Pampans Donate Land Records

ENGLISH 'TEXANS'

M. K. Brown, left and C. P. Buckler discuss an account book that Brown started in 1903 as the first book of accounts of the White Deer Land Company in Pampa. Announcement was made Saturday of the two Pampans' contribution of the records to 631,000 acres to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

Two former Englishmen with a love for the Plains of Texas have given the records of well over a half million acres of rich Panhandle land to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum. Records on 631,000 acres were contributed to the Canyon museum.

M. K. Brown and C. P. Buckler of Pampa, both members of the historical society and its board of directors, arranged the transfer of the records of the White Deer Land Company and its predecessor, Fracklyn Land and Cattle Company, to the museum. The acquisition of the papers was announced at the annual meeting of the society.

The records cover a span of 67 years — from shortly after the first cattle herds came to the Panhandle to 1950 when the company was dissolved. The donors, Brown and Buckler, were with the company from just after the turn of the century until its dissolution. They both live in Pampa and conduct business under the name of White Deer Lands.

The White Deer was a strange outfit for the early-day cattle country. Owing nearly 1,000 sections in Gray, Carson, Hutchinson and Roberts counties, the company did not own any cattle or operate a ranch.

Owned by a group of Englishmen, the White Deer Land Company got around the Texas Alien Law just as many English-owned Panhandle ranches did — through a law firm in the U.S. The members of the law firm, called the "legal end," held title to the land while the English owners of the company put up the money that bought it.

The Fracklyn Land and Cattle Company began operation in 1883. The company issued bonds to finance operation, and the majority purchaser of those bonds was Lord Rosebery — with close to a million dollars loaned through the bonds.

In 1888, the Fracklyn outfit became bankrupt, and Lord Rosebery foreclosed. It took another $1,450,000 to complete the foreclosure and obtain the land for the White Deers.

The White Deer company leased its pastures to other cattlemen in the Panhandle, and had dealings with many of the famous names of the area — Masterson, Spur Ranch, N Bar N and others. Lord Rosebery, a wealthy gentleman engaged in a number of activities, owned a bank in London — and in 1902 sent the bank manager, Andrew Kingsmill, to the Panhandle to look at the White Deer property. George Tyng was resident manager at the time.

Kingsmill returned to England, and talked with his nephew, M. K. Brown, about the future of this country. Brown had been in the Boer War in Africa and was preparing to return to Africa to make his fortune.

Instead, upon the advice of his uncle, Brown came to the Panhandle of Texas, arriving on April 28, 1903. His plans were to learn the cattle business, and he was going to the JA Ranch. But his plans were changed and he stayed with Tyng and the White Deer.

Shortly after Brown's arrival, Tyng was succeeded as manager by T. D. Hobart. Hobart and the New York lawyer, Foster, went to England in 1904 for conferences, and Buckler came into the White Deer picture.

While in England, Hobart had dinner with a member of the law firm which handled the Lord Rosebery interests. The lawyer told Hobart of a nephew, Morris Ward, and the nephew's friend, C. P. Buckler. Hobart said the two could come to the White Deer, and he would find something for them to do.

Buckler and Ward arrived in Pampa on March 22, 1905. Ward stayed and left for Mexico, but Buckler stayed on with the White Deer.

He went to work for $18 a month among his duties was the job of attending cattle conventions to become acquainted with cattlemen who might lease portions of the White Deer Lands.

In 1924, Hobart resigned from the White Deer company as agent and attorney in fact, and Brown and Buckler were appointed joint

Holiday Death Toll Already Up To 134

99 Dead In Auto Mishaps

United Press International

The nation's Memorial holiday weekend highway death toll crept steadily upward Saturday night despite all-out enforcement efforts and numerous travel-dampening showers.

Ironically, it was on the roadways that the issue of death came out full force on this day to honor the nation's war dead.

At 8 p.m. est, a United Press International count showed at least 99 persons dead in auto accidents since the three-day holiday officially began at 6 p.m. local time Friday. In addition, 24 persons had drowned and 11 had died in still other accidents for an overall toll of 134.

Motorists Are Charged Here

Pampa police Saturday brought charges against two young motorists involved in a "hit-run" accident May 15 at the intersection of S. Hobart and McCullough streets.

Jack Lowell Shapley, Rt. 2, was charged for failure to control his speed, while Melvin Lee Bodine, 15, also Rt. 2, was cited for failure to report an accident.

According to police, cars driven by Shapley and Bodine collided about 11:30 p.m. May 15. Shapley reported the wreck the next morning and claimed Bodine drove from the scene without stopping.

Bodine, who said he didn't drive from the scene, said he failed to report the wreck for fear he was "in the wrong." Damages to Shapley's 1955 Ford were set at $130; Bodine's 1954 Buick had damages estimated at $402.

Police said the mishap occurred when Shapley attempted to pass the Bodine car while Bodine had stopped to make a left turn onto McCullough St.

Blaze Destroys McClellan Bridge

McLEAN (Sp) — A wind-swept fire destroyed a wooden bridge over the McClellan Creek east of here Saturday afternoon. Fire Chief Boyd Meador said it was "still too early" to determine the cause.

The bridge, on Highway 273 about two and one-half miles east of Bidwell's Store, caught fire shortly before 3:30 p.m. McLean's volunteer fire department raced to the scene but arrived too late to save the old-wooden structure. Enroute, Meador said, the McLean truck became mired in loose sand on a road under repair.

Ironically the fire-ravaged bridge was due to be torn down sometime in July. A new concrete bridge is expected to be completed over McClellan Creek July 1. The new bridge was not damaged during the blaze.

If it comes from a hardware store we have H. Lewis Howe.

Train Crewman May Be Responsible For Mishap

By CHARLES SMITH United Press International

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)—A preliminary report Saturday said a train crewman and not sabotage may have been responsible for the worst railroad accident in the history of Indonesia.

At least 140 persons were killed and 125 seriously injured in the accident, which occurred early Thursday morning. An estimated 800 persons were aboard the Bandung to Bandung express in western Java, and many of these were less seriously injured.

The preliminary report did not pinpoint exact responsibility, but said that the conductor may have been at fault for uncoupling the coaches.

Earlier, it was thought that rebel forces might have sabotagged the train.

The accident area is so remote that officials did not learn of it until hours later. It was almost 24-hours afterwards before any substantial outside help reached the scene.

The state railway director's office told United Press International in a telephone interview from Bandung that an investigating committee's report indicated the conductor was responsible for the wreck.

The report said the train was made up of a converted armored car on rails out in front with a military guard, an engine and four coaches—two of them wooden and two steel—and a caboose.

The engine stalled while trying to make a grade near Tjawi, about 156 miles east of Jakarta,

Three Miners Trapped In Mine Shaft

BEAVER DAM, Ky. (UPI)—Three miners, getting air, food and water through a tube, waited patiently Saturday for a mechanical coal digger to push 500 feet through a hillside and rescue them from a caved-in mine shaft.

Eugene Quigley, safety director of the Peabody Coal Co., which operates the Ken Coal Co. mine where the men are trapped, estimated it would be midnight to night before the mechanical "coal mole" could reach them, and State Commissioner of Mines James Phalan agreed with that opinion.

The men were able to communicate with the surface by means of a mine radio attached to equipment they were using when the tunnel caved in behind them Friday morning.

One of them, Don McClaren, 53, of Pena, Ill., talked to his wife Saturday and said, "Just simmer down and be calm. We're all right. We'll be here when the men get to us. Take care of your self and don't worry."

The other trapped men were identified by mine officials as Earl Bennett, 50, of Taylorville, Ill., and Jake Lewis, 34, Harlan, Ky.

McClaren said, "we're comfortable. We have the milk and we can hear the coal mole operating."

The men were supplied with 25 gallons of milk this morning, pumped to them through their air tube. They caught it in tool boxes, lunch pails, and hard hats.

At noon today, the coal digger was a little more than 150 feet into the hillside, moving at a rate of 10 to 20 feet per hour, depending on what type of dirt or rock it ran into. The rescue tunnel is being dug roughly parallel to the one which collapsed.

An attempt to bore into the shaft from the top of the hill 125 feet above, with a diamond auger was abandoned Friday night from fear the rained-out earth would collapse in a new cave-in and bury the men.

The mine, formerly a strip mine, was converted recently into a drift mine, an operation in which a tunnel is driven into the side of a hill to reach the coal seam.

MAYOR 'PULLS' FOR DAIRY MONTH

Mayor Ed Myatt, seen getting National Dairy Month underway, showed most of the "city folks" present what the well-dressed milkers wear these days. The straw hat, according to Myatt, keeps the cow's tail out of his eyes, and the cigar keeps other cows out of danger's way. At right is Edwin Flood, Pampa distributor of Borden's Milk, who is promoting Dairy Month locally. Dairy Month is being observed nationally beginning Monday. A proclamation "recognizing the dairy industry as one worthy of support of all citizens," was signed by Mayor Myatt Saturday. See story page, three.

Compromise On Berlin May Be In The Works

By K. C. THALER United Press International

GENEVA (UPI)—Russia and the West continued their hard stand in public on Berlin Saturday, but there were growing indications that a compromise plan for the city's future was in the works.

At a 2½-hour plenary session of the Big Four foreign ministers conference this afternoon, each side again rejected the other's position to preserve the public deadlock that has existed for three weeks.

But then the ministers huddled at a new and secret dinner meeting at Soviet foreign minister Andrei Gromyko's villa, where an interim arrangement on Berlin loomed large on the discussion agenda.

Assistant Secretary of State Andrew Berding, the U.S. spokesman, told newsmen he hoped that Russians would "be more flexible" in the private sessions.

Public Position

"This (public) position, if it were to be maintained, would be hopeless," Berding said.

It was apparent that for the first time the West had indicated its readiness to accept a "status quo" arrangement on Berlin instead of insisting upon adoption of the whole western package plan.

Berding also said, significantly, that it would be a "logical assumption" that Russia during the week's secret sessions had put out feelers on a compromise Berlin settlement.

No date was set for the next plenary session, but British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, as chairman, said it would be held when "it was mutually agreed that it should reconvene."

Earlier, Western officials said that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev must decide within the next week or so whether to break the deadlock here over Berlin or write off the possibility of a summer summit conference.

At the Palais des Nations session, Gromyko reiterated Russia's demand that the West get out of Berlin and leave the Western sector an undefended "free city."

Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville with equal firmness rejected a Gromyko proposal to put "free" West Berlin under a five-power commission, including Russia and East Germany.

Gromyko included an attack on American radio broadcasts and other Western "subversive activities" in West Berlin, which observers said looked like the opening play for an attempt to get a face-saving agreement to cut down present Western activities in the city.

But Russia's acceptance of the principle of secret talks after three weeks of public propaganda-making seemed to indicate Soviet willingness to do business.

The first secret session was held at Secretary of State Christian Herter's villa last week. Another private huddle was held aboard the U.S. Air Force plane that carried the four foreign ministers back from Washington and former secretary of state John Foster Dulles's funeral.

Mayor Cites June As Dairy Month

National Dairy Month will be observed nationally and locally beginning Monday, Edwin Flood, Pampa distributor for Borden's products, announced Saturday.

Flood reports that dairying is the greatest single source of farm income in the nation and that in 1958 there were 126.1 billion pounds of milk produced by the nation's 22,357,000 dairy cows.

Saturday Mayor Ed Myatt proclaimed that June be recognized as National Dairy Month. The proclamation reads:

"Whereas, the American dairy industry has grown to be one of this country's largest and; whereas, dairy products are essential to an adequate diet for young and old; and, whereas, the city of Pampa and Gray county have profited through the growth of the dairy industry.

"Now therefore, I, Ed Myatt, do hereby recognize the dairy industry as one most worthy of support of all our citizens, and so here and now proclaim June, 1959, as June Dairy Month in Pampa."

As part of the observance, Mayor Myatt last week undertook to milk a cow on the farm of Mrs. C. P. Fulton, 433 Tignor. The cow was the Future Farmers of America project of Jerry Fulton, a ninth grade student at Robert E. Lee school.

The Lovett Memorial Library of McLean was erected by the foundation in 1956, and since that time has been used extensively by the public as a source of information and pleasure. There is a full time, capable librarian for the convenience of the public on duty at the library. Rev. Gerald Hill is chairman of the board. Mrs. Egan Sitter serves as secretary, and Mrs. Clyde Magee is treasurer.

Trustees are M. K. Brown, C. P. Buckler and Dr. Julian Key. In accepting this deed the council, Mayor John C. ### IT'S THE LAW in Texas

Automobile Accident Rules Should Be Memorized

Vacation time is near. Soon millions of people will be driving about the country, and automobile accidents will occur with increasing frequency. What should a person do when involved in an accident?

At such times it is hard to keep your wits about you and know just what to do. It is therefore a good idea to plan in advance just what you would do in event of a smash-up. Here are a few simple rules that every driver should commit to memory:

1. Stop! Failure to stop can result in serious criminal consequences.

2. Render Aid. If anyone is injured: (1) Render first aid. (2) Stop bleeding. (3) Call a doctor or an ambulance or both. (4) Do not move an injured person in any way that could possibly add to his injury.

3. Protect the Scene from Further Damage. You may be liable for damages to approaching drivers, unless they are properly warned: If the highway is obstructed at night, have someone turn his headlight beams on the wrecked vehicle.

4. Call an Officer. Policemen, Highway Patrolmen, Sheriffs and their deputies are trained accident investigators whose testimony may be invaluable in establishing your civil claim for damages.

5. Gather Information. Write it down. Don't trust your memory. Don't guess — be specific. Measure skid marks. Step off distances. Be sure to obtain names and addresses of witnesses. You are required by law to exhibit your driver's license to the other driver — and he must do the same.

6. Be Careful What You Say. Even if you feel you probably are to blame, it is best to make no admission. You may learn later that the other driver was equally at fault, or more so. Emotional comments can be misconstrued by others or may be misquoted. Whatever you say, make it factual.

7. See Your Doctor if there is the slightest chance you may be injured. Serious injuries do not always result in immediate pain or bloodshed.

8. Consult Your Lawyer Immediately. The sooner your lawyer is brought into the matter, the better he can advise you and protect your rights. He can obtain statements from the witnesses while their memories are fresh, and do many other things to insure that the true facts are preserved. Get your lawyer's advice before giving any interviews or statements to investigators or adjusters for the other side.

9. Inform Your Insurance Company Promptly. Failure to do so may void your policy.

10. Report the Accident to the Department of Public Safety. This is required by law if there is any injury, death, or total damages exceed $25. An official accident report form may be procured from the Police, Sheriff's Dept., Highway Patrol, or State Department of Public Safety. (This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

CHICAGO (UPI) — Authorities of Lincoln Park Zoo advised a thief today that he's be smart to return the exhibit he stole from a display case. It's a live tarantula.

Hackett, previously considered a model prisoner, told officers, "I just got tired of the joint."

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Each of Mrs. J. Leonard Brewer's 4-year-old twin sons, Freddy and Eddy, claimed the toy was his.

Mrs. Brewer suggested they kneel and "ask God to make you tell the truth."

They knelt. Before she began the prayer, Eddy confessed the toy was Freddy's, and said, "But let's ask Jesus to make him share."

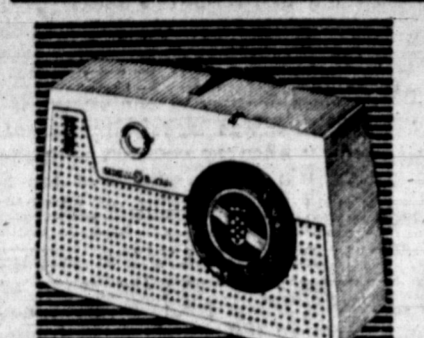

GENEVA (UPI) — Soviet press spokesman Mikhail Kharmlov told newsmen pleasantly to keep in touch with him during the two-day recess of the foreign ministers' conference, because:

"We are always at your service when we have something which may inspire you."

Labor Boss Trouble

The labor bosses of the nation are facing a gloomy decade. The harbinger of woe are not as clear and distinct as they could be, astute observers are peering closely at various union headquarters and are able to detect the signs of hard times for the truculent and overbearing masters of the dues-paying peons.

There appears to be a welter of causes for the long shadows stretching over the union domain. First and foremost, we would say, are the realms of publicity which have come out in current months. These stories, written by unbiased and even pro-union observers, have revealed such filth and corruption operating within the secret places of the labor lords that millions of persons otherwise untouched have begun to recoil at the long-endured abuses.

Some forty volumes of testimony have been published by the McClellan racket investigation which has tended to show not only the intimate details of extortion and terrorism inside the whole trade union movement, but has even discovered the evidence that there is an apparent tie-in between the high brass of labor's iron-studded citadels and the far reaches of syndicated crime. When the word Mafia and the words labor boss begin appearing in the same articles, the result is bound to be distressing for masters of the goon squads.

There is still another factor. It appears that strikes are no longer viewed by the rank and file unionists as the noblest and most settling wage disputes. To begin with, there are thousands of union dues payers who are now asking that their wages be fixed where they are without more increases. To these same men may agitate a bit for those lucrative "fringe benefits" which tend to escape the excursions of the income tax deduction, there don't seem to be too many of them eager to go to work over the fringes.

All of which spells trouble for the dictators of union help who, like any other dictators in the world, grow thru the application of violence, there will be a corresponding diminution in the power of the labor bosses.

To give a precise illustration of just what the unions face, here is the case in big steel. Amazing as it may appear to be, most workers in the industry do not want a straight raise in pay. And, they

Two Kinds Of Law

In general, there are two types of law. One is natural, and benevolent. The other is artificial and at best, questionable.

Natural law inevitably relates to the principles of life as it is. It is not only important that it come to understand natural law, it is mandatory that we understand and live in accordance with it.

There is one enormously important quality respecting all natural law. It always has so ordered the universe that every living thing in it must respond in the basis of its own nature. The response is not necessarily automatic, but it is necessarily individualistic.

Perhaps the best, and certainly the most far-reaching and succinct collection of rules respecting natural law is to be found in the Decalogue. Here is a body of ten admonitions or commandments, each one couched in terms which are meaningful only to individuals. "Thou shalt not bear false witness," "Thou shalt not steal," "Thou shalt not kill" (murder), etc.

In each case the commandment is directed to the individual. Not at any time does a commandment appear: "Thou shalt organize thy fellow workers," "Thou shalt not steal." Nor does it ever appear: "Thou shalt join in with a group of thy fellows agreeing in that group that thou shalt not steal."

Nature appears to be disinterested when it comes to groups. It is axiomatic that only those who fit, those who obey the principles of natural law, shall survive. Nature appears to bless the individuals when they obey her. She ignores all others.

When we come to consider artificial law, we find the reverse situation. All artificial law, the

BETTER JOBS

By R. G. HOLMES
Further Report On A
Mind-Stunting Book

In this last issue I was reporting the results of my preparation for a talk before the political science class at Santa Ana Junior College.

In order to better understand how to approach the students, I read the textbook they were using. It was authored by Albert B. Saye, Merritt B. Pound and John F. Alums of the University of Georgia.

I was quoting the results of a statement made on Page 56, that "It is indeed fortunate that the wording of the national Constitution is 'flexible and capable of adaptation to changing conditions without amendment.'"

I had listed some of the ways we had changed the policies of the American government without an amendment.

I want to list a few more things that these authors and the professor who endorses the book regard as fortunate that we have as laws as the result of being able to change the real American concept of government as set forth in the principles of the Declaration of Independence.

Evidently these authors and Mr. Crain, professor of the class, regard it as fortunate that we have the Wagner Act and the National Labor Relations Board that rules that when the majority can force an employer to make a union contract even if it is an open shop where men do not have to join the union, no individual efficient worker can make a contract different from that accepted by the agents of the majority of the union.

They evidently regard it as fortunate that the individual is deprived of his liberty and his pursuit of happiness; that he is at the mercy of the group.

They evidently are pleased that a man in America is losing his liberty.

They evidently regard it as fortunate that we have the Norris-Laguardia Law that takes away from an employer or an employee the right to go to the courts to get an injunction on a labor dispute unless he can get it instituted by the National Labor Relations Board. And this is too much power to give any group, to take away from an individual his right to get relief from the courts.

And yet we are teaching the youth of the land that is forth in the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights can be changed without an amendment.

These laws certainly make a mockery out of the 9th and 10th Amendments.

The 9th Amendment is: "The enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people."

The 10th Amendment is: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

What good are these amendments when we are teaching the youth of the land that it is fortunate that they can be nullified by Congress or the President or the Supreme Court? These rights were only to be changed by a constitutional amendment if amendments 9 and 10 have any meaning.

What Standard?

Of course, this book might be a good book if we use the Communist Manifesto and Karl Marx's writings as a guide as to human relations and the kind of a government we should have. In other words, if we completely discard the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence, this book is not a mind-stunting book. It is developing the youth to believe in bigger and bigger government and less responsibility for cabinet meetings.

In Martin's account of his 35 years in Congress, he says he will make a number of surprising disclosures. Foremost among them was his "close relationship" with President Roosevelt, despite the latter's political pot-shots at Martin. Reveals the latter: "In Roosevelt's first six months in the White House, he had me to dinner three five times."

SIGNIFICANT PH.D. - Democratic politician are eyeing June 1 with unwonted interest.

The individual. It is making the state the master and the individual the servant of the state.

They relate on Page 84 how the changing of the Supreme Court had permitted the federal government to regulate manufacturing, control of which was interpreted to be reserved to the states under the Tenth Amendment. Then they write:

"... For example in 1942 it was interpreted as broad enough to authorize Congress to prohibit an Ohio farmer from producing more wheat than the Department of Agriculture allotted to him, even though he consumed the excess wheat himself. In a case involving this point, the Supreme Court ruled that: 'Even if appellee's activity be local and though it may not be regarded as commerce, it may still, whatever its nature, be reached by Congress if it exerts a substantial effect on interstate commerce, and this irrespective of whether such effect is what might at some earlier time have been defined as "direct" or "indirect."'

That, as stated above, certainly repeats the Ninth and Tenth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States without being done by an amendment.

When will we learn that it is our proper function to obey the Decalogue rather than trying to enforce it?

Purely Platonic?

Robert Allen Reports:

Ike Told '60 GOP Race Is Wide Open

WASHINGTON - The 1960 Republican presidential race "is wide open."

That's what President Eisenhower has been told by Representative Joseph Martin, Mass., former Speaker, on the basis of a nationwide "sounding" of party leaders.

The former GOP National Chairman expressed this significant opinion during an unannounced conference with the President and in answer to a direct question on this matter.

Following is Martin's account of their discussion:

The President asked him, "Joe, who is going to be our nominee next year?"

"Contrary to all those stories that are constantly appearing," replied Martin, "the race is wide open between Vice President Nixon and Governor Rockefeller. The nomination could go either way."

"You think so?" exclaimed the President.

"I do, indeed," declared Martin, "and I base that on soundings I have been making throughout the country among the people who were primarily responsible for your nomination in 1952. More and more I find them talking Rockefeller."

"At present, Nixon is ahead, particularly among party workers. But from what I am increasingly hearing from all parts of the country, I am convinced that Rockefeller is just starting and that his strength will steadily increase. That's why I say the race between him and Nixon is wide open."

After a pause the President remarked, "That's most interesting," and then changed the subject.

Martin is writing his memoirs with the assistance of Robert Donovan, Washington correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune and author of the 1956 best-seller "Eisenhower: The Inside Story" based on transcripts of cabinet meetings.

In Martin's account of his 35 years in Congress, he says he will make a number of surprising disclosures. Foremost among them was his "close relationship" with President Roosevelt, despite the latter's political pot-shots at Martin. Reveals the latter: "In Roosevelt's first six months in the White House, he had me to dinner three five times."

SIGNIFICANT PH.D. - Democratic politicians are eyeing June 1 with unwonted interest.

Down South

FREE ENTERPRISE AND THE INTELLECTUALS

A Southern scholar has pinpointed the greatest weakness of capitalism today. It is a weakness that must be corrected if the United States is to enjoy a free economy and a free society in the years ahead.

Dr. Calvin B. Hoover of Duke University in his study, "The Economy, Liberty and the State," puts it this way:

"The greatest weakness of modern capitalism is its lack of support among a large part of the intelligentsia. Their failure to support it renders the system vulnerable to replacement by a substitute system through parliamentary or revolutionary means, or to continuous expansion of the role of the state to the point where drastic change might be required in order to keep the economy functioning."

Discussing some modern intellectuals, Dr. Hoover says that the professors and writers think of the interests of the public and of the capitalist as being fundamentally in conflict. "Intellectuals," he says, "generally do not accept the proposition that the alternative to capitalistic organization and direction of production through the market is administration of the economy by a hierarchical bureaucracy." In other words, socialism.

Many people do not see the connection between the success of the free enterprise system and their own livelihood. Take college professors, for instance. Do they, generally, realize that their very salaries depend upon profits from private enterprise - if in state institutions largely from taxes (paid from profits); if in private institutions, largely from endowment (provided by profits)?

Many of this country's intellectuals genuinely believe they are working on behalf of the public when they urge a bigger role for government. This is a tragic mistake, and one that American businessmen must take care to correct. Those intellectuals who knowingly seek to undermine a free society deserve a rebuke. But those who are simply unaware of the alternative to free enterprise - totalitarian socialism - should be helped to a better understanding. They need to learn that no other economy is so basically just as a free enterprise economy.

An old complaint regarding academic life is that intellectuals live in an ivory tower remote from the real problems of people and the world. No doubt there is considerable truth in this charge. But it is likely that American businessmen could do more to lessen the isolation of the intellectuals - the isolation that prevents them from learning the good that is in American free enterprise.

I submit that American intellectuals ought to be provided with better opportunities to learn how free enterprise works and how free enterprise leaders plan. The average American business of today is a democratically managed operation. Abundant opportunities exist for promotion on merit. Company training plans allow for the recruitment of management on the basis of brains, character, and willingness to work. In a word, they are just. Most companies today provide well for their employees and for their future. The real welfare in American life is within corporations which have an interest in their employees.

What I'm saying is that most American business organizations today are models of the good society. Perhaps more intellectuals should be brought into business firms for seminars and lengthy tours and studies so that they can see the great job that capitalism is doing today. They might lose some of the ridiculous, basically Marxist notions that are in "liberal" textbooks. Seeing, as the old saying goes, is believing. The intellectuals, I am confident, have only to get a better look at free enterprise in order to become more enthused about its qualities.

There shouldn't be any conflict between American intellectuals and American businessmen. The kind of free enterprise that exists in modern America promotes the finest kind of living that any nation knows. Free enterprise provides justice, opportunity and individual liberty.

Northern Tier State: Still Agitate South

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

For about one hundred years, the people realize that the War of 1861-65 was when the South was hidden there and E. M. Flagler, the railroad promoter, got a special momentary law from his puppet legislature so that he could be divorced. Then the law was repealed.

It would be incorrect to say that good Virginians are superior to good New Yorkers, but New York unfortunately is not a model state or city. The government prescribed by law for the city is incapable of its task. And the police problem, alone is complicated by hundreds of jurisdictions. No southern community has a jumble of discordant peoples comparable to that of New York City. To be sure, southern White and Negro elements do stay apart mostly by mutual accord, but in New York both of these elements are subdivided by many other considerations as of religion, "Country of Origin" and language.

Only in the Southern States do the people realize that the War of the Sixties was, on the southern part, a war in defense of a sacred homeland. The North was clearly the aggressor. The South was claiming a right to secede from the Union, not a right to practice slavery. The North put the South to the torch and the fact that northern military and industrial power finally prevailed over an ideal and a weaker foe did not imply that secession had been beaten on moral grounds.

New York behaves with the grace in stirring the South, but again be it remembered that these magazines and their editorial employees and the NAACP are not the North nor even New York.

About two years ago, in Shreveport, a group of local business men, including bankers, aroused over misrepresentation of the Little Rock matter, directed from New York City, thought about re-rial. They thought of organizing a neighborhood movement in small centers which contain most of the population, to warn magazine dealers to quit selling certain magazines. Otherwise neighborhood customers would refuse to spend money with them for cigarettes, cosmetics, soft drinks - for anything.

In principle, this is an effective method; but there was no organization, no skill, no common determination. So the South is still the victim of a hateful propaganda which hurts the people of the North, too, because it deceives and misleads them and inevitably foments mutual hatred.

Actually, the department of the Southern Tier toward Negroes is at least as good as that of New York, Chicago, Detroit and Philadelphia. The two rare examples of lynching in Mississippi which have been used to arouse fury against the South have been no worse than many more brutal assassinations of non-union workers on picket lines in the North. All mob action against lone individuals is lynching. But the North, speaking in the voice of the entities which I have mentioned, condones union lynching in its own domain as rub-of-the-green. And one of the Mississippi cases, the Till case, was obviously a slaying by two individuals with revenge and punishment for the motive and not a mob job at all. All victims of southern lynching are at least accused of serious crime. Picket line victims all are innocent and unaccused.

The people of the Southern States cling to their state loyalty long after the North had lost regard for state lines and state sovereignty. By now, to be sure, this old southern pride has lost its warmth, but some Virginians still are Virginians even though the overflow from Washington, D.C., and other migrations into Virginia caused by war activity and industrial growth have almost swamped the heritage.

Elsewhere, millions of us, probably a great majority, have no pride of state citizenship. Some states even compete with others for mercenary carpetbag population by offering tax advantages.

During the past five years Federal spending on agriculture has risen from less than $500 for every farm in the nation to more than $1000 per farm. During the same period Federal spending for roads jumped from less than $600,000,000 to an estimated $2,500,000,000 for the current year.

Mr. Magill pertinently asks why 2,500,000 civilians on the Federal payroll should receive an average of $90 per week, while state employees get $67 and the average in private industry is $78.

Since the income tax law was enacted in 1913, Mr. Magill points out that Federal taxation has increased about 115 times - from $682,000,000 to $77,000,000,000.

RUNAWAY NON-DEFENSE SPENDING

(Christian Economist)

Former Under Secretary of the Treasury, Russell Magill, points out in the Saturday Evening Post, November 22, 1958, that whereas military spending by the Federal Government is expected to be less this year than it was five years ago that non-defense spending for the same period has increased $12,500,000,000. Spending on the various farm programs rose during that period by $3,800,000,000. Federal Housing and Commerce by $3,000,000,000. Labor and Welfare by $2,000,000,000. and Veterans' Services by $600,000,000.

During the past five years Federal spending on agriculture has risen from less than $500 for every farm in the nation to more than $1000 per farm. During the same period Federal spending for roads jumped from less than $600,000,000 to an estimated $2,500,000,000 for the current year.

Mr. Magill pertinently asks why 2,500,000 civilians on the Federal payroll should receive an average of $90 per week, while state employees get $67 and the average in private industry is $78.

Since the income tax law was enacted in 1913, Mr. Magill points out that Federal taxation has increased about 115 times - from $682,000,000 to $77,000,000,000.

Horton Disk Still On Top

CHICAGO (UPI) — Johnny Horton's recording of the "Battle of New Orleans" continued to head the United Press International top 20 record survey Saturday for the third straight week. Horton's platter paced the survey, which showed few changes from a week ago.

Still holding the No. 2 spot was Bobby Darin's "Dream Lover," while "Personality," a recording by Lloyd Price inched up to third place. But Martin Denny's waxing of "Quiet Village," remained in the No. 4 spot alone after an earlier deadlock with "Personality."

One of the big jumpers, however, was Freddie Cannon's rendition of "Tallahassee Lassie," which climbed from 15th to 10th place in the poll.

The top 20 included (numbers in brackets show position this week, rating last week and number of weeks in survey):

- (1-4) Battle of New Orleans, Johnny Horton. (Columbia)
- (2-5) Dream Lover, Bobby Darin. (Atco)
- (3-4) Personality, Lloyd Price. (ABC)
- (4-5) Quiet Village, Martin Denny. (Liberty)
- (5-7) Kansas City, Wilbert Harrison. (Fury)
- (6-6) Kookie-Kookie, Ed Byrne. (Warner)
- (7-8) Only You, Frank Pourcel. (Capitol)
- (8-7) Teenager In Love, Dion and the Belmonts. (Laurie)
- (9-9) Sorry, I Ran All the Way Home, The Impalas. (Cub)
- (10-12) Tallahassee Lassie, Freddie Cannon. (Swan)
- (11-12) Endlessly, Brook Benton. (Mercury)
- (12-13) So Fine, The Fiervas. (Old Town)
- (13-10-10) The Happy Organ, Baby Cortez. (Clock)
- (14-12) Goodbye, Jimmy Goodbye, Kathy Linden. (Felstead)
- (15-0-1) Bongo Rock, Preston Epps. (Original)

The group, led by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc., and Blythe & Co., took the securities with a big of 100.43 for a 5 1/2 per cent coupon. This gave the utility an annual net interest cost of about 5.22 per cent.

Miss Lawler Tours With Frisco Ballet

By WALLACE TRUESDELL Daily News Staff Writer

Louise Lawler, a young Pampa woman who has toured most of the world as a soloist with the San Francisco Ballet Company, came to a gathering at the E. W. Hogan home one afternoon last week, where a group of stary-eyed dance students awaited her. Miss Lawler was accompanied by her grandmother, Mrs. Joe Lewis of Pampa, and her mother Josephine, from San Jose, Calif.

The soloist, who entered professional ballet when she was only 16 has never been to college but has made three foreign tours with the San Francisco Ballet, appearing in such off-beat ballets as "Gas Station" and "Jinx." Having recently returned from a tour that began in Europe and ended in the Middle East, Miss Lawler was guest of honor at a cove party given by Carmelita Hogan, a graduating dance student, and her mother, Mrs. "Bud" Hogan.

Other guests from the Beaux Arts Dance Studio and Pampa High School, were Judith Baer, Sara Gordon, Phyllis Parker, Glenda Finklestein and Anite Pitts. Of this group, Miss Baer plans to major in drama and modern dance at Eastern New Mexico University, Portales; Miss Gordon plans to attend the University of Utah, Salt Lake City, Utah and Miss Parker, the University of Texas, Austin.

Miss Finklestein will be a PHS senior next year and Mrs. Pitts will be in Lubbock with her husband Richard, who will be a student at Texas Tech, Miss Hogan is undecided about the course her career will take.

It was of particular interest to some of the girls that the San Francisco Ballet Company has 19 women members but only ten men. The last tour began in Brussels, Belgium. In Athens the company danced before the Queen of Greece. The next stops were Ankara, and Istanbul, Turkey and Beirut, Lebanon. "A riot broke out the first day we were there," Miss Lawler declared.

"We saw people banging down the shades and taking all the books out of the windows. Someone set fire to a street car and the glass out of the headlights. Nasser's picture was in the street car." However, the prime minister announced that the theatre would be guarded and both performances were sold out the next day.

In Tehran, Iran, the sister of the Shah sat in the front row and had to don sun glasses to keep from being blinded by photoflood lights.

The company next danced in the beautiful theatre that Haile Selassie ordered built in Addis Ababa. "They were showing movies in it," she said, "Helen of Troy."

The theatre had a bigger stage than the dancers were used to and the high altitude made dancing strenuous.

The Emperor is trying to develop the educational system and show the Ethiopian people how to make their own living, according to Miss Lawler.

She showed the girls a gold medal with the Emperor's picture on it. Selassie gave a similar medal to every member of the company when they came to his box. The next day he ordered his people to come and see the San Francisco Ballet.

In Cairo they danced on a slanting stage, which Miss Lawler calls "murder for pyrotechnics."

"Athens, Ankara and Cairo were the only places we had symphonies," she recalls. "Elsewhere, we used tape." They were in Alexandria for a week and then danced in Damascus.

"Every time I seemed to be out of a ballet, I'd have to take someone's place," she remarked. "I was doing a ballet a day."

Someone asked Miss Lawler if a career in dance is worth the effort that goes into it and if she will continue to make that effort. The dancer remarked that there is always the possibility of marriage.

At least one young woman was shocked at the thought of ending her dance career at the altar.

Retail auto sales in the middle third of May averaged 20,700 cars daily or 5 per cent ahead of the early May rate and 39 per cent higher than the similar 1938 period. CHARLES MORRIS
Boys Ranch Graduate

A Pampa boy, Charles Morris, average in the history of the Ranch school. Boys Ranch has its week, graduated from the 8th grade at Cal Farley's famous Boys Ranch near Amarillo.

Charles enjoys the distinction of being top student in his class and also the most popular. He is a perfectionist in all things but his ability to get along with other boys and his acceptance of responsibility has placed him in line for appointment to the Ranch junior staff, the highest honor a Rancher can receive.

This year's 8th grade class graduated with an unusual honor in that it had the highest scholastic average in the history of the Ranch school. Boys Ranch has its own independent, 12-year, state-accredited school system and each boy has made it his own personal project to make it the "best in Texas".

Prospecting on the last day of the month and wondering whatever happened to May Pole dancing!

Big Babe Curfman, the Pampa High grid boss, grinned between golf strokes last week and commented: No doubt about it, that's the best spirited bunch of kids I've ever worked with in spring training. If we were a little bigger and had more speed, we'd throw some surprises around next fall. Maybe we will anyway.

Crummiest heard quote of the week: "I don't see what Curfman has to be proud of, everybody else beat those seniors last year." This peppy prattle came from the lips of a supposed Harvester supporter after Babe's Futures swamped the Exes, 44-0.

Pampa's Human Blur, Alton Thygerson won the Skyline Conference 100-yard dash with a trim 9.9 time and finished second by a half-step in the 220-yard dash as his Brigham Young University cinder squad copped championship honors with 72 and 7-10 points, far ahead of second place New Mexico's 38 points.

Six of the Skyline Conference's times and distances were superior to Southwest Conference marks.

And then there was the guy who worked like a beaver, but still went broke. Nobody needed a dam . . .

Some Diamond Dust

Pampa portside pitcher Kippy Williams, an honorable mention all district baseballer, may thank Tascoas Coach Johnny Elam for some support. Elam lists Williams and Harvester first-sacker Larry Stroud on his all opponent team for the past season. He also sees the squeeze bunt that allowed the Reds a 9-inning 2-2 verdict over Pampa was the biggest Tascoas play of the year.

Quick congratulations to Keith Yager for his first team 3-4A baseball spot and to Stroud and third baseman Gary Hill for landing on the second team.

When a Washington scout went to Idaho to eye-ball a little-known prospect in a semi-pro league, the kid got 14 hits in 14 trips, including five homers and four triples. So the scout gave him Washington's first bonus, $30,000.

Bowling & Doc Miller Sex

The winter bowling season is over in Pampa and calloused fingers will be given summer vacations before over 1,000 local keggers start into the world of things again next fall.

Dale Hansard of Lubbock is credited with the best bowling series in Texas during the past season. He rolled an 814 scorch. Long division sez that's averaging 271 for three games.

The Professional Bowlers Assn. a year old, already has $14,000 in the kitty. If you have a 190 average, you can line up for $100 yearly dues. The maplewood prospect to have a regular tournament cup, like the golf pros.

Some Hither, Some Yon

Fishing's fine these warm days at Buncombe Creek Resort on Lake Texoma as we're told-Oral Thompson, Jimmy Langford and Elmore Thompson trotted with cut bait and hauled in 104 catfish from one to 12 pounds.

For those of you who believe tug-of-war is a forgotten sport, keep your eyes on James Parker, the all-state fullback from Sweetwater. Both TCU and Oklahoma have signed him to letters of intent.

On Memorial Day yesterday, Ted Williams joined an exclusive club as he registered his 20th year of major league service. Only other active member now is Eros Slaughter, 43, the parttime outfielder.

And then there was the girl so unpopular that she always came with her dates wearing the same lipstick she'd left with.

Young American Student Is British Amateur Golf Champ

SANDWICH, England (UPI) — Deane Beman, a 21-year-old junior at the University of Maryland, became the youngest American ever to win the British amateur golf championship Saturday when he defeated Bill Hyndman, 3 and 2, in the all-U.S. final.

Beman, shooting steady sub-par golf in the sweltering heat that seemed to bother his 43-year-old opponent, never trailed as he won one of the most coveted amateur titles in his first try. He was one under par, not counting the 17th hole, for the 34 holes it took him to turn back his Walker Cup teammate.

A brilliant two-under-par 33 on the first nine gave Beman a 2-up lead and he never was headed. The 43-year-old Hyndman, an insurance broker from Abington, Pa., made a run at Beman on the final nine of the afternoon 18 but ran out of gas after he had won the 31st and 32nd holes to cut his deficit to 2 up.

Accurate Putting
But then Beman's accurate approaching and putting came to his rescue and he closed out the match with a par on the short 34th hole after winning the 33rd. "Well done, you deserved it," Hyndman shouted to the cool, nerveless Beman as he sank a two-foot putt on the 34th hole to match Hyndman's par and end the match—the fifth all-American final since World War II. Beman was the first American to win the title since Joe Conrad captured it in 1956.

"I almost hated to beat such a great guy," the happy Beman beamed as he accepted the trophy from Royal St. George's captain, Ron Chittenden. "I hope to come back to defend my championship."

Not Turning Pro
Beman said he had no thought of turning pro because "this is a tough way to make a living." He plans to fly to Washington Sunday and will attempt to qualify there Monday for the U.S. Open. He just had been under the impression that if he won here he would qualify automatically.

The happy Bethesda, Md., golfer, said he "never was sure I was going to win until the 34th hole when Bill missed that long putt."

Hyndman blamed his putting for his defeat. Looking tired and drawn, with his wife Nia in tears as she embraced him, Hyndman said, "I just couldn't get any long ones down."

"Beman didn't hole many long ones either, but his approach

Ward Wins Speedway Race

By KURT FREUDENTHAL

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Curly-haired Rodger Ward, the speedway's hard-luck driver, skirted five wrecks Saturday and rode to a record-shattering victory in the 43rd annual 500-mile auto race.

Never worse than fourth in the gruelling, 200-lap grind, the 28-year-old veteran of nine races on the "500" bricks nursed his newly dirty white roadster through three well-priced pit stops to capture top place of more than $100,000.

His average speed for the distance 135.857 miles per hour, smashed the mark of 135.601 set by Sam Hanks, the 1957 winner.

Hanks was one of the first to greet the Los Angeles hot-shot in victory lane.

Jim Rathmann, a strong contender through the early part of the chase, was runner-up for the third time, about 20 seconds behind the victor. Pole-sitter Johnny Thomson was third, followed by national champion Tony Bettenhausen and Paul Goldsmith, competing in only his second "500."

Ward, an Army pilot during World War II, led twice during the early stages of the Memorial Day classic in humid and threatening weather before about 175,000 fans. The third time he moved in front, on the 86th lap, was the charm.

He pulled up such a margin over the rest of the pack that he retained the lead when he made his second pit stop just after the 2 1/2-mile course.

It was a see-saw struggle until Ward moved in front when Thomson made a 26-second pit stop.

After that Ward, the man who finished in the first 10 only once previously, when he was eighth three years ago, ran his own race.

Ward used only 72 seconds in his three pit stops for tires and fuel. Had it not been for the five accidents which slowed the fields pace for a total of 43 minutes and 17 seconds, Ward would have rewritten the record book still further.

Ward led at the end of 10 laps, was second after 20, fourth after 30, third after 40, then runner-up until he took the lead from Thomson.

Rathmann also bettered the old record with a speed of 135.619 m.p.h. Thomson was clocked at 135.640, Bettenhausen at 134.768 and Goldsmith 134.558.

Sixth was Johnny Boyd at 133.866; seventh, Duane Carter, 133.343; eighth, A. J. Foyt, 132.644; and Goldsmith 134.558.

Sixth was Johnny Boyd at 133.866; seventh, Duane Carter, 133.343; eighth, A. J. Foyt, 132.644; ninth, Bob Veith, 132.169; 10th, Al German, 131.872.

Sandies Eliminated

AMARILLO — The Odessa Bronchos won the quarter-final baseball series from the Amarillo Sandies here Saturday, by walloping the Sandies, 13-6, in the third and deciding game.

By beating the district 3-4A champions, the Bronchos earned the right to go to the state baseball tournament.

Amarillo had evened the series Friday by winning over Odessa, 5-4.

White, Goodwin, and Crane all slammed home runs for the Bronchos, as Odessa scored four runs in the third inning, two in the fifth, three in the sixth, and three in the seventh.

Dave Richardson, Amarillo's second pitcher, hit a four-bagger for the Sandies. Bob Diggs started for the Sandies, but was shelved from the mound by the hard-hitting Bronchos.

Optimist Club Vice-President Speaks at Friday Ceremony

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

Western League Park was dedicated here Friday night, as more than 400 Little League, Pony League, and Farm League players took a leading part in the ceremonies.

The little baseball players, from eight to 14 years old, were an impressive sight as all 24 teams in the Optimist Club baseball program lined up by teams in the outfield, to almost blanket the outer garden.

They opened the evening's festivities by rising in a group, taking off their baseball caps, waving them enthusiastically into the air, and cheering at the top of their lungs.

Lee Dodge, vice-president of the Optimist International and the featured speaker of the evening, summed up the general feeling of the more than 500 people present, with the opening remark of his speech: "I'm supposed to give an inspiring speech tonight, but it will be hard to do so, because I'm the one inspired by

In his speech, Dodge traced the growth of the Optimist Club and its work with young people, and listed the objectives of the club. He said that the three big objectives of the Optimists are to:

1. Develop Optimism as a way of life.
2. Promote interest in government and civic affairs, encourage law enforcement and observance, and promote international good will.
3. Be a friend to the boy.

In connection with the third point, which is the Optimist Club motto, Dodge said, "I believe that the 95 percent of our young people who never get into any trouble, and who are a credit to their community, should have some recognition."

"Too often," he explained, "we hear only about the five percent of our boys who get into some trouble." Dodge said that a recent Youth Appreciation week held by the Optimists served to recognize the majority of good citizens among American youth.

Dodge concluded his brief address by giving the ballplayers gathered in the outfield a three part formula for success — "aspiration, inspiration, and preparation" — and offering the local Optimists and ballplayers the congratulations of Optimists everywhere.

Teams Introduced
Ray Fowler, master of ceremonies for the program, introduced each team and its manager immediately after the 400-boy cheering section gave its welcoming cheer, and the flag was raised.

Fowler then introduced city, business and Optimist Club officials. Among them were Optimist president Harold (Andy) Anderson and president-elect Neve Secrest; city manager John Kooze, police chief J. D. Conner, fire chief Ernest Winborne, city commissioner H. V. Wilks, county commissioner G. L. Lunsford, First National Bank president A. S. Schuneman, and Chamber of Commerce manager E. O. (Red) Wedgeworth.

Fowler then introduced Gray County sheriff Rufe Jordan, who gave the dedicatory address. Jordan praised the Optimist Club's work with boys, saying that "they are fine men who give their time to build good citizens."

He joined the motto of Boys Ranch, with which he does considerable work, by saying that "Optimist program gives every boy a shirt tail to cling to."

He concluded by dedicating the park to "honor, integrity, and citizenship."

Dodge, from Denver, Colo., spoke next. Then Rev. Arthur Bruns, pastor of Pampa's Lutheran Church and an Optimist, closed the ceremony with a prayer of dedication.

Legion Will Play Palo Duro Today

Pampa's American Legion baseball team opens its 1959 baseball season today at 3 p.m. in Harvest Park, against the Palo Duro team.

The Pampa squad, managed by Lloyd Summers, with the assistance of coaches Deck Woldt and Bill Ridgway, held its first workout Saturday afternoon.

Nineteen boys signed up for the program Friday at Pampa High School, and three or four more are expected to sign for the team soon.

Twenty boys can be on the roster at the start of the season, but each squad must be cut to 16 men before the beginning of district play. It is expected to begin about the middle of June, with anywhere from six to 10 teams competing. Games will be played at night, and Sundays if necessary.

Summers said that both workouts and games will take place at a time when most of the boys on the team can attend. Baseball participation will not prevent a boy from holding a job, he emphasized.

Those signed for the Legion team include most of the members of the Harvester baseball team, three from the Pampa High B team, and three 33-36 junior high students.

Former Harvester are Gary Hill, Bobby Stephens, Don Cross, Keith Gregory, Wendell Ridgway, Eugene Strickland, Larry Stroud, Terry Joe Haralson, Jim Scott, Buddy Rawls, James Walker, Mack Taylor, and Kippy Williams. Former B teamers are Larry Taylor, Butch Frazier, and Bill Langley. Those up from junior high are Butch Crossland, Gerald Owens, and Keith Dodd.

W. C. Pool, Charles Fant, Dale Coffin, and Robert Woodward have not yet signed, but are considered potential Legion players by Summers and the coaches. They are asked to contact Summers, Woldt, or Ridgway.

Summers said that both workouts and games will take place at a time when most of the boys on

Williams Hits 1st Homer Of Season

BOSTON (UPI) — Ted Williams, though touched for 11 hits, had enough to win. It was Walker's first loss after four straight wins.

The Red Sox won the opener before a 19,408 Fenway Park crowd when Baltimore first baseman Bobby Boyd misplayed a two-out grounder in the seventh and allowed Don Buddin to score from second base.

The Red Sox battled back from a three-run deficit in the opener, tying it in the sixth and winning it in the seventh on Boyd's error.

The second game was played under protest by Orioles Manager Paul Richards who argued bitterly when Pate U'mpire Larry Napp called a balk against Walker with the bases loaded in the sixth inning. Napp waved Williams home from third base to make the count Baltimore 3, Boston 2.

Keith Yager, the Harvester's voted places on the second team. Most valuable player, has been named to the District 3-4A all-district baseball team. Yager, who had a 4-2 district record and a 0.90 district earned run average, received 14 points in the voting.

Third baseman Gary Hill, the full season Pampa batting champ, and first baseman Larry Stroud, and the district batting champ, were Stevens, and DeWayne Glover. There were no unanimous choices on the team, but Ken Grenwald, Amarillo pitcher, lacked only two points of being a unanimous pick, as he garnered 26 of a possible 28 points.

Bucky Lea, Amarillo second baseman, and Herbie Reynolds, Amarillo outfielder, were next in the voting with 20 points each.

Ten men were named to each team (two pitchers on each team). Amarillo and Palo Duro led first team selections, with three men each. Borger placed two, and Lubbock and Pampa each landed one player.

"We thought we'd have to win a district championship before we ever got anything in the school trophy case," Deck Woldt said Friday after making three awards to his players.

Woldt, the Pampa High School baseball coach, had just presented the Most Valuable Player award to pitcher Keith Yager and batting championship trophies to Gary Hill and Larry Stroud.

The MVP trophy will actually be baseball's first addition to the school's trophy case, to go along with the numerous football, basketball, and track awards.

Pampa hasn't yet won a district baseball championship, and this is the first year the MVP and batting championship trophies have been awarded.

Yager Named Most Valuable

Pampa High School principal Jack Edmondson is the person mainly responsible for this increased recognition of the baseball team. He and Woldt were talking baseball a few weeks ago, and they realized that there was nothing in the trophy case for the diamond squad.

Edmondson decided it was high time this situation was remedied, so he persuaded the school board to provide three trophies — MVP, district batting champ, and season batting champ.

"The Most Valuable Player award," Woldt explained recently, "will be the baseball equivalent of the Fighting Heart and Hustling Harvester awards."

"He'll be picked," Woldt continued, "on the basis of cooperation, team spirit, ability, and all-around value to the team."

The Pampa baseball coach explained that it usually is necessary to give just one batting championship award, since the same man usually leads both in district play and for the full season. That wasn't the case this year, though.

Gary Hill took the full season title with an average of .340, and Larry Stroud was the district batting champ with a .370 mark.

It was strictly no contest for the Most Valuable Player award. Pitcher Keith Yager was the unanimous pick of the selection committee, composed of Edmondson, sportswriters Rick Pezdirts and yours truly, and sportscasters Warren Hesse, Coy Palmer, Hank Huntley and Bob Garrison.

Edmondson decided it was high time this situation was remedied, so he persuaded the school board to provide three trophies — MVP, district batting champ, and season batting champ.

Stroud, Hill Hit In Clutch

Hill and Stroud will keep their trophies, but the MVP award will go in the school trophy case. Yager's name is at the top, and others will be added from year to year, as other players are chosen for the honor.

It would be hard to pick anyone better than Yager as Pampa's first MVP. The fast-balling left hander not only took four of Pampa's nine district wins, but he scored the winning run in one of those four games, and batted in both the tying and winning runs in another.

And of course, who can ever forget his great 13-inning effort against the Amarillo Sandies, which he lost 1-0 because his team mates couldn't get a base hit when they needed it?

Yager, like Hustling Harvester Charlie Minor and Fighting Harvester Lucky Dunham, is a real team man. He does his job quietly and without fanfare, puts out 100 percent all the time, and always plays a heads-up game.

Stroud and Hill were also very instrumental in the Harvester's nine district wins. Both came through with many timely hits, and they led the team in district runs-batted-in. So both are clutch hitters as well as "average" hitters.

Of course, there's always someone it's tough to leave out when giving awards of this type. The most prominent player passed up this year was Gary Willis. Gary led in season home runs and RBI's, and missed the season batting title by only seven points — less than one hit.

It's no disgrace to Gary that he didn't give Yager a closer race for MVP, it's just a tribute to Yager's brilliant play this year. On most teams, Willis would probably have taken the MVP award easily.

Baseball Letters Awarded

From now on, the baseball awards will be given during the school's special awards assembly. Friday, though, they were given by Woldt in a very informal manner, with only the players present, in the Harvester dressing room.

Baseball letters were also awarded Friday, in the same informal fashion. Seven boys received their second letter, five their first, and four received reserve letters. The two managers were also given letters.

The two lettermen are captains DeWayne Glover, Willis, and Yager; Ruben Strickland, Terry Haralson, Kippy Williams, and Bobby Stephens. Wendell Ridgway, Larry Stroud, Jim Scott, James Walker, and Hill received their first monograms.

Keith Gregory, Don Cross, Buddy Rawls, and Mack Taylor got reserve letters, and Jack Watson and Russell Bowen received managers' letters.

Gold baseballs will be given later to members of the B team. They are Duke Garren, Robert Woodward, John Grimaley, Jimmy Harrison, Jimmy Stanley, Clyde Bowman, Kenny Cambren, Larry Taylor, Butch Frazier, Joe Gilbert, Frank Pryor, and Bill Langley.

Valdes Upset By Johnson

NEW YORK (UPI) — Alonzo Johnson, speedy young heavyweight of Braddock, Pa., earned another TV fight in July by scoring his 12th straight victory in top-dish fashion over Nino Valdes, Cuba's giant contender, in his Madison Square Garden debut.

"I'll use Johnson against any ranking contender," preferably Eddie Machen," said matchmaker Teddy Brenner today, "at Syracuse (N.Y.) on July 17 or at Louisville (Ky.) on July 24."

Johnson, 23-year-old Negro worker in a Braddock railroad shop, spotted 34-year-old Valdes more than three inches in height and 24½ pounds Friday night. Six-foot-three Nino weighed 210½ pounds; Johnson, 185½, Valdes was a slight favorite at 11-10.

Yet, agile Alonzo gave the sixth-ranking contender such a licking, in Valdes' first serious comeback test, that the Cuban giant appeared near the end of the trail.

Yanks Break Slump With Twin Win Over Senators

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The New York Yankees, flashing some of their old-time power, felled 24 hits in blistering the Washington Senators, 11-2 and 11-0, Saturday in a holiday double-header witnessed by 26,046 fans, the Nats' second largest turnout of the season.

Police Grab Fixer Carbo

HADDON TOWNSHIP N. J. (UPI)—Frankie Carbo, 54, sought on fight fixing charges, was arrested early today when he tried to escape out the back entrance of a secret hideaway.

Carbo, known as the underworld czar of boxing and wanted in New York on a 10-count indictment charging illegal boxing operations, was seized by New York and New Jersey police shortly after midnight when they closed in on his luxurious two-story brick hideout.

He had been missing 10 months. Carbo was captured as he sprinted across the back yard. "You should have left me alone," he complained to arresting officers. "I was going to surrender in a couple of days anyway."

Carbo was indicted by a New York grand jury on fight fixing charges last July 24. The indictment charged that among his "fronts" were the International Boxing Club and Hymie (The Ming) Wallman, a suspended manager.

Carbo is charged with being the undercover matchmaker for seven bouts last year, five of them main events at Madison Square Garden. While he was in hiding the federal government filed charges against him claiming that he owes $750,000 in back income taxes.

After Johnny Powers' pinch double scored Roy McMillan in the bottom of the eighth, Face replaced Daniels and blanked the Reds the final one and two-thirds innings.

The Pirates, who wind up the series with a double header here Sunday, lost the services of rookie outfielder Joe Christopher for an indefinite period when he injured his left hand making a diving catch of Gus Bell's second-inning liner. X-rays proved negative.

Then, with one out in the eighth Skinner slugged his eighth homer. One out later, doubles by Don Hoak and Bill Virdon gave the Pirates their third run.

The nightcap was a romp for big Don Larsen, who won his fifth without a loss. He scattered four singles and struck out nine as his mates pounded out 14. Tony Kubek and Bill Skowron made things easier for Larsen. Kubek drove in five runs and Skowron three.

Russ Kemmerer, the first of four Washington pitchers in the second game, was charged with his fourth straight loss and his fifth of the season.

Keglers Award Banquet Held

By MARVIN OLSEN
Daily News Staff Writer

Jessie Smartt and Dale Ladd took home the lion's share of trophies Friday night at an awards banquet in the First Methodist church for bowlers of two city leagues, the Industrial and the Harvester.

Smartt, a member of the powerful Roberta's Flowers team, won a team trophy along with a pair of awards for the year's high scratch series (695) and scratch game (268).

Ladd, bowler and sponsor of Highland Barber Shop, won a sponsor trophy, and awards for high handicap game (294), high handicap series (714) and most improved average — from 134 to 166.

Master of ceremonies Friday, Ed Myatt, introduced Jack Kenner of the Harvester League and George Whitten of the Industrial, who presented most of the evening's awards.

Championship awards went to the Production Service team which Wednesday crushed the Frank's Cruisers for the Harvester title, and to the Roberta's team, which most bowlers have recognized as one of the best in city history.

The powerful Roberta's — winners of 113 games the past season — sport the line-up of Red Watson, Jessie Smartt, Leon Harris, Bill Abernathy and Dale Haynes.

Final award of the evening went to Joe Fischer, who according to Myatt, failed to knock down the 10-pin during one season of play. Fischers award: A 10-pin "with the screw taken out."

Cleveland Splits, Remains On Top

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians hung on to first place in the American League Saturday when they split a double-header with the Kansas City Athletics, scoring a comeback 3-2 victory in the opener and dropping the nightcap, 3-1.

Rip Coleman held the Indians to four hits in the second game for his first victory of the year.

The Indians went ahead early in the second game on a pair of second-inning doubles by Ed Fitzgerald and Woodie Held, but the Athletics staged a two-run rally of their own in the sixth and were never headed after that.

Dick Williams, Ray Boone and Jerry Limpe hit successive doubles in that inning for two runs, and the Athletics added an insurance tally in the seventh on a double by Bill Tuttle and a single by Williams.

Johnny Kucks shut out the Indians until the ninth inning of the first game in a duel with Herb Score, but then Cleveland came up with three runs in which an error by shortstop Joe DeMaestri played a big role.

Jim Piersall drew a walk to open the ninth, and Vic Power then was safe on a fumble by DeMaestri. Minnie Minoos followed with a double for one run. Another ex-Yankee, Tom Sturdivant, replaced Kucks and gave Rocky Colavito an intentional pass. Russ Nixon's pop single drove in another run, and Woodie Held then singled to right to drive in Minoos with the clincher.

Score worked seven innings, but Al Cicotte, who worked the ninth, was the winner. Score walked six men and struck out only two.

KELLER TO COACH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Charlie Keller, former New York Yankee outfield star, came out of retirement today to join the club as a coach. Keller replaces Ralph Houk, who will be sidelined for several weeks because of a brooding chest bone suffered during batting practice last Tuesday night.

CUMMINGS HONORED

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The late Bill Cummings, 1934 Indianapolis Speedway winner, has been elected to the Helms Foundation Auto Racing Hall of Fame. Cummings was killed in a highway accident in 1939.

Bucs 3, Reds 1

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Bob Skinner hit his third homer in two days and rookie right-hander Benjie Daniels, given a helping hand from relief ace Elroy Face, registered his third victory of the season Saturday as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Cincinnati Reds, 3-1.

"Our Town" In "Gala Performance"

Jeanne Wilingham

Presents

Beaux Arts Dance Students

In Revue

Monday

Curtain Time: 7:30 p.m.

Pampa Junior High School

Sponsored By

Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority

(For Benefit Of Gray County Children)

The 1959 Dance Revue will be presented in two parts. A scene from Part One is shown above with Ballerinas Linda Holt, Cynthia Plaster, and Jane Wells, left to right, appearing in the Candy Shop scene with dance duo, Mike Epps and Honey Bond. Part One will depict familiar scenes in Pampa, opening with "Our Town . . . By Day" with numbers presented around the themes "your own back yard", Main Street, School Days, Dancing School Days, and The Caddy Shop. "Our Town . . . by Night" will follow familiar activities illustrated in dance as related to The Flower Shop; The Beaux Arts Dance Revue; The Lion's Minstrel; Youth Talent Show; Community Concerts, and The Drive-In.

Anite Guidry-Pitts will perform in "Lani" illustrating the Community Concerts as part of "Our Town" scenes. This year, Anite with Misses Hogan, Gordon, Long and Martha Price will receive Ten Year Certificates in recognition of ten years continuous dance instruction at the Beaux Arts Studio. Names to appear on the Ten Year Honor Roll are Misses Maynette Loftus, Phyllis Parker, and Glenda Finkelstein. Miss Price will be recognized also for eight years perfect attendance. Awards will be presented during intermission.

Part Two, entitled "Gala Performance", is a witty ballet and one which makes a valuable and true comment on the dance of yesteryear. It has to do with dance mannerisms . . . the personal as well as national mannerisms of the four ballerinas shown above Misses Sara Gordon, Carmelita Hogan, Phyllis Parker and Judy Baer, left to right. Miss Gordon will dance the part of the French Ballerina, who in a fluffy blue costume is like a hummingbird, fluttering and fawning. The French Ballerina is sure that the whole world adores as she bounds about the stage in self-adulation. Miss Hogan dances the part of the Ballerina from England, who, in practicing her favorite solo, "The Dying Swan", is completely unaware of anyone else on the stage. Miss Parker portrays the Ballerina from Russia, who is loaded with jewelry but reprimands one of the little corps members who is wearing a necklace. Her prime interest is where she will stand to take her bows and throw her kisses. Miss Baer interprets the mannerisms of the Ballerina from Italy, swathed in purple, slow, elegant and calm, but short of temper with her hairdresser.

"WHATT'LL WE DO NOW, MOTHER?" I hope you have a few suggestions in storage for this annual question that is usually asked about two weeks after school is dismissed. We have a couple of suggestions to make and we wish that you would make a couple to us. First, why not cross your fingers, hold your breath and casually say, "Oh, just use your own imagination, dear?" about the worst that can happen is your most beautiful living-room chair would be used as a launching pad for a trip into space with the first human-rocket landing on your equally beautiful couch. If you don't have nerve enough for this suggestion, why not say, "Honey, just go sit down quietly somewhere and think" a word of caution though, if you see your offspring taking your advice don't reach for the medicine bottle, maybe, they really are just thinking. Seriously though, as the comedians say, we are planning to do some handwork on Christmas presents for relatives in our family this summer and what is more heartwarming than to receive a gift that has been laboriously created by small hands?

WONDER IF Kit Kat Klub members and their guests are awake yet this morning after their graduation dance on Thursday evening in the Country Club and a 1:30 a.m. breakfast Friday in the home of Carmelita Hogan. There has been a round, and a round, and a round of pretty graduation parties, Marilyn Myatt entertained with one and so did Kay Baker. Welcome to our town to the Bill Roots, formerly of Borger. Bill has opened up a consulting geologist's office on Ballou across the street from the Post Office and they are touse-hunting like mad. As soon as they find one, Bill's attractive wife, Jean and their two adorable daughters, Kathryn and Kristi, will become part of our hometown scene. In the interim, Bill is commuting, which is no fun. I know that the First Methodist Church Crusader's Class is sorry to lose Mary Boynton as its class teacher. The class gave a party for her on Monday evening in the Fellowship Hall in appreciation of her 13 year's inspirational leading and teaching. We are long in hearing it because the ballerina—subject of our next item has just returned from a five and a half months abroad. Dancing with the San Francisco Ballet Co. and she's been resting. The Joe H. Lewises have as their guests their granddaughter, Louise Lawler and her parents, the John H. Lawlers of San Jose, Calif. Louise, who is a featured ballerina with the famed ballet company has just returned from appearances in Greece, Turkey, Lebanon, Syria, Iran, Ethiopia, Egypt, and Lybia. She has been resting up in her grandparents' country home east of the city. Carmelita Hogan entertained informally for her on Tuesday afternoon and invited other local dancers to the party to hear of Louise's glamorous but arduous travels as a ballerina. Speaking of dancers, we hear that Maynette Loftus, who has just completed her freshman year at Texas Christian, will represent her sorority, Alpha Gamma Delta, at the sorority's convolve in French Lick, Indiana, around the middle of June. There's been a series of parties for Jane Rose's attractive mother, Mrs. Henry Duer of Baltimore, Md. Mary Ann Kelley entertained with a small but pretty luncheon. Jane had a tea for her so that she could renew acquaintances she had made on previous trips. The party is over, but the memory and fragrances of the lovely gardenias and magnolia blossoms that Zee Holloway used for her Forum Club luncheon and at a party, a couple of nights later still lingers on. A friend of hers in Corpus Christi sent her a whole box filled with these gorgeous blooms, just because.

CERTAINLY WAS A LOVELY, lovely party that Eunice Pierson, Betty Wright, Sally Butler and Ruth Gilliland entertained with last Saturday in Eunice's beautiful home. The hostesses presented such a pretty picture greeting guests in Spring frocks in shades of orchid, mauve and pink complemented with rose corsages. Arrangements of white and purple lilies, mock orange, red and pink roses were used throughout the entertaining rooms. The heavenly centerpiece on the refreshment table almost defies description. It was arranged in a tall, silver pedestal bowl with towering peaks of white stock, asters, pink roses and carnations. Eunice's home is literally filled with lovely antiques, which she has acquired on extended travels here and abroad. The furnishings are French Provincial with Early American in the den. The walls are in soft tones of grey, aqua and turquoise. She has lovely cornices framing the living room windows designed with wide borders of gold filigree banding a center of turquoise velvet. Lovely French Bisques highlight a charming curio cabinet. And US Prussian china adds a colorful note in the china cabinet. The walls of her home are hung with etchings from Rothenberg, Germany, and framed scenes from Belgium, Venice, and Italy are picturesque reminders of her visits to these places. We were particularly impressed with the white French mirror hanging above a Norwegian marble-topped table finished in antique white with touches of gold. With the lovely antique white sconces framing picturesque German figurines and with the rose-dream dressing room. The patio just off the den should make a pleasant scene for outdoor parties this summer. It is surrounded by Floribunda roses. Members of the house party were Lorene Locke, Edra Branson, Esther Culbertson, Opal Wright, Frankie White, Dorothy Crouch, Pearl Brauchle, Lois Eller, Bess Griffith, and Nita Luna. Lena Pearl Hobbs did a very nice gesture for Altrusans at their dinner meeting on Monday. She shared with them mementoes and memories of her recent trip to Hawaii. Presiding as the club's outgoing president, she presented a colorful picture in a bright orange and red muu muu accented with a vivid red lei. The menu was planned around typical Hawaiian food. You must acquire a taste for poi, but we don't believe it would really be worth the trouble. It's that tasteless. Lena Pearl had shipped back Vanda orchids especially for each member and she explained that the way you wear an orchid in your hair conveys a provocative message. Orchids were also used in the centerpiece arrangement by Ann Kay, who attached them to a large branch of driftwood with Bird of Paradise blossoms.

TINY TIDBITS. George and Mary Ann Perkins are having a dream come true in their move to Shelby, N. C., where George is being transferred by Celanese. They have purchased a farm there complete with an established vegetable garden and a large orchard. A wonderful place for children to live, play, and grow up! Hear that Don and Marion George and their two children, Scott and Barry, are off this week for a vacation in the Ozarks. They plan to swim, sit, fish, relax, maybe, read, and rest. And they won't even do any of this if they don't feel like it. Sounds heavenly! Charles and Kay Bruce have left for California to visit with Kay's grandmother and they took along the four great-grandchildren for her grandmother to see, too. Chris and Crawford Atkinson are vacationing in Phoenix. Norma Hrdlicka's daughter, Jane of Casper, Wyo. is visiting here. Oh, me, it's that time of year when the open highways and the yearning to see dear-and-familiar faces becomes all almost too great to resist.

WHAT TO DO THIS SUMMER poses no problem for David Fain, young merchant-to-be, we've found out. As soon as school was out Wednesday, he busily penciled a small handbill advertising a Kool Aid stand which he plans to operate this summer and distributed some to the homes in his neighborhood. The handbill read: "Kool Aid. Games, Darts, Shooting Gallery, Contests and Prizes. Rides, Barrel Roll. Kool Aid. Plain Flavors, small 2c; Mixed Flavors, small 3c; Plain, large 5c; Mixed, large 6c. Opened Thursday, closed Friday." (Must be because he had to go after his report card on Friday) and he went on to advertise that this prices were cheaper than his nearest competitor, who opened a stand in the same block. Life won't be dull at all in that neighborhood this summer, we can see. Until next time... Love 'n kisses, Peg.

brown and misty pearl printed silk with misty pearl accessories. Their corsages were fashioned from white carnations.

RECEPTION
Friends were received in the social rooms of the Church of Christ Bible Chair. Miss Barbara Hinkle of Littlefield presided at the punch service. Miss Marilyn Caloway of Takoma served cake. Miss Darance Bratton of Murton was guest registrar.

For a wedding trip to California and points of interest enroute, the bride traveled in a navy sheath with white accessories and wore the orchid from the center of the bridal bouquet.

The bride was graduated from Pampa High School and is a senior English major at West Texas State College. The bridegroom attended Canyon High School; was graduated from Orange High School in Calif. and is a senior Biology major at West Texas State.

The couple will reside in California this summer and return to Canyon in the fall to continue with their education.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How do you handle a movie masher without calling the usher and making a scene? I still have the four-inch hatpin my grandmother gave me. She told me she was once annoyed by such a character and she stabbed him in the hand with the hatpin. He screamed, the lights went on, the picture went off and the man ran and Grandma just sat there as though nothing had happened. We don't use hatpins like that any more but just last Friday night I wished I'd had one. I moved my seat instead. What would you have done?

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: This is no laughing matter. Any man who would molest a woman in a theatre, would probably molest a child. Quietly slip out and get the usher (or manager) before the "masher" has a chance to get away — and leave the punishing to the authorities.

DEAR ABBY: I had a sweet heart and I loved her so much that I thought I couldn't live without her. I went with her for three years. It took me that long to find out that she was nothing but a little tramp. I am still in love with her. God knows I have to forget her. But how?

DEAR "L": You can "forget" her by "remembering" her — for what she really is.

DEAR ABBY: I am only 33 years old and if I didn't touch up my hair it would be very, very gray. My husband wants me to let it go gray because his mother is gray. He tells me that a man's mother is his real family, but a wife is just a wife, like a business partner or friendly companion. I am sick to death of playing second fiddle to his mother. She treats him like a moron and still talks baby to him. I hoped he'd outgrow it, but he gets worse every year. What should I do?

MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: You took this man for better or for worse. Unless you can get a clergyman or doctor to straighten out his thinking, you are destined to be stuck with a little boy whose emotional growth has been strangled by his mother's apron strings.

DEAR ABBY: I've been going with this fellow for ten months and he asked me to marry him. I asked him how I could get in touch with him in case of an emergency, since his telephone number wasn't listed in the book. He immediately told me it was not necessary for me to have his number and added he would NEVER give it to me. What do you make of this?

AT A LOSS

DEAR AT: If you are considering marrying this man — reconsider. I think you've already got his number.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "J.C.C.": Obviously a very quiet wedding took place. Her father probably put a silencer on the shotgun.

Glassware should be dried with a lint-free dish towel so it remains sparkling clean. However, you may let the pieces dry naturally. Wipe them when dry to remove any water spots.

Mothers who provide their growing children with healthful meals include meat with all of them. Meat supplies all of the known B vitamins and pork is higher in thiamine, the vitamin B-1, than other meats.

Mrs. Terrell Is Rho Eta President

Mrs. Jack Florence, outgoing president of Rho Eta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, conducted the installation ceremonies for the new chapter officers on Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Earl Luther. The honoree and her mother, Mrs. Oliver Huffhines, were presented with corsages fashioned from white carnations.

The bride-elect's table was covered with a white linen cut-work cloth centered with an arrangement of red carnations and white stock flanked with white tapers. Mrs. Wall presided at the punch

BSP City Council Adjourns 'Till Fall

Mrs. Elmer Wilson, 1316 Terrace, was hostess to the Wednesday evening meeting of the City Council of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

During the business meeting, reports were given by Mrs. Murray Sealey, secretary, Mrs. Elmer Wilson, treasurer. Representatives of each chapter discussed year books for the coming year. The meeting time for the council was changed to the second Thursday service. Mrs. Guy Harvey served cake. Thirty-five guests attended or sent gifts.

of each month. Attending were Mmes. Wiley Davis, Charles Jeffries Jr., J. P. Adams, Charles Ingram, Byron Hilburn, Hansford Ousley, Jim Terrell, Elmer Wilson, Jack Florence, Bob McCracken, Murray Sealey, Jack Tabor, and Charles Duenkel. The council has adjourned its business until the second Thursday in September.

Nurses and those who wear white uniforms on the job can keep them sparkling with a heavy-duty soap. Soap is recommended rather than detergents because it helps preserve antistatic finishes present on most white nylon uniforms. Use a water softener when using soap, though, so soap curds won't discolor the uniform.

Next Time You Feel Exhausted From Hard Day Think of This 'Young Lady'

Up at 3 a.m. and into her round of chores, Mrs. Julia Deman, 70, stops to stroke one of her star boarders.

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (NEA) — Up at 3 a.m., tend to the farm chores, steer a tractor across the fields for a few hours, drive into town on errands.

The daily routine of a young man? That is the busy schedule of Mrs. Julie Deman, a 70-year-old woman.

Mrs. Deman with the aid of one hired man operates a flourishing 155-acre farm near Pittsburgh, Pa.

Born in Hungary, Mrs. Deman came to the U.S. in 1912, was widowed 27 years ago. With another woman, she bought the farm in McDona d. Pa., during World War II. Her partner died in 1954, but Mrs. Deman decided to go it alone.

When they started up their two-woman operation farmers in the neighborhood were skeptical, and gave them "about a year to run away."

They may have had similar ideas when the farm was left in the hands of only one woman approaching 70 — but she has shown them differently.

She is short and robust, with wispy hair fine as smoke. Her broad hands are calloused and worn from hard work. But her walk is like a schoolgirl's and she drives her bright red car in the same carefree manner.

The stone-faced farmhouse that is Mrs. Deman's home has 12 rooms. In addition to her dairy chores these are cleaned spotless.

Antiques from her native Hungary adorn the walls and cabinets. One of her favorite pieces, an elaborate water jug has no spout, just tiny holes in the top to admit water when lowered into a well.

LITTLE LIZ

Any girl would trade a photographic mind for a photogenic face.

An antique bronze plaque above the black marble dining room mantel depicts a Biblical scene.

The neat house, flanked by a red barn accommodating 30 head of cattle, was not always so neat, Mrs. Deman recalls.

Like most new homeowners, she and her woman partner busied themselves making extensive repairs.

She now boasts proudly, "We have the best cattle and dairy farm around, and fine machinery, too." Living close to the land is a Deman tradition. Her father was a forester on a 6,000-acre estate of Hungarian royalty.

Mrs. Deman remembers clearly a hunting party that came to the forest many years ago. German Kaiser Wilhelm and Hungarian Crown Prince Franz Ferdinand were members of the entourage.

Leaning down from his saddle, the Kaiser swept little Julia up beside him. "Too bad you aren't a boy," he said. "I'd take you into the army." With that, he gave her a gold piece.

Not long afterward, Ferdinand was dead from an assassin's bullet, and the Kaiser had embarked on a war that swept across continents.

At 70, Mrs. Deman admits that she is feeling her years, and is considering retiring from the farm. Then she could sleep beyond 3 a.m. and spend the day, traveling around in her red auto.

Priscilla Class With Mrs. Glenn Day

Priscilla Class of the First Baptist Church met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Glenn Day with Mrs. Cal Applewhite, class president, in charge of the business meeting. Mrs. L. Z. Edwards gave the devotional from the book, "These Things We Believe."

Attending in addition to those mentioned above were Mrs. E. Chuck Hogan, and Forrest Montgomery.

Knowing your own type is one of several essential keys to good dressing. A large woman should never wear frills nor flowery hats. Neither should she stick to strictly tailored suits. Her best bet is a quiet femininity.

This is the season for short white cotton gloves. But remember, they serve their purpose only when they are washed after EACH wearing.

Flora wig hats are getting another big whirl this spring. You can have a head covered with pansies or daisies or rosebuds and green leaves.

Oakies Claim Drake Well Not First In United States

By MAC SERREE
United Press International

TULSA (UPI)—The world this summer will acclaim the 100th anniversary of the famed Drake well at Titusville, Pa.—the first oil well in the U. S. But was it?

A group of Oklahomans claim that it was not.

While railroad conductor Edwin L. Drake, was completed Aug. 27, 1859, at a depth of 69.5 feet and was pumped to produce 10 to 20 barrels of oil per day.

The Drake well, drilled by erst-imperial well in the U. S., the springboard for the gigantic U. S. petroleum industry. And Col. Drake—who died broke—has been cited as the father of the industry.

tain in Southwestern Oklahoma. Whether or not the Chouteau claim is valid, there seems to be plenty of early reports showing oil was at least observed in the Salina area—and elsewhere in Oklahoma—prior to the Drake well.

Chouteau, in his letter to the Titusville Centennial Committee, advised the Pennsylvanians not to worry too much about the Oklahoma claim. He said:

"These facts need not necessarily disturb your plans for an observance this summer, other than to commemorate the second commercial oil well in the United States."

Disputes Claim
Nonsense, says the Oklahoma Historical Day Committee. The first commercial well in the U. S. was the Ross well near Salina, Okla., drilled to a depth of about 70 feet which started flowing 30 barrels per day in July of 1839.

C. E. Chouteau, member of the Oklahoma Historical Day Committee, this week wrote the Drake Oil Well Centennial Committee at Titusville, disputing the Titusville claim.

"There is much indisputable documentary evidence to confirm these facts concerning the Ross well," Chouteau wrote. The Ross well continued to flow about a year until the gas pressure became exhausted, Chouteau said.

Trappers Find Oil
Paul S. Hedrick of the Tulsa World, longtime Tulsa oil writer, says troopers of the U. S. Cavalry operating from Fort Gibson and Fort Smith, Ark., tell in reports of finding a small flowing seep near what is now Salina.

The Oklahoma Historical Society in a recent issue of its magazine reported that late in 1858 and early 1859 trappers digging for salt water near Salina went too deep and found a small flow of oil.

No attempt was made to do anything with the well and it ceased forth between one and two barrels of oil a day, the black fluid running into a creek. When the Civil War ended, the Indians killed the flow.

Oil Observed
Old newspaper files searched by Hedrick showed that in the spring of 1852, an agent of the Chickasaw Nation reported an oil spring at the foot of the Wichita Mountains.
