Secretary Is Satisfactory

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today described as "satisfactory" the operation of the Army's Walter Reed Hospital which removed tissue and fluid for "microscopic examination."

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said the 70-year-old secretary was "on the operating table less than an hour."

"The secretary's post-operative condition is quite satisfactory," White said.

White made the following announcement at 10:35 a.m. e.s.t.:

"Successful left inguinal herniorrhaphy was performed on the secretary of state this morning.

During the course of the operative procedure, tissue and fluid were removed for microscopic examination. The secretary's post-operative condition is quite satisfactory."

New Election Judges Are Named Here

Gray county commissioners, meeting Thursday morning, named the First National Bank of Pampa as the county depository for 1959. Commissioners also appointed election judges for the voting precincts of Gray county.

The First National Bank, County Judge Bill Craig reported, will again be the depository for all county funds, county taxes and state taxes. It was selected in bidding against the Citizens Bank and Trust Co., also of Pampa.

Both banks offered three percent interest rates on deposits held over six months, and two and one-half percent on funds held from three to six months.

In appointing election judges the commissioners, in most cases, selected officials who had served in 1958. Those appointed were:

- Precinct 1 (Lefors) — Mrs. Jimmy Davis.
- Precinct 2 (Pampa) — Mrs. Earl Taylor.
- Precinct 3 (Grandview) — Johnny Johnson.
- Precinct 4 (Alamogordo) — Marvin Hall.
- Precinct 5 (McLean) — Charles Coustas.
- Precinct 6 (Laketon) — Ennis Jones.
- Precinct 7 (Pampa) — O. A. Davis.
- Precinct 8 (Hopkins) — Charlie Gatlin.
- Precinct 9 (Pampa) — E. L. Anderson.
- Precinct 10 (Pampa) — Arthur Rankin.
- Precinct 11 (Phillips Camp) — Mrs. H. B. Neil.
- Precinct 12 (Pampa) — N. P. Brown.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Hardware.

The operation at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital began about 8 a.m.

The operation was performed by Maj. Gen. Leonard Heaton, commandant of the Army medical center. He was assisted by Brig. Gen. James Forsee, chief of surgery, and Capt. Donald A. Bolt, resident surgeon.

Other physicians present were presidential physician Gen. Howard McC. Snyder; Brig. Gen. Francis Pruitt, chief of medicine at the center; and Dr. A. D. Daughton, Dulles' personal physician.

The "herniorrhaphy" performed on Dulles was described in layman's language as repair of a rupture.

White said in answer to a question that the tissue and fluid were removed in the area of the hernia.

Tissue and fluid frequently are removed to check for possible cancer.

It was the second major surgery Dulles has undergone in a little more than two years. In November, 1956, he was operated on for removal of a cancerous portion of his intestine.

White said the tissue and fluids were removed in today's operation as a "precautionary measure to see if there was any recurrence or spread of the earlier malignancy."

He said the surgeons "did not go into the area of diverticulitis" from which the secretary has been suffering for some time. This is an inflammation of the lower part of the big intestine.

Dulles suffered an attack of diverticulitis early last December and has never completely recovered. However, White said the surgeons did not probe this area today.

White declined to speculate on whether the doctors fear there may be a recurrent malignancy. "They can't tell" whether the tissue they removed is malignant, he said, until the "microscopic examination" is completed.

BEWARE BLACK CATS, ETC.

In case you haven't happened to notice this is Friday the 13th, which means you should take particular care in not allowing a black cat to cross your path, don't break a mirror or walk under a ladder, throw a hat on a bed, fail to touch second base on the way home from the outfield, cross your bats, or fail to carry a rabbit's foot in every pocket. They say all these things are merely superstitions, but today of all days, watch it, huh.

Pilot Returns From Ordeal

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — A suburban businessman-pilot returned here Thursday night from four days of sub-zero cold and terror beneath a dead sky in the cabin of their wrecked airplane.

Worth's wife, also 49, died of injuries received in the crash. But Worth came through with nothing worse than the broken nose, a black eye and a sore chest.

On Fishing Trip — Worth said a tip that "the northern were biting" sent the couple on a weekend ice-fishing trip to Red Lake in northern Minnesota.

They were returning Sunday when they became lost in a blizzard and tried to land the ski plane on Leech Lake. The craft began sliding the landing gear caught, a wing crumpled, and Mrs. Worth was thrown out. Worth bled his wife in extra

COCKRELL ROPES FOR 4TH PLACE

EL PASO (Sp) — Lee Cockrell, veteran cowboy from Pampa, came up with the fourth best time in the calf roping event at the 22nd annual Southwestern Championship Rodeo here Thursday.

Cockrell roped and tied his calf in 14.07, placing behind Dean Oliver of Boise, Idaho, 1938's No. 1 champion calf roper who turned in a neat time of 10.08.

12-Mile Ice Jam Threatening Destruction In Indiana Cities

Authorities Ready To Alert Citizens

LAFAYETTE, IND. (UPI) — Authorities mounted a round-the-clock vigil at the scene of a mammoth Wabash River ice jam 12 miles long which threatens "tremendous destruction" to the Lafayette area if it breaks loose.

Army engineers and police stood by to alert residents of Lafayette and Delphi if the 35-foot high ice gorge, carrying chunks of ice as large as automobiles, begins to slip.

The ice gorge slipped once Thursday night when it was rammed by a smaller ice floe from the flooded Peru area upstream on the rampaging Wabash. However, after roaring for about a mile downstream it jammed gain just above Delphi and about 26 miles from Lafayette.

The Weather Bureau reported the river crested at Delphi and Lafayette at about 26 feet Thursday night and has begun falling. National Guard officers said that indicated less danger of the ice pack churning downstream again.

MISSION ACCOMPLISHED — A B-36 intercontinental bomber flies over the city of Fort Worth, Tex., for the last time. The big, six-engined plane, and others like it, is on its way to retirement and decommissioning at Amon Carter Field, outside the city.

Air Force Retires Its Famed B-36's

By CHARLES ROBERTS
United Press International

FORT WORTH (UPI) — The 10-engined B-36, which never dropped a bomb in anger but, in a way, has played a bigger role in world history than any plane ever built, retired from the Air Force today.

If Russia had stated an atomic or hydrogen bomb war against the United States from 1948-1958, the B-36 was the plane that would have taken American atomic and hydrogen bombs to Russia.

During that uneasy decade, there was hardly an hour of the day or night a B-36 was not in the air. The retaliatory punch of the B-36 was well-known to the Russians from starting another world war.

But the faster B-52 jet bomber, which is almost as big as the B-36, has been gradually taking over as the top U.S. heavy bomber. The last B-36 came out of the Convair plant at Fort Worth Aug. 14, 1954.

Last Flight — It was the plane the Air Force and City of Fort Worth memorialized today in formal retirement ceremonies. It flew the last operational flight the B-36s will ever fly.

The last operational flight was from Biggs Air Force Base at El Paso, Tex., to Carswell Air Force Base at Fort Worth. One of the men aboard on the last flight was Amon G. Carter Jr., president of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. His late father was on the first Convair was found of sitting these comparative statistics.

The wingspan of the B-36 — 220 feet — was greater than the length of the first flight made by the Wright Brothers in 1903.

The B-36 would haul 81,000 44,000 horsepower, the equivalent of nine locomotives or 400 average passenger automobiles.

The B-36 would haul 8,000 pounds of bombs, more than the B-24 of World War II weighed when fully loaded.

The 18,000 cubic foot volume of the B-36 was approximately the volume of three average five-room houses.

K-F Club Hears Talk On World

By WALLY TRUEDELL
Daily News Staff Writer

"I shall light a candle of understanding in my heart that will not be put out." With this quotation from the second book of Esdras in the "Apocrypha," Irene Walker Bowman, wife of a Woodward, Okla., businessman, keynoted a talk on the problems of the world.

Mrs. Bowman, who returned from a round-the-world trip, in December, addressed the Top O' Texas Knife and Fork Club Thursday night. She was introduced by Viola Jordan.

Beginning with the Far East, Mrs. Bowman said that the Communists have been spreading anti-American propaganda in Japan. The Japanese, having stood off American soldiers for so long, no longer feel Western superiority, she stated.

Hong Kong was a shopper's paradise to Mrs. Bowman but with her purchases she had to acquire certificates of origin, showing that they were not made in Red China. Otherwise U.S. Customs would have confiscated the articles.

"Hong Kong has a great many problems," she said. "Refugees are there by the thousands. There's no water. Hong Kong depends on the sky. Wages are low. There are no natural resources. Opium parties are illegal — but heroin is a great problem."

India was "vast, varied, and interesting" but Mrs. Bowman was shocked by the poverty and nakedness she saw. She has little faith that Nehru will straighten out the economy.

"Fertile fields of corn and vast stretches of desert" describes Egypt. "All mail in Egypt is intercepted and one word against Nasser, against the government or against conditions in Egypt will cause the letter to be destroyed."

A man in the street said: "Nasser is going too fast, going too far. He is operating under a lucky star." A rich mill owner told Mrs. Bowman that Nasser picked up 600 yards of his finest gold brocade and took it to Moscow to

No Damage — A small, grass fire, reported on the lawn of the First Presbyterian church, 325 N. Gray, did no property damage, Pampa firemen said this morning. The fire broke out at 3:12 p.m.

U. S. PROOF EXPLODES RED DENIAL...

With Care, Teeth Can Last Lifetime

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth in a series of articles published by the Pampa Daily News, in cooperation with the dentists of Pampa in observance of National Children's Dental Health Week February 8 to 14 and the centennial of the American Dental Association. Some recent developments in dentistry affecting children are discussed.)

Today's children can look forward to keeping their own natural teeth as long as they live — if they and their parents want to. Dentists know how to prevent most decay and other dental disease that cause tooth loss. But the dentist can't do it alone; his patient has to cooperate.

There's the matter of diet. The foods one should eat for general health are adequate for dental health, too. But of equal importance are the foods one should not eat.

These foods are the ones containing sugar. Americans consume 10 times as much sugar per person as their great-grandfathers did, at least three times as much as they need for energy requirements.

This sugar is used as food by acid-producing bacteria in the mouth. The acid produced attacks the enamel of the teeth. Eventually it eats a small hole in the enamel, the beginning of decay. Substitution of fresh fruits and vegetables for many sugar-containing foods, especially between-meal snacks, has three advantages: Such foods are better for general health. Eating less sugar causes a reduction in the number of acid-producing bacteria in the mouth. Many fruits and vegetables act as natural tooth-brushes.

Brushing after each meal and between-meal snack is important. This removes food debris that otherwise might be lodged in crevices between the teeth. When a toothbrush isn't handy, it's a good idea to rinse one's mouth thoroughly with water.

Periodic visits to the dentist, who can discover and treat small defects promptly, will prevent serious trouble later.

Fluoridated water (or, where that is not available, fluoride treatments) is one of the most important means of preventing decay. With that as a basis, and remembering the importance of diet, brushing and regular visits to the dentist, a child, except in rare instances, can build healthy teeth that will remain in his mouth as long as he lives.

When John Marshall Harlan was sworn in as a Supreme Court justice in 1955, he became the 89th man to sit on the high bench.

Christian A. Herter and C. Douglas Dillon—stand-ins for Dulles

The illness of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has turned the spotlight on two aides named to run the State Department in his absence.

They are Under Secretaries Christian A. Herter, 63, and C. Douglas Dillon, 49.

Herter, a fluent linguist and well-experienced in international affairs before serving two successful terms of governor of Massachusetts, entered the department in 1956.

In Dulles' previous absences, he has presided with efficiency and dispatch at the secretary's daily staff meetings which are held at 9:15 a.m. in the fifth floor conference room.

Aides say he has not allowed the fact that he works in the shadow of one of the most powerful personalities of the 20th Century to dim his personal zeal for the job.

A visitor to Herter's office is first impressed by his galing 6-foot 4-inch frame and his gravelly-voiced "hello." The most jarring note, from the diplomatic standpoint, is his addiction to bowties — frequently a rather startling polka-dot effect.

Herter long has suffered from arthritis, which causes him to walk with a shuffle and the aid of canes. His lanky frame bent at the hips. However, he points out with justifiable pride that his physical condition never has caused him to lose a single day at work in four years as governor and more than two years as under secretary.

Sitting in for Herter, until he returns Sunday from a two-week vacation in South Carolina, is Dillon. He ranks just under Herter, because he is considered primarily an economic man while Herter is the general political under secretary.

Dillon, like Herter, is a product of Harvard University. His background is that of a New York to France and an adviser at City investment broker. He NATO before entering the State served as American ambassador Department Jan. 14, 1957.

ARCHAEOLOGICAL UMBRELLA—A steel canopy protects the ruins of an Indian earthen tower dating from the year 1350. It is located at the Casa Grande National Monument near Coolidge, Ariz. The tower was part of a defensive wall around what was then a village. The canopy, 69 feet high, is built to withstand 100-m.p.h. winds.

Good Looks And Shorthand Demanded On Capitol Hill

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Every House member can hire eight helpers, and in some cases nine. Senators usually can hire about twice that many. Most of these turn out to be female, and the outnumbered male staffers claim the girls are getting prettier.

For a few days here recently, both these beliefs were rudely opened to question when a local model agency, charm school and employment service ran this help-wanted ad in a local newspaper:

Receptionist, Congressman seeks lovely, charming girl to grace front office, show visitors around, handle appointments, shorthand and typing not needed. This will mean salary increase. This is more "fun" than job. Salary open.

Reaction: A snort

Although one House member did say, "It sounds like a senator's office," the initial reaction among qualified observers on Capitol Hill was a snort.

Cabinet Will Decide On Cuba Casinos

HAVANA (UPI)—The cabinet, under pressure from Cuba's unions, is expected to decide today whether to let Havana's multi-million-dollar gambling casinos reopen their doors.

The answer is expected to be "yes," and the casinos have made arrangements to reopen within 24 hours. It is probable, however, that they will operate mainly as night clubs until tourist business picks up.

RUTH MILLETT

Learning a sport is a good way for a girl to catch a fellow, the director of physical education at a Southern university tells the girls in her classes. Those aren't the teacher's exact words, of course. But that's the idea she conveys to the girls. It's the truth, girls, but that's not even the half of it. Sharing a husband's interest in a sport is an excellent way of staying companionable with him through the years. If you'll look around you, you may be surprised at the number of women in their forties, fifties, and sixties who are every bit as enthusiastic about hunting, fishing, boating, golf, tennis or whatever as are their husbands. Instead of sitting alone weekend after weekend while their husbands go out for sport, these up-and-coming wives go right along and sometimes land bigger fish, shoot more game, or bring in smaller golf scores than their husbands. When they do, thanks to the gallantry of men, it is usually the husband who does the bragging about his wife's skill. So the sports a girl learns today will not only help to make her popular while she is dating around. Her interest in sport will give her happy hours through the years of shared enjoyment with the man she marries. Of course, there will probably always be some men who take to sports to escape from women and live for a while in a completely masculine world. But those men are getting fewer. Most husbands these days want their wives to get out and enjoy the kind of rugged outdoors life that appeals to them. And the man who buys his wife a gun or a rod and reel for her birthday is likely to be a happy man.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

BE WP DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I am a wandering widower through no fault of my own. I have had to move from nine different places in the past two years because every rooming house where I go, the landlady tries to marry me. I am a friendly type, and am nice to everyone but the women seem to take me wrong and before I know it I have to pack up and find myself another room. I tell them from the beginning that I am not looking for a wife, but they all think they can change my mind. Have you any suggestions?

ON THE MOVE

DEAR ON: There is something about the way you are saying "No" that makes them think you mean "maybe." Get yourself a room at the "Y" or a Men's Club and you won't be bothered by the landlady.

DEAR ABBY: Last Friday I had a date with a boy (he is 19) and he put me on Cloud Nine with all the wonderful things he had to say to me. He said he never met anybody like me and that he fell in love with me the minute his ### eyes met mine. He even talked of marriage. On Monday I met him for lunch and he said he had "lost interest" in me. Could he have meant all those things he said to me, Miss Abby, and then "lost interest" in me over the weekend? I still love him and want to know how to get him back like he was last Friday.

MIMI

DEAR MIMI: If you try to "get him back" YOUR week-end is your head! He was handing you a line. Lose him.

DEAR ABBY: My husband went into a business recently with a friend of his. It took practically all we had. My husband refuses to ask him for a partnership agreement on paper. He claims he can trust him. We argue about this constantly. I say maybe he can trust the man, but if something should happen to him we wouldn't have a chance of getting anything from his wife. Please tell me if I am right?

POLLY

DEAR POLLY: You are right. No matter how strong the friendship — when it comes to "business" — get it in writing.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that I have to make my dentist and doctor appointments two months in advance and when I go to the office they keep me waiting for an hour sometimes? Nobody apologizes for keeping me waiting, either. And they act like they are doing you a favor by seeing you. Then they send you a big fat bill. There, I feel better now.

NORMA

DEAR NORMA: Dentists and doctors are usually behind schedule because some poor soul has had an emergency and must be worked in. If you ever have to be "worked in," you'll understand it better.

Confidential to "Too Good"

The more chaste the girl — the more she's chased. Believe what your mamma says to you.

Life Stories Given At WMU Meeting

LEFORS (Spl) — The Women's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church met in a joint session with all circles for a mission program from the book, "Ways of Witnessing," by John Caylor, in the church recently.

Mrs. Harold Teel composed the script for the program in the form of a television program, entitled, "The Letors Baptist Hour." Mrs. W. B. Minter directed the program.

Mrs. Ira Rogers read the devotional as Mrs. Stan Richardson sang, "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

Stanley Richardson portrayed the character of Clovis Brantley, a worker with underprivileged men in Louisiana, and gave his life story. The life story of Mrs. Tool-er, a worker with underprivileged women in La., was given by Mrs. C. H. Edhart.

Mrs. H. L. Teel played the part of Mrs. Allegia LaParie of Seline for the district meeting in Louisiana and was interviewed by Mr. Minter.

Concluding the program was "This is Your Life" theme, in which the life of Mrs. Minnell Groves was portrayed by Mrs. Tom Florence who played the part of Mrs. Groves, who is with the Miami, Fla., Goodwill Center.

Mrs. Alba Shores played the part of Mrs. Rosalie Franks, in the "This is Your Life" feature.

Mr. Minter closed the meeting with prayer, after which hot chocolate and cookies were served.

Those present not already mentioned were Mmes. Alvin Cates, J. D. Halley, Jake Leggitt, and L. M. Berry.

Slumber Party With "No Sleep"

LEFORS (Spl) — The Junior Girls Auxiliary of the First Baptist Church were given a slumber party by their sponsors, Mmes. H. L. Teel and Bob Stricker, recently at the church annex.

The group met at 7 p.m. in the church for a sack supper; the counselors furnished Cokes and bubble gum. At nine p.m. the girls presented a talent show in which each girl present performed. Games and singing followed until eleven p.m. when bed roles were let down. The daily Bible reading was read by Mrs. Teel, who also led in prayer. The girls then settled down for a night of no sleep and eating all night.

Couples For Christ Have Bean Supper

LEFORS (Spl) — "Couples for Christ," a young-married group class of the First Baptist Church met in the annex of the Church recently for a bean supper.

Mrs. Ernest Foshee and Mrs. Gene Danley decorated the serving table in the Valentine motif.

The following families were present, Messrs. and Mmes. H. L. Teel, Walter Jackson, Bob Stricker, Stanley Richison, Calvin Lacy, L. M. Berry, and Joe Archer.

Deborah Circle Completes Study

Deborah Circle of the Church of the Brethren met recently in the home of Mrs. Frank Heaston with Mrs. Bill Cobb as co-hostess.

Study of the book of Job was completed during the morning hours and plans were made to study the New Testament beginning with the Gospel of Mark.

Luncheon was served during the noon hour to Mmes. George Maul, Allie Byrum, Amalie Turcotte, Wayne Jones, Don Elledge, Harry Miller, Dean Burger, Ray Burger, Rev. and Mrs. Darryl Fryman.

During the afternoon, the group rolled bandages and made infant garments for Nigeria.

Methodist Churches To End Dedication Week

Methodist Churches throughout the world will conclude their annual observance of a Week of Dedication with a special offering and other acts of dedication Sunday.

Rev. Upshaw To Participate In Crusade

DALLAS (SpI) — The Rev. Therman Upshaw, pastor of the Central Baptist Church of Pampa, will conduct a two-week revival campaign Feb. 22-March 8 at the Kobuk Baptist Mission, Kobuk, Alaska.

He is one of 35 Southern Baptist pastors, evangelists and ministers of music who will help conduct simultaneous evangelistic crusades in 26 Alaskan churches.

Two of the churches participating in the crusade are more than 1,000 miles apart, according to C. Y. Dossey, associate in the Southern Baptist Convention Home Mission Board Division of Evangelism and director of the crusade.

"Five of the churches have all native Eskimos and Indians as members," he said. "This is the tenth Southern Baptist simultaneous crusade to be conducted in Alaska," said Dossey.

One of the typical situations facing church growth in Alaska is the town of Big Delta. The community is adjacent to a military installation and has 33 saloons and taverns and three churches.

The Alaska crusade is part of a 1959 Year of Evangelism among Southern Baptist churches. Simultaneous crusades will be conducted during the year in nearly all of the denomination's 31,000 churches.

Alaska's first Southern Baptist church was organized in 1943. Five churches participated in the state's 1949 crusade.

First Baptist Church Plans New Building

WHITE DEER (SpI) — Ground breaking ceremonies for a new sanctuary and educational building of the First Baptist Church will be held here Sunday after the morning worship service, with the pastor, Rev. E. J. Keith, in charge.

The contract for the construction of the building, at a cost of $73,750, has been awarded to the Killingsworth Construction Company, P.O. Dimmitt. Work will begin next week and is to be completed within 120 working days.

Braher, Goyotte, and Spencer, architects in Lubbock, drew the plans.

The beige brick building, which will be constructed on the lots west of the present building, will have 8,800 square feet of floor space and will include the sanctuary, choir room, and education room.

The new building is being financed by the Providence Bond Plan. During the sales campaign last October, $66,000 worth of bonds were sold in the first three days and the remainder of the $70,000 issue was sold within a short time.

Members of building and finance committees are Edward Dittberner, Hueylyn Laycock, John Driskill, Lester Robertson, W. C. Powers, Eugene Richardson, and H. T. Bates.

The United States is the largest meat producing country in the world, with 12,600,000 tons per year.

GLADYS MACDONALD
A revival is now underway at the Revival Center, 1426 Alcock. The evangelist is Gladys Macdonald, formerly of the Pampa Evangelistic Tabernacle. Services are scheduled at 7:30 nightly. Ruby Burrow, pastor, made the announcement.

DR. CARVER NAMED TO COMMITTEES

PLAINVIEW (SpI) — Committee appointments made at the recent winter session of the Way-Trustees include the naming of Dr. E. Douglas Carver, Pampa, to the newly created Academic Scholarship Committee.

The Academic Scholarship Committee will raise funds for scholarships for high ranking students at Wayland.

Serving with Dr. Carver on the committee are Rev. Howard Scott, Highland Baptist College Board of Hereford, chairman; L. M. McAdoo, Seagraves; Dr. F. B. Malone, Lubbock; Ray Perkins, Olney; J. L. Payton, Godley; Oscar Flowers, Perryton; and John Hammond, Happy.

PLANS POLICIES
DALLAS (SpI) — Dr. Douglas Carver, pastor, First Baptist Church, Pampa, has been named a member of the Texas Baptist plans and policies committee.

One of the denomination's most important committees, the plans and policies group recommends major policy changes and plans of denominational work affecting departments, agencies and institutions of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The committee studies personnel needs of the BGCT and recommends appointment of new committees to carry out the Texas Baptist mission program. The group meets quarterly before executive board meetings and in special sessions during the year.

Training School To Be Held Here

An area training school for Sunday School workers of Southern Baptist churches will be held in the First Baptist Church, Pampa, this week. Eight courses of study will be offered.

"How to Win to Christ" will be taught by Ennis Hill, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church. "The Gospel According to Paul," a book on Romans, will be taught by M. B. Smith, pastor of Highland Baptist Church. "The Pull of the People," a book dealing with the Sunday school's part in reaching people, will be taught by Lee Hillon, pastor of the Barrett mission of the First Baptist Church.

"Teaching to Win and Develop," a course emphasizing method in teaching, will be taught by Bob Strohle, education director of the First Baptist Church. "Adults in the Sunday School," a course presenting a survey study of adulthood with recommendations and ideas relative to the enlistment of adults in the church, will be taught by John Dyer, pastor of Hobart Street Baptist Church.

"Understanding and Developing Young People," a course which will help workers with this age group to understand those with whom they work, will be taught by Mrs. Ronald Merrill, a young people's department superintendent in the First Baptist Church.

"Effective work with intermediates," a study of boys and girls 13 through 16 years of age, will be taught by Wayne Cobb, associate superintendent of the Sunday school of the Central Baptist Church.

More than 85 of Texas' 124 Baptist Associations are expected to participate. More than 100,000 people are expected to enroll in these schools next week.

Deacons Will Be Ordained Sunday Night

Dr. Douglas Carver will be in the pulpit Sunday morning at the Pampa First Baptist Church. He will use as his sermon topic "Running Away From Life" based on Psalm 55:6. Miss Eloise Lane will use as the morning offertory "Reverie" by Dickinson and as the Evening offering "Adagio" by Bergel.

The choir will sing "We All Believe in One True God" by Mueller Sunday morning. Sunday night, they will sing "That Will Be Glory." Sunday night at the Evening Worship service a Service of Ordination for Deacons will be observed. Three new deacons will be ordained by the Church. They are E. L. Henderson, John Gikas, and E. G. Nelson. Rev. O. C. Curtis will preach the ordination sermon. Rev. Curtis is the District Missions Secretary of District 10.

Other deacons of the church taking part in the ordination service will be Ed Radtke, chairman, Dr. L. J. Zachary, vice chairman, B. R. Nuckles, Secretary, Claude Wilson, Calvin Whitley, Bob Allford, G. L. Craddock, Don Egerton, D. B. Jameson, Owen Johnson, Herman Whitley, Floyd Yeager, Paul Crossman Sr., L. L. Stovall, J. B. Huntington, Leon Fain, George Siffel, Bob Clements, Cliff Neeley, L. S. Richardson, Louis Tarpley, D. V. Biggers, Wes Langham, R. L. Souter, G. C. Rutherford and Lewis McEver.

The church will join the other Baptist churches of the city in a Group Training School beginning Monday night at 7. All classes will be held at the First Baptist Church.

NEW CHRISTIAN CHURCH SLATED
A new Christian Church is being established in northwest Pampa. Jim Mitchell of Canadian told the Daily News. The pastor will be Harold Starbuck, formerly of the Christian Indian School, Sedona, Ariz.

The church will be built at 18th and Banks with capital from the Panhandle Evangelistic Association, composed of Texas and Oklahoma Christian Churches.

Starbuck will be there to begin services March 1. He will reside at 1817 N. Banks.

These public spirited firms are making these weekly messages possible — and join with the ministers of Pampa in hoping that each message will be an inspiration to everyone.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

REV. & MRS. LONNIE DAVIS
Pastor Evangelistic Tabernacle

Ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon ye. Acts 1-8.

The Disciples were filled with the Holy Spirit in the upper room, and afterward they were empowered progressively as they by faith moved and lived and had their being in Christ. They were filled in solitude, but were empowered as they walked in society meeting the claims of life. Surely there is a great demand on the Christian today to be empowered to meet the need of the hour today. It's time for us to arise and come forth in the resurrected Christ. The world that is before us is ours if we will only arise and possess it. Men are trying to take it by their carnal minds. But we, the Christians, can loose the minds of men by being endowed with the power of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus.

So therefore let us arise and meet our God, who is the source of all life and power, who will enable us, the Church, to meet the cry for help today.

PICTURE NEWS

AROUND THE WORLD

REDL WINS BOUT—Welterweight Stefan Red (right), of Germany and Passaic, N. J., is giving Danny Russo, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a taste of his right glove during their 10-round bout in Manhattan. Red scored his 21st victory out of 24 starts with a unanimous decision over Russo.

SIX OVER LIGHTLY—Balancing three pretty girls at one time is quite a feat, and it's also taking three husky men to do it at Cypress Gardens, Fla. The girls are riding piggyback, which helps save three pairs of skis, and all three couples are being towed by one boat. It's an economical way of doing things, and a lot of fun, too.

FOR HIM—New York Yankees pitcher Bob Turley had something to smile about when he had a plaque presented to him as the Sal Mercer Outstanding Player Award. It took place at a dinner in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in Manhattan.

FULL OF BOUNCE—Jumping high in a spectacular manner is Margie Nelson, 22, who's a showgirl in Las Vegas, Nev. The shapely blonde is doing a nifty mid-air split as she exercises on a trampoline at the hotel where she works.

PIN WHEEL—Bowling is certainly right down the alley of Dorothy Cynthia Barker, who's showing off part of her enormous collection of trophies at home in Memphis, Tenn. A top bowler since 1948, "Dot" this year has the highest average for Memphis women bowlers.

MUSCLE BOYS—Edouard Sylvestre (left), of Tijuana, Mexico, won the title of Mr. Universe in the Body Building Festival at Montreal, Que., Canada. At right is Torre Larson, of Montreal, who won the Mr. America crown.

COINED—Betty Frazee, a lissome gal if ever there was one, decided to decorate her bathing suit at Florida's Silver Springs. Betty's decoration enough, but she covered the suit with 10-cent pieces and found it took $40 worth. It was all done for the March of Dimes.

DONE UP BROWN—Brown leather trousers add an unusual note of rugged comfort for the outdoor man in this sports ensemble shown in Florence, Italy. The brown tweed jacket has a brown suede collar and leather "turn-ups" at the sleeves.

WATER SPOUT—As he makes like a whale in Ruislip, England, actor Hugh O'Brien is also testing a new ski suit of foam rubber. TV's Wyatt Earp is enjoying a vacation abroad and seems to be having a mighty good time.

DASHING EXPERTS—Reaching the tape at the end of the 60-yard dash in the Miltage Games at Madison Square Garden are (left to right): Olympic champ Bobby Morrow, of Abilene, Tex.; Jonas Spiegel, College Park, Md., and Paul Winder of Morgan State in Baltimore, Md. Winder won the race in six and two-tenths seconds. Spiegel was second.

YOUNG BATTLERS—Former lightweight and welterweight champ Barney Ross refereed some action during this boxing bout in Miami, Fla. The kids are three-year-olds Cury Marston (left) and Lou Barbara Jr. Ross has returned to boxing as the manager of lightweight Frankie Ryff.

Harvesters Can Wrap Up Title By Defeating Palo Duro Tonight

Pampa Shoots For 38th Win in Row

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

AMARILLO — Pampa can wrap up the District 3-4A title in one neat package here tonight by defeating the Palo Duro Dons.

If the Harvesters are able to beat the Dons tonight, they'll mathematically clinch their sixth district crown in seven years. A win would leave Pampa with at least a three game lead over Amarillo, with only two loop contests to go.

The Amarillo Sandies are the only team with a mathematical chance of tying the Harvesters for the championship. To do this, however, the Sandies would have to win their three remaining games, while the Harvesters lost three straight. The Harvesters are 11-0, the Sandies 8-3.

In the 8 p.m. game at Palo Duro Gymnasium, the Harvesters will be shooting for their 38th straight victory, their 25th triumph of the year, and their 12th district win. In a B game at 6:15, the Shockers will try for their 20th win, against three losses.

Palo Duro has been an up-and-down team this year, with a smile on the up side. They have a 12-11 season record, and a district mark of 5-6. The Dons have lost their last two games, 61-52 to Borger and 62-44 to Monterey.

In a previous game at Pampa, the Dons dropped a 57-40 decision to the Harvesters. Neither team was at its best in that contest. Pampa was disorganized because of a shoulder injury to playmaker Charlie Minor, and Palo Duro's shooting was very poor.

Minor is back, and his 10 points in the first half against Tascosa indicated he is in top form. Whether Palo Duro's shooting will improve on its home court remains to be seen.

Dons Balanced
Palo Duro Coach Tom Gilley has a well-balanced team, with several men capable of hitting in or near double figures. Their height is only average — just under 6 feet — compared to a 6-3 average for the Harvesters.

The Palo Duro regulars, all of whom usually see quite a bit of action, are Richard Baker, 5-9; Ronnie Covington, 5-10; Kenneth Day, 5-8; David Dearing, 6-1; Monte Deere, 5-9; John Hoyer, 6-3; Bill Kaiser, 6-2, and Bobby Reid, 5-10.

Harvesters Romp
The Harvesters regulars haven't been against any real competition for a week. On their last trip to Amarillo, Tuesday, the starters played only a little more than a half, and left the game with a 45-18 lead.

Four of the Harvesters regulars are now above the 200-point mark for the season, and have averaged scoring in double figures. The fifth starter, Craig Winborn, seems a good bet to hit the 200 mark by the end of the regular season, as he now has 181.

Coyie Winborn is sizzling the nets at an 18 point plus clip, with 427 points. Mack Layne has scored 358, Bob Gindorf, 255, and Minor 250.

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Bobby Ussery widened his lead as Hialeah's leading jockey Thursday when he rode four winners. Ussery booted home Race Ace ($13.20) in the second, Marikay ($6.80) in the third, Arakan 2nd ($7.00) in the fifth and Kingmaker ($3.10) in the seventh.

Panhandle Outdoor Life

By STARKEY WHITEHORN

Snow-covered ranges that cover game bird foods will use a drop in the turkey population unless there is some supplementing done by ranchers. Four or five days with aridly any food will weaken the birds to the extent that they will be sitting ducks for bobcats and coyotes. A cupful maize per day for each bird would keep them in top condition.

Imagine a cottonwood tree filled with a flock of turkeys on a windy night when the weather is around the zero mark. They will be in no condition to vigorously search for food when the sun rises unless they are strong enough to and the rigors of the frigid temperatures.

Not long ago I noticed more than forty turkey hens edging along a barren hillside. That was a few days before a four-inch snow that we had recently. There are hickories left in many places but these won't last long when the other food is snowcovered.

A feeder placed on the range of this forty-plus flock could greatly assist them through the winter and also keep them in top condition through the nesting period. The same procedure throughout the Panhandle would assure a well-distributed turkey population to repopulate the ranges for fall hunting.

Along the river front and a few deer, especially the deer and lies upward on the banks of the rivers that are in the old-age weeks, the usual heavy crop of stage or else weakened from lack of food.

From reports it seems that the flush a bunny from the brush, fishing on the Texas Gulf Coast ven tracks in the snow are not as excellent this winter. Port stible, which means that there Aransas, where they bite every 2 practically no rabbits in the range, and other ports are reported, especially in the ranges large catches of drum, trout, cat are frequented by the night, red fish and other species.

Down where the warm sea breezes blow is inviting especially to the Panhandle fishermen, content about as often as usual which sidering the fact that practically all of our lakes are covered with the brush country have just ice during this month.

Fishing in the Gulf is exciting for several reasons. Number one is the fact that you might catch fishy pounds or more fish all wrapped up in one carcass.

This would indicate that once the food is exhausted the cats and coyotes will turn to turkeys and other game birds.

Several hunters and fishermen have called recently and wanted to know how to subscribe to this outdoor publication. Here is the address: Texas Game and Fish Commission, Walton Building, Austin, Texas. Simply send two dollars for a full year's subscription. There is all there is to it. In my honest opinion, this is the best buy when it comes to a real Texas game and fish monthly magazine.

Yep! Tascosa Won A Basketball Game

LUBBOCK — Tascosa won the first District 3-4A basketball game in its history here Thursday, defeating the Monterey Plainsmen, 41-40. The Rebels had lost 11 previous conference games this year, the first year of the school's existence.

This was only Tascosa's third win this year. The other triumphs were over class AAA schools, Vernon and Ector of Odessa. Monterey was heavily favored in Thursday's contest, since they had romped over the Rebels 65-39 in a previous meeting at Amarillo.

Lannie McCrary sank a 32-foot jump shot just as the final buzzer sounded to give the Rebels a dramatic, come-from-behind victory.

Tascosa led 10-9 at the end of the first quarter, but Monterey regained the lead and held it until only a little more than three minutes were left in the game.

At that point, a furious series of goal-swapping began, with first one side taking the lead, then the other. With 12 seconds remaining, Dick Deike of Monterey sank a field goal to give Monterey a 40-39 lead, and apparently crush Tascosa's hopes.

However, the Rebels managed to quickly work the ball into scoring position. McCrary sank his shot just in time, and Tascosa had its first win over a 4A team.

NYU Wants NIT Bid After Upset Victory

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press International

New York University clamored today for a berth in the National Invitation Tournament on the strength of its streak-busting upset of West Virginia—and it owed a large measure of thanks to a guy who was a sub on North Carolina's 1957 national champions.

"This win bears out what I've been saying all along," said first-year coach Lou Rossini of NYU after his Violets nipped 10th-ranked West Virginia, 72-70, in overtime at Madison Square Garden, Thursday night.

"We have only a 30-30 overall record (1947)," Rossini admitted, "but I think we deserve NIT consideration because of the tough schedule we play. And I think we proved that last night."

Cal Ramsey was the Violets' high scorer with 30 points and he was the lad who sank three free throws in the last 78 seconds to give NYU its winning margin.

Shares Hero's Role
But Ramsey had to share the hero's role with Stan Groll, a brand-new member of the Violets cast who has taken over in backcourt and glued together what had been a mighty wobbly machine.

Groll, who was a sophomore benchwarmer on the unbeaten North Carolina team that won the NCAA tourney crown in '57, transferred to NYU and just became eligible at mid-year.

Groll, in addition to his playmaking, was a stickout on defense. With Groll in charge in the backcourt little Russ Cunningham was freed for more shooting, and he hit four key baskets as NYU rallied from 11 points down with 10 minutes left to tie the game in regulation time, 63-63.

Bob Smith led West Virginia, with 29 points and All-America candidate Jerry West added 20. The loss snapped an 11-game West Virginia winning streak and was only the fourth in 22 games for the Mountaineers.

Robinson, Moore May Fight Soon

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Archie Moore and Sugar Ray Robinson will fight for Moore's light heavyweight crown, probably in June, if they can come to terms on splitting the purse.

That was disclosed today by Truman Gibson, president of the dissolving International Boxing Club of New York.

Preliminary conferences were concluded here Thursday night among Gibson, middleweight champion Robinson, Jack Kearns, Moore's manager, Robinson's advisors George Gainsford and Harold Johnson, and Jim Norris, former boxing czar.

Gibson explained: "Robinson said flatly he wanted to fight and that he wanted to fight Archie Moore."

"This was the first time he had made it clear on both points: That he wanted to fight and that Moore as the person rather than Carmen Basilio (ex-middleweight champion)."

Robinson's 160-pound title would not be at stake in the 15-round fight for ancient Archie's 175-pound crown. Sugar Ray said he believed he could build up to about 164 pounds for the bout without sacrificing speed.

But Gibson stressed that Robinson wanted an even 30-30 percent split with Moore of all net receipts from the gate, theatre-TV or home TV, and movies.

That 30-30 demand "ran into formidable opposition from Manager Kearns, who pointed out

Furgol Takes 3-Stroke Lead In Tuscon Open Golf Meet

TUSCON, Ariz. (UPI) — Marty Furgol, boasting a new SWING that may carry him back to the top of the golfing world, teed off in the second round of the $15,000 Tuscon open with a commanding lead today.

Furgol said that since he changed his swing during the Thunderbird invitational his golfing fortunes have been picking up. He finished 13th in the Thunderbird, then went on to win the San Diego open, and finish third in the Phoenix open last week.

It's the swing, said Furgol after shooting a 62 in Thursday's opening round. "But I'm not giving away any secrets," he laughed when asked what he had changed.

His back-to-back 61's left him three strokes ahead of his nearest rivals going into today's round. Tied at 65 were Julius Boros, former PGA and National open champion from Mid Pines, N. C.; Gene Littler of San Diego, winner of the Phoenix open; Henry Williams Jr., Fleetwood, Pa.; and Joe Campbell, the former NCAA champ from Knoxville, Tenn.

Still very much in the running today were a host of other top tournament competitors, notably five who tied with 66's.

They were Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., 1959's leading money winner to date; Al Bessieink, Mangrum, N. Y.; veteran Lloyd Grossinger, N. Y.; and J. P. Jones, Jr., of Apple Valley, Calif.; Manuel De La Torre, Milwaukee, Wis.; and Joe Jimenez, Manhattan, Kan.

In fifth grade contests, Mann whipped Baker, Houston, nipped Lamar, and Austin topped Wittson.

Baylor Staff Complete; Two New Coaches Hired

WACO, Tex. (UPI) — The Baylor football coaching staff is now complete, reports Athletic Director and football coach John Bridgers said Thursday that the appointments of M. A. (Cattfish) Smith as freshman coach and Bill Newman as the "B" team coach and athletic dormitory director, completed the staff.

Newman is the fourth member of the holdover Baylor staff to be retained. He is a former Baylor athlete, and has been director of the athletic dormitory for the last three seasons.

Smith, immediate past president of the Texas High School Coaches Assn., has been head coach at Longview High School for the past five years.

He was named "Southwest Coach of the Year" in 1953. At East Texas State College at Commerce he took two teams to the Tangerine owl, winning one of the post-season contests and tying the other.

Dory Funk and Sonny Myers, winners of last week's main event here, team up again in the feature match this week. Funk and Myers take on Iron Mike DeHaise and Bulldog Plechas in a 60-minute time limit, best of three falls event.

Saturday's three-match card begins at 8:30 p.m., at Top O' Texas Sportsman's Club.

Funk and Plechas tangle in a semi-final match, and Iron Mike tangles with Myers in the curtain-raiser. Both matches will be one-fall, 30-minute time limit events.

Advance tickets for Saturday's matches are on sale at Levine's department store.

You For Socialism?

Someone suggested the other day that if people really recognized that government schools were actually socialist schools, a great step would have been taken in causing them to see the fallacies inherent in the popular gun-run system.

There are few in our society right now who would willingly admit that they were backing a communist-instrumentality. Also, there certainly aren't many who would candidly give their support to an institution which was demonstrably a socialist set up.

So, the problem is to get people to look at the government school system in an objective manner and recognize it for what it is.

Any kind of business, enterprise, profession, service, industry or occupation falls automatically into some kind of classification. It isn't possible for one to exist outside a classification. And this would be true of schools in the same degree and in the same manner as it would be true of churches, hardware stores, newspapers, shoe shine parlors or bakeries.

Each of these institutions provides a product or a service. Each of them operates within certain rules, which rules provide the necessary guides so that the nature of the operation can be correctly discovered.

What are the classifications under which any enterprise would be operated?

Well, we have a number of names for various types of operation. Among these names are free market, free enterprise, capitalist, communist, socialist, Nazi, fascist, welfare state, distasteful. Probably our readers can think of a few more.

But after we've broken down the meanings of these various names, we come to a conclusion. In principle there are only two basic types of operation. There are: 1) the private ownership type and 2) the public ownership type. There may be a number of half-way points between these two extremes.

But we discover that a free market, free enterprise, capitalist operation has these characteristics: 1) the enterprise is owned by private persons either singly or jointly, 2) the enterprise seeks profits as a reward for the risks entailed in the investment and operation of the enterprise, 3) the enterprise supports itself on income it derives voluntarily from those who use or otherwise approve of its services.

Likewise, we discover that a

Can Labor Clean Its Own House?

No. 2

In the last issue I was quoting from Sylvester Petro's address before the Congress of the American Industry on the subject "Can Labor Clean Its Own House?" The last article ended with the difficulty that members of unions would have if they attempted to clean the house of labor.

Member Has Little Control Petro continues in this manner: "There is no likelihood that such a man will have any influence on the way the union is run. An organization which can control a man's activity against his will is not going to be very solicitous about him. He will have to tread very softly if he wishes to tread at all. Not much house cleaning can be expected of him. All that can be expected is that if conditions become absolutely intolerable for him, he will go away. When such men have no alternative but to go away, there are left only people who, as a whole, have very little stomach for house cleaning. If, indeed, they can even recognize dirt when they see it. When our people in government get seriously concerned with doing their job in labor relations, they will want to repeal the expropriation inherent in the appropriate bargaining-unit and majority rule principle."

Violence Goes Unpunished "Government action in the labor relations field cannot be taken seriously at all, either, until our duly constituted authorities begin acting straightforwardly, vigorously, and courageously, against violence in labor disputes. There is no excuse whatsoever for the practically universal failure of government agents to do this part of their work. Governments are absorbing about a third of the national income, and I understand that there are over seven million military federal, state, and local employees. In the absence of the most cogent evidence and argument to the contrary, one may therefore insist that we are spending enough to entitle us to expect basic protection against brutality, violence, and intimidation in labor disputes. This is not a matter upon which reasonable minds may differ, everyone is against violence in labor disputes. Again, there are no difficult or complicated technical problems; it is necessary only to prevent masses of people from gathering at a strikehead. It should be a great deal easier to limit picketing to one or two persons than it has been to disperse the rioting people in Little Rock. So far, however, our governmental authorities have been dismal failures. A more or less futile court order after violence has occurred is the most that one can expect. As things are now going, an employer can count himself lucky if he doesn't have to pay unemployment compensation when union violence discourages people from working."

Do you hold that government schools make or seek to make profits? If so, we would like to be allowed to examine those profits.

Do you hold that government schools are not financially sustained by the guns of the tax collector? If so, we should like to discover the source of their funds and the methods of their collection if they are other than we say.

The truth is that government schools, popularly called public schools, are socialist institutions. And, therefore, the truth must be that if you favor government schools, you are, whether you like to admit it or not, favoring the maintenance of a socialist institution.

Robert Allen Reports:

Former Officers Are Due Scrutiny

WASHINGTON — Numerous former military officers, now holding high-paid jobs with companies doing billions of dollars of defense work, are slated for critical scrutiny by one of the toughest congressional investigations.

Representative F. Edward Hebert (D., La.), chairman of the Armed Services Subcommittee, with a long record of forceful probes, is shortly starting hearings to determine whether the government is "losing or wasting money, and how much" as a result of the influence and activities of these one-time military men.

They include generals, admirals and officers of other ranks.

Heading Hebert's list for a close look are former Air Force officers against whom a number of complaints have been received.

These claims the ex-Airmen have been employed by companies expressly to "sit on the other side of the table" from service friends to obtain large and lucrative contracts.

These charges particularly involve missiles, rockets and other costly push-button weapons and equipment.

This investigation is expected to prepare the ground for still another one.

That probe will be aimed at businessmen who take Defense Department jobs.

The staff of Representative Hebert's committee is examining allegations that certain of these Pentagon officials are directly participating in negotiating contracts involving their former firms.

One of these cases relates to a bershion upon unwilling employees through the use of economic pressures. This means that such plainclothes measures as stranger picketing—that is, picketing by a trade union which represents none of the employees of the picketed establishment—compulsory unionism contracts, and all boycott techniques are forbidden.

Compulsory Membership "It is a well-known fact that the administration of law leaves untouched most of those forms of union coercion. As a consequence, one may conclude with confidence that the unionization which we have known for the past ten years or more has been, to a considerable extent, coerced unionization; the national labor policy to the contrary notwithstanding, except unions not of their own choosing."

"It is necessary to distinguish between the anti-union coercion which employers are guilty of and the coercive methods of organization pursued by unions. No one doubts when an employer fires or threatens to fire a man for joining a union that the employer is violating the law. Moreover, there is little doubt that the NLRB will prosecute such cases and, if there is any evidence at all of anti-union coercion, will hold the employer and various kinds of boycotts a guilty of an unfair practice. In fact, in the current investigations of the Senate Committee on Corrupt Union and Management Practices, the committee is to a considerable extent merely raking over coals in which the NLRB has found employers guilty of unfair labor practices.

As yet, however, the committee has not seen fit to inquire into the thousands of cases in which the Teamsters and other unions have been using stranger picketing and various kinds of boycotts as methods of compelling unionization. There cannot be the slightest doubt that stranger picketing and boycotts do involve economic coercion of precisely the same type as the employer's discharge or threat of discharge. Likewise, there cannot be the slightest doubt that such coercive methods of organization are all clear violations of the Taft-Hartley Act."

Bid For A Smile

A British lord was greatly interested in the attempt that has been made from time to time to find petroleum in Britain.

The English "Baron" sent him one of the bottles to an analytical chemist. He asked him to have it analyzed. A check was called and told to take the bottle to an analytical chemist. This girl put the bottle down on the shelf while she went to put on her hat. A few days later the British lord received a telegram: "Congratulations! Your fortune is made. You have struck paragon!"

Man — Do you know that your wife is telling around that you can't keep her in clothes? I bought her a home, and I can't keep her in that either.

try's attention on the budget and Democratic schemes for large-scale spending. I am convinced we can put through your budget, Mr. President, if we can win the backing of Southern Democrats.

While fully agreeing with Halleck on the importance of not antagonizing Southern legislators, Senator Dirksen favored an Administration civil rights bill will be no help to us on that.

Attorney General Rogers suggested that at least an effort be made to seek votes for "Section Three."

"If we want to hold the line on the President's budget," declared Dirksen, "it will be necessary to win Southern votes. With 'Section Three' hanging over their heads, they are not going to cooperate with us on the budget. We are going to have to trade for votes, and we can't do it with this provision in our civil rights program."

"Then it will have to be eliminated," said the President quietly. "You gentlemen know the situation in your chambers, and we will have to abide by your judgment."

As the conference broke up, Halleck told the President, "Please understand, if you do decide to send up a bill with 'Section Three,' I'll do my best to put it through the House. You can count on my wholehearted support if that is your final decision."

"I'm sure of that, Charley," said the President, "throwing his arm around Halleck. 'I always have counted on your loyalty and help, and I know you would never let me down.'"

During this White House discussion it was agreed the Administration will vigorously oppose the "community relations service" agency proposed in the civil rights measure sponsored by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, Tex.

Attorney General Rogers was a particularly critical of this.

The Yankus Saga

We don't suppose there are many in this region who ever heard of Stanley Yankus. In a minor way, perhaps, Stanley Yankus has made a contribution to contemporary history that should not pass unnoticed.

So, herewith is his saga, the story of a poultry farmer who couldn't buck the machine.

Yankus has a big poultry layout in Southwestern Michigan. Or, at least, he used to have a big poultry farm. It may be that even as we go to press he has sold out and headed for more friendly territory. If he can find it.

In any case, Yankus had a bunch of hens which used to produce for him something close to 50,000 dozen eggs a year. To feed these hens he grew his own wheat on adjoining acres which he sowed.

About five years ago, the Federal Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Board fixed the amount of acreage that farmers could sow to wheat. The idea was to control surpluses while at the same time artificially providing a government market for the purchase of all the wheat grown.

It made a kind of sense if you believe in compulsion. If the government is going to buy what you produce, certainly the government is going to have a little cagery about letting you produce. With a guaranteed market for what you produced, you could really swamp the machine unless there were controls on it to prevent it from running away with itself.

Of course, Yankus didn't pay too much attention to the wheat acreage control orders when they were put out because, you see, he wasn't producing wheat. He was producing eggs. Regardless of how much wheat he sowed, he fed it to his poultry. So, to begin with, it didn't seem to him that he fell under the acreage allotment idea.

Blanks to Fill

Secondly, Yankus is one of the original Yankee Doodlers of this country and he had a pretty sound idea that it wasn't anybody's business except his what he raised on his land. The land was his. He'd bought it and paid for it himself.

Well, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Board fixed Yankus with a glassy stare and fined him for exceeding his acreage allotment when he hadn't even signed up for one. It seems he had planted 36 acres to wheat instead of the 15 acres they might have let him plant had he asked them.

And here's a major point. Although Yankus was in technical violation of a bureaucratic regulation, he had broken no law, either federal, state or local. The lawmakers of the land have never passed a law which says you can only plant so much wheat or else. That's a decision which comes out of a bureau, which comes out of... but you know how it works.

Anyway, the ASCB cracked him on the knuckles, moved in and attached his bank account. They yanked $3,848 in a joint account and walked off with $1,700 of it. By their standards they were being nice to him. The account was joint and they were going to let Mrs. Yankus off the hook by throwing all the blame on Stanley. Meanwhile, however, just to let him know where he stood, they fined him more than $4,000.

The poultry man fought back. He tried to get into court. If he'd robbed a bank, that could have been managed. Even a felon captured red-handed has his day in front of a jury. But not Yankus. You see, there's no law that says he did anything wrong. So, these court and argue his case? Clearly, they'd have been up the wall if they'd known creek without a paddle. So, no court will take the case, but the ASCB will take the money.

Yankus' own views of the situation make instructive reading. He said: "I'm actually afraid, not for myself but for this country I love. Over the last 20 years its leaders have been 'bribing the people and seducing them into the belief that it owes them a living. I don't believe anybody owes anybody a living."

"What happened to me is the action of a police state. The sort of life we were brought up by. I don't find my friends and neighbors are afraid of the federal government. Who made the law that seized my savings? I didn't vote on it and you didn't."

All of which is true. But the results haven't changed. Finally, Yankus quit. He gave up the struggle. Last word from Cass county is that he'll sell out his farm and say goodbye to his hens.

The saga of Stanley Yankus is an important one, not because he's a local boy, which he's not, but because, in this fight against bureaucratic control of all our lives, all of us have to be neighbors.

You may find right now that you've got an inside track with the government and that it's doing you a lot of good turns. Watch out. There are 108,800,000 Yankus people around, and you never know when your turn will come up for persecution. Don't say you didn't know it would happen to you. You've been warned.

OF OUR FURNISHED MODEL HOME
IN JARVIS-SONE W. ADDITION
2100 N. DWIGHT
Be one of the first to see our Model Home. Open Saturday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. for Special Preview Showing. Come out Saturday and avoid Sunday's crowd at our formal opening.

We have combined choice furniture of exclusive beauty and moderate prices in our outstanding display. The most discriminating furniture shopper will be thrilled with the distinction of design and quality of construction conspicuous in every piece from occasional tables to sofas. To be certain of lasting satisfaction in your selection, and of the utmost value, choose from our brilliant furniture offerings.

The striking sculptured line of modern Scandinavian design are evident in this unusual living room ensemble. Sofa and chair with solid walnut frames and bouyand foam rubber zippered cushions. Step, cocktail and harvest table are superbly constructed in walnut woods.

All 3 bedrooms are tastefully done in Johnson Carper, Planmaker Group. High pressure matching plastic tops, plus extra drawer space, you've always wanted. Beauty and style as modern as tomorrow, plus utility that affords maximum use of wall space including corners. You'll go for the versatile Planmaker Group by Johnson and Carper. Shown in oak and walnut.

Beautiful new draperies, a complete concept in fresh thinking translated for your windows. The new lavish look in ensembles for your bedroom. Lovely cafe curtains and bedspreads that will give your rooms distinct sparkling personality. Texas Furn. Co.
