Kidnap Scion Of Peugeot Riches

By ARTHUR L. HIGBEE
United Press International

PARIS (UPI)—Kidnapers snatched the 4½-year-old heir to one of Europe's biggest automobile fortunes Tuesday and threatened to kill him unless they get $100,000 ransom within 48 hours, police said today.

Chubby, cheerful Eric Peugeot, grandson of French auto tycoon Jean-Pierre Peugeot, was carried off in broad daylight before the startled eyes of his playmates, the police said.

The kidnaping occurred at the children's playground of France's most exclusive country club, the Saint-Cloud course just west of Paris.

It was the first kidnaping for ransom in France in 25 years. The Surete Nationale—the French FBI—swung into a massive investigation.

and chauffeur were sitting in a car 100 yards away, police said. Police said a ransom letter found by the nurse in the sand told Eric's father, Roland Peugeot, he had 48 hours to produce the money and that his son would be killed if he failed.

The letter was understood to have been written in capital letters on a typewriter with a red ribbon but police declined to disclose any more details.

Police said the Peugeot chauffeur, Georges Perelli, and nurse, Jeanine Germano, drove Eric—who has crewcut blond hair and blue eyes—and his brother to a golf course and dropped them off to play in the club playground.

They remained in the car parked about 100 yards away.

At about 5 p.m., police said, Miss Germano noticed Eric was missing and ran from the car to ask Jean-Philippe where his brother was.

"A man took him away," the boy answered.

The nurse and chauffeur made a frantic search of the area, calling Eric's name, and then found the sealed envelope. They called Eric's father.

He raced through rush-hour traffic to the golf club, which is three miles west of Paris. There he found two friends, Yves Breton, an insurance executive, and club president Andre Massena already directing the investigation.

Little Jean-Philippe said the kidnaper appeared to him to be in his early 20's, about 5 feet 10

BRUTALLY BEATEN—Wiley F. Walker, a Houston high school teacher, holds his aching head as he tells police three teen-age boys beat him after they stopped to offer aid when he ran out of gas on a freeway. The boys offered to drive him to a service station, but instead beat him on the head.

Tornado Destroys Panhandle Town

Three Killed, 60 Hurt at Sunnyside

DIMMITT, Tex. (UPI)—At least four tornadoes ripped through the Texas Panhandle Tuesday night and the worst almost wiped out the crossroads town of Sunnyside, where 75 persons were meeting in a church.

The Sunnyside twister killed three persons and injured most of the total of at least 60 others hurt in all the Texas tornadoes. A pile of debris remained where Sunnyside once stood 15 miles south of Dimmitt.

The squall line that produced the Texas tornadoes—drove northeastward into Kansas today. But at last report, no tornadoes had been forecast in Kansas.

The Texas Department of Public Safety, which maintained tenuous communications with Sunnyside, reported four known dead until today, when it learned that one badly mangled woman it had counted as dead was still alive.

She was Mrs. Earl Phelan of Sunnyside. The known dead, according to the DPS, were T. R. Hogan, owner of the Sunnyside Ginning Co.; J. D. Kidd, 55, of Plainview, who was visiting DEFIED POLICE—Jack Jennings, an unemployed mill hand, defied police with a shotgun from behind the shattered window of his father-in-law's home in Pulaski, Va., where he barricaded himself with his 10-year-old sister-in-law, Sandra Butts, as a hostage. Jennings threatened to kill the girl unless his estranged wife came to him.

Navigation Aid Satellite Into Orbit Today By Navy

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.
United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The United States successfully fired a "radio star" earth satellite into orbit today to test a revolutionary air and sea navigation system that would be free from weather problems.

Confirmation that the navigation satellite was in orbit came at 3:36 a.m., when its radio signal was picked up at Las Cruces, N. M., the Navy announced in Washington.

The launching, carried out by the Air Force with an improved Thor-Able rocket, was described by the Navy as perfect in all respects. The satellite itself is a Navy project.

The Navy said the system probably will involve six satellites, including the one launched today, and that the system is expected to be fully operational in 1962.

The 365-pound satellite, equipped with four radio transmitters, soared into the sky at 7:02 a.m. Within minutes, signals were received by tracking stations around the world.

The new moonlet may show how to avoid disasters such as the Andrea Doria-Stockholm ship collision off the coast of Massachusetts and the crash of two airliners over the Grand Canyon in recent years. These were two of the biggest accidents blamed in part on navigational errors caused by bad weather.

For the price of a special radio receiver and a slide rule, a navigator will be able to use such operational "transit" satellites to find his exact position on earth, day or night in fair weather or foul, scientists said.

The 36-inch sphere dubbed Transit 1B rode into the sky aboard a new Air Force space rocket, Thor-Able-Star, launched at 7:02 a. m. This was essentially a repeat of a shot which failed last Sept. 17 because of rocket trouble.

The 80-foot-tall two-stage rocket, shorter and sturdier than the "old reliable" Thor-Able which tracked up two successful space shots for America within the past month, lifted from its pad in a blaze of power. It darted swiftly in low-hanging clouds, then back into blue sky trailing a white vapor stream.

If all went as expected, the Able-Star upper stage, equipped with a start-restart engine, would drive the instruments into a circular orbit about 500 miles above earth on its first sweep. The second-stage casing also was supposed to go into orbit after separation.

The planned orbit would carry the barber-pole-striped satellite around earth once approximately every 100 minutes, covering an area between Canada and Argentina in the western hemisphere. Under ideal conditions—at dawn or dusk in clear weather—it would be visible as a faint star.

Scientists said the satellite would be useful "as long as the batteries (both solar and chemical cells) hold out—which could be five years or longer." The satellite could remain up 30 years or longer.

The "heart" of the satellite consisted of the transmitters, operating on 54, 324, and 216 megacycles, and two oscillators. With these, scientists hoped to give working proof to a new navigational concept they describe as a "major scientific breakthrough."

Six ground stations were set up to track the satellite. The shot had four basic objectives:

1. Checking out the navigational concept with simple demonstrations. Commercial and private organizations and individuals would not use Transit 1B since they do not have the necessary receiving equipment.
2. Giving an improved understanding of the effects of ionospheric delay.

Dash For Safety Many Victims Were In Church

DIMMITT, Tex. (UPI)—Keith Garrison, who owns a furniture and appliance store in Plainview, was one of the men attending a fellowship meeting at the Sunnyside Baptist Church when the tornado struck.

He escaped serious injury although he was buried in rubble for almost 30 minutes. One of the four persons killed, J. B. Kidd, 55, of Plainview, had driven to the meeting with him and was standing by his side when the twister struck.

Here is the story in his words: "We were just finishing eating in the church when a woman came in the door and said a tornado was coming. It turned out to be Mrs. Murie Rogers, wife of the pastor. Someone said there was a storm cellar across the road and most of the men rushed out."

Father Injured

The father of Bill Harris, manager of White House Lumber Co., was in the group meeting at the Sunnyside church when the tornado struck. He is Lee Harris of Hart, and relatives here said he suffered a skull fracture and internal injuries.

Badman Flushed Out By Tear Gas

PULASKI, Va. (UPI)—A belligerent teen-ager who barricaded himself in his father-in-law's home for 31 hours with a 10-year-old girl hostage was captured screaming Tuesday night during a tear gas barrage.

The girl was found unharmed, Jack Jennings, 18, an unemployed mill hand, driven from the house by the tear gas, was beaten into submission by police when he rushed out screaming and fighting.

His hostage ran from the house ahead of Jennings. She was examined by a doctor and then taken

Girl Hostage Unharmed

Officers seized Jennings by the collar and the seat of his pants and pushed him, his face cut and bleeding, into a police car where he was strapped in a straight jacket. He was driven directly to the southwestern State Mental Hospital at Marion, Va.

The long siege began about 4 p.m. Monday after Jennings broke away from officers taking him to jail following a preliminary hearing on auto theft charges. He grabbed his young sister-in-law, Barbara Butts, and barricaded himself in the home of his father-in-law, C. W. Butts.

When police surrounded the modest brick home in this quiet southwest Virginia town of 12,000, Jennings, armed with a shotgun and a rifle, threatened to "die young and go out with a big blast."

Jennings vowed to "kill me a couple of cops" and later fired an arrow through a window of the house with a note attached made a ward of juvenile court.

The 10-year-old teenager has been held in juvenile hall since Saturday when Billy Stanciu, 21, was found fatally wounded in her apartment. She changed her original story that he shot himself and admitted Tuesday that Stanciu was shot in the head while she and he struggled nude on her bed for a gun.

Open Saloons Raided In Galveston

GALVESTON (UPI)—An eight-man Texas Liquor Control Board squad early today raided six "open saloons" operating in Galveston and jailed a total of 41 persons.

Assist. Atty. Gen. Riley Fletcher said he drove into the island city at midnight and set up his "closedown" headquarters at the Jean LaFite Hotel.

"The liquor control agents kept their eyes open for any gambling violations, but they didn't find any," Fletcher said. "But they did find liquor violations at every place they visited."

The squad, led by senior agent Robert E. Dillman, began its raids at 12:30 a.m. today.

"They got the word signaled around fast that we were in town and by 2:30 every place was shut down, Dillman said.

Fletcher said he planned to stay in Galveston "as long as necessary to get the job done" in the new crackdown on vice operations.

The Houston Press revealed in a front page story on Monday that Galveston "has begun returning to its wide open days prior to the Wilson shutdown in 1957."

Attorney General Will Wilson said in Austin Tuesday he would immediately order state lawmen back to Galveston to look into the situation there.

Victim Of Hotel Fire Succumbs

A three-alarm fire that gutted the Alamo Hotel early yesterday morning claimed the life of Bill Strange, Celanese Corp. employee.

Strange was fatally burned in the fire that broke out about 3:40 a.m. yesterday from a smoldering cigarette in a second-floor bedroom. Fifteen other guests and owner H. C. Hall and his wife escaped.

Herbert R. Edens who was thought to have died in the fire was found about noon yesterday by police, Captain Denny Roan said. Edens had left the hotel about 3 a.m., shortly before the fire was discovered, and registered at another hotel under an assumed name. Edens was questioned by police yesterday, but could give no information as to how the fire started.

Twenty-one firemen fought the blaze in the 30-year-old building for 45 minutes before the fire was brought under control.

Funeral services for Strange will be held 2 p.m. tomorrow in Hobart St. Baptist Church. The body will be taken to Bixby, Okla., for burial.

Pallbearers will be Mage K. E. Y. Ser, Jack Gist, Elmer Holly, George Bryan, C. D. Gilbert and Leon Schaffer.

Strange was born Sept. 10, 1932, in Sponam, Okla. He served with the Navy during the Korean war and was a member of the Hobart St. Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, June Maxine of the home address, 806 E. Nixon Impressive In Illinois

CHICAGO (UPI)—Democratic and Republican machine organizations crushed insurgent candidates for the governor's mansion in the Illinois primary election.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon made an impressive showing by piling up more than a half-million votes in the nation's third state primary of the 1960 presidential election year.

There was a down-to-the-wire six-man race for the Republican senatorial nomination and the right to oppose Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas in the November election. Douglas, who had no opposition, led the primary field with more than 790,000 votes.

The Chicago Democratic organization, most powerful big city political machine in the nation, carried its candidates to victory almost everywhere on the primary ballot.

Otto Kerner, former Cook County (Chicago) judge, nailed down the Democratic gubernatorial nomination by a 2-1 margin over his combined opposition.

Gov. William G. Stratton, seeking an unprecedented third term, won handily and will oppose Kerner in November.

Nixon, who was unopposed on the Republican ticket and had nothing to win or lose but prestige, offset his third place showing in the Wisconsin primary. But his 607,000-plus votes were short of the 781,710 amassed by

Flynn Friend Admits Death Story False

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Beverly Aadland, 17, who briefly lived a rich and exciting life as the late Errol Flynn's "protégé," finds out today whether she will be made a ward of juvenile court.

The 10-year-old teenager has been held in juvenile hall since Saturday when Billy Stanciu, 21, was found fatally wounded in her apartment. She changed her original story that he shot himself and admitted Tuesday that Stanciu was shot in the head while she and he struggled nude on her bed for a gun.

Beverly was ordered to appear before Juvenile Court Judge Donald A. Odell to face police charges that she is a "sex delinquent" and lacks proper supervision by her mother. The hearing

President Eisenhower in 1956. Sens. John F. Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey, the leading Democratic presidential candidates, did not enter the Illinois primary, probably because the national convention delegates elected were not committed to any candidate.

Kerner, former Cook County (Chicago) judge, hailed down the Democratic gubernatorial nomination by a 2-1 margin over his combined opposition of State Treasurer Joseph Lohman and former Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell.

Stratton, whose political fortunes had shown some signs of slipping, recuperated with a strong victory over State Sen. Hayes Robertson. Stratton, despite seven years in office, faced opposition from some GOP organizations outside Chicago.

The wildest scramble on the primary ballot was the six-man race for the GOP senatorial nomination to oppose Sen. Paul H. Douglas, unopposed on the Democratic ticket.

Stratton's hand-picked candidate, Samuel W. Witwer, led the field by a narrow margin over former State Treasurer Warren E. Wright and William Rentschler, wealthy Chicago candy manufacturer.

Good News For Some Treasury Holding Tax Rebate Hoard

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Here's news bigger than man-bites-dog: The government wants to pay 20 million dollars to the taxpayers!

The money is in the Treasury, waiting to be claimed by about 400,000 taxpayers who failed to receive their income tax refund checks over the years.

The government will keep the money available "forever," the Treasury told United Press International.

This information was disclosed to file their 1959 income tax returns in 97 states, the deadline is the usual midnight, April 15—Friday. In the other 13 states the deadline has been pushed back to midnight next Monday because April 15, Good Friday, is a legal holiday there.

Virtually all the 400,000 land funds were unpaid because Treasury's checks could not be delivered. The taxpayers forgot to put their address on their return, or they moved before the check came and left no forwarding address, or their handwriting was hard to read and the check was misaddressed.

Officials conceded that in some cases the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) made an error of omission and the check never reached the taxpayer.

Some of the refunds are years old. They average $50. There is no deadline claiming the money. "The IRS is kept forever," an IRS spokesman said. "We never disallow an obligation like that."

Britain-To-Continent Tunnel Plan Is Mined With Traps

By TOM A. CULLEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON (NEA) — Plans for a submarine tunnel linking Britain to the continent under the English Channel will soon be brought to the surface.

The tunnel, which first intrigued Napoleon and later interested Queen Victoria and Winston Churchill among others, will be the subject of a report more than two years in the making by a Channel study group, representing British, French, and American interests.

The American interests backing the project financially are headed by lawyer Frank P. Davidson and engineer Arnaud de Vitry operating under the name, Technical Studies, Inc. Wall Street interests may underwrite part of the construction costs if the project is approved.

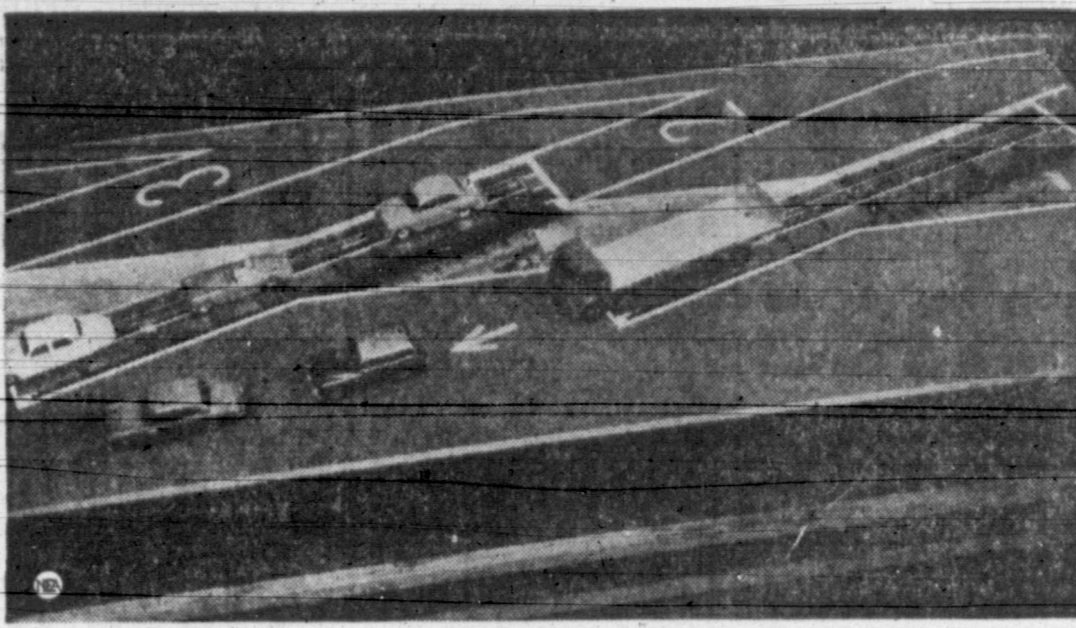

On the English side of the Channel the tunnel entrance is expected to be in the vicinity of the Folkestone-Dover area and on the French side in the Calais-Cap Gris Nez area.

The tunnel experts are expected to recommend a railway tunnel which will cost $400 million and take five years to build. But from blueprints to actual construction stretches a path that is mined with booby traps.

The experts first must get the agreement of the British and French governments to undertake "Channel," as the Channel tunnel is known here, which will involve negotiations at top diplomatic level.

It is the British government that has dragged its feet in the 160-year debate over a Channel tunnel. Fear of invasion, which the experts now claim has been nullified by missiles, has dominated tunnel thinking on the part of British military and political leaders.

Even if the political obstacles are hurdled, there remains the question of the control authority for the tunnel. The old Suez Canal model of mixed private and public control would not work in the case of Channel, its opponents claim.

AS PART OF A TUNNEL link between Britain and France this system of quick-loading autos and trucks onto railway flat cars is shown in model prepared by engineer Colquhoun.

What is needed, they say, is some sort of international consortium with direct participation of both the British and French governments, because of the tunnel's strategic importance.

Then, too, there is the question of compensating the railway ferries for the losses they would sustain from the tunnel.

Therefore, 1967 is the earliest date at which the tunnel could be completed, for the political negotiations are expected to drag on for at least two years.

Also, there is still lively controversy whether the tunnel should link London and Paris by a railway, motorway, or both.

Plumbing heavily on the side of a railway tunnel is Brian Colquhoun, head of a firm of consultant engineers who has made a two-year study of Channel.

He says, "Road traffic would be kept down to the speed of the slowest vehicle, which might be a 10-ton truck and trailer."

Colquhoun's idea is to load motorcars onto specially designed railway flat cars that would shuttle from Britain to France in one hour and a quarter.

He anticipates that the tunnel railway would be able to carry 40 cars an hour, or 5,000 cars in a 12-hour day.

In 1881 work was started on both sides of the Channel on a tunnel for horse-drawn coaches and a shaft 2,024 yards long was driven through the Dover cliffs before the British government abandoned the tunnel.

In 1930 the project was again revived and came within seven votes of being approved by the House of Commons. The shares of the original English Channel Company, formed in 1872, are still quoted on the Stock Exchange.

Now, 60 Members of Parliament are behind the tunnel project, and

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — A special report on the chemical industry by Shearson, Hammill & Co. recommends a cautious investment policy because of a rather flat profits picture in sight both this year and next.

With most chemical shares selling at 20 times or more estimated 1960 earnings, the report believes that chemicals on the whole are likely to be relatively dull market performers for some time to come and that better investment opportunities are available elsewhere.

Holdings by institutional investors, it says, are substantially larger than was the case before the industry entered the 1953 recession so little new buying support can be looked for from this area.

It notes, however, that individual earnings performances are apt to vary considerably. Union Carbide, Allied Chemical and Air Reduction should benefit from the rebound in steel and metal working while National Distillers & Chemical, Dow, Monsanto and Foster Grant should benefit from the continued upsurge in plastic demand.

List Of Victims In Area Twisters

AMARILLO (UPI)—The Department of Public Safety in Amarillo today released a partial list of victims of the tornadoes that hit the Texas Panhandle Tuesday night. The list includes many persons still hospitalized and some who were treated and released from area hospitals. Home towns are given where possible. Victims are still being brought to hospitals at Otton, Littlefield, Dimmitt, Plainview and Lubbock. The dead included: T. R. Hogan, about 50, owner of the Sunnyside, Tex., Ginning Co.; J. E. Kidd, 65, Plainview, Tex.; Nona Beth Phelan, 12, Sunnyside; and an unidentified woman. Critically injured: Blanche Ruiz, Sunnyside, her

Devastation Described

DIMMITT (UPI)—It was deathly silent. Then you could hear lots of groans and screams. That's the way J. T. Carr of Dimmitt, who works for an automobile agency in Lubbock, described the scene at Sunnyside immediately after the tornado struck. He was driving to Dimmitt just as the killer storm flashed through the town. His wife and daughter were with him. "We saw one Latin American boy with his arm ripped off between the elbow and shoulder. And a white girl had a large splinter sticking out of her spine. I don't see how she can survive. She was cut up all over her body. We don't know who the poor thing is," Carr said. "There are a lot of people still unidentified. It was terrible. Just terrible. Debris was piled up all over where houses once stood. Butane tanks were burst and cars and trucks overturned, scattered all around. The church was at most leveled. "A concrete block addition was put on it and that part just crumbled. The walls of the old part of the church are still standing, but the roof is caved in and it looks like the walls might go at any time. "We helped dig out several people, and loaded three children in the car and took them to Dimmitt. We saw one woman come into the hospital with an injured leg. She was crying. But there were so many people injured, the hospital couldn't help the dog, so she took it to a vet at Tulla."

Crude Demands Show A Drop

AUSTIN (UPI)—Purchaser demands for Texas crude oil for the month of May show a decrease of 82,853 barrels daily, the Railroad Commission reported today. The commission reported total nominations for May at 2,457,459 barrels daily. Current daily production from the state's 194,548 producing wells is 2,583,000 barrels. Texas' daily production of condensate, natural gasoline and other liquids including butane and propane total 585,835 barrels daily, the commission said. May forecast of demand by the U.S. Bureau of Mines was set at 2,400,000 barrels daily, up 50,000 barrels from the April estimate. The commission's monthly allowable hearing will be held April 20 in Austin.

(Continued From Page 1) was closed to the press and public. She has been cleared by police of any criminal responsibility in Stanciu's death. Police listed his case as accidental death. Mrs. Florence Adland, the mother, vowed she strenuously would resist having Beverly declared a ward of the court. Such action by Odell would place Beverly's life under supervision of the juvenile court until her 18th birthday in September. Beverly's about - face of her earlier story that Stanciu shot himself while playing Russian roulette after forcing his way into her apartment was met with tears of relief by the young bit actor's mother. "I knew it was all lies. I do glad my son's name has been cleared," sobbed Mrs. Florence Stanciu. Beverly, confronted with the results of a lie detector test that showed inconsistencies in her original story, broke down and confessed to Lt. Don Gray. "She said Stanciu forced his way into her apartment, that he took the gun out of his waistband, emptied a shell or two from the chamber and then pointed the gun at his head," Gray said. "She said he pulled the trigger, but nothing happened. "After that Stanciu forced her to disrobe. She said he attacked her while holding the gun in his right hand. "She told us she succeeded in grabbing the gun from him later and seized it in such a fashion that the middle finger of her left hand wrapped around the trigger." Gray said Beverly told him that as she struggled, Stanciu pressed his right thumb against her mid-dle finger and the gun fired.

Russ Artist Exhibits Work

United Press International NEW YORK (UPI)—The art world is making a massive pilgrimage to a gallery on upper Madison Ave. this week to see paintings by the first abstract artist from behind the Iron Curtain to exhibit in America. The visit here of Aleksander Kobzdej, dean of Warsaw's Academy of Fine Arts, is vivid proof that the 36-year-old revolution against realism in art has not been completely suppressed by the harsh Communist Party dictum that "abstract art is decadent art"—at least not in Poland. Kobzdej, a plump, jolly man of 40, made a name for himself in year two at a sell-out show in the international art market last year with a sell-out show in Paris. He negotiated his current show at the gallery of French Art Co. independently and came here with his attractive wife without any hindrance from the Polish government. The artist brought with him 25 canvases that unquestionably rank with some of the best work being done in the unrestricted artistic atmosphere of New York, Paris and Rome. Since the show opened Monday, paintings priced from $300 to $1,800 have been snapped up by the Museum of Modern Art and such top collectors as Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller III. Kobzdej says there is "no political restraint" on artists in Poland today and "there are as many styles as there are painters." But this was not always true, and restraints would very likely be reinstated if the Polish experiment with live-and-let-live Communism failed. Kobzdej's engaging smile seems to belie the seriousness with which he views the world in which he lives—the tightrope world of Poland. "I create my universe, a concrete world which I feel very profreely," he said. "You in America have always been free, yes. We Polish have always been free, too—in our heads."

South Africa Asks Whites To Emigrate

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)—The South African government has taken a calculated risk with a new campaign to boost white immigration, political sources said today. While attempting to offset the three-to-one population advantage of the non-whites, the government is taking a chance that immigrating whites might oppose South Africa's racial discrimination policies. Interior Minister J. F. T. Naude said Tuesday that it was "urgently necessary" in the present circumstances "to attract more Europeans to this country." The opposition United Party has pressed for a long time for improved immigration but the Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd resisted this partly in the belief that most immigrants would oppose the Nationalists. The government apparently feels now the disadvantages are outweighed by the need for more skilled workers and more whites to balance the African population. Verwoerd, who was shot in the head by two bullets Saturday while making a speech here reinforcing his white supremacy policies, received a routine visit from his doctors at Pretoria Hospital Tuesday night but no medical bulletin was issued.

Scott Elected Board Chairman

George Scott was elected chairman of the City Tax Board of Equalization at a meeting at 9 a.m. today in city hall. Scott, along with Charles Cook and E. J. Lewis, Jr., was appointed to the board yesterday by city commissioners. The city board, with members of the school board of equalization, will hold public hearings on May 9 and 10 on tax estimates.

(Continued From Page 1) threatening to rape the young girl. Police delayed use of force to get the trigger-happy youth to come out because they feared he would harm the girl. But jittery officers, tired of waiting and listening to the threats and curses of the young dough with a duck-tailed haircut, fired eight or nine tear gas shells through the windows of the house and the tense drama came to an abrupt end. Jennings blamed his troubles on his father-in-law and his wife, Sandra, a 16-year-old high school student who he said bitterly was "always away at night." He said he had "a very low opinion" of his wife because she never did anything for him and never ironed his shirts. Badman advisories had said he was recovering satisfactorily and suffering less pain. David Pratt, 32, a wealthy farmer held in connection with the shooting, still was being kept under wraps by police. There were reports he had not even been able to see a lawyer.

Spring Workshop In Duncan Home

Junior Melody Makes younger the audition. The following students played the piano during the workshop which they are preparing: Joyce Fischer, Beth Gage, Sylvia Graham, Lynda Gunn, Harriet Henderson, Jo Hubbard, Jean Prock, Prudence Skelton, Chuck Wade, Mary Lou Watkins, Brenda and Celeste Duncan, Gail Wilson.

The unusual, not the freakish, is always worth searching for in fashion. This does not mean "amusing" hats or outlandish shoes. It means lovely fabrics in shades you don't see on every other girl.

Students discussed the essential woman. It means a touch of imagination that lifts a dress, coat or hat out of the ordinary.

Be Imaginative When Buying Garden Posies

Smart young homemaker above, is being thoughtful and thrifty by placing her out-of-town floral order by mail, saving telegram costs. Mail order also permits her to write a personal note to accompany her floral remembrance.

of the most common is the unhappy news of a cherished person's death.

If you wire flowers to the family, the message should be brief and the card signed with your name and your husband's name as in "John and Helen Jones." Often flowers are addressed to the funeral of the deceased and the acknowledgment is not received.

Some religious faiths do not permit floral displays at funerals, notably the Jewish Orthodox ritual. And many families prefer that contributions be made in memory of the deceased to a charitable institution.

If you are uncertain about funeral arrangements, one solution is to send a written expression of sympathy to the family at once and send flowers a week or two later to the family with a message that doesn't refer to the bereavement.

Happy events like housewarming are sometimes better handled by you personally than by the florist.

I trust that tender seedlings of flowers and herbs are thriving on your sunny window sills now. When time comes to transplant them, keep some in small pots for giving to the new homeowner as a thoughtful start towards a true friendship garden.

Designer Of Hats Fashions Bonnets To Accommodate Wild, Wild Hairdos

By JOYCE SCHULLER
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI) — Even if this year's hairdos for women are the most elaborate in years, many of them will still be bonneted come Easter.

Hat designer Luci Puel made up her mind to that months ago, but she was really jolted into action when beauticians recently designed a new hairdo that looked virtually impossible to hat. A professional beautician's guild designed the new coiffure, which is tall as last winter's beehive, wide at the sides and just different enough to be a natural for Easter.

In place of the beehive's massive mound at the back of the head, it has a smoothly swirled peak at the crown, that accents wide-sweeping side wings. It is achieved with a curved, crested band that lifts the hair up and forward onto the forehead.

Luci came up with two hats for it. For the woman who likes lots of hat, she designed a towering straw bonnet with plenty of room inside for both the hair's peaked top and wide side waves. For the little hat fancier, she created a perkily atop the hair's peak.

Waxing-enthusiastic, Luci went perkily atop the hair's peak.

Waxing-enthusiastic, Luci went on to create Easter hats for the whole menace of new hairdos: the beehive, the bird's nest and the mousetrap.

Luci didn't forget the traditional alibi who always wear a cloche or picture hat. She accommodated the cloche to the new hairdos by designing it to sit shallow on the head, yet give the illusion of a deep-crowned hat. And a huge aqua picture hat in her collection lends itself to any hairdo; its puffy silk brim can be pushed up or down, anywhere the hair isn't.

RUTH MILLETT

Memo to the older generation: You can be a joy to your grown children instead of a problem if, without giving up the right to make the major decisions that are important to your happiness, such as deciding whether or not you will live alone, you accept their suggestions for safeguarding your health and safety. If you will do that, they won't have a worry about you continually.

You make a real effort to get along with other people. (When children say, "We can't keep a nurse with mother; she's so hard to please," those children have a real problem.)

You do your best to keep in touch with your friends and to stay busy and happy, instead of letting yourself become lonely and discontented.

You do as little complaining as possible and strive to be cheerful instead of wearing a long face.

You refrain from criticizing a son's wife or a daughter's husband.

You let your children bring up their children in their own way, refraining from constantly pointing out the mistakes you think they are making. Remember that, if you were a good parent, your child probably will be a good parent, too.

You never side with your grandchildren against their parents.

You try to make the things your children do for you as easy and as uncomplicated as possible, remembering that they have many responsibilities.

You never, never act like a martyr or try to make your children feel guilty because they don't have more time for you.

If you'll abide by those few rules you will have more than the love of your grown children. You also will have their respect and friendship and admiration.

Buzz Groups To Discuss Topics At Mann PTA

What is Wrong With the Family? and "What are the responsibilities of children when household tasks are in some instances simplified by modern gadgets?" are among the questions to be discussed at Horace Mann PTA meeting to be held Thursday 2:15 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The questions will be discussed in "buzz" groups with PTA members participating, it was announced at the executive board meeting held Tuesday morning. Mrs. John Holt Jr. will introduce the program with a brief talk about the recent White House conference on youth problems, after which members will divide into small groups to consider one question each. A report of the group discussions will be made at the conclusion of the meeting.

A representative from Cub Pack 22, sponsored by the Horace Mann unit, will present the charter to the group Thursday, Mrs. Holt announced.

New board members, selected for new year, attending the meeting were introduced by Mrs. Edwin Southard, incoming president.

Reports were given by Mrs. Raymond Field, secretary and Mrs. H. L. Meers, treasurer.

Mrs. Canara Carruth, City Council representative, reported that a joint installation of officers of all local units would be held by the City Council, if so desired. The decision for this was referred to Mrs. Southard, who will report the new board's decision at the Thursday meeting.

It was approved that the expenses of voting delegates, as well as others who may be able to attend, would be paid to the District PTA Spring conference to be held April 25-26 in Berger.

Also attending the meeting were Mmes. Ott Shewmaker, Paul Turner, Eugene Turner, Wayne Phillips, S. C. Fish, James Reeves, Leon Daugherty and James Futch, and Sam Begert, school principal.

Mrs. Cobb Has HD Club Meet

LEFORS (Sp) — Mrs. A. T. Cobb was hostess to Lefors Home Demonstration Club in her home recently during which a program on "Gladol" was presented by Mrs. Jeff Davis.

Mrs. Davis discussed the planting and care of gladol bulbs and advised that bulbs may be planted from the last of May through July. "Plant according to space, control weeds and supply adequate drainage. Keep watered, but do not let water stand in plants," she said.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. O. O. Bishop, president, Mmes. D. B. Vaughn, R. W. Beck and the president reported on the district meeting held in Groom on April 7.

Mrs. Bishop informed the group that the Peace Garden on the boundary between the United States and Canada was established to promote friendship between the two countries and is supported by Home Demonstration Clubs of Texas.

Members voted approval of assisting the 20-30 Club with the door-to-door Cancer Drive on April 26.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Members present were Mmes. R. H. Bradfield, Charles Roberts, D. L. McBee, A. M. Dickerson, James Gatlin, B. J. Thacker, B. J. Diehl, A. T. Cobb, Jeff Davis, B. J. Leininger, O. O. Bishop, and B. D. Vaughn.

Missionary Group Has RS Meeting

Mrs. R. L. McDonald, president, presided at First Baptist Women's Missionary Union executive board meeting held recently in the church library.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last night when I was driving home from a friend's house my car stalled. A fellow stopped and offered to help me. He checked the tires, gas and battery and then started to work on the motor while I held the flashlight. He obviously knew what he was doing.

I am good looking, have a swell figure and men don't usually run away from me. Abby, in fact, usually have trouble beating them. Well, this man is crazy or I am not. He said he would like to see me twice or say two words to me. There was something very appealing about him. His eyes got me. He got my car started and I offered him five dollars. He refused it.

I said, "I could kiss you." And then came the biggest insult of all. He said, "Thank you but I don't kiss strangers." I almost fell through the pavement I am in my thirties. Am I losing my looks? My father-in-law is crazy or I am getting old. I know I'll never see him again but this bothers me. Can you set me straight?

DISTURBED: Not all men will jump at the chance to kiss a woman just because she is good looking, has a "swell figure" and is willing. Did it ever occur to you that he might have been married, not interested, or just plain fussy?

I say "nice" girls do not call young men on the telephone. Am I correct or am I?

"BEHIND THE TIMES?" DEAR BEHIND: You are correct. Don't encourage a bad connection.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 20. Six weeks ago she met a serviceman at a dance. He is 22 and has 18 months to serve yet. Our daughter informed us that they are getting married in four months. She knows nothing about him, his reputation or his family. We feel this is a very serious situation. We don't know how to go about getting information on this boy and his family. Can you help us?

WORRIED PARENTS DEAR WORRIED: Find out where the boy is presently stationed. Call your local Red Cross headquarters and ask them to put you in touch with his Commanding Officer. Through him you will be able to contact the boy's parents. A girl who would consider marrying in such haste needs help. And a boy who would encourage such a marriage sounds like no prize.

CONFIDENTIAL TO COLLEGE GRAD: A sheep-skin is a poor cover for intellectual nakedness.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Every Teen-ager Wants To Know," send 25 cents and a large self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

Airport Scene Of WMU Program

Central Baptist Women's Missionary Society met recently for a program on Italy, Spain and other lands entitled, "More Than A Name" presented by Kathryn White Circle.

The program scene was set in a airport with Mrs. J. P. Adams giving the introduction and Mrs. L. G. MacDaniel portraying a reporter interviewing passengers as they came in from other countries.

"Passengers" were Meses. Don Rosebach, John Fitzgerald, and E. B. Davis.

Mrs. Charley Thomas, WMU president, conducted the business meeting during which secretary's and treasurer's reports were given by Mrs. Ralph Prock and Mrs. Harold McCreery.

Mrs. Bob Callahan displayed and read Easter cards, which the WMU has received from missionaries in other lands.

Following the program, luncheon was served in Fellowship Hall. Forty-six members were present.

MATURE PARENT

The president of Mr. R.'s firm has a wife who enjoys patronizing the wives of his employees. So entertaining the president and his wife not only involves work but strain for Mrs. R.

One evening, after having them to dinner, she felt particularly tired. However, she dragged herself out to her untidy kitchen and was preparing to get at the dishes when she thought, "I don't want to clean up tonight. Goodness, how lazy I'm getting to be! Or am I? Is it really lazy to want to postpone these dishes until tomorrow morning? The truth is I've worked very hard tonight.

"Entertaining those people uses up more energy than a day of spring cleaning. Instead of staying up to get myself an 'A' in housekeeping, I think I'll get myself a good night's sleep instead."

Which is what she did.

Not long after, she and Mr. R. came home from a neighbor's bridge party to find the kitchen cluttered with unwashed dishes left by her 16-year-old daughter after entertaining some friends. Her first thought was:

"What a mess! What a lazy, irresponsible child Lois is! But immediately on the heels of the first came the second thought: "Lazy child? How do I know? Lois knows well only one of the girls who were here tonight. Maybe she's left the dishes, not because she's lazy but because playing hostess to strangers was an exhausting social adventure."

So, instead of opening her daughter's door with reproaches, she opened it to say: "How did it go? Sleepy Lois, switching on her light, said:

"Oh, wonderful. Mother. But I was too tired to face the dishes, are you mad? See, I've set my alarm an hour earlier so I can get downstairs and tidy up first thing in the morning."

If we are fast with affixing condemning labels on children, it is always because we are too fast with sticking them on ourselves.

We can't consider the truth of the judgments we pass on children as lazy, disobedient or stubborn unless we question the judgments we make of ourselves. Truer judgments of them depend on fairer, less hasty ones of ourselves.

German Housewife Association Takes Up Again After Hitler Ban

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

MUNICH, Germany (UPI)—The boss of the family in Germany to all outward appearances is the man.

But from talking to both men and women in this bustling nation, there seems increasing truth to a poem of German folklore which when freely translated quotes the husband as saying, "I am the head, the man. You follow the direction of my nose."

And the wife answers, "you are quite right. But I am the neck, and I turn the head."

The "new" German wife is not as active in politics as her sister in the United States. But the chances are one in three that she is like her American counterpart holding a job outside the house.

And, like as not, she also is a member of an extraordinary organization called the German Housewives Association, founded 70 years ago, forbidden to operate in the Hitler regime but revived in 1949 with federal government sanction and financial support.

Today, it has branches in almost all of West Germany's large cities. In most cases, the branches are non-partisan and non-sectarian. In others, membership may be based on religious or social interests.

Overall, the purpose of the association is improvement of home-making skills—and what man will argue THAT motive?

ETA Clubs Are Guests Of DKG

Beta Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma met in the City Rooms Saturday morning with members of the Future Teachers of America clubs as special guests.

Music was furnished by the Beta Delta sextet composed of Meses. James Webb, Roy Sullivan, Faye Delis Adams, Misses Bernice Larrh, Mary Reeve and Mary Dean Dentler. Mrs. Elmer Gunn accompanied the group as they sang "Getting to Know You" and "Little Red School House."

Miss Sibyl Turner, program chairman, presented Mrs. Wendell Atmiller, Mrs. Robert Hamilton, and Miss Geraldine Rampey who spoke on "Evaluating Our Teacher Training Program."

The Easter motif was used in room decorations. The refreshment table, covered with green cloth, featured an Easter picnic flanked by decorative Easter rabbits and chickens.

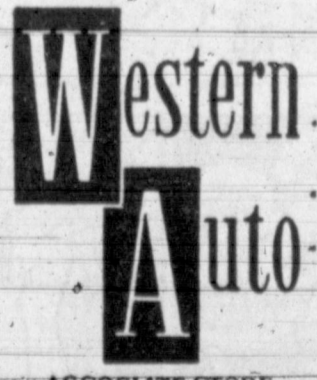

Hostesses were Meses Faye Delis Adams, D. V. Biggers, Elmer Gunn, R. A. Ziegler, Miss Mary Ewing, and Miss Stella Kiser.

In a brief business meeting, which followed, the organization elected the following officers to serve the ensuing two years: Miss Sibyl Turner, president; Mrs. J. E. Gibson, Jr., first vice-president; Miss Geraldine Rampey, second vice-president; Mrs. Alfred Jackson, recording secretary; Miss Evelyn Milan, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Alton Moore, Parliamentarian.

New officers will be installed in the May meeting.

Don't reserve your most dismal clothes for a rainy day. In these times of smart raincoats, boots and umbrellas, it's possible to look pretty even on a day when it's raining sideways.

"The correct bid was four spades," said the club's broker even — and the diamond finesse worked. Mr. Jones says.

Here's Form 1040 With 1 Per Cent Income Tax Enclosed: Please Refund

By WARD CANNEL, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — If you poke around in the attic long enough, you're sure to come up with something of value.

Here, for example, is a yellowing, neatly printed form worth well, you name the price. It is labeled simply: "Form 1040 — Income Tax, For the Year 1913."

It is the first version of the tax form you'd better mail by April 15. But you can see from one look at this old one that the Internal Revenue Bureau was quite young in those days and still feeling its way.

Take Line 7 where, it says: "Taxable income on which the normal tax of 1 per cent is to be calculated." Or the additional tax schedule which explains that you pay "2 per cent on amount over $50,000 and not exceeding $75,000."

Now, this relic was uncovered by a fellow named Walter Lord who has been poking around in attics for quite a while and has found many other things of value there, like money. His first two books were best-sellers: "Day of Infamy" and "A Night to Remember," which was also made into a movie.

"I have always been captivated by the excitement of big events of the past," Lord said. "It's not the wastefulness of memory that I feel so much as the awe and envy of the exuberance those times had."

Take 1913, the year of the tax form. It was the last period in our history when we were at peace with ourselves, when everybody had an idea, when people felt all problems could be solved, when we were sure we were going some.

Lord, of course, is writing another book from this part of the attic, called "The Good Years."

Meanwhile, you might look in your own attic for any leftover 1928 calendars. They'll be quite valuable if 1928 ever comes back.

Drug Prices Defended By AMA Prexy

FORT WORTH (UPI) — The president of the American Medical Assn. claimed Tuesday that the Kefauver committee's investigation of high mark-ups on drug prices has given a one-sided picture of the drugs.

"The committee does not tell you about the thousands of Americans who are saved a trip to the hospital just by swallowing a few 50-cent pills," said Dr. Louis M. Orr, of Orlando, Fla.

Dr. Orr spoke to the 3,000 physicians attending the Texas Medical Assn.'s annual convention in Fort Worth.

President Kefauver was "shocked" that Kefauver never called me (Orr) to testify," the doctor said.

Dr. J. C. Heller of Washington, director of the National Cancer Institute, said lung cancer has replaced stomach cancer as a major killer in the United States. He said the best it is believed the drop in stomach cancer is due to a better diet from the rising standard of living.

Solon Attacks Frills On New State Building

AUSTIN (UPI) — Rep. James Cotten of Weatherford renewed his attacks Tuesday on the planning and construction of a $3,700,000 state office building, saying "excessive frills" were incorporated into it.

Some of the frills included $38 doorknobs with locks on them, a telephone booth lined with black marble, balconies, a two-story lobby and windows that open when they are not needed for ventilation.

Cotten is a member of a House committee investigating state spending. Friday he said the entire building was a "shoddy job" of construction and the general contractor, B. L. McGee of Austin, began tearing up 2,000 square feet of a terrazo tile floor that had cracked.

The building is only six months old.

Cotten said he is "convinced" that the building's air conditioning system is responsible for cracks in six of its 10 floors and for the plaster peeling off some of the walls.

He said the air conditioning units are vibrating the building with a 120-cycle-per-second noise.

The state requires a one-year guarantee on all state construction jobs.

Opponents Speak In Coast Area

By United Press International

LA, Gov. Ben Ramsey took his campaign for re-election to Corpus Christi today while his chief opponent, Don Yarborough stumped in San Antonio.

Ramsey and Yarborough both spent time in Gulf Coast areas Tuesday.

Yarborough promised full support for a ratable oil bill similar to one that died in the Senate in the last Legislature.

Ramsey told a Corpus Christi audience that "the growth and healthy development of the coastal areas are dependent in a large measure on our state's maintaining its traditional doctrine of open beaches."

Yarborough charged that Ramsey caused the death of the ratable tax bill in the last Legislature.

Lopez Mateos To Stay Home

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — President Adolfo Lopez Mateos will make no more trips outside Mexico this year, Foreign Minister Manuel Tello said Tuesday.

The minister said the President has received invitations from South American and European nations and Indonesia and has accepted them "in principle."

The President's activities during year-long celebrations in 1960 of the 50th anniversary of Mexico's revolution of 1910 and the 150th anniversary of independence from Spain make it impossible for Lopez Mateos to leave the country, he added.

The President visited five South American nations during January and February this year.

Juniors Host Senior Class

LEFORS (Spl) — The Rev. Richard Crews, First Christian Church minister of Pampa, was the principal speaker at the annual Junior-Senior Banquet Saturday night in the high school cafeteria.

"Pink Champagne and Bitter Gardenias" was the theme of the affair under the direction of Miss Kay Brown and Norris Samuelson, junior class sponsors.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was Keith Geister, English instructor.

Kenneth Fields, junior class president, gave the welcome which was responded to by the seniors by their president, Harry Price.

Entertainment was furnished by Pat Carter, Charles Font, and Tony Edmondson, who sang "The Shadows."

Nashville Patrolled

By United Press International

Police patrols in downtown Nashville, Tenn., were strengthened today in the wake of sporadic outbreaks of racial violence and one bomb hoax.

Negro students from Tennessee State AMI University promised more demonstrations despite a warning by the State Board of Education that students convicted of "personal misconduct" would be expelled. Four students of the college were arrested Tuesday after taking part in a demonstration and were to go on trial late today.

One other Negro and two white teen-agers were arrested in outbreaks of fighting and bottle throwing.

Crowds of Easter shoppers were on Nashville streets Tuesday when Negroes began picketing the stores and taking seats at segregated lunch counters.

Assignments To Tax Commission

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. Price Daniel gave the following assignments to the "task force" of his tax Advisory Commission in preparation for its meeting May 16:

—John R. McKee of Dallas, to bring the 1959 report of the State Tax Study Commission up to date and to provide an up-to-date summary of taxes passed by other states during the past two years.

—Jess Irwin, Daniel's budget director, to bring up to date Daniel's recommendations to the last Legislature and aid McKee on taxes passed by other states.

—Hugh H. Loewenstern of Amarillo, to provide charts showing the productivity of tax sources, and projecting the totals into the future.

—Alvin Burger, executive director of the Texas Research League, to aid Loewenstern on the charts and to outline revenue sources other than taxation. John Potter of the Council will aid on the last study.

Hoax Delays Airplane Flight

AUSTIN (UPI) — An unidentified woman called in a false bomb report that delayed a Braniff Airways flight from Austin to Dallas late Tuesday until FBI men and military personnel could make a thorough search. No bomb was found.

The twin-engine Convair plane was towed to a spot about 200 yards from the terminal building where the search teams, using Army mine detectors, went over the plane and the passengers' luggage.

The passengers, apparently undisturbed, waited in the terminal while the search was made.

Sinclair Crude Postings Reduced

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Reduced postings by Sinclair Crude Oil Co., Tulsa, became effective today in three areas.

Sinclair officials said the postings were reduced to meet competition.

East Texas type crude was reduced from $3.25 to $3.10 per barrel; Rocky Mountain sweet crude from $2.98 to $2.93 per barrel and Corpus Christi southwest heavy crude from $3.30 to $3.20 per barrel.

The saxophone was invented by Adolphe Sax, a Belgian.

Jury Empaneled In Murder Trial

HOUSTON (UPI) — The trial of Joe Ed Smith, 18, for the sex-murder of a 12-year-old boy last summer, moved into high gear today.

Nine men and three women were empaneled late Tuesday to try the Negro youth, one of seven Negro boys who were charged with sexually abusing the boy before they locked him in a refrigerator to suffocate.

Deputy Sheriff Eddie Knowles was the state's first witness. He identified photos taken in the vacant lot where the body of William M. Bodenheimer III was found in the discarded icebox.

Death Dealing Weather Loses Punch In Kansas

By United Press International

The death-dealing storm system that spawned tornadoes in the Texas Panhandle Tuesday night pushed northward into Kansas today, where it lost most of its punch.

Behind it came a Pacific cold front that crossed into Texas from eastern New Mexico early today and brought gentle rains to Central and North Texas. Skies were cloudy over most of the state.

The front was expected to push eastward to the Sabine River Valley by Thursday morning. As it swept across the South Plains and the Panhandle, temperatures dropped into the 40s.

Dalhart had a morning low of 38 degrees and Lubbock's low was 47. Readings in the 60s and 70s were common across the rest of Texas.

The heaviest rainfall amount during the 24 hours ended at 4 a.m. was 1.44 inches at Amarillo; dropped by the same equal line that gave birth to the Panhandle twisters.

Other rainfall amounts included .06 inch at San Angelo and .04 inch at Brownwood.

Play Is Second In Competition

LEFORS (Spl) — The Lefors High School play, "The Merchant of Venice," played second in the Interscholastic League, District One, one-act play contest. White Deer, host school, was awarded first for the presentation, "Columbine Madonna."

Other schools in the competition were Panhandle, McLean, Canadian, Clarendon and Memphis.

A MISTAKE

WILLINGTON, England (UPI) — Aubrey G. Purser, 28, allowed himself to be fingerprinted to help police sort prints in case they located his stolen car.

Dodgers Edge Cubs Before Huge Crowd

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

Manager Walt Alston still has that World Series magic and the Los Angeles Dodgers still have that uncanny knack for doing things the hard way.

That was the big story Tuesday night when the Dodgers climaxed one of the greatest opening days in National League history with an uphill 3-2 winning victory over the Chicago Cubs.

A record night game crowd for the league of 67,550 turned out in the massive Los Angeles Coliseum and was treated to a sensational game in which a sensational 1959 strikeout king, fanned 14 Cubs and allowed only seven hits over the full 11 innings.

The "cliff hanger" Dodgers rallied from an early 2-0 deficit, fought about with the help of ex-teammate Don Zimmer's homer, to tie the score in the fifth inning and carry the game into extra innings.

Alston, who twice got pinch-hit homers from Chuck Essegian in the 1959 World Series, called on the rugged utility outfielder with two out in the last of the 11th - and got the game-winning homer from him.

Essegian's teammates gathered at home plate to meet him as he ran out the game-winning homer and the huge crowd accorded the Stanford football player a thunderous ovation. It was the third straight homer for Essegian as a pinch-hitter, dating back to the 66 series.

Richter Bob Anderson's single and a double by Tony Taylor gave the Cubs their second run but Drysdale in the third inning but the Dodgers tied the score on two walks and a double by Wally Moon, another of the Dodgers' 1959 heroes.

The attendance broke the old National League single game night crowd of 67,037 set by the Dodgers against Milwaukee at the Coliseum last Aug. 8 and rounded out a day during which the four National League openers drew a total of 179,742 fans.

The San Francisco Giants dedicated their new 15-million-dollar Candlestick Park and beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1, before 32,269; the Milwaukee Braves shined the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3 before 29,888 and the Cincinnati Reds romped over the Philadelphia Phillies, 9-4, before 30,975 in the daylight openers. American League openers are scheduled for April 18 and April 19.

Vice President Richard Nixon was among the capacity throng at San Francisco as Sam Jones hurled a three-hitter and Orlando Cepeda drove in all three Giant runs. Jones fanned three and walked only one, yielding the St. Louis run on a homer by ex-Giant Leon Wagner. Cepeda tripled home two runs in the first inning and singled home Willie Mays in the third.

Charlie Dressen made a victorious debut as manager of the Braves when Joe Adcock blasted a two-run eighth-inning homer off Pittsburgh relief ace Roy Face, who didn't lose his first game of the 1959 season until Sept. 11. Warren Spahn had homered and pitched shutout until the Pirates tied the score at 2-2 in the eighth. Don McMahon picked up the win with ninth-inning relief aid from Lew Burdette.

Red Schoendienst made his first start for the Braves since the 1958 World Series but went hitless in three trips to the plate.

Roy McMillan and rookie Tony Gonzalez hit homers as the Reds spoiled Robin Roberts' 11th consecutive opening-day appearance with a nine-hit attack. Roberts was rocked for seven hits and eight earned runs in 4 1/3 innings. Jim O'Toole, who shut out the Phillies from the third through the eighth inning, was the winner.

LARRY STROUD ... homer won it

PHS Nips 'Dogs In Eighth, 5-4

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

A 400-foot blast by Larry Stroud and a fine job of "pressurized" relief pitching by Mike Clark gave the Pampa Harvesters a 5-4 win over Borger here Tuesday, in eight innings.

The victory, together with Lubbock's 1-0 win over loop-leading Monterey, kept alive Pampa's faint championship hopes. The Harvesters, with a 4-3 District 3-1A record, tied with Tascosa for third place. Monterey and Lubbock now share the lead with 6-1 records.

Tascosa edged Plainview Tuesday, 8-7, to drop the Bulldogs into a fifth place tie with Borger (both 3-4) and Amarillo moved into a seventh-place tie with the PALO Duro Downs by edging the Duns, 6-5 (both are 1-6).

Clark saved the game in the seventh inning when, with the score tied at 4-4, he came in with the bases loaded and none out. He struck out Bert Barron, got Warren Bell on a pop to shortstop, and then caught a low line drive by Rad Adkins, to get out of the inning without any damage.

Stroud, the first Pampa batter in the eighth, won the contest when he drove a high, towering fly nearly a hundred feet over the right-field fence, which is more than 300 feet from home plate.

Although they left 13 men on base, the Harvesters managed to hit fairly well in the clutch Tuesday, for the first time in two weeks. All their runs were both earned and batted in.

Borger scored first in the game on two successive triples in the third inning by Tom Linsey and Bob Murry. However, Pampa came back in its half of the third to knot the count of a double by Stroud, followed by three straight walks.

In the fourth frame, the Harvesters had their biggest inning in two weeks, scoring three runs on four hits and a walk. Pitcher Jimmy Walker led off with a sharp ground single between third and short. Bobby Nutt followed with the same type of hit, in almost the same spot. Bobby Stephens then placed a bunt hit.

Stroud grounded out to first base, and Walker scored on the play. Terry Haralson struck out, but then Wendell Ridgway hit a fly-ball single to right-center, scoring Nutt and Stephens. Roy Stephens walked, and Gary Hill struck out to end the inning.

Borger came back strong in the seventh inning to score three runs and tie the game as they tied off against the tiring Walker, who was working in his sixth game in seven days.

A walk to Linsey was followed by successive singles by Murry, Glenn Woolley, Steve Hood and Gary Temple. After the fourth hit, Coach Deek Wolde called in Clark, who got the side out without further damage.

Pampa threatened seriously in its half of the seventh (the last regularly scheduled inning). Ruben Strickland led off with a long liner to deep left, which went over the fence on one bounce for a ground double. However, Clark struck foul on a third strike for a bunted foul. Nutt fanned and Bob Stephens popped to shortstop.

The Harvesters had at least one man on base in every inning. They had two base runners in the first, second and fifth frames without being able to score.

Dressen Picks LA To Cop Flag

Manager Walt Alston, an arch-conservative, has abandoned his accustomed reticence by coming right out and picking his world champion Los Angeles Dodgers to win again.

Alston doesn't shout it from the roof tops, nor is he taking out any paid advertisements in news papers, but when you ask him in his opinion he gives it to you straight from the shoulder—and it's obvious he still feels the Dodgers are the best club in the national league.

"You can't help being enthusiastic with all the fine looking youngsters we have," says the Dodger manager. "Look at the job they did for us last year. And now we have even more."

The added youngsters Alston refers to are out-sized Frank Howard and Tommy Davis in addition to a flock of pitchers who, even if they are not quite ready this year, guarantee the Dodgers a strong pitching staff for the future.

Howard, a 23-year-old bonus baby out of Ohio State who is 6-foot-6 and weighs 245, has been the rage of the Dodgers' camp. The Dodgers' brass claims he already is a better fielding first baseman than Pittsburgh's Dick Stuart and that he has more power. He batted .356 for victors of the Texas League in 53 games last year and .319 in 78 games with Spokane of the Pacific Coast League.

Alston hopes Howard can win the first base job although most of his experience has been in the outfield. The Los Angeles pilot also hopes Davis can break into the outfield, Davis, only 21, batted .345 with Spokane where he drove in 78 runs and hit 18 homers.

If both Howard and Davis win jobs with the Dodgers, there is little question that the club's attack will be improved. Both are right-handed long-ball hitters who promise to do well against the left field screen at Los Angeles Coliseum.

Assuming Howard holds down first base veteran Gil Hodges will be shifted to third.

"I'd also move Charlie Neal back to shortstop and Jim Gilliam over to second base," Alston says.

Should the experiment flop, Alston always can go back to his former infield alignment of Gil Ham at third, shortstop, fielding Maury Wills at shortstop, Neal at shortstop.

second and Hodges at first. That still gives him a strong defensive infield.

The Dodgers also are adequately protected in the outfield where Veteran Duke Snider, who hit .308 last year, driving in 88 runs and clotting 23 homers, will be back in center with Don Demeter as his understudy. Wally Moon, a .302 hitter last year, can play either left or right field. That, too, will depend on how Davis does.

Carl Furillo, who made his presence felt down the stretch last September, looks like he wants his old right field job back again and nothing pleases Alston more. The big problem will be which other outfielders to keep.

Chuck Essegian looks a cinch to stick. That still leaves Roy Fairly, Rip Repulski and Sandy Amoros.

John Roseboro and Joe Pignatano again will handle the catching, a department Alston says he's not the least worried about although neither of the two receivers hit as high as 240.

Arnette Became Playmaker To Make Olympic Squad

By CARLTON F. WILSON
United Press International

AUSTIN (UPI) — Jay Arnette changed from the role of high point man to playmaker to make the 12-man U.S. Olympic basketball squad.

The University of Texas senior followed Coach Pete Newell's suggestion that "use need someone to set up plays" so well that the national collegiate all-star team won from an underdog to win the Olympic trial tournament at Denver in April.

The 21-year-old Arnette is playing the outfield on the Longhorn baseball team and more worried now about his batting eye than his jump shot.

"I was hitting .313 for four games after basketball season," Arnette said, "which is a lot better than my .275 last year."

Baseball Coach Bibb Falk is also pleased with the way the six-foot-two-inch Texan covers the wide open spaces in left field.

Arnette lettered in both basketball and baseball for the last two years and picked up a third basketball national this season as he led the Longhorns to the Southwest Conference championship.

Mohr's Fight For Life Continues

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Champion college boxer Charlie Mohr was kept alive by medical science for the fourth day today, despite odds that remained heavily against his survival.

"He's still hanging on and considering the gravity of the case, that's something. He has improved a bit but only a minimum," said Dr. Manucher Javid, associate professor of neuro-surgery who performed the brain surgery on Mohr Saturday night and early Sunday.

"We're using every scientific means and are hoping that he will respond. He is still completely unconscious and his breathing is a problem," Javid said.

Mohr, a 22-year-old Wisconsin senior, suffered a brain hemorrhage in his NCAA middleweight title fight Saturday night against Stu Bartell, a San Jose State sophomore from Brooklyn, N.Y. Bartell knocked Mohr out for the first time in the latter's 37 college fights. Mohr walked from the ring and then collapsed in his dressing room.

SPAR FOUR ROUNDS
BOZEMAN, Mont. (UPI)—NBA world middleweight champion Gene Fulmer and challenger Joey Giardello each sparred four rounds Tuesday in preparation for their 15-round title bout at the Montana State University Field House, April 20.

Giardello wound up his training Tuesday, but Fulmer expects to box six rounds today.

Avila May Be Optioned; Cash, Demeter Involved In Trade

American League champions last season Demeter hit .319 in 22 Grapefruit League games this spring.

The Tigers also sent five players to Denver of the American Association — 23-year old third baseman Steve Boros and pitchers Phil Regan, Al Pehanick, Bob Smith and Don Kaiser. The cuts reduced their roster to 27 players.

Commissioner Ford Frick has been asked to rule whether hold-out second baseman Bobby Avila can be optioned to a club in the class AA Mexican League and still be free to rejoin the Braves for the final 30 days of the National League season.

The matter went to Frick when Avila, one-time American League batting champion and an 11-year veteran, offered to waive his 10-year veteran rights. Avila's long service in the majors entitles him to an unconditional release if he is optioned to the minors but he has said he will forego the release if optioned to the Mexican League.

It is reported that Avila, who refused to accept a 25 per cent pay slash by the Braves, can accept a player-manager's job in the league. General Manager Johnny McHale says the arrangement is all right with the Braves but that Frick's approval is required.

The Detroit Tigers, meanwhile, acquired 25-year-old outfielder Norman Cash from the Cleveland Indians in exchange for third baseman Steve Demeter. Cash, a left-handed hitter who also can play first base, hit .240 for the

Kalingo, Hart Fight Tonight

CHICAGO (UPI) — Rocky Kalingo, the Philippine welterweight champion, and Philadelphia's Garnett "Sugar" Hart each predicted a knockout victory for their televised 10 round fight tonight.

"I'm going all out to score a knockout, the earlier the better," Kalingo said. "and I think I can knock him out with my right hand."

"This is one fight where I'm sure that someone will be carried out," Hart said, "and I'm sure it won't be me. I've got too much at stake to lose to a new comer and I'll prove it tomorrow night."

The bout could be "make or break" for both fighters. It will be Kalingo's fifth match in the United States and should he lose to the seventh, ranked Hart, he probably have to return to Hawaii, his current home, to rebuild his reputation. A win could put him in line for better U.S. matches and a chance to climb up the contender's ladder.

The Telephone Company Is Running Out Of Numbers

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Well, it was bound to happen. The telephone company is finally running out of numbers.

"What else could you expect?" American Telephone and Telegraph officials ask. After all...

More than 17,000 new phones are installed every working day and most of them require separate numbers.

Direct distance dialing is here, and with it large telephone areas which include many central offices. MAIN 5 and NATIONAL 5, for example, are dialed by the same finger-holes.

these exchange names," a telephone company diplomat said quickly. KRingle is a happy image and YLang is a respectable Philippine name. But the names are rather difficult.

—And, finally, the first dial opening is not used in exchange names to avoid electrical impulse mistakes. Zero, the last opening is reserved as a means of calling the HUMAN BEINGS who comfort the equipment at the central office. And further, there is neither "Q" nor "Z" on the dial.

The result, as any sound, electronic brain can quickly see, is a seriously limited range of possible telephone numbers. The situation is so desperate, a telephone crisis expert explains, that:

"When we set up the direct distance dialing areas for the nation, we left a safety margin of 66 unassigned area code numbers. That was 13 years ago and we've already used up 31 of those reserved numbers."

The supply should last, telephone estimators say, until the mid-1970's. But in the meantime, intercontinental direct distance dialing is on the way, calling for new area codes. Scientific progress will also call for new numbers to signify a person-to-person call, a call to a mobile unit, a direct call to an extension phone now reached only through a switchboard.

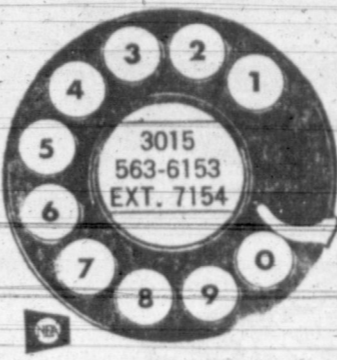

With traditional skill and foresight, however, telephone planners have come up with a solution to this lack of numbers with — guess what — more numbers.

It will work something like this, taking into account the whole process of making a call from Seattle, Wash., for example, to Cocoa, Fla., in about 15 years.

You dial a cue to indicate a person-to-person call. Then the area code. Then the central office you want and then the specific telephone number. That number in your hypothetical address book, folks, is: 12, 3015, 579, 5162.

"It's coming," a telephone number architect said. "Not today or tomorrow. But it's coming. Part of it is already in operation at Wichita Falls, Tex. More cities are on the way to all-number-calling — no more letters or exchange names."

For the rest of the nation, the gradual switch-over has begun. Information operators seldom give exchange names anymore, but instead read out only the first two letters.

"It's excellent training," a telephone scholar said. "In accepting symbols that mean nothing, it avoids misspelling and thus misdialing — Mercury is often dialed MU or Georgia, GA."

For telephone stockholders, it may mean a bigger dividend as the phone book will be considerably lighter and therefore L'EX.

FBI Arrests Third Man In Plane Hoaxes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI announced Tuesday the arrest of an aviation firm representative on charges of making a false bomb report aboard a Lake Central Airlines plane Monday night.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said that Waterman F. Brown Jr., 34, of Michigan City, Ind., was taken into custody in Indianapolis. It was the third such arrest by the FBI within a week.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers said the Justice Department would request a jail sentence for Brown if he were convicted, indicating an even tougher government crackdown against bomb hoaxes.

Brown, married and the father of two, has been employed for five years as area representative for Bendix Aviation at Michigan City, the FBI said.

Hoover said Brown was charged with telling the stewardess on Lake Central's Flight 724 shortly after it took off from Indianapolis that he had a bomb aboard.

Notified of the report, the pilot returned to Indianapolis where a

50 Small U.S. Firms Divide Big Sardine Packing Profits

By LEROY POPE
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Folks who imagine small business can't do all right in this age of super finance should consider the sardine packers.

The sardine is still a family affair, business carried on from father to son in small boats carrying crews of two to eight off the coast of Maine. But it's doing fine, according to the Maine Sardine Council.

The business still is in quite small units. More than 50 brands divide up the 25 million dollar Maine catch alone. The United States also has a pilchard sardine industry on the California coast, but the catch there has dwindled to less than one million fish a year. The Maine catch is 1.2-billion fish, packed in 225 million cans in tasty olive oil, mustard or tomato sauces.

Portugal, Norway, France and Japan all ship sardines to the United States but the Maine Yank packs produce two of every three cans sold in the United States and you can get Marine sardines in 93 per cent of all the stores and restaurants in the country.

Pretty nifty record for an industry that hasn't a single large company in its ranks.

How do the downcasters do it? According to the Sardine Council, the sardine fishermen and packers found around 1950 that their sales weren't gaining, although the fish still were plentiful.

They got the state government to make a research survey for them. The survey said the chief trouble was lack of uniform quality standards in packing. So the packers asked the Maine legislature to tax the industry an extra half a million dollars a year to pay for tighter inspection laws at their plants. As soon as the better inspection was put in effect, sales began to go up and have continued to grow.

The sardine industry combines old-fashioned and extremely modern scientific techniques. The boats are family affairs — but they carry radar and bomb-fish scopes and haul the fish up by suction tubes instead of heavy nets.

Last year, a new scientific marvel was added, the "air bubble curtain" developed by the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries. This is a perforated polyethylene hose through which air is pumped. The bubbles rising from the holes in the hose create an air curtain which, for some reason, the sardines are afraid to swim across — making it easy for the crew in the boat to catch them with the suction tube without dispersing the huge school.

The sardines then are kept alongside the catching boats in fine mesh storage nets. Carrier boats from the packing plants pick them up and scale them. At the plants, they are cleaned and packed by hand by women. No machine has been designed that can do this work as well as the agile fingers of the women.

gets Six Months On DWLS Count

William Frank Smith, 729 N. Wells, was sentenced Monday to six months in jail by Gray County Judge Bill Craig after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while license suspended.

Smith was arrested by Highway Patrolmen Stanley Schneider and Vernon Cavthon four miles east of Pampa at 1 a.m. Sunday.

NO CASH PLEASE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government advises taxpayers not to pay their federal income taxes by cash. "If you send cash in the mail," the Internal Revenue Service said Tuesday, "it may be lost or misdelivered en route and you would have to pay again."

'Pinko' Writer In Hollywood Still Jobless

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Producer Dore Schary, who takes an active part in national politics, said today Communists for movies is the business of those doing the hiring.

"I feel that a man who is an ex-Communist should be hired if he meets the requirements of the job," he said.

"The question of hiring such persons is an individual choice. I personally might not hire a Communist, but I'm not going to tell anyone else not to."

A lot of murkiness surrounds the hiring of Communists and ex-Communists have been hired for some time — men like Ed Dmytryk.

"Apparently Ned Young, Dalton Trumbo and Albert Maltz, if they ever were Communists, haven't recanted, and that is what stirred up everybody. But I think Stanley Kramer, Otto Preminger and Frank Sinatra should have the right to hire them."

Asked if a "Hollywood blacklist" ever existed, Schary said: "There wasn't a blacklist per se, but there were lists you may be sure. And names had to be cleared."

"Did Schary believe Communist propaganda could be slipped into pictures without knowledge of the producer?"

"I'm positive that no writer, director or actor could indoctrinate a picture with Communist philosophy without any knowledge," he said.

Red China put the land grab on Mt. Everest the other day.

This latest was against the tiny kingdom of Nepal, wedged between India and Red China on the slopes of the Himalayas.

Mt. Everest and the Abominable Snowman said to wander its snowy heights have been Nepal's chief claim to fame. And since Mt. Everest is known to every schoolboy, it served to dramatize Red China's unceasing efforts to extend its frontiers at the expense of its neighbors.

To the north of Mt. Everest stretches Red China's "wild west"—and the real reason for this discussion.

For while Red China moves in on thousands of square miles of territory on a border line extending from India's northwest territory to Burma, evidence continues to accumulate that she still has plenty of trouble controlling the land she already has.

Recently it was disclosed that what previously had been dismissed as a minor uprising in Tsinhai Province of northwest China in late 1958 actually was of such massive proportions that the Red Army had to be called in to put it down.

Prior to that there had been the 1957 uprising in neighboring Sinkiang Province, and, immediately after, the revolt in Tibet which reached its height in March, 1959.

Other outbreaks were reported in the province of Chinghai and in Mongolia.

Here are wild streams, arid lands, lowering mountains and a people who never have bowed to the Chinese will.

In the region are more Tibetans than there are in Tibet, and more Turkistans than there are Chinese.

As in Tibet, the Tsinhai rebellion centered around the Buddhist monasteries.

Kao Feng, first secretary of the Tsinhai Communist Party committee, reported to the rebels: "Under the guise of protecting the interests of national religion, they occupied monasteries as bases of operation, attacked the people's government, murdered revolutionary cadres and activists, destroyed pastures and livestock, burned down dwelling houses."

Kao Feng concluded: "The heroic fighting of the rebellion-suppressing units of the Chinese people's army quelled the revolt."

These are rugged individualists fighting a losing battle, but still determined to preserve their right to decide.
