Reds Fire Vapor-Trailing Moon Rocket

By ROBERT J. KORENGOLD
United Press International

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Saturday fired a new vapor-trailing moon rocket designed to reach its target on the eve of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's departure for the United States.

At 3 p.m. EDT, Moscow said, the rocket was 93,176 miles from earth.

Soviet comment indicated it was under a new guidance system, controlled from earth.

The official Soviet announcements on the launching did not make clear whether the rocket was designed to land on the moon or go into orbit around the earth's satellite. The Russian text of the announcement used the term "K Lune" which can be translated as either "to" or "toward" the moon.

Tass said the equipment-packed capsule is designed to "investigate magnetic fields of the earth and moon, radiation around the earth, the variations and intensity of cosmic radiation and to study heavy nuclei in cosmic space and the gas components of cosmic matter."

Sodium Vapor Cloud

Radio Moscow reported Saturday night that the rocket spewed a sodium vapor cloud to mark its trail as scheduled at 2:40 p.m. EDT as it hurtled toward the constellation of Aquarius. It said the "artificial comet" was photographed by an observatory at Kislovodsk in the north Caucasus by a "camera with a special light filter."

Later, Soviet Prof. D. Y. Marty-nov said in a Moscow broadcast that there apparently was "very insignificant" deviation from the rocket's planned direction.

"From the government report we heard that the last stage of the rocket was guided," he said, "This has made it possible to correct its course."

"The complexity of instruments seems to be working well — that is, all the signals we receive on the rocket's various frequencies constantly yield information about properties of inter-planetary space."

Tass reported earlier that "ground radio technical stations are measuring the current coordinates of the rocket's trajectory, by which the parameters of the rocket's orbit (trajectory) are determined at the computing center and the data for the guidance system is calculated."

A Radio Moscow broadcast quoted M. Popov, an associate member of the U. S. S. R. Academy of Sciences, as saying "the possibility of guiding the last stages of the rockets is a new, remarkable step in the technology of space rockets."

The official Soviet news agency Tass report of the launching said the rocket is expected to reach its target at 12:05 a.m. Moscow time, Monday Sept. 14, or 4:05 p.m. est. Sunday.

(In New York, astronomers said the moon will be invisible to most Americans at 4:50 p.m. est Sunday.)

The moon is scheduled to rise at 4:08 p.m. Sunday in the New York City area. Rising time will be even later in most of the United States. But parts of New England that lie farther east will have a chance to see the moon rise as much as 18 minutes earlier.

Strong Telescope Needed

Dr. Kenneth Franklin of the Hayden Planetarium said a strong telescope would be needed to see a rocket explosion on the moon even if the moon were fully visible.

According to the best available information, Khrushchev will leave for Washington aboard a Soviet jet at around 10 a.m. local (See ROCKET, Page 5)

Move Made To Park Parallel On Ballard

Pampa's Traffic Commission has requested the City Commission to approve parallel or indenture parking on Ballard St. from Atchison to Browning, it was reported Saturday.

James Hart, newly appointed Traffic Commission chairman, also said that reports are being prepared on requests for traffic signs on West and Francis Streets and for a traffic light at the intersection of Hobart and Frost.

The Commission, which met last week, also noted that many drivers are not dimming their headlights in the face of oncoming traffic. Hart stated that Texas traffic laws require a driver to dim his lights 200 feet to the rear and 500 feet to the front of an approaching car.

Two committees were formed by the commission, the operating committee headed by Dale Thut, and the education committee headed by Max Hukill. The education committee was requested to formulate plans for the observance of National Safety Week.

Groom Boy Cops Honors

Carl Hudson, a Groom 4-H boy, won top honors Saturday at the annual Gray county Sears Gift show held at Recreation Park, assistant county agent Cecil Reiser reported.

First place honors entitled Hudson to a place in the area Sears show at Amarillo Sept. 16, and $3.50 in prize money.

The prize-winning gift along with five others were given to twenty 4-H boys by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation with the agreement that the boys will give back one gift from their first litter of pigs.

Second place Saturday went to Brad Major of Groom, who was followed by Garry Epperson of Pampa, Jerry Moore of Pampa, Louis Money of Alanreed and Scottie Epperson of Pampa. Prizes ranged from $8.50 for first to $2 for fifth.

MOTHER GOOSE SET FOR PARADE

Frank Cain of Burlington, Vt. will bring his famous Mother Goose and comic characters to Pampa Dec. 4, supplementing the floats and other entries excited for the annual Santa Day parade.

The parade will be held at 3 p.m. December 4, according to Lucian Jung, chairman of the Chamber Commerce merchants activities committee.

Invitations will go out to areas next month.

CLEANING UP THE DEBRIS

Three oilfield workers employed by the Flint Rig Co. narrowly escaped injury Friday afternoon when a 63-foot gun pole toppled on the Hughey lease three miles south of Pampa. Seen untying the maze of wires and equipment are (left to right) Bobby Kennon, 212 N. Gray; Elvy Kenyon, 214 E. Tuke; and

Unit Operator Tommy McIlvain of Kingsmill. McIlvain said "everyone ran for cover" when a chain holding the pole snapped and the whole structure began to fall. The men were removing paraffin from the 3,100 foot oil well when the mishap occurred about 2:30 p.m. Friday. (Daily News Photo)

Gray County Gives Heart Fund $1,700

Gray County has contributed $1,700 to a twelve-month program of research on diseases of the heart and blood vessels. Six scientists in Texas have received grants totaling almost $30,000 to carry out this work, Mrs. R. F. Forsythe, president of the Gray County Heart Association announced Saturday.

Funds contributed locally in Pampa, have been added to those raised by other Heart Associations throughout the state to make possible the awarding of these grants by the Texas Heart Association. The research work is to be conducted at the two Texas medical centers during the twelve-month period ending June 30, 1960. Although the Texas Heart Association has been contributing to the national research support program of the American Heart Association, this is the first year that the Research Committee of the Working with Mrs. Forsythe in the local heart group are Ed Cleveland, board chairman; R. F. McDonald, secretary; and Gene Imel, treasurer.

The six research grants have been made to: George W. Clayton, M.D., Baylor University College of Medicine, Houston, for basic research in the application of a method for determining the amount of aldosterone (hormone secreted by the body which in turn, may be used as a valuable tool in the study of heart disease); Denton A. Cooley, M.D., whose project is concerned with the development of techniques for open heart surgery using a combination of the following: (1) a method for determining the amount of aldosterone (hormone secreted by the body which in turn, may be used as a valuable tool in the study of heart disease); (2) a method for determining the amount of aldosterone (hormone secreted by the body which in turn, may be used as a valuable tool in the study of heart disease); (3) a method for determining the amount of aldosterone (hormone secreted by the body which in turn, may be used as a valuable tool in the study of heart disease); (4) a method for determining the amount of aldosterone (hormone secreted by the body which in turn, may be used as a valuable tool in the study of heart disease); (5) a method for determining the amount of aldosterone (hormone secreted by the body which in turn, may be used as a valuable tool in the study of heart disease); (6) a method for determining the amount of aldosterone (hormone secreted by the body which in turn, may be used as a valuable tool in the study of heart disease).

Congress After Adjournment

By JACK FOX
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's fateful American visit had the capital in a flurry of final preparations Saturday, stirred with a preview of surprises to be expected by the newest Russian moon shot.

Congress was rushing for adjournment by Monday night, partly to avoid any question of the world's top Communist addressing a joint session after his plane touched down at Andrews, Md., Air Force base at 10:30 a.m. EST Tuesday.

U.S. Warned By Nikita Of Soviet Drive

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev served an unmistakable warning on the United States Saturday that his new "co-existence" drive will not impair Russia's determination to win at almost all cost the race for the conquest of outer space.

This was the first authoritative interpretation here of Moscow's firing of its moon rocket virtually on the eve of Khrushchev's history-making trip to the United States.

The military "lesson" behind the latest Kremlin move was by no means negligible either, according to a diplomatic appraisal.

The Western Big Three powers have only just completed agreement with Russia to resume global disarmament negotiations in which arms controls in outer space will play, for the first time, a major role.

The timing of the moon rocket appeared too obvious to be merely coincidental.

It was scheduled to reach the moon as Khrushchev was about to embark on his Washington journey.

The Soviet leader whose strong sense for the practical has been reflected in Russia's policy moves over the past few years, has shown no less inclination for the spectacular, as a carefully calculated prestige booster.

The Soviet experiment therefore was seen designed to underline Moscow's claim to superiority in the field of rocketry and in the race for the conquest of outer space.

REDS ARE COURTING FOR AUSTRIA FAVOR

By EDMUND HAUSER United Press International

VIENNA (UPI) - The Soviet Union is attempting to court Austria economically and in other ways to increase its influence inside this country.

A spokesman for the Austrian Ministry of Trade said the Russians are expected to make several attempts to use Austria as a step into the Western markets. Yet Austria does not fear increased Soviet influence.

"Austria has applied to hold the 1967 world's fair in Vienna," the spokesman said. "We expect that should Vienna be accepted as the site, that an eastern bloc company will be founded in Austria to construct roads from the fair to the east."

He pointed out that the Hungarian government has unofficially approached Austria with the intention of constructing a highway from Budapest to Vienna.

This plan, as the roads existing in eastern Austria leading to the Hungarian border suffice for the traffic there. We are concentrating on building our highways from Vienna to Salzburg and from Vienna to Tarvis via Graz," the ministry spokesman said.

The Austrian government nevertheless expects that the eastern bloc will create a road building company in Vienna with a view to financing the construction of a highway from Vienna to the Hungarian border itself. The company would, however, first have to get the permission of the Austrian government.

The Soviet Union has been courting Austrian tourists in the past five years, more than other tourists in Europe. The Soviet travel bureau Intourist offers seven-day trips to Moscow and 11-day trips to Moscow and Leningrad to Austrians at $60 and $34, all expenses and daily pocket money included.

to year. In 1950, when Austria was still under 4-power jurisdiction, its trade with the East was 9 billion Austrian schillings ($31 million dollars).

In 1959, one year following the signing of the Austrian state treaty, her trade with the East exceeded 27 billion schillings ($100 million dollars).

"The past has proved that the eastern European market offers many possibilities to Austria's exporters," the Trade Ministry spokesman said. Not only have we been able to export raw materials, but far more consumer goods than we ever expected."

Perryton Petitions For Air Service

PERRYTON - The City of Perryton and the Ochiltree County Chamber of Commerce have filed a joint petition with the Civil Aeronautics Board, seeking approval of scheduled airline service for passengers, mail and freight.

The petition asks for scheduled connections with Tulsa and Oklahoma City, Okla., Dallas, Fort Worth, Midland, Odessa and Amarillo.

It was pointed out in the petition that oil industry executives frequently travel between Perryton and the major cities of the Southwest and that modern facilities are available at the new City-County airport.

Central Airlines would be the most logical line to serve Perryton, according to Jack Allen, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce transportation committee. The airport would accommodate any plane in use by Central.

Central plans a survey in the Perryton area to determine the feasibility of air service.

Information is now being compiled for a brief to be sent to the CAB in support of the contention that scheduled airline service is a necessity for Perryton.

Business Views

United Press International
Business spending plans continue to expand despite the steel strike. Expenditures for new plant and equipment this year are now projected at $33.3 billion, $700 million above estimates three months ago, the government reported. This forecast, if realized, would be 9 per cent above the 1958 outlays.

Replacement tire sales, estimated at a record 66 million this year, will climb in 1960 to 68 million or more, setting a new high for the fourth straight year, according to the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

Retail sales declined 1.1 per cent in August, the Commerce Department reported. Sales of durable and soft goods totaled $18,697,000,000. This was still about 7 per cent higher than in August, 1958.

American Brass Co. has signed a new contract with the International Union of Mine, Mills, and Smelter Workers at the company's Ansonia, Conn. plant. Otherwise, the union and copper industry have shown indications of resuming contract talks that have shut down most mining and processing plants for a month.

FACE TOUGH SCHEDULE - WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) - The Wichita Vickers, 1959 National AAU champions, will face their most grueling schedule in four years as they range coast to coast in defense of their national crown on a 47-game schedule including 32 NIBL games during the 1959-60 season.

Federal Housing Agency Is Liable To Change In Future

By EDWARD COWAN United Press International

ATLANTA, Ga. (UPI) — A specialist in city housing matters embarked recently on a study of low-rent housing that may some day lead to big changes in the federally subsidized program. The specialist is Ernest M. Fisher, a professor of urban land economics at Columbia University. He has been hired as a temporary consultant to the Federal Housing Agency to dig in to the aspects of public housing that disturb the agency's boss, Norman P. Mason.

Another problem for Fisher is a lack of local enthusiasm for public housing. In 1958 some 10,000 low-rent dwelling units for which no localities had sign contracts were "lost" when authority for them expired. Many communities trying to plan low-rent projects on a new site have found opposition among property owners and businessmen on grounds that the project would hurt property values. A related problem is high land costs which push the cost of new construction above the 17,000 per dwelling unit ceiling and PHA

Solutions Being Sought
Solutions to both difficulties are being tried in Cedartown, Va., and Philadelphia. In Cedartown, low-cost prefabricated houses are being erected on scattered sites. In Philadelphia authorities are working on a plan to remodel existing row houses for low-income occupants. Another problem is a competing families on relief, or with incomes so low as to leave them unable to meet even the modest project rents. If a project accepts too many such tenants it may find that even the maximum subsidy payment possible under its contract with the PHA is not enough to keep the operation solvent. Yet, there are strong pressures on local housing authorities from social and welfare agencies to shelter the most indigent.

Now more than 20 years old, the federally subsidized Public Housing Program, customarily opposed by conservatives, came in for an extra salvo of shelling this year. The presence of unwanted units played a major role in presidential vetoes of two housing bills.

Problem Outlined
As Mason sees it, the problem he has hired Fisher to tackle is, broadly, "how do we care for the part of our population that needs assistance to have decent, sanitary housing?"

For himself, Mason feels that the present public housing program has serious—but not necessarily fatal—defects.

One — for which Fisher is supposed to suggest a remedy — is "too much" federal regulation. Mason put it this way: "I think we're supposed to be the umpire rather than the operator."

While the Public Housing Administration (PHA) does not manage housing projects, local agencies do that — it does require compliance with many regulations concerning costs, financing, construction standards, design, space and so forth.

"The capitalists are digging their own graves. I am not a grave digger. I am not going to labor to dig your own graves. If you like the capitalist system, live as long as you can. How long, I cannot predict."

"Let's see what you have in football uniforms!"

ARITHMETIC POSES A PROBLEM

Absorbed — like others their age — in the intricacies of arithmetic are (left to right) Steve Duncan, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Duncan; Bob Barker, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Barker; and Mike Wilson, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Wilson. The 10 students in Pampa's new physical-handicapped class study regular classroom subjects, but according to instructor Stephen McGrady "in a sheltered situation."

'Thrilled To Attend School'

By MARVIN OLSEN Daily News Staff Writer

Ten physically handicapped Pampa youngsters, none older than eight, are doing something these days they have never done before — they're attending public school.

They meet in a regular classroom five days a week at the Travis Elementary School where their teacher, a skillfully trained expert in "special education," is a young, but slightly balding Stephen McGrady.

Their first encounter with public education, McGrady confided, "thrilled them too much to be scared."

Their ages run from six to eight, and their physical handicaps range from near deafness, to brushes with cerebral palsy and polio, to difficult speech handicaps.

Their classes at Travis have one great objective: to bring the youngsters up to a point where they can "hold their own" with unhandicapped boys and girls their own age.

At present the city's public schools have no facilities for youngsters past the elementary grade, but according to McGrady, "We hope we soon will."

What sort of day do these 10 boys and girls have in school? They read, learn to write, tackle arithmetic, learn to get along with their own age, and take great enjoyment in a series of games and exercises designed to give them coordination, rhythm and comprehension.

Their favorite "game" is a song-like exercise called "Going On A Bear Hunt." Led by McGrady the young students keep tempo to the game with clapping and by making the appropriate motions with their hands.

At the beginning McGrady asks each of them to imagine they're in a forest marching along a trail. (Hands are thumped against a heel to the tempo of marching.)

"We're marching along a path and we come to a very large tree," McGrady says. "We can't go around it, we can't go under it, so we'll have to climb over it. Climbing motion with hands."

"Now we're back on the trail, we've lost time so we must go double-time." (Tempo quickens.) After a while we come to a deep creek. We can't wade it so we'll have to swim it." (Swim motions.)

"Now we come to a hill. (Tempo slows.) We climb up the hill and we finally get to the top, and we come to a deep, dark cave. "Look in the cave. It's very dark in here, sure is dark. Oh, I smell a bear. (Reaches hand in imaginary cave.)

"It feels like a bear," McGrady tells his by now absorbed class. "It is a bear!" he explains. "We'll have to hurry home."

And to the various clappings and motions of hands and legs; the class climbs the hill, swims back across the creek, climbs the very big tree and returns home where they wipe the perspiration from their brows.

Teaching these handicapped Pampa youngsters might prove little a chore to someone not so carefully trained as McGrady. "What would be a major problem to the classroom teacher," McGrady said, "the 'special education' instructor has been taught handle."

To the layman watching McGrady work it appears that such a job requires tact, patience, and a gentle mixture of kindness and mild booke.

McGrady is now in his fifth year of special education instruction. He holds a bachelor of science degree in education from North Texas State and has taught Montague and Wise counties and Galena Park, a suburb of Houston.

100 Million Benefit By City Postal Service

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Postal Service has gone metropolitan, and almost a hundred million Americans have benefited so far.

The idea is to give one-day delivery service to big-city residents. Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield says the project is working with near-perfection in the 43 major metropolitan areas where it has been tried so far.

Suppose you live in one of these areas. If you write your Aunt Emma, who lives across town, and get the letter in the box by 5 p.m. today, she is almost certain of receiving it tomorrow — provided both today and tomorrow are business days.

Change Mail Processing
This is accomplished, Summerfield says, by closely integrating mail transportation schedules and by processing mail in suburban offices, rather than in crowded downtown facilities.

Hogan Winds Up 4 Weeks Of Training

LUKE AFB, Ariz. (Sp) — William E. Hogan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hogan of 508 Doucette, and an Air Force ROTC cadet at Luke Air Force Base, is shown standing in front of an F-100, operational aircraft at the base.

Cadet Hogan, who completed his junior year in advanced Air Force ROTC, is ending four weeks of summer training at Luke Air Force Base, as part of the Reserve Officer training at college. While at summer training, Cadet Hogan observes and actually participates in Air Force operations.

They will be given indoctrination rides in the T-33 and perhaps the F-100. While at Luke the cadets will have an opportunity to participate in the activities of the base. The cadets will not only be given their schedule of officer training instruction, but will observe the Combat Crew Training Program.

Texas Tech To Study Changes

LUBBOCK (UPI)—Acting Texas Tech President R. C. Goodwin told his faculty at the first meeting of the year that the school may have to make a choice between "more instructors—less salary, or fewer instructors."

to re-examine its role as a major educational institution in the light of financial developments. The acting president said money just isn't available to increase enrollment if educational qualities are to be maintained. The school had an all-time high enrollment of 5,768 last year and at least that many are expected to sign up for classes this semester.

Young Restaurant Owner Shoots Ku Klux Klan Leader

By JOHN J. McDAVITT Jr.,
United Press International

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—A young restaurant owner who shot a Ku Klux Klan leader who had hired Negro waiters killed a local Klan leader with a shotgun early Saturday, police reported.

William C. Horton, 38, the victim, was gunned down in a restaurant parking lot of a suburban shopping center while police were investigating reports of trouble between the restaurant man, James B. Peek Jr., 22, and Klan members.

Peek filed complaints with police earlier this week that he had received threats on three occasions from the Klan. Sources said Horton, a supervisor for Alabama Power Co. and father of two children, was a local Klansman and white supremacy advocate.

Detectives said Peek surrendered and admitted the slaying. He was charged with murder.

Violent Quarrel

The shooting occurred while two detectives, G. L. Annette and E. L. Wright, were investigating a vicious quarrel between the two men.

The officers quoted Peek as saying he shot Horton when the victim pulled a gun on him.

Peek had complained to police that Klan stickers were pasted on the front door of his restaurant. "The KKK is watching you," the stickers said.

Later 40 to 50 Klansmen came to the restaurant, occupied all the chairs and stools, drank coffee and departed without saying a word.

Peek said he also received a letter from the organization ordering him to fire his Negro waiters or take down Confederate flags displayed in the restaurant. He said the Klan accused him of firing white waitresses to employ Negroes and that Confederate flags should not be displayed in an establishment where Negroes worked.

Singer-golfer Don Cherry was in Pampa last week visiting his aunt, Mrs. Mary Walker, 1314 E. Frederic. Mrs. Walker said Cherry was enroute from Amarillo, where he sang Tuesday night, to Enid, Okla.

Dismissed Waitresses

Peek said he dismissed his white waitresses because they were under 21 and could not work in an establishment that served beer. He refused to take down the flags.

Arnette and Wright said peek and Horton had argued at the restaurant before the shooting.

The officers quoted Peek as saying someone who identified himself as Horton called him after the argument and told him "they would settle this" if he would meet him at Normandale, a large shopping suburb.

The detectives said Peek contacted his father, James B. Peek Sr., and the latter telephoned Police. The officer said they met the father and son at the shopping center and were headed toward the father's house when the younger Peek apparently returned to the parking lot and shot Horton.

Horton's gun, a .22 caliber pistol, was found in his pocket.

curity agents, plainclothes detectives, troops, and police of the cities they visit.

The State Department security section under former FBI agent Elmer Hipsley voiced confidence Khrushchev would be fully protected. But no one was forgetting the consequences that an act of violence, successful or not, could bring—particularly with President Eisenhower returning the visit in October.

One of the biggest impediments was the reception the American public will give Khrushchev.

President Eisenhower has asked that he be treated with the courtesy and respect due a guest. It was not likely accidental that Khrushchev will drive into Washington during the noon hour Tuesday, assuring that there will be crowds of thousands of office workers on the streets. Nor that the first chance the public will get to show their disposition toward Khrushchev will be when he is accompanied by Eisenhower.

The President will go cleft out 500 feet from the Andrews highway to greet the premier and then walk back with him to a platform for the ceremonies.

Church groups were setting for special prayers during the visit. Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston called for a special novena (nine days of prayer) beginning when Khrushchev sets foot on American soil.

ROCKET

time Tuesday or 2 a.m. est. Monday.

As usual, the announcement did not say where in the Soviet Union the rocket was launched or what time it blasted off on the journey through space.

The big question was whether it was actually aimed at landing on the surface of the moon or to pass it and go into orbit around the sun like the first Soviet moon rocket launched last January.

Tass news agency statements spoke of the rocket heading "to the moon." But Moscow radio quoted one radio-electronic expert who said it might pass near the moon on its way to outer space.

No Passenger

There was no indication that the rocket carried a living passenger.

The official statements said the launching took place with the aid of a multi-stage rocket. After it reached its trajectory, a ball-like capsule carrying scientific equipment, separated from the last stage of the rocket and continued toward the moon.

"One Moscow radio commentator linked the moonshot with Khrushchev's visit to the United States. "The new rocket is one more proof of our peaceful attitude toward America," he said.

But other circles said it was evident that the Russians intended to make the most of the rocket's propaganda possibilities on the eve of the forthcoming talks between Khrushchev and Eisenhower on East-West issues.

The Soviet space vehicle bore a small pennant with the hammer and sickle emblem of the U.S.S.R. and the inscription "September 1959."

Studying Space

Moscow Radio which broke into its regularly scheduled programs to flash the news, said "the launching of the rocket was made for the purpose of studying cosmic space during the flight toward the moon."

The latest Soviet moon rocket was roughly the same type launched last January 2, the day before Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan departed for a tour of the United States.

Tass said the rocket reached a speed of 8.8 miles per second in its flight through space.

The new rocket's last stage—containing the collection of instruments for scientific checks,

'Anti-Togetherness' Series Gives New Punch To Teevee

By DOC QUIGG
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—A sort of television rebel has come along with a new comedy series that he calls, with some fierceness, "an anti-togetherness series." He's against parents who try to mix with their kids. He's also against woman rule in this country. "It's this way in the show," said Max Shulman. "The papa loves the boy, loves him fine, but at 15-minute intervals he says to himself: 'I've gotta kill this kid.' Let's just say he's undecided about his teen-age son, as when he remarks: 'He's a bum, but he's my bum.'" writing humor in short stories, novels, Broadway musicals, and the movies. But "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis" starting Sept. 29 on CBS, is his first television work.

Succumbs To Money
A man not loath to turn a mag- nificent phrase. He explained: "Television is not my idea of heaven, but I bring to it the tri- umph of innocence." And then: "I succumbed to money. I've got a lot of mouths to feed. Four kids, each with several mouths."
A writer turning to TV, Shul- man said, "finds himself up to his neck in people—the actors, the director, the producer, studio ex- ecutives, the TV network, the sponsor's agency, the sponsors themselves, the agency that repre- sents the show—and it's this mob scene that's kept me out of TV all these years."

However, having plunged, he's splashing all over. He even wrote the sponsor's commercials ("You have heard of the soft sell—I'm giving 'em a limp sell" and is coming on screen himself to read them.
"Here, take a look at my Screen Actor's Guild card," he said. "I also have a stand-in, how do you like that? Name's Bill. Stand-ins don't have last names. He sits where I'm supposed to sit while they light the set. The lights are very hot and they want to save the star. Bill has a Screen Extra's Guild card.
"I don't even have to memo- rize the commercials I write; I read them from a teleprompter. I also wrote the words for the theme song."

with success. His book "Rally Round The Flag, Boys" was on the best-seller list a year and sold a very cool 2 million copies, hard cover and paperback.
"Dobie" is a domestic comedy series built around what Shulman calls "a 17-year-old, normal, prob- lem-type boy interested in girls, convertibles, and the money to en- joy them." Shulman has been writing about him in magazines since 1942 and has collected some of the episodes about him into a just-published book, "I Was a Teen-Age Dwarf."
However: "The TV series is be- ing written very little by me, I did only eight of the 29 scripts and bought the others from 23 guys. It was easy to get the writ- ers. They'd say, 'say, I'd like to do a script knocking togetherness.' And I've got one man rewriting, and then I edit or rewrite him.
"When I started the series I said there never would be a living room in it to avoid any sen- sibility of togetherness. But I had

PHS Student Body Straining At Bit

By WALLACE TRUESDELL
Daily News Staff Writer

When anything that requires co- operation happens at Pampa High School you can be sure that the Student Council has a part in it somewhere.
Cooperation seems to be the slogan of this year's Student Council, as expressed in new projects that are still in the talking stage.
The 1959-60 term got off to a fast start this year with Welcome Sophomore Week, sponsored by the Student Council. Sophomores Mike Stewart and Dianna Myers were recognized as Mr. and Miss Howdy at a Howdy Party Sept. 4.
The students rated this new honor as the sophomore boy and girl who had gone farthest out of their way to meet the most people during Howdy Week. The selection was made by sophomore teachers.
An orientation assembly, another experiment, was held last week to acquaint new students with the aims of the Student Council and the school. Main speakers were Jim Scott, SC president; Duane "Butch" Dunham, vice president; Karen Capps, secretary; and Mert Cooper, chaplain.
Others at the rostrum were Joe Bourland, senior class president; L. J. Edmondson, principal; Lyn- da Wilhelm, Little Harvester editor; Tiley Patterson and Michael Brown, co-editors of the Harves- teer Annual; Miss Martha Mon- hams, library assistant; and Mar- ianna Perkins, who spoke on the function of various clubs.
As in past years, three repre- sentatives—president, vice pres- ident and secretary—have been elected in each of the homerooms. There are now 30 homerooms, owing to the recent addition at Pampa High School. Only the home- room president, however, repre- sents his group at a council meet- ing. Homeroom presidents and teachers will be invited to a get- together breakfast Sept. 30.

The other two officers are useful in the homeroom meetings held following each session of the Council, which will hold its first meet- ing of the term Wednesday morn- ing.
It is amazing that in its short meeting time, 8:15 to 9 a.m. every Wednesday, the Council can ac- complish as much as it does. Per- sonal projects are the All School Carnival, the spring prom and the spring talent show.
The Council promotes school spir- it, supports the Harvesters and tries to develop leadership through- out the school.
The big push this year is to an- adult-student council, which would bring leaders of the community in- to the school to work with students on major projects. Besides work- ing for closer student, faculty and community cooperation, the Coun- cil is working for more participa- tion in school activities on the part of PHS clubs.

"Some clubs just exist and that's all," says Karen Capps, the sec- retary. "There's a job for each of them."
FIND SLAIN MAN'S CAR
HOUSTON (UPI)—An automo- bile belonging to an elderly main- tenance man who was slain on the job Aug. 15 by an intruder was found Friday night abandon- ed at a street intersection. The car had been missing since the night that Ewing M. Schermack, 66, was bludgeoned to death. Po- lice lifted partial fingerprints from the vehicle and were trying to identify them.

Morgan Edwards Receives Award

Morgan Edwards, pumper for the Pampa Water Department, has been awarded a Grade C "certifi- cate" of competency in recog- nition of his skill in water plant op- eration, the Texas Water and Sew- age Works Association reported Saturday.
The certificate was awarded un- der the state's general sanitation law which provides that water plants furnishing the public must be under the supervision of an operator who has proved his talent for the job in a written examina- tion.
Edwards, who serves during the summer as a manager of the city's swimming pool, will be eligible for a higher classification after he meets certain requirements of ex- perience and training. His newly- won certificate will be valid for three years.

LAMESA BOY KILLED
GOODWELL, Okla. (UPI)—A pickup truck and trailer over- turned a mile southwest of this Oklahoma Panhandle town Fri- day, killing 3-year-old Ernest Her- nandez of Lamesa, Tex. Twelve other persons of Latin American descent were in the truck, but only four suffered injuries that required hospital treatment. The boy's father, Santiago Hernandez, escaped injury.

Kiwanians Enjoy Superb Musical Performances

Members of the Pampa Down- town Noon Kiwanis Club were en- tertained royally during their regu- lar weekly luncheon Friday, hear- ing several vocal selections from past hit musicals.
With Miss Patsy Martin at the piano, Kiwanian Dr. Neely Joe Ellis sang "Dobie Serenade" from Fire Fly and "I'll Walk With God" from the Student Prince.
He also teamed with Mrs. Louise Richardson to render, "Bess, You Is My Woman" from the Broad- way smash, Porky and Bess.
Mrs. Richardson, a music teach- er at Pampa Junior High opened the program with a Viennese Waltz, "Let My Song Fill Your Heart" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery-of-Life."
The musical performance was introduced by Herman Whitley, chairman of the Programs and Music Committee of the local civic club.

In Club business, Kiwanians made plans to attend a Tuesday night Charter Banquet in Borger for the opening of a new Kiwanis Club in that city. The local down- town Kiwanians will host the en- tire Pampa High Key Club at their meeting this Friday, with individ- ual members paying for one guest lunch. Plans were also discussed at the Kiwanians meeting to at- tend a Sept. 25 Key Club Leader- ship Banquet.
Guests at Friday's luncheon were Robert Jones and R. C. Mc- Murtry of Amarillo, and two Pam- pa High Key Clubbers, Herschel Terrel and Billy Wray.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

REV. T. D. UPSHAW
Central Baptist Church

ELIJAH'S GOD AND GOD'S ELIJAH

II Kings 2:14

"And he took the mantle of Elijah that fell from him, and smote the waters, and said, Where is the Lord God of Elijah?"

One of the most interesting lives to be studied is that of Elijah. The above scripture was said by Elisha the successor of Elijah.

The world today is crying where is the God of Elijah but God is saying where is God's Elijah? God is still the same if he can just find His Elijah.

ELIJAH'S GOD IS A GOD WHO HIDES FOR HIS PEOPLE. In I Kings 17:3-4 Ahab sought Elijah's life but God hid him. The song writer said, "He hideth my soul in the-cliff of the rock that shadows a dry thirsty land; He hideth my life in the depths of His love, and covers me there with his hand, and covers me there with his hand".

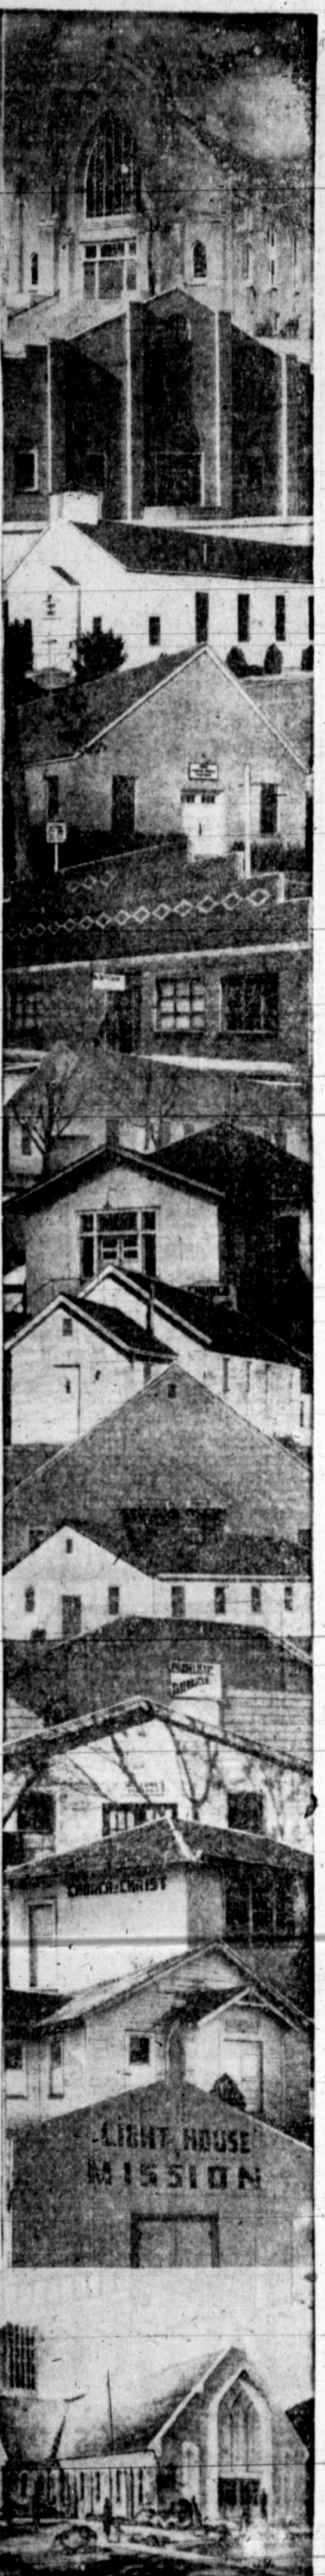

ELIJAH'S GOD IS A GOD WHO PROVIDES FOR HIS PEOPLE. He said to His prophet "Thou shall drink of the brook and I have commanded the ravins to feed thee". God always provides for his own.

ELIJAH'S GOD IS A GOD WHO GUIDES HIS PEOPLE. God guided the prophet and He will always guide His people today if they will let Him.

Now this is Elijah's God. What about God's Elijah? GOD'S ELIJAH IS A MAN WHO PRAYS. Elijah prayed and the fire fell; the rain came and the people saw a demonstration of God's power. How much do you pray?

GOD'S ELIJAH IS A MAN WHO OBEYS. We limit God's work by our disobedience. The man who follows God will obey Him.

GOD'S ELIJAH IS A MAN WHO STAYS. God was the only one that could move Elijah. In the face of Ahab he had a stubborn faith. Sin could not move him. God is still the same today. Will you be God's Elijah?

Adobe Walls Scouts Have Chance To Attend Jamboree

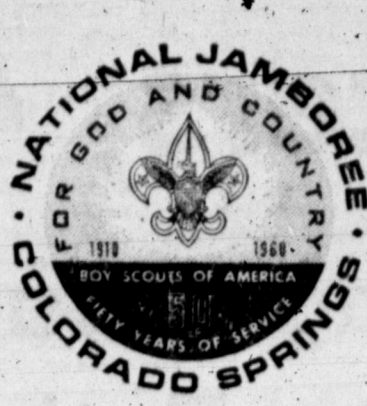

The great Southwest is being honored by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America in the celebration of their Fiftieth Anniversary. This, the world's greatest movement for building character in boys, will be fifty years old in 1960, and to celebrate this event, the National Council is holding the Jamboree in Colorado Springs, Colo.

This celebration, which will be attended by some 80,000 Boy Scouts and leaders from this nation, will also have representative contingents from all over the world.

To bring it a little closer home, the Adobe Walls Council, which takes in an area of twelve counties on the east side of the Texas Panhandle and the three counties which make up the Oklahoma Panhandle, has been allowed to send 148 boys in one contingent.

This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for area Scouts.

The Council is arranging the transportation, ordering the equipment, selecting the adult leadership, staging the pre-jamboree camps, and taking care of a host of other details.

A Boy Scout who will be twelve years old by January 1, 1960, and who has earned his first class badge will be eligible to attend this event. The cost, which has been established by the Jamboree Committee, is a great deal less than it was for the last Jamboree held in Valley Forge in 1957.

Due to the distance involved, the transportation cost is much less and the total fee has been reduced to $125 per boy. This fee will cover the cost of all that is involved in the Jamboree with the exception of a boy's spending money and his uniforms or other personal expense. Some of the things included in the fee are: Transportation, food, tentage, equipment such as, cooking gear, etc., insurance, leadership and a host of others.

The Jamboree will open July 22 and close July 29, and already a great number of reservations have been made with the Council office.

The Council can only take 148 boys on this great adventure, and is taking reservations on a first come—first served basis, which means that boys who are eligible and want to go should get their reservations in early so they won't miss this greatest of all Boy Scout adventures.

UNSWAYED BY SNEEZE

CHICAGO (UPI)—Paul W. Henson, 19, admitted he was sneezing when given a ticket Aug. 16, but said it was because "the thrust of a sneeze brought my feet down on the gas pedal." But apparently the sneezes lasted too long. Judge Harry P. Bean noted that "you were 12 miles over the limit for more than two blocks," and fined Henson $5.

On The Shelf

The Pampa Genealogical and Historical Society has given a group of books for research to the Lovett Memorial Library.

The ABC's of American Genealogical Research by E. Kay Kirkham tells the ins and outs of gathering one's kinkfoks. Teeming with suggestions concerning where to look and how to search records, wills and vital statistics, the volume should prove invaluable in genealogical research.

Advanced Genealogical Research by Archibald F. Bennett provides an intelligent background for research efforts by analyzing the historical setting and the pathways of settlement of our American civilization. It explains the technique of gathering and verifying genealogical facts from original sources and emphasizes the importance of tracing clues that will lead to an authentic genealogy.

A Basic Course in Genealogy, Volume I by Gardner, Harlan and Smith is the first comprehensive attempt to consider record keeping and basic research in sufficient detail to satisfy the needs of both the experienced and the beginner.

A Basic Course in Genealogy, Volume II by Derek Harland lists in detail, in a simple, yet comprehensive style, the steps of a research campaign. From the preliminary steps of the research survey, through the stages of defining the objectives and the pedigree problems, to the actual searching of the genealogical records, the beginning genealogist is led to the final obtaining of actual evidence.

Research in American Genealogy by E. Kay Kirkham is an authoritative book on genealogy, providing answers for those beginning their research as well as for those who are old hands at the work. Several unique sections make the book invaluable to the serious genealogist.

It provides answers to census searching in large American cities. Vital statistics are included from all government agencies. A treatise on Canadian research is also included. A section explains the making and keeping of notes and the organization of a genealogical file.

Finding Your Forefathers in America by Archibald F. Bennett was written to demonstrate how to train oneself to succeed in genealogical research. Defining the principles of scientific genealogical research, the text also provides encouragement in the more difficult quests.

EVERY CHILD, MUSIC MINDED

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — There's a musical thread in the fabric of every child's personality at birth. Your child, perhaps, first shows that he appreciates music when he's quieted as you hold him in your arms and hum lullabies to him.

Later, in his playpen, he demonstrates a sense of rhythm by nodding his head or waving his arms in almost perfect time when he hears a march.

Between the age of two and three, he may pick up tunes. By age four, he may be making up songs.

These signs of your child's in-born musical talent don't mean you have to hustle him off for piano lessons and force him into the tedious business of scales "way before his little hands and muscles are ready for musical training on a formal basis.

Play Light Classics

They don't mean either that you should make something formal out of boosting his appreciation for "long-hair" music. You wouldn't, for example, want to force him to sit quietly and listen to the "Unfinished Symphony" one day and equally heavy works on subsequent days.

NEXT GOVERNOR—The man who will be Mississippi's next governor is Ross Robert Barnett Sr., a 60-year-old Jackson attorney. After two previous defeats, he recently won the Democratic party runoff primary, tantamount to election in the one-party state. Barnett is an outspoken segregationist.

want his musical talent to feed on too much of one thing any more than you would want him to develop physically on a single staple diet.

A suggested basic record library for the pre-school child might be broken into three stages: Records for babyhood; those for children from two to four; those for five-year-olds.

For babyhood, you might select Brahms' "Cradle Song"; Saint-Saens' "The Swan"; "Barcarolle" from tales of Hoffman; the "Children's Prayer" from Hansel and Gretel; Mother Goose songs.

Christmas Songs Next

For the next stage, you can add the Christmas songs, especially "Jingle Bells," "Silent Night" and "O Come, All Ye Faithful" — the latter recorded by the Vienna Boys Choir. Also add waltzes—such as the Skaters Waltz and Waltzing Doll.

For the 5-year-old sophistication can be added. For example "Clair

52nd Year THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1959

De Luce", Debussy's Children's Corner Suite" and Tchaikovsky's "Nutsacker Suite".

Records with singing games for the three and four year olds are good for parties. You can find everything from "London Bridge" to "Farmer In The Dell."

If you have a musical ambition for your child, one good idea is to discuss it with a music teacher in a nearby school. She'll probably say all children are born musicians.

Musicians? Yes. There are three kinds: Those who compose, those who perform and those who appreciate.

The kind of musician your child is will be perfectly plain—in time.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

EDINBURG (UPI)—A shotgun accidentally discharged and killed C. C. Cockrell, 25, of Mission, Tex., Monday while he was returning from a rabbit hunting trip north of Edinburg. Peace Justice J. M. Chapa of Edinburg ruled accidental death.

MIAMI RACKS HORNETS, 42-0

MORRETTIE (Sp) — Miami's powerful passing attack rolled to high gear here Friday, as the Warriors completed six touchdowns to rout Mobeetie in the District 1-B (six-man) opener for both teams, 42-0. Miami led 29-0 at all times.

Miami had been favored to win the game, but the margin of victory was surprisingly one-sided. After the game, Miami coach Jim Arsons made one of the understatements of the year: "We had a good night."

The victory established Miami as the favorite to take its second straight district crown. Last year, the Warriors won the bi-district title after a close district race with the Mobeetie Hornets. The Hornets were expected to give Miami a good run for its money this season.

The third title contender, Bookers, defeated Balko, Okla., Friday with a score of 26-18. Miami beat the same squad last week, 55-13. Miami threw 12 passes Friday, and completed all of them, with six being good for touchdowns. Quarterback Gerald Anderson threw three of the scoring tosses, back Paul Thompson threw two, and Jimmy Bowers tossed one.

Tommy Hollis caught four of the scoring tosses, while Larry Anderson snagged two. Bowers passed for three extra points (good for only one point each under six-man rules); and Miami scored its other three points on a safety (which counts for one point more than in 11-man football).

Besides showing a strong offense, the Warriors also stopped Mobeetie almost cold on defense. The Hornets were never able to penetrate the Miami 20-yard line, and only twice were able to get inside the 30.

Larry Anderson was the outstanding defensive man for Miami, playing an end position. Other defensive standouts were centers Mark Arrington and Charles Christopher, halfback Tuck Selitz, ends Tommy Hollis and James Strawn, and halfback Mike Lopez.

Persons used every man on the team, playing his third team in the fourth quarter.

ART NELSON ... tough tag teamer

Six-Man Tag Team Go Slated Here Monday

Probably the most spectacular wrestling match ever staged in Pampa will be held at Top O' Texas Sportsmen's Club on the Letors Highway, Monday night.

The main event will be a six-man tag team event, matching three popular favorites against three of the area's meanest and roughest wrestlers.

In addition, there will be three preliminaries, including a special mystery event. The festivities get underway at 8:30 p.m.

One tag team trio will include Ripper Leone, Tough Tony Morelli, and Art Nelson. The other team will be Cowboy Carlson, Silent Joe Hamilton, and Tommy Phelps.

Leone, Morelli, and Nelson are generally conceded to be the roughest, toughest, and most unscrupulous wrestlers in this part of the country. Last week, Leone and Morelli caused a near riot at the Sportsmen's Club, with their dirty tactics. Police had to keep angry fans from mobbing them.

Phelps was one of the victims of their rough stuff, so he'll be especially glad to get another crack at them. During the second fall of his match with Leone, Phelps was thrown out of the ring all the way to the fifth row of seats.

He attempted to get back into the ring, but each time he tried it he was stomped across the forehead by Leone. Phelps finally made it back to the ring, but he was easily pinned — a very bloody and very bruised loser.

Leone also had an illegal hand in the second match last week. Dory Funk had a toehold on Morelli but Leone entered the ring, unlawfully, in street clothes and hit Funk in the back of the head. Morelli took advantage of this unexpected aid to pin Funk and win the match.

The enraged Funk followed the two bad buddies to their dressing room, only to be hit on the head with chairs by both. It was then that angry fans threatened to take the law into their own hands, before police intervened.

Nelson wasn't on last week's card, but if he had been, it's a safe bet he would have also had a hand in the illegal shenanigans. The big Canadian wrestles to win, any way that he can.

Phelps will have a couple of capable helpers in cutting the "bad three" down to size. Silent Joe, one of the biggest wrestlers in the area, and one of the best, takes special pride in dispatching dirty fighters. The same is true of Carly, one of the area's best new matmen.

Advance tickets to Saturday's matches, sponsored by Pampa Shrine Club, are on sale at Levine's department store. Prices are $1.50 for ringside, $1.25 for reserved seats, and $1.00 for general admission.

Area Roundup

Wellington Wins
HOLLIS, Okla. — Halfback Dick Lambert scored twice here Friday to give Wellington of District 5-A a 14-4 victory over Hollis. Wellington was never behind in the game.

Clarendon Loses
CLARENDON — The Clarendon Panthers of District 2-A lost to the Spearman Lynx here Friday, 14-8. This was the second straight loss for Clarendon, which dropped its 34-4 decision last week to the powerful Stinnett Rattlers.

Memphis Beaten
MEMPHIS — The Estellins Cubs beat Memphis of District 2A here Friday, 21-0. Estellins, a class B team, was led by quarterback Mike Spe, who scored 13 points. Halfback Tommie Tucker scored 12 for Memphis.

Room Bounced
SUNRAY — Groom of District 1-B was handed its second straight setback here Friday night, 20-8, by Sunray. Groom, picked to win the 1-B championship, had lost its opening game to defending state class A state champ White Deer, 8-0.

Childress Tops Panhandle
CHILDRESS — The surprisingly strong Childress Bobcats of District 1-A romped over the Panhandle Panthers of 2-A here Friday night, 27-8.

The passing combination of quarterback Hugh Frith to right end Jimmy Holleman accounted for five of the Childress touchdowns and set up the fourth.

A 25-yard Frith-to-Holleman toss the first quarter put the ball in the Panhandle 1-yard line, and Kelley carried it over from Jerry Harmon ran the conclusion.

The same passing combination accounted for two second-quarter touchdowns, on tosses of 41 and 24 yards; and also gave the Bobcats their fourth score in the final period on a 42-yard pass.

Panhandle's only score came in 18 seconds remaining in the game. All-district fullback Leon Cook sprinted 52 yards to the Childress 4-yard line, then Roy Holman went the final distance. Cook ran across the extra points.

Pan Am To Hold Playoffs
SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — At least two games of the Texas League American League series to decide Pan American baseball championship will be held in Austin, Texas Saturday. Dick Heller said Saturday.

The best-of-seven series begins Monday, with the Austin Senators representing the Texas League. Mexico's representative won't be known until completion of the playoff series between the Mexico Red Devils and the Nuevo Laredo Owls, who are currently battling for the league championship.

Mexico City wins the Mexican championship, the series will open in Mexico City on Sept. 15, with additional games on the 16th and 17th. If Nuevo Laredo wins, the playoff site opens with Nuevo Laredo with games on the 15th and 16th.

Mexico City wins, the Texas League of the series will begin in Austin Sept. 19; if Nuevo Laredo wins it will begin in Austin Sept. 19.

Heller also announced that a meeting of the organizers of the clubs involved in the playoffs, presidents of both leagues, and Grady Terry, president of the Sophomore League, will hold a meeting in Mexico City at Laredo on Sept. 15, with site again depending on the Texas League championship.

Pirate Reliever Elroy Face Loses First Game Of Year

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures: Harvey Haddix of the Pittsburgh Pirates must get a shock every time he looks at his teammate, Elroy Face.

Face, working in relief, had won 17 games without a setback this season while pitching only 28 innings until the Dodgers snapped his string Friday night at Los Angeles. Haddix, with an 11-11 mark, lost five of those games by pitching 49 innings. Four of those defeats came in full nine-inning efforts and the other in 13 innings against Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, incidentally, is the only team which Face hasn't beaten. His victories include four over the Dodgers, three over the Phils, Giants and Cubs and two over the Reds and Cards.

It's enough to make Haddix shake closer than necessary.

Rookies Likely To Slick

The two rookies most likely to stick with the New York football Giants are Cincinnati halfback Joe Morrison and Richmond end Joe Biscaba, even though Biscaba's Buddy Dial was the Giants' number one draft choice and everybody's All-American.

Morrison and Biscaba, being from "small" colleges, naturally never received All-America attention. But Giant coach Jim Lee Howell beams that "Morrison can play both offense and defense and actly what he's supposed to do on a play." As for Biscaba, end coach Ken Kavanaugh, the old Bear star, beams "he runs his pass patterns exactly the way they should be run." — Proving how fleeting is All-America fame.

The famed celebrants of sports — a list which includes the likes of Joe Page, Tommy Armour and Madcap Maxie Baer — must be chortling at the Damsyankees. Mickey Mantle and White Ford had forced behaviorism clauses in their contracts this season, predicated on salary alterations. So both had atrocious seasons this year the Yankees blew the pennant.

Next year they'll probably go back to detectives.

Urges Big Ball

Henry Cotton, one of England's golfing greats, suggests that his countrymen start using the larger American ball to help put an end to their constant defeat at American hands. Cotton contends the larger ball, while it doesn't go as far in high wind, requires less long game control and is easier to play in the short game and in putting. "The larger ball would stop this rot," he argues.

On a recent Sunday, 13-year-old Roy Fairman Jr., felt as if the world had come to an end. Roy had attended church services at the Gettysburg, Pa., Presbyterian Church and missed out on a cadet assignment because church was late letting out.

MCLEAN TIGERS ROUT WHEELER

WHEELER (Spl) — The surprising McLean Tigers won their second straight game of the year here Friday night, stopping the Wheeler Mustangs, 36-16. The Tigers, one of the lightest and most inexperienced teams in District 3-A, also scored 30 points in their opener, a 32-16 win over Sha mrock.

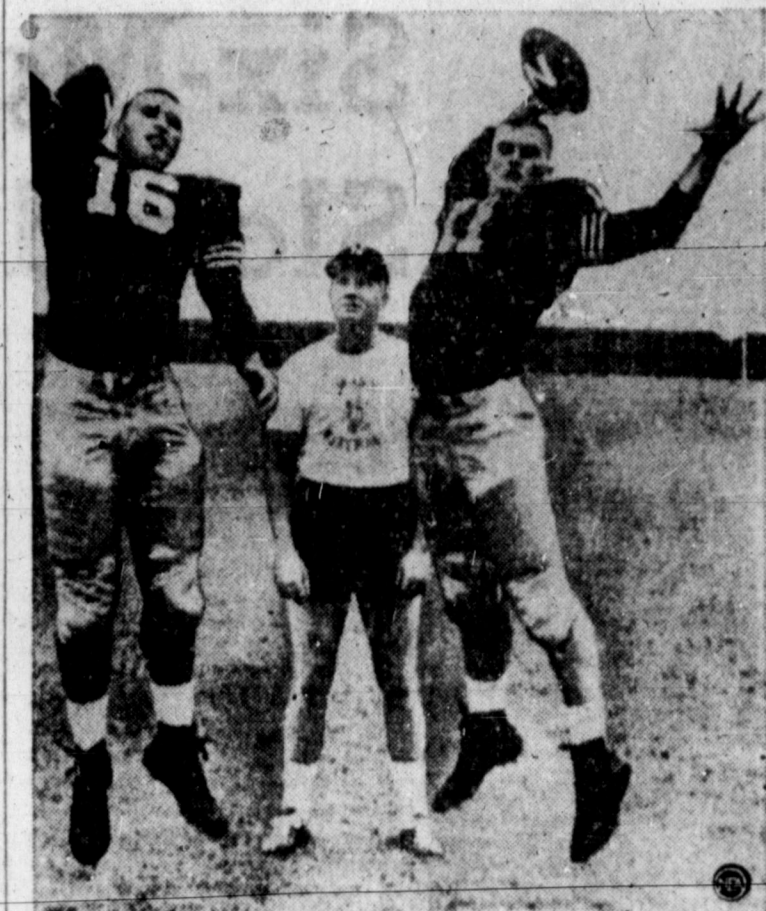

The Tigers had command of the game all the way, building up a 36-0 lead before Coach Clifford Bradshaw sent in his reserves in the fourth quarter.

David Crockett, McLean's all-district back, scored three of the Tiger touchdowns on a conversion. Jimmy Watson and quarterback Don Woods tallied the other McLean TD's.

Crockett made the first score, early in the first quarter, going two yards on a drive play. Woods ran the conversion. Crockett also made the second touchdown, in the second period, going 11 yards off right tackle. He also ran the conversion.

Still in the second quarter, Watson ran eight yards for the third score, and McLean led 22-0 at half-time.

Crockett came back for his third touchdown in the third stanza, go-

Booker Bops Balko, 36-16

BALKO, Okla. (Spl) — Halfback Doyle Cates clicked up his heels for three touchdowns in the first half here Friday night on runs of 21, 70 and 26 yards to pace the Booker Kiowas to a 20-0 intermission lead.

Coach Harold Hooker's Booker squad then romped on to a neat 36-16 triumph over host Balko in an eight-man non-conference grid game.

Kiowa quarterback Marvin Trooper passed to Tommy Mounce for a two-point conversion after Cates' second period TD and then pitched another two-point conversion to Mike Whitehorn only 11 seconds deep in the third stanza after Steve Guy brought the crowd to its feet by returning the second-half kickoff 70 yards for the fourth Booker touchdown.

Balko closed the gap a little to 23-3 seconds later by returning the ensuing kickoff a like 70 yards, but Booker put things out of reach in the 4th quarter when Trooper again hit his target, this time rifling an eight-yard TD to Jerry Rutz.

Another Trooper-to-Whitehorn aerial clicked for the two-point conversion and Booker led, 36-6, before the home town outfit tallied on a 26-yard running play, made the conversion and raked up a safety by trapping a Booker back behind his own goal line with only minutes left in the game.

Booker opens District 1-B play at home Friday night against Mo-bette in six-man action.

Wheeler, going against McLean's reserves, scored two quick touchdowns in the fourth quarter. Jimmy Atherton passed 14 yards to Buck Holcomb for the first, and Marvin Cox ran the conversion.

Cox plunged over from the 1-yard line seconds before the final gun, for the other Wheeler score.

Shamrock, Lefors Tie, 12-12; Three Pirate Gridders Hurt

SHAMROCK — The Shamrock Irish of District 5-A salvaged a 12-12 tie here Friday with the Lefors Pirates, in a rough, hard-hitting football game.

Three Lefors players were taken from the field with injuries, and taken by ambulance to Highland General Hospital in Pampa. They were quarterback David Lewis, with two broken vertebrae; center Jerry Carpenter with a muscle spasm; and halfback Bill Jernigan, with a bruised kidney. Carpenter was released Saturday morning.

The unusual number of penalties also indicated the roughness of the game. Twelve were levied against Shamrock for 140 yards, and Lefors drew nine for 75 yards.

The injuries took some of the sparkle out of Shamrock's home opener in its new 1,500 seat stadium.

The Irish saved their tie by stopping a running extra point attempt inches short of the goal line, but moments later gave Lefors another chance to win by fumbling on their own 31.

Reserve quarterback Mickey Archer and halfback-Danny Wilson supplied the punch, Lefors moved to the one-yard line. There, however, they returned the favor by fumbling the ball away to the Irish.

White Deer gambled for the two-point conversion and the lead but Carter was dumped for a 1-0-9 back to the six.

The scene remained calm until three minutes deep in the third quarter when Stinnett moved 60 yards in only three plays to forge ahead again. Ken McLean churned for 16, Anderson bulled for 40 and a TD. Anderson booted the conversion with 8:08 left in the third.

The two teams exchanged fumbles with Joe Grange pouncing on the loose Rattler ball before the quarter ended. Burns did complete a 16-yard pass and get off another fine 35-yard punt prior to the opening of the fourth canto.

Then the long, long march began. Stinnett, in a spectacular ball-control exhibition, held the pigskin for 10 minutes and 10 seconds as they tromped 90 yards in 24 plays to ice the game with a third tally. Longest run of the lengthy jaunt was a ten-yard burst by Anderson. Stinnett was forced to punt during the drive, but a roughing-the-kicker penalty nullified the boot and set up a first down on the Buck 24.

McLean went the last two yards to hit paydirt and Collins blocked Anderson's conversion attempt.

Burns hit Grange with 13 and 15 yard passes in an effort to make the score more presentable, but Anderson capped a brilliant evening by intercepting a Buck aerial to snap off the resurge.

Stinnett dominated the statistics too, rolling for a 21 to 5 edge in first downs and shaking loose for a fat 242 to 145 ground advantage. Anderson with 141 yards on 23 carries, Laster with 101 on 13 trips and McLean with 93 on 17 trips accounted for all but seven of the Rattlers' overland yards.

Burns with 82 yards in nine trips and Fullback Bryan, Cody, a converted all-state guard, with 40 yards in ten carries paced the White Deer offense.

Stinnett's ground game was well balanced. By quarters the Snakes gained 70, 94, 86 and 92 yards. White Deer managed only nine yards in the first and four yards in the last quarters. They had 102, however, in the second and 23 in the third.

The Bucks will be favored to find the winning path again this week as they travel to Spearman, a club they blanked, 54-0, last season. Stinnett goes to Panhandle to face the Panthers who've dropped two straight.

Three Pitchers Win No. 20

Burdette In Magic Circle

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Eddie Mathews made Lew Burdette the National League's first 20-game winner this year with a two-run homer in the eighth inning Saturday that beat the Cincinnati Reds, 4-2. The win extended Milwaukee's winning streak in its stretch drive for the pennant to seven straight games.

The Braves kept pace with league-leading San Francisco, which defeated Philadelphia, and led for second place, with a 1-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox. The Giants' Simonson gained his 20th pitching victory with a 9-1 decision over the Phillies.

Jones Wins 'The Big One'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Slammin' Sam Jones, pitching his 20th victory of the year, kept the San Francisco Giants at the top of the tight National League race with a four-hit, 9-1, victory over Philadelphia Saturday.

The win left the Giants one game ahead of the Los Angeles, and the Milwaukee Braves who beat Cincinnati Saturday.

The spectacular Jones struck out six, got two hits himself, scored two runs and made a beautiful sacrifice that set up another run.

White Deer, Terrell In Big State Schoolboy Downfalls

United Press International

Defending champions Wichita Falls, Breckenridge and Stamford pushed their stock skyward with impressive victories Friday night, but Class A titleholder White Deer toppled and louted Terrell absorbed a shellacking in the major upsets.

AAAA champion Wichita Falls pounded Pampa 49-9. Breckenridge lived up to its AAA No. 1 rating by blanking third-rated Sweetwater 24-0 and Stamford blasted Ballinger 35-6 to indicate it will be a tough AA champ to unseat.

White Deer, however, stumbled over Stinnett, a Panhandle district rival, 19-6, to boost the hopes of other Class A teams around the state.

Mighty Terrell, boomed as the heir apparent to Stamford, made its debut a dismal one as AAA Athens pummeled the Tigers 39-0.

Close Win for Athlete

Meanwhile, AAAA's second-rated Athlete squeaked out a 14-12 decision over fourth-ranked San Antonio Jefferson in another headline attraction.

Losing pitcher Don Newcombe took a 3-2 lead into the Milwaukee half of the eighth inning, which opened with a base on balls or pinch hitter Mickey Vernon. Rookie John De Merit ran for Vernon but was forced out at second on Burdette's sacrifice at-tempt.

After Billy Bruton had popped up, Mathews hit a towering shot to the right field bleachers for his 37th home run of the year and his second 20-game season. Burdette's second 20-game season in his career to go with 14 losses this season.

EARLY WYNN BECOMES FIRST AMERICAN LOOP '20-GAMER'

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—Early Wynn became a 20-game winner for the fifth time in his career Saturday when he defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 6-1, enabling the Chicago White Sox to maintain their four-game lead in the American League race.

The triumph was the 26th of Wynn's career. The White Sox victory reduced their "magic number" to nine even though the second place Cleveland Indians defeated Washington 7-2.

Any combination of nine Chicago wins or Cleveland losses, will give the White Sox their first pennant in 40 years.

The burly right-hander struck out five Orioles and issued two walks while scattering seven hits. Baltimore posed only two threats in the seventh and eighth innings, but Wynn weathered the storm.

He lost his shutout in the eighth on three consecutive singles by Billy Klaus, Al Pizarro and Bob Nieman. Wynn ended the threat by getting Bob Boyd on a fielder's choice and striking out Brooks Robinson and Willie Tasby.

The deadlock was smashed wide open in the sixth inning as the Giants pounded Humberto Robinson for four safeties and three runs. Daryl Spencer led off with a double and rode home on Hobie Landrith's two-ply swing. Jones' infield single moved Landrith to third and both men scored on Bressoud's triple. The big blow was a high fly to the 370-foot mark in right center on which both centerfielder Richie Ashburn and rightfielder Wally Post simultaneously quit running, each apparently thinking the other would take it.

Two other top-tenners in AAAA suffered blemishes as sixth-ranked Port Arthur fell 7-0 to Baton Rouge, La. Istrouma and seventh-ranked Waco was tied 4-4 by Corsicana.

Kingsville was the only other AAAA-top-tenner besides Sweetwater to lose, the seventh-rated Brahmas bowing to Alice 23-15.

Second-ranked Cleburne, however, had a narrow escape, 12-9, over Graham, and fifth-ranked Andrews edged by AA Seminole only 12-8.

Country Goes To Milwaukee

NEW YORK (UPI)—Enos Slaughter, the oldest active player in the majors at 43, left the New York Yankees Saturday to help the Milwaukee Braves down the stretch in their battle for the National League pennant.

The Braves acquired the veteran outfielder in a $20,000 waiver deal yesterday. A Milwaukee spokesman said the left-handed hitting Slaughter would be used chiefly as a pinch hitter.

However, Milwaukee manager Fred Haney announced Friday night his plans to play Slaughter regularly against right-handed pitchers, adding that Enos "probably can do as well as the fellows we've had in left field."

In 77 games with the Yankees last year Slaughter batted .304 but his average was only .172 in 99 times at bat for New York this year.

To Hum! Mossi Ops Yanks Again

NEW YORK (UPI)—Don Mossi of the Detroit Tigers defeated the New York Yankees for the sixth time in eight tries Saturday, scattering four hits to blank the former world champions, 4-0.

Mossi, picking up his 14th victory, gave the Tigers a 1-4 edge in the season's series between the clubs.

Losing pitcher Whitey Ford suffered his ninth defeat of the season, the most he ever has lost in one year. The veteran left-hander pitched the first eight innings and was raked for 11 hits. Ford's own wildness led to a 3-0 lead in the third inning when a single by Frank Bolling and a ground-rule double by rvey Kuenn, Ford intentionally used Al Kaline. He then forced a run with another walk to Arley Maxwell.

The Tigers clinched it with two runs in the fourth on singles by Al Lepcio, Mossi, Hank Bauer's homer and a double by Bolling. The shutout was the 14th of the season administered to the Yankees.

Indians' Pennant Hopes Stay Alive

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rocky Colavito and Woodie Held kept the Cleveland Indians' pennant hopes flickering Saturday when each homered to help the Tribe down the last-place Washington Senators, 7-2.

After losing the vital Friday night game to the Senators, the Tribe came back with a vengeance, tracking out 19 hits including Colavito's first homer and again gave him the American League lead over Washington's Harmon Killebrew, who is one behind.

Gary Bell coasted to his 16th victory after being staked to a 1-0 lead by the sixth inning. Bell allowed only three hits but lost his shutout in the seventh when Jim Lemon, Washington's hottest hitter for the past three weeks, smashed his 30th homer with one aboard.

Alex, Fraser In Net Finals

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (UPI)—Swift-serving Neale Fraser of Australia and Wimbledon king Alex Olmedo, the brown panther from Peru, slashed their way to victory Saturday to set up the fourth straight all-foreign final in the U. S. amateur tennis championships.

Fraser, the 25-year-old blond bomber from Down Under, rode roughshod over U. S. clay courts champion, Bernard Barzen of San Angelo, Tex., 6-3, 6-2, 6-2. The swarthy, 23-year-old Olmedo, after a marathon one-hour and 10-minute first set against Ron Holmberg crushed the unseeded Southern Conference champion from Tulane, 13-12, 6-4, 2-6, 6-1.

Hal Surface, Jr., former seeded star from Kansas City who was runnerup last year, captured the senior singles crown with a 6-4, 6-1 triumph over Bill Lurie of Hawthorne, Calif., while Wimbledon queen, Maureen Bonnell-Brazill gained the women's final in a brisk, 32-minute, 6-2, 6-4 romp over 1958 runnerup Darlene Harf of Montebello, Calif.

The top-seeded Olmedo had to go all-out to score his victory in the chilly sunlight before 12,000 spectators. It was in sharp contrast to Fraser's victory in which the Aussie sat entrenched behind a blistering service which piled up 10 aces and let Barzen beat himself with volley errors.

Olmedo almost missed appearing in time for his match after a morning visit to the Metropolitan Museum to see an exhibit of weapons used by his Inca forefathers. Rushing to get on the court, he had trouble gearing his big service and fell behind, 3-1, by dropping delivery with netted volleys.

Boston Defeats Athletics, 4-3

BOSTON (UPI)—Boston Red Sox rookie Jerry Casale defeated the Kansas City Athletics Saturday for the fourth straight time this season as Gene Stephens singled home the deciding run in a 4-3 win.

Casale gave up seven hits while going the distance for the eighth time and breaking his record to 11-8. The A's rallied for two runs in the seventh after Boston built up a 4-1 lead, but Casale weathered the next two frames.

Stephens' single through the middle scored Gary Geiger in the fifth with what proved to be the winning run. Geiger had singled to score Pumpsie Green after the rookie second baseman doubled with two outs to end Kansas City starter Tom Shroy's string of 10 consecutive outs.

THE TOWN has been rather quiet these past few days, and we mean that the children are in school and as you drive around you notice how deserted the streets seem with out the usual activities of the small fry here and there a group of pre-schoolers are playing with tricycles and dolls or something. . . but that's about all . . . and speaking of dolls . . . have you seen the adorable plastic dolls . . . models of the cartoon characters in "Peanuts" . . . one of the cutest cartoon strips we are acquainted with?

WOMAN WOULD BE more charming if one could fall into her arms without falling into her hands . . . This cynical observation by Ambrose Bierce!

WE WILL ADMIT to a feeling of despair in how to begin this week . . . after all, we are human . . . and we have been fired this week, getting into the schedule again . . . seems there is not time for everything that has to be done . . . but we will get organized soon . . . meanwhile, let us tell you a few things . . . Curt and Will Beck are back from a vacation and report having a wonderful time . . . did you see the very interesting display of sea-shells collected (in Florida, we THINK) by Lillian and Snow . . . it was on display in the foyer of the library a week or so ago . . . and may still be there, for all we know . . . haven't had time to go see this week . . . jaunty sight is Ted Gikas driving around in his little white "furrin' car" . . . and speaking of cars . . . have you seen the gorgeous turquoise and white Buick, brand new, sitting at the D. D. Camberns out on Coffee street? . . . mmmmm . . . pretty . . . and did you see the pictures in the paper of the new "Small" Ford Falcon . . . three of the big car manufacturers are putting out small cars this year to compete with the foreign ones.

AMBROSE BIERCE also has said "You are not permitted to kill a woman who has injured you, but nothing forbids you to reflect that she is growing older every minute. You are avenged 1440 times a day."

ARE YOU SKIPPING those little quotations that are appearing this week? . . . well, don't . . . we have picked them especially for your edification . . . and don't neglect them . . . heard from the traditional small birdie that Floyd and Maxine Watson are going to have some gorgeous carpeting in the new home they are building . . . we can hardly wait to see it . . . have been noticing the gradual change from summer colors and flowers to fall oranges and yellows in all the parks around town . . . the marigolds are coming out profusely . . . saw John Koonitz at the bowling alley last week . . . no doubt taking out some of the frustrations of being City Manager by knocking down the defenseless bowling pins . . . Charles and Amy Russell have some pretty red carnations blooming along their fence . . . saw 'em out working in the yard a few days ago . . . do you ever drive down Hobart Street . . . or Up as the case may be . . . ever notice the odor of delicious frying donuts everytime you pass the little shop where they make donudnuts? . . . you can smell it over the exhaust fumes 'n everything . . . if you are hungry it is just plain painful.

AMBROSE BIERCE has also emitted these deathless words . . . in defining marriage he says . . . "Marriage is a community consisting of a master, a mistress, and two slaves, making in all, two."

THE UNCLUBBED MEN AROUND TOWN have been contacted the past two weeks in connection with the formation of the new Optimist Breakfast Club . . . which, we are happy to say, finally got organized . . . Newt Secret was surely out bounding up members . . . talking fast and convincingly . . . we hear that the Pampa Community Concert Association is beginning to think about its first concert of the season which is coming up, we understand, on October 8th . . . any of you new people in town who have moved here since last spring may join the Association now . . . most of the membership, of over a thousand souls interested in music, joined during the spring membership campaign . . . but newcomers are welcome to join now . . . the first concert will be "Archer and Gile" . . . two folk song singers . . . who will do selections from the world's folk songs . . . and later on in the season will come the tap dancer, Paul Draper . . . duo-pianists from Israel, Eden and Tamir . . . and the best spectacular, Offenbach's "Voyage to the Moon" . . . opera-tina coming sometime during the Spring . . . if you are interested, call MOhaw 4-6730 for more info'.

NEWS OF note . . . there will be two classes in painting conducted by Dord Fitz this year in the Pampa Junior High School, second floor art room . . . at 9 a.m. and at 1 p.m. . . anyone is welcome to join the classes . . . beginner or advanced, it doesn't matter . . . Ruth Huff just returned from a trip to Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth . . . and she had the pleasure of flying in a jet passenger plane from Dallas to Houston . . . must have been quite a thrill . . . she visited friends in Fort Worth who have, she glowingly reported, a blue-tiled private swimming pool . . . wow! . . . heard a nice thing the other day . . . seems the members of the Girl Scout Council board honored Jane Kadings, who is retiring from the board, with a little party after the meeting . . . they presented her with a silver pitcher, a token of appreciation for the tremendous job she has done working for the Scouts . . . the Charlie Pipes are pretty proud, we should imagine . . . their son, Charles E. Pipes has just been assigned to his first pastorate . . . the First Presbyterian Church of Ft. Pierce, Texas . . . he was graduated successively from Pampa High School, Texas Tech, and Vanderbilt Divinity School in Nashville . . . and now has achieved his first goal . . . nice to hear about it.

WE SEEM TO THINK AND WRITE IN FITS and starts this week . . . are you planning to attend this year's Ice-Capades at Amarillo at the Fair . . . we've seen 'em on TV, or part of 'em . . . looks interesting . . . the new surface on Hobart Street is very svelte . . . all the old bumps are no longer felt . . . another small item of great interest . . . the Sub Deb Club entertained a few days ago in the Pine Room of the Pampa Hotel . . . among the forty or so guests were fourteen seniors who are flitting off the college . . . each of these fourteen was given a pretty string of pearls . . . as a remembrance of the fun they've all had in past years . . . and Jo Ann Jones, as a junior sponsor, was presented with a bracelet and matching ear-rings . . . the club's colors, green and yellow, were used . . . have heard some exciting things about the crafts course-Dr. Emilio Caballero of Canyon is giving this year . . . he is going to offer instruction in cement sculpture, and in water-color . . . along with the usual craft work . . . and some instruction in design, and so forth . . . doesn't sound exciting?

WE LEAVE YOU with this thought: "Oh, why did I in loud firm tones, Just when the room grew still, say, 'Don't you get dull teas like this? They almost make me ill!'"

Love, Peg

Beth Spencer Bride of Thomas E. Gindorf

Wedding vows were solemnized for Miss Beth-Mae Spencer and Thomas Edward Gindorf on September 6 at three o'clock in the First Baptist Church with Rev. Ronald Hubbard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating. The double-ring service was performed before a background of baskets of white gladioli, jade palms and candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Spencer, 702 E. Browning. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Gindorf, 820 W. Gray.

Miss Eloise Lane, at the organ, provided the traditional wedding music and was accompanied for Mrs. Lonnie Richardson as she sang "Through the Years," "O, Promise Me," and "The Wedding Prayer" by Dunlap.

BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of embroidered organza fashioned with a portrait neckline outlined with applied flowers sprinkled with iridescent sequins, short tucked sleeves, and bouffant skirt which extended to a chapel train. The molded bodice was accented in front with a criss-cross cummerbund ending in a double but-terfly bustle bow in the back. Her elbow-length veil fell from a crown of pearls and sequins. She wore organza, elbow-length mitts and carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of white roses. Her jewelry was a pearl and diamond pendant, a gift from the bridegroom.

ATTENDANTS
Mrs. Glenn McConnell, sister of the bride, attended as matron of honor wearing a street-length dress of Royal Blue silk organza fashioned with elbow-length puff sleeves and wide collar. A hat of horse-hair and Royal Blue velvet ribbon, wrist-length Royal Blue gloves and Royal Blue shoes complemented her costume. She carried a nosegay of white carnations arranged on white net.

RECEPTION
A reception was held in the parlor of the First Baptist Church following the ceremony. The bride's table was highlighted with a tiered, white cake decorated with blue roses and a floral arrangement surrounded by candelabra.

Mrs. Marilyn Wells, pianist, provided background music. Mrs. Glen Larsen and Mrs. Bill Clements presided at the cake and coffee service. Mr. Richard Radcliff was guest registrar. Assisting at the table were Misses Sandra Walsh, Sally Pullen, L. Vada Naylor.

Perspiring palms on the steering wheel are uncomfortable and also unsafe, since a sliding grip in an emergency could be fatal. One way to keep your hands both clean and comfortable is to wear string driving gloves. These come with leather palms and are completely washable.

Perryman-Kalka United In St. John's Church

In a double-ring ceremony read at 10:30 a.m. on September 5 in St. John's Catholic Church, Miss Linda Beth Perryman became the bride of Alvin Melford Kalka. The Rev. Curtis Halfman, assistant pastor, officiated to unite in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forest G. Perryman of Phillips, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kalka of White Deer.

The couple knelt on a white satin covered prie-dieu before the main altar which was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli. Bouquets of white pompon mums were arranged on the side altars.

Other church decorations were fern trees marking the approach to the bridal aisle with its white floor runner and white satin ribbon designed in the family pearls. Mrs. Jimmie Eakin of White Deer at the organ played Rossini's processional and recessional; and hymns "Ave Maria" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother." Father Halfman read the nuptial mass.

BRIDE
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over a white satin, fashioned with modified Sweetheart neckline embroidered with sequins and pearls, long fitted sleeves tapering to points over the hands, fitted bodice, and a full skirt terminating in a chapel train. Inserts of pleated illusion marked the front of the skirt.

Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a Queen's Crown of pearls. She carried a bouquet of white Elf roses centered with a lavender orchid. Following Mass, the bride placed the roses on the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Helen Beth Kalka was maid of honor. Miss Roberta O'Neill and Fay Deen Krejci served as bridesmaids. Carrying out the bride's chosen colors, the attendants wore gowns of Iris taffeta styled with harem-skirts. Their matching crowns had half-veils. Each carried a single white long-stemmed rose.

Miss Shari King of Perryton and Miss Debbie Labius of Panhandle, both nieces of the bridegroom, were flower girls. They wore white taffeta frocks styled with full skirts encircled at the waist with Iris taffeta sashes. Iris taffeta headbands complemented their dresses. They carried Iris-colored baskets of rose petals.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Perryman chose a brown lace dress with a brown sequin hat and brown accessories. She wore a Talsman rose corsage. Mrs. Kalka, bridegroom's mother, chose an ice-blue lace dress with black velvet accessories and blue sequin hat. Her corsage was of white roses.

RECEPTION
At the reception held immediately following the ceremony in the social rooms of St. John's Church, Miss Patricia Kelly presided at the guest book. From a table covered with a white lace cloth appointed in orchid crystal, Miss Marilyn Kotara, bridegroom's cousin, served the five-tiered wedding cake. Miss Peaches Child presided at the punch service.

Mrs. Perryman was hostess for a one o'clock luncheon for the immediate families. The couple were honored on Saturday evening, following the wedding, in the White Deer Parish Hall with the bridegroom as host.

The molded bodice featured a Sabrina neckline, edged with scallops of lace sprinkled with seed pearls, and long tapering sleeves. "At what age does a woman become middle-aged?" ask readers. Middle age today isn't a question of years — but a state of mind.

So long as a woman keeps the figure of a girl, dresses with dash, leads a busy life, is anxious to try the new, keeps on learning and growing, and is always looking forward to tomorrow she never gets herself described as a "middle-aged woman."

If her age is mentioned at all, acquaintances make a stab at second grade room.

Pie and coffee were served by members of the executive committee during the social hour.

guessing where she fits in. "She's probably in her thirties," they conclude, or in her forties, or, maybe fifties.

But they don't hang the middle-aged tag on her and let it go at that.

But a woman whose only interests are her house, her husband and her children, who has given up the fight to stay trim and young-looking, who chooses her clothes because they are practical, rather than becoming, who wouldn't dream of hunting or fishing or playing golf or taking dancing lessons because she feels she is too old for all such nonsense, who clings to comfort and routine and wouldn't take a chance on anything, is a woman who is middle-aged from the moment she says goodbye to her girlhood until she

El Progreso Selects Year's Theme To Stimulate Intellectual Initiative

AAUW To Have Membership Tea

Plans for a reception honoring new and prospective members of the Pampa Branch of the American Association of University Women were made at a meeting of the executive board on Wednesday in the home of Miss Evelyn Milam, 1344 1/2 Williston. Miss Milam, president of the local branch, presided.

The reception will be held in Lovett Memorial Library on Sept. 15, at 8 o'clock. All college and university women in the city, who are interested in joining the group, are urged to contact Miss Yvonne Goss, vice president and membership chairman, to determine their eligibility. Miss Goss may be called at MO 4-8113.

Hostesses for this meeting will be Mmes. John Plaster, chairman; Ruth Watson, John Hart, and Miss Ruby Trusty. The program, under the direction of Mrs. M. K. Griffith, is titled "Don't Get Old! Get Interested!" and will deal with social and economic issues. Other officers of the Pampa Branch are Mrs. Lois Morrison, secretary, and Mrs. John Z. Myers, treasurer.

becomes old. So middle age overtakes some women at 40, some at 45, some at 50. And it never overtakes some women at all.

Today a woman is young until she's old — if that's how she wants it to be. She doesn't ever have to be middle-aged if she doesn't want to be.

Mrs. Bob Banks, president, opened the session with a summary of the year's work ahead. She said "Our Federation is an organization whose purpose is education. An evidence, think of the number of scholarships to which we contribute; the contributions we make to state and general federation projects, and the great number of library projects reported throughout the district."

"The themes," Mrs. Banks went on to say, "and topics listed in our year book reflect thoughtful planning for further education of our club members. The purpose of education is service and we require an education in order to render higher service."

"It is not enough to attend a study club," she continued, "it is not enough to present your program in an effective and informative way. What is essential is to stimulate intellectual initiative. The real purpose of a study club is to think sharply, shrewdly and originally before each program is presented, during and after."

"This will give us an enjoyable year and give each of us a chance to say, 'I've done something constructive, and in so doing have contributed my bit towards preserving our democracy.'"

Mrs. John Gill, vice president and program chairman, explained the yearbook and the course of study "Current Days and Ways."

Mrs. J. F. Evans of Stroud, Okla., sister of Mrs. D. V. Burton, was a guest of the club. Members present were Mmes. J. G. Lyons, Tom Perkins, Rex McAnnelly, Bob Banks, J. G. Morrison, Harold Wright, Bob McCoy, Carlton Nance, Virgil D. R. George Walstad, J. F. Curtis, John Gill, Knox Kinard, D. V. Burton, Elmer Fisher and Jess Clay.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been seeing a lot of a divorcee who has two kids, 3 and 6. She says she loves me and plans to marry me, but I sometimes wonder if maybe she isn't playing me for a sucker. Every Saturday she is off work and so am I. I take her kids out for pony rides and keep them the whole day. She never wants to come with us. She says she has something to do at home but when I bring the kids back she is never home. She makes the excuse that somebody always drops by and takes her somewhere. A few times I saw her get out of cars with different men. Am I being a sucker or not? What should I do?

OLDER MAN

DEAR OLDER: If you take the kids out for pony rides while "Mamma" is horsing around, you are another kind of four-footed animal. A woman who cares enough for a man to marry him does not behave this way. Find out more about her or see less of her.

Woodrow Wilson PTA Hears Book Reviewed By Mrs. Otis Nace

Mrs. Otis Nace reviewed "Mr. Robin Rides Again" by Edward Streeter at a meeting of the Woodrow Wilson PTA held Thursday evening in the school auditorium. Mrs. E. A. McLennan, president, presided at the first general meeting of the group and welcomed the new principal, Floyd Smith, who, in turn, introduced the Woodrow Wilson faculty. The PTA budget for 1939-40 was presented by Mr. Smith.

Miss Kay Howell, Girl Scout director, in a brief speech to the group praised the enthusiasm of the adults in Pampa for Girl Scouting. She requested that, anyone wishing to help in scouting, please contact the Girl Scout office.

Mrs. McLennan announced that this year is the 50th Anniversary of the PTA. "Texas plans to have one million members by Oct. 15," she said, "Woodrow Wilson PTA will give a $2 prize to the school room with the highest percentage of membership."

Mrs. McLennan also asked that anyone who wished to go to the PTA workshop in Memphis on Oct. 6 to please contact her. "The PTA will furnish transportation," she said.

PTA Objectives Given By Lee PTA President

At the beginning of the Robert E. Lee PTA year, Mrs. J. R. Holloway, president, wishes to refresh in members and prospective members' minds the objectives and goals of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Mrs. Holloway points out that these objectives are: 1) to promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church, and community; 2) to raise the standards of home life; 3) to secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth; 4) to bring into closer relation the home and school that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the training of the child; 5) to develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, social, and spiritual education.

"These objectives are the same for all divisions of the PTA Congress," Mrs. Holloway said, "thus, providing unity of purpose." On behalf of the PTA, Mrs. Holloway extends an invitation to fathers and mothers of Robert E. Lee students to attend Open House to be held Sept. 17 at 7:30 p.m. "This, the first meeting, promises to be one of the highlights of the year. A brief business meeting will be held after which the faculty will be introduced," she explained.

Hospitality committee chairman, Mrs. Joe Hawkins, assisted by Mrs. Jack Vaughn, Mrs. Robert Vail, Mrs. Westbrook, and Mrs. Norman Henry plan to have homemade cookies and punch, served by the students, for the occasion.

ham, reported that the books had been audited and were in good standing.

The president urged all board members to attend the PTA workshop to be held Oct. 6 in Memphis. Attending the board meeting were Floyd Smith, Mmes. Larry Parsley, Don Taylor, Jack Graham, R. D. Wilkerson, W. M. Sims, O. M. Tigar, Norman Sublett, H. M. Gibson, Burt Graham Jr., Weldon Wade, Sam Goodlett, Harold E. Saum, Weldon Blair, Jay Lacey, R. F. Forsythe, R. F. McDonald, Derrel B. Hogsett, and E. L. Henderson.

Civic Culture Club Takes Visual Tour

At a salad luncheon given in the home of Mrs. J. B. Townsend, on Tuesday afternoon, Civic Culture Club members were taken on a tour of the Texas Federation Women's Building in Austin, via color slides projected by Mrs. Townsend.

Mrs. Emmett Osborn, as narrator for the tour, told the group that on July 1, 1931, it was decided that "on the crest of one of Austin's high hills, the state will erect its home for the clubwomen of Texas. It is within a few blocks of the University of Texas and the plot of ground upon which it will stand is historic. It is a part of the plot attached to the southern mansion known as the Cochran residence."

Mrs. Osborn urged club members, when in Austin, to visit the beautiful home that the Texas clubwomen call their headquarters. Mrs. C. F. Pennington, president, presided during the business session. Members present were Mmes. Carl Axelson, R. E. Deuer, A. D. Hills, Jack Hon, A. C. Huchin, Ophelia Morris, W. C. Scott, K. A. Sorenson, Louise Sewell, Katie Vincent, H. W. Waters, Willis White, John Brandon, Emmett Gee, C. F. Pennington, Emmett Osborn and Stanley Brandt.

Women on a budget must keep this in mind when shopping for clothing. You can spend more for a dress or skirt if you know you can cut down on cleaning costs. Build a washable wardrobe that you can care for yourself. A facial massage stimulates the skin and can help tighten facial muscles. Such a massage does its best work when done gently, stroking upward and outward. Vigorous rubbing helps hasten sagging skin that is already losing its tone.

Overdressing and Cluttering Rapidly Disappearing From American Dress

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — When I see women wearing rhinestones to the office and women carrying those plastic bags with the messy contents on display, I figure the cause of tasteful dress is lost.

Miss Ila Pool Has Guild Meet

Plans for the year were discussed at the fall meeting of the Wesleyan Saryce Guild of the First Methodist Church held in the home of Mrs. Ila Pool, 1610 Charles St. Monday evening.

A salad supper preceded the business meeting with Mrs. Irl Smith and Miss Alma Wilson assisting Miss Pool with hostess duties.

"Mountain Tops" was the devotional title given by Miss Wilson to a quoted "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence my help comes" taken from Psalm 121.

Plans for the district meeting, which will be held in Fellowship Hall on Oct. 4, were outlined by Mrs. L. B. Penick. The Quadrant Goals were reviewed by Mrs. Hulcom Denson, after which Miss Pool explained the financial reports for the year.

FA Unit Outlines Year's Programs

Stephen F. Austin PTA's executive board met Thursday evening, 7:30 in the home of Mrs. L. B. Penick, president. Reports were given by Mrs. George Henderson, treasurer and Mrs. Glenn Nicholson, secretary.

Mrs. Martin Stubbe, vice president and program chairman, outlined the PTA programs to be held this year. "The first," she said, "will be held on Oct. 8 with Mrs. Hazel, vice president of the district 19 PTA as principal speaker. His topic will follow the state theme for PTA 'Education, Our Responsibility?'"

Mr. V. Biggers, school principal, invited all members who could to the state convention, which will be held in Dallas. Mrs. Wiley Davis, procedure chairwoman, also urged members who had not taken the parliamentary procedure course to be and take it.

But a young designer who has done much to put simple, good looking clothes within the reach of the masses says I'm all wrong. Those women who load everything on but the kitchen sink are on the decline.

"But rapidly," said Mrs. Ann Klein. "There just isn't much overdressing. Clutter is disappearing, thank God. When I first started working, the saying in the garment industry was 'the more you put on a dress, the better it will sell.'"

Best Designers Hired
"Elegant and simple clothes were available only in expensive collections."

Mrs. Klein credits our improving tastes to our increase in travel and to better workmanship at the design level. The well-traveled housewife now sees what women at the fashionable watering places wear.

And manufacturers of medium and budget-priced clothes are hiring the best designers.

Mrs. Klein is a good example of this latter trend. She gets a lot of credit for revolutionizing clothes for the junior figure, eliminating the fuss which used to be characteristic.

"I started from necessity," she said today in an interview. "I am a junior, size seven, and never was able to find the clothes I wanted."

Flair for Clothes
A junior, she said, is not necessarily a teenager. "Her figure is just proportionately smaller than that of her big sister. She doesn't have stature; she's under five feet, five inches. Actually, she is more average than the tall girl. The biggest bulk of our sales is to the college age on up to 35."

"But a junior can be any age from 15 to 30. My mother, who is 65, wears my designs. So do several of her friends. 'It is fun to design for juniors; they have more of a flair for clothes. They're all young no matter what their age. You know what I mean. Some women at 40 think old; other women at 40 think young. The junior always is ready to accept new ideas.'" and would be announced at a later date. Attending in addition to those mentioned above were Miss Lou Ella Patterson, a guest, Mrs. Sherman White, Aubrey Jones, W. B. Fountain, Diamis Wood, J. A. Knox, and Miss Inez Clubb.

Board Transacts PTA Business

Executive board of Sam Houston PTA met Thursday in the school cafeteria with Mrs. J. T. Cornutt, president, presiding.

During the business meeting, Mrs. C. R. Hoover was elected City Council representative to fill a vacancy created since the Spring elections.

Mrs. Joe Fischer, program chairman, reported on the PTA theme and programs planned for the coming year, and the board voted to accept same. Mrs. Jeff Boarden, radio chairman, noted that the PTA radio programs began on Sept. 4 at 9:15 a.m. Mrs. Robert Karr reported that 282 memberships had been received as of the board meeting date.

Mrs. Cornutt announced plans for a workshop to be held in Memphis on Oct. 6 and of the PTA convention to be held in Dallas on Nov. 18-19.

Lamar PTA Unit Fills Vacancies

Mrs. W. C. Puryear, president, presided at the first meeting of the Lamar PTA on Thursday afternoon at two in the school auditorium.

Meeting opened with prayer led by Mrs. Henry Gruben. Reports were given by Mrs. Ernie Pulse, secretary and Mrs. L. C. Wassell, treasurer.

Mrs. Don Cole was elected historian and Mrs. John A. Thompson was named City Council representative to fill vacancies created since the Spring elections of Mrs. Note Cole and Mrs. R. N. Allyn.

PTA members voted approval of Mrs. Puryear and Mrs. Wassell as delegates to the state convention to be held in Dallas on Nov. 17-20. Introduction of the Lamar faculty was made by Joe Page, school principal.

Mrs. Puryear introduced Mrs. Ben Graham of the Girl Scout office, who urged mothers to help with Brownie and Girl Scout troops in the school.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Weldon Altmiller presented a dramatic reading, "My Little Boy."

Following the program, old and new members of the PTA were guests at a Coke Party in the school cafeteria. The executive board met at 1 p.m. in the office of the principal, prior to the general meeting, with nine members present.

"Taking The Kids To School"

Portraying a harassed young mother "taking the kids to school" is Mrs. E. P. Humorous Safety Skit Portrayed For Horace Mann PTA Members Thursday

A humorous safety skit, "Why Mothers Get Gray," written by Mrs. John Holt Jr. was presented at the Thursday afternoon meeting of Horace Mann PTA in the school auditorium. The skit, which pointed out some of the traffic laws broken by harried and harassed mothers transporting a car load of youngsters to and from school, was portrayed by Mrs. E. P. Turner, Mrs. T. J. Rogers, Mrs. Jack Tarbor, Mrs. Ralph Collingworth, Mrs. C. A. Huff and E. P. Turner.

Getting that itchy-all-over feeling after a bath is no fun. This uncomfortable state often is caused by using too much soap, taking too many hot baths or dry air. Adding starch or bicarbonate of soda to bath water helps, as does frequent use of lotions.

"Parental Immaturity" Reason Given For High Juvenile Delinquency Rate

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—When teen violence shocks a community, alarmed citizens blame everyone from magistrates to working mothers.

Statistically, more mothers are holding outside jobs these days than ever before. Statistically also, the rate of crime is at an all-time high.

But does this mean that because mom's away, the child will play his way into delinquency? One government expert believes not.

Mrs. Alice Leopold, head of the woman's bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor, says that there are 11 million married women holding outside jobs. Most of them also have children. Close to three million have youngsters under six years of age. Nearly five million have school age children only, from six to 17 years.

Low Criminal Element

The subject of working mothers and juvenile crime came up recently when Mrs. Leopold was in New York on business.

It was before last week's shocking series of juvenile crimes in which four persons were killed.

"Sometimes I think we are preoccupied with the sensational," Mrs. Leopold said at the time.

"Ninety-seven per cent of our youth is non-criminal."

"But to analyze the causes for the other three per cent. Well, most authorities agree there are dozens of them... income, housing, locale, new nationalities moving into a neighborhood."

A Better Mother

"The fact that the mother is working is way down the line. I have talked with many thoughtful people on this — with psychologists, welfare and social workers, clergy. None blames her."

Mrs. Leopold said that often the working mother is a better mother, because she is an organizer, a planner. She may be more careful of her children than the non-worker.

"My own opinion is that the prime reason for delinquency lies in parental immaturity," she said.

"Now how you get parents to grow up, I don't know."

The immature parent often rejects the child, whether consciously or unconsciously. This lack of acceptance is going to lead to trouble.

Gardening and other outdoor tasks are rust as hard on hands as indoor scrubbing. Smoothing on hand cream before beginning a project helps keep dirt from working into the skin. The best way, though, to protect hands from stains and grime is to wear suitable gloves.

Headlining Autumn Fashion News Are Smart, Eye-Catching Floral Prints

If planning to make a print dress, decide on the print before buying your pattern. Don't buy fabric the pattern calls for.

You must coordinate the pattern with your fabric.

Many prints, such as geometric ones, lend themselves more to a tailored style; the flowery ones call for a dressier pattern. Furthermore, if it's a wool fabric, it's well to avoid a bulky-looking style; with a lighter-weight fabric, you can get away with this and permit blousing and fullnesses.

And always wear solid-color accessories, preferably background colors and shades — unobtrusive ones. It's the print that is striking.

Except in rare instances, dark gloves rather than white ones go best with a winter print.

And flowers that blossom out-of-season are of the exotic, hot-house variety, so dare to wear a severe, sophisticated — rather than a casual — hairdo!

Subdued, or wild, see if a print doesn't make you married women feel younger — feel like girls again!

You'll find some heavenly patterns for prints in the new issue of Fashion, the pattern book for women who sew. To get your copy send 35 cents to:

Make the headlines... with a print! Make a print dress, or blouse, or one of the new, two-piece outfits so smart for fall!

Prints are particularly fetching this season of the year. The flowers that bloom in the fall are the loveliest of all because they have a striking, out-of-the-ordinary look when they blossom forth as you remove your coat. They stand out more than a spring or summer print which has all of nature in competition with it.

But whatever the season, when you hit upon a print to perk up your wardrobe, choose a simple garment pattern so that your print will show to best advantage.

And if your print is a large one, use a pattern with as few pieces as possible; you'll avoid cutting up the design too much.

Ah! Be sure, if your print is a very defined one, to have your seams match up.

Another point for you: If your figure is on the heavy side, avoid an over-large, splattering print. A further tip to the heavy-lipped: don't pick a pattern with the full, full skirt. A straightline or slightly flared skirt is much more flattering.

Now, there are a variety of prints from which to choose — and a variety of fabrics.

There are geometric prints, splashy, vivid prints, woody, falling-leaves prints, stained-glass window-type prints. And they're to be had in silks, wools, and synthetics.

The Oil Outlook

SPE Meets Tuesday

The Panhandle Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers will meet Tuesday evening at the Pampa Country Club. A social hour begins at 6:30 and dinner begins at 7:30.

Headline the evening's program will be Fred P. Kretzer, chief engineer of the Gainsville plant of the National Supply Co. His talk is entitled "Pumping Unit Torque Factors." Reservations for Tuesday's dinner can be obtained through R. D. Davidson, secretary-treasurer of the SPE, 630 Amarillo Petroleum Bldg., Amarillo.

An upcoming event on the SPE calendar is the Sept. 25 Fall Dance at the Amarillo Country Club. Music will be furnished by Weldon Bright.

Tickets at the door will cost $6 per couple. Attendance will be limited to the SPE mailing list. Ticket sales in Pampa are being handled by Joe Kenworthy.

Figures released Saturday for the week of Sept. 7 show 125 rotary rigs were drilling holes in West Texas. During the corresponding week one year ago there were 149 rigs drilling oil wells in West Texas.

The total number of rigs drilling for oil in Texas during the past week was 745, or 27 fewer than one year ago. Drilling figures were supplied to the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by the Hughes Tool Co.

Two important oil and gas industry meetings are slated to begin this week. The 40th annual meeting of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association begins Monday in Houston, and the third annual Natural Gasoline Association of America meeting opens Thursday in Casper, Wyo.

Principal speakers at the NGA-Rocky Mountain Regional meeting will be W. T. Nightingale, president of the Mountain Fuel Supply Co., Salt Lake City; and NGA vice president R. W. Heath of the Signal Oil and Gas Co., Los Angeles.

J. H. Dunn, Amarillo Man To Get Award

Amarillo Man To Get Award

DALLAS (SpI) - Charlton H. Lysons, Shreveport independent oil producer who has been a leading spokesman in Washington for the Southwest oil producers, and J. Harold Dunn, Amarillo, president of Shamrock Oil and Gas Corporation, will be named 1959 recipients of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association's Distinguished Service Awards.

The awards will be presented on the final day of the Association's 40th Annual Meeting, Sept. 14-16 in Houston. Charles W. Albom, Houston, Association president, announced Saturday.

Dunn has been president of Shamrock Oil and Gas Corporation since 1945. He became associated with the firm in 1937 when, as a young engineer, he was loaned by Lone Star Gas Company to run valve surveys on Shamrock properties. In 1939 he was named a vice president of Shamrock.

An expert on natural gas conservation, Dunn pushed research aimed at more efficient use of natural gas in making carbon black, the principal use for Panhandle gas in the 1930's and early 1940's. He is also known for his efforts in building a recycling plant in the Opelika field, East Texas, in 1940 to strip gas of valuable liquids.

From 1953 to 1959 Dunn served on the board of Texas A&M College, as fast as we have crushed them."

Speaking before the Delaware Oilmen's Association in Wilmington, Dunn noted that the USSR has realistically discarded the Communist theory of "from each according to his ability, to each according to his needs." Today, he said, the Soviet production is spurred "by an array of incentives."

The Sun Oil Co president pointed to a counter-trend in the U.S. marked by the growing notion among Americans "that they can just vote themselves large shares of the good life."

Efforts to do so, he said, have already resulted in a "vast Federal bureaucracy, a swollen national debt, and a cancerous inflation that has distorted values, penalized the prudent, rewarded the imprudent, and undermined morality."

GRAND JURY TO RECONVENE - FORT WORTH (UPI) - A federal grand jury investigating prostitution between Fort Worth and Chicago will reconvene in Dallas Sept. 14, Assistant U.S. Atty. Cavett Binion said Friday. Binion said the FBI has gathered more evidence about an interstate viding months ago after indicting several top vice peddlers in the Fort Worth area.

Agriculture Dept. Warns Against Fires

Farm Front By GAYLORD P. GODWIN United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Agriculture Department has issued a stern warning to farmers to "stop the causes of fire that threaten you—don't give fire a place to start."

The department's warning is carried in a booklet prepared in cooperation with the National Fire Protection Assn. and issued in time for National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 4-10.

In the last 10 years, fire has killed more than 100,000 persons in the United States and burned and disfigured many hundred thousands more. Each year more than 11,000 persons die in fire. More than twice that number are severely burned or disfigured for life. In 1958 alone there were about 2 million fires in the United States, with a total loss of about 11,500 lives and some $1,305,000,000 in property.

The department advises that protection begins with prevention. But in case of fire, here are what the department says are the most important steps to take:

- Get everyone out of and away from the building on fire. Call for help over the nearest telephone—or make sure someone goes for help. Try to keep the fire from spreading. Protect other buildings, livestock, and property. Assist the fire department in getting water and moving equipment as directed. Take steps to protect property against weather damage after the fire is out. Essential Items Listed - The department also lists these items as essential in the fight to protect farm families and property from fire: rural telephone, fire extinguishers, farm and home water-pressure systems, farm ponds, water cisterns, and tank trucks with trained firefighters. The department made special note concerning lightning rods, lightning arresters, heat lamps, and fire-resistant partitions. Lightning rods, practically a "must" in certain parts of the country, should be installed correctly. Rods or wires that are damaged or worn should be replaced, and ground connections should be secure. Lightning arresters should be connected on the line side of the meter to protect the meter, the service wiring, and the appliances on the load side. Heat lamps for broodcocks should be kept at least 8 inches above litter. Lamps should be suspended by a chain, wire, or a bracket, not by a cord.

TOTAL VALUE OF FOOD USED IN SCHOOL LUNCHES: $597 MILLION. 21 MILLION CHILDREN IN 60,000 SCHOOLS. The average came to $28 for each child. So says the Agricultural Marketing Service, after a survey of those schools offering a food service. About 505 million dollars was purchased from local sources. The rest was donated by the federal government, either from purchases for the National School Lunch Program, or from surplus stocks. Children's payments made up over half the cost of the program.

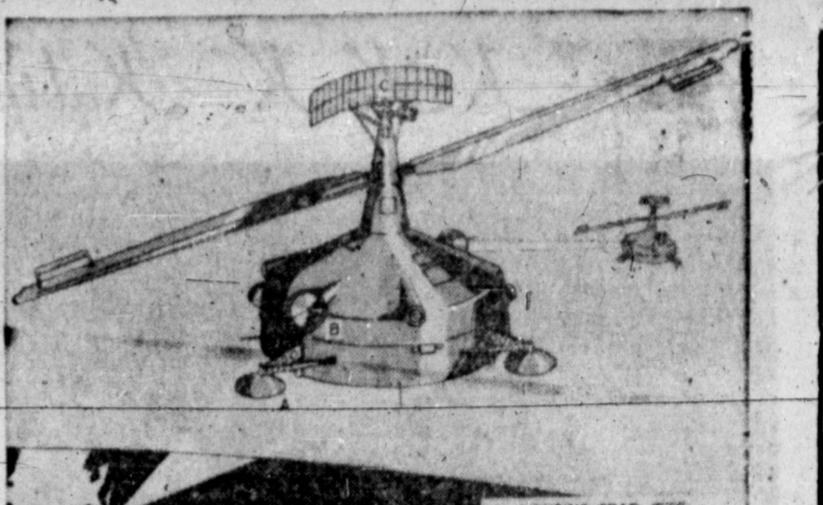

FPC To Decide Soon On Its Operating Code Of Ethics

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Federal Power Commission will decide soon whether it should operate under a tightened code of ethics, a move certain to win it new friends in and out of Congress. Or it may shelve the whole project. The proposed rules would bar congressmen and other outsiders from trying to sway FPC decisions and also put commission workers under closer wraps.

Chairman Jerome K. Kuykendall and his colleagues conceived the self-protection idea last spring after "influence" scandals in two other federal regulatory agencies cast shadows over those with unblemished records. Views Solicited - Before going ahead it was decided to solicit the views of the two big industries FPC watches over—natural gas and electric power. These off-record replies are now being analyzed. The commission also has been marking time to see what Congress does about influence curbs.

The current outlook is that nothing will be done before next year. Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) of the House Subcommittee on Legislative Oversight, had intended pushing his drastic anti-influence bill. But panel discussions with officials of all the regulatory agencies turned up legal problems which confused rather than clarified what the legislation should embrace. As a consequence, Harris will hold formal legislative hearings either this fall or early next year before putting his measure in final form. As now drafted it would make it a criminal offense to conceal any communication—written or oral—touching on any contested case before a regulatory agency.

Deadline Fixed - The proposed FPC rules would follow that line to some extent. The commission fixed next Tuesday—Sept. 15—as the deadline for submission of industry views. A spokesman said many suggestions had been received. A feature of the Harris subcommittee panel discussions was a clash among subcommittee members over the ethics of a legislator trying to influence a regulatory agency. Kuykendall observed drily from the witness stand that congressmen's appeals "don't have much weight with us" although the lawmakers have a right to appear before the commission. FLYING TV NETWORK—First step in an eventual chain of sky platforms to unite America and Europe via television has been taken by the Air Force. Raytheon, Inc., of Waltham, Mass., has been awarded a $90,000 contract to study methods of converting microwave energy into heat. The company had earlier announced plans for the chain of platforms. Four stations, hovering about 700 miles apart over Newfoundland, Greenland, Iceland and Scotland, would relay a TV beam across the Atlantic. They are shown in drawing, above, from Aircraft and Missiles Manufacturing magazine.

'Heartbreak House' Will Serve As 'Little' Kremlin

WASHINGTON (UPI) - An imposing limestone mansion once known as "Heartbreak House" and built with the riches of an American capitalist will serve as the temporary Kremlin during Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's visit to Washington.

Washington newspapers long ago dubbed the mansion a notable example of Louis XV architecture, a "Heartbreak House." It was especially that for Hattie Sanger Pullman who built it in 1910, lavishing one million dollars of her husband's railroad-car fortune on the house in an effort to crash Washington Society. She failed, and never lived in its 65 richly decorated rooms.

During 16 years, while the United States refused to recognize the new Soviet regime, the mansion stood closed and shuttered. In 1933, the Roosevelt administration finally bestowed U.S. recognition on the Communist government.

Congress Has Extra Labor Day Session

By WILLIAM THEIS United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress held an extraordinary Labor Day session Friday in a drive to clean up its last seven major bills and adjourn by the week end. But peevish Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) threatened to continue his one-man delaying action.
 Some lawmakers already were convinced that Morse's "parliamentary war" with Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) would force Congress to abandon its adjournment goal and meet into next week, when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrives.
 Morse, whose parliamentary delaying tactics kept the Senate in session until after midnight Saturday, threatened to block any action at the Labor Day meeting by reading a three-volume history of the American labor movement.
 Debate Will Resume
 The Senate planned to resume debate on a bill to extend the farm surplus disposal program. Johnson also hoped for action on the House-approved bill to permit President Eisenhower to hike interest rates on series E and H government savings bonds.
 The House planned to consider a bill that would deny passports to people who had promoted the Communist cause during the last nine years.
 The last time either the House or Senate met on Labor Day was in 1942 when both convened to receive a special anti-inflation message from President Franklin D. Roosevelt proposing a wartime ceiling of $25,000 on a taxpayer's net income.
 In addition to the surplus disposal and interest rate bills, Congress must deal with five other tough and potentially time-consuming measures.
 Vote Scheduled Tuesday
 Both the House and Senate banking committees are working on a housing bill to replace the two previous measures vetoed by President Eisenhower.

 The House is scheduled to vote Tuesday on a new public works money bill which differs only slightly from one vetoed by the President. The Senate also still must act on the bill.
 The Senate Appropriations Committee is holding until just before adjournment a House-approved foreign aid money bill. It probably will cut sharply Eisenhower's request.
 Congress has just about completed action on a bill to raise the federal tax on gasoline by a penny a gallon to keep the interstate highway program going. The Senate passed the bill Saturday night, despite Morse's slow-down tactics. The House approved a similar bill earlier.

Food For Strikers

Most persons have long held that the job of the federal government is to act as an impartial umpire whenever disputes arise. Indeed, so firmly imbedded in our minds is this idea that we hold that the purpose of any court of justice is simply to act as an impartial arbitrator, without interference or intervention on either side in a dispute.

B. R. C. ROYCE Understanding And Misunderstanding The Hebrew-Christian Law Of Love

In the last issue I was quoting from Frederick Nymeyer's essay on the Hebrew-Christian Law of Love. Under the sub-heading of "The Identity of the Positive Law of the Last Five Commandments" he listed four headings under "The Original Law of Love Between Mankind". His article then shows how the erroneous ideas of the Law of Love, as practiced by the early church members in Jerusalem and the devout Christians in New England, had failed. Then Nymeyer continues:

PAUL SCOTT

Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott, on vacation during the past week, are leading Kentucky editors. In a particularly graphic article, today writes about the hectic gubernatorial race in that historic state—the only gubernatorial election in the country this year.

Down South

The House Judiciary Committee voted a so-called civil rights bill before sending it on to the Rules Committee last week. One of the advocated compulsory integration of the races—in schools, in housing, and elsewhere. Another would have provided for Federal financial aid to assist in desegregating schools.

STOCKHOLM.—The Scandinavians have historical ground for their confident belief that the Russians are oken, but they are afraid for the same reason that we are. The Russians have built up in our imagination a threat of some master bomb which could demolish or devastate a hemisphere. Some wild man in Moscow, someone like Khrushchev, might be crazy enough to let it go.

Scandinavians Fear Soviet War Machine

It's customary for men to make jokes about women's fashion. But sometimes I think these are odd ball clothes should be aimed at the male fashion designers who frequently seem to be trying to show how ridiculous they can make women look. After getting into public, few of these wacky high style modes are seen on actual women in home, school or office.

Rolls Royce Radiator Resembles Greek Facade

By HENRY MCELDORE

"Have you ever noticed," reads an ad in the London Times, "that the Rolls-Royce radiator resembles the facade of a Greek temple?" The same facade is seen in the architecture of many historic houses, which is one of the reasons perhaps why a Rolls-Royce fits into that kind of setting so well.

MAGNIFICENT ACCOMPLISHMENT (Christian Moments) Thirty years ago a kilowatt hour of electric energy cost about 7 cents. Today, it costs about 3 cents. Meanwhile, the dollar has lost half of its purchasing power. So, in reality, electric current today costs less than one-fourth as much as it did thirty years ago.

One woman even wrote to say that the churches and synagogues in some areas of New York have discontinued evening services, because the women are fearful of being attacked at night on the streets.

A "BREAK-IN"

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A nine-year-old boy "broke" into a bank Saturday without even trying very hard.
Michael Berlin of East Los Angeles pulled the lid off a vent pipe while playing on the roof of the Pacific Savings & Loan Bank. He crawled in and fell 25 feet to the teller's cage.

ANCIENT BODY UNCOVERED

NEUMUNSTER, Germany (UPI)—Construction workers Saturday discovered the body of a man estimated to be more than 2,000 years old. The find was made at about the 13-foot level of a bog near here. Experts said the corpse was well-preserved and showed evidence its owner had been executed by legal authorities of his period.

Investigators Study Reports On Communist Threat To Laos

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press International

Khrushchev's Route Varied

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's crowded U.S. schedule will take him from a white tie White House banquet to a farmhouse lunch and from an agriculture experiment station to a Hollywood movie lot.

The Russian leader, who arrives here Tuesday, also will speak to the National Press Club and the U.N. General Assembly, dine with union, financial, political and civic leaders, and visit an IBM plant and a university during his 13-day U.S. tour.

A detailed itinerary of Khrushchev's first 13 days in the United States, released by the White House late Thursday, shows that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's former New York Gov. Averell Harriman, and corn farmer Boswell Garst of Coon Rapids, Iowa, were the only private citizens scheduled to entertain the Soviet boss in their own homes.
Conspicuously absent from the schedule was any visit to the Capitol. The Senate and House are trying to clean up their business and adjourn before Khrushchev arrives to avoid the ticklish problem of whether to invite him to address a joint session.
The agenda for the first nine days starts with Khrushchev's arrival at Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland at 11:30 a.m. e.d.t. and ends with his arrival at Pittsburgh at 11 p.m. e.d.t. Wednesday, Sept. 23.
