Kennedy Edges Rival In Wisconsin

Majority Is Not Big As Hoped For

MILWAUKEE (UPI)— Sen. John F. Kennedy rode a tide of big city votes to victory in Wisconsin's weather-vane primary election.

The engaging Massachusetts senator gained momentum in his drive for the Democratic presidential nomination by capturing six out of 10 congressional districts, a big majority of the state's convention delegates and a fat plurality of a record popular vote.

Officials Elected In Tuesday Vote

Mayors and councilmen were elected to office yesterday in city elections over the area.

In LeFors, Wayne Wall, Bill Teel and Jim Hannon were elected to the post of city councilman and Mayor W. P. Wall was returned to office with a total of 133 votes. In the city council race Wayne Wall received 133 votes; Billy D. Kinde, 125; Fred Cullon, 97; Jim Hannon, 133 and Leland Peden, 120. Incumbent councilmen did not seek reelection. In the mayorally contest, Fred Blackwell received 98 votes; Leonard Cain, 77 and Chester Hill, nine.

A total of 227 ballots were cast. Election judge was D. M. Jones assisted by Mrs. Bob Bright, Mrs. J. A. Davis and Mrs. E. R. Aldridge.

In McLean, voters elected three new city councilmen. They are M. M. Burroughs, Creed Lamb, Jr. and Roy Barker. Burroughs received 162 votes; Lamb 137 and Barker 104. Incumbent Jess Kemp received 87 and incumbent Odell Mantooth 85. Amos Page did not seek reelection. A total of 238 ballots were cast. The new councilmen will serve with Mayor John Havines and present councilmen Boyd Meador and Ruel Smith.

In other elections over the area Shamrock voters elected Sol Brienstein mayor of that city with 98 votes. His only opposition was from former mayor Selbert Worley who received eight write-in votes. Two incumbent city commissioners and one new commissioner were voted in. They are Dave Skidmore with 106 votes and James Ray Tindall, also with 106, incumbents and new commissioner George Boss with 107. All were unopposed.

In Miami, R. A. Flowers, Sr., incumbent and Royce Bailey and Burl Benge, both newcomers, were elected 55 votes each in a total vote of 85.

Canadian voters returned two incumbents and a new man to their city council, incumbents O. G. Riley and Norman Magill were re-

Heiress, Lover In Flight

Seek A Place To Be Married

By TOM PRICE
United Press International

DILLON, S. C. (UPI)— Runaway heiress Gamble Benedict and her Romanian-born lover fled their South Carolina hideaway today under threats from home that "all necessary measures" will be taken to break up her elopement.

Gamble, 19, and Andra Porumbescu, 23, got safely to Dillon, S. C. Tuesday only to be identified as they applied for a marriage license that would have been effective this afternoon.

At midmorning one of the couple's escorts arrived by plane and withdrew the birth certificate Gamble had deposited with Probate Judge Walker Allen. The tall, blond young man flew off with the document at once.

It appeared Gamble and Andra might be headed into another state to launch their wedding formalities once more this time in secret.

The South Carolina wedding license would have been valid anywhere in this state after a 24-hour wait. Newsman were pointing by the dozen. It appeared likely Gamble and Porumbescu feared legal moves to halt a South Carolina ceremony.

In New York, the attorney for Gamble's grandmother and guardian, Mrs. Henry Harper Benedict, 75, left no doubt that all possible steps would be taken to halt the match.

Last January Mrs. Benedict sent her attorney, Robert Hoffman all the way to Paris to bring Gamble home from her first elopement. She fought the case through the New York courts to have Gamble declared a wayward minor.

Board To Meet April 14

Green To Head School Trustees

E. L. (Gene) Green, Jr., was elected chairman of the Pampa Board of Education at a meeting yesterday afternoon in Pampa Junior High School.

D. E. Holt was returned to the position of vice chairman, and Warren Fatheree was re-elected secretary. All officers were elected by acclamation.

Outgoing chairman Aubrey Steele said, "I have enjoyed my tenure on the board. I have spent a lot of time in various phases of the school system, but when you serve on the board of education you obtain a slightly different view."

"I'm proud of our school system and administrators and," he continued, "I believe we have a group of administrators second to none in the state. I'm proud of our teachers and hope you'll back them in every way possible and continue to have what I consider the best school in the state of Texas."

In other action, members read the official canvass of the votes in Saturday's election and examined the certification of election judge Delea Vicars. The final certified count was Dr. Ray Hampton, 1,525; Bob Andis, 1,470 and Marvin Bowman 328.

The next meeting of the board will be April 14. After that meeting members will meet regularly on the second Monday in each month.

Items to be discussed at the April 14 meeting are construction of a high school track, paving at the high school, traffic safety and official approval of the school calendar.

Doing Best Work

World renowned nuclear physicist Dr. Leo Szilard does some of his most creative thinking about the future of mankind in the atomic age from his bed in Memorial Hospital in New York. Szilard refused surgery for cancer last December because he felt it would interrupt the time he has left to work.

Threat To Principal

AMARILLO (UPI)— Police Chief Wiley Alexander said the threats on the life of Wilson Love, an elementary school principal, may be a prank. Then again, they may not be.

Alexander disclosed Tuesday that Love, principal at Will Rogers elementary school, began receiving the letters March 7. He promptly turned them over to police, who notified postal inspectors and the FBI.

"Love does not need to live until March 25," the first letter said. "It will be blown sky high. This is not a joke. He caused a death. I may strike at night or day. When he dies, I die."

All the letters were written on plain white stationery and mailed in plain white envelopes. They were written from a stencil with an inch-high letters.

Flood Threat Moves East

The rising Mississippi and Missouri rivers threatened more devastation in Illinois and Missouri today and hundreds of New York and Connecticut residents fled their homes before one of the Northeast's worst floods since the 1930's.

The Mississippi River rose to new crests in hard-hit western Illinois, but observers doubted that any more levees would be broken.

Army engineers said the river would crest at 24.3 feet today at Quincy, Ill., and 23.1 feet Thursday at Hannibal, Mo., birthplace of Mark Twain.

But the runoff from two earlier levee breaks near Quincy was expected to ease the pressure on other sodden dikes along the angry river.

Work on the levees went on through the night from Quincy to Louisiana, Mo., in an effort to shore up the dikes before the new crests strike.

National Guardsmen and volunteer rescue workers raced from crisis to crisis along the Missouri River as the Big Muddy cracked dozens of small dikes and flowed over hundreds of acres of Missouri bottomland.

The Missouri flowed a mile through the night from Quincy to Louisiana, Mo., in an effort to shore up the dikes before the new crests strike.

Citizens Meet To Iron Out Racial Tension

Negro leaders and merchants in Nashville, Tenn., met today to consider a proposal that downtown stores integrate portions of their lunch counters and serve Negroes for a trial period of 90 days.

A seven-member bi-racial committee made the recommendation Tuesday night to Mayor Ben West in an effort to halt sit-down protests which have resulted in 150 arrests in Nashville.

But Luther Harris, a member of the sit-down leaders, said there was a "definite feeling of disappointment" among students that the recommendation didn't go far enough.

"The Negro is tired of token integration," said Harris, a Negro student at Peabody University. "Similar efforts to reach a solution to the sit-down controversy have been rejected in a number of other Southern cities."

A bi-racial committee at High Point, N.C., recommended a 60-day trial period of integration at lunch counters but merchants refused to go along with the proposal.

A one-month trial period was also recommended at Chapel Hill, N.C., but this too was rejected when three lunch counter operators refused to participate.

In Greensboro, N.C., a bi-racial committee concluded that variety

Dose Of Pills Fatal To Boy

Funeral services for 3-year-old Calvin Lerman, 124 S. Starkweather, will be held 2 p.m. tomorrow in Duenkell Carmichael Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Richard D. Crews, pastor of First Christian Church officiating.

The child's accidental death occurred in Highland General Hospital this morning at 4:15 following an overdose of high blood pressure pills taken yesterday morning in his home.

The youngster was born July 2, 1957 in Pampa.

Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lerman and brother, Michael, all of the home address; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Taylor and a grandmother, Mrs. Madie Lerman, all of Pampa. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Katy Prexy Can Relax, Says Judge

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)— The State Supreme Court assured Katy Railroad President W. N. Deramus III today that he doesn't have to worry about going to jail on a contempt of court citation by a Dallas district judge.

The railroad president was held in contempt by Dist. Judge W. L. (Jack) Thornton of Dallas after Katy tracks blocked the door of a meat packing plant in 1956.

The Supreme Court refused to hear the case today, but in an opinion by Associate Justice Frank P. Culver reaffirmed an earlier stand that the contempt charge was unfounded.

"No trial judge will attempt to enforce an order that we have held to be void and direct confinement thereunder," a written opinion by Justice Culver said.

"If this should occur, it would be the first time in the history of Texas jurisprudence so far as we know," the opinion said.

Tax Board Completes Estimates

Tax advisory board members completed their work last night on real and personal property taxes of Pampa citizens.

City Tax Assessor-Collector Aubrey Jones said last night was the final meeting for the present board. Their report will be presented to the board of equalization.

Jones said he will probably have the first estimates of real and personal property taxes completed for presentation to the city commission at Tuesday's meeting and a tentative date of May 9 and 10 has been set for public hearings. The board of education will appoint three representatives to be present at the meeting. The hearings will be held in the city commission room.

Castro Flays U.S. For Inciting Cubans

HAVANA (UPI)— Premier Fidel Castro charged Tuesday night that the United States is inciting Cubans to oppose his revolutionary regime.

Castro, addressing "people's militia" units at San Julian airbase in Pinar del Rio province, charged specifically that Cubans who recently "murdered a soldier and kidnaped his family... found shelter there" — obviously referring to the United States.

At the same time, a spokesman for the United Fruit Co. confirmed the semi-official announcement that the Castro regime is taking over another 175,000 acres of UFC farmland.

The spokesman said that now all of the approximately 273,000 acres of Cuban land owned by the company has been or is being seized by the government.

The latest seizure — first announced at the opening Monday night of a big Communist convention here — increased the total of American-owned land taken over by Castro's land reformers to about 343,000 acres, more than a third of the 2,167,500 acres Americans own in Cuba.

Dog Menace Cited By City Manager

City Manager John Kootz again today warned pet owners against letting their dogs run at large.

Kootz said three children have been bitten by dogs in the past week.

He requested anyone who sees a stray dog to put it in a pen or tie it up so the dog catcher can pick it up. He pointed out the dog catcher cannot enter private property without permission.

He said if a pet owner's dog bites anyone, the dog must be held for observation for 10 days.

South African Police Nab 300 Natives With Arms Cache

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)— Armed troops and police backed by armored cars seized an African hostel near Durban today and arrested about 300 natives.

Officials said natives had taken control of the S. J. Smith hostel near Lamontville, which houses about 4,500 Negroes, when agitators and intimidators forced white officials out Monday night.

Police surrounded the hostel in the early morning hours today and advised those who wanted to leave to do so. The inhabitants were warned that gunfire would be used if necessary to force them out.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Hdwe. Adv.

But the guns were not used. Police said about 300 Africans were arrested and a search of the hostel turned up a large number of weapons, including hammers, hatchets and clubs with knobbed ends.

Negroes were reported fleeing Lamontville and other native settlements near Cape Town, some in search of food and others to seek refuge in tribal homes to avoid new beatings by club and whip-wielding South African police.

The native settlements were reported quiet but tense today, a national holiday.

Heavily armed police patrols and armored cars made an early-morning sweep through Nyanga where four Africans were shot by police Tuesday night. But Deputy

Congressional Action Group To Be Discussed

A meeting to discuss the organization of a congressional action committee for Pampa will be held Thursday morning in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

Don Beaman, chairman of the legislative and national affairs committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, said interested persons may secure reservations through the chamber office.

"People are interested in studying current legislation on both state and national levels and in letting their opinions be known in Austin and Washington through various types of communications," Beaman commented.

The meeting will begin at 7 a.m.

Talkathon Slows Rights Bill Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI)— A one-man talkathon by Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) today slowed the Senate's progress toward a final vote on its civil rights bill.

Senate leaders shied away from any predictions on how much longer the debate would continue, although members still hoped that final action could be taken this week.

Ellender, seeking to knock out the bill's heart — a provision for federal voting referees, held the floor for seven hours and 40 minutes Tuesday. He stopped at midnight but was scheduled to speak for three more hours today.

KNOTS TO YOU — Eleven-month-old Debbie Dieckmann arrived in New York City fit to be tied. Originally from Erfurt, Germany, she's going to Salt Lake City, Utah, with her parents.

Africans Clubbed, Shot By Police

By RAY MALONEY
United Press International

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—Police clubbed, whipped and shot their way through the native township of Nyanga outside Cape Town Tuesday in an effort to drive stay-at-home Negroes back to their jobs.

The series of raids by the heavily-armed police left dozens of blacks injured.

"They've just passed through again," one African who was helping the lone medical doctor treating the injured natives said by telephone from Nyanga. "It's impossible to give casualty figures."

Police officials said the raids were made to break the stay-at-home movement by natives and force them back to work.

Dozens of injured Negroes were given first aid, many of them under a pouring rain. The first aid worker, who was not identified by name, said in the telephone report that "there were some bullet wounds among the injured."

The raids began at 6 a.m. and were still going on six hours later.

Messages from inside the Negro township said every African girl with the least bit of first aid experience was mobilized to help Dr. C. K. Mazikiza, the only medical man in Nyanga.

One tear-streaked helper was quoted as saying, "This rain is the tears of the African people."

The raids today were a follow-up to the series of lightning swoops carried out in Nyanga Monday in the 14th day of racist violence throughout the Union of South Africa.

The violence stemmed from Negro native resistance to the nation's policy of apartheid or racial segregation. The government imposed a state of emergency last week and moved to outlaw the principal native organizations.

The Africans said the government forces smashed doors and windows and dragged blacks from their houses into the streets.

"Police used batons, homemade sjamboks (whips made of rubber strips) and fists on African men," one African said.

UPI Correspondent Ray Maloney, watching from outside, said some Africans ran out toward bus stops looking back over their shoulders at police following them.

The police action began the second day of a new "get tough" policy designed to halt a "stay-home" demonstration by blacks protesting the government's white supremacy laws.

Monday night police went into Nyanga, near Cape Town, with loudspeakers announcing that any natives who wanted to return to work would get full protection. Helicopters hovered over the town this morning repeating the message and dropping 6,000 leaflets.

SPRING FOR SURE
DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—It's a sure sign of spring. John Graesser, 11, got a note from a girl saying "I love you. Do you love me?"

He was asked to check one of three boxes: "Yes," "maybe," or "no."

In preparation for this morning's action, government forces sealed off a main road along Nyanga, apparently in expectation of major trouble.

Withholding Tax Doesn't Keep All Persons Paid Up

Withholding tax on wages fails to keep many taxpayers paid up with Uncle Sam—Hence Form 1040-ES.

According to Wiley E. Davis, of Internal Revenue Service, Pamphlet 1040-ES, the law requires every citizen or resident of the U.S. to file a Declaration of Estimated Income Tax, Form 1040-ES, and to make quarterly payments in advance of filing their annual income tax return.

Taxpayers who must estimate fall into two groups. The first group are those whose total income can reasonably be expected to consist of wages subject to withholding and not more than $100 of other income, and to exceed:

1. $10,000 in the case of a taxpayer in the special head-of-a-household class, or a widow or widower entitled to special tax rates.
2. $5,000 for other single taxpayers.
3. $5,000 for a married individual entitled to file a joint return, where the combined income of husband and wife will exceed $10,000.

The second group consists of taxpayers whose total income can reasonably be expected to include more than $100 not subject to withholding, and to exceed the sum of the following:

1. $600 for each of the taxpayer's exemptions.
2. Plus $400.

IRS mails Form 1040-ES, as far as is practicable, to each person who may need it. Others required to file should obtain the form from any IRS office in time to file by April 15, 1960. Farmers may postpone filing their 1960 declarations until January 15, 1961.

Mr. Davis reminds taxpayers of the importance of estimating their tax carefully. "There's an additional charge imposed by law for underpayment of any installment of estimated tax," he said.

There's a free document, No. 5111, on "Declaration of Estimated Tax," available at the IRS office at Dallas.

McAlLEN MAN ELECTED

DALLAS (UPI)—The new president of the Texas Cotton Ginners Assn. is James Walsh of McAllen. The organization's board of directors made the announcement Monday at the opening of a two-day convention in Dallas. Walsh, who owns two cotton gins in Mission, succeeds Robert L. Horton of Waxahatchie, R. L. Massey of Pilot Point is the new vice president.

But we did have quite a long talk with them, Hamilton said. The sheriff said the boys, both 9, were playing outside the jail Monday when some prisoners pushed money at them through a barred window.

The prisoners told the youngsters to run downtown and get some hacksaw blades and "keep the change."

The transaction worked—the boys got their spending money and the prisoners their hacksaw blades—until authorities discovered the contraband in the jail. Officers said that even if the prisoners had managed to use the blades they would not have been successful because the jail bars could be cut only with an acetylene torch.

TAKING REST-CURE
BERLIN (UPI)—The East German press office said Monday Premier Otto Grotewohl had left for a rest-cure in the Soviet Union.

Deputy Premier Heinrich Rau will act as premier until Grotewohl returns, the announcement said.

Room Service In Crossbar Hotel

MORRIS, Ill. (UPI)—Sheriff Henry Hamilton today would take no action against two enterprising boys who sold hacksaw blades to prisoners in the county jail.

Five dams along the upper course of the Missouri gave engineers almost push button control over the river during the thaw-triggered floods which swept the prairie states last week.

The floods were caused by downstream tributaries of the Missouri River in Nebraska and Iowa. But they would have been much worse if it were not for the Pick-Sloan flood control system.

Through some tricky manipulation by the engineers, the reservoirs had greatly reduced the amount of flood water which passed downstream from Omaha.

Reservoirs Aided In Checking Flood

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—The giant Missouri River flood control system has passed its first big test with flying colors, the Army Corps of Engineers said today.

The United States and Italy will cooperate in rocket studies of the upper atmosphere. The National Aeronautics & Space Administration said Monday it hoped the rockets could be launched next September from a site on the island of Sardinia.

Lowa. But they would have been much worse if it were not for the Pick-Sloan flood control system.

Boy Struck By Car Not Seriously Hurt

A 6-year-old Pampa boy is in Highland General Hospital today with painful though not serious injuries after being struck by a car late yesterday afternoon. Chief of Police Jim Conner said Thomas Lee Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Watson, 1100 Terry Road, was bruised and scratched when his bicycle was hit by a car driven by Henry Monte Fleming, 32, of 2213 N. Summer. No charges have been filed. Conner pointed out that with the advent of warm weather, there will be more children riding bicycles and tricycles and cautioned all motorists to be on the lookout for them. He also asked parents to caution their children against riding from behind a parked car, driveway or alley without taking proper precautions. In speaking of "Go-Carts" which he described as a small flat-bedded wagon with a motor attached, the chief said these are motor vehicles and must be licensed before they can be driven on public thoroughfares. He also said the person operating the "Go-Cart" must have an operator's license to drive, and parents who let their children operate them on city streets are in violation as well as the child.

Lie Test Shows Petropoulos Told Truth In Amarillo

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI)—Rep. H. J. (Doc) Blanchard, head of the legislative crime committee, announced that a lie detector test showed Tommy Petropoulos told the truth about payoffs in the Potter County sheriff's department. He also announced that a new test taken by Mrs. Lester Davis, wife of the man described as the "kingpin" of Amarillo gambling, was inconclusive. An earlier test showed she also told the truth about her husband paying as much as $500 weekly for "protection" for his gambling activities. Petropoulos testified before the House General Investigating Committee hearings two weeks ago that Dick Bufkin, captain of the sheriff's criminal division, tried to give him $100 to "layoff" the gambling den operated by Davis. Bufkin and two other deputies were suspended. Petropoulos and Bufkin are both running for sheriff. In other developments, the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce endorsed a recommendation by the Potter County grand jury to name a special grand jury and prosecutor to investigate gambling and vice. And Randall County Commissioners named W. J. Fleisher, 76, as acting county judge to fill the vacancy created when Roy Joe Stevens, accused of professional misconduct by the crime committee, resigned.

Campaign Expense Reports Due Date

Gray County Clerk Charlie Thut said today that April 27 to 29 all candidates for county or state offices must file their first report of campaign expenses. Thut said the second report must be filed on May 17. Absentee voting in the May 7 Democratic primary will begin April 17 and continue through midnight May 3. Thirty-four candidates have filed in Gray County for city, county and state offices.

IT'S THE LAW

in Texas

The Original Philadelphia Lawyer

Frequently when a problem is particularly perplexing, someone will exclaim that "this would cause a Philadelphia lawyer." The term takes on special significance when it is remembered that it has a close connection with one of the most important cases in American legal history—the seditious libel trial of John Peter Zenger in 1735. Zenger was the printer and publisher of a paper known as the New York Weekly Journal. Unfortunately, he made the unhappy mistake of criticizing the administration of Royal Governor Cosby of New York in the public print. The tyrannical Cosby had Zenger jailed and thus began a dramatic and important event in American history.

Zenger had editorialized that the Governor had deeds to lands destroyed, judges arbitrarily displaced, new courts established without the consent of the Legislature and had denied the right to vote to certain landowners. All of these accusations were based on fact but truth was held to be on defense in a prosecution for seditious libel, which was defined as "a written censure upon public men for their conduct as such." Inconceivable as it is today, the English courts had taken the position that the greater the truth the more serious the nature of the libel.

Zenger was brought to trial for his published remarks and almost immediately his New York countercourts were established by the Legislature. After disbarment they secured the services of Andrew Hamilton of the Philadelphia bar to continue the defense. Hamilton was the foremost lawyer in the American Colonies and the term "Philadelphia lawyer" was long used as a special compliment in his individual honor. Hamilton offered his services to Zenger without fee.

Displaying great moral courage he defied the judges who were controlled by the Governor and told the jury that it was not considering the cause of a poor printer. Instead, it was considering the cause of "the liberty both of exposing and opposing arbitrary power by speaking and writing truth." At the conclusion of the trial the Chief Justice instructed the jury that the printed words of Zenger were libelous and that if the jury found he had published them, as he had, then Zenger should be found guilty. Under such circumstances it was obvious that Zenger would be convicted.

Fortunately, the jury, which was not controlled by the Governor, defied the court. Zenger was found not guilty. America had a free press and as Governor Morris, one of the members of the Constitutional Convention was later to remark, "The trial of Zenger in 1735 was the germ of American freedom, the morning star of that liberty which subsequently revolutionized America."

KENNEDY

(Continued From Page 1) said, "I don't feel injured at all." Kennedy's camp exulted in his majority popular vote, his assurance of most Wisconsin delegates at the Democratic nominating convention in Los Angeles, and at least partial proof that his political magnetism could attract votes from the Midwest farm belt.

Kennedy, shepherding his striking-appearing "win" through the election night crowds, just smiled and said, "I am pleased to win. My wife and I came as strangers and we did well."

"It's a fantastic victory," chimed in Kennedy's brother, Robert, former chief counsel of the Senate Rackets Committee. On the Republican side, Nixon was hailed for getting more than 300,000 votes, even though he had not campaigned in Wisconsin. Kennedy's Seventh District victory was regarded as the most significant of the lot. The central Wisconsin district is primarily rural, and one of the big questions of the primary had been whether a Roman Catholic such as Kennedy could score in such country. He did.

FLOOD

Meanwhile, Connecticut and upstate New York residents faced their worst flood threat since the hurricane Diana deluge in 1955, and their second worst in 22 years.

Emergency crews threw up a sandbag barrier along the rapidly rising Connecticut River, but other swollen streams flowed over their banks to block roads and inundate thousands of farm acres.

Nearly 600 persons left their homes in the face of flooding along the Connecticut, the Mohawk, the Hudson and dozens of tributaries.

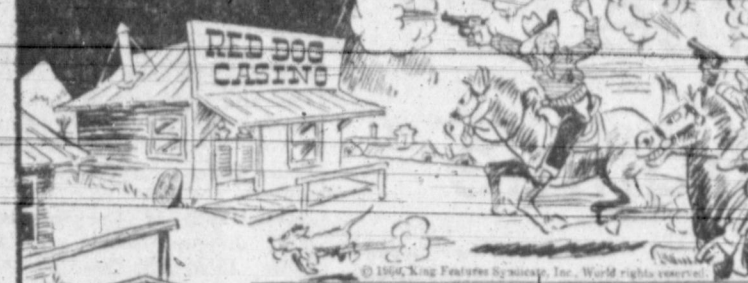

At least 600,000 acres of Illinois and Missouri farmland were under water and the figure mounted hourly as new breakthroughs were reported in small, badly weakened dikes.

Housing Bids Influence Peddling Measure Are Opened In House Ignites Fireworks

McLEAN (Sp) — The McLean Public Housing authority opened bids for 12 low-rent dwelling units today, with the apparent low bid of $116,500 being submitted by Barker Construction Company of Quantah. Second low bid was $120,465 from the George W. Graham Construction Company of Lubbock. Bill Reeves, chairman of the authority, said a contract will be submitted to one of the two firms within two weeks, and construction is expected to begin by May 1. The bids must be tabulated, and submitted to the Public Housing Authority office in Fort Worth before contracts are let.

This is the second time bids have been opened for the housing unit. In the fall, this were rejected by authority members thought them too high. The fall bids were about $15,000 higher than today's.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A floor fight faced the House today over a bill to set stiff criminal penalties against influence peddling by retired officers who take jobs with defense contractors. At issue was a bill approved by the House Armed Services Committee that would make it illegal for an officer to take a job selling to the armed forces within two years after the date he sheds his uniform. Violators would forfeit retirement pay for two years after an offense and, even though retired, they would face a court martial. Many House members felt this didn't go far enough. Their drive to toughen the legislation was headed by Rep. E. Edward Hebert (D-La.), chairman of an armed services subcommittee which last year held hearings on military influence peddling. Hebert said he had a series of toughening amendments to offer if his move to write the provision directly into the bill was challenged. Amendments also were expected from others, including Rep. Alfred E. Santangelo (D-N.Y.). Other congressional news: "Frontier" AFL-CIO leader accused the Eisenhower administration of a "shameful" surrender to the American Medical Assn. and the insurance companies on the issue of medical care for the head caricatures. One friend of mine does exquisite arrangements of "flowers" made from tinted halves of eggshells on wire stems with real or plastic green leaves.

Miss Banks Feted On Sixth Birthday

GROOM (Sp) — Pam Banks was honored recently with a party on her sixth birthday. Games and refreshments comprised the afternoon's entertainment. Guests were: Tony Ritter, Barry Fields, Laurel Krison, Larry Poff, Lamora Durgan, Parry Brewer, Gary Blakely, John Crowell, Patti Anderson, Debi Goodin, Patricia Avey, Jill Major, Carmen Carrett, Brown, Brent Stephens, and Mrs. A. B. Banks. Misses Shirley Fields, D. D. Banks, and Catherine Banks.

An Easter egg tree which I learned about from Dennison's consumer service is gay and pretty as a centerpiece for a buffet table.

Although it does not require unusual artistic talents to make, you can't expect to whip it together at the last minute. But decorating the eggs which dangle from the leafy branches is fun and worth the time it takes.

To make an Easter egg tree, you'll need flameproof crepe paper, flower seals, stars and signet dots. No. 15 wire, a spool of fine annealed wire, paste, flowerpot and eggs.

Eggs can be hardboiled or better yet, the hollow shells. Blow out the egg from the shell. The shell is a job I delegate to the older children. If you have glass or china eggs, you can use these.

Paint the flowerpot white or gold or silver. To make the tree cut about 35 or 40 leaves, four inches long and an inch-and-a-half wide, from mint green crepe paper. Wrap the base of one leaf to the end of a 13 1/2-inch piece of No. 15 wire with a narrow strip of white crepe paper. Add three or four more leaves about an inch or two apart.

Make several more branches the same way. Rewrap the end of one branch with a white crepe paper strip and add the others to form a tree about 15 inches high. Leave a 2-inch piece of wire unwrapped at the base. Bend at right angles and tape to inside of flowerpot.

Stick pebbles, crepe paper, tissue paper or tissue paper covered with jelly beans into the pot to hide the tree base.

Some of the eggs are decorated with narrow strips of crepe paper in various colors wrapped smoothly around them and pasted. Others are studded with multicolored gummed paper stars, flowers, dots, scrolls and similar stickers. A length of fine wire, taped to the small end of the egg, fastens egg to tree branch.

Have you "pretty pasted" table linens? This is the day to use them. If you're pressed for time, you can dress a table for the occasion quickly and simply with a pastel yellow, pink or green cloth and a bowl of fresh spring flowers.

Many families I know have traditional Easter decorations made at home starting weeks ahead of the day.

Some favor intricately painted eggs; others so amusing "egg-ley," Tom Hext and Hugh Wilson.

Liven Up Your Easter Table With Playful White Bunnies

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Food and Markets Editor

What would Easter be without a few white bunnies playing among the daffodils? Or for that matter, made of marshmallows, sitting atop a gleaming cake, or made of ice cream, at peace with the world in a caramel nest? Rightly, bunnies, of course, but springtime engenders the spirit of happy frivolity.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Sixteen year-old Lynn has been having trouble with her boy friend. It's made her difficult to live with. Nothing pleases her.

Her teachers are always springing unexpected tests on her; the barber has made a mess of her hair, nobody remembers she's dieting and wants no oil on her salad.

But when Lynn's mother calls her attention to the absence of oil on her salad serving Lynn just says "oh" — and belligerently resumes the argument over whose turn it is to do the dinner dishes.

By this behavior it is a tough Lynn were crying out to us: "You fools, can't you see that I feel deprived of something?"

And in fact, she is. Though she's a pretty girl, is liked by her friends and possesses our affection, Lynn is deprived of the power to change her boy friend.

She can't force him to turn down that camp counselor job that will take him out of town this summer. She can't make him decide to go "steady" with her. She can't stop him from corresponding with the attractive girl counselor he met at camp last summer.

But somehow Lynn believes that she should be able to manage all these impossible things. Way down deep she thinks she should be so irresistibly appealing to her boy friend that he can deny her nothing. Unable to exert this irresistible power, she's become afraid she is lacking in sexual charm.

Adolescent children often feel that they should be able to exert irresistible sexual charm. And when someone resists the charm, they get scared and consequently very irritable.

We don't always pin-point the source of the irritation. We think that Lynn is suffering from frustrated affection for her boy friend when the fact is she is suffering from the obligation to prove herself irresistible.

So long as we so delude ourselves, as we can't be very comforting. So long as we think she needs reconciliation with the boy friend, we can't see that what she needs is reconciliation with herself.

We can't lead her to the relieving realization that she doesn't have to be a goddess of love able to command devotion at will. And that she can recover peace the moment she stops trying to exert power that only exists in the minds of people who write movie scripts for Ava Gardner.

DEAR ABBY
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My mother, who is getting on in years, is causing me much embarrassment. She lives alone and is able to care for herself financially and in every other way.

She is as healthy as a horse but her favorite pastime is calling up doctors. She insists on talking to the doctor himself. When she gets him on the phone she'll talk his ear off.

She refuses to get to his office. She just likes to call them up and talk about herself. She has done this to almost every prominent doctor in town. (One doctor sent her a bill stating that he had spent more time on the phone with her than he does on the average house call. Who could blame him?) What can I do about this situation? My mother isn't the kind of person you can reason with.

EMBARRASSED
There is no need for you to feel personal embarrassment. Almost every doctor has had experience in treating "telephonitis." Let each one handle it in his own way.

DEAR ABBY: I was amused to read in your column that you couldn't understand why grown men permitted themselves to be called "Buddy, Jimmy and Billy." Look at Bobby Jones, Jimmy Durante and Billy Graham! And Winston Churchill doesn't mind being called "Winnie" and even you, Miss Van Buren, are called "Dear Abby."

"BUDDY" PAPPAS (Age 64)

DEAR ABBY: I am disoriented. I have been married five months. My husband brings home a gallon some with supper and then he has some more. Then he stretched himself out on the living room couch and goes to sleep. He sleeps all the night through. I want to know how many women get married to sleep by themselves? I am 40 and he is 37.

DISCONTENTED
You need a bigger couch, a smaller jug, or another husband.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ST. LOUIS
SUBURBANITE: The "problem" you wrote is not your problem. The person who is "different" and does not consider his "difference" a problem should not be criticized or ridiculed. If he lives happily and peacefully with others — and does them no harm — who are we to sit in judgment because he is unlike ourselves?

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Every Teen-ager Wants to Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

Mrs. Northcott Is Feted At Shower

LEFORS (Sp) — Mrs. Tommy Northcott was honored with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. B. D. Vaughn Saturday night.

Co-hostesses were Misses D. A. Johnson, Cleve Johnson, A. T. Cobb, Walter Pflug, Joe Archer, J. N. Smith, A. E. Dunbar, and Gladys Pafford.

Corsages of pink pansies were formed of plastic and arranged with ribbon on pink and green net and presented to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Kirkland, and Mrs. Vernon Northcott, mother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Archer registered the guests in a book made of pink satin covered with white net. The register table was covered in white lace over pink, as was the gift laden table.

The honoree was assisted in opening the gifts by Mrs. Kirkland and Mrs. Northcott. The gifts were registered in the book by Mrs. Terry Pflug.

The serving table was covered with white lace over pink and centered with the crystal punch bowl flanked on each side by triple crystal candleholders holding white tapers. The cake was inscribed, "Tommy and Nancy" and was served by Mrs. Dunham as Mrs. Cobb poured punch.

Guests were: Misses L. R. Spence, L. H. Beersman, Royce Gee, W. R. Combs, R. H. Bradford, Vernon Northcott, Glenda Pflug, Winnie Robey of Lubbock, aunt of the bridegroom, accompanied by her daughter, of Borger, and Jimmy Robey of McLean.

Rebekah History Given At Meeting

CANADIAN (Sp) — Rebekah Lodge met recently with Maggie Sutton, noble grand, conducting the business meeting.

The history of the Rebekah Lodge was given by Clara Blue. Hostess for the meeting was Esther Bentley.

Members attending were Misses Maggie Sutton, Wanda Hardin, Bonnie Ereman, Carre McRiland, Vivian Alford, Clara Blue, Ida Mae Conley, Ethel Poindexter, and Martha Newton.

Women who find themselves breathless or with tiny aches and pains after wearing a girdle may take comfort from a man. The gentleman thought he was a victim of heart disease. After visiting a doctor he learned his trousers were too tight around the waist. The moral: don't insist on wearing clothing that cuts circulation.

STAMMERER TO LAWYER—Ventriloquism is an odd path to a law degree but for Phil Wein, 26, of Clarion, Pa., it was a happy choice. As a youth Wein stuttered. The exacting art of voice-throwing cured Phil's stammering, made him articulate, in fact, his ventriloquism act on TV, and at New York state resorts, paid his college expenses. Sylvester K. Fine III, pictured with Wein at left, above, is the star of the eight-dummy menagerie Wein uses in his act. Wein, shown right entering courthouse, earned his law degree at the University of Pittsburgh Law School after graduation with high honors from Penn. State University.

Walter Rogers Reports

Foreign Aid Issue This Year Highly Controversial

Foreign Aid

The Congress will soon come to grips with an issue that bids to be more controversial this year than at any other time. It is the bill which will be designed for the purpose of carrying out the request of President Eisenhower for new obligatory authority for foreign aid in the amount of $4.175 million. This is an increase of $949 million over the amount provided for fiscal 1960. The President estimated the expenditures for fiscal year 1961 to be $3,450 million, an increase of $100 million over 1960.

As most of you know, the foreign aid program has travelled under numerous aliases. Most recently, it has been called the Mutual Security Program; and the International Cooperation Administration. There are many arms to the program, having names very similar to the major title. However, under any name it is an aid program financed by the taxpayers of this country for the purpose of making grants, gifts and loans to foreign governments. The controversial nature of such a program and the continuing criticism directed at the program through the years has caused many Members of Congress to take some long looks at what is going on. Hence, it would appear that this year the proponents of the foreign aid program will have a much tougher battle in obtaining the passage of a bill appropriating expenditures of an additional $4.175 million of American taxpayers' money for foreign aid purposes.

The long look which has been taken by some of the congressmen has produced some startling facts, which have not yet been fully documented. All of this will be brought out in the debate on the subject matter.

The chairman of the Foreign Operations Subcommittee on Appropriations is Congressman Otto E. Passman of Louisiana. He has certainly done an outstanding job in the past in cutting down the requests which come to Congress for these foreign aid appropriations. He has done a magnificent job in trying to dig out much of the fat in these programs and will no doubt produce a lot of good results this year. He has just furnished me with a schedule of mutual security funds, by program and amount, available for expenditure during fiscal year 1960. That is, funds which are presently in the so-called foreign aid pipeline. Unexpended funds on June 30, 1959, amounted to $4,837,708,750. New funds appropriated for fiscal 1960 amounted to $3,225,813,000. New funds from other sources available for fiscal 1960 amounted to $48 million. Therefore, the total amount available for fiscal year 1960, which ends on June 30, 1960, was $8,111,521,750.

Notwithstanding that this amount was available, foreign aid advocates have come back to Congress this year for $4.175 million additional. Mr. Passman has very kindly furnished the members of Congress with a breakdown of the funds which were available for fiscal year 1960 and has pointed out the vast amount of work which must be done by the subcommittee this year in view of the request for additional funds. He especially points out that the subcommittee is being subjected to tremendous pressure and propaganda from many quarters, especially from the 45,000 employees and 10,000 trainees of the Mutual Security Program, who are scattered in 76 nations of the world. He also points out that much pressure is coming from the White House and its prestige, the State Department and its prestige, the Defense Department and its power, and scores of large manufacturers who make big profits from the foreign aid program; also, many colleges and universities and literally hundreds of other organizations hoping to participate in this $12 billion-plus park barrel. He reassures the Congress, however, that the subcommittee will continue to resist the unwarranted propaganda and pressure for excessive amounts for foreign aid, and will try to provide only funds based upon actual need and not on desire. Congressman Passman and his subcommittee are entitled to the gratitude of all American taxpayers for their tireless work in trying to protect the American taxpayer's money. They are doing a good job.

The comptroller general of the United States has been quoted as stating that the weakness of the program is too much money, not too little.

In any event, you can look for some political fireworks when this bill comes up this year.

Visitors

It was a real pleasure to have one of the Panhandle's most distinguished and talented products here in Washington last week—I speak of Miss Jan Barton of Matador, who was a delegate representing 4-H from Texas to the White House Conference on Youth. Miss Barton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Barton is a senior in the Matador High School and has an enviable record of accomplishments and contributions to the community, state, and nation. Jan certainly did a fine job at the White House Conference and it was a privilege to see and visit with her here at the capital.

Health Group Aims To Erase Malaria

(Editor's Note: World Health Day is April 7. The world health organization, a United Nations specialized agency celebrating its 12th anniversary, then, has pledged to eliminate malaria as one of the world's top killers in this decade. UPI chief U.N. correspondent Bruce W. Muir visits Mexico for an on-the-scene review of the campaign there.

By Bruce W. Muir
United Press International

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Suzie Q. Anopheles, more than most of her sex, attests the fact that the female is the deadlier of the species.

Like some few of her human sisters, this feminine mosquito's life is dominated by two urges—sex and diet.

And therein lies the story of the world's most catastrophic and expensive disease, misnamed malaria.

For the female Anopheles is the carrier of the parasite that causes malaria.

The female, like some in the human whirl, is obsessed with the idea of a high protein diet. And the best source of protein is blood.

any blood, but especially human blood—which she needs to nurture her young.

In taking blood from a malarious person, she picks up the malarious disease, thus spreading the disease, when she feeds again.

But the Anopheles takes aboard the equivalent of her own body weight in blood and takes off like an overloaded airplane. She can't fly far in that condition and, like a human after Thanksgiving dinner, she is lousy. She makes for the nearest wall to rest.

It was this discovery that made possible the highly successful malaria eradication campaign now being waged throughout the world by governments with the help of the World Health Organization (WHO) and the United Nations Children Fund (UNICEF).

Far more effective than trying to eliminate the carrier by spraying its breeding places—as is as a war, have reduced the incidence of malaria from 136.7 per 100,000 in 1955 to an estimated 2.7 per 100,000 this year.

Malaria, known as ere Paludismo in correction of the original belief that it was caused by bad air, killed 128.6 of every 100,000 of Mexico's population in 1942. In 1958, the last year for which official vital statistics are available, it killed 16.5 of each 100,000.

Mexico is one of many of the world's countries now engaged in a four-year campaign to eradicate malaria, which was agreed upon at WHO's eighth annual assembly in 1955. Already, the disease has been eliminated in most of the United States, Puerto Rico, Chile, the Netherlands, Greece, Italy, Russia and Israel, to mention a few countries which formerly paid a high toll for malaria.

Railroads Talking Mergers In 1960

FINANCIAL REVIEW
By LEROY POPE
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Veteran railroad men are unimpressed by reports that the sixties are going to be the greatest era of railway consolidation in this century.

The managements of at least 30 lines are talking merger and the Interstate Commerce Commission has flashed a green light for consolidations. But neither Wall Street nor rail executives expect it to happen.

They point out that twice before—in 1920 and 1933—the ICC tried to rudge—the railway companies into major consolidations, and both times the companies balked.

This time, experts said today, there doubtless will be some mergers. The Norfolk & Western and the Virginians, two prosperous lines, have merged and the combined company now is flirting with the Nickel Plate, to announce the Chesapeake & Ohio, which has been having an off-and-on romance with the Nickel Plate.

Schools Suffer As Population Grows In South

ATLANTA (UPI)—Public schools throughout the South can look forward to a tremendous enrollment increase within the next few years—adding to the woes of already overcrowded class rooms.

The U.S. Department of Commerce Atlanta field office reported today that a 1959 survey showed that there were 4,200,000 children five years of age or younger in the South in 1959. This was 60,000 more pre-school children than were reported in the 1950 census.

The survey also showed a marked increase in the number of older persons. The office said the heavy influx of persons 65 years or older to the South to retire helped soar that age group to a total of 4,110,000 in 1959—909,000 more than were reported in 1950.

The states with the biggest increase of pre-school children were Texas with a climb of 236,000 and Florida which went up 228,000. Florida as well ahead of all other states in increase in persons 65 years or older, with 218,000 more in 1959 than in 1950.

The survey showed that the largest percentage of persons in each state were in the 14-to-17 age group. Arkansas, with 30.5 per cent of its population in that age bracket, had the lowest percentage.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

While on the subject of 'best' plays you can have some fun with this excellent hand from Terence Reese's book, "The Expert Game."

Your seven spade contract is indeed a good one and will be laid down by clubs break three-two. Can you make it against a four-one break in that suit?

There is a most unusual safety play here that involves chucking one of your high clubs on dummy's king of hearts. Here is how the philosophy plainly seems to be— the railroads need to be strong to compete with the trucks, the buses and the airlines—not with each other.

Then, why aren't more mergers expected to come about?

The main reason was put bluntly by the late president Daniel Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio, during an earlier wave of merger talk. He said—"nobody wants to merge himself out of a job."

Dishonored Hero Bids For Second Chance

VACAVILLE, Calif. (UPI)—A war hero who ruined a promising Army career asked for another chance today—and doctors at the state prison hospital here believe he deserves it.

Victor Hungerford, 39, rose from private to major during World War II and won the Bronze and Silver Stars and a Purple Heart during the Korean campaign.

In 1950, he led his platoon on an attack on a Chinese Communist machine gun nest near the Kum River. He was stunned by the concussion of an exploding shell and lay as though dead for eight hours before medics discovered he was alive.

Hungerford was checked, pronounced all right, and returned to his company. But soon he developed headaches, felt strange and occasionally suffered amnesia.

The major was transferred back to his home state of Washington, where he went on a series of drinking sprees and was AWOL in 1954 after 18 years of service.

Hungerford was dishonorably discharged and sentenced to a year in military prison for desertion and larceny.

Last year, he was sentenced for passing bad checks in California. Physicians at the division of medicine and surgery at the prison medical facility here became interested in the major.

Dr. Hal Hildand, a neurosurgeon, finally determined that Hungerford had a cyst on the left frontal-lobe of his brain, probably as the result of the concussion he suffered in combat.

The cyst was removed during a delicate brain operation, and the former war hero's personality and physical condition underwent a dramatic change. Headaches disappeared. Hungerford became more relaxed, and his criminal symptoms vanished.

The former major was released Monday, after serving a year. Authorities here believe he is a cured man. "I'd like to get back in the Army," he said.

The hospital is sending a complete record of the unusual circumstances to Washington, suggesting the case be reopened with a view toward changing the discharge to honorable.

Zales Stores Mark 36th Anniversary

An additional 36 new stores have joined the Zales Jewelry Company ranks during the past year and are taking part in the firm's nationwide 36th anniversary event during April, reported Sam Jacobson, manager of the Pampa Zales store.

The local store is one of 149 of the country's largest retail jewelry organizations operating from the Pacific Northwest to Virginia and Florida on the East Coast. Six additional units are scheduled to open shortly, and negotiations are under way for several more.

The firm's headquarters are in Dallas. A New York diamond assembly shop and office is maintained along with the Bayler Watch Company, a Zales-owned subsidiary. Recently, Zales expanded its diamond buying facilities in Antwerp, Belgium, to provide for increased diamond cutting operations.

Disability Must Be Permanent To Receive Benefits

In order to receive social security disability benefits, only those are eligible who have a permanent disability, one which is so severe that it prevents doing any substantial gainful work.

Hal Geldon, district manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office, emphasized, "The disability which the claimant has must be a condition which is expected to last indefinitely and one which will not likely improve with time or medical treatment."

Many people believe that the social security disability payment is a "top-up" program on which they can depend until they are well enough to return to work. Geldon stressed that such a provision is not a part of the social security law.

"Rather," he said, "social security benefits are intended to provide some relief from loss of income due to a permanent disability." If the disabling condition will improve with time; or with medical treatment; or if the claimant can work at a job that is less demanding than his usual work, he will not be considered to be disabled under the social security law, and should not count on receiving disability benefits.

Austin County Courthouse Up In Flames

BELLVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—A million dollar fire swept through the 74-year-old Austin County courthouse early Tuesday, but authorities said most of the county records were saved.

"All that's left standing are the four brick walls," Austin County Chief Deputy Sheriff E. G. Braas said. "We were able to recover most of the records, and after they dry out I think most of them will be all right."

Braas said a night watchman discovered the fire at about 2:30 a.m. The watchman notified Braas and as the two of them arrived at the courthouse the chief deputy said "windows began popping out."

Fire trucks from several area towns, including Sealy, Rosenberg, Wallace and Brenham helped fight the fire. It was officially declared under control at about 4:30 a.m.

Braas said the fire apparently started on the first floor near the east double doors. He said the watchman first thought someone had broken into the courthouse. Braas said the county had insurance on the courthouse, but he didn't know how much.

Daylight Saving Time In 27 States

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Daylight savings time begins again April 24—bringing with it some confusion over transportation schedules, protests from farmers and approval from lovers of the outdoors.

Many communities in 27 states will set their clocks an hour ahead to get an extra hour of sunlight during the summer months. Daylight saving time starts officially at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, April 24.

It will remain in effect in 18 of the states and the District of Columbia through Oct. 24. Localities in eight states will adhere to the old five-month period.

Only a few small areas in the South will change.

KOHLER, Wis. (UPI)—The nation's longest labor dispute, the Kohler Co. strike, entered its seventh year Tuesday, but only a handful of United Auto Workers Union pickets were on hand for the anniversary.

Union officials said no demonstrations were held because of a pending decision by the National Labor Relations Board on charges arising from the bitter strike.

No Cuts On FHA Down Payments

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Housing Administration is destroying the possibility of lowering minimum down payments on houses bought with FHA-backed mortgages.

Congress last year authorized lowering down payments on houses costing $13,500 or more. But FHA chief Julian H. Zimmerman refused to use the authority last fall, contending it would not stimulate the sale of new homes until credit conditions eased.

Housing Administrator Norman P. Mason, Zimmerman's boss, said Tuesday that improved availability of home loans in the past two months has led to a second look at the question.

White House Egg Roll Easter Monday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The annual Easter egg roll at the White House will be held on Easter Monday, April 18.

In announcing the date Tuesday, the White House pointed out that admission would be limited to children 12 and under, plus accompanying adults. The children have to bring their own eggs.

Symington Campaign Gets Rolling

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Stuart Symington, tailoring his appeal for middle-of-the-road voters, is fitting his Democratic presidential campaign around a "good business management" theme.

The Missouri Democrat stressed his business background in political speeches in Pennsylvania and Maryland earlier this week. He takes off Thursday on a swing into Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota.

The idea that Symington is a "liberal who has met a payroll"—a tag applied by one newspaper—appears to be fundamental in his campaign. Symington backers think it spells political magnetism which would draw pro-Eisenhower Democrats and independents—and some Republicans—into his corner.

"I have spent most of my life in management," Symington reminded his Democratic audience Monday night at Mechanicsburg, Pa. He said the waste he seen in government, as one with management experience, is "truly appalling."

"I came to government out of business," Symington told a Jackson Day Democratic Dinner in Salisbury, Md. Tuesday night. "I believe that good business management can save, in this year's budget, many billions a year."

Knowing Liberty

There is no one more eager than we to see the wide acceptance and adoption of libertarian ideas...

What, you ask? If liberty is important to you, as you say, why not obtain it in any way possible?

And, the quicker the better. We must do it now. Not so we will have it later...

We believe that liberty is so important that even when a majority of persons adopt political policies favorable to liberty...

The peculiar nature of liberty is that it is individualistic in character. And while there are many who insist that to have a condition of liberty requires a total participation by one hundred percent of the people...

In the realm of political debate we have been treated, to an excellent summation by two conservative patriots, both of whom are fed up with the drift of the gallop of this nation into collectivism...

Two Premature Views

In the realm of political debate we have been treated, to an excellent summation by two conservative patriots, both of whom are fed up with the drift of the gallop of this nation into collectivism...

But here is Everingham: "Every informed American who was ever a Democrat is sick unto death at what the Communists have done in influencing that party. Likewise, every informed American who had hopes in the Republican Party is sick at the stomach, Indiana, and Harry T. Everingham, founder and executive vice president of "We, The People," in Chicago, Illinois.

The thinking of these two vigorous Americans in respect to the socialist and communist evil which is in the process of overwhelming all of us is as alike as two peas in a pod. You could not get an iota of sympathy from either of them for any pink or red scheme.

But when it comes to finding a remedy, the two gentlemen depart each other's company and strike out for themselves. Dr. Blazey believes that America needs a new political party. Everingham believes that the solution must be found within the existing parties.

He favors neither one above the other and recommends that persons should be free to cross party lines on the basis of selecting the "best" man.

Blazey buttresses his case by the historic facts behind the formation of the Republican party. He reviews the history of the formation of the GOP, reminding his readers that this party was formed out of the disoriented elements, mostly Whigs, but that in essence it was a third party.

He says, in part, "I see no reason in view of the above historical fact in the creation of the Republican Party, why we cannot create a party responsive to the will of the majority of people in order to eliminate the socialistic cancer that has nearly destroyed our political body as well as our founding Constitution."

"As one of many who has tried to replace American policies within the structure of both Democratic and Republican Parties by way of precinct and county efforts, thru non-partisan good government programs and active gov-

"Moral Man and Immoral Society" I have been quoting from Frederick Nymeyer's magazine, pointing out the errors of four leading Protestant divines. The last article referred to Reinhold Niebuhr's "Moral Man and Immoral Society."

It is certainly no wonder that we are in the predicament we are in today, when leaders of Protestant churches will write a book proclaiming that society or the government has a right to do things that would be wrong for an individual to do.

Then Nymeyer continues: "The crucial fact is that Niebuhr has abandoned socialism as his hope for accomplishing the purpose of the social gospel. That is an event of major significance in the religious and cultural world in the United States—and maybe in the world. In a metaphor, Niebuhr has pulled his car off the wrong road. The next crucial question is: Is Niebuhr now on the right road?"

Unfortunately, he is not. He has espoused no new principles. He has turned pragmatist. This is his new interpretation: (1) much of the socialist program is already accomplished under the welfare state (the interventionist program of the New Deal); (2) events have turned out much more complex than the social gossypers realized; their solutions were over-simplified; (3) it is necessary to be more cautious in reaching conclusions, and events have not turned out so catastrophically as the social gossypers pictured them (especially in the Great Depression); by compromise and gradual adjustment much progress has been made; and so (4) let us be less radical and "trim" cautiously between doctrinaire ideas, such as utopian socialism on the one hand and self-satisfied conservatism on the other.

"Maybe this is the mellowness of age; maybe the old warrior has become more cautious. Almost certainly some events have occurred which have forced Niebuhr to change his mind, events such as (1) the spectacular recovery of West Germany under free enterprise; (2) the woodenish follies of the socialist government of England and the trend of British thought away from stifling, socialistic bureaucracy. But Niebuhr is not explicit about how he has come to amend his thinking. Candor on that subject might have revealed to us what, we all stand, incapable, before the bar of history. Maybe it was time to touch up the social gospel record on that historical judgment will not be too harsh on it.

"But there is no evidence in the essay under discussion that Niebuhr has found the right road. What indications there are in the essay point to the conclusion that Niebuhr understands no more of economics than formerly. He has merely reached a conclusion that his old ideas were defective. He has not reached a conclusion which indicates that his future thinking will be right; merely that it will be different.

Finding One's Way Through The Labyrinth of Economics "The Social Gospel, if it is an erroneous program, can be discredited by calling attention to its fallacies, or by waiting to let consequences demerit it. It is harmful. By the first method, the critique pertains to causes and the conclusion is predictive. By the second method, a conclusion is obtained from the effect, and the findings are merely history; it is too late to do anything about it. Niebuhr is not reasoning from causes, but from territorial effects, in certain geographical areas, in the United States, in Great Britain, and probably in non-socialist West Germany. He does not reason from causes. It is not possible to do so unless one has knowledge of economics.

Defects of Adam Smith and Ricardo "Adam Smith and David Ricardo are two of the most illustrious names in economics. But they came early in the history of the science. They worked marvelously, but (from the viewpoint today) defectively. Their position on several vital economic questions was Janus-faced — contradictory. This was not deliberate error nor hypocrisy, but they had not thought through the problems. Of two contradictory positions one would naturally be better than the other worse. Karl Marx came along later and rather systematically and slavishly accepted the worse. Then the Social Gospel came along and adopted the bad economics of Marx (derived from the worse of Blazey and Everingham were to take effect in a given election, we believe that the day after the election, the government would shift back to what it now is.

The solution to the socialist increase in this country can only be found thru education. Millions have been conditionally conditioned to believe in socialism. Millions seek it and practice it. To change this, we must begin by proving intellectually that socialism is in error and that freedom and private ownership are correct. This is an educational and not a political process.

When enough persons are informed respecting the evils of socialism there may be a chance to change the complexion of the government. Until that time, ALL political effort, either within the old parties or to set up a new, third party, will be foredoomed to disappointment.

ROBERT S. ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

POLAND SEEKS LOAN, U.S. TECHNICIANS TO ESTABLISH PETROCHEMICAL INDUSTRY WASHINGTON — Communist-ruled Poland wants to borrow $300 million from the U.S. over a three-year period.

This big loan would be used to buy U.S. oil refinery and other equipment, particularly for a petrochemical industry Poland wants to establish, and for steel and other supplies.

U.S. technicians to supervise the construction of these new plants are also desired by Poland — the first to be sought by a Soviet bloc country.

These announced proposals were the real purpose of that conference between President Eisenhower and Deputy Premier Piotr Jaroszewicz. He came to the U.S. at the State Department's invitation to discuss these plans and to meet businessmen in these fields.

The President told Jaroszewicz that his requests "will be given prompt and serious consideration." As explained by the Polish leader, Russia is building a pipeline to provide his country with considerably more oil. The contemplated refineries and petrochemical plants are needed for this increase.

State Department authorities are understood to favor aiding Poland. In the past three years, Poland has obtained more than $230 million in surplus farm commodities from this country.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has been informed that State Department officials are stressing three factors in support of a loan to Poland: Such economic aid would strengthen Warsaw's hand in establishing ties with the West, particularly the U.S.

A loan of this nature would open an important market for U.S. equipment, steel and other supplies. The employment of U.S. technicians by a Soviet bloc country would have far-reaching impact.

Jaroszewicz, in addition to being Deputy Premier, is a member of the Central Committee of Poland's ruling Communist Party. In his talk with the President, he remarked, "To put it frankly, we feel this loan would be good for your economy as well as ours."

Meanwhile, those long-pending economic aid negotiations with satellite Rumania are still going around in circles. Rumania is seeking $150 million, of which $100 million would be in loans and credits and the remainder in farm products. The U.S. is willing to provide the latter, but is balking on the former because of the contradictory positions of Smith and Ricardo), and the united Marxian economics will be bad ethics by misunderstanding the teachings of the Hebrew-Christian religion. Bad ethics is the father and bad ethics is the mother of the Social Gospel.

"Seventy-five years ago a 'revolution' took place in economics. This was the Neo-classical movement. This movement was also based on Smith and Ricardo, but with this instance their more-correct ideas were utilized, and a great additional development occurred. The principal names in this situation were Carl Menger, Eugen von Bohm-Bawerk, Friedrich von Wieser, Ludwig von Mises. If the leaders of the Social Gospel would read the works of these men, they would be shaken loose from the bad economics of Marx and would be induced to improve their ethical doctrines. It is futile to expect an intrinsic improvement in the ethico-economic ideas of the Social Gossypers unless they improve their economics. And there appears to be no way for them to improve their economics unless they read the works of the Neo-classicists." (To be continued)

Looking Sideways

NEW YORK — CUFF NOTES: The best thing to be, as you will discover if you read the newspapers faithfully, is a derelict. Derelicts always have a wad of money stashed away when the rest of the people are scrambling around trying to meet taxes, installments, rent and the like.

We had three in one week here in New York: One died in the street and had $5,000 strapped to his person, another had $11,000 in coffee cans on the floor under old magazines, torn cloths and wadded papers, the third had $14,000 stuffed in cracks in the plaster in his room. No doubt about it, if you are a derelict, you are sound in the money department.

Of course, Uncle Sam and the State of New York moved right in and put a clutch on these sums until they searched records to see if the poor fellows made income tax returns, which they probably didn't. If you squirmed away $500 or $400 a year out of slim pickings each year for 40 or 50 years, you hardly are in tax bracket divisions.

You can, driving around the City of New York, see all kinds of quaint signs on the backs of trucks and even private cars and it has to be said that mostly they show no great ingenuity and imagination, but a truly tiny little bubble car out of Germany has, obviously, an impish owner. She was very pretty (any man would have noticed that) and she had neatly lettered on the back of her minuscule motor car: My Rear Can Be Bruised—Careful, Please.

Can't help keeping an eye on cartoonist Al Capp's forthright fight with the New York Telephone Co. and I have a feeling the NYTC is going to come off second-best in the end. Capp, after all, has a swinging sense of humor and a cartoon strip in which to vent it. The company advised him that they were charging him 50 cents a month more for having an unlisted telephone number. He wrote back to say that the company had achieved the ultimate in corporate complexity — making a charge for a non-service. Went to a man's house for dinner the other night (Al right, Reggie Denham's) and we had a fine meal and when it was over Reggie said with British plegm: "Tasty thing, baked iguana stuffed with eggplant and shredded squid tentacles." He is coming to our house soon and so far we have decided on monkey brains en chalos, lacea with braised tiger pads and a side dish of charred condor claws. Used to be a man would expect roast chicken, peas and a salad for a guest dinner, but no more. A friend of Reggie's bought a box of those chocolates enclosing "baby bees and made a home-freezer of orange ice with the bonbons frozen in it. But good. The first man who serves me roast tiger tail sous cloche is off the list forever. "So seriously, if you want your guests to go home happy because they accepted your invitation, close the dinner with home-made brandy ice-cream topped with genuine brandy, and soaked for 36 hours in Cherry Heering. No flame necessary. Or, some other time, make a double-strength espresso and spoon a little Cherry Heering into each boiling hot cup. I am not shilling for this particular liqueur. It just happens to be indicated for these treats.

Met an actress the other night, young variety, and she was swathed in a mink coat that must have cost $7,500 and I knew she did not earn that kind of money. She explained: a friend of hers bought the coat with $1,000 down and the rest on notes across three years. She meets the monthly payments by renting the coat out at $20 per night or $30 for 24 hours. Young actresses need to make an impression can afford the rental and look opulent. "What happens when the coat is paid for?" I asked. "Oh, then she'll use it for herself," she said. "It may look a little tired by then, but I doubt it. They're pretty sturdy, you know. She carries a modest insurance against cigarette burns, grease stains, things like that. Anyway, it is the only way she ever could have achieved this kind of 'boast for herself'."

The group was talking about the 23-year-old heiress who has just been married to the 21-year-old society blade. TEMPER, TEMPER SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI)—Jack E. Jensen, 29, in a fit of anger after an argument with his wife, got into his car and drove headon into his wife's from a distance of 200 feet. Then he backed across a neighbor's lawn and attacked again, this time sidestepping the parked car and nearly peeling off one side. He completed the demolition with a final attack from a distance of half a block. When police arrived he said contentedly: "I was mad, and now I feel better."

Hankering

by HENRY McLEMORE

I not only look quite a bit like an old fire horse — I act like one. Consider my behavior on this trip to Florida, the moment I got near the baseball training camps. I haven't been a sportswriter for close to twenty years, but I felt a tremendous urge to turn my car toward St. Petersburg to hunt up Casey Stengel and the Yankees.

For to do any work, mind you, for work and covering spring training do not go arm in arm, much less hand in glove. No honest baseball writer would say they do. No dishonest one either — if there is such a thing — for it would be too simple to check on his working hours and compare them with the hours he spent fishing, swimming, sitting, playing golf, or just doing absolutely nothing at all.

The harassed wife, mother and general houseworker eventually succumb to daily exhaustion, a nocturnal insomnia and increasingly frequent outbursts of temper brought about by frayed nerves and drained energy.

A 13-page letter, written on both sides of the paper at 3 a.m. by the mother of three young sons, calls my attention to a factor in the production of housewife -itis to which I have previously given insufficient attention.

I refer to the permissive upbringing of children advocated by some child psychologists who dabble in psychoanalytic theory without a sufficient background of knowledge to comprehend the teachings of Dr. Freud.

To illustrate my point, let me list some of the incidents cited in this remarkable letter that detail the writer's day from 7:15 a.m. when she made her first efforts to waken her oldest son, until 4:45 a.m. when she escorted the youngest to the bathroom and back to bed.

Three trips upstairs to get oldest son out of bed, washed and dressed. Preparation of husband's breakfast and son's lunch box. Search for lost shoes. Interruption of tooth-paste fight between sons. Preparation of son's breakfast. Emergency call to second son who broke a mirror and couldn't find eye glasses. Clear breakfast dishes while urging second son to drink milk. Gulp cup of coffee, start to dress.

Interruption to admit meter inspector. Bed making, dusting, vacuuming, interruption to remove pieces of searator set from vacuum. Scrape tooth paste from sink and floor. Re-roll toilet paper unbound by second son. Phone interruption to request escorting of children to Cub Scout meeting. Mop puddle outside of shower left by husband. Help second son complete dressing. Food-him preparatory to readying him for play class. Clear table, start preparations for evening meal. Clothes in washer. Start cleaning living room. Lamewoon-and-preparation of shopping list. Dress, shop, call for Cub Scouts. Three steps to interrupt fighting in car before delivery to scoutmaster. Etc. etc. until 1:30 a.m. when, after putting away ironed clothes, youngest remembered he had left toy in school and stated he couldn't sleep without it.

Now at risk of provoking criticism by advocates of permissive upbringing, I venture the opinion that the treatment of this particular case of housewife -itis involves principles of discipline — not medicine. Not vitamins, tranquilizers or gland "shots" but a practical course in the need for the growing citizen to recognize the obligations as well as the privileges of childhood. Reinforced, if necessary, by physical punishment when reasoning fails of its purpose. And with this "medieval" suggestion, I take refuge in my modern bomb shelter.

Cox To Stump State With Helicopter

By United Press-International

Jack Cox, the only candidate opposing Gov. Price Daniel's bid for a third term, laid plans today to barnstorm Texas in a helicopter.

From his Houston campaign headquarters, he canceled a speech tonight at the University of Texas and said he would meet with friends and campaign workers in Austin.

While Daniels and Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, both seeking reelection, pegged campaign talks on attracting more big business to the state, Cox renewed his plea for a constitutional amendment to limit the span of office for a governor to two terms.

He said any governor serving three terms could get complete control of all heads and committees in the state, which is "conducive to a political machine."

Cox plans to make a flying trip Wednesday and Thursday that will take him to Taylor, Rockdale, Cameron, Marlin, Waco, Gatesville, Goldthwaite, Brownwood, Rising Star, Eastland and Breckenridge, his hometown.

Daniel planned to return to Austin today to attend a State School Land Board meeting.

House Speaker Waggoner Carr, Wilson's opponent, scheduled a talk before the Cotton Ginners Assn. in Dallas today, and said he would go to El Paso for Wednesday and Thursday.

Daniel spoke before the Waco Rotary Club Monday and said the tax climate in Texas is more favorable to business and individuals than any other comparable state.

"It will remain so if we are not stampeded into a state income tax or general sales tax," he said.

Wilson spoke to the San Angelo Optimist Club and said he plans a series of seminars throughout the state to explain Texas anti-trust regulations.

"This will bring about a better business climate in Texas and prevent many anti-trust violations before they occur," he said.

Communists Convention In Havana

HAVANA (UPI)—About 4,000 Communists from 15 nations opened a convention here Monday night with cheers for an announcement that Cuba has seized 173,137 acres of farmland owned by a U.S. company.

The clapping of hands and the stamping of feet accompanied a chant of "down with American imperialism" at the opening session in a theater here. The convention was televised by the government network and broadcast by the rebel radio.

Several top-ranking officers of the Cuban army and representatives of Premier Fidel Castro's "26th of July" movement were present at the opening of the self-styled youth congress.

Ramon Calzines, the Cuban opening speaker, denounced U.S. press reports that the convention was sponsored by the Castro regime as "lies."

He charged that United Press International and Associated Press are "spreading lies throughout the world... about the Cuban revolution."

Delegates to the convention come from Bolivia, Canada, Chile, Costa Rica, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Ecuador, France, Red China, Romania, Russia, the United States, Venezuela and "free Germany."

Presumably meaning that country's Soviet zone.

Groups of refugees from the Dominican Republic and Spain also were present.
