State Department To Protest Charge

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro charged Saturday night that the munitions ship which exploded in Havana harbor Friday was sabotaged and he strongly implied that United States officials were responsible.

Castro failed to accuse the United States of sabotage in so many words during a long, bitter denunciation of the country, but he left no doubt as to whom he suspected of causing the disaster that cost between 44 and 75 lives and left 200 injured.

The government-operated newspaper Avance appeared Saturday night, however, with large headlines saying "Explosion Ship Le Coubre American Plot."

His statement, made after he led a funeral procession for 26 victims of the explosions aboard the French ship Le Coubre, capped violent charges by Castro supporters that the ship had been blown up by U. S. - based "enemies."

"It couldn't have been an accident," Castro charged. "It had to be intentional." He repeated: "It had to be intentional."

In Washington, the UNITED STATES issued a "vigorous protest" in flat denial of the implied charges by Castro.

A State Department official said the U. S. government will make a formal diplomatic protest promptly against what he called "this unfounded and irresponsible accusation."

After charging that the United States sought to prevent delivery of the Belgian arms to Cuba, Castro said, "we have reason to believe this sabotage was caused by those interested in our not receiving these arms."

Again denouncing U. S. - based light planes which have been firing Cuban cane fields, the revolutionary leader charged: "North American functionaries have not denied they want to prevent us from receiving these arms and among those interested in preventing us (from receiving them) we must look for the guilty party, for the criminals."

He added, "In the first place what right has one government to interfere in the efforts of another in defense of sovereignty?"

He wondered whether American officials "do not want us to acquire the means to defend ourselves 'so the country would again fall into the hands of 'criminals.'"

The Premier said there was no doubt, after objective investigation, that "this sabotage was prepared in a distant place."

He compared the holocaust to the U. S. Battleship Maine "which caused a war and which has not been clarified yet." The Maine blew up in 1898 also in Havana harbor.

He noted pointedly that the United States declared war on Spain when it "reached the conclusion" that the Maine had been sunk "by Spanish elements."

Violence In Houston Over Segregation

HOUSTON (UPI) — Violence broke out Saturday night at a grocery where Negro students staged a lunch counter sitdown protest against segregated service. A Negro man was stabbed and a white man had his nose bloodied and two front teeth knocked out.

The store, Weingarten's supermarket, closed its doors three hours early to avoid further incidents.

Police Sgt. J. E. Armstrong, in charge of special "observation" details at the supermarket and at a drug store six blocks away, said part of the violence actually may have had nothing to do with the lunch counter sitdowns.

There were no arrests.

Armstrong described the events this way:

A youth he identified as T. H. Wade, 19, formerly of Mississippi, came into the store to shop with his father.

Suddenly Wade went to the counter where the Negroes were (See VIOLENCE, Page 2)

Candidate Announces Platform

Bob Andis, a candidate for the post of trustee of the Pampa Independent School District, announced his platform Saturday.

Andis is one of five men who are seeking election to the post April 2 and is the first to publicly announce his aims. Others who have filed are Dr. Ray Hampton, John T. Locke, Max Hukill and Marvin Bowman. Each was contacted Saturday but all stated that they were not ready to announce platforms.

"I am asking your support in the coming school board election and have condensed my feelings regarding this trusteeship so that everyone may know them," Andis said Saturday.

Andis said, "I have no personal or business ties with any group, organization or individual that might influence my decisions on the school board. If elected any decisions I make will be my own. I firmly believe that the school board should function strictly on a democratic basis; that the board (See CANDIDATE, Page 3)

Girl Struck By Auto Saturday

Cheryl Combs, 15, of 1214 S. Barnes narrowly escaped injury late Saturday after being struck by a car in front of her home.

According to investigating highway patrolmen, Stanley Schneider and Vernon Cawthon, the Combs girl had just stepped out of a car at her home when she was struck by an automobile driven by Willena Lowther Lovell, 33, of 821 W. Lowry.

Miss Combs suffered only minor injuries. Her condition was listed as good Saturday night by Highland General Hospital attendants.

Gas Station Killer Captured In Florida

JUPITER, Fla. (UPI) — Miami's station killer-banquet kidnaped and killed a woman early Saturday but the latest staying tripped up and he surrendered when he hemmed him in.

Detectives said the youth gave his name as Dennis Whitney "of California." Police said he had no identifying papers on him. But it is a year - old red - haired youth registered in a low-priced hotel 30 days ago as being in 11715 Armita, North Hollywood, Calif.

What led to his capture was his midnight break-in of a home Jupiter shortly after the slaying his latest victim. He calmly shed his hands of blood, banded them and sat down to eat cream unaware that a terrified 16-year-old girl in an adjoining bedroom was watching him. She summoned police who found the body his victim hidden in a road-brush pile and trailed him to footprints in the sand to a sal where he was hiding.

The slender, 17-year-old killer was found sitting in a canal about a mile and a half from where the body of his latest victim was found in a thicket. He still was holding the heavy luger-type .22 caliber pistol with which he admitted shooting to death two Miami filling station attendants during the week and the woman.

The youth refused to give his name to officers or tell where he came from.

"You know they want me for killing the two men in Miami," he told two deputies who captured him.

Ike Works On Report To Nation

RAMEY AIR FORCE BASE, Puerto Rico. (UPI) — President Eisenhower worked on a report to the nation on his Latin American tour Saturday and got in a game of golf afterward despite a nagging throat irritation that has left him hoarse.

The White House said Eisenhower would remain an extra day in balmy Puerto Rico, returning to wintry Washington on Monday.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said that aside from a "husky voice," Eisenhower was "feeling fine."

Ranger Ousler Spurs Probe

United Press International

Dist. Atty. Doug Crouch announced Saturday that a Tarrant county grand jury will open a full-scale investigation next week into Tarrant county gambling that led to the firing of Texas Ranger Capt. E. J. (Jay) Banks.

Meanwhile, Col. Homer P. Garrison said in Austin Saturday that he didn't mean to imply that Banks was dishonest in the statement he made Friday dismissing him.

Garrison, head of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said he dismissed Banks for failing to raid gambling establishments in Tarrant county.

The dismissal came as a great shock to Texas. Banks, 47, was regarded as a model Texas Ranger and an implacable foe of Western badmen during his 22 years in the Rangers.

He was head of Company B with headquarters in Dallas, and had jurisdiction over a wide North Texas area, including Fort Worth.

No Letup In Chill Weather

United Press International

More light snow and freezing drizzle from wave after wave of frigid Arctic air posed dangerous threats to weekend travelers as winter's longest seige held the upper half of Texas clamped in icy jaws.

There was no sign of a letup from the bone-chilling cold wave sweeping down off the Rockies across the top of Texas and to the Atlantic Coast.

A slight breath of warm air moved into the extreme Northwest corner of the Panhandle Saturday, but most of West Texas had subfreezing temperatures and the north central part of the state was only slightly above the freezing mark.

And the weather picture was expected to remain virtually unchanged through Sunday night.

The Department of Public Safety continued to urge drivers to use caution, especially in North Central and West Texas where more freezing drizzle and snow is expected through the weekend.

EXPERT — Mrs. Eugene Leigh points to some of the letters in a person's handwriting that can "give you away" if he decides to "get away from it all." Don't try to change your writing, she advises — it may trip you up. (Daily News Photo)

Handwriting Can Give Insight To Personality

By CHARLIE CROSS
Daily News Staff Writer

It's like losing yourself, or getting away from it all? You do, don't try to disguise your handwriting, because a graphologist may trip you up. These are the words of Mrs. Eugene Leigh, 1003 Prairie.

Mrs. Leigh, an expert graphologist, has been analyzing handwriting for the past six years. She writes by correspondence, and she has taken refresher courses up to date. She said she has analyzed handwriting in the United States, Canada, Africa and other countries meet in study groups once a month, and the Text-Graphology Society meets once a year. The meetings are study groups and all-day sessions in the art. The meeting will be in Houston this year March 12-13. There is also an international meeting in St. Louis each year.

Mrs. Leigh said a certain letter in a person's handwriting "tells a deal about them, but we have to look at the letters, but not the stroke of the pen." She said,

Weapon Against Insects Praised

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States stands on the brink of a bacterial warfare against insect enemies.

A new insecticide, which derives its killing power from a rod-like bacterium named bacillus thuringiensis, is expected to go on the market late this year after exhaustive field tests by the Agriculture Department and others.

Bacillus thuringiensis, or B. T. for short, is said to be deadly to such crop scourges as the alfalfa caterpillar, the imported cabbage worm, the salt marsh (or woolly bear) caterpillar, the tobacco horn worm, and the European corn borer.

It does not hurt useful insects, such as honey bees, and is described as harmless to warm-blooded animals, including man.

Disclosure that B. T. was about to be sent into battle against harmful insects in this country followed a report from Prague that the Biological Institute of the Czechoslovak Academy of Sciences already was producing an insecticide containing the bacillus.

An article published in Prague and distributed in translation here by the Commerce Department described the Czech work as "the first industrial production of a bacterial warfare in the battle against insects, anywhere."

This, it was learned, is not the case. Three U.S. companies have been turning out a B. T. insecticide in ton lots since 1958 for experimental use. The University of California had been making it in test quantities for years.

In fact, the Czechs got their first samples of the bacterial agent from this country. Scientists have been studying B. T. for a long time. Dr. Edward A. Steinhaus of the University of California at Berkeley revived interest in it more than 10 years ago.

This particular bacterium appears to be choosy as to what insect larvae it will attack. This is its great virtue. Scientists say it can be dusted or spread directly on crops without hurting anything but harmful insects.

When these insects eat the powder, spores of the bacterium germinate in the eaters' intestines and produce a fatal toxin. In laboratory tests, B. T. has slain its hosts in a matter of 24 hours.

In the field, the insect victims die in two to four days.

Invention of the accordion has been credited to both Frederick Buschmann of Berlin and Damian of Austria in 1829.

Cattle Production Outlook Said Good

"ON THE FARM FRONT"
By GAYLORD F. GODWIN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Recent inventory and intention reports from farmers to the Agriculture Department have brought into clearer focus the prospects for meat production in 1960.

Cattle herds will continue to expand but production has turned downward. Meat output promises to be a little larger than in 1959, with a modest gain in beef nearly offset by a decline in pork.

The number of cattle and calves on farms Jan. 1 totaled 101,500,000 head, up 5 per cent from a year earlier. The number on feed was up 2 per cent. Cattle slaughter was climbed above levels of last year and is expected to continue during much or all of 1960. A sharp increase is unlikely as the buildup in herds will continue. During the next few months marketings will feature liberal supplies of fed cattle.

In contrast to late-winter price increases during the last two years, fed cattle prices this winter are expected to hold close to present levels. Seasonal price increases are likely for stocker and feeder cattle with the growth of new grass this spring.

The number of hogs on farms Jan. 1 was 3 per cent larger than a year ago and resulted from the big pig crops of 1959. This means there won't be much of a seasonal rise in prices of hogs on the hoof until marketings of last year's pigs have been completed, probably about mid-spring.

The reduction in the 1960 spring pig crop will cut marketings later this year. Farmers reported in December they planned to have 12 per cent fewer sows farrow spring pigs than last year. Most of the spring pigs will be sold in the last half of this year, and prices then are likely to run above 1959 levels.

The number of stock sheep and lambs on hand was 3 per cent larger this January than last. The number on feed was down 7 per cent from a year earlier. The outlook is for sheep and lamb slaughter this winter to hold below last winter's rate.

The department said prospects indicate only a small increase in meat production in 1960. The gain probably will be less than the increase in population, so a slight drop in consumption per person is expected. The use of pork is likely to be down nearly four pounds per person from last year. Consumption of beef and veal per person probably will be up a couple of pounds from the 81½ pounds of 1959. Not much change is in sight for lamb and mutton.

Connors Lost His Touch; News From The Jungle

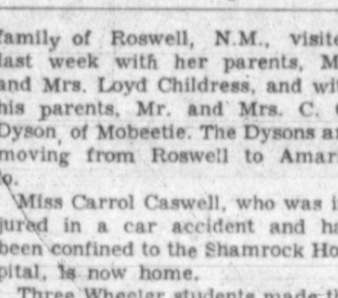

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA)—Some actors want to do series, some actors despise the very idea. But Mike Connors, who is currently starring in "Tightrope," thinks that acting in a series is a practical necessity these days.

"Doing a series," he says, "is the only way to get ahead now, unless you want to work on Broadway forever. But if you're looking for big money, a series is the answer. Any actor who scoffs at that is kidding himself."
But Connors realizes that "the life expectancy of a TV series is declining — it's maybe two years now."

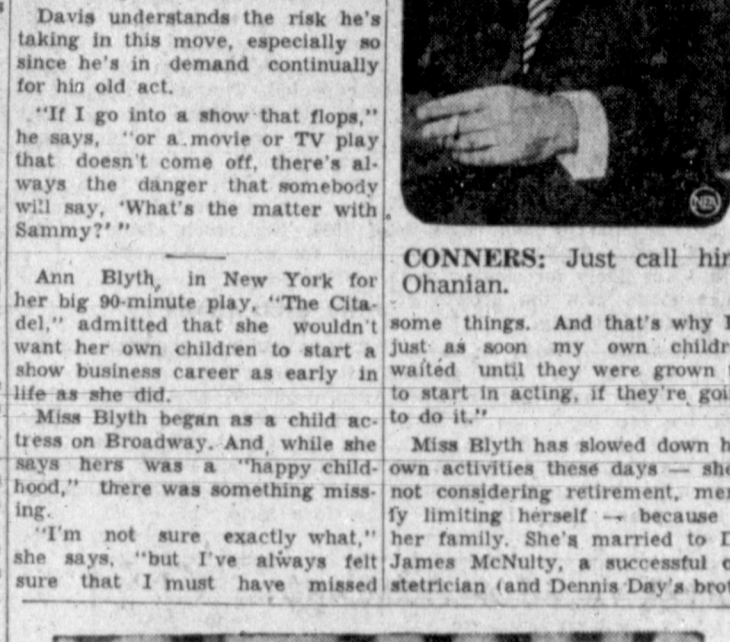

Blyth Davis

Ann Blyth, in New York for her big 90-minute play, "The Citadel," admitted that she wouldn't want her own children to start a show business career as early in life as she did.
Miss Blyth began as a child actress on Broadway. And while she says hers was a "happy childhood," there was something missing.
"I'm not sure exactly what," she says, "but I've always felt sure that I must have missed some things. And that's why I'd just as soon my own children waited until they were grown up to start in acting, if they're going to do it."

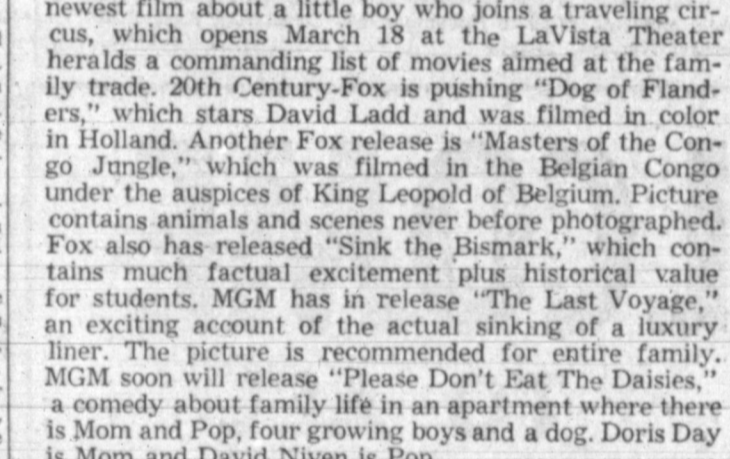

CONNORS: Just call him Ohanian.

he lost the touch.
Some question Sammy Davis Jr.'s continuing attempts to become a dramatic actor. Among those who question this is Sammy Davis Jr.
"I'm taking every opportunity I can get to do serious acting," he says: "I realize this is dangerous. I've gotten more than my fair share of nice comment in the past. Now there's a risk that the critics will say I should have stuck to song-and-dance."

CONNORS: Just call him Ohanian.

er), and they have three children.
"But I couldn't resist doing 'The Citadel,'" she says. "First, I liked the part, and it was the first 90-minute show I'd done. And, second, it was a doctor's wife, and I can play that part without too much trouble."

FAMILY PICTURE — "Toby Tyler," Walt Disney's newest film about a little boy who joins a traveling circus, which opens March 18 at the LaVista Theater heralds a commanding list of movies aimed at the family trade.

"The Coming Political Breakthrough," by Chester Bowles, gives his view that new questions involving our economy, our international relationships and our approach to world affairs will come to a head in the election of 1960 and that the party best able to provide a fresh and affirmative approach will not only elect the next President, but will maintain its position of political dominance for some time to come.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—If President Eisenhower is guilty, as accused, of being a penny pincher, he has at least one other penny distinction.

He has spent more of the taxpayers' pennies than any other president. DDE probably has spent more pennies than any other person anywhere, president or not, American or foreign.

His score through the next fiscal year will be close to 600 billion dollars. The champ! That spending was compressed into eight fiscal years. FDR was a spender, too. In 12 fiscal years, FDR spent nearly $75 billion dollars.

Harry S. Truman was faster with a buck than was FDR. In eight fiscal years, HST got rid of about 395 billion. These spending figures combine to spell out for U.S. taxpayers the bad news. The bad news is that the U.S. government spending trend has been steeply up for nearly 30 years.

The spending binge has been accompanied by a rising trend of taxation. But taxes do not increase as fast as spending. This, in turn, has created another trend which could end in blockbuster disaster for the United States.

That is the trend toward deficit spending by the Treasury, toward steady increase in the national debt and toward a creeping inflation which rots the U.S. dollar. The U.S. dollar is not rotten, but it is rotting. This rotting of the dollar is called inflation.

There no longer is a question in the United States whether the citizens shall suffer inflation. They already have suffered to this extent—that in the past 20 years the dollars in their pockets or the dollars in their banks have shrunk in purchasing power to less than 50 cents each as compared with their 1939 value.

The national debt has exploded from about 20 billion dollars in the year in which FDR first was elected to about 284 billion now. To that extent, the UnRed States has been living and fighting its wars on the cuff. Someone may pay that debt sometime.

To repudiate it would blitz the U.S. economy as effectively as would an atom bomb. On the theory that the debt sometime will be paid, President Eisenhower said recently that he felt that he was not supporting his grandchildren but that they were supporting him.

DDE usually budgets for a surplus instead of a deficit but without reversing the upward trend of non-defense spending. DDE's budgets have sought additional taxes to balance the budget. Congress does not grant them.

Budget Director Maurice Stans says U.S. taxpayers could have a tax cut without reducing military spending if they demanded and enforced economy in other areas. If the taxpayers were hurting they would do that.

Hobart Street Baptist Women Outline
Annie Armstrong Prayer Week Meetings

The women of the Hobart Street Baptist Church will present programs each day next week in observance of Annie Armstrong Week of Prayer for Home Missions. The first program will be on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. J. L. Smart, 1500 Hamilton. The Hazel Mayo circle will present the program "Prepare Ye the way — Through Teaching". This program concerns educational work with the negroes, Good Will Centers, kindergartens, and Vacation Bible Schools. Each program during the week will be closed with a Prayer season and a meditation.

On Tuesday a film depicting the work done on the Home Mission fields will be shown in the chapel of Hobart Street Baptist Church with the Rev. John Dyer narrating. The time for this meeting will be 9:30 a.m.

Wednesday night during the regular prayer meeting hour 7:30-8:30 p.m. those persons who have not had an opportunity to attend the day meetings will be able to hear about the Annie Armstrong fund and will learn more about the work being done on the Home Mission field. The goal for 1960 is $2,500,000.

On Thursday at 9:30 a.m. the program will again be presented in the chapel of the church with the Ruth O'Dell circle in charge. The title of the program is "Bring Good Tidings — Through Building" and subjects to be discussed are "Church Building Loan Funds, Pioneer Areas, Alaskan Missions, Institutions, and Language groups."

At 9:30 Friday morning the Kezlie Mae Bright circle will present "Make Straight Way — Through Witnessing". Many interesting subjects will be discussed during this meeting such as "Migrant Witness, Witness to the Deaf, Witness to the Jews, to Foreign Students and Witnessing Through WMU Leaders."

The women of the Hobart Street Church invite women of all churches to attend these programs. A nursery will be provided for each day's meeting with competent workers to care for children.

Time to think about summer handbags. The wicker tote bag is one possibility. Holds a lot and comes belted in leather.

Allegro Speakers Talk Of Rugged Africa Life

"Africa" was the study topic for the recent city-wide Allegro conducted Tuesday in the home of Mrs. G. McComas, 2244 Christine. Mrs. John Lee Bell and Mrs. W. Bridges were in charge of the program.

Mrs. Bell discussed the African Bushman using the book, "The Lost World of the Kalahari" by Laurens van der Post. She stated that Laurens van der Post's quest of the Bushman began on Oct. 13, 1914. On this day he wrote in his diary, "I have decided today that when I am grown up I shall go into the Kalahari Desert to seek out the Bushman."

Mrs. Bell described the Bushman as one of the most ancient people of South Africa. He was related to the pigmies, standing less than five feet tall. He was, before all else, a hunter. And as a hunter he was not equal. He could hit a moving target at 150 yards. He used poison on his arrows; the larger the animal, the stronger the poison. He was not afraid of any of the animals of the veld, and would often enter an elephant herd alone and evoke one of the bull elephants to chase him. As he ran across the plain with the elephant in pursuit, another hunter would rush up behind the elephant and slice the side of the heel. With this the elephant then helplessly could easily kill him with his spears and lances.

Mrs. Bell continued, "He kept no stock, nor did he cultivate any land. However, he did have a permanent base from which his whole life swung. He would build round huts of stone on a hilltop near a water supply. These walls were four to five feet high and had a roof. At night he would climb over the wall, build a fire and cook his food out in the wind, and then curl up by the coals under the stars."

"They had their own special music, which was unlike that of any other in Africa. They used drums, rattles, stringed instruments with one to four strings, and bamboo flutes. He used music as an accompaniment for his dancing. He was born a dancer and had a dance for every occasion. But music and dancing were not his only arts, for he was also a painter. White most tribes in Africa had some music and dancing, only the Bushman had this astonishing gift of painting," the speaker related.

Mrs. Bell concluded by saying, "The Bushman was sought out by Laurens van der Post. After many trials and tribulations, his expedition spotted a Bushman digging a sipwell. These sipwells were the Bushman's own secret water supply. Throughout the desert there is this underground water supply that has kept the Bushman from dying out. Laurens went back to the Bushman settlement which contained only seven beehive shaped shelters with a population of some thirty people. He stayed with this group for more than a month, filming their daily life, living as they did, and hunting with them. He was able to realize his boyhood dream."

Mrs. Bridges read some interesting excerpts from three letters written from Africa by Thomas D. Cabot to his family. Quoting from the letters Mrs. Bridges read, "Our trip to Africa has been one continuous travel, we have motored more than 4,000 miles and have driven all the way, but travel here today is quite luxurious and I think

YOU... and YOUR HOME
by Jack Foster

ROOM TO GROW IN

Have you ever had to smother when you walked into the bedroom shared by your two teenage boys after they had left for school? Did you wonder how on earth you'd ever bring order out of chaos — what you'd do with the strange conglomeration of oddities and equipment... books, dismantled telescope, records, baseball mitts, football helmets, tennis rackets and all the other possessions that are evidence of healthy exercise and personality interests of these growing men-to-be?

Take heart. A well-planned room with plenty of storage facilities will take care of all of this. More than that, it will help your boys develop a sense of order, the habit of putting everything in its place. In the boys' room sketched above, two big roomy chests stacked side by side have been flanked by desks — to give each boy his own storage and study area. Commanding book shelves piled above the chests and one desk provide attractive wall interest as well as needed space for books, radio, and trinkets. Wall-to-wall carpet is a heavy woven rag-type that can take years of hard-wear. Box springs and mattresses with sturdy brown denim covers give room a sitting room atmosphere. Brown covers fit in with brown and beige color scheme.

Would you like to have some professional help with the planning of your boy's or girl's room? Our trained decorators will be most happy to talk over your plans with you, assist you with furnishing and decorating ideas whenever you can come in.

Following a reducing diet is much easier during hot days. Most of us have less appetite and are refreshed only by eating slimming fruit and vegetable salads. However, beware of washing away necessary vitamins during summer months with too many iced drinks and too little food.

Former Principal Is Horace Mann Speaker

PRINCIPAL AND FORMER STUDENT — Miss Josephine Thomas, former Horace Mann school principal and guest speaker at the unit's Thursday night meeting, was presented with a corsage on behalf of the PTA by Mrs. Eugene Turner, former pupil of Miss Thomas and currently Horace Mann's publicity chairman.

for a salary of $45 per month. In 1928, Miss Thomas became principal of what was then the new West Ward School in Pampa. In 1930, the PTA was organized. "In those days, the PTA sponsored many activities not generally considered its job today," Miss Thomas explained. "The first hot lunches served at the school were served by the PTA. Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and school-ground beautifying were all PTA projects. The name Horace Mann, was chosen for the school by an election held in a PTA meeting."

Miss Thomas was presented with a corsage by Mrs. Eugene Turner, a former student of hers, on behalf of the present PTA as a token of appreciation for her many past accomplishments for the school.

Mrs. John Holt Jr., president, opened the program by reading a poem "Going To PTA" written by Mrs. Jeanette Fish, Horace Mann PTA member.

The Horace Mann School choir, directed by Mrs. John Branham, presented the following program: "Bells Of St. Mary's"; "In A Little Red Schoolhouse" pantomimed by Charlotte Black, Mike Stone and Monte Gordon; "A Gay 90's Fantasy" featured dancers B. I. Skaggs and Pat Meador; a trio, Diane Phillips, Mary Shevemaker and Karen Copenhagen sang "Blue Skies."

A humorous sketch, "A True Story" was narrated by Judy Stewart with background song by the choir. The final choir number was Fred Waring's arrangement of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" accompanied by Diane Phillips and Mrs. Faye Bellia Adams. Sam Begert, school principal, expressed appreciation for the large Father's night audience and concluded the program by reading a humorous list presumably written by a troubled first-grade teacher to her parents.

Mrs. Ott Shevemaker, nominating committee chairman, presented the following slate of officers, which had taken place in her long career of teaching. She told of riding horseback and in a buggy to a one-room schoolhouse and teaching were served during the social hour.

During the executive board meeting held Thursday morning, the meeting opened with a poem read by Mrs. Holt entitled, "Your Children." Reports were given by Mrs. Raymond Field, recording secretary and Mrs. Holt for the treasurer, Mrs. H. L. Meers.

Mrs. Carruth, city council representative, reported that a study course will be held Mar. 10 at Sam Houston cafeteria entitled, "The Angry Child." "Mar. 11 is the date for the PTA sponsored radio program," Mrs. Carruth announced. "A school of instruction will be held Mar. 28 for all incoming officers and committee chairmen. On April 5 at Lamar School there will be a coffee honoring all incoming and outgoing presidents."

Sam Begert stated that cafeteria menus will be posted each week in the office and in the cafeteria for benefit of parents desiring this information.

Mrs. Southard, Mrs. Carruth, Mrs. Gordon were to represent the executive board at the serving of a service club in the school on Friday.

Board members present were Mrs. Holt, Southard, Raymond Field, Carruth, Harry Gordon, Ott Shevemaker, W. R. Bonnell, W. H. Self, Eugene Turner and Sam Begert.

MISS KAY

The bridegroom was graduated from Pampa High School and is employed by The Electric Supply Co.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hatley, all of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Buford Cobb, Sue and Jean, Mr. Harvey Cobb, Mr. Charles Nelson, Mrs. Dorothy Nelson, all of Borger; Miss Jana Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cobb, all of Sanford; Mrs. G. R. Frost of Erick, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Witt of Canadian; Misses La Jean Caldwell, Carol Bandy, Carolyn Jones, all of Canyon.

Oriental Omelet

Here to "orient" the busy homemaker to the best of little-luscious pleasures is an ORIENTAL OMELET. For an exotic flavor, add a little tomato juice to beaten eggs seasoned with soy sauce and salt, plus a dash of monosodium glutamate. Cook in a skillet until mixture is partially set. Then add drained pineapple tidbits and finish cooking - folding in half, omelet style. Serve over hot toast points.

LAMAR PTA — In observance of Texas Public School Week and Teacher Appreciation Week, Lamar PTA presented faculty members of the school with corsages and gifts of baked goods last week. Heading up the affairs of the PTA this year at Lamar are, seated left to right, Mrs. K. E.

Rasco, City Council representative; Mrs. Ernie Pulse, secretary; Mrs. L. C. Wassell, treasurer; and Mrs. W. C. Puryear, president. Other officers not pictured are Mrs. K. H. Cambren, parliamentarian; Mrs. B. T. Buck, vice president; and Mrs. Don Cole, historian.

Mrs. Scott Has Hi-Land Council

Hi-Land Christian Ladies Council met in the home of Mrs. W. C. Scott to continue the study of "Home and Foreign Missions."

Mrs. Ray Mason, council chairman, presided at the business meeting. An offering was taken to meet missionary obligations to the David Bayless, Basil and Marie Durham, workers at the Christian Indian School in Sedona, Ariz.

Mrs. Ray Mason gave the devotional on "Faith" followed by prayer.

Mrs. Edwin V. East gave a missionary report on Okinawa followed by a report of Jamaica given by Mrs. W. C. Taylor.

Mrs. Carl Summers conducted a study on the missionary family, Mr. and Mrs. Barbados.

Closing prayer was by Mrs. Harold Starbuck.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Attending in addition to those mentioned above were Mrs. J. D. Malloy, Jim Crouch, W. R. Whittell, Linden Laubham.

It was announced that the next meeting will be with Mrs. Starbuck.

Woodrow Wilson PTA Executive Board Convenes For Monthly Business Meet

The executive board of the Woodrow Wilson PTA met March 1 in the school cafeteria. The president, Mrs. E. A. McLennan reported that the city council's new by-laws had been accepted by the state board of managers with two additions.

"Another PTA Leadership Training course" will be held for all of those who have not taken it this year. It will be held on March 22 at Pampa Junior High and all incoming officers are required to take it," it was announced.

Mrs. McLennan said that all of the new and out-going officers were invited to attend a tea on April 5 in the cafeteria of the Lamar School.

On Mar. 28 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. a school of instruction will be held in the first Methodist Church parlor. It is necessary that all of the new officers and chairmen attend this school.

Another study course will be held Mar. 10 in Sam Houston School. A film, "The Angry Child," will precede the panel discussion. All parents are invited to attend.

"The U.S. savings stamp program" has been approved by the Treasury Dept.," said Floyd Smith, school principal. "After Mrs. John Brewer and Mrs. G. H. Neef Jr., have been approved by the state, they will supervise the

You point out what I haven't done,
My fine, efficient spouse,
And tell how smoothly things would run
If you were keeping house.
Okay, okay, I don't display
The competence that you do.
But how I wish that some sweet day
You'd note the things I DO do!

Polly's Quiz

Dear Polly: My kitchen is a real problem. The floor is black tile. Walls are deep pink and ceiling and vent blinds are yellow. The wall at the dinette end is padded green with red flowers to match my green chrome set. What color curtains should I have? I say—solid pink, right? — Mrs. E. F. S.

Dear Mrs. E. F. S.: Wrong. Forget curtains until you've cleaned up that jazzy color scheme. Paint the walls green and the ceiling white. Either paint the blinds white or throw them out. Hang simple white organdy curtains at the windows and thing will be less confusing and a lot more pleasant.

Dear Polly: The former owner of our house—put an ugly brown wax on the beige asphalt tile. It has walked off in spots and looks horrid. Can I use something to remove it? And the puppy has practically ruined a rose wool rug. How can I remove those ugly brown stains? — Mrs. B. M.

Dear Mrs. B. M.: That new house

Dear Polly: My mother-in-law crocheted a lace tablecloth for my dining room table. It is beautiful. She made a rose satin throw to go under it in order to show off the pattern. We put a white plastic cover over it when we eat. Can you suggest anything better? Of course, we take off the plastic between meals.—Mrs. D. M.

Dear Mrs. D. M.: The cloth and rose lining do not belong on the table between meals. Bring the cloth out only for special family dinners minus the plastic cover. And leave the satin lining in a drawer permanently.

Dear Polly: I have a southwest bedroom that needs painting. It

40,000 Christians Climb Mountain To Greet Easter Morning in Seoul

The manifestation of hope that annually accompanies the Easter message, "Christ is Risen!" reverberate around the world. But no where is there a more thrilling account of the expression of that hope than Dr. Gerald B. Harvey's in the April issue of Methodist family magazine, TOGETHER.

The year was 1955. Dr. Harvey found himself in Korea on a mission to help restore Korean literature. He learned that an Easter sunrise service had been planned at the foot of Nam San cross. That is the cross which stands on the summit of Nam San mountain, which rises 1500 feet above the teeming streets of Seoul outside the historic South Gate. A thousand stone steps lead upward to it through stately, centuries-old oriental landscaping.

During Korea's 40 years of Japanese occupation, a Shinto shrine had stood there. Christians, even young children, had been forced at bayonet point to climb the steps and pay homage to the emperor. Those who refused were imprisoned, tortured, or killed. The mountain and its 1,000 steps became a symbol of humiliation. When freedom came to Seoul, the hated shrine was supplanted by the great cross.

At 3:30 on this particular Easter morning, Dr. Harvey awoke to the steady tattoo of a heavy rain that had been falling since midnight.

"Why should I get up?" he asked himself sleepily. "Certainly no one else will go out on a night like this."

He rolled over and tried to go back to sleep. But his conscience would not let him. Rising, he put on his warmest clothes and headed for the South Gate in his jeep, convinced he would be the only one there.

Parking at the foot of the mountain, he began the difficult climb up the slippery steps. Through the fog that had settled on the mountain's shoulders, he was able to discern a few shadowy figures. But as the rain diminished and the dawn brightened, he could see more and more.

"My rain-soaked companions," he writes, "were not decked in Easter finery. They wore clothes from Atlanta and Albuquerque, from Newark and New Orleans, from Portland, Maine, to Portland Oregon — gifts from fellow Christians the world over. Some had waxed-paper umbrellas; others wore Korean rainhats. There were school children, old ladies with canes, young men and old, mothers with babies slung on their backs. Yet each, it seemed, carried his own Bible and hymnal. And as they climbed, or paused to rest on the steep slope, they worshiped silently.

"A multitude already had assembled near the cross. Here and there, at the outer fringes, family groups were seated on the upturned stones of ancient temples, awaiting the message of the risen Christ.

"As the service began, the clouds started to break and the fog thinned. Beneath us stretched the war-scarred city, brighter now that some of the terrible dust had been washed away. The rain was forgotten in the promise of a new day.

"Later, during the closing hymn, a magnificent morning sun broke through the overcast. Then, when the benediction had been pronounced, the mighty strains of The Church's One Foundation boomed up the mountainside from an Army band on a lower terrace. The worshippers came alive with fellowship; greeting and laughter came from faces that had been thoughtful and sober and tearstained.

"It was an experience I never will forget. Easter had dawned in Seoul — and 40,000 Christians had
