

Ike Talks With Adenauer, Says 'Visits' Might Thaw Cold War

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

BONN, Germany (UPI)—President Eisenhower talked for two hours with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today and then told newsmen his forthcoming exchange of visits with Soviet Premier-Nikita S. Khrushchev may help break the cold war ice jam.

The President added that both he and Adenauer hoped "something good" would come out of his meetings with the Soviet leader.

The President also said it would be a "grave mistake" to hold a summit conference unless the West were confident some real progress could be achieved. He said he would not attend a summit meeting that would amount to a propaganda mill.

Eisenhower said the promise of assurance of progress, for a summit meeting could come from another meeting of the foreign ministers.

Eisenhower addressed a precedent-breaking news conference in the West German Foreign Ministry here after another overwhelming ovation from tens of thousands of Germans and first round cold war talks with the 83-year-old Khrushchev—the first time he ever held a news conference abroad as President of the United States.

Asked whether he believed his forthcoming meetings with Khrushchev would help break the ice jam of the cold war, Eisenhower said he did believe so.

Deplores 'Bomb-Rattling'

At the same time he deplored what he called "bomb-rattling" in world diplomacy and expressed hope that his present historic peace mission to Europe would pave the way to better relations with Russia.

The chief executive said his conversations today with Adenauer had not reached the point where he wanted to discuss them in specific detail.

But he said the West German chancellor shared his hope that the forthcoming exchange of visits with Khrushchev might make some sort of progress toward "melting a little of the ice" between East and West.

Eisenhower said he could not believe any world leaders today were "stupid enough" to want a general war.

He indirectly suggested that Khrushchev, from the enthusiastic welcome given the American President here, might get the idea that the German people were, in effect, stating their firm belief in human dignity and individual freedom.

Eisenhower termed his welcome by the West Germans "almost overpowering in its intensity and volume."

Reminded of Statement

The President, answering questions in a large briefing room of the Foreign Ministry where more than 350 reporters and photographers gathered, was reminded of his statement Wednesday that the people of the United States would stand at the side of West Germany in seeing that the people of West Berlin remain free.

Then he was asked whether he thought hostilities could grow out of the Berlin situation.

"No one in the world wants a general war," Eisenhower said. He conceded that Berlin remained "a real problem" but added forcefully, "I am not going to be classed as a bomb-rattler and I don't believe any one is stupid enough to want one (a general war)."

The conference dealt entirely with foreign policy and from the questioning that lasted nearly 30 minutes came these other highlights:

He anticipates a statement shortly from Washington on whether the United States will continue its voluntary ban on testing atomic weapons. It was announced in Washington Wednesday night the ban had been extended from Oct. 31 to Dec. 31.

No Weakening

He has detected no evidence of weakening Allied unity because of his planned exchange of visits with Khrushchev.

He described the closer political and economic integration of Western Europe as "the hope of salvation for the world."

He said that rather than just negotiating with West Germany, Britain, France and the North Atlantic Treaty countries on specific subjects during his current tour, he was "trying to get a little better atmosphere" in preparation for new dealings with the Russians.

The 83-year-old American President and West Germany's 83-year-old Adenauer plunged into a wide-swinging review of cold war issues after Eisenhower made protocol visits to this nation's incoming and outgoing presidents.

Thousands of freshly-scrubbed school children, free from classes for the occasion, lined the shady streets of Bad Godesberg and Bonn as Eisenhower drove from that temporary White House.

The President stood with head and shoulders above the top of the limousine waving both hands at the crowds and flashing the famous Eisenhower grin.

Gets Warm Reception

He got a particularly warm reception when he passed slowly through the streets of Plittersdorf, a suburban housing area built in 1951 by the U.S. government for American officials and their families.

Nearly all the 1,035 American men, women and children living in the community were in the streets as he passed.

"It was just like fair day back home," commented one American housewife.

The route took the President past a colonial style American church built seven years ago in honor of President Roosevelt's secretary of war, Henry Stimson.

Then the President's convoy rolled down Koblenzstrasse, Bonn's diplomatic street lined with embassies, government ministries and the inevitable American soft-drink bottling plant.

The drive took about 45 minutes before Eisenhower arrived at West German President Theodor Heuss' residence precisely at 8:45 a.m. (3:45 a.m. e.d.t.).

Introduced to Leubke

White-haired Heuss, his usual cigar laid down for the occasion, greeted Eisenhower warmly and led him inside the residence where Eisenhower and incoming

The attractive three-color stamp shows a city skyline on the horizon with a modern farmyard scene in the foreground.

First day covers of the stamp went on sale Wednesday at Rapid City, S.D.

Nikita Fires Off Another Warning

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press International

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has fired off another warning to West Germany about Soviet military might but he said East-West relations may be at an historic turning point.

The letter was sent to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Aug. 19 but was not published in the Soviet press until today.

In the main it appeared to be telling Adenauer not to rock the boat: that big things could come of the forthcoming meetings between President Eisenhower and Khrushchev if Adenauer did not interfere.

Publication coincided with the meeting between Eisenhower and Adenauer in Bonn today.

Issues Warning

The Soviet premier accused the West German government of being more interested in arming the West German army with nuclear and missile weapons than with reunification of East and West Germany.

He warned Adenauer that not even the combined military might of the West could equal the power of the Soviet bloc.

Tass news agency said Khrushchev did not say this for the purpose of intimidation, but rather to tell Adenauer that war would be "tantamount to suicide and the destruction" of West Germany.

Cites Exchange Visits

Khrushchev said he attached great significance to his forthcoming exchange of visits with Eisenhower and that important questions would be discussed.

"It may be we are on the eve of an historic turn in the policy of the two blocs"—from further isolation to gradual rapprochement and adjustment of the outstanding issues to ensure the peaceful coexistence of all states," the Khrushchev letter said.

Khrushchev said Soviet Russia and West Germany have ideological differences but "no sane thinking man could think that they could be overcome by way of war."

Mexico Earthquake Kills 10, Hurts 100's

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—South-eastern Mexico today began digging out from under the wreckage of a violent earthquake that left at least 10 dead and hundreds injured.

Authorities feared the death toll would soar as rescue teams carried on the grim search through collapsed homes and buildings.

Unofficial reports filtering in from isolated towns and villages estimated the quake had caused more than 60 fatalities. Several thousand persons were homeless and damage estimates ran into the millions of dollars.

The temblor hit early Wednesday rocking a seven state area stretching 600 miles from Puebla, just below Mexico City to Progreso Port, in the southeast.

Most of the destruction was recorded in the Gulf Coast section of the Tehuantepec Isthmus.

Jalisco, a sulphur-mining town of 3,000 population in Veracruz state, reported seven known dead and half its homes destroyed.

Other areas of considerable property damage as did Minatitlan, where a large government oil refinery is located.

About seven miles from the critical-Eduardo Alvarado Mendez was hunting bats about 3 a.m. when "the earth shook," he reported, and the edge of the cliff on which he stood fell into a ravine 150 feet below.

The quake in southeast Mexico, reported felt in areas close to Mexico City — Puebla and Mexico states — occurred at 2:26 a.m.

Quake Might Have Caused Roof Of Apartment House To Fall, Three Die

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Three Mexico City deaths and one critical injury were possibly related to the violent earthquake which Wednesday rocked the Isthmus of Tehuantepec.

The three deaths occurred in the city when a roof on a multiple dwelling apartment house caved in about an hour after the quake struck in southeast Mexico.

About seven miles from the critical-Eduardo Alvarado Mendez was hunting bats about 3 a.m. when "the earth shook," he reported, and the edge of the cliff on which he stood fell into a ravine 150 feet below.

The quake in southeast Mexico, reported felt in areas close to Mexico City — Puebla and Mexico states — occurred at 2:26 a.m.

FIRST IN LINE FOR NEW CONSERVATION STAMP

Postmaster O. K. Gaylor this morning handled a big first day sale of a new commemorative postage stamp honoring soil conservation. His customers were four supervisors of the Gray County Soil Conservation District and Bill Brooks, the county's work unit conservationist. Left to right are Elmer McLaughlin, SCD secretary from Laketon; Roland Dauer, vice-president from Pampa; Postmaster Gaylor; Curtis Schaffer, chairman of the SCD board of supervisors, Grandview; Bill Brooks; and James W. SENATOR LYNDON JOHNSON ... speaks to Legionnaires

Warning of 'Delusion' Is Made By Johnson

By SAM NEWLUND
United Press International

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson warned today that the "greatest tragedy" would result if Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's forthcoming visit was viewed as indicating a thaw in the cold war.

Johnson spoke as the American Legion convention put aside a hot racial battle and prepared to vote for a new national commander, Martin McKneally, 44-year-old bachelor from Newburgh, N. Y., was considered a shoo-in to succeed Preston J. Moore of Stillwater, Okla.

"This is the delusion that could lead us into letting down our guard," Johnson told the national American Legion convention in a prepared speech.

The Texas Democrat said, "there are those who feel that Mr. Khrushchev's visit is simply an elaborate facade for a two-man summit conference, which has been his publicly expressed goal since he attained power."

Backs President

"Mr. Khrushchev's planned itinerary certainly does nothing to dispel this feeling," Johnson added. This was an apparent reference to the fact that five of Khrushchev's 13 days in the United States would be spent in Washington.

"But at this point the wisdom of the invitation is academic," Johnson said. "The issue remaining is whether we conduct ourselves in such a way as to serve the best interests of America."

"On this we must, and we shall, stand behind our President," he declared.

Johnson was the second possible 1960 presidential candidate to address the Legion on the touchy subject of Khrushchev's visit. Vice President Richard M. Nixon earlier stuck back at criticism of the visit and urged Americans to give Khrushchev a "courteous reception."

Moany Blasts Soviet

Many Legion members opposed the Russian leader's U. S. tour, starting Sept. 15. Resolutions condemning Khrushchev and his visit are before the convention.

AFL-CIO President GEORGE MEANY denounced Khrushchev in a later speech as the leader of bloody purges and the director of crimes against freedom. But Meany did not criticize President Eisenhower for inviting the Soviet chief.

"Talk will get us somewhere only if we are strong," Meany said. "Even the strongest words and the longest talk of those who are weak will not necessarily prevent war—unless it be talk of surrender and submission. And such talk, I am sure, no American will ever agree to."

Optimists Set Breakfast Club

Plans were made for chartering the Optimist Breakfast Club at the weekly meeting of the club, held this morning at Johnson's Cafe.

With 30 men present, it was decided that the club had reached charter strength (a minimum of 25 under Optimist International rules). The charter ceremony has been set for 8 p.m. Sept. 10.

The club has been meeting for the past five weeks in an effort to build its membership up to the required number. The new club, a separate organization with its own officers, will work with the present Optimist Club in many of its programs.

Two committees were formed, to pass by-laws and nominate officers, in anticipation of the official chartering. Chairman of the nominating committee is Glen Adams, and working with him are Dwan Kuntze, Dale Ladd, Jerry Cooley, and Kendall Green.

Ham Hamilton is chairman of the by-laws committee. Other members are Bill Dycus, J. C. Boyles, and Red Griggs.

Stone Brothers To Remain Here

The wish of three brave young boys — surviving members of the Lewis R. Stone family which was so tragically robbed of five lives in the early Sunday morning Gliking Apartment fire here — has come true.

"We just want to stay together," stated 14 year old Leslie Stone Tuesday before he and his two brothers, Russell, 17, and Norman Ray, 12, attended the funeral of their parents, two brothers, Gary, 15, and Kenneth, eight, and a sister, Betty, 20.

Today, thanks to the generosity of Pampa citizens, the three surviving Stone brothers have been assured they'll be able to stay together.

The boys will stay here and go to school. They will live with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Poole of 1120 Juniper.

A sum of $4,700 contributed by the citizens of Pampa has been deposited in the Citizens Bank and Trust Company and more money is coming in. The Stone family account is expected to hit over $5,000.

Four Pampa men have been named as administrators of the fund. They are Mr. Stone's employer, Ed Hollis, Mayor Ed Myatt, Bill Parrish and Floyd Imel. Imel will be serving in an advisory capacity.

The boys' father, Mr. Lewis R. Stone, was employed by Hollis for two weeks until his death. Hollis and Parrish worked closely with Radio Station KHHH which broadcast an appeal for funds.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it, Lewis Hollis, Adv.

Police Are Stymied Over Killer Of Young Coed, 21

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Police today were without a concrete lead to the identity of the killer of attractive University of Southern California coed Linda Edna Martin.

The 21-year-old coed's former husband, John L. Taylor, 24, was completely eliminated Wednesday as a possible suspect in the baffling case, police said.

Capt. Sidney Lambert said Los Angeles police received a "time-table" of Taylor's whereabouts at the time of the Sunday knifing. Taylor was in Glenview of Evanston, Ill., during the "critical hours," according to the Illinois report.

Miss Martin of Rockville Center, N.Y., was found stabbed three times and bleeding to death in the stairway leading to her fiancé's apartment. Police said she apparently was stabbed shortly after she stepped nude from her bath.

IKE ORDERS TESTING BAN

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower has ordered a two-month extension of the U.S. ban on nuclear weapons testing.

The moratorium on testing, which was scheduled to expire Oct. 31—now will extend through Dec. 31.

The State Department, in announcing the President's order Wednesday night, expressed hope that both Great Britain and Russia also would decide to continue the suspension through the rest of this year.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, chairman of the Senate disarmament subcommittee, promptly hailed the decision.

He said the extension would allow the recessed Geneva test ban conference almost three months additional time to determine whether the issues before it could be resolved and a permanent nuclear test ban reached. The conference, which recessed Wednesday, reconvenes Oct. 12.

The State Department also said the suspension of tests for the additional two months would allow "a reasonable period of time" for the Geneva negotiations to proceed after they are resumed.

Diplomatic officials have reported that the Big Three Western Allies are expected to join Russia in about 10 days in unveiling an agreement providing for resumption of East-West disarmament talks on a hard-rock basis.

Humphrey noted that the President had "withstood considerable pressure" in reaching the decision to extend the suspension. He apparently referred to arguments by Pentagon and Atomic Energy Commission officials for a resumption of testing after Oct. 31 in the absence of a firm agreement on a permanent ban.

US Arms Will Be Airlifted To Laos Now

By THOMAS J. FOLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Emergency arms and equipment will be airlifted immediately to Laos to help repulse spreading Communist guerrilla attacks, U. S. officials said today.

U. S. Pacific commander Adm. Harry D. Felt has been given the job of carrying out the decision announced Wednesday to rush additional arms and money aid to the former Indo-China republic.

Felt has Air Force, Navy and Marine planes under his command.

No dollar amount on the aid was available. However, enough money to pay and equip more than 5,000 additional local militia and army troops was to be turned over to the Laotian government.

The equipment itself consists of World War II-type "shot" arms, uniforms and tents now available at several U.S. bases in the Far East. These include Okinawa, the Philippines, Formosa and Guam.

Since Laos is a land-locked country without railroad service to its capital, the equipment necessarily must be transported by air.

There was expected to be little delay in making the equipment available to the 25,000-man Laotian army. Officials conceded it may take a matter of months to train additional troops for fighting the Communist insurgents in the Laotian jungles.

State Department spokesmen made clear that the question of intervention by U.S. troops has not yet been seriously considered.

The same was true for armed intervention by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, which has pledged protection for the tiny nation.

Injured Driver Still Critical

PERRYTON — Guy Hall, 24, of Perryton, was reported to be still in critical condition at Sanford Hospital today. Hall was taken to the local hospital with injuries suffered when the butane truck he was driving collided with a car Tuesday.

The crash claimed the lives of three members of a Turpin, Okla., family.

Hall received head injuries. Also hospitalized was Larry Verhon Antrim, driver of the car. He also suffered head injuries and is listed in good condition.

Killed in the accident were his wife, Patricia Lee, 18; and his parents, Samuel Vernon Antrim, 59; and Rose Nell Antrim, 54.

The bodies of the Turpin family were taken to the Boxwell Funeral Home in Perryton and later transferred to the Miller Mortuary in Liberal, Kan., where arrangements are pending.

The accident occurred two miles south and a mile west of Gray, Okla., according to Oklahoma Highway Patrolman Bill Bowers.

Police Investigate Incident at Park

Police today are searching for the parents of a child reportedly bitten in City Park Tuesday night by a brindle-colored puppy.

The dog-biting incident was reported to Pampa police Tuesday evening by a woman who failed to identify herself. When officers arrived at the park they failed to find the child supposedly bitten and spotted only one dog.

The dog, a brindle-colored puppy, was picked up by the officers, who now have it at the city dog pound. Chief Jim Conner said he would like to contact the person who reported the incident, the parents of the bitten child and the owners of the puppy.

Robert L. Price, 901 Varnon, was sentenced to six months in county jail Wednesday after pleading guilty to a charge of swindling with a worthless check.

Price passed the check, valued at $15.76, March 21 at Ward's Market.

In a second case heard Wednesday, Leonard D. Blanton, 48, of Rt. 4, was fined $25 for driving while his license was suspended. Blanton was arrested by Highway Patrolman Travis Underwood.

Steel Talks In Second Day

NEW YORK (UPI) — United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald returns for the second straight day today to the bargaining table, asserting that both sides in the steel strike are far from agreement "on any issue."

McDonald appeared at morning and afternoon meetings Wednesday for the first time since Aug. 7 when he walked out saying he was "sick of that show in New York."

Afterward, he denied "that there is agreement near between the union and industry on any issue, economic or otherwise."

Chief Federal Mediator Joseph F. Finnegan offered no more hope than McDonald that an end was in sight to the strike, now in its seventh week.

Finnegan said both the union and industry four-man bargaining teams had made a "businesslike review" and covered "a substantial portion" of the work carried on by subcommittees during the past 2 1/2 weeks.

But when asked if this indicated any chance for an early settlement, he replied "by no means."

Forgason Seen In Amarillo

AMARILLO (UPI) — An acquaintance of Herman Clayton Forgason, 29, one of five prisoners who escaped from the Tarrant county jail at Fort Worth early this month, said he saw Forgason in Amarillo early today.

The acquaintance said he saw him driving a 1954 or 1955 model tan Cadillac.

Roadblocks were immediately set up for Forgason, who was convicted of the armed robbery of a cafe in Amarillo in March and received a 15-year sentence. He also is under a two-year sentence in Amarillo for swindling by worthless check.

Forgason is the only one of the five prisoners still at large.

Peanut Butter Floats Are Big Hit With Youngsters

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Active youngsters seem to have bottomless appetites for cookies and drinks during warm weather. Both of these recipes will keep them happy and healthy. They provide excellent nourishment, being made with nutritious super-nutritive milk. One quart of liquid milk is used in the peanut butter float. The nutty drop cookies have an extra bonus of enrichments, because of the milk in dry form in the recipe. The family size package of this nonfat dry milk makes 12 quarts of nonfat milk for about 8 cents a quart and provides all of milk's nutrients except fat.

NUTTY DROP COOKIES
(Makes 40 to 50 (2-inch) cookies)
Two cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup super nonfat dry milk, 1/2 cup butter, 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract, 1 cup brown sugar (firmly packed), 1 egg, 2 tablespoons water, 40 to 50 walnut halves.
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; gently stir in super nonfat dry milk. Cream butter and vanilla in large mixer bowl; gradually add brown sugar; beat until mixture is light and fluffy. Blend in egg and water. Beat in flour mixture, in three additions, until well moistened. Drop batter by heaping teaspoons onto well-greased baking sheet. Place walnut half on each cookie. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 8 to 10 minutes or until edges of cookies are brown.

PEANUT BUTTER FLOAT
(Makes 4 (8-ounce) servings)
One quart liquid super nonfat dry milk, chilled; 1/2 cup peanut butter, 1/2 cup honey, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract.
Blend all ingredients together thoroughly with rotary beater. Serve over ice cubes in large glasses.

Mealtime Dilemma Solved With Tasty Ham And Rice Casserole

It's the lucky family whose head chef knows the value of being able to use those small pieces of leftover meats in a short order, second-day dinner.
It's not just luck for a last minute thought when a homemaker can accomplish this art. Such a meal is usually planned in advance.
So for the homemaker who doesn't want to spend an inspired afternoon in the kitchen and who just might happen to have some leftover ham in the refrigerator, your mealtime dilemma

Macaroni Salad Calls For Seconds

Macaroni salads can be savory and attractive as well as practical and substantial. They also can be a "very, very good" may I have a second helping?" type of salad. Rule No. 1 — Don't use macaroni for more than half the bulk of your salad.

Rule No. 2 — Marinate the hot, cooked macaroni in a savory French dressing.

Rule No. 3 — Add interesting ingredients. In a vegetable salad add abundance of colorful vegetables: cooked tender-crisp or crisp, raw vegetables such as cucumbers, radishes, tomatoes, carrots.

Rule No. 4 — Use a well-seasoned dressing based on mayonnaise and perhaps dairy sour cream.

For a main course salad — add 1 pint diced, cooked shrimp; turkey or chicken.

MACARONI MUSHROOM SALAD

4 oz. shell macaroni
1 can (6 oz.) sliced broiled mushrooms
1-3 cup well-seasoned French dressing
1-3 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups celery, sliced diagonally
1 cup unpeeled sliced cucumber wedges
1 cup sliced radishes
Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until barely tender, and drain well. Drain mushrooms, reserving broth for future use. Combine macaroni and mushrooms in suitable container. Add French dressing and mix thoroughly. Cover, and chill for several hours stirring occasionally. Drain excess French dressing from macaroni mixture. Combine and add mayonnaise, lemon juice, mustard and salt and mix well. Just before serving add crisp vegetables and toss lightly.
Makes 4 generous servings.

Summer Casserole Is Tempting To Jaded Appetites

A warm weather dish, light yet substantial, is the "Sunday Night Casserole," a satisfying end to a day of summer recreation. Served with cold cuts and an iced drink, it makes a delicious course for a family menu or adds that extra touch to a company buffet.

This recipe calls for frozen broccoli, but other frozen or left-over vegetables such as cauliflower or asparagus, are equally good.

SUNDAY NIGHT CASSEROLE

6 hard-cooked eggs
1 package frozen broccoli, cooked until almost tender
2 1/2 cups prepared package stuffing
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon minced onion
3 cups milk
1 cup grated Cheddar and 1/2 cup Parmesan Cheese
1/4 cup butter melted in 1/4 cup hot water

In a buttered, shallow baking dish, distribute 1 cup of packaged prepared stuffing. On this arrange drained broccoli; then eggs, halved or quartered lengthwise. In saucepan melt butter, blend in flour and salt. Stir to thicken. Add onion, then milk. Stir constantly until thickened. Pour over casserole. Top with remainder of stuffing crumbs blended with butter, hot water, and cheese. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25-30 minutes, or until lightly browned and bubbly. Garnish with dashes of paprika and strips of green pepper, or parsley. Serves 4 to 6.

A QUICK AND EASY

Grind 1/4 pound ready-to-serve meat. Remove the shells from hard-cooked eggs and cut in half lengthwise. Separate yolks from whites. Mash yolks and add ground meat, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 2 tablespoons vinegar and 2 tablespoons mayonnaise. Mix well and fill each egg white with mixture using for hot pastry tube.

YIELD: 8 servings.

Wisconsin Cheddar Soup

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup diced carrot
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
6 cups chicken broth
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
1 1/2 cups grated cheddar cheese (about 6 ounces)
1 12-ounce bottle or can beer

Melt butter; add celery, carrot and onion and cook until tender, but not brown. Blend in flour and cook, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Add Tabasco and cheese; heat until cheese is melted. Just before serving, add beer; heat to serving temperature. Add salt to taste, if necessary. Garnish with chopped parsley or croutons, if desired. This soup can be frozen.

YIELD: 8 servings.

Cheddar Soup Calls for Beer

This cheese soup is delicious! Serve it informally from a huge tureen with grilled frankfurters cooked over fireplace coals or hefty sandwiches made from home-baked ham or a roast. Other good accompaniments include mustard, dill pickle strips and steins or glasses of light, bright beer.

The appetizing golden color of the soup comes from its base of aged cheddar cheese. The tantalizing flavor is from a small amount of beer in combination with more familiar seasonings.

YIELD: 8 servings.

Plan Picnics From the Freezer

Director, Department of Home Economics National Live Stock and Meat Board

If you're interested in time saving picnic foods or if you're a "spur of the moment" picnicker, a freezer will provide short order assistance. Menus planned around frozen foods can assure ease in preparation as well as in packing.

Menus with Appeal

Attractive to see and delicious to taste describe appealing foods. A meat main course, a vegetable, salad or relishes or both, dessert and beverage usually provide a satisfying menu for hearty picnic appetites. Ground beef patties or ground beef-shaped to serve on a finger roll or bun and sandwiches with sliced or ground cooked beef, veal, pork or lamb or ground cooked meats are ideal for freezing. Mayonnaise, catch-up, mustard, olives, pickles and pickle relish may be packed for the "as you like" extras. Corn-on-the-cob can be the vegetable. Baker's cup cakes, cookies (including brownies) are dessert suggestions and tea or coffee are beverage ideas.

For the Freezer

Ground beef patties or ground beef rolls may be shaped for individual servings before freezing. To be at their best, seasonings should not be added before freezing. The individual servings are properly wrapped and quickly frozen for storage. When desired, they can be taken from the freezer and transported, as wrapped, to the picnic; ready to be unwrapped and grilled or broiled. For variety, bacon may be wrapped around the servings just before cooking.

Sandwiches with sliced cooked beef, veal, pork and lamb freeze well. Butter the bread or not, as desired, make the sandwiches, wrap them carefully for freezing, freeze quickly and store until ready to use. The sandwiches should be removed from the freezer long enough before serving.

Outside Counts With Sandwich

Usually when eating a sandwich, it's what's inside that counts. But this isn't always true. When preparing sandwiches for a family reunion, community picnic and annual office group outing, the U.S. Department of Agriculture says the outside counts, too.

Tests on quantity food preparation show that day-old pullman or sandwich bread is firm enough, yet not too dry for easy, fast spreading of fillings, which often tear fresh bread.

Another tip from USDA home economists: Have all ingredients and equipment ready before making sandwiches. Have butter or margarine softened, fillings mixed and lettuce, if used, crisp and thoroughly drained.

Place bread in rows, preferably four rows of 10 slices each which will allow making 20 sandwiches at a time.

Then, without picking up slices of bread, spread each one with softened butter, margarine or mayonnaise; place filling on alternate slices and spread evenly to the edges before covering with the matching slice of bread.

If the filling is sliced food, such as cheese or meat, use the same system, placing these foods on alternate slices. If lettuce is desired, lay it on the filling before covering with the second slice of bread.

Stack several sandwiches together and cut in half diagonally with a sharp knife. Place a cut sandwich in storage pans and cover completely with waxed paper and damp towels. Keep refrigerated until serving time.

MEAT IN THE DIET

It is important to know that meat is just as important in the weight-reducing diet as it is in the weight-gaining diet.

Commuter Air Service Slated

DALLAS (UPI) — A commuter airline link between Dallas and Houston will begin operation within 90 days according to former Denver and San Francisco radio broadcaster David M. Segal.

Segal said Wednesday his new Lone Star Airlines will begin regular coach commuter service between the two sprawling Texas cities with at least six flights per day. He said the new line will use only Martin 202's at the start of the service, but may bring in four-engine planes later, depending on demand for service.

He said pilots will be hired from existing airlines and that members of a company staff will be announced later.

"The American people stand by your side in assuring that the loyal free people of free Berlin will, like yourselves, continue always to enjoy that great privilege."

LOS ANGELES — Royal Air Force Wing Commander John L. R. Bowman, a British space scientist, discussing the conditions under which space pioneers might work:

Chuckles Assembly of God Delegates Pouring Into San Antonio

United Press International NEW YORK (UPI) — Investment Manager George Washburn, who was told Monday the government accepted his bid of $18,000 for a tiny, rocky island in Long Island Sound, has only one problem. He admitted he had no particular reason for buying the island and doesn't quite know what to do with it.

NO FEATHER BEDDING HIRAGA, Japan (UPI) — When Mayor Tetsuaburo Sueda goes on an economy kick he really means it. He reduced his salary from $111 to $69 a month and took over without pay the jobs of assistant mayor, treasurer and the property assessment committee.

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Delegates from all over the world were still pouring into San Antonio today for the biennial convention of the Assemblies of God. The visitors filled every available hotel and motel room and spilled over into private homes.

C. E. McNeely, the housing committee chairman, said "the situation will be critical by Friday and Saturday because of the weekend traffic."

McNeely said at Wednesday night's opening meeting at the Municipal Auditorium that delegates arriving the rest of the week will have to take rooms in private homes. Hotels and motels reported they could accommodate no more guests, McNeely told the convention.

Eight-thousand persons had already arrived and church leaders predicted that at least 4,000 more would arrive by the weekend. It was described as the largest convention ever held in San Antonio. The larger rooms in some of the hotels and the downtown YMCA have been converted into dormitories. The convention will last through Tuesday. The theme of the convention is "Forward With Christ." Among the delegates were some 200 missionaries dressed in the costumes of the countries from which they came. Delegates arrived from Nigeria and the new nation of Ghana and two came from Russia.

The Rev. Ralph M. Riggs, of Springfield, Mo., general superintendent of the Assemblies of God, delivered the keynote sermon Wednesday night.

Congress Optimistic About Compromise Labor Reform Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate House conferees were optimistic today that they could finish writing a compromise labor reform bill by nightfall.

The measure generally would follow the lines of the House legislation rather than the milder Senate version on the controversial issues of secondary boycotts and organizational picketing.

The seven House and seven Senate conferees were close to agreement on these key matters in their eighth day of bargaining.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), one of the negotiators, predicted the lawmakers would settle their differences by tonight and send the bill to the House and Senate for action next week. However, a hitch could develop which would delay or block agreement.

Other congressional news: Housing: The House took up a $1,050,000,000 housing bill designed to replace a more costly measure vetoed by President Eisenhower. Democratic leaders were confident they could defeat all attempts to make major changes. Eisenhower has hinted he might veto the new bill, already approved by the Senate.

Civil Rights: Southerners attacked a proposed constitutional amendment which would ban the payment of poll taxes as a requirement for voting in federal elections. Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala.) branded it "unwarranted, unnecessary and unjustifiable" at a Senate judiciary subcommittee hearing. The subcommittee was expected to approve the proposal.

Chicago water: Sen. Winston L. Prouty (R-Vt.) said legislation to let Chicago draw extra water from Lake Michigan for its sewage system would "imperil" friendly relations between the United States and Canada. The Senate is debating the water diversion bill.

Suez Canal: Thirteen congressmen urged the World Bank to hold up a loan to the United Arab Republic for enlarging the Suez Canal until that nation gave assurances that no country would be banned from the canal.

Marines: Rep. Craig Hosmer (R-Calif.) told the House that three of the Marine Corps' five lieutenant generals were seeking to retire immediately because of a new law. He said the law might STOMPIN' ROCKET—Secretary Linda Weakley tries out the latest fad, the stompin' rocket, being demonstrated in Washington, D.C., by Dietrich G. Rempel, Akron, Ohio, toy maker. The rocket looks sure to replace the hula hoop. By jumping on the rubber air bulb, missiles, with sponge rubber nose cones, can be shot 300 feet. The rockets are 8 inches long and the launcher is a 40-inch plastic hose.

FINISH WT AVIATION COURSE

These five Top O' Texas area elementary teachers have recently completed a special three-week Aviation Workshop, offered for the first time this summer by West Texas State College and carrying three hours credit toward graduate work. The course, offered so that teachers might better explain to their pupils the vast and rapidly growing aviation industry was instructed by West Texas education professor, Keniffeth Waugh, left. Elementary teachers taking the course, from left to right were:

Jean Waugh of Amarillo; Sue Lynn Hulse of Amarillo; Roberta Hickman of Stephen F. Austin in Pampa; Joyce Ward of Amarillo and Stella Kiser of William B. Travis in Pampa. The course included flights by the CAP, Cessna Co. and Amarillo Air Force Base. The group toured Randolph AFB in San Antonio, Walker AFB in Roswell, N.M. and Amarillo AFB. They also heard speakers from the Air Force Academy, Convair Co., Tempo Chemical Co., Norad of Colorado Springs, and the Amarillo AFB.

300 CONGRESSMEN
WRITE NEWSLETTERS

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A well-meaning congressman whose identity has been forgotten got the idea some years ago that he was a writer. He started sending a weekly newsletter to the papers back home and to some of the community leaders.

In light of subsequent developments, this legislative innovation currently is being compared to the introduction into this country from England of the first starting back in the 1890's. Congressional newsletters now go out from capitol post offices each week by the hundreds of thousands of copies.

Some of them are worth reading and they sure are the best way to circulate jokes since television was invented.

In anticipation of the start of the Pan American games in Chicago later this week, Rep. Sidney R. Yates (D-Ill.) was assuring his 4,200 readers recently of Congress' unflinching and kindly interest in sports.

Snappy Outfielder

He said he had just heard in the House cloakroom about a fellow who led his horse into a major league ball park and demanded that the manager give him a tryout. The team must have been in a pretty bad slump. Anyway, Yates said the manager sent the horse into the outfield and knocked him some flies. The horse caught each ball in his mouth and snapped it back with a whip of his neck.

"Can he hit?" the manager asked. "Try him," said the horse's owner. He stepped up to the plate. He hit every pitch out of sight.

"He's great," the manager said. "We'll use him tomorrow." The bases were loaded when the horse came to bat. He hit the first pitch into left field, then stood there pawing the ground.

"Run, you fool," the manager shouted. "Why doesn't he run?" "If he could run," the horse's owner replied sadly, "he'd be at Arlington Park."

Nobody knows exactly how many of the 537 House and Senate members have "letters" come with a desire to write their own columns. Surveys indicate the number is at least 300. Many letters have press runs of 10,000 copies or more.

Bread Segregation

Unlike Yates, most of the authors obviously believe the way to stay out of trouble is to shun anything either amusing or controversial. But Rep. Jim Wright (D-Tex.) is one who is willing to be both.

When "The Three Little Pigs" was discovered recently to have implications beyond those we had thought, and after a furor was raised over a child's book about black and white rabbits, Wright took tongue in cheek and told his Texas readers somebody was proposing that a law be passed requiring grocers to keep white and brown bread on separate shelves.

"Asked what significance there could be in a loaf of bread, the advocate fixes his questioner with a baleful eye," Wright said, "and demands, 'Do you want your daughter to marry a heel?'" Rep. Glenn Cunningham (R-Neb.) is another congressional columnist who knows what makes news. Early this year he reported that more than 100 House members had put their relatives on the "congressional payroll." Not only did he come right out and mention this unmentionable subject, but he offered to forward a list of the offenders, their kinfolks, and the salaries paid them.

Cunningham also always tries for a laugh. A while back he got one he hadn't figured on. He related that one night after he and Mrs. Cunningham turned off the TV set, he went upstairs to bed while she went to the kitchen to fix sandwiches for the children's lunches next day.

Fifteen minutes later the TV burst into flames. Mrs. Cunningham spotted the fire and although the set was ruined the house was saved. Cunningham rhetorically said, "We hate to think what might have happened" if Mrs. Cunningham had gone upstairs with him.

"Well, what might have happened?" a number of his readers wrote in to inquire.

ROUND AND ROUND

EASTBOURNE, England (UPI)—Robert Cook's car got stuck in reverse and ruined his perfect driving record. Cook had never had an accident until the car went out of control, backwards. It hit another car, crossed a sidewalk, went up a bank, crossed a lawn, skidded back to the road and finally stopped two feet in front of a wall.

KISHI RETURNS FROM INTERNATIONAL TOUR

Foreign News Commentary
By ARNOLD DIBBLE
United Press International

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan's Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi has returned from a grand tour of Europe and Latin America and now must face up to the hard and confusing realities of Japanese political life.

Japan has been described as a country whose political and governmental leaders know exactly what they want but do not know how to get it. This, of course, is overstatement, but to an "outsider" it bears more than a passing relationship to truth.

In Japan, a clear mandate from the electorate is not always a clear mandate for action. Because of the parliamentary system, Kishi, unlike President Eisenhower, has a strong majority (close, but not quite two thirds) in both houses of parliament. Yet, it would be safe to say, President Eisenhower has been able to push a far greater percentage of his program through a hostile Congress than Kishi has been able to get through a friendly Diet.

The Japanese Premier's biggest problem at present — one that could topple his government and lead to new general elections — is the issue of revision of the U.S.-Japanese Security Treaty. This problem makes for an interesting study in Oriental politics.

Part of Peace

This treaty — which grants the United States base rights and a certain amount of logistical support in Japan — was an important part of the price the U.S. levied in return for the peace treaty that was hammered out in San Francisco in 1951. It was, admittedly, an "unequal" treaty, but even many Japanese concede it was surprisingly liberal considering the fact Japan was an utterly defeated nation.

But, because it was a dictated treaty, the socialists and their hand-holding leftist sympathizers began demanding revision of the treaty with the idea of ultimately quashing the treaty entirely.

Kishi agreed to try to negotiate a revision.

The socialists and assorted left-wingers have been holding rallies to protest the revision. The Kishi conservatives hope to bring the revised treaty before the regular session of the Diet, which is scheduled to go into session in December.

Foreign Minister Achiro Fujiyama said as recently as two weeks ago that the U.S. and Japan have agreed on virtually all points in the revised treaty. The main stumbling block is how much say Japan is going to have in the deployment of U.S. troops based in Japan — whether Japanese troops can be sent from here to fight other nations. The treaty undoubtedly will be vague on this point, thus satisfying no one, but creating all the elements for political controversy. And there will be plenty of the latter.

Socialists To Maneuver
The socialists are expected to use all the accepted political maneuvers — boycott, fist fights, mass picketing, microphone-hiding, yells, stamping, etc. — to block ratification of the revised treaty. Despite Kishi's huge parliamentary majority, he was not able to push through his revised police powers bill last year against such tactics.

If there were new elections, Kishi's Conservative Party undoubtedly would win and thus his own life as Premier would be lengthened.

If there are no new elections, it is freely predicted that members of Kishi's own party will force him to retire from the leadership within a year.

STEEL HOUR TV COMEDY REFRESHING, ENJOYABLE

By FRED DANZIG
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — About once every summer, the U. S. Steel hour comes up with a diverting, enjoyable comedy. And such an occasion came Wednesday night—thanks chiefly to some fine-honed acting by Hans Conried, Monique Van Voore and Scott McKay. The story of "A Taste for Champagne" on the CBS-TV vehicle was one of those pooped-out packages of popcorn, timid bookkeeper swipes company payroll, flies to Paris with gorgeous blonde and, after a suitable interval (second act) of wooing and winning, is brought to justice (but not too harshly because he's so lovable).

Because this plot is so familiar, the job of making it fresh and interesting was all the harder. But the mission was accomplished through the bright dialogue by Bob Van Scoyk, the irresistible, roguish charm of Conried, the sharpness of Miss Van Voore's portrayal of a continental gold-digger. She has added new, er, dimensions to her appeal. She can act.

My favorite scene was one in a beatnik Paris cellar, boite, where Hans and Monique sipped away some of the $85,000 he had embezzled in River City, Mich. too late. The club's custom was for the customers to entertain, so Monique threw herself into an animated French song. When the fight scenes in "Body and Soul," the DuPont Show of the Month set for Monday, Sept. 28 on CBS-TV... Shakespeare's "The Tempest," originally listed for May 2 NBC telecasting, has been moved up to Wednesday, Feb. 3.

The 4th U.S. Army Recruiting Service presented a certificate of achievement this week to Mrs. Kathleen F. Zmotony, a clerk the past six years at Pampa's Selective Service office. The certificate noted Mrs. Zmotony's "outstanding service during past years to the

Buxom U.S. Statue Should Never Have Made Soviet Trip

The Lighter Side
By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — You can't ever tell about big buxom nudes, apparently. Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio) said when he eyeballed the one we have on display at the Moscow fair he thought right away, "we should have left her at home."

She's the — ah — hefty type, Hays explained. And not at all what he would consider the typical slim, modest, red-blooded American girl.

But there she stood, all 4 feet 4 inches of her, done in bronze and dominating the sculpture garden between the main exhibition hall and the geodesic dome, right where Ivan and his wife and kids couldn't miss her.

Johnson Will Speak Today At Ceremony

EL PASO (UPI) — Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson will be principal speaker today along with his Mexican counterpart, Sen. Moreno Sanchez of the Mexican Congress, as the two nations celebrate the opening of a new bridge between El Paso and Juarez.

The link over the Rio Grande is the just-completed Cortova Island Bridge, calculated to boost tourist trade and other commerce between the two countries.

The speeches will follow the raising of the Mexican flag on the Juarez end of the span as a band plays that country's national anthem.

The U.S. flag will be raised immediately afterward by El Paso Mayor Raymond Telles, while an Army band from Fort Bliss plays the Star Spangled Banner.

Former U.S. Consul General in Juarez, Stephen F. Aguirre, will introduce speakers including Chi-

He said the place is jammed from morning to night, with the Russians waiting in endless lines to get in. Though many don't believe what they see, some do, and probably all go away starting to wonder.

But to get back to that nude, it turned out that's exactly what all the Russians have been doing. "I hear that some Americans have demanded that she be removed," he said. "But the Russians think she is wonderful. She's a big limbed girl and looks powerful. Maybe they think she would make a good farm worker."

A fair spokesman in Washington dug out a photograph of the huahua Gov. Teofilo Borunda and Texas Senate President Frank Owens who will represent Gov. Price Daniel.

Sanchez and Johnson will conclude the speaking program shortly before U.S. Ambassador to the U.S., Carillo Flores, jointly cut a symbolic ribbon, opening the bridge.

unadorned lady and by telephone described her for me as follows:

Gives Verbal Pictures
"Roundish face" Hair pulled back in a bun. Right hand on hip. Left hand a little lower. Great big bosom. Great big hips. Narrow waist. Just standing there, you'll have to see her to appreciate her."

"I think I get the picture," I said. Anyway, the fair man said she is called "standing woman" and was sculptured in 1932 by Gaston Lachaise. Normally she reigns over the sculpture garden at the Museum of Modern Art in New York, which owns her.

While the Moscow fair was still under construction, I hear, she stood for awhile inside one of the buildings, and was always distracting the Russian workmen. One of them marched up to her finally, patted her stomach, shook his head sadly, and uttered a Russian phrase which translates roughly as follows:

"They don't make 'em like that anymore."

CALL A Spade A Spade
That's probably when they decided to move the lady outside.

Hays is one of several members of Congress who generally can be counted on to call a spade a spade, although in his case it frequently comes out more like "lousy dirty shovel."

So when he says the Moscow Fair is more than worth the $3,500,000 or so that it costs us, I'm willing to go along. As for Moscow itself, Hays said it's sure a good place to learn about Russia. But I gathered his postcards probably said he wouldn't spend a vacation there for anything.

HONEST AMBITION

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — James R. Cavnar, serving a one to five year term in state prison here on bad check charges, went before the state parole board Wednesday to ask for his release.

Cavnar said if freed he'd like to become a professional baseball umpire.

Miss Wool Quits, New Girl Is Eyed

SAN ANGELO (UPI) — America is without a Miss Wool today but one will be selected Friday night.

Miss Wool of 1959, Miriam LaCour of Raywood, Tex., resigned her post Wednesday and explained to pageant officials she plans to marry and will not be able to make a scheduled trip to Japan for the wool industry this fall.

Miss LaCour said the two-month-long trip was her main reason for abdication. She will still be on hand to crown her successor Friday night, however.

Marriage has plagued Miss Wool officials all year. Miss Beverly Bently of Albuquerque was selected 1959 Miss Wool in last year's contest, but resigned last month and announced she had married an El Paso man last December.

Officials named alternate Miss LaCour to take her place and represent the wool industry.

The 1960 alternate chosen Friday night will make the Japan trip, starting Sept. 11, according to Wool Pageant Committee Chairman Jimmy Powell.

Meanwhile, Wednesday night, 20 girls from as many wool producing states, were guests of honor at the pageant's grand ball. Police blocked off several downtown streets for dancing in connection with the ball.

The girls, fresh from fitting sessions where they tried on parts of the $15,000 woolen wardrobe one of them will win tomorrow, were escorted by Air Force officers from Texas bases.

Singer Vaughn Monroe is scheduled to arrive in this West Texas city Friday morning. He will act as master of ceremonies for the judging in the new domed municipal coliseum.

San Angelo boasts of being the wool and mohair center of the world.

Company Warns Striking Workers

TEXAS CITY (UPI) — An American Oil Co. deadline on striking Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers went into effect today in the wake of a breakdown in a back-to-work movement.

The company told strikers to be back at their jobs Wednesday or lose them. It said it would wait and see the outcome of a workers' rally last night, called by some of the strikers who said they wanted to go back to work.

A. F. Grospiorn, secretary-treasurer of Local 4-449 of the union, made a speech at the outset of the meeting in which he said the union was established as the bargaining agent for the workers and had made its position in the dispute clear.

Grospiorn walked out of the meeting and about 1,000 workers

ONE OF BIG 7 BESTS CHEVROLET GIVES YOU OVER ANY CAR IN ITS FIELD

Proof that Chevy delivers the most miles from a gallon comes from an indisputable source: this year's Mobilgas Economy Run. For a pair of Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide walked away with the first two places in their class — got top mileage, in fact, of any full-sized car. Over the Run's long, rugged course, over mountain and desert in the long, long-haul from Los Angeles to Kansas City, the winning Chevrolet averaged a whopping 22.38 miles per gallon. That's the kind of economy-engineering that keeps you saving while you drive!

BEST STYLE—It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. In its price class," says POPULAR SCI-ENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST BRAKES—In competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NASCAR**, Chevy outstopped both of the "other two." Naturally—Chevy brakes with bonded linings are far larger, built to lengthen brake life by up to 66%.

BEST TRADE-IN—Look at the record—the used car prices in any N.A.D.A.† Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

BEST ENGINE—Chevrolet engines have long won expert praise and, just recently, Chevrolet received the NASCAR Outstanding Achievement award for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines."

BEST ROOM—Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.† make this abundantly clear. Chevy front seat hip room, for instance, is as much as 5.9 inches wider than in comparable cars.

BEST RIDE—MOTOR TREND magazine names Chevy "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." But this is one Chevy feature you really should discover for yourself, at your Chevrolet dealer's. Stop by soon!

The district attorney is attempting to prove that the 22-year-old former receptionist aided her lover, Dr. Bernard Finck, in the July 18 shooting of his wife.

THERE'S REASON FOR CRY 'YANKEE GO HOME'

Foreign News Commentary
United Press International
TOKYO (UPI)—U. S. Servicemen stationed overseas perform a vital duty for their country. But sometimes they can be America's worst ambassadors. In most countries, particularly in Asia, there is little quarrel on the higher level over stationing of troops in a nation, either as "defense" forces or as a military advisory group training that nation's troops.

Most responsible leaders recognize the service these U. S. troops perform and the reason for it. It is on the lower, personnel level where the trouble comes. Let a U. S. serviceman get in a drunken brawl, rob a taxi, assault a woman or get involved in any of numerous other scrapes with Asians and the "Yankee go home" spirit gets stronger. Latest Incident
 Latest incident of this type came in Japan where a U. S. Air Force officer was accused of entering a house while drunk and raping a 32-year-old housemaid. This was an incident that a certain segment of the press relishes. Whether the officer did or did not rape the woman and whether he will even be formally charged was beside the point. To millions of Japanese, the officer if guilty. Newspapers have already quoted the alleged victim as calling him a "beast" whom could never forgive. The result—a drop in U. S. prestige.

Numerous Shootings Occur
 In Korea, hardly a week goes by without a report of the shooting of a Korean by American troops. Most of these have developed from attempted thefts by Koreans at U. S. installations. But even though thefts have been involved, there has been criticism of trigger-happy U. S. servicemen for shooting first and thinking afterwards. If a man is fleeing, why shoot? And if the guard has to shoot, why shoot to kill? is the Asian view.
 In the Philippines there is a current controversy over the alleged "murder" of Filipinos who were shot and killed when they attempted to escape after being caught pilfering at the U. S. Clark Air Force Base. The pilferers actually were shot by Filipino guards hired by the Air Force. But this fact is glossed over by America's critics who blame the Air Force.

Spends Billions Aiding
 The United States has spent billions of dollars in Asia since the end of World War II in an attempt to better the life of the area's people. But one irresponsible act by one serviceman can destroy the benefits that thousands of others worked for. One basic trouble is that too many youthful servicemen still retain the "gook" complex that once was prevalent among U. S. servicemen in Asia. Too many servicemen, many too young to have fought in World War II or in the Korean War, look down on the people in the nation to which they are posted. A Classic Example
 A classic example of the serviceman who seriously damaged relations between his country and the people of an Asian nation was William S. Girard, the soldier who shot and killed a Japanese woman on a U. S. firing range. This one action brought Japan's opinion of America to one of its lowest points since World War II.

Special Federal Aid Asked For Oceanography Students

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The trouble with so many graduate students, the witness seemed to be saying, is their wives. They keep getting pregnant. So naturally I stuck around to see if the House Space Committee had anything to propose. This committee had always seemed more concerned with missiles than storks. As a matter of fact it's been so busy star gazing this year it hasn't had time for a number of pressing problems on earth.

One of these committee members heard recently, is what all we don't know about our oceans. So they had called in some experts on oceanography. And I'm afraid the experts confirmed the worst that the members had heard. We know more about the surface of the moon, said Dr. Gordon A. Riley, than we do about the floor of the ocean. Riley is professor of oceanography at Yale and a member of the Oceanography Committee of the National Academy of Sciences.

How About Ice Age?
 He said while we spend billions of dollars to try to get into space, we've doled out a paltry few millions to find out what goes on in the ocean. And he seemed to think we could lose the next war under the water. "We have a wonderful new weapons system, probably the best in the world, in the Polaris missile submarine," Dr. Riley said. "Yet we cannot use our submarines, and our submarine defenses, efficiently until we know more about the ocean."

And it's not only the Russians we have to worry about, according to Riley. He said we may be bringing on another Ice Age. This could bury our northern states under glaciers and snow, right down into Ohio. "That's just a theory, he said. But it's causing oceanographers plenty of worry. As I got the message, when we burn coal and oil we throw off carbon dioxide, which tends to hold heat. Theory Explained
 It's a fact the earth for years has been getting warmer, he said, and the Arctic ice is beginning to melt. This means more open water in the Arctic which, in turn, means more evaporation. This results in more snow. And this starts another pileup of ice, and eventually another go-round with the glaciers. Some people think this process could show some upsetting effects within the next 100 years. Whether man is bringing it on himself or not, by releasing all that carbon dioxide, Riley said, we ought to find out for sure what's going on. That's how he happened to start talking about graduate students, their wives, and their babies. He said there are only about 600 qualified oceanographers in this country, and not near enough young scientists learning the trade.

Described As "Poor Relations"
 Bright young men in other scientific pursuits get fellowships and help from the government while they learn, he said, but "we are poor relations," and about all a graduate student in oceanography can hope for is maybe $1,500 or $2,000 a year. "A couple can live in reasonable comfort if the spouse has a job," he said. "But there is hardship in the country who has not faced the dreary spectacle of a student with a pregnant wife."

Japanese Visitor
HOUSTON (UPI)—The State Department announced Tuesday that Gov. Satoru Tanaka of the Mie Prefecture in Japan will visit Houston and Children in a U. S. tour in September. Tanaka will come to Houston in mid-September and will go to Childress on Sept. 17. He will go to Denver from Childress.

WATER HITS HOME
DETROIT (UPI)—Detroit Water Board Superintendent Gerald Ramus called Sunday night to report he had a flooded basement.

"He's a doll, and we're going to have another date just as soon as he saves up enough money!"

Russia Trying To Keep Red China Out of Nuclear Club

Foreign News Commentary
By K. C. THALER
United Press International

LONDON (UPI)—High allied diplomats see behind Russia's stepped-up pressure for a nuclear test ban Moscow's growing anxiety to keep Red China out of the exclusive nuclear club.

There is good reason to believe that the Kremlin, despite its close alignment with the Peiping regime has no desire to have China equipped with the atom bomb.

Red China, pushing determinedly for world power status, is already giving Moscow more of a headache than Soviet leaders care to admit.

A nuclear test ban, until recently under negotiation in Geneva between the Soviet, the United States and Britain, would not automatically bind other nations.

But, once such an accord were completed, it would in practice close the nuclear club.

Significantly, Russia is already building up pressure on France to desist from her plan to explode her first atom bomb in the Sahara.

Red China, which has been vociferous in the past in endorsing Russia's call for a nuclear test ban, would find it difficult to go ahead once a test ban accord is reached.

Since no new power would thus be able to test atomic weapons without encountering strong opposition from world public opinion, no country could acquire them in future through its own efforts.

China would remain permanently dependent for the use of nuclear weapons on Russia's good will, which is what the Kremlin appears to be aiming at.

The subject has never been formally mentioned, but it is held to be among the fundamental problems in Sino-Russian relations.

Revealed By Announcements
That Red China wants the atom bomb has been revealed by a few scanty official announcements in the past.

A year ago, Red Chinese Foreign Minister Marshal Chen Yi announced in a press interview that Peiping intended to have the bomb.

The announcement coincided with an ominous letting-up of Red Chinese propaganda for a nuclear test ban.

Earlier this year, Ho Chi Minh, the president of Communist North Viet Nam, proclaimed seemingly out of the blue that the Chinese will have atom bombs "in the not distant future."

Significantly, none of the references to atom weapons production has mentioned Russia's assistance. Western intelligence believes that, apart from the supply by the Soviet of atomic reactors, the Chinese have been left to their own devices in this crucial field.

There is very little to the play at six spades. South goes right up with dummy's ace of hearts and plays the king and ace of spades.

Since spades break three-two he has no further problems about the small slam. He trumps his low diamond, gets back to his hand with the queen of clubs and runs out all his trumps and the ace and king of diamonds.

He discards all dummy's hearts and watches East squirm. Eventually East has to let a club go in order to keep a high heart and South makes a grand slam.

There is even less to the play at six hearts. Declarer goes after the trumps and has to lose two trump tricks.

The trick to the hand is to land in spades with only eight trumps instead of hearts with nine.

The hand can be bid in any number of ways but the key to reaching the spade contract lies with North. He must realize that since he is void in diamonds there may be a good reason to make his hand the dummy and he must give up his six card suit in favor of his partner's five carder.

Business Views

United Press International

Short-term borrowing costs of the government rose this week to the highest level since March 6, 1953, the treasury reported. The latest issue of 13-week bills sold at a price equivalent to an average yield of 3.524 per cent. This was the most paid since the bank holiday emergency in the Roosevelt administration.

Ford Motor Co. has formed its own financing subsidiary, Ford Motor Credit Co. The move followed postponement until next February of further action on Senate bills to bar car makers from financing sales of their products.

More expensive woolen and worsted clothing and costlier carpets can be expected in the year ahead in view of higher raw wool prices on the Australian market. Prices are running 10 to 20 per cent ahead of closing levels of last season.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When I was in my teens and unmarried, I had a baby girl, I later married a wonderful man who knew the whole story. My daughter is now 8 years old.

I am sorry to say that some adults seem to think that children are deaf. I am gully of that fault because I talked too much in front of her when I thought she was too young to understand. She knows that my husband is not her real father.

She doesn't know the name of her real father, but I am afraid one day she will ask me to tell her. He is respectfully married with a family of his own. I believe in being honest, Abby, but what can I tell this child?

"God's Will" brings to mind one of my favorite stories.

A farmer bought an old run-down farm which had laid idle for many years. After many long months, by the sweat of his brow, he produced fine crops which were beautiful to behold.

A preacher, driving along the countryside stopped to admire the crops. He congratulated the farmer saying, "The Lord has certainly done a fine piece of work here!"

"He has," replied the farmer, "but He has sure done a lot better since I started helping Him."

Yours truly,
"PORTLAND"

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and have been going steady with a boy 17. I don't know how to put this, but I am beginning to wonder how much he tells his best friend. I know some girls tell their best friends EVERYTHING, but how about boys?

SUSPICIOUS: Stop worrying about how much your boyfriend tells and start putting a limit on what there is to tell.

GUILTY MOTHER: Just because you made one mistake doesn't mean you have to make two. Telling your daughter the name of her "real" father would only bring her needless unhappiness (not to mention the complications involving innocent parties.) You are sitting on a keg of dynamite. Keep the lid on. If she asks you, tell her her "real" father is no longer living. A kind lie is sometimes better than a cruel truth.

DEAR ABBY: Your letter about

RUTH MILLETT

Did you read about those young Englishmen who look out insurance as protection against their best girls falling in love while the girls were away at summer vacation spots?

Well, there are other and even better ways for a young man to protect himself against another man grabbing his girl when he and she are separated.

He can write romantic letters, filling them with all sorts of pretty sentiments he might be timid about speaking when they are face to face.

He can call her on the phone and tell her he just couldn't live another day without hearing her voice.

He can send her little gifts—some with sentimental value, some to make her laugh.

And if all this devotion doesn't make her want to hurry home, he can always drop the word that he got so lonely he took one of her best friends out dancing. That is almost sure to bring her back.

Actually, being apart gives a man a fine opportunity to woo a girl in an old-fashioned, romantic way. A voice coming across the miles is far more thrilling than one coming from a booth in the corner drugstore.

And if there needs to be a little competition to convince the girl she had better hold onto her young man, separation gives a man a good excuse for spending a few evenings with someone else.

So no young man has to go to an insurance company. With a little imagination and a lot of sweet words he can protect himself.

DEAR MOTHER: Just because you made one mistake doesn't mean you have to make two. Telling your daughter the name of her "real" father would only bring her needless unhappiness (not to mention the complications involving innocent parties.) You are sitting on a keg of dynamite. Keep the lid on. If she asks you, tell her her "real" father is no longer living. A kind lie is sometimes better than a cruel truth.

Diehl Family Holds Reunion

LEFORS (Sp.) — A family reunion covering a two week period was held recently by the B. J. Diehl family, including all their children.

Visiting in the Diehl home were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Spira, Jerry Cindy, and Jimmy from Horton, Kan.; Sister Baal, formerly Lucille Diehl, of St. Louis, Mo.; Miss Ginger Diehl, niece of V. J. Diehl from Stillwater, Okla.; Miss Ann Diehl, sister of V. J. Diehl from Wichita, Kan.

James Diehl, who has been with his parents throughout the summer months will return to school in Atchison, Kan., Sept. 1.

Small children who sadly watch older brothers and sisters go to school need something to keep them busy. They can build play villages from their own cutouts. Houses and buildings can be of plastic foam or magazine pictures pasted to cardboard. Assembling houses keeps the children as busy as the actual playing.

MATURE PARENT Mrs. Fletcher Gives Program

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

A commercial artist found himself in constant trouble with art editors. He'd accept a commission, and as the time for delivery neared he cooked up excuses to delay it.

Finally, with the help of psychotherapy he solved his problem and was able to say "No" to editors who tried to force promises from him he wasn't sure he could keep.

Almost at once, more problems appeared. He began to lose friends and broke with his girl. To his doctor he accused himself bitterly of his failure to maintain human relationships. One day his doctor said mildly, "You certainly keep your foot on your own neck."

Later, he had one of those flashes of realization psychologists call an "insight." He realized that the friends he'd lose had all one trait in common; the need to make his decisions for him. He saw that these relationship failures had not been failures at all but triumph, a new growth of the same self-respect that had enabled him to say "No" to the pressuring art editors.

With this altered view of his "failures," he found he could recover some of his friends, but on a new, independent, more satisfying basis.

Perhaps this story applies to a Mrs. P. who writes, "My neighbor has been wonderful to me since we moved here. Yesterday I told her to mind her own business. I feel terrible about it. She'd told me I ought to punish my little boy for running up and down the apartment hall. Shall I apologize? She's been so helpful, babysitting for us, introducing us to people. For which helpfulness she wants the right to make your decisions. Let's let time go by for a bit."

Jersey Has New Autumn Glamour

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — You may not recognize your old friend jersey when you meet it this fall.

For while it's still the same sturdy standby, it's come of age both in texture and color. It may, at first glance, resemble nubby wool, lacy wool, tweed or a deep-ple knit. It will bloom in violet streaked with blue, in royal blue with black, in blue with green, in flashing reds, in deeper reds misted over with black.

But despite its new look, it's the same dependable fabric. A good traveler always. It shows other moods this year. It appears for late day in a simple shaft of black dressed up with a single rose at the Empire waistline. It hobnobs with mink in the form of a collar on a late-day or theater suit. It turns into a brilliant raincoat to lift the spirits and penetrate the gloom of a dark, rainy day.

It is, in fact, doing business just as it has been since the 1920s when Chanel made it her fabric. She is still using it, in its newest form, in her 1959 collection.

You may have it, this year, in any weight you like, from feather-light to the heavy coat and suit weights. The featherweight drapes beautifully and is usually reserved for late-day or dinner dresses.

Jersey turns up in one more delightful and practical form this season. It's used as linings for coats and suit jackets. And at least one designer has used hot pink wool jersey as a lining for a poplin raincoat.

Properly Applied Tinted Foundation Does Lot To Add Blush Of Youth

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

A tinted make-up foundation can do a lot for a girl. Properly applied and buffed down with cleansing tissue, it provides a glow for the skin as well as protection from wind, sun, heat or cold. Some foundation creams or lotions keep the skin moisturized all day long.

But in applying tinted foundation, bear in mind that it should go on lightly. And pick a shade that's close to your own natural skin tones. Otherwise, what you'll get will be a rose-tinted face and neck in sharp contrast to white arms and hands.

This defeats the very purpose you had in using the foundation: a natural, glowing look. It creates an enameled, artificial look that's as dated as high-button shoes.

Don't regard a tinted foundation as a cover-up for blemishes, either. This is a matter to be handled separately, and not to be coated over with cosmetics.

It's astonishing that people who have gone on a diet successfully often tend to backslide once the weight is off. But they do, and presently the pounds come back.

If you're to keep your weight where you want it from then on, you must remember that you're going to have to be calorie-conscious.

This may not be fun but who said it should be? And the rewards are more energy, a better figure, a younger looking you. Bear in mind that when dessert comes around, your answer must be "No thank you," unless dessert happens to be fresh fruit or cheese.

It may be a help if you look at it this way: you can't possibly begin to eat all of the sweets and rich foods there are, so why be concerned about them at all?

The heat and humidity of late summer can sometimes cause skin problems which have been dormant to blossom anew.

The sun, in small doses, is the best answer to these. A soothing antiseptic cream, applied daily, is another help. And bath oil in the nightly bath can soothe and refresh the skin, leaving it with a silky feeling.

If none of these measures clears up, tiny bumps or itchy skin, consult your doctor. Don't, in any case, attempt to clear up skin problems over a long period of time without expert help.

Celanese Plant Capacity Doubled

Completion of a multi-million-dollar expansion of Celanese Corporation of America's acetic acid facility just west of Pampa has nearly doubled its capacity, making it the largest acetic acid plant in the country, the company has announced. The plant's capacity is 240 million pounds a year for the two basic acetyl chemicals, acetic acid and acetaldehyde.

Richard W. Kixmiller, President of Celanese Chemical Company, described the expansion as a step in a long-range plan to diversify, upgrade and expand production of Celanese chemical products. The company, he reported, currently is hard pressed to fill demands of customers for acetic acid and its derivatives.

Acetic acid, a basic chemical used by American industry, is one of the few organic chemicals in the billion pounds a year category. It is used as a raw material in the manufacture of many consumer and industrial products such as textile fibers, paints, coatings, polyurethane foamed plastics, synthetic lubricants, pharmaceuticals and insecticides. Its biggest use is in the manufacture of cellulose acetate.

Celanese Chemical Company sells acetic acid and its derivatives to other Celanese companies and to outside customers and also upgrades it to produce beta propiolactone, acetic anhydride, vinyl acetate, acetate esters and other chemicals. The new facilities will make additional acetic acid available for increasing output of some relatively new Celanese chemicals, trimethylolpropane and the acrylate ester group.

Celanese makes acetic acid by a unique low-cost process developed at the company's research laboratories at Clarkwood, Tex. The process consists essentially of partially oxidizing hydrocarbons under high pressure followed by a complex series of purification steps.

The Pampa plant went into operation in 1952 and has been expanded several times since then. The new expansion was planned early last year and the engineering phase was completed by last fall. Brown and Root Construction Co. of Houston began the work in December of last year.

Spurred by a shortage of acetic acid and its derivatives, Celanese completed the expansion, which includes new high-volume centrifugal compressors, major alterations to purification units and new distillation towers, three months ahead of schedule.

Active Comedy, A Way of Life For Veterans Olsen & Johnson

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Forty-five years of Olsen and Johnson anything-for-a-laugh comedy? Why are they still at it?

"My daughter, Noya," Ole Olsen explained, "put it this way when I told her about our summer-long engagement in the 'Hell:Z-A-Splashin' show at the Aqua Amphitheater out on Long Island."

"Daddy," she said, "what are you trying to approve? Why don't you just stay out there at that nice home in Pacific Palisades (Calif.); play around with your boat, browse through your library of comedy material and let your family be near you and love you?"

"Of course, she knew the answer without asking. This work is our fun. This is our life."

The formula out at Flushing Meadows this summer insofar as the Olsen-Johnson portion of this water-and-stage show is concerned is the same that has brought them international fame.

Don't Aim At Subtlety

"We have never made any pretense at being glib, satirical standup, talking comics," Olsen explained. "We manufacture gimmicks and gags that are about as basic as you can get. We are salesmen. We sell laughs. We have never tried to be subtle. Apparently people all over the world still like that sort of thing. We may make a mistake now and then, but you must admit that when we do, we do it with enthusiasm."

It all started in 1914. Ole, out of Northwestern U., had been in Vaudeville a couple of years with a quartet act. He was in a Chicago agent's office one day seeking a piano player when Chick Johnson walked in, and the agent said he would be a good man for the job.

"The two of us had a musical act — I played the fiddle," Olsen said, "but we quickly learned to gag up the act because the big money in vaudeville was going to those who could get laughs."

"Later on we worked in bits with members of the stage crews wherever we played, then with other acts on the same bill. Finally, we decided that the only way to work properly in this fashion was to have people who worked just for us."

"So we kept expanding through the last years of vaudeville until we had a unit that enable us to survive its collapse and eventually led to us being tapped by the Shuberts as the core of a Broadway revue."

That was the fabulous "Hellzapoppin'" of the fall of 1938 that was greeted with critical groans but went on for 1,494 performances and led to three subsequent Olsen-Johnson Broadway revues — "Sons o' Fun," "Laughing Room Only" and "Pardon Our French."

That last was in 1950.

"But we've been working ever since, with time out for my two broken legs" in two auto accidents," Olsen said. "We play all sorts of dates and places both here and abroad. Australia is like a second home, for example."

1960 Real Estate Picture To Show Bigger Housing Boom

By THOMAS J. FOLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A peek into the real estate world of the 1960's reveals another decade of booming housing construction with heavy emphasis on small and large houses.

A survey of trends expected in the coming 10 years also finds hope that construction costs may level off. One reason is the so-called "industrialized" house, which is another step toward prefabrication.

A key factor in the expected continuation of the boom is a change in consumer psychology noted in the past year or so. That is the belief that more and more people believe their status is achieved when they own — not a new car — but a new home.

Moderate Market To Drop

The survey, made by Fortune Magazine, expects spending on construction, rents, upkeep, taxes and improvement of homes to rise from the 108 billion dollars spent this year to about 160 billion by 1970.

The study went into population and income trends and decided that the market for moderate-priced homes will drop somewhat and that builders probably will concentrate on small and large houses.

The demand for "retirement houses" and vacation cottages is expected to rise. So is the demand for high-quality multi-bedroom houses for large families.

Another trend expected is toward more renting of both houses and apartments, but especially apartments. These are expected in greater quantity around suburbs and will include new features designed to satisfy young families.

Some of these features include play areas for children on each floor and space for a nursery school. There will be gadget-filled kitchens, larger rooms than at present, and much more storage space.

The survey quotes estimates that while one family in five now has after-tax income of $10,000, there will be one in three in another decade.

The magazine believes this means that families where the breadwinner is between 45 and 55 will want bigger and better houses. It believes these buyers will move from other houses and will therefore be more discriminating in how the houses are built.

Harvester Grid Practice Starts Friday

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

Between 80 and 100 gridlers will hit the field at 9 a. m. Friday at Pampa High School as the Harvesters open their 1958 fall practice.

The Harvester grid candidates won't waste any time during the first two days of workouts. "We'll probably scrimmage sometime during the first two days," said head coach Babe Curfman.

"There won't be any time to stand around and watch," declared Curfman, mindful of last year's disastrous 1-9 season. "We'll have lots of blocking and tackling drills, and lots of defensive drills." Two-day workouts will be held beginning Monday, when school starts. Morning practices Friday and Saturday are set for 9 a. m., and afternoon practices at 2:30 p. m.

"The Harvesters have only 12 'working' days to get ready for Wichita Falls, and Curfman has indicated that not one minute of that time will be wasted. The Harvesters open with the defending state champions, at Wichita Falls, Sept. 11.

Among the candidates reporting Friday will be approximately 75 who took part in spring training, including 15 lettermen and five starters from the 1958 team. Curfman said that he expects to get up to 25 more candidates from among those who have moved to Pampa recently, and those who didn't come out for spring training. "We won't know for sure how many we'll have, especially on the Shockers (B team) until school starts," Curfman said.

The Pampa pilot said that about 45 of the candidates would probably be kept on the varsity, while the rest would be placed on the Shockers.

The five starters from last year's squad are quarterback Buddy Rawls, halfback M. E. Cooper, tackle Benny Stout and Jim Scott, and halfback Dwain Urbanczyk. The other 10 returning lettermen are guard Roland Stone; center Butch Dunham; backs Terry Joe Haralson, Bobby Stephens, Ronnie Smith, Lucky Dunham, and Sherill Miller; and ends Charles Warren and Kent Mitchell; and guard Harold Stokes.

This lineup gives the Harvesters a letterman at every position. However, guard is the only line position with two lettermen, and at many of the other line slots the lettermen saw only limited action, or went only one way (offense or defense).

"We have plenty of backs," says Curfman, "but we could sure use some more linemen." The Harvesters' deepest position is quarterback, where all three of the 1958 signal-callers are back. They will be two-deep in lettermen at both halfback positions.

Other candidates for the varsity are as follows: backs Steve Dobbin, Jimmy Storm, Roy Stephens, Mack Taylor, Randy Haralson, Butch Crossland, Robbie Robinson, Ruben Strickland, Dennis M. I. I., Dickie Willis, Bill Cooper, Larry Taylor, Tommy Locke.

Ends Jim Boyles, Mack Pippen, Keith Cable, Bob Followell; tackles Lynn McGee, Jerry Reed; guards Charles Geise, Mike Bromelow, Lynn Schoolfield, Terry Rexroad; centers Steven French and Duke Garren.

Candidates for the B team are tackles James Webb, Danny Mathus, Corky Godfrey, Larry Braly, Dicky Hopkins, Kenneth Sheaffer, Randy Geisler; ends Roy Dyer, David Price, Jimmy Stanley, Mark Russell, Tomie Kirby, Mike Mooreman; guards Curtis Smith, Corky Godfrey, Van Milton, Jimmy Crouch, Tommy Woodruff, John Yates, G. M. Walls.

Centers Jerry Hildenbrandt, Billy Hughes, David Triplehorn, Bryan Speck; quarterbacks Eddie Berry, Lynn Houston, Roy Webb; halfbacks Wayne Denson, Mike Stewart, Riley Walters, Dick Batson, Gerald Been; fullbacks Russell Douglas, Jimmy Hoyle, John Arthur, Dickie Willis.

Curfman said that this list will be flexible — that some of the boys now listed on the B team may be moved up to the varsity after workouts start, and that some listed on the varsity may be placed on the Shockers.

Assisting Curfman in the practice sessions will be line coach Weidion (Bird Dog) Trice, backfield coach Dwaine Lyon, B team coach Norman Phillips, and (until the junior high teams begin workouts) junior high coaches Roy Eller, Earl Peeler, and William Kennedy.

Rick Pezdirtz

purely paydirt

Booming Babe Curfman, who's been playing with a football for a hundred years or so, never does anything halfway except maybe sleep. The wide-eyed giant ain't had a whole night's slumber ever since his Harvester laddy-bucks made such a miserable 1958 showing.

Is there any more appropriate adjective you can apply to a 1-9 season. Dismal, maybe! Or, real ratty! Miserable still fits best.

The only thing more miserable than Pampa's record last autumn, was the soul of Mr. Curfman, a congenial guy who studies his opponents from A to Z in a most business-like and thorough fashion. When you work and study hard and don't win, brother, that's real misery.

Last year's results were bitter calories to the Babe. And to you and us too, huh! Tonight on the eve of another Pampa High football campaign, we stoop on bended knee and offer incense and break floss sticks, pleading with the Grid Gods to make the breaks fall the right way during the next three months.

Last year one touchdown in each of the games with the three Amarillo schools could have given the Harvesters a clean sweep instead of all goose eggs with the Sandies-Dons and Rebels in the All-important win column. But, that was last year, and this is this year. Brilliant deduction my dear backtracker.

The locker room at Harvester Field House will be jammed with humanity early tomorrow morning. Not all of the hunks of humanity therein will be large and muscular ones. But we've been promised by the Babe, and his hopeful aides, Dwain Lyon and Bird Dog Trice, the young ones who lack shiny bulges and who might not quite be candidates for a Charles Atlas or King Kong ad, have a little something else that's worth much more to any football coach.

An imposing collection of DESIRE and DETERMINATION will be there, even if the muscle is missing as some jump into their shoulder pads.

Too Little, And Too Pokey!

On paper, Pampa looks impressive.

In reality, John Morrison of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram in his annual District 3-AAAA pre-season summary might have hit the nail on the head when he wrote this about the Harvesters: "Pampa has 15 lettermen and five regulars back, but the Harvesters are much too small and too slow to make much of a dent this year."

That was the big heartache last fall. The linemen were too tiny to sandblast open enough good holes, and when a Pampa back did break free, even of the enemy secondary, there was never enough speed available for him to outrun anybody to the goal line.

The picture isn't a whole lot brighter this year, but certainly must be justly regarded as "at least improved." And, then again, there's that big, big item of DESIRE and DETERMINATION. After all, isn't that at least half the battle, especially in the high school ranks? We've always preached thusly.

15 Lettermen, 5 Regulars

The 15 lettermen Pampa returns are as many as Burr Phillips will have in his initial season with Amarillo's Sandies.

Only Tascosa's generally favored Rebels will have more monogram winners coming to camp tomorrow. The Rebs return 16. They've already been hand-dicked by the conference coaches. Morrison, and these two fine grid magazines, the Panshandle Piskin Preview and High Plains Football Digest, for the title role.

Our own current championship choice, the Lubbock Westerners (we may change the little mind after non-district games) will have nine lettermen back, the same number defending champion Berger boasts. Palo Duro returns 11 lettermen, Monterey has eight and Plainview, seven. Pampa's five regulars are as many as Tascosa and Lubbock return. Plainview has four regulars, Berger, Monterey and Palo Duro have two and Amarillo one ready for the '59 struggle.

The recent poll of conference coaches rated Tascosa first, Berger second, Lubbock third, Amarillo fourth, Palo Duro and Monterey tied for fifth and Pampa and Plainview deadlocked for seventh.

Of course, Berger failed to capture a single district game in 1957 and then did a complete about face, grabbing all seven wins last year.

So, last year it was Pampa who lost all its loop engagements, and this year... well hang it all, Berger did it.

Some Hither, And Others Yon

Somebody with nothing else to do, figured it out: The Yanks could play 1,000 baseball the rest of the way and they'd still come up three games short of their 1958 pennant winning 92-62 record. Yesterday's 5-4 loss to Cleveland sunk the ex-bogie men further from sight with a 62-65 record. Our heart swelled over.

That man about town, Garland Poole, manager of the K's in a humble softball titans, gave us a clipping from a Los Angeles paper that had Culver City nicking Escondido, 6-0 in the first round of the California state tournament at Long Beach.

Now get this. The game went 35 innings and lasted seven hours and 35 minutes, ending at 5:35 in the (yawn) a. m.

The starting Culver City pitcher went 33 innings and posted 41 strikeouts. His opponent lasted only 28 frames. Relievers figured in the decision. And quick dad,

Tribe Is Rockin' With Colavito

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

Cleveland is coming on like gangbusters, and the guy chiefly responsible is fence-buster Rocky Colavito.

The rip-roaring Indians, now only a game out of first place, have won eight in a row and they can credit their last two victories to Colavito's personal account.

Rocky, whose two homers beat the Yankees Tuesday, smashed his 38th home run of the season Wednesday night to break a 4-4 tie and defeat the fading world champions, 5-4.

Colavito came through with the clincher Wednesday night in the bottom of the eighth inning off Ryne Duren after the Yanks had tied the score in the top of the frame on Elston Howard's two-run double. The league-leading White Sox dropped a 7-4 decision to the Red Sox and with Colavito, a notoriously strong September hitter ripping the ball the way he hit, they could be in for trouble.

Leads AL in Homers
Right now, Colavito leads the American League in homers and is tied with Washington's Harmon Killebrew for the most runs batted in. Each has driven in 95. Baltimore reclaimed third place with a 6-3 triumph over Kansas City while Detroit moved into a tie for fourth by defeating Washington, 3-2.

In the National League, Pittsburgh topped San Francisco, 5-4, in 10 innings. St. Louis beat Milwaukee, 5-2, and Chicago defeated Cincinnati, 9-5. Los Angeles and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

Two errors by the usually smooth-fielding White Sox contributed toward their defeat at the hands of the Red Sox. Al Smith dropped Vic Wertz's fly ball during a four-run Boston rally in the seventh and the Red Sox added two more unearned runs in the eighth with the aid of Turk Lown's error.

Home runs by Bob Nieman, Brooks Robinson and Willie Tasby carried the Orioles to their victory over the Athletics. Jerry Walker registered his ninth victory with a helping hand from Milt Pappas in the eighth. Bud Daley not only lost his ninth game but was fined $50 for hitting Nieman from the left elbow with a pitch in the fifth inning.

Running Fans 11
Jim Bunning, the American League strikeout leader, fanned 11 Washington batters but still needed the aid of three Detroit relievers to nail down his 13th triumph. Bunning had a one-hitter until the eighth.

The Giants' loss to the Pirates was more a blow to their morale than to their NL lead. Since the second-place Dodgers were idle, the Giants' lead was only shaved to three games but what really hurt was the fact that Jack Sanford had Pittsburgh beat 4-0 on two hits until the ninth.

Larry Jackson pitched a seven-hitter against the Braves and struck out seven in winning his 11th for the Cardinals. The Cards hopped on Carlton Willey for two runs in the first inning and scored what proved to be the deciding run in the fifth, on Joe Cunningham's single and Ken Boyer's double.

Tony Taylor collected four hits and Irv Noren, drove in three runs with a pair of doubles to lead the Cubs to their victory over the Reds. Frank Robinson's 32nd homer lengthened Cincinnati's lead to 5-2 in the third inning.

Rodriguez Split Decisions Stitch

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Hawk-beaked Luis Rodriguez, unbeaten welterweight from Cuba, was ready today to take on hard-hitting Rudell Stitch again after upsetting the Louisville sausage-stuffer in a brick split-decision Wednesday night.

Rodriguez, who went into the nationally televised bout a 2-1 underdog, baffled Stitch with a right-hand lead and crisp jab that piled up points while the unusually sluggish Stitch was missing most of his roundhouse rights.

Nursing a swollen knuckle on his right hand, injured in the fourth round, Rodriguez (with trainer Ricardo Riesgo interpreting) said, "I can fight better than that. I was two pounds overweight."

Rodriguez, who now has 22 victories and one "no contest" on his record in 23 fights, weighed 147 to Stitch's 145.

The upset may have hurt Stitch's hopes for a title bout with welterweight king Don Jordan.

Mesa Park two Pampa horses trotted into the winner's circle. First it was M. E. Jones' Bess. Winner in the five furlong field race. The five-year-old gelding was the favorite and paid only $4.50, $2.90 and $2.80. Then Gay Gam, that grand old eight-year-old mare of the E. L. Holmes stable captured the second race Sunday, paying backers $12.20, $5.70 and $3.90.

And then there was the gal who never walked her horns but more than her conscience.

TODAY IN CHICAGO

PAN-AM GAMES BEGIN

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

CHICAGO (UPI) — The third Pan American Games, beset by internal bickering which is expected to vanish once actual athletic competition begins, opens today.

Nearly 2,200 athletes from 24 North and South American countries will parade into Soldier Field and all of the complaints over lack of training facilities, inadequate diets, poor transportation and other petty annoyances will be forgotten.

They will march into the jammed 100,000 seat stadium to hear a welcoming address by President Eisenhower's brother, a 24-gun salute, and watch 5,000 doves of peace loosened into the heavens.

To Fire Gun Salute
Dr. Milton Eisenhower will deliver the major speech, bidding the competing nations welcome and wishing them the best of luck in the athletic competition to begin on Friday.

There will be a gun salute to each of the 24 competing nations — the United States is expected to win most of the athletic laurels — and then the Most Rev. Albert G. Meyer, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Chicago, will deliver an invocation, with U. S. athletes of honor Olympic games forming an honor channel for the parade of the competitors and team officials.

The U. S. athletes will wear their traditional red, white and blue uniforms.

Scout Carries Torch

A 16-year-old Explorer Scout, Richard Rodriguez of Chicago, will provide an impressive moment. As the last runner of thousands of Boy Scouts who have carried the Pan American torch from the site of the last games in 1955 in Mexico City, he will run into the stadium after Eisenhower's address and a member of the U. S. squad.

coming speech by Chicago Mayor Richard Daley to ignite the friendship flame with an electronic facility installed in his baton.

Then the 5,000 doves of peace will be released, as the captains of the competing teams advance in front of the official box, bearing their national flag as a veteran U. S. competitor administers the Pan American oath.

The U. S. athlete will be George Worth, a 44-year-old member of the fencing team, the oldest member of the U. S. squad.

GRETA ANDERSON ... among the leaders

Mrs. Greta Anderson, 30, Danish-born naturalized American who won the 22-mile channel swim in 1957 and 1958, was among the leaders at the two-thirds mark but there was little chance she could make the first non-stop round trip as she hoped to do.

Shortly after dawn officials said three of the 23 who plunged into the water at Cap Grez, Nez, France, had quit and three others were unaccounted for, leaving only 17 in the race for sure.

Leading the pack was Alfredo Camarero of Argentina. Mrs. Anderson was fifth and Paul Herron, 38, also of the United States, was sixth.

Fifteen of the original 38 who intended to enter the race did not start, some because their boats did not show up at the French shore but others because it was just too rough.

Englishman Bill Pickering, who set an England-France record of 14 hours and six minutes in 1954, described conditions as "absolutely suicidal."

"I was not prepared to risk my life," he said. Others said the water was just as rough as three years ago when the race was virtually abandoned and no one completed the swim.

The organizer of the race, Billy Ething, flew by helicopter to the flagship of the escort fleet to make sure the swimmers who remained in the race kept contact

Pampans Box in Amarillo Friday

AMARILLO — Boxing teams from Amarillo, Pampa, Dumas, Borger, Lefors, and Plainview will pit their combined strength against an all-star squad from Dallas here Friday night.

Friday's boxing show begins at 7:30 p. m., in the Amarillo Sports Arena.

Fight fans will not have to miss all of the Basilio-Fullmer middleweight championship fight. There will be four television sets in the arena, on which fans can watch the middleweight fight between rounds and during intermission. The long intermission will begin when the title fight starts.

O. K. (Ollie) Wilhelm, Pampa

boxing coach, will bring a team of from seven to 10 boxers with him for the big fist exhibition. Assisting Wilhelm in his coaching duties will be Jimmie Olsen.

Jesse Ring, 1957 regional welterweight champ, will lead the Pampa squad into battle. Charles Snider will be the middleweight entry, and Wesley Crites will be Pampa's heavyweight.

Trent Olsen and Johnny Ironmonger will fight in the 105-pound class. Ronnie Morgan, New Mexico high school champion, will be in the lightweight class.

Fred Brown, Florida's stellar welterweight, will fight with the Pampa team; and as an added attraction, an outstanding Pampa welterweight, still unnamed, will fight state welterweight champion Dickie Don Wood.

Other possible Pampa entries are featherweights Kenny Powell and Corky Morse, and bantamweight James Morse.

Carl McClure, the national heavyweight Golden Gloves runner-up, will coach the Dumas squad, and possibly may fight with his team.

Amarillo will have four outstanding fighters in Bill McFarland, former state welterweight runnerup, now fighting as a middleweight; Manny Perez, who defeated Pampa's Gary Willis this spring for the regional lightweight title; Bob Willis; and Elmer Clements.

Among the more prominent entries from Dallas will be Wood, state welterweight champ; Bud Wilson, 1958 state middleweight champ; Paul Serrin, four-time state lightweight finalist.

Also Gene Gilliam, 1958 Louisiana middleweight champion, now fighting as a light-heavy; Bill Patton, 136; Jim Bradshaw, 165, and Randy White, heavyweight.

Ben White, a former Pampa boxing coach, will pilot the Lefors team. Frank Smith of Memphis will be in charge of Borger's entries, and Bill Mills will coach Plainview.

Swimmers Baffle Rough Water In Attempt to Cross Channel

DOVER, England (UPI) — Twenty-three grease-covered human beings stroked their way across the English Channel today but heavy winds and choppy waves began forcing them out one by one.

Mrs. Greta Anderson, 30, Danish-born naturalized American who won the 22-mile channel swim in 1957 and 1958, was among the leaders at the two-thirds mark but there was little chance she could make the first non-stop round trip as she hoped to do.

Floridian Leads Jaycee Tourney

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI) — A Florida sprite, who came here direct from two weeks of golfing with Sam Snead, sported a two-stroke lead today at the start of second round play in the 14th International Jaycee golf championship.

Fritz Lettingwell Jr. of Miami Shores, former Florida high school champion and current Florida junior champ, used superb putting Wednesday to lead a field of 18 teenage golf stars from 48 states with a one-under-par 69.

In second place at 71 was Harry Toscano, New Castle, Pa., who credited a new set of handmade woods with correcting a troublesome hook and carrying him into contention.

Basilio Camp Has Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Thanks to a couple of passes, Carmen Basilio was assured today of having his co-managers on hand for Friday night's NBA middleweight title fight with Gene Fullmer.

But both pilots—John DeJohn and Joe Netro—will be present as spectators only and not empowered to work in the corner of the union farmer from Chittenango, N.Y.

Neither man applied to the California Athletic Commission for a manager's license after a New York grand jury was told that they had talked with the notorious Frankie Carbo while the latter was a fugitive from justice.

Thus the head man in the corner will be Angelo Dundee of Miami Beach, Fla., who received a green light Wednesday from the athletic commission to take out a second's license.

"I'll get passes for DeJohn and Netro," said matchmaker Bennie Ford. "But I don't know where they will sit."

The bout is expected to gross about $200,000 at the Cow Palace, according to Ford.

It will be the first time the annual game between the International All-Stars and a major league club has been played in the United States. The three previous games, all won by the major league team, were played in Canada.

BOYS RANCH HONOR PATROL

Members of the colorful Boys Honor Patrol are shown in front of the chapel at Cal Farley's famous Boys Ranch. These youngsters, selected from the best rodeo performers in the annual rodeo, will be seen September 6 and 7 in action at the fifteenth annual Boys Ranch Rodeo at the Ranch. Performances of the famed all-boy rodeo will begin at 2:30 p.m. on both days of Labor Day weekend.

Boys Ranch Rodeo Slated For Sept. 6-7

AMARILLO — Most famous sports event of its kind in the country, Boys Ranch rodeo, in its fifteenth annual performance, will be presented at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch on the afternoons of September 6 and 7, the Labor Day weekend.

The rodeo, staged entirely by Boys Ranchers, features only the youngsters from the ranch. Specialty acts by well-known rodeo performers will be presented between the fast, action-packed regular events, but these will be the only "outsiders" in the show.

Boys from five through 17 will ride in bronc, steer, bull and calf busting events for points and prizes, as well as the title of Best All-Around Cowboy. Boys taking top honors become eligible to qualify for the crack riding group at the Ranch, the colorful Boys Ranch Honor Patrol.

Among other events featuring the boys will be the clowning, trick riding, the wild horse scramble and calf riding.

Providing music for the two performances will be the widely known 40-piece Amarillo A-T Force Band, with Chief Warrant Officer Guy Stone directing.

Performances will begin at 2:30 p.m. each day, and admission will be $1.25 for adults, 75 cents for children, and 50 cents for service men in uniform.

"With all roads to the Ranch now paved, we are hoping to have a record turn-out for the rodeo, and we hope there is, as this is the only event of the year when the boys get to show what they can do," says Cal Farley, Ranch founder.

SULLIVANS VISIT SULLIVANS

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Five young Sullivan brothers were guests Wednesday aboard the U. S. destroyer "Sullivans," named for the five brothers killed in naval action in 1942. The young Sullivans are sons of Col. Charles P. Sullivan, of Eureka, Ill., U.S. air attaché in Lisbon. They are not related to the "fighting Sullivans" of World War II fame.

Should U.S. Churches Give Up Some Tax Exemptions?

RELIGION IN AMERICA
By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Should U.S. churches voluntarily give up some of the tax exemptions they now enjoy?

The very idea may sound like heresy to hard-pressed church boards struggling with red-ink budgets. But the question has been raised by a man who can hardly be called irreligious or unsympathetic.

He is the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, stated clerk of the United Presbyterian Church and past president of the National Council in the Protestant Journal Christianity Friday, Dr. Blake warns that American churches will jeopardize their future effectiveness if they cling indefinitely to their present tax exemptions.

Tax Degree Bothers

He does not argue — as some people do — that any special treatment of churches is a violation of the constitutional principle which forbids an establishment of religion. On the contrary, he points out that the courts have often upheld the government's legal right to encourage "socially desirable undertakings" through tax policies favorable to such institutions as hospitals, schools and churches.

It is the degree of tax exemption now accorded to churches that bothers Dr. Blake.

"Tax exemptions which are proper when churches are small, poor, and weak may have highly unfortunate results to the churches and to society when the churches have grown large and rich," he says.

U. S. churches are now exempt from all property and income taxes. A recent act of Congress exempts them from paying federal excise taxes on purchases.

Moreover — and this is of particular concern to Dr. Blake — churches may own and operate profit-making businesses without having to pay the 52 per cent corporate income tax levied on private firms.

But the long-range danger of government expropriation is not the only reason why American churches should be leery of accumulating too much wealth. As European churches have learned to their sorrow, it is very difficult "to make a poor man love a rich church."

"I suggest that already in the United States there are discernible signs of a growing anti-church feeling, not yet developed into full blown anti-clericalism, which will increase rather than decrease as the years go on," Dr. Blake said.

"A government with mounting tax problems cannot be expected to keep its hands off the wealth

HE'S STILL AT IT—Back in 1948, seven-year-old Ray Sadecki acted batty as he joked with 12-year-old Barbara Wing, the only girl player in the 3-and 2 League at Kansas City, Kan. (left). On his way toward realizing his boyhood ambition, Sadecki, now 18, is hurling for Omaha in the American Association (right). Barbara didn't do as well.

HEELS OVER HEAD—Joanne Franzen is a girl who really flipped. She's shown in Minneapolis, Minn., as she performed in a parade. While turning a nifty somersault, Joanne twirls herself right along with the baton.

ROOFTOP SKATERS—When parents shop at one department store in Allentown, Pa., their youngsters can do their roller skating on the roof. A special rink was installed to provide this sort of recreation for Lehigh Valley youngsters.

IN THIS HEAT—The Moravian College football team is already sharpening its offense in Bethlehem, Pa., for the opening game with Wilkes College on October 3rd. That pet greyhound is probably the team's secret weapon for she's an honorary co-ed at Moravian.

IT'S JUST TOO HOT—Marine Lance Cpl. W. M. Stevens is trying to clear that hurdle in full combat gear as Marine Lt. Dick Seed sails over it in comfort. Stevens was practicing for a military field event at the Marine Corps School in Quantico, Va., where the men performed in full gear.

SPORTS PICTURE NEWS
AROUND THE WORLD

BOW AND ARROW MAN—For 35 years, John C. Rea has worked at his hobby of making bows and arrows in Leavenworth, Kan. Rea, who's his city's Assistant City Clerk, says it takes from 35 to 50 hours to make a good bow, and another 10 hours to fashion a set of arrows.

GOING STRONG—During her hike halfway across the country, "Walking Grandma," 71-year-old Mrs. Emma Gatewood of Gallipolis, Ohio, paused near Boise, Idaho. She began her walk from Independence, Mo., and is heading for Portland, Ore., with her belongings in a bag.

RODE TO ROME—Danish horsewoman Birthe Elmose followed it all the way from Copenhagen. She seems to be getting a motorized escort as she canters into the Eternal City aboard her trusty steed. It took her a few weeks to get there, but perhaps she felt it was worth it.

STRIKE!—A 16-inch trout is leaping high in a shower of spray as it puts up a tussle with Dana Swett, who hooked it at Musquecook Lake, Me. Swett flew to the lake with guide Joe Willette for fun that's enjoyed by an estimated million other vacationers who hunt, fish and camp around there.

PREPARATION—West German Army paratroopers are shown undergoing a jungle training course in the Bavarian forest near Schongau. After cutting a path through the wilderness, troops learn how to build rope bridges (left), the fine points of judo (right), and many other forms of "silent" combat during an eight-week course.

SHOOTING GAL—The shooting kilt, shirt and cartridge sporran are part of this trap and skeet wardrobe for sportswomen. The short sleeved shirt, with roll collar, is made of comfortable gotten sharkskin.

BOAT GIRL—Outdoing any rodeo star, this daredevil Aquamajd is riding a bucking boat instead of a bronco down in Cypress Gardens, Fla. Going thisaway is pretty tough, but a lot more exciting than sitting down to skipper the small and speedy craft.

We dislike being the bearers of bad news. But it now appears that we can begin to lighten our belts for a further blow delivered against all American wage earners via their federal government.

History's Teachings

Someone recently said: "If some day there is a burial place for the American Economic System, it will be sad indeed if the epitaph reads: Here rest those who were so engrossed in the opportunity offered by the Free Enterprise system that they failed to defend it when it was being destroyed."

Was Karl Marx Right?

The Rev. Francis E. Mahaffy of the Orinodox Presbyterian Church, who has been a missionary in East Africa since 1935, has a very rational and enlightening article explaining the results of not understanding the ideologies advocated by Karl Marx.

The article appeared in the August issue of "The Freeman" magazine. It is so useful that I want to pass it on in installments.

In all the history of mankind few individuals have had a widespread influence as has Karl Marx. Recently I talked to a school boy in Africa who knew nothing of economics, but he had been taught and firmly believed that Karl Marx was one of the very greatest of all men.

EISENHOWER MAY OFFER KHRUSHCHEV WORLD 'HEALTH FOR PEACE' PLAN

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is considering putting a dramatic "Health for Peace" plan up to Premier Khrushchev.

For this purpose the Soviet ruler would be taken to see the work and facilities of the world-famed research centers of the National Institutes of Health, at Bethesda, Md.

That is being strongly urged by Secretary Arthur Flemming, of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and Senator Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.).

In a memorandum, Flemming noted that earlier this year the President had invited Russia to join in an international program to eradicate malaria.

Humphrey expressed belief that would strike a responsive chord with Khrushchev.

"During my eight-hour talk with him," Humphrey told the President, "the one field in which he seemed genuinely interested in cooperating was medical research."

"Do you think he would be interested in visiting NIH?" asked the President.

"I do," replied Humphrey. "By all means he should be offered that opportunity. It can't do any harm, and might do a great deal of good. He is bound to be impressed. There is nothing like NIH in Russia. Considerable medical research is going on there, but not on the scale and quality of ours."

Basis for the proposal that the Soviet join this country in a world-wide "health for peace" plan is a bill now pending in Congress.

Sponsored by Senator Lister Hill (D., Ala.) and 59 Democrats and 48 Republicans, this measure would establish an Institute of International Medical Research as part of the NIH.

In May the Senate approved that, and a $50 million budget, by the overwhelming vote of 63 to 17. Sponsored in the House by Representative Kenneth Roberts (D., Ala.), the legislation is now being considered by the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

Speaker Rayburn has promised the full House will act on it if recommended by the Committee by the end of this month.

In a report to the White House a group of U.S. medical scientists, following a tour of Russia, state: "While this country is considerably ahead of the Soviet in the general field of medicine, the latter is well advanced in certain specialized fields, such as brain studies and nerve and tissue repairs."

HOMEY ATMOSPHERE — Historic Blair House, where Premier and Mrs. Khrushchev will stay while in Washington, has several valuable Russian icons in its library — which adds the suite they will occupy. These icons are more than 100 years old and were brought from Russia by one of the original owners of Blair House.

Fair Enough

Now Is The Time To Make Reds Pay

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

COPENHAGEN — Russia never shows the United States the slightest civility unless she is up against it for something she needs to stay alive. She certainly needs food right now when we have so much that we are going to broke pay dead storage on it.

But what she wants, we will be hearing soon, with our noble Chief of State switching again in premonitory throes of summery. And whatever it is, this is the time to make her hump pay through their porcine snout.

Because charm is something they can turn on and off as they have demonstrated repeatedly since Geneva, 1955, after my leader, Bill Hearst, and his Rover Boys stumbled onto the dawning of the age of civility and cunning in a regime which previously knew nothing of such wiles and got her way with treason and war.

I am beginning to suspect that this was one of the great scoops of journalism.

Poverty is clear and plain in Moscow. Tourists tell me that in India generations of more or less human specimens are born, live and die without a place to lay their heads. But the present condition of Soviet Russia as indicated by the frowzy, squalid condition of her capital 42 years after the Revolution would disgrace any system of government in a great, pretentious state and Khrushchev may have figured on the basis of past experience that he can play the United States for a chump once more in his proclaimed program to pull up even with us as an industrial nation, and after that, leave us behind.

Vice President Nixon's demand on barking back at him in public at the kitchen sink in the sampling workman's house of our astounding Republic has been the Russian's first experience with American self-respect since Roosevelt sold us down the river in 1933. Herbert Hoover knew their character and citizens of the little blonde Scandinavian countries have been fighting mightily in Russia for a thousand years and have kicked the kapok out of whole dumb hordes of them as often as not. In my few random contacts with Danes, Norwegians, Swedes and Finns I find they are amused by our fears. Because even if Khrushchev should explode his big firecracker, assuming that he has it Russia will go up in the same explosion.

The day of the drunken state banquet is over for Nixon barely wet his lips on his tour and Ike certainly has learned the lesson from Elliott Roosevelt's account of the grand soiree at Yalta and General Dean's sheepish memoirs of lesser brawls when we were forcing them to let us demolish their two historic empires.

Meanwhile, our Moscow Embassy tells me the Russians are using 43 per cent of their labor force to raise the nauseating garbage which constitutes their fare even in the version which forced most of us onto a starvation diet in their dreary De Luxe Ukraine Hotel. We, on stages of development and availability... It's acknowledged to be the best and cold source of the future and, a year hence, I'll report again. But if you are building a new house, it is sensible to study the subject and look into it.

In the further scientific matter of jet propelled automobiles, still a dream without resolution, don't expect them soon. For one thing, they can't lick the exhaust problem for average use. It can't come out the rear at about knee level, since it would cinder the legs of pedestrians passing behind the car. But they are playing with the idea, finding around with it.

As a company, and who one, is, however, working on an engine that will do well enough for a small sports car on kerosene as fuel. It, too, is in a discussion stage only, with engineers doodling out engine drawings and that's all — no bodies or styles. As a man who once, just once, during the last war used kerosene in a standard car, I'd say they have a lot of designing to do and perfect. It sounded like two dozen bolts being jested in a rusted bucket. All of which projects, and others, arise from the fact that the gasoline-fueled internal combustion engine is a pathetically inefficient device, no matter how sweetly your eight-cylinder job sings.

Lastly, the slide rule set now talks freely about this planet's own version of so-called flying saucers and the air-cushion design now tested so successfully in Great Britain is said to be the first real step. Later, propulsion ideas of a more useful kind will come, but the air-cushion will have to do for now. And, finally, some Detroiters are not above holding that air-cushion devices for cars, which will not have wheels, are to be thought about seriously.

European Waiters Penmanship Is Good

PERUGIA — Sweeping reforms in the handwriting of European waiters when making out the check for American tourists were added today to the aims of the Society for the Abolition of the Continental Breakfast.

In the future, the Society will not only campaign for something more substantial for breakfast than alleged coffee and cement rolls; it will battle for legible checks so that tourists will at least have the satisfaction of knowing what they are being overcharged for.

With the handwriting of European waiters what it is today, only a handful of men in all the world are capable of deciphering restaurant checks. One of these men is Dr. Cletus Gutzenheimer, who did such monumental work on the Dead Sea Scrolls.

Another is Herr Professor Otto Bratwurst, the one man in the world who can read Sanskrit in Braille.

A third member of the select group able to decode European dinner checks is Professor Jean Francois Abattori, handwriting expert for the Surete, and outstanding authority on the calligraphy of the pygmies of the Upper Amazon.

For those who have never attempted to decipher a European dinner check, but who would like to have an idea of what such a check looks like, I recommend any of the following:

1. Wet a caterpillar's stomach with pale blue ink and allow him to wiggle as fast as he can across a sheet of paper.

2. Wet TWO caterpillars' stomachs and put them in a race across a piece of paper.

3. Draw a picture of a barbed wire fence; dot it with something resembling a dozen or two roosting crows, and then add a bunch of numerals.

No one has yet found out where European waiters are taught to write this amazing script. Some say they learn it by visiting aqueducts where they watch, otopoli and squid squirt ink at fish they dislike.

Others argue that the waiters are born with the skill to write "soup" — the same as "mineral water" — that it cannot be acquired. You either have it or you don't.

Another theory is that all European waiters are former spies, and cannot break the habit of writing in secret code.

A few cynics cling to the belief that they are taught the script by the proprietors of the eating places for the purpose of padding the check.

I quizzed a waiter about the matter to say when I got my lunch-check. I had minestrone and spaghetti with tomato sauce. Both items were represented by identical wavy lines.

"Which is the soup?" I asked. The waiter pointed to the top wavy line.

"And the spaghetti?" I pointed to the lower wavy line.

"To see if wavy lines were all he could write, I ordered a bottle of mineral water.

He took the check and added a third wavy line.

"Thank you," I said. "Now I understand."

The Society for the Abolition of the Continental Breakfast is to be congratulated on tackling the additional problem of handwriting. The Society won't get anywhere, for this is the Old World, and the Old World never changes. Which is kind of nice, at that.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK, N. Y. — CUFF NOTES: About a year ago, having fallen among scientists, your reporter from New York went into a long if somewhat vague dissertation on the use of the heat pump as an all-year appliance in the home.

General Electric at that time was working on a version which would cost about $300 per room to buy and install and several other large corporations were making experiments. It was held, by one generous slice of heating-cooling scientists that unless some real progress could be made the heat pump principle would be fine for areas of the United States which did not have severe cold winters, but that in colder areas some other source of heating would have to be found.

A year having passed, I have once again fallen among scientists who have no corporate interests to motivate them, and they've got the problem that is in your city of Syracuse, N. Y., a generally cold area in winter, heat pumps were standard installation in a new apartment house project.

So I talked to a man at Fedders and he said, yes, that was true and notable progress had been made. He explained that his company's 100-horsepower 911 DHB was a typical installation where by house heat was augmented by central heating and what it did was to take care of cold mornings in spring and cold nights in autumn, those uncomfortable moments when central heating is wasteful and not usually "A's".

It, air-conditions in hot weather and in areas ranging from 20 degrees upward in winter, it could be the sole source of heat. But, he added, they do have a heat pump installation for new construction that will take care of all heating and cooling needs the year around and it is not bothered by temperate area demands.

It is not suggested as an installation for houses already built, since ducting and other needs would make its cost huge. The smaller 1/2 hp unit, he added, has an economic factor. It permits turning central heating on later in the fall and earlier in the spring, with the heat pump taking over the job. "There is always heat in the atmosphere," he said, "except at absolute zero; which is 460 degrees below 0. The job of a heat pump is to find that heat, attract it, hold it, concentrate it and direct it to an area desired for it. That's all there is to it. It differs totally from a plain and separate air conditioner or a plain and separate furnace, or heat source."

That's the heat pump news, unfill news, except that five large corporations have them in various
