Oil Painting Of Hoover's Birthplace On Display

A painting of the birthplace of ex-President Herbert Hoover, who will be 85 Monday, is on display in Lovett Memorial Library. The original of the oil painting by Mrs. J. J. Rance, 100 W. Browning, hangs in the library at Stanford University, which is filled with many mementos of Hoover's active life.

Mrs. Rance, one of Pampa's most prolific artists, did the original painting in 1950, while she and her husband were teaching in Toledo, Ia. The painting was hung in the Stanford Library in 1951.

Hoover was born in West Branch, Ia., on Aug. 10, 1874. The painting shows the house where he was born. Behind the house is the hill on which he studded in the wintertime. Under some willows in back of the house is a swimming pool. Hoover spent his childhood summers fishing and swimming.

Now Hoover is at work on four books.

Mrs. Rance studied art at Sioux City College and at the University of Iowa. "The Sentinel," another oil painting was chosen from 100 paintings by 500 women at a state-wide art exhibit in Iowa.

One of her paintings has been hung in the library of Morning-side College, Sioux City, Ia. Its subject is "The Council Oak," a Sioux City landmark.

Mrs. Rance is now taking organ lessons and is working for her Bachelor of Music degree through a University of Chicago extension course.

depend on the age group, plan and number of months the insurance was in force, Sisson explained.

Because their group has not accumulated any surplus, those who were issued disability riders prior to Jan. 1, 1950, by virtue of waiver of good health requirements due to service-incurred disability, will not participate in this special dividend.

Sisson pointed out that there are more than 5,000,000 veterans eligible to apply for disability insurance benefits. Information and rate schedules can be obtained at any VA office.

Iron Horse Now Gets Much Oil

TULSA (UPI) — A steady segment of the American oil industry is kept busy these days catering to the fuel thirst of the modern iron horse.

For despite impressive gains made by the trucking and pipeline industries, the railroads still haul the largest chunk of the nation's freight and the oil industry is happy as both customer and purveyor of the choicest.

The railroad industry has spent 11 billion dollars in the last decade for modernization, with much of the money going to re-equip trains with sleek diesel engines.

As of summer, 1959, the steam locomotive was a fondly-remembered but little seen object on the nation's rails.

Diesel locomotives provide the largest single diesel-fuel market in the U. S. One company alone, Mobil, sold 175 million gallons of diesel fuel last year to 30 trunk line railroads.

Perhaps the railroads come closest to being the oil industry's "dream" customer.

Parker B. Smith, manager of Mobil's railroad sales department, says: "Relatively little storage and terminal time are involved, Smith says. Demands for it vary almost none from month to month.

Diesel fuel moves practically direct from refinery or terminal to customer, sometimes through pipelines. General Petroleum Co. has pipeline products directly to the Santa Fe for 46 years.

One of the beauties of the railroad market is that a handful of salesmen can blanket the country, because the rail customers are few in number but big in size.

The railroad oil market isn't limited to diesel fuel alone. In lubricants, a single locomotive uses the equivalent of 30 barrels of oil a year.

Mobil also sells railroads special wheel-mounting compounds; air filter oils; petroleum cleaning fuels for rails, engines and parts; propane to fuel heaters that keep switches free of ice in cold weather; lubricants for shop machinery; oil-based weed-killers.

And did you know that they grease the curves? Mobil sells "curve grease" to ease trains around curves in the track.

Railroads are experimenting with all sorts of new fuels and engines. The Denver and Rio Grande Western has an atomic laboratory and has found that treating motor oils with radiation causes them to last longer.

Hughes Gives His Final Impressions of Russia

EDITOR'S NOTE—Richard Hughes, a minister in the Presbyterian Church, gives his final impressions of Russia in the following letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hughes, 400 W. Harvester. Two earlier letters appeared in the Daily News Friday.

The Russian peasant and commoner is, as I had often heard, very charming and friendly people. They all seem like children, or perhaps like a Negro in the ante-bellum South, in that they have a certain unsophisticated sweetness, and a resignation about their means and station in life. Little girls brought us flowers, peasants fell our supercilious "with unbridled curiosity, they spoke of peace and asked us to send greetings to Americans. I couldn't help thinking that it is too bad such people can't form the policy of their government, but it is obvious how little we call "public opinion" springs from the vox populi. Policy comes down, it never rises upwards.

Great material progress is being made. We visited a school which was clearly a good one. They begin biology in the 5th, physics in the 6th, chemistry in the 7th. Everything is technologically oriented. They have beautiful parks and camps for children. I recalled that in the 1930's Uncle Joe Stalin himself supervised the revision of school texts. Education is important, because youth are important to the state of tomorrow.

Lenin is the spirit, perhaps, of the god of Russia. I was surprised to find him far more prominent than Marx, Engels, Stalin, Khrushchev, etc. His pictures and statues are everywhere. He and Stalin are kept in the museum in Red Square, for all to see by a special embalming process unknown outside USSR. People file through in rain and snow, 7 days a week, to see them. Normally it takes 4-5 hours to get in and walk past. As guests we were put through ahead, some 3-400 yds. from the front. Lenin died in 1924 and looks like just a tall, thin man. Stalin is a most imposing figure, actually quite ruggedly handsome. To see this long, adoring line is to see how the state is divinized.

I felt quite safe in Russia. Visiting parties are quite nicely looked after by the Intourist guide, in our case, a pretty 25 year old girl. She handled all details, and I suppose, keeps an eye on over-inquisitive foreigners. You see what they want you to see, to some extent, although she took us all over on request and we wandered freely, on our own in subways, buses, streets. Intourist tries to make the guest happy. They operate under the Board of Trade and own most of the hotels. They're a clumsy bureaucracy, of course, who tend to lose documents, get meals slowly and operate in a general confusion. Often, after waiting for some beautiful waitress to turn we thought, "if their military machinery is as slow as this the West can safely disarm tomorrow." That is probably not a safe assumption.

We were most interested in the state of religion. I had a most delightful experience at a Baptist church in Moscow. Two of its ministers, the last two years have been great changes in their approachability. During Stalin's time, they were afraid to be seen talking with a foreigner. Most show a guarded curiosity about the West and were obviously pleased we were interested in them.

Luxuries are most expensive. I paid a chocolate bar at about 75 cents. There are more trucks than private cars on the streets. They are a no-nonsense, utilitarian people. Surely the government accomplishes its miracles by depriving the people. Oddy, the people are disciplined to like it (with certain exceptions) and are sure it's for their own good. Most are most optimistic that Communism will bring them great prosperity and happiness as years go on to compensate their sufferings. I'm quite sure most of them believe in the system.

I talked freely with many Russians on the streets, in hotels and stores, either directly or through an interpreter. Earlier tourists say the last two years have been great changes in their approachability. During Stalin's time, they were afraid to be seen talking with a foreigner. Most show a guarded curiosity about the West and were obviously pleased we were interested in them.

to justify the Revolution, it hardly justifies these last 40 years, but it does explain it. It also explains why they tolerate the Soviet autocracy (they never have known anything else). They missed, in Czarist Russia, the Reformation, Renaissance, the growth of democracy and education and all the reforms that have evolved in the West since Magna Carta. How violent, autocratic, corrupt is Russian history! How cut off from the mainflow of Western progress! How high and strong the Iron Curtain decades and centuries before Churchill's phrase!

The Peter and Paul fortress on the River Neva in Leningrad shows the Czarist terror at its cruellest. Here were kept thousands of the Czar's political enemies in tragic dungeons. The guide hits the point hard, but somehow omits to mention the purge of the 20's under Stalin and Vishinsky.

The Russians are crazy over culture and go in for it in a big way, as they do everything. The state pushes ballet, opera, folk dances, concerts and so on. We saw the Peer Gynt ballet in Leningrad and the opera "Prince Igor" in Moscow. Both were splendid and costly productions. And "culture" has a wide meaning. For example, it is considered most uncultured to wear your top coat in a restaurant or opera, even if its cold or you just want to, it just isn't done and they politely but firmly insist.

Our hotel in Moscow was the Peking and in Chinese decor. That no accident. There are Chinese and other orientals all around, and the USSR is obviously trying to stress its solidarity with Red China, whose students and officers were in abundance and to convert the uncommitted African, Asian and Middle Eastern countries. I hope we Westerners have enough gumption to meet this challenge. The British and French must clean up their colonial policy in hopes the world can forget it and American and Britain and France must get rid of the stigma of racism. What a burden that is in trying to sell the Free World ideal to the lit-let brown-black man! The Kremlin is an imposing area. It was once a fortress surrounded by a moat. Actually, it's several acres of buildings, three churches (like most churches they're now museums), gardens, Mr. K's office is there, but needless to say, we didn't see it. Yesterday we got off the Baltic in Helsinki. I felt inwardly relieved to be back in the West. The people just look freer, and I'm sure that's more than any American imagination. There is something solid, stoic about the Russian's expression. I'm not afraid to travel there, but how glad I am not to live there.

Perhaps more about this most stimulating trip later.

STEEL STRIKE HASN'T YET SLOWED NATIONAL ECONOMY

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The nationwide steel strike, which has resulted in a direct loss of $1,400,000,000 in 27 days, has thus far failed to materially slow down the economy, according to Steel Magazine.

The metalworking weekly said much of the slack has been taken up by other industries and steelworkers have not yet suffered severely. They are living on savings and final pay checks received in late July. It is not expected they will feel the squeeze until Labor Day.

The Trade Weekly estimated that workers have lost $270,800,000 in wages. Company losses were estimated at $735,000,000 in sales and $152,000,000 in overhead, depreciation and salaries of nonproduction employees, the loss to the government in taxes was estimated at $180,900,000.

Steelmaking operations last week slipped to 12 per cent of capacity, off 0.2 per cent from the preceding week's revised rate. Production was about 340,000 in-got tons. July output was only 3,500,000 tons.

Steel's scrap price—composite dropped 34 cents to $38.33 a gross ton. The scrap consensus is that the market will move up as soon as mills resume normal operations.

Metalworking companies will spend $474,000,000 for metal cutting machine tools this year compared to $223,000 last year—an increase of more than 100 per cent. This means an investment of $86 in machine tools for each production worker in the industry. The Trade Weekly also reported a new kind of porous metal product of the way. Fiber metallurgy, a process developed by the Armour Research Foundation, is expected to make possible a whole new series of products with diverse applications, including composite materials such as plastics, ceramics and soft metals reinforced by fiber metal networks.

A heavy inventory of steel, adequate for at least three more weeks of near-normal operations, is keeping industrial activity high. Trouble will come when stocks get out of balance—perhaps within a few days in isolated cases.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's impending visit on Sept. 15 prompted speculation that more government pressure will be brought to end the strike. The magazine said some observers believe President Eisenhower will either exert enough pressure from behind the scenes to force a settlement or will call for the 80-day cooling-off period provided in the Taft-Hartley Act.

dishwashing done in half the time—ELECTRICALLY!

Yes, it has been proven — by tests at Ohio State University — that an electric dishwasher does the job in half the time. And they didn't just do the dishes once — but for 30 days.

That's just one reason electric dishwashing makes sense. Some others are the fact that the dishes are out of sight — in the dishwasher — between loads — your hands stay lovelier — and so do your dishes — and the kids want to help with the dishes because the dishwasher makes it all so easy.

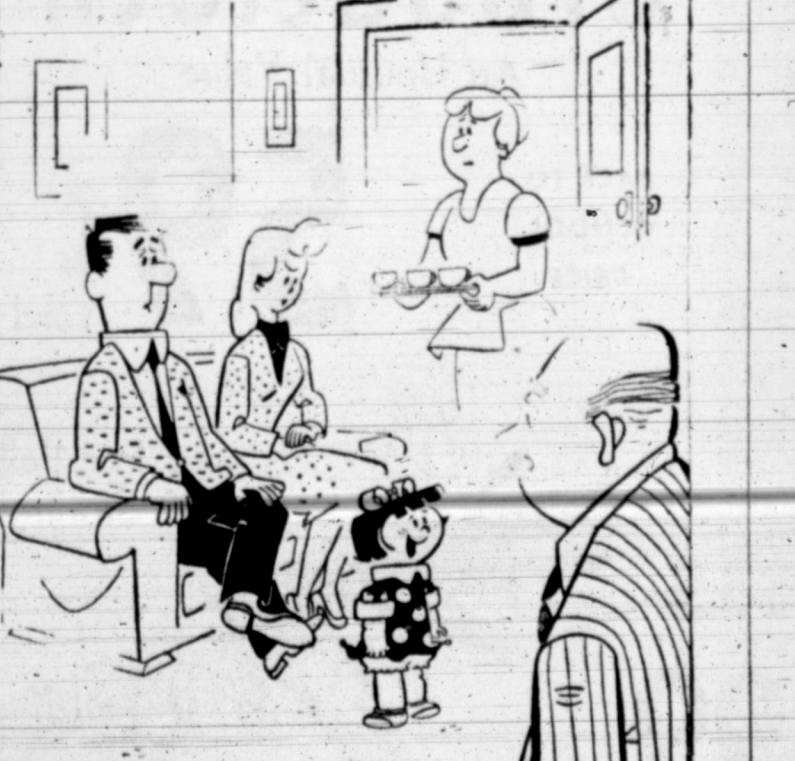

So, don't be a dishwasher — buy one.

ATTENTION, HUSBANDS
Your wife can spend half the time in the kitchen and be twice as happy with you for just 1 1/2¢ a day. That's Reddy's daily wage for electric dishwashing.

International Revenue Sets Operation Remail!

The U.S. Internal Revenue Service is looking for 1,000 taxpayers in the Dallas District with some good news for them...

Uncle Sam, in the form of the Dallas District of Internal Revenue Service, has thousands of dollars in the form of refund checks which rightfully belongs to Dallas District taxpayers.

These are checks left over from the recent filing period. The checks, ranging from $1.00 to $4,000 have been returned in the mail for lack of proper address.

Ellis Campbell Jr., director of the Dallas District, announced the figures today in kicking off "Operation Remail."

He said a group of his employees have been searching telephone directories, contacting employers and attempting through other sources to find the correct address of the taxpayers to whom the refunds are due.

Now Director Campbell is asking taxpayers to do themselves and his office a favor. In an appeal to readers of this newspaper, he said: "If you are entitled to a refund check on the tax return you filed this year and have not received a letter from the Internal Revenue Service advising you that your return is being examined, then write me at 2101 Pacific Avenue, Dallas 1, Texas, or call RI 8-5611, Ext. 2572."

"When writing or calling, a taxpayer should state his or her name and address exactly as it appears on his or her return," Campbell said.

"Your social security number and the amount of the refund also will be helpful," he said. "Of course, don't forget to give us your new address."

COLD WAR TURNS HOT IN KINGDOM OF LAOS

By RONALD F. KRISS United Press International

TOKYO (UPI)—The cold war is turning hot in the tiny kingdom of Laos, strategic heart of southeast Asia.

It could turn red-hot in a moment, or even explode. For Laos has become a miniature cockpit in which the forces making for tension in Asia are in direct open conflict.

American-armed troops of the royal Laoian army are battling in the remote, mountainous north with Communist China and are armed by Communist China and North Viet Nam.

Not many men are involved, probably fewer than 2,000, but this makes the situation no less explosive.

At Least 600 Rebels Land-locked Laos is virtually in the dead center of southeast Asia. The borders of this 86,000-square-mile nation touch on Red China and North Viet Nam, neutralist Burma and Cambodia and pro-Western Thailand and South Viet Nam.

For 600 uneasy miles it shares its border with Red China and North Viet Nam. And, by no coincidence, it is along these borders in the northern provinces that Red rebels are now fighting with government troops.

The rebels, at least 600 strong, are remnants of a Communist army that swarmed across the North Viet Name border into Laos in the closing days of the Indochinese War.

The Reds seized the province of Phong Saly and Sam Neua and clung to them when the Geneva agreements were signed in 1954.

Since then, the government has been trying to absorb the Communist Pathet Lao troops and Neo Lao Hakkat politicians without being swallowed itself.

This attempt has kept Laos simmering for five years, and it is impossible to say whether the situation will finally come to a boil now.

Trouble began two months ago when one battalion of Pathet Lao troops resisted integration and fled one night to the mountains near the Viet Nam border.

Two weeks ago the rebels stepped up their scale of operations, previously limited to a few small raids. They attacked towns in Sam Neua Province in battalion strength, cutting roads and destroying a radio station.

The government rushed in paratroopers to cope with what had suddenly become a serious situation, endangering the whole northern sector. Vientiane said its troops had brought the fighting under control, but raids and guerrilla fighting persisted.

North Viet Nam Accused The royal government officially accused North Viet Nam of arming and reinforcing the rebels. Some weapons were said to have come from Red China.

Both Britain and the U.S. have accepted the Laotian charges of intervention and have expressed "deep concern" over the fighting. But both have said it is up to Laos to bring the problem to the United Nations.

Laos falls under the protection of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization but has said it will go to the U.N. before it goes to SEATO.

A complete remodeling job is underway also in the Junior High building, which will feature newly finished chalk boards, bulletin boards, and many new cabinets as extra storage space for teachers.

THE TRUTH ABOUT HORMONES TO MAKE SKIN LOOK YOUNG

As I write this article, I can look back on the doorway and see a young girl of 25 waiting in the outer office. The light is good and I see her clearly.

She looks 10 years younger today than she did a month ago. What brought about this amazing change?

Menopausal "hormones" means "hormones" written about hormones. They make women of 75 look 15 again. How can it be? Will they make women of 50 feel like they are 20 again? Only in a way I shall explain to you.

To know the truth about hormones you need to learn just two simple facts: 1. The beauty of a woman's skin starts breaking down as signs of menopause begin, because the female organs fail to supply enough estrogen hormones to feed the skin—less and less as you grow older.

2. These hormones can be supplied to the skin by rubbing on a penetrating formula containing the hormone...

These are the reports in simple words: Skin lines (or wrinkles) quickly dimmed or disappeared from sight as creases and hollows filled out.

Blotches and "old-age freckles" faded on hands, face and neck. Skin lines (or wrinkles) quickly lose their chronic dryness, and take on revived freshness and vitality.

All these amazing things happened on the side where the hormones were used. Meanwhile no changes occurred on the other side. The same without "hormones" complexion.

Still another scientist reports—in effect, improvement in the skin in women past menopause was striking. These women looked like the years had been nursed back toward their youthful "pre-change" appearance.

I've seen this myself. I have seen the improvement so rapid that in just two days women looked younger. And, what a lift to the spirits! I can't truthfully say that women of 60 felt like they were 20 again. But I have seen the light come back into their eyes—their chins raised, with proud confidence—the seat for living returned—because I presume—to look younger is to feel younger.

Now to select a good estrogenic hormone preparation here is what you need to know; the strength of the hormone preparations must appear on the label. The recommended daily allotment for the skin is 250 Units.

The base should be as rich as possible in lanolin and vegetable oils to permit fast penetration and deep absorption, and when "rubbed-in" your skin should not feel greasy or sticky.

HORMONEX
A single drop.
A 100-day supply costs only $3.50 plus tax.
Now you can concentrate your hormone treatment on spots that need it most because Hormonex Beauty Serum is so powerful a drop of it gives skin over three times as many hormone units as a dab of cream. Wonderful about the eyes and mouth—the throat.

RODEO WEEK, with all of its color and western flavor, is over for another year, but not before it caught our town up in excitement, tied it with enthusiastic interest and put its "59 brand" in our memories. Somehow, we always feel "let-down," like after Christmas, when it is over and all the sweet, little calves have been roped and tied. The pretty cowgirls have put their equally pretty horses through their paces and the cow-boys are at home applying liniment to bronc bruises. About the proudest youngster we saw in the rodeo parade was young Master Ty McMurty, grandson of the Rufe Jordans, riding double with his grand-dad. We missed seeing them at the head of the parade, though.

ONE HAPPY WORD we've heard from the fashion designers of new fall costumes is that this year will be a "Fantastic Fall" . . . by this, they mean that we can shop for lasting fashions that will be real investments. The clothes are so understated and elegant that they are "forever" . . . there are no tricks, no gimmicks . . . so it will be a hey-day for milady who wants good classic clothes which will stay in style for a long time . . . the look is expensive without having to be expensive . . . and it can be achieved, they tell us, for $3 or $3,000. . . (we'll take a dozen of the $3 fashions, please).

SHOE FASHIONS are to have a semi-new look this autumn. There is still the flattery of the pointed toes, but it has a flattened, oval look. The new toes have been labeled the Oval, the Moon, the Teaspoon, or the Halo. The last continues the elongated look of the pointed toe yet it is oval and flattened at the tip. But don't go foraging into your attic or storage closets to pull out those balloon-shaped, round toes of yesteryear, hoping to give them another whirl, because when you see the ancient, round-toed shoes next to the new elongated oval toe and compare the two, you'll see the complete lack of resemblance. And we are glad to report that local fashion-conscious femmes will have the opportunity to view fall fashions with the latest hair-styles at a Fashion Show to be staged on August 16 in the City Club Room sponsored by the Top O' Texas Beauty Ass'n, Unit 81. Local merchants are furnishing the wardrobes for casual, afternoon, and "After Five" wear. Hair fashions will be modeled to go with the casual wear in the first portion of the show, and in the second, the same hair-styles will be combed-out to illustrate their versatility with "After Five" frocks. The show is most opportune, just in time to get us all-set for the busy fall season looming on the not-too-distant time horizon.

WHAT'S NEWS WITH YOU? . . . with us, it's parties, parties, parties. . . Zee Holloway was hostess for a Coffee on Thursday morning. . . among the guests was Claudia Peeler of Hereford, sister of Fanny Henry. . . the group lunched together at the Country Club and then back to Fanny's for an afternoon session of Bridge. . . and one of the prettiest parties of the week was the one given for Ruth Gwen Adcock (now Mrs. F. Duggan Smith, as of seven o'clock Friday evening) by Margaret Steele in the form of a Breakfast in the backyard of her home. . . guests were a group of Ruth's "younger-set" friends. . . pink bird cages with real (and we mean live) blue, lovebirds placed amid a setting of pink petunias and pink geraniums formed a perfect decor for the radiant bride. . . and on Monday evening, Butch and Susie Reynolds had a lovely party for Duggan and Ruth just prior to attending the rodeo. . . Edwina Boyd was hostess for Coffee complimenting Jean Rogers of Chevy Chase, Wash., and her attractive daughters, Mary Catherine and Susan. . . we love the colors. . . warm and beautiful. . . in Edwina's newly-decorated home. . . saw Julia and Roy McKernan taking an early summer evening's drive this week, which reminds us. . . do you have any high-backed walnut dining-room chairs that are taking up space in your garage, attic, or storage room? . . . if so, just give Julia a ring, she knows a good place where they can be put to use. . . saw Alby Ann Kuehler lurching with a friend in the Colonial Inn. . . she has the sweetest, infectious smile. . . and welcome to the new Girl Scout director, Kay Howell, an attractive Miss from Spearman. . . they're both welcome additions to our town.

SOME OF THE PRETTIEST SISTERS come from Houston. . . this week, it's Sandy Williams' sister, Mrs. W. C. (Lou) Eleming. . . there's been a series of gay affairs for her, too. Kathryn Snell was hostess at a luncheon one day this week. . . Fran Nablitt hosted a coffee. . . Johnny Donaldson had a few friends in one evening in honor of the Houston guest. . . and Claudine Vail and Liz Gardner entertained at a luncheon in the Country Club. . . nice to see Loretta Wilkinson out again after bringing husband, Vivion, home from the hospital. . . we're glad to report that he is on the mend.

WE HEAR THAT David Warner III is planning to attend a private boys' school in the East this year. . . the Cheshire. We are sure his prowess with the Fighting Harvesters will be missed. . . and we hear, too, that Rick Pezdirtz, the bachelor with the Blue Cadillac, is attending a School of Instruction this week in Las Vegas. . . it's rather difficult course, we understand, and one that will probably continue into wee, sma' hours nightly.

FLOY HEATH and Van Vanderburg at the Altrusa International Convention held in Chicago in July acquainted each of the 771 delegates attending with the fact that Pampa is the Tops in Texas by distributing those little souvenir cowboy hats. . . a quick wire to Eloise Braly in the Chamber of Commerce office to ship an adequate supply enabled them to make our Big Spot on the map known internationally. . . the hats, as well as the charming Altrusa delegates, made a Big Impression, we know.

TRUTH IS OFTEN MORE INTERESTING THAN FICTION. . . and such is certainly true of the real life adventure that Gary M. Balick, David Warner, Don Curry, Bob Nesloge, Marvin Pung, Larry Satterwhite, Bill Martin, George Lilly, Calvin Broadway, James Wilson, Denny Dunigan, are engaged this week with William Martin, Eben Warner Jr. and Eddie Zuniga. . . Tom Sawyer's adventure aboard a raft down the Mississippi River pale in comparison to what is happening right now to these young lads who are delving deep into Canadian Wilderness for from any civilization or any type of communication. . . equipped only with food, canoes and camping equipment they are doing their own cooking, paddling, portaging and navigating in a primitive wilderness most of which is only navigable by canoe. . . and you know what? We envy them!

NOTE TO MOTHERS OF camping daughters. . . it's a sure sign that your Young Miss is growing up when it is a calamity if she leaves her favorite "pink lip stick" at home. . . but it is also consoling when you note that she has taken along her favorite stuffed toy to decorate her bed. . . and did you read the advise that "Dear Abby" gave a beleaguered housewife whose husband paid more attention to his mother than he did to her. . . Abby advised to "squeak a little" because a squeak always receives a little oil. . . glad she didn't advise "rattling" for things that rattle, even a little bit, usually get thrown out.

AND THEN THERE'S a girl-about-town who drives around with the windows of her car rolled up to give the impression that her car is air conditioned.

Hot, isn't it? Pag.

Nutritious Snacks Topic For HDC

"What is generally the first thing a teenager thinks of when he comes in from school?" was a question asked by Miss Lou Ella Patterson, county home demonstration agent, in a program presented on "Nutritious Snacks" to the Merlen Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Bob Brandon, Cities Service Camp, on Tuesday morning.

Miss Patterson suggested that a teenager should be given a well-balanced snack as "they need food that will build bones, muscles and teeth."

She said, "A child should be given food that makes calcium. An athlete would need more food than a less active teenager. A good snack for an athlete would be a cheese sandwich, a glass of milk and a banana. He also needs a quart of citrus juice in a day and any teenager needs from a pint to a quart of milk in a day as well as plenty of eggs."

"A teenager, who is over-weight, could eat a salad and a half of a grapefruit, as well as a glass of skim milk," Miss Patterson went on to say that a mother can make or break her family by the food she serves them.

A brief business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Bob Brandon, president.

Mrs. Clyde Edmondson led the group in the recreation period during which a prize was won by Miss Patterson.

Refreshments were served to Meses. Walter Murphy, Alven Brandon, Clyde Edmondson, Vard Smith, Jack Prather, T. G. Groves, Miss Patterson and five children.

It was announced that the next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Archie Maness, 431 N. Sumner, on Aug. 18 at 9:30 a. m.

WED

The Mount Carmel Church in Denver, Colo. was the scene for the June 13 wedding of Miss Mary Lou LaConte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. LaConte, 2325 West 37, Denver, and Gole Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn F. Andrews, 1142 S. Christy.

Lullaby Shower Fetes Mrs. Cooke

Mrs. Richard Cooke was complimented with a Lullaby Shower on Thursday evening in the parlor of the First Methodist Church. Hostesses were Meses. Paul Ellison, Ronald Beard, Lee Jackson and Joe Paffois.

The honoree was presented with a corsage fashioned from pink and blue baby socks forming rose-buds with links of tiny, gold safety-pins forming petals and stems.

The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth over blue centered with a pink cradle nestling a baby-doll in a cloud of pink net. White tapers in crystal holders flanked the arrangement.

White sheetcake decorated with pink and blue scroll outlining a baby-buggy and the words "baby" down the sides was served by Mrs. Ronald Beard.

Banana punch from a crystal bowl was served by Mrs. Ellison. Mints and nuts, and white napkins, embroidered with a stork carrying an infant inscribed with "Boy? Girl?" completed the table arrangements.

Mrs. Pafford and Mrs. Jackson assisted the honoree with the gifts. Guests attending or sending gifts were Meses. F. E. Dyer, G. W. Rich, Bud Lester, Leroy Kretzmeier, O'Neil Giddison, Art Ziebart, John Zuerker, F. W. Showell, Orlando Olivolo, Joe Hayes, Gerald Marlar, W. W. Adcock, Johnny Pierce, Bill McKee, H. V. Shirley-Boylan Nuptials Solemnized Saturday

Miss DeAnne Shirley became the bride of David Eugene Boylan with vows exchanged in August at eight o'clock in the chapel of the First Methodist Church. Dr. E. Douglas Carver performed the double ring ceremony before a white satin covered altar with white urns filled with gladioli, palms and spiral candelabras forming the nuptial setting.

Miss Shirley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Shirley, 1822 N. Russell. Mrs. Boylan's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Boylan of Batesville, Ark.

Tom Atkin, at the organ, presented pre-nuptial airs and the traditional wedding marches. Among the selections by Joe Whitte, soloist, was "The Lord's Prayer."

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father with the "Her Mother and I do" avowal, the bride was gowned in imported lace and bridal satin. The fitted lace bodice was designed with a Sabrina neckline, long, lace tapered sleeves which came to bridal points over the hands and were closed with tiny, covered buttons. The bouffant skirt, draped in front over lace inset, was lace appliqued with iridescent sequins and pearls and swept to a brief chapel train in back. Her finger-tip veil of Bridal Illusion fell from an "orange-blossom" tiara fashioned from pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a white orchid bouquet arranged with stephanotis.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Carol Post of Midland, sorority sister of the bride, attended as maid of honor. Miss Sheila Boylan of Batesville, Ark., bridegroom's sister, served as bridesmaid. They were dressed identically in pink silk organza over taffeta sheaths with an organza overskirt. They carried bouquets of pink rosebuds and white carnations.

Tim Boylan of Oklahoma City, bridegroom's brother, was best man. Ushers were Gene Shirley, bride's brother, John Totten of Amarillo, and Charles Gasaway of Enid, Okla.

Mrs. Shirley, mother of the bride, chose for the wedding an aqua silk organza over taffeta with accessories of white and aqua. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Boylan, selected Italian voile, black with a floral print. The green summerbund encircling the waist was complemented with green accessories. The mother's corsages were fashioned from white rosebuds.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the parlor of the First Methodist Church following the exchange of vows. The bride's table was covered with a floor-length white net cloth over satin accented with bells of silver, sequins and pink pearls. A white mum centerpiece in a hand-made pink enameled glass bowl formed the focal point of the table.

Mrs. Tim Boyland of Oklahoma City presided at the punch service. Mrs. C. B. Scott of Amarillo, bride's aunt, served cake. Mrs. Ray Watkins, also of Amarillo, bride's aunt, was guest registrar. They were assisted by Mrs. S. B. Boren of Temple, bride's grandmother and Mrs. M. L. McWhor-

Church Ushering Requires More Than Wearing White Carnation

There is more to being a church usher than wearing a white carnation, points out Everett N. Hosward with ingenious bait—a youth held program—

Wise ushers avoid this predicament by luring parishioners forward with ingenious bait—a youth held program—

1. Piled-up rear pews. Caricature shows 20 persons massed two deep in rear pew while the six before it have just one occupant.

2. Sermon or speech? (Church members in pew hold their ears and shrink from blaring loudspeakers above them.) It's up to the usher, Sunday morning's Jack-of-all-trades, to see that the amplifying system is properly adjusted.

3. For late arrivals, side or rear pews are best. (Lone woman pulls coat more closely about her and humps coat collar about her face while usher pompously leads her down middle aisle toward front.)

4. Problem: Too many gladioli—hands in greeting while incoming church member ducks to avoid being hit. Solution: Fewer greeters, greater restraint.

5. The dictator type. Like-to command. (Usher with hair brow and drooping mouth points domineering finger at particular pew.) "Sit here!" Somehow visitors tend not to return.

6. Sport, yes? (One usher dressed in bermudas and jacket, and the other in slacks and loud sport coat lead two men down the aisle.) Trouble is ushers aren't supposed to model vacation fags.

7. Healthy competition is good elsewhere. (Parents with shrieking

RUTH MILLETT

Memo to young men who are entering college this fall:

Recently I've had the opportunity of talking to a number of girls who are entering college this fall, and I think I ought to warn you most of them have only one objective in mind—to find a husband.

Why should that concern you? Because unless you're wary, your dreams of going through medical college or law school or becoming a scientist may end with helping to pick out a silver pattern by the end of your freshman or sophomore year.

Oh, the girl may convince you that she is willing to drop out of school and go to work to let you finish. She may even do it—if a baby or two doesn't come along.

But even if she puts you through school at the sacrifice of finishing her own education, it is going to be a long, hard struggle and you'll end up with a wife who hasn't as good an educational background as you.

But chances are, what will happen is that you'll drop out of school yourself and settle for a job you don't really want.

And all because some girl set out for college determined to get a husband, rather than to get an education.

So if you're smart, you'll hang on to your freedom until you've prepared yourself for the life's work you really want to do.

If before you've finished your college training you find the girl you're sure you want for a lifetime partner why not do what your dad probably did—ask the girl you want to marry to wait for you?

If it's you she wants and not just a husband, she'll wait. If all she wants is a husband you'll, of course, probably lose her to somebody else. But you won't have lost as much as you think at the time.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Richard Linzie Johnson

M/Sgt. and Mrs. C. H. Jones of Eastland announce the marriage of their daughter, Barbara Blanche to Richard Linzie Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Linzie Johnson, south of the city. Wedding vows were solemnized on August 1 at eight o'clock in the Central Baptist Church with Rev. Therman Upshaw, pastor, officiating at the double-ring, candlelight ceremony. A reception was held immediately after the exchange of vows in the home of Sgt. and Mrs. Al Pamrenke, 1807 Coffee. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are making their home at 712 W. Francis.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

A young advertising man under psychoanalytic treatment was told to entertain an out-of-town client. He was furious. Facing his doctor's office, he shouted:

"My friendliness is my own to give! Why do I have to show the town to this fool when I've just bought a house in the country and get away from it? I've got better things to do with my evenings than pub-crawling with some guy who can't hold his liquor! I..."

Said his doctor mildly, "Why don't you tell your boss that you have to refuse this engagement?"

By evening his patient found himself thinking much less belligerently of the out-of-town client. So when he met him, he was able to propose a tour of boaters instead of night spots—a program which ended in their becoming friends.

By supporting his right to withhold friendliness from the client, his doctor had made it possible for him to give it. He had made giving it his patient's own choice instead of a compulsion by somebody else.

When we "tell" a child to be kind and unselfish to his brother or sister, we create the same resistance that the young advertising man's boss created in him. The resistance only looks like hate of the brother or sister. Actually, it's hate of having his feelings ordered for him.

Today we have very little control of external circumstances. We can't make the Russians behave. We can't change the government's need of big income taxes. We can't reduce the danger of radioactive fallout. We can't park our cars where we want to.

Our actions are continually restricted by everything from "Don't Walk" signs on street corners to the TV repair man's time schedule. So we are becoming very jealous indeed of our right to freedom of feeling.

So are children.

In a world where they can't run across roads lest they be killed or shout in apartment halls lest they upset the neighbors, they can't

Finding New Apartment In New York Social Topic For Breeding Malcontent

By GAY PAULEY
UPI WOMEN'S EDITOR

NEW YORK (UPI) — One way to be the life of the party at any New York gathering is to announce casually, "I've found a new apartment."

Suddenly like bees around blossoms, guests gather round the lucky man or woman holding a brand new three-year lease. The questions begin: "where?", "how much?", "how big?", and "how did you find it?"

Then envy sets in, especially if yours is a penthouse which still leaves you money for groceries. For this is a city where good space in a good neighborhood is at such a premium, apartment hunting becomes chronic with most cave dwellers.

Finding the first "home" is only the beginning. No sooner are you across the threshold, then you start comparing what you have with what your friends have. You have three rooms and bath. They have four, for the same price.

Malcontent breeds. Apartment hunters like house hunters develop all sort of ruses in their search. They range from bribery of the corner newsstand into letting you have the Sunday newspaper real estate sections on Saturday to offers of money to superintendents who usually are the first to know when somebody's moving out.

And what glowing terms the landlords use to fill apartments which back home would be closets. For any young gal or guy planning to make Manhattan home this fall, we offer this dictionary of real estate terms. It may save you countless steps looking at impossible apartments; and countless moves in the future.

For instance, a good buy for this neighborhood means it hasn't been rented because the landlord is asking 150 a month more than the point is worth.

Good view. So what's wrong with a courtyard and garbage can.

partly skimmed milk it's higher in protein, lower in calories than most natural cheeses.

With garden. Some old bricks, a scrawny weeping willow and broken bottles tossed from neighboring windows.

Efficiency kitchen. It's simpler to eat out.

Old world charm. The doors don't quite close and the floors sag from age.

Exclusive neighborhood. The butcher charges 10 cents more on the pound than if you lived on the West Side.

Seven Senior Citizens Celebrate August Dates

By DORIS E. WILSON

Altura Club, which sponsors the weekly meetings of Senior Citizens in Lovitt Memorial Library, were hostesses for the monthly birthday party on Thursday afternoon. Representing Altura were Mrs. W. A. York, Louise Sewell, Marian Osborne, Vera Lard, V. L. Hobbs and Ray E. Wilson.

Red Cross Gray Ladies assisting with the transportation of guests were Mrs. A. D. Hills, Stantley Brandt, and Louise Sewell. Table games and visiting comprised the afternoon's entertainment for the 49 guests.

Celebrating birthdays in August were Mrs. Lenora Dixon, Mrs. O. A. Wagner, Mrs. Mamie Bell, Mrs. Mary Ann Church, Mrs. V. I. d. Beech, C. P. Roop, N. T. Appleton, and N. H. Shireman. Each was presented with a gift and a token of honor, a large pink-icing rose, which decorated the cake. Mrs. Dixon, of Phoenix, Ariz., daughter of Mrs. Iva Ward, 418 W. Browning, was paying her first visit to Senior Center. Her birthday was on August 7. She has three daughters and six grandchildren. And, in Phoenix, she is active in the Ladies of the Moose and a member of the Baptist Church.

Mrs. O. A. Wagner, 618 N. Sumner, celebrated her birthday on Aug. 8. She has two children; a daughter, Mrs. Henry Martin, who resides in Ventura, Calif., and whom she visited recently; and a son, Errol R. Wagner who lives in Odessa. Mrs. Wagner likes to crochet and has completed five tablecloths in the past five years, for each of her grandchildren. One of her happiest birthdays, she recalls, was a surprise birthday party on her 16th birthday. "They really surprised me," she reminisced. The Wagners came to Pampa 25 years ago from Casper, Wyo. Her husband, who is no longer living, was in the production department of Stanolind Oil and Gas Co. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary three years ago, just prior to his death the following month. Mrs. Wagner, since her health is improving, is active in First Christian Church work and is planning to become more active in Eastern Star. She is a past worthy matron of the Star and a member of the OES Gavel Club; she also is a member of the Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club.

Mrs. Mamie Bell, who resides at 1017 Duncan, will celebrate her birthday on August 22. She has lived in Gray County 55 years. Her children are Ben of Dallas, Max of Lake Wood, Calif., Edith of College Park, Maryland, and Doris of Dallas. She also has seven grandchildren. Her husband, Charlie, who is deceased, was a farmer. Mrs. Bell is a member of the Lamar Christian Church and likes to read "good books, not the trashy kind."

Mrs. Mary Ann Church, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. C. B. Homer at 1327 Charles, will celebrate her birthday on Aug. 11. She has lived in Pampa for the past six or seven years, moving here from McAllester, Okla., where she had resided for 75 years. She is a member of the First Methodist Church and likes to do "fancy work."

C. P. Roop, who was unable to be present on Thursday afternoon, will celebrate his birthday on August 18. He has resided in Pampa with his wife for the past 20 years. They have four children, Theodore of Amarillo, Ermer of Santa Cruz, Calif., Mrs. R. B. Brummett of Pampa and Mrs. Bill Evans of Martinez, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Roop regularly attend Senior-Center meetings and celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on June 26. N. T. Appleton, 810 Scott, notes Aug. 12 as his birth date. He has lived in Pampa since 1946. Before retiring, he was a millwright and worked for a number of years in Canadian. His wife passed away on Dec. 14, 1944. Mr. Appleton, who says he was born and raised a Methodist, enjoys gardening and has a crop of beans, peas and tomatoes coming along "if the grasshoppers will leave them alone."

N. H. Shireman, 211 Stark-weather, was born in Nebraska, resided in Ohio for seven years, was engaged in stock farming in Oregon and West Virginia, before making Pampa his permanent home. He has one son, Howard, who lives in Dallas. He attends two churches in his neighborhood that way "I can get both sides of the story." At one time, in 1902, Mr. Shireman was a miner in Alaska. With modest pride, Mr. Shireman told us of a letter he had just recently received from the mayor of Pendleton, Oregon, extending him a special invitation to attend that city's "Old West" days on Sept. 19-20-21. The mayor reminded him that it had been 39 years since he had been back for the special occasion, and Mr. Shireman said, "I just might go."

Dear Abby

★ By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: One of our co-workers is a lovely, intelligent, decent girl but she has started to run around with a married man who works here. Her eyes follow every move he makes. Anyone can tell she is in love with him. She knows he is married and has children but the romance continues just the same. The man has had several such affairs right in this office, but this girl thinks hers and mixed up. Half of me wants to see this fellow again and half of me doesn't. Please tell me what I should do.

OFFICE GIRLS: You are mistaken. No "respectable, highly-principled, decent girl" would date a married man in the "first place." Girls who take a romantic interest in married men are asking for trouble — and they are rarely disappointed. Your co-worker is destined to learn the hard way.

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 but I am big for my age. I told this guy I was 17. He picks me up at every movie he makes. Anyone can tell she is in love with him. She knows he is married and has children but the romance continues just the same. The man has had several such affairs right in this office, but this girl thinks hers and mixed up. Half of me wants to see this fellow again and half of me doesn't. Please tell me what I should do.

MIXED UP: Use the half of you with the brains in it to convince the other half to stay away from this character. He has no respect for you.

DEAR ABBY: I wonder if I am the only woman who faces such a problem? When my husband and I go out to buy something (or have something repaired) he is never satisfied with the fixed price. He has to bargain. Oftentimes he gets the price down, but I get so embarrassed I don't know what to do. We have been married 26 years and he has been this way always.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Diane Hughes Feted With Party

LEPORS (Sp) — Miss Diane Hughes was feted on her sixth birthday, on August 3, with a party given in their home by her mother, Mrs. W. G. Hughes.

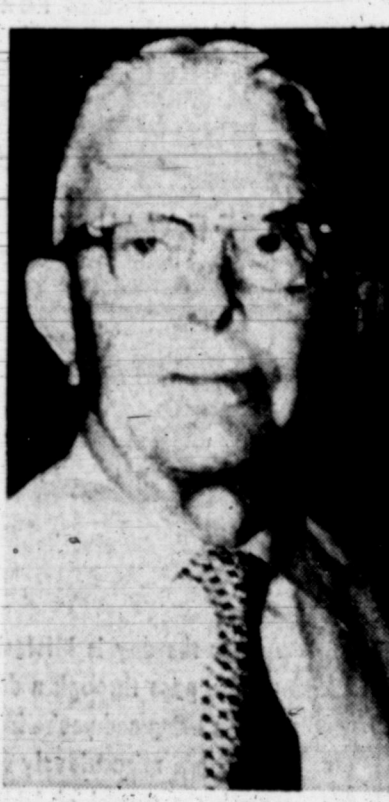

The serving table was centered with a tiered birthday cake decorated gaily in red and white with six red candles on top. As she blew out the candles, the guests sang happy birthday.

Games were led by Miss Carol Christian, cousin of the honoree. Pictures were taken of the event by Mrs. Charles Roberts.

Ice cream was served with the cake. Plate favors were balloons and bubble gum.

Present were Jeannette Griffeth, Jackie and Eddie Rose, Lynn and Joe Fish, Vickie Jo Cochran, Beverly Nobles, Sheryl Sanders, Richard and Morris Roberts, Timmie Tutor, and Evelyn Gee.

Adults present were Mrs. Joe Cochran, Daniel Rose, Orvil Henry, Roy Nobles, Charles Roberts, and W. G. Hughes.

Women's Council Pledges Support

The Women's Council of the Hilland Christian Church met in the home of Mrs. Kay Mason on Tuesday with Mrs. Sam Stone, chairman, opening the meeting with prayer. Mrs. W. C. Scott gave the devotional entitled, "Faith."

Mrs. Leo Wheeler gave the secretary's report. Tentative plans were made for holding future meetings in the evenings so that the fathers may baby-sit.

Council members pledged support with the "Living Link" to Mr. and Mrs. David Bayless in the Amazon Valley in Brazil; also, to Marie Durham Christian Indian School in Sedona, Ariz.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Hazel Crook had made the drapes for the chapel with funds donated by the Women's Council from the Paramount Terrace Christian Church in Amarillo.

Rev. Harold Starbuck, pastor of the Hilland Christian Church, gave a talk on "Calling For Christ."

It was announced that the next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Vernon Wirth, Skelly Schaefer Camp on Sept. 1. All members are urged to attend and bring a guest. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

dew tell!

by Doris E. Wilson

Pampa News Women's Editor

To be able to see beauty in a weed, or to create beauty in a peccolator stand or in a water-melon rind requires a rare talent that is not endowed to most of us. But Mrs. Tom Price's ability to imaginatively create a object of beauty from such common-place articles was an inspiration to at least start trying to develop such talent.

Mrs. Price was the guest speaker on "Floral Arrangements" at the Ladies Day Luncheon, held Wednesday afternoon in the Pampa Country Club. Luncheon hostesses were Mrs. J. T. Cornutt, Mrs. Homer Johnson and Mrs. Charles Woolley.

Mrs. Cornutt, president of the Pampa Garden Club, introduced the guest speaker, who is well-known president of the Pampa Garden Club and served as chairman of the July Flower Show sponsored by the Pampa Garden Club, Top O' Texas Garden Club and the Pampa Rose Society. In the flower show judging, Mrs. Price was awarded two Sweepstakes prizes for her entries in the artistic division.

Using a blackboard to trace the origins of flower arranging, Mrs. Price pointed out that the Japanese, originated flower arranging using only lines in square containers. "They always incorporated three lines; the longest representing Heaven; the next size, Man; and the lowest line represented earth," she explained.

"The European floral arrangement was a mass arrangement in a round container in which they used ever shape, color and size bunched in together."

"The American arrangement has borrowed ideas from each of the arrangements and has come up with a modernized arrangement, which incorporates the use of lines with a mass arrangement to form the center of interest in a low oblong container."

"Each arrangement should have a center of interest," she advised. "Mechanics are necessary evils. You must have them, but you must keep them hidden."

Necessary evils in flower arranging she listed were florist wire, floral tape; drinking straws to elongate short stems. Oasis clay and spliced cushions.

"In preparing the container for the clay, be sure that both are bonded, otherwise the clay will not stick to the bottom of the bowl."

"First, choose your floral location; then what type of arrangement will look best in that particular spot. Next choose your container and remember that the center of interest should be placed in just as vital as the flowers that go into it. The colors are also to be considered. The flowers and the container must go together in spirit."

"Pick flowers after the sun goes down; the plant has more sugar in its leaves at that time of day. Place them in a deep container and fill deep with water. Leave them that way overnight; then the next morning you are ready to make the arrangement."

Mrs. Price expressed the opinion that floral "quickies" or "conversation pieces" are usually more appreciated than the more elaborate arrangements that take a good deal of time.

To illustrate this, she said, "Supposing I'm having my neighbors over for coffee, well, I'll take the dripolator portion from my coffee pot and make a conversation piece." Using three gladioli leaves and two ivy trails with pink petunias forming the center of interest, Mrs. Price created, before the guests, a "conversation piece" that would insure her "neighborhood coffee" being a success.

Another ingenious idea Mrs. Price demonstrated for the luncheon guests was an artistic arrangement in the end section of a watermelon rind. "Which," Mrs. Price said, "makes a perfect container for it already has the water and the soft center for holding the flowers and foliage." Using grape leaves and gladioli spears for foliage, a dried arrangement of red dock and fresh, green grapes for the center of interest, Mrs. Price created a novel arrangement perfect for a patio party.

Another tip passed along by Mrs. Price was the use of uneven numbers of leaves or flowers, "because it creates a more interesting arrangement. The flowers should follow the lines of the foliage, also."

Other attractive arrangements created by the guest during the afternoon were driftwood entwined with ivy. Three graduating - in height white zinnias followed the lines of the graceful driftwood with three larger white zinnias forming a center of interest at the base.

A charming arrangement was created in a small pedestal, milk-glass bowl using grape leaves as the base, ringed with a layer of Silver Mound nesting clusters of red Verbenas.

"At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Cornutt announced the next Ladies Day Luncheon in the club would be held on Sept. 1 at which time, Mrs. Mickey McDonald will be the guest speaker. Mrs. McDonald is director of the American Beauty Charm Club. She is a former Powers model and formerly director of the John Robert Powers Modeling School but is now directing her full time as the American Beauty Charm Club director. You will remember, too, seeing her as a weekly guest on Ruth Brent's TV show over Channel 4.

Special luncheon guests on Wednesday were Mrs. Floyd Kard of Phoenix, Ariz., sister-in-law of Mrs. Lynn Boyd; Mrs. Joe Deason of Amarillo, who writes a weekly garden feature for the Amarillo Globe-News; Mrs. M. R. Dorman, daughter of Mrs. Jack Merchant, both Mrs. Dorman and Mrs. Deason are members of the South Amarillo Garden Club; and Mrs. W. D. Loeb Fleming of Houston, sister of Mrs. Ed Williams.

RUTH MILLETT School Friends Fete Bride-Elect

Any married woman sometimes wonders—Why a man is often too tired to play bridge with another couple but rarely too tired to play poker with the boys.

How a man can become so attached to an old hat, when nothing looks less appealing to a woman than one of her own old hats.

While a house in which a man has been batching it for a week looks as if nobody had lived in it for at least a year.

How a man can tell at a glance the make and model of any car he sees on the road, but when he goes into a furniture store, can't tell French provincial from American colonial.

Why a man can so easily overlook a pretty woman's lack of brains, yet be so annoyed by a plain woman's mistakes.

Why a married man can't drive a nail without his wife at his side to fetch and carry for him.

Why a man hears so little of what his wife tells him.

Why the scrapes a man's son gets into aren't funny at all, while the scrapes he got into as a boy are so hilarious.

Why a man expects his wife to notice when he gets a haircut even though he makes no comment about what a visit to the beauty salon does to her.

Why a man thinks his wife not to go to a lot of trouble when they are having guests to dinner.

Why a man never seems terribly surprised by the gossip his wife tells him.

How a man can say with a straight face that it's too much trouble to go out to dinner—when his wife will have to cook the meal and do the dishes if they eat at home.

Mrs. Burnett Leads Fabulous Furs For Cold Winter

NEA Women's Editor
By GAILE DUGAS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Furs for fall, whether jackets or coats, take on a different look through a slightly broader shoulder line. The classic straight look of a year ago has disappeared in favor of controlled fullness.

Collars get a big play. First, there is much use of fur on fur, for collars and other trim. Then there are many really big collars, designed to be worn several ways. They can spread luxuriously over the shoulders or rise high around the neck. Many of them are set back from the neck to achieve this wanted look.

Sleeves are narrow for the most part, but still retain enough ease so that they can be pushed up or so that the cuff can be turned back. Some have shirring. The shirred sleeve looks especially pretty when it's used for the small bolero or demijacket.

There's no one standard length for fur coats this year. Length is set by your personal preference, by your height and by the type of coat.

For daytime wear, the 23-inch demijacket is a good length since it's designed to cover most suit jackets. For evening wear, there's the short bolero, cut to make a waistline look smaller and to set off bouffant skirts.

The newest styles are smaller and are shaped to stay on. They're meant to provide coverage without swamping a girl.

Ruth Millett School Friends Fete Bride-Elect

Miss Linda Kay Buchanan, bride-elect of Charles Ray Martin, was honored with a bridal shower on Thursday evening in the First Baptist Church parlor. Miss Buchanan and Mr. Martin will exchange wedding vows on August 15 in the First Baptist Church with J. O. Jones, minister of the Mary Ellen and Harvester Church of Christ officiating.

Shower hostesses were Misses Jan Foster, Melvia Miller, Judy Baer, Judy Wale, Betty Smith, Kay Baker, Mmes. Eddie Duengel and Ronnie Martin.

Miss Wells was guest registrar. Corsages of red roses were presented to the honoree, Mrs. T. A. Buchanan, her mother, and to Mrs. Clyde Martin, mother of the groom-elect.

Refreshments were served from a white lace covered table centered with a white net umbrella topped with a shower of red ribbon and encircled with an arrangement of red roses and white Daisies. Two hearts entwined decorated the center of the white sheet cake and were inscribed with "Linda and Charles". Crystal and silver complemented the table appointments. Miss Miller presided at the crystal punch service. Miss Baker served cake.

Approximately 40 guests attended or sent gifts.

Jane Russell Says She May Never Appear Again

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Jane Russell, a stranger to moviegoers since her Russfield Production Company's "Fuzzy Pink Nightgown" disaster two years ago, says she may never appear in pictures again.

"For years I started in any old picture they shoved at me," the bosomy beauty explained. "Almost all of them were terrible. I lately I've refused all the offers. Unless something really special, something elegant, comes along I won't consider motion pictures. I've had it."

Originally, Jane and her husband, famed footballer Bob Waterfield, thought their production company would provide a solution to the nutty brunette's inability to find suitable movies. Their single effort bombed at the boxoffice like a 4th of July speech in Moscow.

Will Appear On TV
Since then Jane has contented herself with occasional television appearances and two night club acts.

Sunday night Jane will display her curves and singing voice on the Ed Sullivan Show in company with her brother, Kevin, who is establishing himself as a warbler on the east coast.

So what does La Russell do with her spare time?
"I've been traveling throughout the country for WAIF, my International Child Adoption Program," she said.

Operates Adoption Program
"In the four years we've been operating, 7,000 children have been placed in American homes. Most of the youngsters are from Europe and Asia. They represent 75 different countries. I give speeches and organize various offices for WAIF wherever I can."

She's a mother of three herself. Thomas, 9, her eldest, was adopted in England. She has a daughter, Tracy, 8, and another son, Buck, 3.

Following the Sullivan show

Jane will hit the straw hat circuit in New England, then head for London and a pair of television appearances.

"I'm having a ball," she smiled. "I go to work when I'm bored, and take life easy when I feel like it. Bob coached the Ram football quarterbacks last year, but this season he is building another restaurant business."

"Last year I made a TV pilot for a series titled 'McCready's Woman,' a story about a woman night club operator who does detective work on the side."

"I decided against it when I found out how much work was involved."

PEEK-A-BOO FISH
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Navy announced Thursday it has developed a new underwater camera housing that has overcome some annoying problems of light and color for underwater photography. But "we still have trouble getting good pictures," researcher George Silberberg said, "because the fish come right up to look into the lenses."

TIPSY TEEN CYCLIST
STON, England (UPI)—A drunken driver was placed on probation today after confessing he had drunk several bottles of beer on the job and had steered a bit wobblingly on his way home. The offender, whose name was withheld, was a 15-year-old baby-sitter, on a bicycle.
