kelton and Canadian took opening round victories in the Wheeler tournament Thursday. Kelton defeated Allison 45-27 and Canadian whipped Wheeler 35-27.

In girls' games, Briscoe downed Kelton 54-52 in overtime; Mobeetie edged Allison 40-34; Canadian routed Shamrock B 49-12; and Wheeler outscored Miami 51-36.

First round boys' games and second round girls' contests continue today, and finals will be played Saturday.

WITHDRAWS FROM SQUAD
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Tom Koenig, a Southern Methodist guard, has withdrawn from the East-West game in order to catch up on his studies. Teammate Lee Yokum, a tackle, replaces Koenig on the West squad.

Lee Wins; PJH Loses

AMARILLO — Lee Junior High of Pampa won its second straight game of the year here Thursday, but Bowie spoiled the perfect record of Pampa basketball teams by downing Pampa Junior High, 28-14.

The PJH defeat was the first loss for any Pampa basketball team in a total of 11 starts. Bowie outscored the Reapers by 14-7 in each half. Guard Max Patton tallied 13 of the Reapers' 14 points.

The Lee Rebels trounced Fanshin, 34-14, as all 16 players saw action and seven of them scored. Butch Crossland was high point Reb with eight, and Jim Stephenson had 7. Other scorers were Harold Burgess 6, Jim Crinklaw 5, Lloyd Balch 4, Dale Cox 2, and George Simmons 2.

Lee led at the way, with a 5-4 first quarter margin, a 16-6 half-time lead, and a 39-8 third quarter gap.

Both the Reapers and the Rebels will be at home Tuesday. Lee will play Austin of Amarillo, and PJH will play Tascosa of Amarillo.

Boxers Meet Hereford Team

HEREFORD — The Pampa boxing team, which Wednesday walloped a good Fort Sill squad seven matches to two, meets the Hereford squad here tonight.

The Hereford and Dumas boxing teams traveled to Pampa for a match two weeks ago. Pampa won eight of 11 matches from the combined squads.

In other matches this year, Pampa has dropped six of ten fights at Amarillo and split with San Angelo, 2-2. Next home match for Pampa will be Dec. 13 against Abilene.

Wage Earner Hurt

There's been a lot of material published in recent years about eliminating or reducing the federal income tax. But only recently has there been more than occasional effort to show how the excessively high tax rates injure all — not just the wealthy — people.

Across our editorial desk the other day came a copy of a speech by Harold Brayman, director of the public relations department for E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Co., before the Public Relations Society of America in New York City. Mr. Brayman's Nov. 7 speech was entitled "A Case History in the Field of Taxation," and it seemed to us did a pretty fair job of telling why the graduated income tax hurts the average man who pays only the minimum (20 per cent) tax rate.

Mr. Brayman points to an authentic case of a wealthy man whom he identifies only as Mr. X. It seems Mr. X "was approached by a group of people who wanted him and some associates to put up approximately $7,500,000 for a pulp and paper mill, which they proposed to build in the South a few years ago when there was an intense shortage of paper."

He continues: "This was the equity capital in a total investment of $25 million, the rest of which a financial corporation was prepared to lend. The pulp supply had been located, the project had been carefully engineered, and it showed the probability of earnings on the total investment, after interest on the senior capital, of $2,500,000 a year. That would have been a 33 per cent return on the $7,500,000 risk capital investment — a very attractive proposal."

"But the 91 per cent income tax to which Mr. X and his associates were liable compelled them to turn it down. They pointed out that if they undertook the project, it

Battle In Housing

The United States Savings and Loan League, composed of some 4500 savings and loan institutions from coast to coast, is probably the largest single non-government source of mortgage money in America. At a recent convention held in San Francisco, a number of facts were uncovered which shed light on the mortgage business in this country.

For one thing, in the first nine months of this year, the various members of this league advanced more than $4 billion to home buyers, thereby increasing the amount of money they have invested to a total of more than $50 billion.

Another item of interest was introduced by Perry I. Prentice, editor and publisher of House and Home Magazine, who insisted that the public generally is getting a little apathetic about the low cost, sub-standard socialized housing being offered by the government thru its public housing program, and its FHA and VA lending departments.

According to Prentice, there are thousands upon thousands of potential home buyers who want something better than government mediocrity. There is a "huge new market for new quality homes" and the savings and loan people can provide a real service if they have this fact in mind.

However, all was not sweetness and light at the convention, for the ambitious and personable John J. Sparkman, Democratic Senator from Alabama, had traveled to San Francisco to unburden himself of his views, too. And according to Sparkman, the government has some pretty definite ideas of continuing in the housing business.

The reason for such continued interventionism on the part of the government is this: "To the extent that the price of private credit is beyond the reach of millions of underhoused American families, these families are certain to demand government credit, from one level of government or another."

Why We Are Losing The Cold War

In the last issue I was introducing the readers to the new book "Brainwashing in the High Schools" by E. Merrill Root. Now I want to point out the things that Root writes as to why we are losing the cold war.

He relates that one-third of our soldiers who were captured and put in Korean prisons accepted the Communist ideologies rather than the American ones.

He quotes Major Mayer as saying: "The behavior of many Americans in Korean prison camps appears to raise serious questions about American character, and about the education of Americans."

Mayer reports that the Communists "obviously believed that the average American soldier was poorly informed to an extreme degree about his own country, his own economic and political system; was even more poorly informed about politics, economics and social problems of other countries; was an individual who based his sense of security and often of superiority on transient, materialistic values, and was a man who, if deprived of material sources of support, would prove to be insecure, easily manipulated and controlled, lacking in real loyalties and convictions."

Root quotes what the Richmond Palladium-Item reported regarding a speech made by Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff of the armed services:

"Admiral Arthur W. Radford told the southern governors council that the U. S. is failing to instill pride in the American way of life among its youth."

"He said that if American youth aren't taught more about what this nation's democracy means, communism can come to the United States. He added: "We cannot write communism off the books simply by saying: 'Oh, it can't happen here.' Because it can, if we allow ourselves to lower our guard or diminish our active patriotism."

"Too many young men come into the armed forces with too little understanding of their responsibilities for citizenship. There are too many who are apathetic toward responsibilities and complacent about the long term continuance of their society."

"Radford said in his prepared remarks that when American soldiers are sent overseas they are not well enough equipped to convince others that the path of freedom is the best path."

"Radford contended that the homes and schools of America share with the military establishments a responsibility for improving the soldiers' moral outlook. He said: 'The skills we teach in the service can only pyramid on the moral character and basic foundations already built in the home and classrooms.'"

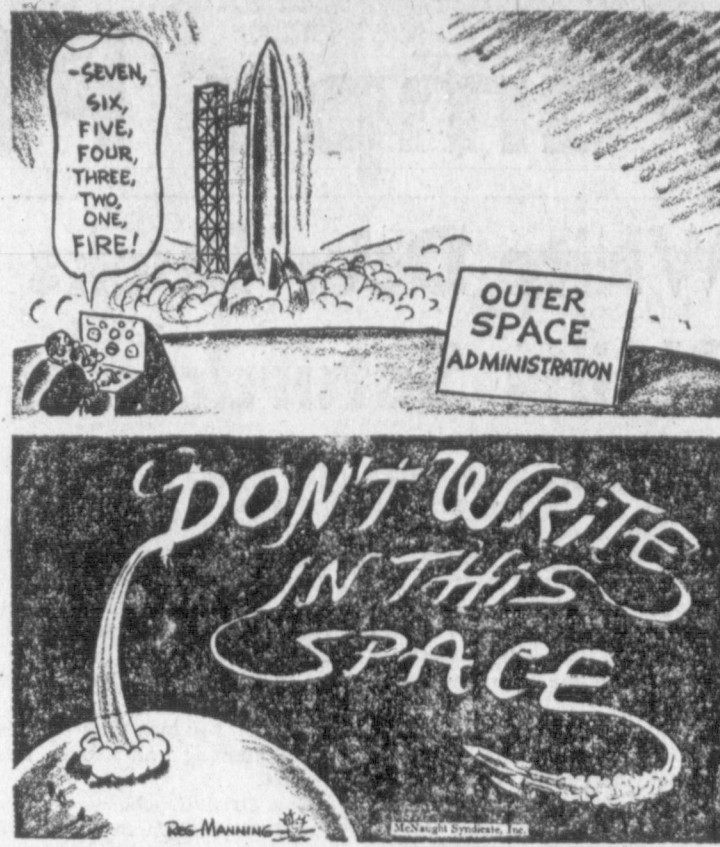

It seems to me that Adm. Radford overlooks the fact that most of the parents got what training they got from government schools and if the parents haven't been clearly taught to understand the ideologies of the Declaration of Independence, it seems unreasonable to expect them later, unless they unlearn what they got in school, to teach their children to believe in the ideologies that people get their inalienable rights from their Creator rather than from the government.

He quotes J. Edgar Hoover as saying: "In recent months, the united front campaign, always a dangerous-Communist tactic, has received even greater emphasis. . . The Communists are confident that if they can openly cling to the coattails of reputable groups, eventually they will succeed in wearing the entire suit. . . If America's resistance can be softened by the lies shouted from these heaps of concealed communism, the party will be in a better position to launch a frontal attack upon our government."

Then the author, Mr. Root, observes: "These young men yielded because they have never been taught to understand, as our Communist masters did understand, American politics, American economics, American history, and American ideals. They had a vacuum where they should have had a storehouse of knowledge about the American Revolution, the Founding Fathers, the Constitution, and the nature of our and VA mortgages at par value, when the market value of these papers had already fallen way below par. Still more of the same is in the offing and the league came out flatfooted in opposition. It is a healthy sign when the financiers of real estate transactions turn away from government "guarantees" and government "insurance" and seek to stand on their own feet. Just how effective their belated stand will be is unknown at the moment. For in the housing business, the camel has gotten far more than his head under the tent. The government is in the mortgage and loan business, with a vengeance which is leveled against all free enterprise competitors at their own expense. We are hoping that the mortgage men will wake up swiftly to the fallacies of Marxism, even when promoted by our own government. There is no such thing as "surplus value" and someone should explain that fact.

New Gov't. Rocket Perfected

Fair Enough

When Nelson Rockefeller's brother, Winthrop, married the daughter of a Pennsylvania coal-miner, she said Mrs. Rockefeller's husband had made it impossible for her to get any New York papers. "Have you any New York papers?" Isabella asked.

"Tons of them! They are driving me crazy! He won't let me throw any of them out!"

So Mrs. Rockefeller and Mrs. King drove out Oracle and west into the desert and a stack of back-numbers awaited them on the floor of the living room with refreshments on the little Mexican table by the picture window. Isabella and the hostess undoubtedly took Old Gramp for they were Southern belles. Mrs. Rockefeller may have been tee-total according to the Rockefeller-Baptist aversion but she was not a Rockefeller by ancestry, but rather an Aldrich, by anyway she had a bad heart and an excuse, if she needed one, for a thimble of spirits on a raw day.

So, down they went on their hummers, spreading acres and acres of pictures and when the two girls started back to the Inn there was by opportune riddance a big bundle beside the driver. A few days later, the Rockefeller went back to Tarrytown, and Winthrop brought his bride up to stand family-inspection. This could have been a trial because only 40-odd years ago the forces of law and order shot miners' daughters in tents in the battle of the Hogback at Ludlow, Colo., a fracas between capital and labor which, by the sacrifice of innocent, ignorant proletarians, eventually wrought great benefit to mankind through scientific research financed by the Rockefeller fortune. Old John D. took up philanthropy at a gallop after the Ludlow massacre.

Unofficial accounts of the meeting of Mrs. Rockefeller with the miner's daughter called Bobo, described a pleasant visit in which the old lady took Bobo off balance with her warmth and never let her get set. The old man, however, had said long ago that the Rockefeller were the perfect flower on the stalk of humanity. So, between John D. Jr., and the daughter of a coal-miner, who could have got some of the bitterness of the Ludlow massacre at breast, the cordiality may have been a little less.

All three are gone now, who shrilled and laughed and clapped their hands that afternoon as they smoothed out the New York picture-pages of the misalliance between an heir to Colorado Fuel and Iron and a girl who was born in the social shadow of the Hogback and the glare of the burning tents.

Apparently the most common skin reaction from the bites of these parasites is a cluster of three to six red spots resembling mosquito bites. They itch severely. It does seem as though a connection was entirely possible.

Q — We have recently had an invasion of a few bed bugs. We are trying to get rid of them, but what I want to know is whether they are a health problem.—Mrs. L. T.

A — I haven't heard of any human diseases which are carried by the common bed bug. However, these pests do bite, particularly around the ankles and legs, and cause wheals and itching. Occasionally there appears to be a person who is highly sensitive and possibly allergic to the bite of a bed bug and whose sensitive skin will give a violent reaction.

It is best to get rid of them as rapidly as possible. Incidentally, cockroaches do spread diseases.

Note On Questions
Dr. Jordan is unable to answer directly individual questions from readers. However, once week, in this "Q & A" column he will answer the most interesting and the most frequently asked questions received during the week.

Justice Felix Frankfurter, bless his kind heart, says it's okay for the public to think what it wants to about the Supreme Court just so long as it obeys it. This came as a great surprise, since many of us were beginning to wonder. Of course, it is only a temporary concession. As soon as the Mental Health Law starts really working, those of us who disagree with the government policies can be arrested by commissioners (whose medical qualifications are but shadowy), shipped off to a nut house for "treatments" (that may include shock therapy or skull operations) and have all our property confiscated to pay for these tortures. And we will be submitted to all this without trial by jury. All this has been done on a grand scale in Russia. And it has been tried, in a small way, in the United States.

THE CRACKER BARREL

Looking Sideways

By Whitney Bolton

NEW YORK — If you were in OSS (or British Intelligence, for that matter) during World War II and parachuted into the Burgundy-Chablis area of France on a useful mission of destruction to the Germans, you probably met a lean, wavy-haired Frenchman who, today, is convulsing the island of Manhattan with a swift, audacious and breezy little revue called "La Plume De Ma Tante."

The ticket buyers for it are a block long every morning. Robert Dhery was a miller's son from that region who dismayed all his teachers by transforming serious assignments into comic occasions. His father dusted some flour from his apron (Le Tablier De Mon Pere) and said: "I am sending you to England to live for one year with a British family. THAT will knock the nonsense out of you."

It did, but only momentarily. My dad came back to France sobered, but more by the prospect of war than a year of British influence. When the war got under way and Germans rushed in like a gutter stream breaking past litter, he heard that young Frenchmen not otherwise occupied were being grabbed and shipped off in labor battalions to work for a Nazi construction organization called Todt.

"I had no intention of standing on the curb in front of L'Opera and having a Nazi shoveled pushed into my hand," Dhery told me the other afternoon. "I ran back to Burgundy. To the mill. I was not idle long. One night a man came to me and said: 'You passed a year in England? You could not have been inensible to their language. You have a mill. Good. We put a radio set in it and you will be in contact with London at specified times. Your place will be used as a drop for parachutists of Intelligence work. If caught, you will be shot. This I can promise you. The Boche are not amused by Frenchmen helping Allied Intelligence to chide in saboteurs and spies. Tomorrow, my young friend, you will have an occupation.'"

Dhery ran the radio, directed chutists from Allied Intelligence in, provided for them, helped heal some with sprained ankles gained while landing, and in all ways was a boon to the Nazis. When it ended he scooted back to Paris, rounded up some equally ambitious young friends and began assembling small revues designed for small, off-side theaters.

"You know how it goes," he said. "You write a few skits, a bit of music, and you find a theater and just keep the place from writing a little music. You isn't always to be had. Anyway, we started."

"And were a hit from the start."

"From the start, my new friend had had exactly 12 successive, dole failures. One dozen consecutive flops. It was wrenching. It was depressing. But we would not be shattered. So the 13th show was a success and it has been all right ever since."

"Don't think you were alone. Look at Oscar Hammerstein. Ten solid, unbroken years of failure until 'Oklahoma' came along. You know what he has."

"Not quite. Mr. Hammerstein must have one million dollars. I don't."

"Ah, well, Dhery, what's a million dollars?"

"A million dollars, chum, is a heck of a lot of money, that's what a million dollars is."

"And so, then?"

"I met and married Colette Brosset, this enchanting creature sitting here with us, she worked in the shows and was our choreographer. Nothing has changed: she still is and we are still married and that's good all around for both of us. The little shows began to go well in Paris and then we moved to London, adding skits from some past revues of ours. Then we were invited to New York. And here we are in this fantastic city."

"What's so fantastic about it? It's a city with the most opulent and dazzling toy shops in the world and I am a sucker for toys. Let's take a walk up Fifth Avenue to Schwartz's. Formidable."

Self Debunking Type Advertising Goes Big

By HENRY McEMORE

There is a new school of merchandising coming to the front in the United States which, for want of a better name, I'll call the "Low-Rate Yourself" school.

The method is simple and direct. The merchant confines his advertising to proclaiming how sorry his product is, or what an objectionable fellow he is himself.

He doesn't use small type in telling what a jerk he is, or how rotten his product is. He makes sure that the buyer is kept to him by employing side-of-a-barn billboards and dinosaur-sized lettering.

"STOP AT — S MOTEL. THE SOBRIEST IN THE SOUTHEAST. DISSATISFACTION GUARANTEED!"

"WATCH FOR THE BIG SKUNK SIGN. IT'S THE STINKER SERVICE STATION."

"STOP! PETRIFIED DONUTS AND COFFEE. TAKE ONE HOME TO YOUR MOTHER — N. LAW."

The new school flourishes along the highways of the nation. On our transcontinental motor trip (it is still going on, yes) I have seen restaurants which dared the hungry to try their food, others which offered indignation tablets with each blue plate special, antique shops which featured trash as well as treasures, and motels which proclaimed that while Washington might have tried to sleep there, he found it impossible.

I do not know for certain how these self-themes — short merchants do, but to judge from what I could see while passing by, this type of advertising pays off. There were always cars parked around the motels that boasted of their cleanliness, tables were occupied in the self-proclaimed ptomaine joints, and the pumps were busy at the stations owned by admitted "stinkers."

Having passed up a class in psychology in favor of one in hide tanning (a decision I regretted even before I left college), I am not in a position to explain the new method of advertising.

There's nothing to stop me from guessing, though.

I believe the new form was motivated by a weariness on the part of some people — and there are said to be millions of them — of superlatives.

Everything advertised is whiter than white, stronger than strong, more miraculous than a miracle, bigger than big, or promises to make the buyer tremble with excitement, or feel as if he were in Paris, or stimulate his brain, or work other wonders.

Everything is better than the thing it competes against.

Nothing is just good, much less plain ordinary.

So, in revulsion, the advertisers went the other way.

Of course, it is only a matter of time until the members of the new school will try to outdo one another in saying terrible things about their merchandise.

So we will have the same situation, only in reverse.

We will have super - horrible, terrible with a secret ingredient, and a brand of ghastly items reserved for the thinking man!

Matter of FACT

At the age of 16, Cornelius Vanderbilt borrowed $100 from his mother and bought a sailing boat. He used it as a ferryboat between Staten Island, his birthplace, and New York City. With that as a start, he amassed a fortune of 100 million dollars. He made 200 millions in his line of steamboats, from which came his title of "commodore," and in 12 years 80 millions in railroads.

CENTURY'S WORST FOG
LONDON (UPI)—The fogs that blinded Britons during October and November were the worst of the century, the government reported Wednesday night. The report came as fog hindered traffic for the 23rd consecutive night.
First taxicab began operation in New York City in 1897 and was an electric auto.

Latest Mix-Match Clothes Assembled

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mix and match clothes long have been standards in travel wardrobes. But the most amazing assemblage to date comes from Don Loper, Hollywood couturier.

Loper has developed an all-jersey wardrobe in black. The basic 10 items worked out to at least 22 combinations in my count, and a good mathematician probably could figure more. It is all done with mix, match, reversibles and zippers, and fits neatly into a single hatbox. With accessories, it weighs in at just 20 pounds.

The basics are a fitted coat, slim trousers, blouse with removable white dickey, a straight skirt, a hood, a two-piece jet beaded suit, one jersey belt and one wide satin cummerbund.

But the coat zips apart at the waistline, leaving a jacket which can be combined with the straight skirt; the coat skirt is full, and lined with taffeta, so that turned wrong side out it is dressy. Add the jersey blouse with dickey zipped out and you've a cocktail costume with plenty of décolletage.

The tapered jersey pants have push up legs, so that they're hidden under the coat, if milady wants to wear her lounge clothes instead of changing into them once aboard a plane.

She can get the look of a daytime dress by zipping the white dickey back into the blouse and wearing the straight skirt with jersey belt. And the beaded top of the two-piece suit can go with the plain skirt, or beaded skirt with plain top.

Loper put together the wardrobe originally for Jean Gammon, women's fashion director for Scandinavian Airlines, who travels some 25,000 miles annually and said it was always a problem to find a capsule wardrobe.

Miss Gammon, a pretty blonde, said she has only one objection to Loper's wardrobe—the skirt of the coat should be less full.

Loper's other customers apparently have no complaints. Several movie star clients have plunked down $1,100 for the wardrobe.

Christmas gift suggestions for the woman who has almost everything: A $5.40 odress zipper, 18-carat gold, studded with diamonds, rubies and sapphires. When not in use as a zipper, it can be converted into a bracelet or necklace, says the jeweler, Van Cleef and Arpels.

French Ban 'Lolita'
PARIS (UPI)—France's highest court has banned the English-language version of the American best seller "Lolita." The French version was banned several years ago.

STEALS SWIMMING POOLS
MINEOLA, N.Y. (UPI)—Nassau County detectives were puzzled today as to why a thief, in the present winter cold, stole two swimming pools from the Lancer Pools Corp.
