India Will Not Be Dictatated To

By EARNEST HOBERECHT

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told Communist China today it could not dictate to India. He also denied Peiping charges that the Tibetan rebels were operating from India soil.

Peiping's formal charges against India has brought relations between the countries to a new low and today's session of Parliament was a shouting, desk pounding one in which sympathies were clearly with the Tibetan rebels. There were predictions the Tibetan revoit would lead to a major shift in India's neutralist foreign policy but Nehru's statements today! were cautiously worded. He said India should have friend ly relations with Red China. He was cheered when he said Peiping could not dicate to New Delhi. There was a nasty chill in the late March air during guel Cuellar, a rookie left-hander while sliding home, tripled off Ike edged the Washington Senators, Pampa's triple assault on Oklahoma schoolboy clubs the past weekend. But Woldt didn't find time to shiver or shake or complain about the mid-40 degree temperatures his Har-sion on Birdie Tebbetts, the loped a pinch-hit homer for Bos-day's three other exhibitions, vesters had to face on the field. The quick little man was too Braves' new vice-president, and busy. His hands were full keeping his kids on their toes.

'You've Gotta Think'

"It's mostly mental, this winning in high school baseball." Weldt exclaimed. "If you can get the kids to keep their eyes open, brains working and alert every second, why you've got half the battle won," spoke the Decker in his best class - room manner.

Of course, Woldt has been around much too long to deny a bevy of long-ball hitting outfielders and spray-hitting infielders and smoke-ball hurling pitchers hurt the cause. But, he insists, "they still gotta be able to "Take today for instance." said Deck late Saturday afternoon as he stood beneath a steaming shower in Hobart, Okla., where his club had just swept a twinbill from Clinton, 9-2, and Hobart, 12-10, "twice one of my outfielders made the same bonehead play. We had a lead when Clinton got men on first and second.

Deck's Dedicated

When his outfielder made the | Mack Taylor was shelled from same misjudgement in the Hobart game about an hour or so later, Woldt bellowed in agony, "Ohmigosh, it's enough to give a man a heart attack. Sometimes they're almost letter perfect out there and other times .

But it was easy to see Woldt simply because he loves baseball. Not like the verse goes either . . . "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of baseball."

This guy Woldt, who impresses more and more with his tricks of the ole diamond trade, is a genuine four-season man, thinking and talking baseball be it winter, summer, fall or spring. Woldt isn't like many baseball managers who rule their club with an iron-fist. He laughs and jokes with his youngsters and keeps them in a happy state of mind. Yet he doesn't have to demand the respect or attention of the Harvesters either . . . for he always has it, .

The attitude of the Pampa

"Their No. 3 hitter lines a screamer to the outfield and my fielder picks the ball up and plate if he was Rocky Colovito, and of course we're really in and the guy who hit the ball to go on into second. And there's still nobody out.

"You gotta think ahead of time. That outfielder should have already had it sized up in his mind, where he'd throw the ball if it was hit his way. He could've easily cut down the man going into third and probably of held the hitter to first if he'd made his peg to third instead of home. The real thinker would've had it all mapped out in advance . . . give 'em one run with a 5-0 lead, but start the ball rolling to knock the pins

By WHITNE" BOLTON NEW YORK - Although I never have won a car or a set of dishes or even a season pass to a movie theater in any kind of drawing or contest, I have at times rubbed elbows with luckier persons and, once, one of these clipped the Mexican national lottery for about $28,000 in American money equivalents. John MacDonald, a novelist, recently disclosed that for weeks in Cuernavaca, Mexico, he bought a part of a lottery ticket every morning and did not win anything ever until about two days before he was leaving for the United States. He won $80, which just about brought him up even with his lottery expenditures. Last November, out of the blue, blue skies of Richmond, Va., there came a note from a lady I know to be both lovely and bright and in a sort of giddy whim she enclosed a ticket on the Irish Sweepstakes and expressed the hope that it would win enormous sums for me. Since then, the ticket has nestled in my worn wallet against the day when the lists of those

'It never does, though," I said. He stood to watch the next turn of the cage and, sure enough, the three dice fell with three pleasant sixes face up. My friend could have killed

Another time, alongside a celebrated Hollywood talent agent named Harold Rose, a fellow both well-heeled and with prospects of becoming more so each year, I said to him that the dice table was a swamp of peril and he ought never to venture as much as a dollar on these sinful little cubes.

was, I waited until the dice came to me and forthwith shot nine straight, consecutive passes, sevens and elevens coming up time after time with fateful regularity. He kept doubling until the eighth pass and then pulled down a satchelful of winnings and left a beggarly $10 down for the ninth pass. On the tenth throw I got for a point and tried to make it the hard way for him, but missed and sevened out. If you would like to know what Mrs. Rose pocketed, count it: he started with $5 and let this money lay for the eight passes and that goes this way: 5, 10, 20, 40, 80, 160, 320, 640, in dollars. He won another $10 on the ninth pass, making $650, and lost $5 on the missed 10 for a point. He walked off with $645 for a to tal win of $640, since the original 55 was his. Me: I didn't have a farthing going for me. He not only pocketed the gain, but moved from our modest diggings to a bungalow suite to which he invited me once for a small potion. This has been my fate with such small ambling as I have done, and on top of that I have never won a yacht by writing in 25 words or less how much I admired a soap or an instant pudding, never have won a free automobile by completing a jingle or won a house and lot by expressing a pious belief that So-and So's detergent was what the world has needed for 10,000 years. It just isn't in my psycho-chemistry to be on the winner's list in any contest of any kind, which is why I never stick my face inside a race

But to Sherley Chase, of Richmond. I am most appreciative of the kind thought which prompted her to try for a win for me. I could have used the best part of the prospective $240,000.

BID FOR A SMILE

The Yankee farmer employed an Irishman to work on the farm. The first morning the Irishman was called at five o'clock. The next morning the farmer called his hired hand at four-thirty. Each morning the Irishman got out and went about the work, but not very cheerfully. On the third morning he was called at four o'clock. Pat got up, put his belongings in a bag, and came down stairs.

Farmer — Where are you going with that bag?

Pat — Sure, I'm' going to find a place to stay an night.

Safe driving is just common-ense driving. Always stop short of the danger point.

The Girl — Can't you be specifie?

All four of them are tall and dark.

The recruiting officer was having a slow day. Prospect after prospect had been interviewed, but all seemed to have some foundamental objection to joining up. Finally there appeared a long, lean youth who studied the posters with more than the usual degree of interest. The recruiting officer perked up.

Pampa Dealer Wins Safety Training Prize

ing an automobile and a pick-up in the high school driver training program was received this week by Culberson Chevrolet, Inc. authorized new car dealer in Pam-

The award was made to the dealer by the Texas Automotive Dealers Association, the statewide association of factory franchised dealers whose members for more than 10 years have loaned cars to high schools for "behind the wheel" driver education. The vehicles are loaned without charge, as a public service.

The local company loaned two cars and one pickup to: Pampa High School, Lefors School and White Deer School Officials of the state new car dealers association describe the driver training program as a most important part of the campaign to cut down the accident rate of teenagers and those in the early 20's age group.

"Youthful drivers are the reservoir from which future operators of motor vehicles are siphoned,' said Sam H. White, Houston, President of the association." As the sellers of motor vehicles our members who have loaned these cars are glad to do everything possible to give them as much advance training as they can.

Records show that students who have been graduated from a high school driver training class have little trouble passing the driver's license tests, and upon being licensed usually make better drivers than those who have not had such training.
