Air Force Probes Crash Of Big Bomber

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Air Force authorities today began an investigation that may show why a B-58 Hustler supersonic bomber crashed and burned on takeoff Wednesday night, killing two crewmen and injuring a third.

The third crewman, the pilot, Maj. Kenneth Lewis of Denver, Colo., pulled himself from the mangled, flaming wreckage. He was hospitalized at the base for treatment of second and third degree burns on his hands and a leg.

The Air Force identified the lead crewman as Maj. Willis A. Edgcomb, 39, of Gary, Ind., and Capt. Lee N. Barnett, 32, of Knox, Pa.

Air Force spokesmen said the giant, delta-wing bomber was making a routine takeoff when one of its pod-like jet engines peeled flame around its housing.

Lewis' attempt to "stop" the engine failed, but something went wrong, a spokesman said. The surging, needle-nosed bomber roared into arresting chains near the end of the runway. The chains were put there to stop aircraft in trouble before they run into a highway near the end of the runway.

But the B-58 was going too fast and the chains ripped off its pylon-like landing gear, sending the craft sprawling on its belly. The fuel-heavy airplane burst into flames.

Doomed Craft Explodes — Fuel for the craft is carried by a revolutionary new method designed for today's speedy airplanes. Instead of in regular tanks, fuel is stored in the wings of the plane, protected by the ship's "honey-comb" skin structure.

The doomed aircraft exploded and the Air Force said two crewmen were not able to get out of the cockpit. Both men were seated in Lewis behind Maj. Lewis.

Base firefighters speared foam in the flames that shot 100 feet into the air and illuminated a large area.

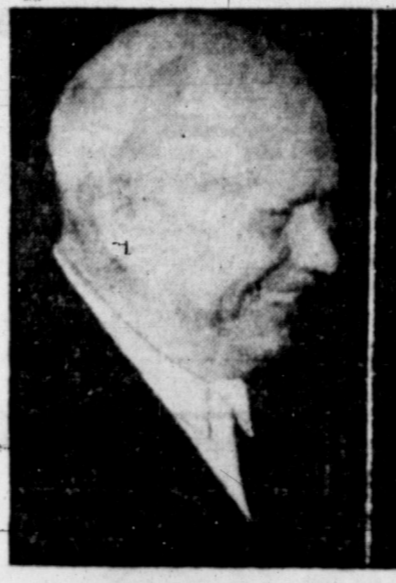

Khrushchev Confident Cold War Ice Is Melting; Arrives In New York

Peasant-shrewd, miner-hard and ideologically tough, Nikita Khrushchev can be deadly serious when speaking of world affairs, policy statements, or giving his views as shown above.

Hopes Sun Will Always Shine on Good Relations

By JACK V. FOX
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev came to the nation's biggest city today and got another cold reception from a massive crowd that jammed the streets beneath towering skyscrapers.

A lunchtime crowd of almost 4,000 persons jammed in a few blocks from Pennsylvania Station to Fifth Avenue as the world's top Communist arrived for the beginning of his trans-America tour.

There was polite clapping from a few persons and an occasional isolated cheer. But in Washington, Khrushchev got mainly the silent treatment.

Khrushchev brought with him a new disarmament proposal which he will unveil Friday in a major speech to the United Nations.

The Premier, his wife, family and official party pulled into the railroad station 11 minutes ahead of schedule after a trip from Washington. There he had told a national television audience that he stuck by his prediction that communism would bury capitalism.

He Not Impressed — President Eisenhower flatly rejected that idea at his press conference today. He said he did not believe the American public would be fooled by forecasts of Communist dominance of the world.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter challenged Russia to back up Khrushchev's words of peace by negotiating an agreement at Geneva next year to prevent the arms race from exploding into nuclear conflict.

Khrushchev flashed out of Pennsylvania Station in a closed limousine and moved so fast many in the massive crowd were not even aware that he passed. Escorting police did not use their sirens.

Khrushchev's Prediction Is Firmly Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower today firmly rejected Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's prediction that Communism will eventually replace democracy and capitalism in the world.

Eisenhower also told a news conference he has reached no agreement whatever with Khrushchev to exclude Laos, or any other so-called "third country" from their forthcoming talks at Camp David following completion of the Soviet leader's cross country tour.

The President said that no matter how sincere and colorful Khrushchev might appear to the public, he did not believe Americans would be fooled by the Russian leader's generous forecasts of Communist dominance in the world.

Khrushchev said Wednesday that his oft-quoted remark that Communism would "bury" democracy was meant historically and was not meant to mean "the physical burial" of the American people. He predicted anew that communism would supplant capitalism.

No Change Seen — Eisenhower said that, thus far, his conversations with Khrushchev had been confined to a general restatement of position and agreement on the agenda for the Camp David talks. Therefore, he said, it was not possible to detect any change in the basic Soviet stand that has led to East-West tension.

Other highlights of the President's first news conference since Aug. 27:

He expressed doubt that the tiny sphere bearing the Russian national coat of arms ever reached the surface of the moon during the successful trip of the recent Russian lunik. Eisenhower said he thought that with the speed of the rocket so high, the sphere probably was suspended in the air for some time before it could reach the moon.

New York City Security Force Has Tough Job

New York (UPI) — Massive security forces took fantastic precautions today to protect the life of Nikita S. Khrushchev in this not-so-diplomatic metropolis.

Authorities entrusted with Khrushchev's safety said New York was potentially the most dangerous place he will visit on his coast-to-coast tour.

The uncertain reaction of New York's large population of Iron Curtain refugees to the Russian premier's visit added to the problems of protecting him in its narrow, crowded streets bordered by many windowed buildings.

Washington was never like this, said chief police inspector Thomas A. Nielson. "We will have to maintain maximum security at all times."

Got First Workout — Police got their first workout early this morning, eight hours before Khrushchev's arrival by train from Washington. The desk of the Hotel Commodore, where the Soviet leader will lunch, received a call from a man who said "Get those un-Americans out of there. We've planted three bombs."

An hour's search of the hotel failed to turn up anything suspicious. The ballroom, where Mayor Robert F. Wagner will play host to Khrushchev, already had been sealed off as a security measure.

Several anti-Communist refugee organizations have announced their intention to picket Khrushchev. Police have staked out five locations for orderly demonstrations — a full block away from locations where the Communist boss will make public appearances.

Sliper, Fanatic Dangerous — But the main danger is from the lone sniper and the bomb-planting fanatic. Police will search every street and building along the routes of Khrushchev's motorcade and police lining the routes will face the spectators. Parked cars and litter baskets along the way have been removed.

In addition to FBI and State Department security men, 3,300 city police have been assigned to guard the Russian premier. He will have to gaze at the sparkling skyscrapers, the teaming garment district, and the apartments of millionaires from behind a 16-man police bodyguard of six-foot experts in sharpshooting and judo.

Rigid instructions have been spelled out for "utmost vigilance" at the formal events on Khrushchev's two-day schedule — including a reception at former

Butler Upheld By Foremost US Democrats

By WILLIAM THEIS
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler turned to 1956 campaign problems today with the backing of the party's national committee.

Butler was upheld by the committee on his recommendations that the 1956 convention "good faith" rule be renewed and that convention votes be reapportioned for 1960.

His twin victory did not mean that an effort might not be made to unseat him the next time the national committee meets, probably in January. Many committee members said they were "not for Butler" but added that they were not ready to move to replace him.

In the wake of the harmony-colored national committee session, Democratic state chairman and vice chairman today opened three days of closed campaign organization meetings under Butler's leadership.

Hopetful to Talk — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), one of the party's presidential aspirants, will address the chairman tonight. Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), another hopeful, and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan speak to them Saturday night.

Two members considered offering a motion to unseat Butler, and "draft" former President Truman as his successor. But the two, Stephen W. Langmade of Arizona, and Mrs. Bernice Kingsbury of Montana, were dissuaded by colleagues who warned that their effort would be overwhelmingly rejected, thereby strengthening Butler's position.

Langmade said this or a similar ouster move would be renewed at the next national committee meeting.

Orbit Not Eyed For U.S. Satellite

By ALVIN B. WEBB Jr.
United Press International
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The United States apparently failed today in an effort to put a 265-pound global navigation satellite into orbit around the earth.

A tall Thor-Able rocket shot the satellite aloft at 9:24 a.m., but the Defense Department announced an hour later that the rocket's third stage apparently failed to fire, and "it must be assumed that the satellite did not orbit."

As scientists here awaited further word on the "Transit" firing, other scientists were readying the 11th and final Vanguard rocket for a try, at orbiting a 30 pound space-studying satellite probably later this week. This will officially close Project Vanguard, America's first space program.

The 90-foot Thor-Able rocket appeared to perform perfectly in its second try as a moon carrier. Ten minutes after launching the Air Force said the second stage had fired successfully.

The aim was to get the sphere into a difficult circular orbit 400 miles from the earth. It succeeded if it could be seen from all over the United States. Its life expectancy was "several years."

The 36-inch spherical satellite contained "everything but the kitchen sink," said Project Transit officials. With a successful orbiting, the satellite could transmit information "as long as it survives."

Within the satellite were ultra-stable oscillators, solar cells and chemical batteries and an infrared scanner, all designed to provide the first test for a new navigational system.

Project Transit will extend over a three-year period in its efforts to provide a "reliable global all-weather means of fixing the position of surface craft, submarines and aircraft more precisely, and to provide a more accurate means of maritime and aerial navigation than is now available under

11 Nominated On Initial Ballot of C-C

Eleven men were nominated this morning on the first ballot in the election of a five-man Chamber of Commerce advisory board. Ten men were to be named on this nomination ballot but eleven were chosen because of a tie.

The second ballot will be mailed out Friday and will be tabulated Thursday in the Chamber office.

Nominated were Bob Clements, Lucian Young, Harold Wright, Floyd Watson, Clyde Jones, Robert Burns, Oren James, Joe Tooley, Rex Rose, Cameron Marsh and W. B. Murphy.

This morning while the ballots were being counted members of the Chamber's Fire Prevention Committee met to set up committees for Fire Prevention and Clean Up Week Oct. 4-10.

Fire Chief Ernest Winborne was named acting chairman to replace Roy M. Miller who has gone back to work from retirement.

There's just one way to eliminate fires and that's through education, Winborne said. He added that the careless use of cigarettes and matches still leads the field in causing fires.

Committees established this morning were:

Publicity and Advertising, Winborne and E. O. Wedgeworth; Finance, Joe Fischer; Joe Cree and Ray Duncan; Poster Distribution, L. V. Bruce and J. V. Pirkle; Downtown Parade, Jack Edmundson, Jack Nichols and Cameron Marsh; School Posters, Burt Nuckols.

School Poster Display, Kay Fancher and Jim Perkins; Essay Contests, Edmondson, Marsh and Nichols; Theatre Films, Paul West; School Films, John Evans; Service Club Announcements, Jim Conner and Dock Stewart; Fire Drills and Demonstrations, Winborne; Open Houses at Fire Stations, Winborne; Home Inspection Blanks, Sam Baggett; Firemen's Noon, Winborne; Fire Truck Ride, Nuckols; and Trash Pick-ups, Jiggs Cooke.

City Manager John Kooms said: "We must keep our city clean in order to prevent fires." He observed that the City does not mind picking up tree limbs if they're cut up into small pieces. "Sooner or later Pampa, like some larger cities will have to crack down upon persons who throw trash from car windows," he declared.

PUMPER IS BURNED IN OIL BLAZE

The second area oilfield fire in two days burned one man, not seriously, and destroyed a clean-up rig Wednesday afternoon near White Deer.

Suffering second degree burns to his face was oilfield pumper Fred Conners of rural White Deer. Conners was burned and suffered two badly bruised ribs when he leaped from the flaming rig and fell against a gate valve.

The fire broke out about 4:30 p.m. when a spark from a sand line ignited gas escaping from the well. The rig, operated by the Harry Holler Co. of Borger, was set afire when a shift in the wind blew the flames against the truck.

That well was identified as the Key Drilling Co. well No. 2 on the Barnard lease about five miles north of White Deer.

Trucks from the White Deer and Pampa Fire Departments and the Halliburton Co. battled the flames until about 8:30 p.m. Firemen from Pampa said a combination of chemicals and water was used to extinguish the blazing well and truck.

The Holler rig was described as a total loss. The only articles salvaged were some spoils and masts.

ROUND SCHOOL

St. Vincent's Sets Guards

St. Vincent's de Pahl Catholic school will post school guards with hand stop signs at two all-traveler intersections around the new school building.

Police Lt. Denny Roan reported this morning.

Guards will be posted during morning and afternoon hours at 23rd St. and the Perryton Parkway.

Police this morning asked that motorists cooperate with St. Vincent's student traffic guards. The guards may be identified by their signs and their white "Sam Brown" belts.

Package Stolen While Shopping

Mrs. J. L. Farrar, 329 Canadian, told police Wednesday she left a package of clothes and cosmetics lying a moment on the counter of a downtown department store and later discovered it missing.

Mrs. Farrar said she was shopping in Moser Department Store about 4 p.m. when the package was taken. Inside were an assortment of Tussy cosmetics, a white uniform initialed "HGH," and a plaid dress.

Prize Avoided — It was reliably reported that opponents of the rule agreed to let it slide through without even a token fight if Butler supporters did not provoke a scrap by offering a resolution of commendation for the chairman and his pro-civil rights stand.

Butler's plan for apportionment of convention votes in 1960 would assure every state a gain of at least one vote over 1956. This was labeled as "sweetening" for elimination of the old system of granting bonus votes which had benefited southern states.

Langmade said this or a similar ouster move would be renewed at the next national committee meeting.

Butler surprised most observers by winning reappointment of the 1956 "good faith" pledge without a word of debate.

Two members considered offering a motion to unseat Butler, and "draft" former President Truman as his successor. But the two, Stephen W. Langmade of Arizona, and Mrs. Bernice Kingsbury of Montana, were dissuaded by colleagues who warned that their effort would be overwhelmingly rejected, thereby strengthening Butler's position.

Rites Set For Mrs. Evans

McLEAN (SpI) — Last rites for Mrs. Mary Lucinda Evans, who died here at 9:30 Wednesday night, have been set for Friday at 2:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in McLean.

Mrs. Evans, who moved to McLean from Stonewall county in 1923, died of cancer. She was 54.

Services Friday will be led by Rev. Jesse Leonard, pastor of the First Baptist church, assisted by Rev. Evans of Shamrock. Interment will be in the Hillcrest Cemetery in McLean under the direction of the Richardson-Lamb Funeral Home.

Mrs. Evans was born Sept. 13, 1906 at Wetumka, Okla. She married Walter Evans, now a retired farmer, on Oct. 2, 1925, and was a member of the First Baptist church. She died Wednesday at the home of her daughter in McLean, Mrs. Troy Corbin.

Survivors include her husband, Walter, three daughters, Mrs. Jerry Corbin, Miss Sue Evans and Miss Linda Evans, all of McLean; five sons, Bob of Cactus, Bill of Lubbock, Jim of Borger, Joe of

He thought the public reception of Khrushchev in Washington was properly restrained because Americans naturally continue to ask themselves serious questions about the policies of the Soviet Union.

The President praised French President Charles De Gaulle's plan for solving the Algerian problem. He said that it was one that the United States could support. He added, however, that he has not yet discussed the matter with his foreign policy advisers.

Eisenhower discussed the Khrushchev visit from a number of angles. But he was reluctant to get into many specific issues that will come up when he faces Khrushchev in the rustic cottage at Camp David beginning Sept. 25.

Also surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Fay Kay, Topeka, Kans.; Mrs. Earl Frazier, Divine; and Mrs. Omas Ady, Yuma, Ariz.; two brothers, Fred Langford, Elk City, Okla.; and F. E. Langford, Divine; and seven grandchildren.

Rescuers Dig In Apartments Ruins

BARLETTA, Italy (UPI) — Rescue workers dug feverishly through the rubble of a five-story apartment building today, fearful they would find the bodies of many more residents of a new building which collapsed Wednesday at dawn.

The bodies of 40 men, women and children, some of them crushed beyond recognition, had already been found. Thirteen persons, all severely injured, were pulled out of the wreckage but it was feared the final death toll might be anywhere from 60 to 100.

The job of digging through the huge mass of concrete, rock and twisted metal went on through the night under powerful spotlights. But it was an almost hopelessly frustrating task.

"The only ones who can possibly survive this tragedy are the 12 injured who are now in the hospital," a police official said.

About 600 soldiers, firemen, policemen and monks worked around the clock clearing away rubble after layer of rubble. Occasionally a horrified shout of "Eccome uno!" (Here is one!) went up and rescuers crowded around

Rotary Hears Curfman Talk

The program for yesterday's Pampa Rotary club centered around the subject of football. Pampa High School coach Babe Curfman gave a brief talk on the experiences of the Wichita Falls game and predicted the Harvesters would surprise a lot of people as the season progressed with their playing ability.

One of the greatest handicaps the Harvesters have is a lack of weight, coach Curfman said.

The program concluded with the showing of a film on the highlights of the Southwest Conference during 1950.

Brantley Hudson was inducted into the club under the classification of "Scout Executive."

Visitors and guests for the day were Russ Womack, Ray Dudley, A. A. Meredith and Joe Harrison.

Khrushchev May Give UN New Proposal

By STEWART HENSLEY United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may be preparing to unveil to the United Nations a dramatic proposal for a permanent ban on production of H-bombs and other nuclear weapons.

Well-informed American officials said today that would be the next logical step for the free-swinging Russian leader, who already has called for a ban "forever" on nuclear weapons tests.

Sources in a position to know said Khrushchev did not mention the planned disarmament proposal to President Eisenhower during their two-hour "preliminary" conference at the White House Tuesday.

Khrushchev disclosed in a speech at the National Press Club Wednesday that he planned to make the disarmament pitch in his address to the U.N. Friday.

He said: "The Soviet government intends to submit to the United Nations a proposal which, we hope, will play an important part in the solution of this, the most burning issue of our time."

Eisenhower, too, has said that ending the world arms race is the most important issue facing the world.

The President, in public statements, has invited Khrushchev to come up with any new idea he may have for lessening world tension.

U.S. officials said the President would give careful consideration to any Soviet disarmament proposal. But they said any Russian suggestion would be assessed to see whether it contained the safeguards upon which the United States insists.

Soviet-American efforts to agree on disarmament so far have always broken down because of the Kremlin's refusal to accept what U.S. officials consider a workable control and inspection system to insure against violations.

Khrushchev told newsmen his stay in Washington had "laid the basis for his entire tour." He expressed appreciation for the "good conditions" and thanked everyone for the "warm reception."

Noticing the bright sun shining in his eyes, Khrushchev said "that is a good sign."

"I hope the sun will always shine on good relations between the United States and the Soviet Union."

The high-spirited Soviet chief, possibly buoyed by the brisk Moscowish 61-degree temperature, smiled and waved at the small crowd gathered at Washington's Union Station to see him off.

Khrushchev caused a mob scene at the Washington station when he turned from the cordon of troops lining the way to his train and made an unscheduled inspection of some rental luggage lockers.

Reporters and photographers broke through the lines and swarmed around him. Commenting on the lockers, the Premier said, "Very wise... This is a very sensible idea."

Khrushchev revealed before he ended the first of two visits to Washington that he will lay before the United Nations in New York on Friday a new Soviet proposal on disarmament which he called "the most burning issue of our time."

Nuclear Ban Hinted

The Soviet premier gave no details. But American officials said he might call for a permanent ban on production of all nuclear weapons.

His words of peace came during the highlight of his capital visit, a nationally televised address to the National Press Club. But he mixed them with an angry flare-up when questioned about Russia's intervention in Hungary and what he was doing while Stalin was "committing crimes" under the cult of personality.

The rocket, seeking to put its payload into circular orbit about 400 miles upward, appeared to have been launched perfectly. If successful, the satellite would be visible from all points in the United States and would have a life expectancy of "several years."

The feasibility of the system is based on capacity of six ground receiving stations and computing centers to gain positional information from Transit I. The satellite was to broadcast on four bands—54, 108, 162, and 216 megacycles.

Scientists said the moonlet's position would be known for future dates and that data received by a navigator could be used on that date for determining his position on the earth's surface.

An operation system of navigation will depend upon establishment of a family of satellites in orbit, each at a specific altitude and position. Engineers said navigators would need only special equipment to work out their positions from these satellites.

13 Die In Mexico Independence Fete

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The two-day celebration of Mexico's independence anniversary left a toll here of 13 dead and nearly 400 injured, police said Wednesday night.

More than 100 additionally were given first aid treatment for heat prostration during Wednesday's parade.

At least half of the total number were injured in traffic mishaps. Most of the casualties occurred during Tuesday night and the early morning hours Wednesday.

Festivities began Tuesday night, traditional date of the "grito" (cry) of independence.

Downtown streets were jammed with traffic throughout the night, and the atmosphere was similar to that of a New Year's Eve celebration in the United States.

Many wore carnival hats, blew horns, rang cowbells as they rode through the streets. Night clubs did a rushing business.

Fireworks discharged were heard, despite a municipal ban, and 35 of the injured were treated for burns from skyrockets.

Truck Driver Killed In Ditch Mishap

AMARILLO (UPI) — Claude E. Wilson, 46-year-old Weatherford, Tex., truck driver was injured fatally Wednesday night when his tractor-trailer ran into a deep ditch at the dead end of a country road and jack-knifed into a grain field.

Two teen-aged hitchhikers riding with him were not injured and made their way to a farmhouse to call officers. Wilson was pinned beneath the dual wheels of the tractor and apparently died instantly.

The boys, Billy Don Preston of near McLean and Robert L. Rocky of Slaton, both 16 — were en route to Slaton to visit Rocky's parents. They said Wilson told them he was taking the country road in order to by-pass Amarillo on U. S. Highway 66.

The truck was owned by Mrs. Velveta Watson of Weatherford.

U. S. Churches Have Time Reaching Mentally Retarded

Religion in America
By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

In one of His parables, Jesus told about a good shepherd who left 99 sheep safe in the fold while he went forth to search for one little lamb that was lost in the dark.

Some of America's churches are discovering that this parable has a direct and poignant application to a problem that now confronts them.

The problem is to provide suitable religious training for the relatively small minority of children—about 3 out of every 100 in the average community—who are mentally retarded.

Ministering to the mentally retarded is not an easy task for any church to undertake. It requires a great deal of time, effort and planning. These considerations are bound to loom large in the minds of overworked religious educators who are already hard put to line up enough teachers and classroom space for ever-growing enrollments of non-handicapped youngsters.

That's where the parable of the lost sheep comes into the picture. As long as there is even one child in the community who is left out of the Christian education program, through no fault of his own, can the church honestly claim to be doing its job?

Conduct Survey

The question was brought sharply to the attention of church leaders by a survey conducted two years ago by the National Assn. For Retarded Children. It asked 175 local chapters in all parts of the country to ascertain what religious training facilities were available in their communities for mentally handicapped children.

Three-fourths of the chapters replied that no facilities existed. The survey turned up only 900 children actually were enrolled in special classes—500 in Protestant churches and 400 in Catholic churches.

In the wake of this report, the National Council of Churches called a meeting of Christian education officials of 30 major Protestant and Orthodox denominations. They agreed to undertake a nationwide campaign "to arouse the churches to their responsibility for providing an effective ministry for the mentally handicapped."

Progress in this campaign has been slow to date. But it may now begin to accelerate. The national council has prepared, and is distributing to local churches and church councils, an excellent little booklet entitled "The Mentally Retarded and the Church."

Outlines Problem

It outlines both the magnitude of the problem, and practical ways in which churches can take of double-indemnity insurance. If a better understanding develops, it will have been accomplished by Khrushchev—the man of peace. If disappointment is the only outcome, it will be because the war planners of the West once again have blocked international Communism's drive toward world accord.

Major Issues Discussed

Basically, Khrushchev must come to the United States with three things in mind. They are Germany and the question of Berlin, disarmament and increased U.S.-Soviet trade.

Eisenhower already has announced the West will not abandon two million West Berliners. Since it is unlikely the Communists will give up their bargaining point on Berlin, the best that seems likely is a statement.

Disarmament presents a possibility, in that East and West might come together on the point of an inspection system connected with a ban on nuclear tests. But so far as abandonment of Western bases around Russia is concerned, there is no chance at all.

So far as trade is concerned, the Soviets principally need our help in such industries as chemicals and heavy goods. The Soviets recognize neither copyright nor patent laws. Give them one machine and they can produce thousands. U.S. industry won't buy that either.

Optimism High For Cold War Climax

Foreign News Commentary
By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

Despite all notes of warning there seems to be on all sides a rising note of optimism that the talks between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev actually will herald the beginning of the end of the cold war.

Official Washington seems to have maintained its equilibrium. Many newspaper editorials have pointed out that on the basis of Khrushchev's record alone, any broad meeting of the minds seems impossible.

Yet the optimism persists. Outside the United States, it is especially notable.

In Britain, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan bases part of his chance for success in the forthcoming general elections on the fact that he went to Moscow first and thus can lay claim to establishing the groundwork for the present Eisenhower-Khrushchev meeting.

Float on Clouds

United Press International dispatches from Moscow tell of Miss Kovites floating on rosy clouds of anticipation.

UPI correspondent Robert J. Korengold reported:

"Soviet citizens seemed to be sure that Khrushchev's trip and the return visit of President Eisenhower were steps toward increased cooperation and peace."

"The difference between the atmosphere in Moscow today and at the height of the Berlin crisis a few short months ago was breathtaking."

Since the sentiments of the Soviet man-in-the-street largely are under control of the state, his present feeling of optimism obviously has been whipped up by the state. And that should constitute a real warning against over-optimism among the Western nations. Khrushchev has taken out a sort

Congress Blows Out Very Tamely

By WILLIAM THEIS
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Democratic 80th Congress that roared in with a political mandate in January went home this week less sure of its power.

Politically, the session demonstrated that:

—Not even top-heavy legislative majorities like those held by the Democrats in Senate and House necessarily spell victory against a "strong" opposition President. Republicans were upheld by President Eisenhower's firm stand on key issues late in the session.

—Congress is not the best staging area for presidential candidates. All but one of the five most-mentioned Democratic presidential potentials are senators who found their campaign maneuverability restricted. Vice President Richard M. Nixon, whose Senate attendance need only be nominal and is uncomplicated by record votes, was less hampered.

Traditionally, both parties found something to crow about in the record. Democrats insisted this Congress was "responsible" throughout and former President Harry S. Truman called it "one of the greatest since World War II."

Senate GOP Policy Chairman Styles Bridges said, "The President's stout leadership, using his veto power as necessary and inviting cooperation from some Democrats, made it possible for Congress to do a good job." He said the Republicans "stood together more closely than in years."

Pattened by last November's landslide victory, the January Democratic majority stood at 64 to 34 Republicans in the Senate and 283 Democrats to 153 Republicans in the House. The Hawaiian elections made it 65 Democrats to 35 Republicans in the Senate and 284 Democrats (including one vacancy) to 153 Republicans in the House at the session's close.

Drama Marks Session

Political drama marked the first session on its Jan. 7 opening day when Nixon squared off against Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson on a civil rights test.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), the apparent Democratic front-runner, concentrated on developing an acceptable labor reform bill and shaping welfare legislation. His labor bill chore involved political risk as well as reward. Only an election could show the balance.

Humphrey's Campaign Suffers

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) worked on a broader front and perhaps spread his influence as well as his hazard. Humphrey tackled farm, foreign policy, labor-welfare and disarmament issues full tilt. His campaigning outside the Senate thereby suffered.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), less a working candidate than the others, was more on the Senate sidelines. He spoke often on defense, farm, and economic issues but appeared to be pitching his Johnson, one of the Senate's four presidential possibilities, criticized Nixon for his free-wheeling advisory rulings on changing the anti-filibuster rule. But Nixon had been able to underline his own pro-civil rights position in the process.

Other presidential hopefuls worked to hammer out pre-convention legislative records which attracted national attention but limited their movements.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), less a working candidate than the others, was more on the Senate sidelines. He spoke often on defense, farm, and economic issues but appeared to be pitching his proposals as a convention compromise. Many Democrats thought he had the right idea.

Johnson, the Senate majority leader, held the stage almost daily. Firmly declaring himself not a presidential contender, the Texan remained throughout the session as the prospect of the mid-October election most qualified but least likely to be nominated for geographic reasons.

Loses Major Objective

Johnson suffered the loss of one of his major objectives—passage of a major civil rights bill before Congress goes into its presidential-election year meeting. The bill had to be put over until 1960, when it could further emphasize the Democratic Party split on this issue.

The man who came out of the 1959 session with the greatest political growth was a Republican—Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana. Named House minority leader in January, he helped Eisenhower put spark back into the GOP by gathering votes to uphold all but one presidential veto on public works.

This performance put Halleck in the forefront of those who will be considered for the Republican vice-presidential nomination next year.

But they said the motor was in perfect order.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Russia's premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States, including junket to movieland, brought two reactions from the battle royal to have lunch with the Communist mogul Saturday and a dread of being quoted in his visit.

The Century-Fox Studios has been inundated by TV and film's demanding invitations to the h, reminiscent of what most encounters when they tour boondocks. It wouldn't be surprising to find some of the celebs equipped with autograph books.

Despite their curiosity, the glacial folk are afraid to state their opinions, not wanting to go on record one way or the other.

Stars Speak Minds
Some, however, did speak their minds: Jimmy Thomas—"Let us console ourselves in such a manner that when Mr. Khrushchev departs he is shaken in the knowledge that among these happy, prosperous and strong people he will find no converts to his godless cause."

Natalie Wood—"The President has invited him, and I'm sure the President knows what he is doing."

Burt Lancaster—"Mr. Khrushchev's visit is a wonderful idea. Everyone can't just stay in his own backyard and expect to find peace."

Ann Southern—"I hope Mr. K. likes the U.S. as much as I do."

Glenn Ford—"Mr. Khrushchev will be here as the guest of our President and government, and it is anticipated he will be extended the same courtesies and considerations we expect our President to receive when he visits Russia."

Refuses to Attend
Ronald Reagan—who refused to attend the luncheon—"The President erred in asking Americans to accept Khrushchev's visit as a friendly gesture. This nation does not have the moral obligation to repay the courtesy extended Vice President Nixon in Russia."

Jimmy Durante—"I'm always happy to see somebody with less hair than I got."

Art Linkletter—"I'm glad Khrushchev is visiting this country because I think he's a shrewd man and will see for himself what others can only tell him."

Janet Leigh—"I'm for anything that's going to make the world a safer place in which to live."

Joel McCrea—"I hope Mr. K's visit will be without incident, that would have a derogatory effect on his opinion of the U.S. I personally am not enthusiastic or optimistic."

Because of its importance as a food, salt has been an article of commerce since the very earliest times. Caravans carried it across the desert from the oases of the Sahara as they do today. The Romans named one of their most important roads the Via Salaria (Salt Highway) because it was the route for the salt trade to northern Italy. The salt of Palmyra, an oasis in the Syrian Desert, was carried all along the Persia Gulf.

'EGGHEAD' COIFFURE, NEW LOOK FOR FALL

WOMAN'S VIEW
By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)— One hair stylist summed up the coiffure look for fall in these words, "from eggbeater to egghead."

In other words, said Ruel, who is styles director for Coiffures

Americana, the tousled uncombed look of the last few years is gone. Gone too are the short, layered cuts which created the bouffant do and also created consternation among milliners. Women weren't buying hats to crush a $10 set.

In their place is the "educated" coiffure, which is sleeker, longer and certainly neater. Ruel, whose organization operates a chain of salons in department stores, showed some of his new coiffures with an upswep look.

Some hairdressers refer to the more hair trend as a return to the 1930's, and the long bob of the Carole Lombard and Marlene Dietrich heyday. Others trace it even farther back, to the Tréda Bara vamp.

Stylists for Elizabeth Arden and Charles of the Ritz Salons are pushing this 1930's look, with a low side part and gently curling ends. They say the new fall and winter clothes are the reason—so many are reminiscent of the pre-war era.

Kenneth of Lilly Dache disagrees. This young stylist, whose customers include Marilyn Monroe and Lucille Ball, said, "It's ridiculous to dub the new styles as thirty-ish."

"The pure mechanics of setting hair have changed since then. These were the days of the pin curl, the marcel and the finger wave. Today, we set hair on big rollers. It can't possibly look flat, no matter how smoothly it is combed."

Kenneth advocates the upward arrangement for evening wear—the longer hair brushed smoothly but not tightly up into a French twist or bun.

Most stylists advocate a length midway between the chin and the shoulders. Michel of Helena Rubinstein shows all of his new coiffures just above the collar line.

the work of the three branches of government, winds up by telling where the rest of the power rests — just in case anybody gets any fancy ideas of dictatorship. There are things no state can do, for instance, "make or enforce a law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States."

If there are any powers not given to the United States government or reserved to the states, they belong to the people. The constitution does not seem to limit the people.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

"Constitution Week" Significant

The week of September 17-23 has been designated as "Constitution Week." Each year an observance is scheduled throughout the nation in recognition of the importance of the federal constitution, which forms the basis of national government. It insures a stable balance of powers between the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government by providing curbs upon the authority of each.

1. Neither Congress nor anybody else can suspend the writ of habeas corpus (unless the public safety demands it during rebellion or invasion.) All officers or others must obey a court and bring in anyone in their custody to see whether he is held lawfully.

2. Congress cannot pass "bills of attainder," special acts to punish someone. Congress cannot by pass the courts.

3. Congress cannot pass an ex post facto law — a law which makes an act a crime which was not one when done, or which punishes the offender more than called for when done.

4. Congress cannot tax exports from any state nor by regulation favor one state's ports over another's, nor make one state's vessels clear or pay duties to another state in order to enter.

Besides these denials from within, the constitution curbs Congress and the executive and judiciary in the amendments, especially the first ten.

Among other things, Congress cannot make a law respecting establishment of religion or prohibiting its free exercise, or abridging the freedom of speech, of the press or the right of the people peaceable to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

The constitution also curbs the courts for example, they cannot deny a person a fair hearing duly represented by counsel. It curbs the executive. (he cannot, for example, take private property for public use without just compensation.)

The constitution, which divides

Hayley Mills, Nicest Thing Britain Has Given Movies

HOLLYWOOD By VERNON SCOTT UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The nicest thing Britain has exported to movietown in many a moon is 13-year-old Hayley Mills, a sweet-faced import who is starring in her first American film.

Daughter of English star John Mills, Hayley is a startling contrast to the spoiled, ill-mannered Hollywood variety of movie moppets.

Hayley curtsied politely in the Disney Studio commissary before sitting beside her mother for lunch. Her 10-year-old brother, a hellion on wheels with a shock of red hair, sat like an angel next to a nervous Disney press agent.

Because Hayley was raised in the tradition of "children are seen but not heard," she offered no gratuitous information, but answered questions with serious aplomb. Brother John is not the traditionalist that Hayley is.

Before the blonde little girl could embark on her interview the press agent emitted a yelp of surprise and stood up abruptly. He hopped around on one foot,

Small Fry Breakfast Turns Into Banquet

SMALL FRY BREAKFAST — Interest the children in your family with a breakfast aimed toward their interests. The little wrangler wouldn't have to be coaxed to eat a breakfast centered around Canadian-style bacon and bread waffles.

SMALL FRY BREAKFAST
 Orange Flower
 Canadian-style Bacon
 Bread Waffles
 Syrup
 Hot Chocolate

What a wonderful way to start the day... with a wholesome, hearty, well-balanced breakfast. Family breakfast should be and can be as much an American tradition as "hot dogs" and watermelon.

Children, teenagers, working people and homemakers will all find that the breakfast meal is a peacemaker for the day's activities. Even our senior citizens will find their physical capacity to do work increased when fortified with a good breakfast.

fast is centered around the Canadian-style bacon slices and waffle bread. The waffle bread is simply made. Just dip slices of bread into a regular French toast egg-milk mixture and place in waffle iron.

The Canadian-style bacon will certainly stimulate the early morning appetites. It's so easily prepared. Sliced, it can be broiled, pan-broiled or panfried, until lightly browned on both sides.

Actually, the Canadian-style bacon is the boneless, cured and smoked backstrip from the loin. Any meal during the day can be centered around this meat cut.

Honey Of Cake Blends Honey And Apples

Apples are the darlings of the fall festival of fruits.

Where you have apples, you have applesauce. And what the ingenious cook can do with applesauce is almost overwhelming. It can be used in so many different ways. You can even put it into cakes!

Here's proof: This cake recipe makes use of one cup of cold, unsweetened applesauce, plus another of fall's bountiful foods, honey. Honey provides all the sweetening that is needed. Honey also keeps the moisture of the applesauce bound within the cake and helps it stay fresh longer.

One piece of this spicy but light-textured cake demands the consumption of the second piece. It leaves you with the feeling that you've eaten something really worth while. And indeed, you have. For both honey and apples are a good for you, as well as being a pleasure to eat.

HONEY APPLESAUCE CAKE
 1-3 cup shortening
 3/4 cup honey
 2 cups flour
 1/2 teaspoon cloves
 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon soda
 1 cup cold, unsweetened applesauce
 1 cup seedless raisins

Cream shortening. Add honey gradually, creaming after each addition. Mix and sift together dry ingredients and add alternately with the applesauce to the creamed mixture. Fold in raisins. Pour batter into a well-greased 8x8x2-inch pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 45 minutes.

Packing School Lunchboxes Offers Daily Challenge To Home Chefs

Nearly every Texas mother has to cope, at least occasionally, with a school lunch. Even in the state's many thousands of schools which provide excellent lunchroom facilities, children occasionally find taking a lunch box a welcome change. But the lunch which a child views as a "picnic" can be a problem to the mother who prepares it, the Texas Beef Council has found.

Food tucked into a lunch box must be of a quality which will not spoil during several hours out of refrigeration, must be of a texture which is not utterly ruined by careless banging both on the way to school and in the locker, and must be "different." The same child who will go through the lunchroom line and order the same meal day after day wants a "different" lunch when he brings it from home.

The Beef Council recommends a lunch containing at least one sandwich (for boys, two sandwiches are protection against death by starvation before school is out), a beverage, salad or vegetable, and a dessert.

"Something different" can usually be accomplished fairly easily by a combination of two foods. Remove the centers from large dill pickles with an apple corer, stuff them with pimento cheese, and refrigerate overnight. Slice and wrap in waxed paper. These salad tidbits give a lunch-box lunch a needed taste lift.

For a different dessert, carefully peel a banana, slice it lengthwise, spread the cut edge with peanut butter and replace the banana in the skin.

Sandwiches offer not only the bulk of the food value of the lunch, but possibly the widest latitude in choice of fillings and breads to produce an interesting meal. Probably the favorite beef sandwich filling is the classic recipe: left-over roast beef ground with sweet pickles and moistened with mayonnaise. This combination is equally

Pastry Puffs Are New Coffeetime Delicacy

Mid-morning and mid-afternoon are coffee times U.S.A. Something sweet and a bit special is a must to serve when friends are invited to "come for coffee". All Sweet Pastry Puffs are a delightful combination of tender pastry and crusty cream puff. Topped with icing, nuts, jam or fruit they provide an extra cue for conversation and give the occasion a party air.

The pastry puffs are made in two parts. The puff batter is mixed first and set to one side while the pastry circles are prepared. For best results use a top quality margarine for both the puff batter and the pastry. It is smart shopping to select a margarine that is equally good for your fine cooking, baking and table use. A well-known brand name assures you of expensive tasting margarine at the popular price.

Three-inch circles of the unbaked pastry are placed on a cookie sheet. Cream puff batter is spooned on top of each circle and spread to the edge of the pastry. Baking in a hot oven causes the puffs to expand. As they come from the oven, crisp shell and tender pastry are merged into one delicacy.

ALL SWEET PASTRY PUFFS
 Yield: about 1 1/2 dozen

For puffs use:
 1 stick (1/2 cup) margarine
 1 cup sifted flour
 3 tablespoons water

Cut margarine into flour until it becomes the consistency of corn meal. Add water and blend together. Roll out on a pastry cloth or board to 1/4 inch thickness. Using a 3 inch round cookie cutter, cut circles from the dough. The dough may be rolled to use all the remaining pieces. Place the circles on an ungreased cookie sheet. Arrange about 2 inches apart. Spoon a scant 1/4 cup of cream puff batter on top of each circle. Be sure the cream puff reaches all the way to the edge of the circle. Use spoon to swirl the top of each puff. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 25 minutes. Remove and place on a rack to cool. While still slightly warm spread confectioners sugar icing over the rolls. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Spoon a small amount of jelly, jam, raisins, cooked apricots or prunes in the center of each roll.

For afternoon tea or dessert, cut tops off puffs. Fill the center of each puff with ice cream or fresh fruit. Put tops back in place and decorate with frosting and nuts.

Bran Scrapple Bit Adds Happy Touch

In addition to serving an important function, breakfast is also a "fun" meal. For it's then that the family can all be together to anticipate individual plans for the day. A dish that is a part of this happy picture is Bran Scrapple. When the bran and corn meal mixture is made in advance, this is a quick dish to serve straight from the griddle with syrup or apple butter.

BRAN SCRAPPLE
 1 pound bulk pork sausage
 2 cups water
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1/2 teaspoon powdered sage
 2-3 cup whole bran cereal

Brown sausage in heavy frying pan, stirring occasionally to crumble. Drain, saving drippings. Heat water to boiling point; add salt, pepper, sage and cayenne. Stir in corn meal gradually; cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add whole-bran cereal and browned

Happy Hank's Omelet Offers Wake-Up Quality

From time to time, homemakers may want to vary their breakfast pattern, so why not prepare an unusual omelet such as Happy Hank's Omelet. A touch of onions and cheddar-cheese, plus corn flakes, give this egg entrée an irresistible wake-up quality.

HAPPY HANK'S OMELET
 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
 2 tablespoons finely cut onions
 1 cup corn flakes
 1 egg, slightly beaten
 2 tablespoons milk
 1/2 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese

Heat oil in 8-inch skillet over low heat; add onions and brown lightly. Combine corn flakes, eggs, milk and cheese; mix well. Pour over onions. Cook until firm, about 8 minutes. Turn and brown other side. Serve immediately on heated plate accompanied by hot toast.

Palate-Pleasing Casserole Of Paella Will Collect Compliments For Cook

Paella Valenciana is a palate-pleasing combination of chicken, seafood and peas' nestled in saffron rice. Spanish women from Madrid to Granada are counted good cooks if they produce good kdlia (pronounced pie-ay-ay). And there are as many prescriptions for Paella in Spain as there are recipes for Borsch in the Balkans.

It's a hearty dish with subtle taste surprises, and Spanish women have been known to take as long as four days preparing, pounding, shelling, cleaning and cooking Paella. Of course, that's four days in addition to the time spent catching, trapping and spearing the seafood that's needed.

You can serve an impressively authentic Paella that takes very little time, though it may take people four days plus to get through raving about your skill and imagination. How come such a miracle? Canned foods cut out all the drudgery without cutting out any of the taste thrills. Your work is practically all done for you. You're a dietary expert, too. Better meals build better families, and this is a nutritious dish. All you have to do is collect the compliments. Serve it and see.

PAELLA VALENCIANA
 1 can (14 ounces) chicken fricasse with gravy
 1 bay leaf
 1 can condensed chicken soup
 1 can (8 ounces) minced clams
 1 can (5 ounces) shrimp, drained
 1 can (8 1/2 ounces) peas
 3/4 teaspoon saffron
 1 garlic clove, crushed
 2 cups cooked rice
 1/2 teaspoon brown bottled gravy sauce

Simmer chicken fricasse with its gravy, the bay leaf and the chicken soup for 15 minutes. Add the clams with liquid, drained shrimp, peas, saffron and crushed garlic clove, simmering all 5 minutes longer. Lastly stir in the cooked rice and cook slowly for 10 minutes. Turn off the heat, stir in the bottled brown gravy sauce, cover and let stand for about 10 minutes to develop flavor.

Small Fry Like Fuddy-Duddies School-Agers - Caramel Apples

Children will come running for "Fuddy-Duddies" once they have tried these wholesome sweets. Bite-size, they are just right for the preschoolers. Fuddy-Duddies please mother too. In addition to being good for the children, they are easy to make and involve no baking. The use of breakfast cereals in confections increases their nutritional value by the addition of protein, important B vitamins, essential minerals, and food energy.

Crispy Caramel Apples will make a hit with the school-age crowd. Juicy apples are coated with caramel and then rolled in oven-toasted rice cereal. The use of cereal on the apples in lieu of expensive nuts, not only decreases the cost, but it increases the nutritive value of the treat.

Cereal Fuddy-Duddies
 1/2 pound (4 squares) semi-sweet chocolate
 32 plastic or heavy wooden picks

Place chocolate in custard cup in pan of hot water and let melt. Insert picks in marshmallows and dip and roll in melted chocolate to cover sides and bottom leaving top uncoated. Roll in cereal. Stand upright on waxed paper to cool. Yield: 32 confections.

Crispy Caramel Apples
 1 pound caramels
 2 tablespoons water
 8 heavy wooden skewers

5 medium-sized eating apples, washed
 1 1/2 cups oven-toasted rice cereal, regular, pre-sweetened, or cocoa flavor
 lar, pre-sweetened, or cocoa flavor

Combine caramels and water in small covered saucepan; place over low heat and melt caramels, stirring frequently. Insert wooden skewers in stem ends of apples. Swirl apples in caramel mixture to cover completely. Lift out of caramel mix and hold over pan to drain. Swirl apples while draining. Roll in cereal at once. Stand on waxed paper to cool and set. Yield: 8 Caramel Apples.

Rancho Pecan Toffee Is Flavor-Of-Month

THE RELIGIOUS RECORD — Membership in American churches and synagogues reached an all-time high in 1958. So reports the National Council of Churches in its annual census of 251 church bodies in 49 states. Membership for all faiths reported by the churches themselves, was given as 109,557,741 in 1958, a rise of 5 per cent over 1957. Three of the four major religious groups showed increases; Jewish figures remained unchanged. Sunday and Sabbath school enrollment and members' contributions also rose. Money spent for construction of religious buildings was 863 million dollars, which was down 3 million from 1957.

Japan's Constitution Left Over From World War II

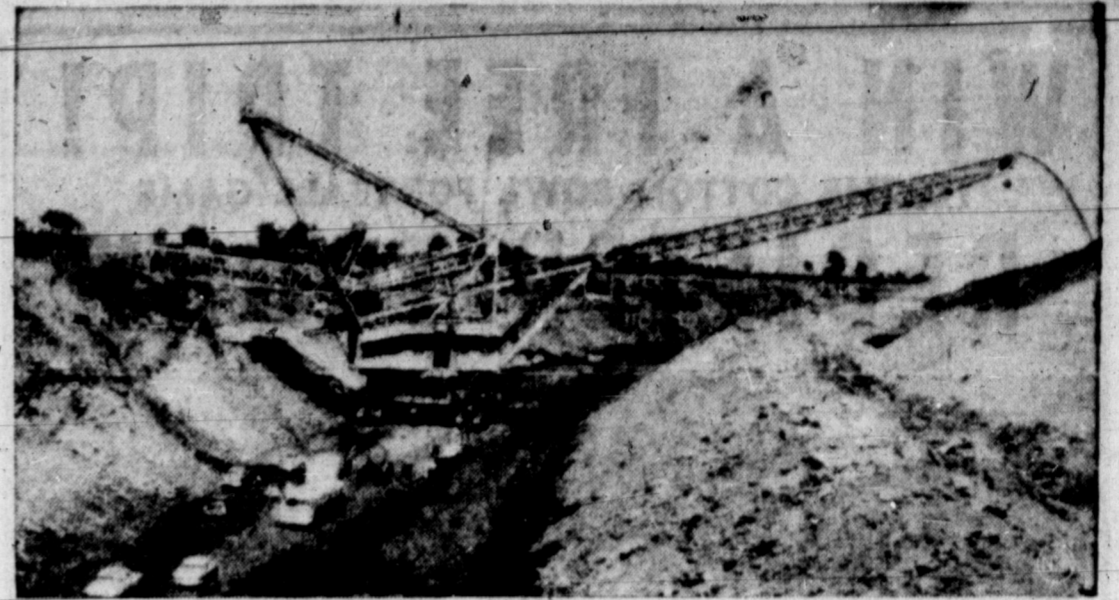

Foreign News Commentary
By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

One of the left-overs from World War II and the brave new world that never quite emerged is the constitution of present-day Japan. Largely, it was imposed upon the Japanese by the United States. Tuesday, it is proving a two-edged sword which could upset the whole U. S. defense concept for the free nations of Asia. The present constitution was promulgated Nov. 3, 1946 in the comparatively early days after the end of the war. It brought about three fundamental changes in the Japanese political system. It destroyed the theory of the emperor's divinity, it renounced forever war and the threat of war, and it banned the maintenance of land, sea and air forces or other war potential.

U. S. Occupation Begins
U. S. occupation of Japan ended on April 28, 1952, when the Japanese regained their status as a sovereign people. The new constitution long since had shown its weaknesses but nothing ever had been done to change it, largely due to pressure from the leftist-leaning socialists.

Chief weakness was the clause which forbade Japan even from maintaining defensive forces. On June 25, 1950, the Communists invaded South Korea, less than an hour's flying time from the tip of Japan. And on July 9, 1950, Gen. Douglas MacArthur acted in his role of commander-in-chief of occupying forces in Japan and authorized establishment of a 75,000-man "national police reserve."

It was the beginning of a new Japanese army but it ignored the constitution. Becomes Staunch Ally Meanwhile, Japan continued to develop as one of the United States' staunchest allies in Asia, permitting indefinite maintenance of U. S. bases and military manpower on Japanese territory.

BIG CHOMPER—The largest earth-moving machine ever built in America, the Kolbe Wheel Excavator, is shown in operation in southern Ohio. Owned by Bucyrus-Erie Co., it's being used to strip mine coal, but can do other gargantuan earth-moving jobs. The monster is 46 feet wide, 150 feet high and weighs 2,100 tons. It gets its name from a 27-foot-wide wheel, extreme left, driving 2 1/2-cubic-yard digging buckets. Excavated material is carried by a belt to be dumped, right, 420 feet away.

The threat to that happy relationship came in a violent riot which erupted in July, 1957, at the big U. S. air base at Tachikawa. Government surveyors were measuring farm lots which were to be used for extending Tachikawa's runways when leftwing students and labor leaders crashed fences and fought with police. More than 3,000 persons were involved and some were arrested.

They were charged with violating the special criminal law which protects U. S. military facilities. Provides Political Football It looked like a routine case until March 30 of this year when a Tokyo district judge threw out the whole case on the ruling that the presence of U. S. forces in Japan was unconstitutional.

The case now is under appeal with a ruling expected in November. Meanwhile, it is providing a wonderful political football for Japanese socialists who would scrap all present agreements with the U. S. and turn Japan's eyes toward Communist China.

Taped TV Show Is Godfrey's Finest

Television in Review
By FRED DANZIG
United-Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Skilled surgeon and modern medicine gave Thur Godfrey a new lease on life and videotape has given his career a great big boost. For his return to broadcasting after a lung cancer operation last fall, the old redhead appeared on CBS-TV Wednesday night in a one-hour special that was taped in Hawaii, on his farm in Virginia, and in a New York studio. It was Godfrey's finest TV hour, thanks to the imaginative uses of new techniques. We were taken through a studio door to emerge in his farm. We went into the theater in Hawaii and came up in Godfrey's pool at the Beacon Hill. One sequence attempted to end ballet dancing with a steer chase. While it had its awkward moments, it was a worthy experiment. One sequence featured a Tahitian hip-shaker. For a moment, I thought my picture tube had exploded. Anyhow, it was an easy show to watch. Godfrey's special brand of entertainment, which eschews polish as a performing talent in favor of the more durable talent for "tap root" communication through word and song, is a national treasure. Since we almost lost it a few months back, there is all the more cause to appreciate it now. Fellowes like Jack Paar, Art Linkletter, Ralph Edwards and Dick Clark can't and probably never will, match his style no matter how they try. I also salute him for singing and dancing and running out of breath. Breathless singers are rare on TV these days, and when they can, pre-record songs and synchronize their mouths on camera, a one-lunger like Godfrey comes along and shows up all that film-flam nonsense.

The Channel Swim: NBC-TV's new Tuesday night Western, Laramie, outscored ABC-TV's Sugarfoot, 15.0 to 12.7 in the Trendex rating. But ABC-TV's Wyatt Earp launched his new season with a 21.5 Trendex, topping NBC's "Fibber McGee and Molly" (18.0) and CBS' "To Tell The Truth" (13.8). Jessica Tandy will co-star with Jack Hawkins in "The Fallen Idol" on CBS-TV Wednesday, Oct. 14. Victor Borge's upcoming NBC-TV special, on Friday, Oct. 16, is featuring a "Hamlet" spoof by Betty Marsden, a British comedienne, the bit is being filmed "on the scene" at Kronborg Castle in Denmark. Paddy Chayefsky's return to video is a beatnik play called, "The Angel-Headed Hipster," to be seen early in 1960 on CBS-TV's Playhouse 90. Moss Hart and Kitty Carlisle will be on hand when CBS-TV's "The Last Word" celebrates telecast

This handsome matron, who faces a busy fall round of club meetings, teas, civic projects and entertaining, replaces slapdash summer grooming with careful attention to good looks. She finds that tired feet revive (left) after a pleasant soaking in warm soapy water. She uses a small brush to scrub away rough spots. After preliminary washing, she massages in thick soapsuds lather to remove every trace of make-up (center). Then she follows up with thorough rinsing, a splash of cold water and rich cream. She's ready (right) for the brisk autumn days, renewed friendships and interests.

"Women Can Out-Survive Man" In Space, That Is: TV Producer

Woman To Woman
By MARY PRIME
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Don't let anyone tell you the fair sex is the weaker sex. Women can out-survive men in space says a TV-movie producer who has researched the subject.

"Women's bodies are built to withstand the tremendous shock of pregnancy. Their skin is constructed differently with insulating layers of fat which protects them from the cold. If she's into space, women could better endure the isolation and inactivity because they have less muscular and nervous energy than men. And women generally have more resistance to sickness," said Ivan Tors, who will launch a television series Sept. 12 (NBC).

The series, "The Man and the Challenge," is based on man's ability to survive the worst of nature and science and will show how far a person can go to adapt himself to conditions of the future.

Believes Women Are Steadier
"Women are more patient and tolerant, and can stand the same routine. Their metabolism is lower, so they require less food and oxygen—a vital factor on a trip in space," Tors said.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I eat in restau- rants frequently and do not have a very hearty appetite. The por- tions are always too much for me to eat at one sitting, so I am tempted to ask the waitress to please put my left-overs in a sack for me to take home. The food is good, and it seems a pity to waste it. Is this considered bad man- ners?

SMALL EATER
DEAR SMALL: Not at all. I have done it on occasion. And I'm dog-goned if I will say, "It's for my dog!"

DEAR ABBY: After 24 years of marriage I got the shock of my life. I raised three boys to be men without any trouble and a long comes my husband tells me that my supposed-to-be best girlfriend is expecting in December and HE is the father!

My girlfriend is 45 years old and has been married 26 years. He has 5 children of her own. Talk about a mess.

He says it is all my fault be- cause I accused them of having a romance three years ago, so they decided to go ahead and have one. I don't know what to do. My hus- band wants me to stand by him. They haven't told the woman's husband yet. They both know what they were doing as neither one drinks. Can this be love?

NO NAME PLEASE
DEAR NO: This can't be love. But it could develop into a nasty scandal. Take the course that will hurt the fewest innocent people. To break up two families would be madness. Keep the whole so- did secret under your hats and arrange somehow to put as many miles as possible between your husband and this "friend." And the sooner the better.

DEAR ABBY: Tell me, please, how a boy can tell you in one breath that he loves you and then in the next breath say, "But I think we should break up because we are getting too serious?"

This is my problem. Dear Abby, I am 15 years old and he is 17 and we have gone steady for ten months. I know you are going to say that I am too young to know my own mind, but this is the boy I intend to marry.

How can I hurry things up? I am willing to quit school and go to work and let him finish High School. How can I get him to keep seeing me? I love him so much I don't think I could live without him.

SANDY
DEAR SANDY: No wonder he is looking for an escape hatch! He senses your eagerness to get married and he is smart enough to know that he is much too young. He simply wants to find a way to drop you without hurting you. Finish your own education and don't crowd your young mind with thoughts of marriage now. You have much growing-up-to-do.

Confidential to Sad Mother: Contact your local chapter of Association for Retarded Children. You will meet wonderful parents who share your problem and learn how to cope with it. Good luck.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Polly's Quiz

By POLLY CRAMER

Dear Polly: My son and daughter-in-law just moved into a new home. They had lived in a finished apartment before. She knows nothing about decorating and is making terrible mistakes. Should I offer to set her straight? Un- happy.

Dear Unhappy: Grit and bear it. It's her home and her mis- takes to make. There is probably nothing they want less in a new home than mother-in-law advice, no matter how superior your taste may be.

Dear Polly: What color shall I paint the walls and ceiling in my kitchen? There is yellow tile around the bottom. It has green tile above and I have a brown and beige breakfast set. Do you think I could use pink for walls and ceiling? Mrs. L. S.

Dear Mrs. L. S.: Would you wear a pink blouse, yellow skirt and green shoes and then add a brown and beige accessories? Paint the tile dado. One more color would be too many.

Dear Polly: We have a dog and a new beige rug! The man who

Nikita, A Master Beliefs Defender

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nikita Khrushchev has demonstrated once again that he is a master of verbal give-and-take—particularly when it comes to defending his political beliefs.
At his appearance at the National Press Club Wednesday, the Soviet premier skillfully parried what he described as "provocative" questions, and used others as a springboard for long restatements of Communist ideology. Khrushchev, who came here with the avowed intention of melting the ice of the cold war, bore down hardest on a basic article of Communist faith—the inevitable universal triumph of Communism.
The audience—whom Khrushchev once in a slip of the tongue addressed as "comrades"—consisted mostly of distinguished reporters often described in Communist jargon as "lackeys of the bourgeoisie."
They were told firmly but politely, in answer to a question that history foreshadows the inevitable death of capitalism, to be replaced by the "more progressive" Communist order.

With equal emphasis Khrushchev explained away the statement he once made to Western ambassadors that "we shall bury you" by saying he had not intended to assume the role of the "grave digger of capitalism."
Khrushchev's remarks on capitalism followed a familiar pattern. Had he known Shakespeare as well as he knows Russian folklore, he might have been tempted to paraphrase Mark Antony's oft-quoted "I come to bury Caesar, not to praise him" in this way: "I did not come here to praise you or bury you but only to announce your doom."
The speech itself was one of the premier's most moderate utterances. It was an essay on the need for improving Soviet-American relations and settling global problems. It was conspicuously devoid of threats, recrimination and verbal bricks.
It was under questioning by reporters that Khrushchev waxed foxy, eloquent and witty. Some of the questions—those dealing with Hungary, the status of Jews in the Soviet Union, and Khrushchev's personal role in the Stalinist tyranny—might have embarrassed a more conventional Communist.
But not Khrushchev. For a man who is by reputation hot-headed, impetuous and unpredictable, he proved to be a master of restraint. "I will not be provoked by any questions," he said, "or do anything which would hinder the improvement of our relations."

Commie Boss Residing In Upper-Bracket Hotel Suites

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—It takes a capitalist in the upper income brackets to afford the hotel suites in which Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev and his family are staying in New York.
The Khrushchev clan—pappa, mamma, two grown daughters, a son and son-in-law—all were put up in the Waldorf-Astoria's four-bedroom presidential suite and a much smaller one next door for their two-day stay in the nation's largest city.
The hotel gets $150 a day for the "presidential suite"—the other one is "hardly so expensive," said F. Dell's Agnese, manager of the Waldorf Towers apartments. But since the Soviet family is a guest of this government, we taxpayers through the State Department will foot the bill.
What is the presidential suite like?
Hoover Lives Near
It is mostly American Colonial in furnishings, is simply but elegantly done, is light and airy, and high enough—the 35th floor—for the Khrushchevs to see most of the New York skyline.
(Former President Hoover lives four floors below General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, two floors above.)
The Khrushchev suite consists of drawing room, about 25 by 30 feet long; dining room, with a stoveless kitchen and serving pantry adjoining; a large entrance foyer; the four bedrooms; and four baths, all with tub and stall shower.
The master bedroom, done in pale blue and ivory tones, boasts a dressing room also in the same scheme, and its bath has a set of scales in case the portly Mr. and Mrs. K want to check waistline expansion through all the luncheons and banquets on their schedule.
Over the drawing room of the fireplace hangs an oil painting of Thomas Jefferson, third President, framer of the Declaration of Independence, and the man who once said "I have sworn upon the altar of God eternal hostility against every form of tyranny over the mind of man."
He Slept There
The drawing room also has a television set (black and white), in case the Khrushchev family has time for the late, late show.
The reception foyer, dining room, drawing room and master bedroom all are Colonial, of the 1800's period, said Joseph Huston, whose firm was commissioned some six years ago to decorate the rooms. Other bedrooms are French and English, he said, "because a lot of European royalty uses the suite."
Since the suite opened, President Eisenhower has slept there. So have former President Harry Truman, King Hussein of Jordan, King Saud of Saudi Arabia, and assorted millionaires and movie stars.
But not any other Russians that Dell Agnese can recall.
"Most of them go on up to their embassy," he said.

Here is a real gem of play from the Brooklyn tournament. Ronnie Blau won the first trick with dummy's ace of diamonds, and saw that he would have plenty of work cut out for him if clubs and hearts broke very badly. He also decided that they would since East was not a trigger happy doubler.

He played dummy's king of spades. East took his ace and led the suit right back. Ronnie thenuffed his last spade in dummy and cashed dummy's king of clubs.
West showed out, sort of as expected, and Ronnie saw inevitable defeat unless East would show up with four hearts in addition to his two clubs.
Defeat did not appeal to Ronnie and he decided to play for that combination. His first play was the gift of hearts which he allowed to ride. Now he led dummy's last trump and finessed the nine.
The ace of hearts was taken out and when West showed out, everything was hunky-dory. He took the queen and king of hearts and led a diamond from dummy. West was down to trumps and had ruff. Ronnie overruffed and made the slam.

Rick Pezdirtz purely paydirt

It's not that our lot is an extremely fortunate one. Two teeth demand filling and our left eye an unkind habit of straying out of focus when a blonde swivel-hips by and onions give us the heartburn. The tires on the family gas-guzzler are so thin that we shall have to finance new ones or teach the car how to tiptoe. Sinus is an occasional, painful guest and the teevee set needs new innards and there is never enough sleep.

But compared to Babe Curfman, we are sitting on top of the blue-eyed world, with a rainbow round our shoulder and fretting only about where to spend the next million. Babe Curfman has got worries that ain't even been worried yet. He's an old hand in this coaching business. Last season went over with a dull thud with only one of ten games won. Last week's 40-0 loss at Wichita Falls without a penetration inside the Coyotes 45-yard-yard line left the Babe setting all kinds of Olympic records for ulcers.

BABE CURFMAN ... no cause to smile

Now along comes one of the state's largest schoolboy wrecking crews, the Arlington Heights Yellow Jackets from Fort Worth.

Fourteen pounds and nine ounces per man, that's how much the Cowtown club will outweigh Babe's little Pampa High laddylucks tomorrow night in the Harvesters home opener.

In the line where the difference is so often made, the 'Jackets will average 184.4 to Pampa's 169.3. In the backfield the visitors will hold a 170.3 to 156.3 poundage edge. Overall the Arlington Heights starting offensive eleven will average 179.3 pounds to Pampa's 164.5.

See what we mean about ole Babe. Nobody knowed trouble he see.

Heights Eleven Is Hefty

If those hefty Arlington Heights weights aren't enough to frighten you, by dogies this'll get you. The Yellow Jackets have a pair of defensive line men who break the scales at 235 and 224. They've also been known to break legs, arms and backs of enemy ball carriers and to chomp on rusty nails and eat gun-powder just for kicks.

Now it's been told outside of select and closed circles that Pampa's 14-0 loss to Arlington Heights at Fort Worth last year was their most miserable effort of a miserable season.

Certainly they lost by 53 points. (69-13) to Berger, but they played a much better game against a much better team in the finale. We covered that 14-0 reversal at Fort Worth last year and were sharply rapped across the knuckles by local fans and coaches for penning: 'Pampa's offense couldn't have moved against the second string from an Old Soldier's Home in the first half.'

'Jacket Mentor Rates 'Em High

Matching wits with Curfman in Harvester Stadium tomorrow night will be Homer Ludiker, former TCU gridster, who was graduated up from an assistants job at Fort Worth North Side to the helm of the Yellow Jackets.

one of the cheerleaders has a ragged case of laryngitis and can't screech up to snuff.

In their 21-6 loss to District 3-AAAA favorite, Tascosa, last week in Fort Worth's Farrington Field, Ludiker's kids clicked for 5 of 14 passes for 82 yards.

The Yellow Jackets are thought enough of by the Fort Worth Press to be ranked as the most likely to succeed in tough District 5-AAAA over such grid stalwarts as Paschal and Carter - Riverside, North Side, Poly and Tech.

He rates his offensive and defensive units above average and tosses in the sack at night mostly because of an inadequate aerial attack, and maybe because

Wilkins Warns: 'Watch White'

Despite all the weighty defensive linemen Arlington Heights troops out against our little Harvesters, Galy Wilkins of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram told us over the long-distance wires last night to keep an eye or two peeled on Center Joe White a little man at linebacker who tilts the scales only 150 pounds worth. He's the lightest trenchman on the A-H squad.

Breckenridge, long a Cyclops in Texas schoolboy football, was the only team to win the Co. Y cities last year (55-22), although neighboring Berger blew a 12-6 bidistrict scare at Golding.

With one of the greatest schoolboy eleven's of all time on his hands, thoughts of a vindicta must bloom sweet for Golding, but nightmarish thoughts of another loss to the AAA power must be looming as ominous as sinkweeds.

We'll be covering the Pampa-Arlington Heights classic for Wilkins and the Star-Telegram and our old buddy Lee Grimsley of the Fort Worth Press who covered last year's game in Fort Worth while he was a Star-Telegram staffer himself.

It's undoubtedly the Texas Schoolboy Grid Headliner for this week, but as far as you and us are concerned that "big one" will be unfurled right here in our own backyard when the Harvesters attempt to swat the dear life out of them pesky Yellow Jackets.

Old Joe Golding at Wichita Falls must have scrambled emotions this week. For a guy who was pretty cool on the eve of his season opener with Pampa, Golding must feel like a fisherman who has just received permission to skin dive in the aquarium as long as he limits his hunt to the shark tank. Golding's Class AAAA champs dip into the regions of Class AAA tomorrow night in home against the champions of that jungle,

New Rule Set

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) - Golfers will lose only one stroke instead of two under a 1960 rule change, the U.S. Golf Assn. announced today.

For a ball lost or out of bounds, the announcement said, the penalty next year will be loss of distance only, rather than stroke and distance as at present.

Pampa Opens Home Season Friday, vs. Arlington Heights

New Stars Rise In Amateur Meet

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) - Tommy Aaron and Jackie Nicklaus, the babies of the U.S. Walker Cup team, and a 45-year-old outsider who gave Casey Stengel posed new threats to Charlie Coe and other 'old guard' favorites today in the National Amateur golf championship.

The 22-year-old Aaron, who was beaten by Coe in last year's National Amateur final, turned in the clutch performance of the tournament when he rallied from a five-hole deficit after 10 to defeat Dick Spangler of Lincoln, Neb., 1 up. Aaron had beaten Neil Croonquist of Hopkins, Minn., 6 and 4, in the morning.

The guy with the Stengels line is Tom Draper of Royal Oak, Mich., who keeps insisting "I'm lucky as hell" as he fashions an impressive string of upset victories.

Nicklaus, the 19-year-old Ohio State junior, was two-under-par for each of his matches as he trounced Don Massengale of Jacksonville, Fla., 6 and 5, and Orville Goens of Des Moines, Iowa, 5 and 4.

BOBBY STEPHENS ... to start at quarterback

'Jackets Have Weight Edge But PHS More Experienced

By RED GRIGGS Daily News Sports Editor

Pampa's Harvesters open their home season Friday at 8 p.m. in Harvester Park against Arlington Heights Fort Worth.

Arlington Heights will have a big weight advantage of the Harvesters, but Pampa will have a slight edge in experience. The Yellow Jackets' offensive line will outweigh Pampa by 14 pounds per man, 183 to 169. The backfield advantage will also be about 14 pounds per man, 168 to 154, and Jacket defensive team will outweigh the Harvester defense unit about 15 pounds per man, at 179 to 164.

The Yellow Jackets have four returning regulars, to for the Harvesters. Pampa, however, has 10 other letters who have had some varsity experience. Shocker assistant coach Deck Woldt, who scouted the Jackets last week in 21-6 loss to Tascosa, said they showed their inexperience losing four fumbles.

Babe Curfman, Harvester head coach, hopes to offset some of the Yellow Jackets' weight advantage by using his "three platoon" system, with his red, green, and gold teams alternating on both offense and defense. Curfman said that all three teams will probably see "quite a bit" of action Friday.

Pampa's big weaknesses Friday, besides its weight disadvantage, may be in a doubtful passing attack. The three quarterbacks, Bobby Stephens, Buddy Rawls, and Ronnie Smith have all been throwing well, but the backs and ends have not been catching the ball.

"Our best receivers," said Curfman, "have been Jimmy Storms and Mack Taylor, a couple of junior ends. Unfortunately, they're too small to play them for as much time as we'd like to."

Two new offensive starters have been named this week, quarterback Stephens and halfback Lucky Durham. Stephens won the starting assignment with his passing. Durham, who made the longest run in last week's 40-0 opening loss to Wichita Falls, has been continuing his fine running in practice sessions this week.

Curfman said that three tackles - Roland Stone, Benny Stout, and James Webb - have been hitting especially well in scrimmaged sessions this week - and that end Kent Mitchell was also tackling well. He also praised junior fullback Steve Dobbin for his hard running.

Pampa's probable defensive starters Friday will be ends Kent Mitchell and Benny Stout, tackles Roland Stone and Jim Scott,

Low Wins For Braves; Spahn to Pitch Today

By FRED DOWN United Press International

Low Burdette and Warren Spahn can't reach their goal of 50 victories but they'll settle for the Milwaukee Braves' third straight pennant.

The "hot team" in the furious National League scramble, the Braves moved to within one game of first place Wednesday when Burdette beat the fading San Francisco Giants, 2-0, for his 21st victory. And today, it'll be Spahn gunning for his 20th victory and a triumph that would tie the Milwaukee Braves' third straight pennant.

The Braves then would have the tactical advantage over both contenders because five of their last eight games are against the last-place Philadelphia Phillies and the other three are against the light-hitting Pittsburgh Pirates.

Dodgers Blew Chance The Los Angeles Dodgers blew an opportunity to close in on the 7-4 decision to the Cincinnati Reds and remained two games out of first place.

The American League race enjoys a complete day off today but that one is all but mathematically over. The first-place Chicago White Sox lost to the New York Yankees, 3-1, Wednesday but the second-place Cleveland Indians also lost, 6-5, to the Boston Red Sox. And so the White Sox' pennant-clinching number was reduced to a mere three.

Burdette limited the Giants to four singles and a double, struck out seven batters and walked only one in raising his record to 21-14. Frank Thomas and Willie Jones hit homers to lead a 13-hit Cincinnati attack that handed strike out sensation Sandy Koufax his sixth defeat. The Dodgers collected 10 hits, including two homers by Charlie Neal and one by Wally Moon, but couldn't buntch their hits effectively.

Junior Highs Play Today

Two junior high football games were to be played this afternoon in Pampa, and a third junior high squad was to travel to White Deer for a game there. A scheduled Shocker game has been cancelled.

Lester Ramsey's Lee Junior High Rebels seek their second win of the season at 4 p.m. in Harvester Park, against Dairhart Junior High. The Rebels defeated the Shamrock freshmen last week, 20-14.

Art Wall Favored to Capture El Paso Open Golf Tourney

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) - Art Wall Jr., the year's top money winner in professional golf, was the host pro's choice to win the $20,000 El Paso Open tournament which started today.

Jack Harden, whose El Paso Country Club course is the site of the 72-hole affair, said he liked Wall's chances not so much because of the Buono-Marrero, Pampa pro's big cash box, but because of his "scrambling ability."

Red Griggs the pipeline

At least three former Pampa and area gridders will be in the starting lineups for major colleges, when they open their 1959 seasons this week.

Bill Kirbie will be in the starting lineup for North Texas State for the Eagles in today's opener against Hardin-Simmons in Abilene. (Yep, the Eagles are getting a two-day head start on the rest of the nation's major teams).

Odus Mitchell, himself a former Pampa coach, named Kirbie to the starting lineup after seeing him in action in practice this fall. Kirbie, the Eagles' left tackle, is only a sophomore, having missed last season with a leg injury.

The Eagles won the Missouri Valley football crown last year, but may have a tougher time this season. Three of their conference games are on the road—Cincinnati Oct. 10, Houston Oct. 24, and Tulsa Nov. 14. The only home conference game will be against Wichita Oct. 31, NTSC's homecoming day.

Non-conference games for Kirbie and his team-mates include, besides the opener, Texas Western in El Paso, Sept. 26; West Texas State in Denton Oct. 3; Pensacola Naval Station in Denton, Oct. 17; University of Louisville in Denton, Nov. 7, and Drake University in Denton, Nov. 21.

BILL KIRBIE ... NTSC starter

Friemel, Hedrick in Buff Lineup

Two other players from the Pampa area, 200-pound right end Ken Friemel and 190-pound fullback Jones Hedrick of Panhandle, will be in the West Texas State starting lineup when the Buffs open at Arizona State at Tempe Saturday night.

Two other men from this area, 205-pound left tackle Johnny Ramp of Canadian and 185-pound left end Lanny Hargrove of Panhandle are on the Buffalo varsity, and may see some action.

Hedrick is the punter, kickoff man, and extra point kicker for the Buffaloes, as well as their fullback.

Although the Buffs are expected to improve this season on last year's dismal 1-9 record, they're not expected to beat Arizona State, the Border Conference champion. However, the Buffs don't expect to roll over and play dead, either, because they came within three points (16-13) of beating the Sun Devils last year.

Clark Jarnigan's Buffs may be hampered by a pair of injuries to

Layne, Lollis May Help ACC

Southwest Conference football fans will have a chance Saturday to see the nation's big game, while sitting in their own living room. The Rice-LSU game is being telecast over an Amarillo station.

LSU, rated the top team in the nation last year, is considered even stronger this year, and they have the home field advantage, since the game is being played in Baton Rouge.

Hawks Meet Warriors In Lubbock

LUBBOCK — Some of the finest basketball ever seen in West Texas will be on display Oct. 3 in Lubbock when the St. Louis Hawks, 1958 world champions, clash with the Philadelphia Warriors in a pre-season pro game.

The contest marks the first appearance in this region by clubs of the National Basketball Association. It is scheduled for 3:30 p.m., preceding the night football game between Texas Tech and Tulsas.

These two attractions are expected to lure one of the year's top sports crowds to Lubbock on Oct. 3.

The game will feature basketball's greatest "one-two" scoring punch — Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan, the Hawks' two foremost stars. In 72 games last season, they tallied 3,812 points — a new NBA record for two players on the same club.

The old mark of 3,494 points was held by teammates Neil Johnston and Paul Arizin of the Warriors, who will oppose Pettit and Hagan in the Lubbock tilt. So plenty of exciting fireworks are expected when these four sharpshooters get together.

In addition, the Warriors now have Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, the 7-foot-2-inch rookie from Kansas who's expected to become one of the NBA's all-time greats.

Other stars in the lineups include Slater Martin, Clyde Lovellette, Si Green and Chuck Share for St. Louis, and Tom Gola, Woody Sauldsberry, Guy Rodgers and Joe Graboski for Philadelphia.

Tickets for the game are priced at $2.00, $2.50 and $2.00, and good seats are still available. Ducks seats are ordered by mailing a check to Pro Basketball, Box 9002, Lubbock.

Lane, Gordon Are Feuding

BOSTON (UPI) — Manager Joe Gordon of the Cleveland Indians headed for Kansas City today — his future in doubt following his latest verbal duel with General Manager Frank Lane.

Gordon was steaming Wednesday about what he called "second guessing" on Lane's part.

Lane, in turn, thundered that he was "in charge of this ball club" and had every right to do so.

Their latest feud stemmed from what Lane termed "an obvious" bunt situation in Tuesday night's Cleveland game here. Gordon had rookie Chuck Tanner hit away on the first pitch and a resulting double play killed Cleveland's best scoring opportunity in a 1-0 loss to the Red Sox.

Before Wednesday's 6-5 defeat by Boston, Gordon said Lane was talking out of turn.

Dory Funk, Jr., son of the popular wrestler who appears often in Pampa, is also going in heavy for sports. But fight now its football, not wrestling, that's occupying the younger Funk. He's battling for the starting right end position on the West Texas State team.

He comes by his liking for the grid game naturally, because Dory, Sr., was a standout lineman at the University of Indiana in his college days.

UNANIMOUS DECISION

Machen Defeats Besmanoff

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Eddie Machen, 194-pound heavyweight from Portland, Ore., had his 30th victory in 32 professional fights today and was looking forward to a meeting with Irish Pat McMurry of Tacoma, Wash., as another step toward a crack at the world title.

Machen dusted off German-born Willie Besmanoff here Wednesday night in a 10-round unanimous decision before a national television audience.

Besmanoff, 199½ and unranked, suffered his 16th loss in a string of 65 professional fights. Seven were draws and one was a no-decision encounter.

Machen is fourth ranked by the National Boxing Assn.

In his dressing room after the fight Besmanoff, covered with welts and with the blood wiped away from his nose and mouth, allowed that Machen was "a good fighter."

The estimated 3,000 fans applauded Besmanoff for his gameness and boomed loudly when Machen grabbed him bodily and threw him to the canvas in the second round.

Machen was forced to fight Besmanoff's way. The steady,

Lee, PJH 7th Graders Will Clash Friday

Robert E. Lee and Pampa Junior High seventh graders are waiting no time in playing their "big game" of the season. They open their seasons against each other Friday at 4 p.m. on Harvester Park's west practice field.

The two seventh grade squads are also scheduled to play each other in the last game of the season.

In the only game played so far between the two teams, Pampa's seventh graders defeated Lee last season, 18-0. The seventh graders were the only PJH team to defeat a squad from Lee last season.

Frank Craig has about 40 boys out for his Pampa Junior High School seventh grade squad. Last season, he worked with both the seventh and eighth grades, and had about 60 out, 35 of which were seventh graders.

Harold Moore has about 60 boys out for the Lee team, about the same number as John Hale (now varsity assistant coach) had on last year's seventh grade squad. Last year, Moore worked with Craig in coaching the Pampa seventh and eighth graders.

Neither Moore nor Craig has named a starting lineup. Both say they will use as many boys as possible, both to give them experience and to try to discover the boys who can play the best.

Mexico City Events Pan-Am Series

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexico City's Red Devils evened the Pan American Association series at one-all Wednesday night by edging the Texas League Austin Senators, 3-2.

A ninth-inning rally fetched the two tallies for the visitors on W. H. Shields' right-field home run that drove in Howard Bedell, who had singled.

The two teams clash here again tonight, and then travel to Austin to resume the four-out-of-seven game series for the Pan American Association title.

SWC Squads Set Drills on Offense

By CLYDE MOORE United Press International

Today's Southwest Conference practice sessions were scheduled to be repeat performances of offensive drills that made Wednesday a grand day for backfields.

At SMU, for instance, No. 1 hero quarterback Don Meredith performed well as a sharpshooter. His passing caused fans to hark back to last season's Meredith successes in the air.

No. 2 quarterback Ken Love and his successor, Harold Morgan also pleased Coach Bill Meek as he pointed his team for the Georgia Tech opener Sept. 28.

Abe Martin grumbled at Fort Worth about having less time for preparation. His TCU Horned Frogs meet Kansas Saturday. He used night-time workouts to get his team accustomed to the lights as he honed them up on passing.

Although the Frogs are considered a ground-hugging team, Martin promised more passing this season from quarterback Larry Dayson.

At College Station, Coach Jim Myers held his last long practice session before the season opener Dallas Saturday night against Texas Tech. There was no contact—just passing, ball handling and defense against hurling the team expects to get from the Red Raiders. The Aggies will hold a short session under lights tonight and will leave for Dallas Friday by plane.

The Longhorns of Texas lounged around Wednesday in minimum pads while Coach Darrell Royal attempted to improve offense without increasing an epidemic of training injuries.

Royal had good news Wednesday when trainers announced that No. 1 center Jerry Muennick will recover enough from a knee injury to see action against Nebraska.

At Baylor, the Bears had a two-workout day Wednesday and spent most of the time polishing passing and running attacks for their final game scrimmage tonight.

It was the final two-day of the season since classes begin today and the freshman team mans the field for the first time.

Frederick Nymeyer in his study on the Hebrew-Christian Law of Love under the above heading summarizes what he contends this Law should mean as follows:

Mr. Khrushchev will be here for only a relatively brief time, but in his conversations with President Eisenhower and in his trip across the country, there is no doubt in my mind but that he will see and hear some things which will change his preconceived notions about the United States and which in turn will give him pause before he embarks on a course of action in the future which might be contrary to our vital interests.
