Cyprus Sets Celebrations For Return Of Archbishop

By HAROLD GUARD
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — Archbishop Makarios prepared today to return to Cyprus to end his two years of exile and probably to become the first president of the world's newest nation.

Thousands of Greek Cypriots flooded the streets of the island villages Thursday to hail the installing of the tripartite agreement freeing Cyprus, but most Cypriots awaited Makarios' return before celebrating.

Terms of the agreement signed by the prime ministers of Greece, Turkey and Britain were withheld until Monday when they will be released in the capitals of the nations involved.

Seek American Aid

Informed diplomatic sources said Cyprus would be an independent nation in from nine months to a year and that one of the first acts of the new republic would be to seek American foreign aid. They said the island also would request membership in NATO.

Reports indicated Britain already was taking steps to free the 36 Greek Cypriot EOKA underground prisoners held in England and the more than 1,000 EOKA prisoners serving minor sentences in detention camps on Cyprus.

In addition, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan pledged speedy return to the island of all political exiles.

Returns Next Week

The most prominent exile is Makarios, who represented the Greek Cypriots at the London talks. He announced plans to return to the island next week. Makarios has been mentioned most prominently as the first Cypriot president.

The agreement, still to be ratified by the parliaments of Greece, Turkey and Britain, grants Britain perpetual ownership of two military bases on the island. Britain, Greece and Turkey will join to guarantee the integrity of the new republic.

Radio Moscow Denounces Big 3 On Hot Berlin Issue

Attack Comes As English Minister Leaves for Moscow

LONDON (UPI) — Radio Moscow today denounced the Western Big Three replies to Soviet proposals on Germany as devoid of "any constructive suggestion" for a settlement of the East-West dispute.

The attack came on the eve of the departure for Moscow by British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. Macmillan told Commons Thursday night that the trip was being undertaken in hopes of breaking "the ice" in the cold war.

The Moscow Radio attack followed by three days a sabre-rattling speech on Germany and Berlin by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, in a speech Tuesday night, warned that any attempt by the West to shoot its way into Berlin would mean war.

On Monday, the United States, Britain and France delivered identical notes to Moscow proposing a broad Big Four foreign ministers conference on Berlin, Germany and European security. The notes suggested that West and East Germans sit in "advisers."

The Soviet government had proposed a 28-nation conference to conclude a peace treaty with Germany. The participants would include all World War II Allies.

The Western powers also expressed determination in their notes to maintain the right of free access to West Berlin. Russia has said it would turn over its control functions to the Communist East German regime, which the Western powers do not recognize.

Moscow Radio contended that the Western replies do "not provide a reasonable basis for settlement of the German question."

It claimed the notes "do not contain a single more or less constructive suggestion capable of facilitating settlement of the German question."

"If all boils down to the same invariable 'No' that the West has been giving us all the time," Moscow said, "it categorically rejects the Soviet proposal to demilitarize Western Berlin and make it a free city."

It said that the replies indicated that the United States is "not seriously interested" in reaching an agreement.

There has been as yet no formal reply by Moscow to the latest Western notes. None is expected at least until Macmillan completes his visit.

DIVORCE GRANTED

Actress Debbie Reynolds testifies from the stand in her divorce trial against Eddie Fisher. The actress told the court, "My husband has become interested in another woman." She was granted the divorce, with a handsome alimony settlement.

Debbie Nets Big Alimony 'Boodle'

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Spunky Debbie Reynolds, who won a divorce from Eddie Fisher by blaming Elizabeth Taylor for breaking up her marriage, said today she would fill the void in her life by working in movies.

Though she didn't mention ray-haired Lis by name in her testimony Thursday, it was clear that Mike Todd's widow was "the other woman."

To forget the ordeal of the romance that wrecked her home, the 26-year-old Debbie said, "I'll be working very hard for the rest of the year. Now that the legal business is over the three of us will no longer be bound together in any way and will no longer be news."

Explains "Cruselly" Asked why she felt Fisher, 30, had treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner, Debbie replied, "Well, my husband has become interested in another woman."

During the 10-minute divorce hearing the pixie-faced actress was awarded custody of the couple's two children, Carrie, 2, and Todd, 1. In addition she was given $40,000 yearly alimony, their $150,000 Holmby Hills home, stocks, bonds and a $100,000 life insurance policy.

Fisher estimated he would give Debbie 1 million dollars in the next 10 years under the agreement. Examination of the complicated agreement indicated he would have to pay her at least $750,000 during that period.

Neither Fisher nor his attorney, Martin Gang, appeared in court. Debbie's Career Bright California law stipulates that Debbie and Eddie will not be able to remarry until their divorce becomes final a year hence.

Career-wise the future looks bright for Debbie while Eddie's star appears to be on the wane. Debbie has more film offers than she can handle. Eddie's bi-weekly TV show leaves the air next month and it's been more than a year since he's waxed a hit recording.

Even Fisher's close friends do not know his plans. Debbie currently is starring with Bing Crosby in "Say One For Me," a raucous role in which she has twice been injured during dance scenes.

IKE IS WELL RECEIVED

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

ACAPULCO, Mexico (UPI) — President Eisenhower and Mexican-American relations thrived today on a lavish diet of "amistad" — the Spanish word for friendship — emblazoned on trees, light poles and the rooftops of small native homes here.

Seldom has Eisenhower been more pleased by his reception in a foreign country as he started the second day of his whirlwind visit to this Mexican Riviera as the guest of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

The serious side of their conversations dealing with such weighty items as the United States import quotas on lead, zinc and coffee, and possible American financing of the new Diablo Dam on the Rio Grande were necessary adjuncts of diplomacy.

But what seemed to please Eisenhower more was the genuinely enthusiastic reception he received every time he ventured out of his palatial temporary White House beside the Pacific Ocean at the Pierre Marques Hotel.

The President planned a morning free of formality, probably lounging around the hotel grounds. At midday, he will play host to Lopez Mateos for lunch at the Pierre Marques, after which the two will settle down for another informal discussion of some of the major economic matters involving both countries. A formal statement on their two business sessions was expected later in the day.

Tonight Lopez Mateos will entertain Eisenhower at the Club de Esquis, a restaurant beside Acapulco Bay where the chief entertainment at dinner is water skiing by some of the finer experts of the Western world. As much as Eisenhower was enjoying himself, he still planned to fly back to the United States late tonight after dinner. He was expected to take off in the big Columbine III between 10 and 11 p. m. (11-12 east).

PROBLEMS DISCUSSED

President Eisenhower waves to crowd as he and Mexican President Lopez Mateos prepare to leave the Airport in Acapulco, Mexico, after the President arrived for a series of talks with Mateos on Latin American problems.

Fuel-Laden Atlas Explodes

By RICHARD F. ROPER
United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — A fuel-laden Atlas JCBM exploded today as a huge oil storage tank early today on what was intended to be another 4,300-mile test hop to the South Atlantic.

The 160-ton Atlas, which has been chosen to boost the first manned space capsule into orbit, disintegrated completely in a white-hot splash of flame that rivaled the moon overhead in brilliance.

The Air Force said the blowup was caused by a malfunction which occurred at 32,741 a.s.f. after the 40-foot war rocket's two powerful boosters engines separated and began a long plunge into the ocean.

The cause of the malfunction "is not available," officials said. It was the first Atlas explosion in five months. The last happened came Sept. 18, when the 47-foot-tall rocket for the first time, to send

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My wife thinks she's on the verge of a nervous breakdown and is seeing a doctor. He claims I am the cause of her trouble because I have a room in the house which I keep locked up. It contains my business records, personal correspondence, magazines, tools, etc. If she ever wants anything from this room, she has only to ask for it when I'm around. I spend most of my evenings in this room because I'm tired after a hard day's work and don't want to be disturbed. If I don't keep this room locked, she'd be snooping around and would mislay things trying to clean up. I don't think this is anything for her to get upset about. Am I or am I not entitled to my privacy?

and die. He didn't have any temper, fortunately, so she let us go. But I would like to know your opinion of a mother like that.

EMBARRASSED
Dear Embarrassed: I think she's wonderful.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been "losing" handkerchiefs at the rate of four a week. I have been finding lipstick on his collar lately so I put two and two together. He has been throwing away his handkerchiefs. I am quite sure. He comes home right after work so he must be fooling around on his lunch hour. Is there any way I can catch him, or should I tell him I am wise? I have no children to keep our home together

WRONGED
Dear Wronged: This is more than "privacy"—it's secrecy. A man does not need a room in which to lock up his "business records, personal correspondence, magazines, tools, etc." unless he has something to hide. Have you?

NOBODY'S FOOL
Dear Nobody's: Lay all your cards on the table, and ask him to do likewise. At least he'll know that he's married to an intelligent woman.

DEAR ABBY: Please give me your honest opinion of my mother's actions. On New Year's Eve I had a date with a fellow I had dated a few times before. When he came for me, my mother said he looked feverish so, Abby, she went and got the thermometer and took his temperature! He is a 17-year-old boy, Abby. (I am 16) and I wanted to crawl into a hole

DEAR ABBY: I read that letter from the girl who said she was "TOO DECENT" and it could have been me a year ago. But not any more. I am sorry to say I fell for a guy real hard, and I thought if I gave him his way and showed him how much I loved him I would never lose him. Well, I was wrong. After I gave in to him, the very next night he came over to see me and took me for a ride. I told him I was through with that kind of stuff and he told me to get out of the car. I asked him how I was going to get home (we were miles from home) and he said, "It won't be hard for a girl like you to get a ride." I thought my heart would break. Please, Abby, print this. Boys will take what they want and tell you a dirty name the next day.

Dulles Faces X-Ray Cure For Cancer

By W. B. DICKINSON JR. United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John Foster Dulles will be wheeled through a one-ton lead door today to face massive X-ray therapy that could stop the spread of his abdominal cancer.

No "cure" is considered probable. Rather, physicians were hopeful the radiation therapy which begins today could arrest the disease.

Havana's Casinos Open Up

HAVANA (UPI) — Eleven of Havana's plush gambling casinos were allowed to open their doors Thursday for the first time this year.

Cubans anxious to parade their wealth—only those making $20,000 or more a year are allowed to gamble—turned out in fairly respectable numbers, but the number of Americans in most casinos could be counted on the fingers of both hands.

It cost the casinos an estimated $600,000 to reopen, because they were required to pay their employees the wages they lost during the seven weeks the government kept the gambling houses closed.

Twenty-six hotels have agreed to furnish free housing for up to 2,000 tourists next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Bookings can be arranged through any Miami travel agent for a payment of $50 covering air fares and the cost of transportation here.

Marshall Battles Pneumonia And Two Strokes

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (UPI) — General of the Army George C. Marshall, battling against spreading pneumonia and the effects of two strokes, was slightly improved today but still in serious condition.

Doctors at the Army's Womack General Hospital here said late Thursday that the 78-year-old soldier-statesman had rallied slightly during the day, but they warned against "over-optimism" regarding his condition.

Col. George Powell, the hospital's chief of medicine, had said earlier Thursday that the spread of pneumonia was complicating treatment of Marshall for the second stroke he had suffered within a month.

Powell said later, however, that the pneumonia had not increased during the general's "very restful day," most of which he spent sleeping.

TCU Slates Three Ballets By Members Of Ballet Division

Three original ballets created by members of the Texas Christian University ballet division will be presented Friday and Saturday, Feb. 27-28, in Ed Landreth Auditorium on campus. The program, under the supervision of Ballet Master David Preston, will include "Romantic Reflections," "Les Chapeaux" and "Black Pavane."

Evening performances are scheduled at 8:15 on Friday and Saturday, with a special Saturday matinee at 2:15. A portion of the matinee will be telecast from the auditorium over KPJZ-TV, Fort Worth, starting at 2:30 p. m. Tickets, which may be used for any performance, are on sale in the office of the School of Fine Arts, $1.50 for adults, 50 cents for students.

The first ballet, "Romantic Reflections," has been set to the music of Alexander Glazounov, with choreography and decor by Harvey Hysell, New Orleans senior. It has no story but is dance movement designed solely to delight the eye. It is a snow piece for the technique of nine of the TCU dancers and is the classical ballet of the evening - composed of eight variations and ensemble work. "Black Pavane" is a dramatic ballet in one act, set in the stark gloom of a castle in medieval times. The story concerns a nobleman, a courtesan, a young girl and a slave. Through a series of tragic events, the nobleman destroys the slave and the young girl because of their love for each other and, in turn, meets his own death.

The ballet is created by Ronny Johnston, Hot Springs, Ark. The set is designed by Houston Lumpkin, Fort Worth, costumes by Cleve Haubold, costume designer of TCU department of theatre arts. The ballet is set to the music of Samuel Barber and Bela Bartok. Ballet Master Preston will appear in the part of the nobleman. The other cast members are: the slave, the courtesan is danced by Trishka Bennage, Lewisburg, Pa., and the young girl by Cynthia Cory, Borger. Eighteen other ballet dancers will appear.

Man Is Strong, Group Believes

Man's God-given dominion over the bondage of materialism will be emphasized at Christian Science Services Sunday. The lesson-sermon to be read, entitled "Mind," contains the account of Christ Jesus' healing of the man "whose right hand was withered" (Luke 6). Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (107:29): "The divine Mind is the Soul of man and gives man dominion over all things. Man was not created from a material basis; nor bidden to obey material laws which Spirit never made; his province is in spiritual statutes, in the higher law of Mind." The Golden Text is from Romans (11:34, 36): "Who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor? For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things; to whom be glory for ever."

Students will represent slave girls and courtiers. "Les Chapeaux," with choreography by Preston, scenery and costumes by Harvey Hysell, tells the story of two widowed Parisienne hat shop owners, Mme. Angot and M. Derain, who are bitter competitors, each claiming to create the highest fashions in hats. Yet, beneath their rivalry lies a secret love which cannot bloom because of their mutual stubbornness. The road to their admission of love is paved by their children, a fabulous countess who buys their hats, her wealthy patron, M. Dodo, and a thief. The thief is danced by Ronny Johnston; the countess by Mary Engbrock; Mme. Angot by Catharine Urban, Laredo; M. Derain, Jo Bob Shirley, Fort Worth; Mme. Angot's son by Ted Sprague; M. Derain's daughter, Margaret Moar, and M. Dodo, Harold Black-welder, Charlotte, N. C. The ballet is set to the music of Charles Lecocq.

Scouts Hear Alford At Banquet Here

Scouts of Troop 4 of the Pampa First Christian Church and their parents were honored recently at a Family Night Banquet in Fellowship Hall. After the banquet, Ben Graham held a Court of Honor in which two Scouts were awarded their 2nd Class. They are Max Barnhill, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Barnhill and David Harman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harman. Approximately 15 Scouts were Scouts were responsible for other boys being registered into Scouting from Sept. 1 to Dec. 15. One Scout, Philip Elsheimer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Elsheimer, was recognized with a small gift for being 100 per cent at a Roll Call and Inspection meeting. This inspection encourages the boys to be neat and clean in appearance as well as in speech and action.

The highlight of the meeting was a speech brought by Hollis Alford, Director of Field Service for the Adobe Valley Council. Alford took the 12 Points of the Scout Law (Thrifty, Clean, Reverent, Friendly, Brave, Courteous, Obedient, Helpful, Cheerful, Kind, Loyal and Trustworthy) and compared them, as food for thought, with 12 good ways to help a child become a juvenile delinquent as printed in the Jefferson Journal which is published by the inmates of the Missouri State Penitentiary. Parents, if interested, can consult the Scout Master or church officer for a list.

Alford reminded the Scouts and their parents that Scouting is 48 years old. Scouting is for the boy. It is Fun, Adventure, and Purpose. It is Positive. There is nothing negative in the Oath or the Scout Law. It is an opportunity for a boy to grow in stature and wisdom and favor with God and man. At the beginning of Girl Scout Week, Girl Scouts attend religious services in the church or synagogue of their choice. This is one of the many ways in which "Girl Scouts carry out their Promise: 'On my honor, I will try to do my duty to God and my country, to help other people at all times.'"

PEACE MAY COME TO TROUBLED CYPRUS

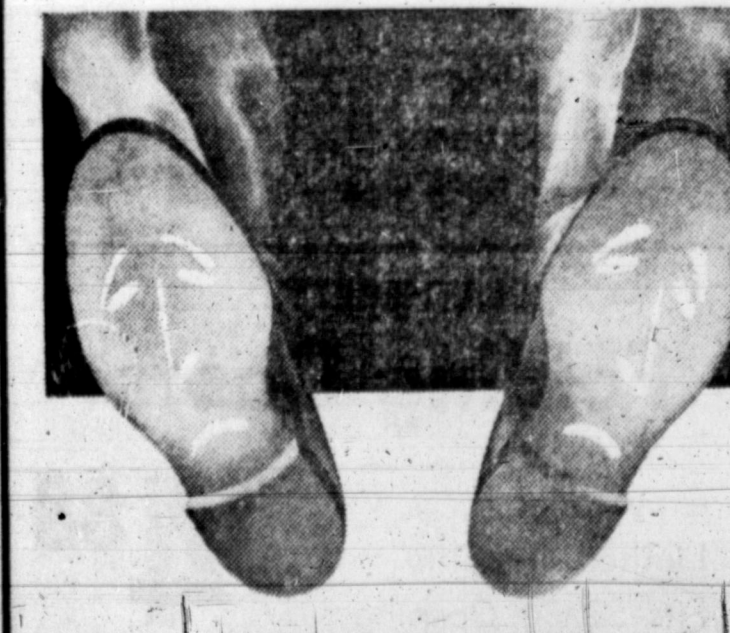

Foreign News Commentary By PHIL NEWSON UPI Foreign News Editor A feud which threatened seriously Allied defenses of the Eastern Mediterranean and splintered a normally peaceful island with blood apparently is about to come to an end. In the near future, probably in London, it is expected a pact will be signed creating an independent Cyprus. For a black-bearded priest of the Greek Orthodox church, it will be a compromise victory. For the half-million inhabitants of Cyprus, it should mean a return to normal agricultural pursuits, instead of the crack of a sniper's rifle or a bomb burst in a village street. For the armed forces of Britain on the island and for the forces of Greece and Turkey it should mean a return to their normal job of guarding the under-belly of Europe and standing as a bulwark against any southern or south-westward thrust by the Soviet Union. The dispute over Cyprus reached its crisis stage in 1958 as each quietly mushroomed into international status of all proportion to the island's size. But it brought Greece and Turkey, two of NATO's most dedicated members, to the verge of war, and from April, 1955, not nearly 600 lives and left more than 1,200 wounded. The difficulty stemmed first from the island's great strategic value in the Eastern Mediterranean, and second from the uncompromising demands of the island's 400,000 Greek-Cypriots for union with Greece. Cyprus, about half the size of New Jersey, lies only 40 miles off the coast of Turkey, but 500 miles from mainland Greece. For 300 years it had been ruled by Turkey, and since 1878, by Britain. It never had belonged to Greece.

Greeks In Majority But the Greeks were in a heavy majority on the island, and, under the leadership of Archbishop Makarios II, in 1959 began demanding union with Greece. Makarios played heavily on national sentiments in his campaign, and it was not too long before, against its official will, the Greek government also was drawn into the controversy. At least one Greek government fell because the people felt it had not taken a firm enough stand toward annexation of Cyprus. In 1955, the Greek underground on Cyprus declared war on the British, and the shooting began. In the midst of it all, stood the figure of Makarios.

In a crowded village church one Sunday, he told his followers: "Cyprus has known many conquerors in the past. Now it is face to face with the last of its conquerors. Your church has preserved the flame of religion and nationalism through all these centuries. It will lead you yet to liberty and deliver you from foreign rule."

Sharks British The British were shocked at this churchman's "complicity with bloodshed and intimidation." But even exile failed to shake Makarios, who at 27 had become the youngest archbishop in the history of the Greek Orthodox church. The Turkish-Greek compromise which promises to lead to Cypriot independence is not what Makarios wanted. Nor is the system of checks and balances designed to protect both Greek and the Turkish minority likely to please anyone for very long. The proposed new constitution specifically prevents union with Greece, but it is unlikely that it will satisfy Makarios or his followers for long. It seems more likely he merely is biding his time.

At a recent Girl Scout Arts Festival in Brevard, N.C., more than 100 teen-agers from a half-dozen countries shared new ideas and skills in music, theater, dance, and hand arts. They were united by two strong bonds, their love of the arts and their membership in the Girl Scout movement.

Come to Church

The Weekly Message

Of Inspiration

RONALD HUBBARD
Pastor

Jesus seems to contradict Himself at times. In the New Testament He says both, "My peace I give unto you" and "I have not come to bring peace but a sword." Actually, however, there is no contradiction here because "His peace" brought to him a storm. Men hated, opposed, persecuted, harassed, resisted and fought him. He did bring inner serenity to His followers, but this inner calm did not mean that there was not conflict going on outside. He promised His men this peace but He also told them that men would set upon them as wolves devour sheep, that they would be arrested, flogged and brought to trial before kings and governors, and that men would think they were doing a service to God when they killed them.

Our Lord did not mean that it was good to be put in jail and killed — He did mean that it was good to stand for righteousness. He knew that when men stood for the right, the evil ones would fight them. He simply warned them that they could expect to be hated and mistreated.

We who call ourselves "followers of Jesus" often forget that He said, "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me. For whoever would save his life will lose it and whoever loses his life for my sake will find it."

Today when Christians, following their master, speak against evil, act against injustice, help the weak, or even love their enemies they will be fought! Sin, Satan and the powers of darkness in our own city will revile them, persecute them and say all kinds of evil against them falsely!

If we were really following Christ and not our own sinful way, if we were looking for ways to serve Him instead of overlooking our own and our neighbors evil, if we were committed to His Kingdom and His righteousness instead of our own interests and our prosperity, would not our lives and the life and work of our Church be quite different? Would we not be converted — turned around?

Indeed we would be opposed and fought at every turn — but would not our lives be then truly "peaceful"? Jesus did not say that it is good never to have controversy. He said that it is good to deny yourself, take up your cross and follow Him. "Blessed are you when men revile you and persecute you . . . rejoice and be glad, for your reward is great in heaven."

New York Vs. World In National Invitation

By FRED DOWN
United Press International
It'll be no exaggeration if Madison Square Garden President Ned Irwin decides to fill this year's National Invitation Basketball Tournament as "New York City vs. the United States."

St. John's of New York and Fordham already have accepted invitations to the 22-year old tournament and a bid to New York University is only a formality after the Violets' 78-60 rout of Villanova Thursday night. In fact, the only question is whether NYU will take an NIT bid or vote to go to the NCAA tournament.

"We'll jump at a chance to go to the NIT," said Coach Lou Rossini after his team's smashing victory. "If we also get a bid from the NCAA a vote of the players will decide the question. But we're not going to wait around and take the chance of losing out altogether. I think our boys deserve a tournament bid. The team has been developing steadily and when our shooting average holds up, we're a match for any team in the country."

NYU certainly looked every bit that good in crushing a Villanova team which had won 17 of 21 games and was the first team invited to the NIT. The Violets built a 39-31 halftime lead and then broke open the game with a 21-9 spurt that produced a 60-40 margin midway in the second half.

Pee Wee Slate Still Unchanged

The Saturday schedule for the Kivans Optimist pee-wee league remains unchanged, League director Clifton McNeely said Friday that Thursday's games will be made up at a later date, not Saturday.

Saturday's sixth grade schedule is Baker at Woodrow Wilson, Stephen F. Austin at Sam Houston, and Horace Mann at Lamar. In Saturday fifth grade contests, Woodrow Wilson is at Baker, Sam Houston at Stephen F. Austin, and Horace Mann at Sam Houston.

Bi-District Tilt Set Here Tuesday

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

Pampa's Harvesters warmed up for Tuesday's bi-district game with Wichita Falls by romping to an easy 64-40 win here last night over the Amarillo Sandies.

Thursday's triumph, the Harvesters' 40th straight closed District 3-4A and regular season competition. Pampa won 27 straight through the regular season, and took 14 district contests without a loss.

The Pampa-Wichita Falls bi-district game, a one-game sudden-death affair, will be played Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Harvester Field House. Everyone who has reserved tickets for that contest should pick them up today at the school business office in the City Hall basement.

Shockers Win Final Contest

The Shockers ended their season here Thursday on a triumphant note, as they downed the Amarillo Yannigans, 62-53. The victory avenged an earlier 47-40 defeat by the Yannigans in Amarillo.

Thursday night's win was the 21st of the season for Terry Culey's Pampa B team, against only four losses.

Shocker captain Pat Carter went on the warpath, to score 26 points on 10 field goals, and six connections on eight free throw attempts. Hershel Terrell tallied 12 points for the Shockers, and Larry Stroud netted 10. For the Yannigans, Denny led the scoring with 13 points.

Race For 2nd In 3-Way Tie

Amarillo, Borger, and Plainview finished in a three-way tie for second place in District 3-4A, as all district teams except Pampa completed their seasons Thursday night.

Borger, Amarillo, and Plainview all finished with 8-6 records. Palo Duro grabbed fifth place with a 7-7 district record, and Monterey finished sixth with a 5-9 mark. Lubbock is fourth with 4-10, and Tascosa wound up in the basement with 2 wins and 12 losses.

Palo Duro edged Plainview in a sudden death overtime, 51-49, to ruin the Bulldogs' hopes of staying all alone in second place. The score was tied 47-47 at the end of regulation play, and 49-49 after the first overtime. Ronnie Covington's jump shot in the sudden-death period decided the issue.

The Amarillo Sandies failed to gain on Plainview, as they lost a 64-40 decision to the Harvesters in Pampa.

Borger gained a full game on both the Sandies and Plainview by routing Tascosa, 45-22, in Borger. The Bulldogs held Tascosa scoreless in the last quarter.

In a game which decided sixth place and the Lubbock city championship, Monterey whipped the Lubbock Westerners in overtime, 55-52. Lubbock and Monterey had gone into the game with identical 4-9 district records.

THOSE CATS WERE SWINGING WILD BRAWL IN NBA

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—One of the wildest games in the history of the National Basketball Association was staged Thursday night between the Boston Celtics and the Syracuse Nationals.

In a series of incidents that turned the War Memorial Auditorium into a fight arena: Referee Sid Borgia slugged an abusive fan.

Bill Russell of the Celtics slugged the Nats' George Dempsey to set off a battle royal between members of both clubs.

Tom Heinsohn of Boston and Syracuse's Dolph Schayes engaged in another tussle and Heinsohn slugged Borgia when he attempted to break up the fight.

Syracuse Coach Paul Seymour traded punches with Heinsohn after the Celt had floored the Nats' Bob Hopkins.

Heinsohn and teammate Gene Conley tangled with Syracuse fans before police intervened.

Needled By Fan Borgia, who emerged without a scratch, said he had been needled by a fan calling him "gutless" throughout the game.

"The fan was abusive all night," Borgia related after the game. "I finally told him anytime he wanted to try my guts to let me know."

As the fan bulled his way down to the court, Borgia slugged him. "I threw the first punch," the official admitted, "I didn't have any time to wait."

The unidentified sidelines slugger disappeared after the game. Borgia said he didn't know what triggered the players into their share of the action.

"I guess it was a case of hot tempers on both teams," he shrugged, adding league President Maurice Podoloff would receive the entire details in a report.

Rebs in Last-Minute Win; Eighth Graders Take Title

Lee's Rebels came from behind here Thursday to edge Dumas, 48-46, in the final 25 seconds. The Rebels, who now stand 6-5 in Parham Junior High Conference, end their season today in Borger, against Austin Junior High.

Field goals by Lloyd Balch and Jim Stephenson in the last 35 seconds erased a one-point deficit and pulled the game out of the fire for the Rebels.

Lee blew a nine-point lead in the last quarter, before their last-ditch rally. They went into the final stanza leading 39-30. They had led 10-7 after the first quarter and 23-21 at halftime.

Jim Crinklaw led Rebel scoring with 16 points, followed by Jim Stephenson with 12. Lloyd Balch had nine, Mike Stewart six, and Harold Burgess five. The starters went all the way.

The Lee eighth graders won their conference title, as they rallied in the last quarter to defeat Dumas eighth grade, 30-23. The Lee cagers trailed 5-7 after the first quarter, 10-11 at halftime, and 18-19 at the end of the third period.

The eighth grade Rebels are mathematically in as conference champions, with an 8-1 record. They close their season today at Austin of Borger, along with the Rebel varsity.

Glover paced the eighth grade attack with 12 points, followed by Chase with seven. Pitts scored four, Balch three, Doss two, and Schale two.

Quotes In The News

LOS ANGELES — Dr. John Lyman, of the University of California at Los Angeles, commenting on what his experiments in frozen sleep could mean to man:

"A man suffering from an incurable disease could be put into a frozen state until a cure is found. Or, suppose there is overpopulation or unemployment. People could be frozen until times were better."

TIPPIN, Ohio — School bus driver Jesse Osborn telling how he gunned his bus loaded with students across a collapsing bridge:

"I saw one end of the bridge come loose as I drove across. I gunned it and got a third of the bus onto the roadway as the bridge went down. Somehow the rest of the bus followed but it tore the rear wheels right off the body."

CHICAGO — Bill Veck, who exercised an option to gain majority control of the Chicago White Sox, on why he wants to keep Charles Comiskey as a partner in the ball club:

"We have the same objectives to bring a pennant club to the South Side of Chicago."

MELBOURNE, Australia — Billy Graham answering a question on whether those who made a dedication to Christ at his rallies kept their commitment:

"Unfortunately, no. But we are told by our Lord that not all seed sown brings forth good fruit."

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
There is nothing like knowing your opponents in a bridge game. West wanted to double two diamonds but felt that if he bid three clubs South would take the push to the three level. Sure enough, South did and West was ready with the ax. The slaughter was terrific. The nine, jack, queen and four of clubs went on trick one and a trump return was won by West's queen. The seven of clubs was covered by North's eight and East's ten and South chose to discard the ten of spades. Another trump was won by West's ace and the clubs continued. All South could gather from the wreckage were three trump tricks and the ace of spades and he was down five tricks for a 900 point loss.

Lake all bad bidders South was ready with an excuse. He remarked that when the opponents stopped at three clubs he marked North with some strength. North's reply was that he had heard South's bids of one heart and two diamonds and that he, North was looking right at his own cards and wanted the privilege of bidding them for himself.

Lost 20 Pounds With This Home Recipe

Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy and costs little. Just ask any Texas druggist for 4 ounces of liquid Baracrine. Mix with 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice. Take according to directions and watch the fat just seem to melt away. Just as Billie Harris, 512 Harlow, Pampa, Texas, did, who lost 20 pounds.
