Storm Toll Increases In Mexico; 120 Dead

Scores Missing As Reports Dribble In

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The death toll pushed past the 120 mark today in the aftermath of Tuesday's tropical storm which lashed a three state, Mexican Pacific coastal area, as reports started dribbling in from flooded villages.

Scores of others were missing, including 17 seamen from the Mexican merchant coaster "Sinaloa." Six coasters were sunk despite early warnings by the Naval Ministry to put ashore.

An American freighter, the "Blue Grass State," Wednesday rescued 11 of the "Sinaloa" crewmen, and the Dutch ship "Kaling" picked up another of the crewmen. Fate of the other 17 is unknown.

Material and crop damage, including 90 per cent of the cocoa crop of the republic's richest cocoa-producing area, and all of Jalisco's 18 million dollar banana crop, was estimated at over 40 million dollars. About 1,500 injured have been reported. Hundreds of houses were destroyed, many by rain-caused landslides.

The important Pacific port of Manzanillo was hardest hit of major cities. At least 30 per cent of the city was reported destroyed including almost all port facilities. The Civil Hospital reported 81 bodies have been recovered so far, and that the toll may go over 100 for that city alone.

Seventeen dead were reported in Jalisco state, including seven drownings in the Marabosca River, and eight passengers of vehicles which drove into ravines on washed-out roads.

Mrs. Eva Samano de Lopez Mateos, Mexico's First Lady, went to hard-hit Colima City today to give moral support to families made homeless by the storm.

Coast Guard launches and defense ministry planes continued to search for survivors.

Fourth Missile Score In Row

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—An Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile was successfully test launched "less than full range" down the Atlantic today. It was America's fourth missile test success in less than 18 hours.

The Atlas, scheduled to be the big daddy of America's Atlas-Able moon rocket next month, thundered skyward carrying an ablative type nose cone. The Air Force announced in Washington that the Atlas "achieved all its test objectives as planned."

The Air Force said the Atlas shot was "scheduled for less than full range." The Atlas "full range" is 5,500 miles.

Wednesday night an intermediate Thor was successfully fired down the Atlantic missile range.

The Thor and Atlas missiles will make at least four thrusts into space by the end of this year. Included in this is an Atlas-Able moon rocket next month in which the Atlas will be the big daddy or first stage of the important shot.

Organizational Meet

A meeting for parents and boys of Cub Scout age interested in organizing a new Cub Pack in the Travis school district has been called by Dr. George Snell, district commissioner.

Dr. Snell will conduct the 7 p.m. Monday meeting in the school cafeteria.

Test Ban Stymies Nuclear Research

LONDON (UPI)—The Western powers are beginning to have second thoughts on the present moratorium on nuclear test explosions because of reported startling advances in Russian nuclear weapons. Western military experts said today.

The experts told United Press International the Western delegates at the Geneva nuclear talks are caught between the devil of public opinion which opposes fur-

"SMELLED RUBBER BURNING"—A Coastal Transfer Co. trailer loaded with acid aldehyde caught fire this morning three miles south of the Pampa Celanese plant causing heavy damages to the truck cab. The driver, Myrl Moon, 36, of Corpus Christi, jumped from the cab fearing an explosion when he "smelled rubber smoking." He called Pampa firemen at 7:30 a.m., who arrived at the scene and smothered the blaze before flames spread to chemical tanks. The truck was enroute from Bishop, Texas, to the Celanese plant on Farm-Market Rd. 2300. (Daily News Photo)

DEATH CAR — Workmen prepare to tow away the battered remains of a late model car in which two Lefors residents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Smithie suffered fatal injuries Wednesday afternoon. The car was hit virtually head-on by a Utility Oil Co. truck about 5:10 p.m. The car's panel on the drivers side was torn away to remove Smithie when he became pinned behind the steering wheel. Both Mr. and Mrs. Smithie died enroute to a Pampa Hospital. (Daily News Photo)

Lefors Couple Victims In Fatal Auto-Truck Crash

My front left wheel locked, and I hit. Truckdriver Don Lusher, 42, of E. Jordan, told highway patrolmen Wednesday afternoon following a car-truck collision just outside Pampa in which a Lefors couple was killed.

Dead on arrival at Highland General Hospital were Johnnie Davis Smithie, 52, and his wife, Edith Crane Smithie, 50.

They were driving home about 5:10 p.m. from a dentist's appointment when their 1959 DeSoto and a Utility Oil Co. transport hit almost head-on. The collision occurred 100 feet outside city limits on State Highway 273.

"They just never knew what hit them," Patrolman Travis Underwood said. Smithie, the car's driver, apparently didn't have time to hit his brakes.

Lusher, 61, said he was going about 30 miles per hour when his front wheel locked and the truck went into a short skid into oncoming traffic.

Smithie and his wife both suffered fatal chest injuries. Smithie was pinned behind the wheel and it took a winch truck to tear away the driver's side of the car to free the still-alive Lefors man.

Both injured persons died enroute to the hospital in Duenkel-Carmichael ambulances. Mr. and Mrs. Smithie were Gray County's seventh and eighth traffic fatalities of the year.

The car's front end was demolished in the collision, while damage to the truck, a "bobtail" gas transport, were relatively minor.

The Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home reported today that the bodies have been taken to Blackburn-Shaw Funeral Home in Amarillo where services will be announced.

Smithie, a pumper for the McSpadden Oil Co., and his wife are survived by two daughters, Mrs. Bud Farris of Amarillo, and Mrs. Jim Wright of Duluth, Minn.; and five grandchildren.

Smithie is also survived by three brothers, Jack of Ft. Worth, Willie of Crosbyton, and Theodore of Hale Center. His wife's survivors include her mother, Mrs. Hattie Crone, Amarillo, and four brothers, L. D. Crone of Odessa, Frank C. of Plainview, Walter G. of Lakin, Kans., and Elbert of Tulsa.

Mrs. Smithie was born June 15, 1909 in Lubbock. The Smithies were married in April, 1927.

Johnson Hits Missile Lag

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Tex. (UPI)—Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson lamented the nation's rocket failures and criticized the expression "we learn from our failures" in a speech before the Sulphur Springs Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night.

"Missile after missile and rocket after rocket have stayed on the launching pad despite the best published efforts," he said. "Others have soared in the air only to be destroyed as a safety precaution within a matter of seconds."

"In every case we have been told that the test was a success because we learn from our failures."

"I agree that we should learn from our failures, but I believe we should learn how to walk on the road to success. Failure is a commodity teaches us to fall further, it is not the kind that inspires confidence in the future," he said.

Johnson toured four Central and East Texas cities Wednesday and discussed just about everything but the presidency.

Van Doren Cribbed On TV Quiz Show

NEW YORK (UPI)—Charles Van Doren was given questions to help him over rough spots on the show.

The New York Times said it had learned from an authoritative source in the Criminal Courts Building that both Van Doren and Hank Bloomgarden, another "Twenty-One" winner, had admitted to Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan that they had received both questions and answers on the show.

Big prize winners of the program—with few exceptions—received pre-broadcast aid, a source who has been questioned by authorities about rigged TV shows told United Press International.

Neither Van Doren nor Bloomgarden would comment.

Van Doren, 33-year-old English instructor at Columbia University, will appear Monday in Washington before a congressional committee investigating quiz show rigging. It was reported his attorney has asked for a closed hearing under a house rule that any testimony which might tend to "defame, degrade or incriminate" may be taken in secret.

Both Bloomgarden, who won $38,500, and Van Doren had appeared at Hogan's office last Friday to make "substantial changes" in earlier statements they had given the district attorney. They had refused to discuss the changes with newsmen.

Van Doren had been given a $50,000-a-year contract as a commentator on NBC following his appearances on "Twenty-One," but the network suspended him after the quiz show investigation began. He still teaches his three English classes a week and his students back him loyally.

HAVANA

Castro's nationwide television and radio attacks on U.S. policies and "foreign aggressions."
Castro accused the U.S. government Monday of permitting Florida-based planes "to bombard the open city of Havana."

(The U.S. Defense Department disclosed today that the U.S. Navy destroyer-escort John Willis was buzzed by a twin-engine Cuban bomber in the Caribbean Monday. It said the plane passed over the ship at a height of 300 to 700 feet but took "no hostile action.")

A spokesman said the incident was regarded as "insignificant" and that he did not know whether a protest would be made to the Cuban government.

Castro has convinced the majority of Cuban workers and peasants that planes piloted by Cuban exiles used machineguns and dropped bombs on the capital but he admits privately that the "Cuban government does not possess any such evidence."

Most Cubans in Havana are still friendly to the United States. But taximen, bartenders, shopkeepers and others frequently interject such remarks in ordinary conversations as "why do you Americans permit assassins and common criminals to live in your country," or "when is the United States going to halt bombing Cuba."

move food and drinking water into the communities of the afflicted area. Further flood danger diminished as rivers started dropping during the night, and rains ceased. Partial telephone communication has been restored, but lines are monopolized by official agencies.

Motel Burglarized

A burglar late Wednesday night broke into a room at the Western Motel, 811 E. Frederic, police reported today. Losses included a radio and television set and an assortment of bed linen. Police said the burglar entered the room sometime before 11:30 p.m. through an unlocked back window.

Integration Order Out

MIAMI (UPI)—The Miami City Commission Wednesday unanimously reversed City Manager Ira F. Willard's order integrating the city's parks and pools.

Willard's order lowering the color-bar at all-city recreational facilities was in effect for only about 24 hours.

The commission overruled him and restored segregation at a special 15-minute meeting. City leaders on both sides of the issue watched while the action was decided with a minimum of discussion.

Willard had given his order Tuesday after a conference with the local head of the NAACP, City Atty. William Paliot had advised him that public recreational facilities were the same as other public-owned facilities ordered integrated by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Willard's ruling had come just 14 days before a city election. Several commissioners charged he overstepped his authority, and did it for political reasons.

Rogers Discusses Federal Legislation At Rotary Club

Congressman Walter ROGERS yesterday spoke to the Pampa Rotary Club concerning legislation and problems which were encountered in the last session of Congress. Rep. Rogers told the group that there was still a need for a constitutional amendment permitting the Congress to override a Supreme Court decision.

The speaker also emphasized the problem of encroaching federal domination over those rights which justly should reside with the states. As an example of this threat, Rogers told the group that certain elements within the federal government are now laying claim to almost all surface water flows as well as demanding primary rights on underground water reserves.

Fred Neslage introduced S. U. Kines, new manager of the Coronado Inn, to the club as its newest member.

The Junior Rotarian for the month of November, Billy Gene Ray, was introduced.

Visitors and guests were Porter Oaks, J. F. Gunn, Bob Holt, Bill Craig, Oren Thomas, J. W. Dillard, R. E. Donnell and Ray Keller.

Christmas Tree Card Sales Up, Optimists Hear

The Optimist-Breakfast-Club is doing well in its Christmas tree card sales. It was reported this morning at the regular weekly meeting of the club in Johnson's Cafe.

Card sale chairman Ben Hamilton reported that at least one member has sold more than 100 cards and that several others have topped the 50 mark. The cards are sold for $1 each, and are good for $1.25 on the purchase of a tree at an Optimist-Club tree lot.

Three new applications for membership were received this morning and Ray Dillingham was accepted as a member. Raul Ramirez gave a report on last week's boxing trip to Hereford, and President Kendall Green urged as many members as possible to be present at the Boys Club for work details Saturday and Sunday.

Sgt. E. G. Albers of the Texas Highway Patrol gave a brief talk on safety. He urged that driver education programs in the high schools be expanded, and that laws be passed which would "put some teeth" into our present laws against drunk driving.

Albers said that the test for alcohol in the blood should be made compulsory, instead of voluntary. He listed speed as the number one cause of accidents, but said that drunk driving is now running a close second.

Kennedy 'No' To 2nd Spot

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. John F. Kennedy, a front runner among Democratic presidential aspirants, intends to make it clear that he is unavailable for second place on his party's ticket.

When he makes a formal announcement of his presidential candidacy, probably in January, he can be expected to couple it with a statement that he won't run as a vice presidential nominee.

This word came today from the Kennedy camp where a statement was viewed as essential to clear the pre-convention atmosphere for 1960.

It would be intended as a firm and early answer to admirers of Adlai E. Stevenson who dream of nominating Stevenson for a third try for the White House with Kennedy as his running mate.

Kennedy, an early Stevenson supporter in 1956, tried but failed to win the vice presidential nomination in 1956 largely because the farm belt preferred Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.). Now, the Massachusetts senator has his eye only on the top spot.

Jaycees Plan Stinnett Trip

The Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce at its weekly meeting Tuesday made plans for a trip to Stinnett Nov. 3. Stinnett is rated as one of the most improved cities in the nation, and Jaycees will observe some of the things done there, to see if they can be put to use in Pampa.

It was announced that the annual pancake supper will be held Dec. 1, and that Christmas decorations will go up Nov. 29. James Malone and Earl Barnett will be in charge of the decorations.

Bob Hudson made a brief talk at Tuesday's meeting, on "Enthusiasm."

It was remarked at the meeting that enthusiasm was one thing that seemed to be lacking in the United Fund Drive. Jaycees were urged to work their cards.

Members may bring one guest. $3.00 couple, admission. Elk's Lodge.

Burial will be in Lefors Cemetery under the direction of Duengel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Other survivors include two sons, Lee Libby of Waycross, Ga., C. J. Libby of Lefors, and a sister, Mrs. Letha Philpot of Molalla, Ore. Also 10 grandchildren.

Pleads Innocent

Floyd Cecil Hindman, 310 S. Cuyler, entered a plea of innocent Wednesday to charges that he sold beer to a Pampa resident on Sunday. His bond was set at $500 by County Judge Bill Craig.

Hindman was charged by H. H. Hall, inspector for the Texas Liquor Control Board. The alleged offense occurred Sunday afternoon.

C of C Agriculture Committee To Meet

Ralph Thomas, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee, is calling a meeting of his group Monday at 10 a.m. in the chamber conference room.

The purpose is to discuss grass fire prevention. Thomas said that there is more grass in this area than there has been in the past 40 years. The grass is worth millions of dollars to the ranchmen, he added.

He also said grass fires injure the turf for many years in the future. The fires also destroy wild life, and it seems that we have more quail this year, than for several years past, Thomas said.

Hotel Manager Talks At Kiwanis

Stu Kines, manager of Pampa's new Coronado Inn, told the Top O' Texas Kiwanis club Monday night that an opening ceremony at the hotel has been set "some time in January."

Kiwanians, observing ladies night, also heard Kines talk on the history of hotels and what he expects of the new Coronado Inn. He pointed out the size, quality and space that would be offered to civic functions in Pampa.

Monday night's meeting was held in the Pampa Hotel with guests from the Inter-Club.

The victims were Chet 43, of Cedar Hill, and Elliott, 34, of Grand Prairie. The 14-car freight train car more than a mile from the tracks.

The impact severed a brake hose on the train and mobilized it.

Deputy Sheriff Joe Pears, the engineer, E. L. Lam, he was going about 60 per hour at the time of the crash.

PECAN PIE — Pecan pie is an all-American favorite and this new version should advance its popularity even more. Evaporated milk is used in the rich custardy filling and chopped pecans that are stirred in to form a crunch topping. Rich and satisfying this Yankee Pecan Pie is perfect for the sharpened appetites of fall.

North And South Reach Agreement That Pecan Pie Is All-American Pie

Yankee pecan pie is the name on this pie to differentiate it from the southern version in the filling is a custard-type mixture made with evaporated milk, but it has the same melting-rich quality that has always made pecan pie such a favorite. This is an exceptionally simple pie to put together. Besides the crust shell it calls for only six ingredients and there's very little involved in mixing them together. Bakes in about half an hour and can be served after a short cooling period or when it's completely cold.

Onion-Potato Soup
Ideal On Cold Day

The onion, indispensable in food preparation, is in plentiful supply and it flavors a hearty cream soup which also features abundant potatoes. Enriched with nonfat dry milk, this Onion-Potato Soup is ideal for the heartwarming meals of fall and winter months.

ONION-POTATO SOUP
Makes about 6 (1 cup) servings
1/2 cup butter
2 cups chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery and celery leaves
4 cups water
1-3 cups (one envelope) Super Starlac nonfat dry milk powder
1/2 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
Dash cayenne pepper
1 cup diced cooked potatoes
Melt butter in small skillet; add onion and celery; saute until both are tender. Pour water into top of double boiler; sprinkle Super Starlac nonfat dry milk powder, flour and seasonings over surface of water; beat with rotary beater until blended. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until mixture has thickened. Add onion, celery and potatoes. Continue cooking until all ingredients are thoroughly heated, 5 to 10 minutes. Pour into soup tureen or individual serving dishes. If desired, garnish with toasted cheese croutons before serving.

Cranberry, Jell-O
Team Together
For Super Salad

Two holiday favorites, cranberry sauce and Jell-O team together to make the choicest combinations. For supper, they're super, super, supper salads.

WITH WHOLE SAUCE:
CRANBERRY GARDEN SALAD
1 pkg. Raspberry Jell-O
1 cup hot water
1 lb. can Ocean Spray Whole Cranberry Sauce
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 small cucumber, diced
1/2 cup diced green pepper
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Chill until partially set. Mix remaining ingredients. Fold into partially set gelatin. Pour into a quart mold or individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

WITH CRANBERRY COCKTAIL:
CRANBERRY WALDORF SALAD
1 pint Ocean Spray Cranberry Juice Cocktail
1 pkg. lemon Jell-O
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped apple
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup broken walnut meats
Heat 1 cup cranberry juice to boiling. Remove from heat and stir in gelatin until dissolved. Add remaining cranberry juice and salt. Chill until partially set. Stir in apple, celery, and nuts. Pour into individual molds or 1 large mold. Chill until firm. Makes 6 servings.

The crunchiness of the layer of pecans on top is a pleasant contrast to the smoothness of the custard part of the filling and needless to say the whole pie adds up to a heavenly eating experience.

YANKEE PECAN PIE
1 9-inch unbaked pastry shell
3 eggs
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup evaporated milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup coarsely chopped pecans
Beat eggs well in a medium size mixing bowl. Gradually add sugar and salt, stirring to blend thoroughly. Stir in evaporated milk gradually. Add vanilla and pecans. Ladle into unbaked pastry shell. Bake in preheated hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 300 degrees F. and continue baking until filling is set, about 20 minutes longer. Makes 8 to 8 servings.

Thanksgiving Food Plentiful This Fall

Farmland bounties that inspired Pilgrim fathers to celebrate the first Thanksgiving are with us in great measure again this November.

The abundance is reflected in the November list of plentiful foods for the Southwest, as reported by the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Traditional Thanksgiving foods — turkey, sweetpotatoes and cranberries — are expected to be available in large volume all month. Ham and other pork also are plentiful, for those who prefer a varied festive board. Other plentiful meats are broilers and lamb.

Onions, Irish potatoes, dried beans and rice are on the list to help round out menus throughout the month. Almonds and filberts will be available in plenty for that novel, autumn touch. Apples for pies and salads, and lard for past-like-mother-made pastries complete the list for this area.

Turkey, pork and cranberries receive feature billing among the November plentifuls. That's because the supplies of each, as calculated by AMS, are in excess of normal needs. This year, we have the largest turkey and cranberry crops on record, and the third-largest hog crop. The almond harvest also sets a new high.

It all adds up to a hearty basis for colorful fall eating with appeal, interest and nutrition.

Good Dressing
Low In Calories

Low-calorie fruit salad dressing can be as versatile as your jam and preserves supply permits.

To make 1 1/2 cups of dressing, combine 1-3 cup each of cold water and nonfat dry milk, and 1 tablespoon of lemon juice. Beat 5 minutes with high speed on the electric mixer. Add 2-tablespoons of preserves, jelly or marmalade and beat 1 minute more. Serve immediately. Using strawberry preserves, grape jelly or orange marmalade, you can count on 8 calories per tablespoon of dressing.

For popular streamlined lunch-box fare make a hearty salad with your choice of salad greens, julienne strips of ham and chunks of Bby Gouda Cheese and serve with a low calorie of your favorite dressing. Baby Gouda is the cheese for young moderns — it's higher in important proteins, lower in calories than natural cheese of the cheddar type because it's made of partly skimmed milk.

Gouda Cheese is made from partly skimmed milk, so is higher in protein and lower in calories than natural cheeses of the cheddar type.

Schoolboy Has Business By The Seat

LOWESTOFT, England (UPI)— Geoffrey Small, 13, president of the Middle School Insurance Society, reported today he is doing "whacking good business" in insuring his schoolmates against bankings and other schooltime accidents.

Small and his board of 13-year-old directors operate at Lowestoft Grammar School. They charge their clients three cents a week and pay up to four shillings (56 cents) for a major disaster such as a caning by a teacher.

Detention after school pays 42 cents, but some minor happenstance as having to write 100 lines of poetry on the blackboard brings the client only 14 cents.

"We started it as a joke, but it has worked out rather well. Luckily, the chaps haven't got up to too many pranks or we would have been crippled by now," President Small said.

Terry Wilton, 12, said, "I joined and made one shilling (14 cents) out of it in five weeks. I laughed at the start but 80 lines of blackboard poetry brought me in eight pence.

"Then the boys found out how easy it was to get lines and made money. That, of course, the insurance organization didn't like."

President Small stopped that racket. He punched out new policies on his father's typewriter, inserting a clause excluding payments for "accidents" engineered by policy holders.

"I had to make honesty pay," he said.

Weather To Be More Fall-Like

United Press International

Brisk, cloudy weather prevailed over the Texas coast today and many cities in North-Central Texas reported their lowest temperatures so far this fall.

The Weather Bureau predicted continued cool weather for the entire state. A mass of cold Canadian air that moved into Texas Tuesday sent temperatures downward to as low as 30 degrees.

Overnight lows early today were higher, with San Angelo and Abilene reporting 37s, Lubbock and Fort Worth had 38s. Amarillo had a 39 and the rest of the state had low overnight readings in the 40s and 50s.

Scattered light frost was reported in the Dallas-Fort Worth area early today.

The high minimum during the night was 53 at Galveston—16 degrees cooler than Monday night's high minimum of 69 at Corpus Christi.

The cold front brought rainfall of more than an inch to Corpus Christi, which measured 1.27 inches. Other South Texas and Coastal cities had the following rainfall amounts in the 24 hours ended at 6 a.m.: Brownsville .39 inch, Galveston .25, Victoria .10 and Laredo .01 inch.

Temperatures around the state Tuesday climbed no higher than the middle 70s, but they were expected to be slightly higher today.

YANK GETS BOOT

HONG KONG (UPI) — American citizen Charles Garland Hopper, 30, who tried to enter Communist China last week, was ordered to leave Hong Kong today.

TWINS-THREE SETS

LITCHFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — Mrs. William Ingersoll, 30, gave birth Tuesday to her third set of twins in five years. She and her husband now have 10 children. Her husband, also 30, was hospitalized Sunday for ulcers.

Primitive Eskimos In Frigid Wasteland Are Warm People, Says Alaskan Artist

By GAY PAULEY
UPI WOMEN'S EDITOR
NEW YORK (UPI) — The warmth of its people makes up for the cold of the Arctic wasteland, says a woman artist from Alaska.

Mrs. Claire Fejes (pronounced fay-ess) calls the primitive Eskimo tribes which she paints and lives with part of each summer the "finest people in the world."

"I feel like I've found my second home when I'm with them," said the blue-eyed, dark-haired artist. "They're almost as friendly as a community. Each is concerned with the other. And the children are everyone's responsibility."

Mrs. Fejes, a native New Yorker, is the wife of Joseph Fejes, who was with the Army in Alaska in World War II. He became so enchanted with its people, scenery and opportunity that he moved the family to Fairbanks within 10 days after his discharge. Now, he runs a hobby craft and art supply shop, while his wife runs the house, bakes her own bread and pastries, and paints.

The couple has two children, daughter Yola, who is 4, and son

DEAR' ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem has been getting me down. I have been dating a young man who means nothing to me. He says he loves me. I have told him honestly I like him only as a friend. He feels guilty letting him spend his money on me but he begs me to go out with him anyway. When I turn him down (I date others, too) he cries and it breaks my heart. He calls me every single day! He knows I go with him because I feel sorry for him, but he says he is living in hopes that one day I will love him like he loves me. I am 20 and he is 23. When I kiss him good night, I gawk.

SORRY FOR HIM
DEAR ABBY: No self-respecting, healthy-minded person behaves like this young man. Beware! He's the kind who waits patiently for the opportunity to move in with the heavy artillery should you weaken or find yourself on the "rebound." Girls who go with men because they "feel sorry for them" usually wind up feeling sorer for themselves. Send him on his way. He'll live.

FLIPPED
DEAR FLIPPED: Do you realize that you are fighting for the "love" of a girl who is engaged to one man and romancing with another? If you think a wedding ring would stop her circulation, you'd better think again. Take a good look at her in daylight.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SECRET SEX"
The girl says "Hi" first.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

B&PW Planning Rummage Sale

Business and Professional Women's Club entertained with a Halloween Party on Tuesday evening in the City Club Room with Mrs. Dovie Breeze as hostess during the social hour.

Prizes for games of Music Bingo, directed by Mrs. Hazel Franklin and Mrs. Cordelia Mayes, were won by Mmes. Clara Le Rhoades, Hattie Harmon, Nell Tinnin, Merle Kennermer, Ruth Harvey, Helen Knox, Lonnie Killen, and Bea York.

Mrs. Ruby Harvey was awarded a prize in the Ghost Story contest. Refreshments of Halloween cupcakes, tea and coffee were served from a table covered with a Halloween cloth centered with a pumpkin. Candies and Halloween characters completed the table's appointments.

During a brief business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Laura Belle Cornelius, president, plans were completed for a rummage to be held Friday and Saturday of this week at 312 S. Cuyler. Mrs. Cornelius requested that members of the club bring articles of clothing to be sold to the sale address on Thursday evening between six and 9 p. m. If you are unable to bring the items, call Mrs. Knox at MO 4-7302 or Mrs. Harmon at 9-9913, and it will be picked up.

Fall weather is brisk weather, conducive to exercise. This girl gets hers via a bicycle. A bike is fine for melting away flabbiness and toning up muscles.

Bicycle Riding Is Sound Exercise

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

With the coming of cool autumn weather, many girls regard exercise as a thing of the past. Summer swimming, tennis, golf and walking were all part of the fun but the fall is a different story.

Since many young Americans are calorie counters, they continue to watch calories in fall. And somehow, they gain weight and get a bit flabby.

The reason of course, lies in too little exercise. Calories simply aren't burned away properly even on a high protein diet if you are inactive.

One exercise available both younger and older people in fall is bike riding. This exercise like walking and swimming, uses many muscles. It can be strenuous or gentle, just as you like. And it does tone up muscles and reduce flabbiness. It gets you out into the air and aids you in rebuilding vitality energy.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Rummaging in the hall closet for a lost skate, Ann knocked her brother's old jacket off its hook. As she replaced it, she felt a bulky object in the pocket. Even before she drew it out she knew what it was going to be — her little refrigerator with the toy food in it that Aunt Bess had sent her last Christmas. Buddy had had it all the time! He'd taken it — and kept it — although all the time he'd known how she'd searched and searched.

Ann felt towering anger. Running into the living room she exploded her angry, honest opinion of Buddy's behavior.

Her family permitted the explosion. But at a price. Everyone withdrew from her. Mommy looked as sad and worried as though she were coming down with some disease. Daddy buried himself in his newspaper as though the sight of her had become too awful to bear. When she finally retreated to the kitchen to check the contents of her recovered refrigerator, her little sister kept running in to peck at her as though she were breaking out in red spots like measles.

Finally at bedtime, unable to endure this quarantine, Ann began to cry; and at her mother's suggestion told Buddy that she was sorry she'd called him a "mean sneak."

Yet anger is not a form of disease but a most respectable emotion. Honestly expressed, it is useful in limiting other people's aggression. It declares us worthy of better respect and often presents us in a new light to those who have exploited us.

We withdraw from anger in children because we don't respect it in ourselves.

As a result they become ashamed of it. This is a pity, because this shame makes them into emotionally unreliable people.

I once knew a woman who was raised to feel shame of her anger. So when she exploded an honest, angry opinion of someone, she at once began to regret it. First, I expect, she asked God to forgive her. Then she asked the person to forgive her. After awhile, people got tired of forgiving her.

They knew that her opinion of them had undergone no change but that she was merely using them to reconcile herself to her own forbidding conscience.

As nobody could trust either her anger or her remorse, they began to respond to her unreliability by leaving her alone.

Recitalists Give Notable Program

Miss Rosemary Lawlor, contralto, and Thomas Atkin, organist, were presented in recital, sponsored by the Pampa Chapter of the American Guild of Organists, Monday evening in St. Matthew's Episcopal Church.

The recital was notable, in addition to its musical worth, because it represented the first sponsorship by this organization.

Election of officers for the coming year highlighted the business session of Guild members which convened earlier in the evening. Officers elected were: Tom Atkin, Dean; Mrs. Wartha Gill, Sub-Dean; Mrs. J. J. Rance, secretary; Mrs. Lois Fagan, treasurer; Juanita Haynes, registrar; Mrs. Fidelia Yoder and James Chenoweth, auditors; Rev. W. E. West, chaplain; and Joe Ericason, Eloise Lane and Tracy Cary, executive directors.

Pampa News Women's Editor

Some are the days of pushing a little outdoor building, pulling a horse-drawn carriage atop courthouse, and if the use of ergents persist soon the in-vent(?) pastime of soaping win-ows will be a thing of the past.

All of the foregoing "little tanks" used to form the agenda of an old-fashioned Halloween Eve and Night. In more modern times, there developed a "black-ball scheme". The night before Halloween, costumed figures, using and ghostly, would call a neighbor's door asking for "trick or treat." If the blackmail candy and cash was not received then that house was marked for "trick" the next night.

From all of this evolved a beneficial "trick or treat" which has been in progress for the past 50 years. The youth of our community have been organized to help children of other lands at the same time they are having fun for themselves. The beneficial "trick or treat" is called UNICEF.

United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. This Saturday night some 200 "angel-goblins" in Pampa, working under the supervision of the Pampa Ministerial Alliance and the United Church Women with Rev. David Mills, pastor of Lamar Christian Church as chairman, will trick or treat for children of other lands so that they may have the food and medicine that they need for survival. These "angel-goblins" will wear orange and black ribbons and will carry UNICEF tanks for contributions.

Churches cooperating in Saturday night's drive are Presbyterian, First Methodist, Harrah Methodist, Lamar Christian, Church of Brethren, St. Matthews Episcopal, First Christian and St. Paul Methodist. We came across a clever idea this week, a suggestion for costume your little angel-in-disguise-who-will-be-working-for-children-of-other-lands. It's a magnificent Halloween mask fashioned from a single roll of Alcoa-Wrap and a dime store balloon.

All you need is a large balloon (the kind that sells for about 10 cents in five and dime stores), a box of Alcoa-Wrap, cellophane tape and some incidental props to give your mask its character. The first step involves inflating the balloon to provide the size mask you need. For medium and small children, this should be ten to 12 inches in diameter. For adults the size can go from 12 to 16 inches in diameter. For the larger sizes, it is recommended that heavy-duty Alcoa-Wrap be used. Tear the aluminum foil into sheets three feet in length for the width. This will give you 8 sheets of foil. Take one of them and ball it up for a nose.

Now the mask begins. Place the balloon with blowing spout up on the center of the first sheet of foil and shape the foil up around the balloon. Place it again on the next sheet so that it will shape around the uncovered portion of the balloon. After the third foil sheet, hold the wad of foil for the nose in position with cellophane tape and wrap the next length of foil around the center of the balloon and over the nose to hold it in place, forming it to the nose shape. The remaining sheets can then be applied like the first ones uniformly to complete the shape.

Next, tuck in the ends smoothly around the spout of the balloon, making a large enough opening to get the wearer's head through.

When this is done, the air can be let out of the balloon, and it can be removed from the mask. Probably most fun comes in decorating the mask. Eyes, a mouth and mouth are cut out in the desired shape with ordinary scissors. They can be edged with suitable-colored plastic tape to outline the features. Ears are made by shaping them from foil and gluing or taping them to the mask. Use cellophane tape to hold them in place while glue is drying. (Use white glue like Elmer's glue-all).

Odd shapes can be added to the mask to create horns, tusks or unusual contours. Simply build the mask up by inserting wads of foil as when making a nose. Some of the delightful ideas suggested for mask-making were those of Little Kittens, Punchy Rabbit, Ghost, Clown, Lion, Pinocchio, and a bear. Happy Halloween! UNICEF'ers!

RUTH MILLETT

The ten most common feminine faults are:

—Talking too much. Or to put it more bluntly, talking constantly. Some women never shut up long enough to consider what they are going to say, to reflect on the effect it is having on their listeners, or to give anybody else a chance to get a word in edgewise.

—Bossiness. A bossy woman not only tries to dominate her husband and her children, she is sure she knows what is best for all her friends and neighbors.

—Cattiness. Some women not only never say anything sincerely and wholeheartedly flatter about another woman, they can't bear to have anyone else do so and are only too glad to point out shortcomings others seem to have overlooked.

—Dishonesty. Some women just can't resist chiseling in small ways and can find all kinds of logical reasons why it doesn't hurt to tell a "little" lie or leave a false impression or save a few cents by some shabby little trick.

—Disloyalty. Some women haven't the foggiest notion of what it means to be loyal to a husband, to friends, or to a group. They'll betray confidences, low-rate others to build themselves up, and drop a friend when the friend is no longer "useful."

—Disorganization. The woman who has no organization whatsoever in her life is always running about in circles complaining about how overworked she is. She keeps busy but she doesn't accomplish much and there is a frantic air about her that is anything but attractive.

—Mental laziness. Some women never read, never try to learn anything new, have no curiosity about anything but the details of their friends' lives.

—Social climbing. The social climber's one interest in the people she meets is, "What can they do for me?"

—Narrow-mindedness. A narrow-minded woman is convinced that only her ways are right and she is never willing to give anyone the benefit of the doubt.

—Possessiveness. A possessive woman thinks and acts as though she owns her husband, her children, and even her friends.

the silhouette is triangular. Sometimes soft wisps of bangs break the line. The triangle is repeated at the nape of the neck. The hair is waved softly and there is a brushed-up look at the temples.

I asked Miss Emme what became of that puffy, young-looking hair-do called the Bouffant which was highly popular a couple of years ago. "Oh some girls still wear it," she said. "But you know, women like change. Now, when a woman feels gloomy, she goes out and buys a new hairdo. Instead of a new hat. A hair-do you wear for 24 hours a day."

For an energy snack, pit dates and prunes and fill them with creamed honey.

Twelve Thousand Hairdressers Can't Be Wrong, Brunettes Gain On Blondes

WOMAN'S VIEW
By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Twelve thousand hairdressers, cosmeticians and manufacturers of beauty products met in Manhattan this week and found that:

—Brunettes are gaining on blondes;

—Hair styles for the winter will remain short with the newest "do" shaped like a triangle;

—The latest dryers are air-conditioned;

—Some luxury beauty salons cater to customer comfort with vibrator chairs which remove kinks from the body while curlers put them in the hair.

The occasion was the National Beauty Trades Show, an annual gathering sponsored by the Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

Mrs. Edna E. Emme, of St. Louis, a beautician since 1925 and member of the association's official hair fashion committee described some of the new trends in the beauty world.

She said manufacturers have improved wave solutions to the point that getting a permanent takes little more time than getting a shampoo, and so that any type of hair — bleached, dyed or natural can be treated.

"The same improvement goes for all the coloring solutions," she said. "And these days, almost every woman is coloring. There still are plenty of blondes, but the brunettes are advancing. This season, we're tinting all shades of brown with highlights... some rosy, some tawny."

She said the air-conditioned dryers operate on a new principle of circulation, drawing air through the curlers instead of blasting out around the face. And as for those vibrating chairs, she said most salons give the customer benefit of same without extra charge.

The association decreed "American Caprice" as the newest in coiffures. It is cut so that looking at the full-face, from the chin up,

Harvesters Play Palo Duro Friday

Pampa Team in Top Physical Shape For Game in Amarillo

The Pampa Harvesters, in their best physical shape of the season, invade Amarillo's Dick Bivins Stadium Friday at 8 p. m. for a game with the Palo Duro Dons.

Back in action for the Harvesters will be end Kent Mitchell, who has been recovering for an appendicitis operation, and defensive halfback Buddy Rawls, who suffered a broken jaw during the Amarillo game. Special protective equipment will enable Rawls to play Friday.

Coach Babe Curfman said that he will take 41 players on the Palo Duro trip (more than for any other road trip this year). The Harvesters squad was brought up to this number earlier this week by the promotion of five Shockers to the Harvesters. They include the entire starting Shocker backfield of Butch Crossland, R and Y Haralson, Dennis Mills, and Robbie Robison; and also end Wayne Butler.

Pampa's morale is still running high, and Coach Curfman reported that this week's workouts have been among the best the Harvesters have ever had.

However, Curfman warned against expecting an "easy" ball game Friday night, despite the fact that Palo Duro has lost six of seven games. "The Dons have been improving in every game," he said. "They've got a fine defense, and they're always dangerous against us, especially in Amarillo." Curfman pointed out that Pampa has never beaten Palo Duro in football.

Palo Duro may depend heavily on the passing of its two quarterbacks, Danny Splawn and Ricky Nix, both of whom are among the top ten passers in the district. Pampa, on the other hand, will be trying to maintain the district's best pass defense.

The Dons, who are as fast as any team Pampa has met, according to Pampa coaches who have scouted them, also have a pretty good running attack. Their top ball carrier is Troy Dunn, a speedy left halfback.

However, Palo Duro's main strength, like Pampa's, is defense. Both teams are about equal in weight, and both are hard-hitting, hustling teams. Both squads gang tackle frequently during a game. The Dons are considered especially dangerous on running punts and pass interceptions.

Pampa has a good edge over Dons in experience. The Harvesters have five returning regulars in their lineup, while four of the four sophomores will be Palo Duro's starting lineup.

The Harvesters are anxious to win the Palo Duro game, in order to use it as a springboard in bid for a spot in the District first division. Pampa has placed three of the roughest teams in the district, and has a loop made 0-2-1. For the season, Pampa is 2-3-1. The Harvesters will probably be favored in their next games, against the district's second division teams.

Pampa's probable defensive starters for Friday's game will be Benny Stout and Kent chell, tackles Rowland Stone, Jim Scott, middle guard H. Stokes, linebackers Terry Rex and Duke Garber, cornermen Cooper and Charles Warren, halfbacks Bobby Stephens and Buddy Rawls.

Pampa leads District 3-4A in two important departments, according to district statistics released this week by Putt Powell.

The Harvesters, after a week layoff, top the district in pass defense, with an average yield of only 18.7 aerial yards per game. They also lead in punting, with an average of 33.8 yards per kick.

Ronnie Smith is still the district's leading punter, among those with more than one kick, with an average of 33.8 yards per punt. Mert Cooper is the district's number nine kicker, with a 27.7 yard average.

Terry Joe Haralson is still among the rushing leaders, with 171 yards in 39 carries—good for seventh place. However, Pampa no longer has a man among the top ten in passing or total offense. The Harvesters also don't have a representative in the top ten in scoring or pass receiving.

Pampa still ranks low in most team statistics. The Harvesters are seventh in total offense, with an average of 151.3 yards per game; fifth in rushing, with 135.7 per game; eighth in passing, with 15.7 yards per game; fifth in total defense, with a yield of 183 yards per game; fifth in rushing defense, with a yield of 161.3 yards per game, and third in penalties incurred, with an average of 41.0 yards per game.

Curfman Pleased With Statistics

Pampa Coach Babe Curfman, after finding that his team was tentative weakness, because 13 of the 24 came during a rain-soaked game with Tascosa.

Babe also said that he thinks the Harvesters will improve in other departments, as the season progresses. "So far," he pointed out, "we've played the roughest schedule in the district. I think that from now on, our statistics will improve, and those of some of the other teams will go down, as they play rougher opposition."

Both of the quarterbacks for Palo Duro, Pampa's Friday night opponent, are among the district's leading passers. Ricky Nix is eighth, with 85 yards on three completions, and Danny Splawn is ninth, with 41 yards on three completions. Terry Morton of the Dons is the eighth leading passer receiver, with two catches for 53 yards. Nix is the sixth leading punter, with a 32.0 average.

Layne Listed as Top ACC Player

Mack Layne, 6-6 center from Pampa, is listed as the top basketball player on the 1959-60 All-American Christian College freshman team.

Layne, who was the leading scorer for the 1959 state champion Harvesters squad, is expected to lead the Wildkittens through a 12-game schedule.

With Layne on the frosh team are six other players listed as outstanding prospects. They range in height from 5-11 to 6-6. The only player to equal Layne in height is 6-6 center Gene Lamb of Wylie. It's interesting to note that Layne, the tallest man on the '59 Harvesters, is also the tallest man on his college team; and that Charlie Minor, the shortest Harvesters regular, is the shortest man on his team, the A&M freshmen.

Pampa fans who wish to see Layne in action will have a good opportunity to do so Dec. 10, when the Wildkittens play the West Texas freshmen in Canyon.

Rambling Around The Colleges.

The West Texas Buffs, who have lost 16 of their last 17 games, meet the team that started it all, Saturday in Canyon. The Buffs lost the final game of 1957 to the Draks, 20-19, and have been in a tailspin ever since. Drake hasn't done too well, itself. The Bulldogs have lost four out of five.

Seven of the nation's top 12 runners are from Southwestern colleges — though only one, Jack Spikes of TCU, is from a Southwestern conference school. Purvis

Shockers End Home Season Against Tascosa, at 7:30

The Shockers, weakened by the promotion of five players to the varsity and the illness of two other starters, play their last home game at 7:30 p. m. tonight in Harvesters Park, against the Tascosa B team.

The entire starting backfield of quarterback Butch Crossland, fullback Randy Haralson, and halfbacks Robbie Robison and Dennis Mills, along with end Wayne Butler, has been promoted to the varsity.

Guard Preston Parrish will definitely be out because of illness, and tackle Wendell Winkleback, also ill, is not expected to see much action.

The new starting backfield will consist of quarterback Eddie Berry, 140; fullback John Arthur, 145; left halfback Gerald Been, 140, and right halfback Riley Walters, 130. Butler, at left end, will be replaced by Mark Russell, 150, and Parrish will be replaced by Danny Mathus, 165. Tackling Winkleback's place will be Jim Tarr, 150.

The only "holdover" starters will be right end Corky Godfrey, 145; left tackle G. M. Walls, 170; right guard Jimmy Hoyer, 145; and center Van Melton, 173.

Despite all the lineup changes, Coach Norman Phillips is not too pessimistic about tonight's game. "Tascosa hasn't won a game this year," he pointed out. "However," he added, "they have a good passing attack, and our defense might not hold up against it."

The Shockers have a 3-3 season record, and a 2-2 record against unofficial District 3-4A opposition.

Other Games

One Pampa football team was to close its season today, and another is scheduled to close its season Friday. Earl Peeler's Pampa Junior High Reapers were to play at Phillips at 4 p. m. today, and Harold Moore's Lee seventh graders were to ring down the curtain Friday at 4 p. m. at Harvesters Park, against Houston of Borger. The Reapers have lost six straight, and Lee seventh has a 1-2-1 record.

Lester Ramsey's Lee Rebels (4-3) were to play at Dumas today at 4 p. m., and Bill Kennedy's Lee eighth graders (4-0) were to play Dumas eighth at 4 p. m. in Harvesters Park.

"Interference, that's the word—they said no interference," Rickey stopped — then added in normal tones: "I'm shouting. I must compose myself. I simply refer to my earlier statement. I stand on that."

Rickey had contended in a 800-word statement issued Wednesday that Frick and the leagues endorsed the Continental League on both May 21 and August 18. Exhibit A was an August 18 statement by Frick which said: "The members of the committee will support a third league movement and will attempt to avoid interference."

After making that point, Rickey concluded his formal statement with a thinly-veiled accusation. "I entered the professional game of baseball in 1903 at the age of 21. During the ensuing 56 years I came to know all the persons connected with the ownership of major league clubs. By and large, they were, and are, good sportsmen and gentlemen of honor."

"I want to let the statement stand as it is," he replied when asked if he was making a specific accusation. "I'll let those who read it interpret it."

returned to his first string position after a long exile in the lower ranks. That made Meredith's squad list read like a reunion program for the lengthy dumm scrimmage.

Along with Meredith and Williams were veteran halfback Glynn Gregory and fullback Jim Welch.

The Baylor Bears, facing TCU this weekend and then powerful Texas, managed to concentrate on "first things first" long enough Wednesday to stage a spirited workout on dummy drills.

The afternoon was sparked by successful passing by Bobby Pugh and Ronnie Stanley against TCU-type defense. Left guard Garry Watkins returned to practice and Coach John Bridges announced he had no other major injury problems.

In Fort Worth, TCU Coach Art Martin announced he would start his re-discovered wonder quarterback Jack Sledge against the Bears.

Sledge came from near-retirement on the third unit to steer the Frogs to victories over the Aggies and Phisburgh.

in Dallas enthusiasm overflowed among the Mustangs. They shouted rebel yells and waved signs throughout a long hard drill. Meredith himself, restrained somewhat by a bandaged thumb that restricted action last week, took full part in the drill.

SMU-Texas Game Features This Week's SWC Contests

United Press International

The SMU-Texas game Saturday is attracting so much interest, other Southwest Conference teams appear neglected while the Ponies and Longhorns primp for action.

News was almost sparse out of the TCU, Rice, A&M, Baylor and Arkansas camps Wednesday. But wordage poured almost constantly from SMU and Texas.

For instance, the Longhorns went through an extensive drill concentrating almost entirely on pass defense and ways to stop the SMU split-T.

Darrell Royal kept his charges looking for ways to protect against the throwing arm of ace hurler Don Meredith. Very little time was devoted to Longhorn offense — a commodity the Steers haven't been short of yet this season.

In Dallas enthusiasm overflowed among the Mustangs. They shouted rebel yells and waved signs throughout a long hard drill. Meredith himself, restrained somewhat by a bandaged thumb that restricted action last week, took full part in the drill.

'Hanged' Coach Resigns At SWT

SAN MARCOS (UPI) — Southwest Texas College Coach R. W. Parker denied today that he resigned effective June 1, 1950 because he was hanged in effigy Tuesday after his football team lost three straight games. Parker "had contemplated the resignation for some time," Southwest Texas President Dr. J. G. Flowers said Wednesday when the resignation was announced. Parker's teams have won 30 games, lost 21 and tied three during the six years he has coached at the school. His 1954 team tied the Lone Star Conference championship, but this season his team has a 3-3 record. Parker announced he would devote his full energy to the head coaching post the remainder of the season.

the Pampa team. Murray did not fight last year, but was one of the Boys Club's top fighters in years past.

In another top lightweight scrap, Corky Morse of Pampa will take on John Welty. Morse was district champion last year in his division, and is one of Pampa's hardest hitters. Welty is also a dangerous fighter.

A third Welty-Ronnie, is slated to fight Johnny Ironmonger of Pampa in a 115-pound bout. These three fights are the only ones definitely scheduled, since it is impossible to match very many fights before the Lefors and Hereford teams actually arrive. However, match maker Oren James said that 16 fights will probably be carded for tonight. He said that tonight's fights should be one of the top ring attractions of the year.

The Hereford team was mainly responsible for handling Pampa one of its worst defeats in recent years. In a four-team match last week at Hereford, Pampa lost five of nine bouts, four by technical knockouts. Hereford is expected to bring a large squad for tonight's bouts.

Ben White will bring at least nine of his Lefors fighters into Pampa for tonight's bouts. Many of them will be in the lower weights, but a heavyweight or light-heavyweight may be included in the group.

Lane Wins Over Akins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former welterweight champion Virgil Akins yelled today, "We were robbed of a technical knockout!" and he demanded a return bout with southpaw Kenny Lane, who won the decision Wednesday night despite a badly cut right brow. In the third round of their TV fight at the New Capitol Arena, Akins of St. Louis had climbed down from the ring, and was starting for the dressing room when Referee Ray Barnes called him back and told him the bout would continue. The recall came after a two-minute halt in the third round, during which the referee and Dr. Dave Gordon discussed the advisability of stopping the scheduled 10-rounder because of a bloody, inch-and-one-half gash on Lane's right brow. They decided to let the fight go on. Commission Chairman Harvey "Jockey" Miller said that was permissible under District of Columbia rules. Lane's seconds, headed by Manager Jack (Doc) Kearns, did a good job in limiting the flow of blood from the cut during the rest of the fight. Meanwhile, speedy Lane of Muskegon, Mich., used in-and-out tactics against aggressive Virgil to win a majority decision.

Indian, Beardless Cuban Take Feud into Boxing Ring Friday

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Zapotec Indian from Mexico and the only modern Cuban without a beard were getting so mad at each other today that they were ready to start a fight. They'll get their chance at Madison Square Garden on Friday night. And the television audience may be treated to more than the usual quota of pseudo mayhem. These guys frankly don't like each other. Injures Ortega's Pride. Gaspar Ortega, the party of the first part, admits that "these fellows make me mad" when they fought on Sept. 11. It seems that Florentino Fernandez, the opposition who is known as "Buey," the ox, knocked Gaspar on his you know what on that date and in the process also injured the Ortega pride. Indians, Gaspar wants it known, are like elephants.

Ring Results

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Kenny Lane, 14½, Muskegon, Mich., outpointed Virgil Akins, 147, St. Louis (10).

Gammage stood by his athletic director Clyde Smith who admitted to the NCAA that he made an honest mistake in interpretation of the rules. Montana, which received a two-year probation period involving all athletic teams, was reprimanded because the NCAA charged the school's head football coach gave a scholarship to a Brooklyn, N.Y. athlete. The grant was later cancelled when the player turned out to be too small.

Frank Leahy Very Optimistic About Professional Football

By EARL WRIGHT United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frank Leahy, so pessimistic as a college football coach that he once said his Notre Dame team might not make a first down, now is so optimistic about the pro game that he figures it might cure juvenile delinquency.

Leahy is the general manager of the Los Angeles Chargers of the new American Football League. When he was introduced to reporters Wednesday night by league founder Lamar Hunt, Leahy turned on the kind of oration that helped spark the Fighting Irish to four national championships.

"I feel wonderful about this pro football. I feel there's no doubt we'll make that first down this time," Leahy said, flashing his Irish grin.

Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns introduced a new brand of "off-the-field gentlemen" into pro football in the late 1940's. Now Leahy wants to introduce "togetherness" on a massive scale in the American Football League.

"We want all the boys who play for our Los Angeles team to become residents of the area," Leahy said. "We want each player well acquainted in his chosen suburb. We want each one to be active in all local affairs, particularly in those which involve youngsters."

"We want our players to put in a lot of hours each month at Boy Scout meetings. We're not just going to suggest this. We're going to insist upon it. If any player can't make a speech, we'll have a public relations man write it for him."

"We feel pro football has arrived. Pro football attendance is growing. Attendance at college games is on the downgrade. Look at how many boys have become doctors, dentists and lawyers while playing pro football."

"Our new league will give even more boys a chance to get into pro football. We're going to try to provide employment in Los Angeles for every man on our team on a year-around basis. If a boy is injured playing football, he keeps his other job so long as he satisfies his employer."

Leahy's oration was the high point of a press conference following a meeting at which officials of the new league discussed a commissioner, the awarding of an eighth franchise and draft pool.

Dallas Man Wins Irish Sweepstakes

DALLAS (UPI) — The chef of a fancy Dallas restaurant is $56,000 richer today. He won in the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes on a ticket a wedding guest gave him.

The winner, Peter J. Vouras, 23, met Mrs. Jane Egan, a native of Ireland, at his wedding Oct. 5, 1958. Later Mrs. Egan sent him the ticket.

Vouras supports his 19-year-old wife and their 2-month-old daughter by cooking in one of his father's two restaurants.

He was cooking an order of chicken livers Wednesday when he learned he won the money.

The youthful cook said he intends to give $5,000 to the Greek Orthodox Church and invest the rest of his winnings—after taxes.

He was informed Monday that his ticket had drawn a horse by the name of Anthelion. Anthelion later ran second in the race and paid 20-1 odds—about $56,000.

Sanders Leads Sahara Tourney

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Doug Sanders, a slender Florida golfer frequently in the money in the past two years, held a slim one stroke lead today as wind-blown Sahara pro-amateur golf tournament entered its final round.

Sanders, of Miami Beach, went one over par Wednesday with a 6-hole score of 10 his 66-of-Wednesday largely to his 66 of Wednesday. But Doug's score was one of the better efforts of the day, as only Eric Monti, Los Angeles, managed to equal par in a constant battle with winds of 40 miles an hour.

LSU, Mississippi Meet in Top Game

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — The Tigers have given up an average of 137.6 overall yards in six games, while Ole Miss has allowed only 147 yards per game.

Mississippi has elbowed most of its opposition this year by much wider margins than LSU has enjoyed.

The Rebels beat Houston and Kentucky by identical 16-0 scores, crushed Memphis State 43-0, Vanderbilt 33-0, mashed Tulane 53-7 and then drubbed rugged Arkansas last week 28-0.

The Tigers whipped Rice 26-3 in the opener, had a tough time beating Texas Christian 10-0, and then dumped Baylor 22-0. They stopped Miami 27-3 and then beat Kentucky and Florida by identical 9-0 scores.

The Tigers will no doubt rely on Cannon's brutal thrusts for their running game, just as the Rebels will place their ground hopes on bull-like fullback Flowers.

The hero of the game, however, should be the Tigers win, could well be sophomore Wendell Harris. Harris has kicked a field goal in every game but one—against Baylor. They haven't been needed yet, but the time may be at hand.

Taft-Hartley

Here's the way the Taft-Hartley law works. When a strike is threatened or when one is in progress, the president of the United States, on his own cognizance, can appoint a fact-finding committee to look into the affair. This committee is empowered to examine either the effects of the strike if one is in existence, or the probable consequences of one if it is not yet called. If the fact-finding committee to the dispute cannot get together in collective bargaining sessions, and also, if the effects of the strike appear to be such that the financial well-being of the nation is involved either regionally or nationally, then the president can take steps number two. He can then go to the United States and order him to go into a U.S. court for a "cease-and-desist" injunction either to stop the strike or to forbid it being called as scheduled. The court selected by the attorney general can comply with the request or not according to its own conclusions in the matter. If the injunction is issued, the attorney general may seek a contempt of court action if either side violates the injunction. The injunction is arbitrarily set by law to last for 90 days. During the first 60 days of this period, while production is either continued or restored, the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service works at the bargaining table with the disputants trying to bring the opposing sides into agreement. After 75 days, the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) conducts a secret election, giving workers a chance to vote on the issue and to accept management's last offer irrespective of what union bosses have demanded. At the end of 90 days the injunction period ends and the union would be able to invoke its strike if no agreement had been reached. Now, the facts of the case are actually these: 1) The affair as handled by Taft-Hartley is costly to all taxpayers. 2) No strike is truly necessary. 3) Hundreds of

'Social Waste'

One of the pet ideas of the "liberals" as well as the environmentalists in our midst, is that advertising is an enormous "social waste." Some say, these folks seem to feel that the cost of advertising is an expenditure which is not at all necessary respecting the distribution and purchase of useful goods and services. They like to point to the sum of $10 billion which is approximately the figure spent annually for advertising of all kinds, and to declare that this is a sum of money that could more properly be spent in taxes or in some other collectivized program. So let us consider, for a moment, what the result of a universal abolition of advertising would mean. First of all, there are literally thousands of new ideas, devices and services about which we would never hear. The immediate effect here would be to harpoon our ability to increase our standard of living. Additionally, since the industrial firms which had pioneered in these new "developments" would have no way of acquainting the public with the advantages to be gained by these innovations, hundreds of existing firms would have to go out of business and hundreds of new businesses would never come into existence. According to "Printers' Ink," a trade publication, advertising pays the whole bill for radio and TV, about 70 percent of the cost of metropolitan newspapers, about 60 percent of the cost of magazines and farm papers, and either all or most of the cost of other means of communications. In short, were advertising to be abolished, our ability to communicate with one another would be sharply curtailed. Of course the "liberal" mind would immediately say that all necessary communication could be carried out by the government and paid for by taxes. Assuming this practice were universally adopted this would of course grant to the government an enormous monopoly in the field of communications. And there is grave reason to doubt that such

The Indian Argument

Often when one is trying to defend the Hebrew-Christian way of life that there are no principles, no natural rights, by using the Indian argument. His contention is that we stole this country from the Indians and, therefore, it doesn't belong to us, and the state or the newcomers have a right to steal it from those people who have made the land productive and thus useful to mankind. What these socialists and striking labor union advocates fail to see is that the Indians never discovered how land could be made really productive. They just took what wild nature produced the same way as the lower animals did. Nor do these socialists and apologists for collectivism ever explain where the Indians got the right to this property. And if they are going back to the Indians, we'd better go back to Adam or the first man or form of life that existed on the planet. Of course, it is impossible ever to return the land to the Indians, or their heirs because there is no way of identifying them. There was no money at that time, even in the form of cattle, some people traded beads and whiskey for the land, and the Indian got the best of the bargain because the whiskey and beads had value while the land had no value. And you can't steal anything that has no value. This Indian argument is just a way of diverting attention from the unfairness and unethical practices of socialists and striking labor unions. Striking labor unions are nothing but civil war—an attempt to get something without earning it. And, of course, they like to divert attention and not admit that there are any natural rights as set forth in the Decalogue. They want to establish complete chaos so that they can do anything they want to without limitation, and their only method of saving face is to divert the attention from what they are doing to something so far back that no one knows the details of the circumstances. So the next time you hear a man use the Indian argument, ask him where the Indians got the right to the land to start with. They had more right on the land than they had the right to the water that flows down the Mississippi River that goes down to the ocean. It has no value, and they did not regard the land of value, and no individual Indian owned anything and could not give a deed or defend something that he did not own if a man wanted to purchase it. The pioneers got the right to the land by the right of discovery, since it was not being used.

Should Be A Warning

According to the American Institute for Economic Research, between Feb. 19, 1958, and Sept. 23, 1959, our gold stock decreased from $22,785,000,000 to $19,495,000,000, or more than 14 per cent. But these figures do not tell the critical part of the story. Our net gold after foreign claims are deducted and our claims on foreign gold are added, in August, 1959, the last available figures, was $3,557,000,000. Eighteen months before that the net gold in the United States was $9,625,000,000. In other words, the net gold from March 1958 to August 1959 decreased $6,068,000,000 or 63 per cent. Of course the reason for this is that foreigners have lost faith in the American dollar. And the reason they have lost faith is that we have been so badly educated that we believe that we can have more by strikes and working less by the sweat of their brow or in a voluntary basis. In other words, we have adopted a form of that socialism that greatly reduces our production. Of course, we have also foolishly given away billions of dollars to foreign nations which is another form of socialism and helped deplete our net gold reserves. An acquaintance of mine had an accident in Canada. He took up $5,000 to pay hospital bills and doctor bills and expenses. He deposited it in a bank and they took 3 per cent, or $250, out of the $5,000 of American money he had taken, so he only had $4,750 in Canadian dollars. It is time our educators and politicians and those people who profess to believe in Hebrew-Christian ethics realize that something seriously is wrong in the United States. And this slight of gold is a warning to everyone who believes there is a cause for everything. employment record, our high standards of living can be traced directly to the free climate which has permitted advertising. Advertising is the least costly and the most honest and direct means of bringing about universal distribution. What a wonderful thing it truly is.

The Allen-Scott Report

ROBERT S. ALLEN PAUL SCOTT U.S. PROPOSES TO KHRUSHCHEV JOIN U.N. RESOLUTION ON ARMS WASHINGTON — The U.S. is making a "significant exploratory offer" to Premier Khrushchev of the Soviet Union that sweeping disarmament scheme he unveiled in his United Nations speech. The U.S. is proposing that the two countries join in sponsoring a resolution to do the following: Commit all UN members "to the principle" of reducing armaments, including nuclear weapons. All disarmament plans pending before the UN, including Khrushchev's, to be referred "for detailed study" to the 10-nation Disarmament Committee that is slated to convene in Geneva in January. The Kremlin has had this U.S. proposal under consideration for several weeks, Secretary Herter is telling congressional leaders there has been nothing definite of what Khrushchev is likely to do about it. However, Ambassador Lodge thinks the prospects are favorable for Soviet acquiescence. There is one important precedent for such joint action. In 1954, Russia joined the U.S., Britain, France and Canada in sponsoring a UN resolution along the same line. As unanimously approved by the General Assembly, this declaration endorsed the "principle" of disarmament, and called on the East-West powers, in a joint meeting in London, to consider all disarmament proposals before the UN. WHAT IT'S ABOUT — Three factors are behind U.S. strategy in proposing a joint resolution with Russia: —Need for additional time by the State Department to complete a comprehensive disarmament plan that is to be presented to the UN, probably by Secretary Herter, before the end of this year. —In the meanwhile, to "divert" the Soviet Union's attention from the General Assembly approval of Khrushchev's disarmament scheme. —Considerable backstage concern over the possibility that the General Assembly, in an early show-down, might endorse the Kremlin ruler's grandiose proposition. Ambassador Lodge has frankly warned President Eisenhower and Secretary Herter about this possibility. He cited the following disturbing indications on that: (1) Khrushchev's disarmament program has made a powerful impact on small, undeveloped, and "neutralist" nations. (2) Eight South American countries bolted the U.S. in supporting Turkey for a vacancy on the Security Council, as against Poland backed by the Soviet bloc. After more than a score of ballots, this deadlock was finally recessed until next month. After a detailed study of these South American "defections," Ambassador Lodge reported they were due primarily to Khrushchev's disarmament plan, his spectacular visit to the U.S., and continued dramatic space explorations. The 10 nations comprising the Disarmament Committee, that meets in Geneva in January, are—U.S., Britain, France, Canada, Italy, Russia, Poland, Bulgaria, Rumania and Czechoslovakia. GETTING SET — Despite those continuous pronouncements that nothing has been decided on a summit conference, the State Department has leased the large and handsome Villa Grete in Geneva for all of December. This estate is where Secretary Herter stayed during the two fruitless foreign-ministers conferences last summer. Now a lot of new furniture and other equipment is being moved into the Villa — clearly in preparation for a higher official than Herter. The Inter-American Peace Commission is quietly probing the causes of tension in the Caribbean. Headed by John Dreier, the Commission was set up by the Organization of American States, at a meeting in Santiago, Chile, in August, to determine what was behind the alleged

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — CUFF NOTES: As a man who has painful difficulty finishing the writing of anything more than 200 pages in length, it seems to me that the boys who read the typewriters are indulging themselves in feats of production beyond belief. Here is James Michener with his new novel, called "Hawaii," simply enough, which is 963 pages long, begins 6,000,000 years ago with the first convulsive creation of the islands, has a cast of characters running to 7 1/2 pages by itself. Here is David Blumenthal, a learned, pedantic, full handle, with a learned, pedantic and fascinating book called "The Ocean of Air," which tells you exactly what it is about: the ocean of air around our planet, and that one is as thick as a dictionary. J. O'Hara, that prolific but able reporter, tumbled himself into more than 900 pages with "From The Terrace," and there are five more books between now and February, each of which will edge upon or go beyond 900 pages. This all has a neat Anglo-Saxon word to describe it: spite. All right, let's not get angry; it isn't Anglo-Saxon, it is unknown in true origin although most dictionaries credit it to Old French. I won't give in: to me it sounds Anglo-Saxon. It has the blunt hardness of Anglo-Saxon speech and as a devoted and inexhaustible student of that fascinating but flinty tongue I claim spite is Anglo-Saxon. Only they would be capable of such directness in sound. Ingenuity is a precise human talent, you can do almost anything that is forbidden if you are ingenious enough. Take LIFE magazine, which fairly constantly runs both black and white and colored pictures of the human form in unclothed moments but ingeniously places the pictures under the category of either Art or Anthropology. Thus no one can claim that this magazine is accomplishing anything but a cultural aim. Here at hand is a paper-bound book by two learned, acknowledged scientists named Drs. Eberhard and Phyllis Kronhausen, specialists in a high, recognized order in psychology, family therapy and group guidance. The book is called "Pornography and The Law," and it rivets down their thesis concerning our laws and what is or is not pornography in print, they perceive have to cite exact examples from forbidden literature. The good doctors are sincere and honest in their thesis and no one of sane mind could question their sincerity, but it is amazing, in the state there we go again of pseudo-pornographic novels that are sold wholesale for 35 cents each in paperback editions, that no publisher of that trashy trash ever was ingenious enough to hire out a job of this kind. Actually, the thesis is fascinating and the result of long hard research, but a less dedicated writer could have done the same thing, achieving the public printing of the most flagrant pornography under the thin guise of intellectual scientific research. Thus, "Lady Chatterley's Lover," that dull book if there ever was one, would have been but a sample and two or three of thirty-three other such plush works could have been included and what lawman could have raised a finger? It was research. Ideas will roll in the paperback publishing circles for not having thought of it first. And much as it may dismay them, I have to tell the Drs. Eberhard and Phyllis Kronhausen that in the subway, on the commuting trains and in the airplanes thousands will be reading their fine book and deftly skipping the delightfully erudite Kronhausen thoughts to arrive forthwith at the next sample of printed lubricity. I got into a cab at Penn Station the other morning and said: "35.1 Street, between 10th and 11th Avenues, please." The cabbie turned around and looked and said: "Just wanted to see what you look like. This is the first time since last April 4th that I've heard the word 'please.' I know because I keep track." So we went up-town and discussed speech courtesy on the way and he said New Yorkers were a rude, hard, offensive tribe sworn to bad manners, arrogance and awe of money. We got to the place and he said the ride was 75 cents and, by golly, if he owned the cab he'd call it a free ride just because of the novelty of the word "please." On that mutually pleasant note we parted and it has haunted me all day; is New York such a collection of bad manners and arrogance and is a cabbie regarded as a serf to be abused and insulted? Such blacklist action normally follows trading with Israel. be a minister; and whosoever will be chief, let him be a servant." There is the key! Freedom is for service! That is what is meant by "Freedom under God." Between the Scylla of slavery and the Charybdis of chaos lies the difficult but only course of free passage in obedience to the winds of wisdom and the tide of God's moral law!

Using Head For Soccer

RUINS IT FOR BUSINESS LONDON — I don't have the facts, the figures, or the dates at hand, and never will, but I am inclined to believe that Europe's decline in power, prestige, and prosperity somehow lies in with the popularity of soccer. What I mean is that when soccer ceased being just a national sport, and became a national frenzy, as it is in every European country, Europe started going backwards. Not because, once the soccer starts, the citizens of Europe think of little else, or because they are so absorbed in picking the winners in the legalized betting pools that they neglect to do their jobs. These are but contributing factors. Soccer's chief danger, as I see it, lies in the rules of the game itself. Under the rules, no player except the goalkeeper is allowed to touch the ball with his hands. The others must use only their feet and their heads. And it is the heads in which I am interested. Right now, from one end of Europe to the other, hundreds of thousands of males, ranging in age from four to eighty-four, are bouncing large, heavy hard soccer balls off their heads. These are not members of professional and amateur teams — if they were the ones doing it, it wouldn't matter. But youngsters, teenagers, fathers and grandfathers are doing it. Just as American males play catch with a baseball, or pass and kick a football from the time they are old enough to throw and catch, Europeans start kicking a soccer ball about, and butting it with their heads. In Hyde Park today I saw hundreds of fathers bouncing soccer balls off their heads in play with their sons, and the sons bouncing the ball back with their heads. In Italy during the summer it is dangerous to cross a beach to get to the sea for the myriads of soccer enthusiasts, all-bouncing balls off their nogginis. It is something a European man never tires of, not even when he is up to and past the grandfather age. There is no use in telling me that any man's head, European, American, African, or Asian, was built for this steady pounding by a soccer ball. Something has to give, if not in the first ten years, then surely in the next ten or twenty. By the time a European man reaches the age of responsibility, his head has been a bouncing board for a good half-million soccer balls. And by the time he has reached an age where he is eligible

The Doctor Says:

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Just about this time every year, thousands of our kids just beginning school are receiving shots to prevent them from getting infectious diseases that used to cripple and even kill countless numbers of youngsters. Things are easier for the modern child than they were for us. We had to get separate shots for each disease. Today, they can get a four-in-one "shot" that protects against whooping cough, tetanus, diphtheria and infantile paralysis. A single series of four injections and their smallpox scratch and they're all set for three to five years. But how about the grownups in your family? When did each of you bring your immunization program up to date? I'll admit there's little chance you'll get whooping cough so long as the youngsters are protected. There's even less chance you'll catch smallpox or diphtheria so long as you stay in the U.S.A. And, if you travel, you won't get your passport unless you've had a recent smallpox inoculation and your tetanus "shots." Surely the memory of Franklin Roosevelt, stricken by polio in his 39th year, must be a constant reminder that what we used to call "infantile paralysis" is an infection that attacks adults as well as youngsters. Isn't it better to take a series of four "shots" of Salk vaccine rather than risk a long siege of illness and a lifetime of having to get along with withered muscles or limbs? Yet millions of Americans, in the susceptible age group of less than 50, are taking this very bad gamble. And — how about antitetanus "shots"? Or, if you were in the Army, an antitetanus "booster"? Here's what Dr. H. H. Young of the Mayo Clinic had to say on the subject: "Every farmer, every rancher, every laborer, every person who rides in or drives an automobile, indeed everyone would benefit by active immunization against tetanus (lockjaw)." Here's the gamble you take when you fail to take advantage of antitetanus injections. A single course of preventive shots affords protection for maybe five to 10 years. When you suffer a puncture wound or another type of injury that invites tetanus infection, your immunity level can be raised immediately by a single booster shot. That never causes a bad reaction. But if you get a nail or a splinter of wood in your finger or foot, and you haven't had previous protection of serum that might cause an annoying reaction. And if you develop signs of lockjaw, your chances for recovery aren't much better than one in three even if you get the best kind of heroic treatment. In World War II only six members of the United States Armed Forces suffered from lockjaw. Yet a report issued by the Mayo Clinic listed the infection in 31 civilians in a single hospital. And every once in a while, almost every physician has to treat an attack of tetanus in the farmer, laborer or rancher or the mother and her newborn just after childbirth.

Bid For A Smile

Mr. Holt, the proprietor of a cigar store, was worried. His competitor was getting the business by his window by employing a vivacious Spanish girl to sit in it and roll cigars, meanwhile "giving the eye" to the boys outside. Mr. Holt had an idea. Next morning a blonde was rolling cigars in his window—but with her back to the street. There soon was a crowd — inside the store! "What has passed around a certain congregation for the purpose of taking up a collection. After it had made the circuit of the church, by the way, had exchanged pupils with the regular preacher—and he found not a penny in it! He inverted the hat over the pulpit cushion and shook it, that its emptiness might be known; then raising his eyes to the ceiling, he exclaimed with great fervor: "I thank God that I got back my hat from this congregation." On a menu in a Kendallville, Indiana restaurant, Sliced-Tomato Juice, Prune Juice, Striped Orange Juice.

IT'S THE LAW

Net Worth
Any day now you (and Uncle Sam) may need to figure out your "net worth".

The Internal Revenue Service may use the "net worth" method to check a taxpayer's income tax records. It compares what he was worth, say, five years ago with what he is worth today. Then it looks to see if his increase in net worth compares well with his reported income during that time, after allowing for his estimated expenditures. By this method the government can detect tax deficiencies, fraud, or evasion, or assess tax where the taxpayer has not kept records or has lost them.

At a trial for tax evasion, the government must first prove what a taxpayer was worth at the beginning of a period, and what he is worth at the end of the period. The difference is his increase in net worth. The question: Has his wealth increased between the two periods by unreported taxable amounts?

For example: John Doe, a taxpayer, had little wealth when he started his career. He often borrowed. After four years his net worth grew much larger. In court, John could not explain how this happened. So, to cut a long story short, he had to pay the tax, plus penalties and civil and criminal fines.

Richard Roe, another taxpayer, was worth $50,000 in 1946, but in 1950 the government claimed he was worth $200,000. Roe tried to show, but couldn't, that he had much more money in 1946 than in 1950. The government showed, for alas, the government's old tax returns showed that Richard had reported a small income in 1946, and had mortgaged his home and business. Besides, Roe spent freely much more than his reported income, and could not show that he received gifts or other non-taxable money. So the court found a large unreported income, and Richard was convicted for fraud.

By keeping proper records of all transactions over a period of years, a taxpayer can properly account for receipt and expenditure of income so that he can forestall the revenue service from using the net worth method.

RUN DON'T WALK
BANDJARMASIN, Borneo (UPI) — Djuhdi Kusomi, 19, who just completed a two-year walking tour through Indonesia, told newsmen the biggest problem during his trek was girls.

"So many girls kept falling in love with me," the youth said. "I was worried how I could return their love while on the trip."
