Hurricane Strikes Houston, Veers Toward Louisiana

Half Million Damage Done In Big City

Power Failure Puts Town In Darkness; Three Deaths Counted

HOUSTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—A capricious, destructive hurricane raced toward southern Louisiana today after striking a full-force blow at Houston, Texas' largest city, increasing by many thousands of dollars the damage it already had inflicted along the Gulf coast.

After its surprise visitation to Houston, whose metropolitan area contains 600,000 persons, the storm creased toward the northeast, with 60-to-70 miles-an-hour winds at its center.

The weather bureau said the storm was traveling in the direction of Shreveport, but that its velocity would drop from the 60-70 miles-an-hour winds, which buffeted Houston, to about 35 miles an hour.

Houston was without electric power in some sections of the city and had a low water pressure.

Only one city pumping plant was able to operate—the Central, steam-operated plant. Others, electrically operated, shut down when the electric current went off, but they were expected to resume service shortly.

Houston, caught unawares after the weather bureau yesterday afternoon predicted the city was safe, surveyed heavy damage. Houses and buildings were unroofed; flimsy structures were blown down; streets and streams were flooded; homes were damaged; trees were uprooted and wires were blown down.

Jack Hall, 30, was electrocuted by a live wire, bringing to three the number of fatalities due to the hurricane thus far, and a number of persons were injured.

Plate glass windows in downtown stores were shattered along broad Main street, which was eight inches under water in some spots.

Eight hundred Texas defense guards were called in for assistance to the police force to prevent looting and the business district in the early hours appeared as if it were under martial law.

The armed guardsmen cruised in automobiles and patrolled the sidewalks in front of damaged stores. Some stood guard at spots where live wires threatened pedestrians.

Twenty trucks from Ellington Field, 17 miles from Houston on the Galveston highway, hauled frightened residents to the city coliseum, which housed 5,000 people.

Waters Drop In New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 24 (AP)—The pressure of flood waters eased today on eastern New Mexico, but the weather bureau forecast more rain tonight and tomorrow.

Slowly receding river levels and clear skies meantime recorded a temporary respite at least from three days of cloudbursts which left three dead, 15 missing and widespread damage over the eastern slope of New Mexico.

A 21-foot crest from weekend mountain storms rolled through Roswell during the night in the Honda. The river, which had been slowly rising, soon began to drain water from 200 blocks in the city including the sandbagged business district.

Pouring into the Pecos river east of Roswell, the flood overflowed more than 1,000 acres of farmlands and forced 10 families from their homes near Dexter, 15 miles downstream. Rising stages were recorded to Red Bluff, Tex.

Suspended Sentence Assessed Rapist

ABILENE, Sept. 24 (AP)—A district court jury today convicted Ed Alfred McClure, McAlester, Okla., soldier, of rape and recommended a five-year suspended sentence.

Judge Milburn S. Long expressed displeasure at the verdict. "It is my judgment that the suspended sentence will not do you any good," he told McClure who had admitted in testimony yesterday that he led an attempted break from the Taylor county jail Aug. 30.

A special venire of 125 has been called for tomorrow for the trial of Ed Wolfe, Madill, Okla., soldier, under indictment for rape in the same case.

Sheriff Issues Warning—

Shooting From Roads Is Against Law

Sheriff Andrew Merrick Wednesday issued a plea to hunters to exercise more care in shooting, and warned them that there will be prosecutions if laws governing hunting are further violated.

He pointed out that it is against the law to shoot from a public road, and said that his department would patrol the roads to see that this is not done.

Already, several head of livestock have been killed in this county by hunters shooting along roads, the bullets going over into private property. Hunting must be done only with permission of the owner.

Shooting from roads is also a menace to safety of human beings. Sunflowers and weeds along fence rows may conceal farm laborers in the fields behind.

Some time ago, county officials issued a plea to hunters not to shoot from roads. Now, the sheriff said, cooperation is again being asked and there will be action in the courts unless the law is obeyed.

Without forecasting when a bill would be reported by his committee, Steagall said public hearings would end sometime next week.

Testifying before the house banking committee in support of early passage of the administration's price control bill, the treasury head said that he felt that "much more stringent" excess profits taxes would be necessary, especially if the government meant to ask all segments of the population to make sacrifices to carry out the defense program.

In response to questions by Representative Williams (D-Mo) as to just what the treasury had in mind regarding profits, Morgenthau refrained from going into technicalities, but said his personal philosophy in the matter was simply that all corporations should be "satisfied" if they could earn 6 per cent on their invested capital.

"Everything over 6 per cent should go to the government during the emergency," he said.

Present law imposes a tax ranging from 35 to 60 per cent on that portion of a corporation's earnings found to be "excess." Profits fall into the "excess" category if (1) they exceed 95 per cent of the company's average earnings during a period, 1938-1939; or if they exceed 8 per cent of the corporation's invested capital up to $5,000,000 of such capital and 7 per cent of the excess over $5,000,000. Corporations may choose between these two methods in determining their tax.

There is no present excess profits tax on individuals in business, or partnerships.

Morgenthau told the committee he thought it would be undemocratic to put a ceiling on wages. He did favor federal control of farm prices and said the pending bill's exemption of these was its "major defect."

Artesian wells supply water for the school and lack of rain in the past several weeks has left them low.

There's enough, he explained, to provide sufficient pressure to keep the water system in operation, but baths and showers are taboo—and laundry must be kept at a minimum.

Editors of the Crimson, Harvard's undergraduate daily, wired the president of the Mt. Holyoke student council that word of the girls' "dire waterless plight" disturbed them.

They offered to loan their showers and volunteered the services of the college publication as headquarters where other Harvard men may register their willingness to share in this galantry.

"Now," wired the Crimson editors, "when you feel like girls in the soap ads and when even unwashed Yale men won't come within ten feet of you, Harvard wants to make friends."

Fire following a dawn explosion in a pumphouse raged through several units of the huge Standard Oil company plant today, killing one man and injuring at least five others.

The company declined comment to reports that federal bureau of investigation agents went to the scene to investigate the possibility of sabotage.

Price Control Bill Passage Is Predicted

Morgenthau Would Limit Profits To Six Percent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—Chairman Steagall (D-Ar) of the house banking committee said after a White House conference today that "the president wants a price control bill" and "he'll get it."

N. Steagall's prediction came while Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau was telling the committee in formal hearings that federal control of prices, including those of farm products, was necessary to avert inflation. Further, Morgenthau proposed that all profits be limited to 6 per cent during the current emergency.

The pending administration measure was described by Steagall as being as "complicated as it can be." He added it involved "many views that have to be ironed out and compromised."

Without forecasting when a bill would be reported by his committee, Steagall said public hearings would end sometime next week.

Testifying before the house banking committee in support of early passage of the administration's price control bill, the treasury head said that he felt that "much more stringent" excess profits taxes would be necessary, especially if the government meant to ask all segments of the population to make sacrifices to carry out the defense program.

Reds Push Germans On Leningrad Front

NAZIS SAY SOVIET ARMIES ANNIHILATED IN KIEV SECTOR

By The Associated Press
Red armies defending Leningrad were reported hurling the Germans back over a battlefield littered with Nazi corpses today, while on the central front, fierce Russian counterblows were pictured as easing the pressure on Marshal Semeon Budyenny's battered armies in the Ukraine.

Red Star, Soviet army newspaper, said Russian troops in all-day assault routed the 136th German infantry division and recaptured a point on the approaches to Leningrad.

Tank-supported German counter-attacks were repulsed, Red Star said, and large-scale Nazi onslaughts southeast of the old czarist capital also failed.

The Germans, admitting bitter Soviet resistance around Leningrad, emphasized what they called a mighty battle of annihilation 125 miles east of Kiev, where the count of Russian prisoners smashed in a trap was reported nearing 500,000.

British warplanes have now gone into action for the first time on the three-months-old eastern battlefield, the air ministry announced in London.

"A number of patrols have been flown in bad weather and there have been successful encounters with enemy fighters," the ministry said, adding that seven German planes had been destroyed in the initial engagements with the loss of only one RAF fighter.

Mosses officially denied the German assertion that four red armies had been trapped east of Kiev.

Adolf Hitler's high command declared that "chaotic conditions" engulfed the encircled reds and that German troops closing the jaws of the trap were continuing a wholesale annihilation.

"The remainder have been concentrated into two closely encircled pockets," the Nazi command said.

Elsewhere on the sprawling battlefield, the Germans acknowledged that Soviet forces were offering the bittered resistance, particularly around alleged Leningrad where the red armies were making a foot-by-foot defense.

The Berlin radio, however, reported that Nazi troops had captured a "fair-sized town" in the Leningrad sector—otherwise unidentified—and dive-bombers were said to have left the Russian battleship Mars in a sinking condition in the Gulf of Finland.

Soviet warships which have been playing an effective role in the defense of Leningrad were reported under devastating attack by Nazi bombers.

Finnish troops driving down upon Leningrad from the north reported they had captured the Svir river No. 2 power station, which supplied electricity to the old czarist capital, crossing the canalized stream linking Lakes Onega and Ladoga.

London sources said Great Britain has warned Finland that she would be regarded as an open enemy if the Finns persisted in invading Soviet territory beyond the old 1939 frontier. So far, Helsinki and London had only broken diplomatic relations.

Case of William White, charged with wife and child desertion, was continued after White agreed to contribute to the support of the child and was placed under bond.

Clyde Allen entered a plea of guilty to removal of mortgaged property from the state and received a two year suspended sentence.

Continuance was granted in the cases of W. A. Hancock, under indictment for felony swindling, and Manuel Pineda, billed for operating a gambling house.

Tuesday afternoon Lafayette Hannible, negro, entered a plea of guilty to theft by bailer and was assessed a five year suspended sentence.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—The nationwide aluminum collection campaign yielded an estimated 11,535,139 pounds of scrap, defense officials announced today—a total equivalent to the amount of aluminum needed in 1,900 fighter planes or 350 four-motored bombers.

The campaign, conducted from July 21 to 28, fell below officials' expectations, however, for the OPM had predicted that 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 pounds of scrap would be collected.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—Construction of additional runways, aprons and taxi strips at the air corps advanced flying school at Midland, Tex., was authorized today by the war department in addition to the $2,800,000 construction program for which contracts were awarded August 2.

The department said the school was expected to be ready for use about December 1. It will accommodate approximately 3,700 men. The estimated cost of the additional construction was not disclosed.

County AAA committeemen and administrative officers of this district will convene at the Bettled hotel Thursday to discuss 1942 cotton allotments and the 1942 cotton yield averages.

Jack B. Hill, district field man, will conduct the meeting, which is intended to acquaint AAA workers with regulations on these subjects.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—The annual confusion about when to celebrate Thanksgiving Day won't be lessened this year by the fact that 11 states—including Massachusetts, where Turkey Day started—have changed their minds since 1940.

Approximately the same balance will prevail, however, and two-thirds of the nation will string along with President Roosevelt in celebrating on Nov. 26, the date he has named as Thanksgiving Day.

The other third will carve its turkey on Nov. 27, the old-fashioned last-Thursday-in-the-month sanctioned by long-standing tradition.

Since last year, when 16 states stuck to tradition, and the rest went along with the president, at least five states have switched in line with the new version and six others have gone back to the old.

Matters aren't definitely settled in Missouri and Texas yet; in most other states, governors have not issued formal proclamations, but precedent, formal announcements, or previous commitments serve to indicate the probable division.

At least 17 states this year will observe the traditional last Thursday, a survey indicated today. These are Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee and Vermont.

But Massachusetts, where the Pilgrims started it all, will break tradition and celebrate Nov. 29 "in the spirit of national unity."

In addition to Massachusetts, the "traditionals" who are switching to the Roosevelt version in 1941 are Maine, North Carolina, Rhode Island and probably Connecticut. Meanwhile, Georgia, Montana, New Mexico, Nebraska, South Carolina, and Delaware are departing the presidential lineup and will celebrate Nov. 27.

But 1941 offers the last chance for a double celebration. President Roosevelt announced earlier this year that the commercial benefits anticipated from spreading Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays an extra week apart had failed to develop. In 1942, the last-Thursday date is expected to be unanimous.

To Face Axis Threat — —

Freight Ship Arming Talked

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—The arming of American merchantmen today became the next probable move in the shoot-or-sight campaign to make the "defensive waters" of the United States an unhealthy hunting ground for Axis raiders.

It would necessitate modification of the much-debated neutrality act, and it might eventually involve the stupendous technical job of furnishing guns and gun crews for more than 1,000 ships—two problems that were receiving careful study at the White House.

President Roosevelt, however, told his press conference yesterday that a decision on the neutrality act probably would be forthcoming next week, and he hinted strongly at its nature, in one respect, when he said that the United States probably was headed toward the arming of its merchant marine.

Mr. Roosevelt bracketed that hint with the statement that everything would be done to protect American shipping—an assertion that was quickly endorsed by Senator Austin of Vermont, the assistant republican leader, who has consistently supported the administration's foreign policy.

Emphasizing that he was speaking as an individual, Austin told reporters that there ought to be unified national support of any move to bring about outright repeal of the neutrality act.

It was silly to assume, he went on, that the United States was neutral in the fight against Hitlerism.

Austin's attitude, however, was not shared by Senator Tobey (R-N.H.).

Tobey charged that the "neutrality act is being evaded and avoided at every turn," and he said the arming of merchant ships would be only "another of a sequence of events that are bringing us into active warfare."

Friction between Washington and Berlin increased, meanwhile, as Germany bluntly challenged President Roosevelt's interpretation of the S.S. Pink Star sinking.

The American-owned vessel was torpedoed and sunk Friday night off Greenland while traveling in a Canadian convoy. Mr. Roosevelt disclosed yesterday that the ship, flying the Panama flag, was armed.

"Whoever accepts an enemy convey thereby becomes a constituent part of an enemy formation," authorized quarters in Berlin said.

The Germans asserted that Mr. Roosevelt, in declaring it was immaterial whether the ship was armed or unarmed or what flag it flew, "is trying to establish wild justice, not international law."

In Rome, the authoritative fascist editor Virginio Gayda, chimed in with the statement that axis ships would defend themselves against any armed United States merchantmen they met "on their courses."

Second Naval Recruiter To Operate Here

S. L. Cook, chief machinist mate, USN retired, arrived here Wednesday to assume charge of the Big Spring naval recruiting station as officer in charge.

He succeeds H. P. Jones in that capacity, but Jones will continue to be stationed here and will cooperate with Cook in making calls at surrounding communities on established dates as an aid to recruiting.

From the station Wednesday came word that negroes may now be enlisted in the navy in unlimited numbers as mess attendants.

For several years enlistment of mess attendants for the navy has been on a limited basis, but now the restrictions have been removed largely. Negroes enlisted in the navy are transferred to the naval training station at Norfolk, Va. for a course of instruction at the mess attendant's school and later transferred to general service.

Applicants must be unmarried and of good character and from 17 to 31 years of age. Proof of place and date of birth must be furnished. They start at $21 a month plus board, lodging, etc., and have promotional opportunities up to $105 a month.

Junior Gridders To Play Colorado City

Coach Pat Murphy announced today that the Big Spring junior high school team will play the Colorado City Juniors at 8 p. m. Thursday at Steer stadium.

Admittance will cost 10 and 25 cents.

Confusion Still Prevails—

Turkeys' Execution Date Uncertain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—The annual confusion about when to celebrate Thanksgiving Day won't be lessened this year by the fact that 11 states—including Massachusetts, where Turkey Day started—have changed their minds since 1940.

Mexican Troops, Strikers Clash

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 24 (AP)—From four to 14 persons were declared today to have been killed in a clash of Mexican troops and aggrieved munitions workers who sought a mass interview with President Manuel Avila Camacho.

Avila Camacho, former army general, expressed regret at the incident which caused gunfire yesterday on the Avenue Del Castillo in fashionable Chapultepec Heights, and ordered an investigation.

Strikers Consider Release Of Ships

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Seafarers' International Union (AFU) today called membership meetings to discuss the release of 25 strike-bound ships, a proposal a union leader said was "the sensible thing to do."

The meetings were called for local in the Atlantic and Gulf ports after President Roosevelt yesterday asserted that the tied-up vessels have got to move.

Italians Sink Ships In British Convoy

ROME, Sept. 24 (AP)—Italian planes sank a 2,500-ton armer steamer and seriously damaged a 1,000-ton vessel in an attack on a British convoy in the Mediterranean, the fascist high command announced today.

It reported also that a 12,000-ton oil tanker was torpedoed and sunk in the Eastern Mediterranean by an Italian submarine.

Exhibit Of Manufactures Considered

An exhibit of locally manufactured products was seen today as a possibility along with the agricultural products exhibit planned for Oct. 17-18.

No definite action had been taken by the chamber of commerce looking toward such a display, but several committee members were known to be feeling out sentiment for the exhibit.

Two possibilities were advanced—coupling such a collection with the agricultural products, or staging a separate exhibit to run simultaneously.

The last such exhibit was held here in 1938 as a climaxing feature of the sales crusade. More than a score processors put up examples of their products and also called attention to the industrial payroll from this source.

There are more manufacturing concerns here than would be expected at first glance. Of course the refineries and the cotton oil mill lead the way in volume. Then there are creameries, ice plants, bakeries, mattress factories, planing mill, bottling companies, potato chip processors, etc.

Bathless Girls' College Offered Harvard Showers

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass., Sept. 24 (AP)—The drought forced a ban today on tub baths and showers at Mt. Holyoke college—but the girls found plenty of sympathy from Harvard men.

President Roswell G. Ham, at an emergency chapel session of the student body, said that the shortage was serious.

Artesian wells supply water for the school and lack of rain in the past several weeks has left them low.

There's enough, he explained, to provide sufficient pressure to keep the water system in operation, but baths and showers are taboo—and laundry must be kept at a minimum.

Editors of the Crimson, Harvard's undergraduate daily, wired the president of the Mt. Holyoke student council that word of the girls' "dire waterless plight" disturbed them.

They offered to loan their showers and volunteered the services of the college publication as headquarters where other Harvard men may register their willingness to share in this galantry.

"Now," wired the Crimson editors, "when you feel like girls in the soap ads and when even unwashed Yale men won't come within ten feet of you, Harvard wants to make friends."

Fire Damages Huge Oil Company Plant

WHITING, Ind., Sept. 24 (AP)—Fire following a dawn explosion in a pumphouse raged through several units of the huge Standard Oil company plant today, killing one man and injuring at least five others.

The company declined comment to reports that federal bureau of investigation agents went to the scene to investigate the possibility of sabotage.

Home Defense Organization To Be Formed

A meeting of representatives of all service clubs, VFW, American Legion, city and county officials, school officials, and chamber of commerce officials has been called for 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the chamber of commerce office to promote plans for organization of a home defense unit here.

An application is pending with the adjutant general's department for establishment of a defense unit here. Recently local representatives conferred with the adjutant general and he said the proper course for Big Spring now was to form a tentative organization, select meeting place, and make other such preliminary arrangements.

For that reason, the meeting Thursday has been called, said County Judge Walton Morrison.

Shots Injure Local Man

Simon Terrazas, shift foreman at Cooden refinery, was under treatment today at Malone and Hogan Clinic-Hospital for gunshot wounds sustained Wednesday night in a local case.

Attendants at the hospital said he was not seriously injured, although three bullets struck him in the legs, and that he likely would be released in three or four days.

Terrazas told Sheriff Andrew Merrick today that the shots were fired accidentally. His wife was with him at the time.

The sheriff was making an inquiry but at noon Wednesday no action was indicated.

Initial play will be "Huckleberry Finn," and it is to be presented on Nov. 7.

Enrollment Gains In Odessa Schools

ODESSA, Sept. 24—Enrollment in Odessa schools has increased this year by approximately three per cent.

Total enrollment this week was 3,604 students, compared to the 3,316 who registered last year. Enrollment is expected to take a sudden spurt with the advent toward mid-year of hundreds of army men to nearby Sloan Field, now being erected. School authorities have already made preparations to care for any sudden influx of students.

Martin County Council Observes Its Fourth Birthday Anniversary

STANTON, Sept. 24 (SpI)—The Martin County Home Demonstration Council observed its fourth birthday Saturday. This organization had its beginning when Mrs. Elsie Gilkerson, who is county home demonstration agent of Nolan county, came to this county four years ago.

During that time a number of ladies have received training in the official organization of home demonstration work in the county. One thing that all club members are asked to bear in mind is that home demonstration work is no stronger than its home demonstration council. Since the council has been organized, Mrs. Lee Castle of the Brown home demonstration club has been a council officer continuously and has attended every meeting.

COAHOMA, Sept. 24 (SpI)—Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pendergrass of Ackerly announce the marriage of their daughter, Gene, and A. W. Rowe, Saturday night in Odessa.

The single ring ceremony was read in the parsonage of the First Baptist church by the pastor.

The bride wore a street length rust-colored dress trimmed with gold. Her accessories were black and she wore a corsage of gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Aron Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Ross attended the ceremony. The bride was graduated from Coahoma high school in 1940.

Rowe is the son of Mrs. A. W. Rowe and is employed by the Halliburton Oil company. The couple will be at home in Coahoma.

Community Bible Class To Meet Thursday Night

The Community Bible class, taught by Mrs. Chester O'Brien, will meet Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock to 8:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church, Main at Sixth.

Club Women To Gather For Dinner Honoring Officers Tonight

State, District Presidents To Make Talks

More than 70 reservations are made for the Howard County Federation dinner to be held tonight at 7 o'clock at the Settles hotel honoring state officers.

Mrs. Julius W. Walker of Plainview, president of the state federation and Mrs. J. C. Cunningham of Fort Stockton, president of the eighth district, will be the honor guests.

A program has been planned and the guest officers will make talks to the group of club women. Club women throughout the district are invited to attend the dinner.

Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Cunningham are house guests of Mrs. V. Van Gleason and Mrs. J. B. Young during their stay here.

The Swedish government has banned citizens from enlisting in any foreign military service except the Finnish.

Midway P.T. A. To Meet Thursday Night

Texas' Oldest Defense Unit One Year Old

MONAHANS, Sept. 24—Texas' oldest defense guard unit passed its first birthday Tuesday with Earp, its founder, still behind it and clamoring for a move to pay defense guards on the same basis as national guardsmen were formerly paid.

Earp, who is a former state commander of the American Legion and who is a descendant of the frontiersman Marshal Wyatt Earp, was knocking at the adjutant general's door along with fellow West Texans with a guard proposal long before the defense guard idea was finally approved to replace the national guard when it was pressed into service.

Along with other Monahans residents, he felt that there was a need for a company to protect the oil industry and vital pipelines in his area. Earp was made captain of the company and now heads a battalion with companies at Monahans, Kermit, Wink, Wickett and Grandfalls. Where rifles have been scarce (there are now only about 26 to a company), wooden substitutes have been used in drilling.

When a motorcycle was needed in the program, Earp backed a

Methodist Laymen Meet At Coahoma

COAHOMA, Sept. 24 (Sp1)—Methodist laymen of the southwest district met here Monday evening.

Dew Bancroft of Chicago was the principal speaker. He was introduced by Ray Nichols of Vernon, who also gave a short talk.

B. F. Logan was in charge of the song service. Rev. J. O. Haymes of Big Spring offered a prayer and D. P. Yoder, Snyder, district layman leader, spoke briefly.

A watermelon feast was enjoyed by delegates from Andrews, Midland, Stanton, Garden City, Big Spring, Westbrook, Hyman, Colorado City, Lorraine, Roscoe, Sweetwater, Duna, Snyder, Fluvanna and Coahoma.

American women annually add more than 160 million dollars worth of fur garments to their wardrobes. Factories reported to the census bureau that last year's production of fur coats longer than hip length numbered 1,137,500 valued at $97,815,000, and other fur products valued at $58,241,000.

Farm Women Discuss Sale Of Produce

A committee from the Howard county home demonstration council discussed with Myrtle Murray, extension service home industries specialist, means of marketing farm produce in a meeting here Tuesday.

Miss Murray outlined to the committee various means found successful in other areas for building up sales of farm produce. She stressed the need for building up a reputation for quality, regularity of supply, and uniformity.

The committee will report to the HD council, and some cooperative arrangement may be made for marketing produce here.

Those present for the meeting were Mrs. J. L. Ball of R-Bar, Mrs. Burt Masingill of Vealmoor, Mrs. Hart Phillips and Mrs. Ross Hill of Overton, Mrs. L. C. Matthies of Hi-Way, County HD Agent Lora Farnsworth and Miss Murray.

A similar meeting was held in Stanton Monday afternoon.

Russia Adds Support To Peace Plans

LONDON, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Council of Allied Governments today approved the Roosevelt-Churchill eight-point Atlantic charter without dissent, pledging adherence to the "common principles of policy" and cooperation "to the best of our ability."

A resolution to this effect was adopted by a voice vote after the Soviet ambassador, Ivan Malasky, had declared that Russia was in agreement with the fundamental principles of the declaration and asserted that the Soviet Union would defend the right of every nation to independence, territorial integrity and the social order and form of government of its own choice.

Before the vote was taken the Netherlands foreign minister, Dr. E. N. Van Kieffens, objected to point IV of the Roosevelt-Churchill declaration, which provides equal access for all nations to world trade and raw materials, but "with due respect for their existing obligations."

Van Kieffens said the avowed aims of point IV, "cannot be attained if considerable exceptions" to it were to be made. He pleaded for abolition of trade barriers and "discriminatory treatment in international commerce."

"We shall have to do away," he said, "to some considerable extent with measures designed to protect existing economic units. This will mean sacrifices for all . . ."

Van Kieffens reminded the council that similar ideas of world-wide free trade had "found solemn expression" at the conclusion of the world war, but, he said, "we all know what became of it when the snowball of protection was set rolling until it became so large it was a serious obstacle in the path of international trade."

Malasky was one of the first speakers.

"Consistent application of these principles," Malasky told the council of inter-allied governments, "will secure the most energetic support of the part of the government of the peoples of the Soviet Union."

The most pressing task before the allied governments, he said, "is correct allocation of all economic resources and war supplies with a view to early liberation of all European peoples now oppressed by Hitlerite slavery."

Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, presided at the council meeting, the first of its kind since Soviet Russia entered the war, and made a special point of presenting Malasky early in the proceedings.

Eden welcomed Malasky as a representative of a people who are "defending themselves with a courage, tenacity and skill which have won the admiration of the world."

The council planned to consider resolutions regarding the Roosevelt-Churchill declaration and the supply of essential requirements to Europe after the war.

Razzle--Dazzle

People who read the sports pages know what razzle-dazzle means. It stands for football brilliance. The team that has it is flashy with unexpected passes and trick plays. A razzle-dazzle team gives the spectators plenty to yell about.

Razzle-dazzle is one of the spiciest ingredients of good football. It packs them in and the customers go home satisfied.

Now, you might think such a satisfactory football ingredient would be a pretty nice thing to pass around to business in general. To merchants, for example. But you'll suddenly realize that razzle-dazzle is the last thing you want to find in a merchant you're dealing with!

Brilliant trickery is fine and dandy on the football field. But it's a different story in the marketplace. You want to dodge a razzle-dazzle merchant . . . or manufacturer . . . as you would the plague. And luckily, it's not hard to do.

Patronize those merchants and manufacturers who advertise. They're calling all their plays out in the open . . . for everybody to see. Merchants who advertise are bound to keep faith with the public . . . if they intend to remain in business.

George Halls Complete Long Automobile Trip

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hall are home from a 5000 mile trip that took them a month to cover. And incidentally, the Hall household is bulging with medals since the trip.

George won a trip to Camp Perry, Ohio, where he took part in the National shooting matches and won several medals for his scoring.

While he was taking part in the matches, Mrs. Hall went to Bay City, Mich., where she was joined later by Hall. They took a ferry boat across the lakes to Wisconsin and visited there. En route home they stopped in Iowa, Kansas City, Mo., Kansas, Dallas and Austin, in Austin, George shot in the state meets and again won some medals.

At the start of the trip the Halls took in Dallas, Texarkana, Little Rock, Ark., Memphis and Nashville, Tenn., and Louisville, Ky.

Dodgers Ready For Kill In League Chase As Cards Muff Chance

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (Herald Special News Service)—You can forget about the pennant race now and concentrate on the world series dope or on picking those 10 winners in Saturday's football pool... The huns can clinch the flag tomorrow if the Cards blow another one... The Red Birds must have known it was all over as soon as they started kicking grounders around yesterday. The tension finally got 'em... Bob Feller has been taking flying lessons and his instructor says he soloed for the first time a week ago... From the looks of the box scores, he's been solving most of the season... Brooklyn isn't the only place where they take their baseball seriously. A judge in White Plains, N. Y., interrupted a hearing yesterday to announce from the bench that the Cards had lost a game.

Service dept.—Henry E. Isola, secretary of the Amateur Bicycle League of America, is serving with the 212 general hospital at Camp Claiborne, La... Needless to say he isn't actively in favor of a motorized army. He wants some of the boys to push the pedals... Frank Zotti, Jr., former naval academy middleweight champ, was called back to active duty in the navy yesterday.

Yank Coach Has Lead In World Series Money

NEW YORK—The guy who has drawn down the biggest wad of world series bonus checks is neither a slugging star nor a pitching master. He's a baseball veteran whose life batting average was only .277. He's Arthur Fletcher, the Yankees coach.

Babe Ruth, Al Simmons and the late Lou Gehrig banked plenty of moo from their shares of the winning team's swag in the fall classic but none of them endorsed as many checks as Fletcher. Art has collected well over $50,000 from these inter-league championship games.

He got a slice of four millions while playing with the New York Giants in 1911-12-13-14 and has participated in the cut-up with the Yankees as a coach in 1927-28-29-30-31-32-33-34-35-36-37-38-39.

On October 1 when the McCarthy men tackle the National leaguers in Yankee stadium Fletcher will begin earning his 12th post-season bonus.

Fletcher broke in with the Giants as a shortstop in 1908, was traded to Philadelphia in 1920 for Dave Bancroft and managed the Phillies from 1923 to 1926. He came to the Yanks in 1927.

Art is known as one of the smartest third base coaches in baseball. And that's a tough spot, for many games are won or lost because of an over-cautious or too daring signal to speedy base-runners.

Fletcher is also known as just about the roughest riding jockey in the American league. Many Yankee rivals have had their poles and confidence jolted by his loud gibes.

Many baseball men figure Fletcher has been shrewd in refusing managerial offers in the last decade. Only two years after he became coach, Manager Miller Huggins died and Fletcher was in line for the job. He turned it down because he reasoned that the man who succeeded Huggins wouldn't last, that he would constantly be compared to Hug, Bob Shawkey took the job but next season Joe McCarthy was hired. Art has reportedly refused other head man jobs.

He is content to remain a No. 2 man, draw a good salary and keep banking those world series checks.

The Chicago Cubs clipped the Cincinnati Reds 5-1 with Bill Lee keeping eight hits scattered and the Reds making four errors. The New York Giants and Phillies divided a doubleheader. Cliff Melton gave six successive singles in the first inning of the first game and the Phils paraded to victory 8-2, then New York turned the tables and won the nightcap, 3-0.

The Philadelphia Athletics spoiled Red Ruffing's world series tummy by hitting him out of the box in the ninth inning and winning 3-2. Ruffing hit a home run in the third and Joe DiMaggio connected for his 28th of the season in the fourth to help set up a 6-2 lead for Ruffing. But a stormy seventh, in which the A's scored five runs, and the ninth inning rally, sparked by Eddie Collins' triple, turned the tide.

Washington scored twice in the ninth to beat the Boston Red Sox 4-3 and Detroit rallied for three in the tenth to stop the St. Louis Browns 4-1, lifting the Tigers into a tie for third place.

Prize Goes To Best Odessa Pupils
ODESSA, Sept. 24—Travel as an educational factor has a big role in schools here—among both students and teachers.

The "best 20" students get an expense-paid "honor tour" each year. And teachers are allowed to substitute educational trips for the college study that is required every third summer.

Last summer forty teachers made journeys, traveling a total of 115,055 miles on trips which were judged to be of sufficient educational value for credit.

Gasoline consumption rises and falls regularly with the seasons. During the winter, average monthly consumption nationally is 1,600,000,000 gallons; in the fall it averages 1,800,000,000 and rises above 2,000,000,000 in spring and summer months.

Cards' Errors Put Them In Hopeless Spot

Any Combination Of Three Games Will Cinch Brooks' Title

By The Associated Press
The Brooklyn Dodgers are almost at the place where they can pull the trigger on the St. Louis Cardinals and you can practically hear them panting at the prospect.

All along the Dodgers have been insisting that the Cards could not sweep through the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn had it figured exactly. The Cardinals came a cropper at Pittsburgh yesterday, 4-0, in the first game of a doubleheader and even though they won the second game 9-0, the damage was done. This made the standings:

To	W. L. Pct. G.B.F.
Brooklyn	.97 53 .547
St. Louis	.95 54 .538 1 1/2

Any combination of three games in the days remaining will clinch Brooklyn's first pennant in 21 years. If the Dodgers win three out of four, they are in, no matter if the Cards win all of theirs. If St. Louis loses a game, Brooklyn needs win only two contests.

Since the Dodgers are billeted at Boston today and tomorrow against the seventh-place Braves and then tackle the tail-end Phillies Saturday and Sunday, they should have no trouble winning three out of four.

On the other hand the Cardinals, tackling the Pirates again today and tomorrow, and then moving into Chicago to face the Cubs in a final pair, have no assurance that they can win all four.

The Cards whipped themselves yesterday. They made five errors, two by Shortstop Martin Marion, and Mort Cooper, their most reliable rightshander, got knocked out of the box in the first inning.

In the nightcap the Cards came back with the fierceness of avengers. Max Lanier, a southpaw, pitched five eight-hit ball, the Pirates made four errors, and the Cards made two home runs—one by Stan Musial with one on and the other by Easel Crabtree with two aboard.

The Chicago Cubs clipped the Cincinnati Reds 5-1 with Bill Lee keeping eight hits scattered and the Reds making four errors. The New York Giants and Phillies divided a doubleheader. Cliff Melton gave six successive singles in the first inning of the first game and the Phils paraded to victory 8-2, then New York turned the tables and won the nightcap, 3-0.

The Philadelphia Athletics spoiled Red Ruffing's world series tummy by hitting him out of the box in the ninth inning and winning 3-2. Ruffing hit a home run in the third and Joe DiMaggio connected for his 28th of the season in the fourth to help set up a 6-2 lead for Ruffing. But a stormy seventh, in which the A's scored five runs, and the ninth inning rally, sparked by Eddie Collins' triple, turned the tide.

Washington scored twice in the ninth to beat the Boston Red Sox 4-3 and Detroit rallied for three in the tenth to stop the St. Louis Browns 4-1, lifting the Tigers into a tie for third place.

Prize Goes To Best Odessa Pupils
ODESSA, Sept. 24—Travel as an educational factor has a big role in schools here—among both students and teachers.

The "best 20" students get an expense-paid "honor tour" each year. And teachers are allowed to substitute educational trips for the college study that is required every third summer.

Last summer forty teachers made journeys, traveling a total of 115,055 miles on trips which were judged to be of sufficient educational value for credit.

Gasoline consumption rises and falls regularly with the seasons. During the winter, average monthly consumption nationally is 1,600,000,000 gallons; in the fall it averages 1,800,000,000 and rises above 2,000,000,000 in spring and summer months.

Herd-Lion Tussle Thursday Slated To Match Teams At Full Playing Strength

Dallas Rebs' Pilot Hasn't Tossed In Sponge Yet

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 24 (AP) — Manager Wally Dashiell is convinced his Dallas Rebels yet will give the Nashville Vols trouble in the Dixie series.

Burning to compensate for the memory of two straight defeats—each by the score of 6-1—that the Vols plastered on Dallas, Dashiell forecast that his team may give Nashville a jolt in the third game of the playoff tonight.

"We're a better ball club than we looked in Dallas in the first two games," he said. "We'll bounce back, and when we do we're gonna win some ball games."

"Nashville has more power than we," he added, "but I think we are faster and a little better defensively."

Dashiell named Gordon Maltzberger to pitch tonight. Manager Larry Gilbert of Nashville elected Russ Meers, his ace portlander, to face the Rebels.

Lookin 'em Over

WITH JACK DOUGLAS
A clean-cut victory by the Big Spring Steers over Brownwood's Lions Thursday night will do a great deal toward dispelling doubt of the Herd's strength—that is, if the last Friday win over Austin of El Paso was actually an indication of strength.

Warning reports from the Brownwood camp contend that the Lions have considerably bolstered their defenses and should be more capable in that department than was the case last week against Sweetwater. Lacy Turner, now Brownwood coach, has smoothed out the wrinkles in a new brand defensive tactics and the Steers are slated to tangle with a greatly improved eleven.

The first estimate is that Big Springers should bowl over Brownwood, but don't be too upset if they don't.

Although baseball season has gone the way of all good things, Pete "Drafted Again" Zmitrovich is still being troubled by a change of pace and curve complex. Monday, Pete and Mel Reeves, hunting they did go. Pete admits that he knocked over a scissor tail—the doves just weren't to be obtained.

According to Pete, he figures he could get one of the elusive doves if it would go in a straight line and not change its gait. Prexy Tink Riviere contends that was Pete's trouble with pitched balls all season—the old curve and change of pace stopped him—fast, down-the-alley heaves were his meat.

Jodie Tate, Big Spring Bomber manager, modestly claims that he went out with ten shells, came back with eight doves and three shells—two reasons for the odd returns are observed—Jodie either found a box of shells or scared a bird or two to death.

Columbus Goes Into Little World Series

By The Associated Press
The American Association is sending its league and playoff champion Columbus Red Birds to the little world series, starting Friday at Montreal.

For the first time in three years the Louisville Colonels are not representing the middle west circuit in this post season battle of the International league and American Association playoff winners. The Colonels were in the running up to the final 1941 series, but the Red Birds took the decisive playoff, four games to one.

The score of the clinching contest, played last night at Louisville, was 5 to 1.

Br'wood Casualties Recover; Steers Free Of Hurts

Big Spring's Steers and Brownwood's Lions are slated to be in top playing trim when they clash at Brownwood Thursday night. Coach Pat Murphy's Herd came out of the fracas with the Austin Panthers of El Paso minus any serious injuries and Mentor Lacy Turper's Lions are due to gain in manpower.

Brownwood holds a decided edge over the Steers in number of experienced men. Big Spring has its Barton-Bostick-and-Kasch combination, but the Lions are possessors of eight seasoned men—eight out of the eighteen that put the Felinas in the district 3-AA runner-up position last year.

Brownwood's chief threat in the Sweetwater roundelay was Donald Miller, 185-pound left half. Co-Captain Howard Lee Edwards, 201-pound left guard was featured in an 11-yard guard-around maneuver last week that gave the Lions their only trip across the double stripe.

Brownwood's tentative starting crew holds a slight weight advantage over the Longhorn starters, the Steers 362 1/2-pound average giving way to the Lions' 355. Coach Murphy said Tuesday that the Longhorns would leave for Brownwood Thursday morning.

On the Big Spring side of the ledger is a passing and kicking combination that may develop into a well-nigh unbeatable unit. With Quarterback Horace Bostick getting even greater accuracy and distance with his punts and Peppy Blount showing top possibilities of becoming a never-miss pass receiver, the Steers have two ace up their sleeve that might keep the opposition backed to the wall.

Greatest danger to the Longhorns lie in injuries to key men on the lineup. Bostick, Frank Barton and Paul Kasch appear to be well-capable of delivering a powerful brand of backfield work, but their loss on account of hurts might destroy Big Spring's chief hopes.

Line replacements may be available when needed but light and inexperienced backs make the secondary shy on reserve strength. In the event casualties hit the Steer backfield, there is a chance that some of the linemen might be shifted to spots there.

Bill Tipton, Brownwood's stellar flanker did not enter the fray last week with the Sweetwater Mustangs but he's on the books to fill his regular end position when Big Spring goes a-visiting. In addition to Tipton, Centers Frank Nix and Frank Jayroe have recovered from the ailments that weakened them in the Sweetwater engagement.

An increase in Brownwood potentialities may come as a result of more work on Coach Turner's defensive setup. Last week the Lions crumbled before the Mustang onslaught—tomorrow night the tale is going to be rearranged if constant drilling is the answer.

But, it's in the ball-handling department that the Lions have been spending most of the week. A tricky new offensive system failed to work smoothly against Sweetwater and was one of the underlying causes for the Lions' constant fumbling—that difficulty has been given a thorough going over.

11 Mitchell County Men Are Drafted

COLORED CITY, Sept. 24 (SpI)
The draft quota of eleven which Mitchell county has received for Oct. 15 is the second largest since selective service has been in effect.

The largest previous call was for 14. Six youth are leaving this week to fill a call for Sept. 26. They are to report in El Paso.

Golf Aces Head For First Loss

DETROIT, Sept. 24. (AP)—Golf's greatest twoosome, the seemingly invincible Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret, appeared to be headed today for their first defeat as they carried a five-hole deficit into the last half of the $2,000 36-hole best ball match with national open Champion Craig Wood and Byron Nelson.

The two Texans, regarded as the Ruth-Gehrig combination of the links because of their matching temperaments, took only one hole yesterday at the County Club of Detroit before 1,000 spectators who contributed to United China Relief.

Instead Nelson stole the show with a five-under-par 67 and Wood bagged an eagle three on the 480-yard tenth hole.

Nelson, whose participation had been in doubt because of illness, embellished his strong iron play with a magic putting to collect birdies on four of the last five holes and boost the margin virtually beyond reach of his opponents. He and Wood had a best ball of 64, five shots better than their rivals.

Mitchell Farmers Get Parity Checks

FSA Urges Borrowers To Use Feed Crop Profitably

With the best feed crop in several years in Howard county, the Farm Security administration is encouraging its borrower-families to stabilize their business and increase their incomes by properly conserving and utilizing their crop resources.

U. D. Kindrick, county FSA supervisor, believes that although farmers may expect increased incomes during the present period of national defense, they also face higher production costs.

"Farm families cooperating with this agency," Kindrick said, "are being assisted in increasing the net returns from each acre of land by using their feed crops so that the maximum pounds of butterfat, beef, pork, wool and so forth are produced.

"The farmers who utilize their acreage to best advantage, who conserve their feed supplies by proper storage and feeding practices, and who manage their farm plants on a sound business basis are the farmers who will prosper most now and in the future.

"For example," Kindrick continued, "an acre of sorghums fed as silage will go approximately twice as far as when fed in the form of dry bundles. This is especially true with dairy cows. This fact, coupled with the comparatively low cost of trench silos, is expected to result in an additional number of these storage facilities here this year. Trench silos are being constructed on the farms of 15 FSA borrowers in Howard county this year.

"The best substitute for pasture, silage, and silage can be had by every dairyman even though he has only two cows," Kindrick added.

Citing the savings of feeding silage, the FSA supervisor said dairy farmers especially appreciate the value of this ration. He told of an experiment made at the Ohio state station, where dairy cows received a dry roughage ration of hay and stover with 13.5 pounds of grain were compared with cows being fed 5 pounds of silage, a little mixed hay and four pounds of grain. The silage-fed cows gave 15 per cent more milk at 41 per cent less cost.

Soundings a warning that crops next year may not be as abundant as they are this year, Kindrick stated that since a good crop is on hand at the present time, every effort should be made to see that it is properly conserved, and in most cases, placed in trench silos.

"Fact is," he concluded, "this is a mighty good time for farmers to lay in a supply of feed that will last them at least two years."

Information about constructing trench silos, their location, size, cost, harvesting and filling operations may be obtained without charge from the FSA office or the extension service office.

Editorial— Sure You're Citizen?

You're a citizen, are you? Yeah, then prove it.

Sure we know your mother and father lived in this country all their lives. But can you put your finger on the record which shows what day and year you were born to them?

It's not so easy. Everybody knows you were born. But Uncle Sam demands more than your word for it. He wants records, public records to that fact. And the only way you can convincingly establish proof is by a birth certificate.

Maybe you will go through life without need of one. But every day folks are finding that they must have them in order to pursue the course they have set. It is quite impossible to get a defense job unless you have a birth certificate. It is equally impossible to get a visa to go out of the country. It is most difficult to qualify for age assistance unless you can establish age. It is becoming more inconvenient to get state assistance for schools when age of the pupil appears in conflicting ways.

Certainly it is important to have a birth certificate or at least have your birth date properly recorded. But the U. S. Bureau of Census says that around 60,000,000—or about half the people of the nation—have no official record of their birth.

That there is an increasing demand for them is borne out in the fact that now applications are being made at the rate of 800,000 a year. Naturally this creates a big bottleneck. To overcome it, the program has been decentralized. Instead of applying to Washington, you may now apply to the state bureau of vital statistics.

Unless you are pressed for good reason, please don't apply tomorrow. Too many people who are trying to qualify for old age assistance and who are people with jobs at stake or who are in want must have these certificates. Let them have the right-of-way.

Meantime, it is wise to be put together every scrap of evidence such as Bible records, church records, hospital records, insurance records, and other facts, and submit them to the state registrar that when the current rush is over you can attempt to get a delayed birth certificate. It might come in handy some day.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds— W. C. Fields, No-Good Oaf, Guilty Of Some Cribbing

By OTIS CRIBBLECOBBIS

(The author of W. C. Fields' new comedy, "The Great Man," tells all about his star. Mr. Cribblecobbis writes for Robbin Coons, on vacation.)

HOLLYWOOD — My life as a Hollywood writer would be one of unalloyed bliss if it were not for a loutish, lazy, no-good oaf by the name of W. C. Fields. But I have had the last laugh on him.

Fields is not content merely to act in his pictures. He wants to grab the glory for writing them, too. His selfishness is unbounded. I toll and struggle to make him funny, giving my heart's blood to the script.

The thanks I get is to have Fields intimate broadly that it is really he who writes the scripts. He claims Otis Cribblecobbis is simply a name he made up, and that I don't even exist. According to this scurrilous and unconscionable ingrate, he scribbles his own stuff, and for each picture coins a different nom de plume. Don't believe it.

Fields alleges he wrote "The Bank Dick" under the name of Mahatma Kane Jeeves. In other words, he'd like you to think there is no Jeeves. Now he says he did this one under the name of Cribblecobbis. The truth is not in Fields. In fairness to all concerned, I want to state the plain fact—Jeeves is just as much a real person as Otis Cribblecobbis.

Perhaps I protest too much, but it is galling to have your brain children snatched from you by a dull, grasping and unimaginative heel like Bill Fields.

But I have had my revenge, and in so fiendishly clever a way that Fields didn't realize it until too late. Knowing he never reads the scripts — there are grave doubts that he can read at all — I carefully plotted his undoing.

Until "The Great Man" all of Fields' writers had catered to him by writing a saloon sequence into his pictures. But he forgot about that wily brain of Cribblecobbis. I fixed him good. When he walked on the set, confidently expecting a saloon, he found himself at a soda fountain!

I wasn't finished with the lout yet. Well aware of his hatred for children, I wrote into the story nice fat parts for Gloria Jean and Butch and Buddy. They were in almost every scene. Fields was continually surrounded by groups of children, who at once sensed his animosity and kept plaguing him with practical jokes.

Only one thing more remained to finish Fields, and that was a dog. He hates dogs, too—just to show you what kind of man he is. So I wrote in the biggest, most vicious dog in Hollywood. It growled and snarled at Fields daily, but it was too tough for him to do anything drastic about. At the end, Fields withdrew from the maestrodom of soda fountains, kids and dogs. He was a broken man.

Dorothy Thompson Says—

Declare Full War Now

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

There is no denying the gravity of the moment. It is grave for Russia, grave for Britain, and grave, also, for Germany. Again, a decision has to be taken. It has to be taken by Britain and by the United States, for it cannot be taken by Britain without the United States.

Hitler's attack on Russia was launched for military strategy and for oil. He could not continue his war on Britain, risking complete American intervention, with a doubtful Russia at his back, and without the certainty of fuel supplies for his Panzer divisions. Germany's weak spot is oil.

Hitler underestimated the resistance of Russia, but he knew that it would be a hugely costly war. He also knew, however, that if he won it he would not have to suffer again the agonizing fear that his armies would run out of gas.

In an all-out blitzkrieg, Germany uses two and a half million tons of oil per month. She can produce synthetically from three to five hundred thousand tons per month, and from Rumania and Poland she can get another eight million tons per year. It is not nearly enough for a prolonged war.

At the time of the collapse of France, she was desperately short. But victory brought her a great haul of reserves from the continent—on which she waged the Balkan campaign and the war on Russia. In the latter case, Hitler took the greatest gamble of his life. His problem was whether to risk everything he had in order to get an inexhaustible supply, or to go on the defensive until he could rebuild reserves. He took the risk.

If Germany does not get Persian and Russian oil Hitler cannot wage a major campaign next spring. If he gets it he can wage endless campaigns. If he does not get it, this war will never touch our shores. If he gets it, we shall have war in the Western Hemisphere and on all the oceans, and there shall be a very good chance of our losing it.

Hitler wants to destroy the Red army and get a separate peace that will put him in possession of Russia's oil wells.

Would Russia, under any circumstances conclude a separate peace?

The answer is political as well as military and depends on the United States. Just before the collapse of France, Paul Reynaud asked for a definite report on the American situation. Had he been able to assure his cabinet that the United States was going to see this war through to victory, he could have gotten a majority for continuing it with the fleet and from the African colonies. That would have greatly decreased the menace to the United States from West Africa.

Today, Russia is in the same position. If it is perfectly certain that the United States is going to see this war through, Stalin will have every reason to hold a front, even if at the Urals, and Hitler will still have a two-front war. But the Russians have got a lot of verbal aid and not much else. The position of the United States is still equivocal.

Hitler has reserved complete freedom of action for as Russia is concerned. When Churchill and Roosevelt demanded a peace aimed at the destruction of the Nazi tyranny, Hitler and Mussolini countered with a less unequivocal demand: the destruction of the Bolshevik menace. Hitler has not demanded the end of the communist regime, in some part of Russia, and has left himself free to negotiate with Stalin. If catastrophe overtakes Stalin's armies and the United States remains in a twilight zone of aid short of something or other, no one can foretell what Stalin might decide to do.

Britain must decide either to open a new front right now on the continent and divert a part of Hitler's armies, when he is running short of oil, or she must decide to weaken her home defenses by diverting to Russia the bulk of her stored reserves. Any postponement of a decision will work wholly in the interests of Hitler. His (and the conditions in the occupied countries are serious now.)

But Britain cannot make this decision except at the gravest risk without knowing precisely where we stand.

Meanwhile, in Congress and out of it, men are conducting a war on two fronts—on the high seas and at home. The opponents of the Administration range all the way from honest but misguided pacifists and partisan politicians to Nazi agents, and to those who openly predict civil war if the policy of the president is pursued. While the world darkens, we observe the disgusting spectacle of politicians opening a campaign for

FOR THE LOVE OF PAM

By VIVIEN GREY

Chapter 22
RESIGNATION

"Oh, no it isn't, Leo!" Pam objected. "You're the one who deserves happiness more than any one else. But I'm not foolish enough to think I could give it to you. Not with things as they are. You could never live with an imitation of the real thing. No more," she added after a little silence, "than I could live with only the half loaf Jerry has to offer."

"Perhaps it isn't only a half loaf, Pam," Leo said quietly. And Pam, looking at him with a little sense of surprise, knew that came out of his fine honesty, his genuine wish for her happiness. "The only thing I'd want to be sure of, Pam, is that you aren't letting your womanly desire to reform a man fool you into thinking it's love."

"Could it be that?"

"I don't know, my dear. Your heart can tell you that—and only your heart. And since I've gone this far, Pam, it's only fair to say you can go a long way on just kindness. I mean, Pam, if a man has that—if real kindness toward creatures and people less fortunate than himself is a fundamental part of him—Uncle Sam sends him to you, Pam, as a man you want to work with, I, who want you so much, shouldn't be saying this to you, Pam, practically sending you to the arms of another man."

They were silent for a moment. They were sitting on a bench that had stood for years under the old pepper tree that had listened to the secrets of many a Quellertron. Leo's hands had reached out and taken Pam's. He seemed, then, fully his ten years older than the girl beside him. He seemed, too, to efface himself as her lover, and to be completely her friend.

"I came back from Washington, Pam, planning our life together. You beside me, dear, in all of the strange and interesting places of the world that Uncle Sam sends his men to. It's hard to give that dream up. I'm not giving it up yet. You may change your mind. I'll wait for that. But I know now, Pam, that it's your happiness I really want. And if your happiness lies with some other man—" he paused as if his voice had been smothered by some swiftly rising emotion — "well, just remember this: kindness is one of the basic needs, one of the basic qualities of the right sort of person. No one really achieves bigness without mercy as the basic quality. So, Pam, if you are sure your man has genuine kindness, don't be afraid of the rest."

"Leo, I've never known until this moment how really fine you are."

He smiled at her then. "I'll remember that all my life, Pam. It will be something to live up to."

"Leo, this doesn't mean you're deserting me?" A little note of alarm flared in Pam's voice as they stood at the gate. She knew it was time he got back to the hospital. "We're friends, just as always?"

"Deserting you, dear? I'll wait to turn over you all your life." He turned then, just as Jerry drew up in his car and slid from under the wheel.

On The Spot

Lenore, hurrying from the room in which she had been so ruthless in her quarrel with her mother, passed Jerry as he got into his car to go and keep his picnic date with Pam.

Her eyes were stormy and scornful. "Don't grin at me!" she snapped. "Save your grins for when your local blossom discovers you're not the rich glamour boy she thought she was hooking! You'll need them then."

Jerry continued to grin. "You wouldn't be in a bad humor this morning, would you, Lenore?" He asked with maddening smoothness.

But he wasn't too comfortable. Lenore's shot had struck home. He knew Pamela Quellertron wasn't mercenary. He was sure of that. Yet he had known so many girls who had liked him most for money, or rather the money they indulgent father supplied him with. He had never been with May but when she wanted some-

Manhattan— Ever Hear Of Missing Razor?

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—John Mulholland is as agile a trickster as ever reached into a sugarbowl and pulled out a rabbit. His activities in legerdemain have included not only the business of baffling peep-eyed onlookers but extend even to the printed page. Magician Mulholland is an editor. He has a magazine called the Sphinx, devoted to the news and views of the profession.

Frequently he receives "subscriptions" from customers, saying, "Kindly send me the Sphinx for one year. My check for $2.50 is enclosed."

Only the check isn't there. It's a gag that sometimes works, for editors have been known to add names to their mailing lists, hoping to collect later on.

The other day, however, Mulholland received a postcard from a reader who said his check was "enclosed" and would the magazine be forthcoming?

"Yes indeed," Mulholland wrote back on a post card. "Enclosed please find first copy."

There used to be an old vaudeville gag, similar to this, about the patron who wrote to a razor manufacturer in this vein: "Dear sir, please find my enclosed check for $5 for which you are to send me one of your Shave-Close special razors. P.S. I forgot to enclose the check, but no doubt a firm of your standing won't mind a little matter like that."

The manufacturer replied: "My Dear Sir, we are delighted to receive your order and you are hereby notified that the Close-Shave Razors is included in this package: P.S. We forgot to include the razor, but no doubt a man of your check won't mind it after all."

There is no telling where a variation of this yarn actually began. But there can be no doubt that people try to work them year after year. Mulholland has received at least half a dozen new "subscriptions" in which the "enclosed" check has failed to materialize.

In a recent series on night clubs this column noted that the trend has been from "Hello Sucker" to "God Bless America." . . . This was an understatement. In recent weeks 90 per cent of the new floor shows have gone red, white and blue with a 48-star bang. It is almost impossible to walk into a supperclub without hearing a chorus of the Star Spangled Banner and the chorus girls likely as not will be dolled out in Uncle Sam uniforms.

Harry Richman has a song that well illustrates this trend in recreational patriotism. . . . The song goes something like this: "I saw my Uncle the other day. . . . My old Uncle Sam. . . . He gets around. . . . He was holding back a flood on the Mississippi. . . . He was building some new houses over in the slums for some people who needed houses. He was harvesting the wheat and sending notes of cheer to the oppressed. . . . It went on like that. . . . The response to this number, when ever I heard it, has been unfailingly great.

Hervey Allen's new book will be published in three volumes—all long ones. If you recall, he is the author of "Anthony Adverse," which began the current trend toward length in modern novels.

There was a silence. Then Pam's voice came through the scented quiet.

"I'd know of course that you were joking, Jerry," she said. "And I'd probably say it wasn't in the best taste, either. After our beautiful day, how can you?"

Jerry's face was suddenly white under his tan. He looked at Pam for a startled instant. Was this her way of getting rid of him because he was penniless? Was she going to pretend an anger over something he was supposed to have said that wasn't to her liking? Didn't he know her at all?

"But I'm not joking, Pam," he

LAMESA, Sept. 24. (Sp.)—Clear weather this week has brought about opening of much cotton in Dawson county.

Pickers are arriving slowly, and many farmers have much cotton waiting in the field. Prevailing wage for pickers is $1 per hundred.

Estimates of the 1941 crop continued to range around 40,000 bales, but most observers agree that a late frost would boost this total.

Labor is also needed to harvest late feed crops.
